CHELSEA STATE BANK OFFICIALS were on hand Monday for the grand opening of the new branch building at the southwest corner of M-52 and Old US-12. The project, more than two years in the making, gives the bank significantly more space and plenty of room for planned

County Committee Gives Nod to Bond Sale for Golf Course in Chelsea

A proposed golf course for the Pierce Lake area north of I-94 just outside the village has received a show of support from the Ways and Means Committee of the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners.

The committee voted 11-4 last Wednesday to back a $1.4 million bond sale to pay for part of the construction of the 18-hole course and clubhouse. Another $1.7 million would come from the reserve fund of the county Parks and Recreation Department, which is used for acquisitions. A final vote by the board will take place Sept. 8.

The golf course and clubhouse would also be used as a winter park.

Cross country skiing, ice fishing, and skating would all be available and the building would be used as a warming area.

Parks director Fred Barkley looks at the course as a money-making proposition for his department. He said his department needs to raise about $1 million per year in user fees to operate the entire county parks system since county millage does not provide enough money.

Barkley said the bonds could be paid back in five years and the department could run a surplus of more than $370,000 by the turn of the century. He based his figures on first-year play totaling 28,000 rounds, increasing to 36,000 after five years, at a cost of $17 per round, the current going rate. He said Queen Oaks Golf Course in Ypsilanti township has recorded more than 40,000 rounds per year, so he believes his estimates are reasonable.

The resolution adopted by the board would allow the county to sell the bonds, which should result in a lower interest rate. However, the parks department would still be responsible for the bond payments. Bonds could be sold anytime until next summer, Barkley said.

The parks department is buying 150 acres of land from Arcus Corp. and the company has agreed to donate another 50 acres to the project. A final sale price has not been determined, as Barkley is hoping to receive funds from the state's Land Trust Fund Grant. He has been invited to make a presentation and expects final word in September.

Barkley has said that the donation of 50 acres make the project feasible. The resolution adopted by the county committee was met with some criticism. Those who voted against it were Democrats Dave Monforton, Carlos Acevedo, Christina Montague, and Alma Smith. Some citizens complained that the county has more pressing problems, including the permanent closing of the General Motors Willow Run plant and inadequate child immunizations.

The golf course has been met with widespread approval in the Chelsea area. Village council has written a formal letter of support. Sylvan township supervisor Gerald Dresselhouse and Lima township supervisor Bill Van Riper have also said they support it as an ideal use of the land, which is now farmed. Many local officials believe that the western portion of the county has generally been ignored by the county.

Ticket Shows High Cost of Enforcement

The village was forced to spend hundreds of dollars last week when a woman who was caught speeding in the village decided to contest the case. Jill Amburgey, who does not live in the Chelsea area, was ticketed in June for driving 40 miles per hour in a 25 zone on Railroad St. In Chelsea, that's a $50 fine.

Her attorney, Jules Fiani of Brighton, subpoenaed village clerk Suzanne Morrison to provide a host of documentation from many years ago, including affidavits of publication of the uniform traffic code and all related amendments, and notice of adoption of the code.

Village clerical staff spent several hours digging up the information. (Continued on page six)

Final Preparations Begin For Chelsea Community's Biggest Event of Year

The final 10 days of preparation are underway for the 56th Annual Chelsea Community Fair, always the largest community-wide event of the year.

The fair, which runs Aug. 24-28, will not be much different than in recent years. However, fair officials are hoping for much better weather than last year, when nearly two full days of activities, including the Thursday night Motorcross, were rained out, high winds blew flower arrangements off the stage during the Fair Queen program on Friday, and chilly temperatures prevailed.

Tomorrow evening, numerous volunteers will converge on the fairgrounds to set up stalls for livestock and work on the myriad of details that make the fair the success that it is. Work parties have been taking place much of the summer for all the routine maintenance.

Some changes and improvements are as follows.

One big project during the last year that won't be readily noticeable was the installation of a new drain across the fairgrounds. The county drain project should help alleviate some of the mud problems that have plagued parts of the grounds after even a light rainfall. The fair board had to pay extra for the drain to have it enclosed so there wouldn't be an open ditch.

A concrete floor has been installed in the pig and steer barn just uphill from the covered arena. That will help visitors walk through the barn and volunteers clean up the area.

A memorial plaque in memory of deceased fair board members who either donated money during their lifetimes or have had money donated in their names has been imbedded in a granite rock in front of the fair service center next to the flag pole. Those honored include Everett Van Riper, Carl Heller, Charles Trinkle, Gerald Herrick, and Ralph McCalla.

The main gate on Old Manchester Rd. near Old US-12 will continue to admit pedestrians but will no longer admit any vehicles, even those belonging to fair board members. Judges and other volunteers will have to use either the main lot further south off Old Manchester Rd. or the lot off Old US-12 at the western edge of the fairgrounds.

The fair board is asking participants in the fair parade not to throw candy—such as suckers—that has sticks. They are also asking that candy be thrown all the way to the curb to keep the children out of traffic.

Only one new event has been added

this year—"Old Time Cowboys Games."

The event, scheduled for Friday, Aug. 27 at 5 p.m. in the main arena, is designed for horse owners of all ages who may not necessarily be interested in showing their horses in the other horse activities.

Included will be two balloon races; "Musical Stalls," the equine equivalent to musical chairs; "Pony Express," a mailbag game in which riders deliver the mail to one end of the arena; "Trails End," a kind of obstacle course; "Egg and Spoon," in which riders have to take an egg on a spoon a certain distance; and "Fire Drill," in which riders have to mount their horses with a bucket of water.

Deacon's Trial Delayed In Jackson County

Trials for a former North Sharon Baptist church bus driver and deacon charged with criminal sexual conduct continue to be postponed.

An Aug. 25 trial in Jackson county for Mark Foeller, 36, was postponed when a lay witness could not make the court date. No court date had been set as of Monday. Foeller was charged with abusing two boys at a campground and faces five first- or second-degree criminal sexual conduct charges.

Foeller is scheduled to stand trial on Sept. 7 and Oct. 4 in Washtenaw county, although assistant prosecutor Julia Owdziej expects the trials to be consolidated into one on Oct. 4, nearly a year after the charges were first announced by Michigan State Police. The Sept. 7 trial involves a boy who claims he was abused in a church bathroom. The other cases involve a 10-year-old boy and a six-year-old boy, as well as three cases from Jackson county that were consolidated with them. In all, Foeller faces 13 first- or second-degree criminal sexual conduct charges.

Foeller and former assistant pastor Timothy Leonard were charged with abusing children in the church's Sunday school bus ministry. All charges against Leonard have since been dropped, although prosecutors are awaiting a ruling from the state Court of Appeals regarding one case.

Bluegrass Musician Heads Final Concert in Park

Mac Wiseman, dubbed the "Burl Ives of Bluegrass," is the featured performer for this Saturday's Concert in the Park in Pierce Park.

The free concert, the final installment in the seventh season of the popular series sponsored by the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce and the Chelsea Recreation Council, runs from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Wiseman has had a long and distinguished career in bluegrass. He's a frequent performer on the "Nashville Now" program on The Nashville Network, as well as the "Grand Ole Opry" television show.

He was one of the original founders of the Country Music Association. In 1951 he signed a contract with Dot Records, where he recorded such hits as "Love Letters in the Sand," "Keep on the Sunnyside," "Going Like Wildfire," and "Ballad of Davy Crockett." He recorded 15 albums in the 1970s, including three with the late Lester Flatt. The highly-acclaimed "Lester & Mac" album was the first bluegrass record to make the Billboard 100 charts.

Wiseman continues to perform at fairs, festivals, clubs and theme parks.

Wiseman was born in the hill country of Crimora, Va. He worked on his father's farm despite a case of childhood polio.

His father owned the first battery-powered radio in the area, and people came by to listen to shows such as the "Grand Ole Opry" and "WLS Barn Dance."

He eventually began playing and singing in country bands in the area. While heading up the "Farm and Fund Time" program at a radio station in Bristol, Va., he met Flatt and Earl Scruggs, and together they formed the Foggy Mountain Boys.

Other Saturday attractions include a dance routine during intermission by the nine Chelsea Community Fair Queen candidates. The girls, in keeping with this year's Country and Western theme, will perform the Achy Breaky to the popular Billy Ray Cyrus tune.

Chelsea Children's Co-operative pre-school will sponsor a children's corner during the show. Co-op members will be available to assist children in coloring, stringing noodles, playdough activities, and more. They will also answer questions and offer information for prospective members.

As usual, the Rotary Club Ice Cream Wagon and the Cottage Inn Pizza Trailer will be on hand to sell food, refreshments and snacks. Proceeds from the Rotary concessions go toward community projects while a portion of Cottage Inn proceeds are donated to the concert series.

Concertgoers are urged to bring blankets, lawn chairs, their own food, or other creature comforts.

Concerts are largely funded by local members of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, many of whom are local merchants who depend on local business.

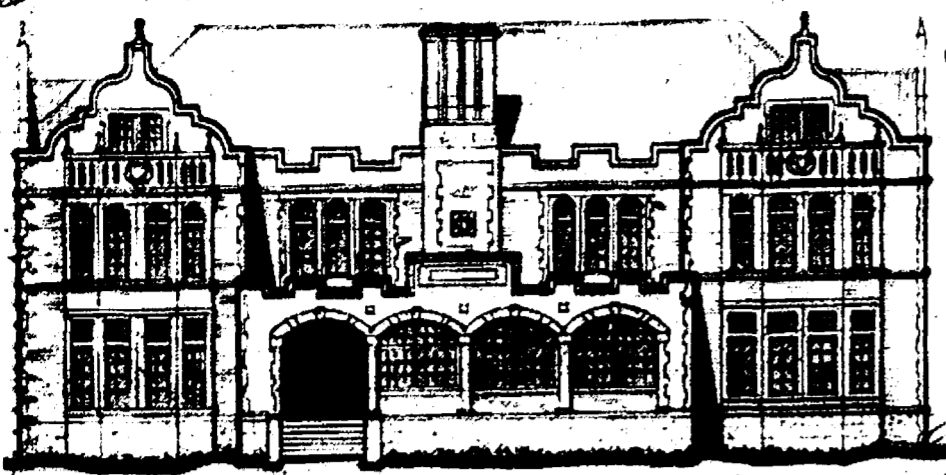

Concert co-ordinator H.K. Leonard is always willing to take recommendations for future performers. Suggestions may be sent to her care of The Chelsea Standard, 300 N. Main St. Please provide name, address, and a telephone number, along with any ideas or comments regarding past or future concerts.

A.A. PALMER MEDICAL SCHOLARSHIP of $800 was recently presented to J.D. Alford of Chelsea, left, a graduate of Chelsea High school and a pre-med student at the University of Michigan. The scholarship is presented annually by the Chelsea Painters organization, which raises money through an annual show at Chelsea Community Hospital. Madeleine Vallier, right, painters president, made the presentation.

Village of Chelsea may more than double its sewer and water tap and connection fees in order to finance new construction and pay back a big loan to the Capital Improvement Fund from the Electric Fund. The village charges a total of $1,300 for those items, which is reportedly less than half of what Dexter ($2,850) and Saline ($3,000) charge.

Chelsea School District's advertisement in last week's edition of The Chelsea Standard for a public hearing on increasing property taxes was not a hearing for more millage than has already been approved by the voters. The hearing is one that is required by law in order for the district to collect the recently approved 2.1 mills, as well as an allowance for inflation as prescribed in the Headlee Amendment.

Once again, Susan Buck will be the mistress of ceremonies for the 1989 Chelsea Community Fair Queen Program. Buck is the founder of the Dance Arts Academy of Chelsea. ★ An Agenda for Choice and Quality in Education

By Lawrence W. Reed

In the wake of the Michigan Legislature's surprise move to end all property tax funding of public schools, an historic opportunity looms to reshape education from the ground up.

As never before, now is the time to question "basic" premises and to muster the courage to champion innovative prescriptions for reform. Those with vested interests in the status quo will howl, but given what's at stake—the future of our state's children—those howls may be a measure of how genuine the reforms are. It is long past time to start thinking of education in a way that most people have never thought of it before.

Fundamentally, it is time to stop behaving as though "the system" were more important than our children, that tinkering endlessly with it or heaving more dollars at it will sooner or later produce better results. Too many in the education establishment think like the man who built the Berlin Wall and governed East Germany for 30 years, Erich Honecker. "We can't take the wall down because somebody might leave," he declared until East Germans summoned the backbone to tear it down for him.

Lansing must wrestle with the finance question and hopefully, the result will be fairness for the schools and a significant net tax cut for Michigan. The other side of the equation—an agenda for choice and quality—deserves at least as much attention. Here is a short list of needed reforms, some of which would require changes to the Michigan Constitution:

- Portability of the state's per pupil contribution. Adopting the principle of "dollars follow the scholars," parents should be allowed to send a child to their public school of choice, within or outside existing district boundaries. Parents would not have to secure the home district's approval before state aid could follow the child to another public school that has the room. This will encourage parental involvement, as well as introduce a healthy element of competition into education.
- Full educational choice. To further enhance accountability, parental involvement, and quality in schools, the state should implement a voucher plan for parents who choose to send their children to private schools. It should assure the independence of private schools while affording parents greater access to them—thereby fostering a genuine market for education where variety and innovation would be the norms, not the exceptions.

- Cost containment in school services. State aid to schools should be contingent upon a genuine effort by each district to accurately determine its operating costs and put up the following for competitive bidding by private contractors: food services, custodial work, transportation, all health benefits including teacher health insurance, and specialized instructional services. A recent Mackinac Center survey of custodial costs per square foot in Lansing area public schools found that the schools were paying as much as five times what private companies are paying for the same work in the same area.
- Substitution of merit for tenure. Teacher tenure rules which hamper a school's ability to manage its work force should be eliminated. Good teachers deserve to work with other good teachers; poor ones are no advantage to their peers or to the children they teach. Existing wrongful discharge laws which govern the private sector would be an adequate replacement.

- Encouragement of teacher entrepreneurship. Those teachers with entrepreneurial savvy should be permitted, even encouraged, to form their own educational instruction service firms and offer their "product" for sale to schools. The state should also make it easier for teachers, parents and/or administrators to form new "charter public schools," such as the very promising one being started this fall by Wayne State University.

- School-based certification. If state certification of teachers guaranteed quality, no one would be talking about a crisis in the quality of education today. Schools should be trusted in a competitive environment to hire quality instructors, even if they don't have a piece of paper from a state bureaucracy that says they can teach. Other states, such as New Jersey, have moved to relax certification; Michigan should get in sync with the trend. Too many potentially excellent instructors cannot be hired today, no matter how impressive their resumes are, simply because of antiquated certification regulations.

- Empowerment of local school management. Schools cannot be innovative, competitive and accountable if their management is hamstrung by counterproductive state rules and policies. The Department of Education in Lansing should be downsized, both in personnel and in duties. Current law regarding teacher strikes must be enforced, allowing schools to hire striker replacements. The Legislature should seek out and remove other barriers to effective, site-based management of every aspect of running a school. Public schools should be freed of the weight of administrative bureaucracy, a cancer that has grown sharply at a time when student enrollments have remained stagnant or declined.

In short, it's time to de-monopolize, to open up the educational system to the fresh air of flexibility, competition, and free choice. School officials must learn to think like entrepreneurs, not bureaucrats, and to regard parents and students as customers, not captives. Taxpayers must stand up to the corrosive influence of the

Paving Projects To Be Completed By Month's End

Paving of Washington St. and South St. is scheduled to be completed by the end of the month, according to assistant village manager Bruce Pindzia.

Pindzia said the "subgrade" of Washington St., what was left after the old asphalt was ground off, is in excellent condition. He said it's likely the last paving contained bad asphalt since there is no apparent reason for the road to have deteriorated so much.

More curb will be replaced on Washington St. than anticipated, Pindzia said.

teacher union leadership and instruct them in no uncertain terms that children are more important than either union dues or union power.

Let's seize the moment, put children first, and fashion an educational system that will make Michigan the envy of the nation.

A CASSIDY LAKE BOOT CAMP INMATE gets an introduction to the special alternative incarceration program as he steps off a bus from jail and into the camp's intake program Thursday afternoon. A corporal at the camp tells the young law-breaker about the rules and regulations he will adhere to for the next 90 days. Following their talk, the young man will get his hair shaved off and will be referred to as a "ghost" for the next 10 days. Afterward, they are considered "trainees" until they graduate from the program, which is run by the Michigan Department of Corrections on the outskirts of Chelsea.

Cassidy Lake Boot Camp Wants Community Interaction

The Cassidy Lake Boot Camp in Chelsea has been around for about two years, yet area residents don't know much about how the facility is run and its end results.

That, among other reasons, is why boot camp administrators are forming a community liaison committee, to be comprised of boot camp staff and community residents.

The committee will create a communication link between the boot camp, run by the Michigan Department of Corrections, and residents. Concerned citizens will be encouraged to voice complaints and suggestions and boot camp staffers will be able to meet monthly with their neighbors, working through any possible problems.

Michael Podeszwik, a hearing investigator at the boot camp, touts the facility as a special alternative incarceration program designed to instill self esteem and a positive work ethic.

"Trainees," as convicted offenders assigned to the 90-day program are called, go through rigorous 17-hour days beginning at the 5 a.m. wake-up call through the 9 p.m. general education classes before ending at the 10 p.m. bed check. Throughout the day the number of trainees are checked every other hour and every hour at night to safe-guard against escapes.

Those assigned to the program, be it a first-time offender or a felony criminal sentenced to less than 36 months in prison, have been selected because the judge sees some redeeming quality, according to Podeszwik. However, the men and women given the assignment, which they agree to, don't see it as a break. They are firmly told from the beginning that the program is not day care nor is it camp. It is a military-style boot camp aimed at teaching respect for oneself and others by breaking down old beliefs and street-wise attitudes, says Podeszwik. It is committed to changing behavior through counseling, guidance, physical activity and discipline.

To be eligible for the boot camp participants must be physically and mentally capable, first-time offenders sentenced to prison for less than 36 months or probation and have not committed crimes involving death, arson or sex offenses. They also must not be physically aggressive or an escape risk. A video presented by the Michigan Department of Corrections says young criminals entering the program are usually failing in life and have been involved in crimes as juveniles.

After a judge assigns them to the boot camp, young offenders go through "intake," the first step of processing the participants who are referred to as "ghosts" for the first 10 days. The law-breakers are belittled and broken down, dressed in stark white uniforms and stripped of personal belongings during intake. No personal property, including clothing and shoes, are allowed. "We won't accomplish our purpose if they are allowed to be different," said Podeszwik during an interview Aug. 5 when 22 ghosts arrived for intake.

During intake, strict rules are indoctrinated as participants go through a contest of wills between themselves and their incarcerators. Later they are given a thorough medical exam to insure their physical stamina, as well as photo identification cards, showers and haircuts—the heads of males are shaved bald by other program participants, while a beautician is called to trim the women's hair to a shorter length. From there they are considered to be on probation, which can range from one to five days.

Residents in the Chelsea and Dexter communities, as well as others within a 40 mile radius, see the trainees after they reach their 30th or 35th day in the program. An average of 10 crews go out to work each day, helping village Department of Public Works crews lay cement, cut wood and sweep street debris. Lately, up to 18 work crews have been assigned work in neighboring communities. Podeszwik speculates the increase is a result of proven quality work and cheap labor, which is offered for as little as $5 per day, per worker.

Nutrition is as much a part of the daily regiment at the boot camp as grueling exercise routines and work assignments. Trainees are fed as much as they can eat, as long as they eat it all. Podeszwik estimates each trainee eats about a loaf of bread per day, as well as their share of other carbohydrates, fruits and vegetables to keep their energy up for the day's work. Trainees also carry a canteen of water with them at all times.

The boot camp, housed off of Waterloo Rd. in Lyndon township, is on the site of a former prison camp. Now it is the only boot camp in the state specially designed for young law offenders; however, participants as old as 46 have gone through the program.

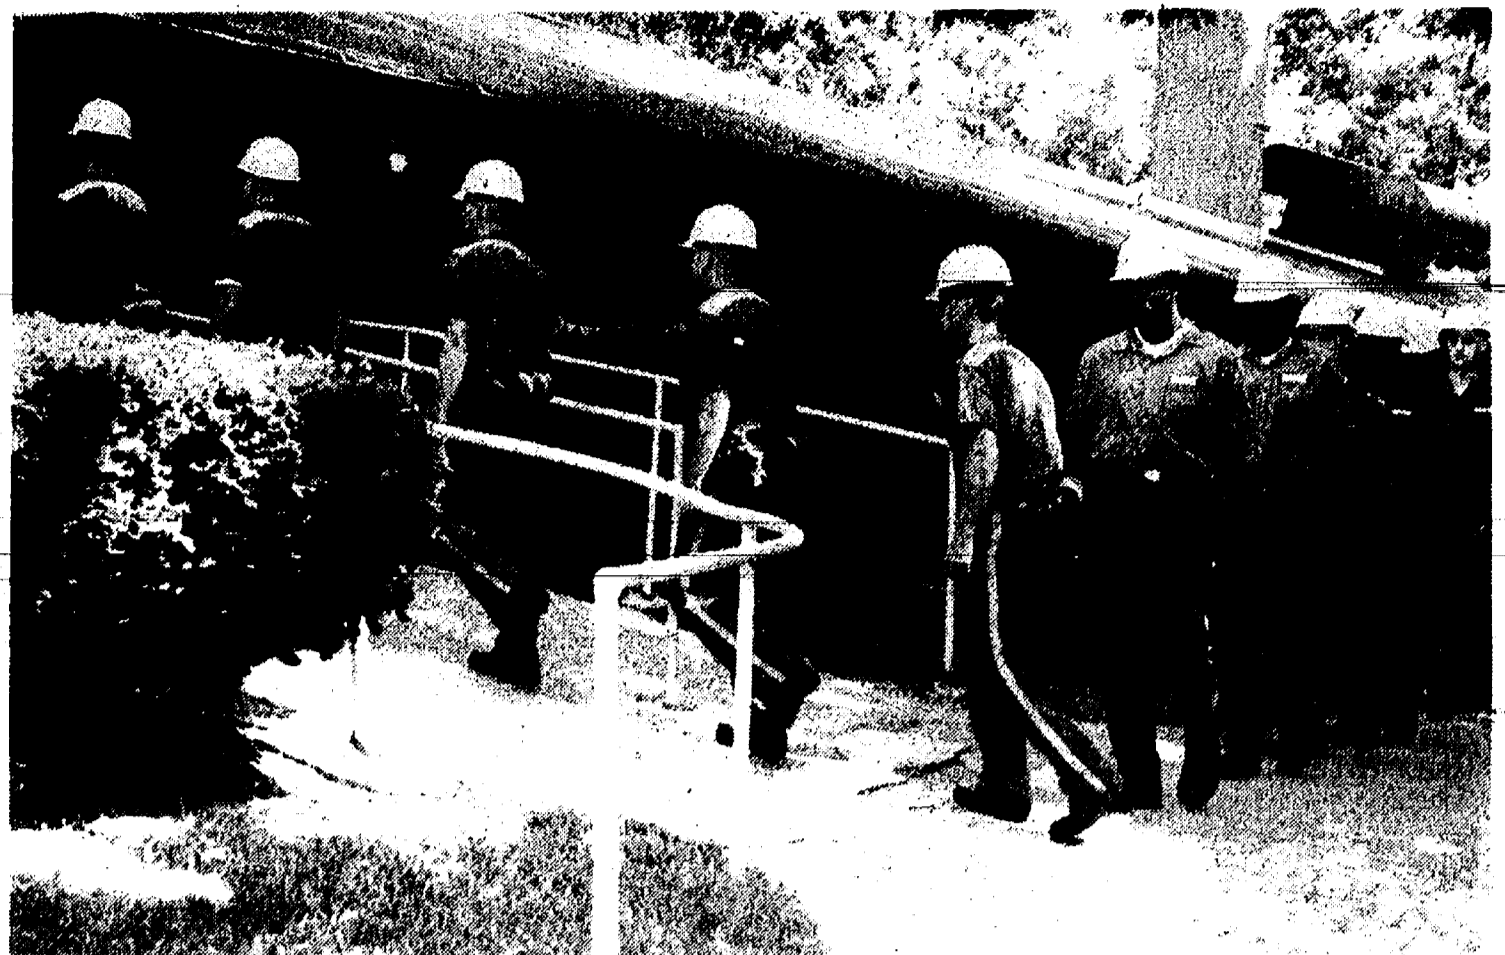

Podeszwik says the average age is 18-25 years because of the physical stamina involved to participate in the program. As of Aug. 5 there were 234 trainees at the camp and an additional 22 going through intake. A maximum of 336 can be housed at the facility, levels set by administrators. Podeszwik says they "feel comfortable" with that number, which is 160 in what is called "A-Company," 80 in "B-Company" and 96 in "C-Company." Each level, A through C, is reached by the number of days they have in the program coupled with their mastery of daily objectives. Disciplinary action is taken by the boot camp's Failure Review Board. They see cases involving participants who commit a number of violations and those who want to quit the program. Ejection from the program can even occur on the 90th day, hours prior to graduation, depending on the severity of the offense.

With its strict standards and staunch disciplinary style, the boot camp is turning up positive results. Podeszwik estimates an 80 percent success rate for turning around felony criminals.

Now, with a proven record, the boot camp wants community input. On Monday, Aug. 16, members of the community are invited to the facility located at 18901 Waterloo Rd., Chelsea, at 7 p.m. for a tour and meeting. A community liaison committee will be formed from interested attendees. Anyone with questions may contact Bruce L. Curtis at 475-1368 extension 205.

CASSIDY LAKE BOOT CAMP TRAINEES, as they are called, cut wood which will be used to fuel their furnace during the colder months. The trainees learn how to work together by using two-man saws and perform other activities which instill a strong work ethic. After 90 days of physical work-outs and general education classes, the inmates are released from the military-style program run by the Michigan Department of Corrections.

IT'S CHOW TIME FOR CASSIDY LAKE boot camp inmates. The "trainees," as they're called, line up and march into the chow hall when their corporals tell them to. Only four are allowed to stand in line at a time and they wait until they are told to sit and eat. As the trainees eat they are told one arm must lay beside them, as the other is used while they eat. They are allowed to eat as much as they want, as long as they finish everything on their plates.

A CORPORAL WHIPS A CASSIDY BOOT CAMP new arrival into shape Thursday afternoon at the camp located in Lyndon township. The young criminal is going through "intake" at the boot camp after just arriving with 21 others from counties across Michigan.

"The only way to have a friend is to be one . . ."

—Emerson

It is a common failing for many people to expect the other person to take the first step forward in demonstrating their friendship. We should all remember that a timely word of encouragement, an expression of sympathy or some other indication of sincere interest might well open the door to better understanding, thereby leading to a lasting friendship.

Friendship cannot be bought on the open market. It is a precious commodity which must be earned . . . slowly, but ever as surely, in the day-by-day unfolding of our lives.

Our consideration and extra service to bereaved families has been the basis of many personal friendships which we greatly cherish.

For more information, stop by Society or call 1 (800) 554-4028. Because if you're about to buy a home, Society has the perfect housewarming gift for you.

Society

Where to grow.

Member FDIC

Example: Mortgages with Society's HomeAssist Program are available with various rates and terms to suit the borrower's individual circumstances. (Rates subject to change daily.) With HomeAssist, a $40,000 home purchase would require a 5% down payment ($2,000 total), of which $1,200 would be paid by the borrower and $800 paid by Society, leaving a mortgage amount of $38,000. In this example, your initial year of private mortgage insurance premium would be $342 ($200 paid by Society and $142 paid by the borrower). Also, using this example, amortized over 30 years at a rate of 8.75% with two loan origination fee points, the borrower would have a 9.6863 annual percentage rate of interest on the $38,000 mortgage, resulting in 360 monthly principal and interest payments of $298.95 each, plus monthly reserves of real-estate taxes, homeowner's property insurance and renewal premiums for private mortgage insurance. (Borrower may choose from optional terms including a mortgage with no points.)

Extension To File 1992 Tax Return Expires Aug. 16

"Taxpayers who applied for an automatic extension of time to file their 1992 federal tax Forms 1040 and 1040A must file the completed return and pay any remaining tax due by midnight, Aug. 16, 1993," said IRS district director John Hummel. "If further time is still needed, a taxpayer may request up to an additional two months (until Oct. 15) by filing Form 2688, Application for Additional Time to file, before Aug. 16," Hummel added. "However, the Form 2688 does not grant an automatic extension. The additional time must be approved by the IRS and if it is not, the taxpayer will generally be granted a 10-day grace period to file the completed Form 1040," he said.

"I also want to take this opportunity to remind individuals who have not filed 1992, or other prior year returns, about our 'Operation Fresh Start' program," Hummel said. "Operation Fresh Start is our special initiative to reach out to these individuals. Although this is not an amnesty program, the IRS will not seek any criminal sanctions against non-filers who are not already under criminal investigation and who voluntarily and honestly file all tax returns due," he said. "This is the perfect opportunity for individuals who have not filed to come forward and get right with the government. We encourage them to file their past due returns today. It's the right thing to do."

Taxpayers with questions on Operation Fresh Start, or extensions, may call the IRS toll-free on 1-800-829-1040, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Taxpayers who need federal tax forms to complete their returns may request them by calling the toll-free forms order number, 1-800-829-3676, during normal business hours.

Visit With Louisa May Alcott Slated at McKune Library

Louisa May Alcott will "visit" McKune Memorial Library on Thursday, Aug. 19, at 7:30 p.m. Actually the visitor will be Jan Turnquist, an actress, who has portrayed Miss Alcott for more than a decade. Turnquist is the living history co-ordinator for Orchard House, the family home and setting for Miss Alcott's famous novel "Little Women," in Concord, Mass.

Miss Turnquist's visit is the result of Chelsea resident, Miriam Robinson's, interest in Louisa May Alcott. Miriam started learning about Miss Alcott, in third grade, for her Triad Enrichment Program project last year. Her extensive research and a family vacation this summer brought her to the attention of Ms. Turnquist and subsequently led to the program "A Visit With Louisa May Alcott" to be held at the Library.

Youth Services librarian Shelley Weber notes "We are thrilled to be able to sponsor such a program and appreciate the support we get from our patrons. Miriam used her public Morrison was forced to take time off work in the middle of a major project to attend the scheduled Monday morning trial. The village was represented by its attorney.

When it came time to appear before District Court Judge Kenneth Bronson, Amburgey pleaded guilty and agreed to pay double the fine for no points on her driving record. Morrison, loaded with an armful of documents, didn't even have to enter the courtroom.

When our family gets together

A Night at the Peking Opera Enjoyed By Mary Ellen Mynning

By Mary Ellen Mynning

A few weeks ago the Foreign Affairs office at Tianjin University arranged a performance by the Peking Opera for the teachers and foreign experts at the local universities. Peking Opera is one of the oldest forms of entertainment in China and it is a combination of singing, dancing, and playing of traditional Chinese instruments in order to tell a story and the themes generally tend to deal with love or fighting and intrigue at court.

The only problem is that the singing is done at an extremely high pitch, very similar to the screeching of cats fighting while fingernails are scratching against a blackboard. Not a relaxing combination of sounds. Thus, many foreigners did not go to the performance. They missed a great evening.

Before the performance started we were allowed to go backstage and talk to the performers while they were putting on their make-up and their elaborate costumes. I spent most of my time talking to Xu, Jian Peng who was 40 and had been performing in the Peking Opera since he was 13. He talked about the Peking Opera school in Beijing where young children who are in their early teens first learn how to sing in a register that does not come easily to the throat, and finally they learn how to apply the complicated make-up. When they graduate at approximately the age of 20, they are sent all over China to different performing companies.

Now while Xu was talking he was putting on his make-up, and then layering on his costume. He had the role of a concubine and told me that it was quite common for a man to play a woman's role, and he particularly liked this role since he had to play a 16-year-old maiden. Now, I felt like this was really stretching it, I mean really. A 40-year-old man as a 16-year-old girl. I had my doubts. But he did it, and he did it magnificently. We were all impressed by his fluid, graceful movements, his sword dance in particular was extremely delicate.

Later, after the performance he told me that his family were peasants in Shandong Province and one of his teachers had encouraged his family to send him to relatives in Beijing at the age of 8 where he could receive a better education. Eventually another teacher pushed his family into letting him attend the Peking Opera school and he felt it was his fate to be a performer for the rest of his life.

It is common for a family to send their child to live with relatives if the family lives in a poor area. Many of my students had been raised by their grandparents and only saw their parents during summer vacation or Spring Festival.

The common age for leaving home is 6. Seems young to me, but it is so competitive in this country when the National Examinations are given in the high schools to see who will qualify for a university education that the families feel it is worth the sacrifice.

Xu was lucky, he said that at an early age his family knew he might not be able to pass the National Examination and so they were happy to guide him into the honorable profession of being an artist for the Peking Opera.

Oh, by the way, I especially enjoyed the performance since my friend had brought along ear plugs!

Sheriff's Deputy Convicted of Obscene Conduct While Driving

A Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department deputy, accused of actual or simulated masturbation with the intent of someone else seeing it, was convicted of a misdemeanor last Wednesday in Chelsea 14th District Court.

Bruce Calmes, 31, was found guilty of a disorderly person-obscene conduct charge following a three-hour trial.

The witness, a 29-year-old Sharon township woman, said she was driving her Ford Ranger to her job in Ann Arbor on the morning of May 21 when Calmes pulled up behind her in his Camaro Z28 after she entered I-94 at Zeeb Rd.

The woman said she looked in her rear view mirror and saw the off-duty deputy pointing toward his lap and trying to get her attention.

She said she speeded up at M-14 and at one point Calmes tailgated her. She said she looked into her mirror and saw Calmes' cupped left hand on the top of the steering wheel, making a pumping motion. The woman recorded Calmes' license plate number and later called a friend who is a Michigan State Police officer.

Calmes admitted that he had his pants off, but that he was merely scratching himself. He said he had shaved his pubic hair and he itched.

Calmes, a Pinckney resident, faces up to 90 days in jail and a $100 fine. He will also be investigated by the sheriff's department. Commander Mark Ptaszek said Calmes could lose his job if his actions are considered serious. Calmes has been on unpaid suspension since the charges were filed.

Michael Vincent, Calmes' attorney, said an appeal may be possible before the scheduled sentencing date of Sept. 13. Judge Kenneth Bronson referred Calmes to the probation department.

Stockbridge Mud Bog Expands into 2 Days

The ninth annual Stockbridge Mud Bog promises to be bigger and better than ever. Because of an ever-increasing number of competitors, Stockbridge Mud Bog '93 has been scheduled for two days. This event is the largest of its kind in the state.

The new format calls for ATV's, stock 4-wheel drives, and an added dune buggy class to compete on Saturday, Aug. 14, beginning at 10 a.m., with the top six contenders in each of the 4-wheel drive classes to return on Sunday to compete for prize money and trophies.

Sunday, Aug. 15 will be professional mud racing vehicles with competition beginning at 1 p.m. There are seven classes of vehicles ranging from Super Stock to Unlimited Mud racers with up to 1,500 h.p., 2-wheel drive racers, and two classes with tractor type tires.

Proceeds from this event will go to the Stockbridge school bands and cheerleaders.

It is taking more effort than ever to make this new two-day event successful. The band Boosters and cheerleaders are very pleased that so many people have been working toward that goal.

For more information contact Ron Kaiser, (517) 851-8788.

Two Chelsea High Students Attend Prestigious Interlochen Workshop

Two Chelsea High school students recently participated in the All-State Musical Theater Workshop at the internationally renowned Interlochen Center for the Arts.

Only 22 students were chosen to attend from districts state-wide. Auditions were held earlier this year at the University of Michigan, which runs the program.

Senior Jessica Cauffiel, 17, and junior Corrie Schoenberg, 16, attended the two-week camp. This is Schoenberg's second year at the workshop.

The camp draws top music students from throughout the world. They stay in rustic cabins at the woody retreat, receive instruction, and are inspired by noted guest artists who visit to lecture and perform.

"It's the kind of experience that just changes your life," Cauffiel said.

"Sometimes there would be dozens and dozens of students from everywhere sitting outside the cabins playing their instruments. You don't just learn about dancing and singing and acting. You learn about what it really takes to make it in something you love."

On Sunday, July 25, the members of the all-state workshop put on "Say It With Music," an hour long take off on a 1948-style radio show in Interlochen's Colson Auditorium. Cauffiel and Schoenberg were featured in solo and duet singing performances. They also performed monologues and commercials in the show.

The workshop production was written and directed by Brent Wagner, who is the head of U-M's musical theater program.

New MSU President Should Value Ag.

The president of the state's largest farm organization said that Michigan farmers hope the soon-to-be-selected president of Michigan State University [MSU] will understand the importance of agricultural research, extension and education.

"If that's the case, then certainly we would support that president, whoever that person might be. If we fail to see these qualifications in that president's credentials, or detect a reluctance on the president's part to recognize agriculture, then we have some major concerns about the future of the university," said Jack Laurie, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Laurie said that MSU, as Michigan's only land grant university, has a special responsibility to the state's agricultural community. "MSU is the school of agriculture here in Michigan, and we have no other alternatives in seeking research and extension support for our industry," he said. "We certainly would hope that, in the selection of the president, there is a major emphasis that agriculture will be recognized as the second largest industry in our state and of critical importance to Michigan's economic growth."

LIMA TOWNSHIP ORDINANCE NO. 15

AMENDMENT TO THE LIMA TOWNSHIP ZONING ORDINANCE, FOR THE PURPOSE OF AUTHORIZING THE WESTERN WASHTENAW COUNTY RECYCLING AUTHORITY TO PLACE RECYCLING BINS IN COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL DISTRICTS AND TO EXEMPT SUCH BINS FROM THE TERMS AND PROVISIONS OF THE ZONING ORDINANCE IN THOSE DISTRICTS.

The Township of Lima Hereby Ordains:
AN ORDINANCE TO DEFINE THE USE OF WESTERN WASHTENAW COUNTY RECYCLING AUTHORITY'S RECYCLING BINS, AN AMENDMENT OF DEFINITION OF USES IN AN INDUSTRIAL DISTRICT, AND AN AMENDMENT OF THE DEFINITION OF ESSENTIAL SERVICES.

Section 1. Section 15.321 Section 15.19 is hereby added to Zoning Ordinance: Section 15.321 Section 15.19 RECYCLING BINS. Recycling bins are recognized as an essential service as the only part of a solid waste management system or solid waste management service provided by or under contract with the Western Washtenaw County Recycling Authority, a Michigan Authority created under the provisions of Public Act 233, Public Acts of Michigan, 1955, as amended, to which the Township of Lima is a constituent municipality. Their location shall be in Commercial or Industrial districts.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Ordinance, the lands, improvements, uses, activities, collection sites, and other properties of the Western Washtenaw County Recycling Authority, to which the Township of Lima is a constituent municipality under the provisions of Public Act 233, Public Acts of Michigan, 1955, as amended, shall be exempt from the provisions of the Ordinance which regulate the use of lands, buildings or structures or their placement only within Commercial or Industrial districts and any minimum lot size, minimum lot area, minimum coverage, parking, number of employees, hours of operation, noise, or other supplemental regulation of the Ordinance, provided, however, that all setbacks and minimum yard requirements of the Industrial or Commercial district shall apply.

Section 2. Amend 15.199 D. Industrial District Uses:
Delete—"Collection center for household waste materials to be recycled—" (defining as a special use in an industrial district)

Section 3. Amend 15.050 c Definition of essential services: to include "recycling bins";

ESSENTIAL SERVICES. The erection, construction, operation, or maintenance by municipalities, departments, commissions, or boards, or by other governmental agencies of the underground portions of water distribution systems and sewage disposal systems, dams, weirs, culverts, bridges, canals, locks, main drains, pipes, conduits, recycling bins (as defined and regulated by Section 15.321), cables, fire alarm boxes, police call boxes, traffic signals, and other similar equipment and accessories in connection therewith, but not including buildings.

Section 4. The within amendment shall be effective twenty (20) days after adoption.

Section 5. All provisions of Township of Lima Zoning Ordinance inconsistent with the within amendment are hereby repealed.

Section 6. In the event that any provision of the within amendment is held unconstitutional or void and unenforceable for any reason, then the provision so held shall be declared severed from the within amendment and the remainder of the amending ordinance shall continue in effect.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I read in The Chelsea Standard three or four weeks ago that a couple on Lima Center Rd. had planted two marijuana plants with their corn for what was believed to be personal consumption. Their neighbors reported them to the police. The State Police were called and at the time of the article they were threatened with four years in prison.

Marijuana is illegal and I am not advocating its use, however, I would estimate that a minimum of 50% of the people between the ages of 28 and 45 living here have smoked marijuana at least one time in their lives. Is purchasing marijuana for personal consumption from a drug dealer better than growing a small quantity for your own use? Should all of these people be threatened with four years in prison?

To the Editor,

Over the summer Catherine McAuley Health Center will be closing Alpha House as a long-term residential treatment center for chemically dependent teen-agers. In its place CMHS will operate a Center for Troubled Teens, reportedly offering a combination of short-term crises residential and day treatment for youths with mental health and, possibly, chemical dependency problems.

As the parent of a chemically dependent teen-age daughter in the Alpha House program, I am angered at and bewildered by the lack of commitment and foresight of the CMHS' administration. Due to CMHS' failure to establish and aggressively pursue long-term funding support for Alpha House, CMHS, by default, will be depriving the community of this critical resource.

CMHS has broken its commitment to the community by closing Alpha House. The original idea for this program came from a community group which initiated contact with CMHS to gain its involvement. Funds were raised by the community with the help of CMHS for the construction and for scholarship monies. Alpha House was never expected to make money or even meet its own expenses through reimbursement. Fees for the residents are assessed on an ability to pay basis.

Alpha House was established to serve not only Washtenaw county but also Livingston, Oakland, Wayne, Jackson, Lenawee, and Monroe counties. Since 1985 Alpha House has served over 350 families from counties throughout Michigan as well as Northwestern Ohio and Canada.

I have several questions. Why didn't the administration take advantage of the tremendous amount of resources—courts, industry, the Department of Social Services, and the community in general—available in southeastern Michigan to provide the funding base for Alpha House's survival?

Why, since 1987, has CMHS sat idly by, especially when state funds were being cutback to Alpha House and the hospital was having its own financial problems?

Why does CMHS have to sacrifice Alpha House because CMHS is closing the inpatient psychiatric unit at the new Mercywood Building?

Where will the hundreds of chemically dependent adolescents and their families, especially those who cannot afford long-term treatment, go for help?

We, the parents of the current residents at Alpha House, have asked CMHS to maintain Alpha House as it now exists and give us time to raise monies. CMHS will not give Alpha House this reprieve. Alpha House is the second Chemical Dependency program originally begun with community philanthropy that CMHS has closed. There is no other facility in Michigan for families who cannot afford long-term treatment.

I believe it is about time that CMHS should honor its commitment to the community—by that I mean Southeastern Michigan in addition to Washtenaw county—to support Alpha House as it now exists and work with us to raise money. The community originally came to CMHS offering the idea for Alpha House and its financial support. It is time for the community to reclaim Alpha House and help ensure its survival.

Early Enrollment Urged for Pupils New to School District

Parents who will be residing in the Chelsea School District are urged to enroll their children early for the 1993-94 school year. All Chelsea students will begin the 1993-94 school year on Tuesday, Aug. 31; elementaries at 8:30, middle school at 8:30, and high school at 8:25.

All new entrants must comply with Michigan law regarding immunizations, and must provide the school with a record verifying that proper vaccines have been obtained.

ELEMENTARY—All school district kindergarten students should register at North school. Parents will need health immunization forms and the child's birth certificate to register their child for kindergarten. All other elementary-age students can register at either North or South school on Aug. 18, 19, 20 from 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. Elementary children who will be riding a bus will be placed in either North or South school depending on present student enrollments. Walkers will attend their appropriate neighborhood school, and those parents should register their children at that school. Both North and South schools will be hosting an orientation program to welcome new students. South school will be hosting an orientation program on Aug. 24, and North school will have its orientation on Aug. 25. The time schedules for both elementary orientations are: kindergarten to grade 2, 9:30 to 10:15 a.m.; grades 3 to 5, from 10:15 to 11 a.m.

MIDDLE SCHOOL—Sixth-grade students should plan to report directly to the school cafeteria, where they will be introduced to their first-hour teachers who will, in turn, escort them to their classrooms. Seventh and eighth-grade students will pick up their class schedules and then report to their first-hour classes. Students should plan to arrive at school between 8:15 and 8:25 a.m. First-hour classes will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Families new to the Chelsea School District may wish to enroll their middle school students on Aug. 18, 19 and 20 from 9 a.m. until 11 a.m., and from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. Susan West will be available to answer questions and to register new students at Beach school.

The middle school principal will review the parent/student handbook on the first few days of school. A copy of the handbook will be sent home with policies and operational procedures at Beach school.

HIGH SCHOOL—Parents and students are asked to report to the high school office to pick up and complete registration forms and scheduling information as soon as possible so that records can be requested from the former school. All new students must meet with a counselor on Aug. 18, 19 or 20 to establish a schedule for the 1993-94 school year. Please call on Aug. 16 or 17 to set up an appointment. After Aug. 17, counseling appointments may be arranged through the counseling office secretary, Jan Sweet.

Any new student interested in athletics should be aware that fall practice begins Aug. 16. Likewise, new students interested in band should be aware that band camp will be held from Aug. 24 through Aug. 27.

The first day of school for all students will be Tuesday, Aug. 31. All high school students should report to the gym by 8:25 for a brief orientation before reporting to classes. All current students will be receiving a letter with more detailed information.

TRANSPORTATION—Complete information on bus schedules will be made available in the Aug. 18 issue of The Chelsea Standard.

DR. FRANK OGDEN Medical Missionary Will Speak at Free Methodist Church

Dr. Frank Ogden, medical missionary to Burundi with the Free Methodist Church, will speak at the Chelsea Free Methodist church, 7665 Werkner Rd., on Sunday, Aug. 15, at 8:30 and 11 a.m. and at 6 p.m.
Since December, 1985, Dr. Ogden has served as medical director and surgeon at Kibuye Hospital at Burundi, a 75-bed facility supplying health care to an area populated by 200,000 people. The hospital is also a surgical referral center for all of the nation.
One preventable health problem Dr. Ogden encountered was malnutrition among babies who were no longer nursing. To meet this need, he built a factory in Kibuye to produce a cheap, nutritious baby cereal called Muzalac. It is now sold all over the country, with both adults and children eating it.
Dr. Ogden is one of the relatively few surgeons in this part of the world. He and his wife, Maxine, have three grown children.

Summer Reading Program Attracts 323 Participants

McKune Memorial Library's Summer Reading Program was a huge success this year. 323 children ages, 3 years through 6th grade, participated in the six-week program with a total of 7,035 juvenile books being circulated within that period.
Children were awarded prizes ranging from bookmarks, fish erasers and stickers, to McDonald's ice cream sundaes. 60 lucky participants won new paperbacks in the weekly drawings held at the Library. The program was sponsored by the Friends of the Library, McKune Memorial Library, McDonald's and UAW-Local No. 437.
All the participants have been invited to attend the final party to be held at the UAW Hall across from the Library on Friday, Aug. 13, from 11 to 11:45 a.m. Storyteller, Laura Pershin, will enchant the audience with her funny and fabulous tales. Congratulations to all the participants for an ocean full of summer reading.
"A special thank you" from Youth Services Librarian, Shelley Weber, "to all that helped make this program a success. Members of the community supported the Youth Services Department with the cutting out of decorations, donating aquatic items for the Children's Room, reading during Friday afternoon storytimes and much more. Each year the community helps make this a special programming success and we appreciate it."

As late as the 1700s, some people in Europe and America believed that lightning could be kept away by ringing church bells.

Plumbing, Pipe Fitting Instructor Training Underway at WCC

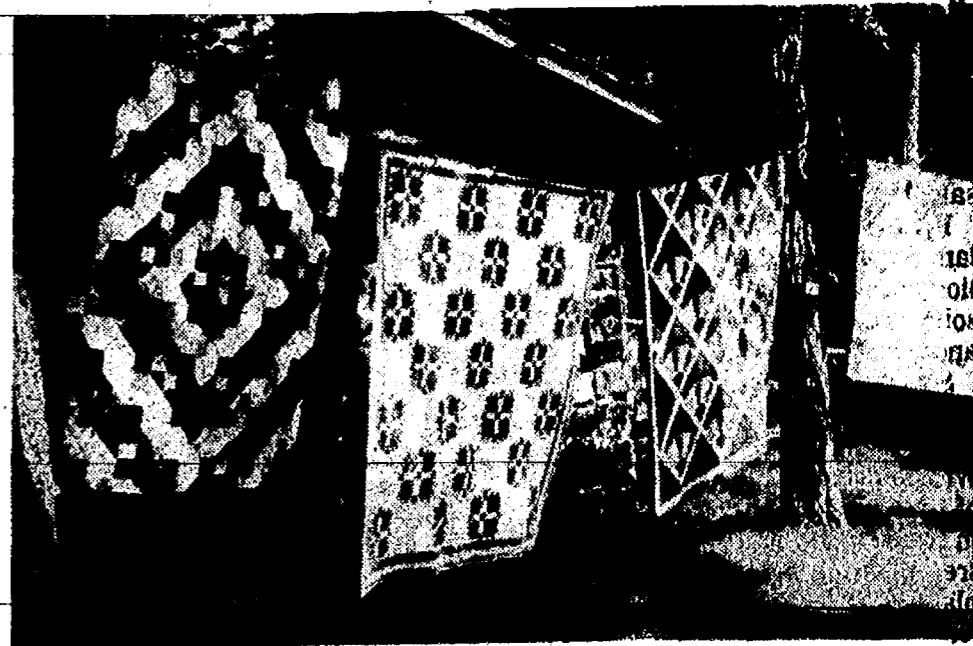

The United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Industry of the United States and Canada (UA) has announced that more than 1,200 instructors are registered for their 40th annual Instructor Training Program being held at Washtenaw Community College the week of Aug. 7-13. These instructors will participate, many for the first time, in this ongoing, five-year program designed to update their teaching skills and technical knowledge.

The skills and knowledge they gain will be shared with apprentices and journeymen in the pipe trades in over 400 union locals across the U. S. and Canada. The UA Instructor Training Program is recognized as the best of its kind in the construction industry.

Local hotels, restaurants and other entertainment establishments are expecting sizeable increases in business because of the week-long program.

This is the fourth year the program has been held at Washtenaw Community College.

Fall Tree Sale Announced

Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District board of directors has announced the district's annual fall tree sale.

Purpose of the tree sale is to offer landowners seedlings for conservation uses which include reforestation, soil erosion control, wildlife habitat and windbreaks.

Seven species will be available this fall: Austrian Pine, Red Pine, White Pine, Blue Spruce, Norway Spruce, White Spruce, and Douglas Fir. Some of these species will also be available in transplants. Also, available will be tree planting bars, a sturdy tool for planting seedlings, marking flags, Deer Away repellent, and a Tree and Shrub Pocket ID Guide.

Orders with payment in full will be accepted until Thursday, Sept. 30. Trees may be picked-up on Wednesday, Oct. 6 and Thursday, Oct. 7 at the Soil Conservation District Office, between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

For more information or to obtain order forms, contact the Soil Conservation District Office, 6101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor, 1/4 mile west of Zeeb Rd., phone: (313) 761-8721.

Heart Health Screening Slated

A Heart Health Screening will be conducted by the Washtenaw County Public Health Division on Tuesday, Aug. 31 from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Participants will receive blood pressure and cholesterol testing, individual consultation about their results, and information on how to decrease their risk of heart disease.

The screening will be held at the Adult Health Clinic located in the Washtenaw County Human Services Bldg., 555 Towner, Ypsilanti. For more information, call 484-7200.

New Map Lists Every Stream, Lake in Michigan

If you live in Michigan, vacation in Michigan or think about Michigan from time to time, you have to have a new 4-foot by 4-foot map that details every lake, river and tributary in the water-rich state.

Even native Michiganders (few of us answer to Michigander) are awed by the number of rivers (35,000 miles) and lakes (5,000 plus) in their home state. The map also points out Great Lakes shoreline cities and harbors, important information for planning trips.

"This should be in every classroom in Michigan," said Thomas L. Washington, executive director of Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC). A guide accompanies the map that locates 5,000 of the state's best trout streams, canoeing waters, lakes and recreational harbors. The guide lists 4,000 streams and 1,000 lakes alphabetically and geographically and cross references their mention in other fishing guides.

"Our motto is conservation through education, and this map makes it vibrantly clear how important water is in Michigan," Washington said. "We're delighted to offer this vital map. Of course I'm partial, but the best part is that each map sold helps MUCC protect those lakes and streams."

The Michigan map stems from the work of soil scientist Howard Hagan, who spent 30 years mapping Pennsylvania's 45,000 miles of streams. His technique, aided by computer, led to Michigan's map.

The map is available rolled or folded on 80-pound paper for $23.95 postpaid, or laminated for $43.95 postpaid. To order, please write MUCC Stream Map, Map Department, P.O. Box 30235, Lansing 48909.

Memoriam 20

IN LOVING MEMORY OF

MAJORIE P. NOTTEN YORK

Passed away August 17, 1992

God saw you were getting tired. Couldn't take no more. So he closed his arms around you and whispered, come walk with me. You didn't deserve what all you went through. And so he gave you rest. God's home must be beautiful because he only takes the best.

Sadly missed by:

Daughters, Grandchildren,
Sisters and Brother,
Family and Friends.

Alice Salyer

Health System Sponsoring Summer Immunization Fairs

Catherine McAuley Health System and Washtenaw County Public Health are co-sponsoring three free immunization fairs on Aug. 14 and Aug. 21 to assist parents in preparing for the 1993-94 school year.

Immunizations will be offered free of charge to children of all ages. Hepatitis B vaccine will only be available for infants less than 1 year of age.

The first fair will be held Saturday, Aug. 14, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Meljers on Carpenter Rd., Ypsilanti, in the Garden Center. The second fair will be held Saturday, Aug. 21, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Meljers on Ann Arbor-Saline Rd., Ann Arbor, in the Garden Center. A third will be held Saturday, Aug. 21, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Scio Township Fire Station, 1055 Zeeb Rd., Ann Arbor.

Parents are asked to bring their child's immunization record to help determine which immunizations are needed. Both fairs will be staffed by volunteer CMHS physicians, nurses and nurse practitioners.

"We encourage parents to update immunizations for all children prior to the start of the school year to meet enrollment requirements for school and day care," said Ilene Phillips, program co-ordinator for CMHS Pediatrics. "We also are working very hard to immunize children under the age of 2. By the time children enter school, 95 to 98 percent have had current immunizations. However, the percentage of immunized children under 2 years of age is much lower."

A state grant that Washtenaw County Public Health received to raise the rate of immunizations for children under 2 years of age will help provide the vaccine for these immunization fairs.

For more information, call Ilene Phillips at (313) 572-3325 or Esther Teich at (313) 484-7200.

Deputies Report Assaults, Careless Use of Firearm

Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies investigated a number of incidents in Dexter, Chelsea, Webster township, Scio township and Lyndon township July 29 through Aug. 4.

Marc P. Sparaco of Chelsea was arrested on a felony warrant out of Washtenaw county for breaking and entering a vehicle. He was lodged in Washtenaw county jail.

Larceny and malicious destruction of property was reported in the 15000 block of Osius Rd., Lyndon township. An 18-year-old neighbor boy, who was house sitting, said he held a party at the house, inviting about 20 guests. During the party, his friends stole a TV, guns, wine, jewelry, furs and clothing and damaged two waterbeds. Initial estimates show $10,000 in damages and more than $10,000 worth of property stolen. However, the homeowner needs to compile a thorough list. The detective bureau has been called to follow up with an investigation. The housesitter has provided a list of party-goers with their addresses and phone numbers for investigators.

Careless use of a firearm was reported in the 8400 block of Dexter-Chelsea Rd., Scio township. The owner of a group home reported five bullets were shot at his house. A 23-year-old township man fired the BB gun, barely missing children who were on the porch. The 23-year-old suspect said he didn't see a house while he fired his gun in the woods. Deputies returned to the scene, where they found his shooting target in full eyesight of the house. The man's weapon was confiscated and prosecutors are reviewing the case. The man was not arrested.

Assault with intent to murder was reported in the 6000 block of Gregory Rd., Webster township. A 47-year-old man reported his stepson tried to harm him and his wife, who is the natural mother of the 27-year-old Pinkney man.

On Aug. 1, malicious destruction of property was reported on Fletcher

Rd. near Trinkle Rd., Chelsea. A 68-year-old Dexter man reported damage to his cornfield when a 21-year-old Chelsea man apparently drove his Ford F-150 pick-up truck into it. The Chelsea man denies driving his truck in the field. He says someone stole his truck and did the damage to the two-acres of farmland. The deputy is trying to arrange a polygraph test with the suspect, but hasn't been able to contact him since the incident.

On Aug. 2, arson was reported in a field on Mester Rd. near Lindley Rd., Lyndon township. A 67-year-old Chelsea man, the owner of the field, says someone set fire to 10 bales of hay, causing $175 in damages. Chelsea Fire Department, which was on the scene, was unsure of how the fire started. There are no witnesses or suspects.
