CHELSEA HOMEMAKERS CLUB contributed $600 to the Chelsea Police Department's Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program. They raised the money through a bowling event. Chief Leonard McDougall, above, said the donation will cover most of the cost of the program, which is aimed at elementary school students.

DANA CORPORATION plans to move its Chelsea plant operations to Mississippi by the end of the year. The move means the loss of more than 150 jobs in the area, and many of the workers are older.

Dana Corp. To Close Chelsea Plant, Move Operation to Mississippi

Chelsea's Dana Corporation plant operations on Sibley Rd. will be moved to another company manufacturing facility in Olive Branch, Miss. by the end of the year, the company announced last Thursday.

The Chelsea plant employs 154 people. The plant makes power take-offs, which are used in dump trucks, wreckers, trash trucks and other vehicles that need auxiliary power.

In a written statement, Leonard Newblom, company vice-president and general manager of the Drivetrain Service Division said, "The decision to close the Chelsea facility was a difficult one as, over the years, the operation has served our customers well. However, the closure will provide for better utilization of manufacturing assets located at other Dana facilities. In keeping with our objectives of total customer satisfaction, this consolidation will allow quicker response to our customers."

Olive Branch, a town similar in size to Chelsea, is about 10 miles from Memphis, Tenn., which Newblom said is within one day service of 70 percent of Dana's customers.

UAW Local 437 President Harvey Morrell said the union plans to sit down as soon as possible with company officials to discuss the move.

"There had been a lot of rumors, but over the years we've had a lot of rumors," Morrell said.

"But the workers were shocked when they heard the company's decision."

Morrell said many of the 112 union members in the plant have at least 20 years of service. Twenty-seven, he said, are eligible for retirement, which means they have at least 30 years. Morrell has spent his entire 30-year career at the plant. Morrell said the majority of workers live in the Stockbridge-Chelsea area.

With the move, the UAW local will lose about half of its membership. There will still be about 120 members at Federal Screw Works. However, the union is still negotiating with Chelsea Industries, Inc., which could replace most of the lost membership.

Some Dana employees may have the opportunity to move to other Dana facilities, said plant manager Tom Huettman, who has spent his entire 25-year career with the company.

The product engineering and test operations, which employs about 10 people here, will only be moving down US-23 to Ottawa Lake, close to the Ohio border.

"There are a lot of factors that go into a decision like this," Huettman said.

One factor, Huettman said, is that about 50,000 square feet of the 150,000-square-foot plant is not being used by the company. Much of it is being leased as storage space to Chelsea.

Dana To Donate Land for Major Recreation Project

An off-hand conversation between Chelsea Recreation Council President Conrad Knutsen and Civic Foundation of Chelsea executive director Bill Bott has cast new light on the council's plans for development on Sibley Rd. And it may well take the foundation into a new stage of evolution.

The impending pullout of Dana Corporation from Chelsea left the recreation council's project in doubt. The 12 acres of Dana land next to Weber Fields was to be used as the matching portion for a state grant to develop basketball courts, a playground, ball fields, and a parking area. The council was rejected for a grant earlier this year. It plans to re-apply this year.

Knutsen mentioned to Bott that he feared the land would be lost, and that set the wheels in motion for an improved recreation project and a new look foundation.

Bott met with Dana plant manager Tom Huettman about having the company donate the land to the foundation, which would hold it in trust until the grant is received. That would give the company a tax break, since the foundation is a non-profit organization, and still allow the land to be used for the matching portion of the grant. The land could not be donated to either the village or the school district because the council is affiliated with both.

Oh, and while you're at it, Bott said, "How about giving us another 300 feet?"

Foundation president Randy Musbach and members of a committee helped speed the process along. Dana agreed to both propositions, and it turns out it was a good thing. An inspection by Chelsea resident Steve Kozicki of Beckett & Raeder showed there was no way to build a road in from Sibley to service the original 12 acres because there is too much wetland. Now the road can veer to the west to avoid the wetland.

The extra six acres will allow the construction of a soccer field, a full baseball field, a playground, two tennis courts, two basketball courts, and a 230-car parking lot, which should alleviate parking problems along Sibley Rd. during the summer softball season.

State Voters To Decide How To Fund Schools: Sales or Income Tax

Name your poison.

That's how many voters will view next Tuesday's state-wide school finance reform referendum.

Voters will have the choice of approving Proposal A to raise the sales tax by 50 percent (from 4 percent to 6 percent), or turning it down to raise the income tax by 30 percent (from 4.6 to 6 percent). Either the sales tax or income tax will be the dominant funding source for schools in 1994-95.

Last summer the legislature eliminated the use of property tax for school funding. After months of legislative bickering and negotiations, voters will get what is commonly being called "the ballot plan" if they vote yes, or the "statutory plan" if they don't. And both plans still rely, although not nearly as heavily, on property taxes.

Many voters may not recognize the ballot language as that of the ballot plan. That's because virtually none of what is being touted as the ballot plan is actually on the ballot.

The ballot proposal is a constitutional amendment. It would increase the sales tax and dedicate the revenue to schools; limit property assessment increases to five percent or inflation, whichever is less; exempt school operating millages from the uniform taxation requirement; raise other taxes and partially restore the property tax; require a 4/5 vote of the legislature to exceed established school operating millage rates; and nullify the statutory plan.

The rest of the ballot plan—as well as the entire statutory plan—is subject to change at the whim of the legislature. Included are taxes on tobacco, interstate telephone calls, and property transfers, and establishment of a Keno game.

Although he's not taking a public position on either plan because they both provide the same amount of money for schools ($5,000-per-student basic grant, $10.2 billion over-all), Chelsea assistant superintendent Fred Mills said he believes the income tax will provide a more stable source of funding for schools over the long term.

If people vote strictly with their pocketbooks, more affluent voters are likely to support Proposal A, while lower income voters are likely to favor the alternative. Many people consider the sales tax more regressive, even though food and drugs are exempt from taxation. In addition, under the statutory plan, the personal exemption will rise from $2,100 to $3,000, per person (to $3,900 for senior citizens), thereby offsetting some of the income tax increase.

Both plans are enormously complex when all the details are studied. There is plenty in either plan to bewilder just about anyone. (See the "Summary of School Finance Plan" elsewhere in this issue.) There are provisions for businesses with tax abatements, Tax Increment Financing Authorities, and districts spending at least $5,500 per student. There are different property tax millages for homes and businesses. Not only do the plans have different property tax millage rates for homesteads, but they define homesteads differently. Farmers are rallying for Proposal A because vacant land is taxed less heavily under the ballot proposal.

There is even a curious provision in the statutory plan that changes how districts can bond for school improvements. Districts would not be allowed to bond for partial improvements to a building or buildings. A building would have to be entirely renovated.

Under either plan, for districts like Chelsea that are out-of-formula, student counts will be much more critical than they have been. One count will be conducted on the second Friday in February, and another on the first Friday in October of the following school year. The average of those two counts will determine the number of students on which to base funding. The method will penalize fast-growing districts and help districts that are losing students.

Under either plan, Chelsea will get about a three percent increase over its current spending of approximately $5,300 per student, Mills said. However, because the state is forcing districts to pay social security and retirement costs, local expenses will increase at least eight percent, even before a new teacher contract is negotiated.

Chelsea will also lose its dedicated maintenance millage, which the district has used for years to take care of buildings.

Voting will take place in the township halls, which will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Tuesday.

President Richard Steele Faces Challenge from Newcomer Machnik

Two-term village president Richard Steele faces a challenge from political newcomer Jim Machnik in next Monday's village elections. The Chelsea Standard does not endorse any candidate for any office. The following is offered to help voters make a more informed choice on Monday.

Richard Steele, 211 Lincoln St., has been affiliated with village government since 1981 when he was first elected to council. The Chelsea native was elected president in 1990 and survived a challenge in 1992.

Steele said one of the major reasons he is running is to see several projects through to completion. They include the new water tower, transfer station, and a final decision on what to do with the village offices.

Equally important, he said, is "the whole issue of planning for the future."

"The whole area is just itching to take off and it's going to be a challenge to protect our sense of community as a whole," he said.

"It will be a challenge to protect our whole quality of life in the village."

As a part of the planning, Steele said he wants to see the village/city status question decided, although council will have almost no role in the process.

"I feel very strongly that it should proceed," he said.

Steele said he believes he's the more qualified candidate to help the village deal with the major projects in progress, as well as development, zoning, and planning issues that will come about over the next two years with the golf course project and other developments that have been hinted at.

"But nobody does it by themselves," Steele said. "The whole council has done a heck of a job."

Jim Machnik, 1231 Gene Dr., has been a village resident for 10 years. He's a native of Plymouth.

He has no political experience, "and I count that as a plus," he said.

Machnik came to the forefront as the main spokesman for the property owners on Gene Dr., who have been negotiating for a couple of years to have the road upgraded and utilities installed. He has often come to village council meetings and challenged council to make a decision. He wants Gene Dr. residents and the village to share the cost equally.

While Machnik admits the Gene Dr. issue got him to run, he has other ideas about village government as well.

One of his top issues is to have village council meetings videotaped and re-broadcast on cable channel 22.

"If people in town could see what's going on, we'd have better people in government," Machnik said.

RICHARD STEELE

JIM MACHNIK

He said he wants to see village government work for everyone and he attacked the "good old boys" and their "financial network."

Machnik said he is not convinced that building a transfer station is a financially sound idea. He is skeptical about the numbers presented by the village and believes the township governments should be involved if they want their citizens to use it.

"Also, the state could bury us with rules," he said.

"I'm real leery about that situation."

He'd like to see a comprehensive garbage and recycling program that makes better use of prison labor rather than a compactor at a transfer station.

Machnik is owner of a landscaping business.

Interim Superintendent Wants Survey on New Bond Issue

Chelsea School District may soon start to put together a request for another bond issue which could include a new school, extensive renovations, and implementation of the district's technology plan.

Interim superintendent Howard Osterling suggested the district put together a telephone survey to find out what kind of request the community would support.

Osterling said "the climate has changed" since the last time the district unsuccessfully sought a multi-million dollar bond issue and cited the recent successes in the Dexter and Lincoln districts.

The survey, which would probably be conducted by the Washtenaw Intermediate School District, would poll 800-10 percent—of the district's residents.

"This is the most scientific way I know of to find out how the population feels," Osterling said.

"Based on our enrollment projections, three years from now we've got problems. We can either do this in pieces or the big concept. I think the climate is right to go forward."

'Win-Win Negotiations' Still Likely in Contract Talks

Chelsea School District is still considering the implementation of "Win-Win Negotiations" as it works toward a new teacher contract this spring.

The concept is designed as a non-adversarial approach to negotiations.

However, the district was not willing to pay the initial asking price of $15,000 to $20,000.

Assistant superintendent Fred Mills said the cost could be kept to about $6,000 based on a cost of $150 per hour.

That would provide for training and district-wide orientation.

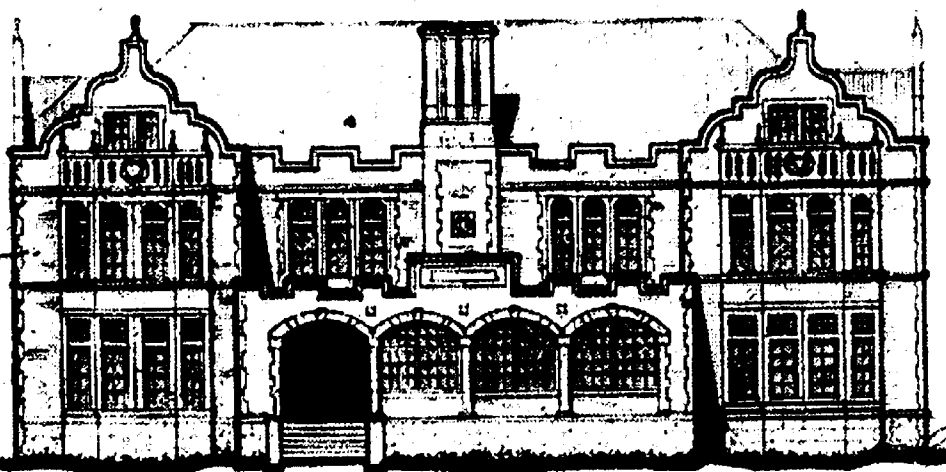

Some portion of the cost would be paid by the Chelsea Education Association, the teachers' union.

Mills, who has negotiated every district contract, said he supports the new concept.

"I'm from the old school and I probably need more changing than anyone else," Mills said.

The board may make a final decision at its next meeting.

4 Years Ago . . .

Wednesday, March 7, 1990—

Chelsea village voters go to the polls Monday to select a president, three trustees, a treasurer, and two McKune Memorial Library board members. In the race for village president, three-term incumbent Jerry Satterthwaite is facing long-time council trustee Richard Steele. Chelsea Village Council unanimously approved a $1.57 million general fund budget for 1990-91 at a special meeting last Tuesday, Feb. 27. The budget, the largest in the village's history, is $122,000 more than the amended 1989-90 budget.

Village of Chelsea has submitted a landfill clean-up plan to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources as specified in the consent order it signed with the department more than a year ago. The 21-page plan, devised by village consultants, was filed in person last month by assistant village manager Tom Warstler. Whether DNR is likely to agree with the report's recommendations is not known. DNR and the village have been at odds over virtually every issue that has cropped up in the matter.

Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home resident George Martin celebrated his 100th birthday Monday afternoon at a cake and ice cream party with a couple dozen of his friends at the home.

14 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, March 27, 1980—

Washtenaw Sheriff Tom Minick is talking with Chelsea school officials about establishing a sheriff's department substation in a corner of the school district's bus garage on Old US-12. School superintendent Ray Van Meer said he could see the advantages of better police protection in western Washtenaw county including the Chelsea schools. Sheriff Minick would like to expand his department's coverage farther west. Dexter is presently the westernmost substation. If all goes well and the garage site proves acceptable, the substation could be established next month.

The Chelsea-based SEVA Foundation announced that it is starting a program to eliminate disease-caused blindness.

Two escapees from the Cassidy Lake Technical School were arrested in the village, according to police chief Robert Acillo.

Nominating petitions are being sought for Chelsea Board of Education candidates. Deadline is April 7.

24 Years Ago . . .

A spot on Chelsea-Dexter Rd., just east of Freer Rd., apparently is a favorite crossing for deer this spring. Three car-deer collisions were recorded in two days, all within a few feet of each other.

Chelsea Jaycees have embarked on a survey to determine what village residents like and don't like about their town. Cub Scouts are distributing questionnaires to all homes in the village, and Jaycee members plan to interview 25-30 percent of the population personally. Results will be used to develop community service and improvement projects by the Jaycees and other organizations.

Chelsea Civitan Club will sponsor an amateur talent show May 23 in the high school auditorium. The show is open to all persons who feel they have some sort of talent worth displaying in public.

Chelsea Scholarship Committee is seeking funds for more scholarships so local high school graduates may be helped to further their education. High school alumni will be special targets for the campaign.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES:

Why Marriage, Families Are Important

The American family is back in the news. And this time, even the liberals are worried.

By Philip C. Clarke

Consider the following alarming statistics: In 1991, this country saw the birth of 1.2 million babies out of wedlock. This translates into an overall illegitimacy rate of 30%! And when you break down that rate among blacks and whites, the numbers are even more disconcerting. While the white illegitimacy rate is 23%, or just over 1 in 5, the rate among black Americans is 68%. Think about this. Two out of every 3 black babies born in America in 1991 were born out of wedlock.

Politicians and social analysts alike suggest it is a matter of cultural values. For example, in a recent homily to a black church in Memphis, Tenn., President Clinton warned that the breakup of the family unit leads to a breakdown of social values. And he added that Martin Luther King did not fight for "the freedom of children to have children and the fathers of the children to walk away from them."

On the other side of the political spectrum, Charles Murray, author of Losing Ground, the landmark book on the failure of Lyndon Johnson's War on Poverty, wrote recently in the Wall Street Journal that marriage should be the only institution through which parental rights and responsibilities are exercised. And columnist George Will says, "Clearly, there is a poverty of inner resources on the part of many persons whose desperate conditions derive from various kinds of destructive behavior."

Such rhetoric on the dangers of the family breakdown seems ironic, especially when emanating from liberals and the media. These are the same people who last year were ex-coriating Dan Quayle, Pat Buchanan and other pro-family conservatives for focusing attention on the issue. And remember the heat the former Vice-President took for his "Murphy Brown speech" on family values? In any event, more and more individuals are waking up to the problem. Even First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton alluded to it in her much-publicized thoughts on the "Politics of Meaning" earlier this year.

Another irony comes to the fore. It was some 28 years ago that then-professor and now Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan wrote these prophetic words: "A community that allows a large number of young men to grow up in broken families, dominated by women, never acquiring any stable relationship to male authority, never acquiring any set of rational expectations about the future—that community asks for and gets chaos." Moynihan was vilified by many liberals for allegedly being everything from a chauvinist to a racist.

Today, however, the issue is still with us and even liberals recognize that the government is at least partially responsible. That's because the welfare programs enacted in the mid-60s War on Poverty pay out benefits essentially only to unwed mothers. In other words, you get money if you don't have a husband but have a child. Sociologist Murray says that's the government trying to fulfill the role of a husband, a role he says the government never can and never will be able to fill.

Murray says the answer is to end all economic support for single mothers. And he would revive adoption as an alternative to abortion and welfare. These steps, Murray argues, would make young girls—and perhaps their boyfriends as well—think twice about premarital sex and unwed parenthood. And if a single girl were to become pregnant, it would be easier to place the child up for adoption. Conversely, if married, the father would be held responsible for child support.

Even President Clinton has called for an end to the "welfare system as we know it." Critics aren't confident that the President will achieve much, viewing his statement as more political than heartfelt. But to do nothing, says Murray and columnist Will, is to invite disaster for society.

In agreement with Murray, George Will puts it this way: "Democracy depends on virtues that depend on socialization of children in the matrix of care and resources fostered by marriage." It would seem time to end government policies that subsidize the alarming illegitimacy rate.

Dana Chelsea Plant Closing

Milling Co. and even the Purple Rose Theatre Co. Hatch Stamping Co. has also used it for shipping.

The consolidation plan will begin immediately, the company said, and some equipment could be moved soon. Huettner said he anticipates the building will eventually be sold.

Dana purchased the Chelsea plant from Chelsea Products, Inc. in 1958. Chelsea Products had purchased it from Central Fiber in 1945. There were initially 65 Dana employees. Chelsea Products made a power take-off that competed with a Dana product produced at its Spicer Transmission Plant.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle was on his high horse at the country store Saturday night. He told the fellows it is a sad come off when we get relief outfits that can't tell a house from a swimming pool. What got Ed worked up was a piece he read where a victim of the Los Angeles earthquake got Federal aid to fix cracks in his backyard pool.

With all the bean counters and paper-shufflers in all them Federal agencies, not counting everybody that claims kin to Congressman Rostenkowski, Ed said you'd think somebody would know real need when they see it. Ed figures the owner of the cracked pool is a lawyer and the only one in his neighborhood that knows how to fill out the forms and get the right number of copies to the right places.

Furthermore, Ed went on, this incident of helping them that can help themselves goes to show what will happen if we turn health care over to the Federal Government. We can see where doctors are coming from with their complaints about loading them down with more paperwork and giving all the health business to insurance companies that lobby the hardest.

As usual, the fellows took Republican Ed's lament with big grains of salt, and Democrat Clem Webster took it as another time to demand equal time. The plain truth is, Clem declared, that doctors and insurance companies have priced health care out of reach of poor folks in this country, and all that don't have insurance can go broke with one bad lab report. He said a fellow out his way cut his leg with a chainsaw last week and wound up with a $3,700 bill for 30 minutes in the emergency room. There goes his tractor overhaul, Clem said, and any hope of getting his crop in the ground without going deeper in debt.

General, the fellows were strong against turning more of our lives over to Government, but they were at a loss over who to turn to. Bug Hookum had read where science says by the middle of the next century folks can expect to live past 100, even to 120. But long life will be more of a burden on everybody. Bug went on, if it means living 40 years in nursing homes.

Practical speaking, Bug said, there's no profit in cutting down on sick and disabled, the money comes from treating and looking after. Since private medicine is driven by profit, we got to turn to public for help. It's another case of Government doing for people what people won't do for themselves, was Bug's words.

Actual, Bug went on, he is a heap more interested right now is what he's been reading about wimmen in their 50s having babies. With all the freezing, freezing and freezing, he said, grandpa-uncles soon can do what they say they ought to do, skip the children and go direct to the grandchildren.

As for late bloomers, Bug reported where this fellow waited until he was 75 to learn to swim, and only then because he had a stroke. His doctor told him moving in the water would do him good, and he liked it. He said he never had wanted to swim before because he read where strong swimmers drowned and nobody knew why. He figured if you can't swim you won't drown without a reason.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Scott D. Prohaska Marries Katherine Dec in Ann Arbor

Scott David Prohaska and Katherine Louise Dec were married Aug. 7 at St. Patrick Catholic church, Ann Arbor.

The Rev. Fr. Bosse performed the ceremony uniting the daughter of David and Helen Prohaska of Chelsea and Albert and Doris Dec, Jr. of Sanford.

Maid of honor was Tamara S. Dec, sister of the bride.

Individualized Hospice Seeking Volunteers

The goal of a certified and licensed hospice program is to assist families in their commitment to have a loved one die at home by offering physical, emotional and spiritual support. Volunteers are an important part of the hospice team. Some work directly with families, others help out in the office or with special projects. The time commitment is flexible and training is provided.

The training consists of 20 hours of classwork designed to familiarize volunteers with the hospice philosophy, practices and procedure. It will meet Tuesday evenings, 7 to 9 p.m. from April 5 to May 10, with two Saturday sessions, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on April 26 and May 7 at the Individualized Hospice offices in Ann Arbor.

To register for this training session or for more information about the Volunteer program, please call Jereva Christensen, co-ordinator of volunteers, Individualized Hospice at 971-0444.

Recreation Land Will Be Available

season. There's also an open area that could be used for volleyball. The donation is expected to be completed in about a month. It is contingent on the completion of a survey and an environmental assessment. The foundation may be liable for some property taxes, Bott said. It is assumed the developer will be the Chelsea Recreation Council. However, if the council cannot complete the project, another non-profit entity could be formed to handle the development.

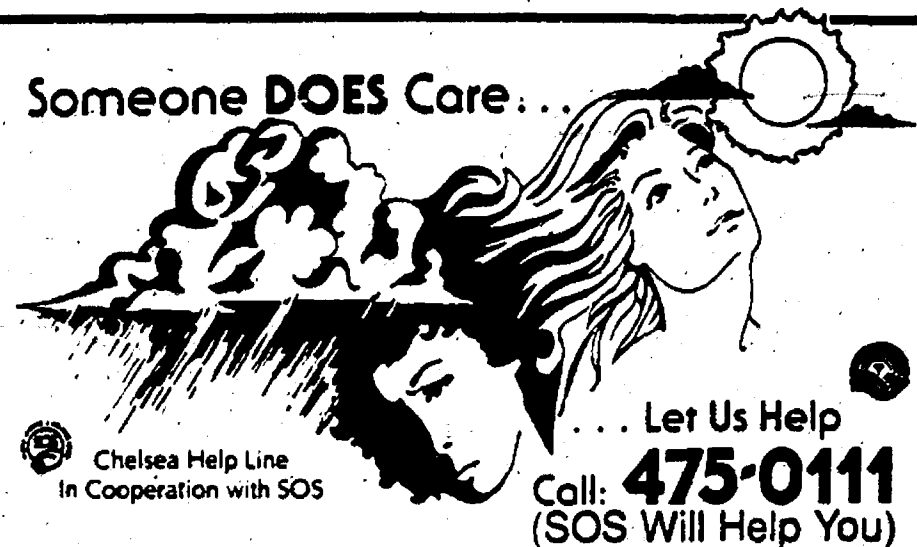

The recreation project, Bott said, is also beginning to send the foundation in a different direction. In the past, the foundation has collected money and distributed it for various community projects. Now, Bott said, it looks as though the foundation will begin to spearhead fundraising for specific, major projects. It will begin, Bott said, to flex its muscles and be a distributor of funds. Bott said the foundation board was more than willing to accept the Dana land.

- 2. SATISFACTION: Burial plots and funeral merchandise can be selected by all family members, guaranteeing mutual satisfaction.
- 3. PRICE-FREEZING: Pre-arrangement can allow the costs of a funeral to be frozen at today's prices.
- 4. CONSERVATION OF LIFE INSURANCE: Pre-arrangements allow the family to determine if there are funds to provide for the family after the funeral expenses.
- 5. PAYMENT PLANS: Funeral costs can be taken out of present income slowly, rather than a large cash expense at the time of the funeral.

Special Tax Assistance Available from the IRS

"Many of the 4.2 million Michigan taxpayers who file federal income tax returns are ready to sit down and prepare them," said IRS district director John Hummel. "And as they do so, I want to remind them about a special assistance feature we provide."

"Our TELETAX system provides tax information 24-hours a day through a pre-recorded message system. This computer assisted program provides information on over 140 tax topics and may be reached by calling us toll-free on 1-800-829-4477." "We also have many information publications available to assist taxpayers as they prepare their federal returns," he added. "Publication 17, Your Federal Income Tax, is an overall guide to individual income taxes, and will answer most of the questions taxpayers may have. This publication may be ordered by calling, toll-free, 1-800-829-3676."

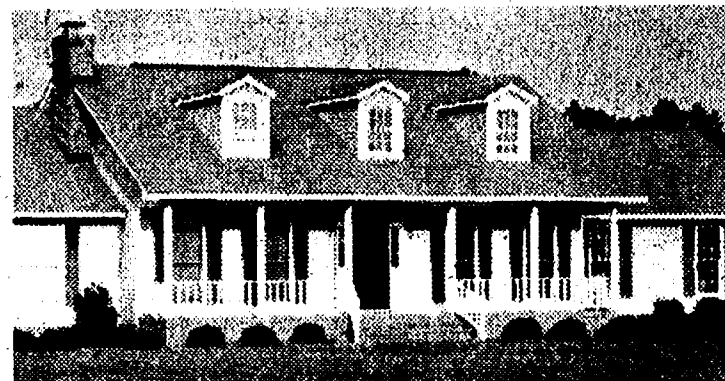

"I want to encourage Michigan taxpayers to file early," Hummel said. "And they should consider taking advantage of electronic filing. Electronic filing means more accurate returns, and refunds in as little as two weeks."

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, March 31, 1960—
Old-time bathing suits were a surprise feature of the Chelsea Child Study Club's annual fashion show. The event was attended by 350 persons.
Next Monday will be "family night" in the Chelsea elementary schools. Children at both North and South schools will be sent home at noon so teachers and room mothers will have time to prepare for the evening event, to which all parents and their children are invited.
Approximately $400 was stolen from self-serve laundry on W. Middle St. by thieves who broke into two coin machines. The laundry is open 24 hours a day and brightly lit at all times, investigating police officers said.
Tickets are reported sold out for Chelsea's upcoming minstrel show April 21-23.
During the spring of 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt launched two programs to revive business and increase employment. The National Recovery Administration allowed businessmen to fix prices and allocate production quotas through codes of "fair competition" and without regard to the anti-trust laws. The codes also set minimum wages and maximum hours of employment. The Public Works Program constructed major capital improvements, according to "The American Worker," a U.S. Department of Labor publication.

Ben Helmke as Mark Twain

Mark Twain Interpreter Coming to Congl. Church

Mark Twain, Samuel Clemens and Ben Helmke come together in the persona of Mark Twain who will share his reflections on the life and times of St. Joan of Arc with members and friends of First Congregational church, Chelsea. Twain's presentation will open the 100th Anniversary Year of the congregation in their present building.

Helmke, an actor-interpreter of Mark Twain, will portray Twain as he might have been experienced a hundred years ago. He will share the challenge to which Twain's reflections on a study of the life of St. Joan brought him in the last decades of his life.

With Twain, Helmke shares high energy, dry humor, creative wit and common world view which makes his interpretation of Twain both realistic and enjoyable. Helmke, who physically resembles Clemens, and who has also lived a varied life, has been Kansas depression farmer, clergyman, musician, therapist and administrator in the mental health field. He finds scope for further life adventures in this new endeavor by which he has delighted audiences in Colorado, Ohio, Kansas and Michigan during the past two years.

Helmke was drawn to the work of Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) after reading the book "Roughing It" which is Mark Twain's humorous recitation of his experiences by train, horse and mule across the country from Missouri to the Nevada mining fields. Helmke's performances draw on material from Twain's books, particularly from The Adventures of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn and from "Roughing It." As Helmke finds new materials from books and essays by Twain or quotes from articles about Twain, these are incorporated into the memorized pieces which are the core of Helmke's presentations. ## Deputies Report Stolen BMW from Auto Mall; Runaways, Break-ins

Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies investigated several incidents in Dexter Village and Scio, Sylvan, Lyndon and Dexter townships, Feb. 22-March 3.

Scio Township
A 32-year-old Chelsea man was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor on I-94 eastbound near Baker Rd., March 3. He was originally stopped for speeding near M-14 after a deputy followed him for a few miles. The officer clocked the man's Pontiac Fire Bird traveling 88 mph in a 65 mph zone. When the deputy approached the driver, a strong odor of intoxicants was noticeable. The Chelsea man also had bloodshot and watery eyes. After field sobriety tests were administered, the man was taken to jail, where he was given a breathalyzer to determine his blood/alcohol level.

A 1990 BMW was reported stolen from Auto-Strasse LTD in the auto mall on Jackson Rd., Feb. 24. The dealership's business manager told police the $19,000 car was taken between 7 p.m. Feb. 23 and 10:30 a.m. Feb. 24. The keys to the vehicle were missing, as well as the keys to another vehicle that was still there. Police advised the man to secure the other vehicle inside the dealership and make it inoperable while the case is under investigation.

Sylvan Township
A runaway was reported in the 1700 block of Garvey Rd., March 1. The mother of a 14-year-old boy told police her son ran away shortly after stealing a car from Beach Middle school, becoming involved in a high-speed car chase in Ohio, crashing the vehicle and going to the hospital. She said the boy returned from the hospital Feb. 24. He was to go back to school March 1, but instead stole his grandparents' van Feb. 28. The boy was last seen by his brother driving the van on Old US 12 toward Jackson county, Feb. 28, at speeds in excess of 90 mph. When he was caught, he will be housed in juvenile detention. His mother wants him returned for psychiatric evaluation, and she wants a drug and alcohol test administered.

Lyndon Township
An incorrigible juvenile was reported in the 9900 block of Beeman Rd., March 1. The father of a 14-year-old boy, who attends Beach Middle school, told police his son has gotten out of hand. His son was recently found in possession of a knife and has been involved with other Chelsea juveniles in possessing handguns. The boy has threatened his father by saying he would either shoot him or hire someone to do it. Recently the boy was suspended from school for assaulting a sixth grade student. When he returned from suspension, the boy used profanity against the principal and was suspended for the remainder of the year. The parents have decided to commit their son to St. Joseph Hospital for a psychiatric evaluation.

Dexter Township
Larceny from a motor vehicle was reported in the 9500 block of west Huron River Dr., March 3. A 21-year-old township woman told police a $500 Panasonic AM/FM stereo was stolen from her 1992 Chevy Cavalier and a $400 Deico AM/FM stereo was stolen from her friend's Pontiac Trans AM parked at her residence. Two tires were also removed from her vehicle, but recovered on the side of the road. She saw a suspect running from her property but could not give a description.

Malicious destruction of property was reported at the Portage Lake Sewer Authority's waste water treatment plant on Sunfield Woods Rd., Feb. 22. The incident occurred Feb. 18, according to a 40-year-old Dexter woman. Apparently, someone broke the padlock, drove a vehicle on the grounds, making ruts in the ground. Deputies have been told to increase patrols in the area.

A suspicious incident was reported in the 9500 block of Portage Lake Ave., Feb. 27. A resident reported that a storm door screen to her residence was pulled off. Damage is estimated at $10.

A vehicle was reported stolen from the 7200 block of Webb's Landing, Feb. 28. The grandfather of a 14-year-old Chelsea boy, who was recently involved in a high-speed car chase and crash in Ohio, told police his grandson stole his 1993 Ford van while visiting. Police are looking for the boy, who was reported as a runaway. It is likely that a pick-up order will be requested from juvenile court.

A 35-year-old Ann Arbor man was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor and for having an unlawful blood/alcohol level after he was stopped in the 2300 block of Dexter-Pinckney Rd., Feb. 28. He was stopped for erratic driving and because no record of his license plate could be found. The deputy noticed signs of intoxication. The man admitted to drinking four beers before driving. The man was taken to the Ann Arbor Police Department for a breathalyzer and the University of Michigan Hospital for a blood/alcohol level test.

Mister Rubbish Reports Recycling Figures for '93

Officials at Mister Rubbish have announced that in 1993 the company recycled and composted nearly 33 million pounds of material which it collected from its residential, commercial, and industrial customers.

Of that total, over 16,500,000 pounds of material originated in Washtenaw county, according to vice-president and general manager Steve Dawdy.

Mister Rubbish is currently contracted to provide curbside recycling programs in the communities of Ann Arbor township and the City of Saline. In addition, the company provides drop-off recycling services to Scio township and a combination of the two services to Freedom and Sharon townships.

As successful as these programs are, the nearly 2.6 million pounds of material recycled and composted accounted for just 15.5% of the total material recycled by Mister Rubbish from Washtenaw county. The majority of the material diverted comes largely from the commercial and industrial waste streams. Some of this material is recycled through the combined efforts of the businesses working with Mister Rubbish personnel to set up recycling programs which uniquely address their needs.

Another active recycling partnership is with individual homes throughout the county which use The Recycle Bag, the company's special bag for recyclables. The Recycle Bag is placed at the curb along with the customer's regular trash. It is picked up by the regular trash truck and taken to the company's solid waste processing and recycling facility in Whitmore Lake. The bags are separated from the trash and the contents are sorted on a special sorting line.

The largest recycling component at this time is that which takes place at Mister Rubbish's processing facility. Cardboard, wood, and metals that would have gone to the landfill just a couple of years ago are removed from the waste stream without any prior preparation or involvement of the businesses where it is collected.

Mister Rubbish will continue to work with its customers to help promote and expand recycling in its service areas. "We are utilizing less than 10% of our capacity to handle recycled material from our customers, so we have a long way to go before our facility reaches capacity," Dawdy added.

The Mister Rubbish Solid Waste Processing and Recycling Facility first began operations in March of 1991. It was the first state licensed solid waste processing facility in the area.

Farm Bureau Supports Private Property Owners Legislation

H.R. 3875, the "Private Property Owners Bill of Rights," has been introduced in the U.S. House. The Farm Bureau-supported bill would require compensation to owners deprived of federal action of 50 percent or more of the fair market value of their property or of the economically viable use of that property; require federal agencies to comply with state and tribal property laws; require federal agencies to get written permission from landowners before entering private property to gather information; and set up an administrative appeals procedure for private property owners affected by "adverse" endangered species or wetlands rulings.

"Governments, particularly federal entities, have a growing inclination to take actions that do affect how property can be used," said Al Almy, director of public affairs for Michigan Farm Bureau. "This legislation is an effort to stop these infringements upon private property rights."

The legislation has 21 co-sponsors, including Rep. Bart Stupak (D-Menominee).

AMIE HATCH of Chelsea has been selected as an entrant in the 1994 Michigan's Perfect Teen Pageant on March 19-20. The state contest will select this year's Michigan representative to the national America's Perfect Teen Pageant, to be held in October. At Chelsea High school, Amy is a member of the band, Key Club, choir, and is a feature twirler. She is the 1993 Chelsea Community Fair Queen. Her other activities include baton twirling, gymnastics, reading, baking, swimming, water skiing, and Teddy bear and unicorn collecting. She is the daughter of Janice Hatch of Chelsea and Michael Hatch of Munith. Amie's sponsors include Chelsea Eyeglass Co., Mary K. Barkley, DDS, E.L.F. Daycare, Inc., and Boyce Chiropractic.

Earned Income Credit Is Extra $ for Many Families

Low income working families have a bonus coming from the Internal Revenue Service this year.

"Over 355,000 Michigan families are eligible to receive the Earned Income Credit," said IRS district director John Hummel. "The credit has been expanded this year, and taxpayers who earned less than $23,050, and had a child living with them in 1993 may be entitled to up to $2,364 extra in their refund."

Hummel said that changes in the law means more Michigan families are eligible for the credit this year. "Some eligible families may not be required to file a federal income tax return," Hummel said, "but they will want to, and must, file one to get this refund."

"It's also important to know that individuals who are eligible for the credit in 1994 can take it home in each paycheck instead of waiting until next year," Hummel added. "To take advantage of the Advanced Earned Income Credit, taxpayers should ask their employer or personnel office for Form W-5."

Hummel said the IRS is available to answer questions about both the earned income credit and the advanced earned income credit.

"Assistance is available from the IRS in a variety of ways," he said. "Assistors are available in 11 offices around the state, and by calling, toll-free, 1-800-829-1040. Taxpayers can also phone our pre-recorded tax information system, TELE-TAX, on 1-800-829-4477. This computer operated system provides information on over 150 tax topics, including the earned income credit, 24 hours a day."

"We want to make sure every Michigan taxpayer receives the assistance they need to file a federal tax return," Hummel said. "We're here to help."

Scio Leads Area in Recycling

Scio Township received year ending recycling statistics from Mister Rubbish, the township's contractor for the recycle drop off station at the Township Hall located on Zeeb Rd.

Officials at Mister Rubbish reported over 1,230,000 pounds of recyclable material collected in 1993. Plastic No. 1 and No. 2, tin, aluminum, household batteries, newspaper, glass, office paper, and corrugated cardboard are acceptable at the drop-off.

The most recycled material was newspaper at over 650,000 pounds, followed by glass at over 245,000 pounds.

"The township drop-off exceeded 1992 statistics by 20%," said Mister Rubbish sales manager Alan Rabinowitz. "Scio township is the leading recycling program in Washtenaw county of all Mister Rubbish municipal contracts," he added.

Personal Computers Can Make Easy Job Of Filing Tax Returns

"Your personal computer can make filing your federal income tax return faster, and easier this year," said IRS district director John Hummel.

"Form 1040PC can be prepared on your home computer using commercial software that has been tested and approved by the IRS. The 1040PC program only prints the lines that have entries, omitting all the unnecessary blank lines," he said. "The result is a three-column list that can cut a regular 12-page return to just two pages."

According to Hummel the form can be processed very quickly by the IRS. "And that means faster refunds, usually in about three weeks," he said. "The form even allows for refunds to be directly deposited into a bank account, which further reduces the time it takes to receive a refund."

"The software does all the work," Hummel said. "After the user types in the information, it does the calculations and gives the taxpayer the results. Then it's just a matter of signing the 1040PC answer sheet, attaching the W-2s and mailing the form to the service center."

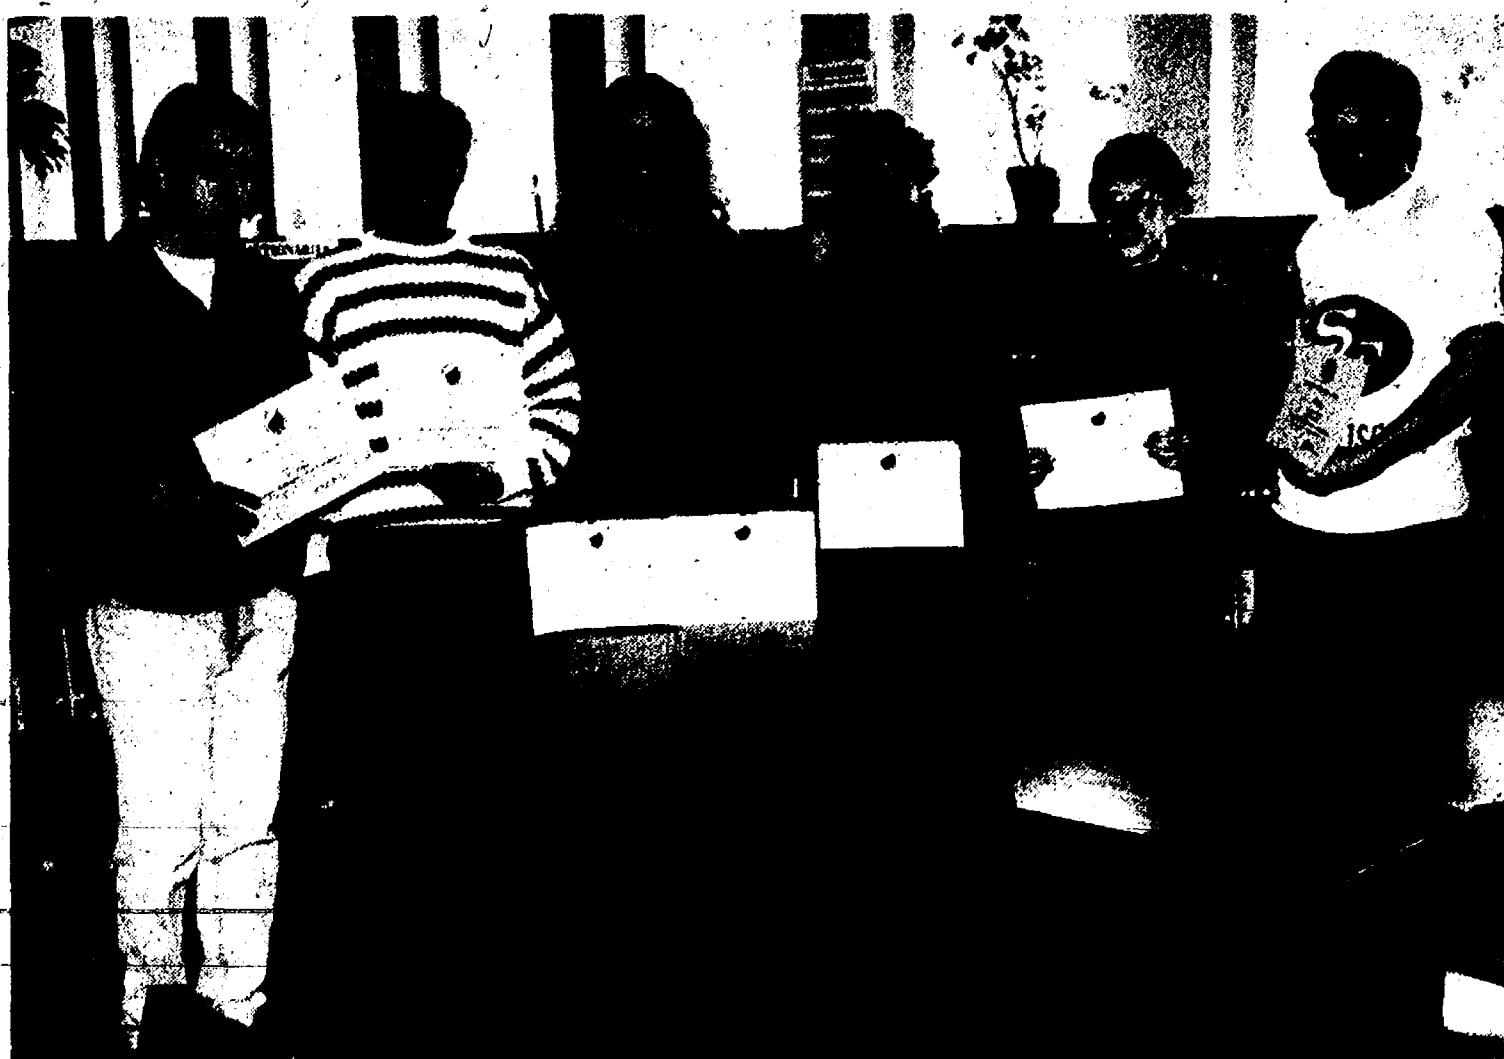

Hummel said almost 200,000 Michigan taxpayers filed 1040PCs last year. "We estimate that the numbers will continue to grow as more and more people take advantage of this fast and easy way to file their tax return."

Consultants Tell Results Of Superintendent Survey

The most important qualities in a new Chelsea School District superintendent should be visibility and accessibility.

That was one of several conclusions drawn by consultants Kara and Richard Funk, who conducted 64 interviews in the district Monday. District staff and business leaders were among those interviewed.

The Funks, who work for the Michigan Association of School Boards, were hired to help the board of education decide what attributes to seek in a new superintendent. The board has been interested in seeking as many opinions as possible.

The Funks gave a lengthy review of their findings Monday night at the regular board meeting. They also gave plenty of practical advice about evaluating candidates and what kind of offer to make.

Based on their interviews, the top five skills the new superintendent should have (from most to least important) are personnel management, contract administration and negotiation, public relations, curriculum development, and budget development and management.

Other qualities considered important were the ability to find alternative solutions to problems, good communications skills, having an open door policy, visibility in the community, school, and classroom, and the inclination to take risks to help the process of change.

"The number one thing I heard, from many different people, was visibility and accessibility," Kara Funk said.

The one quality that was never mentioned, she said, was the ability to hang tough on difficult issues. That, she said, is a good sign because it indicates it has not been a problem here. She said she usually hears that quality mentioned in districts where the superintendent frequently changed positions or was too willing to back away from controversy.

Some people interviewed also had general opinions about the board and the district. Funk said the top concerns were that the board have a common philosophy of what it wants for the district; the new superintendent's philosophy should be known and communicated, and hiring should support the philosophy; Chelsea is no longer a farming community, changes are occurring, and the board should admit it when there are problems and not try to hide them; and the new superintendent should understand the district is still healing from the murder of superintendent Joe Piasecki.

The Funks gave all sorts of advice about how to evaluate candidates, which now total about 40.

Her advice began with evaluating the envelope each application arrives in (Did it come in a district envelope? Did it go through the district postage meter?), to examining the presentation of materials (All the same kind of paper?).

"If it arrives with a packet five inches thick, think of what your board packets might look like," she said.

She advised board members to see how much candidates know about the district and Chelsea, to watch for spelling and grammar errors and other telltale clues that show how much care has been taken by the applicant.

"Usually the problem is, they don't give enough information and short-change themselves," Funk said.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Bulldogs Stop Pinckney To Take Third in SEC

Chelsea Bulldogs overcame a backluster first half with a sizzling third quarter to down the Pinckney Pirates in the final game of the regular season last Friday at home, 69-59.

The Bulldogs trailed 33-30 at half-time but scored 21 points in the third quarter to take a 51-44 lead going into the final period.

Three-point goals spurred the rally. Bob Davis, who scored the first seven Chelsea points of the half, dropped the first bomb at the 3:58 mark and tied the game at 37. Pat Steele followed that up 45 seconds later with a long shot from the wing. But two of the biggest goals were by sophomore Nick Brink, who hit two straight threes and scored the final eight points of the period, the final two on free throws. Chelsea's two-point lead was stretched to eight.

Brink's feat didn't surprise Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

"Nick's a good offensive player," Raymond said.

"He can shoot the ball. He's taken quite a few threes this season," Brink had 14 points, all in the second half. In the final minutes he had a driving lay-up—good on a goal-tending call—and made four straight free throws.

Sophomore Scott Colvin hit the first basket of the fourth quarter to push the Chelsea lead to nine points. The Bulldogs could have lengthened their lead substantially in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter but couldn't connect at the free throw line, where they were 4-11 in the early going. They missed the front end of four one-and-one opportunities. However, in the final three minutes they made 5-6 opportunities.

What turned the game around, Raymond said, was the decision at half-time to go back to what the Bulldogs do best—run and shoot.

"Our plan was to be patient in the first quarter and look for the good shot," Raymond said.

"I think we did that a little too much. We were looking to pass and move the ball. In the third quarter we came out and played our game and took the game over."

The difference in the game was from behind the lines, both the three-point and the free throw marks. Each team had 20 field goals but Chelsea hit four more three-pointers. The Bulldogs made 22-34 free throws while Pinckney was 16-27.

The game was much closer than the first time the teams met. Raymond said the Pirates were much-improved, partly on the guard play of two sophomores, who were JVs earlier in the season.

Davis led the Bulldogs with 15 points, Brink had 14, Steele 12, Chad Brown 10, Cory Brown 7, Colby Skelton 5, Colvin 3, David Stimpson 2, and Dan Wehrwein 1.

Chelsea finished the regular season in third place in the Southeastern Conference with an 8-4 record. Saline and Tecumseh tied for first at 10-2. Chelsea was 16-4 over-all, the second-best mark of any Raymond-coached Chelsea team.

The Bulldogs were scheduled to square off against the Dexter Dreadnaughts last night in the first round of the district tournament at Siena Heights College. The district finals are Friday.

JV Cagers Drop Season Finale

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity basketball team finished their season last Friday with a 68-50 loss to the Pinckney Pirates at home. Chelsea trailed the entire way. "The three areas that have hurt us all year—poor shooting, too many turnovers, and defensive intensity—hurt us in this game also," said Chelsea coach Dave Quilter. Chelsea shot 36 percent from the field and 59 percent from the line and had 13 fewer field goals than the Pirates. Sam Morseau paced the Bulldogs with 16 points. Other scorers were Jamie Courdway 8, Shane Miller 7, Dan Johnson 5, Kevin Holmes 4, Rick Stahl 4, Kevin Cross 3, and Damon McLaughlin 3. Cross and Morseau each had a team-high seven rebounds. Chelsea finished 0-20 on the season.

New Ice Shanty Law Is Effective April 1

A new state law regulating the placement of ice shanties for fishing on public waters will take effect April 1. The law, 1993 P.A. 274, will replace existing legislative enacted in 1943, and contains major changes in requirements and oversight. "This new legislation will address long-standing concerns of local units of government regarding the safety of water bodies within their jurisdiction, while providing ice anglers with definite guidelines to follow as they participate in this type of sport fishing," DNR director Roland Harnes said. Anglers will be required to have the name and address of the owner permanently affixed to all sides of the shanty in legible letters not less than 2 inches in height. It will no longer be permissible to place the information on a board or similar material and then attach the board to the shanty. Shanties placed on Upper Peninsula waters and waters of the Great Lakes adjacent to the Upper Peninsula must be removed prior to midnight on March 31 of each year. Shanties placed on waters in Emmet, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Charlevoix, Leelanau, Antrim, Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena, Benzie, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Crawford, Oscoda, Alcona, Manistee, Wexford, Missaukee, Roscommon, Ogemaw, Iosco, Mason, Lake, Osceola, Clare, Gladwin, Arenac, Oceana, Newaygo, Mecosta, Isabella, Midland, or Bay counties, or waters of the Great Lakes adjacent to these counties, must be removed by midnight of March 15 of each year. Shanties placed on the ice in the remaining counties of Michigan, or adjacent Great Lakes waters except Lake St. Clair, shall be removed from the ice by midnight of March 1 of each year. Shanties placed on the Michigan waters of Lake St. Clair must be removed by sundown of the first Sunday after Feb. 20 of each year. After these dates, a shanty may be used in fishing but must be removed at the conclusion of each day's fishing activity. In all cases, shanties must be removed earlier if ice conditions become unsafe.

Whitmore Lake Area Man Receives Navy Achievement Medal

Marine Cpl. John B. Allan, son of Richard G. and Leora J. Allan of 103 Phlox Dr., Whitmore Lake, recently received the Navy Achievement Medal.

Allan was cited for superior performance of duty while serving with 2nd Battalion, 8th Marines, 2nd Marine Division, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N.C., where he is currently assigned. While there, Allan served as a company supervisor, a billet normally held by a more senior person, and played a key role in the successful completion of all the unit's exercises.

The award, presented during formal ceremonies, is official recognition for Allan's ability, initiative and dedication. He joined the Marine Corps in July 1988.

An estimated 12,830,000 persons were out of work in 1993, about one-fourth of a civilian labor force of over 51 million. In March of that year, about 15.5 million people were unemployed, making it the worst month for joblessness in the history of the United States, according to "The American Worker," a U.S. Department of Labor publication.

★ Aroma Compounds Keep Berries Fresh

By Ben Hardin
Fresh raspberries and strawberries may stay fresh longer if they are packaged with an extra measure of their own fruity floral aroma.

This discovery by U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers could result in riper, tastier berries at the supermarket, compared with having to pick berries early to prolong shelf life.

After watching berries age badly in produce sections, Agricultural Research Service plant physiologist Steven F. Vaughn teamed up with fellow scientists at the National Center for Agriculture Utilization Research at Peoria, Ill., to try to lengthen the fruit's shelf life.

The results of the team's work: the identification of five natural berry aroma compounds that have the ability to block mold growth. One compound, 2-nonanone, is especially promising because of its fruity floral aroma, chemical stability and low cost—less than a penny for enough to treat a quart of berries, excluding application cost.

To find the five promising mold fighters, Vaughn and chemist Gayland F. Spencer studied 15 compounds that partially make up berry aroma. In tests at the Peoria center, Vaughn and Spencer sealed small amounts of the compounds in jars with berries inoculated with three of the most troublesome fungi—Alternaria alternata, Botrytis cinerea and Colletotrichum gloeosporioides.

Five of the compounds prevented fungal growth for a least a week when refrigerated at 50 degrees F. Vaughn and Spencer have applied for a patent on the compounds' use. A commercial product would need federal approval.

ARS is seeking industrial co-operators to speed this technology. "We envision the produce industry using one of these compounds in a slow-release formulation," Vaughn said.

Putting the formulation and the produce in partially ventilated packaging may be more desirable for the berries as they live and breathe in the supermarket.

Missionary Couple To Honduras Will Speak at N. Lake

Terry and Tonda Forman, new appointees with World Gospel Mission to Honduras, will speak at North Lake United Methodist church, 14111 N. Territorial, Chelsea, at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, March 9. A potluck at 6:30 p.m. will precede their talk. The public is invited.

The Formans are natives of Michigan. Terry is a journeyman tool and die maker. He will be teaching in the machine shop at El Sembrador. Tonda has an associate degree in social work from Ferris State University and has taken courses in the extension program at Indiana Wesleyan University. She will be involved in housekeeping and mothering duties for the approximately 150 boys at the boarding school. The Formans are the parents of two daughters.

The work of WGM in Honduras includes church planting, evangelism, medical work, and education—both general and theological. These activities are carried out in the capital city of Tegucigalpa, at Escuela El Sembrador Donald Hawk (a boarding school for underprivileged Honduran boys), and on the island of Roatan off the north coast of Honduras.

Fischer Twins Named To Dean's List at Mt. Vernon College

Rachel and Rebecca Fischer have been named to the Dean's List for the fall semester at Mount Vernon Nazarene College.

The Dean's List includes all students who are carrying a minimum of 12 credit hours and have maintained a grade point average of 3.5 or above for the semester.

Rachel, a sophomore majoring in home economics, BA, had a 4.0 grade point average. Her twin sister, Rebecca, also a sophomore, majoring in business administration, AAS, had a grade point average of 3.8. The twins are the daughters of Marvin and Shirrell Fischer of Dexter.

Affiliated with the Church of the Nazarene, Mount Vernon Nazarene College is a four-year liberal arts institution which enrolls over 1,000 students. Located in Mount Vernon, O., MVNC offers bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees in 31 majors.

By the year 2000, many industries that depend on young people for market growth will retrench. Higher education, household furnishings and rental housing construction could be most affected, according to "Workforce 2000," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

Saline Township Brothers Receive Conservation Award

Edwin and Lynford Rentschler of Saline township were presented the "Walter Wolfgang Memorial" Conservation Farmer of the Year Award for 1993 at the 46th Annual Meeting of the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District, held Tuesday, Feb. 22, at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds.

The "Wolfgang Memorial" Award is presented to outstanding conservation farmers. The Rentschler Brothers were recognized for their use of no-till, grassed waterways and erosion control structures, plus their over-all conservation ethic on the 800-acre cash crop farm.

Eighty-eight people in attendance at the meeting enjoyed a pancake and sausage dinner and an interesting slide show, "Michigan Barnscapes," presented by Jack Worthington of Grand Ledge.

Reports on activities and accomplishments during 1993 by the Soil Conservation District and Soil Conservation Service were also presented.

One district director was elected to a three-year term. With 56 votes cast, Kevin Ernst of Freedom township was re-elected to a second term on the district board.

The Annual Meeting was concluded with a drawing of door prizes donated by county businesses.

During World War II, more than half the workers in defense plants were women. Furthermore, women represented more than a third of the entire wartime work force. The war also meant greater job opportunities for blacks and other minorities; one in ten wartime workers was black, according to "The American Worker," a U.S. Department of Labor publication.

Four Candidates Seeks Three Seats on Chelsea Village Council

Four candidates are seeking three seats on village council in the annual village elections on Monday, March 14. Incumbents Joe Merkel, Frank Hammer, and Richard Rigg are being challenged by Harry Thurkow. Hammer, Rigg, and Thurkow are profiled below in an attempt to help voters make a more informed choice. Merkel declined to be interviewed. The Standard does not endorse any particular candidates.

Harry Thurkow, 206 Wilkinson St., has lived in the Chelsea area since 1979 and in the village for the last 18 years. He is co-chair of the village's Zoning Board of Appeals. He's active in the Chelsea Lions Club.

Thurkow, who owns vacant land on Gene Dr., has been involved in recent talks about upgrading the area with utilities. It's still an issue with him.

"I can't say it's not true," Thurkow said.

"We've been working with the council (Gene Dr. committee) and we're making a lot of headway. It's not the issue it was a few months ago. If it comes up for a vote, I'd have to abstain."

Thurkow said he's running because he was asked to, and because he's interested in the direction the village is taking.

"We're facing a lot more changes than we have in the past. It's a never-ending story," he said.

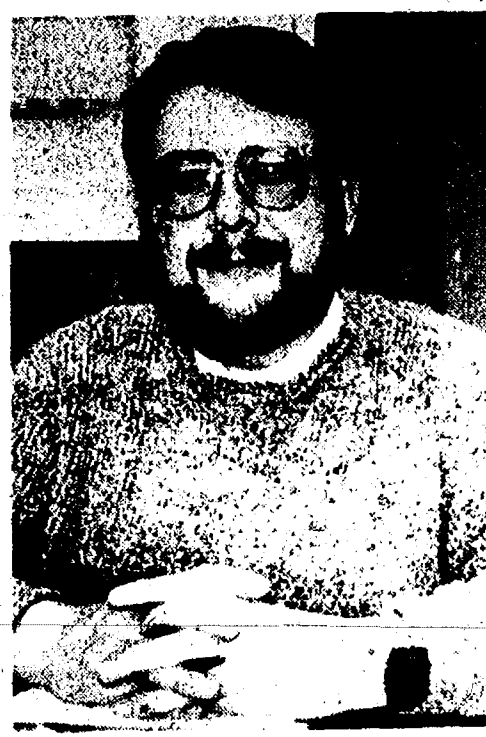

Thurkow said he's like to see more emphasis on securing tenants for the industrial park. He also wants to have more information about the possible change of Chelsea from a village to a city.

Thurkow owns Chelsea Hearing Aid Center.

Frank Hammer, 521 East St., is seeking his third term. He's lived in the area since 1976 and in the village since 1980. He's held no other positions in village government.

Hammer is probably the most outspoken member of council. He has spearheaded the trash transfer station project as chair of the village's Solid Waste Committee.

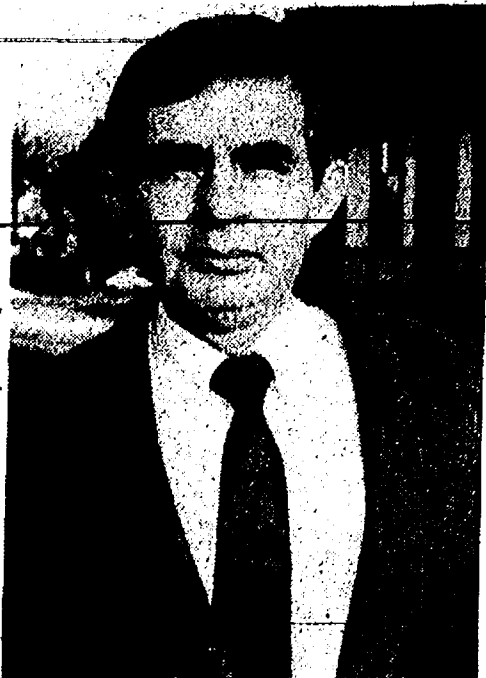

Hammer said he's running again because he feels "like there's a lot of unfinished business to attend to." The

FRANK HAMMER

JOE MERKEL

RICHARD RIGG

transfer station is not a foregone conclusion but it is rapidly reaching that point. He said he wants to see the project through to completion.

Long-range planning and zoning issues are also high on his list. He has been involved in them as a member of the Planning and Ordinance Review Committee.

"We have to deal with the M-52 corridor, the golf course area, and the bypass to the west," Hammer said.

"We have to make sure we have the zoning in place. We also have to plan for growth around the edges of the village."

Hammer said he's concerned about the infrastructure, in particular the roads, which have been crumbling rapidly this spring.

"We need to do some planning." Hammer is a chemist at the National Sanitation Foundation in Ann Arbor.

Richard Rigg, 143 E. Middle St., is finishing his first term, but it was only for one year. He was elected to fill out a term previously held by Connie Woodruff.

Rigg has lived in the Chelsea area since 1976 and in the village since 1980. He's never held another position in Chelsea village government but was a member of the Manchester Village Council in the 1970s. He's a member of the Chelsea Masonic Lodge and has worked with the United Way.

After just a year on council, Rigg said, he's still getting his feet wet. Long-term, he said, he'd like to run for village president but wants more experience on council first.

Rigg has been involved in trying to get the problems solved with the old Hop-In lot so McKune Memorial Library can use it to expand.

"I'd like to finish up the library project," Rigg said.

"I thought we could wrap it up much faster than we have."

Rigg also wants to get the village hall issue settled. He said he prefers that the police department move into new quarters next to the fire department and that the E. Middle St. complex be renovated for the village administration. Most discussion has centered on moving the village offices into a new building on Park St.

Rigg said he is not set yet on the transfer station project.

"I have not seen the numbers I want to see," he said.

He said he'd like to get more involved in planning and zoning issues, especially as it relates to the proposed bypass west of town.

"The number of vehicles we have on M-52 is in excess of what is required for a bypass," he said.

Rigg is an engineer at Chrysler Proving Grounds.

Rural areas are in desperate need of primary care physicians, and recent medical graduation rates don't help the situation. The percentage of primary care doctors graduating from medical schools between 1981 and 1992 declined from 38 percent to 14 percent.

IRS Offers Variety of Tax Help

"Although new tax laws were passed last year, Michigan taxpayers will find few changes on their 1993 federal tax returns," said IRS district director John Hummel. "When you prepare your return use our forms and instructions, and last year's return as a sample, or guide, and you may well be able to prepare the return without outside assistance. If necessary, additional information and assistance is available from a variety of sources."

Hummel said that the Ann Arbor office of the IRS, located at 2850 S. Industrial St. will be open Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. to assist walk-in taxpayers.

"Our TELETAX system also provides tax information 24-hours a day through a pre-recorded message system. This computer assisted program has information on over 140 tax topics and may be reached by calling us toll free on 1-800-829-4477," Hummel said.

"We also have many information publications available to assist taxpayers as they prepare their federal returns," he added. "Publication 17, Your Federal Income Tax, is an overall guide to individual income taxes, and will answer most of the questions taxpayers have. This publication, and many others, are available by calling, toll free, 1-800-829-3678."

"And, of course, telephone assistants are available Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. to answer taxpayers questions. The toll free number is 1-800-829-1040."

I Have A Dream!

Even tho we must face the difficulties of today and tomorrow, I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American Dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed. So let freedom ring, and when we let it ring from every village and hamlet, we will speed up the day when all of God's children—black and white, Jew and Gentile, Catholic and Protestant, will be able to join hands and sing, Free at Last, Free at Last! Thank God Almighty, we are Free at Last!

—A quote from Dr. Martin Luther King

On Monday, March 14th you will come to a fork in the road. You will have two paths to follow—one will be for 2 more years of the same. The other is for CHANGE. An opportunity to unite and bring our community together . . . A chance to improve the Village and move toward the future!

VILLAGE ELECTION
MONDAY, MARCH 14

CAMPAIGN PROMISES and PLANS

- 1) I will video tape all village council meetings during my term and show them on the village-owned cable channel 22 so the voters can see what's going on in our community.
- 2) I will diligently pursue making village government work for everyone. The "good old boys" will still have their financial network, but I will not allow them to use the village government to jinx anyone who is not in their favor. Those people holding appointed positions where there is question as to conflict of interest, shall be re-evaluated and replaced if necessary.
- 3) I will settle the Gene Drive issue. I want the village to split approximately $180,000 in road, sewer, and water improvements evenly with the Gene Drive residents and owners—this conforms with past village policy for private road improvements. The village could reduce its costs by having the village engineer and DPW provide labor as part of its share. These improvements will allow the village to substantially increase its tax base in the area, and in the long run the village will make out handsomely on a modest investment. Also, the owners will be able to afford their share for these improvements.
- 4) I want to continue studying "village-to-city" planning and keep the voters well informed of all aspects of this study by detailed monthly reports to council.
- 5) I want to build a village garbage processing and recycling program to be the envy of the entire state. We have the use of the Cassidy Lake inmates. With their help and the village-owned trucks and equipment we can do it.

Michigan Farm Bureau recently presented a commemorative plaque to Michigan State University President Peter McPherson to recognize that Michigan Farm Bureau was founded on the campus of Michigan Agricultural College 75 years ago. McPherson's grandfather, Melville McPherson, served as president of Michigan Farm Bureau in 1926 and 1927.

Michigan's honey bee population continues to decline due to the effects of two parasites that are decimating both wild and domestic bees. That could be bad news for Michigan fruit growers who depend on bees to pollinate their crops.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I have just had the dubious pleasure of watching an entire season of girl's high school volleyball.

I have always had the impression that a team sport meant everyone tried to work together. I have no idea whether it was the coach, the girls, or a combination of the two, but I only saw a very few games that team spirit was evident. It appeared that each girl was given an assignment or position to play and they could not adapt to the unexpected. Most of the time, there was a lot of confusion because they did not talk to each other to let others know when they had the ball. There was only one outstanding girl. Some of the girls played very little, even though when they were rotated in, they did just as well if not better than others who were in all the time or on a semi-regular rotation.

I feel sorry for all the girls on the team. They had the talent to have a very good team and compete more effectively than they did.

Better luck next year.

Janet Nightingale.

By the year 2000, the job squeeze among middle-aged workers may become more intense. The large increase in the numbers of middle-aged workers may collide with corporate efforts to reduce middle-management or to reduce vulnerability to demographic non-competitiveness, according to "Workforce 2000," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

School District Won't Need Late April Millage Election

Chelsea School District will apparently not have to hold an early millage election after all.

The district had applied for a millage election for late April in order to deal with a cash flow problem. The district's entire millage is expiring and money is needed to meet late payrolls. The county will reimburse the district for delinquent taxes col-

To the Editor:

Concerned Taxpayers:

Regular, associate members and all other property owners, as Washtenaw Farm Bureau president, I strongly urge your support of Proposal A and ask for a "yes" vote on Proposal A on March 15.

Under Proposal A, nearly all farmers will pay a six-mill homestead tax on their land. The back up statutory plan will put a 12-mill tax on the land immediately adjacent to farm homes and 24-mills on the rest of the farmland. The substantial reduction in property taxes under Proposal A will put Michigan's property tax bill more in line with other states, and make Michigan agriculture more competitive.

Although farmers, like all Michigan consumers, will pay a higher sales tax under Proposal A, Farm Bureau believes this is far preferable to the increased income tax under the statutory plan. A higher income tax rate reduces the amount of capital available for business expansion and job creation.

The sales tax increase in Proposal A does less harm to economic growth. In addition, the higher sales tax will be borne, in part, by visitors and tourists in Michigan.

The 2,951 family members of the Washtenaw County Farm Bureau urge all Washtenaw County citizens to vote yes for Proposal A on March 15.

Harold Trinkle, President

Washtenaw County Farm Bureau.

Wide Variety of Courses Offered By WCC in March

People interested in American Sign Language, income tax preparation, genealogy, flower gardening, interior decorating, assertiveness, or successful househunting will benefit from several Life-long Education programs presented by the Washtenaw Community College Continuing Education and Extension Department during March. For registration information, call (313) 973-3616.

"American Sign Language II," designed for those who have a basic knowledge of sign language, meets on seven consecutive Wednesdays beginning March 9, from 7 to 9:15 p.m. on WCC's main campus. After a quick review of basics, the course concentrates on new and more complex vocabulary, body language and finger spelling. Medical and legal vocabulary is included.

"Income Tax Preparation Section 2" meets for two consecutive Thursday sessions beginning March 17, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. on campus. Participants will develop skills and prepare their own income tax returns.

"Genealogy: Discover Your Roots" combines the science of researching family history with the intrigue of solving a mystery. Beginning March 31, for four consecutive Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m., participants will learn the process, become familiar with records and forms, and find out how to investigate local and regional resources that will help to research their roots. Emphasis will be on the importance of documentation and organization of records with photographs, videos, cassette-recordings, and more to make the research rewarding and fun.

Unraveling the mystery of creating a lovely garden will be the focus of "Flower Gardening" beginning March 29 and continuing for four consecutive Tuesdays, from 7 to 9 p.m. Students will learn to combine several kinds of flowers into a season-long display of color and interest in their own yards. Learning to use effective designs combining annuals, perennials, and bulbs will increase the beauty of the home landscape and provide the student with many pleasurable hours.

"Interior Decorating" begins March 14, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., and will continue for six consecutive Mondays. If the arrangement of the interior object/materials for home decorating has been frustrating, then this course will teach the techniques needed to design an interior space that is pleasant and allows for comfortable living. This course will introduce the participant to the planning and designing aspects of interior space with practical exposure to color and textiles.

Seventy-five percent of our time, whether in the workplace or in a social setting, is spent in face-to-face interaction. "Being Assertive: Making a Difference in Your Life" meeting for four consecutive Mondays beginning March 14, from 7 to 9 p.m., will teach participants a communication style that is effective for improving relations and getting results. Practical step-by-step instruction will be given on how to become more assertive, consistent, and successful.

From amortization to zoning, "Successful Househunting: A Basic Guide To Buying a Home" will cover many of the questions asked by prospective homebuyers. Beginning March 10, for three consecutive Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m., this course looks at the cost of buying vs. renting.
