WASHTENAW COUNTY PARKS and Recreation Commission received the 1994 Areas and Facilities Award of Excellence for its recreation center building. The building was constructed in 1991 along the Rolling Hills Water Park which features a wave pool, water slides and a zero edge pool with water falls.

County Parks Comm. Earns National Award

The Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission has received the 1994 Areas and Facilities Award of Excellence for its recreation center building.

The award represents national recognition of outstanding accomplishments for counties in the 200,000 to 500,000 population size.

Each year the National Association of County Park and Recreation Officials presents awards to recognize exceptional contributions to the field of parks and recreation by individuals or organizations at the county level.

The awards are presented each year as part of the annual National Association of Counties Conference.

"I am delighted that the work of the Commission has been recognized by such a prestigious award," commission director Fred Barkley said Monday.

The Recreation Center Building was constructed in 1991 along with the Rolling Hills Water Park which features a wave pool, water slides and a zero edge pool with water falls.

Construction on Pierce Lake Park and Golf Course, the newest addition to the County Park System, is scheduled to begin this spring and should be completed by next fall.

Christmas in April Needs More Volunteers

Chelsea's Christmas in April initiative, aided by community volunteers, plans to repair and upgrade five homes within the Chelsea School District.

Local chairman Dick Shaneyfelt said Monday that if more volunteers and donations come forth, additional homes may be selected.

Chelsea's initiative is part of Washtenaw Christmas in April, an effort to repair the homes of residents who are financially or physically unable to do it themselves. With donated materials and labor, residents take one day in April to lend a helping hand to needy neighbors.

This year's date is set for April 30.

Shaneyfelt says the Chelsea group starts with five homes for repairs, but adds more if available funding and labor permits. Last year, about 150 volunteers performed repairs on seven homes.

Shaneyfelt is hoping to get Chelsea High school students to volunteer their time. If several do, he says he may offer their labor for yard work and other minor landscaping chores to senior citizens as part of the Christmas in April initiative. He plans to inquire about needy seniors through the Chelsea Area Senior Citizens organization.

Just as last year, Chelsea Rotary Club, Chelsea Lions Club and the Knights of Columbus are expected to take on the work of individual homes by themselves. So far, major work appears to be roof repairs. Roofing materials, plywood and electrical materials are still needed. Chelsea Lumber Company has pledged to deliver materials and offer the local group a discount on materials purchased at the lumberyard.

A luncheon will be provided, but sponsorship has not been determined. Plans for a dinner or picnic are sketchy.

To volunteer for this community effort or to donate building materials call Shaneyfelt at 475-8193.

Huron Riverfest Needs Local Support, Canoeists

A canoe trip that combines recreation with education is returning this year, and organizers are seeking local participants.

Plans are sketchy right now as organizers from three area groups work to finalize events in communities canoeists will travel through along the Huron River.

The canoe trip will be similar to last year's in that a flotilla of canoeists will travel through five Michigan counties beginning at the mouth of the Huron River. However, it differs in its focus from last year. Rather than encouraging community officials and dignitaries to participate, community members and particularly children are being asked to take two week-end canoe trips down the Huron River, and at the same time learn about the river through educational exhibits and by experiencing the river itself.

Both offered to speak about the river in classrooms or on the banks of the river in Dexter. Hutchinson says the primary aim of this year's event is to familiarize children with the watershed.

So far, Hutchinson has received commitments from Dexter senior citizens and Dexter downtown merchants, but support from both schools is a vital factor in the organizers meeting their goal. He hopes to hear something by April 13, so he can share the information with other co-ordinators during a meeting of the Huron River Watershed Council that evening in Ann Arbor.

Hutchinson became involved in this year's organizing efforts after volunteering to serve as a guide and paddler last year. "And I had a whale of a time doing it," he says.

For more information about the event or to participate, contact the Huron River Watershed Council at 769-5123.

Author of 'The Rosary Murders' To Speak in Library Celebration

William X. Kienzle, one of those rare authors whose name draws instant attention, will be one of the featured speakers during "Love Your Library Week," Chelsea's annual celebration of the importance of McKune Memorial Library in the community. He will speak Thursday evening, April 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Chelsea Depot Meeting Room.

WILLIAM X. KIENZLE

His first mystery, "The Rosary Murders," was released in 1987 as a motion picture, starring Donald Sutherland as Father Koesler. His most recent novel, "Bishop As Pawn," was released in March 1994. The remaining books in the series, which include "Death Wears a Red Hat," "Mind Over Murder," "Deadline for a Critic," "Body Count and Dead Wrong," all take place in and around Detroit.

"I was born and raised in Oakland county, and attended Catholic schools there," said library patron Mary Green. "One thing I love about Kienzle's books is the ability to visualize the places he writes about—lakes, golf courses, highways, restaurants and factories. Since I played CYO (Catholic Youth Organization) sports, the parishes he includes in his stories about Detroit are familiar places to me," she added.

Kienzle's presentation is free and open to the public.

For further information call McKune Library, 475-7038.

Kienzle left the priesthood in 1974 and moved to Minneapolis, where he spent two and a half years as editor of MPLS, the city magazine for Minneapolis/St. Paul. He then became assistant director of the Center for Contemplative Studies at Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo. When the Center moved its base to the University of Dallas, he moved to Texas with it, becoming Center director.

With the publication of his first novel, "The Rosary Murders," in 1979, Kienzle returned to Michigan. He has since written a novel every year, each featuring parish priest Father Robert Koesler who somehow manages to get involved in—and solve—a murder mystery involving Detroit's Catholic community.

Kienzle has used his considerable knowledge and experience, and his sharp knowledge of diocesan politics to lead his priest-detective hero and a cast of supporting Detroit characters through the stresses of priestly and lay Catholic life as they face the moral dilemmas created by a changing world.

"He has perfected the art of making arcane religious rites crystal clear and even interesting to non-cath-

FRED MAMMEL

Mammel Accepts Treasurer Post

Fred Mammel, 71, was sworn in as Chelsea village treasurer during a council meeting, Monday, March 28.

Mammel was elected with 13 write-in votes during the recent village election. No one ran for the position.

"I can handle the job; I'm happy to do what I can," he said Monday, April 5.

He continues involvement with Laborers for Christ as Assistant District Co-ordinator. During the years, the organization has helped build churches in 17 locations throughout the United States, including Texas, Oklahoma, Florida, Michigan and other states.

When asked how he had been elected without really trying, Mammel laughed and said, "It started as a joke while kidding with Katie Chapman who chose not to run again."

Fred Mammel has retired three times: in 1977, he retired as Ann Arbor City Engineer and Superintendent of Public Works; in 1985 he sold his Milan mechanical contracting company; and in 1992 he retired from the physical labor responsibilities he had performed with Laborers for Christ, a church building organization.

Workers for the organization are paid minimum wage in order to be insured. Michigan projects have included St. Luke's church in Haslett and remodeling the dorm at Concordia College.

Mammel lives in Chelsea at Bridgetown Condominiums with his wife Betty (Elizabeth). They have three living adult children and nine grandchildren. A son was killed in an automobile accident near Adrian two years ago.

Hospital Auxiliary Offering Scholarships

Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary will present a number of scholarships to qualified area students. To be eligible for a scholarship a student must be enrolled full-time in a health career program for which certification is given or a degree is granted. They must also be a resident of the hospital service area. These scholarships are funded from projects such as the Home Tour, Giftshop, Raffles, Bazaar and Fashion Shows.

The Auxiliary is also funding two new scholarships this year. Each has specific requirements in addition to those listed.

The Dorothy Miller Scholarship requires that the applicant be a member of the "Hospital Family"—employees, volunteer-children or grandchildren. This individual must have given 80 or more hours of volunteer service to the hospital or community. Dorothy was the founder of Chelsea Community Hospital Volunteers.

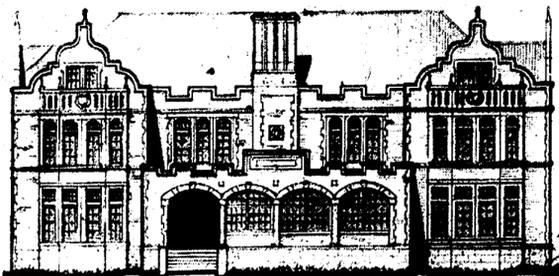

The Jean Schneider Scholarship is reserved for those students aspiring to be a pharmacy technician. Jean was a life member of the Auxiliary and donated her tireless efforts to sup-

Wednesday, April 4, 1990—Assistant village manager Thomas Warstler has resigned to accept a planning position in the upper peninsula. Warstler's last day will be sometime in the latter part of May. His first day on the job was in November. In fact, his contract was finalized at the end of February.

Chelsea School District intends to implement a before-and-after school care program for school children with parents who can't be home during those hours. The program was a topic of discussion at Monday night's board of education meeting. Details on the program will be in place by mid-April, in time for kindergarten registration, according to superintendent Joe Plasecki.

Lima township approved a budget for $199,355 at their annual meeting last Saturday morning. Waste disposal of various kinds was also a major topic of discussion. The township board voted unanimously to approve a resolution opposing the use of any township land for a low-level radioactive waste site. A 15,000-acre site near Parker and Scio Church Rds., which straddles parts of Lima, Scio and Lodi townships is reportedly under consideration for the project.

Two new subdivisions, one of 17 homes in Lima township and the other with 23 homes in the village, have been proposed recently to the respective planning commissions. A subdivision called Chelsea Farms has been proposed for a 156-acre parcel on the eastern edge of the village in Lima township. The other project is yet another version of the Chelsea Pines project near South Elementary school.

Nanette Push's pitching is the key to Chelsea's success in the upcoming girls softball season, says coach Bill Wescott. Push has recorded more strikeouts than any other pitcher in Chelsea history.

Sandy Eldswick, former executive director of the Washtenaw County Cancer Society and a professional figure skater, has been named Spaulding for Children's development director, replacing Kathleen Cavanaugh.

Chelsea's Fred Holdsworth, traded from the Detroit Tigers to the Milwaukee Brewers last winter, is pitching for the Brewers' Triple-A farm club in Vancouver, B.C., and has had a good spring.

★ Confronting Urban Sprawl: How Cities And Suburbs Can Both Win

By David G. Sowerby

In January, the nation's mayors met to discuss urban issues that ultimately center on the economic challenges confronting our large cities. The time is ripe for special emphasis to be given our troubled urban areas, particularly Detroit.

Both the U.S. and Michigan are enjoying their strongest economic growth in seven years. Add in the renewed optimism stemming from the robust spirit of the Archer administration and the combination is encouraging. Development priorities in southeast Michigan are beginning to focus on the emerging opportunities that exist in Detroit.

Over the past 20 years, no major Midwest urban area has been able to match the growth rates of its own neighboring suburbs. A survey of 28 large metropolitan areas, primarily in the Midwest, revealed that suburban population growth averaged 6.6 percent, while cities suffered an average 5.4 percent decline during the 1980s. Not surprisingly, suburban incomes grew 59 percent faster than city incomes over a comparable period.

Southeast Michigan is no exception. Since 1970, the city of Detroit's employment share of the seven-county region has fallen from 34 percent to 16 percent. Wayne county's share of the region's employment has also dropped, declining from 62 percent in 1970 to 41 percent by 1993. Two thriving counties, Oakland and Macomb, have seen their combined share of the region's employment rise from 27 percent to 48 percent over the same period. Given the current pace of urban sprawl, urban and regional authorities must wonder if metropolitan Detroit's migration will ultimately stretch as far as Flint or Lansing.

Fortunately, evidence reveals that suburban and urban economic fortunes are dependent upon each other. A 1992 study by the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia analyzed 28 large metropolitan areas, primarily in the Midwest, and found that city and suburban population and income growth rates were positively correlated. To arrest urban decline, actions could include, the Bank advises, the "elimination of large differences in local tax rates, especially taxes on mobile factors such as labor."

Disturbingly, that message has often been disregarded when it comes to policy recommendations for solving the urban sprawl issue. Rather than addressing issues that regional governments can directly control, such as taxes, regulation (indirect taxes), and spending, policy prescriptions attempt to outwit the market.

One example is the Regional Development Initiative (RDI), published in 1991 by the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG). The RDI looked at the issue of urban sprawl in metropolitan Detroit and concluded that "the pattern of urban sprawl is unacceptable" and "will diminish the quality of life in Southeast Michigan."

Unfortunately, when identifying the dominant causes and recommendations for the urban sprawl issue, the RDI failed to recognize that the tax and regulatory disparities which exist between the city and its suburbs have heavily contributed to the problem. The fact that Detroit's total tax burden is nearly seven times higher than that of the average Michigan city has unquestionably been a factor. So are environmental laws—based as they often are on poor economics and bad science—because they encourage development of farmland versus existing, urban industrial sites.

The RDI, despite good intentions, also failed to recognize that urban sprawl is partly traceable to personal lifestyle choices such as family demand for more land away from congested urban areas. Interfering with the urban-suburban trade-off with a regional planning czar-like committee would threaten the long-term economic health of the entire metropolitan area. One wonders, if an RID-type proposal had existed in 1700, whether Antoine Cadillac, the founder of Detroit, would have been restricted to the shores of France by King Louis XIV, who was confronting the dilemma of urban sprawl around Paris.

Why is SEMCOG's 1991 RDI proposal important in 1994? The perceived causes and solutions to urban sprawl are influencing legislative issues in the areas of taxes, regulation, and infrastructure spending. Regional issues such as merging Detroit's suburban and city transportation systems could include higher taxes on everyone. The establishment of a regional cultural authority to fund the arts could include a metro area service tax. Regional planning authorities are also determining the disbursement of millions in state and federal funds in Southeast Michigan.

Detroit needs a strategy that will address the urban sprawl problem and offer economic prosperity and growth opportunities to both city and suburbs. This strategy must include measures that will reduce the current tax disparity and alleviate costly environmental regulations. Solutions that will make the city competitively attractive to homeowners and businesses will insure the long-term success of our metropolitan economies.

Canada was the leading market for U.S. vegetables in 1993, accounting for over 70 percent of total exports. Japan received 11 percent. Mexico registered the biggest increase in volume, up 69 percent.

Ypsilanti Man Arrested for Drunk Driving

An Ypsilanti man, 49, was arrested for drunk driving Thursday, March 31.

The suspect first appeared to be sleeping in a car parked behind the Common Grill; subsequently, he was observed by Chelsea Police officers who followed him.

The car was weaving in the traffic lane and had difficulty pulling over when stopped by police at Main and Pierce Sts. His speech was slurred and he admitted to having two drinks of alcohol.

During tests administered by the officers, he almost fell over doing a two-legged stand and he could not maintain balance for a one-leg stand.

The driver was given a preliminary breath test that showed he had a .21 percent blood alcohol level.

The case was referred to District Court.

Car Window Broken

The driver side window in a 1985 Ford, two-door Escort was smashed while parked outside the employee entrance of Hatch Stamping at 635 Industrial Drive, Tuesday, March 29, at 9:30 p.m.

The 19-year-old male victim is a Jackson resident. The incident occurred during a 10-minute period while the driver was inside the building. The police have no suspects.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Bug Hookum told the fellows at the country store he is glad to see another spring, but he is bothered by it. As certain as spring is, he said, it always hits him sudden, like the fellow that had "I was expecting this, but not yet" put on his tombstone. Bug said he is about springs like Congress is about budgets. We know they're going to happen, but we're never ready when they do. Congress passes temporary spending resolutions to keep the Government running two weeks into the next fiscal year, and Bug extends his resolution to make better use of good weather.

Around the first of every year, Bug said, he starts working on spring. He sets by the fire in his Lay-Z-Boy to do the planning, and when the weather breaks he moves his base of operation to the rocker on the side porch. That's where the spring campaign gets bogged down by a fresh supply of seed catalogs, broke bird feeders and fishing invites.

Practical speaking, Bug allowed, he does get out and do more in spring, and this is the year he's really getting organized. For instant, he was inspired when he came to the store. He said his old lady give him a short shopping list when he left the house, and he rounded up the items before the session started. He was struck by cans and boxes where new prices had been marked over old prices. Bug said he took note that most change was on cans of vegetables, so this is the spring to revive the garden patch.

The fellows listened patient to Bug talk about the new leaf he's turning this spring, and Zeke Grubb even give a strong "amen, brother" at the part about the vegetable garden. But Ed Doolittle said he hears Bug and Congress talk about getting organized, but he had doubts about both. He took some shine off the new Bug when he said the apple tree that blowed over last fall still is blocking the front of the shed where Bug keeps his tiller and garden tools, and Ed took all bets that it will be there this summer. Truth is, Ed went on, it is about as cheap for old folks to eat out as in, and the fast food places know it.

Ed had saw where McDonald's has took out playground equipment and put in shuffleboard at some of its places in Florida retirement country. Ed said he takes that to mean McDonald's worries that all the old folks will take root inside, and it wants to move them outdoors, like wimmen do their plants. You know this idea will spread as far as codgers congregate, was Ed's words.

Talk of spring and weather changes got the fellows thinking about life and its ups and downs, and about how what's up for some is down for others. For instant, the farmer wants soft rain on his fields this time of year, but golfers with cabin fever want warm, dry weekends. Bug said when he was a boy, you got rain by mowing an acre of hay. If that didn't work, you left a bag of cement outside overnight and slept sure of a shower before day. Nowadays, you get the same results by washing the car or by putting the golf clubs outside the carport door like you're waiting for a buddy to pick you up to go play a round.

Personal, I'll take the ups and downs so I'll know the difference.
Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Food expenditures are expected to grow at a slower rate over the next 20 years compared to the previous two decades. Spending on food should increase by about 31 percent by the year 2010. But expenditures for fish, dairy products and fresh fruit will grow by only 16 percent. On the other hand, in a bit of good news for the restaurant industry, spending on food consumed away from home will increase 37 percent.

 Parents Can Counteract Negative Peer Pressure

All school-aged youth experience peer pressure, the social force encouraging conformity. Some conformity is healthy, as when students want to excel at sports or academics like their friends. The downside occurs when peer pressure has negative consequences and youngsters are urged to experiment with alcohol, drugs, sex, and other risk-taking behaviors.

"In our society, this type of peer pressure on school campuses is rampant," acknowledged Sam Bounds, principal, Clinton High School, Miss. "Even the most conscientious students may 'cross that line' to feel accepted by their peers."

Bounds believes parents must work toward better and more involved relationships with their youth to counteract negative peer pressure. One way is to apply the same influences that peers use to encourage destructive behavior. For example, peer groups tend to demonstrate affection, encourage group pride, promote feelings of importance and uniqueness, apply consequences for non-conformity, and provide strong leadership. Parents who demonstrate a similar type of reward and discipline system will increase chances of having their offspring respect and adhere to family values.

The following specifics can help parents work toward better relationships with their youth:

- Be generous with praise. Try five positive comments for each negative one.
- Show genuine interest in their lives, thoughts, and interests.
- Encourage personal best, not perfection. Give them the freedom to make mistakes and learn from them.
- Let your priorities show. Your attitudes about school, work, and family life have a powerful influence.
- Encourage group and family pride. Celebrate family traditions, plan activities, talk about family history and their place in it.
- Show pride in their interests, talents, special events, and accomplishments.
- Provide strong leadership.
- Encourage independent thinking. Tell your kids to pay attention to their own instincts when they have to make decisions.
- Praise efforts to resist peer pressure. Tell them you know how hard it must have been for them to stand alone and how proud you are. Let them know that this increases your trust in them and as a result you will allow them greater privileges.
- Encourage them to join peer groups with positive values, such as sport teams, Scouts, 4-H clubs.
- Help set goals.
- Avoid pressuring your child. Don't compare one person against another.
- Perhaps most important, set clear parameters for acceptable behavior.

"Our youth are still struggling for direction and need a safety net," Bounds said. "Parents must recognize that they are not ready to make all of their own decisions and still need strong support."

"Students without a family 'checks and balances' system are more easily peer-pressured into destructive behaviors and routines."

Welcome!

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, April 28, 1960—

Sometime between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Tuesday afternoon, supervisors of Washtenaw County, following receipt of Conelrad warnings, will converge on Chelsea and take over the Village Council room in the Municipal Building, as part of the nation-wide Civil Defense "Operation Alert." It was emphasized by the Civil Defense office at Ann Arbor that Tuesday's alert does not call for any participation by the general public. In communities where the three- to five-minute continuous siren signals are sounded, residents should note the time they heard them and from what distance, but there will be no general "take cover" exercise.

Many Americans near the points of bomb impact could be killed in a nuclear attack by blast, heat and initial radiation. But millions could survive by the simple expedient of protecting themselves against radioactive fallout. President Eisenhower called fallout shelters "the best single defense measure for the protection of the greatest number of our people."

At the All-Sports banquet honoring Chelsea High school basketball, football and track team members, Don Dufek, freshman coach at the University of Michigan, stressed the fact that a well-rounded education should be the principal goal of all high school and college students, with athletics relegated to its proper place as an extracurricular activity.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

No doubt many of you viewed and listened to the recent news conference by the President of the United States.

Right or wrong, happy or sad, black or white, left or right, front or back, I support the present administration, even though at times they make me mad as dickens. Point in case being President Clinton, so I recently wrote him a letter expressing my feelings and concerns as an American citizen.

His return letter is quoted:
"Thank you so much for writing to me, I have been deeply touched by the many letters I have received from people who are trying to hold on to the American dream. Your letter expresses the pain and frustration felt by so many people in America today. We must work together to make change a reality. Your letter sends an important message."

Sincerely,
Bill Clinton.

The perpetual enemies of good government in America, those of the same political philosophy as those who supported Nixon, Reagan and Bush and shot John Kennedy out of office, are now directing hate, wrath and fury to President Clinton.

These enemies scream "more punishment, more prisons" as crime rises throughout our land, blind to the fact that this is bad government that fails to provide education and jobs for the young—and health care to our citizens.

This is the best investment in society we can make to future generations. The young must be prepared early in life to become productive members of society and to learn to carry their share of the burdens.

Hopefully, the real Americans will see through the media smokescreen generated by these voices of hate towards President Clinton and realize that society without morals, principles and caring for one another is the creation of these enemies of good government.

It is high time that we stop blaming the President of the United States for our nation's continuous deficit spending and our other troubles and put the blame where it legally belongs, squarely at the door of our Congress.

Arthur A. Klumpp
Ft. Myers Beach, Fla.

To the Editor,

Notice to North Lake, Silver and Half Moon Lakes regarding your upcoming sewer.

First of all this letter is NOT INTENDED to stop your sewer if you want, or don't want, the sewer.

Because the Portage-Base Lake sewer was not handled in a legal manner, it has cost me a $80,000 loss on my property value. This case is pending in the Michigan Court of Appeals at present.

What I want to point out to you is to know that the Dexter Township Board

PLANS ARE UNDERWAY for a local Chelsea resident, Laurie Honbaum, to be honored at a community "Good Luck" Open House on May 22 from 1 to 4 at the Fair Service Center. The Miss Michigan Pageant is June 16, 17 and 18 in Muskegon. Members of this year's Chelsea Community Fair Queen Committee, pictured above, recently met with Laurie to plan this event. Laurie was the Chelsea Fair Queen in 1987, and won the title of Miss Redford Township last fall that put her in the running for the Miss

Michigan crown. The public is invited to attend this free Open House that is being sponsored by the Fair Board, Hatch Stamping, BookCrafters and the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce. Members of the Fair Queen Committee planning the reception are, left to right, Sally Hall, Vanessa Prusabiewicz, Diane Cunningham, Lydia Sorosch, Janice Heldtman and Janice Hatch. Seated, front, is Laurie Honbaum.

Underground Railroad Worker's Experiences Will Be Related

Laura Haviland, of Underground Railroad fame, will be interpreting her experiences to the members of First Congregational Church of Chelsea, United Church of Christ, on April 10, as she preaches at the 10 a.m. service of worship, through the person of the Rev. Phyllis Pawson.

Laura, the widow of Charles Haviland a Raisin Valley, Michigan farmer, continued the work they had begun together in creating the first connections for the Underground Railroad in this area.

Small and intense, Laura Haviland took advantage of her seeming frailty as she traveled through 20 states and into Canada, organizing ways to help slaves to freedom. Openly she was known as a friend of the slaves, but surreptitiously, at night she ran the railroad to freedom.

As a station-master in Ohio, Laura Haviland's duties were to go back and forth across the state soliciting help to support slaves in their efforts to leave bondage in the south. Many individuals provided assistance in response to her efforts by offering hiding places, transportation, sleeping space, and food or clothing.

Before she died, "Aunt" Laura as she was called by the slaves whose lives she touched, had provided leadership in organizing many kinds of service agencies and mission work, most notably the Freedman Association, organized to aid those who were still struggling for release from slavery after the Emancipation Proclamation was signed. Orphans, the illiterate and underprivileged all benefited from her desire to serve.

For years Laura Haviland, her life and work, was a well-kept secret, but today a statue of her stands in front of the City Hall in Adrian.

The Rev. Pawson, at the request of the Lenawee County Historical Society, 15 years ago, undertook her study of Laura Haviland and thus began a new venture: portraying a woman who made a strong mark on her community and world. Pawson is moved by the tremendous difference one person can make in the lives of so many people.

Personally, the Rev. Pawson is a widow, mother of five, and a great-grandmother. Retired after serving churches in Michigan and Ohio, Pawson remains active in the work of the Michigan Conference of the United Church of Christ as a Church Growth Associate and member of several Association and Conference committees.

The Rev. Phyllis Pawson, as Laura Haviland

Let's Go Bulldogs!

CHS BASEBALL PLAYERS left for Venice, Fla., March 25 for spring training. Pictured loading up the vehicles are catcher Scott Colvin, shortstop Tim Wescoff and assistant coach Axel Marshall. A total of 13 players and six coaches made the trip in two vans, a pick-up donated by Palmer Ford and double-axle trailer loaned to them by Warren Porath. The group returned home Sunday morning tired but happy.

Fly-tying Demonstrated at North School

A fishing fly-tying demonstration by Mark Daane attracted 60 to 70 students in third through fifth grades at North Elementary school, Monday, April 5. "Bugs, Fish, Feathers, Fur and Fuzz" was presented in conjunction with the Enrichment Program, Type 1 Speakers Series for Interested Children at North and South Elementary schools. Ruth Stielstra is the program co-ordinator.

Arthritis Foundation Gives Free Golf With Donations

Golf... Think Spring! Think Golf! The Arthritis Foundation is offering a Michigan Golfers Coupon Book with 500 rounds of free golf for only a $25 donation. It is a beautiful bound 284-page, four-color coupon book listing all the public golf courses in Michigan. It lists the course address and directions to the course, telephone number, number of holes, par for the course with total yardage and cost to play the course.

Exercise is good for almost everyone! For many years, it was thought that people with arthritis should not exercise because it would damage their joints. Now, doctors know that when the arthritis is under control, people with arthritis can improve their health and fitness through exercise, without hurting their joints. Exercising for fitness is as important for people with arthritis as for anyone else and golf is a good form of exercise for people with arthritis.

Presenter Mark Daane is a parent of a fourth grader at North school and he is an Ann Arbor attorney.

The demonstration featured a magnified and enlarged television picture on two TV screens set up so all the students could see "close-up" views of the intricate details.

The technical services and television equipment were provided by Tim Reitman, a Northville legal video specialist.

All speakers and presentations are donated and presented through parent involvement.

For more information about arthritis or the Golfers Coupon Book contact the Arthritis Foundation, Michigan Chapter at 1-800-968-3030 or (810) 350-3630.

Chelsea Girls Track Team Starts Season With Talent, Experience

Chelsea High school's girls track team will go into the season with a string of three consecutive Southeastern Conference championships and 28 consecutive dual meet wins. Coaches Bill Bainton and Bert Kruse have three all-staters, four defending SEC champions and 17 letterwinners among the 32 athletes on this year's team.

Top senior returnees are defending SEC high jump champion and sprinter Erin Schiller, middle distance runners Beth Bell and Sarah Henry, who were all-state on the 3200 relay last season, and thrower Mara Smith, who placed in both the shot put and discus in the SEC meet. Sprinter Lori Nelson is the only other senior on the team.

The Bulldogs have an outstanding group of juniors headed by league hurdle champion Keri Kentala, all-region distance runner Molly Griebel, Courtney Thompson, a state qualifier in the high jump, and sprinter Sarah Schick, a state qualifier in the 400 relay. Erika Leiter and Jessica Flintoft are strong distance runners, and Flintoft is also a thrower.

Sophomore middle distance runner Melissa Hand was an all-stater last spring. Katie Spink and Laurie Schiller run the sprints and long jump. Spink was a state qualifier on a relay last spring. Heidi Wehrwein is the top sophomore thrower and will run the sprints and relays. Other sprinters are Sarah Mead, Sarah Walters, Jennifer Woods and Melissa Molina. Jill McKinnon, Andrea Ludwig and Heidi Kennitz give the Bulldogs three solid hurdlers. Angie Bell and Andrea Gordenier are the only sophomore distance runners.

Distance runners Jennifer Space, who ran very well indoors at Siena Heights, Sarah Metzler and Kim Nisheus, sprinters Melissa Gonyon, Erin Hack and Traci Kramer and throwers Carrie Ashendel and Erin Daugherty are the freshmen on the team.

"We don't have great number this year, but we have a group of talented and dedicated athletes who know what it takes to win," said Bainton.

Assessing the SEC, Lincoln surprised some people to finish second last year and is expected to be strong again. Justina Phillips is one of the top sprinters and hurdlers in the state. Saline has a solid group of distance runners and a top sprinter in Tracy Sniderman. Dexter has a well balanced team and hopes to be much improved over last year. Tecumseh was hard hit by graduation and has a new coach this year. Milan struggled last year and should be better. Pinckney was the most improved team in the league at the end of last year and with most of their key people returning, the Pirates could be the team to beat. But don't count Chelsea out. The Bulldogs have experience and talent and won't be dethroned easily, says Bainton.

Brett Salamin in Shakespearian Play At Albion College
 Albion College junior Brett M. Salamin played the part of Richard III in Albion College's production of "Richard III," by William Shakespeare.
 "Richard III" was Shakespeare's first great success. Written in approximately 1592, the master playwright delighted his audiences with productions that mirrored actual English history. In this play, and his other historical works, Shakespeare emphasized the danger of division and the necessity for union. "Divided we fall, united we stand."
 Salamin, a speech communication and theatre major, is a 1991 graduate of Chelsea High school. He is the son of Carolyn Salamin of Chelsea.

Hoey, Marienfeld Will Present Projects At WMU Conference
 Two area residents will present projects in the 14th Conference on Senior Engineering Design Projects to be held April 12 at Western Michigan University.
 Jennifer Hoey, a 1989 Dexter High school graduate, will present her project titled "Using Superposition to Reduce Gear Pump Ripple." Jennifer is the daughter of Burton Hoey and the late Darlene Hoey of Dexter. She plans to receive a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering in June.
 Luan Marienfeld, a 1989 Grass Lake High school graduate, will present her project titled "Improvement of a Surgical Instrument." Luan is the daughter of Barbara and Lewis Marienfeld of Grass Lake. She plans to receive a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering this month.
 Both area residents will be among 173 seniors in the engineering discipline at WMU to present the results of 81 projects they have completed to solve problems facing business and industry.
 The conference will be held from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Bernhard Center on WMU's campus. It is sponsored by WMU's College of Engineering and Applied Sciences and is open to the public free of charge.
 Most major U. S. fast-food restaurants have opened or are planning to open outlets in China. The next wave is expected to consist of family-style restaurants.

GOVERNOR APPOINTEE Oscar C. Hansen of Grass Lake will serve three years on the Elevator Safety Board. His appointment was announced by the governor's office March 23. Hansen, a business agent for the International Union of Elevator Constructors, Local 85 of the AFL-CIO in Lansing, will join nine others to serve on the board. The board promulgates standards in accordance with the Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Act to prevent accidents and to protect the life and safety of employees engaged in construction operations. Members are appointed on the advice and consent of the Senate. Hansen is a Chelsea area business owner.

Prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants

Tax Implications of Hiring Household Help
 Do you pay a nanny to care for your child? Or perhaps you've hired a person to clean your home once a week? When you hire someone to work in your home, you become a household employer—a position that comes with certain tax liabilities and reporting requirements, cautions the Michigan Association of CPAs (MACPA). The MACPA offers the following overview of what household employers need to know about paying employment taxes and reporting employee wages.
 If you pay cash wages of $50 or more in a calendar quarter to a household employee, you are required to report the wages to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and to pay Social Security and Medicare taxes on the employee's wages. These requirements apply to all household employees including nannies, housekeepers, companions to the elderly and teen-age babysitters. However, you are not required to pay taxes on what you pay your spouse or your son or daughter under age 21 for domestic services, or to an independent contractor, such as a painter or a plumber. If you retain the household worker through an agency and pay the agency, the agency is considered the legal employer.
Social Security and Medicare Taxes
 The burden of Social Security and Medicare taxes is evenly divided between you and your employee. You can withhold your employee's share of 7.65 percent yourself. In either case, as the employer, it is your responsibility to see that the government receives the full amount due each quarter. Keep in mind that if you pay the employee's share instead of deducting it from wages, you must treat the amount as additional wages when you report the employee's compensation on Form W-2.
 Each quarter you must file Form 942, Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees. The form asks for your employer identification number. If you don't have one, write "none" in the space provided and the IRS will assign you a number and send you a Form 942 each quarter.
Income Tax Withholding
 As an employer of household help, you are not required to withhold income tax from your employee's wages, but you may do so if your employee requests it. To determine how much to withhold, you'll need a completed Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate, from your employee and a copy of IRS Circular E, Employer's Tax Guide, which explains how to calculate the proper amount of withholding. You report and pay the income taxes withheld on a quarterly basis, using Form 942, the same form used to report and pay Social Security and Medicare taxes.
W-2 Forms
 As an employer, you are also responsible for giving your household employee a Form W-2 by Jan. 31 showing the wages you paid during the previous year and the amount of taxes withheld. By the end of February, a copy of the W-2 form must be filed with the Social Security Administration.
Federal Unemployment Tax (FUTA)
 FUTA, which helps pay for your employee's federal unemployment insurance, is another tax you may face when you hire household help. As the employer, you are subject to the tax if you paid your worker wages of $1,000 or more during any calendar quarter this year or last year. Unlike Social Security taxes, this tax must be paid entirely by you—you cannot withhold part of it from your employee's wages. If you are also required to pay state unemployment taxes, you receive a credit on your FUTA tax for the amount you pay to the state.
 If the FUTA tax due exceeds $100 at the end of any quarter, you must make a quarterly deposit. If the tax for a quarter does not exceed $100, you can add it to the tax for the next quarter and make a deposit when the cumulative amount due exceeds $100. Deposits are made using Form 5109, Federal Tax Deposit Coupon Book. Each year, you must file a tax return by Jan. 31 on either IRS Form 940, Employer's Annual Federal Unemployment Tax Return, or, if you qualify, the simplified Form 940-EZ.

Legislation Moves Forward on Clearly Defining Farmland

Legislation to allow most farmland to receive the same six-mill property tax rate as homesteads made significant progress before lawmakers left for their Easter recess.

A bill sponsored by Sen. Joel Gougeon (R-Bay City) has been approved by the state Senate and sent to the House for assignment to committee. On the House side, a measure sponsored by Rep. Dan Gustafson (D-Ypsilanti) and Rep. Kirk Profit (D-Ypsilanti) is on the House floor and is expected to be considered when legislators return after Easter.

"We believe there is broad and strong support to create a situation whereby all ag land is treated alike," said Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau. "That's a very critical issue in the implementation of Proposal A. Otherwise it creates some serious administrative problems and probably a constitutional challenge. There was a strong vote in the Senate in support of the farmland definition, so with that strong vote we'll be watching the House very carefully when they take that issue up on the floor."

Homecoming Concert Set at Immanuel Church

A "Home Coming" concert is scheduled at Immanuel Bible church on Sunday, April 10, at 3 p.m. The concert is booked as a "Home Coming Concert" because the young people involved all grew up together and started singing together as teens, 20 years ago at Immanuel Bible church of Chelsea.

Because of marriages and moves, the trio disbanded. In recent years Rob, Robin, and Melanie formed the Schneider Trio and sang throughout Michigan. Again, because of marriages and moves the Schneider trio found it more and more difficult to accept bookings. You will find that Rob is one of the best keyboard specialists in the area and all of the young people will delight you with their vocal abilities.

As an added feature, Dale Smith will be accompanying on the drums. Dave Dawson from Family Life Radio will be MC for the event.

The Immanuel Trio is a Jackson based group and sing extensively in the Jackson/Leaside area.

For more information on the concert you may call the church at 475-8938 or for information on bookings you may call (517) 789-7419.

The public is invited to this event where a free will offering will be taken.

Webster Historical Society Meeting Set

Webster Historical Society will hold its monthly meeting April 11, featuring a program presented by Celeste Balogh of Maya Place in Chelsea.

The meeting will be held 7:45 p.m. at the home of Dennis Oberto, 7315 Jennings Rd., Dexter.

Balogh will talk about Katchina dolls, which are used as part of the religious ceremony in Hopi and Zuni society Indian tribes.

For more information call 428-4892 or 428-5179.

Parkinson Support Group Will Meet Sunday Afternoon

Washtenaw Parkinson Education and Support Group will meet Sunday, April 10 at 1:30 p.m. for refreshments and socializing, to be followed by a program at 2 p.m.

Dr. Peter LeWitt, president of the Michigan Parkinson Foundation, will speak on "Recent Advances in the Treatment of Parkinson's Disease." The meeting will be in the Education Center of the McAuley Health System, Building 306. Everyone is welcome.

County Deputies Report Larcenies, Break-ins

Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies investigated several incidents in Dexter Village and Scio, Webster, Lima, Freedom and Dexter townships, March 24-29.

Dexter Village
Larceny of gasoline was reported at Mugg & Bopps on Baker Rd., March 24. A 20-year-old male employee told police someone pumped $11.14 worth of gasoline and stole two quarts of transmission fluid. The employee was unable to get a license plate number. Police have no suspects.

Larceny from a motor vehicle was reported at Dexter High school, March 26. A 17-year-old male student told police someone broke his Honda's passenger side window and stole stereo equipment valued at $550. The incident happened between 8:30 a.m. and noon.

Kenneth A. Newman, 34, of Jackson was arrested on a felony warrant after police stopped him for a traffic violation on Broad St. near Main St., March 28. The warrant was for burglary.

Gary S. Michelfelder, 38, of Ann Arbor, was arrested on a warrant in the 2800 block of Baker Rd., March 28. He was stopped by police for a traffic violation. He appeared intoxicated and slightly disorderly at the time of arrest, according to a police report. His warrant was out of the Ann Arbor Police Department for failing to appear in court on a misdemeanor charge.

Kristin I. Klapperich, 27, of Dexter was arrested on a warrant for driving with a suspended license. She was initially stopped by police for speeding 37 mph in a 35 mph zone on Dan Hoey Rd. near Bishop Circle, March 28. A computer check revealed a bench warrant was issued out of 14-A-3 District Court in Chelsea for her apprehension. She was taken to county jail.

Domestic assault and battery was reported in the 7600 block of Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd., March 27. A 44-year-old woman told police her 25-year-old son, a Lakeland resident, assaulted her after she tried to stop an argument between him and his girlfriend. The woman said she tried to call police on his girlfriend's behalf, but her son knocked the telephone off the wall. Then he struck his mother in the face, which forced her to the ground. He then ran out the back door, she said. By the time police arrived the man had returned. He denied the assault, but admitted to knocking the telephone off the wall. He was taken to jail for domestic assault. A prosecutor will review the case.

Scio Township
Larceny was reported in the 3400 block of Pineview Dr., March 28. A 27-year-old township man told police a camera, two lenses and carrying case valued at $800 were stolen from his Ford Ranger. The vehicle was parked in his driveway with the doors unlocked. The case is closed because there are no suspects.

Larceny was reported in the 700 block of Honey Creek Dr., March 28. A 43-year-old township woman told police a $655 generator and $1,500 pair of diamond earrings were stolen from her home between February and March. She said several contractors have been in and out of her residence during that time frame. She will provide deputies with a list of workmen to investigate.

Larceny was reported at Pilot Truck Stop on Baker Rd., March 28. A 20-year-old manager told police a truck driver gave probable false information and stole $252 worth of gasoline. Police are checking with the company the driver said he worked for.

A breaking and entering was reported at Peace Lutheran church on Jackson Rd., March 25. A 49-year-old church member told police a color TV and VCR were stolen between 5:45 p.m. March 24 and 7 a.m. March 25. The items are valued at $500. Police believe the thief had access to an outer foyer door with a key, but used a sharp object to jimmy the inside door open.

A suspicious incident was reported in the 500 block of Zeeb Rd., March 27. A 47-year-old township woman told police a series of suspicious incidents have led her to believe an Ann Arbor cab driver may be stalking her. She said about a month ago her boyfriend saw someone jump off a barn roof in back of her residence. A week later he told her he saw someone in the woods across the street from her home. On March 24, the woman said she was in a cab in downtown Ann Arbor. The driver told her she was pretty, and knew where Zeeb Rd. was, so she became suspicious. She asked him to let her out downtown. She told police that if she hadn't gotten out of the cab, she suspects he may have raped her. Also, on March 27, the woman said someone frantically knocked on her residence door. She did not answer, but said a strange colored vehicle sped off. She suspects it was the cab driver.

A 25-year-old Dexter woman was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor and unlawful blood/alcohol level, March 27, on I-94 near Baker Rd. A traffic stop led to her arrest after a deputy smelled a strong odor of intoxicants and noticed her slurred speech. The woman failed field sobriety tests administered. A breathalyzer revealed a .19 percent blood/alcohol level. An empty six-pack of beer was found in her vehicle. She admitted to drinking three or four of them. She was lodged in county jail. A prosecutor will review the case.

Webster Township
Larceny was reported in the 9300 block of Merrill Rd., March 25. A 17-year-old township girl told police someone broke into her 1991 GEO between 9:30 p.m. and 8:30 a.m., stealing a $300 compact disc player and $600 worth of compact discs.
Larceny/illegal use of an ATM card was reported in the 4400 block of Canterbury Ct., March 25. A 37-year-old township woman told police a 43-year-old Belleville man accessed her account and stole more than $7,100 in cash over a three year period. The money was taken in several hundred dollar increments from the First of America Bank. The man knew her secret number after she let him use the card once in 1992. Since that time, he has apparently slipped the card out of her wallet without her knowledge and accessed her account. The man admitted to the series of thefts. Police are still investigating.

Attempted illegal entry was reported in the 4800 block of Farrell Rd., March 25. A 39-year-old township man told police a 36-year-old Belleville man attempted to use a credit card to gain entry to his home. He said she has gained access before and has stolen several items.

Lima Township
Livestock kill was reported in the 9900 block of Dexter-Chelsea Rd., March 28. A 47-year-old township woman told police two roosters valued at $40 were killed. It is suspected that a dog was the culprit.

Freedom Township
Malicious destruction of property was reported in the 13200 block of Bethel-Church Rd., March 28. A 70-year-old township man told police someone damaged his 1948 Dodge truck by breaking the hood ornament, stealing the dip stick, breaking the side mirrors, smashing the instrument panel, smashing the tail lights and destroying other parts of the truck. The man has no insurance on the vehicle. It was stored in his barn. Damage is estimated at $500.

A juvenile runaway was reported in the 2400 block of Loeffler Rd., March 29. A 37-year-old township woman told police she last saw her son at 11 a.m. on March 28. He is a 16-year-old Chelsea High school student. She said he left their home angry after an argument. Police are checking with his friends and at local hang-outs.

Dexter Township
Breaking and entering was reported in the 13100 block of McKinley Rd., March 24. The home of a 70-year-old township man was broken into while he was in Arizona. Deputies were dispatched to an activated alarm. They found the garage door kicked in, causing $50 damage. No entry was gained by thieves. Police contacted the man's son, a 42-year-old Ann Arbor man, to secure the residence but the man refused.

A GARDEN FAIR WILL FEATURE sheep manure donated by Dexter residents Sue and Brian Urquhart. The fair will be held this Saturday at Webster Church Community House located on Webster Church Rd. Proceeds from the sale of manure will benefit Trailblazers of

Garden Fair To Feature Local Artisans, Retailers, Gardening Tips

A garden fair organized by two Webster church members promises to deliver something for everyone, and you don't have to be a garden enthusiast to enjoy it.

Jan Sing and Marion Curtis are the masterminds behind this unique idea for a show called The Garden Gate. It was mainly Curtis' idea, but Sing has pulled it together to create what is expected to be a one-of-a-kind show with a garden flare. Proceeds from the bake sale, luncheon and dollar admission will benefit a local cause—Webster United Church of Christ's Chancel and Chime choirs. The sale of manure, donated by Dexter residents Sue and Brian Urquhart, will benefit Trailblazers of Washtenaw, Inc., a club house for the recovering mentally ill.

Demonstrations from the Master Gardener's class of the Washtenaw County Extension will edify visitors regarding poppies with "Poppy Talk," beginning at 11 a.m., and "Everlastings from Start to Finish," beginning at 11:30 a.m. Both will be held in the Webster Church Fellowship Hall.

A wholesome luncheon featuring home-made soups, biscuits, muffins and confections will be available in the Garden Fair Cafe housed in the Fellowship Hall of Webster church. The food will be donated and prepared by members of the Chancel and Chime choirs.

A special door prize at The Garden Gate will be a wildlife print donated by nationally acclaimed wildlife artist Catherine McClung of Dexter.

A musical treat will be Webster church's choir director, John Touchton, and choir member Ariene Succop playing piano during lunch. "Something for everyone with a garden accent," is how Sing describes the fair.

Both play down the interest generated in this event. "It's just a 'little garden fair,'" both say, as touted in their promotional material. But if it proves to be as popular as it is expected, it may become another annual fundraiser for the church. But rest assured, it will remain on a small scale with community appeal.

Everybody's Science

New Ornamental Peppers Are Edible

By Doris Stanley

A new pepper plant can be an eye-catching ornamental and hot—as in jalapeno-like hot peppers.

U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists developed the pepper specifically as an ornamental. Its bright green foliage has tinges of purple and clusters of red peppers, so the plant is hard to overlook.

A scientist says the plant was grown from one of three breeding lines of ornamental peppers developed from a diverse collection of hot Indian peppers. John R. Stommel, a plant geneticist in USDA's Agricultural Research Service, and colleagues did the breeding work at the ARS Vegetable Laboratory in Beltsville, Md.

Not yet on the market, but released to plant breeders and nurseries for developing new plants, the three lines all bear peppers that are edible, but very pungent, Stommel says. As ornamentals, these peppers (Capsicum annum L.) have each proven successful in commercial trials as bedding plants in Illinois and Japan and as potted plants in California.

"All three breeding lines contain unique combinations of genes for leaf variegation, leaf pigmentation and multiple fruiting," Stommel says.

Line 90C33 grows into a large, bushy plant about 21 inches tall, with bright green leaves faintly mottled with dark purple. Peppers are borne upright and appear single and in clusters of two or three. The deep purple peppers turn bright red in about four months.

A more compact plant—line 90C44—was selected for its dark purple, nearly black, leaf color and numerous upright pepper clusters that also turn from purple to red.

Line 90C40 produces bushy, green, purple and white variegated plants that grow to about 15 inches tall. Unlike the other two, this line was chosen for its variegated foliage. It bears inconspicuous, pendant peppers.

While selected for their ornamental value, the new lines also have potential for breeding peppers for vegetable gardeners. One thing going for them—the original parents are potential sources of multiple pest resistance that might be passed along to new plants.

Local Artist Displays Collage Art Works at Gina's Cafe

Chelsea artist, Susan Pickering Rothamel, is currently showing an exhibition of framed enamel pieces and collage art at Gina's Restaurant, in the Chelsea Shopping Center. From April 5 through May 3, patrons can see what art galleries, such as the Detroit Gallery of Contemporary Crafts, in the Detroit Fisher Building, and many others have been calling "bold and beautiful" and "inspired" artworks.

Each enamel, made from a hand-shaped piece of copper and fired at 1700 degrees F., with as many as five coatings of finely ground glass, tells a Biblical story that Pickering Rothamel includes as its title. Bits of hand-made paper, wire and semi-precious stones accent each framed piece.

The collage works also include her hand-made paper. "One particularly large piece entitled 'Ella,' is from the opera Lohengrin. She was one of four collages created for a show last year for a Chicago gallery. Although she isn't for sale, I wanted to include her in the display. It is a fine example of collage art, and a personal favorite of mine," the artist states.

Pursuing her art for the last 18 years, Pickering Rothamel came to Chelsea just two years ago. She and her husband designed and built their home which includes her regular business studio that overlooks towering spruce trees, meadows, ponds and woods. "This is the perfect place to work," she says, "the view is magnificent, and one need look no further than out the next window to be inspired to create."

"Gina's is an unusual venue for me," Pickering Rothamel continues, "However, I've been privileged to see some wonderful art displayed there. It's also a pleasure to work with Gina. She obviously supports the art community, and I'm honored to show there."

Pickering Rothamel, formerly of Livonia, taught at Schoolcraft College and now teaches in a workshop format from her studio. She is currently putting together her summer schedule of art shows, which among others include Arts and Apples, in Rochester, which is held the second week-end in September, and an August one-woman show for a gallery in the Pocono Mountains.

For questions regarding her work on sale at Gina's Restaurant, or her workshops, Pickering Rothamel may be reached at her studio by calling 475-0954 during regular business hours.

Friends Gather at Cook's For Fred's 80th Birthday

Wilfred P. (Fred) Cook was honored Saturday, April 2, on the occasion of his 80th birthday. He and his wife, Mary Rose, own and operate Cook's Grocery at Sugar Loaf Lake.

Fred was born April 2, 1914 in Manistique, where he graduated from high school.

When he was a skinny, little kid of 11, he started driving cars from Manistique to dealers in Marquette, Escanaba and other western Michigan cities. In the days before the Mackinac Bridge was completed, cars were shipped to train and barges to Manistique and driven from there to their destination.

In 1937, Fred moved to Southgate and worked at Continental Motors during the war years, helping build and test aircraft engines.

As an extra job at Continental, Fred helped in raising "Portugese Dandelions" from which a compound was removed to replace scarce rubber for building tires.

After flying freight from Detroit City and Metro Airport as a commercial pilot, the couple owned and operated a gas station near Metro Airport. While operating the gas station, he was robbed, shot several times and beaten up so badly in the robbery that he spent eight months in the hospital recovering. Fearing for his safety in the Detroit area, the Cooks found Steiner's Grocery at Sugar Loaf Lake in 1968 and have made their home there ever since that time.

Cook's Grocery has a little of just about everything. They operate a gas station, bait service, boat launching and rentals and carry a wide range of miscellaneous convenience items for electrical, plumbing, grocery, etc.

They open their store every day at 6 a.m. and serve their friends and neighbors until 11 p.m.

The Cooks have two sons, Donald (Dorothy) in Boca Raton, Fla., and Jerald (Doris) in Winfield, N.Y., eight grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. Jerald and his family were present for the party.

When asked about their future plans, the couple replied "to keep right on doing what we are doing and enjoying. We'll see you on our 90th birthday celebration." As an afterthought, they added that they might sell the business and retire "when we get old."

Suspected Property Damage Reported

A suspicious incident was investigated by Chelsea Police, Thursday, March 31 at 7:15 p.m.

A 19-year-old woman reported suspected damage to the left front brake line of her vehicle while it was parked in a driveway in the 400 block of W. Middle St.

She is a Grass Lake resident who was visiting in Chelsea. She indicated she had recently broken up with her boyfriend.

The officer noted in his report that the brake line appeared old and worn.

Drunk Driver Goes To Jail

Chelsea police arrested a Sterling Heights man Saturday, April 2, for drunk driving.

The 37-year-old man was driving a 1979 GMC pick-up truck and police officers observed the vehicle travelling north on Main St., weaving in the traffic lane and crossing the center line three times. Officers stopped the vehicle at Main and Orchard Sts.

The driver refused to take a preliminary breath test. A search warrant was obtained for a blood sample, and the driver was transported to the Washtenaw County Jail where an on-duty nurse took a blood sample.

He was lodged at the jail and the vehicle was impounded. The case is being referred to the prosecutor.

Chelsea High Student Caught With Marijuana

A Chelsea high school student was found with marijuana in his possession at the high school Wednesday, March 16.

The 18-year-old male student was searched by the high school principal, Ron Mead, when a teacher reported that the student smelled like he had been smoking marijuana. The principal found two vials of alleged marijuana, a cigarette lighter and cigarette papers.

The student's mother was contacted. The case has been referred to the prosecutor.

Chelsea Woman Assaulted

A 31-year-old Chelsea woman was assaulted at her home on Wilkinson Street, Saturday, March 12, at 5:20 p.m.

The present wife of her ex-husband grabbed her throat while at the door yelling. No charges were sought and the case was closed.
