Village May Change How It Markets Industrial Park

The village may choose a fourth different company to market its industrial park off Sibley Rd.

Four different offers are being considered by the village as it tries to decide what direction to take. It will either stick with a real estate firm, as it has since the marketing effort began about five years ago, or change philosophies and go with a design-build firm.

Chelsea Players Will Present Magic Show Fund-Raiser

Chelsea Area Players, in an effort to raise $8,000, will present "A Magic Extravaganza" on Oct. 31, at Beach Middle School Cafeteria. The event will start at 1 p.m. and last about an hour and a half.

All proceeds from this fund-raiser will be used toward the purchase of new stage curtains for the Chelsea High School auditorium.

Volunteers from the audience will assist the magicians from The Ann Arbor Magic Club in performing magic acts that will entertain both the young and the old. The magicians will perform personal magic tricks for the lucky winners of a raffle to be held at intermission. Magic hats, full of surprises, as well as a live pet rabbit will also be raffled off throughout the afternoon.

Doughnuts, apple cider and coffee may be purchased at intermission for an afternoon treat, and a free surprise will be handed out as you leave.

An afternoon of magic, raffles, prizes and fun for all ages will help raise the funds needed to purchase the much needed new curtains for the high school stage. Many volunteers and donations from merchants have teamed together to present this Magic Extravaganza.

Join the fun on Oct. 31 at 1 p.m. at Beach Middle School Cafeteria.

The approach of using a real estate company has netted only one tenant. McKernan Realty signed on Hatch Stamping Co., which built a new facility less than half a mile from its old one. Realtor Robert Thornton's listing expired last month.

Some village officials are dismayed that the park hasn't attracted a business from outside the area. Roberts Body Shop and BookCrafters were already well-established, and the owners of C & D Laundry were already living here. The only other tenant is the village, which has its electric and water building.

Two design-build firms, R.A. DeMattia of Plymouth and Schonscheck, Inc. of Wixom, are offering to market the park. They would provide a host of marketing materials. Once they find a client who wants a facility, they have the expertise to design it and build it.

According to assistant village manager Bruce Pindzia, DeMattia tends to seek out larger companies than does Schonscheck, which built a portion of the BookCrafters, Inc. complex in the park. The companies offered to provide essentially the same services, but Schonscheck's proposal would cost about one-third of DeMattia's, $7,600 versus $20,500.

Pindzia has been asked by village council to determine whether there is enough interest in the local business community to launch a marketing effort without the aid of an outside company.

Real estate companies Spear & Associates and Swisher have also made proposals.

Council is scheduled to make a decision at their Nov. 23 meeting.

Chelsea CROP Walk Has 121 Participants

A record 121 walkers, including 10 senior citizens, participated in Chelsea's sixth annual CROP Walk for hunger relief on Sunday, Oct. 3.

Organizers estimate the walk raised nearly $5,000 for relief and development work in troubled areas at home and abroad.

Twenty-five percent of the funds raised will stay in the community for local relief efforts and will be administered by Faith In Action/Chelsea Social Services. The remainder of the money will be given to Church World Service for emergency response and developmental programs in areas like Bangladesh, Somalia, Bosnia, and the midwest flood areas.

Participants in Chelsea's CROP Walk included walkers from many area churches, including Zion Lutheran, North Lake United Methodist, Covenant, St. Paul United Church of Christ, First United Methodist, First Congregational, and St. Mary's Catholic, as well as some independent walkers.

This year, for the first time, walkers each received a CROP t-shirt due to the sponsorship of Gina's Cafe, Gemini Salon, Chelsea State Bank, Dayspring Gifts, First United Methodist church, Palmer Ford-Mercury, St. Mary's Catholic church, Cole Funeral Chapel, Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, Chelsea Pharmacy, and The Common Grill.

Tom Huettnerman, a community activist and employee of Dana Corp., was the celebrity walker.

Pledges should be turned in to

NEW SIDEWALK was installed on the west side of Grant St. near South school last week in an attempt to help relieve congestion problems and safety problems near the school. The school's PIS organization paid half of the $6,000 project, and the village paid half. There has also been a push to study traffic flows and other concerns in the area, but the village hasn't committed itself to studying the situation.

Village Refinances Bonds For Wastewater Plant

The village will save about $261,000 from now until the year 2007 as a result of refinancing its wastewater treatment plant bonds.

Village residents should see the savings in the form of a reduced debt retirement millage. How much of a reduction was not available as of press time.

Village council took the formal action last week. Chelsea State Bank is buying a portion of the bonds, but First of Michigan is the major buyer.

Bonds for the project were sold in 1987 at what were considered fairly good interest rates. However, current rates are almost half as high.

Chelsea State Bank purchased the non-voted, limited obligation bonds at an average interest rate of 4.45 percent, down from 8.4 percent. That will save village residents $83,996.

First of Michigan purchased the voted, unlimited obligation bonds at 4.58 percent, down from 7.86 percent. That will save the village $177,311.

Village manager Jack Myers said the village could take the savings in several ways—up front, at the 2007 maturity date, or year-to-year.

"We really haven't decided how we'll do it," Myers said.

The wastewater plant was the largest public project in the history of the village. The local share of $2.4 million represented half the cost. A grant from the Environmental Protection Agency paid for the rest.

Testing Set To Begin On Sewage Plant Site

Soil and water testing is scheduled to begin this week on an 80-acre site for a proposed wastewater treatment plant for North Lake, Silver Lake, and Half Moon Lake. The site is almost half-way between North Lake and Silver Lake.

The parcel, on the north side of North Territorial just east of Madden Rd., is owned by Territorial Associates.

The testing, to be conducted by McNamee, Porter & Seely, is scheduled to be completed by the end of the year at an approximate cost of $20,000 to $30,000. The cost would ultimately be included in the over-all cost of the project, which will be paid back through a special assessment district.

According to Dexter Township Supervisor Jim Drolett, support for the project is high. More than 80 percent of Silver Lake residents and 70 percent of North Lake residents indicated their support through a petition drive. About 83 percent of Half Moon Lake residents in the northern half of the lake also support it, but fewer than half on the southern end do.

The project is necessary, residents say, because the lake homes are increasingly becoming year-around homes and septic systems can't adequately handle the sewage. Many homeowners cannot improve their property.

The project, Drolett said, is estimated to cost residences between $9,000 to $12,000, assessed over 20 years. However, the system has not been designed and the land has not been purchased so the estimated costs are largely guesswork.

Department of Natural Resources has apparently decided to participate in the project and include parks at Half Moon Lake and Silver Lake.

Public hearings will begin sometime early next year, Drolett said. It's possible bonds could be sold by summer and construction could begin shortly thereafter.

Ham Radio Hobbyists Help Police Solve Several Thefts in Village

A group of 13 ham radio operators helped the Chelsea Police Department solve a rash of thefts from automobiles parked at Chelsea Lanes and Wolverine Food & Spirits.

The thefts included several cellular telephones, a radar detector, and a mobile police radio that belonged to a member of the Chelsea Fire Department. The theft of the radio is what prompted the hams, from as far away as Garden City and as close as Chelsea, to get involved.

According to Chelsea Police Chief Lenard McDougall, on Friday, Oct. 9 someone tried to interfere with a dispatcher's call for the Chelsea Fire Department to respond to a medical emergency. McDougall said the prankster tried to get the rescue workers to go to the wrong place but was unsuccessful. He also apparently tried to use the radio to strike up conversations and for other reasons.

McDougall said Chelsea officer Scott Sumner surmised that whoever stole the police radio lived somewhere near the bowling alley. Sumner checked with Chelsea Amateur Radio Club member Lefty Schantz to see whether there was a way the club could help out. Schantz directed him to an Ann Arbor electronics store.

The owner of the store told Sumner that he could use his equipment to track down the radio, but it would be extremely expensive. He guided Sumner to the group of radio hobbyists who love to locate radio signals. In fact, they do it for fun. They often will have one member hide a radio transmitter and the other members will compete to see who can find it first.

The hams came to Chelsea with directional antennas on their receivers. The antennas allow them to pick up a signal and turn to tell from which direction the signal is strongest. When two or more radios are involved in different locations, they can see where the directions cross and pinpoint the location.

The problem was compounded by the fact that the stolen radio was portable. The broadcasts were coming from different places and often they didn't last long. The rechargeable battery was running out of power.

Village Council Refuses To Take Position on NAFTA

Village council last Tuesday refused to vote on a resolution against the North American Free Trade Agreement.

Local United Auto Workers official Harvey Morel asked council to endorse the union's resolution. He said passage of the resolution would result in the loss of 500,000 jobs in Michigan.

Trustee Steven Daut said it would be "presumptuous" of council to take a stand on such a big issue in the belief it could represent the prevailing view of village residents.

Several times over the week-end and into Monday, the hams came to Chelsea. Members of the fire department reported where they had received a strong signal as the investigation continued. In addition, one ham pretended to be "radio repair" in an effort to get a response from the person he came to call the "radio bandit." He also encouraged transmissions from the bandit.

By 11 p.m. Monday, they were able to zero in on one house near the Chelsea Fairgrounds.

Police arrested a 16-year-old boy. In his possession police also found the cellular telephones, radar detector, as well as a pair of car radios that were not reported stolen.

"We wouldn't have been able to do this without their expertise," McDougall said.

The radio enthusiasts included Darrell and Stacy Black of Garden City, Mark Drolias of Dearborn, Steve Andre of Ann Arbor, Chris Brown of Dexter, Bob and Terri Ellis of Dearborn, Ken Ascher of Ann Arbor, Kevin McAfee of Manchester, Rafe Barber of Ann Arbor, Steve Nesmith of Saline, Tim Tyler of Ypsilanti, and Randy Stowe of Chelsea.

They all worked free of charge.

School Board OKs Budget Amendment

Chelsea Board of Education had a relatively short and uneventful meeting Monday night.

The 1993-94 budget was revised to reflect the $420,000 in cuts that were adopted last month in response to the new state school aid bill. The budget calls for expenditures of $15,144,851 and income of $14,969,851.

The board approved the softball team's spring trip to South Carolina and the appointment of Mike Bassett to the Chelsea Recreation Council.

Reports on Gov. John Engler's education reform and financing proposals were distributed.

Copies of a letter from Lima Township Supervisor Bill Van Riper and Planning Commission Chair Marvin Carlson to Engler were distributed. The letter objected to the way mobile home parks are treated in the tax code. Such a development has been informally proposed for a parcel on Dexter-Chelsea Rd.

Most of the evening was dedicated to allowing new parents to the district to meet with board members and administrators.

LIZ MCKEE gets her first lesson on an old-time children's bicycle from Chelsea resident Bob Hurd during last Friday's Transportation Day activities at North school.

Voters will go to the polls in Chelsea and state-wide next Tuesday to decide whether to change the way schools are funded in the state through a constitutional amendment. Proposal A and Proposal B, as they are being called, are radically different from each other, although they are both designed to pump more money into education, especially into revenue-poor districts. Proposal A calls for a half cent increase in the state sales tax, and the additional money would go to in-formula districts. Proposal B would raise the state sales tax from four to six cents and roll back school property taxes an average of 38 percent for residences and farms and 23 percent for businesses.

Developer Rene Papo plans to propose a 50 to 75-unit apartment complex that would include a certain portion dedicated for use by senior citizens. Papo said Friday that he wants to build the moderate-income complex east of his proposed office complex, which is planned for land between Chelsea Community Hospital and Old US-12. The $2 million complex would be situated in Sylvan or Lima township, or possibly in part of each, as the parcel crosses township lines.

Voters throughout the state of Michigan will cast their ballots for the much-publicized Proposal A and/or Proposal B, Tuesday, Nov. 7, and voters in Dexter and Putnam townships will also be casting their ballot on a third issue, Proposal C, a referendum which seeks voter backing for the $9.3 million in bonds to finance a sewer project proposed for parts of four townships.

Chelsea appears to be on its way to receiving a new landfill operating license by the end of the month. Lonnie Lee, district director of the Waste Management Division of the Department of Natural Resources, said Monday that he has recommended approval of the license with a number of stipulations, mostly related to the recently-installed tracer system.

★ How Well Do Schools Prepare Their Students?

By George C. Leef

The elimination of property tax funding for school gives Michigan an historic opportunity to restructure its education system—not just the funding mechanism, but the schools themselves. But whether you believe there is a need to change the schools depends on how well you think they are performing their tasks.

For nearly 10 years, I taught college courses in economics and business law. Teaching hundreds of freshmen and sophomores, mostly from Michigan and representing wide variations in family income, I came to the conclusion that by and large, our schools do not adequately prepare students for either college studies or life's future challenges. Improving school performance is undoubtedly the most urgent issue facing our state.

It's risky to generalize, but I believe the following observation drawn from my teaching experience are warranted, and widely shared by other instructors in the state's colleges and universities:

• Students have little motivation to learn. Far from inspiring young minds to intellectual curiosity, K-12 education too often turns students into listless or even hostile subjects. A shocking number seem unwilling to put forth more than minimal effort at learning what they have been assigned.

A classroom encounter which I remember very well speaks volumes about the prevailing mindset among today's students. I had been trying without any success to spur the students to respond to questions about the day's reading assignment. Few had troubled themselves to read it at all. Finally, one student put up his hand and asked, "Couldn't you just, you know, tell us the main point?"

Waiting for someone else to tell you "the main point" is the easy way out; reading to discover the main point, as well as the facts and reasoning leading to it, is a challenge, but more akin to what life and successful living are all about.

• Students have poor reading skills. Many students try to avoid having to read but when they do read, they derive little benefit from it. They move their eyes across the page, but never stop to ask themselves if they understood what the author has written. They do not go back over passages or look up words they don't know. For great numbers of students, reading has become physical rather than an intellectual exercise.

• Students have poor writing skills. When I began teaching, I was shocked at how poorly most students wrote. How could high school graduates confuse the words "there" and "their"—something I learned in third grade? How was it possible that they would be unfamiliar with punctuation and paragraphing? Doesn't anyone teach how to diagram sentences any more?

From conversations with my students, I learned the disturbing truth: they had scarcely ever been required to write before. One young lady lamented, "But I never had to write essay tests; we always had true and false or multiple choice in high school."

• Students do not know how to reason. International testing shows that American students compare unfavorably with those of other nations when it comes to problem-solving. Many of my students were able to memorize facts, definitions and statements of principles, but were lost when asked to apply them to unexpected circumstances.

Children have a natural and insatiable desire to learn, but it is becoming painfully evident that this desire is smothered in many public schools today. Efforts to blame specific teachers or administrators are usually misdirected. The problem rests with a system that assigns students to schools based not on personal choice but on geography, a system that makes parents and children captives instead of customers. An education monopoly has little incentive to impact a genuine thirst for learning.

The experience of New York City's District No. 4 in East Harlem tells us much about what a little choice and diversity can do to improve things. Twenty years ago, achievement scores were the worst in the city. Then, in 1974, District No. 4 established three new schools. Each had a theme or specialty, and none was "guaranteed" any students. Parents chose to send their children to them and were free to take them out again if they were dissatisfied.

The three unique "choice schools" flourished, and the idea caught on. Over the next 10 years, 20 more were established in District 4. Two of the worst schools were forced to close due to customer flight, and reopened later with fresh management and better attitudes. Meanwhile, the percentages of students reading at above grade level rose from 15.9 percent in 1973 to 62.6 percent in 1987. Choice in education worked wonders with the children of East Harlem, and no one wants to turn back the clock to the days when parents had no choice.

As long as students are trapped in a highly bureaucratic, largely unresponsive monopoly in which neither they nor their parents feel any sense of ownership, they will be educated poorly. That is the paramount lesson of decades of public education in Michigan. Choice is an idea whose time is overdue, not as a panacea, but as one element of any plan to fix what we no longer can afford to ignore.

Deadline Nears for Photography Contest

There are just a few days left to enter the Ann Arbor Parks and Recreation 1994 "Focus on Michigan" Photography Contest. Sponsored by the Eastman Kodak Co. in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the Michigan Recreation and Park Association, the contest is open to all amateur photographers.

Photographers may enter three of their best photographs or slides depicting nature scenes, landscapes, visual or the performing arts, or people enjoying recreation in their favorite public park or recreation facility.

All local winners will automatically enter the state-wide competition where Eastman Kodak will award a Grand Prize for the photograph judged "Best in Show." Other prizes in the state-wide competition include 16" x 20" Kodak reproductions and prize ribbons, and all photographs will be published in Leisure Focus, the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association official magazine. State-wide winners will be announced in February.

The entry deadline for the local contest is Nov. 1.

For more information on the local competition please contact Irene Bushaw at the Ann Arbor Department of Parks and Recreation, 994-2780.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

With the summer floods and fall storms, Federal, State and local Governments must be taking a new interest in what they call civil preparedness. Zeke Grubb's preacher stopped by the country store for pipe tobacco Saturday night, and he mentioned to the fellows that he got a call last week from a woman on the staff of the Federal Emergency Management Agency. She said she was doing a survey of emergency services, and she wanted to list the church with other shelters in the Congressional district.

She ask how many people the church could house overnight. The preacher said his flock was used to sleeping shoulder to shoulder in the pews, so that many more would do just fine on cots in the fellowship hall. After talking with her, the preacher said, he started working on a sermon tying new hope of peace in the Middle East with how folks natural help one another. He couldn't get going for thinking how long that peace process is, and how much human cruelty is in the news, so he fell to worrying and lit his pipe.

He keeps trying to quit the pipe, but he says it's like a baby pacifier. When he starts worrying he starts pulling on it, and he's been doing some heavy worrying lately.

Bug Hookum teased the preacher that worry was the price he paid for being educated, but the preacher said ignorance ain't so blissful either. Besides, the preacher went on, the actual saying is that where ignorance is bliss it is folly to be wise, which can be took the way folks take Bible verses. One way to see it, he went on, is that when nobody cares, the situation is hopeless.

For sure, the preacher said, beauty ain't all that's in the eye of the beholder, and the Bible is high on the list. He said he once had a fellow tell him he didn't understand that part of the Lord's Prayer where we ask Him not to lead us into temptation. If we can't find it ourselves, the fellow said, we don't deserve it.

After the preacher left, the fellows picked up on his worrying. Zeke said he wants peace in the Middle East to, but he puts home made prayers ahead of store bought ones. He read where the Israeli telephone company set up a fax line so American Jews could send prayers to be put on the Walling Wall. This worked so good it now has a 900 number American Christians can call and have prayers offered for them in Jerusalem.

The fellows pooled their ignorance in such matters and agreed they were all for folks that feel good about using this new international Dial a Prayer. Personal, Clem Webster said, it looks like a case of doing someone just because we can. Progress is another word that's in the eye of the beholder, Clem allowed, and we may be getting more of it in communication than we know what to do with.

For instant, Clem said, we got computers that can write and address letters to a million people, leading every one to think he has won a million dollars. This is mass confusion, not mass communication, was Clem's words.

Even Ed Doolittle agreed with Clem. Ed said we have gone to far when we have to read the paper with a dictionary on our lap. He read where the U.S. has a "avuncular" relationship with the rest of North America, and he really got scared when he looked it up.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Festival of Lights Scheduled for Dec. 3

Chelsea Festival of Lights, an annual expression of holiday cheer, will be Friday, Dec. 3. Many groups and individuals from the Chelsea area donate goods and services to make the Festival a wonderful evening for all. "This year's Festival of Lights should be bigger and better than ever," said co-chair Allen Cole. "Every year, we add more activities, and more people come to town to enjoy them."

The evening's festivities will start at the Pierce Park Pavilion, where the Chelsea Rotary Club will sponsor its annual Tree of Lights festival with carols, speakers, and a special appearance by Santa Claus. The Ministerial Fellowship will sponsor the Living Creche tableau on Main St. Santa will see children in his workshop in the UAW Hall on Main St. A Hospitality Suite with complimentary refreshments will be open at the VFW Hall on Main St. Chelsea stores will have extended hours for holiday shopping. And to wrap up the evening, all Festival-goers are invited to the

All-Community Sing at the Chelsea Depot, sponsored by the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce and the Chelsea Depot Association.

Co-chair Sally Hell reminds Chelsea area residents and business owners that the Chelsea Lionses will be awarding prizes for the best decorated homes and businesses. "Judging will be Wednesday, Dec. 1," said Sally, "so anybody who wants to join the competition must have their decorations up by then."

Anyone who wishes to decorate the outside of their home with luminaries (plastic containers with votive candles inside) may pick up luminaries at Harper Shoe Co., 101 N. Main St. The decoration of Main St. with luminaries will not be part of the Festival of Lights this year.

Be sure to mark your calendars for Friday, Dec. 3!

VFW Ladies Auxiliary Notes

A regular session of the Chelsea Ladies Auxiliary No. 4076, VFW was held Wednesday, Oct. 13. A report of the school of instruction and 6th District meeting held at Hanover Auxiliary on Sunday, Sept. 27 was given by Lois Speer. Also attending from the local Auxiliary were Eulahlee Packard and Dorothy Lentz.

National Home chairman Bessie Sharp reported on many renovations, improvements and needed items for the National Home at Eaton Rapids. She also is reporting at each meeting on the history of the National Home.

The legislative chairman urged the assembly to write our senators and congressmen regarding the veteran's benefits, asking them not to cut their benefits.

The Auxiliary voted to enact a higher benefit of insurance which covers cancer and a number of other diseases.

Twenty-five dollars was allowed to the Hug-A-Heart program. This benefits veterans after heart surgery. Twenty-five dollars was voted out for Battle Creek Veterans facility to be used towards their Christmas. Twenty-five dollars was allowed for the Rainbow of Hope fund at the National Home and $10 was allowed for the Christmas Seals fund to be used at the National Home also.

The president reminded the assembly of a party planned by the Post for Nov. 6, at 6:30 p.m. for the burning of the mortgage. She also reported the next Auxiliary meeting on Nov. 10 will be inspection meeting by the sixth district president, Ruth Later. Auxiliary members are requested to be present at 7 p.m. and bring their notebooks. The assembly also supported the sixth district in their endeavor of fees of registration at each district meeting.

A report was given on the pot-luck supper held at the Post home on Oct. 9, followed by an evening of fun and games.

KIDS ARE ALWAYS CURIOUS about a police cruiser, and especially a police chief who wields a tennis racket. Chelsea chief Lenard McDougall explained how he uses the racket for "bat" duty. They turn out to be easy tools to use when a bat is loose in a house. It was all part of Transportation Day at North school last Friday.

Retirement Community Needs Volunteers

It's a beautiful October day and Carl Heldt is loading up the CRC bus with residents who want to get out and enjoy it. They'll be going to Wierd's Orchards and then stopping at the Pickle Barrel for lunch.

Late on Halloween afternoon Donna Baird and her children will be taking a group to Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor for the annual Halloween Concert.

The CRC bus is actually a van—a 17-passenger vehicle with a wheelchair lift. The Retirement Community will provide training and licensure. Could you set aside one day or evening a month to drive for an outing?

Several years ago the Retirement Homes Friends presented the residents with a wonderful set of Hand-

Ringing Chimes. We have an enthusiastic group of "ringers" in search of a leader. Would you enjoy leading their weekly rehearsals and directing an occasional performance at a Retirement Community function?

There is a new program at CRC for those disoriented residents living in the Health Care Center. It is called "Time Together." Volunteers are needed to assist the staff member in charge one afternoon a week. A patient person is needed who can give these folks one-on-one attention, chatting, walking, tossing a ball, folding laundry or having a cup of tea.

These are urgent needs. If you can help, please call 475-8633 and ask for Bonnie Haist.

Alert Attendant May Have Foiled Armed Robbery Attempt

An alert gas station attendant may have prevented an armed robbery early Tuesday morning.

Chelsea Police were notified Monday at about 7 p.m. that two prisoners had escaped from Cassidy Lake Boot Camp. Local business owners were notified and given descriptions.

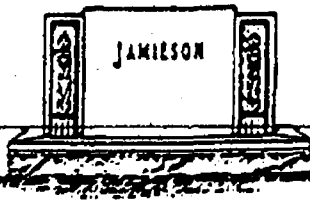

At 1:37 a.m. Tuesday, two young men pulled into the Amoco station near I-94 in a van. One man pumped gasoline and the other went inside. The attendant noticed that they vaguely matched the descriptions of the prisoners and called police.

Police discovered that the van they were driving was stolen. When the van was searched, police found a loaded, sawed-off shotgun, according to chief Lenard McDougall.

"We believe they had the intent of robbing the station," McDougall said.

It turned out that the two 16-year-old suspects were from Jackson county and were not the escaped prisoners, who were still at large as of Tuesday morning.

The selection of a memorial is a most important decision...because it is a permanent tribute of love and respect to the memory of departed ones.

We offer sincere counsel, years of experience and the finest memorials produced anywhere.

No NAFTA Vote

The resolution singles out the "maquiladoras," U.S.-owned plants that operate inside Mexico along the border. The resolution says average pay is 60 to 80 cents per hour, that workers live in abject poverty, that there are severe environmental problems, and that hundreds of thousands of U.S. workers have already lost their jobs due to companies relocating in Mexico. The resolution claims that multinational corporations and big banks would be the beneficiaries of NAFTA.

Music Boosters Plan Fund-Raisers for Uniforms

Chelsea Music Boosters started their 1993-94 Fine Arts Series with an exciting concert by the 75 person German Youth Choir of St. Pankratius Gutersloh. The choir performed a number of musical selections in both Latin and German. A string quartet performed a medley of reknown orchestral pieces and even included a little Blue Grass. The audience was enthralled by the medley of songs from "Les Miserable."

Music Boosters Fine Arts Series also includes the Bowling Green Woodwind Quintet on Dec. 8 and the Ann Arbor Symphony Percussion and String Ensembles on Jan. 13. Tickets will be available at Chelsea Pharmacy and Chelsea Family Physicians.

Music Boosters are still in need of $20,000 to outfit all of the music groups in concert uniforms. They have purchased 72 sweaters for the Beach Middle School Marching Band and will purchase 60 tuxedos and skirts and jackets for the Wind Ensemble from the moneys already donated. If you would like to make a donation to this fund please contact Clara Smith 475-8713 or one of the music directors at the high school or middle school.

The following fund raisers have been planned with the proceeds going to the music departments:
Grand Opening of the Perky Pantry Mobil Station Oct. 20-23. Perky Pantry owners have promised to donate a percentage of all the gasoline that is pumped from Wednesday through Saturday to the Music Programs. Boosters will be on hand to welcome you, hand out gifts and balloons during those days.

Boosters will be collecting cans and bottles on Dec. 4 and Jan. 8 for the deposit. If you would like to donate cans or bottles they may be brought to the high school in the morning of those days.

Endowed Chair Approval Welcomed

Michigan agriculture will benefit from the type of research that will result from the filling of the Elton R. Smith Endowed Chair in Food and Agriculture Policy at Michigan State University, according to Michigan Farm Bureau. The MSU Board of Trustees recently approved the appointment of leading agricultural economist Sandra Batie to the Chair.

Batie will conduct research on food and agricultural policies and provide policy education leadership for undergraduate, graduate and Extension programs. She will also conduct policy research and education efforts with farmers, agricultural organizations governmental units, consumer groups and organizations in the private and public sectors.

"I think the type of research Batie will be doing represents a long term approach, one that looks at the structural changes going on within agriculture, not just here in Michigan but around the world," said Ken Nye, director of commodity activities and research for Michigan Farm Bureau. "It should give our farmers a head-start in recognizing and adapting to those changes."

The Elton R. Smith endowed chair was established in 1986 as a joint venture between the MSU Department of Agricultural Economics and Michigan Farm Bureau to honor the contributions of Smith, former president of the Michigan Farm Bureau and vice-president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

★ Tax Deductions for Job-Related Moves

If you had to relocate as a result of a job change, you may be able to take a tax deduction for many unreimbursed job-related moving expenses. CPAs point out that deductible expenses include the costs of pre-move house-hunting trips, transporting your family and your household to the new location, as well as some of the fees associated with selling your old home and buying a new house.

To claim these deductions, you must satisfy certain tests of time and distance and you must itemize on your tax return. However, this deduction is not subject to the two-percent floor on miscellaneous itemized deductions.

Meeting the Distance and Time Tests

To meet the distance test, your new job location must be at least 35 miles farther from your old residence than the old residence was from your former job location. In addition to satisfying the 35-mile distance test, you must work full-time for a specific period of time at the new job location.

To meet the full-time work requirement, employees must work in the new area for at least 39 weeks during the first 12 months after arriving in the new area. The 39 weeks of work need not be consecutive or with the same employer. For self-employed workers, the full-time work requirement is double the requirement for employees. Self-employed taxpayers must work at least 39 weeks during the first 12 months following the move, and a total of at least 78 weeks during the first 24 months immediately after the move.

If you and your spouse are employed and you file a joint return, either of you can satisfy the full-time work requirement. However, you cannot add the weeks your spouse works to those you work to satisfy the time test. The 39-week requirement is waived if you are disabled and cannot work, if your employer transfers you to a new location, or if you lose your job for reasons other than your willful misconduct.

Deducting Direct, Indirect Moving Expenses

There are two types of moving expenses you may deduct: direct expenses which are fully deductible and indirect expenses which are deductible within certain limits.

Indirect moving expenses fall into three categories: pre-move house-hunting expenses, temporary living expenses at the new location, and certain costs associated with selling or renting your old home and buying or renting a new one. Unlike direct moving expenses which are fully deductible, you cannot deduct more than $3,000 of these expenses. Of the $3,000, no more than $1,500 may be deducted for pre-move house-hunting trips and temporary living expenses. Special rules apply to foreign moves.

In the house-hunting category, you may claim transportation, lodging and 80 percent of meal expenses for you and your family to travel to your new work location to look for a new residence. If you need to live in temporary quarters when you arrive in your new home town, you may deduct the cost of lodging and 80 percent of meal expenses for any 30-day consecutive period after obtaining employment.

The final category of indirect expenses includes certain costs associated with the sale of your old house and the purchase of a new one—including real estate agents' commissions, attorney fees, title and appraisal costs and similar fees. These costs are deductible up to the $3,000 limit.

If you rent, you may be able to deduct any penalty you paid to break the lease on your old apartment or house, and any commission or legal fees you incur (up to the $3,000 limit) in renting a new apartment or house.

Expenses necessary to move your family's furniture, household goods, and personal belongings, as well as storing your belongings for up to 30 days, are considered fully deductible direct expenses.

You may deduct the full cost of your family's transportation and lodging en-route to your new residence, as well as 80 percent of the cost of your family's meals. Deductible direct expenses also include the costs of food (subject to the 80 percent limit), and lodging for one day before your departure from your old home (assuming you were unable to live in it then), and for the day you arrive at the location of your new home.

CPAs point out that you must report as gross income any reimbursement you receive from your employer for moving expenses. You can then offset the reimbursement with your allowable deductions for moving expenses.

Wide-Ranging Forum on Sex Abuse Of Children Draws Small Audience

Fewer than 50 people attended a forum on child sexual abuse Monday night at the at the UAW Local 1284 Hall sponsored by Sex Abuse Victims Everywhere (SAVE).

Many in the audience, however, appeared to have a special interest in the North Sharon Baptist church case. The loudest applause of the evening came when Washtenaw County Prosecutor Brian Mackie said that the church's assistant pastor Timothy Leonard had been arraigned Monday on a charge of first-degree criminal sexual conduct.

Leonard and former church deacon Mark Foeller have been charged with abusing children in the church's Sunday school. Foeller faces multiple charges next month in a Jackson county trial. Leonard has had numerous charges filed against him but all but one has been dismissed.

There was little discussion during the evening about specific cases, although one of the most unusual talks was by 11-year-old Joshua Medbury of Whitmore Lake, who had been raped repeatedly by a neighbor. The primary intent of the program was to give information about all aspects of child sexual abuse.

The panel of speakers included Mackie; Saline Police Chief Jim Douglas; Joyce Dorado, a therapist at the University Center for the Child and Family; Michelle Thompson, member of March; state Rep. Mary Schroer; Linda Medbury, Joshua's mother; and Chris Long, father of sex abuse victims. Vickie Utke, social worker for the Chelsea School District answered questions as did Jacqueline Doneghy-Allen of the Washtenaw Area Council for Children.

One of the themes for the evening was activism—in children's lives, and in the legislative and judicial processes.

Douglas stressed how sexual abuse can be prevented by parents doing things as simple as going on camping trips and taking part in other activities so children aren't put in the position of being alone with a single adult. He also said parents shouldn't "get lulled to sleep" by people who call it a homosexual crime because "far more people are violated by heterosexuals than homosexuals."

Mackie called child sexual abuse a "cockroach crime" because the perpetrators "select the victim and select the location and set it up so they're probably going to win."

Thompson urged parents to contact their legislators. Amy Ronane, who heads the county's sex crime unit, suggested writing to judges before sentencing of sex abusers and "not letting the crime go unnoticed."

Douglas suggested that SAVE members take a lesson from Mothers Against Driving Drunk, who pack the courthouse before a drunken driver who kills someone is sentenced.

Some of the information to come out of the meeting included the following:

- Reported abuse of children, sexual and otherwise, is up 54 percent in Washtenaw county this year, mirroring a national trend, according to Mackie.

- There are paid experts ("have opinion, will testify"), Mackie said, who are hired simply to attempt to discredit child witnesses.

- There is no profile that fits the average sex abuser, Douglas said. They range from dumb to smart and fit all education and income levels. They are often the most trusted people.

- Children may or may not show signs of abuse after an incident, Dorado said. "There is no one profile or set of symptoms," she said. She stressed that children can often recover well from early counseling.

- A plea bargain arrangement is usually made with the victim in mind, Douglas said. "The well-being of the victim dictates every step of the investigatory process," he said.

- Libel suits are being filed against those who make the accusation of child sexual abuse, Thompson said.

- Abusers scare children into not telling their parents, Joshua Medbury said. "Teach kids it's OK to tell, because it could happen to them."

- "What children don't know or don't understand can hurt them later," Linda Medbury said. "You need to talk to children about sexual abuse."

Assistant Pastor To Stand Trial on Sexual Abuse Charge

North Sharon Baptist church assistant Pastor Timothy Leonard will stand trial on a charge of first-degree criminal sexual conduct.

Leonard, 33, is accused of raping a nine-year-old Jackson county girl who attended Sunday school at the church. He was bound over Monday by Washtenaw District Judge Thomas Shea. Shea had originally dismissed the charge in January. The alleged victim had testified during a preliminary examination that she could not remember which year the assault occurred in. Shea's ruling was overturned by Washtenaw County Circuit Judge Patrick Conlin, who ruled that it was not necessary for the girl to remember when the alleged crime occurred.

Eleven other counts filed against Leonard have since been dismissed because witnesses were deemed to be too young to testify.

Michael Stillwagon, Leonard's attorney, argued that the case should be dismissed because the police investigation was "unprofessional." He said the girl told her mother, a physician, and police official that she had never been abused before she changed her story.

Washtenaw County Assistant Prosecutor Julie Owdziej said children often deny sexual abuse many times before telling someone.

For a preliminary exam, prosecutors only need to show that a crime probably occurred, and that there's reason to believe the defendant was involved.

Stillwagon appealed Conlin's ruling, but the Michigan Court of Appeals refused to consider it.

Japanese Town Interested in Starting Sister Town Relationship

During the first week of November, two visitors from the Japanese town of Shimizu will be touring Chelsea as a first step in trying to develop a formal relationship between the two towns.

The visitors, Mr. Hosono, an administrator in the Shimizu Board of Education and Mr. Hasegawa, the vice-principal of Shimizu Middle School, learned of Chelsea from Brian Oakley, Brian, a 1986 CHS graduate and a 1990 graduate of the University of Vermont, has lived in Shimizu for the last two years. As the assistant English teacher (AET) for the town of Shimizu, Brian was surprised at the many similarities between Shimizu and Chelsea and at the international outlook of many Shimizu residents. As Brian said, "When I mentioned the similarities in geography, climate and population between Shimizu and Chelsea, people became very interested in actually coming to see Chelsea. Even in a rural community in northern Japan, people are very interested in learning more about America."

When the Shimizu Board of Education proposed the idea of a formal relationship between the two towns, it seemed like a perfect opportunity. "It would be a great mutual learning experience to explore the many commonalities between Shimizu and Chelsea," Hosono said. Mentioning the initial goals in the development of a concrete relationship, Hosono went on to say, "If possible, we would like to send perhaps five middle school students to spend a week or so in Chelsea next summer. This would hopefully be the first of many such student exchanges. As well, in a few years time we would like to have qualified individuals come to Shimizu as assistant English teachers on a one year contract."

The two visitors will be kept busy in Chelsea starting Nov. 1 visiting Chelsea schools and witnessing a school board meeting. Tours of Chelsea businesses, a visit to the Lions Club, talks with interested Chelsea residents and a trip to Ann Arbor will fill the week's schedule.

Anyone interested in meeting our Japanese visitors or in learning more about Shimizu should contact Brian Oakley at 475-1276.

SPORTS

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Bulldogs, Pirates Meet Friday To Determine Conference Championship

The undefeated Chelsea Bulldogs and once-defeated Pinckney Pirates will battle for the Southeastern Conference title this Friday in Chelsea for the second consecutive year.

The circumstances are identical to last year. The Bulldogs need the victory to win the whole championship. The Pirates need the victory so they won't finish second. Last year's game went to double over-time before Tim Westcott's extra point gave the Bulldogs a one-point win.

The Bulldogs reached this stage by defeating the Tecumseh Indians last Friday in Tecumseh, 10-0, their second lowest output of the season. Meanwhile, the Pirates whipped the Lincoln Railsplitters, 42-7. Their only loss came to the Saline Hornets in their fourth game.

"Since the Saline game, Pinckney has made some personnel changes and position changes and they have become an outstanding team," said Chelsea coach Gene LaFave.

"They have a great offensive line with one of the premier linemen in the area. They have a junior quarterback who has really developed this year. They have the ability to run from tackle to tackle, although their big plays are the sweep and the counter. They present so many challenges to us."

The Pinckney defense has also become as tough as Chelsea's. They've allowed just seven points over the last two games. In those games, the offense has scored 70 points.

"This game could be 7-6 or 21-20," LaFave said.

"Both teams have the capability of shutting the other down, and both have the capability to move the ball. We will have to play great defense, win the kicking game, and have some balance on offense."

A loss for Chelsea could also mean the loss of the home field advantage in the play-offs, assuming they win the following week at Garden City.

Chelsea should go into the game in reasonably good health. Against Tecumseh, what was thought to be food poisoning or the flu kept several Bulldogs out of action, and receiver Don Poppenger saw only limited playing time.

Senior Jay Westcott, who hobbled off the field with a repeat of a knee injury, could be back. Senior noseguard Ed Greenleaf could see limited time.

The Bulldogs cannot afford a repeat of last week's performance against Tecumseh this week. Chelsea had four interceptions, including a tipped pass and a takeaway.

The defense, however, recorded its second straight shutout and fourth of the season as it dominated the game.

"We played great defense and our kicking game was outstanding," LaFave said.

"Pat Steele (defensive back) and Kent Young (lineman) played very well."

The offense was hobbled somewhat by Poppenger's sickness as it gave Steele one less dependable receiver to look for. The Indians, like everyone else this season, double-teamed receiver Colby Skelton, who caught only two passes, his low for the season. Younger brother Bryndon Skelton caught three passes and Poppenger and tight end Matt Seitz each caught one. Steele finished 7-17 for 83 yards, by far his lowest numbers of the season.

However, running backs Gabe Bernhard and Westcott gave Chelsea its best one-two rushing punch of the season as they ran for 195 yards and a touchdown. Much of it was due to the blocking of linemen Barry Anttila and Randy Hurst, LaFave said.

Bernhard put Chelsea ahead with 5:41 left in the third quarter on a three-yard run. Bernhard had 90 yards on 12 carries and Westcott had 82 yards on 15 carries.

Neither team could get much going in the first half. All three Chelsea drives in the second quarter ended in

THERE WAS A TRAFFIC JAM near half-court last Thursday as Chelsea's Kate Steele tried to pass the ball while Erin Schiller (40), Annie Terpstra (54), and Mara Smith (50) got boxed in. The Bulldogs won the game to finish the first half of the SEC season undefeated.

Cagers Upset Pinckney To Take Lead in SEC

With the season half-completed, the Chelsea Bulldogs girls basketball team finds itself in the unlikely position of being undefeated in the Southeastern Conference.

The Bulldogs upset the Pinckney Pirates last Tuesday in Pinckney, 40-37, to end the Pirates two-year unbeaten streak in the league. On Thursday at home, Chelsea put away the Saline Hornets 59-34.

"This feels great," said second-year coach Charlie Waller.

"We had no idea we would go through the first round unbeaten. The kids have played really well and have made a lot of progress in their mental and emotional toughness. I didn't think we had enough experience to play this consistently."

The Chelsea defensive trio of Erin Schiller, Mara Smith, and Courtney Thompson were able to hold Pinckney's 6-2 all-state candidate Nicole Cushing to 14 points. Schiller and Smith took turns fronting Cushing and Thompson played behind her.

On the offensive end, sophomore Annie Terpstra scored all of her 15 points in the first half to give the Bulldogs a 23-21 lead at intermission.

"Annie was red hot again," Waller said.

"About four baskets were taken away on infractions."

The Bulldogs fell behind in the first quarter, 14-9, and could have fallen apart. However, they out-scored the Pirates 14-7 in the second period pulled away by seven points in the second half as the Pirates managed just one field goal in the third quarter. However, Pinckney came back at the end of the game but missed a three-pointer at the buzzer.

Smith scored all four of her points from her high post position in the third quarter and Jessica Flintoft put in all four of her points in the fourth quarter.

Other Chelsea scorers were Laura Carty 8, Kate Steele 5, Thompson 2, and Charlotte Ziegler 2.

Saline played the Bulldogs close for most of the first half as Chelsea had trouble getting the ball over half court. Nevertheless, the Bulldogs were ahead 25-19 at the half.

In the second half, Chelsea's big height advantage began to rule the game. In addition, the Bulldogs started breaking the press and Terpstra got a lot of shots inside.

"There wasn't much they could do," Waller said.

"Fouling didn't do any good. We were 14 of 14 in the first half and 19 of 22 over-all. That makes a big difference."

Terpstra led Chelsea with 22 points and 12 rebounds. Thompson checked in with 12 points and eight rebounds. Other scorers included Schiller 9, Ziegler 4, Steele 4, Flintoft 4, Carty 2, and Smith 2.

Chelsea is 9-3 over-all and 6-0 in the SEC.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

The easy part's over with. Let the fun begin.

Pinckney Pirates come to town Friday night for a grudge match. At least the Pirates will view it that way.

The Pirates are 6-1 and have had another fine year. They can pass and run and defend as well as anyone. They played several nail-biters early in the season, but lately have blown out their opponents. They will come here Friday sky-high, with last year's one-point over-time loss fresh on their minds. They want a piece of the SEC championship that Tim Wescott stole from them last year with one stroke of his leg.

Despite all of that, the Pirates football team has been the number two spectator sport in town for most of the fall. The school board fired superintendent Ted Culver for calling the wrong plays. Three members of the school board face a recall election in a few weeks for calling the wrong plays. They are tough on their playmakers! We can only hope coach Tim Cogswell does the same thing Friday! Don't worry, though. If he does make a lot of mistakes, you can bet it's a lot harder to fire a football coach than a superintendent, so he's safe. There has been talk about "privatizing" the buses to save a lot of money for their football program. Imagine what a sports program could do with half a million dollars! Pinckney has pay-to-play, big-time. It costs about three weeks of the superintendent's salary to sit on the sidelines during a varsity football game. It's worse for the golf and swim teams because they can't take out their frustrations by wrestling their opponents to the ground. Anyway, it's been kind of a mess up north and the Pirates have been a pleasant diversion for the home folks.

Friday's game has the makings of another classic. I certainly remember last year's contest very well! Some Chelsea parents covered their faces, afraid to watch. Some jerk in the Chelsea stands kept suggesting loudly and not so politely that coach Gene LaFave put in a new quarterback—what a mistake that would have been. I remember standing near the end zone as Chelsea was about to score and being shocked at what the Pinckney players were saying to their teammates.

More to the point. Both teams have outstanding defenses. With Friday's shut-out of Tecumseh, Chelsea's average defensive yield is a little more than three points. The Pirates have given up just seven points over the last two games.

Both teams have game-breaking offenses. Pinckney has a great running game guided by junior quarterback Jerry Soranno, and an improving passing game. Chelsea has the great passing game with quarterback Pat Steele and receiver Colby Skelton and crew, and a solid and maturing running game (especially if Jay Westcott makes it back this week). Both teams have plenty of speed.

Pinckney will be, by far, the toughest opponent to date.

So it should come down to which offensive and defensive lines can gain the advantage most consistently, and which team makes the fewest mistakes. If it turns into a defensive battle, the team with the better kicking game will win.

But here, thanks to the home office in Tipton (and David Letterman) are the top 10 reasons why Pinckney won't win this Friday.

10. Chelsea has a superintendent and they don't.

9. Pinckney morale is down—students don't want to pay to attend Friday pep rally.

8. Cheerleading has been privatized and new girls won't know the routines.

7. Pinckney parents of second-stringers will charge the field after their kids don't play in first half.

6. Pirates' helmets were used to make lamps for a benefit garage sale.

5. Chelsea maintenance staff will pull the old "lights out" play at just the right time.

4. Pinckney fans will get frustrated waiting at the porta-johns and will go home instead.

3. Pirates players will break down crying after they hear the Chelsea Marching Band play the theme to Old Yeller.

2. Board members who face recall will attend game. Players will go after them instead.

1. Coach Cogswell is distracted. They've threatened to make him superintendent.

I've had a tough time lately with the game predictions. After my success with County Western, I was only half-right with Dexter, in terms of point spread, and even worse with Tecumseh. This week I'm back on track. Chelsea 17, Pinckney 14. The game should go down to the wire.

Congratulations are in order for coach Charlie Waller and his varsity girls basketball team. They're in first place in the SEC after the first half of the season and on a roll.

Waller is the first to admit that he's had a lot of help and that it's almost coaching by committee. His son, Frank, is the official assistant. JV coach Paul Terpstra has had plenty of advice. Beth Starkey works with the girls on their inside moves. But, Waller says, boys coach Robin Raymond is the unsung hero. He has helped with the press-break and many of the fine points of the game. Plus he has a great rapport with the young ladies.

Then, of course, there are the girls themselves. They are learning quickly and are developing a good team game. They are using their height to good advantage. And they haven't gotten rattled by more experienced teams or star players.

We'll see what happens the second time through the league. But you've got to like their chances.

GABE BERNHARD breaks through the line for a long run against the Tecumseh Indians last Friday in the 10-0 win. Bernhard scored the only Chelsea touchdown.

JV Gridders Play Well in Close Loss

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity football team played one of their best games of the season last Thursday against the Tecumseh Indians but lost the contest, 14-8.

The game was scoreless after the first quarter as the Bulldog defense held Tecumseh on a first-and-goal from the five.

The Indians broke a 55-yard run to Chelsea's five-yard-line in the second quarter and scored two plays later.

The Bulldogs threatened late in the half, but a pass on a fake field goal came up short of a first down. Tecumseh led 7-0 at half-time.

Neither team scored in the third quarter. But Tecumseh took a 14-0 lead on a 47-yard run early in the fourth period.

The Bulldogs forced a bad punt on Tecumseh's next possession, then drove 70 yards in seven plays. Peter Straub ran for a touchdown from seven yards, and Paul Bragalone ran in the conversion to cut the deficit to 14-8. Bragalone was 3-3 throwing in the final drive and Straub ran for 29 yards.

"We played well," said Chelsea coach Bill Bainton.

"Paul Bragalone was 8 of 13 passing and Peter Straub ran for 83 yards. Casey Wescott played a fine game on defense with four tackles for losses and Mike Thayer had 10 tackles. Freshman Jason Fletcher filled in well on the defensive line. We had five players out for this game with injuries and at one time had only one running back. We've had to do a lot of adjusting and learning on the fly to cover for that. So this was a really fine effort by the team."

Chelsea JV Cagers Defeat Saline, Lose to Pinckney

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity basketball team beat the Saline Hornets last Thursday, 49-38, but lost to the Pinckney Pirates on Tuesday, 45-37.

In the win over Saline, Chelsea fell behind 13-4 but dominated the game the rest of the way as they shot better than 40 percent from the field and 50 percent from the free throw line.

Heidi Wehrwein led Chelsea with 22 points. Other scorers were Melissa Carty 8, Kasie Ruhlig 7, Chrissy Hodgson 5, Jessica Inwood 4, Laurie Schiller 2, and Michelle Lucas 1.

In the Pinckney game, Chelsea fell victim to seven three-point field goals, which coach Paul Terpstra said was "unheard of at the JV level." One girl sank five of them.

Chelsea also only hit 4-15 free throws.

Chelsea scorers were Wehrwein 16, Ruhlig 6, Hodgson 5, Suzy Steele 4, Inwood 3, Lucas 2, and Schiller 1.

The Bulldogs are 8-4 over-all and 4-2 in the Southeastern Conference.

7th Grade Cagers Split Two Games

Beach Middle school seventh grade basketball team was beaten by Seaside 21-11.

The game, according to Chelsea coach Ann Schaffner, was marked by poor shooting.

Miranda Harris, Amy Bergman, Margaret, Schick, and Megan Holfka had the only Chelsea goals. Amy McCalla made two shots and Kristen Ellis had one.

Amanda McConeghy had a team high six rebounds and McCalla, Holfka each had three rebounds. Karen Kuhl and Schick each had three steals.

Later in the week the Bulldogs defeated Dexter, 31-15, as they took a 18-5 lead.

Twelve girls contributed to the scoring including McConeghy with seven points, McCalla with four points, and Schick, Holfka, Harris, Ellis, Bergman, Emily Taylor, Amanda Tarantowski, Katie Royce, Jenna Hall, and Katy Long with two points each.

Sarah Stahl, Ellis, and Bergman each had four rebounds, Harris had five steals and McConeghy and Lindsey Williams had four steals each.

Girl Runners Defeat Dreadnaughts Easily

Chelsea Bulldogs girls cross country team defeated the Dexter Dreadnaughts last Tuesday, Oct. 12, 21-37.

The victory gave Chelsea a 4-1 record.

The Bulldogs had to run without senior captain Beth Bell, who was ill and may not run the rest of the season.

"It was very disappointing to lose Beth Bell to mono," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"She had worked very hard this season. We will, however, regroup and see what we can do for our upcoming meets."

Molly Griebel won the race in 19:44. Chelsea runners behind her were: 3. Melissa Hand, 20:00; 4. Katie Spink, 20:04; 6. Erika Leiter, 21:22; 7. Sarah Henry, 21:30; 8. Jenny Space, 21:31; 13. Melissa Williams, 22:23; 15. Kim Smith, 23:26; 16. Emily Anderson, 24:26; 17. Sarah Metzler, 24:26; 18. Kim Niehaus, 24:33.

"Six of our top seven girls ran lifetime bests," Clarke said.

Chelsea finished fifth at the nine-team Gabriel Richard Invitational last Saturday.

Several girls were taking tests at the high school and couldn't participate.

Chelsea had 91 points. First place Mercy had 52.

Chelsea places and times were: 5. Hand, 20:32; 16. Spink, 21:45; 17. Space, 21:51; 25. Williams, 22:30; 28. Henry, 22:38; 31. Smith, 22:40; 52. Metzler, 25:13.

"Melissa Hand, Jenny Space, Melissa Williams, and Kim Smith all ran exceptionally well," Clarke said.

JV times included Niehaus, 24:07; Anderson, 25:21; Angie Bell, 27:45.

Bulldogs Boy Harriers Nearly Shutout Dexter

Chelsea Bulldogs boys cross country team out-ran the Dexter Dreadnaughts last Tuesday, Oct. 12, 17-44.

Chelsea took five of the top six places, led by senior Cory Brown in first at 16:23.

"The boys ran very well in this meet," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"Junior Chad Brown ran a lifetime best to place third. Freshman Tim Lawrence and senior Chris Leatham ran under 18 minutes for the first time ever. Junior Karsten Lipiec broke 20 minutes for the first time."

Chelsea runners behind Brown were: 2. Ryan Schultz, 16:25; 3. Chad Brown, 16:42; 5. Scott Hawley, 17:22; 6. Josh Metzler, 17:29; 8. Lawrence, 17:47; 9. Leatham, 17:49; 11. Kevin Kolodica, 18:05; 13. Chelsea is 5-0 in the Southeastern Conference and ranked third in the state in class B.

On Saturday the Bulldogs finished fourth at the 10-team Gabriel Richard Invitational. The Bulldogs were missing nearly a dozen runners who were taking tests at the high school.

Cory Brown placed second over-all in 16:28 and Schultz was third in 16:21. Other Chelsea runners included: 26. Leatham, 18:00; 33. Lawrence, 18:21; 38. Wehrwein, 18:28; 43. Coy, 18:50; 53. LeFurge, 19:33.

"Cory Brown, Ryan Schultz, and Chris Leatham all ran outstanding races," Clarke said.

Ann Arbor Pioneer won the meet easily with 39 points. Pinckney was second with 94, and Harper Woods Notre Dame was third with 96. Chelsea had 102 points.

In the JV meet, Chelsea times were: Kramers, 19:10; Wesner, 20:45; Atlee, 21:20; Sporer, 21:23; Holton, 22:13.

Tennis Team Wins Final Match of Year

Chelsea Bulldogs tennis team got revenge for an earlier loss this season by defeating Brooklyn Columbia Central last week, 4-3, in the final match of the season.

Central had taken an earlier 5-2 victory.

In singles play, Chelsea's Liz Holdsworth defeated Kim Tuttle, 6-4, 6-2; Julie Flynn of Chelsea lost to Jennifer Bates, 0-6, 0-6; Chelsea's Laura Hurst lost to Tara Medeiros, 0-6, 2-6; and Autumn Allen of Chelsea lost to Melissa Hartman, 2-6, 4-6.

All three Chelsea doubles teams were victorious, which provided the margin of victory. Tracy Haas and Becca Flintoff defeated Carey Taylor and Kelly Bates, 7-6, 6-2; Sarah Smith and Liz McLaughlin beat Kelly Jimenez and Kelly Johncox, 6-3, 6-1; and Anne Frederick and Jessica Knight stopped Dodie Malsach and Melissa Hartman, 6-2, 6-4.

The Gabriel Richard match was rained out and could not be made up. The tennis awards ceremony is next Tuesday, Oct. 26.

Golfers End Fifth In SEC Tournament

Chelsea Bulldogs golfers ended their season by finishing fifth in the Southeastern Conference tournament at Cascades Golf Course last Monday, Oct. 11.

Saline won the tournament with a score of 334, and with it the league championship.

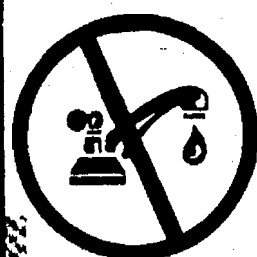

Tecumseh was second with a 346, Pinckney third at 348, Dexter fourth at 354, Chelsea fifth at 366, Milan sixth and Lincoln seventh.

Peter Flory of Saline had the top score of 78.

Chelsea individual scores were Jesse Hammett 88, Adam Beauchamp 90, Jim Tallman 93, and Dirk Wales 95.

Tallman accomplished what is apparently a league first by scoring a hole-in-one on the par three, 181-yard, hole number 11. League coaches cannot find another instance of an ace in league play.

Biological Survey Must Observe Private Property Rights

Michigan Farm Bureau is calling an amendment requiring surveyors conducting a planned national biological inventory to first obtain landowner permission to enter private property "a victory for private property rights."

The amendment was passed by the House during consideration of a bill (H.R. 1845) to authorize the National Biological Survey, proposed by Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt. The Farm Bureau-backed amendment passed 309-115. In addition to requiring surveyors to first obtain written permission to enter private property, the provision also requires that all data collected will be available to landowners at no cost. The House also adopted a Farm Bureau-backed amendment that would prohibit the use of volunteers to conduct the survey. Final House action on the bill is still pending.

Although the amendments were "welcome," MFB director of public affairs Al Almy said Farm Bureau still has many concerns regarding the National Biological Survey. He noted a statement by an adviser to Babbitt that claimed the survey "will map the whole nation for all biology, and determine development for the whole country and regulate it all because that is our obligation as set forth in the Endangered Species Act."

Almy said Farm Bureau is concerned that the National Biological Survey will be used as a tool to suppress private property rights. "If the purpose of the survey is to facilitate federal land use planning, this proposal ought not go forward," Almy said.

SHARING THE ROAD SAFELY

What minor law change could save at least 250 Michigan residents from serious injuries and death every year, and result in an annual savings of $60 million in medical and societal costs—without any additional cost to you or your family?

The answer: Primary enforcement of Michigan's safety belt law.

Surprisingly enough, our safety belt law is the only secondary enforcement law in the Michigan Vehicle Code. This means that before an officer can ticket someone for failure to wear their safety belt, the individual has to break another law first. It just doesn't make sense, especially when buckling up can make a tremendous difference during a crash.

If we care about reducing the tragedies that occur every day on Michigan roads, we must get serious about urging our legislators to make this simple law change. There are a lot of sound reasons. First, it is clear safety belts save money. Better yet, they save lives—and the statistics prove it. According to League General Insurance Company, the cost of injury claims has dropped 15 percent since Michigan's safety belt law went into effect. The number of hospitalizations due to automobile crashes has been reduced by 19 percent, based on a University of Michigan School of Public Health study.

Yet, $750 million is spent every year in Michigan on medical costs due to the failure to use safety belts.

The solution to improving this dismal record is as close to hand as your safety belt. Primary enforcement is the most immediate and direct way of encouraging people to always buckle up. More importantly, primary enforcement would prevent approximately 250-300 serious injuries and deaths each year, with no increase in costs to taxpayers.

In these days of economizing, downsizing government, fiscal care and counting pennies at home and on the job, one of the easiest ways to save costs for all of us, especially in vehicle insurance, is by strengthening our safety belt law.

Some might argue that with the advent of safer vehicles including air bags, there is less need to buckle up. But, statistics clearly show the opposite. Air bags only deploy in frontal collisions. And, if a person is not wearing a safety belt, they may "submarine" under the bag. The most effective injury-prevention combination during a crash is both a safety belt and air bag.

Michigan traffic deaths have dropped as fewer people drink and drive, as more children are buckled in child safety seats, as more vehicles come equipped with air bags, and more people—just like you—remember to buckle up. But, your help is needed. Please urge your local legislator to support primary enforcement of our safety belt laws.

Local Dentist, Hygienist Donate Time to Bay Cliff Health Camp

For the second year in succession, Chelsea dentist Dr. David Swan and his hygienist, Mary Pawloski, volunteered to provide a week of free dental services this summer at Bay Cliff Health Camp in the upper peninsula.

Bay Cliff is a non-profit, non-denominational summer therapy center for physically handicapped children aged 3 to 17. It is located on 169 acres along the shore of Lake Superior near Big Bay in Marquette county.

Bay Cliff accepts children with any and all kinds of physical handicaps. Children attend the seven-week summer session on a live-in basis at no cost to them or their families, regardless of their means. Along with therapy for their handicaps, the children get a great deal of loving attention and guidance in a wholesome, healthy atmosphere.

Swan first learned of the camp from a 1992 article in the Journal of the Michigan Dental Association.

The facility was founded in 1933 by Elba Morse, a registered nurse, and Goldie Corneliuson, a physician. They were employed by the Children's Fund of Michigan during the Great Depression and were well aware of the needs of children of the upper peninsula. With a board of public-spirited citizens, and with the help of the Rackham Foundation and the James Couzens Children's Fund, the women purchased a dairy farm in Big Bay and converted it into a camp for malnourished children.

Bay Cliff opened in 1934 with 107 campers. In 1938, the camp began accepting diabetic children, and in 1940 it remained open all winter because of a severe polio epidemic. In 1941 it first accepted orthopedic children. Cardiac, speech, and hearing and occupational therapy cases were added in the 1940s. In 1963 the dental program was begun. Today there are 26 therapists serving 175 children.

"It's really more like going on a camp vacation than work," Swan says.

"Mary and I both bring our families along and the kids join in the cabin activities of other children their age. My four-year-old son, Danny, would often spend an hour retrieving basketballs for wheel-chair bound children and my six-year-old daughter, Jill, loved to join in the nature walks and arts and crafts. The dental work is often challenging but extremely rewarding. For most children, their only experience with dental care is through the camp."

Swan's wife, Lynn, a physician at the Chelsea Family Practice Center, was often consulted by the resident nurses to evaluate their ear infections, bee stings, ankle sprains, and other problems.

Pawloski's husband, Neal, spent time repairing broken toys and helping with general camp maintenance. One night he stayed up outside in hopes of seeing a bear that had done some damage to the garbage shed in camp. After coming face-to-face with the bruin, though, he decided to spend the remaining nights in his cabin.

Swan says he plans to make Bay Cliff an annual tradition for him and his family.

"It's a pleasure to be able to contribute to such a worthy endeavor while helping improve the lives of children in our home state," he says.

"Volunteerism is an important part of being a true professional and it's easy to lose sight of that in today's competitive health care environment. The world could use more places like Bay Cliff and I feel fortunate that we found each other."

DR. DAVID SWAN helped with the dental care of handicapped patients at the Bay Cliff Health Camp this summer.

HYGIENIST Mary Pawloski cleans the teeth of one of the campers at the Bay Cliff Health Camp.

Catherine Arcure To Share Experiences As Food Editor

This year Catherine Arcure celebrates her 25th anniversary as editor of the popular Wednesday food section in the Ann Arbor News. McKune Memorial Library's Grapevine series will feature Arcure's presentation titled, "Looking Both Ways," on Tuesday, Oct. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Depot meeting room. The presentation-discussion program will focus on tales of her 25 years of experience as a food writer.

"Looking back over the last quarter of a century I've had a few unusual things happen," says Arcure. "I enjoy telling stories about the experiences I've had writing about food."

Many of Arcure's recipes are contained in a 25-year commemorative cook book being published by the Ann Arbor News. The book includes chapters on appetizers, soups, main courses, salads and desserts.

The Grapevine, a series of programs featuring area literary figures, is sponsored by Friends of McKune Memorial Library, Maureen's Antiques and Fine Art, and Serendipity Paperback Book Exchange and is free and open to the public.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I recently attended the Freshman football game against Fowlerville on Oct. 7 at the Chelsea High school.

In watching this game, I noticed that the same guys played almost the entire game! Now, there are—in the meantime—several guys on the "team" watching the entire game from the sidelines.

Maybe I'm wrong, but I thought that, especially at this stage, these guys are supposed to be learning what TEAMWORK really means, and it certainly doesn't seem possible that there is a whole lot of that happening.

This is not the only game this has happened, in fact the majority of this season has been played with all the same guys—so what does this teach the rest of the "team"? That even though they attend all the practices and work just as hard as everyone else—that they get front row seats to watch the game??

I just really think that these guys need a chance to prove themselves. What happens next year when they go to the Junior Varsity team, and that coach sees that they spent last season watching the rest of their team play football—he must not be very good—Right? WRONG! The truth is they didn't get a chance to show their potential on the field, and in the meantime didn't get the "on hand" experience to learn from their mistakes and gloat with their success!

I also think that there is a lot to be said about the way the Fowlerville team was coached. Every 2 or 3 plays, a fresh new team was brought in to relieve the tired ones, and when there was a break and plays were being discussed—the entire team was included—not just the guys who were directly involved!

I really felt sorry for our guys that were out there playing the whole game against fresh, rested opponents! You could see how exhausted they all were and although they are all great players and did an excellent job, I'm sure they wouldn't mind a little help from their teammates!!

MACULAR DEGENERATION

One of the most common causes of decreased vision is macular degeneration. This is a deterioration of the retina, the layer of nerve tissue lining the inside of the back of the eye. Light rays entering the eye through the pupil are focused by the lens of the eye onto the retina, which transforms the light rays into electrical messages sent back to the brain for "processing".

In macular degeneration, the center of the retina gradually deteriorates. The older we are, the more likely this will happen, although we don't know why it affects one person and not the next. It may tend to run in families. Unfortunately, this blurs the sharp, central vision we use for looking directly at an object. The side, or peripheral, vision remains unaffected. Macular degeneration usually affects both eyes, although not necessarily to the same degree. The blurring of vision may be gradual, noticed as trouble reading small print for example, or the blurring may be sudden and profound. Some of these cases can be helped with laser treatment. There is controversy whether zinc, vitamin A, or ultraviolet blocking glasses may help prevent macular degeneration.

C. If the Franchising Authority fails to act on the submitted existing rates by the end of the respective tolling period then the rates will remain in effect. If the Franchising Authority subsequently disapproves any portion of said rates, refunds may not be ordered unless a brief written order is issued by the Franchising Authority before the end of the respective tolling period directing the Regulated Cable Operator to keep an accurate accounting of all its customers and the amounts paid by each as a result of said rates.

If the time for holding the public hearing is extended pursuant to Section XII of this Ordinance, the public hearing should be held and decision rendered, before the extended time period expires.

B. A proposed rate increase requested by a Regulated Cable Operator will become effective after thirty (30) days have elapsed from the date the Township Clerk received the proposed rate increase request unless the Franchising Authority disapproves the proposed rate increase or extends the time period for conducting the review of the proposed rate increase pursuant to Section XII of this Ordinance.

C. If the Franchising Authority allows rate increases to go into effect at the end of the respective tolling period through inaction and then subsequently disapproves any portion of such rates, then refunds may not be ordered unless a brief written order is issued by the Franchising Authority before the end of the respective tolling period, directing the Regulated Cable Operator to keep an accurate accounting of all its customers and the amounts paid by each as a result of said rates.

Said order must be in writing, by resolution adopted within said 30 day period.

C. The Franchising Authority shall send a copy of the tolling order to the Regulated Cable Operator by First Class Mail within 7 days after the effective date of the decision.

B. The Franchising Authority may conduct as many public hearings as necessary to carry out the provisions of the Act, F.C.C. Rules and Regulations and this Ordinance.

C. If the Franchising Authority deems it necessary, either prior to or following a public hearing the Franchising Authority may direct the preparation of a written report for the Franchising Authority. This report may contain a recommendation to the Franchising Authority for its decision on the review of the existing rate schedule(s) or proposed rate request submitted by a Regulated Cable Operator. This recommendation should also summarize and be based upon the schedule or request submitted by the Regulated Cable Operator; comments or objections to the schedule or request which the Franchising Authority received from the Regulated Cable Operator; any additional information received from the Regulated Cable Operator; information which the Franchising Authority received from a consultant, its staff or its attorney; and other information which it deems appropriate.

D. The Franchising Authority shall send, by First Class Mail, a copy of any report to the Regulated Cable Operator prior to the Franchising Authority's consideration of the report at a public hearing.

- 3. State the date, time and location at which the Franchising Authority will conduct the public hearing;
- 4. State that all interested persons shall have an opportunity to comment on the rates at the public hearing, and/or to submit written comments on or before the date of the public hearing to the Franchising Authority.

SECTION XV

FRANCHISING AUTHORITY DECISION ON REVIEW OF EXISTING RATES OR PROPOSED RATE INCREASE

The Franchising Authority shall issue a written order supported by its reasons, by resolution which:

- A. Approves the Regulated Cable Operator's existing rate or proposed rate increase; or
- B. Disapproves the Regulated Cable Operator's existing rate or proposed rate increase; or

Chelsea Village Council Proceedings

Regular Meeting. Tuesday, September 28, 1993

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Steele.

Present: President Steele, Clerk Morrison, Village Manager Myers, Assistant Village Manager Pindzia.

Trustees Present: Hammer, Dorer, Rigg, Daut, Merkel, Cashman.

Others Present: B. Roberts, N. Selman, B. Shepherd, M. Williams, J. Machnik, C. Clouse, S. Foote, R. Wilke, D. Dault, L. Dault, A. Feeney, A. Thompson, H. Thurkow, P. Kazminsky, P. Cashman, T. Osborne, A. Cole, P. Sincor, L. Sincor, S. Kanten, K. Wagner, B. Fisher, M. Wonderly.

The first order of business was public participation and Mary Williams, representing the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, requested permission to hold a teen dance Saturday, October 2, 1993 in the parking lot behind Allies Cafe. Dance organizers will arrange for liability insurance. The dance will be held from 8:30 - 10:30 p.m.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Daut, to grant the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce request to hold a teen dance, provided they arrange for liability insurance. All Ayes. Motion carried.

Ann Feeney representing the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce requested additional time for the set up of the Bounty for County program on October 16, 1993. The Bounty for County program would like to start setting the tents up around 2:00 in the afternoon on Friday, October 15, 1993.

Motion by Dorer, supported by Hammer, to approve the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce's request to start setting up for the Bounty for County program on October 15, 1993 at 2:00 p.m. All Ayes. Motion carried.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Dorer, to approve the Consent Agenda. All Ayes. Motion carried.

Motion by Merkel, supported by Daut, that the Village of Chelsea donate labor and materials not to exceed $3,000.00 for the construction of a sidewalk. In addition, the traffic study obtained by the South School Parent Teacher - South organization be revisited. All Ayes. Motion carried.

President Steele thanked Trustees Dorer and Cashman as well as the residents of Gene Drive for their efforts regarding Gene Drive.

Trustee Dorer presented to the Council a couple of the options being discussed at this time in regard to the work necessary to dedicate Gene Drive as a Village Street.

Several Gene Drive property owners questioned the recent changes in acreage and Trustee Cashman explained that this was due to a more thorough site inspection and survey.

Jim Machnik explained to the Council that the Gene Drive property owners could not afford the current solutions being discussed. Additionally, Mr. Machnik requested an opportunity to negotiate with the Council regarding snow removal. He also asked for clarification regarding the status of Meadow Lane and Taylor Lane and the services residents receive at this time. Mr. Machnik stated that he felt the Gene Drive property owners deserve the right to equal protection, particularly since they had paid taxes since 1967.

President Steele stated that this Council was not responsible for action of the 1967 Council. This Council is trying to solve the problems related to Gene Drive. They are trying to figure out what is practical and what is going to be best. It is not a time to get into a rhetoric regarding the matter. In addition, he did not feel the Council is ready to take a vote on this matter at this time.

Mr. Machnik asked what the next move would be. Resident Thurkow stated that he felt that the different proposals needed to be studied. Mr. Machnik also asked again about the snow removal.

President Steele asked Mr. Machnik and the Gene Drive property owners to select three individuals to study this matter further and let the Assistant Village Manager know their names.

President Steele opened the Public Hearing regarding the United Methodist Home Refunding Plan Amendment.

Don Keim from Miller, Canfield, Paddock & Stone and Seneca Foote representing the Chelsea Methodist Home explained the purpose of this change was to take advantage of the lower rates on these bonds and therefore resulting in a $1.2 M savings.

President Steele closed the Public Hearing.

Motion by Merkel, supported by Dorer to adopt the attached Resolution Approving Amendment to Project Plan as Submitted by the Economic Development Corporation of the Village of Chelsea (United Methodist Retirement Homes Project). All Ayes. Motion Approved. (Resolution Attached as Appendix A.)

Katherine Wagner and Stephanie Kanten were present to discuss with the Council their families intent regarding the Village Library. Mrs. Wagner stated that she did not feel her Aunt (donator of the McKune Library) would be interested in a District Library. Her Aunt left the building to the Village of Chelsea. Stephanie Kanten stated that it was the intent of her Great-Aunt to have the building used as a Village Library and that her Great-Aunt felt it was important to give something back to the community that had given her family so much.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Merkel, to table the issue regarding the formation of a committee to study the feasibility of a District Library. Ayes: Cashman, Hammer, Daut, Steele, Merkel, Dorer, Nays: Rigg. Motion carried.

State's First EEE Cases Confirmed

Michigan's first cases this year of Eastern Equine Encephalomyelitis (EEE), commonly known as sleeping sickness, have been confirmed by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) at Ames, Ia., according to Bill Schuette, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA).

Dr. Michael Chaddock, staff veterinarian and director of MDA's Animal Industry Division, reports that samples taken from two horses in Cass county (southwestern Michigan) were confirmed as positive for EEE on Sept. 27.

"This virus is transmitted through fresh-water swamp mosquitoes to horses and other equine," said Schuette. "With the large outbreak of mosquitoes this year, it isn't a surprise to find several confirmed cases."

Chaddock said most cases appear in late summer or early fall and can be deadly to horses. "The virus can cause acute encephalitis in horses where the fatality rate often reaches 90 to 95 percent," said Chaddock.

Horses cannot catch the disease from other horses, only from mosquitoes that feed on birds and mammals. The virus can cause encephalitis in humans. Anyone concerned about human health should contact the Michigan Department of Public Health or their local health department for advice.

Chaddock said the period of greatest threat is behind us with the onset of colder temperatures and frost but urges all horse owners to be alert to any health problems their animals might be experiencing. "For all horse owners, I recommend discussing vaccinations with your veterinarian when warm weather returns next spring and early summer," said Chaddock.

Anyone wanting additional information regarding EEE in horses may contact MDA's Animal Industry Division at (517) 373-1077.

Memoriam 20

GRANDMA FABER
In our mind we see you so clear, your caring and warm heart throughout the year. Everything you've done was always with love and we'll miss you, for the Lord has taken you above.
Your warm smile, your gentle touch, your listening ear, and somewhat closed mouth, careful not to take sides, Well... at least too much. No treasure on earth could ever compare with the joy we have known, and the laughter we have shared. Grandma we will always LOVE you and carry you in our hearts.
We'll see you one day, but for now we must part. With Love,
Your Grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY

On Oct. 15, 19 years will have passed since the death of our father, Donald Walz. A card we cannot send you, your hand we cannot touch, but God,
please take this message,
to a dad we loved so much.
Sadly missed by Diane and Tylene.

Shipshewana Comes to Ann Arbor

"One man's junk is another man's treasure" ... and so the renown Ship-shewana flea market began. Back in 1947, a handful of people began selling a few baked goods and a few old tools in the parking lot outside the live stock auctions held in this small, northern Indiana town.

From this meager beginning the market has grown to cover hundreds of acres with nearly 1,100 spaces for merchants to sell their wares. Tens of thousands of shoppers, some from as far away as Ontario, Canada, come to find bargain prices on everything from homemade spices to designer
T-shirts and sweatshirts, and just about anything else you can think of.

Now, for the first time, shoppers don't have to travel down the 2-lane highways to Shipshewana, Ind., to find fantastic bargains. Beginning Tuesday, Oct. 26 for three days, over 150 merchants from the Shipshewana flea market will be selling their "treasures" at the Washtenaw Farm
Council Grounds when "Shipshewana Comes to Ann Arbor."

This buying extravaganza will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 26-27-28 at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds which are located 7 miles south of I-94 on Saline-Ann Arbor Rd. Hours will be Tuesday and Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., Thursday from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Pinckney Area Man Receives Navy's Unit Commendation

Navy Airman Apprentice Jason M. Placinto, son of Ralph E. and Diane C. Placinto of 171 Knollwood, Pinckney, recently received the Meritorious Unit Commendation, along with his shipmates aboard the aircraft carrier USS Theodore Roosevelt, homeported in Norfolk, Va., and the crews of its embarked units.

Secretary of the Navy John H. Dalton was on hand to welcome the crews home from their six-month deployment and presented the award while many of the 6,000 sailors and Marines on board the Theodore Roosevelt watched the ceremony as it was broadcast over the aircraft carrier's closed-circuit television.

The award noted that the personnel of USS Theodore Roosevelt and its embarked units conducted operations of international significance in the Mediterranean, Adriatic and Red Seas, playing vital roles in Operations Deny Flight, Provide Promise and Maritime Guard from March to August. Crewmembers were recognized for sustaining "an unprecedented 90 percent operations tempo" throughout the deployment.

Carriers and their aircraft and escort ships are uniquely capable of providing global presence and can respond to protracted contingencies on a moment's notice. These forces can dominate the coastal battle space from the sea and can project sustained, precise and awesome offensive power in America's interest around the globe.

The 1990 graduate of Pinckney High school joined the Navy in May, 1992.

Chelsea Resident Honored as 20-Year Briarwood Employee

Chelsea resident Virginia Gillespie will never forget the time when, as a sales associate in Sears' children's department, she stopped to report a "suspicious" character to store security.

"He was watching me and just standing around," she recalls.

The man, it turned out, was a Sears security officer.

Gillespie, who has worked at Sears since Briarwood opened in 1973, is one of over a dozen people employed at the center for two full decades. Briarwood invited all of the 20-year employees to a dinner in their honor at The Gandy Dancer in Ann Arbor.

What Gillespie and other veteran employees recall was a different era in retailing.

Most sales people worked strictly on commission and received extra pay for working on Sundays. Nepotism was forbidden; relatives, no matter how distant, could not work in the same store.

Today, Gillespie's 18-year-old twin granddaughters both work in the same store as their grandmother.

Only minimal reminders of once-tight retail dress codes remain, and employees now check in through computer scans rather than punch cards.

Technology, however, is not without its tribulations. "It's harder to adjust bifocals to the computer screen," explains Gillespie.

A former elementary school teacher, Gillespie says she applied for the sales position at Sears "strictly as a lark" after she "temporarily" left teaching to become a full-time mother.

Twenty years later, she says, she's still larking, but never have the ramifications of her years of service hit her as hard as it did recently when a new young salesgirl approached her.

"You know," the young woman said, "you sold my mother her first bra."

Pharmacy Week Being Observed at Hospital

Consumers with questions about their medication don't have to worry about where to get information. Pharmacists are their best and most accessible medication experts.

The Michigan Pharmacists Association is observing National Pharmacy Week, Oct. 24-30, by urging the public to talk to their pharmacists about their medications. On Tuesday, Oct. 26, consumers can call a nationwide, one-day toll-free information line at (800) OTC-2110 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. and speak personally to a pharmacist about over-the-counter (OTC) medications.

The purpose of the "DIAL-OGUE on Over-the Counter Medications" is to provide information and to remind consumers that the pharmacist is always available to talk with them about their medicines. The event conveys the message that OTC products are very powerful, can cause side effects, and have the possibility of adversely interacting with prescription medications.

Following the pharmacist's advice can save money for the consumers and help lower the nation's healthcare costs by ensuring the safe and effective use of medications. Not following a medicine's instructions or discontinuing its use without a doctor's advice can lead to a more expensive treatment, such as surgery or hospitalization.

The telephone hot line or "DIAL-OGUE" is being promoted jointly by the American Pharmaceutical Association, the Michigan Pharmacists Association and the Aspirin Foundation of America.
