DAN ELLENWOOD, Chelsea's new fire chief, stands beside the department's fire rescue vehicle, one of their busiest vehicles year in and year out. Dan who is a 20-year veteran with the Chelsea Fire Dept.,

has seen a steadily increasing percentage of calls being of the medical emergency category. Dan moved up from assistant chief when long-time chief Bud Hanked resigned in November.

Dan Ellenwood Takes On Responsibilities As Chelsea Fire Chief

■ Chelsea Village Council appoints a 20-year veteran to the top post.

Dan Ellenwood has spent the past two decades battling raging blazes and helping the injured. During his tenure, Ellenwood has also nurtured a generation of firefighters. And with his new appointment to head the local fire department, Ellenwood intends to continue what he knows best.

At age 52, Ellenwood was second in command at the Chelsea Fire Department when long-time fire chief Paul "Bud" Hanked submitted his resignation in November. Ellenwood was the natural choice to step up to the post. He was selected to serve the remainder of Hanked's most recent three-year term by a committee comprised of three Chelsea Village Council trustees. If he serves the department well, Ellenwood can expect to be reappointed in three-year intervals.

Ellenwood began his fire service career in 1970, nine years after graduating from Chelsea High school. At the time, he was working at Chrysler Proving Grounds, where he continues to work today as a driver/mechanic in addition to his fire fighting. He joined the fire department's reserves program after a friend encouraged him. "I thought about it and said, 'yeh, what the heck,'" Ellenwood said. He was promoted four years later to on-call status, joining the official ranks of fellow firefighters.

Over the years, Ellenwood, a Lyndon township resident and father of two, has served the department with distinction. He is a state certified instructor and county co-ordinator for the Washtenaw Mutual Aid Association, the county agency that answers to the Michigan Firefighters Training Council. It is in this position that has proved to be the most rewarding for Ellenwood. He takes great pride in helping a new generation of firefighters learn the ropes.

"The biggest thing for me is being able to pass on the information I've learned over the years and seeing them become firefighters," he said.

For 10 years, Ellenwood also served as co-ordinator for the Boy Scouts of America Explorers program, teaching fire training to area scouts. He says he likes to "spark" the feelings about fire service he has in others.

Ellenwood has served as assistant chief the past six years. His appointment to chief means additional responsibilities as he oversees a fire department with one of the largest coverage areas in southern Michigan. Last year, the department made 528 runs in its jurisdiction. The Chelsea Fire Department answers calls within the village, as well as in Lyndon, Waterloo, Lima, Freedom and Sharon townships. Ellenwood says the majority of runs are for medical assistance. All firefighters are trained emergency medical technicians. Over the years, Ellenwood says, the department has seen an increase in medical runs compared to fire runs from a 60/40 ratio to 70/30. Ellenwood's appointment also means he is responsible for a budget of nearly $300,000 and a staff of 38, including 25 firefighters, seven reserves and six explorers.

"The biggest thing for me is being able to pass on the information I've learned over the years and seeing them become firefighters."

—Dan Ellenwood,
Chelsea Fire Chief

As fire chief, Ellenwood says he will utilize the abilities of the four officers under him. "I am not going to do it all," he said. "I am going to use my powers to delegate."

And delegate he has. First assistant fire chief Bill Paul is overseeing training within the department. Tom Osborne, second assistant chief, is in charge of personnel. He will handle internal disciplinary matters. Jerry Kenny, third assistant chief, handles building and truck maintenance, while Steve Jaskot, who is fourth assistant chief, is in charge of keeping abreast of new laws and sharing the information with the department. Ellenwood says he intends to do the best job he can and hopes to fulfill a long term. "But you never know what tomorrow may bring," he says with a chuckle.

Deadline Set For Council Candidates

Village voters will be asked to cast their vote in a local election this spring, but their choice of candidates still remains to be seen.

Chelsea's annual election, slated March 13, will see the selection of a village assessor, village clerk, three trustees and two library board trustees. Nominating petitions are being accepted through Feb. 6.

Candidates must file a nominating petition with the clerk's office before the deadline to be named on the ballot. Petitions require at least 15 signatures of registered Chelsea voters.

Candidates have until Feb. 9 to withdraw their petition and be removed from the ballot.

The offices of clerk, assessor and trustee are all two-year terms, while library trustees will be elected to three-year seats.

Local Woman Battles Passage of House Bill

■ Former Chelsea businesswoman warns against passage of the Personal Responsibility Act.

Patrice Murdock's passion has always been in the food service industry, and that is why this former Chelsea businesswoman and past director of food and nutrition for Dexter Schools is fighting for the National School Lunch Program.

Murdock, who now heads the child nutrition department at Brighton Area Schools, has declared verbal war on Congress as she struggles to get the message out about the National School Lunch Program's possible demise. As an area resident, Murdock is asking her community to support the program. And as newly appointed president of the Michigan School Food Service Association, a non-profit organization for school food service professionals in Michigan, she is using her professional ties to get the attention of state officials.

PATRICE M. MURDOCK

Murdock became involved in the food service industry upon graduation from Wisconsin University at Stevens Point. After earning her degree, Murdock remained in Wisconsin to work in the test kitchens of Betty Crocker, developing new products and recipes for cook books. She even had her own biweekly TV cooking show on a Wausau public service station, part of her duties as a home economist for a local utility department. When she returned to the area a few years later, Murdock took a position with Jiffy Mix. At the local factory, Murdock set up the tour department, put out a small cook book and changed the packaging for Jiffy products, in addition to developing products and testing recipes.

Murdock left the food industry to open the Tail Feather Boutique, a yarn and gift shop in Chelsea. During her absence from the industry she also worked as an interior decorator for Merkel's furniture store before getting back into the profession in 1983.

When Murdock accepted the position of food and nutrition director for Dexter Schools it was her introduction to the National School Lunch Program. She stayed with the Dexter School District two years prior to accepting her current post.

"I was actually at the right place at the right time when we passed a $60 million bond issue," Murdock said. She credits the Brighton voter-approved money for the success of her department because it brought improvements five years ago to the district's school kitchens. The money also provided for a new elementary and middle school, bus garage and expanded high school with new kitchen facility.

Murdock, who oversees the lunch program for 10 schools, calls her food and nutrition department one of the finest in the state. It includes a mini food court, set up at both the middle and high schools. The food court is modeled after ones seen in malls across the country with an Italian eatery, a delicatessen line, a burger joint and salad bars. Like Dexter's food and nutrition department, Brighton's offers food choices, fresh fruit and vegetables, low-calorie dressing and low-fat selections. Murdock says she serves an estimated 3,000 students daily.

Murdock also attributes the success of her program to a highly trained staff of 45 with 90 percent certified in food service. She says they take classes and learn the latest technology to stay on top. "We bake from scratch," she boasts, "which you don't find in schools too much anymore."

The latest technology Brighton Area Schools has seen in the child food and nutrition department includes the Point of Sale system. It is the same technology Dexter Schools has recently purchased and is implementing in phases through a voter-approved bond issue, as well. "I've said you're going to love it. You just have to be patient," Murdock said she told staff in Dexter. The system allows personnel to collect data on what children are eating and allows parents to pay in advance for lunches. "It's just an invaluable service," Murdock said. "It's extremely helpful. Parents love it." They love it because they don't have to worry about their children losing their lunch money and they can also receive nutrition report cards informing them what their children are eating for lunch. Murdock says she prints about 12 nutrition report cards a week for a student population of approximately 7,000.

All this advancement Murdock has worked for over the years, the nutritional integrity she has brought the department and most importantly, the health of children is what she is concerned about losing through legislative wrangling.

A bill slated for a vote yesterday by the U.S. House of Representatives could repeal the School Lunch Act, Murdock has been warned in a bulletin from the California School Food Service Association. The bill, known as the "Personal Responsibility Act" includes welfare reform as part of the "Contract With America." It proposes that the funding for the National School Lunch Program be commingled with the Food Stamp and WIC program funds.

"These funds would be sent to each state as a 'block grant'... with no strings attached," the bulletin says. "States would then decide how to set up a school lunch program. The block grant would not include any funds for non-needy students and there would be no federal standards to guide the states."

The bulletin goes on to encourage members of the Washtenaw/Livingston Food Service Directors Association to fight for the National School Lunch Program. "Your company has the power and opportunity to prevent this from happening. As industry members you may be the only ones who can stop Congress from ending the National School Lunch Program."

According to Vivian Pflant, American School Food Service Association president, "The potential harmful impacts of this legislation on the health of America's children and their educational development is staggering. This legislation is the greatest threat faced by the National School Lunch Program since its creation almost 50 years ago."

Murdock herself calls fellow colleagues into action through a memorandum. "The survival of child nutrition programs is at stake," she says, urging members of the Michigan School Food Service Association to call and write legislators about the Personal Responsibility Act introduced Jan. 4 by the chairman of the House Human Resources subcommittee.

"I think there needs to be welfare reform," Murdock says in a telephone interview, "but don't cut the one good meal (children) receive per day."

According to Murdock, school lunch for some children is the only nutritional meal they receive. She says the original intent of the school lunch program as it was enacted in 1946 was to provide appropriate nourishment to children because so many young World War II recruits failed their physicals due to nutrition related diseases. By including Child Nutrition Programs in block grants and reducing funding, Murdock says, the federal government will save less than 0.1 percent of total federal spending.

"The tradeoff is exposing 10 million children to nutritional and educational risk," the MSFSA contends. "Hungry children don't learn and illiterate adults cannot compete in a global economy," the organization also states.

Murdock is also concerned over a proposal to deregulate the agriculture industry. She says with no price caps, school lunch departments will lose their ability to purchase "reasonably priced food."

Murdock says she and other members of MSFSA, the organiza-

School Board To Finalize Plans for Construction

Chelsea school district officials will meet with their architect Saturday to finalize a report on space needs and put forth a request to the State Board of Education for a bond issue.

Assistant superintendent of schools Fred Mills said Tuesday that after Saturday's meeting the board of education will take action Feb. 6 to call for the bond issue. A vote in June is expected.

But first a hard figure must be set to construct a new high school, a third elementary school and reconstruction of existing buildings. Technology for all buildings and remodeling of heating, ventilation and electrical work will also be included in the plan.

The board has employed architects Kingscott & Associates of Kalamazoo to work on the proposal through the bond issue. Interviews of other architect candidates to see the project through construction will occur in the next three to four months, according to Mills.

CELEBRATING the 100th year of the dedication of the present Congregational Church building, present church members gathered Sunday to mark the beginning of a new century. Patricia Austin of Ann Arbor (left), president of Washtenaw Historical Society, presented a plaque acknowledging the occasion to Jon Bentley who was acting as master of ceremonies. Another plaque was presented by the Rev. Nancy Nelson Eischenheimer (right), associate conference minister, Michigan United Church of Christ, to the Rev. Rosemary Chaffee, second from right, present pastor of the church.

The state has notified village president Richard Steele that it will not close down the village's Secretary of State branch office. Steele said that Liz Boyd in the Secretary of State's office notified him of the decision. "She said it would definitely be within the village limits," Steele said. "More than likely it will be at Village Plaza."

Village manager Robert Stalker will leave his position at the end of the week, village president Richard Steele confirmed Monday afternoon. Village council asked for Stalker's resignation in November. Since then Stalker and the village have been working out the specifics of his departure. Steele said the terms of the severance are spelled out in Stalker's contract. He would not be more specific.

Village council "will have a tough decision to make," next Tuesday when it considers whether to allow the transfer of a resort liquor license into the village, according to village president Richard Steele. ★ Making Michigan Safe for Investors

By George Nastos

Governor Engler, whose first term delivered a total net tax cut to Michigan of at least $600 million, promises to cut taxes more in his second term. He would go far toward keeping that promise, promoting basic fairness, and helping Michigan attract more investment, by eliminating the infamous Michigan intangibles tax.

The intangibles tax is levied on the ownership of "intangible" property such as stocks, bonds, or land contracts. Calculated for each piece of intangible property, the tax is the greater of 3.5 percent of the income produced from the property to 1/10 of 1 percent of the property's value.

If income received from intangible property exceeds $10,000, or if the value of non-income-producing intangible property exceeds $350,000, or if the combined ownership of income-producing and non-income-producing property produces an intangibles tax liability that exceeds the $350 statutory deduction, a married investor must file an intangibles tax return.

Clearly, the tax confiscates capital, which is a prime source of economic growth and job creation. That's abundantly evident when the tax is applied directly to the property. First, the investor pays federal and Michigan income taxes on his earnings. Then on top of that, the investor pays an intangibles tax on that portion of his earnings that he saves for investment purposes. If he simply consumed his earnings and invested nothing, he could escape the intangibles tax.

Michigan residents also pay state and federal income taxes on capital gains, dividends, and interest income earned from their investments. This means that when applied to investment income, the state intangibles tax actually represents for many investors triple taxation of dividend and interest income.

Consider a $10,000 investment in a taxable, high quality corporate bond. This money may be used by the issuing corporation for expansion or for a new product line. If the investment earns a nominal 7 percent, the Michigan investor will receive $700 in nominal interest income during the year. Let's assume that this interest is subject to the intangibles tax.

This investor will pay 7.9 percent of the interest earned from this investment to the State of Michigan—3.5 percent for the intangibles tax and 4.4 percent for the state income tax. After deducting state income and intangibles taxes on his federal return, he also will pay 25.79 percent of the interest he's earned to the federal government.

Ignoring inflation, the nominal, after-tax return on this $10,000 investment is $464.18, or 4.6 percent to the investor. The state and federal governments together will collect $235.82 of the $700 in taxes.

Now consider the effect of inflation. Let's assume inflation is 3 percent for the year. For a one year, $10,000 investment at 7 percent, the Michigan investor receives a paltry, after-tax and inflation-adjusted return of only $164.18. He might easily have done better than 1.64 percent in some off-shore venture or at a friendly poker game.

The Michigan intangibles tax is a disincentive for Michigan citizens to save and invest. It directs investment capital away from investment and toward current consumption or into less worthwhile investments that are not subject to the intangibles tax such as federal debt instruments, bank certificates of deposit, or Michigan municipal bonds.

Eliminating this tax would free up as much as $115 million in capital for investment—the amount the State was expected to collect from the tax in 1994. Facing a budget surplus of at least $300 million in the current fiscal year, the State of Michigan could more easily afford to forego it than hard-working, risk-taking private citizens could afford to pay it.

Economic progress means enhancing opportunities, promoting capital formation, insisting on fairness in taxation, and keeping good people who create jobs here in Michigan. The onerous intangibles tax works against all these things. Governor Engler could strike another blow for progress by seeking an end to it.

Pork People Plan Industry Alliance

Michigan Farm Bureau will be participating in a recently announced state-wide strategic pork alliance. Members of the "Michigan Pork Alliance" will discuss goals and how the affiliation of government and industry will operate at a press conference, Feb. 3 at 10 a.m. at the Lansing Convention Center. Gov. Engler has been invited to participate.

"All of agriculture benefits when we have a strong livestock sector," said MFB President Jack Laurie. "In addition, issues like manure management, marketing and industry integration affect the image of all of agriculture and have an impact beyond just pork producers. Therefore, as a general farm organization, we welcome an opportunity to participate in the Alliance and help address some of the challenges facing the hog industry."

Members of the Alliance in addition to MFB are the Michigan Pork Producers Association, Michigan Department of Agriculture, Michigan State University, Michigan Livestock Exchange and Thorn Apple Valley, Inc.

A recent study by Iowa State University shows the pork industry is a major contributor to the Michigan and U.S. economies. In Michigan, pork production provides 12,776 jobs and generates $439 million in economic activity. Nationally, the pork industry is responsible for 764,000 jobs and $66 billion in economic impact.

CAP Brings Dinner Theatre to Chelsea

Chelsea Area Players are bringing dinner theatre to Chelsea with their February production of Ken Ludwig's Tony Award winning comedy, Lend Me A Tenor.

This hilarious story of mistaken identities takes place in 1934 in the hotel suite of Tito Merelli, guest Italian tenor for the local opera company's production of Otello. Lovers quarrel, "tragedy" strikes, songs are sung, and confusion reigns.

Director Tony Caselli points out that although the singing is a highlight of the show, Lend Me A Tenor is not a musical comedy; it's a comedy with music. "It's a very, very funny script, and there's just enough singing to give the audience a taste of light comic opera. Definitely nothing heavy or deadly. It's a lot of fun."

"CAP has based its plans for dinner on the 'Italian singer in a hotel room' theme. Seating for the production is set up with tables designated as 'suites.' For the Friday and Saturday performances, doors will open at 6 p.m. and Italian cuisine will be served: meat lasagna or meatless pasta dish, salad, vegetable, bread and dessert. There will be no dinner for the Thursday night performance, but desserts will be on sale during intermission.

A lot of local talent can be found in the cast and crew for Lend Me A Tenor. Tony Caselli, director, was producer for CAP's 1993 musical, Gypsy. He is literary co-ordinator for the Purple Rose Theatre Company where he served as stage manager for The Vast Difference, Two Sisters and Stanton's Garage. Tony is also an Equity actor and was recently seen in the PRTC production of Jeff Daniels' play Thy Kingdom's Coming. He is assisted on this show by production manager, Nancy Sanville. This is Nancy's first time to work with CAP, but she has worked with many theatres in the Lansing area. Her production crew is headed by a trio composed of Shelley Wheaton, Cindy Gaken and Clara Smith.

World famous tenor Tito Merelli and his wife Maria are played by CAP president Mark Nelson and long-time CAP board member and new vice-president, Jerri Cole. Mark has been seen in ReCAP 1993, Gypsy, and Most Happy Fella, and also sings with a men's choral society called "Measure for Measure." He is a sales representative and regional sales trainer for Bracco Diagnostics. Jerri, who operates the new "Whistle-Stop Bed and Breakfast" in Chelsea, has appeared in shows including Lil' Abner, Deadwood Dick, Music Man and My Fair Lady in addition to her work behind the scenes.

Frank Dillon, another CAP board member, plays Cleveland Grand Opera Company general manager, Saunders. Frank, who works for Chelsea Lumber Co., portrayed Jimmy Tomorrow in a Detroit production of The Iceman Cometh and has appeared in a number of CAP shows including You Can't Take It With You, Pajama Game and Gypsy. Chairman of the Opera Guild, Julia, is portrayed by Lisa Neda. Lisa works with Performance Network, participates in children's theatre, and has been in CAP productions ReCAP 1993, Gypsy (as Miss Electra), and Godspell. She is also on the board of CAP.

Saunders' daughter Maggie is played by Phoebe Strong, who has been seen in South Pacific, A Chorus Line, Godspell and Most Happy Fella. Phoebe is a part-time secretary at the University of Michigan and Immanuel Bible church, and a full-time student in Sign Language Interpreting. CAP board member Matt DeLong plays Maggie's boyfriend Max. Max is also Saunders' assistant and an aspiring opera singer. Matt, a University of Michigan PhD student in mathematics, has appeared in plays at Northwestern University, Ann Arbor and Fort Wayne, Ind. He was recently seen as the Doctor in CAP's Most Happy Fella.

Christine Purchis appears as Diana, the opera company's soprano. Christine was last seen as Maria in Most Happy Fella, and also was in Possessed—The Dracula Musical and Godspell. She is currently putting her degree in arts management to use as company manager for the Purple Rose Theatre Company. The hotel's bellhop is played by Dan Brinkley, who completed an Apprenticeship Program at the Purple Rose Theatre Company 1993-1994. He served as understudy for roles in several PRTC shows during that time and was also seen as the Orderly in last season's Keely and Du. Dan's favorite roles include Peter in Prelude To A Kiss and Slim in Of Mice and Men.

Lend Me A Tenor promises to be an evening of delightful entertainment with comedy, song, dinner (or dessert), and good company. Performances will be held at the Chelsea Fairgrounds. Production dates are Feb. 10, 11, 16, 17, and 18.

Tickets for Lend Me A Tenor are on sale at Chelsea Pharmacy (475-1188) and Chelsea Area physicians (475-9800).

LOCAL CARVER Bill Gillespie (pictured) and his wife, Chris, will demonstrate their craft at the 22nd annual Pioneer Craft Fair, slated March 18 at Dexter High School. It will be the first time the Gillespies have participated in show. They have lived in Dexter six years, but stopped carving birds about 18 years ago while they raised their two sons.

Local Couple To Demonstrate Duck Carving at Craft Fair

The 22nd annual Pioneer Craft Fair, slated March 18, will be an opportunity for Bill and Chris Gillespie of Dexter to re-emerge on the wood carving scene as they revive a hobby suspended nearly 18 years.

"It's just something we wanted to try," Bill says. "I've always hunted and tried to do decoys. It's kind of evolved from there."

The couple moved to Dexter six years ago from upstate New York. Their 40 acres of property on Island Lake Rd., a mix of woodland, swamp and grassland, turns out to be the perfect setting for examining the object of their artistic expression—birds—and finding the perfect piece of driftwood to perch them on. For rare birds, the Gillespies turn to magazine photographs and mounted birds. They even turn to area bird sanctuaries to photograph rare waterfowl.

"We use about any study method we can find," Bill admits.

The couple is self taught in duck carving. Bill calls it a "natural talent." They have sought advice from fellow carvers, but Bill says, "It's pretty much trial and error."

The Gillespies have competed in national carving shows and other exhibitions. Together they've garnered numerous awards and accolades. Chris Gillespie won "Best of Species" in the "Confidence Decoy" professional carving class during a competition in Maryland. That same carved Loon won the Canadian title. In competition, decoys are judged on appearance and how they float in water, among other things.

Bill, 46, said he and his wife stopped wood carving when their two sons became involved in Boy Scouts and Little League because of time constraints. Now that both Dexter High School graduates are grown and living on their own, Bill says he and Chris decided about six months ago to revive their carving hobby.

"We just started carving the last six to eight months ago. We haven't done a show in 10 to 12 years. This is to get our feet wet," Bill said about the local craft show. They hope to participate in the Ann Arbor Art Fairs this summer and out-of-state shows.

The couple's carvings include duck decoys, song birds, owls and game birds. Bill calls most of his pieces more decorative than the average decoy piece. He says they're not real practical, more ornamental. The Gillespies find their average customer to be a collector or someone who enjoys wildlife.

The Gillespies will be among more than 50 artists, selected by jury, demonstrating and selling their wares and the annual craft fair. The couple's carvings start at $100.

"We haven't done a show in 10 to 12 years. This is to get our feet wet."

—Bill Gillespie, Dexter Resident

During the Dexter Historical Society-sponsored Pioneer Craft Fair, Bill will carve a duck to demonstrate his craft. Bill doubts he will be able to complete the carving by the fair's end because, depending on the size of the piece, it takes anywhere from three days to three weeks to produce the final product. "It depends on size and complications, like wing spread. Sometimes it takes a long time to find the right base, the right wood to put it on. Sometimes you spend all day walking around the woods looking for it," he said.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
In the 1/18/95 issue of The Chelsea Standard, there were two articles that concerned me:

1. "Public Opinion Sought on Tentative Plans for Village Office Building." It seems strange we have a right to express our opinion on this topic when we never had the right to express ourselves when they decided to spend funds to remodel downtown which took away the beautiful antique look of Chelsea; our opinion wasn't important for or during discussions of Chelsea becoming a city, a city which means more authority for the Council and more taxes for us; we weren't involved with recycling, but were told how it was going to be.

The Council seems very efficient in spending funds without our help. New housing being built or has been built, it seems utilities still don't have enough funds. Again, water rates need to be raised. It is amusing that the Council didn't want to make the decision therefore had outsiders come in and investigate and advise them on increasing the rates. It certainly takes the Council off the hook (not really). How often are the people of Chelsea involved in any decision-making?

2. The other article "Trash Bag Stickers to be Phased Out." We are assessed $30 yearly on our taxes for recycling. Chelsea Council couldn't share with any of our neighbors, we had to have our own. Were we involved? Of course not. Then came the $1.50 per trash bag (sticker). The poor senior citizens are never taken into consideration. Those who can't afford the sticker or couldn't possibly use a bag in a month's time. Was anything done to give them special compensation? Never heard anything. Part of this system included putting out recycled items once a week. Chelsea residents are the ones that has to wash and dry cans, glass and plastic items; put papers in plastic bags when it rains or during snowy weather; boxes cut down to specific size and put in bags to keep dry. I think we pay enough, even more than our share. Phasing out the stickers because the adhesive doesn't hold during winter time and going to more expensive bags means we will be charged more again. Why bags that we don't even need. We've used the stickers for several winters and no concern developed. Council needs more funds. How about using a different adhesive?

This is another topic our opinion was not requested. The Council constantly spends and the Council does what they want no matter what. Maybe it's about time there was a change. We need to have our taxes spent more wisely and more efficiently.

How did the Council ever find time to include the residents in decision-making this time. With the amount of snow closing many people to their homes, the participation on January 23rd must have been minimal. Do you think they might be considerate to hold another meeting? I think not.

Lena Behnke,

the intention of this paper to cause citizens to "let their guard down," it was unfortunately the net effect.

In closing, thank you for your coverage on this matter. I hope to see more comprehensive articles in the future.

Greg Ostrander,
Chelsea.

To the Editor,
On Valentine's Day, and throughout the week of Feb. 1-17, the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Medical Center, Ann Arbor, in conjunction with the 170 other VA facilities, will celebrate the National Salute to Hospitalized Veterans. On behalf of our entire Medical Center staff, I invite our Ann Arbor neighbors and the residents of the surrounding Washtenaw, Wayne, Livingston, Monroe, Jackson, and Lenawee county communities to celebrate with us.

Last year the response from your readers was overwhelming. The veterans greatly appreciated all the cards and visits from school children, church groups, scout troops, and local veterans service and civic organizations. With your help, this year's Salute will be just as successful.

The purpose of the National Salute is to recognize these hospitalized veterans for their contributions to the Nation, and to show our neighbors what a difference they can make as volunteers at the medical center. A wide variety of vital work is being done by volunteers at the Ann Arbor VA Medical Center and its Nursing Home Care Units.

We hope that your readers will make this Valentine's Day special by bringing a personal thank you, or by sending a Valentine card (mailed to: Staff Assistant to the Director (00A), VA Medical Center, 2215 Fuller Rd., Ann Arbor 48105). For further information or to schedule a visit, we ask that readers contact Voluntary Service at (313) 769-7100, extension 5860.

Please join us in saluting our veterans!

Sincerely,
Edward L. Gamache
Director

To the Editor,
Last fall we announced that a wonderful opportunity had presented itself to the students of Susan Heinz, Dance Arts Academy studio. Members of the Dance Arts Academy had been invited to participate in the 16th annual Summer Festival of the Performing Arts in Foreign Countries July 6-20, 1995. Participating groups are selected through observation and critique of recitals and performances. We are indeed fortunate to have been chosen to perform at Dancin' Down Under Australia 1995.

Twenty-seven dancers from the Dance Arts Academy are excited and in full swing to raise the additional funds needed for their trip to Australia in July 1995. All 27 dancers are from Chelsea or the surrounding communities of Dexter, Manchester, Stockbridge, and Clinton.

Several fund-raisers have already taken place. A garage sale was held in April of 1994, but the dancers are ready again to have an indoor garage sale at the UAW Hall Local 1284, at 2795 M-52 on Feb. 11, 1995 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Other fund-raisers that have been well supported were a bottle drive in all the communities. We are going to be putting a new twist to our drive and will be having a penny drive in March, so please start saving your pennies for that event.

Something the teens can look forward to is a teen dance with all the communities invited sometime in March or April. This event will be well supervised and get our kids together as well as raise much needed funds for our dancers.

Please keep your eyes open for upcoming fun events. They're sure to be fun as well as helping our dancers.

At this time we would also like to thank the following businesses who have so generously donated services or items to help us raise money.

These businesses are all community active and caring individuals who we have found very supportive with all our endeavors...

A big hand for The Common Grill, Polly's Market, the Chrysler Proving Grounds, The Chelsea Standard, Chelsea Milling, Day-spring Gifts, Maya Place, Purple Rose Theatre, Merkel's Furniture, Subway, Chelsea Beach Club, ACO Hardware, Fantastic Sam's, Whistle Stop Bed and Breakfast, and Susan Heinz, Dance Arts Academy in Chelsea.

In Manchester we wish to thank these businesses: The Flower Garden, Kleinschmidt's, Walco Foods, and the Manchester Enterprise.

In Dexter we wish to thank: Christine's Gift Shop, Dexter Card, Dexter Mill, Reddeman Farms, and The Mill Pond Bakery.

Stockbridge businesses we wish to thank are: Ludtke Insurance, Jerrold's Quality Flooring, and Kim and Company.

In Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti we wish to thank American Speedy Printing Center on Ann Arbor Rd., and Coach Carpet Care.

Without the generous donations from businesses and individual support from members of these communities—the opportunity for these dancers to perform and have a cultural exchange in a foreign country would be impossible. All the members of the community who support our organization are greatly appreciated.

Dear friends and concerned acquaintances,

Now that almost two months have passed since the Midwest Medflight helicopter accident I believe I can calmly write this without my thoughts being distracted.

It is not often that a medical helicopter goes down with such disastrous effects and it's not often that you know someone who might be "affected" by such a sensational event.

I want to thank all of you who thought of John, the kids and me that day and during the following weeks. I received calls within minutes of the accident and all day long and my close friends answered the ones from those of you not so brave to call my house. Throughout the Holiday season many of you who we ran into asked about the accident and how we all were doing. Thanks, we appreciated your concerns and support.

Thank you also to the school personnel who handled our children. This is not an event for which one can be trained. Within 30 minutes they were calling home to reassure themselves that I was OK and that none of the other Survival Flight nurses and pilots that they knew had been involved. I was so overwhelmed that I had not even thought of them.

The events that unfolded on Dec. 1, 1994 were so unbelievable to all of us that are involved with flight programs that on that day none of us were prepared for the event. The flight programs in the state are, however, again flying with the belief that the job that we do is important enough to outweigh the risks.

We so often take our friends and acquaintances for granted. I can't tell you how wonderful it felt to realize how many people knew what I did and cared enough about us to let us know it.

Karen Ruhlrig,
Chelsea.

★ Painless Strategies for Building Your Savings

"No pain, no gain," or so the saying goes. However, this advice need not relate to those concerned with building their financial future. According to the Michigan Association of CPAs (MACPA), there are many painless ways to save money and gain financial independence. Here are a few methods to MACPA recommends.

Pay Yourself First

This age-old precept sounds simple and it is. The key is to make saving your money an integral part of your expense budget, not an afterthought. First, determine how much you want to save each month. Then, when it's time to pay your monthly bills, write a check to your savings or investment account before paying other bills.

Make It Automatic

If you don't have the discipline to pay yourself first, consider turning the task over to a third party. You can put your savings strategy on autopilot by arranging for your payroll department or bank to have a fixed amount from each paycheck deposited to a savings or investment account. You'll find that your savings will grow painlessly because typically, what you don't see, you don't miss.

Better yet, if your employer offers a 401(k) plan, you can contribute a percentage of your salary on a pre-tax basis. Your contribution reduces your gross income, which means you pay less taxes, and the interest or dividends your account earns grow tax-free until you withdraw the funds at retirement. If you work for a company that matches part of your contributions, your earnings will multiply faster.

Most major mutual fund families are happy to help you automate your savings habit. With your authorization, you can have a pre-set amount debited from your checking account each month, as many shares purchased as your payment covers, and those shares credited to your account. This method of investing a fixed amount at regular intervals reduces the impact of market dips.

Bank Your Raise

When you get a raise, continue to live on the amount you previously received and bank the rest. Sock away any minor windfalls, such as bonuses, tax refunds and gifts, too. Along the same lines, if you have recently paid off a car or personal loan, continue to set aside the same amount each month and deposit it in your savings account.

Pool Yourself

If you're paid every other week, try to live on two paychecks a month, that's 24 checks. When the extra two checks come around, plan on banking each of them. If you're paid weekly and can live on four paychecks a month, you'll have four extra checks in '95 to add to your nest egg. With this painless strategy, you can save about 8 percent of your salary.

Reinvest Dividends

Most mutual funds and some stock plans will automatically reinvest your dividends in additional shares. This is advantageous to you for two reasons: it prevents you from spending your investment income and enables you to benefit from the compounding of interest on your investment income.

Fund Your Future

Investing as much as you can in a tax-favored retirement plan like an IRA (Individual Retirement Account), Keogh, or SEP (Simplified Employee Pension Plan) is a smart way to build your savings. Be sure to make your contribution early in the year if you can. The earlier you contribute to your plan, the more time your money has to compound tax-free. If you find it difficult to come up with a lump sum contribution, try making monthly contributions instead. Either way, you'll be taking important steps toward building a financially secure retirement.

Stamp Out Debt

A somewhat less direct, but nonetheless efficient way to build your savings is to pay off your debt. Start by reducing your credit card debt. Cutting out those 15 to 20 percent interest payments amounts to instant savings. You might also want to try adding an extra $50 to $100 to each monthly mortgage payment you make. This reduces the principal balance on your mortgage and can save you thousands of dollars in interest costs.

The MACPA emphasizes applying even a few of these strategies will help you gain a more secure financial future with little or no pain. Choose the strategies that are right for you and your family, follow them, and watch your savings grow.

Mail Order Shopping Growth Parallels Changing Rural America

Years ago, rural Americans referred to the Montgomery Ward catalog, and later the Sears & Roebuck catalog, as "The Homesteader's Bible." Next to the family Bible, mail order catalogs were probably the most important books in the farmhouse.

It is difficult to imagine the isolation experienced by families living in rural America during our country's first century. A typical farm family had no telephone or automobile, and there were no radios or televisions. Until the early mail order companies came on the scene, there were no opportunities to shop. In 1872, Montgomery Ward, the first mail order house, began offering a one-page list of merchandise. Sears Roebuck and Company followed in 1893 and, after one year in business, boasted it was selling four suits and a watch every minute, a revolver every two minutes, and a buggy every ten. By 1900, Sears had tripled its revenues. And from 1908 to 1940, Sears sold over 100,000 prefabricated homes in 450 different models.

Around the time that Sears joined Montgomery Ward in the mail order business, then Postmaster General John Wanamaker proposed that Rural Free Delivery begin. In 1896, the first experimental rural delivery routes were started. These routes greatly expanded mail order delivery territory and opened up rural America to all the goods and services money could buy.

Today, the direct mail business continues to grow and evolve. It is considered the most targeted and efficient major advertising media. In each of the past few years, more than 90 million Americans, or at least half the adult population, made a purchase by mail or telephone.

Through the convenience of catalog shopping, Americans save millions of gallons of gasoline. In addition, efforts continue to recycle discarded direct mailing materials.

Direct mail also means jobs. In the 1990s, the catalog industry has directly and indirectly provided work for more than a million people, and that number is steadily growing. Whether it's called direct mail, advertising mail, bulk business mail, or junk mail, some postal customers pay attention to it. Recent surveys indicate many Americans open, read, or look at their direct mail. Of those making mail order purchases, most were satisfied with their direct mail experience.

From the early pioneer days to today, the mail order industry has played an important role in bringing life's necessities to every American. The Postal Service is proud to be a part of this heritage.

Michigan History Magazine Recalls Dexter Man's Battle With McCarthyism in 50's

In its continuing endeavor to bring Michiganders new perspectives on their rich heritage, the nation's most popular state history magazine begins its 79th year of publication with a blockbuster issue that captures the scope of Michigan's fascinating past.

Now available at outlets across the state, the January/February 1995 issue of Michigan History Magazine uncovers the little-known Michigan connections of two significant parts of American history.

"The Sioux warrior Sitting Bull and anti-Communist McCarthyism appeared on the American scene more than 70 years apart," said Secretary of State Candice S. Miller, who also serves as Michigan's official historian. "Specific events wove these pieces of American culture directly into the fabric of our own Michigan heritage, and led to their exploration in this intriguing issue of Michigan History Magazine."

The issue's cover story reveals the colorful and dramatic photographs created by Sitting Bull for a U.S. Army family he befriended while imprisoned at Fort Randall, Dakota Territory. The rarely seen photographs, housed at the Fort St. Joseph Museum in Niles, are published for the first time since their restoration. Written by St. Joseph researcher William John Armstrong, "Legacy of an Unlikely Friendship" tells the touching story of how the photographs came to Michigan—the only other photographs attributed to Sitting Bull are housed at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

Also featured in the January/February issue is the first installment of a two-part article recounting how the many bookstores for $2.95 each. charged atmosphere of 1950s McCarthyism touched one Michigander and catapulted him into the national spotlight. "The Case Against Milo Radulovich," written by Michael W. Ranville of Charlotte, examines the events surrounding U.S. Air Force Reserve Lieutenant Radulovich's fight to save his commission after he was deemed a security risk. In 1953 the nation's attention was riveted when Radulovich's story was televised on CBS news legend Edward R. Murrow's "See It Now" program. Lt. Radulovich was living in Dexter.

Michigan History Magazine, published six times a year by the Michigan Department of State's Bureau of Michigan History, is available by single copy or by annual subscription.

Builders Report Best Year in Area Since '70's

Single family home permits issued in 1994 for southeastern Michigan increased 20 percent over 1993 and are expected to maintain this activity level in 1995, announced Janet L. Compo, 1995 president of Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM).

Total single family permits issued for 1994 were 14,541 in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw, Monroe, St. Clair and Livingston counties, compared with 12,075 for 1993.

"This was the best year the building industry has had since the 1970s," said Compo. "The economy has picked up and interest rates are still low compared to the early '80s when they were in the double digits."

The hottest areas for new construction in 1994 were in Canton, Macomb and Shelby townships and Troy, she reported.

Southeastern Michigan is a very stable market in terms of housing prices and number of permits issued on a year-to-year basis, explained Compo. The number of permits issued has been between 10,000 and 15,000 for the past nine years. "The stability of prices in our region keeps us an affordable and active market," added Compo.

"Home buyers in 1994 were taking advantage of the rates and upgrading to new homes that include the latest luxury features such as master bedroom suites, fitness areas, home offices and sophisticated technology for security and home entertainment," said Compo.

The average square feet of a new single family home being built in the Midwest increased from 1,540 in 1971 to 2,075 in 1993 according to the U.S. Bureau of Census. Two-car garages or larger were built in 85 percent of new homes in 1993 as compared to only 53 percent of homes in 1971. Air conditioning is installed in 78 percent of new homes versus 25 percent in 1971. Two-and-a-half baths or more are found in 48 percent of 1993-built homes while only 16 percent of homes built in 1971 had that many baths.

Builders remain concerned about the shortage in the labor supply. "We're in a growth period now," explained Compo. "In fact, the housing market is doing amazingly well. Our labor supply has simply not kept pace with the demand for new home construction."

Residential construction stimulates the economy directly by generating jobs, wages and tax revenues and indirectly as the demand for goods and services created by the construction of new homes 'ripples' through the economy.

Improvements Planned For Metroparks in '95

New picnic shelters at Hudson Mills and Dexter-Huron metroparks and a cost share of $300,000 to rebuild a bridge near the entrance to Hudson Mills, are just a few of the 85 capital improvement and 76 major maintenance projects included in the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority's budget for 1995, according to Robert W. Marans, HCMA commissioner from Washtenaw county.

A record $10.1 million has been allocated to capital improvements and $2.54 million to major maintenance in the HCMA's $41.31 million '95 budget.

"We're planning an ambitious improvement program for the Metroparks," says William P. Sherman, director. "Our goal is to continue to provide the variety of outstanding recreational facilities that the citizens of southeast Michigan have come to expect and appreciate."

$5.5 million of the capital improvement budget is the result of carryovers from previous years, according to David L. Wahl, controller for the HCMA. Some projects, such as the Family Aquatic Center at Indian Springs Metropark in Oakland county, are so large that money must be budgeted and banked for several years before they can be completed. Other projects require co-ordination with other governmental agencies, while others were in the engineering design stage in 1994 and will be completed in '95, Wahl says.

The North Territorial Rd. bridge over the Huron River, which is near the entrance to Hudson Mills, will be undergoing reconstruction in late 1995 and early 1996. The HCMA's cost share in this project is $300,000. The new bridge will include a bike path bridge that will allow the existing bike path on the east side of the river to connect in the future with a proposed path that will run along the west side of the river into the Village of Dexter, according to Marans.

Also budgeted for Hudson Mills is a new picnic shelter next to the Activity Area, $18,000; resurfacing of picnic area roads and parking lots, $52,000; and river erosion control, $25,000.

Dexter-Huron Metropark near Ann Arbor will get a new picnic shelter.

IMPROVING YOUR SMILE

When you're speaking, which are more visible, your upper or your lower teeth? If you look into a mirror, you'll discover that it's your lower teeth that are more noticeable. Now smile. Surprised? Your upper teeth are more noticeable now.

There's a good chance your dentist can improve upon your smile. He can check to see if your six upper teeth follow the upward curvature of the LOWER lip. This means that the two upper front teeth should be slightly longer than the teeth next to them. If they're too short, they may give your face a frowning look.

If this is the case, an adjustment can be made to improve your appearance. If any of your front teeth are of uneven length, he can contour their shape to make them even and to give the proper accent to your two front teeth, which should be longer. Chipped or broken teeth can be repaired. Any tooth badly damaged by decay can be crowned to protect it and given a natural look.

Why not let your dentist check YOUR smile? You've got everything to gain.

Running Start

Creating Readers for the 21st Century

CHELSEA FIRST GRADE students David Fishburn, Jackie Deane, Hannah Myers, Erin O'Brien, Tera McCormick, Jaimie Franks and Emily Woodruff are pictured getting off to a great "Running Start" in a motivational reading program recently implemented at North and South Elementary schools.

A RUNNING START RALLY was held Jan. 24 to kick off an eight-week motivational reading program first-grade students at North and South Elementary schools have undertaken. Pictured are school principals Lucy Stiebert and Bill Wescott leading off the rally with a cheer.

The Washington Monument has a stairway of 898 steps.

First Grade Students To Participate In Motivational Reading Program

First grade students at Chelsea's North and South Elementary schools have been given a challenge.

The 180 first-graders will meet the challenge by reading 21 books or having the books read to them during an eight-week period.

The students attended a "Running Start" reading rally Tuesday, Jan. 24 and flag raising ceremony Wednesday, Jan. 25. The rally was held at Chelsea High School Auditorium to rouse students and their families into participating in the program. An entertaining evening was organized with North and South school teachers and administrators performing in the play "Miss Nelson is Missing," based on the book of the same title. Media specialists from the district also performed to the tale "the Gunniwolf."

Parent groups from both elementary schools funded the program, making possible for all first-graders who attended the rally to take home a book and get reading off to an exciting start.

Students who meet the challenge of reading 21 books will be awarded an additional book of their choice from collections selected by their teachers. Parents, older students and other members of the community have been asked to help first-graders meet the challenge.

Caution Advised When Walking or Fishing on Ice

As a result of the changing weather over the past few weeks, ice conditions in many areas of the state are especially hazardous, and ice anglers and others walking on ice should use extreme caution.

The ice formed by a cold snap in early December has deteriorated due to warm rain and alternate freezing and thawing. These conditions tend to "honeycomb" and weaken the ice, making it unstable and dangerous. In addition, many lakes are covered with several inches of snow, slush, or standing water. This insulates the ice and prevents it from refreezing, and also makes the ice difficult to evaluate. Ice should always be carefully evaluated on a case-by-case basis; never assume that ice at a certain location or of a certain thickness is safe. The following regional information is offered only as a general guide. Southern Lower Peninsula: Ice anglers are urged to exercise extreme caution, with heavy snow cover on most lakes and unsafe ice in many locations. Saginaw Bay: The U.S. Coast Guard Station at the Saginaw River advises anglers to avoid the ice on Saginaw Bay because slush up to five and six inches deep is covering weak spots on the ice. As ice conditions improve, anglers are urged to fish only in shallow waters near shore. Houghton Lake: Several snowmobiles went through the ice on Houghton Lake last week. While some areas are safe for ice fishing, areas near channels and the center of

Bulldogs!

Varsity Cagers Turn Back Saline, 65-43, To Keep SEC Title Hopes Alive

By Ben O'Connor

Short their leading scorer and short on size, the varsity Bulldogs basketball team picked up the slack Friday to beat the Saline Hornets 65-43. Amazingly, that slack was picked up by senior guard Chad Brown.

Chelsea's leading scorer Nick Brink, who averages 19 points a game for the Bulldogs, will most likely be out for the remainder of the season due to a collapsed lung. Head coach Robin Raymond needed a new game plan—and fast.

"With Nick gone we're out 19 points," said Raymond, "you can't expect the rest of the team to make that up. Instead, we're going to try to take away 10 of our opponents' points and make up nine."

They did that and more. In the past, Chelsea has averaged 54 points a game and held their opponents to 55; this week they bettered themselves by more than 10 in both areas.

"This was by far our best defensive game of the season," said Raymond. "We had fewer turnovers (18-19) and more rebounds (47-43). Now that Scott (Colvin) is back and Kevin (Coy) is almost 100% our defense is moving back up to par."

Junior Kevin Cross stepped in at guard for Brink and did a fine job of taking some of the heat off Brown... and hot he was. The senior scored a career high 28 points, including three 3-pointers and an exciting drive down the court for a lay-up which fell just as the buzzer sounded giving Chelsea a 26-17 lead at the half. Bryndon Skelton made the heads-up steal to set up Brown's fast break.

Saline's big man, Kyle Concannon, was virtually ineffective under the Bulldogs' tight supervision.

"(Saline) would have liked to use Concannon a little more," said Raymond. "(Case) McCalla and Colvin did a nice job of shutting him down. When you only have one man to go to, you get into trouble."

Saline's best performance was, without a doubt, in the first quarter. Both teams were struggling to get it together, and Saline stopped Chelsea's fast break as many times as Chelsea stole the ball. By the second quarter, the Bulldogs had their game plan down and ran it like pros.

The question now is whether or not the Dawgs will be able to maintain a performance level like Friday's, or will the absence of Brink catch up with them. At any rate, the Bulldogs have proven that they can overcome disadvantage and can't be counted out of SEC title contention.

Chelsea scorers in that game were: Chad Brown: 28 points; Kevin Cross, 10 points, 7 rebounds; Case McCalla, 8 points, 7 rebounds; Bryndon Skelton, 7 points, 6 rebounds; Scott Colvin, 6 points, 6 rebounds; Sam Morseau, 3 points; James Diesing, 2 points; Kevin Coy, 1 point.

Chelsea (9-3, 5-2) next plays at home against Milan this Friday.

JAMIE HOLZHAUSEN, wrestling in the 142 lb. class, pinned his opponent from Lincoln in 1:49. The meet with Lincoln was held Tuesday, Jan. 24 at Lincoln.

MIKE ALBER won a match with Adam French of Dexter in a 11-3 decision. The meet with Dexter was held Thursday, Jan. 26, at Dexter. Final results showed Dexter claiming a 34-31 win.

RYAN BRANHAM, 7th grader wrestling in the 167 lbs. class, won his match against Lincoln Jan. 24 on a technical fall when he finished with a score of 20-3. This was a season home opening meet for the Bulldogs.

Beach Wrestlers Win Home Opener

Beach Middle school wrestling team continued with a winning season last Tuesday by defeating a young Lincoln team. In the home opener for the Beach wrestlers they were able to win 25 matches while losing only seven.

Chelsea recorded 20 pins in the match. Rourke Skelton, Dan Graff, Ben Hicks, Dan Blough, Grant Bollinger, Frank Morrone, Jeff Martell, Shawn Dyer, Chris Wentz, Mark Helms, and Matt Kalmbach all won their matches by pins.

Jeremy Price, Derek Egeler, Vince Scheffler, and John Herrst each won two matches by pins as they wrestled twice to provide competition for extra Lincoln wrestlers.

Ryan Branham won his match on a technical fall when he finished with a score of 20-3, and Dan Dault won his match on a default when his opponent could not finish.

Dan Whitesall and Alan Lowe won their matches by decision, outscoring their respective opponents 7-5 and 8-5.

Dan Whitesall provided one of the most exiting matches, winning his match in the last five seconds when he turned his opponent to his back to score the winning two points.

Beach Middle school wrestlers will wrestle for the next two weeks on the road. Their next home match is Tuesday, Feb. 7 against Pinckney at 4 p.m. The Middle School Wrestlers will finish the season the following Tuesday, Feb. 14 with a home meet against Tecumseh.

Careless 2nd Half Costs Possible Win

In a contest with Saline Saturday, Jan. 28, Chelsea's junior varsity basketball team was defeated 43-33 on Chelsea's home floor.

Chelsea played its strongest first half of the year defensively as they held Saline to 16 first half points, a team that scored 30 first-half points against them at Saline.

The young Bulldogs got some easy baskets off their press and ran their offense well as they ended up with good shots.

The second half was all Saline as the Bulldogs lost their composure and got away from their game plays.

Tim Lawrence led the team with 10 points, closely followed by Paul Bragalone with 9. Nathan Butler had 4, Dusty White, Jason Sprawka, Lance Ching, Ashley Coy and Brian Bloomensaal all with 2 each.

Bragalone led in team rebounding with 6, followed by Coy with 4 and Casey Wescott with 3.

Chelsea committed 24 turn-overs while Saline had 25.

From the field Chelsea hit 16 of 48 for 33% while Saline connected on 19 of 43 for 44%.

Free throw shooting had Chelsea making 1 of 3 for 33% while Saline hit 5 of 10 for 50%.

Coach Dave Quilter said "In the first half the team played with as much enthusiasm and aggressiveness as they have shown all year. Saline has a very good JV team and we out-played them in the first half. The second half we played hard but not as smart after taking poor shots and not disciplining ourselves to play within the offense. We need to play four quarters like we did the first two quarters."

Thursday the JVs meet Stockbridge at home and on Friday Milan comes to town.

Varsity Wrestlers Down Lincoln, Lose Close Meet to Dexter, 34-31

Because of injuries and illnesses, Chelsea was missing three of their starters. Despite the manpower shortage Kargel said he was "very pleased with the performance of the remaining starters and the replacements. Swim Team Wins Close Meet at Fenton, 95-91

Chelsea High school's varsity swimming team won a close and hard fought meet against Fenton at Fenton last Tuesday night. The final score of the meet was 95-91.

The meet was not to be so close, but many of the swimmers were out sick which put the pressure on the underclassmen. Each rose to the occasion to boost Chelsea's record to 5-1 and 2-0 in the SEC.

The meet began with a 1-3 finish in the 200 medley relay with the relay team of Robert Frayer, Peter Straub, Curt Street and Mike Huschke taking top honors, touching out the Fenton squad with a time of 1:53.61.

Chris Frayer came right back in the 200 free to place second with a season best time of 1:59.37.

Kevin Kolodica, coming off a nearly season ending sickness, won the 200 IM with an unbelievable 2:18.26 season best time.

The 50 free was a huge event for the Bulldogs as Christian Desarbo won his first ever varsity event at 24.72. Mike Huschke was third at 24.78 and Jim Bergman was fourth at 24.91.

Jason Fox scored much needed points in diving, placing second with 159.75 points. "Jason's points and placing were a real turning point in the meet for us," quoted coach David Jolly.

In the 100 fly the Bulldogs fought hard to finish third and fourth with Curt Street stopping the clock at 1:04.21 and teammate Chris Frayer close behind at 1:05.84.

The toughest event for Chelsea was the 100 free. The Bulldogs have struggled all season in this event. Christian Desarbo squeaked out a fourth-place finish at 56.18 with Mike Huschke finishing fifth.

The biggest event of the evening came in the 500 free as Austin Jackson won his first varsity event to touch out the Fenton swimmer. His time of 5:42.05 was a season best time. Matt Kolodica was third with Steve Thiel placing fourth.

The 200 free relays placed second and third, putting the Bulldogs down by two points going into the last three events.

Rob Frayer won the 100 backstroke at 1:03.32 with teammate Curt Street placing third at 1:06.69. This made the score tied at 78-78 going into the 100 breaststroke. Chelsea blew Fenton out of the water with a 1-2-3 finish in the event. Peter Straub won at 1:08.36, followed by Kevin Kolodica at 1:09.35 and his brother, Matt Kolodica, stopping the clock at 1:11.27 which was a season best performance.

All Chelsea had to do now was place second in the 400 free relay to win the meet which they did early.

Desarbo, Frayer and Jim Bergman touched at 3:47.10 to give the Bulldogs a hard fought and well swam victory.

The Bulldogs' next home meets are against Haslett on Tuesday and SEC foe Pinckney on Thursday. Both promise to be good meets.

JV Volleyball Team Boasts Perfect Record in SEC Games

Chelsea Junior Varsity volleyball team possesses a perfect record in the Southeastern Conference after defeating a tough Dexter team at home on Thursday night.

The team now has SEC wins over Milan, Lincoln, Tecumseh, Pinckney and Dexter. They have also won over Ypsilanti High school.

In the Brighton tournament the Bulldogs fought through the championship round to the semifinals. In the first round they defeated Troy Athens in three games. In the semis they met Plymouth Canton. The game again went to three matches with Plymouth Canton prevailing.

The team was to travel to Clinton on Saturday, Jan. 28 and Saline on Jan. 30.

All 12 members have been vital to the Bulldogs' success. Members of the team are Emily Arend, Melissa Carty, Kristy Cox, Jessica Forshee, Shannon Long, Sarah Metzler, Kasie Ruhlig, Monica Royce, Alicia Vogel, Beth Vogel, Hilarie Szczygiel, Jennifer Space.

"Each member knows her role and is ready to adapt to being called on at anytime. They have really played hard and have a great team attitude of co-operation and sticking together," said coach Laura Atkinson.

CHRIS WENTZ, a Beach Middle school 8th grader, recorded a pin win over his Lincoln opponent Tuesday, Jan. 24. Chris was wrestling in the 156 lb. class.

Water Study Proves Honey Creek Poses No Serious Health Risk

■ County conducts water study to determine if public health is at risk.

It appears a water study of Honey Creek done by the county contradicts a study undertaken by Gelman Sciences, Inc. last year.

Some Scio township residents are now accusing Gelman Sciences of using "scare tactics" to deflect attention off the company's controversial plan to use Honey Creek to dispose of 1,4-dioxane to clean up groundwater. A company spokesman has said in a news report that Gelman performed the study to show that releasing diluted 1,4-dioxane into the creek would be the least of the creek's problems.

Area residents met with county officials and the director of the study Monday night to learn more about the county's findings and their methodology used in conducting the study.

"We decided, because we would rather be on the safe side, to undertake our own study of sampling," said Dr. Rebecca Head, Environmental and Infrastructure Services director.

"At all locations, we found that the stream was suitable for partial body contact," drain commissioner Janis Bobrin told approximately 35 people who attended the meeting.

Residents initially questioned why they should believe the county's study over Gelman's. "I can't say what is right or wrong about (Gelman's) study... but this is not just our view of the world," Head said. "This is not a contest between the county and Gelman Sciences. This is the county looking at a public health issue."

"This is something where we are really, truly experts," Bobrin assured residents. She said the county has been sampling creeks and bodies of water for years.

"We were very careful about the kind of information we put out... We want to be clear where we got it and how it came about," Head said. "We did not go into this study to prove Honey Creek is a good creek."

The study was apparently spurred on by accusations made by Gelman Sciences in a letter the company sent to township residents. "Honey Creek has the potential to be declared a dangerous body of water and will be subject to a plan of remediation to remove the heavy bacteria load..." a March 23 letter from Gelman states. It also mentions the possible need to excavate abandoned septic tanks and drain fields and extend sewer lines throughout the township.

However, the county's study dismisses those claims. "Also, no studies have been found that indicate that abandoned septic systems may cause increased bacteria levels in streams," the county's 20-page Honey Creek Study states.

In the executive summary of the county's study, study director Richard Badics says Honey Creek water quality was compared to the Michigan Department of Public Health standards for total and partial body contact. Badics found bacterial levels fall within the range for urban streams and is not impacted by direct discharges of human sewage. "Honey Creek does not pose a serious bacteriological health risk to local residents within the watershed," the report states. "Furthermore, there has been no communicable diseases reported from accidental ingestions, fall-ins, etc. to any division of the Washtenaw County Department of Environmental and Infrastructure Services and Public Health Department."

Honey Creek, which is a small waterway approximately nine miles long, runs almost exclusively through Scio township. Badics said the study was undertaken to ensure public health is not "impaired" or "in danger."

"We wanted to make sure when we did this study that it had to be timely," Badics said. "We designed it in 30 days and got it off the ground because there was some concern about public health."

It cost the county approximately $15,000 to prove the creek is suitable for partial body contact activities. Head confirmed the county would not have waged the study if it weren't for Gelman's study and publicized findings.

The county's study was conducted from mid-July through August. Portions of the stream were sampled to determine fecal coliform, fecal streptococcus and Escherichia coli levels. Samples were collected on portions of Honey Creek, its tributaries and the Huron River.

Out of 10 sample locations, the highest bacterial levels were found up stream of Scio Farms Estates manufactured home park. Badics said. But samples from those locations were still below standards set for partial body contact. Badics also said creek water quality throughout the watershed was better down stream. "It was good to find the water quality got better beyond the mouth of Honey Creek," he said.

Badics is recommending a long-term monitoring program be established in Honey Creek and throughout the county to establish the base line water quality within each watershed. He suggested implementing a watershed management plan. "This is a real key component of what needs to be done," Badics expects the fragile watershed to be impacted by development in the next 10 years. He said a watershed management plan would help protect the watershed and make it better.

Several representatives of Gelman Sciences were among the audience members Monday night. Residents asked them why the study was conducted by Gelman in the first place and several demanded seeing Gelman's protocol procedures used in their study.

"What concern is it to Gelman the bacterial level of this creek," one resident asked. Gelman employees would only respond by saying they came to the meeting to review the county's report. They refused to comment on their own company's study. Residents were directed to send any questions in writing and the company would issue an official response.

Everybody's Science

EVERYBODY'S SCIENCE
★ Biotechnology May Offer Defense for Plants
By Doris Stanley

A crab, a lobster, a shrimp and a beetle have a common denominator. So do disease pathogens, insect pests and harmful nematodes. How could this be? Well, says a U.S. Department of Agriculture scientist, they all contain forms of chitin, a substance found in the outer shell of crustaceans and insects and in the cell walls of even fungi. Chitin makes the shell, or exoskeleton, hard, as a protection against enemies.

But Richard T. Mayer of USDA's Agricultural Research Service says that these tough guys may not be so tough after all. He and colleagues have found compounds that crack hard shells. These "chitin-breakers" are enzymes the scientists located in citrus. So, Mayer asks, why not genetically engineer these enzymes into food plants so that they can defend themselves against chitin-packing pathogens, crop-eating insects and harmful nematodes?

Plants lack chitin, but at the U.S. Horticultural Research Laboratory in Orlando, Mayer and colleagues found more than 20 different forms of enzymes, called chitinases and chitosanases, in oranges and grapefruit.

"Inserting the 'genes' for these enzymes into citrus and other plants that don't have them—or manipulating the genes already there—would build natural protection into otherwise vulnerable plants," says Mayer.

Mayer says chitin forms a membrane that lines the digestive tract of insects and serves as a barrier against internal penetration of the insect by bacteria or other disease-causing organisms. Chitinases would break down or dissolve this membrane, leaving the insect open to infection.

If plants could be engineered to produce more of the defensive enzymes, then they would counter-attack a pathogen or repel harmful insects and nematodes. Mayer and colleagues are looking for the genes responsible for producing these plant defensive proteins and are studying what activates the genes.
