A VIDEO COLLECTION of nearly 400 cassettes was donated by Heydlauff's Appliance and Electronics to McKune Memorial Library recently. Five Candidates Seek Election to Council

Two incumbents will battle to retain trustee positions.

Chelsea's annual village election will pit two incumbents against three challengers in a bid for three trustee seats.

The election is slated March 13. However, nominating petitions were due Feb. 6 for candidates seeking election. Besides the trustee seats, the positions of clerk, assessor and library board trustee are open.

A total of seven petitions were received by deadline, including five for trustee, one for library board trustee and one for clerk. None were received for the assessor's post.

Seeking re-election are council trustees Brian Cashman and Dave Daut and clerk Suzanne Morrison. Tom Dorer will not seek another term.

Cashman, 44, is a manager for the University of Michigan Information Technology Division. He is a five-year village resident who has served on the council since 1992. Cashman cites Chelsea's development necessitating patterning traffic, landfill closure and a new water tower as areas that need to be addressed.

Daut, 43, is an environmental consultant and technical writer seeking a second year on the board. He is an eight-year village resident who says the village must have a futuristic vision of development.

Twenty-nine year old challenger, Robert Clark, a Chelsea native, wants to see that Chelsea remains Chelsea despite the village's yearning for growth. Clark is a yard supervisor at Chelsea Lumber and a former employee of the Chelsea police and department of public works.

New nominee, Jim Machnick, a self-employed landscape construction worker, is vying for a more accessible village board. He sees Chelsea residents watching board and planning commission meetings from their living rooms on public access television. Machnick, 37, has lived in Chelsea for 10 years and says leadership will lead to a thriving community.

Harry Thurkow, owner of the Chelsea Hearing Aid Centre, is seeking an empty trustee seat. The former co-chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals, thinks governing Chelsea's growth is the key to its tomorrow.

William Personke is the only candidate for library board trustee. The village assessor's position remains without petition. Village president, Richard Steele, will appoint an assessor if no one is elected.

Local Woman Will Carve Folk Art Ornaments at Fair

As a consumer, Marlene Dusbiber has looked forward to attending Dexter Historical Society's Pioneer Craft Fair. But now as an artisan, it's even more exciting for her.

The Chelsea resident is marking her fourth year as she carves her wooden ornaments at the 22nd annual show slated March 18 at Dexter High school.

"This is the best show. I used to enjoy going to it before I was ever in it," said the mother of two who has been carving ornaments for a decade now. "It's just high quality. Everything in there is high quality and educational."

Marlene began carving 10 years ago, but didn't begin demonstrating her craft and showing her wares at area craft fairs until 1989. The Webster Fall Festival was her first show, and has remained a steady date on her calendar ever since. She has also participated in Waterloo's Pioneer Days, The Pioneer Craft Fair, however, is her only spring show. Marlene says there is something about spring approaching that makes the fair exciting and refreshing. She sees the subtle effect on customers too as they stay away from the hand-carved reindeer and snowmen and go for the Easter bunnies and eggs.

Marlene carves a variety of ornaments from a cat with a mouse—her most popular item—to farm animals, sunflowers and angels. She depends on a friend to periodically cut down Bass wood trees to provide the body of her creations. The tree is cut in planks so Marlene can go to work with her band saw, a 75-inch circle saw, and produce the rough product. She cuts out shapes she draws from scratch; then paints the figurines.

In the beginning, Marlene exclusively made Christmas tree ornaments. But over the years, her abilities have improved and her scope has widened. "I am a lot better now than I used to be. It just takes time," she said. "Now, some of her carved folk art may also be exhibited as figurines. Often they can remain on display year-round. The Village Shoppe in Chelsea sells her work, as does Michael Camp's, a hand-carved furniture antique reproduction and folk art specialty store in Plymouth. She also takes orders over the telephone.

Marlene's husband, John, has provided support and encouragement for her, not to mention a little help during fair time. A carver, John taught his wife the craft.

"Between the two of us, we can do anything. He pushes me to get things done," Marlene said. "When things are hectic, they pool talents with John carving and Marlene adding the finishing touches. They all end up looking a little different," she said. "The faces and eyes always look a little different because they're handmade. There is no way I could make them look the same."

Nor would Marlene want to. Fairgoers are looking for originality and uniqueness. Marlene's folk art is known for its variety and all-appealing quality. She is inspired by nature, living on a 15-acre farm in Sylvan township. She and her family moved to the area eight years ago from Ann Arbor to fulfill their dreams of living on sprawling land and building their own home. Marlene said her art work provides her with a part-time hobby and also helps support her horse riding habit. The family has two ponies, but also likes to ride horses on area farms.

Marlene says she was once inspired by an albino house finch who came to her bird feeder, so she carved a replica. She says she draws many of her ideas from that bird feeder and its visitors. New folk art she will be introducing this year will include a dragon fly and boats. Most recently, she added sunflowers, pineapples and two different kinds of rabbits to her selection.

"I get a lot of inspiration when I am under pressure," she admits. "If I am pushed and I realize I am coming out to a show and I don't have anything, suddenly I can be very creative."

The Pioneer Craft Fair, which draws many winter-weary observers and buyers from throughout southeast Michigan, is held annually as a fundraiser to support Dexter Area Museum. Marlene Dusbiber will join local artisans Bill Gillespie of Wildlife Creations, Marsi and Bill Darwin of Darwin's Stained Glass Studio, Sandra and Andrew Moore of Heartfelt Happiness and others.

Returning after an absence of several years will be Frank Orlovski of Oxford, N.H., whose specialty is hand-worked scrimshaw jewelry and accessories done in fossil ivory. A second-year visit by the Smith brothers, Brian and Stephen, will feature their wrought iron candle holders, fireplace poker and knives with work demonstrated outdoors on a portable coal forge.

Marlene says she will demonstrate her carving ability at the fair. "I'll be carving with my wood chips everywhere. It's a messy hobby," she said. Her creations range from $3 to $40 and take anywhere from 30 minutes to two hours to make. She will have many items, displayed on a feather tree, priced for sale and will be taking orders.

"This is the best show. I used to enjoy going to it before I was ever in it. It's just high quality. Everything in there is high quality and educational."

Heydlauff's Store Donates Video Collection to Library

McKune Memorial Library has recently received a donation of approximately 400 video cassettes from Heydlauff's Appliance and Electronics.

"The collection, which includes 100 Disney movies plus an excellent selection of children's and family titles, seemed to be very well suited to be housed in the library," said Mark Heydlauff.

The library, which already owned approximately 250 videos prior to the Heydlauff's donation, has now increased their total collection to 650. Staff members, with the help of volunteers Carol Kempf and Laura Christensen, have spent the past three months processing and cataloging the movies. New cases for the entire collection were purchased.

Several changes have been made in the way that the library circulates its videos. The most significant change is that videos are now rented for one week, instead of overnight. Rental fees remain the same. "After instating this policy, our video circulation more than doubled," said library director Ann Holt. "Since (Continued on page three)

Winter Concert Held at CHS

Chelsea High school orchestras and bands presented an outstanding concert Friday, Feb. 10, despite the fact that illness had depleted their ranks.

The Chamber Orchestra, under the baton of John Kennedy, presented Dvorak's flamboyant "Slavonic Dance," and unusual "Suite for Strings" by Harrison, and the Adagio movement of Beethoven's "First Symphony." This piece represents the richness of music from the Romantic period and displays Beethoven's talent for writing beautiful melodies. The strings, led by concertmaster Mark Wallace, dug in and produced a full, rich sound and the interchange between flute, oboe, and clarinet was especially well executed.

The Symphony Band then favored the audience with a spirited march by Fillmore, followed by an English country dance arranged by John Stout entitled "Linden Lea." In their final song, "Rhythm Machine," the spotlight was on the percussion section, which handled it very well. This Timothy Broege piece was described by one listener as having an Aaron Copland sound. The counterpoint between the brass instruments was especially notable.

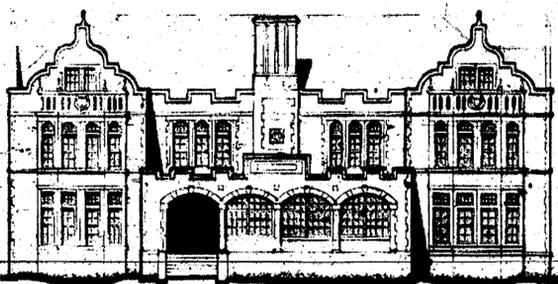

Symphony Orchestra opened with Strauss' "Thus Spake Zarathustra," commonly known as the theme song from the movie 2001: A Space Odyssey. They went on to present Mozart's "Overture to Lucio Silla," a lively but stately piece, and Verdi's "Grand March" from Aida. In this triumphal march you can almost see the queen of Egypt parading.

Wind Ensemble, conducted by Bill Gourley, presented the rich, full sounds of "Symphonic Tryptich" by a Michigan composer, James Curnow. The band showed an excellent balance and seemed to play as an organic whole. The piece shows many moods, from the haunting oboe solo in the Soliloquy section, to the dramatic kettle drums played beautifully by Carsten Lipiec. Other excellent solo parts were performed by Melissa Smith, oboe; Tracey Dufek, flute; Ben Stafford, saxophone; Dustin Williams, French horn; Cathy Katulla, trumpet; and Matthew Kennedy, clarinet.

For the second half of the Wind Ensemble's presentation they were led by Dr. Max Plank, director of bands at Eastern Michigan University. (Continued on page three)

Wednesday, Feb. 20, 1991—
 Chelsea School District students continue to perform better than students state-wide on the Michigan Educational Assessment Tests. Testing co-ordinator presented the information at Monday night's regular meeting of the board of education.

Three initial projects have been proposed by the newly-formed Chelsea Education Foundation. The projects were outlined during a Valentine's Brunch fundraiser Feb. 10 at Chelsea Community Hospital. In addition, Chelsea-area resident William Rosenberg, author of the recently-adopted Clean Air Bill, addressed the group.

Chelsea's "Pathfinders," a group of 24 determined fifth graders at North and South Elementary schools interested in having a bike/hiking path constructed in the village, presented the results of a survey they conducted recently to the Chelsea 1995 organization. Pathfinders originated from a new Enrichment Triad Program project called community-problem solving. The youngsters, through a lengthy process, decided the village needed a path that could be used for bikers, hikers, runners, walkers and anyone else interested in a safe outdoor trail through all parts of the village.

A choir, a substance abuse program, and the village's recycling program all recently received grants from the Civic Foundation of Chelsea. The foundation approved the expenditures at its December board meeting.

 Beginning March 8, Girl Scouts across the United States celebrated Girl Scout Week in honor of the 69th birthday of the organization. In Chelsea, churches recognized Brownies and Girl Scouts in their congregations and merchants displayed posters and badge work created by local troops.

Crisler Arena was filled with hundreds of prep wrestlers Friday and Saturday, Feb. 27 and 28, eager to participate in the state championships, in hopes of being ranked among the best in Michigan. Two Chelsea wrestlers, Rick Poljan and Jeff Osentoski, were among the crowds of high school grapplers to take to the mats and emerge with fourth-place honors in their respective weight classes.

The Chelsea Bulldogs ended their regular home basketball season on a pair of high notes. Not only did the cagers rack up their ninth win in 10 outings by defeating Mason, 60-52, but also senior captain Jeff Dils hit the 1,000-point mark in his three-year career, a high school rarity. By the end of the evening, Dils had tallied 1,010 points in three years with the varsity cage team.

For the first time since the mid-Sixties, the annual village election featured two political parties and eight candidates on the ballot vying for six offices. Following the prior year's unsuccessful write-in campaign of incumbents and a sweeping victory by the novice Independents, former village trustee Walter Brown established the Village Party, a political vehicle devised for the expressed purpose of offering interested parties the opportunity to run for village office.

At a meeting of the Chelsea Woman's Club, club member Edith Hoffman presented a program "History of Chelsea." The program was illustrated with pictures of the founding fathers which included the Pierce brothers, the Congdon brothers and the Glazier family, all of whom contributed greatly to the development of the Village of Chelsea.

★ Should You Count on Social Security?

By William T. Wilson

No wonder a recent survey found that more Americans believe in UFOs than believe that Social Security will be there for them in retirement. Young adults in particular are paying more into the system than any previous generation—and they may get little or nothing back when they retire.

The first person to receive Social Security was Ida Fuller, who retired in 1940 after paying into the system a grand total of $44. By the time of her death in 1975, she had received $21,000 in benefits. Those who retire in 1995 will get back what they paid in about six years. But younger workers who hope to get back what they paid had better eat their Wheaties and plan on living for a century or more.

Back in the 1930s, when Social Security was founded, the most anyone was forced to pay in a year was $30 (1 percent on income up to $3,000). The average worker today pays almost 100 times that much—7.65 percent on income up to $61,200. These rates and income ceilings are being jacked upward regularly, and they must be matched by employer dollars, all of which stifles job creation and drains more and more capital out of our economy.

Social Security is built on a pay-as-you-go system. Benefits to the elderly are tied not to what they paid in, but to taxes on younger workers. The health of the system, therefore, depends upon the ratio of workers to retirees. In 1935, this ratio was 55 to 1. As eligibility expanded and life expectancies lengthened, the ratio declined from about 7 to 1 in 1950 to below 3 to 1 today. The government says this ratio will be less than 2 to 1 by 2030, which means that each retiree will have to be supported by fewer than two active workers!

The pay-as-you-go system and the falling worker-retiree ratio are already eating away at the system's fiscal integrity. True, Social Security ran a surplus of more than $40 billion in 1994. But two of its trust funds—disability insurance and hospitalization insurance—will both be losing money in five years. What's worse, the government's actuaries now say that, in the absence of major changes, the whole system will be bankrupt long before today's 20-year-olds reach retirement. In other words, this Ponzi scheme is coming to an end.

The burdens of Social Security have been especially onerous for the state of Michigan because Michigan has fewer retirees per capita than most other states. The cold weather plus the progressive double inheritance tax (finally repealed in 1993) has encouraged retired folks to leave the state. In dollar terms, Michigan workers sent $18 billion in Social Security taxes to Washington in 1993; but only $16 billion came back to the state in Social Security benefits. In other words, many former Michigan workers, now retired, are spending their checks building up the economy of Florida, which has long had no state inheritance tax.

For the sake of our young workers—and for the future of Michigan—we need to take steps now to fix the problem. Reducing benefits to current recipients or at least to those nearing the retirement age would allow a surplus to emerge, making it possible to finance the retirement of the baby-boomers early in the next century. Most nations of the Pacific Rim have avoided the pitfalls of our pay-as-you-go system by tying retirees' benefits to their own contributions, an idea we should consider seriously.

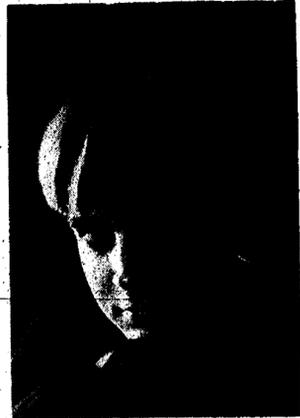

Better yet, the major problems with Social Security could be solved by privatizing the entire system. Fourteen years ago, Chile was experiencing precisely the same problems with its system as we are facing with ours today. In one of the most successful public policy reversals in the world, now a model for other nations, Chile privatized retirement security. Under the new system, workers contribute a portion of their earnings to approved, private funds which compete with each other for the right to manage individual accounts.

The Chilean plan has proven to be wildly popular because workers are ending up with more than the old system ever promised them, and the economy has benefited because of increased private investment. During a phase-in period in which participation was voluntary, over 90 percent of Chileans opted out of the old system in favor of the new. Their payments to the old system were reimbursed in the form of government bonds. This privatized arrangement is relatively immune to political pressures and ties benefits to contributions, making it vastly more sound than a government-run arrangement.

The time remaining to fix the Social Security problem is dwindling. In the next decade or two we have a choice: We can either extend the American dream to our sons and daughters or we can hand them what they will call the American nightmare: sky-high Social Security taxes for a retirement pittance.

(Dr. William T. Wilson, vice-president and economist at Comerica Bank in Detroit, is an adjunct scholar at the Mackinac Center for Public Policy, a Midland-based research and educational organization.)

MARK WALLACE, Chelsea High senior, was among a group of 10 area students to be awarded the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizens Award at a program held in their honor at the Ann Arbor Women's City Club on Saturday, Feb. 12. The students were chosen by their teachers and their peers as displaying the character traits of dependability, service, leadership, patriotism, honor, and understanding. Wallace has received a scholarship to attend Princeton University in the fall.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Wimmen got on the agenda at the country store Saturday night and they got stuck there. Zeke Grubb kicked off the discussion with a reminder that there's the right way, the wrong way, the Army way and the woman's way, and he was of a mind that a man in his right mind better take a hard look at the last one before he starts playing around with the others.

Zeke told the fellows that his old lady got a VCR a few weeks back so she could use the video library their church set up last year. She brought home videos on Bible stories, early church leaders, overseas missions and youth programs.

One night last week, Zeke stopped by a drugstore that had a rack of movies to rent, and he brought one home to watch after supper. He said the last time him and his old lady went out to a picture show was when "Patton" first come out, and she complained about the language in that one.

The jacket on the movie he rented said it was "adult comedy." They hadn't got 10 minutes into it before his old lady said it was childish smut and no adult she'd want to associate with would find it funny. Ed told her that movies now are graded according to who will enjoy them the most. She was quick to ask who is set up as movie judges, and in the second place it's insulting to be told what your movie taste ought to be in the first place.

All the fellows are more readers than lookers, but they give Zeke's old lady a full endorsement. Bug Hoökum said he worries about the idea of classing entertainment and anything else as "adult." You would think, Bug went on, that grownups who worry about morals and family values would try to set a good example, where "adult" means what they claim they want their children to grow up to be. Instead, he said, the message adults send children with all the grading is that is really, bad stuff, but when you get older you'll like it as much as we do.

The fellows were agreed that we ought to give the wimmen a run at fixing what's wrong, because men are direct to blame for most of it. Clem Webster said his old lady's pet gripe is school food. On one side she hears everybody lamenting over all the junk kids eat when they're setting their eating habits and when they need nutrition the most. On the other side, she sees the school menus where they always got the pizza, burgers and fries as a choice for youngsters who don't like what's good for them. She says serve what's best for the children the same way we offer the classes we think do them the most good. She said young people need direction, not choices between what's good and what's bad for them. I didn't say so at the session, but I'm not sure wimmen are ready to run everything. While I set here writing this piece, my old lady is back in the kitchen baking a cake for a bake and craft sale the church wimmen are having. Ed Doolittle told me the other day his old lady has been working for the past two months on a patch quilt she will put up at the sale. For sure I'll bid high on the cake, Ed will buy the quilt, and the church will wash out a few dollars. If I say we'd come out ahead giving the money direct to the church my old lady will quote Scripture and say the joy is in the doing.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Building Codes Topic of Seminar

Building inspectors and officials, code administrators, mechanical, plumbing and electrical inspectors, plan reviewers and architects will get the latest updates in the 1993 BOCA National Building Code in a one-day seminar at Washtenaw Community College March 16.

The 1993 BOCA National Building Code Update seminar, sponsored by the WCC Construction Institute, will meet from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Morris Lawrence Building, formerly the Job Skills/Campus Events Building. The fee includes a copy of the BOCA National Building Update Handbook and refreshments.

Instructor Larry Pickel, plan examiner for the City of Ann Arbor, will demonstrate how to identify the most significant differences between the 1990 and 1993 Editions of the BOCA National Building Code. The program has been approved by the State Bureau of Construction Codes for six hours of technical credits for Building Inspectors (BI), Building Officials (BO), and Plan Reviewers (PR) for the 1993-96 cycle.

Pickel, who is a part-time instructor for the college, has taught numerous BOCA programs, including the 1990 National Code Update and Single Family Dwelling courses. Class size is limited, early registration is encouraged.

LORRI MCCONNELL

FWC Comes To Western Washtenaw

Ann Arbor based, "Friends Who Care," a fully certified Medicare and Medicaid Home Health Care Agency providing visiting nursing care and in-home private duty nursing care since 1978 has established their 10th office in Manchester to better serve the residents of western Washtenaw county.

A local resident, Lorri McConnell has been appointed their Home Health Care co-ordinator. She will serve as community liaison co-ordinating in-home health care for the area's frail homebound elderly, catastrophic disabled and technology dependent children and adults. She will be working with hospitals, physicians, families, as well as community agencies such as Area Agency on Aging, Department of Social Services, and Children's Specialized Home Care Program (formerly Crippled Children).

Lorri and her family have lived in Manchester for nine years. She has two daughters who attend Klager Elementary school where she has served as the PTO vice-president for the past three years. They also attend St. Mary's in Chelsea where she teaches third grade catechism. Because of her administrative background and desire to work in the home care industry, she was recruited by her sister, Gayle Busselle, who is administrative director of Friends Who Care.

To supplement the caring staff of professionals currently working out of their existing Ann Arbor, Jackson and Adrian offices, Lorri is actively recruiting registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, and experienced home health aides interested in serving the needs in the western Washtenaw communities of Manchester, Tecumseh, Saline Grass Lake, Chelsea, Dexter and Pinckney areas. Prospective employees or for a free consultation in your home, contact Lorri McConnell at (313) 428-1242.

Sheriff's Community Advisory Board Elects Officers

At the first meeting of the year of the Sheriff's Community Relations Advisory Board, which was held Jan. 26, the Board elected its 1995 officers and established its meeting schedule for the year. Re-elected as chair is Albert Cruickshank of Ann Arbor; re-elected as first vice-chair is Commissioner Suzanne Shaw of Ypsilanti; and newly-elected as second vice-chair is Henry L. McQueen of Ann Arbor.

The Sheriff's Community Relations Advisory Board was established by Sheriff Ronald J. Schebil on May 1, 1991, in an effort to enhance community relations and provide the best possible law enforcement services to the citizens of Washtenaw county. Along with Sheriff Schebil, the Board consists of twelve (12) members, including two Washtenaw County Commissioners, Richard DeLong, District 3, and Suzanne Shaw, District 14.

Formal board meetings are held the second Thursday of every other month, unless additional meetings are required. All meetings are held at 6 p.m. in the Administrative conference room of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, at 2201 Hogback Rd., Ann Arbor.

The 1995 board meeting schedule is as follows: Jan. 26, March 9, May 11, July 13, Sept. 14 and Nov. 9. All meetings begin at 6 p.m.

Sheriff Ron Schebil encourages Washtenaw county residents to contact any of the Board members to share their concerns and/or comments regarding law enforcement issues.

If any member of the community wishes to address the board at one of their regularly scheduled board meetings, they should contact the chair, Albert Cruickshank, at 996-4986, or the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, at 971-4978, to be placed on the agenda. Groups should designate one representative to present their comments at the meeting and those wishing to be placed on the board agenda will be done so on a "first come-first served" basis.

Winter Concert

(Continued from page one) versity, and Chelsea resident. Dr. Plank had conducted a workshop with the group and their mutual work showed to great advantage. They presented a Renaissance Trilogy which required them to learn to carefully match each other's tone and phrasing. The music was so evocative of the mood of the Renaissance times that you could "almost see the leg of mutton at the banquet," in Plank's words.

The concert ended with a surprising treat, "Dinosaurs" by Idaho composer Daniel Bukvich. This piece is avant garde, but very accessible and enjoyable for the average audience. In it Bukvich presents the sights and sounds of the dinosaur times produced in very non-traditional forms, including chime-like trombones, drums which are miked, clarinet mouthpieces being played alone, the tops of wine glasses being rubbed for an eerie wail, and the stomping of a six-foot section of PVC pipe on the stage floor. The audience was on its feet in appreciation.

As Dr. Plank pointed out, music provides the young people of Chelsea with a broader outlook on life and learning. He stated "The way in which we learn music exercises our brains the way no other piece of the curriculum does."

"I hope I shall always possess firmness and virtue enough to maintain what I consider the most enviable of all titles, the character of an 'Honest Man'"

— George Washington

One of the best reasons to recognize the birthday of somebody famous is to consider the characteristics that made him or her great. Today is George Washington's birthday. The legends of his honesty are still told today. It is interesting to note that, in spite of his many achievements, including the titles "General" and "President", he still considered honesty his highest achievement.

As individuals, we may never become famous military or political leaders, but we ALL can earn the title "Honest". At the Cole Funeral Chapel, we strive to be fair and honest with every family we serve.

Your Money Matters

YOUR MONEY MATTERS

*Are Mail Order Checks Worth the Value?

A reader from Fraser wrote asking if there are any financial dangers in ordering checks from mail-order firms rather than through the bank. This prompted me to start collecting those colorful flyers that come in the mailbox or with the newspaper coupons to see what they offer. I also posed the reader's question to Don Savera, director of development for CUcorp, a company which provides checking services to credit unions.

According to Savera "Mail-order checks can be more trouble than they're worth. Consumers often can't depend on the service, delivery and prices associated with this type of mail-order service."

There are several reasons consumers should be wary of ordering checks through the mail.

• Security and privacy. It can be risky for the consumer to send a check number to an unknown mail-order company. "Often these companies sell your name and address to businesses that subsequently send unwanted mail and make soliciting phone calls," said Savera.

• Service and Delivery: If there is a change in information from your financial institution (such as a routing and transit number), it will automatically be updated when you re-order checks from your credit union or bank. The mail order check companies will reprint the old routing and transit numbers. Also if there is a printing error with spelling mistakes or account numbers, most credit unions will not charge for reprints. This isn't true for mail order companies. As for delivery, most mail order companies will take 2-3 weeks. They can be delivered more quickly—but you'll have to pay extra for it. On the other hand, banks and credit unions typically will deliver in about one week. Since people often do not realize they need checks until they run out and do not plan ahead when ordering them, people typically do not want to wait 2 or 3 weeks.

• Cost. Initial costs may be low, but reorders usually cost more. For example, when I order 150 duplicate checks from my credit union, I pay $7.95 including postage and handling. (This is for a standard style, no puppy dogs or farmhouse scene.) If I were to purchase checks through the flyers I received from the mail-order companies, I would pay between $6.95 and $7.20 for a first-time order including shipping costs. At most I would save a dollar.

For reorders, one mail-order company keeps its prices at $6.95. A second company would charge me $10.95 and a third company would charge $11.20 for a set of 150 duplicate checks. So on reorders, once again I could save $1 or lose up to $3.35. If you include the 29-cent stamp on the order form, I could only save 71 cents. If I pay extra for quick delivery, the savings is diminished even more.

Of course, cost will depend a lot on the extras you may choose such as script or calligraphy printing, monograms and special designs. But look beyond the low first-time price that's advertised in giant print and take a good look at the reorder prices when you compare.

• Quality. You may not realize it, but missing information on your monthly checking statement may be the result of the poor quality of paper or ink used by the mail-order company. Poor quality causes delays in the check processing system. Often the MICR-encoded lines which appear on the bottom of the check are not machine readable. As a result, the check processing company may not be able to read the check number so you may have one or more sums on your statement with a check number of "888" which will make balancing your checkbook more difficult, unless you have duplicate checks or your financial institution returns your cancelled checks. If the processing company cannot read the account number which identifies the financial institution, there is a delay, with the sum being charged to your account which may give you a difficult time balancing your checkbook.

The colorful flyers with pretty checks do catch our attention and with the low price advertised some consumers may be tempted. But be careful to read the small print—especially for re-order costs and delivery. When you consider the small amount you're saving and the service and quality you may lose, it's probably worth the extra few dollars to order through your financial institution.

Send your financial questions to: "Your Money Matters," Michigan Credit Union League, P.O. Box 5210, Detroit 48235.

Govt. Study Recommends Spinal Manipulation

Washington, D.C.—A study just released by the federal government which validates spinal manipulation as the recommended initial treatment for acute low back problems in adults should give consumers good reason to demand chiropractic coverage in their health plans. It should also convince local employers to offer low-cost, non-surgical chiropractic treatment in their companies' health insurance, Jerald Flinn, D.C. of Chelsea, said today.

The new study, released Dec. 8, and conducted by the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research (AHCPR) of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, concludes that spinal manipulation is a recommended and effective form of initial treatment for acute low back problems in adults—the most common health complaint experienced by working Americans today. It is a condition which costs the economy at least $50 billion a year in lost wages and productivity.

According to health-care experts, as many as 80 percent of Americans will suffer from back pain at some point in their lives, back symptoms are the most common cause of disability for Americans under age 45, and 20 percent of all American military medical discharges are due to low back pain.

"The implications of this exhaustive study are clear," said Dr. Flinn. "Employers should offer chiropractic coverage in their health insurance plans, and managed-care health plans should allow patients direct access to doctors of chiropractic. Chiropractic procedure is drugless and non-surgical, which makes it safer for the patient and less costly for the health system," Dr. Flinn concluded.

THEATRE REVIEW

By Maggie Hilliard
Free Land Drama Critic

'The Actor's Nightmare' 'The Shock of Recognition'

I was not acquainted with "The Actor's Nightmare" by Christopher Durang or "The Shock of Recognition" by Robert Anderson, but the Dexter Community Players' recent presentation of these one-act plays tickled and obviously pleased a well fed audience (courtesy of Cousins Heritage Inn).

Unfortunately, only a true theatre buff would have caught every joke in "The Actor's Nightmare," about an actor who wanders on stage only to be told he is to "go on" in one-half hour. He hasn't a clue as to what play is being done and hilariously, it changes every few minutes. Through giggles, the DCP actors took their audience from Coward to Shakespeare to the absurd, Becket with a wink and a smite.

Although slow moving at first, the jokes got funnier, the performers more relaxed and the lead, Alan Holsztyński, more fun to watch as he purposely bumbled his way through scene after scene.

Equally as engaging was an appearance by director/producer, John Corey, who portrayed Henry Irving.

I hope to see both of these young men on the DCP stage again. They truly were a delight.

Jerry Klein has been seen in several area plays in the past. Again, it was a pleasure to watch him as producer, Herb Miller in "The Shock of Recognition," about a dispute between writer and producer regarding whether a certain nude scene should appear in an upcoming production.

Bill Kotowski, no stranger to DCP productions, portrayed Richard Pawling in a style reminiscent of comedian, Tim Conway. Though his characterization wavered slightly from time to time, this was by far the funniest I had seen Kotowski on stage.

It was nice to see the familiar faces of Kerry Waggoner, Tara Funke and Gary Glover from the spectacular, "Jesus Christ Superstar." They, along with Jane Burch Montgomery and Walter Burge, should be commended for a job well done. Special "recognition" should go to Tara Funke for having the ability to appear as two very different characters in these two very different plays. One error on Ms. Funke's part and it could have turned into a real life actor's nightmare under the DCP spotlight!

All in all, the Dexter Community Players' dessert theatre made for an enjoyable evening out. I have no idea what this troupe is planning next, but I look forward to attending their production.

Republicans Organize West Washtenaw Groups

Washtenaw County Commissioner Joe Yekulis announced today the formation of the Western Washtenaw Republicans, a group of local elected officials and party members working to advance the interests of the Republican Party in the western half of Washtenaw county.

"This area of the county has traditionally been a Republican stronghold. In order to maintain our strength, it is crucial we do a better job of organizing our fellow Republicans," Yekulis said. "Any Republican in the townships of Lyndon, Dexter, Webster, Lima, Sylvan, Sharon, Freedom, Manchester and Bridgewater as well as Republicans in the villages of Manchester, Chelsea and Dexter are encouraged to attend our inaugural meeting."

The first meeting is scheduled for Saturday, March 11 at 9 a.m. The meeting will take place at the Wolverine Food and Spirits, 20460 Old US-12 in Chelsea.

Washtenaw County Republican Chair David Fantera applauded the efforts of Yekulis, County Commissioner Mike DuRussel and others to form a Republican group in western Washtenaw county. "One of the goals I have for the county party is to end the impression that to be involved in the county party, you have to come to us. From now on, we will meet Republicans in their areas," Fantera said. "Groups like this are going to be critical to our efforts to elect Republicans in future elections. I look forward to traveling to Chelsea each month to attend the meetings."

The formation of the Western Washtenaw Republicans brings to three the number of local organizations under the Washtenaw County Republican Committee. The Ann Arbor City Republican Committee has been meeting for several years. The Ypsilanti Republicans have been meeting weekly for the past three years and have been growing rapidly.

"By the end of the year, we will have formed a group in Saline to help us organize the southeastern portion of the county," Fantera added.

Anyone seeking more information on the Washtenaw County Republican Committee and its auxiliary groups may contact Tim Blaney (313) 971-4622.

Nanny Tax Changes May Benefit You

If you hire someone to care for your children, clean your home, or maintain your yard, you may have just gotten a tax break from Uncle Sam. The Michigan Association of CPAs (MACPA) explains that Congress recently changed the nanny tax rules. The new law requires fewer people to pay Social Security and Medicare taxes on behalf of their household employees, and simplifies the filing procedures for these taxes.

Wage Threshold Increased

Previously, individuals who paid child-care workers and other domestic employees at least $50 in wages during any calendar quarter were required to pay Social Security and Medicare taxes on their earnings. In theory, this meant that if you paid a babysitter $150 a quarter (or $12.50 weekly) so you and your spouse could go out to dinner and a movie once a week, you were responsible for paying Social Security and Medicare taxes of 15.3 percent on your babysitter's earnings (or paying 7.65 percent and withholding the other half from your babysitter's pay).

Under the new law, you needn't pay Social Security and Medicare taxes on the earnings of any domestic employee, including a domestic farm employee, unless that pay totals at least $1,000 annually. As a result, many people who hire occasional babysitters, handymen or house cleaners, no longer need to worry about the nanny tax. The $1,000 threshold will be indexed after 1995 for increases in average wages, but it will rise only in $100 increments.

The new wage threshold is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1994. Consequently, if your domestic employee earns less than $1,000 for 1994, and both of you have been paying Social Security and Medicare taxes all year, both of you are entitled to a refund of those taxes. The new tax law ensures that employees who receive Social Security tax refunds in 1994 will not lose their Social Security wage credits for the year.

The new law also eliminates the need to pay taxes on earnings of domestic employees who are under age 18, unless they work full-time as household help. This aspect of the law goes into effect in 1995.

Tax Reporting Requirements

Despite these changes, many people who retain full-time child-care providers or other domestic help are likely to find they are still responsible for paying the nanny tax. However, the rules affecting how and when you pay that tax have been changed to simplify procedures and minimize paperwork.

For example, you no longer need to make quarterly tax filings. Instead, for the 1995 through 1997 tax years, you can report and pay your employees' taxes—including Social Security, Medicare and Federal Unemployment Tax (FUTA)—on your own Form 1040. However, if your domestic employee earns at least $1,000 for the 1994 tax year, you must make your last quarterly tax payment by filing Form 942, Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees.

Beginning in 1998, employers can either increase their quarterly estimated tax payments or increase the taxes withheld from their own wages to cover their share of domestic employee Social Security tax.

Additional Tax Responsibilities
Although you are not required to withhold income tax from your domestic employees' wages, you can do so at his or her request. If you decide to withhold, you must obtain Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate, from your employee.

As an employer, you also must give your domestic employees who earn at least $1,000 annually a Form W-2 by Feb. 1, 1995. Among other information, this form shows how much you paid them during the year and the amount of Federal income taxes withheld.

Finally, the MACPA points out that when you hire someone to work in your home, you need an employer identification (ID) number. If this is the first time you've hired domestic help, don't worry about your employer ID. The IRS is developing procedures to assign one to you automatically the first time you file a required employer tax form.

A Historic Opportunity

By Nick Smith
Congressman, 7th District Michigan

We now have a great opportunity to improve our nation's future—but make no mistake, change won't come easily. We're at a crossroads, and can change from a nation at risk to a nation with a hopeful future. Many of us in Congress are energized and excited to have this historic opportunity to bring about what we've been fighting and working for: 1) leaner, more efficient government; 2) lower taxes; 3) a return to family values; and 4) more control over and responsibility for our own lives.

But even with a new majority in Congress, we can't assume that it will happen automatically. The forces of big government liberalism are stunned and in retreat, but they're not defeated. As we cut the size of government, we'll be criticized. The liberals in the press and on the evening news will suggest that the spending cuts necessary to reach a balanced budget are too harsh. To make these cuts, we're going to have to say "No!" to the pet projects of the special interest groups and lobbyists. As we cut programs, we can no longer afford, including some good programs, Americans will have to make some sacrifices.

As the annual battle over the federal budget begins, it's time for Congress to act. Right now, the government borrows 22 cents of every dollar it spends. Our total debt is now $4.7 trillion and under the President's budget, that would rise to $6.7 trillion by 2000. Paying the interest on the debt consumes 25% of all federal tax revenue. That's too much borrowing. This irresponsible borrowing has depressed American saving rates below those of most industrialized countries. As a result, businesses can't get loans they need to expand and create jobs.

In addition, over-regulation costs our economy more than $500 billion annually. This over-regulation hits business like a wrecking ball, demolishing the hopes of American workers and entrepreneurs. That's too much regulation.

Finally, the federal government spends more than $1.5 trillion a year. That's too much spending. Americans realize it every time they pay their taxes or read the withholding statement on their paychecks. If you're an average taxpayer in Michigan, you pay 42 cents out of every dollar you earn in taxes. That's too much taxes.

I, for one, am willing to say "No!" to big government. The time for talk is over. The American people will no longer tolerate excuses from government. That's why I'm concerned when I see many of my colleagues in Congress back away from the tough spending cuts. To succeed, taxpayers all over America must 1) give up some of our government services, and 2) be active in the effort to explain why we have to stop tax and spend government.

The road ahead is not going to be easy for us. It's going to take the dedication of citizens all over the United States to make sure the job gets done. The last election replaced the fears of decline in this country with hope. Obviously, our work is cut out for us, but we must be determined to cut spending and work toward a balanced budget. Let's hope, for the sake of our children and grandchildren, that we succeed.

After treatment, job problems show marked reductions, hospitalization rates are cut in half, medical care costs reductions offset a major portion of treatment expenses, auto accidents and arrests decrease two to four-fold, with corresponding potential savings in insurance and public safety costs.

Chelsea Bus Driver Avoids Collision on Fletcher Rd.

Chelsea's bus No. 13 skidded to a halt on Fletcher Rd. just inches from the mass of a pick-up. About 30 Chelsea and Dexter students went home safe. Tuesday, Feb. 14, thanks to a kiss from Cupid and the quick maneuvering of driver Sue vander Waard.

vander Waard, a 19-year veteran Chelsea driver, said rounding a corner, the truck's driver failed to look her way as he backed from his drive.

The bus driver hit the brakes and the bus "pulled sideways," said 17-year-old Chelsea student Richard Polzin.

Polzin said, "If she wouldn't have hit her brakes we would've hit the truck."

There was silence on the school bus as the passengers let the moment of danger sink in. Then, "That's cool, that's cool," and the clapping of teenage hands in praise of a well-avoided accident.

The pick-up's driver, climbing onto the bus steps, apologized to the students and their driver, said vander Waard.

"She knew what she was doing."

"If she wouldn't have hit her brakes we would've hit the truck."

—Richard Polzin, CHS Student

said 11th-grader Kevin Grifka. vander Waard takes her job with a soft-hearted seriousness: "You know how valuable your cargo is."

The school bus was Chelsea bound after picking up Chelsea and Dexter students attending Saline High School consortium classes. Consortium classes are training courses not offered at both schools, such as building and auto trades.

vander Waard, one of Chelsea's approximately 35 drivers, said bus operators must attend drivers training school and obtain a commercial driver's license.

In addition, an eight-hour course is arranged by the state to discuss current issues for bus operators such as discipline, driving or law changes. The Chelsea driver said the state-run course is subject to the availability of state funds. There have been years the annual course has been skipped due to budget cuts, said vander Waard.

Drivers also perform daily safety checks or "walk arounds," said vander Waard, to make sure the vehicles are running soundly.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Four Varsity Wrestlers Qualify for Regionals

Chelsea varsity wrestlers competed in the SEC league Individual District meet at Tecumseh on Saturday, Feb. 18.

When the meet ended Chelsea had qualified four to compete in the Regionals. The four qualifiers are Kevin Bollinger at 112 lbs., Koby Foytik at 126 lbs., Ryan Ludwig at 142 lbs., and Jordan Dyer at 185 lbs.

Kevin Bollinger pinned Willie Goodman of Marshall in 2:34; then pinned Josh Videto from Western in 2:45. Kevin then wrestled the No. 1 seed, Chris Williams of Fowlerville and lost, 22-7. In the consolation finals, Kevin lost to Phil Sayers of Northwest, 14-7, to place fourth and earn the right to go on to regionals.

Koby Foytik pinned Nathan Paugh of Albion in 1:34; then defeated Curtis Allian of Lumen Christi, 14-1. Koby then lost a close match to Paul Wisniewski of Dexter, 9-8. In the consolation finals, Koby pinned Jason Boyer of Western in 1:55 to place third and go on to the regionals.

Ryan Ludwig defeated Adam Johnson of Western, 12-2; then won by injury default over Les Hicks of Fowlerville; then defeated No. 2 seed Elmer Hitt of Northwest, 10-2. In the championship finals, Ryan lost to No. 1 seed Joe Marsh of Eaton Rapids, 8-4, to place second and go on to regionals.

Jordan Dyer pinned Corey Kloack of Northwest in :58; and defeated Chris Ladd of Hillsdale, 10-2. In the championships finals, Jordan wrestled Roger Thorn of Eaton Rapids, the top-ranked 185-pound wrestler in the State of Michigan, and lost, 5-1, to place second and go on to regionals.

Also competing for Chelsea were Eric Bergman at hwt., Todd Pearsall at 100 lbs., Brent Young at 134 lbs., Mike Alber at 151 lbs., and Mike Thayer at 172 lbs.

Regional competition will be next Saturday at Monroe Jefferson. The top four placers from regionals go on to the State Finals.

Coach Kargel notes that as the wrestler advances competition becomes harder and scores become closer. These regional qualifiers are now among the top 32 wrestlers in the state, which is quite an accomplishment!

RYAN LUDWIG placed second in his class at last Tecumseh and thereby earned a qualifying spot in the Saturday's Individual District tournament at Regional tournament next Saturday.

CHS Varsity Cagers Lose to Rival Dexter

Chelsea's boys hoopsters were sent to the dawg house with a score of 40-36 after a close game Friday Feb. 17 at Dexter.

Although the Bulldogs went home with a loss under their collars, their defense shut down Dexter in the first half of the game. Chelsea players left the first period with a 6-point lead.

Dexter Coach Randy Swoverland said the game was not played well by either team. Swoverland said the Dreadnaughts "rebounded well" from an unfocused first half.

The Bulldogs came out barking for the second quarter, reaching a 19-9 lead. However, it was a lead Chelsea couldn't hold onto.

Chelsea Coach Robin Raymond said the team's shooting performance was less than hopeful which cost the team its shot at the basket.

The Dreadnaughts came back in the second half after a spanking by Coach Swoverland who said the team's playing was "lethargic" against their biggest rival, to gain a 32-32 score heading into the last period.

Chelsea players lost their cool at the free throw line in the last quarter, missing seven of nine shots during a period which could have saved their tails. Chelsea stands 5-5 in the SEC, while the Dreadnaughts harbor a tie with Tecumseh at 8-2 SEC.

KEVIN BOLLINGER won the right to advance with his fourth place finish in the Individual District tournament last Saturday at Tecumseh to the Regional Wrestling Tournament next Saturday.

Junior Varsity Cagers Lose To Jackson Northwest, Dexter

Chelsea junior varsity basketball team lost two games last week by a total of 38 points.

On Tuesday the Bullpups traveled to Jackson Northwest and lost, 44 to 58.

Chelsea solved Northwest's 2-3 zone defense well in the first half with Paul Bragalone scoring 12 of his 14 points during this part of the game.

Near the end of the third quarter Northwest used a half-court trap that turned the game in their favor.

Scoring honors went to Bragalone with 14, followed by Ashley Coy and Casey Wescott 6 each, Nathan Butler and Jason Sprawka, 4 each; Tim Lawrence 3, Jason Lantis, Ben Postiff and Justin Strong, 2 each, and Josh Fraker 1.

Chelsea out-rebounded Northwest 26-23 with Butler leading the team with 7, Bragalone 4, Lantis, Coy and Sprawka, 3 each.

Chelsea hit 16 of 48 shots from the floor for 33% while Northwest counted 21 of 49 for 43%.

Free throw shooting found Chelsea hitting 10 of 18 for 56%. While Northwest hit 14 of 23 of 61%.

Coach Dave Quilter said "We prepared for Northwest's zone and handled it well in the first half. In the third quarter we lost our intensity and turned the ball over. We lost our concentration and focus when we lost our intensity."

Going to Dexter Friday evening, the Bullpups met a strong JV team and lost, 30-54. Chelsea stayed pretty even with the Little Dreadnaughts for the first quarter. In the last three quarters Chelsea was outplayed by the young Dreadnaughts.

Scoring honors went to Nathan Butler with 10 points. Bragalone followed with 8, Coy and Wescott, 2 each, Lantis and Lawrence chipped in 3 each, while Brian Bloomerisaal and Strong each added 1.

Chelsea made 10 of 38 from the field for 26% while Dexter converted 23 of 42 for 54%.

In free throw shooting Chelsea converted 10 of 23 for 43% while Dexter made 6 of 14 attempts also for 43%.

"Tuesday we played two good quarters against Northwest," coach Dave Quilter said following the Friday game. "Tonight we played one good quarter against Dexter. There is no good reason why we can't put forth effort for all four quarters," the coach concluded.

Farmers Concerned About Nutrition Programs Changes

Farm Bureau is taking issue with one of the provisions in the "Contract With America" relating to child nutrition programs.

The provision eliminates the Commodity Distribution Program and other school nutrition programs and replaces them with block grants to the states, according to Al Atty, public affairs director for Michigan Farm Bureau.

"Although states would use these funds for purchases of agricultural commodities, we are concerned that total food expenditures and the total volume of agricultural commodities used could be significantly reduced," he said.

"This reduction could seriously impair the effectiveness of school nutrition programs and impact markets for agricultural commodities."

Almy said if the provision is retained, Congress should assure that if yearly appropriations for food and nutrition programs and the quantity of food available are dramatically reduced then the U.S. Department of Agriculture will be given authority to co-ordinate food purchases in response to commodity surpluses; purchases will be made from stocks of domestically-produced agricultural commodities and states will adopt adequate nutritional standards for school lunch programs.

The Court, in lieu of the other sentence imposed, may direct a substitution of litter-gathering labor, or other related community service, including, but not limited to, the litter connected with the particular violation, under the supervision of the Court. Each day that a violation continues shall be deemed to be a separate violation. This ordinance shall not prevent Lima Township from using other methods or means available to it under Michigan Law pertaining to litter problems or violations.

SECTION 8. Should any section, clause, or provision of this ordinance be declared by any Court to be invalid, the same shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of such section of this ordinance or any part thereof that the part so declared to be invalid.

SECTION 9. This ordinance shall be published in the manner required by law and shall become effective ten (10) days after the date of publication.

I hereby certify the above Ordinance was adopted at a regular meeting of the Lima Township Board on the sixth day of February, 1995. Ayes: Messman, Trinkle, Bares, VanRiper. Nays: None.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
Since I cannot be certain who is doing the misdeed, I have no way of going directly to the source so I am writing to you hoping parents keep a better ear out for what their children are doing during the middle of the night.

The scariest thing in the world is having the phone ring during the night; your heart starts beating faster, you automatically think someone's died, especially as someone in the family is in the hospital who is deathly ill.

At 2:45 a.m. you wonder why they have to pull this prank call on a 93-year-old woman who has been nothing but kindness all of her life. It causes her to have breathing problems, she can't sleep because she is afraid someone will call again and at her age she needs all the sleep she can get.

I hope next time they think it will be fun to pull a prank they should think about who it is they are calling.

February Frolics

Fortunately, February is the shortest month of the year with its unpredictable and usually unsatisfactory weather. Already on the 2nd, meteorologists have resorted to the services of an animal, a ground-hog no less, to tell us something we already know: 6 more weeks of winter.

But things need not be gloomy at CRC. Instead of listening to that animal on that day, a trip has been planned to Ann Arbor to see the movie, "Little Women." Several shopping trips are also planned, including one to Jackson Crossings. If you like special food, trips to Sweden House and Red Lobster in Ann Arbor, are on the menu, as well as a visit to the U. of M. Botanical Gardens. A genealogy course is scheduled for late in the month. Find out how to find your relatives. Of course, we are all related, if we go back as far as Adam and Eve.

"What about Valentine's Day?" you ask. Of course, the highlights of the month will be a Candlelight Sweetheart Dinner in the Dining Room on the 13th followed the next afternoon by a Valentine party hosted by the Chelsea Woman's Club.

With all of these wonderful goings-on, forget about the ground-hog!

Heritage Room Task Force

You have all enjoyed articles by Charles Cookingham in recent issues of the Reporter. They are stories based on items of historical interest and value in the Heritage Room beneath the CRC Chapel. This room contains numerous items related to persons and events which are connected to the Chelsea Methodist Home and its history. Since the items are rather casually arranged, a group of friends, staff, and residents of CRC has been formed into the Heritage Room Task Force for the purpose of making the room more meaningful and useful to more groups and individuals.

Much effort has already been put into the programs through visits to galleries of the nature CRC might develop, as well as interviews with curators and archivists, and historical research of CRC and the surrounding Chelsea community has been accomplished. There is still much to be done, however, and many questions still remain to be answered.

- Here are a few:
• What is to be the main purpose of the Heritage Room?
• What stories are to be told by the museum, and the purpose of each?
• How are the stories to be told, by whom, to whom, and what items and materials will be needed for each?
• What structural changes will be needed to arrange the stories?
• What time schedule can be reasonably established for completion?

• What costs will be involved? The goals, once established, will take much effort to reach. If you are interested in this admirable project and would be willing to help, contact Connie, Carolyn, or Kathy.

Valentine Day Memories . . .

At a recent afternoon tea, several residents of CRC were asked to tell about one of their most interesting Valentine Day memories. Here are a few of the replies:

Florence Barber said, "When I was a young schoolgirl, we gave Valentines to our best friends. Sometimes some (usually boys) didn't receive even one card. I would often scratch off the name from one of the ones delivered to me and give it to someone who really needed a greeting."

Berniece Frederick remembered that when she was an elementary school teacher, she would often take extra Valentines to school and peek into the big decorated Valentine mailbox to see which students did not have any addressed to them.

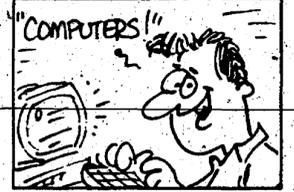

Harvey Bennett remembers making Valentines out of construction paper and having a box into which he could put those he received.

Ruth Saxman said, "When I was in the 6th grade, my brother's girlfriend gave me a Valentine that I thought was very special since she was in high school."

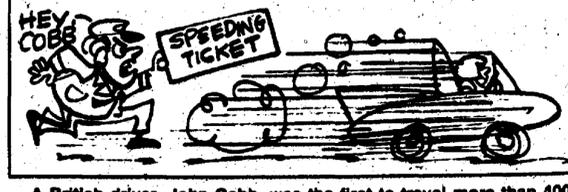

Walter Saxman said that he and Ruth met at an Epworth League Meeting which was a Valentine Party.

Kearney Kirkby said he was very shy as a boy, especially in front of girls. Esther Petvil was his first girl he ever "walked" home from school. She walked on one side of the street, and he walked on the other.

Dwight Brown broke his leg in two places while wrestling at school when he was about 12 years old. He spent 6 weeks convalescing at home and on Valentine's Day, all his friends came to visit and bring Valentines. He seems to remember about 200 children, but maybe the number has gone up over the years.

The first semielectronic digital computing device was constructed in 1939 by John V. Atanasoff, an American mathematician and physicist.

A British driver, John Cobb, was the first to travel more than 400 miles per hour on land. He accomplished this feat in 1947 at the Bonneville Speedway in Utah.

LASER CATARACT SURGERY

Some of our patients tell us they have heard that cataracts can now be removed with a laser. They want to know if I will take out their cataract with the laser. Unfortunately, many people have obtained incorrect information, and there is no laser for removing cataracts.

The new laser, called a YAG laser, is used to remove a SECONDARY cataract, and this is what has people confused. A secondary cataract is a clouding or filmy growth inside the eye that occurs after cataract surgery. About one-third of the patients who have successful cataract surgery will eventually develop a secondary cataract and need YAG laser treatment. This is a highly successful, painless treatment done in the office.

To have the cataract removed, a patient still needs to have surgery. With modern techniques, cataract surgery is safe, highly predictable, relatively pain free, and done on an outpatient basis with few restrictions after surgery.

Experimental work is being done to try to develop a laser to improve many types of eye surgery — glaucoma surgery, refractive surgery to eliminate eyeglasses, and cataract surgery. But for the foreseeable future, the safest and most reliable treatment for cataracts is surgery by a well-trained Ophthalmologist.

Stolen Truck Recovered by Chelsea Police

A car thief was apprehended Saturday, Feb. 4 based on a tip from a Chelsea business and the quick action of Chelsea Police.

A 1967 blue, Chevy pick-up stolen from a Sutton's Bay man was recovered by Chelsea Police after the department received a call from a clerk at the Amoco gasoline station, 1630 S. Main St.

A bulletin was put out earlier that the car thief was heading toward the village in the stolen truck. However, a telephone call sometime after 3 a.m. from Amoco employees led to the thief's arrest at the gasoline station.

The suspect, a South Carolina man, was identified and arrested and the vehicle was impounded.

Chelsea Police handed the case over to Jackson County Sheriff's Department.

JURY SELECTION: Circuit Judge Kurtis T. Wilder was a guest of the Kiwanis Club Monday evening to explain in detail the process set up for selection of jurors in the State of Michigan. Visiting with the judge are, from left, club members Biff Weber and Bob Milbrodt.

The 50-year-old victim told police her car was parked at the agency between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. When she arrived home later that evening, she discovered the hubcap off her 1989 Oldsmobile Cutlass Ciera was missing. It will cost approximately $75 to replace.

Drawings Being Prepared For Multi-Lake Sewer

Dexter and Lyndon Townships have formed the Multi-Lake Area Water and Sewer Authority to provide sanitary sewer service to residents in the area of North Lake, Silver Lake, Half Moon Lake, and Blind Lake. The Authority has contracted with the Washtenaw County Board of Public Works to enhance financial arrangements. The capital cost of the sewer system will be provided from a future bond issue to be repaid through a special assessment commencing with a December 1994 payment.

Construction drawings are currently being prepared by McNamee, Porter & Seeley, Inc., of Ann Arbor, with the anticipation of receiving construction bids in May 1995. Construction would start this summer and be complete by the summer of 1996. Actual sewer service to residences is expected in the spring/summer of 1996.

The low-pressure sewer system will consist of an individual grinder pump station located on each resident's property, which will receive wastewater from the resident's building sewer and discharge into a low-pressure collector sewer in the street. The collection sewer will convey the wastewater to three larger pump stations for transmission to a central wastewater treatment plant. The state-of-the-art treatment plant has been given a groundwater discharge permit by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Utilization of the low-pressure sewer concept will permit the use of shallow (approximately six-foot deep) small-diameter sewers that can be constructed with minimum excavation and by trenchless methods such as directional drilling. This will avoid the extensive disruption and restoration that normally follow gravity sewer installation. Another plus is the fact that the Authority will install the individual grinder pumps where the residents want them on their property, and the Authority will maintain each pump.

The Authority is currently working on a video designed to answer many of the questions most commonly asked by residents in the district. Among the topics covered is an explanation of the low-pressure sewer system and the individual grinder pump stations. This informational video of the Multi-Lakes project should be available in April and may be viewed at the Authority office or checked out with a $5 deposit.

Pleased with the support and cooperation of the community, chairperson Maryann Noah reports that, "Many residents feel a sense of relief knowing the project has finally begun. There are numerous marginal septic systems in the area, and people are anxious for the system to be operational. This area is not just a bedroom community; people have close ties to the land and they feel a responsibility to protect their environment and the beautiful land and lakes they call home."

The Authority will be contacting residents soon to acquire easements for the construction of the system. They anticipate good homeowner cooperation, which in turn will control project costs and help finish construction on time. The board plans to keep the community informed as progress is made.
