ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-SECOND YEAR—No. 17

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1994

24 Pages This Week 4 Supplements

A PERFECT DAY with bright, sunny weather, several thousand people were exposed to Chelsea hospitality and fine foods when they visited Bounty for the County Sunday afternoon. Fifteen of the better restaurants in Washtenaw county joined to offer samples of their specialty food items. Among those from Chelsea were The Moveable Feast, Cleary's Pub and The Common Grill. Proceeds from the food

United Way Kick-Off Scheduled for Friday

On Friday, Sept. 16, the Chelsea United Way Board of Directors will hold its annual Kick-off for the 1994-95 Campaign at a breakfast held in the Chelsea Community Hospital. Representatives of the agencies which Chelsea United Way funds through donations collected during the campaign will be in attendance. Some of the representatives will share with the audience how the money from Chelsea United Way is spent in their organizations.

Highlight of the Kick-off Breakfast will be the announcement of the 1994-95 Campaign Goal by board president, John Rutherford. The goal was determined after interviews of each of the funded agencies conducted by the Budget and Allocations Committee during August.

In addition to organization described in last week's Chelsea Standard, other agencies funded by Chelsea United Way include the Great Saik Trail Council of the Boy Scouts of America and the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

During the past year Scouting in Chelsea served 357 youth enrolled in Tiger Groups, Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer Posts. The Chelsea Boy Scouts were served by 115 volunteers, both men and women, who provide excellent leadership in the Scouting Program.

During 1994, 271 Chelsea young women participated in the Girl Scouts. The Scouts were aided by 79 Chelsea adult volunteers. The Chelsea Girl Scouts participated in several programs as part of the Huron Valley Council.

It is important to recognize that the financial aid received by these groups cannot alone support viable programs without the leadership provided by the scouting volunteers of both organizations. The Budget and Allocation Committee worked diligently to insure that funding equity was achieved between the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts based on the number of Chelsea youth served by each organization.

The Washtenaw Association for Community Advocacy (ACA) provides support to people with developmental disabilities by helping them to find employment in their community, to obtain housing of their choice and to pursue recreational and leisure opportunities. ACA does not manage people's lives, but assists them to achieve the dreams and hopes of their choice. This approach puts the person with the disability at the center and helps direct a network of friends, relatives and colleagues to help "knock down" barriers to the realizations of their dreams. This approach takes more time and energy, but allows those with disabilities to have more say in their own lives than previous "older" approaches. Several people in the Chelsea area are presently being supported by ACA. The support has allowed them to become homeowners, renters, valued workers and desirable neighbors. ACA also works with students and their families to assist students with disabilities to obtain the best possible education alongside their peers.

Police Alerting Business Places of Suspected Fraud

Chelsea police say merchants should be alerted to a possible short-change scheme by a pair of women suspected of attempting to defraud a cashier at an Amoco gas station, 1630 S. Main, on Sept. 6.

Beach School Open House Set for Sept. 22

Beach Middle school parents, grandparents, and adult friends of Chelsea 6th, 7th and 8th graders are invited to attend an Open House on Thursday, Sept. 22, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Beach Middle School Cafeteria.

Parents will participate in a "capsulized" version of their child's schedule with short visits to each classroom. Teachers will be on hand to explain their curricular program and classroom expectations.

Parents are encouraged to arrive at Beach at 6:45 p.m. to obtain a copy of their child's schedule and receive directions for class visits. Students are asked to remain at home for this gathering so there will be ample room for adults in the classrooms. If both parking lots are full, parents may park on the circle drive.

At the completion of this "school day," there will be a social gathering in the cafeteria. The sixth grade camp program will be introduced in the form of a video/slide presentation in the Large Group Instruction Room (LGI) at 9:05 p.m., following the classroom visits. School support groups (Music Boosters, Athletic Boosters, Aquatic Club and Beach Parent Group) will be available to discuss their programs with parents.

Parents wishing to order 1994-1995 yearbooks may do so in the Media Center.

Leith Sentenced to Life in Prison for Piasecki Murder

Stephen Leith will spend the rest of his life behind bars for the Dec. 16 murder of Chelsea school superintendent Joseph Piasecki.

Washtenaw county Circuit Judge Donald Shelton pronounced that sentence for Leith last Wednesday, telling the former Chelsea High school science teacher, "You are too dangerous to ever be free."

Leith was convicted Aug. 12 in the shooting death of Piasecki and the wounding of high school principal Ron Mead and English teacher Phil Jones last December.

The shooting rampage followed a grievance meeting over a disputed one-day suspension imposed on Leith for improper conduct and classroom behavior.

Leith stormed out of the meeting, went home and then returned with a 9 mm pistol. He walked into Piasecki's office fired four shots at the 47-year-old school administrator from point blank range.

He then turned his gun on Mead and Jones, wounding each before threatening his wife with the weapon. She took it from him, and he left for his classroom where he was arrested a short time later.

Dressed in blue county jail fatigues with two uniformed officers standing close by, Leith, 40, spoke publicly about the shooting for the first time only moments before his sentencing.

Quoting the Bible, he told a packed courtroom that he had undergone a Christian conversion in jail, and was ready to accept his prison fate.

"My role is to work in the prison system," he said. "It's no accident. We each have a role to play."

While asking "forgiveness" for his actions from the victims and their families, he failed to console them with any explanation for his violent outburst.

"How I wish I could do that," he said. "If I could give a cut and dried explanation, it would finally be over. I'm sorry that's not possible."

Just as he had during trial, he blamed the shooting on drugs he took for treatment of depression. And he spoke of his inability to account for his behavior almost in a third person.

"Could my medication be responsible? How will the truth ever be known?"

Attorney Joseph Simon had unsuccessfully sought to put the anti-depressant drug Prozac on trial in Leith's defense. It marked the 33rd time the so-called "Prozac defense" has been used in a Michigan case.

Speaking for his client, Simon asked Shelton to recommend that the state Department of Corrections make use of Leith's teaching abilities, and that he receive psychiatric treatment in prison.

"There has to be an option for something positive. He may never return to society. But others he may come in contact with, will," Simon said.

Leith said he was still trying to come to grips with his feelings about the shooting. Details are hazy, he said, noting that "even the trial didn't seem real to me."

"I know I was the one who pulled the trigger. Joe Piasecki did not deserve to die. He was my boss and he was only doing his job. I did not and will not deliberately harm anyone. I do not know why it happened," he said.

"To Marlene, Nicky, Brian I am sorry. I am so very sorry. I know I'm at fault. I realize that nothing can compensate for the loss of Joe."

Speaking directly to Nicole Piasecki, daughter of the slain superintendent and a former student of Leith's, he said: "Nicky you know me. I want to reach out to you and your family."

But she left the courtroom before

Leith finished his remarks.

The appeal came well after she and other family members delivered poignantly touching impact statements, in which each urged the maximum punishment possible for Leith.

"Steven Leith ruined my life nine days before Christmas when he executed by husband, Joe," declared his widow, Marlene.

"Please make Steven Leith disappear from my life and the lives of my children forever," she asked the judge.

Under state law, Shelton had little discretion in passing sentence. Open murder carries a mandatory life sentence with no possibility of parole.

But in ordering that sentence, he told the former teacher, "There is no doubt that you are a very sick person. You are a dangerous man on or off medication."

"I don't hate you. I don't pity you. I fear you. It's important that you never set foot in this community free again."

Shelton ordered Leith to serve two-to 10-year terms for the assault on Mead and Jones.

And he also sentenced him to serve two years each on three counts of committing a felony with a firearm. That prison term will actually be served first and will be reduced by 266 days, the time Leith has already served since his arrest.

Leith, who was initially remanded to county custody, was expected to be transferred to state correction authorities for orientation before his longterm prison assignment is determined.

That will likely mean a brief stay at the state prison in Jackson before he is moved elsewhere, officials said.

Leith still has 45 to appeal his conviction. Simon indicated that an appeal would likely be pursued, but that it would be handled by another attorney.

Piasecki Family Share Grief, Anger Through Statements to Killer

As a Chelsea High school senior, Nicole Piasecki was looking forward to picking up her diploma from her father last June.

And assistant school superintendent Fred Mills knew he was no substitute for Nicky's "best pal" when he was the one who actually handed it to her.

But Stephen Leith took that precious moment away from Nicole and her family when he gunned down Joseph Piasecki in his office last December.

For eight months, Piasecki family members and many in Chelsea waited for Leith's trial before passing final judgment on the accused killer.

The three-time teacher of the year's guilt was never in doubt. It was his reason for killing the community leader which people in the community were seeking answers.

What was going through his mind? Why? What possessed him to commit such carnage?

In the end, he didn't answer those questions. It was somebody else fitting his description who fired the fatal shots, he said.

He acknowledged pulling the trigger of a 9 mm semi-automatic pistol that claimed his boss's life and wounded high school principal Ron Mead, along with friend and union steward Phil Jones, a fellow teacher.

But in doing so, he refused responsibility for his action. It was his medication for depression that led him to become an emotionless killer, he told the court during his sentencing last week.

A jury did not believe him. And to the tragedy's many victims, especially family members impacted most by his attack, his words seemed hollow.

They wanted to make sure he would never forget the depth of their despair and agony over their painful loss as Leith goes to prison for the rest of his life for the murder of Joe Piasecki.

None was more passionate than his daughter. In detail, Nicole Piasecki talked about the moments they shared and will miss because her former science teacher took his life.

"I'm 18 years old, and I don't have a dad," she said. "My dad was a very special person. If you didn't know him, he was like a big kid. We were the best of pals," she told the court during her videotaped statement.

She said her father was really a "family man," who put family ahead of his job. Supporting her in everything she did, Nicole said, her dad used to rebound for her while she practiced shooting to improve her game while a member of the high school basketball team.

"I miss his hugs and laughs. I miss playing one-on-one basketball with him." She missed their quiet moments when he used to drive her to school each morning, she said.

She missed his "pitiful singing voice" and hearing him "slurp his soup."

She missed the fact that her dad wouldn't be there to teach her how to play golf as he intended.

She missed telling him about making the basketball team at Adrian College where she is now a student.

"I wish I could tell him I love him, to hug him. He never saw me graduate from high school, go on to college. He'll never see my wedding, see his grandchildren."

But she didn't want to miss the opportunity of telling her father's killer that. Turning to him, she said, "Steve Leith, if it wasn't for you, I would still have a dad."

As six members of the Piasecki family and Mills addressed Leith, their bottled-up anger became palpable.

School Board Approves Wage Increase for School Workers

The Chelsea Board of Education has approved a three-year contract for school support staff that essentially provides the same wage increase received by teachers under their recently-approved contract.

The board approved without discussion a contract calling for a 4.3 percent wage increase this year, and 3.7 percent hikes over the next two years.

The new deal will cover a variety of school personnel including secretaries, classroom aides, custodians, maintenance workers, food service providers, mechanics and staff supervisors, officials said.

Board members approved the contract agreement at their Sept. 6 meeting.

They also approved the hiring of four new members to school instructional staff.

The hires include Tom Brennan who resigned as a special education aide in order to accept a position as a high school suspension monitor.

Chelsea High school has instituted an in-school suspension program this year to deal with students facing disciplinary problems. The program is aimed at making suspension a more viable disciplinary tool, according to principal Ron Mead.

The board has also hired Gail Tomaka and Sue Gilliken as classroom aides. Gilliken will work part-time in her position.

Meanwhile, Jeanne Hicks-Caselli was hired as a 6th grade teacher by

A tentative head count of students shows the Chelsea School District has 122 more students this fall than a year ago. Superintendent Joe Piasecki informed the Board of Education last Tuesday about the unexpectedly high count. "This represents the biggest growth this district has had in some time," Piasecki said.

The field, about 50 yards wide and more than a quarter mile long, contained street value of more than $1 million. The field was up off the road between one field of soybeans and another field of corn. The plants were growing among naturally-occurring wild weeds and plants.

★ Does Michigan Need a Constitutional Convention?

By Leslie Carbone

Thomas Jefferson argued for a new federal Constitution every 20 years to assure that each generation would have the opportunity to choose its own form of government. Is that sound advice for the people of Michigan?

The Michigan Constitution provides for the citizens of our state to decide every 16 years whether to call a convention to propose revisions to the state's Constitution. That question will appear on the state-wide ballot on Nov. 8, 1994.

Whether to overhaul the current Constitution, 32 years after its adoption, is a matter with serious implications. Some argue that several deficiencies exist that merit consideration.

Most reforms prefer a shorter ballot, with the Governor responsible and accountable for more elements of the executive branch of state government. Michigan citizens currently elect a plural executive consisting of 36 persons including the Governor, Lt. Governor, Secretary of State, Attorney General, 24 university trustees, and 8 members of the State Board of Education.

Existing constitutional provisions for the partisan election of the governing boards of the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Wayne State University, and the State Board of Education, are troublesome. The nomination of these candidates at party conventions has resulted in most nominees being party regulars rather than individuals dedicated to influencing public education for the better. Rarely has a candidate for one of these offices won, or lost, on his or her own merits—usually the party carrying the top of the ticket captures most of the education positions.

Were a Constitutional Convention to be convened, it could limit the number of elected officials in the executive branch to two: the Governor and the Lt. Governor. All other executive branch positions would then be appointed by and accountable to the Governor, with the Governor accountable in turn to the voters for the performance of his appointees.

Important issues affecting the Legislature could also be addressed at a constitutional convention. For example, current provisions for having an even number of members of both the House and Senate have resulted in three elections producing ties in the number of seats won by each party. A new convention might well eliminate this possibility by prescribing an odd number of members of each house.

While good reasons like those cited above exist to support a "yes" vote in November, there are more compelling reasons to vote "no." One is our current flat-rate income tax. The Constitution prohibits a graduated income tax, which economic analysis suggests is harmful to savings, investment, and economic growth. Should those of a high-tax, soak-the-productive philosophy win control of a convention, the Constitution might be re-written to allow a graduated tax with far higher rates than the 4.4 percent we have now.

A new convention could also eliminate existing constitutional caps on property and sales taxes as a "revenue enhancing" measure. The important Headlee Amendment, which provides a limit on total state revenue and other critical taxpayer protections, might also be in jeopardy should a convention be approved. Further, it is easy to conceive of a convention bogged down in sticky moral and ethical issues.

Such matters as abortion, capital punishment, prayer in school, assisted suicide, aid to parochial schools, sexual rights, and the like might appear in a proposed new Constitution to be put before the voters for ratification. If approved, only a constitutional amendment later could make changes in those provisions.

Michigan's Constitution is newer and shorter than the average state Constitution. It sets rules for governing and establishes a mechanism for determining public policy, but for the most part, it does not create policy. That's one of its great strengths. Policy belongs in the political arena, not the Constitution.

For over two centuries, the genius of Thomas Jefferson and his colleagues gave us the finest mechanism for governance in the world, but few would say that we should follow his suggestion and rewrite the U.S. Constitution in every generation. Similarly, while it may be informative and enlightening to review our state's Constitution every so often, 1994 is not the time to call for a convention. While some ideas for revision have merit, the dangers of a general re-write of our state's basic governing document probably exceed any potential benefit from a convention.

Manchester Man Arrested for Giving Police False ID

A Manchester man hoping to avoid detection after being stopped on a traffic violation in Chelsea Sept. 2, gave police the name of his brother.

But the driver wound up in jail after police discovered his true identity.

Robert E. Luckhardt told police he was his brother David after being stopped shortly before 10 p.m. on Main St. near Summit.

He initially told police he had no identification. But after police found a billfold on him containing identification for Robert Luckhardt, he claimed it was his brother's, and he had no idea how he'd pocketed it.

When police checked with his family, they discovered that the suspect was in fact, Robert Luckhardt, and that his brother, David, was a Manchester High school student.

The real Luckhardt finally acknowledged his identity, telling police he'd originally sought to conceal it in order to avoid discovery of his motor vehicle record.

He was subsequently given two citations and arrested for giving false identification to police. It was a case of hard luck for Luckhardt, police said.

July Housing Starts Cool Down from June

Michigan housing project starts for July 1994 fell from June 1994 by 14.5%; however, 1994 year to date totals are up 10.6% over 1993.

"The housing market remains solid," commented Mike Theunissen, president of the Michigan Association of Home Builders. "But it does seem to be leveling out in comparison to the tremendous growth we have seen from November 1993 to May 1994. The increase in mortgage rates, which rose to 8.68% in July, is the main culprit in this trend. Material availability and rising prices have also contributed. Even though lumber prices have not continued to explode, other material prices, such as gypsum wall-board, have risen."

Washtenaw county shows a 33.5% decline for July over June but a year to date change of 5.7% increase. Livingston county has declined 3.10% for July while year to date shows a 36.2% increase.

Jackson county has declined 18.8% for July, with a 3.2% increase for year to date.

The Michigan Association of Home Builders is comprised of more than 10,000 member companies.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

On Thursday evening, Aug. 25, my wife had a serious fall in front of the Purple Rose Theater. I'm writing this letter to thank the citizenry who helped or offered their help to retrieve her glasses and her purse and its contents. I also wish to thank the Chelsea Police and the ambulance crew who arrived very soon and took charge in a very professional way. And a special thanks to the staff of the Emergency Services at Chelsea Community Hospital for their quick action and proficient work. These actions were typical of the town of Chelsea and its people.

My wife and I are most grateful. Thank you.

CROP Walk for Hunger Relief Scheduled Oct. 2

"We walk because they walk." CROP walkers in more than 1,800 communities around the country and 134 Michigan communities organize and take part in the annual CROP Walk to help stop hunger around the world—and around the block.

Chelsea's area CROP Walk will be held Sunday, Oct. 2 at 1 p.m., beginning at St. Paul United Church of Christ on Old US-12. Walkers obtain sponsors for the 10K (6.2 miles) walk and the funds are distributed through Church World Service, for hunger relief and self-help programs throughout the world. 25% of money raised will stay in the community to support local needs.

Chelsea's share will be donated to Faith in Action-Chelsea Social Services to assist local families in need.

Persons interested in walking may obtain sponsor forms through their church's CROP recruiter or by contacting recruitment co-chairperson Gordon Schleicher at 475-8633 or event co-ordinators Jan Roberts, 475-3615, or Pastor Lynn Spitz-Nagel, 475-6761.

Other volunteers are also needed for crossing guards, registrars, and rest-stop workers. To offer your help, please contact John Maynard at 475-0397 or Larry Weidmayer at 475-9091.

The Festival features both luncheon in the Church hall and the Pig Roast under the Big Top for the evening meal. A real food value, the pork dinner is only $7 for adults and $4 for kids.

During the day, entertainment includes the RFD Boys, Blackberry Jam Dulcimer Group, Magician Jim Fitzsimmons, a children's zoo, hay rides and young children's crafts and games.

In addition there is a Country Craft Show featuring many local artisans. Housed in the Community House, these craft items offer great opportunities for holiday gift-giving as well as that "perfect necessity" for both decoration and utility. A large rummage and antique sale is housed in Scadin Barn. The country store and bake sale are housed in the Boy Scout log cabin. Old-fashioned spinning skills will be demonstrated along with blacksmithing in the historic Blacksmith Shop. A large display of antique cars, tractors and stationary engines will grace the grounds.

Regular Festival attendees will note the great progress made in restoring the one-room Podunk School. Art lovers can admire a special exhibit displayed in historic Webster church, the oldest (1834) continuously-occupied church structure in Washtenaw county and a listed Michigan historic site.

An important fund-raiser for both organizations, the Festival proceeds are utilized for renovation and historic preservation projects.

For further information call 426-5115.

Parking and general admission are free.

School Board

the board. She will work part-time at Beach Middle School.

In other business, the board was happy to accept two generous donations to the school district.

One was the receipt of playground equipment for South Elementary School purchased this summer by the Parent-Teacher South (PTS) with money raised through various charity efforts. The equipment has an estimated value of $11,828.

The board also approved the acceptance of $13,000 in software donated by Mark Tallman, a Chelsea resident who works for Symantec Corp.

Taking care of a housekeeping matter, the board corrected an error in the price of adult lunches. It had approved a $2.40 price, but it should have been set 10 cents higher, to reflect the actual charge of $2.50, officials said.

Police Alerting Local Businesses of Suspected Fraud

er woman asked if we would sell all the $20 bills in his register to her. When he told her, he wouldn't, she continued to question him about the availability of $20 bills in the register.

At that point, the other woman claimed she'd received incorrect change—a $5 bill and three ones.

Miles then told the woman she could return to the station at day's end when register receipts are balanced to see if she'd been shorted.

The two women who entered the store separately then left together and were later seen at an undisclosed area business where police were called to investigate a similar call.

Police are seeking additional information that might help develop further leads.

DISCUSSION OF CHELSEA FAIR SUCCESS
in a record-breaking year were these board officers as they gathered at the Fair Board Thank You party Saturday evening. They pointed out that total attendance was estimated to be in excess of 40,000. Exhibits in most categories increased, livestock sale revenues set a new all-time high, carnival revenues increased and the Kiwanis Club reported record sales. The Fair Board officers shown here helped direct the successful operation. At left is Mark Stapish, treasurer; Ken McCalla, president, and his wife Susan; Tom Edman, vice-president, and his wife, Diane.

Chelsea Foundation Expands Education Funding Program

The Chelsea Education Foundation is soliciting applications for mini-grant funding of educational programs during two funding cycles this year.

The foundation has added a second funding cycle in hopes of meeting additional activity and program needs in the Chelsea area.

The foundation, established in 1990, uses tax-deductible donations from individuals, businesses and organizations, to provide financial backing for various educational projects.

Each year, foundation trustees select focus areas for project funding. And during 1994-1995, trustees are particularly interested in science education and technology-related grant proposals.

However, applications in other areas are also encouraged, according to officials.

The foundation offers grants ranging from $250 to $1,000. Projects may be affiliated with educational efforts inside and outside of school, so long as they benefit the Chelsea area.

Since 1990, the foundation has sponsored or funded WRAP (Waterloo Recreation Area Project), a summer environmental education camp; Girls in Science, a hands-on science program in co-operation with the University of Michigan Aerospace Department; scholarships and community forums on educational topics.

Last winter, the foundation supported a North School wildlife habitat project; expansion of preschool audio tapes and books and classic literature collections at McKune Memorial Library; and programming efforts of the Chelsea High School Outdoor Club.

Other 1994 grants went to support WOLF, a communication device using pictures and synthesized speech to aid handicapped children; and computer program updating at North school.

Grant applications are available at the Community Education Office, Chelsea High School, McKune Memorial Library and the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce.

Completed applications must be mailed to the foundation; P.O. Box 295, Chelsea 48118, or they may be delivered to the Community Education Office. Fall grant requests are due by 5 p.m. Oct. 20. Winter applications should be submitted by Feb. 8, 1995.

Bracing Newly Planted Trees Is Key to Survival

Bracing newly planted trees with stakes and guy wires or ropes can improve their chances of surviving and thriving in your landscape.

"Most deciduous trees over 1 inch in trunk diameter and upright evergreens 4 to 5 feet tall should be braced during the first year after planting," says Curt Peterson, Extension Horticulturist at Michigan State University. "Generally, the bigger the tree, the greater its need for support."

The root ball of a newly planted but unstaked tree will tend to rock or pivot in the ground when strong winds blow, Peterson explains. This loosens the soil around the root ball, damages roots and interferes with establishment of a sturdy, stabilizing root system.

Support the tree low on the trunk, Peterson advises. The aim of bracing it is to prevent movement of the lower trunk and root system.

"Check staked or guyed trees monthly during the growing season and after storms or strong winds," Peterson advises. "Make sure the system is snug enough to provide support without making an impression on the trunk, and be sure guy wires are adequately cushioned to prevent damage to the trunk."

Remove stakes and other supports after trees are well established. Even on exposed, windy sites, staking is usually needed for only one or two growing seasons.

Trees up to 3 inches in trunk diameter can be supported by one or two stakes; larger trees need three stakes for adequate support.

A single stake should be placed about 12 inches away from the tree on the side toward the prevailing wind so the wind pushes the tree away from the stake rather than toward it. Use wire enclosed in a length of vinyl garden hose, soft rope or commercial tree ties made of rubber, nylon or vinyl to fasten the tree to the stake. The tie should form a figure eight, with one loop around the trunk, the other around the stake and the cross between the two.

Avoid using wire or cable around trunks or stems without hose or some other material to cushion it, Peterson notes—it can cut through the bark or girdle and kill the tree. Damaged bark may also heal and grow over the wire, making it impossible to remove it without seriously damaging the tree.

If you use two stakes, place them on opposite sides of the tree. Three stakes should be placed at equal intervals around the tree 18 inches from the trunk. Brace the stakes with cleats attached 4 to 6 inches below the tops of the stakes to form a triangular structure enclosing the trunk.

The Village Council is now making plans for an ordinance to prohibit parking on the village streets during the early morning hours, 2 a.m. to 5 a.m. This will be done in the hope of providing better snow and leaf removal. Cars left on the streets greatly hinder the Public Works crew in their efforts to do these jobs. This ordinance will also facilitate the sweeping of the streets in the spring and summer months.

Not only during "Fire Prevention Week" but all through the year, a little red fire engine serves as the official symbol of the City of Harrisville in Alcona county. Designated one of the most photographed landmarks in Northern Michigan, the little engine was formerly the property of the Village of Chelsea and was sold in 1900 to Harrisville for $450.

Chelsea Knights of Columbus did a "Land office" business at their rummage sale Friday and Saturday at Sylvan Town Hall. Denny Murphy, chairman of the project, said they were completely sold out by Saturday afternoon. Proceeds of the sale will be divided between the K. of C. Building Association fund, the Council's support of Boysville and K. of C. community service projects.

Chelsea Baptist church will observe its 10th anniversary at the regular services at the church on Sunday.

SHERIFF'S REPORT

Lyndon Township

Drunk Driving Arrests

A 23-year-old Jackson woman was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor, for having an unlawful blood/alcohol level and driving with a suspended license. She was stopped on a traffic violation on Clark's Lake Rd. near Waterloo Rd., Sept. 2. Found in the vehicle were two, open bottles of beer. The driver also admitted to consuming alcohol at Sugar Loaf Campgrounds prior to driving. Her blood/alcohol level was tested at .14 percent, which is more than the legal limit. Her passenger, a 30-year-old Jackson man, was cited for open intoxicants in a motor vehicle and allowing an intoxicated person to drive his vehicle.

Larceny

Larceny from an automobile was reported on Roe Rd. near Waterloo Rd., Sept. 2. A 52-year-old Detroit man told police $925 worth of items, including a motor, watercraft battery, hunting decoys and hip boots, were stolen from his truck. Damage to the truck is estimated at $250.

Larceny from a vehicle was reported at the public access site at South Lake. A 74-year-old Ann Arbor man reported a folding table, two life jackets and a gas container were stolen from his 1993 Ford pick-up between 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Criminal Sexual Conduct

A 13-year-old girl was reportedly sexually abused by her 33-year-old stepfather in the 12000 block of Roepke Rd. The incident, which allegedly happened two to three years ago, was reported Sept. 1. The girl wrote a letter to her father's wife, who in turn told the girl's dad, a Jackson man. He called a counselor who called Jackson County Social Services who contacted the sheriff's department. The girl said in the letter that her stepfather touched her private areas a few years ago, and she wanted to live with her father and his wife in Jackson. She told police her stepfather hasn't touched her again since that time. The stepfather denies the incident and her mother doesn't believe it could have happened.

Waterfowl Hunting Seasons Approved

Department of Natural Resources Director Roland Harmes has approved the 1994-95 regular duck and goose season, based on guidelines offered by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

DNR wildlife biologists expect this year's continental fall flight of ducks to be up 20 percent from last year. Local duck production is estimated to be greater than last year, as well. Biologists attribute the improvement in this year's predicted fall duck flight first to high numbers of ponds in U. S. prairie regions, created by abundant summer rains in 1993. The second factor is the 5-6 million acres of idle grasslands created under the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Conservation Reserve Program, where duck nest success rates have doubled in the past year.

After review of the habitat and population information, the states of the Mississippi Flyway Council recommended that the USFWS implement a 40-day duck season with a four-duck daily bag limit. The USFWS, however, in a surprise move, offered two more conservative options for season selection by the states. The options were a 30-day season with a four-duck daily bag limit, or a 40-day season with a three-duck daily bag limit.

Director Harmes selected the 40-day season with separate dates for each of the state's three duck zones. The regular duck season will be as follows:

Upper Peninsula (North Zone)—Oct. 1-Nov. 7 and Nov. 12-13.

Northern Lower Peninsula (Middle Zone)—Oct. 1-Nov. 6 and Nov. 11-13.

Southern Lower Peninsula (South Zone)—Oct. 8-Nov. 13 and Nov. 25-27.

Daily duck bag limits will be three per day, including species limits as follows: two mallards (only one of which may be female), two wood ducks, one black duck, one pintail, one redhead, and one canvasback.

The canvasback is included in the daily bag limit season this year, for the first time since 1985. The separate daily bag limit for mergansers is again set at five, no more than one of which may be a hooded merganser.

Canada goose hunting will continue to be restricted throughout the Mississippi flyway during the regular waterfowl season, because the 1994 Mississippi Valley Population and Southern James Bay Population Canada goose production levels were both below average. Both of these migrant flocks are still below planned objectives, due to a combination of past poor production and high harvest. Local giant Canada geese are at record high levels, however, and will make up over 50 percent of the total state-wide Canada goose harvest.

Canada goose season dates and bag limits are as follows: Upper Peninsula (North Zone)—Sept. 24-Oct. 16 (23 days, with a two-bird daily bag limit).

Northern Lower Peninsula (Middle Zone)—Oct. 1-Oct. 23 (23 days, with a two-bird daily bag limit).

Southern Lower Peninsula (South Zone)—Oct. 8-Nov. 6 (30 days, with a one-bird daily bag limit).

The DNR Director will close the Canada goose hunting season early in any GMU if the quota is reached before the scheduled end of season.

There will be a late special Canada goose season within the Southern Michigan GMU Jan. 7 through Feb. 5 (30 days), with a daily bag limit of two. This season has been established to assist in the control of the state's local giant Canada goose flocks.

For all waterfowl hunting, shooting hours begin one half-hour before sunrise and end at sunset, as listed in the state Waterfowl Hunting Guide. The guide is expected to be available at all license dealers and DNR offices by Sept. 10, and will provide detailed information on all hunting zones, season dates, bag limits, quotas and shooting hours.

Hunters are also reminded that early September Canada goose seasons (Sept. 1-10 for northern counties, and Sept. 1-15 for southern counties) have already been approved for Michigan to assist in control of local giant Canada geese. The daily bag limit is five. A one-page hunting guide for the early seasons is now available at DNR offices and all license agents.

Waterloo Natural History Programs Set

The Waterloo Natural History Association is sponsoring a series of free interpretative programs at near-by Waterloo Recreation Area over the next two week-ends.

On Saturday, join naturalist Tom Jameson on a 1:30 p.m. hike and learn about wild plants that you can use in every day cooking to enhance your menu. After the wild edible walk, there will be a sample tasting of dishes prepared by Jameson from some of his favorite recipes.

On Sunday, Sept. 25 the association has planned a 2 p.m. family walk to the bog. Naturalist George Sexton will help point out the natural beauty of this woodland visit, to the floating bog that features unique plant life and some enormous trees along the way.

Chelsea Couple Spares Wedding Plans for Surprise Marriage Plunge

Rebecca Ann Sharp wanted to elope. Her boyfriend, Philip Colmer, wanted to avoid the hassles of a big wedding.

Together the skydiving couple compromised and took a surprising wedding plunge that offered their parents no emotional parachute.

They tied the knot Aug. 26 in an uncommon civil ceremony at the Common Grill, where they were married by magistrate George Parker.

Among the 28 invited guests and the judge, the parents were the last to know of their children's intentions, until it was too late for them to do anything but appreciate the moment.

The bride's parents Llewellyn and Betty Ann Sharp IV of Paris, Ky., and the bridegroom's, Malcolm and Marjorie Colmer of Sarasota, Fla., were only just getting acquainted. The event had been put off until the Colmers could visit last month.

They suspected they were attending an engagement party, especially when they walked into the restaurant and found themselves surrounded by familiar faces of other family members.

First, the couple told the assembled gathering they wanted to make an announcement to show their special commitment to each other.

Then they bared fake tattoos as a sign of their engagement. "The parents are gushing, 'we're going to get married.' And then somebody asked, when are you getting married, and we said, 'Right now!'" Philip recalls. "The engagement lasted five minutes."

"That's when our parents about fell over," Rebecca said.

The bride wore a taupe-colored dress instead of traditional white gown. And traditional Hawaiian wedding leis donated by a friend substituted for a bridal bouquet.

After the astonishment had worn off, the ceremony was performed by Parker. Afterward, the wedding party and witnesses celebrated with dinner and champagne.

The next evening, the couple hosted a soiree for 100 guests. Once again the hosts provided a party-crashing plot twist, as Philip and four friends literally dropped in on the affair landing in a neighbor's yard down the block from their Chelsea home.

There's no question that skydiving brought the couple together. But it wasn't exactly love at first jump. Philip, better known as "Flip," 39, a pilot with Northwest Airlines, operates a skydiving center in Napoleon, where he first met his bride.

Rebecca, 38, a product launch coordinator with Colorbok, a Dexter paper manufacturer, used to go skydiving with her boyfriend there. Later, she went to work for a parachute maker in Tennessee, keeping in touch along the way.

"We met 10 or 15 years ago — through skydiving. But at the time, I had another boyfriend. Our paths have crossed on and off since then. We were going out for the past year."

Tragically, Rebecca's friend was killed in a skydiving accident. But even after getting over that, she declined Philip's advances. When he first asked her out, she turned him down cold, telling him she wanted nothing to do with him.

Eventually, he won her over. Then, this spring, they began talking about getting married. First, they talked about a romantic winter wedding in Montana. But they figured that would be too far to go for their families.

Finally they settled on the wedding surprise as a "no muss and fuss" compromise between elopement and a fancy affair. "I really didn't want a big wedding. I wanted to elope. This was his answer to elopement," Rebecca said.

"This was the perfect compromise," says her husband, who went through a traditional wedding during a prior marriage that was annulled.

Despite the informality, the wedding was a hit with his relatives, he said. "They loved it, the way we led up to it. My mom didn't have to fuss with a dress. We just alleviated every muss and fuss item."

Asked why the skydivers didn't exchange vows in the air, Rebecca noted, "There are enough skydivers who do that. We wanted to do something different."

Added Philip, "I'll never be able to top it."

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Chelsea Searching for Answers After Hornets Clobber Bulldogs, 41-0

The two-time defending Southeastern Conference champion Bulldogs, winners of 12 straight league games, are now just a shadow of their former selves.

Suddenly, it's hard times at Chelsea High for the varsity football program.

Coming off a stinging 28-0 defeat at Mason, the Bulldogs surrendered their pride again in dropping a 41-0 league opener to Saline in front of their home fans last Friday night.

Losses are hard to take anytime. But this was one of the worst in recollection for coach Gene LaFave.

His team found itself behind two plays after the kickoff, and trailing by 28 at halftime. Never, said the coach, had one of his teams at Chelsea ever been that far behind at half.

He also had to search his memory to recall the last time his club was shutout twice in a row and beaten by such a wide margin. In fact, he couldn't remember the last time.

Again the Bulldogs sputtered on offense and were leaky on defense. But the Hornets clearly had something to do with that.

Saline, a preseason favorite for the SEC crown, showed why by shutting down Chelsea's running attack (38 yards on 30 carries) while piling up the rushing yards (293 yards and four touchdowns), led by senior fullback Greg DeGrand.

DeGrand had a monster game. He scored a pair of touchdowns on a 26-yard second quarter run and a third quarter 78-yard punt return, rushing for a total of 150 yards on 13 carries.

"He played like this last year. He played like he always does," said Saline coach Jerry Crabtree.

With a low center of gravity, the stocky 5'8, 185-pound running back repeatedly ran through tackles and punished defenders who tried to hit him high.

He got his team off to a rousing start, taking a handoff on the first play from scrimmage and picking up 33 yards to Chelsea's 29-yard line.

On the next play, 50 seconds into the game, senior flanker Scott Smith burst through the middle on a counter play for an easy score.

"That really helped to set the tone. It gave us confidence in ourselves," DeGrand said.

And it sank the heart of a Chelsea team that looked afraid of making a mistake and wound up making plenty.

Sensing his team's deflation and frustrated over Saline's early TD, LaFave took a 15-yard unsportsmanlike conduct penalty on the Bulldogs' second play on offense.

The infraction put the team in a long down and distance hole they frequently found itself in while racking up 102 yards on 12 penalties.

Saline was flagged 15 times for 145 yards in the penalty-marred contest, but routinely overcame them with big plays.

The game, however, turned for the Bulldogs after they had appeared to stop Saline on its second possession following a series of penalties. Facing a fourth and 25, Saline got an automatic first down on roughing the kicker penalty that led to a score three plays later.

After DeGrand was stopped for no gain, quarterback Mike Battle found tight end Mike Soules over the middle for 33 yards to the Chelsea one. Justin Francis bolted over from there, giving the Hornets a 14-0 lead.

Francis accounted for 16 of the Hornets' points. He scored on a pair of touchdowns including a 6-yard third quarter run while making good on four of five extra point attempts for his team.

Battle who completed just three of five passes for 58 yards, was effective when he threw. He hit Kyle Concannon on a 26-yard scoring strike late in the second quarter for his only TD pass.

For Chelsea's offense, pay dirt has become an elusive commodity. After eight quarters, the team has yet to score.

Against Saline, it had only two serious scoring threats.

One came after a first quarter DeGrand fumble set the Bulldogs up at their opponents' 26. But then following two incomplete passes and two five-yard penalties, the Bulldogs fumbled the ball back to Saline.

Their deepest penetration came late in the first half to the Saline 11.

It was an 11-yard improvement over their previous game against Mason.

The late second quarter drive began impressively as Chelsea moved the ball 57 yards on two passes from Pat Lynch to Bryndon Skelton and Paul Bragalone.

On third and 15, Lynch hooked up with Skelton on a 25-yard curl pass, then lofted a 32-yard sideline hitch to Bragalone. Things went downhill after that.

After Lynch was sacked for a seven-yard loss, the Bulldogs got a reprieve when Saline was called for roughing the passer on the next play, giving them a first down at the 13.

But they couldn't capitalize. Following an incomplete pass and a two-yard run, Lynch was intercepted on a tipped pass into the middle that appeared to be trapped but was ruled a catch at Saline's 6-yard line.

For the second week in a row, Jeremy Zeigler was the team's leading ground gainer, picking up 24 yards on six carries. Chris Desarbo, inserted as a running back, also had 20 yards rushing.

But Lynch and Skelton were credited with nine minus yards on 17 carries between them, while Jason Sprawka ran for three yards.

Lynch was 6 for 17 and 69 yards passing to go along with two interceptions.

Crabtree said he was concerned how his team would react to Chelsea after losing a tough non-conference game the week before to Monroe Jefferson, 28-26, on two fourth quarter scores.

"We played all right. I think we played pretty solid. But emotionally I didn't think we were ready. We had a hard week last week," he said.

For LaFave, the outcome couldn't have been more disappointing. He was philosophical about it.

"It's a puzzle. I don't what (the problem) is. We didn't play very well. (Saline) is a good club. They have some talented players," he said.

"I've never been down 28 points at half. I can't recall a worse defeat (by score). It's just difficult."

"We can move the ball. We're not dynamic. Hopefully, we can improve. It's high school football, you have to have hope," he said.

Chelsea Girls Basketball Team Solid Contender for SEC Title

With only a week to go before it starts league play, Chelsea's varsity girls basketball team looks solid and ready to contend for the title.

Last year, the Bulldogs were second in the Southeastern Conference with a 10-2 mark, finishing 14-7 over-all.

This season, coach Charlie Waller is hoping to improve on that with a team featuring a big and experienced starting lineup he refers to as, "Four seniors and Annie."

Annie is 6'1" junior center Annie Terpstra, daughter of junior varsity basketball coach Paul Terpstra. The seniors include 6'3" forward Courtney Thompson, guards Jessica Flintoft (5'10"), Charlotte Zeigler (5'5") and Kate Steele (5'6").

They have kick-started the Bulldogs to a 4-0 non-conference record with easy wins over Jackson County Western, Fowlerville, Stockbridge and Manchester.

None of the games have been close, with Chelsea dominating its opponents on both ends of the floor. The team is doubling up averaging 70 points a contest while giving up just under 35.

Waller, who doesn't want his club to peak early, is underplaying its potential suggesting it will be one of the league's "competitive teams."

But most think Chelsea will battle Pinckney and its top player senior forward-center Nicole Cushing for the league crown as it did last season. They will square off at Chelsea on Oct. 11 and again on Nov. 8 in Pinckney, the second to last game of the season before the district tournament.

The Pirates are two-time defending league champs coming off a 17-5, and 11-1 SEC mark in 1993.

There's no question the Bulldogs will pose problems for the rest of the league. And Waller's only worry is making sure they "learn how to play hard and win."

So far, they've been good pupils.

Through four games, Thompson has been the team's leading scorer averaging just over 21 points per game. Terpstra (18 ppg) and Flintoft (10 ppg) are also scoring threats on a team loaded with weapons.

The team's biggest asset is its twin tower attack featuring the T girls — Thompson and Terpstra. Besides their scoring, they give the Bulldogs an imposing frontline and rebounding power. Both are averaging almost 10 rebounds a game.

In a 24-point victory over Stockbridge last week, Thompson showed why she's also a nightmare for opponents by swatting away 12 shots. In that game, she also scored 29 points and pulled down 10 rebounds.

But the team is also getting contributions from the backcourt combination of Zeigler, Flintoft and Steele.

The three are play-making guards who can light it up if given the chance.

Flintoft had 16 points in the Bulldogs' 73-31 opening game victory against Jackson Western on Aug. 30. She also snared 10 rebounds while Zeigler chipped in with six assists.

Against Stockbridge, Zeigler pumped in 10 points. Meanwhile, Steele has been steady, averaging about four points a game.

Off the bench, Waller calls on junior reserves Heide Kemnitz, Jessica Inwood, Suzy Steele, Heidi Wehrwein and lone sophomore, Kasie Ruhlig.

This week, the team was slated for an away game Tuesday at Jackson Lumen Christi, then an open date before resuming non-conference play on the road against Williamston on Sept. 20.

After that, SEC action begins with the Bulldogs facing the Big Red at Milan on Sept. 22.

PUZZLED. Chelsea football coach Gene LaFave and his staff are trying to determine why the Bulldogs are getting off to such slow first quarter starts. Against Saline, Chelsea trailed 14-0 late in the quarter en-route to a 41-0 defeat.

Farm Bureau Raps Suggestion To Convert State Fairgrounds

The president of the state's largest farm organization said that Michigan agriculture would suffer a great loss if the Michigan State Fairgrounds are converted into an office park, as proposed recently by Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer's Land Use Task Force.

"The State Fair is an important vehicle for communications between rural Michigan and southeast Michigan," said Jack Laurie, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau and chairman of the State Fair Council. "I believe that to do something other than to hold the State Fair at the fairgrounds would certainly take away from the opportunities that farmers have to tell the agricultural story and share some of the interesting things that happen in Michigan agriculture with our customers in the Detroit area."

Laurie said that the Land Use Task Force recommendation is very short sighted. "The State Fair Council and current management have worked diligently to bring the State Fair back to being an important and viable part of Detroit's heritage. This task force recommendation is focused only on short term economic benefits rather than the long-term cultural, economic and social development of the Detroit area," he said.

Bulldog Golfers Split SEC Matches

The Chelsea High school golf team split four matches last week at Inverness Country Club.

On Sept. 6, the team defeated Milan 186 to 207, but was beaten by Tecumseh, which had the top nine-hole total of 157 in the three-way contest. The Indians are regarded as the favorite to capture the conference title in golf.

Adam Beauchamp once again topped the leader board for the Bulldogs, finishing with a 42. Teammates Jim Tallman shot a 44, Justin Kusterer, 49, and Josh Bernhard, 51.

Last Thursday, Chelsea claimed a two-stroke victory over Pinckney, 186 to 188, but fell to Dexter, which carded a combined 171 for the low team total of the day.

Tallman led the Bulldogs with a score of 43, followed by Beauchamp, 44, Steve McDonald, 49, Bernhard and Ryan Fisher, who each shot a 50.

As a result of those matches, Chelsea's record now stands at 4-2. With the fall golf season at the midway point, coach Jim Tallman said he is pleased with the team's progress.

"We have a fairly respectable record. Hopefully, we can continue to improve and match our efforts in the second half," he said.

Chelsea Seeking To Reverse Kickoff Letdown Against Milan

Maybe it would help if the Bulldogs won the coin flip.

In its first two games, Chelsea has kicked off to Mason and Saline to start the first half only to see both immediately march the ball into its end zone.

March isn't even the right word. Gallop, is more like it. The Bulldogs have allowed their opponents to score on opening drives of 69 and 62 yards.

However, it's not the length of the drives, it's their duration that's so disturbing. A total 131 yards on 11 plays, an average of better than 11 yards per play on opponents' first possessions.

Two plays. Fifty seconds. That's how long it took for Saline to get on the board last Friday. Some fans at Niehaus Field hadn't even settled in their seats yet.

Stunning first quarter letdowns have put the first two games out of reach before the Bulldogs knew what hit them.

At this point, you can't even call the defense minute men.

And with the Bulldogs still looking for their first touchdown after 96 minutes of play, time hasn't exactly been on their side.

On Friday, the team will look to reverse those negative trends in a home game against Milan.

Coach Gene LaFave, perplexed by the Bulldogs' performance, said he might tinker with some lineup changes.

Against Saline, he started 5'8", 188-pound Chris Desarbo in the backfield hoping to bulk up the Bulldog attack. On the team roster, the sophomore is listed as an offensive guard/linebacker.

But as an emergency fullback he ran the ball hard, gaining 20 yards on six carries.

There could be similar moves by the coach. "We'll probably toy with that," he said. But he admits there isn't much he can do unless team execution improves on both sides of the ball.

"There's only so many changes you can make. At some point, the kids you got, have to start making plays. Hopefully, some of the kids can improve."

However, the Big Red will provide a big test. They are coming off a last-second 13-9 victory over Pinckney on a 77-yard hook and lateral play that capped a nine point fourth quarter comeback.

Milan features lots of speed at the skill positions led by senior running back Destin Woolard who rushed for a pair of touchdowns including the last 70 yards on the flea flicker against the Pirates.

All told, he accounted for 198 yards in total offense (115 yards rushing and 83 receiving) against Pinckney.

Woolard also was credited for three sacks in that game. So, he presents problems on offense and defense.

"I know they're very talented at quarterback (Mike Byrd) and tailback," LaFave said. "Their backs are very good. They're rebuilding along the line."

And just like Saline, Milan will be pointing at Chelsea to repay past conference debts.

The team has a chance to right the ship before sinking into a long season. Whether the Bulldogs have the wherewithal for a gut-check challenge remains to be seen.

"It's just difficult. It's a tough league. There are no soft spots," LaFave said.

KICKOFF. Chelsea's Casey Wescott boots the opening game kickoff to Saline in last Friday night's home opener. Two plays later, the Hornets got on the board after a 33-yard run by Scott Smith. The Bulldogs are looking to reverse a trend of allowing opponents to score after opening kickoffs in first two games.

JV Football Team Seeking To End Skid

Chelsea's junior varsity football team is looking for its first win after two games.

The sophomore squad has dropped a pair of tightly-contested games to Mason High School, 18-13, and Saline, 14-0.

On Sept. 1, Mason outscored the Bulldogs in a see-saw affair that the Bulldogs twice led and had a chance to win in the waning moments.

But Chelsea's final drive ended at the Mason 20 as time ran out.

Tailback John Beamon had a huge game against the rival Bulldogs, rushing for 175 yards, while quarterback Dusty White was 6 for 10 and 83 yards passing.

Despite the loss, coach Tucker Steele said his team "definitely played very well."

Last Thursday, the team dropped another hard-fought game that was scoreless until the final two seconds of the third quarter.

Saline got a 30-yard TD run up the middle. The Hornets closed out their scoring with six minutes left in the fourth quarter on a 20-yard off tackle play.

While the Bulldogs repeatedly moved the ball, they were unable to punch in for a score. Twice in the first half, Chelsea got within the shadow of Saline's end zone, only to be turned away.

Their deepest drive stalled after a failed fourth and goal from the 4-yard line. "We moved the ball effectively all night," Steele said.

Wideouts Chris Kezer and Jesse

Wiese both had standout performances in that game. Kezer had four grabs for 25 yards while Wiese caught three passes from White for 45 yards.

Freshman Football Team Earns Win

The Chelsea freshman football team became the high school's first to win a game this season when it posted a 6-0 victory over Saline on Sept. 6.

A fumbled punt at the Saline 30 set up the lone score of the night. Cornerback Bob Kranick came up with the loose ball for the Bulldogs.

Ten plays later, Don Reilly scored for Chelsea behind a strong block from Tom Holdsworth.

The Bulldogs shutout the Hornets with solid defensive play led by Kranick, cornerback Joe Frost, tackle Joe Barkman and linebacker Ben Whelan.

Despite several drives inside the Bulldogs' 20, Chelsea repeatedly turned away the Hornets. Safety Adam Erskine helped out with an interception, but coach Bill Bainton called it an impressive, over-all team effort.

"We had a tremendous effort from the entire defense. We played our positions much better this week and didn't get pushed off the ball," Bainton said.

Although the offense played sporadically, it came up big down the stretch, holding the ball for 10 plays to run the last three minutes off the clock. It converted on three crucial third down situations during that final possession.

"We wanted to hold the ball more to protect the lead, and we were able to when we really had to," Bainton said.

Fast Start for Chelsea Swimmers

If early meet results are any indication, this could be a banner year for Chelsea's girls varsity swimming team.

The Bulldogs captured a Sept. 6 meet-opening victory at Adrian 99-87, then followed it up with an eighth place finish at the Battle Creek Lakeview Invitational four days later.

In Saturday's invitational won by Ann Arbor's Pioneer High school with 202 points, Chelsea scored 105 points, placing only behind Albion (107 points) among Class B schools. A total of 17 high schools competed in the meet.

"Both meets were great team efforts," said coach Dave Brinklow. "We only took four firsts at the Adrian meet, but managed to keep even or out score them in every event."

"In the Battle Creek meet, we scored better than we ever have before with four relays in the top six, and three others in the top 12," he said.

Already, six Bulldog swimmers have qualified for the state meet in November off their early pool performances.

Erin Hack, Erin Baird, Kim Grossman and Betsy Schmunk qualified in both the 200 and 400 freestyle relays against Adrian.

Sarah Broshar joined with Hack, Schmunk and Baird to qualify in the 400 free relay at Battle Creek. Also qualifying there were Kelly Bowers, Broshar, Hack and Baird in the 200 free relay.

Cross Country Teams Shine In Bath Invitational Meet

Chelsea's cross country teams continue to shine, as its varsity squads finished first and second in the 10-team Bath Invitational on Saturday.

The boys team won its meet with a low score of 57, outdistancing its nearest competitor, Ann Arbor's Huron High school by a whopping 30-point margin.

The girls varsity cross country team was also impressive, posting a score of 49 to finish 16 points behind first place Class A Rockford High School, rated third in the state.

Individually, the Bulldogs were well represented in both varsity and junior varsity meets.

Senior tri-captains Ryan Schultz, Chad Brown and Scott Hawley, finished in 5th, 6th and 9th place to lead the boys team to victory. All three ran the course in just under 17 minutes, only nine seconds apart.

They were joined by teammates Josh Metzler (15th), Ashley Coy (22nd), Tim Lawrence (25th), and Nick Kramer (30th) as meet medal winners.

Coach Pat Clarke was very pleased with his team's performance. "This was a good victory for the boys. Our three senior captains all ran in 16 minutes which is just outstanding."

But as any coach looking to push his team onward, Clarke notes, "We still need to improve our times by the end of the season."

On the girls side, the varsity placed three runners among the meet's top 10 finishers. They included freshman Jeannie Spink (3rd), Melissa Hand (4th) and Katie Spink (9th). All three ran in the 20 minute range, just 35 seconds of each other.

Karen Pieper (13th), Meghann Zeigler (20) and Jenny Space (30th) joined their teammates as medal winners.

As the varsity's seventh member, Sabrina Flannery also ran a strong race finishing 32nd, just out of the medal hunt. She ran the course in 22:19 only four seconds behind Space.

"The girls ran very well," Clarke said. "We had our captains Melissa Hand (19:50) and Katie Spink (20:11) both run season's best times despite being injured."

Zeigler (21:17) also ran her best time of the year in spite of illness, he noted.

But it was Jeannie Spink who really made the difference. "She ran a super race to finish third in 19:50," Clarke said.

The team showed it will be a force in the conference by making such a strong showing, the coach said. "Rockford won the meet, but we gave them a run," he said.

Meanwhile, the depth of Chelsea's cross country squads was evidenced in the junior varsity ranks. Five JV boys runners placed in the top 10 with Brian Atlee leading the way.

On the JV course, he finished first with the meet's best time of 17:58. Teammates Kevin Kolodica (4th), Kevin Coy (5th), Dan Wehrwein (8th) and Eric Lefurge (9th) ran just behind.

Out of the meet's 176 runners, Chelsea entered 25, with 10 finishing among the top 50, including seven medal winners.

The JV girls team was led by Melissa Williams (4th) and Rachel Schoenberg (5th). They were among six Bulldog runners who were medal winners. The others were Sarah Jedele (12th), Sarah Metzler (21), Shanell McWhorter (23rd) and Jill McKinnon (25th).

Bath Invitational Meet results:

Varsity boys: Chelsea, 57, Huron High school, 87, Eaton Rapids, 97, Lowell, 103, Holt, 108, Marshall, 113, Owosso, 142, Waverly, 198, Lakeville, 270, Chesaning (did not finish)

Senior Captains Set Pace

Senior captains Ryan Schultz, Chad Brown and Scott Hawley ran 13 seconds apart in capturing three of the top four places to lead the Chelsea cross country team to an opening meet victory over Pinckney at Pirate Hills.

The Bulldogs won the Sept. 6 meet 24-32, as Schultz placed first with a time of 17:32.5 followed by Chad Brown, who finished third at 17:43. Hawley came in fourth with a time of 17:55.8.

For Pinckney, Casey Lince was the team's top meet performer, finishing second at 17:38.6.

Chelsea sophomore Tim Lawrence, and seniors Josh Metzler and Nick Kramer also finished among the meet's top 10 placers.

Lawrence ran seventh with a time of 18:39.1, his best time of the season, while Metzler finished ninth at 18:44.1 and Kramer was 10th at 18:52.5. Both were career best times for those runners.

Coach Pat Clarke cited the work of his team captains in setting the pace for the victory.

But he noted the contributions of their teammates including Ashley Coy who wound up 15th as the varsity's seventh runner. The sophomore finished with a time of 19:23.2 in his first meet.

"This was a big win since Pinckney was one of the preseason conference favorites with 12 seniors returning," Clarke said.

The Bulldogs were scheduled for a conference meet Tuesday against Saline, which is also expected to contend for the conference championship. The Hornets are led by Pat Morris.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

This letter is being written to let the people of Washtenaw county know how lucky they are to have Brian Mackie as their county prosecutor.

Mr. Mackie, and his staff, recently completed their work on the trial of my husband's murderer. During the long, difficult months since Joe's murder, my family, friends and I have learned much about the criminal justice system and the rights of crime victims, as detailed in the Crime Victims Rights Act of 1985, which was sponsored by Michigan Senator William Van Regenmorter.

Mr. Mackie proved, throughout the investigation and trial, that he is a true victims' rights advocate. He was open, honest and informative, helping us to learn, as painlessly as possible, about the criminal justice system, at a time when we were hurting deeply. We were treated with respect and dignity. Our rights were clear and well supported by Mr. Mackie and his staff. He welcomed our input, set aside time for us, and never rushed us when we called or came to him with questions and concerns.

Mr. Mackie epitomizes the true meaning of a public official's responsibility to the people. He is invested in, and dedicated to, his role as the Washtenaw County Prosecutor. It is clear that this isn't just a job for him. He shows, through his actions, that he is truly dedicated to representing the people of Michigan while carefully considering the needs of the victims. All of the law abiding citizens of our county can be very proud of the way Mr. Mackie does his job.

Respectfully submitted,
Marlene K. Piasecki

Girls Cross Country Win First Meet

The Chelsea girls cross country team swept four of the top five places to earn a first meet win against highly-regarded Pinckney, 24-32, on Sept. 6.

The team was led by junior Melissa Hand, who despite injury was the meet's top runner with a time of 21:05. She finished, just ahead of Pinckney's Kris Lawrence, the league's mile champion.

Junior Katie Spink and freshmen Jeannie Spink and Megan Ziegler ran 36 seconds apart in claiming third, fourth and fifth place in the meet, outdistancing their nearest opponent by almost a minute.

Sophomore Jenny Space finished 10th and freshman Sabrina Flannery ran 11th to round out the varsity's lead seven performers.

"This was a big win for our young team," said coach Pat Clarke. "The Pinckney team was 18th in the state in Class A and one of the league favorites."

Clarke noted that the cross country course at Pirate Hills is "one of the most rugged that we run. It is very confusing with many jigs and jogs."

Freshman Karen Piper was a victim of the course when she took a wrong turn with only 150 meters left to run. The mistake cost her, as she dropped from sixth to 12th place.

"It's the kind of thing that happens to freshmen in their first race. But she'll come back strong for the next one," Clarke said.

The team was set to run against Saline at Hudson Mills Metro Park on Tuesday prior to the boys cross country meet involving the same schools.

Senior captains Ryan Schultz, Chad Brown and Scott Hawley ran 13 seconds apart in capturing three of the top four places to lead the Chelsea cross country team to an opening meet victory over Pinckney at Pirate Hills.

The Bulldogs won the Sept. 6 meet 24-32, as Schultz placed first with a time of 17:32.5 followed by Chad Brown, who finished third at 17:43. Hawley came in fourth with a time of 17:55.8.

For Pinckney, Casey Lince was the team's top meet performer, finishing second at 17:38.6.

Chelsea sophomore Tim Lawrence, and seniors Josh Metzler and Nick Kramer also finished among the meet's top 10 placers.

Lawrence ran seventh with a time of 18:39.1, his best time of the season, while Metzler finished ninth at 18:44.1 and Kramer was 10th at 18:52.5. Both were career best times for those runners.

Coach Pat Clarke cited the work of his team captains in setting the pace for the victory.

But he noted the contributions of their teammates including Ashley Coy who wound up 15th as the varsity's seventh runner. The sophomore finished with a time of 19:23.2 in his first meet.

"This was a big win since Pinckney was one of the preseason conference favorites with 12 seniors returning," Clarke said.

The Bulldogs were scheduled for a conference meet Tuesday against Saline, which is also expected to contend for the conference championship. The Hornets are led by Pat Morris.

SHELLEY WILLIAMS on Northstar, took a second in jumping for the Chelsea Equestrian team at Saturday's District Meet.

SARAH WILSON on Sparkle, and Jennifer Swope on Baltimore were prepared to show their skills as they wait for a class at Saturday's first District Meet.

THE KENTALA SISTERS, Keri on Callie and Kelly on Gally, had an excellent day at Saturday's first District Meet.

Antlerless Deer License Applications Available

Department of Natural Resources application forms and guides for antlerless deer hunting licenses are now available at more than 1,700 license dealers throughout Michigan.

In order to be entered in the computer drawing for these licenses, applications must be postmarked on or before Sept. 24.

An antlerless deer hunting license allows a hunter to take a deer without antlers, or with antlers less than three inches in length, during the regular firearm deer hunting season, Nov. 15-30.

Antlerless deer licenses not used during the regular firearm season will be valid for use in designated deer management units during the Dec. 2-11 muzzleloading season in the Upper Peninsula, the Dec. 9-18 muzzleloading season in the Lower Peninsula, or the Dec. 1, 1994, to Jan. 1, 1995, portion of the bow-hunting season.

To apply for an antlerless deer hunting license, hunters must first purchase an application card (at a non-refundable $3 fee), a 1994 deer hunting license and a 1994 passbook.

The DNR holds a random drawing each fall to determine which applicants will be issued antlerless deer hunting licenses. By Nov. 1, successful hunters will be mailed a back tag, allowing them to take an antlerless deer in a specific deer management unit.

A total of 171,797 antlerless deer hunting licenses will be available in 90 deer management units where deer numbers need to be stabilized or reduced. This is an 11 percent reduction from the 190,482 antlerless deer hunting licenses issued in 1993.

HEARING AIDS

Q. I recently had a physical and my doctor said I didn't have any cerumen (wax) in my ear. I still have a problem hearing. What do you suggest?

A. A person can have a hearing loss with or without wax in their ear. If a person's ear is completely blocked with wax they will have about a 40 db hearing loss. However, a person may have a 40 db hearing loss with absolutely no wax in their ear. This is because the problem lies beyond the eardrum which is not evident upon visual inspection of the ear. The only sure way to tell if you have a hearing loss regardless of whether there is wax in your ear or not is to have a complete hearing evaluation. This will determine the exact degree of loss and the type of loss you have. By type of loss I mean whether the loss is conductive or sensorineural. A conductive loss may be correctable by your family doctor or ENT (ear, nose, and throat specialist). A sensorineural hearing loss is not correctable by surgery. A hearing aid may be of benefit to you in either case depending upon what you choose to do.

If you are concerned about whether you may have hearing loss please call our office and we will do a complete hearing evaluation for you and go over the results with you in detail. Then you will know for sure whether you have a hearing loss or not, to what degree, and what type of loss you have. You will not have to wonder anymore. Our Jackson Road office is open Mon.-Thur. 9-4:30; and Sears Mon.-Fri. 10-5; and by appointment.

Others Present: J. Groesser, B. Roberts, S. Comstock, D. Parisho, J. Parlaho, C. Clouse, M. Carlson, P. Flintoft, J. Leitz.

The first order of business was public participation and Ms. Susan Comstock discussed with Council her part-time business. Ms. Comstock was not aware that she needed a permit to teach piano lessons in her home part-time. She feels the $200.00 fee is excessive. Rosemary Harook, Zoning Inspector, explained to the Council that Ms. Comstock needed to comply with the Special Land Use permit required.

Motion by Dorer, supported by Merkel, to waive the $200 fee required for a Special Land Use permit for Ms. Comstock's minor part-time job. Trustee Dorer withdrew his motion as did Trustee Merkel.

The Council discussed the reasons behind the fee, the necessary costs associated with compliance, and other matters related to this issue.

Motion by Dorer, supported by Merkel, to ask the Planning Ordinance Revision Committee (PORC) to review the fee schedule for Special Land Uses. Additionally, the Council requested that PORC would report back to the Council the first meeting in September with a recommendation, they should investigate costs incurred as well as a sliding scale for payment. No action will be taken regarding Ms. Susan Comstock until after the first meeting in September and after review and recommendation of the PORC Committee. All Ayes. Motion carried.

Motion by Rigg, supported by Dorer, to approve the Consent Agenda with the following change:

From: Motion by Hammer, supported by Daut, to approve Ann Arbor Architects Collaborative to evaluate the two buildings East of the current Municipal Building. The work will be performed on an hourly basis and findings will be reported to Council. If the evaluation proves to be a viable operation then they are to proceed with a full evaluation of the site. If the sites are not viable in their professional judgment that Ann Arbor Architects Collaborative is authorized to take the first steps in evaluating the Park Street site they have identified. Authorization of additional evaluation and site selections are approved for a cost not to exceed $750.00 in addition to the previously mentioned funds. All Ayes. Motion carried.

Motorists Should Be Wary of Slow Moving Farm Equipment

As farmers begin rolling into the late summer-early fall harvest season, it's important for motorists driving in rural areas to be aware of the hazards of slow-moving farm equipment.

"The motoring public doesn't always realize that the farm implements they encounter on roads are moving so slowly," said Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau. "In addition, the cool, drizzly evenings this time of year can lead to poor visibility. Motorists and farmers should take special precautions," he said.

Nelson suggests that motorists very cautiously approach farm equipment traveling on roads and be aware that some implements are extra wide. "Farmers can do their part by ensuring that their equipment has adequate lighting and displays Slow Moving Vehicle (SMV) signs. State law requires that a red light be displayed on the rear of implements of husbandry, although this requirement can be met by a vehicle that is trailing the implement. Optional, flashing yellow lights are also helpful," Nelson said.

Tractors and other equipment sometimes track slippery mud from fields onto roadways. Several county Farm Bureaus have co-operated with county road commissions to minimize the hazard to motorists, according to Nelson.

Food Prices Rise Only Slightly Over Last Quarter

American consumers are paying slightly more for groceries this quarter than they paid last quarter, according to results of the American Farm Bureau Federation's quarterly market basket survey.

Consumers this quarter paid an average of $30.39 for 16 popular market basket items. That average reflects an 18-cent increase over the second quarter figure of $30.21. The market basket total is up 64 cents from a year ago when the average was $29.75.

Prices this quarter remained relatively steady across the board compared to last quarter. Items that carried slightly higher prices this quarter included whole fryers, eggs, milk, cheese, apples, potatoes, flour, cooking oil, shortening and mayonnaise. Items that went down in price this quarter included ground chuck, sirloin tip roast, pork chops, bacon, cereal and bread.

The latest quarterly price survey of popular grocery items was updated in late August. Since AFBF began tracking market basket prices five years ago, aggregate prices have remained within a narrow range, from a low of $28.50 in the first quarter of 1989, to a high of $31.44 in the third quarter of 1990.

At $30.39, the latest report is $1.05 below the 1990 high, but it did represent the highest market basket price reported since the second quarter of 1991 ($30.64).

More than 90 shoppers in 34 states participated in the latest survey.

State Farm Bureau Takes Position on Ballot Proposals

Michigan Farm Bureau announced its position on three of the four proposals that will appear on the Nov. 8 ballot.

MFB supports a "yes" vote on C, the referendum to amend Michigan's auto insurance laws. The farm organization urges a "no" vote on A, the proposal to convene a constitutional convention. Farm Bureau is neutral on P, the proposal to establish a Michigan state parks endowment fund. MFB takes no position on B, the proposal to limit criminal appeals.

"For too long we have endured an auto insurance system where we are forced to pay for policies that are weighted down with unnecessary costs—dollars that all too often end up in the hands of trial lawyers and those who file fraudulent, unnecessary or ridiculous claims," said MFB president Jack Laurie. "Proposal C gives the people of Michigan the opportunity to take control of their own auto insurance needs and purchase policies that reflect those needs."

Farm Bureau does not believe there are currently any major issues that should be addressed through a state constitutional convention, Laurie said. "Major issues that have occurred since the constitutional convention of 1964 have been handled by constitutional amendments, which we think is a most adequate procedure," he said.

Future of Teaching on Live Satellite at WCC

How drastically is technology changing the way teachers teach and students learn? That's what educational experts will discuss in a live satellite forum broadcast at Washtenaw Community College Thursday, Sept. 15.

"Learning Shock 2000: The Changing Frontier in Education" will be broadcast live from 1:30 to 4 p.m. in the Towsley Auditorium, located in the Morris Lawrence Building (formerly the Job Skills/Campus Events Building). The teleconference, presented by the PBS Adult Learning Satellite Service and produced by the Dallas County Community College District, is free and open to the public. A phone line will be available to ask questions of the panelists.

The forum will provide a stimulating debate on some of the most pressing educational issues of our time, including the use of interactive video for long distance learning, multi-media software for classroom presentations, and wireless communications for linking computers. Well-known experts in educational technology, instructional design, and economic policy will discuss the future of education and the role of technology in teaching.

The program will help unravel the challenges faced by educators today who are trying to keep up with technological change and the shifting needs of all learners to meet business demand for a technically-trained workforce.

Everyone who attends will receive a complete set of handouts that provide much-needed reference information for use long after the program is over. Pre-registration is encouraged.

For more information, contact Joy Thorne in the WCC Learning Technologies Department at (313) 973-3383.

HAROLD GROSS of Dexter received special recognition at Saturday's Chelsea Fair Board thank you party. On checking the records it was found that Harold has served continuously on the Fair Board for 50 years, making him the longest serving member. As a token of appreciation Fair Board president Ken McCalla presented him with a floral centerpiece.

National Merit Scholarship Semifinalists Named for 1995

National Merit Scholarship Corporation announced today the names of some 15,000 semifinalists in the 1995 National Merit Scholarship Program, including six from this area.

About half of one percent of each state's high school graduating class is represented in the nation-wide pool of semifinalists. These academically talented high school seniors have an opportunity to continue in the competition for approximately 6,700 Merit Scholarships, worth more than $26 million, to be awarded next spring.

Semifinalists from this area include James Drain and Joshua Metzler of Chelsea; Andrei Nemoianu and Phillip Shaltis of Grass Lake; Jennifer Nobsch of Manchester; and Jeffrey McWilliams of Pinckney.

NMSC is a privately financed, not-for-profit corporation whose scholarship activities are supported by some 600 independent sponsor organizations and institutions. By publicly honoring semifinalists, NMSC hopes to broaden educational opportunities for these able young men and women and encourage public interest in academic excellence.

More than one million juniors in over 19,000 U.S. high schools entered the 1995 Merit Program by taking the 1993 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, which served as an initial screen of program entrants. The highest scorers in each state were designated semifinalists in numbers based on the state's percentage of the national total of graduating high school seniors. Semifinalists must now advance to the finalist level of the competition in order to be considered for Merit Scholarships.

To qualify as a finalist, a semifinalist must fulfill several additional requirements. These include having an outstanding academic record, being endorsed and recommended by the high school principal and submitting SAT I scores that confirm the student's earlier PSAT/NMSQT performances. Also, the semifinalist and an official of the high school must complete information on the student's interests and goals, as well as participation and leadership in school and community activities. About 90 percent of the semifinalists are expected to become finalists, and all Merit Scholars will be chosen from the group of exceptionally able finalists.

Winners of Merit Scholarships will be selected on the basis of professional evaluations of finalists' abilities, accomplishments and personal attributes considered important for success in rigorous college studies—without regard to gender, race, ethnic origin or religious preference. Three types of scholarships will be awarded in 1995. Every finalist will be considered for one of 2,000 National Merit $2,000 scholarships to be offered on a state representation basis; NMSC's own funds will underwrite 80 percent of these awards, and grants from corporate scholarship sponsors will finance about 20 percent.

Corporations, foundations and other business organizations also will support some 1,100 Merit Scholarships for finalists who meet a sponsor's preferential criteria. Most corporate-sponsored awards will be provided for children of employees of the grantor organization, but some will be offered for residents of communities a company serves or finalists whose career goals a sponsor wishes to encourage.

College and university sponsors are expected to provide more than $3,600 Merit Scholarships. Winners of college-sponsored Merit Scholarships will be chosen from among finalists who will attend the institutions financing the awards.

★ Proper Estate Planning Can Protect Your Assets

Reluctant to think about dying, many people fail to develop a proper estate plan. As a result, their heirs can be embroiled in a time consuming and expensive legal process and the estate is often subject to unnecessary taxes. To avoid this situation and ensure that your estate is distributed according to your wishes, the Michigan Association of CPAs (MACPA) offers the following guidance.

Make a Will

The basic element of any estate plan is a will. A will specifies how and when your assets should be distributed and names an executor who is responsible for managing your estate. Your will should also name legal guardians for your minor children in the event that both you and your spouse die.

Without a will, the court names an executor to distribute your assets. In many cases, this is a court administrator who must be paid from your estate. The court also selects a guardian for your minor children and, if family members fight over custody, your estate pays for the legal battle—depriving your children of yet more of your hard-earned assets.

Finally, the absence of a will allows state law to allocate your property among your heirs. But how your assets are split may not be in your family's best interest. For example, the state may split the money between your spouse and your children. However, even if your spouse needs the children's portion of the money to meet household expenses, he or she may not be able to obtain it.

Take Advantage of Estate Tax Exemptions

Another important part of estate planning is ensuring that your estate is structured in a way that enables you to take advantage of available exemptions. For estates under $10 million, the first $600,000 of assets is exempt from federal estate and gift tax.

There is also an unlimited marital deduction, which enables a married person to transfer an unlimited amount of property tax free to the surviving spouse. However, when the surviving spouse dies, only $600,000 of assets in the estate will be shielded from estate taxes. Amounts over $600,000 are taxed at rates ranging from 37 to 55 percent. Couples with modest estates could minimize estate taxes by dividing their assets so each spouse separately owns no more than $600,000 in assets. If one spouse dies, these assets could bypass the other spouse and go directly to other heirs. In this way, the surviving spouse's estate would not exceed $600,000 and heirs would benefit from the doubling of the exemption amounts.

Use Trusts and Gifts

To Reduce Your Taxable Estate

If you anticipate having more than $600,000 in assets, there are other steps you can take to reduce your taxable estate and pass more of your wealth onto your heirs.

• Establish a by-pass trust.—This type of trust provides a mechanism for you to pass assets directly to your heirs, without the assets being included in the taxable estate of your spouse. A typical by-pass trust would enable the widow or widower to receive income from the trust. At his or her death, the principal would pass to the children.

• Make Gifts.—You can give any number of people a gift of up to $10,000 a year (up to $20,000 a year if you make a joint gift with your spouse) without paying tax on your gifts.

• Consider an Irrevocable Life Insurance Trust.—You can give your life insurance policy, and all control over it, to a trust and pay the premiums with gifts to the trust. On your death, the proceeds of the policy are paid to the trust and are not included in your estate. Your family can draw on the trust's income for life and your beneficiaries can eventually obtain the remainder.

Know the Value of Your Estate

Don't assume that your estate is too small for you to be concerned about taxes and estate planning. It may be larger than you realize. Your estate includes your home and other real estate; stocks, bonds and other investments; interest in a closely held business; as well as your car, jewelry, antiques and other valuables. It also includes benefits from profit-sharing plans and the face value of your life insurance policies.

Clinton Needs Better Advice on Haiti

By involving his Administration and the United States ever deeper in the crisis over Haiti, President Clinton is getting bad advice from biased sources. What he needs are the straight facts.

By Philip C. Clarke

As pressure mounted for a U.S. invasion of Haiti, Senate minority leader Bob Dole and his Republican colleagues proposed a bipartisan Congressional commission to find a peaceful solution to the dangerous stand-off. The 11th hour gesture was promptly rejected by the Democrat majority.

Meantime, the Congressional Black Caucus and other influential liberal forces stepped up their pressure for armed action to remove Haiti's military rulers and return to power the country's deposed civilian leader, Jean-Bertrand Aristide, now in exile in the U.S.

The Clinton Administrations' months-long economic embargo against Haiti clearly had backfired, hurting the poor people it was supposed to help. Half-starved and desperate, a swelling tide of Haitian refugees took to the sea in rickety, overcrowded boats, overwhelming attempts by U.S. authorities to process their claims for asylum.

Flip-flopping between accepting or rejecting the incoming refugee flood—Florida complained of a critical overload—the White House ended up imploring Panama and other Caribbean nations to take thousands of the Haitians and send the bill to Washington. It was an unseemly spectacle, drawing scorn from critics at home and abroad.

Calling the refugee situation "a crisis of our own making," Senator Dole accused the Clinton Administration of "beating war drums in search of a public reason to invade Haiti." Such an invasion, he added, "would be a grave mistake and unnecessarily risk American lives." Judging by the polls, a vast majority of Americans agreed. So did history.

When U.S. Marines landed in Haiti in 1915 to restore order, they were stuck in the impoverished strife-torn country for 19 years. And nothing much changed. Once again, the U.S., the world's No. 1 superpower, found itself up against the smallest and poorest country in the Western hemisphere.

Buying the liberal line—Aristide's chief lobbyist, former Democratic Congressman Michael Barnes, reportedly receives $55,000 a month for his services—the Clinton White House talks loudly of the need to "restore democracy" in Haiti. But ever since winning independence from France 190 years ago, the Haitians have never known democracy; only a succession of largely corrupt and repressive regimes, the most recent being the 29-year rule of the Duvaliers, which ended in a coup in 1986.

Aristide, a defrocked Roman Catholic priest who has embraced Castro and denounced the U.S., became president in December, 1990, after what was hailed as Haiti's first ever democratic election. But independent observers have told of widespread intimidation at the polls. Moreover, there is substantial evidence that Aristide as president encouraged the torture and murder of political opponents before he was overthrown in a military coup seven months later. Among the atrocities committed on his behalf, the so-called "necklacing" of at least 25 political enemies by placing a gasoline-soaked tire around the victim's neck and setting it afire.

Last December, Republican staff members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee issued a comprehensive, 25-page report on the Haiti crisis, based on a fact-finding visit to the trouble plagued country. During their intensive, four-day investigation, the Senate staffers met with political and military leaders as well as representatives of more than 10 parties in the Haitian parliament, humanitarian workers, business and labor union officials and diplomatic envoys from the U.S., U.N., and O.A.S.

The factual, hard-hitting report makes a compelling case for ending the U.S. embargo, and warns strongly against sending in troops. "The U.S. has no national security interests in Haiti which justify any type of American military intervention," it stresses. "Helping to establish democracy in a country which does not have democratic traditions is a worthy goal, but not at the expense of American lives."

Asserting that Aristide "lacks support from traditional sectors" of Haitian society, the report concludes: "In fact, human rights abuses may actually escalate if Aristide is brought back to power." What's required to restore order, concludes the GOP report, is "a broad coalition representing the interests of a wide range of Haitian society." This, it suggests, will take time, patience and statesmanship, not the U.S. Marines.

One can only hope President Clinton finds time to read the report, before it's too late.

WHISTLE-STOP BED & BREAKFAST, owned by Jerri Cole, is located at 237 Railroad St.

Whistle-stop Bed & Breakfast Now Open on Railroad St.

Chelsea's newest place of hospitality is the Whistle-stop Bed and Breakfast, 237 Railroad, at the corner of Railroad and McKinley Sts. Owner Jerri Cole has brought Victorian charm, gracious appointments and a restful atmosphere to her recently opened business. She offers accommodations in two different guest rooms, each with a private bath, in the spacious upstairs of her newly renovated home.

The Whistle-stop renovations successfully combine the convenience of modern facilities with an eye for historic and artistic charm. You will find Victorian style paintwork, furnishings, wallpaper and other decorative touches inside and out. Ten-foot ceilings, with the original trim work, provide visual interest even where rooms have been reshaped for the comfort of guests.

Even the carefully restored stairway has been gracefully re-worked to allow for modern tread sizes.

Both rooms offer queen size beds and the private guest bathrooms are appointed with today's conveniences.

Guests are welcome to take breakfast in their rooms, to relax over coffee in the dining room, or to enjoy one of the sitting areas on the wrap-around porch.

Ample parking is conveniently available for guests at the Whistle-stop. The major decision once comfortably established is whether to relax outdoors on the porch, to listen to the player piano in the parlor, or to take in more of Chelsea. The old Chelsea Depot, seen from the front porch, seems to entice one to stroll the short distance to downtown Chelsea's shopping, restaurant and theater establishments.

Guests who choose to have television in their room will find a complete selection of cable channels for news or entertainment.

The Whistle-stop building was known for many years as the Maroney house. Clarence William Maroney, a master carpenter and local builder, brought his new wife, Carrie Vogel, home to the house in 1890. The Maroneys' two children were born in their home. William died in 1936, Carrie in 1941, and both are buried in nearby Oak Grove Cemetery.

This house was built in 1867 by James Davidson, an architect and builder who designed and built several important structures in southeast Michigan, including the first medical school building on the University of Michigan campus in Ann Arbor, an Ann Arbor courthouse which served the county for 44 years, the second jail in Ann Arbor, and North Hall at Albion College.

Davidson built the house at 237 Railroad St. for his retirement, and moved into it in 1868.

Weekday business clients and week-end or holiday guests can reach the Whistle-stop at (313) 475-9987.

HBO SHOWTIME CINEMAX

LADIES DAY COMMITTEES for the Chelsea Fair rode this float in the Saturday Fair Parade. With much hard work behind them they were celebrating a successful Friday's Ladies Day Program before a crowd that filled the covered arena for a four-hour entertainment binge.

Mardi Gras Morning

While not as wild and crazy as the real Mardi Gras, the 1994 "A Mardi Gras Morning" Ladies Day, did have its moments!

Approximately 500 area ladies were present to receive a breakfast of coffee, donuts, juice and lemonade provided entirely by Joe Merkel of Wolverine Food & Spirits. Large stuffed goodie bags awaited each lady over 18 years of age.

The program started off with 1994 fair queen candidates dancing to "Puttin on the Ritz."

Although only 10 ladies participated in the costume contest, Judges Bill Stoffer and Jerry Heydlauff had quite a decision to make. $10 third prize went to a pair of clowns. $15 second prize went to a pair of Hershey kisses (one was a nut!) And the $25 first prize went to a couple of still unidentified elderly women, who simply stole the show!

Dee Burkpole, Chelsea Community Hospital fitness instructor had the audience up on their feet doing warm-up aerobics.

Several young ladies from Susan Heinz's Dance Arts Academy performed three excellent dance routines.

Mrs. Clara Smith, once again this year, presented the Junior Homemaker of the Year awards.

Connie Leckrone, affiliated with Time Out Seminars, presented some frightening statistics regarding crimes against women (and men), humorous/painful stories and then offered very helpful hints for keeping ourselves safe at home, work, in public and while on vacation.

Due to the generosity of the area doctors, merchants, businesses and private parties, the 1994 Ladies Day guests were treated to gifts ranging from little tid-bits to big money. Approximately 128 gift certificates, 65 gifts, 3 $50 savings bonds, the use of a Chrysler LHS for a week-end and 17 cash prizes including 6 $100 gifts and the grand prize of $750 which was won by Denise Martell.

McKUNE MEMORIAL LIBRARY NEW BOOK LIST

Some new selections at McKune Memorial Library from which to choose include the following fiction:

"A Viking Daughter," by John Andrews, fills in the spaces left by 11th century Norse sagas about Gudrid—a woman whose childhood in Iceland and later leader of a Norse colony in Greenland—became the basis for legend.

"The House of Memory," by Nicholas Clifford. From Shanghai in the 1920's to Tianamen Square in 1989, a young American finds striking parallels in history as he finishes research on his book.

"In the Dark," by Carol Brennan. A voice brings back memories from 20 years ago when a domestic quarrel by the heroine's parents turned into a so-called murder-suicide.

"Tickled to Death," by Joan Hess. Did the charming dentist murder his first two wives? Will his new fiancée be next?

"Mama," by Terry McMillian is in Large Print and portrays Mildred Peacock as a heroine who is tough, funny and feisty.

"A Killing in Moscow," written by Clive Egleton, tells the tale of British agent Peter Ashton who goes to Moscow to uncover a mole who is stealing commercial secrets, only to attempt her rescue and aid in her flight to England.

"Everything to Gain," by Barbara Taylor Bradford, celebrates family, friendship and the triumph of the human spirit. After a random act of violence destroys her almost perfect life, Mallory Keswick finds resources and strength to feel whole again.

"Thankyou for Smoking," by Christopher Buckley. Political satire by a master, this novel provides us with a wickedly funny look at the chief spokesman for the Academy of Tobacco Studies, Nick Naylor, whose job it is to defend the rights of smokers.

"Nop's Trials," by Donald McCaig, is a tale of Lewis Burkholder and his Border Collie, Nop, with whom he shares a remarkable bond of love and courage.

"Jupiter's Daughter," by Vernon Hyman, introduces Genevieve Stewart, who is the first human whose entire genetic character is programmed before birth. Born at midnight, on Jan. 1, 2000 she frightens and enchants her recently widowed mother by demonstrating mysterious mental and physical powers.

Gas Theft Reported

Police are looking for a Taylor man who failed to make full payment on an $11 gas purchase at the Cheker gas station, 930 S. Main St., shortly after 5 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 7.

The driver pumped the gas into his green Ford pickup and then left after leaving only $1 as payment for the purchase, according to police.

The station's assistant manager Marie Lower said the driver didn't respond when she yelled to him about being short-changed. However, she told police that she wasn't certain whether the driver had deliberately tried to short her.
