SCHOLARSHIPS TO CHELSEA AREA STUDENTS enrolled in medical programs in a college or university have been presented by the Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary. Ten scholarships for $800 each were given. Back row, from left to right, are Jan Toff, director of volunteers; Jennifer Borton, a sport medicine/PT/OT student at Eastern Michigan University; Chris Wiehoff, a student at the School of Pharmacy, University of Michigan; James A. Alford, III, a medical student at Penn State Medical School; Michael J. Coffman, a physical therapy student, at Eastern Michigan University; and Rebecca Schultz, a nursing student, Washtenaw Community College. Front row, from left, are Kathleen Willis, a nursing student, Madonna University; Susan Guoin, a radiation therapy student, at University of Michigan; Susan Linder, School of Radiography at Washtenaw Community College; Lucy Eisenbeiser, occupational therapy student, at Washington University, School of Medicine; Mary Alice Kalmbach, scholarship chairperson. Recipient Danielle Delany, School of Physical Therapy, Oakland University, was not present for the picture. The scholarships are funded through organized fund-raisers such as Auxiliary Fashion Shows, House Tours, Bake Sales, Arbor Nook Gift Shop, Popcorn Sales and a Hospital Campus Garage Sale slated for Aug. 11-12.

THE JEAN SCHNEIDER MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP in the amount of $800 was presented to Nicole Alisa Shafer, who attends the University of Michigan, College of Pharmacy. Presenting the award, from the Chelsea Community Hospital, are Jan Toff, director of volunteers, Nicole Alisa Shafer, and Mary Alice Kalmbach, scholarship chairperson. The scholarship was funded by the Hospital Family and Friends of Jean Schneider. Jean was an Auxiliary member and donated her volunteer time in the Hospital Pharmacy.

Circuit Court Prepares For Leith Murder Trial

In a pre-trial hearing Thursday in Washtenaw County Circuit Court, preparations were made for the scheduled Aug. 1 murder trial for Stephen Leith.

Leith, a Chelsea High School science teacher is accused of killing superintendent Joseph Piasecki and wounding two colleagues in the school last Dec. 16.

Leith's defense counsel, Joseph A. Simon, and Washtenaw County Prosecutor Brian Mackie appeared before Judge Donald Shelton to discuss composition of the questionnaires that will be distributed to prospective jurors.

In addition to an open murder charge, Leith is charged with attempted murder of high school principal Ron Mead and English teacher Phil Jones. The three were meeting in Piasecki's office to discuss a disciplinary matter when Leith angrily stormed out and returned a few minutes later with a handgun and started blazing away.

Piasecki was killed in the blast and Mead and Jones were wounded.

Leith left the office and was arrested a few minutes later sitting calmly in his classroom.

Prosecutor Mackie estimates the trial could take 12 to 14 court days with some 40 state witnesses to be called.

Simon would not disclose his strategy for the defense, but it is expected to be various types of insanity, diminished capacity and an imbalance from using anti-depressant drug Prozac.

Leith has been examined by psychologists and psychiatrists at the Center for Forensic Psychiatry and by other mental health experts retained by defense counsel Simon.

Prosecutor Brian Mackie has decided to try the case himself which shows the importance he has placed on the coming trial.

Library Requests Children's Books For 'Big Sale'

Friends of McKune Memorial Library are collecting books for their annual "Big Used Book Sale" which will be held on Friday, July 29 and Saturday, July 30, during Chelsea's 20th annual Sidewalk Sale and Craft Show. A bake sale also will be held on Saturday, July 30 on the lawn at the Library.

"For the first time we will feature a 10 cent section," said Friend's treasurer, Louise Timmerman. "Those looking for good prices and interesting summer reading will not be disappointed," she added.

Used books may be dropped off at the Library after checking with the librarians at the desk. Hardback and paperback adult fiction, compact discs and tapes in good condition will be accepted.

Village Council Receives Petitions Against Plan for Proposed Trailer Park

A grassroots effort to gather signatures on a petition opposing the Merkel/Jenkins annexation proposal for a trailer park on the Village's northeast side paid off in a big way.

Last Tuesday, July 12, Village Council was handed petitions containing 640 names of residents of both the Village and surrounding townships asking that the annexation be denied.

Steve Eusades, one of the organizers of the petition drive, formally presented the lengthy packet to Richard Steele, Council president. He indicated that all of the petitions sent out have not yet been returned and asked that he be able to present the remainder of the signatures as they continued to be turned in.

Steele thanked Eusades for the tremendous effort put forth by so many of the citizens of the community in exercising their right to speak directly to their Council representatives. He promised to forward the petitions to the Planning Commission that they might properly weigh the sentiments of the community in their deliberations on the annexation issue.

In other matters to come before Council, the bedeviling problem of soil contamination at the DPW garage was discussed once again. A second environmental cleanup consultant made a presentation on how they would propose to purge the soil under the garage of residual hydrocarbons left over from leaking fuel tanks.

Last year a large amount of contaminated soil was dug up and hauled away from the site. But it was later discovered that the contamination had migrated further than originally thought. It went beyond the area already removed and under the floors and walls of parts of the garage still standing. The remaining contamination is impossible to remove without additional demolition of the garage itself or, alternatively, expensive aeration methods being employed.

Both environmental consultants to date propose to use the aeration method. Well holes would be bored into the subsoil through the floor of the garage and oxygen would be forced down one of the holes and extracted from the other wells next to it which would carry the oxidized fuel residues to the surface where they would be burned off.

Costs of the aeration method could eventually run anywhere between $100,000 and $150,000 with the State reimbursing the Village for most of the costs, using the underground storage tank trust fund monies collected by Lansing for just such clean-up efforts. The biggest problem, however, for the Village Council in trying to make a decision on what clean-up method to pursue is the uncertain results and timing of the aeration method. It could take as long as a year more to finally rid the soils of contamination and end in spending a lot more taxpayer's money doing it. The open-ended cost estimates for the well extraction method is what has Council worried.

But because this "on-site" method is now preferred by the DNR for this type of fuel tank leak situation the simple answer of additional demolition and soil removal is not apparent.

ly an option. Council is expected to make a decision on what course of action to pursue at its next regular meeting.

Turning their attention to another long standing problem, Jim Machnik, made a presentation to Council outlining a plan of action to finally resolve the Gene Drive improvement question. He indicated that 80% of the affected property owners have now agreed to a special assessment district being formed to pay for water and sewer line extensions, as well as curb and gutter and bituminous paving for the road itself. This agreement, however, was contingent on the total cost of improvements not exceeding $100 per front foot.

Machnik indicated that he could do the job for that amount if he was able to work as the general contractor on the job and avoid the overhead costs of the Village itself contracting for the work. He would also limit costs by paving a 22-foot wide roadway rather than the standard 45 foot width.

Because the road would not meet Village specifications Gene Drive would remain a private street and residents would be responsible for continued maintenance, including snow removal.

Machnik asked for co-operation from the Village engineer to approve the plans and work with the Gene Drive residents to accomplish the task.

Council voted to refer the matter to the Planning Commission for their review and recommendation.

In off-the-record comments Council members were pleased to see progress finally being made on the long standing and often bitter controversy surrounding the Gene Drive improvement question.

Marketplace 29 A.D. Set for Aug. 16-19

Chelsea First United Methodist church has a unique experience in store for the community.

On Aug. 16-19, a typical Bibletimes Market Place will be set up on the grounds of the Chelsea Retirement Community from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Young and old alike will relive bibletime events, exploring and experiencing bibletime occupations and relationships.

Participants will venture forth into the marketplace where there will be a variety of shops such as baker, carpenter, basketry, musicians, pottery and many others. In addition, they will experience Bible stories being told and dramatized.

Take advantage of this opportunity to learn that the Bible is about real people and that Christianity is a living relationship with God. Marketplace 29 A.D. is open to children, adults, and families... everyone!

A registration fee of $1 per person is necessary to cover costs. Registration forms are available at the Christian Education Office at the church or you may call 475-8119. Registration deadline is Aug. 7.

Worthey Pleads Guilty In Society Bank Robbery

United States Attorney Saul A. Green announced Friday that on July 12, Derrick Worthey entered a plea in federal court to an indictment charging him with one count of armed bank robbery.

Worthey, a former employee of the Michigan Department of Corrections and a resident of Jackson, offered his guilty plea before United States District Court Judge Bernard A. Friedman.

Assistant United States Attorney Cynthia Oberg, who prosecuted the case, stated that the information presented to the court at the time of the plea showed that on April 8, 1994, Worthey used a firearm to rob the Society Bank in Chelsea of approximately $13,533.

As part of his plea agreement, Worthey also accepted responsibility for the armed robbery of the Commerce Bank in Onsted, on March 18, 1994, in which approximately $8,175 was taken.

Worthey agreed to make full restitution to both banks.

Green stated that Worthey will be sentenced on Oct. 19, by Judge Friedman. Worthey faces a maximum penalty of up to 25 years in prison or a fine of $250,000, or both. The sentence will be imposed under the United States Sentencing Guidelines, according to the nature of the offense and the defendant's criminal background, if any. Worthey remains on bond pending sentence.

Green commended the agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Jackson and Ann Arbor, as well as the Sheriff's Departments in Lenawee and Washtenaw Counties, the Chelsea Police Department, and the Michigan State Police Department at Adrian and Lansing. All agencies co-operated in the investigation and successful resolution of the case.

The FBI wishes to especially commend the quick and professional response of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Dept. and Chelsea Police Dept., which led to the apprehension of Worthey and the resolution of two bank robberies.

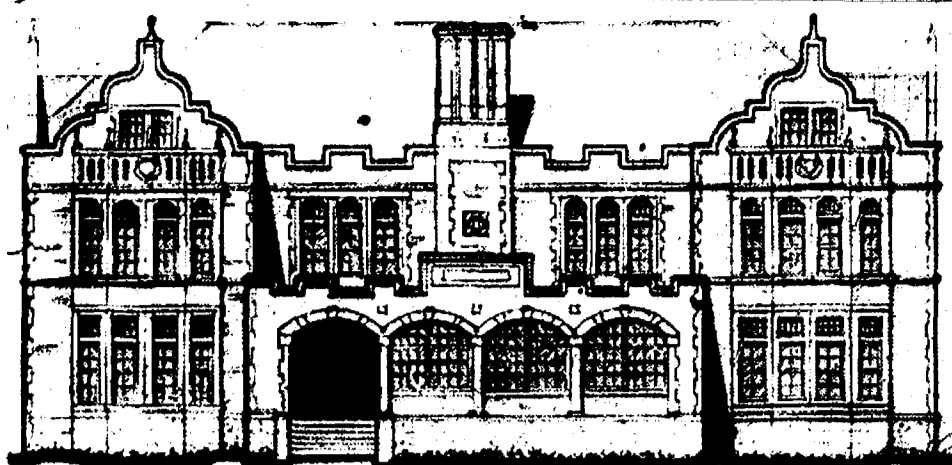

LEADING PARTS in the Chelsea Area Players production of "The Most Happy Fella" are portrayed by a husband and wife team, Torrance and Gayla Blaisdell. Gayla is the daughter of Norm and Gail Bauer. They appeared to present a song from the musical during intermission of the Concert in the Park Sunday evening.

ANN FEENEY, Chelsea "Citizen of the Year" was presented a framed certificate of appreciation from the Village of Chelsea by president Richard Steele last Tuesday. She was chosen for this honor by a panel of citizens in a project started by the Chelsea Masonic Lodge. Feeney is new executive secretary for the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce and over the years has served in many offices, volunteer and elective, including the Chelsea School Board.

Village president pro-tem Joe Merkel led a village council meeting last Tuesday, July 16, that was conspicuous for its lack of action on a key issue, as well as action contrary to the advice of village manager Robert Stalker and the village planning commission. President Richard Steele was called away on business minutes before the meeting was scheduled to start, forcing Merkel to run the meeting. Perhaps the key bit of no-action was on the appointment of an assistant village manager. Deborah L. Kuehn, a planner from Jackson living in Ann Arbor, was Stalker's choice to replace Tom Warstler. However, council tabled action on the recommendation after a motion by trustee Jack Myers to appoint Kuehn died for lack of support.

The village has apparently run into at least a couple of roadblocks in its attempt to deal with the abandoned Hop-In building on S. Main St. The village has been told by the Washtenaw County Building Department that as long as the building is secure and unoccupied, no action will be taken by the department to force renovations or demolition. In addition, the village has been told by its attorney that it would have a hard time enforcing dangerous building ordinance under the current circumstances.

Chelsea police captured an escapist from Camp Waterloo on I-94 Sunday morning after a foot chase through a cornfield west of the village. According to police reports, Jeffery Sansone, 26, of Detroit, escaped from the prison about 7 p.m. Saturday night and a search began at 10 p.m.

A structural engineer hired by the village has determined that the village would be better off demolishing its service garage rather than trying to support it during excavation of contaminated soil. Consultants have determined that soil around and under the garage at 440 W. North St. is extensively contaminated as a result of leaking underground gasoline storage tanks, which have been removed.

It's small and orange and boxy and looks sort of like a colorful cash register, but the twist is that it gives money instead of taking it. The "it" is Chelsea's first Michigan Daily Lottery machine, firmly ensconced on the front counter at Kusterer's Market Tuesday afternoon. According to the owner, Luther Kusterer, he has been waiting for the machine for some time, because the State Lottery Commission limits the number in use at any one time. He became one of approximately 1,100 merchants around the state to feature the daily lottery option as well as the more familiar instant and weekly tickets.

Last Saturday's rain may have helped the area corn crop along, but it also virtually wiped out the local wheat harvest. That is the word this week from Jerry Heydlauff of Honeggers grain elevator, who said that rain at harvest time caused the local wheat to sprout, making it unuseable for anything but livestock feed.

★ Medicaid Reform: Giving Michigan's Poor a Chance

By Michael Tanner

There can be little doubt that the Medicaid program has been one of the great failures of American government—with taxpayers, health care providers, and the poor whom the program was intended to serve all being victimized or short-changed. That assertion may come as a surprise to many, who have become so accustomed to the program and all of its defects they they never give any thought to a genuine alternative.

Costs in the Medicaid program have skyrocketed since its inception in the mid-1960s. Currently, most states are experiencing annual increases in double digits—at least twice the rate of medical inflation in the private sector. Reforms instituted by the Engler administration have cut Michigan's annual increase to about half the national average, but Medicaid cost problems are still a major headache for state government.

As these costs rise, states are cutting back on their payments to health care providers. They typically reimburse at rates well below the market for services of physicians and hospitals, prompting massive cost-shifting onto the shoulders of people with private insurance. At the same time, fewer and fewer providers are willing to even treat Medicaid patients and when they do, they often receive "second class" health care.

The time has come for radical reform. Vouchers for Medicaid recipients to purchase private insurance in place of the current government program may be just what the doctor ordered. Privatization by way of vouchers would cut state expenditures, streamline Medicaid programs, improve service quality, and provide access to a greater number of needy families.

The value of each voucher should be sufficient to permit the purchase of private insurance that covers what Medicaid now does. In most states, that would work out to between $3,000 and $4,000 for a family of three. Recipients could pool vouchers for the purpose of purchasing group policies. For example, residents of a public housing project might choose to pool their vouchers and purchase a group policy for all of the project's residents.

A voucher program would have substantial benefits for Medicaid recipients, health care providers, and taxpayers. Recipients would no longer be treated differently from the privately-insured precisely because they themselves would have private insurance. A recipient going to a hospital or to a physician and presenting his insurance card would be indistinguishable from any other patient. Furthermore, by purchasing private insurance, the patient would no longer be subject to bureaucratic restrictions and limitations inherent in the program that minimize his choices. The patient would have an expanded number of providers to choose from, no longer excluded from physicians who refuse Medicaid.

Insurers would compete for the voucher dollars of former Medicaid clients on the basis of the benefits offered, crafting policies to meet the needs of the purchaser. Individuals could purchase policies that more closely meet their individual requirements, rather than those which Congress or the bureaucracy dictate. That would mean a smorgasbord of plans with varying deductibles and co-payments, a diversity of benefit options, even lifestyle incentives and rebates for non-use.

The Medicaid system encourages over-utilization. Recipients, who have no financial stake in cost-control and who have trouble finding physicians who will accept Medicaid, often turn up for treatment of any and every problem at hospital emergency rooms. A recent study from the federal Department of Health and Human Services estimated that 55 percent of emergency room visits in 1992 were for non-emergencies. Furthermore, many Medicaid recipients forego preventive care and early interventions that could save money later on. By bringing them into the private insurance system, they will have greater access to preventive care and a stronger incentive to be mindful of costs.

Under a voucherized system, reimbursements would be at the same rates as under all other private insurance. Health care providers would no longer be short-changed for treating the poor, which would eliminate cost-shifting and have a beneficial effect on all consumers in the health care marketplace.

State governments should press Washington to adopt Medicaid vouchers or they should work separately to create them on their own. With the appropriate federal waivers, Michigan could set up a voucher program that would incorporate most, if not all, of the present Medicaid required benefits, all of the bureaucratic intrusions, and all at undoubtedly less cost than taxpayers are incurring now.

It is time we give the poor a choice in their health care and the taxpayers and those with private insurance a break on the bills they pay for the Medicaid program. A voucher program falls short of getting the government out of the business of health care altogether (an option which looks ever more appealing to a lot of people), but it does represent an incremental, common-sense approach to solving a serious national problem.

Ruhlrig Family Reunion Draws 90 Members from Eight States

The 19th annual Emil and Hazel Ruhlrig Reunion was held at Rules Farm on Colby Rd., Dexter, on July 4, hosted by Albert and Madonna, David and Lori, and John and Karen Ruhlrig and families. Mark phoned from France, where he was stationed with the Air Force Reserves, and unable to attend. Ninety family members and guests were present. It was the first time that the eight brothers and sisters had all been together since 1976.

It was a beautiful day and family arrived from Maryland, Illinois, Kansas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan. A basket lunch was enjoyed by all, and the business meeting followed, conducted by president Roger Schafer. Family Historian Elaine Schultz brought pictures and also reported on the births, confirmations, graduations, and marriages during the past year. One death, five-day-old Brett Timothy Sellers. Total family members reported to be 139. Usual Thankoffering was taken with $172 to be sent to the Rev. Steven Lutz, Lutheran Missionary in India. Horsehoes, the traditional softball game, and just visiting rounded out the activities for the day.

Next gathering will be at Christmas time, and July 4, 1995, annual reunion to be in Ohio.

Emil and Hazel Ruhlrig moved to a farm on Island Lake Rd., in Dexter township, in the spring of 1920, coming from Detroit. Hazel died in 1957 and Emil in 1976.

Heads of families represented were Donald Ruhlrig and wife, Alice; Albert Ruhlrig and wife, Madonna; Dorothy Spiegelberg and husband, Ronald; Alice Gall; Helen Schafer and husband, Howard; the Rev. Erwin Ruhlrig and wife, Karen; Elaine Schultz; and Lois Lutz, and husband, the Rev. Donald Lutz.

Physical Activity Is Key to Fitness for People of All Ages

By Debbie Barrow, Extension Home Economist

Physical activity is the key to fitness for people of all ages. The benefits of an active lifestyle are realized by men and women, young and old. For example:

—Children who are active beginning in their early years are less likely to develop childhood obesity, a growing problem among school-age children.

—Women and girls in their teens especially benefit from the bone protection offered by weight-bearing exercise, such as walking.

—Adults who give up the couch-potato approach to life in favor of exercise lower their risk for chronic diseases such as high blood pressure, obesity and heart disease.

—It's never too late for older adults to become more active. Exercise enhances your life, no matter when you start.

—Regardless of your age, exercise helps control body fat, aids sleep, enhances appearance, helps regulate appetite and contributes to emotional well-being.

You don't have to huff and puff or do vigorous exercise to reap the benefits of physical activity. Just make it your goal to get a total of at least 30 minutes of some sort of activity every day. Here are some tips to get you started:

—Gradually build up by adding just a few minutes of extra activity daily.

—Choose activities that you enjoy doing alone or with your family and friends.

—Be consistent. Make a conscious effort to include activity in your daily lifestyle.

DONNA BRADBURY showed Lima Center Extension Study Group her self-designed pattern hooked rug. She makes these for grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

This particular design depicts the animals her great-grandchildren saw on the farm for the first time last summer.

Lima Extension Group Studies Rug Hooking

Temperatures of 90-95° did not deter 12 Lima Center Extension Study Group members June 15 as they ventured forth as usual for the fun of learning and socializing together. Parking under the shade of the huge old, historic oaks itself gave members a comfort of coolness as Olive Wiseman greeted them with the help of Virginia Raney. Husband Glen was mowing lawn and keeping an eye on the ladies as they passed him by with their delicious smelling foods for the buffet lunch.

Val Campbell, a local instructor in rug hooking, was with the group this hot day to teach them along with showing them the beautiful patterns, materials and methods that are available for rug hooking today. The complexity of making colors and working them in together was an exciting experience and for most a fun idea for a cooler day. Donna Bradbury, Lima Extension's "hooker," brought materials and instructions for the self-designed patterned rugs she has made through the years for grandchildren and great-grandchildren. How lucky these children are that grandma learned rug hooking 60 years ago to keep her bare wood floors warm and still uses her skill for family specialty rugs today. A special frame made by her husband was demonstrated by Fran Coy as some rugs get rather heavy and cumbersome to work on.

After lunch, members relaxed as usual on the Wiseman's screened-in porch. The business meeting was called to order by Barb Wing. Three guests were welcomed and Val Campbell and Donna were thanked for coming out in the heat.

Four members of the group expressed the fun of Tri-County Day, May 10 in Adrian. Lenawee county has certainly been enriched with Adrian's Christian Family Centre and its Vo-Tech school. When considering the trip, the biggest turn-out to Extension ladies was the Michigan International Speedway. However, at 3 p.m. with 70 ladies in a tour bus on a curving race track and the bus driver being encouraged by a young girl tour guide to step on it, which he did, it was a screeching, fun, ending to the day!

A reminder that the State Convention, Oct. 18-19-20, this year is at Mackinac Island. Janet McCalla will represent Washtenaw county for Fran Coy and county people who may have any materials or feelings to be expressed. Reservations are due into the state by Sunday, Sept. 18.

It was reported that a Tri-County FCE meeting has been held to develop the class studies for 1994-96. The first class offered at the extension office is Oct. 27, entitled "Improving Self Esteem."

DAYSRING GIFTS has been sold by Laurie Gravelyn to Ideation, Inc. of Ann Arbor. Day-to-day operations will continue with the present staff remaining. Those involved in the transaction are, left to right, Laurie Gravelyn, Carolyn Chase, store manager; Tom Ungrodt new owner and vice-president of Ideation; and Doris Perry, owner of the building.

Ideation Retail, Catalog Operation Acquires Dayspring Gift Store

Local gift shop Dayspring Gifts was recently acquired by Ideation, Inc., an Ann Arbor-based company specializing in catalogs for gift retailers. Ideation owns and operates six other gift and specialty shops in Ann Arbor, Jackson and Lansing, and hopes to use its retail expertise to broaden services and merchandise selection in the Chelsea store.

Marking its 30th year in 1994, Ideation is the oldest and largest company in the gift catalog business. Designed to increase traffic and sales for retail gift operations, the catalogs are used by stores across the nation, including Dayspring Gifts.

Ideation purchased the highly successful Dayspring Gifts from former owner Laurel Gravelyn, who sold the 3,000 square foot store in order to spend more time with her family. Mrs. Gravelyn had originally bought the store 17 years ago (it was known then as Chelsea Card and Gift) from Dan Murphy, Dale Schumann and Charles Lancaster (her father).

Ideation plans to continue normal operations and community involvement with the assistance of Mrs. Gravelyn, Mrs. Perry, the landlord, and Dayspring's existing staff. Carolyn Chase will remain in her current position as store manager, while store operations will be overseen by Dennis Nisch, general manager for all of the Ideation-owned gift stores. Thomas Ungrodt continues as vice-president of retail stores for Ideation.

For more information, contact Thomas Ungrodt at Ideation, Inc., 222 S. State St., Ann Arbor 48104, or call (313) 761-4359.

Munith Man Returns From Deployment in Mediterranean Area

Navy Master Chief Petty Officer Jack F. Worden, son of Richard F. and Beverly R. Worden of 5632 Kennedy Rd., Munith, recently returned from a six-month Mediterranean Sea deployment aboard the destroyer USS Arthur W. Radford, homeported in Norfolk, Va. as part of the aircraft carrier USS Saratoga Joint Task Group.

Worden's ship participated in eight exercises with Romanian, Bulgarian, Israeli, French, British, German, Dutch, Turkish, Spanish, Italian and Tunisian navies. During these exercises, several Radford sailors crossed-decked to foreign ships and experienced working the seas with other navies.

During the deployment, Worden visited Italy, Turkey, Bulgaria, Romania, Israel, Greece, Spain and France. More than 2,200 foreign guests visited USS Arthur W. Radford during port visits. Additionally, the ship sponsored tours of such places as the Vatican, Pompeii, Mount Vesuvius, Count Dracula's castle in Transylvania, Nazareth, Jerusalem, Mount Carmel, the Sea of Galilee and Paris.

The 1975 graduate of Northwest High School of Jackson, joined the Navy in July 1975.

Nutrition experts say we should drink about two and a half quarts of water a day. But that doesn't all need to be tap water. Milk, as well as many fruits and vegetables, contains at least 85 percent water and can make a big contribution to our daily water needs.

"What you do when you don't have to, determines what you will be when you can no longer help it..."

—Rudyard Kipling

There may be some people who always do what they should, even when they don't have to, but there certainly aren't very many. Most of us have enough trouble keeping up with what we MUST do.

Things such as self-improvement, elimination of bad habits, giving time to worthy causes... too often lose out to things we'd rather do. Yet, the self-discipline that channels our energy into worthwhile activities when we have a choice, also determines the goals we will reach during life.

We can provide a funeral at a price to meet any family's financial circumstances. The quality of our professional service is always the best of which we are capable.

Comprehensive Development Plan which appeared in June 1969 after two years of research, analysis and planning by the village planning commission chaired by Dr. J. V. Fisher, and the planning consultants, Parkins, Rogers & Associates, Inc., of Detroit.

Citizens concerned about how the property that the old Junior High school was on will be put to use attended both the Monday, Aug. 3, school board meeting and the Tuesday, Aug. 4 village council meeting. The group, calling themselves the Chelsea Residential Area Betterment Society, was assured at the council meeting that the property could continue to be used for functions relating to education since it is not affected by the village zoning ordinance.

School board president Donald Irwin assured residents that no bus garage or gas storage tank will be put on the site of the old junior high school.

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Aug. 11, 1960—

To the strains of the seventh century hymn, "Christ is Made the Sure Foundation, Christ the Head and Cornerstone," the members of St. Barnabas Episcopal Mission will break ground for their new church building, Aug. 14. After worshipping for six years in the old school house on the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds, St. Barnabas church will mark the beginning of an ambitious building program for the years to come by beginning their $45,000-structure this week.

Just 100 years ago the population of Washtenaw county was listed officially in a book of census statistics prepared by the office of the Michigan Secretary of State as 35,747 inhabitants with 6,880 families in the county. The 1960 population figure of 171,278 is almost five times that number. Total population in the state in 1960 was 754,291 and in the entire United States 31,946,490.

Indications this week are that Richard H. Williams of 1377 Hunter Ave., Willow Village, will ask for a recount of the Aug. 2 election in the contest for nomination as the Democratic candidate for sheriff of Washtenaw county. First results of the election showed that Williams lost to Lawrence Oltersdorf by the slim margin of 21 votes.

Two Nature Events Slated This Week at Hudson Mills Park

Two nature events will be held at the Activity Center of Hudson Mills Metropark near Dexter.

A "Full Moon Walk" discussing, as well as looking and listening for, the many interesting and beautiful nighttime animals and other aspects of the natural world at night, will be held Friday, July 22 at 8:30 p.m. Pre-registration is required.

"Exploring Our New Found Fen." Join the park naturalist and guest naturalist, Matt Heumann of Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation, on a hike to explore a recently discovered and very exciting wetland habitat within Hudson Mills Metropark on Sunday, July 24 at 9:45 a.m. Meet at the Activity Center of the park to carpool to the fen site. Wear boots or old shoes. Registration is not required.

For more information/registration contact Hudson Mills Metropark at (313) 428-8211 or 1-800-47-PARKS.

of Dexter; and Carolyn Wilson, 12, of Jackson. Second place team members are Jamie Schmitt of Grass Lake, Shelley Williams of Chelsea, Heather Kallus, 13, of Gregory, Gillian Brooks of Brighton, and horse manager Jasmin Roberts of Chelsea.

right, Brett Huard, 9, of Dexter, Carolyn Wilson, 12, of Jackson, Jamie Schmitt, 13, of Grass Lake, Shelley Williams, 13, of Chelsea, horse manager, and Heather Kallus, 13, of Gregory.

Area Equestrians Compete in U. S. Pony Club Regional Rally

Members of the Huron Valley Pony Club competed in the U. S. Pony Club Great Lakes Regional Rally at Genesee Equestrian Center on Saturday and Sunday, July 9-10.

U. S. Pony Club is an educational youth organization for children and young adults, ages 7 through 21, which teaches riding and care of horses. Through these goals they teach responsibility, sportsmanship, moral judgment, leadership and self confidence. Many members of the U. S. Equestrian Team are graduates of the U. S. Pony Club.

Great Lakes Region includes all of Michigan and parts of Ohio and Indiana. In all, about 70 young ladies competed in the Regional Rally.

Unlike most horse shows at Pony Club rallies, the riders compete not only in riding but also in horse management and knowledge of the sport.

When the contestants arrive at the rally they bed down their horses and set up a "tack trailer," which must include safety items, reference books, clean tack, labeled feed, extra tack, etc. Throughout the competition

Horse Management Judges will tour and inspect the barn and tack trailers, noting and penalizing any work not up to Pony Club standards. The Chief Horse Management Judge at this rally was Spencer McLean who came all the way from Colorado to judge this competition.

After all this work is done the competitors take a written test about horse care and the sport they will be competing in.

On the morning of competition, before mounting, the rider must have a formal inspection. The rider presents herself and her mount to the judge who will inspect them for safety and cleanliness—and they mean CLEAN. The rider will be quizzed regarding her horse and equipment. Again sub-standard performance results in penalty points.

Finally, the riders are allowed to mount their horses and ride!

One of the most interesting things a spectator might notice at a Pony Club Rally is that there are no parents in the barn helping. Parents are not allowed to assist competitors in any way, not even verbally. The riders must work together and help each other throughout the competition, each team has a horse manager to help with horse care. Without parents to rely on, the competitors develop a lot of team work and self-confidence, which is one of the club's primary goals.

BRETT HUARD, 9, of Dexter, riding "Mickey" in show jumping at the U.S. Pony Club Regional Rally.

Your Money Matters

by Michael Kelly

Vacation, Children and Money

Souvenir shops are a children's paradise and a parent's nightmare. Over-sized pencils, mugs, nut-crackers, plastic globes, miniature flags, postcards and other numerous tiny items marked by high cost and low quality, draw our children's attention and money. But besides souvenir shops there are a lot of other areas that can create financial stress between you and your children during the family's vacation. Before your car leaves the driveway, think ahead about how you will handle these constant special requests from your children during your family travels this summer.

If your children already receive an allowance, continue to give it while you're on vacation. You may even want to give them a vacation bonus. Chances are you'll be spending more money than usual yourself during the vacation and your children will have more opportunities to spend also. Let them know what you will pay for and what you expect them to pay for. You may allow them one souvenir each and any additional souvenirs they have to pay for with their own money. You can set price limits on how much you will pay for a souvenir and they can buy one large item or several small ones until they reach the limit. If you anticipate they will need more money than your limits, let them know in advance. If you give them several weeks notice, they can use the vacation as a savings goal.

If you see your children spending too much of their own money on what you consider junk that will end up at the bottom of the closet, give them a reason to save their spending money until later in the trip. Let them know about a future stop that has a special sight, like underground caverns that have an admission cost or a park in the next state where they can rent bikes or play putt-putt golf. But if your children do spend all their money on trinkets, use it as a learning experience. It won't hurt to let them make a little mistake with a small amount of money. After they return home and find little use or enjoyment from their purchases, they may be wiser souvenir shoppers next summer.

When planning your vacation, recognize that a trip to Cedar Point will have different expenses than a camping trip in Wyoming. Be aware of your children's expectations and let them know your plans. If you travel to an amusement park where food stands and game booths abound (and aren't covered in the admission price), you may want to give them a special allowance for the day. Tell them if you expect them to buy their own lunch, dinner and snacks. You can set limits on the amount so they won't eat cotton candy and caramel apples all afternoon. Likewise, if your child is scheduled to pitch for the little league team tomorrow, be aware if he or she wants to play a carnival pitching game all afternoon to win the stuffed giraffe. You may need to set limits there too.

Teaching children about budgeting is important. They need to learn that even a vacation is budgeted. They should understand that the family is spending more money than usual and they need to know that the extra expenses were planned in advance and still have limits. Don't allow your children's pleas for money give you a headache on your family vacation. Make it clear from the beginning what you will pay for and what you will not pay for. Then stick to it. Setting definite limits will diminish the bickering and give you a more peaceful week.

State Farm Bureau Endorses Engler For Re-Election

Michigan Farm Bureau AgriPac announced that it is endorsing Gov. John Engler for re-election. Also endorsed were numerous other candidates for Congress, the Legislature, MSU Board of Trustees and State Court of Appeals.

The endorsement of Gov. Engler was based on the positive recommendations from 53 county Farm Bureau candidate evaluation committees.

AgriPac was formed by Michigan Farm Bureau in 1978 to endorse and support candidates for public office. The endorsements made by the Michigan Farm Bureau AgriPac Committee are based in large part on recommendations made by county Farm Bureau candidate evaluation committees.

Connie Mack Team Loses 2 Last Week

Chelsea's Connie Mack baseball squad lost both of their games last week—a close 4-3 decision to Pinckney and a 14-3 defeat to Ann Arbor Wendy's.

On Tuesday, July 12 the Bulldogs traveled to Pinckney to play the Pirates. Neither team scored in the first while Chelsea pushed a run across in the second on three walks and a wild pitch. The 1-0 lead lasted until the fourth when the Pirates hit a two-run homer to put Chelsea behind, 2-1.

The Bulldogs responded with two of their own in the fifth to get the one run lead back, 3-2. Jason Sprawka and Casey Westcott scored the runs for Chelsea. But the bottom of the fifth saw Pinckney rally for two to put the Bulldogs behind once again by one, 4-3.

Chelsea went down in order in the sixth and the seventh saw the Bulldogs threaten to tie the score but a strike-out and an attempted steal ended the ballgame with the final being Pinckney 4, Chelsea 3.

Chelsea collected five hits in the contest led by two singles by Casey Westcott and singles by Ryan Wagner, Lance Ching and Jesse Petty. They left six runners on base.

James Courdway pitched for Chelsea and did a good job—giving up only six hits while walking three and striking out two. He deserved a win.

Their only other contest this week was on Thursday, July 14 as they hosted Wendy's of Ann Arbor. Neither team scored in the first. Wendy's hit Chelsea with six runs in the second and Chelsea answered with two of their own in the bottom to make it 6-2. Chelsea gave up two more in the fourth and one in the fifth.

The Bulldogs made it 9-3 as back-to-back doubles by James Courdway and Ryan Wagner produced a run.

Wendy's broke it open with five in the sixth to make the final score 14-3. Sam Morseau and Jeff Branch pitched for Chelsea. The Bulldogs had four hits—doubles by Courdway and Wagner and singles by John Tyrrell and Ashley Coy.

Chelsea's record falls to 0-13. Remainder of their schedule:

Thursday, July 21 at Saline, 6:30 p.m. Saturday, July 23 vs. Wendy's (DH), 2 p.m.

Tuesday, July 26 vs. Pinckney, 6:30 p.m.

Mask Puppet Show Characters

Free Puppet Show Set on Library Lawn

Mask Puppet Theatre of Ann Arbor will perform on the lawn of Chelsea McKune Memorial Library at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 30.

This free puppet show is sponsored by Friends of McKune Memorial Library in conjunction with their two-day book sale also held on the library grounds. These activities also coincide with the annual July Chelsea Sidewalk Days.

The Mask Puppet Theatre will present a puppet show performed on a self-contained stage complete with hand and rod puppets, music and sound effects. Professional in every respect, this show is particularly appealing to an age level of 3 to 10 but "children" of all ages seem to love these witty, sophisticated, and intelligent characters. For 30 minutes or so, reality is suspended and a puppet world is visited where fantasy comes alive.

Before the performance, the puppeteer explains to the children the movements of both puppeteer and puppets. At the end of the performance the puppets are brought out for the children to talk to and touch.

Everyone is invited to this approximately one hour free puppet theatre presentation on the Chelsea library lawn at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, July 30.

Neurosurgeon Ondra Seeing Patients at Local Hospital

Board-certified neurosurgeon Stephen L. Ondra, M.D., has joined the Michigan Brain & Spine Institute, a regional brain and spine care center with its main office in the Reichert Health Building on the campus of the Catherine McAuley Health System, in Chelsea. He will see patients at the Specialty Clinic at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Dr. Ondra has special expertise in the field of spine disease, including the treatment of complex spinal disorders and minimally invasive spine surgery. For the past two years, he served as the neurosurgical director of spine surgery at Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington, D.C., performing its first endoscopic disc surgery. He has also received national recognition for his work in blood abnormalities of the brain.

Dr. Ondra is a graduate of Rush Medical College in Chicago and completed both his internship and residency at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, achieving the rank of major during his military service. He lives in Ann Arbor with his wife, Cynthia, and two daughters.

Michigan Brain & Spine Institute is the combined practice of Ann Arbor-based neurosurgeons S.M. Farhat, MD, Steven Swanson, MD, Geoffrey Thomas, MD, and Stephen Ondra, MD, and orthopedic spine surgeon Mark Falahee, MD.

CAP's Production of 'The Most Happy Fella' Opens Friday Night

When the Chelsea Area Players' production of Frank Loesser's, "The Most Happy Fella," opens on July 22, there will be a decided home town look to the leading roles in the cast. Featured as Tony and Rosabella are husband and wife, Torrance and Gayla Blaisdell.

Gayla is the daughter of Norm and Gail Bauer. DiAnn L'Roy, director of the show who started CAP in 1972, recalls, "Gayla probably holds the record for the youngest participant in CAP theatre workshops where she was known as that little girl with the big voice." Gayla was the first recipient of a CAP scholarship.

Both Gayla and Tor, who were married in May, bring impressive musical credentials. Gayla is a graduate of Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y. She earned a master of music degree in vocal performance from New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, Mass., and completed the graduate diploma program in May 1994. Tor received his undergraduate degree from Dartmouth College in Hanover, N.H. He also earned a master of music in vocal performance from New England Conservatory of Music.

Gayla has performed extensively in the Northeast and at the International Institute of Vocal Arts in Chieri, Italy. Most recently, she sang the demanding role of Flordiligi in Mozart's "Così fan tutte." Tor has appeared in a variety of roles including Goro in "Madame Butterfly" with Opera North in Norwich, Vt., and most recently as Jacquin in Beethoven's "Fidelio" with the Dartmouth Symphony Orchestra.

L'Roy comments, "We are fortunate to have performers of Gayla and Tor's ability for the show. Their roles are very demanding and they do a wonderful job. I urge Chelsea residents to take the opportunity to see these two at the beginning of their careers because in a couple of years, tickets for their performances will be dear."

The comic roles of Cleo and Herman are played by Kathleen Treado Daniels and Mark Nelson.

Kathleen grew up in Chelsea and is the daughter of Robert and Daphne Hodder and the late Howard C. Treado, Jr. Kathleen was an outstanding singer and actress while still in high school. She currently studies voice with Lisa Hinz-Johnson. Her previous shows for CAP include "The Music Man," "Oklahoma," "Hello Dolly," "Anything Goes" and "Sweet Charity."

L'Roy notes, "Kathleen started participating in CAP musicals just as soon as she was old enough to, which was none too soon for her. Before that she had to be content with just coming to every rehearsal, learning all the lines and all the songs. She brings not only an outstanding comic flair, but adds an extra vocal dimension to Cleo's role." Kathleen makes her home in Chelsea with her husband, Jeff, and their three children.

KATHLEEN DANIELS and Mark Nelson have major comic roles in "The Most Happy Fella" opening Friday, July 22 at Chelsea High school auditorium. Kathleen grew up in Chelsea and Mark has been a Chelsea resident for six years. He is now vice-president of the Chelsea Area Players.

LEADING ROLES in "The Most Happy Fella" are being portrayed by Torrance Blaisdell and Gayla Bauer Blaisdell when the Chelsea Area Players present their summer musical. Kathleen Daniels, left, above, also appears in a leading comic role.

Mark Nelson has lived in Chelsea for six years and appeared in CAP's 20th anniversary "Recap" show and "Gypsy." He is currently vice-president of CAP. "Mark has great facial expressions and a good sense of timing. I think audiences will be utterly charmed with Mark. He and Kathleen play well together. Their rendition of "Big D" is a particular favorite of mine. But then what would you expect of someone from Texas!"

Christine Purchis plays the dramatically challenging role of Tony's repressed sister, Marie. Christine, who is company manager for The Purple Rose Theater Co., is a relative newcomer to Chelsea. She started acting in community theatre while in elementary school. She was seen most recently in CAP's production of "Godspell." "Marie is a difficult role to act. Christine has done a superb job in capturing the complexity of the character."

L'Roy says, "I know that people in Chelsea appreciate good talent, whether from Chelsea or elsewhere. But in a close-knit community like Chelsea, it is particularly special to see our home town folk do so well."

"The Most Happy Fella" will be presented July 22-23 and July 28-29-30. Tickets may be purchased at Chelsea Pharmacy or at the door.

"THE MOST HAPPY FELLA" cast is a talented and enthusiastic group and eager to perform as part of the Chelsea Area Players production. Opening night is Friday, July 22 at Chelsea High school auditorium. Tickets are available at Chelsea Pharmacy or at the door.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER
DISTRICT I

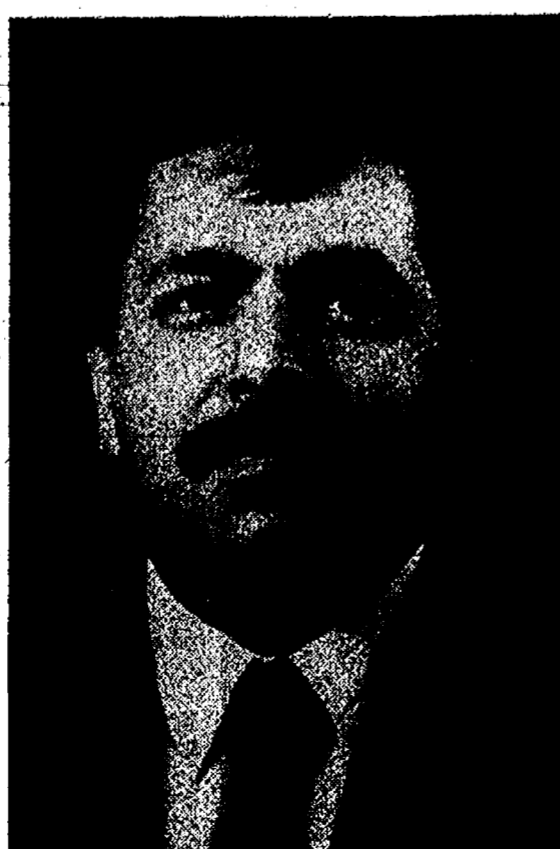

Controlled Spending
Personal Protection
Environment

"As a husband, father with two children, and a lifelong resident of Washtenaw County, I feel just as strongly as you do about maintaining the quality of life that we enjoy here in Western Washtenaw County. When elected, I pledge to work hard for you as your Commissioner to achieve that end.

As a parent and small businessman, I know that it's important to you that we control spending, feel safe in our neighborhoods, and maintain a safe and clean environment for the future of our children.

Please support me with your vote in the August 2nd Primary Election. With your help, I look forward to maintaining Western Washtenaw County's strong tradition of leadership on the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners."

Paid for by Elect Yekulis Commissioner Committee, Mary L. Nadeau, treasurer.

Manchester Plans Summer Festival

Saturday, July 23 is a Big Day in Manchester.

They close down the streets but not the town for a great day of fun for everyone from 1 to 101!

The Kick Off starts at 10 a.m. with Arts & Crafts exhibitors lining Main Street. Music, entertainment, rides and activities for the children are all just a part of the fun lined up for the festival this year.

The Fireside Heritage Crafters will host demonstrations, and the Historical Society will have the Blacksmith Shop open to the public.

Beginning at high noon the bridge will be flooded—not with the river but with loads of people participating and cheering for the Waterball contest, then an old-fashioned tug-of-war where everyone can join in.

Rubber Ducks will be the highlight on the River Raisin at 5 p.m. when 750 of them will be dumped into the river at Main St. and they race over the dam and on down to the finish line near Duncan St.—the fastest duck will win $300 with plenty of other cash prizes for those close behind (the ducks are available at area merchants for purchase and also on Saturday, July 23).

This year the Kool Cruisers Custom & Classic Car Show has joined the Summer Festival from noon to 6 p.m.

The music lineup includes accordion and harmonica players, fiddlers, jazz and swing violinist Evan Price, hammered dulcimer by Skylark, strolling Sweet Adeline Quartets, and 50's & 60's by the Runaway Kids throughout the day. The Raisin Pickers will be on stage at 5:30 and N.E. Thing Goz at the Street Dance from 8 p.m. to midnight. This year the street dance will be open for all ages to enjoy.

Kirtland's Warbler Census Shows Increase This Year

The 1994 Kirtland's warbler census indicates that Michigan's current population of the endangered bird is the largest ever recorded since the annual census began in 1961. Researchers, biologists and volunteers counted 633 singing males during the official census completed in mid-June.

This year's count is a 30 percent increase over the 1993 count of 485, and surpasses the previous record of 502 singing males counted in 1961. The numbers have increased every year since the record low of 167 singing males counted in 1987.

"This is great news, and it shows that the Endangered Species Act can and does work," said Department of Natural Resources Director Roland Harnes. "It is a testament to scientific wildlife management and the co-operation among the DNR biologists, the U.S. Forest Service and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in restoring the warblers' needed habitat."

According to DNR Endangered Species co-ordinator Thomas Weise, this year 92 percent of the warblers counted were located in Oscoda, Ogemaw and Crawford counties.

The Kirtland's warbler is a small, blue-gray and yellow, sparrow-sized bird that nests only in jack pine stands located in northeast lower Michigan. As a ground nester, it selects stands of trees between five and 20 feet high, with branches that extend to the ground. Historically, these stands of young jack pine were maintained by naturally-occurring wildfires that frequently swept through northern Michigan. Fire suppression programs altered this natural process, reducing the Kirtland's warbler habitat.

Wildlife biologists from state and federal agencies now conduct a combination of clearcutting, burning, and replanting to mimic the effects of wildfire. This year, under the Kirtland's warbler management program, nearly four million trees were planted on 3,380 acres of state and federal land to provide additional habitat for warblers in six to 10 years.

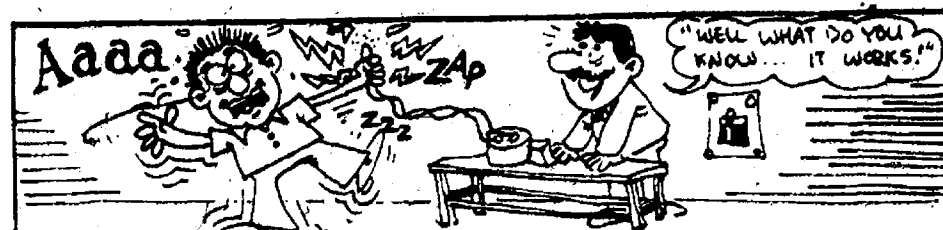

These techniques appear to be successful. DNR wildlife biologist Jerry Weinrich of the Houghton Lake Wildlife Research Station said that this year the plantations showed a dramatic increase in the number of Kirtland's warblers using them. Fifty percent of the warblers counted in this year's census (314 males) were located in the areas specifically planted for the warblers' nesting habitat.

The Kirtland's warbler survey is conducted over a 10-day period each year during the first two weeks of June. The 1994 survey was a joint effort of the DNR, the U.S. Forest Service, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Michigan Department of Military Affairs, and citizen volunteers.

For more information on the Kirtland's warbler, contact the DNR, Wildlife Division, Natural Heritage Program, P.O. Box 30180, Lansing 48909-7680.

Contact lens wearers are known to be susceptible to infections of the cornea. The cornea is the clear tissue over the iris and pupil, on which the contact lens rests. Corneal infection can be a serious problem, permanently affecting vision. Persons wearing contact lenses can greatly reduce their risk of corneal infection by following the recommendations given them about lens cleaning and care, and wearing time.

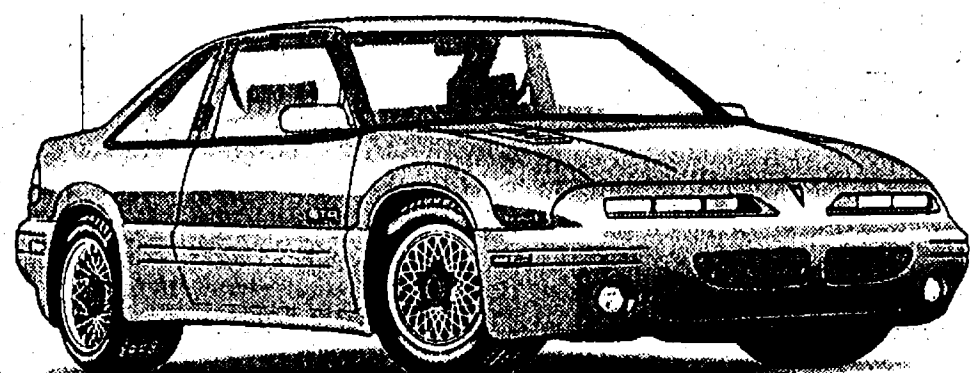

A very serious type of infectious corneal ulcer has been shown to be related to the use of homemade saline used to clean or soak lenses, and prepared by dissolving salt tablets in distilled water. This infection, caused by a tiny microorganism called Acanthamoeba, is very difficult to treat, and may lead to permanent visual loss or cornea transplant surgery. Distilled water or salt tablets should never be used to rinse, soak or enzyme contact lenses. Even if the distilled water is purchased in a pharmacy, it cannot be guaranteed to be sterile, and studies have shown that unopened, fresh bottles of distilled water may be contaminated with dangerous microorganisms. Commercially prepared sterile saline solutions for contact lenses are available and are recommended if your contacts need rinsing, storage or cleaning with saline.

Persistent blurring, pain, or redness of the eyes associated with contact lens wear is abnormal and should be reported to your eye doctor.

Letters to the Editor

Dear People of Chelsea and Surrounding Area:

In 1982, I joined the cast of "My Fair Lady" presented by the Chelsea Area Players. I didn't know then that I would still be involved with the organization 12 years later or that I would be president, and what a presidential year it has been.

I am in my 15th CAP production, "The Most Happy Fella," that opens on Friday, July 22. It has been a special experience because I have had a chance to work closely with DiAnn L'Roy, the director. DiAnn was the founder of CAP and directed its first shows. She is a joy to work with and the show is going to be great.

I also had a chance to produce the most recent Theatre Workshop program under the direction of Sue Williams. Almost 80 children had a chance to learn theater in a positive and rewarding experience. The Theatre Workshop started in 1974, so for 20 years we have been teaching children about theater and many are still involved in the arts.

The winter production of "Godspell" thrilled audiences in Chelsea and then went on to an audience in Flint. This is the first time a Chelsea Area Players production has gone "on tour." Thank you cast and crew for representing Chelsea in such a wonderful way.

It sounds as if it has been a thrilling presidential year for me, but the above is not all that has happened.

Thanks to you in the community and area, the Chelsea Area Players have raised the money to help the school purchase new curtains for the High School auditorium. The curtains have been up since January and we are thrilled to have them for this upcoming production. (By the way, the curtains that we took down were purchased in 1971 with moneys from musicals directed by DiAnn L'Roy.)

I want to extend a special, personal invitation to all who helped or donated money toward these new curtains.

If you were a part of or attended "Curtain Up," "Face the Music," or the Magic Show, or donated on the side then you helped raise the money. We are giving the money to the School District in a reception prior to our show on opening night, July 22. The reception is at the high school and all who attend can then stay and attend our opening of "The Most Happy Fella." You helped us to collect the money and we want you to be a part of presenting it to the school.

If you cannot attend the reception and performance that night, then please come July 23, 28, 29, or 30 to one of our other performances so you can see the curtains and be a part of our celebration. The cast and crew of this production have worked hard to put on a fantastic show.

The old saying of "if a tree falls in the forest and no one is there, is there any sound?" holds true for theater. If a musical is presented and there is no audience, is there any sound, or any reward for the performers? You, the audience, give us purpose and reward for all our efforts to entertain. Please come see us and reward us with your presence.

Norma Graflund, President
Chelsea Area Players

Researchers are developing a milk product for the military that can compete against the ever-present temptation of soft drinks. Ordinary, reconstituted, non-fat dry milk is not very popular with soldiers, so scientists are trying to come up with a powdered milk that mixes easier with water and tastes better.

Revelling on the River Concert Stated July 30 At Gallup Park Livery

Ann Arbor Department of Parks and Recreation will hold a "Revelling on the River" free music concert at Gallup Park Canoe Livery Saturday evening, July 30, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Jerry Perrine will perform a variety of jazz and pop music on the keyboard. Gallup Park Canoe Livery overlooks the scenic Huron River at 3000 Fuller Rd., Ann Arbor.

Concerts are also scheduled for Aug. 13 and 27.

For more information, please call 662-9319.

Safety belt use is currently 52 percent in Michigan. An estimated 250,000 lives would be saved each year with 70 percent safety belt use.

DAN SIMMONS volunteered from the audience at Sunday's Concert in the Park to assist Jimmy Lee, the blind magician with an illusion where a sword was apparently pushed through his neck. It looked very real, even to the blood stained bib he was wearing, but no harm was done.

LAURA K. GODERIS was sworn in as a member of the Michigan State Bar on June 1, by the Hon. Donald E. Shelton, Washtenaw County Circuit Court judge. She is a 1994 graduate of the Detroit College of Law and a 1990 cum laude graduate of the Honors program of Eastern Michigan University with a dual degree in Strategic Management and Control and Communications. Laura has opened her own office in Ypsilanti, practicing in criminal, personal injury and estate law. She is a 1998 Chelsea High school graduate and the daughter of Louis and Barbara Goderis of Chelsea.

Dora M. Williams

Charlotte
(Formerly of Chelsea)

Dora M. Williams, age 89, of Saline, formerly of Charlotte and Chelsea, died Thursday, July 14, 1994 at the Saline Hospital after an extended illness. Mrs. Williams was born in Williams county, North Dakota, the daughter of Andrew H. and Mary (Bollinger) Hiltner. She was a former member of the Rebekahs.

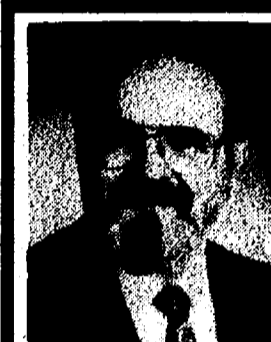

Surviving are one son, Alford (Doris) Williams of Charlotte; four daughters, Phyllis Spitzley of Portland, Shirley Petch of El Paso, Tex., Barbara (Orrin Randall) Bingham of Saline, and Martha (Tom) Knaggs of Rowlett, Tex.; nine grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Alford Williams on Dec. 5, 1987, a sister, Margaret Sullivan, in 1964, and by a brother, Clarence Hiltner in 1919.

Funeral services were at 1 p.m. Saturday, July 16, at the First United Methodist Church, Chelsea, with the Rev. George Fleming officiating. Interment followed in the Maple Hill Cemetery, Charlotte.

AMANDA SIMMONS was one of several youngsters who answered a request from Jimmy Lee, the blind magician, for someone to learn magic tricks. Amanda was chosen and demonstrated a trick of apparently pushing a pencil through a solid glass plate.

OVERNIGHT TOUR GUESTS: 20 young people from the St. Cloud, Minn. catholic diocese were guests of Chelsea St. Mary's Youth group Monday. Pedaling their bicycles for the 1,200 mile trip, the group left St. Cloud July 9, crossed Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan's Upper Peninsula, across the Straits on Mackinac Bridge, south through central Michigan to Chelsea. Traveling about 100 miles a day, they were headed for Bowling Green, O., when they left here Tuesday morning. From there they go to Steubenville, O., for a youth conference hosted by Franciscan University in Steubenville. St. Mary's provided a hot dinner for the group, a swim in the school pool and shelter for the night at St. Mary's Parish Center. Arrangements for the Chelsea visit were made by Cathy Guinan, director of religious education, and Mary Lou Hahn-Setta, coordinator for youth ministry at St. Mary's. (They may be seen in upper left of photo.) The touring group was quick to admit they were looking forward to packing their bikes and flying home after the conference!

Some Area Waters May Be Contaminated

Recent microbiological tests indicate heavy contamination of at least two Washtenaw county streams, posing a possible public health threat.

Testing by MicroOne Laboratory, a division of Gelman Sciences, Inc., shows severe bacterial contamination of Honey Creek, Swift Run Creek and Barton Pond at Gallup Park in the City of Ann Arbor.

In a letter to Honey Creek residents July 12, Charles Gelman, chairman and CEO of Gelman Sciences, said peak contamination values in Honey Creek are 80 times those allowed under state regulations for skin contact, and thousands of times those allowed for drinking water.

Gelman warned residents that if they, or their children, have been in contact with water in Honey Creek, they should check with their health providers.

It's uncertain exactly what is causing the pollution, but those testing the water speculate it is from overflowing and malfunctioning septic fields along the creek.

Gelman also offered to test Honey Creek residents' drinking water for contamination free of charge.

Washtenaw County Environmental Division announced plans last week to conduct a bacterial study of Honey Creek over the next two months.

Gelman first alerted county environmental authorities to the contamination in Honey Creek on March 15.

Gelman released test results taken at the boat launch at Gallup Park on July 11 to Robert Bauman, assistant city administrator of the City of Ann Arbor.

Possible sources of contamination are from Swift Run Creek and the Allen Creek Drain, Gelman said.

Gelman said the test results show heavier contamination at Gallup Park than at Metro Beach in Detroit, where beaches have been closed to the public for much of the last month.

Gelman offered to meet with the city and Washtenaw county officials to set up a more extensive sampling program involving drains throughout the county.

Whiteflies and two-spotted spider mites are common greenhouse pests that are resistant to the pesticides available to home gardeners. Try attacking them with insecticidal soaps. And make sure your plants get enough water. As farmers have found out during droughts, a plant that is under water stress is a sitting duck for insect damage.
