Chelsea Ind. Workers Vote To Strike Unless Company Begins Talks

Turbulent labor relations at Chelsea Industries, Inc. took another turn Sunday night when employees voted 44-8 to strike if management fails to negotiate. In addition, management has been shaken up in recent months, and employees have started a slowdown by refusing to bring their own tools to work.

More than a year ago, company employees voted overwhelmingly to join the United Auto Workers following an extremely close vote the year before. The results of the second election have been certified by the National Labor Relations Board.

However, the sides have been unable to negotiate a contract, because, workers say, the company refuses to bargain in good faith.

Jeff Rudd, part of the employees bargaining committee, said the company has been contacted three times by certified letter to begin bargaining, but there has been no response. Consequently, the strike vote was taken. Fewer than half the employees voted.

"We filed another unfair labor practices charge and took the vote to strike," Rudd said.

If there should be a strike, employees can be replaced temporarily, but not permanently, Rudd said.

However, Chelsea Industries attorney Steven Fishman of Bloomfield Hills said Monday that "it's not true at all" that three letters have been sent. However, he said the company responded promptly to a letter sent immediately after the Chelsea Industries employee vote was certified by the National Labor Relations Board informing the employees of the fact the company would take.

Fishman said the matter is in an appeals process. The company wants an independent court to review the situation because they believe some employees may have been coerced to vote for the union. He would not guess how long the process might take.

It's not known when a strike might take place.

Employees have charged the plant is unsafe, among other concerns, which caused them to vote in the UAW.

Company president Ron Thompson, as well as Fishman, said Monday that they were not aware of the strike vote.

Thompson, previously in charge of quality control, replaced Jack Dunn as company president this spring. Dunn, who is out of the day-to-day operations of the company, still has 45 percent ownership. He and his wife, Nancy, have started a new company called Dunn & Associates, and have an office in the clocktower building. Jack Dunn is still working in the wire business, while Nancy Dunn is marketing a line of children's clothes imported from Spain.

According to a source close to the family, four days after Jack Dunn returned from his mother's funeral, the Chelsea Industries board held a meeting and forced him out of the company. Dr. James Botsford, who owns 45 percent, was joined by accountant Del Dunbar, who owns seven percent, and John Mayne, who owns three percent, in the vote. Until two years ago, Dr. Michael Papo also owned part of the company but sold his shares to Botsford and Dunn.

Jack Dunn was caught completely by surprise by the vote, the source said, as apparently the company was coming off one of its most profitable years.

Rudd said he had heard that Dunn may have been re-thinking his position against the union, which may have contributed to his ouster. Nancy Dunn refused to comment Monday on Rudd's allegation. Thompson did the same.

The Dunn's son, John, who had been sales manager, left the company earlier this month and took a job with a Chelsea Industries competitor.

In another development Monday, Rudd said a 15-day shutdown had started because about 35 employees had refused to bring their own tools to work.

According to the employee manual, Rudd said, the company is supposed to provide set-up tools, such as adjustable wrenches and Allen wrenches, to get machines ready in the morning, which the company has not done.

CAP Starts Fund-Raiser For Curtains

Chelsea Area Players have rehearsals well under way for the upcoming fund-raising event to be held at the Common Grill Monday, Oct. 11. All proceeds go directly toward the replacement of the stage curtains at Chelsea High school. The curtains cost $18,000 and CAP has pledged to finance half of the project.

CAP will hold "Curtain Up" featuring talent from past shows in a wide variety of vocal numbers, both solo and group performances. The evening will not only feature a wonderfully entertaining show, but a spectacular meal selection from Craig Common's well known entrees. There will be two seatings (6 and 8:30) and tickets are available on a first-come-first-served basis by calling 475-8792 or 475-8713. Tables are filling up fast.

If anyone is unable to attend but would like to help out financially with the curtain project, CAP will gladly accept tax deductible donations at P.O. Box 575, Chelsea 48118 (payable to the Chelsea Area Players). Please include a return address so that a receipt can be mailed to your home.

Chelsea Man Walks into Trouble

A Chelsea man who had two outstanding warrants for his arrest showed up at the Chelsea Police Department last Tuesday to borrow a cigarette from the dispatcher.

Robert Stoddard of Buchanan St. was taken into custody by police.

Village Considers How To Buy Water Tower, Trash Transfer Station

The cost of living in the village is likely to rise soon after village council decides how to buy a new water tower and trash transfer station.

Last night council was scheduled to consider separate resolutions to sell bonds for both projects.

A new water tower would be constructed on the southern edge of the village. Acting village manager Bruce Pindzia said Monday that new towers cost about $1 per gallon of volume, so a 300,000 gallon tower would cost about $300,000.

Total cost of the new tower, with all the necessary pipes to the village wells could be about $800,000, according to trustee Frank Hammer of the council's Ways and Means Committee.

It's likely that bonds would be financed through water user fees, which means water rates may have to be raised. Water revenue bonds could also be sold within three months, without a vote, which makes it probably the quickest option.

A consultant's report recently estimated that the current water tower could have as little as one year of life remaining. The village, Hammer said, has been looking for a suitable used tower for the last six months, with no success.

Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Department has offered to donate land for the site of the new tower. It would be somewhere near the entrance of the planned county golf course off M-52 at the highest point in the village. It's not known whether the timelines of the village and county will make the donation feasible. The county is purchasing about 200 acres for the golf course/winter park project.

Council was scheduled to consider three separate resolutions pertaining to the water bonds. One would allow a bond issue to pay for any costs related to the project that are accumulated before the bonds are sold. Another would provide a way to put the measure on the ballot if at least 10 percent of registered village voters sign a petition.

The transfer site, to be built at the village's Solid Waste Facility on Werker Rd., would be financed by a dedicated solid waste millage, which can be levied by council without voter approval. The village can levy up to three mills. No millage is now levied for such purposes.

The millage, which would probably come to less than a mill, Hammer said, would also be used to pay for closure of the final landfill cell as well as unknown remediation costs for the first landfill cell.

The transfer site is estimated to cost about $350,000. It would be used by the entire area but owned and managed by the village.

The village is losing money with its current arrangement of roll-off bins at the Solid Waste Facility because the trash cannot be compacted before it is hauled away.

"It's clear that we either have to go ahead and build the station, or we have to get out of the business completely," Pindzia said.

The transfer site has been discussed for more than a year. Initially, area townships were interested in becoming involved, but that interest has waned since spring and there has been almost no talk about it since.

Village Planners OK Parking Lots, BookCrafters Plan

Chelsea Village Planning Commission approved a truck display lot for Palmer Ford-Mercury last Tuesday.

The lot, just south of and adjacent to the self-serve car wash on S. Main St., is for the display and sale of trucks. There will be 48 display spaces on the long, narrow lot, approximately an equal number on both sides.

There will also be a 600-square-foot building in the center of the lot.

In other business, the commission also approved a Chelsea Milling Co. visitor parking lot for North St.

The lot will provide 40 new parking spaces opposite the company's headquarters.

The commission also approved site plans for a 30,685-square-foot addition to the BookCrafters, Inc. plant at the village industrial park on Sibley Rd. The addition would increase the total complex to 73,435 square feet.

The building will match the rest of the complex. The company has apparently not made a final decision as to how it will be used to expand the business. It will, however, be used for manufacturing purposes.

Gene Dr. Property Owners Keep Pressure on for Road Upgrades

A potential upgrade of Gene Dr. was scheduled to be on village council's agenda last night.

Residents of the road wanted to push for a vote on their $150,000 proposal to extend utility lines but leave Gene Dr. a dirt road. The cost would be split equally between Gene Dr. property owners and the village. It was not clear as of press time whether a vote would be taken last night.

The village has offered a $203,000 alternative that would provide the complete package of utility lines, paved road, and curbs and gutters. That cost, however, would be paid completely by the property owners. The village would initially pick up the remaining $200,000 of the project through the use of village labor and acting as a general contractor. However, there is some sentiment on council for recouping all that money through a surcharge on tap fees for any new development in the area.

Acting village manager Bruce Pindzia said that no matter what happens, he wants to see some resolution to the problem and does not want it ignored.

Pindzia said it might make sense to leave Gene Dr. a dirt road because the proposed assessments are so high they would force the land owners to sell their property, probably to developers.

With the village's proposal, three landowners face assessments of $4,400 per year for 20 years. It's not likely they could afford to hang onto the land for very long.

Chelsea Political Novice Plans To Run for Governor Next Year

Gov. John Engler doesn't know her and will probably never see her as a major threat, but Chelsea's Joanne Weber is serious about mounting a challenge for his seat next year.

And if Weber is elected, it would have to be considered the biggest political upset of the century.

Weber, 51, a medical assistant at the Taubman Center, has no political experience. She has never run for any political office, nor has she served in any appointed positions. She has no financial backing and plans to do no fundraising. She's running as a Republican, "because it's the party of Abraham Lincoln and it needs to go back and start caring about people."

She's running, "just because I care about people" and "because I can make a difference." She tends to be short on specifics but long on philosophy about major issues, saying "I don't have all the answers to every problem."

"As a medical assistant, I see a lot of people come in with a lot of different needs," Weber says.

"I got to talking to the doctors about various things and they encouraged me to go for it. I decided two years ago to do this and it just kind of snowballed. I've had a lot of encouragement."

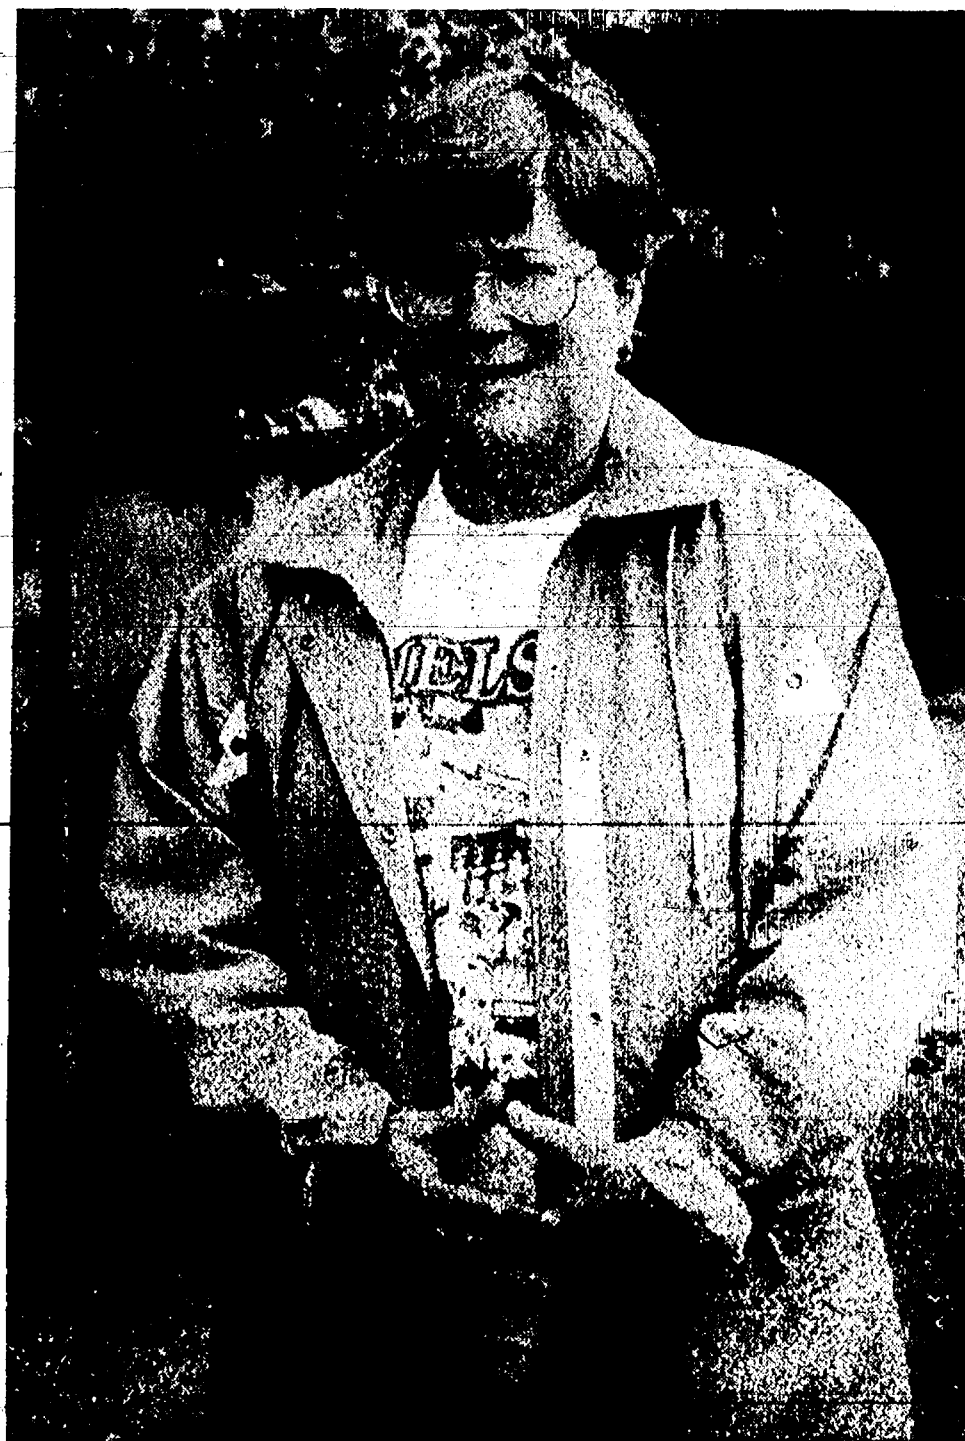

Weber, a 29-year Chelsea resident, is a graduate of Flint Central High school. She attended Western Michigan University but didn't earn a degree. She later went to Ross Career School to study to be a medical assistant.

Education reform is a major issue for Weber. She says it came to the forefront because of an experience she had with her son, Norman, a Chelsea High school graduate and now a student at Bowling Green State University.

FOOTBALL CHEERLEADER and Chelsea High school senior Jenny Holzhausen was crowned Homecoming Queen last Friday night at half-time of the homecoming game with the Lincoln Railsplitters. Jenny was escorted by her brother, Jeff, a former Winter Carnival King.

JOANNE WEBER of Chelsea, a political novice, has decided to run for governor next fall. She says she'll run as a Republican.

Lioness Club Helps Project Focus Hope

Chelsea Lioness Club held its first meeting for the 1993-94 year Sept. 13. Speaker for the evening was Ken Bell from the Pennfield Lions Club. He spoke and showed pictures of Project Focus Hope. This is a project started by Jackie Campbell of the Battle Creek area to provide medical care for people in a remote, mountainous section of Bolivia. Club members brought personal care items to send to Jackie.

The next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 11, 7:30 p.m., at the Society Bank. Members will be making paper twist baskets.

The club is inviting all ladies, who would like to know about the Lioness Club and its projects, to join them that evening. You will have the opportunity to meet members and fashion a basket to take home. If you plan to come, please call 475-8041, so there will be supplies on hand for you.

ter High school. She is employed at Walco Foods.

The bridegroom is a 1986 graduate of Dexter High school. He is employed at First American Title Co. of Ann Arbor.

Methodist Church Women Plan Quilt Show Fund-Raiser

Saturday, Oct. 2, will be an exciting and busy day in the life of Chelsea First United Methodist church. For several months now plans have been underway for a Quilt Show. Purpose of the show is a fund-raiser to benefit the new building project which is now underway.

The biggest project undertaken by the planning committee is a quilt that was designed to be offered for silent auction. The quilt is a replica of a stained glass window in the existing church building. It was designed and made by several members of the church. The quilt will be on display at the show where bids will be accepted through the end of the show on Saturday.

Many different types of quilts will be displayed at the quilt show, including both new designs and antique. Several vendors selling quilt related supplies and other items will be on hand. Also available will be a dessert and beverage service.

The show is being held at the church and will be open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Members of the planning committee include Laura Bloomensaat, Pat Becker, Pat Kraska, Barb Branch, Jan Kneiper, Carol Benedict, Ginny Morgan, Marilyn Mead, and Sharleen Eisenbeiser.

Correction

A story several weeks ago about a woman who was charged for speeding in the village, and whose attorney forced the village clerk to show up at the courthouse with an armful of documents, should have said the following. Jill Amburgey was charged with driving 35 miles per hour in a 25 zone, although her actual speed, according to an officer's notation on the ticket, was 40 miles per hour. The case was dismissed and she was ordered to pay $100 in court costs. She did not plead guilty.

CHS Seniors Named Commended Students in Merit Program

Chelsea High school seniors Christopher Leatham, Maya Ponte, and Erin Schiller have been named Commended Students in the 1994 National Merit Scholarship Program. Approximately 35,000 Commended Students throughout the country are being honored for their performance on the 1992 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, which was the route of entry into the 1994 Merit Program. Commended students have shown exceptional academic promise by placing among the top five percent of more than one million program entrants. However, their test scores are slightly below the level required to continue in the competition for merit scholarships.

Michigan Farmers Worry About Health Taxes, Regulations

Although President Clinton's health care reform plan contains some provisions long sought by farmers, those benefits are offset by the proposal's reliance on employer mandates, increased state and federal regulation and new taxes, according to Michigan Farm Bureau.

"We commend President Clinton for providing a 100 percent tax deduction for health insurance premiums paid by self-employed individuals," said Jack Laurie, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau. "The self-employed have sought this for years as a matter of equity."

Laurie also lauded Clinton for "addressing the special needs of rural people." He said the plan provides incentives for doctors and other health care professionals to practice in rural areas and for urban health care networks to serve rural areas. The plan also provides for greater technical assistance to rural health providers through telecommunications.

"While the provisions for rural residents are praiseworthy, they do not alleviate our basic concerns about the package," said Laurie. "We oppose requiring employers to pay for their employees' health insurance and we oppose the new taxes that purportedly will finance this plan."

In addition, he said, "We oppose the federal minimum benefit plan and the increased number of federal and state regulations that will be imposed on health care providers."

Hospital Planning Series of Classes

Chelsea Community Hospital is sponsoring a three-week Healthy Eating Class with tips and recipe suggestions on how to reduce fat and increase fiber in meals while keeping them delicious. The food pyramid will also be discussed. Plan on Friday, Oct. 8, 15 and 22 at 12 noon for participation in this course. Classes meet in the Hospital's Woodland Room B. Medicare will reimburse 50% of program cost.

For more information and to register call the Hospital's Education Department, 475-3835.

Social & Emotional Survival: Helping the Learning Disabled Child Fit In is the subject of a program offered by Chelsea Community Hospital on Tuesday, Oct. 12 at 7 p.m. in the Hospital's Woodland Room. It is widely accepted that the presence of a learning disability can significantly affect a child's social and emotional adjustment. Dr. Richard K. Howlin, Dipl. Psych., Ph.D. will discuss recent findings from the fields of neurology and neuropsychology and their implications for intervention. This class is open to all interested persons and there is no fee.

For more information call the Hospital's Education Department, 475-3835.

Chelsea Community Hospital is offering As Parents Grow Older, a series of classes designed to assist persons with aging parents or relatives. The importance of caring for yourself as well as your loved one, is discussed. These sessions meet Wednesdays, Oct. 13, 20, 27, Nov., 3, 10, 17 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Hospital's Private Dining Rooms.

In 1988, only 33 percent of high school graduates from the class of 1982 reported that they participated in employer-sponsored training on their last full-time job, compared to 60 percent of those who went on to finish college. Employer-sponsored training often leads to better paying jobs, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Occupational Outlook Quarterly.

"We have no more right to consume happiness without producing it than to consume wealth without producing it . . ."

—George Bernard Shaw

There are exceptions, of course, but the law of economics dictate that we must first produce what we would consume. As a consequence, our consumption can be expected to be in proportion to the amount we produce.

Shaw suggests that happiness follows an identical rule. Indeed, have you ever known anyone who was truly happy who did not bring happiness in abundance to all around? The lesson is clear: To be happy, promote happiness among all around you.

Our desire to help, together with many years of experience, enables us to anticipate and attend to the wishes of the families we serve.

Jeff Daniels' New Comedy Opening At Garage Theatre

Purple Rose Theatre Company will launch the 1993-94 season of productions with The Vast Difference, a new comedy written by Jeff Daniels. Previews of The Vast Difference will be held Thursday, Oct. 7 through Oct. 14, with the official opening night on Friday, Oct. 15. Performances for the remainder of the eight-week engagement will be Wednesdays through Saturdays at 8 p.m. with Sunday shows at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. through Sunday, Nov. 28. All performances are at the Purple Rose Theatre Company's Garage Theatre, 137 Park St., Chelsea.

The Vast Difference takes a humorous and bizarre look at the changing roles of the American Male in the 1990's. The central character, George Noonan, is a "thirty-something" flight attendant for Heartland Airlines, a commuter airline specializing in travel to all the exciting locations of the Midwest. George is perplexed about the circumstances of his life; including his chosen profession, his relationship with his wife and the realization that he has inherited his father's feet. George's efforts to solve his identity crisis propel him into regular visits to his urologist's office, with detours to Mann's Chinese Theatre and the right field corner of Tiger Stadium along the way.

The Vast Difference is written by Jeff Daniels, executive director of the Purple Rose Theatre Company and noted actor of Broadway and Hollywood fame. This production of The Vast Difference will be the third original script of Daniels to be produced by the Purple Rose Theatre Company. His first PRTC script, Shoe Man, ran for 13 weeks in 1991 and received 1990-91 Best New Play Award from The Detroit News. Shoe Man will also be presented later this season at Florida's Pope Theatre Company. Daniels also wrote The Tropical Pickle, which ran for a PRTC box office record of 17 weeks during the summer of the 1991-92 season. The Tropical Pickle also received the Best Comedy Award from The Ann Arbor News.

Leading The Vast Difference cast are John Seibert as George Noonan, Jean Lyle Lepard as his wife, Janet Maylie as his urologist and Guy Sanville as his father. The remaining members of The Vast Difference cast include Peter Bellanca, Daniel C. Jacobs, Jr., Wayne David Parker and Brian Schuit.

The Vast Difference is being directed by T. Newell Kring, artistic director of the Purple Rose Theatre Company. Kring has collaborated with Daniels and directed the PRTC productions of Shoe Man and The Tropical Pickle. Scenic and lighting design is by Peter Beudert, costume design is by Jeanette deJong and sound design is by Steve DeDoe. Anthony Caselli is the stage manager for the production.

Tickets for The Vast Difference vary in price from $10 to $20. Six low-priced $10 previews will be held Thursday, Oct. 7 through Thursday, Oct. 14. Tickets for the official opening night on Friday, Oct. 15 are $25. Ticket prices after opening night will be $20 for Friday and Saturday performances and $15 for Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday performances.

The Vast Difference will run for a minimum of eight weeks through Nov. 28. The remainder of the Purple Rose Theatre Company 1993-94 season includes Two Sisters, a new comedy by T.E. Williams to be presented from Jan. 20 through March 13; Keely and Du, a challenging drama by Jane Martin, from March 31 through May 22; with a fourth production (to be announced at a later date) scheduled from June 9 through Aug. 28, 1994.

Reservations may be obtained by calling the Purple Rose Theatre Company Box Office at (313) 475-7902. Ticket reservations are recommended due to the limited capacity. The Purple Rose Theatre Company Box Office is open Monday through Friday from 12 noon to 6 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays of performances beginning one hour prior to curtain.

JIM KESKENY OF PINCKNEY was named the official United States representative to the Persons with Multiple Sclerosis Committee in April. Keskeny has been active locally spreading the word about MS. His new international role will link him with other countries and provide insight into how they're researching the disease and looking for a cure.

Pinckney Man Named To Persons with MS Committee for 4 Years

A local man with Multiple Sclerosis has been named the official United States representative to the Persons with MS Committee of the International Federation MS Society.

Jim Keskeny of Pinckney was named to the four-year term in April after being recommended by the former representative. His appointment was confirmed after he was nominated by the International Affairs Committee and approved by the National MS Board of Directors.

Keskeny, stricken with MS in his early 20s, has spent the last 15 or more years on the local level informing people about the crippling disease. On a higher level, Keskeny served a two-year term on the Michigan Board of Trustees for MS. Keskeny believes his involvement on an international level, attending conferences and competing in marathons—including the Paris Marathon in which he was pushed by a team of runners—brought him the international appointment. He says he owes a lot to local sponsors like Dexter's Protomatic and car manufacturers Ford and Toyota, who helped pay his way to international events.

Because MS is one of the most common disabling neurological disorders—it's estimated 3 million have it worldwide, 800,000 Americans and about 15,000 in Michigan—MS support groups are popping up all over the world. That is one of the reasons why the Persons with MS Committee exists. It allows representatives from each country to meet at conferences and discuss the newest breakthroughs in battling MS.

Keskeny says the main message for people across the world is that there is hope for people with MS and their relatives. He says there are a lot of international breakthroughs people should be encouraged about, in-

Farmers Concerned About Proposed Pesticide Policy

The state's largest farm organization agrees with a number of the goals outlined in the Clinton administration's plan to revamp federal pesticide laws. But Jack Laurie, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, said farmers are troubled by some of the provisions and believe they would have adverse impacts on farmers and consumers.

"We are the most concerned with the complete loss of benefits consideration in the pesticide review and approval process," he said. "This would prohibit the Environmental Protection Agency from taking into account the value of pesticides in maintaining an adequate, affordable and wholesome food supply."

Laurie said farmers are committed to the safe, judicious use of all chemicals and to finding non-chemical alternatives where they are practical. "We believe we are doing a good job, but if there are better, proven methods we are committed to adopting them," he said. "The administration's proposal to replace the outdated Delaney Clause with a single negligible risk standard for pesticide tolerances in all foods is one that we welcome. It has been well documented that the Delaney Clause has not made the food system safer. Instead, it has made it less safe by allowing older, riskier pesticides to stay on the market," according to Laurie.

Farm Bureau supports H.R. 1827, recently introduced in Congress.

CLEANING YOUR EXPENSIVE SILKS:

Your silks need special care

The most sensitive fabric to clean is silk. It needs to be washed in light loads - usually in half the normal sized wash - and the delicate fabric makes spots and dirt difficult to remove. ANNUAL Law Enforcement Torch Run was held last Thursday in Washtenaw county. Law enforcement officers ran from the Washtenaw/Jackson county lines to the north side of Ann Arbor, all to raise money for Special Olympics. The local run raised more than $10,000. Above, the runners follow a sheriff's department car down Old US-12. Chelsea officers David Ringe and Paul Whelan took part, as well as Chelsea resident Gary Kistka, a member of the Ann Arbor Police Department.

CHELSEA COUPLE Evelyn and Fred Venus took some time out Saturday afternoon to stop by the Dexter Cider Mill for doughnuts and cider. The couple found themselves in the midst of the Dexter Merchants Apple Daze event. Hay rides, sales and other promotions highlighted the day, as well as music by a carousle organ on the corner of Broad and Main Sts.

EDUCATION RESEARCH

★ Parents Are Keys to Student Success, Advise Principals

Parents are the best role models students can have, and by modeling the right behaviors they can help their youngsters become more successful in school.

That's the opinion of several finalists in the 1993 National Principal of the Year (NPOY) program as the new school year begins. And they all agree that parental support is essential to successful learning. "Parent involvement is the final leg of the education triangle that will assure success for the student," says William C. Martin, principal, Texas City High School. "When students, teachers and parents work together, kids learn."

Modeling appropriate behavior is a key way parents can help their children learn, according to Billie Jean Knight, another NPOY finalist and principal, Manhattan Beach (Calif.) Intermediate school.

"Read, read, read," Knight urges parents. "Students need to see that people around them believe reading is important. If kids do not have good role models, they simply won't do it (read)."

While many parents are working and have less time to spend with children, whatever free time they have at home they can use it to model good behavior. If they collapse in front of the television set for five hours each night, their children are likely to do so also. If they read, their children are more likely to read.

Knight also urges parents to talk with their children.

"Today, very few families talk to each other," she says. "Parents should try to be around for their teens and listen to them, not just give them directions. Students also need to see listening skills modeled."

Parent involvement should not stop after the early grades, according to National Principal of the Year Janie Ruth (Hill) Hatton, principal, Milwaukee (Wisc.) Trade and Technical High School.

"Parents are clearly a key to successful learning, and the older children become, the more they need parental support."

Hatton believes one of the best ways parents can contribute to young people's growth and education is to affirm their accomplishments.

"Compliment your child and ask positive questions," she advises. "Everytime a parent praises his or her child for a quality performance on a class project or completing a homework assignment, that parent is reinforcing the value of education."

Parents should also ask questions that will lead youngsters to take the right action, not questions that will condemn them for mistakes. Question whether students have a plan to complete an assignment before it's due, not why they didn't turn in the assignment, Hatton urges.

Martin says parents should not be afraid to come into schools. "Parents may feel they are not wanted in schools because in the past we may have made them unwelcome," Martin explains. "But we have moved beyond that. Parents should go into the school and ask how they can help. They need to be in classrooms working with teachers and students."

The National Principal of the Year program is sponsored by MetLife and the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP). Those interested in nominating principals should contact NASSP at (800) 253-7746. Nominees must complete application forms by Oct. 29.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, Sept. 20, were Diesing, Knutsen, McCalla, Roberts, Redding, Eisenbeiser, Merkel, superintendent Piasecki, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Wescott, Stieber, Mead, assistant principal Helms, special education director DeYoung, athletic director Welton, community education director Rohrer, curriculum director Bissell, guests.

Meeting called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Jane Diesing.

Board approved the minutes of the executive session of Aug. 30.

In action items, the board:

- approved the annual spring baseball team trip to Florida,
- approved the membership of the Sex Education Advisory Committee for 1993-94,
- approved a leave of absence for South School teacher Karen Henry,
- approved the request of a previously suspended student to enroll in night-school classes, with the stipulation that he not be on campus during the day without permission of the administration,
- approved 1993-94 budget cuts totalling $425,000.

Entered as official communications were (1) information on the upcoming NSBA Conference, (2) news articles regarding education funding, (3) suggestions/opinions from two readers of The Chelsea Challenge, and (4) two complimentary letters on behalf of two administrators.

Prior to acting upon the aforementioned 1993-94 budget cuts, the board discussed at great length the difficulties involved in not knowing the amount of money in recapture and in the final State Aid package.

Athletic Director Welton submitted a report to the board relative to projected expenses for a sports program for 9th-grade girls. His figures did not include costs for uniforms, equipment, lighting, maintenance and administration.

Meeting adjourned at 10:50 p.m.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

COLBY SKELTON makes another fine catch during Chelsea's homecoming game with the Lincoln Rallsplitters last Friday. Skelton caught nine passes for 179 yards and three touchdowns.

Bulldog Tankers Beat Tecumseh and Fenton

Chelsea Bulldogs swim team recorded victories over Tecumseh, 112-73½, and Fenton, 98-88, last week.

"The Fenton meet was a much-needed win for us," said Chelsea coach Dave Brinklow.

"We lost our opener against Adrian by seven points, so it was exciting to see them come out on top in a close meet after a very intense week of training."

In the Tecumseh meet, Brinklow was able to put swimmers in events they don't normally compete in.

"We had 20 personal best times out of 27 swims," Brinklow said.

"It was nice to see what kind of flexibility we can have with our line-up." Results of the Tecumseh meet follow.

The 200 medley relay team of Christie Lonskey, Erin Hack, Kelly Bowers, and Erin Baird took first. Cara Heitman, Nona Giebel, Beth Vogel and Jill Holloway placed fourth, and Erin Armstrong, Hillary Smith, Angie Wilson, and Heather Pratt were fifth.

Stephanie Wesolowski won the 200 freestyle, Carrie Smith was second, and Amy Hinshaw third.

In the 200 individual medley, Beth Vogel was first, Armstrong second, and Hillary Smith fifth.

Wilson was second in the 50 freestyle, Michelle Dymond was third and Giebel sixth.

Lonskey was third in diving, Jennifer Schulz fourth, and Alicia Vogel fifth.

In the 100 butterfly, Wesolowski was first, Heitman fourth, and Giebel fifth.

JV Football Team Loses to Lincoln

A big second quarter gave the Lincoln Rallsplitters junior varsity football team a 34-13 victory over the Chelsea Bulldogs last Thursday.

Chelsea scored first after holding Lincoln and taking the ball on the eight after a bad punt snap. Mike Thayer scored on a one-yard run and Casey Wescott kicked the extra point.

Lincoln scored on their next possession on a 20-yard run. Two-point conversion try was no good and Chelsea held a 7-6 lead after the first quarter.

The Rallsplitters out-scored Chelsea 22-0 in the second period as the Chelsea offense virtually stopped, said Chelsea coach Bill Bainton.

Chelsea opened the third quarter with a drive that stalled at the Lincoln seven on an interception. Neither team scored in the quarter.

Early in the fourth quarter, Chelsea

Dymond was second in the 100 freestyle, Armstrong tied for third, and Beth Vogel was fifth.

The Bulldogs swept the 500 freestyle as Baird was first, Carrie Smith second, and Hinshaw third.

The 200 freestyle relay team of Hack, Wesolowski, Giebel, and Hinshaw was second, and Baird, Dymond, Carrie Smith, and Hillary Smith were third.

Bowers won the 100 backstroke, Lonskey was second, and Wilson fourth.

In the 100 breaststroke, Hack was first, Hillary Smith fourth, and Pratt sixth.

In the 50 freestyle, Hack was first, Lonskey fourth, and Heitman sixth.

Lonskey won the diving, Schulz was second, and Alicia Vogel third.

scored on a 34-yard-seven play drive following a failed Chelsea attempt on fourth and two.

Ray Hatch ran the kick-off back 47 yards to the Lincoln 36. From there, Chelsea began its final scoring drive of the night, capped by Thayer's two-yard run.

"We just had a huge letdown in the second quarter," Bainton said.

"Other than a 10-minute stretch, we played some decent football. We did a much better job offensively and defensively in the second half."

Thayer had 134 yards in total offense and two touchdowns. Jeff Landrum had his best game in the defensive line, Bainton said. Garth Hammer also blocked well, he said.

Bowers was second in the 100 butterfly, Wilson was fourth, and Vogel was fifth.

In the 100 freestyle, Baird was first, Hack second, and Armstrong sixth.

Schmunk was second in the 500 freestyle, Dymond was third and Hinshaw fifth.

Dogs Dismantle Lincoln With Big Pass Attack, Go To Western Friday

It took just three weeks of the Southeastern Conference season for the Chelsea Bulldogs to find themselves at the top of the league all by themselves.

Chelsea, the league's only unbeaten team, clobbered the Lincoln Rallsplitters at home last Friday, 36-12. Meanwhile, Saline whipped the Pinckney Pirates, 26-7, who had been the league's only other undefeated team.

The Bulldogs pulled ahead, 28-0, with 1:38 left in the third quarter on a seven-yard touchdown pass from Pat Steele to Bryndon Skelton at the right front corner of the goal line.

The Rallsplitters scored two unanswered touchdowns to pull within 28-12 with 10:53 left. Lincoln scored from three yards after a 34-yard pass, and a short time later on a 75-yard run.

But Chelsea quickly sealed the win with a 26-yard field goal by Tim Wescott and a 18-yard touchdown pass to Colby Skelton with 4:18 left.

"I thought we played well on both sides of the ball," said Chelsea coach Gene LaFave.

"We got ahead 26-0 and there might have been a little lessening of our intensity. We had a couple of breakdowns but we had some new kids in on defense."

Chelsea moved the ball well all night long and for the first time this season gained more than 100 yards on the ground. Gabe Bernhard returned to action and picked up 55 yards on 10 carries. Steele had 40 yards on 10 carries and Wescott gained 28 on nine carries.

"We ran the ball better and Jay Westcott will be back this week so we should be a balanced team," LaFave said.

"I know we can run the football."

Chelsea's dominant passing game was the best it's been all season as well. Steele completed 18-34 for 318 yards and three touchdowns. Two other touchdown passes were called back due to penalties. One pass was picked off. Colby Skelton caught nine passes for 179 yards and three touchdowns. Don Poppenger caught three for 78 yards, Bernhard grabbed three for 33 yards, Wescott caught two for 21 yards, and Bryndon Skelton caught one for seven yards.

Despite the two touchdowns, the most any team has scored on Chelsea all year, the Bulldogs played another solid defensive game. Lincoln had 266 total yards, 206 on the ground. But take away the two big plays and the Rallsplitters had 137 total yards. End Aric Dougherty was Chelsea's top defensive player of the week, LaFave said.

Chelsea took a 13-0 lead in the first quarter. After Lincoln punted the ball on the opening drive, Chelsea took four plays to score as Steele connected with Skelton on a 13-yard pass.

The Rallsplitters were forced to punt on four plays, and Chelsea began a 59-yard scoring drive. Steele found Wescott for 10 yards and Steele ran for another 20 to the 25. A pass to Colby Skelton moved the ball to the five; before Steele punched the ball over on a keeper with 4:06 left in the quarter.

Neither team could get much going in the second quarter. The first three drives ended in punts. A Chelsea fumble at the Lincoln 30 was returned to the Chelsea 25. Five plays later, Steele tipped away a fourth-down pass at the goal line with 1:18 left in the half.

Chelsea scored again on the opening drive of the second half. After a pass to Colby Skelton at the Lincoln 42, Wescott ran to the 30 and Bernhard to the seven. There Steele found Skelton on a quick pass over the middle for Skelton's second touchdown. The conversion try was no good and Chelsea held a 19-0 lead.

A five-down Lincoln drive ended with a punt to the Chelsea 29. A 21-yard pass to Colby Skelton moved the ball to midfield. Steele ran the ball to the 36. Two plays later, a touchdown pass to Poppenger was called back due to pass interference.

Steele passed to Bernhard, and a face mask penalty at the end of the play put the ball at the Lincoln 13. Five plays later, Bryndon Skelton caught a pass over his shoulder at the goal for the touchdown.

Between the Lincoln touchdowns, a 55-yard touchdown pass on a fake punt from Steele to Bryndon Skelton was called back on a penalty.

Wescott's field goal was set up by a 22-yard pass to Poppenger to the Lincoln 22 and an interference penalty to the seven.

Colby Skelton completed the scoring on a leaping catch at the goal line in which he bobbled the ball at the peak of his jump but caught it on the way down between two defenders.

The Bulldogs, plagued by injuries all season, may have lost the services of starting noseguard Eddie Greenleaf for the season. He suffered a broken leg and may be back for the play-offs if the Bulldogs make it that far.

On the plus side, center David Brock and Westcott should return to action.

The Bulldogs have their bye in league play this week when they go to Jackson County Western. Western has two wins after a long losing streak. They feature one of the best tailbacks the Bulldogs will see this season.

Bulldog Cagers Whip Big Reds In First Conference Contest

Courtney Thompson's 20 points paced the Chelsea Bulldogs to a 55-45 victory over the Milan Big Reds last Thursday in Chelsea.

Thompson dominated play inside during the second quarter when she scored 14 of Chelsea's 18 points. Chelsea led 33-16 at half-time.

"It was a good way to start," said Chelsea coach Charlie Waller.

"I thought Milan played well against us."

Chelsea led 45-30 after three quarters when Milan made a short run.

"Mara Smith bailed us out in the fourth quarter," Waller said.

"She scored all six of her points and was most of our offense."

Other Chelsea scorers included Ann Terpstra 11, Erin Schiller 8, Charlotte Ziegler 6, Martha Merkel 2, and Kate Steele 2.

Thompson had 12 rebounds. In non-conference play last Tuesday, Chelsea lost to undefeated Williamston, 58-47.

Chelsea was down 45-43 after three quarters but the Bulldogs missed several shots at the start of the fourth quarter and were suddenly down by 10 points.

"Williamston may have been the best team we've seen all year," Waller said.

"They got into foul trouble and we caught up with them, but then we had trouble scoring in the fourth quarter while they shot well. It's hard to feel bad. We played well but they are a good team."

Thompson again led Chelsea with 18 points, including 6-10 shooting from the free throw line. Other scorers were Cary 8, Schiller 6, Terpstra 5, Ziegler 4, Smith 4, and Steele 2.

Terpstra paced Chelsea with 11 rebounds.

The Bulldogs were 4-3 over-all and 1-0 in the Southeastern Conference after last week.

8th Grade Cagers Split Two Games

Beach Middle school eighth grade basketball team defeated Dexter last Monday, Sept. 20, 24-23.

Dexter led after the third quarter and the game was close all the way.

Chelsea scorers were Cindy Richard 7, Robyn Raymond 6, Stephanie Lundquist 4, Jessica Ritter 3, Rachelle Skelly 2, and Hilary Spooner 2.

Chelsea rebounders were Raymond 9, Richard 7, Meghann Ziegler 5, Sara Pruess 5, Lundquist 4, and Spooner 4.

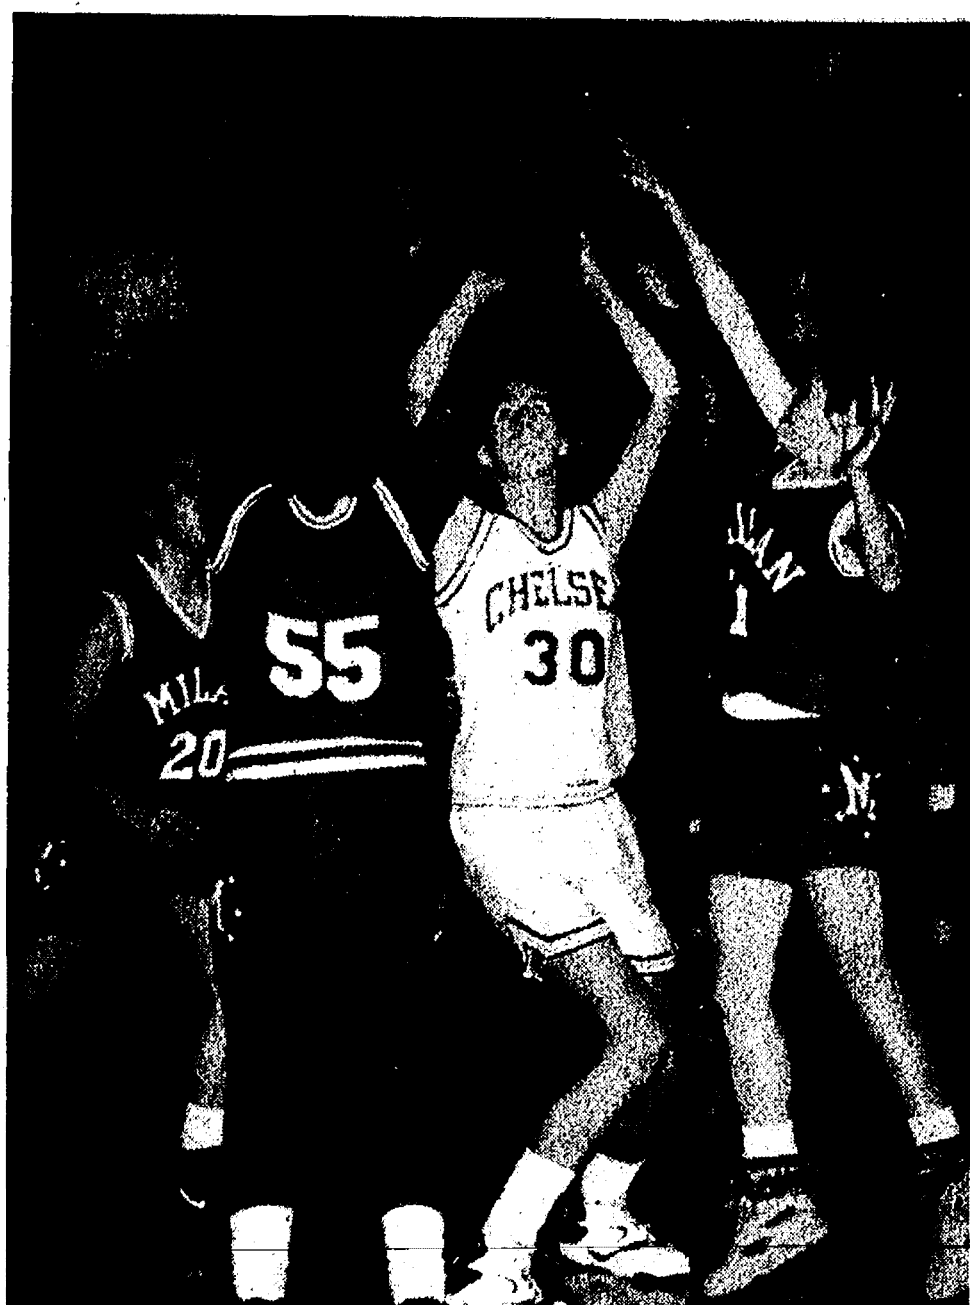

Leading stealers were Ritter 3, Raymond 3, Spooner 3, and Richard 3.

On Wednesday, Sept. 22 the Bullpups defeated Pinckney, 30-20.

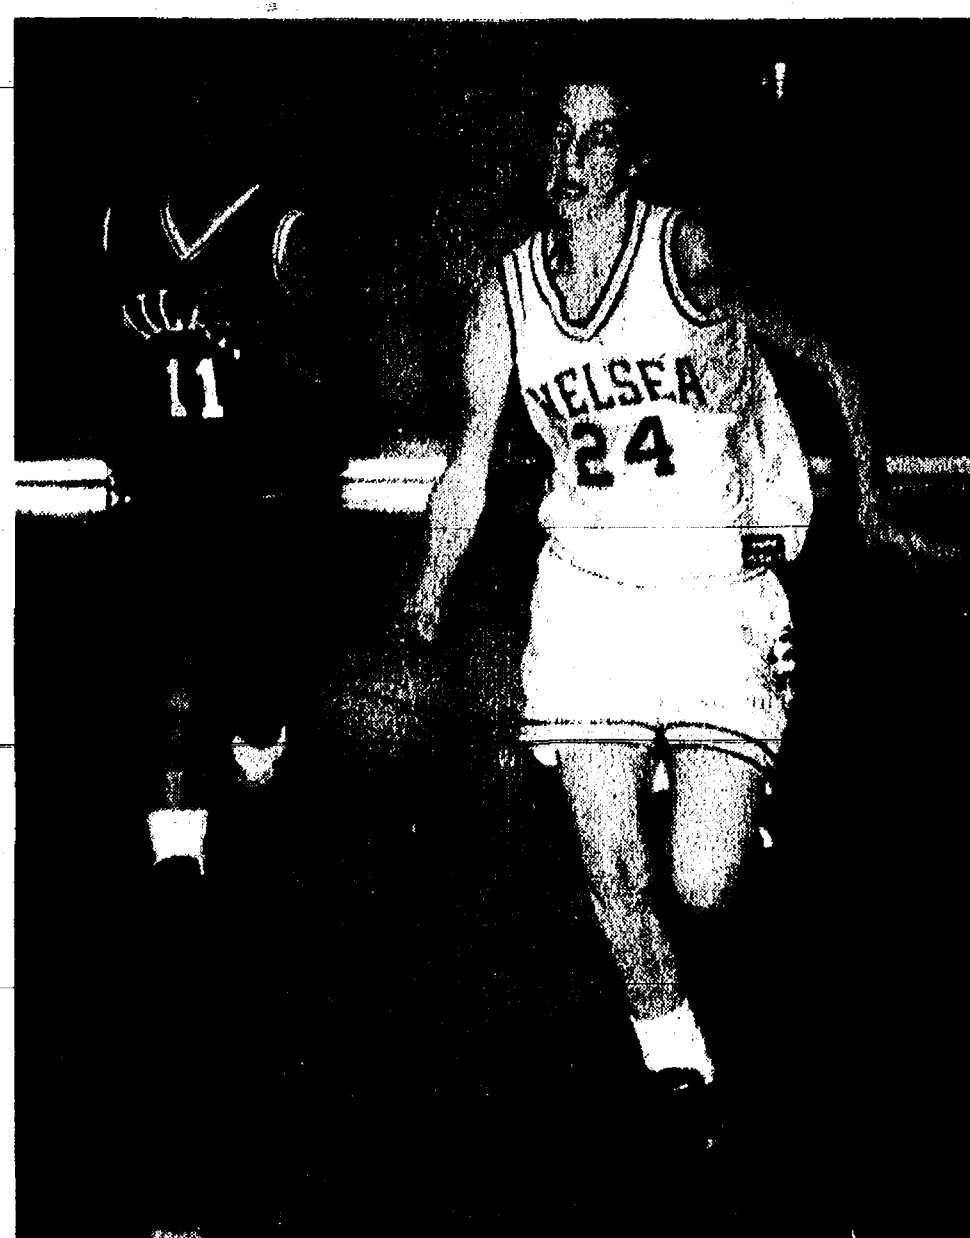

Chelsea scorers were Rachel Spruce 5, Ziegler 3, Skelly 3, Lundquist 2, Liz Alvarez 2, Richard 2, Angie Carpenter 2, Pruess 2, Jennifer Saarinen 2, Leslie Parker 2, Ritter 2, Raymond 2, Spooner 1.

Chelsea rebounders were Richard 8, Pruess 5, Skelly 5, and Ziegler 4.

Chelsea led 20-6 at half-time and 25-10 after three quarters. Thirteen girls scored and 15 had rebounds.

COURTNEY THOMPSON goes up through three Milan defenders during Chelsea's first Southeastern Conference game last Thursday. Thompson led the Bulldogs with 18 points in the victory, 14 in the second quarter.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

It was a perfect Chelsea homecoming Friday. That is, I guess, with the exception of the cancellation of the afternoon pep rally, which I have discovered was not a popular move with some kids and even some parents. As I understand it, it had to do with some sort of Pep Rally Technicality, not any lack of student spirit or the overwhelming desire to sit through that final hour of class. "Please, Mr. Mead, do I really have to miss that lecture on Mesopotamia?"

That's all beside the point, anyway. I think of homecoming, since I'm not a student anymore, as what happens on Friday night after work.

I went downtown to witness the spectacle of the annual—and the term should be used very loosely—Homecoming Parade.

In the past years the parade has more closely resembled a traffic detour off M-52. Teams run up to the local farm supply store, buy up all the straw, pile it into the beds of a dozen pick-up trucks, assemble downtown, leave the municipal parking lot driving 20 miles per hour, hold up rush hour traffic for about 45 seconds, then floor it down Park St. for the high school lot. The first couple of years, I couldn't get a decent photo of any part of the parade because it was moving by so quickly.

This year we had the marching band, as well as a REAL FLOAT designed by the football players' parents. We probably even have a photograph of it in this week's issue somewhere. It had footballs, goal posts, and even the varsity cheerleaders. And I have to admire the parents' resourcefulness. They modified a leftover float from the Chelsea Fair Parade that was still hanging around. Not a bad idea. Let's recycle all those suckers next year and have a sensational parade. Think of it. Fair floats could be designed to be re-designed. Loosen a few bolts and Dorothy, the Tinman, and Totb become an angry lineman chopping a Railsplitter with a Bulldog frothing at the mouth.

Other than the float and the band, it still wasn't much of a parade. A little too heavy on the engines, a little light on ingenuity.

(By the way, I tip my hat to the person who decided to have homecoming so early in the year. With the exception of the homecoming queen candidates, who dress like they're going to an outdoor July wedding reception, few people froze.)

The action on the field was the homecoming highlight. And I am not just talking about the football. At half-time the 125-member marching band put on what I thought was the best show I have ever seen here. Selections ran the gamut from "I Could Have Danced All Night" to Edgar Winter's rock number "Free Ride." Before the game they played the tune made popular by the Blues Brothers, "I Can't Turn You Loose." It was a far cry from my first year covering high school football when every band played the themes from "Star Wars" and "Rocky." Mark Carlson had a superb trumpet solo on the jazz standard "Birdland." It was just a splendid night of music and the band earned a well-deserved standing ovation.

And yes, there was a little football Friday night, although it wasn't a terribly competitive game. Quarterback Pat Steele and split end Colby Skelton had their way all night, as has become the custom this season. The line gave Steele all night to throw. And as they showed once again, if Steele can put the ball within five yards of Skelton, it will be caught. It doesn't seem to matter how many defenders are in the area, either. They hooked up for 179 yards and three touchdowns.

Friday will prove to be a positive turning point for the Bulldogs (if that's possible in a season when they're 4-0). They ran for 123 yards, the first time all season they've gained so much on the ground. Running back Gabe Bernhard looked good, but not as sharp as he'll be in a couple of weeks. Starter Jay Westcott is due to be back this week, and that should give the backfield a big lift. They'll have a chance to improve their timing against what should be one of the weakest opponents on the schedule in Jackson County Western.

Saline whalloped Pinckney last Friday, which put the Bulldogs in first place in the Southeastern Conference all by themselves. Now it will take a tremendous upset for the Bulldogs not to win at least a share of the crown. I, for one, was hoping two undefeated teams would play for the SEC title in the conference finale.

Over-all, couldn't have asked for much more out of homecoming.

Friday night had one depressing moment. It looks like senior noseguard Ed Greenleaf will be lost for most of the season with a broken leg, and believe me the Bulldogs will miss the anchor of their defensive line. I hate to see a senior have to sit on the sidelines, especially in what could become a record-setting season.

Chelsea 42, Western 6.

DON POPPENGGER snags another long Pat Steele pass during last Thursday's homecoming game against the Lincoln Railsplitters. The play, which would have been a touchdown, was called back due to a penalty.

Bulldogs Boys Shut Out Milan To Stay Unbeaten in Conference

Chelsea Bulldogs boys cross country team shut out the Milan Big Reds, 15-50, last Tuesday, Sept. 21.

The Bulldogs took the top eight places and 10 of the top 11.

"We ran fairly well," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"Senior captain Chris Leatham continues to improve and ran his best race of the season to take fourth. Juniors Kevin Kolodica and Brian Atlee also ran their best races of the season. Freshmen Tim Lawrence and Robert Bullock also ran very well.

The victory gives Chelsea a 3-0 record in the Southeastern Conference.

Chelsea results were: 1. Cory Brown, 17:31; 2. Ryan Schultz, 17:31; 3. Scott Hawley, 17:56; 4. Chris Leatham, 18:25; 5. Josh Metzler, 18:35; 6. Brian Atlee, 18:44; 7. Kevin Kolodica, 18:45; 8. Tim Lawrence, 18:48; 9. Jason Valchine, 18:57; 11. Dan Wehrwein, 19:00; 13. Eric LeFurge, 19:20; 14. Kevin Coy, 19:27; 15. Nick Kramer, 19:45; 16. Robert Bullock, 20:15; 19. Karsten Lipiec, 20:30; 20. Chris Dronen, 20:34; 21. Tim Wesner, 20:39; 23. Dave Tracy, 20:48; 24. David Stimpson, 22:57; 25. Aaron Atlee, 23:07; 26. Aaron Sporer, 24:39; 27. Deacon Holton, 25:38.

The Chelsea boys won the Jackson Invitational B division by two points over Albion, 61-63, last Saturday.

"We ran very well in a highly competitive field," Clarke said.

"This is the first time we have ever won the Jackson Invitational. Cory Brown and Scott Hawley set personal records. Josh Metzler seems to be recovering from a brief illness. He passed four runners in the last 200 meters to give us the margin of victory. We are improving and that is the important thing."

Chelsea results were: 3. Cory Brown, 16:13; 7. Schultz, 16:54; 13. Chad Brown, 17:13; 15. Hawley, 17:19; 23. Metzler, 17:33; 46. Leatham, 18:10. Chelsea is ranked fourth in the state in class B.

Chelsea Girl Harriers Outrun Milan in Easy SEC Victory

Chelsea Bulldogs girls cross country team improved their record to 2-1 in the Southeastern Conference with a 15-50 victory over the Milan Big Reds last Tuesday, Sept. 21.

Melissa Hand won her first varsity meet, although she and teammates Molly Griebel, second place, and Beth Bell, third place, finished with identical times of 21:03.

"Freshman Jennifer Space and junior Erika Leiter ran personal records," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"Leiter cut her time by 25 seconds. Senior captain Sarah Henry made up 200 meters in the last half mile to pass Milan's number one girl at the finish."

Other Chelsea results were: 4. Katie Spink, 21:37; 5. Jennifer Space, 21:52; 6. Erika Leiter, 21:58; 7. Sarah Henry, 22:04; 11. Melissa Williams, 22:48; 12. Kim Smith, 23:30; 15. Kim Niehaus, 24:25; 17. Sarah Metzler, 24:38; 18. Emily Anderson, 26:33.

The Chelsea girls won the Jackson Invitational by five points over second-place Saline, 62-67, last Saturday.

"We ran just super," Clarke said.

"All seven girls posted season-best times. Six of the seven ran all-time personal records. The girls were very happy to beat Saline since they just beat us two weeks ago. The girls are really pulling together as a team. They deserve a great deal of credit for their fine effort."

Chelsea results were: 3. Griebel, 19:38; 7. Bell, 20:05; 12. Hand, 20:30; 17. Spink, 21:01; 23. Leiter, 21:33; 25. Henry, 21:39; 32. Space, 21:48.

Leiter's time was 22 seconds better than her previous best.

Tennis Team Drops Two Tough Matches

Chelsea Bulldogs tennis team lost matches to Jackson Lumen Christi and Greenhills last week, both by 0-7 scores.

"These two plus Saline are the toughest competition all season," said Chelsea coach Terri Curtis.

"They are always tough."

In the Lumen Christi match, Liz Holdsworth lost to Reena Sachder, 1-6, 0-6; Jessica Knight lost to Hillary Beck, 0-6, 1-6; Laura Hurst lost to Amy Fors, 0-6, 0-6; and Autumn Allen lost to Marci Russell, 0-6, 0-6.

In doubles play, Tracy Haas and Becca Flintoft lost 3-6, 1-6; Sara Smith and Liz McLaughlin lost 3-6, 2-6; Casey White and Anne Frederick lost 5-7, 1-6.

In the Greenhills match, Holdsworth lost to Sarah Collins, 0-6, 4-6; Anna Daigle lost to Kelly Jordan, 1-6, 0-6; Hurst lost 0-6, 2-6; and Allen lost to Emily Wilson, 5-7, 1-6.

In doubles play, Haas and Flintoft lost 3-6, 5-7; Smith and McLaughlin lost 7-5, 4-6, 2-6; and White and Frederick lost 6-7, 4-6.

JV Cagers Beat Williamston, Fall to Milan in SEC

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity basketball team beat Williamston last Tuesday, 37-30, before dropping their first Southeastern Conference game of the season to Milan, 51-38, on Thursday.

In the Williamston game, Chelsea jumped out to an 8-3 lead and the teams played an even game most of the rest of the way.

The Bulldogs shot 53 percent from the line, their best performance of the season, and out-rebounded Williamston 29-19.

Heidi Wehrwein led Chelsea with 13 points and nine rebounds. Six Bulldogs scored four points each, including Jessica Inwood, Melissa Carty, Kasie Ruhlig, Chrissy Hodgson, Suzy Steele, and Laurie Schiller.

In the Milan game, Chelsea had their best quarter of the season in the first period when they scored 18 points. They still led 28-20 at half-time but couldn't hold on.

"The momentum had started to change by half-time," said Chelsea coach Paul Terpstra.

"In the second half, we were not getting the ball in the hole anymore." Wehrwein again led the Bulldogs with 11 points. Other scorers included Schiller 7, Ruhlig 7, Hodgson 5, Inwood 4, and Steele 4.

The Bulldogs were 4-3 over-all and 0-1 in the SEC after last week.

RYAN SCHULTZ had a good week for Chelsea on the cross country course.

But don't smoke just to be like your friends. Or to be different from your friends. Or to be anything at all. Because with everything we know about cigarettes today, there's only one thing you'll be if you start smoking now. And that's sorry. Sorry you can't get up in the morning without coughing your lungs out. Sorry you can't climb a single flight of stairs without getting winded. Sorry that every time you light one up, your risk of heart disease goes up. If you're already a smoker, take some time to stop and think it all the way through. Right now, it's your decision. In the long run, it's your life.

WAITING TO COMPETE in Western riding are Chelsea Equestrian team members Rod Steiner on Dee and Laura Koengeter on Nana.

Carr Signs Lease For Brighton Office

U.S. Rep. Bob Carr has kept the pledge he made in front of the Brighton Chamber of Commerce this year and signed a lease for a Congressional office in Brighton. This is the first time that a member of Congress has opened a district office in Livingston county.

"Serving constituents who need help cutting through federal government red tape has always been a personal priority for me. Opening an office in Brighton will allow me to extend that service to people in Livingston and Washtenaw counties," Carr said.

The new office will be available to help people who have problems with federal agencies, such as Social Security, Veterans Affairs, the IRS, Small Business Administration, or Department of Agriculture, or any other branch of the federal government. Information on and assistance with student aid and other government programs will also be available.

"I'll have area residents from Livingston and Washtenaw staffing this office, to work in the community to help the people from this part of the Eighth District resolve their problems," Carr said.

The office is scheduled to officially open in early October.

Stoll, Knight Compete In National Slam

Chelsea High school graduates Annemarie Stoll and Wolf Knight will compete with the Ann Arbor Poetry Slam Team at the National Poetry Slam in San Francisco today through Saturday.

Stoll and Knight have each won a place on the team for the third straight year. Last year's team finished third in the country behind San Francisco and Boston.

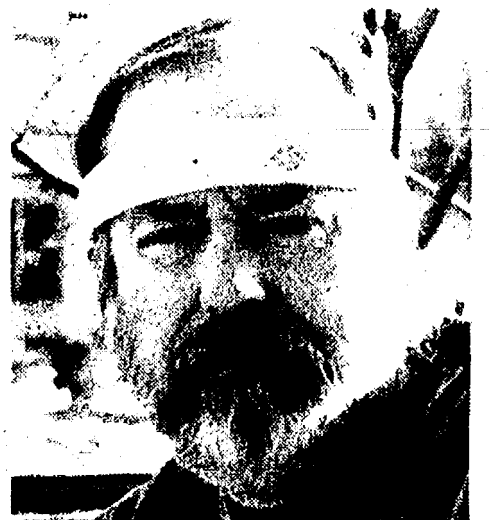

The finest performance poets in the country, and a few foreign teams, will compete for cash prizes and fame.

Poetry slamming features poets who perform their original poetry on stage, without props, before a panel of five judges that are often novices taken from the crowd. Slamming began in Chicago's Green Mill Tavern. It spread to Club Heidelberg in Ann Arbor in 1988, and gradually across the country.

Each poet performs one poem and is scored half on performance and half on content for a potential total of 10 points per judge. Highest and lowest scores are dropped.

WORKING FOR AMERICA.

A pilot with the skill to land a jet on a rolling deck. A computer specialist who can fix a complex navigational system while hundreds of miles at sea. A cook who can prepare a delicious meal for 500 hungry sailors. These people aren't just good, they're the best.
And it means more to them because they're doing it for their country. They're Navy people, working hard for America. And that makes us proud.

Navy.
Full Speed Ahead.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES in Gregory had to do a little improvised mail sorting in the back of a truck outside their post office building last Friday afternoon after their building collapsed in the middle of the night. Left is Jackie Damm and right is Wanda Koeniger.

CEILING of the Gregory Post Office collapsed last Wednesday night when no one was working. Neighbors across the street called the postmaster to tell him a lot of water was running out of the building. The building was judged to be a total loss and will be demolished. Temporary quarters have been set up around the corner in the Gregory Mall in the former Gregory Realty office.

EXTERIOR WALLS of the Gregory Post Office buckled outward under the weight of a collapsed roof last Wednesday night or Thursday morning. The building had not been inspected as of press time but workers suspect accumulated water on the roof caused the cave-in.

GARDEN CORNER

★ Fall A Good Time To Fertilize Trees

Like lawns, garden vegetables and houseplants, landscape trees depend on sunlight, water, air and certain mineral nutrients in the soil for normal growth. Like these other plants, trees generally benefit from occasional fertilization.

Mel Joelling, Extension forestry specialist at Michigan State University, says symptoms that trees need fertilization may include smaller-than-usual leaves, pale green or off-color foliage, dead twigs at the ends of branches, little elongation of branches during the growing season, and a general lack of growth and vigor.

Poor soil fertility can also stress trees, making them more susceptible to insect attack, disease and other environmental problems, he points out.

The trees most likely to benefit from fertilization are those growing on poor soil, such as the subsoil excavated when a new foundation is dug, and those growing where their roots are restricted by soil compaction or by sidewalks, driveways and structures, Koelling says.

The best time to fertilize trees is in the fall, after the growing season. Root growth can continue into early December or even later, depending on the weather. Fertilizing in early September means nutrients will be available to the tree for that fall root growth.

Fertilizer can also be applied in the spring as soon as the soil is free of frost. Nutrients applied in early spring benefit early root growth, which begins well before leaf development.

Midsummer fertilization is usually reserved for trees that are recovering from defoliation or some other injury. Late summer fertilization can cause flushes of new growth that will be susceptible to winter injury.

A number of fertilizer application methods can be used. For homeowners, spreading fertilizer directly to the soil surface or applying dry or liquid materials into holes in the tree's root zone are recommended.

"Surface application is tricky if the tree is surrounded by grass, because nitrogen to meet the tree's needs may damage the grass," Koelling observes. "One way around this is to divide the fertilizer into three applications made at two-week intervals. Another is to choose a non-burning form of nitrogen, such as urea formaldehyde, which can be applied all at once. Another is to apply the fertilizer in holes in the soil."
