Village Residents Re-elect Incumbents to Office

Chelsea saw no surprises in Monday's village election when all of its incumbents were re-elected.

Council president Richard Steele will serve his third term on the council. He received 183 votes to political newcomer Jim Machnik's 88. Trustees Frank Hammer, Joe Merkel and Richard Rigg beat out newcomer Harry Thurkow in his bid for election. Hammer, a third term trustee, garnered the most votes, 226. Rigg, who was serving a one-year term previously held by Connie Woodruff, followed Hammer with 202 votes. Merkel brought in 199. Thurkow's tally was 115. A total of 284 ballots were cast.

Dayle Wright and Dan Kaminsky, who both ran unopposed for the Chelsea Library Board of Trustees, were elected. Kaminsky garnered 195 votes and Wright brought in 214.

Chelsea resident Fred Mammel received 13 write-in votes for the position of village treasurer, which no one sought. Mammel will have 10 days to accept or decline the position. If he does not respond it will be understood that he will not take the post.

Steele, who has been affiliated with village government since 1981 when he was first elected to council as a trustee, said last week that one of the main reasons he is running is to see several projects through to completion. Opponent Machnik was seen as the main spokesman for the disgruntled Gene Dr. property owners who have been negotiating to have their road upgraded and utilities installed. He said that issue was one of the main forces behind his bid for council presidency.

Steele, Rigg, Hammer and Merkel will be sworn into office at the next council meeting by clerk Suzanne Morrison.

Christmas in April Seeking Volunteers, Donations, Materials

On April 30, the Chelsea area chapter of Christmas in April*Washtenaw will join seven other chapters county-wide in their third annual labor of love.

The Christmas in April concept of people helping people and neighbor helping neighbor has sparked a flame in the hearts of the families of Chelsea.

Over the last two years more than 300 volunteers have gathered to work on 14 homes in the Chelsea area. Our community has raised over $14,000 in support of this effort.

The group is planning to service at least six homes this year. The exact number depends on the amount of funds raised and the number of volunteers available. Chelsea is aware of the call to pursue peace and justice issues, the inner call to seek out the widowed, the elderly, the handicapped and the less fortunate. They feel there is an obligation to assist wherever and whenever they can. The spirit of volunteerism in our community is remarkable, people are willing to share their time and dollars in support of their neighbors.

Christmas in April leaders are looking for volunteers from all walks of life, skilled or novice. Everyone is welcome. The only qualifications needed are the desire to reach out and the ability to have fun doing so. We are also in need of financial support.

They are seeking donations of $5, $10, $20, or whatever you can afford.

Volunteer applications are available at the Village offices, Chelsea Chamber of Commerce or by writing Christmas in April*Washtenaw, 20160 Brown Dr., Chelsea 48118. All donations should be made out to Christmas in April*Washtenaw and mailed to the same address. Please mark your donation for the Chelsea area. Please do not send cash. If you have any questions, please contact Dick Shaneyfelt at 475-8183.

Village trustee Richard Steele derailed Jerry Satterthwaite's bid for a fourth term as president in Monday's village election. Satterthwaite, who withstood a challenge by Steele two years ago by 39 votes, was defeated 198-279. A total of 488 voters went to the polls, a relatively large number.

Former Chelsea Community Fair Queen Laurie Honbaum was crowned the 1990 Miss Michigan U.S. Teen on Saturday, March 10 at Kalamazoo Center Hotel. Honbaum, 17, a junior at Chelsea High school, is the daughter of Merritt and Arlene Honbaum.

Chelsea High school forensics team took third place at a 33-team invitational last Saturday, March 10 in Midland. The "Saturday Chem Classic" featured 600 students, including 50 from Chelsea. Sarah Gegenheimer finished fourth in the sales category with a presentation about Crest toothpaste.

A crowd of onlookers watched helplessly the evening of Feb. 27 as a deer struggled to get off the ice on Green Lake but eventually died of exhaustion, exposure, and perhaps even injury. The ice was too thin for a person to risk walking out on it to help the animal, said Glen Cutright, cruelty investigation officer for the Humane Society of Huron Valley. The deer was apparently chased onto the ice by a couple of dogs.

ed to slash its budget by more than $470,000 if the proposed $3.2 mill operating tax increase is defeated at the April 23 election, board of education members say. The board spent more than five hours determining cost cuts, which would be spread pretty much across the spectrum of school programs.

Area townships are projecting 18-20 percent budget increases to keep pace with inflation. Lima, Lyndon, Sylvan, Dexter, Freedom and Webster townships held their annual meetings last week and gave the bad tax news to residents.

A committee of Lima township residents plan to clean up the Porter Cemetery at Sager and Fletcher Rds. and is seeking volunteers to help with the work. The cemetery was founded in 1839. It is overgrown with brush and weeds, which the group plans to clear and haul away.

Chelsea Jaycees will sponsor their annual Easter Egg Hunt Saturday at the high school athletic field.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES:

Are We Entering A New 'Ice Age'?

For more than a decade, apocalyptic forecasts of "global warming" topped the environmentalist agenda. Now, in the wake of one of our coldest winters on record, will we be hearing new warnings of "global cooling"?

By Philip C. Clarke

Enormous efforts have been made by "Greenpeace," "The Union of Concerned Scientists," "Earth First," and other such groups to convince the public that civilization ultimately is doomed to destruction from the so-called "Greenhouse effect," in which carbon dioxide and other industrial pollutants trap heat in the atmosphere.

This, it is claimed, will cause the polar ice-caps to melt and flood the coastal regions and turn much of the rest of the Earth into arid desert.

However, in recent months, a growing number of knowledgeable scientists have refuted the "global warming" theory, pointing out that there is no real evidence of any such catastrophic trend, natural or man-made. Indeed, reports Time magazine, some in the scientific community now believe that the Earth actually is beginning to enter a new "glacial period," or ice age.

The generally accepted scenario used to go like this: Since the last ice age ended about 10,000 years ago, the next one might not come for another 10,000 years—or at the most, we could now be experiencing its first beginnings. Climatologists once thought that ice ages happened gradually, over a period of hundreds or thousands of years. During this period the Earth's average temperature drops by about 18 degrees, leading to long winters and shorter summers. At the poles, snow piles up faster than it can melt, and miles-thick ice sheets begin their inexorable creep towards the equators. Then, after another 10,000 years or so, the glaciers retreat and stay put for yet another 10,000 or so years before going on the march once again.

Over the last few years, however, some scientists have uncovered new evidence that challenges the standard "global cooling" model. Samples from the depth of the Atlantic sea floor, and from Greenland's glaciers, have given researchers the opportunity to study ancient mud and ice samples from the last several ice ages. And what they found is startling: An "ice age" actually may grind into motion in only a decade or two.

One factor that might lead to the onslaught of an ice age is the so-called "Milankovitch Cycle." This theory argues that ice ages are triggered by fluctuations in the Earth's orbit around the sun. Thus, as the Earth travels around the sun on its yearly course, it "wobbles" slightly, and even strays farther from the sun than normal, thereby triggering an ice age. Past geological research supports this basic theory. The next one, so the theory goes, is due within the next 1,000 years, or so.

But don't let that put you at ease, argue researchers Wallace Broecker and George Denton. There's yet another factor in the ice age cycle that could cause change with little or no warning. This involves a cyclical ocean current that the researchers liken to a vast conveyor belt. Normally, this current of unusually salty, dense water runs from the tropics, underneath the Gulf Stream, and on up to the North Atlantic. There, the salty current wells up from the depths and releases its tropic heat in the North Atlantic air, then sinks to the bottom to return to the tropics to start the cycle once again. This warm water influx helps keep the polar ice at bay. However, if disrupted, as has happened in past millennia, the ice goes on the move.

Penn State's Richard Alley, an expert on Greenland ice cores, says nobody knows for sure what other factors might help trigger climate shifts. "It scares us," says Alley. "We know there are times when the climate is very delicately poised. We know that for the past 8,000 to 10,000 years it hasn't flipped over. But we really don't understand it well enough to say whether it's really stable, or whether we are on thin ice." So to speak—or in fact.

Meanwhile, since mankind can't do anything about it, we might just as well laugh along with the "scientific" theory of comedian Mark Russell who suggested that the rings of Saturn are "composed entirely of lost airline luggage."

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellows that hang around the country store are readers more than lookers and listeners. They turn on the radio night and morning for the weather, some can't escape TV games and soaps their old ladies are hooked on, and a few take in some TV baseball in season. So it was odd to hear Zeke Grubb lamenting Saturday night over what television tells us is news.

Zeke read recent where ABC TV confessed that a woman reporter let viewers think she was in front of the U.S. Capitol when she actual was in a office in front of a picture of the Capitol. The piece said the network admitted the trick because a show business paper found out about it. The item made no note of what the TV reporter said, Zeke said, but if gold is flaking off the dome and lining the gutters there would be mention of it in the papers. Chances are her report was about Congress.

Practical speaking, Zeke went on, we call what we see on TV a news show because that's what it is. Other than live space and sports, everything on TV is make believe because TV folks spend time and money making it so we'll believe it. Trouble is, they way overdo it, Zeke said. We don't have to see a man standing in the snow in front of the Pentagon to believe, the Defense Department got North Korea's permission to look at some weapons plants, but not the ones where nuclear weapons are made.

Furthermore, Zeke said, local television stations do the same things for the same reasons. They got all that money tied up in equipment, so they send a truck and a helicopter on and over the interstate to show that, sure enough, traffic is backed up because one lane is closed for repair. Zeke said one station he gets sends a man out doors in all kind of weather to report the weather, like that makes a stronger case than telling us about it inside.

The fellows were general agreed with Zeke about television worrying so much about being too serious until nobody takes it serious. Bug Hookum said Zeke's complaint reminded him of how lawyers look at presenting their case. When the law is with them, they argue the law. When the evidence is with them they argue the evidence. When the law and the evidence is against them, they yell and pound the table. So we worry most when television is making the most fuss about honesty in television, was Bug's words.

Speaking of honesty, Clem Webster called for a warning label on orange juice. Democrat Clem read where his least favorite radio and TV commentator is being paid $1 million by the Florida Citrus Commission to promote orange juice. Whatever Rush Limbaugh has something to do with, Clem said, he don't want nothing to do with. What puts the stopper in the jug, Clem said, is that the commission hired him after getting rid of Anita Bryant because she had some views that got folks to worked up to think about drinking more orange juice.

Republican Ed Doolittle busted out laughing. He said nobody likes Limbug but everybody that's got a gripe with giveaway Government. But Ed said if Rush runs his views and ads together like Paul Harvey he'll cut him off quick.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Modern Mothers Hear Discussion on Health Care Options

On March 8 the club presented a talk by Dr. Craig Pirrong, assistant professor and public policy at the U-M. The program was open to the public and held at Beach Media Center. Dr. Pirrong provided an overview on the recent past history of the American medical market as well as potential outcomes of various health care reform proposals currently under discussion. Hostesses for the evening were Barb Lewis and Diana Mathis.

A business meeting followed the program. Drafts of the club's constitution were distributed at the Feb. 22 meeting; voting will be on April 12. Members are encouraged to participate in the approval process by attending the next two meetings. Also on the agenda of the April 12 meeting will be approval of officers for the 1994/95 year.

An Easter Egg hunt was scheduled for Saturday, April 9 from 1 to 3 p.m.; site to be announced.

The March 22 meeting will be held at the Westside Gym, casual (work-out) attire suggested. Members will then relocate to discuss the draft; site to be determined.

A board meeting will be held March 16 at 8:30 p.m., at Cleary's for discussion of the draft.

Hospital Bridge Marathon Changes From Team Format

The March 8 meeting of the Couples (Pairs) Bridge Marathon for the benefit of the Chelsea Community Hospital was held in the Woodlands Room of the Hospital on Sunday evening at 6 p.m. Ten couples participated. Instead of playing as teams, the game was a mixer with individual scores tallied.

Winner for the evening's play was Helen Lancaster of Chelsea, with a score of 4,860 for the 20 hands played; Larry Wiedmayer of Grass Lake, was second with a score of 4,870; and Roberts Barrow of Base Lake, Dexter, was third with a score of 4,880. Refreshments were brought by Fred and Betty Mammel. The hospital donates the coffee and tea.

The same format will be followed as last year, using four scores to qualify for year-end prizes in this marathon event. A donation of $2.75 is contributed each evening they play, and a quarter is also added to be used for prizes for the night's play. Of course, the amount given to the hospital is tax deductible. Mixed pairs may play, so think about a partner and call for any further information: Marlene Rademacher, 475-5121, or Roberta Barrow, 424-3587.

Fifth Grade Triad Classes Start Recycling Program for Schools

The Enrichment Triad Program's fifth grade "Community Problem Solving" classes at Chelsea's North and South Elementary schools will have their school communities well on the way to recycling their paper for evermore.

Under the guidance of their teacher, Ruth Stielstra, this enthusiastic group of students has educated themselves on the whys and the hows of paper recycling. At the end of their Community Problem Solving (CPS) project they will have put in place a permanent recycling program and hope to have convinced everyone in their schools to participate.

Students kicked off their campaign by collecting all the paper trash for one day school-wide. It was determined they could collect 16,998 pounds of paper in one year which translates to 8 1/2 trees that could be saved if their schools would recycle their paper. Representations of the "saved" trees were made with reused cardboard then hung in each school's cafeteria.

Next, the students designed, constructed, painted then opened for business a Reusable Depot in each cafeteria. The depots served as collection stations for brown paper lunch bags, plastic bags, and tin foil to reuse as props and costumes in their educational skits. They also used the depots to collect 8,160 school milk cartons that are being reused to make 60 recycling collection stations throughout their schools.

"This is truly a team effort. These students are even taking turns giving up their lunch hours to collect all the milk cartons," says Ruth Stielstra. "And, they are doing it with smiles on their faces. Their people skills are shining bright!"

Students are in the process of gluing together the school milk cartons to form 60 double section collection stations which will each hold two grocery bags. Each "paper bin" will be labeled with two mini signs showing different examples of "white paper" and "mixed paper" that can be recycled and a third sign showing examples of paper that cannot be recycled. Jerry Satterthwaite from the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority has been advising the students.

The last phase of their year-long project will be to present original skits demonstrating the importance of recycling and exactly how to use the "paper bins." These skits will be presented to one grade level at a time and be followed by a Q&A session with a visit to each classroom to deliver the posters and bins, and to answer questions. The CPS team members will then, for the remainder of the school year, collect the paper from each classroom and take it to a holding station. The Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority will pick up the paper each Wednesday morning at North school and in the afternoon at South school.

A study at the University of Georgia shows that nitrates are the most common contaminant found in well water, and most often from shallow wells. The study also found that wells that are surrounded by large tracts of farmland were found to be less likely to have contaminated water.

KATRINA HAMMER folds the top of the school milk carton closed after cutting off the top flap. Over 8,500 school milk cartons have been collected by Community Problem Solving team members from North and South Elementary schools.

CAL DUNHAM squeezes the tube of adhesive caulk to get the very last drop. The Community Problem Solving team members have glued together 1,488 sets of five school milk cartons and 128 sets of four in the initial construction phase of creating 62 bins for classrooms to recycle their paper.

MALLORY WENTZ displays the "tools of the trade"—"sticky plates," adhesive caulk and fingers!

Need Bigger Budget for Developing Alternate Pesticides

American Farm Bureau Federation told a House Appropriations agriculture subcommittee that the 1995 USDA budget proposal for developing alternatives to pesticides is inadequate.

"If the Clinton administration is truly committed to reducing pesticide use while maintaining farm profitability, there must also be a commitment to seek additional funds to find alternatives to pesticides," said Al Almy, director of public affairs for Michigan Farm Bureau.

The USDA's proposal to spend an additional $10 million to develop biological pest controls and improve integrated pest management (IPM) strategies is not enough, especially in light of the administration's goal of IPM implementation on 75 percent of crop acreage by 2000, and the Environmental Protection Agency's intention to begin pesticide cancellations, according to Almy.

"USDA's budget does not address or even acknowledge the farm level problems caused by the cancellation of at least 30 pesticides used on more than 80 crops" and the widespread pesticide cancellations on many crops due to re-registration, he said.

Almy said Farm Bureau supports the administration's increased emphasis on and funding for alternatives to methyl bromide, which is used on a wide variety of crops and makes reduced pesticide application rates possible for many commodities.

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, April 7, 1960—

The village council has passed a new ordinance under which residents will pay for water and sewer service based on actual usage, rather than a per-household flat rate as in the past. The new system is being touted as more equitable in that all users will pay their fair share of service costs. The new rates are intended to make the sewage disposal plant self-supporting, which it has not been for many years.

In action, the council adopted a village budget of $165,294. Tax rates will remain the same, except for a new special levy of three mills to pay for additions to the sewage plant.

Carol Reddeman of Chelsea was one of the top winners in the 4-H Dress Revue held last week in Ann Arbor. Reddeman will represent Washtenaw county in the state 4-H show in July.

Anderson's department store in downtown Chelsea was robbed of $250 in cash by thieves who broke in through a back door and pried open the safe.

Most people learn a trade through on-the-job training or through an apprenticeship, which provides the most thorough training. Apprenticeships are administered by local employers, trade associations and trade unions. About 45 percent of all apprentices are in training for jobs as electricians, carpenters, plumbers, pipefitters, sheet metal workers and others in the construction industry. These programs usually last 3 to 5 years and combine on-the-job training with classroom instruction, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Occupational Outlook Quarterly.

A report by the National Research Council says that the world should not neglect to preserve old seed varieties and the genetic information they carry. The report raised concerns that some seed varieties are becoming extinct and others are being allowed to die in seed banks set up to preserve them.

Deputies Report Drunk Driving Arrests, Assault

Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies investigated several incidents in Dexter Village and Scio, Sylvan, Lima and Dexter townships, March 3-9.

Dexter Village
Illegal dumping was reported on the railroad tracks east of Central St., March 6. A 36-year-old Dexter man notified police of building materials and garbage dumped on the tracks. He found an envelope with the name and address of a 33-year-old Ann Arbor woman on it. Deputies questioned the woman, who said she paid a 22-year-old Manchester man $200 to remove the building debris from her property March 3. She was told by him that the garbage was taken to a dump site in Livingston county. When contacted, the suspect told police he had intended on taking the garbage to a landfill, but got lost. He said he saw other trash in the area and decided to unload his there. The Manchester man was issued a citation to appear in court and was ordered to remove the trash from the site.

Assault and battery was reported on Alpine St. near Main St., March 7. A 47-year-old Dexter man told police his brother-in-law assaulted him while he was sitting in his car outside the 29-year-old man's home. The victim said he was there because he wanted to talk to his wife, who he is separated from. The wife is staying with her sister and brother-in-law. The victim said, after he was asked to leave he waited in his car parked outside, which he is living out of. The victim said his brother-in-law later came outside and punched him several times through an open window. The victim suffered two swollen eyes and a cut across his upper nose area. Huron Valley Ambulance was called, but the victim refused medical treatment because of his financial situation. When contacted, the suspect claimed the victim was drunk and backed up into his vehicle several times, which enraged him. He said he couldn't remember if he hit him or not. A deputy noted in his report that the suspect's vehicle didn't look damaged and had no scuff marks on it.

A 23-year-old Dexter man was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor, unlawful blood/alcohol level and possession of marijuana on Grand St. near Broad St., March 8. Police were notified by a witness of a suspected drunk driver. When deputies arrived at the Hop In store in Main St., the witness directed them to the man, who was driving a 1979 Ford Mustang. Police watched the suspect drive slowly around the parking lot parallel to Jeffords St. with his car lights off. When the police followed, the man continued driving down the road with the lights off, as his vehicle wove in and out of the lane. He was stopped on Grand St., where deputies administered field sobriety tests, which he failed. The man was arrested for drunk driving and a plastic bag containing suspected marijuana was confiscated from the vehicle. The man's blood/alcohol level was .15 percent, which is over the legal limit.

A runaway juvenile was reported in the 7800 block of Hudson St., March 9. The 40-year-old mother of a 15-year-old girl reported her daughter as a runaway since March 8. She said the girl might be with a friend somewhere in the Ann Arbor area. The girl's name was entered into LEIN.

Scio Township
Peter G. Fazio, 46, of Brooklyn was arrested on a bench warrant out of Wixom, March 8. Fazio was stopped by deputies for speeding on I-94 near Zeeb Rd. A computer check revealed his warrant for contempt of court. He was transferred into the Wixom Police Department's custody.

An Ypsilanti man is being sought for writing a check on a closed account. The incident happened at Scio Party Store on Jackson Rd., Jan. 30. It was reported March 4. A cashier at the party store says she can identify the man, and that he was a regular customer. However, the woman's description did not match that of the man who has the checking account.

A runaway was reported in the 3900 block of N. Michael Rd., March 5. A 52-year-old man reported his 16-year-old daughter missing. He last saw her March 4 about 4 p.m. when she left in her 1976 Chevrolet Impala. She was apparently enroute to her friend's home. Her friend's stepfather said both were at the home, but later left. The girl's name has been entered into LEIN.

Todd Weber, 25, of Milan was arrested on a bench warrant when he was stopped for a traffic violation on Jackson Rd. near Staebler Rd., March 4. Weber's warrant was for violation of probation.

Steven Gregory, 36, of Dexter was arrested on a warrant when he was stopped on Zeeb Rd. near I-94, March 5, for a traffic violation. His warrant was out of Macomb county for violation of probation. He was taken to Washtenaw county jail.

A 20-year-old Ann Arbor man was arrested for violating the controlled substance act while driving along Wagner Rd. near Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd., March 4. Police were watching the man in the parking lot of a local bowling alley, where it is suspected drug transactions are being made. They followed the man after he sat in his 1992 Ford Ranger pick-up for a while and then left. The vehicle's license plate number was entered and it was confirmed the man was driving with a suspended license. He was stopped and a vehicle search led to a bag of suspected marijuana. The man admitted to police that it was his. He was issued a citation for driving with a suspended license and was released pending warrant authorization from the prosecutor's office for possession of marijuana.

Suspected marijuana was confiscated from a 48-year-old Chelsea man after he was stopped for possible drunk driving on I-94 near Baker Rd., March 4. A deputy smelled marijuana smoke when the man rolled down his window. A vehicle search led to a small quantity of the drug.

Bulldog Cagers Defeat Dexter, Tecumseh for District Title

Chelsea High school's basketball team was named District Champs Friday after beating Tecumseh, 66-51.

The victory came after a 48-38 win over Dexter in the first round of District competition held at Siena Heights College Tuesday, March 8.

The Class B District title advanced the Bulldogs into Regional play last night against Gross Ile.

In last Tuesday night's game against Dexter, the Bulldogs avenged two losses it suffered to Dexter in the regular season. The Dreadnaughts garnered just two field goals after 14 attempts in the first half. Dexter managed to maintain a close game, but never pulled out ahead.

Chelsea took on Tecumseh after the Indians won its first round of District play when it went head-to-head with Brooklyn Columbia Central. In the Columbia Central-Tecumseh game, Tecumseh rode to an easy victory with a 31-point lead made by half-time. The game ended 71-35.

When Tecumseh and Chelsea faced off Friday, Chelsea began the round with a fast start, taking a 16-7 lead by the close of the first quarter. But the second quarter saw the Indians catch up by out-scoring Chelsea 16-8. Tecumseh's movement left the Bulldogs with just a one point lead, 34-33, by half-time. With a three-pointer by Tecumseh's Eric Patterson in the third quarter, Chelsea soon found itself trailing behind, 38-35.

Bulldog Pat Steele made the difference for Chelsea when he sparked a 17-4 run that pulled the Bulldogs out from behind. The team continued, hitting 13 of its next 14 free throws before claiming victory.

Chelsea managed to shoot 48 percent from the floor compared to Tecumseh's 41 percent in Friday night's game. With free throws, the Bulldogs tallied 69 percent to the Indians' 41 percent. Chelsea peaked in the third quarter when it made eight consecutive free throws for a total of 15 that quarter. Rebounds were close as Chelsea had 37 and Tecumseh had 30.

Scoring for Chelsea were Pat Steele, 18; Rob Davis, 11; Mike Brink, 7; Scott Colvin, 7; Colby Skelton, 6; Corey Brown, 6; Chad Brown, 5; and Case McCalla, 4.

DISTRICT BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS

Swim Team Places 10th In State Championships

Last week-end the Chelsea boys swimming team competed in the 65th Class B swimming and diving championship at Eastern Michigan University.

The meet began with the preliminaries on Friday. The Southeastern Conference was to be represented well at this year's meet with Milan expected to finish in the top four and Dexter and Chelsea to finish in the top 15.

After Saturday's finals, Milan was runner-up to Birmingham Andover who had 191 points. Milan had 155 points. Dexter finished 9th with 56 points and a very happy Chelsea squad finished 10th with 55 points.

Chelsea had representatives in each event except the 50-yd. freestyle which showed the depth of this swimming team. The 200 medley relay ended its season at 1:44.87 and 15th in the state. Members of the relay team were Matt Fischer, Kevin Kolodica, Steve Straub and David Brock.

Matt McVittie filled his goggles with water in the prelims of the 200 free but managed to make it into the finals of the event. McVittie ended up second in the event at 1:43.63.

Justin Roush was 16th in the event at 1:52.75 a season and career best time for the graduating senior.

Steve Straub was the lone representative in the 200IM, having a career best time of 2:06.28 which placed him 15th.

Matt Fischer had a season best in the 100 fly at 56.11 and 19th place.

Matt McVittie was hot in the finals of the 100 free, breaking his varsity record and placing third in a time of 46.90.

David Brock finished a great swimming, career placing in the 500 free at 5:01.32 and receiving 17th place overall.

Justin Roush was awesome once again, dropping his time to 5:02.72 which just missed the finals at 13th place.

The 200 free relay of McVittie, Straub, Kolodica and Jim Bergman placed 8th at 1:29.87 and set a new varsity record in the process.

Fischer ended up 14th in the 100 backstroke, stopping the clock at 56.50.

Kevin Kolodica and Peter Straub represented the Bulldogs in the 100 breaststroke.

Straub hit a lane line in the prelims of the event which prevented him from making the finals.

Kolodica was 20th in the event, stopping the clock at 1:04.42.

The final event of the afternoon was the 400 freestyle relay. Again a varsity record fell as McVittie, Fischer, Brock, and S. Straub combined for a 3:16.87 time.

The state meet is the culmination of a tremendous amount of hard work

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I was deeply distressed by the Death and Dying Commission's decision to advocate for the legalization of physician assisted suicide. The Commission appeared to have some dissonance since the vote was 9 to 8 with 7 members abstaining. They felt that someone with chronic pain should be able to request physician assisted suicide and be legally able to die because of pain. What a great waste of humanity! What a loss to the families left behind and to the potential of the person who dies.

I am very concerned by this decision. I fully understand that constant pain is exhausting and can cause people to think that death would be a better option. I believe that no one should live in pain but I believe that there are other alternatives to exhaust before physician assisted suicide is sought, which is so final.

Patients with long standing chronic pain need to be encouraged to seek help through the pain clinics at most medical centers. These clinics were established for the very purpose of helping people who are suffering with chronic pain. Patients have to be patient and work with the clinic, but I have seen many people relieved of their pain and return to normal lives. Patients often become discouraged because their pain has not been taken seriously by the medical profession. Their pain will be taken seriously at a pain clinic. I urge you to try one more time and go to a pain clinic. Your family needs you!

If your pain is caused by a disease which is likely to limit your life, then ask your physician if you could be an appropriate referral to hospice. All Hospices are experts in controlling pain. Patients and families are often hesitant to begin Hospice Care because they feel that Hospice is for the "last times." The Hospice Benefit provides care for six (6) months with the stipulation that if the disease does not follow the normal course and the patient lives longer, the benefit will continue until death.

Patients and families need to enter Hospice at the earliest appropriate time. Why? So they may do the "work" of Hospice. It is a wonderful opportunity for the patient to impart all the history, goals, dreams, and legacy of his life to the next generation. To say all the things we always wished we had said. It is also the time for the family to validate the importance of the patient's life to each member by reminiscing and remembering special times. These interactions provide the family with precious moments which they will cherish.

We recognize that none of the work of Hospice can begin until pain and symptoms are controlled. My experience with Hospice Care (having been a hospice nurse for over 12 years) leads me to assure patients that we can control most of their pain. Sometimes it takes us a longer time to reach pain control, but in 95% of cases, we do reach it. Twelve years ago we knew very little about the mechanism of pain, research was minimal, and our understanding of the use of drugs was just beginning. Now controlling pain is a multifaceted endeavor. We use many types of drugs each focused on one portion of the pain.

First we will determine what type of pain it is—soft tissue tumor, nerve, bone pain, etc. Each component will be treated. Pain medication is given for the actual pain, non-steroidal medication for the anti-inflammatory action, muscle relaxant medications to reduce the muscle tension around the pain site, certain medications for nerve pain, etc. Our knowledge and ability to control pain goes on and on.

Let us help patients with pain to find the care that they need. Do not put a permanent solution on a problem which I believe has many other better solutions. Please encourage your loved ones and friends to seek that further care. I know that for our patients, as their quality of life improves, they often wonder why it took them so long to accept Hospice care.

President, Arbor Hospice

To the Editor,

American Agriculture—Growing Better Everyday

American agriculture has a long history of innovation. From the invention of the cotton gin in 1793, to the development of the first light tractor in 1926, to the introduction of minimum tillage methods designed to enhance yields while lessening soil erosion in the 1980s, American agriculture has led the world in new developments.

The agriculture industry's practice of actively seeking out new ideas, production methods and technologies is what has helped advance American agriculture and made it the economic and production powerhouse it is today.

The American food and agriculture system represents 16 percent of our nation's gross national product and generates an estimated 21 million jobs. One American farmer provides enough food and fiber for 128 people. The United States is also the world's largest exporter of agricultural products. In 1993, the U.S. exported $42.5 billion in farm products, cutting our deficit in non-farm trade by 14 percent.

As we celebrate National Agriculture Week (March 14-20), let us take a moment to reflect on the important role agriculture plays in our daily lives. It feeds us, clothes us, houses us, and employs us.

Let us also reflect on the important role agriculture plays in the life of America. It is our most basic industry and the key to our continued strength.

So on March 20, National Agriculture Day, take time to salute those in agriculture, for providing us with safe, abundant, high-quality and reasonably priced agricultural products.

By the year 2000, for black men and Hispanics the job market will be particularly difficult. In contrast to their rising share of the new entrants into the labor force, black men will hold a declining fraction of all jobs if they simply retain existing shares in various occupations, according to Workforce 2000.

Gregory Area Man Completes Navy Basic Training

Navy Seaman Robert L. Clem, son of Marilyn A. Harton of 14400 Holmes Rd., Gregory, recently completed basic training at Recruit Training Command, Orlando, Fla.

During the cycle, recruits are taught general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 occupational fields.

Studies include seamanship, close-order drill, naval history and first aid.

Although the Navy is getting smaller, the state-of-the-art ships, aircraft and high tech systems in today's fleet require bright, talented young men and women to operate them. The Navy has over 58,000 job openings this year, most of which include guaranteed training.

Clem joined the Navy in November 1993.

Military Training Required of All Chinese University Students

By Mary Ellen Myrning-Lu
Dear Friends,

In China, all university students must undergo military training in either their first or second year of school. The training lasts about one month and the students are decked out in military uniforms and usually shipped out to military sites (or if the university is small, they may stay on campus and ship in soldiers to do the training).

While in military training, the day starts at 6 a.m. where the students undergo a rigorous daily routine of physical training. They learn how to load and shoot rifles, to do three kinds of marching (including the goose-step), attend political lectures on the glories of Marx and Lenin, sing a lot of flag-waving songs, hike in difficult terrain (when possible), and then collapse with groans and moans at 10 p.m.

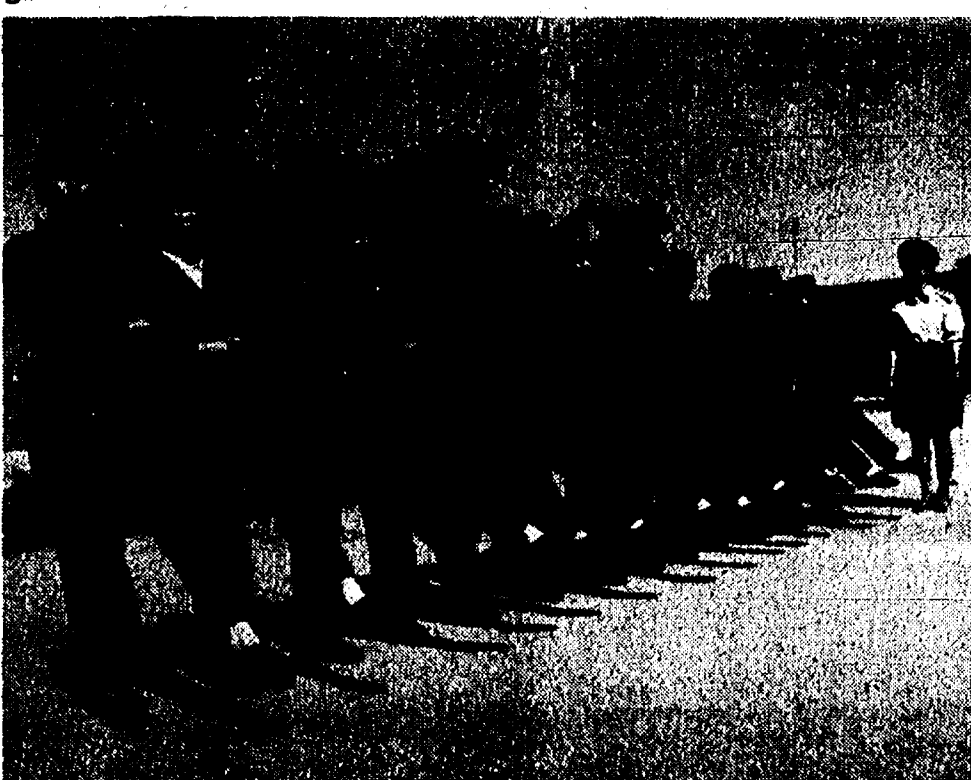

All my students grumble about the bone-killing, new muscle-discovering time wasted—at the beginning. Later, many of them seem to look fondly back on that time as a useful learning experience. I have talked at length to many of the kids and in a nutshell they say: Military training is a time where, since misery loves company, friendships are forged or deepened. It is a time where they relearn some of the history of their country and relearn the patriotism they once felt when they were little. It is a time where they fully understand how truly strong the human body is and learn pride in what it can do.

Other students hated the whole time from beginning to end and still resent the time they feel was squandered. Usually military training takes place in August, so the summer vacation is cut short, and a number of students who live at a considerable distance from the university resent the valuable lost time spent away from their families. These students resent the idea of being forced to learn military discipline.

At first I hated the whole forced concept. Now, I can objectively see its flaws and its merits. It is just too bad that it is not a voluntary thing, but then again, I wonder how many would sign up?

LEARNING ABOUT GUNS: This is the first and only time, most of these boys will ever hold a gun. The government forbids private ownership of any guns.

MILITARY TRAINING is required of all university students. One troop of the girls is shown here learning to march.

Peace Activist To Speak Here on 'Conflict Resolution'

Marina Riadi will speak on "Conflict Resolution" at the First United Methodist church, 126 Park St., in Chelsea on Tuesday, March 22, at 7 p.m. Marina Riadi was born and raised in Bethlehem. When she was 12 years old, the Six-Day War took place, and she saw napalm bombs falling all around her. This experience set her on a career of peacemaking.

She pursued studies at the Sorbonne University, the University of London and the University of Vermont. She went back to Jerusalem in 1977 to work with Palestinian and Israeli peace activists. Marina later returned to the U.S. to pursue her Ph.D. in philosophy at Georgia State University.

Ms. Riadi has had a career as a teacher, author and translator, while she was a member of the Carmelite order. In 1987, she took a year's sabbatical in Europe and the Middle East where she became involved in community service and designed public education programs sponsored by the local Interfaith Christian Church. Marina worked as primary coordinator of a series of community educational and social programs, including youth summer camps, public awareness seminars and workshops sponsored by Father Elias Chacour, well known for his peacemaking work in Israel.

She came to work for the American Friends Service Committee, a Quaker organization supported by individuals who strive for peace, social justice and humanitarian service, in 1988. She was appointed director of the Middle East Peace Education Program in the Southeast Region.

Dexter Couple To Demonstrate Nantucket Lightship Baskets At Annual Pioneer Craft Fair

Area residents Charles and Rose VanAken will return to the Pioneer Craft Fair March 26 with an old-world favorite—Nantucket Lightship Baskets.

The fair has become somewhat of a tradition for the retired Dexter couple. For the past 10 years or more they have participated in the fair, just about as long as they have been making those rare baskets.

They learned the craft by taking a three-day private course. Before that, Rose was always interested in basket weaving but something about the Nantucket baskets attracted her husband's attention. Ever since, together they have been producing the baskets in the time-honored method that involves slow, painstaking hand weaving.

This particular form of basket making was developed in the early 1800s by residents of Nantucket Island off the coast of Massachusetts. What they developed are some of the sturdiest and most prized baskets in America. The first baskets were made on the South Shoal Lightship by the tenders of the ship to occupy their leisure time and supply their wives and girlfriends with a worthwhile gift.

The VanAken mesh the traditional style with their own creativity, using four round and three oval molds to conform their basket patterns much like the originals. Cane is utilized in place of oak, hickory or ash, to form a sturdy basket with a uniform shape. The hard, shiny surface of the cane, the tight weaving and the mold make for each basket's special beauty.

The VanAken make the baskets in all sizes, and prices vary from $25 to $300, depending on the amount of detail involved. The couple makes each by hand—Rose usually weaves, while Charles creates the reed rim and carves the handles and lids. They both also make repairs and take special orders. The most popular are the purse-shaped baskets.

The VanAken are known throughout the area for this craft. When they demonstrate at the Pioneer Craft Fair and another Dexter show, the Webster Fall Festival, they answer a lot of questions from people interested in the baskets. They have some regular customers, but Rose admits it takes a special type of person with an appreciation of the craft who will pay the $200 to $300 price tag many of the Nantucket baskets carry. But with some of the baskets, which on average take a week to make, the VanAken take somewhat of a loss compared to all the time involved.

Besides dedicating many hours to this craft, the VanAken have other hobbies, including quilting and ceramics. Charles enjoys gardening and both work on their family genealogy. Charles, retired as director of pharmacy at the state hospital, is a life-long Dexter resident. Rose, retired as a sales representative for American Greetings, moved to Dexter in 1940 with her family from Chicago.

The VanAken will join more than 50 artists, selected by jury, in demonstrating their craft at the 21st annual Pioneer Craft Fair. It will be held at Dexter High school from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Girl Scouts

Daisy Troop No. 82—On Monday, Feb. 28th, the Daisies were joined by five members of Junior Troop 125, a South school fifth grade troop, who conducted the meeting as a requirement for earning a badge. Troop 125, under the guidance of Mrs. Arneson, presented a skit on safety and "being prepared." A pom-pom bunny was the craft and Daisy girls were treated to "puppy chow," celery sticks and punch for the snack. A new game, "silent ball," was introduced by Troop 125 and several lively games followed. The meeting was closed with the Scout squeeze.

ROSE VANAKEN TAKES A NANTUCKET BASKET off a mold as she demonstrates the craft. Rose and her husband Charles have been making Nantucket Lightship Baskets for more than 10 years. They will participate in the Pioneer Craft Fair at Dexter High school March 26 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

THE PIONEER CRAFT FAIR will feature a demonstration on Nantucket Lightship Basket making by Dexter residents Charles and Rose VanAken. The couple has been making and selling that particular type of basket for the past 10 years or more. The craft fair will be held at Dexter High school from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

★ New Tax Law

Impacts Self-Employed

If you're self-employed and not sure whether you should grin or grimace at the new tax law, the Michigan Association of CPAs offers the following information to help you decide. Although the majority of laws won't affect your 1993 tax return, the biggest change—an increase in tax rates—is retroactive to the 1993 tax year.

Higher Tax Rates Affect the Wealthy

The new tax law—the Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1993—added two new tax rates, effective Jan. 1, 1993. A 36 percent rate applies to taxable incomes that exceed $115,000 for single taxpayers and $140,000 for married couples. In addition, taxpayers face a 39.6 percent tax rate on incomes in excess of $250,000. Because self-employed individuals pay taxes on business income at personal tax rates, some high-earning, self-employed taxpayers may find themselves subject to considerably higher tax rates.

Medicare Ceilings Eliminated

Many self-employed individuals in higher tax brackets will also see more of their earnings subject to the Medicare tax. Previously, self-employed taxpayers paid the 2.9 percent Medicare tax only on their first $135,000 of self-employment earnings. Beginning in 1994, the new law eliminates the $135,000 cap on earnings subject to the tax. As a result, self-employed taxpayers will pay the 2.9 percent Medicare tax on all their self-employment income. Since employees share the Medicare tax with employers (each pays 1.45 percent), the elimination of the $135,000 ceiling has a greater impact on the self-employed.

Health Insurance Deduction

On the brighter side, the law retroactively reinstates the health insurance deduction for self-employed individuals. Under the prior law, which expired on June 30, 1992, a self-employed individual could generally deduct 25 percent of the premiums paid for health insurance coverage. The new law reinstates the deduction retroactively from July 1, 1992 through Dec. 31, 1993. An amended 1992 return may be filed to claim the 25 percent deduction for the second half of 1992.

Business Equipment Is Less Expensive

In the past, a business could elect to deduct in one year up to $10,000 of the cost of business equipment in lieu of depreciating the equipment's cost over a period of years. For tax years beginning after Dec. 31, 1992, taxpayers can elect to deduct up to $17,500 of the cost of qualifying assets placed in service during the year. The maximum deduction phases out dollar-for-dollar once the total cost of qualifying property placed in service during the year exceeds $200,000.

Business Expenses Take a Cut

Self-employed individuals will see several business deductions cut back or eliminated in 1994. The new law affects a broad range of expenses including business meals and entertainment expenses, club dues, and business travel deductions for family members.

For tax years beginning after Dec. 31, 1993, the deductible portion of allowable business meals and entertainment expenses drops to 50 percent from the current 80 percent. For many self-employed professionals who meet clients in restaurants, reducing the deduction for these expenses will add to the cost of doing business.

Beginning in 1994, no deduction will be allowed for any type of club dues, including business, social, luncheon, athletic, sporting, hotel and air travel clubs, even if the club is used principally for business-related activities. However, you may deduct business expenses for meals and entertainment that occur at such clubs to the extent that they otherwise qualify as a business deduction.

The new law also imposes tougher limits on deducting travel expenses for family members who accompany you on a business trip. Prior to the new law, a self-employed taxpayer could deduct a family member's travel expenses if there was a bona fide business purpose for taking the person along. However, beginning in 1994, Congress has added another requirement: You can deduct the travel expenses of a spouse or dependent only if that person is your bona fide employee.

CPAs suggest that you thoroughly understand how the changes affect you and your business. Make the time now to determine how you can minimize the tax law's impact on your business income and, if necessary, seek the assistance of a CPA.

Our little Resolutions Club is growing, but if you care to make a try to do something useful for yourself, give us your name. Or if you are already started on something, give us your name.

Popcorn . . .

The fragrance of fresh popped popcorn is something you cannot describe. It carries long distances. The corn is popped in a large electric popper, and under the expert handling of Scotty, produces a new batch about every three or four minutes.

This has been a great morale booster for between meal snacks. If a bag full is too much, save some for later. Some take it home, dump it in a pan with a little oil while it is still warm. There may be a few more stories when you get done with it, but umm, umm, who is counting. This service is free so far, so why don't we give the quarterback who calls the signals, a big pat on the back.

Adoptive Parent Workshop Series Slated by FamilyLife

Because it is not easy for adoptive parents to get the information they need about children and childrearing (as others do in Lamaze classes and hospital training), a series of six workshops geared to their special needs is now being offered by FamilyLife. The series is titled "Learning To Be Parents" and is designed to give new parents practical tips on what to do when their child arrives, enhance problem-solving skills for handling routine and extraordinary events, provide hands-on child care experience, and prepare them for the challenges of adoptive parenting.

The series begins with a session that teaches people to embrace the status of being a parent and continues with workshops on a variety of topics that include: how to talk to family and friends about adoption, ways to streamline household chores so you have the time to do the things you want, what to expect on arrival day, fostering cultural identity, and an optional course in CPR.

FamilyLife, founded and directed by Debra Westover Leonard, M.A., offers a variety of services that complement the workshop series. It has an extensive lending library of books and tapes that focus on adoption, infertility, home management and childrearing that are available to workshop participants. The phone line is always open and is a source of current information on topics of interest to adoptive families. FamilyLife will consult with you on ways to manage your home. Also, they plan events throughout the year for adoptive families to get together and share their experiences in a social setting.

Classes are to be held at the Catherine McAuley Health System Education Center.

For more information please contact Debra Westover Leonard at (313) 428-8834.
