Village Council OKs $1.9 Million Budget For New Fiscal Year

Chelsea Village Council approved a $1.9 million general fund budget for the 1994-95 fiscal year during a special council meeting Monday night. Last year's budget was $1.89 million.

Village administration had wanted the budget to be approved last week but trustee Joe Merkel asked for a meeting of the entire council to discuss it. Council members voted to receive no pay for the meeting, thereby avoiding an expense of $500 to village taxpayers.

The budget was approved as presented by village manager Jack Myers, with two changes. The vehicle and equipment fund (not part of the general fund) was given an extra $20,000 so another mechanic could be hired. Professional and contractual services in the general fund budget was increased by $10,000 to pay for a streetscape plan for the southern M-52 corridor and additional consulting on the long-range plan.

The general fund budget includes $1 million in property tax revenues, up about $40,000 from last year, and $382,000 in state shared taxes, up about $60,000. Other major revenue sources include $162,050 from payment in lieu of taxes from the village's electric fund; $180,000 from fire contracts with the townships; and $80,000 re-imbursement from the state Michigan Underground Storage Tank Financial Assurance (MUSTFA) fund for costs associated with cleaning up contamination at the village garage on North St.

As usual, the police department budget of $441,225 is the largest single expense item, although public works is not far behind at $346,500. Other expenditures include $277,910 for fire protection; $214,250 for insurance and fringe benefits; $154,000 for the general services administration; $148,500 for executive expenses; and $209,000 for other activities.

Expenses could go up for the police department. Negotiations are underway for a new police contract. Merkel told council last week that he was concerned with the progress of the negotiations and said he didn't want the village to have to lay off anyone.

Other budgets were also approved by council.

	Expenditures
• Major street	$151,700
• Local street	$46,750
• Fire equipment	$110,500
• Solid waste	$282,000
• Drug law enforcement	$1,500
• 1987 unlimited bond	$179,183
• 1987 limited bond	$100,000
• Industrial development	$6,450
• Downtown development	$357,300
• Landfill	$136,500
• Electric	$2,962,350
• Sewer	$475,350
• Water	$342,000
• Vehicle and equip.	$210,000

Revenues in the above funds equal expenditures in most cases. However, fire equipment fund ($49,000) and electric fund ($2,770,685) revenues are less, while 1987 unlimited bond ($196,500), industrial development ($8,500), and downtown development ($488,929) revenues exceed expenses.

The village plans to spend about $200,000 on a new substation this year. The budget was passed unanimously on a roll call vote.

Village Sewage Plant Will Need Upgrade Soon

The village is close to needing a $120,000 upgrade to the wastewater treatment plant, according to a review of the sewer system by consultant Glenn Burkhardt.

According to the study, performed to determine a way to service the south side of Old US-12 from Freer Rd. to M-62, the wastewater plant can handle an additional 100,000 gallons per day before the improvements will be needed. That translates to about 160 homes.

The area in question is the proposed site of the new county golf course, as well as a development of private homes and condominiums. It would pump about 200,000 gallons per day into the sewers.

Another proposed development on the north side of Old US-12, a senior housing project next to Chelsea Community Hospital, would further strain the system. Burkhardt recommended the improvements to the plant be made within two years.

The plant's current capacity is 900,000 gallons per day. The improvements—modifications to the clarifier system—would give the plant a capacity of 1.7 million gallons, or another 1,450 homes, enough to handle the village for the foreseeable future.

According to the report, the cost of providing sewer service to the Old US-12 area, via an M-52 interceptor, will be about $500,000. That would be paid through a special assessment district.

The study also examines the Freer

Rd. service area, which includes the senior housing area, 140 residential units, and a 2,500-student high school. That area would add about 300,000 gallons to the system.

Friends of McKune Plan Pot-Luck, Annual Meet Tonight

Friends of McKune Memorial Library will hold their Annual Meeting and Pot-Luck Supper tonight, Wednesday, March 2, at 6 p.m. upstairs in the Woman's Club room at McKune Library.

Following supper, the Friends annual meeting will be held. The agenda will focus on the election of officers for the 1994-95 year, and on plans for the Friends' annual "Love Your Library Week" celebration, which will be held this year from Saturday, April 16 to Saturday, April 23.

Those who attend are asked to bring a dish to pass and their own place setting.

Ah, Spring!

Signs of Spring are on the way! Tuesday, March 1, a sunny and joyful day greeted Andrew Policht, 5650 Stofer Rd., Chelsea.

Andy looked around his yard and saw two Robins, 42 doves under the feeder and one bluebird taking a bath in a puddle on the blacktop.

Ah, Spring!

Village Manager Myers Says He's Uncertain About Renewing Contract

Village manager Jack Myers told village council Monday night that he has not decided whether he wants to renew his contract when it expires in June.

Myers, who was hired after the forced resignation of former manager Robert Stalker, signed a three-year contract. He has an option for another three years if he and council agree.

Myers said he hadn't intended to discuss his contract in public session. However, at the conclusion of discussion on the 1994-95 budget, trustee Joe Merkel asked Myers whether he was satisfied with the budget in light of the fact that his contract is due to expire. He also asked him whether he plans to seek another contract.

Myers told Merkel that he hadn't made a decision and he plans to wait a while before making up his mind.

The exchange Monday came on the heels of heated words last Tuesday in which Merkel questioned the process of forming the budget. In a memorandum, Myers had asked members of council for their comments on the budget and urged them to make an appointment to discuss it. Merkel did not take him up on the offer.

Based on conversations with council members, Myers appears to have the solid support of about half the council, including village president Richard Steele. However, it's not clear whether there is enough opposition to derail a new contract.

Cassidy Lake Inmate Attacks Supervisor

A Cassidy Lake Boot Camp trainee was arrested last Tuesday after he allegedly cracked his commanding officer on the head with a 2 by 4 while on a work detail at the Western Wahtenaw Recycling Center on Werkner Rd.

According to Chelsea police, Darren Rider, 18, requested several times to go to the bathroom but was denied permission. Other trainees apparently also teased him about possibly wetting his pants.

After Rider was allowed to use the bathroom, he allegedly picked up the piece of wood that was sitting in a bucket and blindsided Cpl. Nathan Haehnle while he was standing next to the balling machine.

Police said five other trainees rushed to Haehnle's defense and helped subdue Rider.

Haehnle sustained a 3/4 inch gash on his head but otherwise suffered no permanent injury. He was treated and released at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Police are seeking charges of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder.

ONE OF THE BIGGEST snowstorms of the season hit the Chelsea area last Friday afternoon, and crews were scrambling at Beach Middle school and elsewhere to make walking and driving less treacherous. The snow cancelled many Friday night activities, including the high school basketball game.

Fundraising Continues for Youngster With Leukemia

Scott Hinderer is a nine-year-old third grader in Sharon Hodgson's class at South school.

Other than the wispy, baby hair on his head, Scott looks and acts like any other energetic grade school boy. He plays video games, shows pigs and lambs at the Chelsea Community Fair, plays soccer and baseball, and is good in science at school.

But Scott is different. A routine visit to a doctor's office in 1989 revealed an enlarged spleen and eventually every parent's nightmare. Scott has leukemia.

Since that diagnosis, Scott has taken aggressive treatment for the disease and his mother, Linda Murdock, says he has faced his cancer "head on."

Scott began his treatment at the University of Michigan Medical Center in the fall of 1989 with radiation therapy. He was on chemotherapy until January of 1993. From January until August, he was disease-free and off chemotherapy. However, on Aug. 17 his leukemia relapsed and "our hearts were broken again," Murdock said.

Scott's physician has informed his parents that Scott's only hope is a bone marrow transplant, an extremely expensive proposition because screening for donors is not covered by health insurance.

The first step in the transplantation process is to have the cancer in remission, so Scott was immediately placed back on chemotherapy. Within six weeks, the leukemia was in remission. He now spends one day every other week in the Pediatric Hematology Oncology Clinic at U-M receiving chemotherapy. His blood is tested each visit to verify the status of the disease. He also takes oral medications at home. Periodically he undergoes a spinal tap to make sure his spinal fluid is free of cancer cells.

The search for a bone marrow donor has begun through Harper Hospital in Detroit, where the transplant is likely to be performed.

Scott's family was the first to be tested. His father, Ted, was a close match, but not close enough. So the search has extended to unrelated donors. Harper Hospital is linked to the National Marrow Donor Program (NMDP) in Minnesota.

The NMDP data base holds information on more than 1,000,000 potential donors. When the information about Scott's blood was put in the computer, 166 potential matches were found for him.

SCOTT HINDERER, a nine-year-old at South school, has leukemia and needs a bone marrow transplant.

Donor matches are made by putting a sample of the person's blood through a series of genetic tests. The blood has six genetic factors—antigens—that must match. Once a match is found, further DNA testing is completed to more closely define the match.

Testing costs about $250 per person. Donors are not matched on the basis of blood type or national origin, but must be between the ages 18-55 and be in good health.

Fundraising on Scott's behalf began last fall. All funds raised are being managed through a trust in Scott's name at Zion Lutheran church.

More fundraising is in the planning stages. A dance organized by Scott's family and a dinner sponsored by the PTS at South school are just two of the events planned for the near future. Details will be published later.

Donations may be made directly to Zion Lutheran church, 3060 S. Fletcher Rd., Chelsea. Checks should be made out to the Zion Lutheran church, Scott Hinderer Trust.

For more information, call Scott's father, Ted, at 475-8048 or his mother, Linda, at 476-0775.

The bad news, if you live in the village, your electricity bill is going to increase at least 18.5 percent beginning March 1. The good news is, your bill will still be lower than it would be if you were buying from Detroit Edison, and after another year, Consumers Power Co., according to the village.

Washtenaw county has taken preliminary steps in an attempt to solve a major local stormwater drainage problem. The Palmer-Baldwin drain, which drains Oak Grove Cemetery, Beach Middle school, the Nature Center on Mayer Dr., much of N. Freer Rd., as well as numerous acres of farmland on the east side of Freer Rd., has been plugged and a source of problems for more than a decade.

Village of Chelsea will begin an experiment in parking Monday, March 5. Meters on Main St., with a few exceptions, will be bagged to allow shoppers to park free for two hours. However, meters will still be used on the side streets, and in front of the post office, as certain businesses want a more rapid turnover.

Chelsea's first full-time shoe store, Harper Shoes, is scheduled to open tomorrow in Village Plaza. Chelsea-area resident Daleen Harper is the owner. She and her husband, Bill, who's a salesman for Xerox, built many of the store fixtures. Daleen will run the store.

★ Public Education Turns to Private Firms

Whoever thought the profit motive in education was evil hasn't been in a lot of public schools lately. Today, private companies are involved in virtually every area of public school operations and the number of schools hiring private firms is rapidly increasing.

That is the finding of a study released in Michigan today.

Public schools across the nation and, in limited instances, in Michigan are increasingly contracting with private firms to provide both building and instructional services, according to a new study released today by a Michigan think tank.

In Michigan, the debate over privatization in public schools recently came to a head in Pinckney, where there is a movement toward contracting out the management of the entire school district to a private firm.

The new report from the Mackinac Center for Public Policy, a research organization based in Midland, contends that the situation in Pinckney is a bellwether of developments, well underway elsewhere in the U.S., coming to Michigan.

"What we're seeing is a quiet revolution," said Robert Wittmann, director of education policy for the Mackinac Center. "The debate may be heated in Pinckney, but across the nation privatization of school services is rapidly taking place."

The 28-page report cites numerous examples of the accelerating growth of privatization of school services:

- In the past six years, the number of schools contracting with private companies for food service has more than doubled;
- Indiana recently became the first state to adopt legislation requiring school districts to consider private firms for bus transportation.

- A private company signed a five-year, $28 million contract to manage both the curriculum and general services for nine Baltimore Public Schools.

- The president of Performing Schools, a school management firm, expects the for-profit school services industry to soon gross more than $100 billion annually.

The Mackinac Center report says the reason for this tremendous growth is that schools can simultaneously improve quality and save money by contracting with private firms. Many school districts have plowed the savings back into the education of students by lowering teacher-student ratios or purchasing new computers.

Competitive contracting results in a "win-win" situation," explained Wittmann. "Schools get all of the services they need—many times with better quality—and students get to reap the benefits of the savings. It is amazing to us how anyone could be opposed to at least considering this option."

One concern with privatization is that, while it may be cheaper, quality will suffer. However, the overwhelming evidence to date is that this is not the case, according to the report.

"When private companies come in, they normally invest a tremendous amount of money in quality improvements," said Wittmann. "They obviously want to win the contract again and know that to do so, they have to please their customers."

The report, entitled Making Schools Work: Contracting Options for Better Management, is joint project of the Mackinac Center and the Los Angeles-based Reason Foundation. Authors Janet R. Beales and John O'Leary are Adjunct Scholars with the Mackinac Center.

Copies of the report are available to the public for $5 and may be ordered by calling the Mackinac Center's toll-free number, 1-800-22-IDEAS.

The Mackinac Center for Public Policy is an independent research and education organization which studies state and local economic issues from a market-based perspective. The Center produces regular reports and commentaries, and holds frequent conferences, to provide policymakers, community leaders, and the public with information, analysis, and solutions for some of Michigan's most pressing economic and social concerns.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see where we're having another outbreak of crisis flight in this country. Psychiatrists call it a disease, like they do everything, and people that catch it aren't leaving West Coast earthquakes, or Midwest winters, or looking for better jobs. From the piece I read, crisis flight makes folks run from their problems. They get bogged down and panic, and just take off and go as far as they can. Psychiatrists say they are seeing more of this than any time since the Vietnam War when families got torn apart and couldn't get back together.

I mentioned the return of this ailment Saturday night at the country store, and Zeke Grubb said it has been with us always, they just put a name to it every few years. In every one of us, Zeke allowed, there is a little of the salesman that keeps raising the rates, full convinced that really big score is just around the next curve in the road. The last time he saw someone on it, Zeke went on, the average American family moves onct every five years, and the turnover in high paying jobs gets higher every year.

Practical speaking, Zeke said, the way we live ain't much help in putting down roots. We are being turned into numbers on plastic cards, so it wouldn't be suprising if folks keep moving in hopes of finding somebody to call them by their first names, was Zeke's words.

Ed Doolittle was full agreed with Zeke. Ed said we need faces and voices instead of shop at home channels and computers. Pritty soon, Ed said, we won't even get to see our neighbors at the polls or the corner grocery. We can vote and shop with modems and coaxial cables and never have to deal with a fellow human being.

As for dealing with people, Bug Hookum worries about folks that can't hang up the telephone. He saw where some states have passed laws against "excessive telemarketing." This means you can sue if you tell them not to call again, and they do. What happened to giving the caller a good cussing and slamming down the phone, Bug wanted to know.

Furthermore, Bug said, cussing might be just what the doctor ordered for crisis flight. Cussing gives you relief wherever you are. He recent read where Italians are champion cussers, and they don't have problems with crisis flight or telemarketing.

Actual, the trick is whatever it takes to let it out, Bug went on. The National Union Against Blasfemy in Italy said God's name is took in vain a billion times a day in that country. That gives everybody a pritty good pop off valve, Bug said, but it sounds like an addiction where the more you use the more you need. Short of setting up cussing and noncussing sections all over the country, Bug said, Italians might try going out in the back yard and letting out a good holler.

Furthermore, Bug said, we got to keep in mind that these are the same Italians that start civil wars over soccer matches, so cussing doesn't calm them that much.

Personal, I think hollering is more natural than cussing, but we need moderation in all things. For instant, dieting is fine but it can be overdone. Zeke Grubb swears a woman in his church got so skinny she had to take somebody with her to make the electric door open at the grocery store. Yours truly, Uncle Lew.

Lima Extension Group Sees Video on Telemarketing Fraud

Cold, cold, cold was Jan. 19, so along with the schools, Lima Extension cancelled their January meeting. After January, Feb. 16 was a heat wave and 13 members and two guests ventured out to the home of Barb Wing.

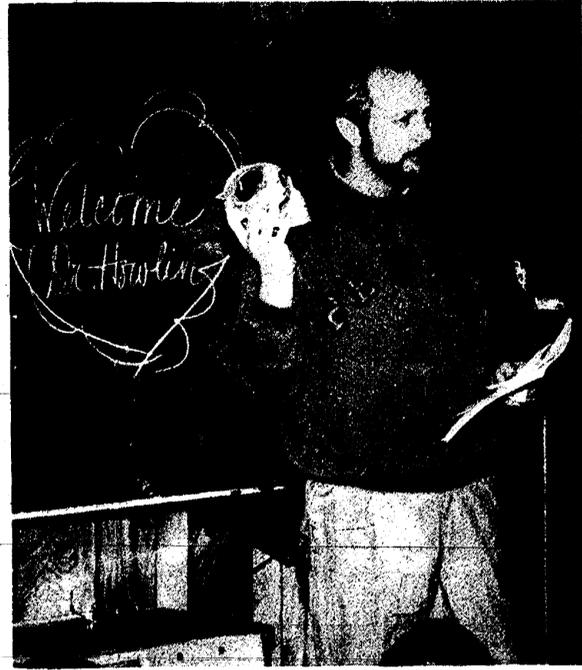

A Telemarketing Fraud video was most appropriate as a lesson because all members have been bombarded with calls each day since Christmas. Some homes have had three to four calls a day! This video also featured a familiar face to many Chelsea folks. A long-time Extension Agent and member of this Lima Group, Katie Chapman!

An extensive array of luncheon foods were arranged by Barb and co-hostesses Jane Schairer, Margaret Sias and Elsa Ordway, as council chairman Fran Coy brought the members up to date on county business.

Feb. 28 the Food and People lesson is on Hawaii.

District Conference is April 13 in Monroe. Spring Rally will be May 19 in Dexter. It will include cultural arts to be judged, plus a plant sale. Leadership training will be at Fran's March 24, 10 a.m. as a new council president will be needed next year.

Lima Extension will venture as a group March 9 to the Extension Building for the lesson "Remaining in Your Home," 10 to 1:30 a.m. Lunch will be Chinese at a local restaurant. Members should call Barb Edict March 7 for car pooling!

DR. RICHARD HOWLIN of Chelsea discussed the writings of William Shakespeare with children at South and North schools on Friday and Monday. Maybe a broken strand of antique beads, or pearls that were once given to you, from a favorite aunt or grandmother.

Perhaps you have an old ring that was worn for many years by a family member. Maybe it is in need of a repair or simply needs to be sized. You possibly have a broken bracelet or a gold chain that needs a small repair.

If you have something of value in your jewelry box and would like to see it transformed into a new looking, wearable piece of jewelry, let us advise you on the possibilities of repairing or resetting your gem. Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
Recently I felt obligated to contact the Consumer Services Agency after a problem with an area merchant. I felt I should make other Chelsea residents aware of this problem lest it happen to them.

I went to the local supermarket to purchase styling mousse for my daughter and a few other items. After we left I checked the receipt and found I was over charged. I returned the next day to take care of this matter. The law states that if an item does not scan at the proper price, then the establishment must reimburse the customer 10 times the difference up to $5. The person at the service desk informed me that even though the item was not scanned properly, I would only receive the difference between the two prices because it was "human error." I understand that. Usually that is why there are errors, because we are human.

Our local supermarket refused to obey the law. Instead they made up their own addendum to the law and said if it was "human error" they do not have to pay anything more than the difference. If they followed the law, maybe we would have a higher quality grocery store. Maybe they would then in turn make them a better store. Just because there isn't another large grocery store in town, this does not give them the right to make their own rules and treat customers the way they feel. Ann Arbor really is looking closer and closer to me all the time.

If anyone else has had this problem with any other establishment, you need to call Consumer Services at 971-8064. They are very nice people and will help you out.

Angered Customer,
Jolyn Outhwaite.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, Feb. 21, were Diesing, Knutsen, Roberts, McCalla, Eisenbelsler, Merkel, Redding, interim superintendent Osterling, assistant superintendent Mills, principal Stielstra, community education director Rohrer, special education director DeYoung, guests.
 Meeting called to order at 7:30 p.m. by president Diesing.

Board approved the minutes of the Feb. 7 meeting and the minutes of the executive session of the same date.

Entered as official communications were (1) letter from Governor Engler regarding the March 9 symposium on charter schools initiative, (2) letter of invitation to the South & West Washtenaw Consortium's Family Career Day on Feb. 27 at Saline High school.

A district parent who was present at the meeting addressed the board about her transportation concern which included the transfer of elementary students in the morning and afternoon, the picking up of students within the village limits, lack of communication relative to schedule and route changes.

- In action items, the Board:
- approved the Outdoor Club's caving trip, April 27-30,
 - accepted the donation of uniforms for various musical groups from the Chelsea Music Boosters,
 - accepted the donation of Sony video tape recorders from Blackstar Communications of Michigan,
 - approved board policy CEB (Superintendent's job description),
 - accepted nine early-retirement resignations under the retirement-incentive plan,
 - authorized Fred Mills to apply to the Election Scheduling Committee, as recommended by legal counsel, for a special millage election on April 18.

A representative of the National Center for Dispute Settlement was present at the meeting to review the services offered by that firm relative to the negotiations process. Some board members had previously expressed the desire to explore the concept of "win-win" negotiation strategies.

In an update on the superintendent search, interim superintendent Osterling reported that 27 brochures have been mailed and three completed applications have been received.

ENDLESS SIPHONS was the subject of Andrew Babak's experiment for the Third Grade Science Fair at North school last Thursday. Andrew shows his curious classmates how water moves from one cup to the next through a series of hoses.

Piasecki Endowment Fund Set Up By Chelsea Education Foundation

The death of Chelsea superintendent Joe Piasecki has resulted in the largest inflow of funds in the short history of the Chelsea Education Foundation. Piasecki conceived the idea and was one of its founders. The foundation has decided to establish a Joseph K. Piasecki Endowment Fund, which will fund a scholarship and a permanent memorial to the slain superintendent. The foundation held a special meeting of former and current board members Feb. 17 to determine the distribution of memorial donations. "We are very pleased that a majority of the money will be invested in an endowment fund," said foundation president Mary Jane Eder.

"Our board of directors felt that an endowment fund would be the most responsible and enduring way to continue Joe's name and work. "It has also been a long-term goal of the foundation to establish a stable source of funding for viable educational projects. With careful investing, this money should help sponsor programs and services in Joe's memory for many years to come."

The Piasecki scholarship will be awarded annually to a graduating senior and will be funded from a portion of the interest in the endowment. "We want to help those students who show a strong desire to further their education and who display admirable work ethics," said Marlene Piasecki, Joe's widow.

The remaining funds will be used to buy or build a permanent memorial within the next year. A special committee to include Marlene Piasecki and former and current board members will examine all ideas.

"There are so many good ideas for a permanent memorial," Eder said. "I am confident that whatever decision is reached will be responsible, in good taste, and will reflect the wishes of the Piasecki family and the community of Chelsea."

Wallet Stolen At Local Gym

A patron of the Westside Gym in Chelsea told police that someone stole his wallet while he was working out last Monday, Feb. 21. The man said a wallet containing $2 in cash and miscellaneous credit cards was in his coat pocket. Someone unzipped the pocket and removed the wallet.

BROWNIE TROOP NO. 247— Brownie Troop 247 has had a busy and fun-filled first six months! We would like to share our experiences: Sept. '93—Neighborhood Walk to the Chelsea Bakery for ice-cream, Brownie business meeting; planning our activities, dues, Kapers, etc., for the year.

Oct. '93—Cook-out and nature exploration. Pumpkin carving "Jack-O-Lanterns" tour and pizza-making (and eating!) at Thompson's Pizza (Chelsea). Teacher and chemist, Carol McCarthy (from Kalamazoo) gave a presentation on "Liquids" and taught the girls how to make "Slime"—just in time for Halloween!

Nov. '93—Practiced the Girl Scout Promise and Law; practiced flag ceremonies. Thank-you notes (Thompson's Pizza, Mrs. McCarthy and assistants), made invitations inviting parents to our Investiture Ceremony, the Investiture ceremony and refreshments.

Dec. '93—Made Christmas gifts for parents (wooden napkin holders), gifts for the birds (peanut butter and bird seed pine cones), made photo ornaments/gift tag and wrapped gifts, baked and decorated Christmas cookies (each girl had a box full to take home and share). As a community service project, we sponsored a child through Faith-in-Action at Christmas time, discussed the "needy" and the importance of giving.

Jan. '94—Worked on "All About Myself" from the Brownie Handbook. Trip to the Chelsea Bakery for ice-cream and troop social time—we only got to meet twice this month because of the weather!

Feb. '94—Overnight camping trip at the Chelsea Rod & Gun Club. At the over-nighter the girls built a fire in the fireplace, prepared meals, hand-painted and jewel-embellished their troop (painter's) caps, took a morning hike and observed animal tracks in the snow, Kapers ("A Girl Scout always leaves a place cleaner than she found it"). As a community service project, the girls made Valentine's Day place mats for the Chelsea Historical Society's Founder's Day dinner.

Our troop meets Wednesdays after school in the South School Cafeteria. Our troop leader is Lynda Collins, and troop assistant leaders are, Kathy Bouchard and Carol Schaper.

Members of our troop include: Kelsey Benton, Toni Bogdanaki, Julie Bouchard, Nicole Collins, Christine Esch, Kathy Everett, Amanda French, Christina Gaul, Danielle McClelland, Melissa Morcom, Meghan Reames, Allison Schaper and Katie White.

We are self-supporting through our troop dues, Girl Scout cookie sales profits and generous volunteers and donors.

Also, congratulations to Kelsey Benton for the scariest ghost story at our overnighter! (She had everyone huddling close together!)

NINA KRAMER took "Wacky Day" at South school to heart last Friday as she did her best to impress her classmates with her fashion creativity. The day was sponsored by the school's student council.

Happy Birthday

He went fishing
The ice was thin
The shanty and Milo
Both went in.
He almost drowned
He called for aid
Then he stood up
Found he could wade.

And on the course
It's the same thing
Everyone ducks
When Vögel Swings
Old hit and hope
That's his name
Tho no one knows
What's his game

He's sixty now
And aging fast
With Fouty and Esch
He won't last
For partners they are
Three of a kind.
Two are hopeless
One's lost his mind.

Happy Birthday

American Cancer Society Serves Washtenaw County

By Deborah Moore

One of the most dedicated and important missions of the American Cancer Society is funding medical research for cancer prevention, diagnosis and treatment. The American Cancer Society is the largest private funding source for cancer research, investing more than $1.5 billion to date. Because revenues come from private contributions, the American Cancer Society research program is non-political, influenced only by pure scientific interest in the very best, latest and most promising programs in cancer research.

Two major categories of research are considered for funding. Clinical and research investigation grants support specific projects in basic science and clinical application. Awards for fellowships and scholars are given to personnel who learn, conduct, train and apply cancer research. The American Cancer Society directs its dollars to medical schools, research institutes and hospitals throughout the country with established cancer research centers, because these facilities attract the brightest and best investigators in cancer research. Applications for funding are selected by independent "peer" panels that consist of scientific experts.

At least 25% of contributions received by the American Cancer Society are allocated to research (the remainder goes to patient, community and national service and educational programs with a small percentage to administrative costs). Currently in Michigan, 46 grants totalling $5,705,838 are being funded for cancer research at the University of Michigan, Wayne State University, American Cancer Society.

Michigan State University, Henry Ford Hospital and the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

The American Cancer Society began funding cancer research in 1946, and is proud to have supported 29 American grantees who have subsequently won the Nobel Prize. Medical accomplishments of research funded by the American Cancer Society include: the discovery of DNA and associated genetics; the link between certain viruses and cancer; the Pap test and mammography for early detection of cervical and breast cancers; the effect of tobacco smoke on cancer and heart disease; the hazards of second-hand smoke; that asbestos causes cancer; how nutrition affects cancer; lumpectomy treatment of breast cancer instead of radical mastectomy; chemotherapeutic drugs and bone marrow transplant cancer treatments; hormonal treatments for prostate and breast cancers; interferon; the immune-system-function in cancer; the development of monoclonal antibodies for treating lymphoma—and the list goes on.

Cancer is named most frequently by Americans as the single most important health problem facing them personally. Through research, many cancers today are now potentially curable—still only 50% of those diagnosed with cancer will survive. For this reason, the American Cancer Society continues to make significant investments year after year in funding basic research and getting those findings into clinical therapies and prevention techniques. All this is possible, of course, through Americans, like you, who contribute to the Michigan, Wayne State University, American Cancer Society.

Mary Ellen Mynning Becomes Recent Bride in Beijing, China

Feb. 6, 1994

Dear Friends,

Well I am still here in China, as a matter of fact, I arrived in China three years ago today. At that time I was only planning on staying one year, well, as you can see, the best laid plans often go nuts.

One of the reasons I am still in China is that I fell in love and just recently married the Chinese man who has persistently wooed me for the past two years. And let me tell you, getting married in China is a teeth gnashing, stomach clenching, feet aching time.

Just to give you a rough idea of what we went through, we had to go to the following places:

1. The Marriage Registration Bureau—where we signed up our intent to marry.
2. The American Embassy—where I took an oath that I was free to marry. If you have been married before, like I was, you also have to show notarized divorce or death papers.
3. The Translating Bureau—where they translated all the documents that stated I was free to marry. Good thing I hadn't been married three or four times! This was an expensive bureau, 80 yuan a page for translation fees.
4. His work unit—to get their permission that we marry.
5. His parents—to get their permission that we marry. (Even though my guy is old, as long as the OLD folks are breathing, the government wants their signed approval.)
6. The hospital where we both had complete physical examinations.
7. The tailor where I had a red brocade jacket and white silk blouse made. New brides should traditionally wear red, modern brides wear white, and I was covering all bases.
8. The photography studio—where we had to have a three-inch photo taken for our marriage book.
9. The Marriage Registration Bureau—again—where we dumped all our documents, photos, forms, and files on the desk and were told to come back in three days after they checked everything.
10. The Marriage Registration Bureau—again—where we signed our name and they handed us two little red leather books with our photos enscribed.

As we walked out of the office, I turned to Lu, Gang (Laine) and asked, "What do we do next?" And to my surprise, he said, "Nothing, we are married."

"But, you told me we wouldn't be married until next week after we had our wedding ceremony!" I declared. "That's right," he said, "that's when we will have our wedding banquet."

Now let me clarify. To all intents and purposes after we left the Marriage Bureau we were legally married (even though nobody even asked me a single question where I could say, "Yes" or "I do"). Yet in China, couples are not considered truly married until they have a wedding banquet and formally announce their marriage to the world. Sometimes couples will wait six months to one year before they have the wedding feast. Why? Because of the terrific housing shortage over here. Couples have to continue living with their parents until their work units find them a room that the couple can call home. Get a home, then get married.

Until then, continue living with mom and dad. Yet, if you don't go through the legal rigamarole, then your work unit won't try to find a house. Frustrating for the new couple. Laine and his mother, father, and sister all lived in a two room "house." And this situation is typical of China. Oh yes, in order for my new husband and me to live together I had to apply for permission from the Foreign Affairs Bureau at the university I teach at.

And let's talk about wedding rings for a moment. Number one, engagement rings are rare. This is a developing country, and diamonds are beyond the pocketbook of most Chinese. Carved gold wedding bands for the bride are popular, and reasonable. Laine and I went shopping for my wedding band on Wangfujing Street in Beijing and we went to a push new jewelry shop and the rings ranged from 300 yuan to over 5,000. But get this, every ring I looked at was adjustable. The Chinese are practical. The slim young bride of today will waddle down the street 25 years later, so give the girl a break and let the ring grow with her is the theory. One of my friends who is also a newlywed told me I should wind red thread (red brings you "good lucky") around the back of the ring so that the ring will not snag and pull open. I did. Now I am confident I am bursting with "good lucky"!

It is also the wedding custom in China for the newlyweds to set off fireworks (which we did, with a bang!), and for the couple to pass out cigarettes and marriage candles to all their friends, family, and co-workers. Costly. Especially since I am a foreigner, and so it was expected that we would pass out foreign cigarettes like Marlboros and Camels.

Oops, forgot one little item. A girl generally won't marry the earnest young suitor until he has at least 10,000 yuan in his sweaty eager hand. This is the marriage dowry. The boy is expected to cough up this much money in order to outfit the new house with a refrigerator, furniture, TV, VCR, and washing machine. Without these bonuses to offer, the guy will stay in a fixed state of bachelorhood. I think this is an extremely reasonable system. Especially since my poor folks had three girls!

Mary Ellen Mynning-Lu.

In the fall of 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt accepted a proposal for a forced draft work relief program, called the Civil Works Administration. As a result, four million people found work on secondary roads, schoolhouses, playgrounds and parks, according to "The American Worker," a U.S. Department of Labor publication.

Preventing Injuries During Cold Weather Winter Exercise

These days most people are not content with spending their winter months indoors by the fireplace. More and more people are enjoying their outdoor activities all year long. It isn't unusual to see joggers out in the dead of winter.

If exercising during the winter months, one must be careful to avoid cold injuries, including frost bite and hypothermia. Most often these injuries occur because an individual was unprepared for the weather conditions.

If considering exercising in the cold, there are some precautions you should take to prevent injury. Check the wind-chill factor to determine how long you can be outside. Lori Mosca, M.D., clinical assistant professor of internal medicine says "be aware of the dangerous combination of cold, rain and wind, because in these conditions is the time when cold injuries are most likely to occur."

Mosca suggests the appropriate dress for the weather. "You can avoid overdressing by dressing in layers: 1) a light-weight fabric that pulls moisture away from the body for the first layer; 2) an insulator, such as wool, for the second layer; and 3) a waterproof shell that protects you from the wind and weather for the outer layer," states Mosca. As a rule of thumb, wear one layer of clothing for every 5 m.p.h. of wind below the temperature of 32 degrees. Also, keep your head and neck covered, because it is estimated that up to 65% of body heat is lost through those areas.

Cold weather does not have to keep you from your favorite outdoor activities. By taking these precautions, this will allow you safe and enjoyable exercise throughout the winter.

Schools Receive $125.7 Million From Detroit Edison Taxes

Detroit Edison paid $183.8 million in property taxes on its power plants and other facilities in 1993, boosting the revenue of nearly 400 communities in 17 counties, most in Southeastern Michigan.

Nearly 70 percent of the total—or $125.7 million—will benefit education. The utility remained second only to General Motors Corp. in the amount of property taxes paid in Michigan.

The largest portion of Detroit Edison's property tax payments was received by Monroe county, site of the company's Fermi 2 and Monroe power plants. Of the $56.2 million paid to taxing bodies in the county, $36.8 million went to the schools.

Next on the list was Wayne county, whose communities received $48.2 million in property taxes from Detroit Edison, with $28.7 million paid to education. The company's downtown Detroit headquarters and Trenton Channel and River Rouge power plants are among the utility's major properties in the county.

Third on the list was St. Clair county, home of the Belle River, St. Clair, Greenwood and Marysville power plants. St. Clair county communities received $30.8 million, of which $23.8 million helped schools.

Washtenaw county schools received $4,137,946 from a total of $5,399,155.

Friends of Library Establish Joseph Piasecki CD Collection

If you enjoy a wide variety of music on compact discs, and are a patron of the McKune Memorial Library you can now check out a CD the same way you check out a book or video.

Friends of McKune Memorial Library voted at their February meeting to provide approximately $3,000 to McKune Library to establish a compact disc collection which will be called the Joseph Piasecki CD Collection. The collection will be named for Piasecki to honor his strong support for public libraries and public education, his interest in technology and education, and his love of music.

Some CDs have already been purchased and are available for checkout by library patrons. A three-panel display case designed to hold approximately 180 CDs has been purchased and is in the library. The unit has a lockable clear plastic molded display panel front to protect the collection, and provide a clear view for patrons as they make selections. Additional panels can be added as the size of the collection increases.

Friends of McKune also voted to give about $5,000 raised during 1993 to the library for the purchase of items that the library needs but cannot afford to purchase at this time through the regular budget.

Friends of McKune Memorial Library, the library "booster club," receive a large portion of the money they provide to the library from donations given to the Friends organization by local businesses, industries, professionals, service clubs, families and individuals during the annual Fund Drive the Friends hold on behalf of the library.

Plans are being made to use some of the funds to replace the shelving and carpet in the periodical room. The replacement shelving will be custom built so they can be easily removed, and transferred to new quarters when the planned library expansion becomes a reality.

A brochure and pamphlet literature display system for the library will be purchased this year. The clear plastic display system will be wall mounted so the materials are easily seen, neatly organized and more accessible to library patrons.

A microcomputer workstation designed to hold a complete computer system, and three office chairs will be purchased.

A portable sign will be purchased which will be used to post announcements about library activities and events.

"In the past few years the Friends of McKune Memorial Library have done a fantastic job for the library and the community," said Jo Ann Walter, library director.

"In addition to successful fundraising projects, the Friends developed many successful special event programs, such as author talks, puppet shows, book clubs and the annual 'Love Your Library Week' celebration," Walter added.

During the last few years Friends of McKune Memorial Library have used the money raised at their used book and bake sales, geranium sales, membership drives, note card sales, and annual Fund Drive to purchase an IBM computer, Windows software and laser printer, FAX machine, an entire set of furniture for the library director's office, a paperback book rack and an additional children's card catalog section.

In 1992, the Friends purchased a newspaper rack and business periodicals, such as Barron's and the Wall Street Journal, for the library.

In 1991, a television set, VCR and cart, presentation easel and typewriter were purchased for use by library patrons.

In addition, Friends of McKune made a successful 1993 application to the Chelsea Education Foundation mini-grant program. The Friends organization added approximately $800 to the $500 award from the Foundation which enabled McKune library to purchase a geography reference set for the children's collection.

After the 1992 annual Fund Drive the Friends provided over $3,000 in matching funds to enable the McKune Board of Trustees to purchase a microfilm reader/printer for the Historical room.

Friends of McKune also provide funds to pay costs associated with the McKune Summer Reading Program.

Great Lakes Ecology Training for Adults To Help Youth Camp

By Janet Nagele, 4-H Youth Agent

Are you an adult who loves the Great Lakes and Michigan's natural Resources? Do you want to share your admiration and respect for the Great Lakes with youth? If yes register for the 4-H Great Lakes Experiential Teaching Lab scheduled for July 15-17, at Ocqueoc Outdoor Center, near Lake Huron in Presque Isle county.

Participants will be trained in the use of Aquatic Project WILD, Project Learning Tree and other natural resources curricula. They will explore Great Lakes ecology, water pollution issues, dune and beach ecosystems, wetlands, fisheries, forests, wildlife, insects and wildflowers. Participants will also have a chance to fish, snorkel, swim, hike, birdwatch, beach-comb, and swap campfire stories.

"Every Michigan resident lives within 100 miles of the Great Lakes, but many people have not made a connection between themselves and these incredible bodies of water that dominate Michigan's natural resources," says Glen Dudderar, MSU Fisheries and Wildlife Associate Professor and instructor at the 4-H Great Lakes Teaching Lab. "We help the teaching lab participants connect with their natural environment," adds Dudderar.

This program is for classroom teachers and volunteers who work with youth in 4-H, scouts, and other youth settings. It is co-ordinated by the Michigan State University Extension 4-H Youth Programs and the Michigan State Department of Fisheries and Wildlife with partial financial support from Michigan Sea Grant Extension and Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Cost for the week-end is $50; this covers meals, lodging, and supplies. There will be an additional cost to individuals who purchase Project WILD and Project Learning Tree curricula. This teaching lab is limited to 40 participants with a registration deadline of June 1. To register call Janet Nagele at the Washtenaw County/MSU Extension Office at 313-971-0079.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Cagers Out of Title Race With Loss to Tecumseh

All hopes for a second consecutive southeastern Conference basketball title for the Chelsea Bulldogs were dashed last week-end as the league-leading Saline Hornets whipped the Dexter Dreadnaughts on Friday and the Bulldogs fell to the Tecumseh Indians on Saturday.

Saline won the title outright with a 10-2 record. Chelsea is 7-4, tied with the Dreadnaughts for third place.

The 63-56 loss at Tecumseh was similar to both Bulldog losses to the Dreadnaughts. Poor shooting, especially early in the game, put them in a hole too deep to climb out of.

Tecumseh, with its punishing inside game, took a 23-9 lead as the Bulldogs connected on just 3-9 in the first quarter and 6-17 in the first half.

"After we fell behind, we came back and made a game of it," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

Chelsea rallied to within 26-22 but the Indians scored the last four points of the second quarter to take a 30-22 lead.

Twice in the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs were down by three with a chance to tie. Each time, however, the Bulldogs couldn't convert and the Indians went up by five. The Bulldogs were forced to put Tecumseh at the free throw line in the closing minutes, and the Indians converted.

Tecumseh's 6-7 center Brad Allen played effectively inside, scoring 22 points on 12-17 shooting from the line. He also had 13 rebounds.

"Tecumseh did a good job handling the ball against our pressure," Raymond said.

Chelsea shot 38 percent from the floor, compared to 49 percent for Tecumseh. Each team had 36 rebounds. The Bulldogs had 11 turnovers.

Pat Steele and Rob Davis each had 14 points for Chelsea. Cory Brown had 11, Chad Brown 5, Colby Skelton 4, and Case McCalla, Scott Colvin, David Stimpson, and Nick Brink 2 each.

ROB DAVIS and the rest of the Chelsea Bulldogs hope to knock off Pinckney this Friday at home before getting another shot at the Dexter Dreadnaughts next Tuesday in the district tournament.

JV Cagers Defeated By Tecumseh, Western

In a non-conference game at home on Tuesday, the Bulldogs handled Jackson County Western 62-42. Western was 13-3 going into the game.

"We played a good, consistent game and controlled the whole game against a good team," Raymond said. Chelsea's lead was in double figures almost all night.

The Bulldogs out-rebounded Western, 42-26, and committed 13 turnovers, eight fewer than Western.

Eleven Bulldogs went to the free throw line.

Chelsea took 15 more shots and made nine more than Western.

Skelton had his season-high of 25 points, Davis had 18, Cory Brown 12, Steele 8, James Dising 5, Nick Brink 4, Chad Brown 4, Bryndon Skelton 3, Stimpson 2, and McCalla 1.

The regular season ends Friday at home against the Pinckney Pirates. Chelsea has a 15-4 record.

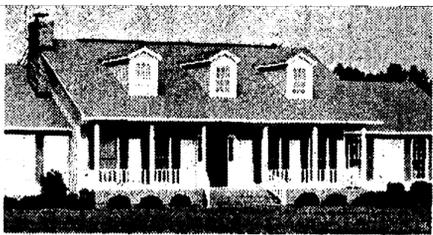

The district tournament begins next Tuesday in Adrian at Siena Heights College.

A recent survey found that a 15-item basket of food that cost $47 in Washington, D.C., would set you back $158 in Tokyo but only run $25 in Brasilia, Brazil. But figured a different way, the food basket cost 75 percent of weekly per capita income in Seoul, South Korea, but was a bargain at only .11 percent of per capita income in Washington, D.C.

JOHN BOBO was the lone Chelsea qualifier for the state wrestling tournament next week-end.

John Bobo Qualifies For State Tourney

Chelsea senior John Bobo will move on to the state class B wrestling tournament at 160 pounds as he placed third last Saturday in the regional tournament at Carlson-Gibraltar High school.

Senior Dan Alber at 119 pounds and sophomore Ray Hatch at 112 pounds narrowly failed to qualify.

"John could place in the top six," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel. "Once you get to state, anything can happen." Sixteen wrestlers at each weight will compete for a state title.

Bobo improved his over-all record to 30-7 with three wins and a loss Saturday. He opened with a pin of Bill Carter of Carleton-Airport in 4:33 in his second match, he lost a 9-4 decision to Claw Awishes of Monroe Jefferson. Kargel said Awishes has a good chance to reach the state finals.

In his third match, Bobo pinned Brian Rose of Grosse Ile in 2:48. In the consolation finals he pinned Todd Driver of Marshall in :55.

"John will have light workouts this week, but next week we'll try to get him in his best shape," Kargel said.

Alber opened with a 6-2 loss to Charles Syer of New Boston Huron. In his second match, Alber won 10-2 over Emanuel Contu of Melvindale. Alber was eliminated by Rick Race of Jackson Northwest, 6-0.

Hatch opened with the number one seed, Ron Kish of Melvindale, and lost 4-3. Then he met the familiar Eric Stoll of Lincoln and lost 3-1.

"Ray and Dan both wrestled well," Kargel said.

"They were just a couple of points away from qualifying. Ray will have another chance next year and at least he knows what he's going into next season."

Kargel said it was obvious the district Chelsea competed in was much tougher than the other district winners Saturday.

"Our district had 35 kids make it out to state, and the other had 17," Kargel said.

JENNIFER HAFNER of Chelsea caught this 6 1/2 pound northern pike on Saturday, Feb. 19 at an area lake. The fish was 28 1/2 inches long. Jennifer is the 10-year-old daughter of Lloyd and Margaret Hafner and is a fourth grader at North school.

MELISSA THIEL, a 1993 Chelsea High school graduate and a freshman at Hope College, is a conditional qualifier for the 1994 NCAA Division III Swimming Championships. Thiel qualified in the 100 breaststroke with a time of 1:09.73 at the 18th Annual MIAA Swimming and Diving Championships at Albion College Feb. 18-19. She finished second behind a teammate.

Pizza first entered the U.S. when Italian immigrants brought it to New York and Chicago.

Dreadnaughts, Bulldogs Open District Tournament Tuesday

Dexter Dreadnaughts and Chelsea Bulldogs will hook up for the third time this season in the first round of the district basketball tournament next Tuesday at Siena Heights College.

The Dreadnaughts and Bulldogs will play at 6 p.m., followed by the Tecumseh/Brooklyn Columbia Central game at 8. The winners will play Friday, March 11 at 8 p.m. on the same court.

Tecumseh is the tournament host. This will be the first time in many years that there aren't five teams in the district. Saline Hornets, usually one of the teams involved, has moved to class A.

The Dreadnaughts have beaten the Bulldogs twice this season, the first time by one point and the second time by three. The teams are tied for third in the Southeastern Conference.

Junior Varsity Spikers Win 20th

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity volleyball team closed out their season with a victory over the Saline Hornets last Thursday. It was their 20th win of the season.

"It was a real treat for the kids," said Chelsea coach Rainey Bassemier.

"They worked hard all season and 20 wins was their goal."

In the first game, Chelsea jumped out to a 10-2 lead behind the serving of freshman Kasie Ruhlrig and the net play of freshman Melissa Carty and sophomore Heidi Kemnitz. Chelsea won the game, 15-8.

In the second game, the Bulldogs had trouble returning Saline's serve and lost, 9-15.

In the third game, the net play of Kemnitz and freshman Jennifer Space gave Chelsea a 12-2 lead.

"Heidi and Jennifer each had five kills in the first minutes of the game," Bassemier said.

Final score was 15-12.

Kemnitz led Chelsea with 13 kills and six blocks, while Space had seven kills and two blocks.

On Feb. 17, the Bulldogs beat Milan, 15-11, 15-2.

Royce hopes to qualify for the 1996 Olympics during his senior year at U-M.

Great Lakes, Natural Resources Camp Offered for Teens

By Janet Nagels, 4-H Youth Agent

Teens, aged 13-15, who are concerned with environmental issues such as pollution in the Great Lakes, preserving wetlands, and learning more about forest, wildlife, and aquatic ecology will be interested in the July 17-23, 4-H Great Lakes and Natural Resources Camp at Ocqueoc Outdoor Center, near Lake Huron in Presque Isle county.

Teen campers will fish and swim in Lake Huron; snorkel, scuba and water ski on local rivers; and discover the largest waterfall in Michigan's lower peninsula. The camp cost of $150 per person covers meals, lodging, fees and tuition. Early registration deadline is May 1. Late registration deadline is June 1, with late fee of $15 required. A limited number of scholarships are available.

4-H Great Lakes and Natural Resources Camp is co-ordinated by the Michigan State University Extension 4-H Youth Programs and the Michigan State University Fisheries and Wildlife Department. Partial funding for the camping is provided by grants to the Michigan 4-H Foundation from Michigan Sea Grant Extension and the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

St. Mary's Offers Lenten S.O.U.P., Bread Suppers

St. Mary's church will be sponsoring S.O.U.P. (Service, Outreach, Understanding, Prayer) and Bread dinners on Wednesday, March 2 and Wednesday, March 16. Dinner of "St. Mary's-made" soup, warm bread and beverages will precede a workshop that evening.

The topic of the March 2 evening is "Effective Listening and Communication Skills." Becoming a skilled listener and communicator is more important than ever if we hope to offer understanding to those in our families and in all our relationships. This workshop will give you the tools and the confidence to begin improving these skills immediately.

Facilitator for this workshop will be Deborah Bailey, MA, from Catholic Social Services, Deborah, from Catholic Life Specialist, received her MA from Regis University in Family Life Ministry and Adult Education. She is an Educational Facilitator for Loyola University of New Orleans in their Graduate Pastoral Formation Program. Deb's particular area of interest is communication in the family and the workplace.

The second evening, March 16, will focus on "Conflict Resolution." The entire community is welcome to join in the events. Dinner will be served from 5 to 7 p.m., and the workshop will be 7 to 9 p.m. Child care will be provided. Cost of the evening is by donation and all proceeds will be donated to Christmas in April.

LEGAL ANSWERS
By Ronald Sharp, J.D.
THE DANGERS OF JOINT OWNERSHIP

Beware of putting your property in joint names as an estate planning device. While it is true that you may avoid probate you are also giving up control of your property. You will need the permission of the new co-owners to sell or borrow against the property. It is no longer yours alone. If the co-owner should die or divorce, you may have difficulty keeping total control of your property.

You are also subject to a substantial gift tax if the value of the property transferred is more than $10,000. In addition there may be serious income tax consequences to your co-owner at your death. No such tax is payable in a probate transfer or a transfer from a trust. A revocable living trust will immediately transfer your assets to your heirs at your death with no probate costs or time delay and can result in a substantial tax savings. An attorney experienced in estate planning can advise you as to the best plan to carry out your intentions.

Presented by Ronald Sharp, Attorney, Specializing in Trusts, Probate, Estate Planning and Wills. Call for appointment 426-0420. 8099 Main St., Dexter

THANK YOU
The family of Scott Hinderer would like to thank the community of Chelsea for their support. We could not have made it this far through the process of a search for a bone marrow donor without your financial and emotional support. We would also like to thank everyone who attended the Red Cross sponsored blood drive in Ypsilanti in early February. The sample of blood you donated is a potentially life-saving gift for Scott or someone else. We are forever in your debt.

The family of Scott Hinderer would like to thank the community of Chelsea for their support. We could not have made it this far through the process of a search for a bone marrow donor without your financial and emotional support. We would also like to thank everyone who attended the Red Cross sponsored blood drive in Ypsilanti in early February. The sample of blood you donated is a potentially life-saving gift for Scott or someone else. We are forever in your debt.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
PROZAC STRIKES AGAIN
Once again an innocent American has died at the hands of a person taking the controversial antidepressant Prozac. I am referring to the death of Ernesto Punsalan, (Oakland Press, 9 Feb, A-10) surgeon and father of Elizabeth Punsalan, champion U.S. ice dancer and Olympian. Dr. Punsalan was senselessly stabbed to death by his 20-year-old son who was on Prozac.
It was just last Dec. 17 that Detroit area newspapers carried front-page headlines detailing the tragic murder of school superintendent Joseph Piasecki in Chelsea. The fatal shots were fired by another Prozac user—long-time high school teacher Stephen Leith. Two other school officials were also senselessly shot by Leith that day, including a close friend.
These stories are not isolated or freak incidents. On the contrary, they add to an enormous body-count of victims piling up throughout America today that connect directly to people going berserk while on Prozac. What needs to be said here is that there are a lot more side-effects with Prozac than any psychiatrist who makes a living pushing it is likely to tell you about.
Last October, in my own investigation of Prozac, I called up the Citizens Commission on Human Rights (1-800-889-CCHR), a group that monitors psychiatric abuses worldwide. Amongst the information I received from them was a full page listing some of the 160 known adverse reactions attributed to Prozac. On the same page it states, "There are over 1,400 PROZAC-related deaths, with over 840 suicides." Last week I called CCHR again and was told they had now documented over 1,700 Prozac-related deaths since 1988, not including Dr. Punsalan's death.
I strongly urge anyone to get all the facts before taking or allowing someone else to take Prozac. Just being related or connected to someone on Prozac may greatly increase your chances of becoming a homicide victim! Is it any wonder the Association of Trial Lawyers of America (1-800-424-2725) maintains a special Prozac litigation section just to provide information about Prozac to attorneys contacted by people harmed by this drug? If ever there was a potential Jekyll and Hyde drug, Prozac is it.

A CHELSEA BOY stole a car at Beach Middle school into a bank building. The boy was reportedly on the run last week and drove to Montpelier, O., where he crashed again Monday.

Local Boy Steals Car, Crashes in Ohio

A 14-year-old Chelsea boy who stole a car at Beach Middle school last Wednesday was lucky to be alive after a high-speed chase ended with a crash against a bank in a small town in Ohio.

According to Chelsea police, the boy stole the keys from a locker at Beach Middle school while the victim, Jeremy Ziegler, a high school student, was at swimming practice at Cameron Pool. The boys knew each other. Ziegler had occasionally given the boy rides.

A deputy in the Williams County (O) Sheriff's Department saw the vehicle and decided to make a traffic stop when he noticed the boy's driving was erratic. He tried to pull the car over, but the boy led police on a chase with speeds approaching 100 miles per hour.

Once the vehicle entered the town of Montpelier, the boy lost control "and hit a few things," according to chief Lenard McDougall. The boy was airlifted by helicopter to a hospital in Ft. Wayne, Ind. However, by Friday the boy was at home.

Police reported Monday that the boy had taken off again after stealing his grandparents' car.

Chelsea police are seeking charges of car theft and breaking and entering. McDougall said Ohio police will eluding, and driving without a stolen property, fleeing and probably seek charges of possession driver's license.

Local arrangements will be by Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home.

Hauler Keeps Criticizing Transfer Station Plans

While the village continues to move toward building a trash transfer station at the Chelsea Solid Waste Facility on Werkner Rd., an official from a private waste company continues to challenge the village's estimates and assumptions about the project.

In a letter last week to village manager Jack Myers, Steven Dawdy, vice-president of Mr. Rubbish (which has been trying to get a piece of the village's trash business), said the village is incorrectly assuming that landfill disposal costs will rise the way they did several years ago; that trash compacted in commercial trash trucks can be further compacted at the transfer site; that contracting for residential pick-up is too expensive; and that residential growth means more people will bring trash to the landfill.

Dawdy also disputed the village's estimates of how much trash will be brought to the facility in a year. The village's estimates, according to solid waste chair Frank Hammer, are based on how much trash was brought there before outside haulers were banned because space was running low in the landfill.

"The conclusion of my analysis is that the transfer facility being proposed is a needless risk of taxpayer money and is not economically viable," Dawdy wrote.

"It was originally conceived to address a situation that does not now exist, nor will exist in the foreseeable future."

The situation that "does not now exist" are the 50 and 100 percent annual increases in landfill costs that occurred in the late 1980s. Dawdy contends that landfill costs have "actually been declining for several years now and are not expected to begin to increase in the near future." He said when costs do increase, they will be more in line with inflation.

Hammer admits there is a "landfill war" going on, and heated competition is keeping prices down.

"But that isn't going to happen forever," he said.

Another element in village cost estimates is the compaction ratio. Hammer has assumed that trash from commercial trucks can be compacted in a 3 to 1 ratio with the large compactor at the transfer site. Dawdy contends that is not possible. Hammer's most conservative estimate is 7,778 yards of compacted trash would be brought to the station and crunched to 2,593 yards.

Hammer said the kind of trucks the large haulers like Mr. Rubbish use will not allow further compaction. However, smaller haulers don't use such heavy equipment, he said, and some further compaction is possible.

Dawdy also said it's wrong to assume that residential growth will result in more trash being brought to the site. The "vast majority" of people will seek the convenience of curbside collection and will not be customers of a transfer station.

"I agree," Hammer said. "That's why we didn't assume we would get more trash than we used to."

Dawdy said transfer stations are "inherently inefficient facilities" because they add another layer to the trash disposal process and increase costs. He said the village does not have the massive volumes of trash needed to offset the operating costs.

However, Mr. Rubbish is proposing to build a scaled-down transfer station.

Village council has authorized the sale of up to $750,000 in bonds to finance the project.
