ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-THIRD YEAR—No. 41

CHelsea, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1, 1995

20 Pages This Week 2 Supplements

FARMER OF THE YEAR for 1995 is Bob Heller, a life-long Chelsea resident who graduated from Chelsea High school in 1953. He was an active FFA member in high school and was chosen State Farmer at the Michigan State level of FFA. He has led a 4-H group for 30-plus years, led a 4-H tractor operator's club, winning the 4-H state tractor operating contest in 1953. He is a dairy farmer on Guenther Rd. and has been milking cows for 42 years. Over the years Bob has been active with the Chelsea Fair, Chelsea Community Chest Board, Washtenaw County Soil Conservation Board, Zion Lutheran Church Board, Washtenaw County Farm Bureau, Michigan Milk Producers Association, Washtenaw County Dairy-Livestock Council, MABC Board, Lima township trustee, and many others. He and his wife Elsie have four daughters, Sue Rodgers of Dexter, Nancy Bender of Plymouth, Beth of Pinckney and Laurie of Hawaii. In photo with Bob are Kiwanis Club members Grace McCalla and Walt Zeeb, Kiwanis Club board member, who presented the award.

Ann Arbor Machine Sets Up Corporate Headquarters Here

A company that has found success in the automotive industry will be relocating its headquarters in Chelsea's industrial park on Sibley Rd.

Ann Arbor Machine, celebrating its 10th year of operations, purchased the former Dana Plant building and accompanying 30 acres, Jan. 3, for $4 million. Dana Plant closed in December and transferred its operations to Olive Branch, Miss.

Jim Breining, president of Ann Arbor Machine, says his company will spend $3 million in renovations. He expects to close the company's other facilities in Detroit, Ann Arbor and Pittsfield townships and move his employees to the new site by May 1. Presently, 30 employees are already working out of the Chelsea facility. The Scio township plant on Jackson Rd. will remain in operation with 25 to 30 employees working there.

Ann Arbor Machine, Breining said, was started in 1985 with just 43 to 50 employees. Over the past decade, the company, which designs and builds special metal cutting machinery for automotive companies and suppliers, has grown to employ 225 people. He expects to hire five to 15 more employees annually if business continues to boom. Breining attributes the company's success to its ability to produce quality machinery at low cost. "Because we're a small company, we've been able to increase our business more than expected," he said. Even more so in the past two years, according to Breining, because of good economic times.

Breining said the company chose the Chelsea location after a failed attempt in the Dexter Business and Research Park. The Dexter site, a 10 acre parcel, did not suit Ann Arbor Machine's needs, he said.

"Right now, we're in eight facilities—seven in the Ann Arbor area and one in Detroit—and we wanted to consolidate everything under one roof, just for the economy of doing business and communication."

For the past two years, the company had been looking for an already existing structure to remodel and move in to. After touring the Dana Plant, Breining said, "We found out it really suited our needs."

Reconstruction of the facility has gotten underway with Ann Arbor Machine spending the bulk of its renovations budget raising the plant's roof on 50,000 square feet. The work is necessary to gain clearance and install six overhead cranes capable of lifting 10 to 30 tons of machinery. The building will also receive new electrical service and a new exterior paint job. The parking lot will be rescaled and the grounds will be spruced up.

New employees will gradually filter in, Breining said. Two big move-in dates are slated April 7-8 and April 21-22. He expects 10 to 15 families to relocate in the area this year and 20 or more in 1996.

"I think it will have a good, positive impact on Chelsea. We want to be a good corporate citizen," Breining said. Already, Ann Arbor Machine has purchased lumber from Chelsea Lumber Co. and the company plans to purchase company vehicles from Chelsea car dealerships and do its banking locally.

In the future, Breining would like to develop a training program in cooperation with Chelsea High school. He said the company would like to target students who intend on learning a trade, rather than going to college. Breining would like to see a program set up that would guide students through the appropriate classes and encourage participation in a co-op or apprenticeship program with Ann Arbor Machine.

"I think it will have a good, positive impact on Chelsea. We want to be a good corporate citizen."
—Jim Breining, Company President

Chelsea High Students May Test Out to Higher Education

Chelsea students who pass the test may be skipping class. All Chelsea high school students have the opportunity to test out of any class they prove mastery in.

"One hundred percent of them have the opportunity to test out," said Superintendent of Chelsea Schools Edward Richardson of the policy to be implemented in Chelsea in August for fall placement of students.

Michigan students granted a C+ or better on a final exam or displaying proficiency through a final project or paper in a given course may bypass the class thanks to a state mandate enacted on Dec. 31, 1993.

The benefit to Chelsea's students is that they may test out of high school level courses then continue on to college level courses which they would receive high school and college credit for, said Richardson.

For instance, high school English may be offered at four levels. A Chelsea student may test out of English I, complete the other three levels and then go on to college level courses, he said.

The catch is this: students must still complete Chelsea's 21 unit credit requirement for graduation. A class that is tested out of does not replace credits earned toward graduation.

Students will have to face exams or project requirements created by their teachers in order to test out.

However, they will not have to face an impacted grade point average from courses they have proven or not proven efficient enough to skip.

Chelsea's testing out policy is, by Michigan law, available currently and has been since its enactment in 1993. However law and implementa-plete the mother and two daughters team. The Shoppe had formerly been owned and managed by Vernetta Mills for the past 9 1/2 years, starting at first in Manchester.

Village Shoppe Has New Owners

The dream of a family owned and managed business has come true for three Chelsea ladies.

With the Feb. 15 purchase of The Village Shoppe at 104 N. Main St., Marge Faist (and her husband, Ted) and daughters Jane (Faist) Diesing and Lynne Faist are reunited in their new business.

Marge worked for 15 years with the Chelsea Medical Clinic on N. Main St. before and after it became Chelsea Community Hospital, as a receptionist, cashier. This was during the time of Drs. Papo, Boisford, Stubbs, Waldyke and Shadon.

Following the clinic work, Marge spent 11 years with the U. of M.

Family Practice Center in Chelsea from which she retired three years ago.

Both Jane and Lynne grew up in Chelsea and went through the Chelsea public school system.

Jane earned a 1969 degree from Michigan State University in Medical Technology.

She worked eight years at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing, leaving to raise a family for the past 12 years.

After four years at Merkel Furniture and Carpets in the business office she gave up the outside work in the summer of 1994 when she was named president of the Chelsea

Board of Education in her second term on the board.

Lynne earned a teaching degree in secondary education from Western Michigan University in 1972. She has worked for the past 20 years for Anesthesia Associates of Ann Arbor.

Incidentally, Marge (Dunlap) and Ted Faist were high school classmates and sweethearts in Grass Lake.

The Shoppe has a vast variety of arts, crafts, collectibles, cards and Victorian art.

Already the ladies are moving the furniture and opening up a back wall to take over two more former offices to enlarge the store and make room for new merchandise.

Chelsea's Proposed General Fund Budget Down $200,000

A $1.9 million 1995-1996 general fund budget was expected to be presented to council members last night by Chelsea Village Manager Jack Myers. The proposed budget is a tapering down from last year's $2.1 million general fund budget.

Incoming property taxes from new construction in the area and revenue sharing by the state are responsible for the proposed budget clipping, said Myers.

The greatest percentage of general fund withdrawals go to the Police Dept. The fund is also used to pay for some Fire Dept. expenditures, Dept. of Public Works and basic village maintenance costs.

A first draft estimate for proposed projects in the Chelsea School District's planned building and renovations program was received last week from a Grand Rapids architect. The preliminary numbers, in a 30-page report from Greiner, Inc., covered a new elementary school and renovations at North and South Elementary schools and Chelsea High school. Some of the proposed projects will almost definitely be pursued, assistant superintendent Fred Mills said. Those include $2.4 million in renovations at North school, $2.1 million in renovations at South school and construction of a $7 million elementary school.

Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority is planning to launch a major fundraising drive next month for the completion of its planned downtown revitalization project. DDA recently sold bonds totaling $995,000 at an interest rate of 6.44 percent as the major component of its fundraising effort.

Village Council has authorized the purchase of a used garbage truck in order to expand its milk jug recycling program and institute a cardboard recycling program for local businesses. It may also be used in the fall leaf pick-up. Council voted to spend $9,500 on a particular trash truck that was available in Mt. Pleasant. Village mechanics said they checked out the truck and found it in surprisingly good condition.

It was an emotional, loud and crowded night. Chelsea hosted the District 37 basketball championship taking to the court to face "dark horse" Tecumseh. It was the Tecumseh Indians who ended the night with a 49-48 last minute win to clinch the district crown. Six Chelsea cagers played their last high school game. They were Jeff Dis, Jeff Price, Sean Peterson, Jon Riemenschneider, Mark Steinaway and Chris Tobin.

Chelsea High school symphony and ninth grade bands competed in the District 12 Band Festival and walked away with superior ratings for the fifth consecutive year.

Fire Chief James Gaken submitted his resignation to the Chelsea Village Council following 34 years of service on the Fire Department, the last 18 of which he had served as chief.

The board of directors of Western Union Space Communication Co., Inc., confirmed the appointment of William J. Koselka, former Chelsea resident, as vice-president of operations.

At a membership drive meeting held at Sylvan Town Hall, the Chelsea Area Jaycees signed up five local men as new members of the group. They were Steve Bergman, Terry Cordett, Randy Dougherty, Charles Thompson and Chris Todd.

★ Catching Speeders: Cops or Cameras?

By Burton Folsom
and Aarne H. Frobom

"Smile, you're speeding," is the message from photo radar, the new high-tech camera that snaps pictures of speeding cars and their drivers. The only thing the police have to do is look at the photos, match license numbers with state records, and mail the tickets.

Photo radar's electronic policemen are on the beat throughout the country, but they aren't writing tickets yet in Michigan because state law requires a human witness to convict a driver of a traffic violation. Should Michigan legalize photo radar? At the Mackinac Center for Public Policy, we think there are good arguments on both sides.

Yes, Michigan should legalize photo radar. Photo radar can save lives. About 40,000 people are killed in traffic accidents each year in the U.S. and speeding is often involved. To try to halt this carnage, Paradise Valley, Ariz., in 1987 became the first town in America to use photo radar. When speeding declined and traffic accidents dropped, other cities adopted photo radar and are seeing positive results. If speeders think they might get tickets, they slow down, making the roads safer for everyone.

Photo radar can also save money. With ticket machines, one person can do the work that 19 now do. The police are freer to stop real crime, and cities gain by having fewer bureaucrats (whether or not they collect more ticket revenue). Safe drivers win, too. People with few or no tickets may be eligible for discounts on their car insurance.

As for ticket costs, speed limits, and stop signs, municipalities can resolve those sensibly at the ballot box or in city halls. Some cities have voted photo radar out and some have voted it in. Politicians who try to cash in with unnecessary stop signs and low speed limits will have to defend themselves at election time.

Ticket machines will not deprive Michiganders of their rights. In fact, equality before the law is strongly protected. All speeders are photographed regardless of race, creed, sex, age, or political influence. Ticket machines are typically set to capture only those exceeding the speed limit by at least 11 m.p.h. No one else is photographed. And if accused speeders wish to challenge the pictures taken by the machines, they can do so.

In the 1990s, cities and states all over the nation are resisting tax hikes, privatizing city services, and cutting the costs of government everywhere. Photo radar is cost effective, and its use can save lives and money if we legalize it in Michigan.

No, Michigan should reject photo radar. We don't want Big Brother peering through our windshields any more than we want to empty our wallets into city and state treasuries. Michigan police groups are testing the political climate to see if Michigan voters will tolerate tickets by photo radar. If the legislature makes it legal, some cities in Michigan may use the popular cause of traffic safety to justify an automated ticket blitz that will cost drivers a fortune and do nothing for traffic safety.

Cities will be tempted to turn as many drivers as possible into violators. Machine-issued tickets may cause stop signs and low speed limits to proliferate, for the purpose of trapping motorists and raising revenue. Such exploitation is already going on elsewhere. In some eastern states that retain the 55-m.p.h. speed limit on freeways, fines have shot up to $150. This is a tax on motorists, levied randomly for behavior that is legal elsewhere and safe everywhere (on freeways).

In Michigan, drivers have some protection; fines from tickets issued by the State Police go to county library funds. This sound provision removes the incentive for the State Police to write too many tickets, but "assessments" of $10 were applied in 1989 and 1991 to all traffic tickets to fund State Police patrols and training. These assessments are an incentive for state-run speed traps.

Across the Detroit River in Ontario, motorists have no Constitutional right to confront their accusers. There, radar cameras are used that can issue 1,600 speeding tickets a day. Fifty clerks read license numbers on photos and send tickets by mail that cost drivers $66,000,000 (Can.) per year. Loud claims are made that this improves traffic safety, but how can this be if the cameras are hidden and the drivers are not informed of their mistake until weeks later?

We can keep tickets from turning into taxes in Michigan if we outlaw funding of police operations from ticket revenue; require that speed limits be set by engineering studies, not local politicians; and jealously guard our right to confront a human accuser.

Photo radar, like any new technology in the hands of law enforcement, carries with it strong arguments both pro and con. That suggests that the people of Michigan ought to give it serious thought before the legislature considers adopting it.

(Burton Folsom and Aarne H. Frobom write for the Mackinac Center for Public Policy, a Midland-based research and educational organization.)

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Sometime today (2-16) the village manager and an independent appraiser will be appraising the Mitchell-Staffan property. More tax money and for what?

The village manager, mayor and council do a commendable job most of the time.

The money they would have to spend to acquire this property would be a great start on a new building on property already owned by the village.

In the past year how much has been spent on appraisers?

Dave Murphy.

Pinckney Area Man Returns from Service In Western Pacific

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Daniel J. Dolphin, son of Thomas F. and Elizabeth A. Dolphin of 3244 Madison Dr., Pinckney, recently returned from a six-month deployment to the Western Pacific Ocean with Strike Fighter Squadron 97 embarked aboard the aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk.

Dolphin was one of 5,000 Sailors and Marines aboard the carrier who completed the 31,000-mile voyage which included joint operations with the U.S. Air Force and multinational exercises with naval forces from South Korea, Japan, and Australia.

Home based at the Naval Air Station at Lemoore, Calif., Dolphin's squadron flies the F/A-18C Hornet, a twin-engine supersonic strike fighter capable of providing protection against enemy aircraft, delivering ordnance on targets ashore and at sea, and providing close air support for troops on the ground.

Operating as the lead ship of a nine-ship battle group, USS Kitty Hawk had more than 70 tactical aircraft aboard, and provided a formidable forward presence, capable of moving more than 700 miles a day.

While spending 133 days at sea, Dolphin also visited Hong Kong, Singapore, Japan, and South Korea. He joined the Navy in October 1987.

CLEANING OF BRACED TEETH

A dentist puts braces on a child's teeth to straighten them or correct dental handicaps. But braces make teeth harder to clean, can act as food traps and thus increase the chance of tooth decay. But this can easily be overcome. One of the best methods of cleaning debris from braced teeth is the oral irrigator—an electric device which directs a pulsating stream of water onto the teeth.

Dental researchers at Loyola University tested this premise. Braced youngsters were divided into two equal groups. The first brushed their teeth after each meal, then used an oral irrigator once a day. The second group also brushed but followed with a simple rising.

After nine weeks, one (the irrigators) showed an 80% reduction in total bacteria. In contrast, the group of rinsers had only an insignificant drop in bacterial count. The results indicate that if the irrigator cleaning process is combined with brushing, proper diet, and frequent examinations, a child can have straight teeth without the penalty of additional cavities.

★ Fighting The Bad Mood Blues

Tired of feeling gloomy or grim? You have company. On average, most of us spend about three days out of every 10 trying to shake off a bad mood, according to a University of Michigan study.

But how we attempt to raise our spirits varies dramatically. "There are about 14 different strategies we use to counter our bad moods," says psychologist Randy J. Larsen. "Some of them, such as taking action to solve a problem or consoling ourselves by remembering past successes, are quite effective, while others—like screaming and complaining—make us feel worse. The strategies we choose depend to some extent on our personalities."

Larsen studies mood prevalence, intensity and regulation. One study involved 55 college students who recorded their moods twice a day for four weeks. They also checked off which of the 14 strategies they used to alleviate their bad moods and reported on their moods before, during and after they implemented the strategy.

"By noting their moods before, during and after the mood repair effort, we could chart how effective each strategy was," Larsen says.

The most frequently used strategy was distraction—such as watching TV or reading. "But distraction, while the path of least resistance, has little effect on mood," he says.

The next most frequently used strategy was taking action to solve the problem causing the bad mood. "Direct action, on the other hand, does elevate mood greatly and better yet, may solve the problem that is giving you grief," he says.

Resolving to try harder the next time was as effective as taking direct action, Larsen adds. "If students had some control over a situation, they might use direct action. When they didn't, they contented themselves by resolving to do better in the future. Both strategies improved moods."

Another effective strategy students used to cheer themselves up, Larsen discovered, was to remind themselves of successes in the past. The mood of students who used this approach soared to the top of the chart.

Self-reward also was successful. "Treating themselves to something special was nearly as effective as remembering past successes. But again, students rarely did this."

Venting—yelling when they were angry or crying when they were sad—was quite common but proved to be one of the least effective strategies. "Students who vented started out feeling miserable but felt even worse when they were done," Larsen says.

Solitude was another favored strategy, but it, too, was ineffective. "Students who went off to be by themselves felt even worse while they were alone," Larsen says, "and not much better when they came back."

Special Story Hour Slated at Library To Welcome Spring

On Thursday, March 2 at 10 a.m. there will be a special story circle for 3- to 6-year olds. Children can come and say "good-bye" to King Winter and help get ready for Spring which is just around the corner. Polishing and shining crystals around King Winter's mountain and playing a game with a special crystal will be part of the fun. Other surprises await.

Mrs. Barbara Boehm of Sylvan Kinder Koffage returns for this special pre-Spring event. There is no need to register.

Because the McKune Memorial Library is in the process of hiring a full-time Youth Services Librarian, regular story times will not be held during the month of March. For more information call the library at 475-8732.

shulte of Toledo, O., and Beverly Grochowski of Las Vegas, Nev., served as bridesmaids. ENGAGED: Jessica Sterns of Brighton and Brett M. Salamin of Chelsea are engaged and planning a June 17 wedding. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Brighton residents Christopher and Christine Sterns. She is majoring in economics management at Albion College and is a member of Alpha Xi Delta. Jessica expects to graduate in May and then begin her career as a credit analyst with NBD. She is a 1991 Brighton High school graduate. The future bridegroom is the son of Carolyn Salamin of Chelsea and Dennis and Karen Salamin of Ann Arbor. Brett, also expecting graduation in May from Albion, plans to student teach this fall with a degree in biology and a minor in theatre under his belt. He is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon. He is a 1991 graduate of Chelsea High school.

District Library Committee Hears About Saline's Change

Leslee Niethammer, director of Saline District Library, was the guest speaker at the Feb. 2 meeting of the Chelsea District Library Planning Committee. Ms. Niethammer spoke about why the Saline Community decided to go district-wide, the process that Saline went through to become a district library, and some of the major decisions they had to make along the way.

Similarly to Chelsea, Saline's decision to pursue a district library began with the realization that their previous library building was too small and outdated to adequately satisfy the needs of their growing community. They also realized that by politically uniting the entire user community into a district library, they would be able to afford an expansion project.

The Saline Library Board proposal to become a district library was embraced enthusiastically by both the City Council of Saline and the Saline School District. The entire process of writing a district library agreement and getting the approval of both the city and the school board only took four months. With the establishment of their district library in January 1991, the new Saline District Library Board then went to the voters to get approval of a millage for operating expenses as well as acceptance of a bond issue to finance a building project. Their community responded by accepting both proposals by a positive vote of about 1,200-700.

Ms. Niethammer said that the entire process of becoming a district library was very exciting and rewarding. She explained that because of their expansion project many more people have begun to take advantage of the Saline Library's facilities and services.

Ms. Niethammer, who is familiar with the present limitations of Chelsea's McKune House but is also aware of the anticipated availability of the vacant neighboring lot, encouraged the Chelsea District Library Planning Committee to push ahead with the district concept.

In response, Ann Holt, director of Chelsea's McKune Library, agreed saying, "Community spirit is growing to pull together and create a library that will both emphasize our historic roots through the restoration of McKune House, as well as satisfy the future library needs of our growing and dynamic community."

Author P.D. James To Be Featured By Mystery Book Group

Was the culprit a passing stranger who came to the village for tea and stayed after for a spot of murder? Or a villager desperate to protect his or her own interests? Is the author the grandest of the British woman mystery writers?

Yvonne Herron will tell all about the career of the grande dame of mystery P.D. James, and her complex and compelling super sleuth Adam Dalgliesh at the March 6 meeting of McKune Memorial Library's Mystery Book Club.

The club, which discusses the novels of a wide variety of mystery writers, is sponsored by the Friends of McKune Memorial Library. Meetings begin at 7 p.m. upstairs at the Library. New members and visitors are welcome at any time.

For further information, call the McKune Library at 475-8732.

"The life of every man is a diary in which he means to write one story and writes another..."
 —James Barrie

Very few of the millions of us who make up the human race write the life story we plan to write. It is normal to aspire to great accomplishments, to make great plans, to write a diary full of triumphs and achievement.

Most of us fall short of our own expectations, not so much because of lack of ability as for lack of determination. The story we write is seldom the story we planned to write... and could have written... but at least we have lots of company.

Pre-need planning assures that one's wishes regarding their own memorial service will be observed. Financial aspects can also be provided for, well in advance of need. Let us give you more information:

CHELSEA AREA ARTIST Sue Eisenbeiser will be among 100 artisans participating in the Country Craft and Folk Art Show slated at Chelsea High school from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 18. Eisenbeiser specializes in hand cast papers, an art that dates back to the early Egyptians. The folk art show is held annually to benefit the Chelsea Senior Citizens Organization.

Local Country Crafts Show To Benefit Chelsea Senior Citizens

Show to feature three Chelsea artists.

A folk art craft show held annually to benefit the Chelsea Senior Citizens Organization is returning for its 11th year and second spring show.

Out of popular demand, the Country Crafts & Folk Art Show, traditionally held every fall, will return this year for a spring exhibition at Chelsea High school March 18 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. It will feature 100 juried artisans selling crafts and fine art. Country crafts, quilts, dolls, handwoven rugs, silk, pottery, baskets and dried floral arrangements will be on display, as will watercolor paintings and stained glass.

Nearly 2,500 visitors are expected to come from all over the state for the annual show. Participating artists primarily hail from Michigan and the Midwest. Chelsea artists will include James Stewart Sr., a wood carver and artist. Stewart will display and sell his hand carved walking sticks, gnomes, wildlife and other carved works, in addition to his wildlife sketches. Marcy B. Laugh and Sue Eisenbeiser, also Chelsea area residents, will sell country crafts and hand cast papers, respectively.

Eisenbeiser has been gradually turning her hobby into a business. Calling the venture "The Lion and the Lamb," Eisenbeiser's object is to produce crafts of artistry and quality. One type of craft she specializes in is hand cast papers.

Though the art of paper making dates back to the early Egyptians, it is seeing a resurgence of popularity among professional artists, craftspeople and hobbyists. Many old and new techniques are used to create delightful effects. Eisenbeiser enjoys forming the paper in molds and then positioning the various molded pieces on other unique forms of paper, both hand-made and commercial.

The use of tea staining, raffia, burl and pieces and odds and ends helps Eisenbeiser create some real treasures. "One of the things I like the most about working with the paper," she said, "is that it is so versatile. By changing the background or the color, or by using a little tea staining, I can develop a piece which will fit in a modern setting, a country home or a Victorian mansion. It's a lot of fun."

Admission to the show is $2 for adults, Children 10 and under will be admitted free with paid admission. A luncheon will also be served. Proceeds will help benefit the Chelsea Senior Citizens Organization by helping to fund activities, such as craft classes, and travel.

LACE-MAKER BEA CHRISTOPHERSON of Webster township will be among 50 artists at the Pioneer Craft Fair March 18 demonstrating her craft and selling her wares. Christopherson learned the age-old craft of tatting from her mother.

flowers and rabbits to $40 for the more intricate doilies.

"I don't like to charge an awful lot because you could never make a living at it. If somebody's interested, they can have it," Christopherson said.

She admits it takes a lot of patience and very limber fingers to perform the tatting. "It takes quite a while. It's a long process," she said, estimating it took her 20 hours to recently complete a 10 to 12 inch doily. "It's something everybody is afraid of but if they weren't, anybody could do it. It's a very simple craft."

Christopherson's daughter will join her mother at the 22nd annual fair. Gail Christopherson usually sells the wares as her mother demonstrates the craft.

The elder Christopherson admits traditional comments from fairgoers that she always leave her feeling too good. "I usually come away feeling very old because they usually say my grandmother used to do that, and they're pretty old themselves."

Christopherson will join nearly 50 juried artisans at the fair demonstrating and selling their historic and ethnic crafts. It will be held at Dexter High school from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with the Dexter Heritage Guild luncheon slated from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

When Bea Christopherson demonstrates tatting for Pioneer Craft Fairgoers Saturday, March 18, she will be performing a labor of love.

The 65-year-old Webster township woman will teach visitors an age-old craft she learned from her mother more than a half a century ago. And, at the same time, Christopherson will help raise money for a cause she deems very worthy.

President of the Dexter Heritage Guild, Christopherson is a big proponent of sustaining the Dexter Area Museum. Profits from the guild's luncheon at the fair will go to the museum. The fair, sponsored by the Dexter Historical Society, benefits the museum by providing funds for museum programs, operation and maintenance.

It was in the late 1930s, before the invention of television, that Christopherson learned tatting from her mother. "I grew up with it, along with coloring books, pencils and crayons," she said. "Before TV, everyone grew up on what their parents did. My mom happened to do that, so I did it."

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa.,

Christopherson moved to Livonia with her husband, Arthur "Rusty", to raise their daughter, Gail. The family relocated to the Dexter-area in 1979. Their daughter graduated from Dexter High school in 1981.

Christopherson has been participating in the fair for the past eight years. It is the only show she participates in, even though she has been invited to demonstrate her craft at others. "If I do more than one a year it's not fun, it's work," Christopherson said. "But she has a soft spot in her heart for the Pioneer Craft Fair because it benefits the local museum. She says lightheartedly that she keeps returning because 'they keep inviting me back.'"

Christopherson makes handkerchiefs, bible markers, doilies, lace baskets and notepaper. Prices for the hand-made lace pieces range from $1 for notepaper decorated with lace

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Bulldog Swim Team 3rd in Conference Championships

Chelsea varsity swimming team tried to pull off the upset on Saturday at the Southeastern Conference Championships at Tecumseh but fell short as Milan placed first, with Dexter second, Chelsea third, Tecumseh fourth, Pinckney fifth, and Lincoln sixth.

The Bulldogs swam very well with 10 state cuts being made through the week-end.

The 200 medley relay team of Matt McVittie, Kevin Kolodica, Curt Street and Jim Bergman finished in 1:44.78 which was a State qualification time and ranks them among the top 12 relays in the state.

Aaron Heaven and Chris Frayer both had season best times in the 200 free. Aaron placed 9th at 1:56.69 with Frayer placing 10th at 1:56.79. Both were season best performances.

The 200 IM was a huge event for the Bulldogs as four swimmers made the finals. Matt McVittie won the event at 1:59.34, setting a new conference record. Kevin Kolodica was fifth at 2:11.09 and qualified for state. Steve Straub came back in the finals with an awesome swim to place seventh at 2:08.06. Rob Frayer had an awesome swim as well, dropping his time to place eighth at 2:14.80.

The Bulldogs came right back in the 50 free to place yet another four swimmers in the finals. Jim Bergman led the way with a third place All-Conference performance at 23.57. Mike Huschke was fifth at 24.15. Christian Desarbo was seventh at 24.14 and Curt Street rounded out the group at 11th and 25.16.

Brendon Renton did a super job placing eighth in the diving event. Jim Bergman was 12th.

The 100 fly was not a strong scoring event for the Bulldogs all season but Chris Grossman still mustered a seventh place finish at 1:00.30. Chris Frayer was 9th over-all at 1:02.02.

McVittie was second in the 100 free at 48.26, another All-Conference performance for him. Curt Street was 11th at 54.83.

The 500 free was another weak event for the Bulldogs as they were only able to score for 11th and 12th places. Heaven was 11th at 5:22.07 and Steve Thiel was 12th at 5:37.20.

Chelsea's 200 free relay surprised a few people on Saturday as they won the 200 freestyle relay at 1:31.08. This time seeds them currently first in the state. McVittie, Kolodica, Steve Straub, and Bergman swam to All-Conference honors.

Christian Desarbo surprised everyone, winning All Conference honors in the 100 back. He placed third at 59.38. Steve Straub, after swimming an awesome leg on the 200 free relay, placed fourth at 1:00.38. Rob Frayer also had a season best performance in the event, going 1:02.27 for eighth place.

Kevin Kolodica had a huge day, as he became the varsity record holder in the 100 breast and conference champion, going 1:03.10. His time ranks him in the top eight going to state.

Peter Straub, preparing for state, was not keying on this week-end and still placed fourth at 1:06.49. Matt Kolodica also placed in the event, going 1:08.13, good enough for eighth place.

The last event for the Bulldogs was the 400 free relay. Steve Straub, Chris Frayer, Curt Street and Mike Huschke combined for fourth place at 3:32.46.

With 11 swimmers from Chelsea going to State on March 10th and 11th at U. of M., the Chelsea area should be well represented. The SEC should also fair well.

VARSITY SWIM TEAM at Chelsea High school was not quite able to pull the upset they had hoped for in the SEC championships Saturday, but they did place third in the conference. The best of it all was that 11 members of the team qualified for the State Finals on March 11-12 at U. of M. Members of the team are, left to right, front row, Will Dowling, Matt

Three Bulldog Wrestlers Qualify for State Finals

Chelsea High school varsity wrestlers competed in the Individual Regional meet Saturday, Feb. 25 at Monroe Jefferson High school and came home with some good results.

Three members of the Chelsea contingent qualified for the State Wrestling Finals to be held in Battle Creek, March 10-11. They are Koby Foytik, Ryan Ludwig and Jordan Dyer.

At 126 lbs., Koby Foytik defeated Ezra Kramer of Thurston, 13-5; then wrestled Aaron Dack of Eaton Rapids who had placed first in the District meet the week before with a 39-10 season record. Koby was trailing by three points with 16 seconds left in the match. Koby did a thrilling upper-body throw, taking his opponent straight to his back, scoring five points and winning the match.

This win put Koby into the championship finals where he met Paul Wisniewski of Dexter who had a 32-6 season record. Koby lost 8-2 to place second in the regionals and advance to the State finals.

At 142 lbs., Ryan Ludwig pinned Joe Serra of Bishop Foley in 4:33; then defeated Andy Hudecheck of Lumen Christi, 5-2, to advance to the championship finals. In the finals, Ryan met Joe Marsh of Eaton Rapids who had a 36-7 season record. Ryan had lost to Marsh last week at districts but this time the match ended in a tie and they had to go into sudden death overtime. The referee called Ryan for stalling and awarded Marsh two points and the match. Ryan earned second place in the regionals and advances to the State finals.

At 185 lbs., Jordan Dyer pinned Mike Shaw of Melvindale in 1:02, then met Craig Maddux of Monroe Jefferson. Maddux, with a season record of 34-3 went on to place first in the regionals. Jordan lost a very close match, 4-2, to Maddux. This dropped Jordan into the consolation bracket where he wrestled Zack Bucki of Carleton Airport and won, 13-1.

Meanwhile, Roger Thorn of Eaton Rapids, the No. 1 ranked 185-pounder in the state of Michigan with a 48-0 record lost his first match to a wrestler Jordan beat last week. This loss dropped Thorn into the consolation bracket also and Jordan and Thorn met in the Consolation finals. Jordan lost this match, 5-1, to earn fourth place in the regionals and advance to the State finals.

At 112 lbs., sophomore Kevin Bollinger lost his first match to Manual Cantu of Melvindale, 13-0. Kevin then wrestled Steve Busen of Carleton Airport, with a 29-8 season record, and pinned him in 3:39. Kevin then wrestled Ryan Nadeau of Monroe Jefferson and, despite putting Nadeau on his back at one point, lost 12-5 and was eliminated.

Coach Kargel was again very pleased with the performance of all four of his regional qualifiers. It's always nice to qualify several wrestlers for the State finals and Coach Kargel feels that Koby, Ryan, and Jordan are all capable of placing in the top 6 or 8 wrestlers in their respective weights. They have two weeks to prepare for the State finals which will be held at Kellogg Arena in Battle Creek on March 10-11.

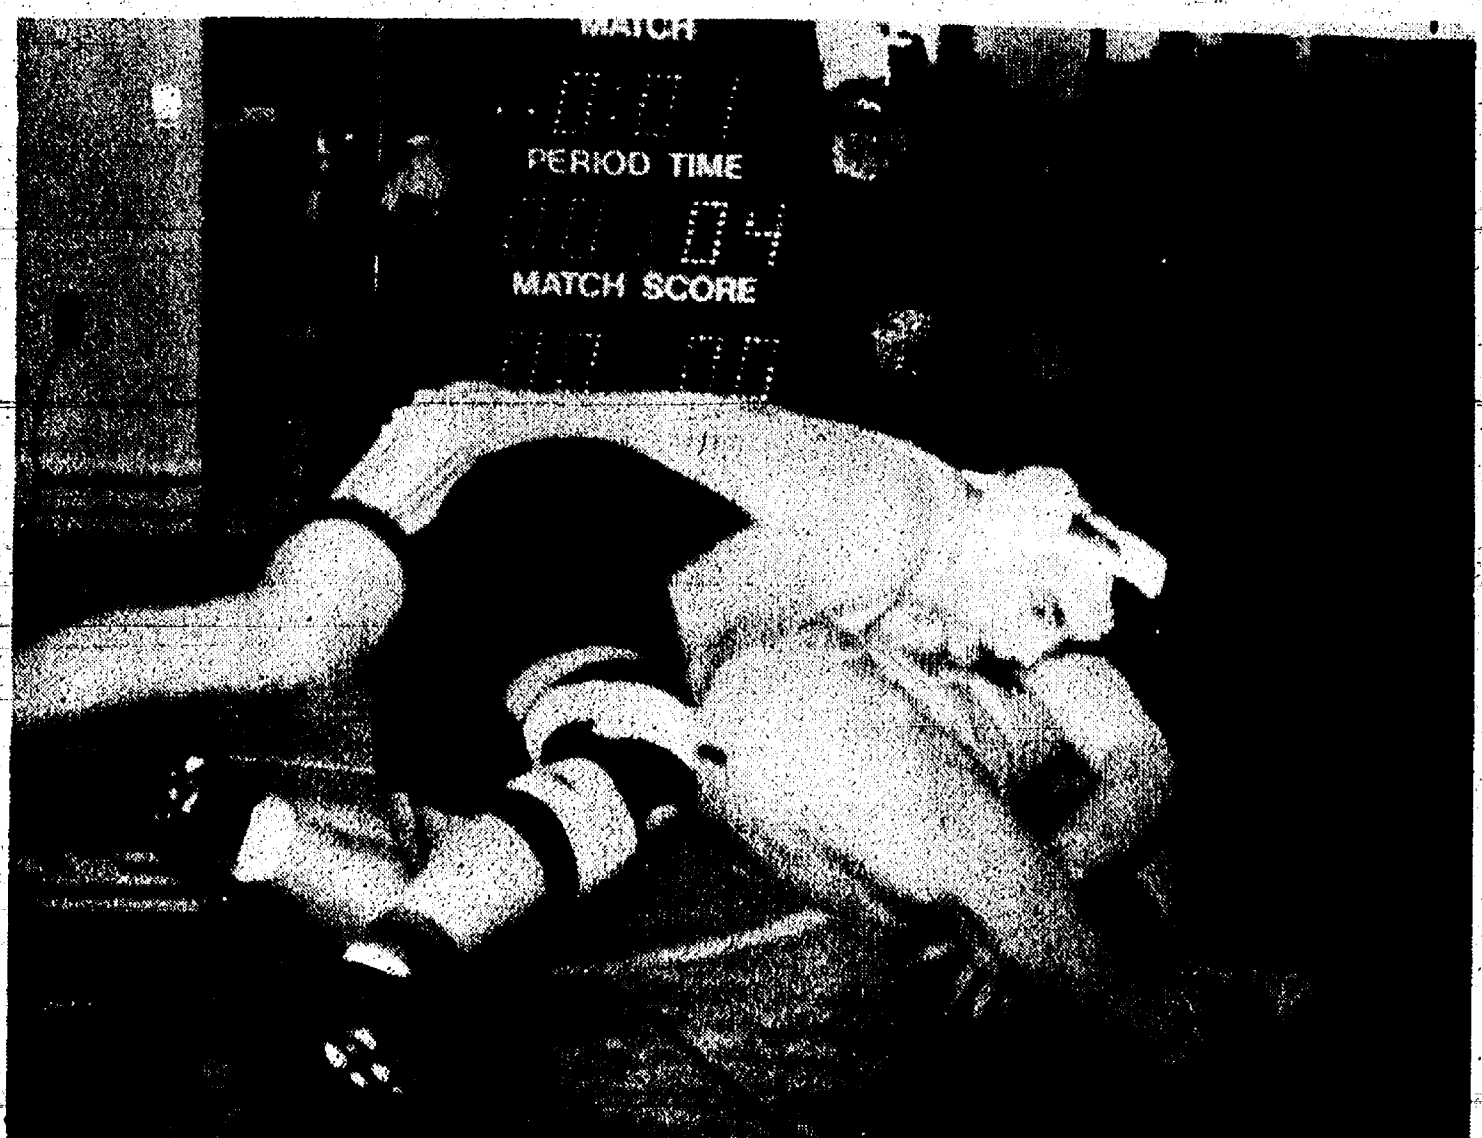

KOBY FOYTİK placed second in Saturday's Individual Regional meet and thereby qualified to enter the State Finals March 10-11 at Battle Creek.

RYAN LUDWIG, wrestling at 142 lbs., was declared the winner in two matches in the Individual Regional meet Saturday. His third match for the title ended in a tie and in sudden death overtime the official ruled he was stalling and awarded two points and the match to Ryan's opponent. Ryan earned second place and the right to compete in the State Finals March 10-11 at Battle Creek.

JORDAN DYER, wrestling at 185 lbs., placed fourth in the Individual Regional meet last Saturday and the right to compete in the State Finals March 10-11 at Battle Creek.

Bulldog Varsity Cagers Dominated By Tecumseh

The Bulldogs got scalped by the Tecumseh Indians at home, 62-40, Friday in a game that kept them far from the hoop.

"We got behind early and had a tough time catching up," said Chelsea varsity basketball coach Robin Raymond.

The first quarter score of 22-11 stands to show that the Bulldogs didn't have the winning streak.

Raymond said, "We just couldn't get the weight down," of the lopsided scoring.

Two and three Bulldogs on the court spent much of their defensive energies biting down on Tecumseh's 6-foot-7 player Brad Allen. This gave Indians Derrick Wolfe and Richard Schlenderer open shots at the basket and together they tallied 33 points.

Case McCalla, one of the Bulldogs assigned to take on covering Allen, was the only Chelsea player to score in double figures as he tallied 11 points. Scott Colvin was scoring runner-up with eight points. Together, McCalla and Colvin scored six of the team's total 12 field goals for the entire game.

The Bulldogs will visit Pinckney for their last SEC game on Friday, March 3.

Raymond said the team hopes to have injured player Nick Brink back in action for the Pinckney bout.

"He was averaging 20 points a game before his injury," said Coach Raymond.

Brink suffered a collapsed lung during Chelsea's match with Fowlerville earlier in the year.

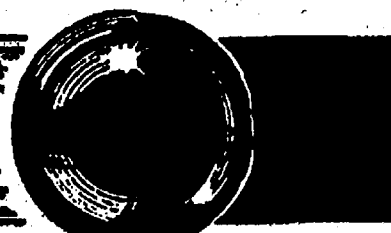

In the meantime Tecumseh will go on to battle with the Dreadnaughts for a tie-breaking game to determine the SEC title winner Friday.

KEVIN BOLLINGER a high school sophomore wrestling at 112 lbs., met some tough, experienced competition in the Individual Regional meet

Saturday and was eliminated after winning one match and dropping two.

County Residents Advised To Test Homes for Radon

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has determined that any given home in Washtenaw county has the potential for measurable radon at the "action level." The EPA has identified Washtenaw county as a Zone 1 county which indicates the highest potential for elevated radon level in the United States.

Prolonged exposure to elevated levels of radon contributes to the development of lung cancer. In fact, radon is the second leading cause of lung cancer in the United States.

Radon is a naturally occurring, radioactive gas which is colorless, odorless, and tasteless. The only way to detect radon is by testing.

The best time of year to conduct a short term test is in the winter when the house is closed to fresh air sources. Both short term and long term test kits can be purchased locally through the Environmental and Infrastructure Services Department. Questions about radon testing or requests to purchase test kits should be made to Rich Badics at 971-6974.

THIS 83-YEAR-OLD BARN has been resurrected from what had appeared to be almost certain destruction at its original home. The barn was on a farm on Wagner Rd., south of Ann Arbor. It has now been carefully dismantled and is being rebuilt to its original beauty on the Chelsea-Dexter Rd. farm of Doug and Sue Rodgers. The restoration is being done by Great Lakes Barn Restoration, specialists in this type of project.

Time-Worn Barn Finds A Homeland in Chelsea

Rodney and Dorothy Peer, 4560 Wagner Rd., purchased a farm 22 years ago. When travel took the form of trail rides, horsemen stopped to water their horses at the Peer farm before saddling up for Saline. A falling red-boarded barn, standing atop a fieldstone foundation, was located behind their six-bedroom farmhouse. A cornerstone of the barn reads 1912.

The elderly barn has found new strength and a home in Chelsea with Doug and Sue Rodgers.

"In a way we are saving this barn," said Sue Rodgers, a 34-year-old Chelsea Hospital employee and bus driver.

The Rodgers family received the barn from the Peers after losing the barn they'd had thanks to Wilbur, a pot-bellied pig. He knocked over a heat lamp inside their barn on Christmas Eve 1994. Flames engulfed the barn within minutes.

The Rodgers home at 10630 Dexter-Chelsea Rd. is the site of their seasonal produce station, Rodgers Corner Produce. May through October sweet corn, pumpkins, eggs and summertime goods go home with shoppers.

The Chelsea residents sought a barn with countryside charm for their property and for produce purchasers, something that would lend itself to the character of the farm.

"We didn't want a pole barn," said Sue Rodgers. "We knew we wanted to put up an old barn," she added.

The mother of three said with a bit of a laugh, "We kind of do stuff the old fashioned way."

Undermining woodchucks and the wearing effects of time found the barn leaning toward a fall on the Peers' farm.

Rodney Peer, a retired University of Michigan painter said, "It would've fallen probably within two years."

Thoughts of burning or tearing down the barn entered Peer's mind.

Peer's wife Dorothy said, "No way are we going to burn that barn down, not with the way the wood situation is in the U.S."

Great Lakes Barn Restoration disassembled the barn and is crafting it at its new site. Owner Sam J. Sitt, III, his wife Peggy and their Amish crew make the journey from the company's site in Hesperia, north of Grand Rapids, to the Rodgers home for each week's work.

The tricky take down of the 36-by-70 foot barn began with the removal of the hip roof shingles, the roof rafters and boards. A crane lifted out supporting beams and 15-foot siding sections. Pieces of the age-old structure were loaded onto a flatbed truck for the move.

The process was done without blueprints. Numbered beams stand as reminders of placement for workers at the new site.

Three weeks has seen the project well underway. The new-old barn stands on the Rodgers property half built. Roof and siding have yet to find their placement. Sue Rodgers said she expects finishing touches by mid-March.

The cost of the project has not been totaled yet, said Doug Rodgers.

Adopt-A-Pet

Animal Aid has rescued pets for adoption. Some are shown Saturdays at Pet Provisions in Brighton, 5757 Whitmore Lake Rd., (corner Old 23 and Grand River). Hours are 10-2. Volunteers/foster homes are needed. A.A. is collecting V.G.'s cash register receipts as a fund-raiser. For more information call (810) 231-4497.

★ School-Business Partnerships Urged

"Now more than ever, community and business partnerships are critically important to providing educators and youth with the opportunities they need to succeed." That's the advice of 1995 NASSP/MetLife Principal of the Year George V. Tignor.

"Through wise investments of time and resources, business and community leaders, parents, and educators can work together to meet the ongoing needs of students," he said.

As principal of Parsons (Kansas) High school, Tignor has helped organize successful school partnerships in his hometown. He is quick to note that the help and dedication of community members has been instrumental.

"All members of a community—parents, educators, and business and civic leaders—can help provide incentives and recognition for students by encouraging school partnerships," he advised. "A key factor for us was implementing an incentive program which brings together the school and community to help motivate youngsters to achieve."

The program, suggested by the Renaissance Education Foundation, encourages local businesses, ranging from fast food restaurants to clothing stores to video rental stores, to provide certificates for reduced prices which students can receive for improved grades and attendance.

Most schools could develop similar programs, Tignor said. He suggests community members support local efforts by:

- Talking to their employers to encourage school involvement.
- Joining other parents in soliciting involvement from area businesses.

- Utilizing local chambers of commerce to find business professionals willing to make classroom presentations about relevant curriculum topics.

- Joining or forming parent and discussion groups to focus on both successes and challenges.

- Developing internships or volunteer opportunities during the summer for school-aged youth.

- Researching trusts or other philanthropic devices that can support student innovations.

- Participating in adopt-a-school programs.
- Recognizing outstanding educators and students at a special luncheon or by giving awards.

- Allowing students to tour business facilities.
- Developing timely programs for students, who are most vulnerable to the negative pressures of peers, after school, weekends, and during the summer.

"School-business-community partnerships can have a tremendous and positive impact today and in the future," Tignor concluded. "The link is crucial to promoting and achieving academic excellence for the nation's children and youth."

John E. Barber Completes Navy Basic Training

Navy Seaman Recruit John E. Barber, a 1994 graduate of Dexter High school, recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, Barber completed a variety of training which included classroom study, practical hands-on instruction, and an emphasis on physical fitness. In particular, Barber learned naval customs, first aid, fire fighting, water safety and survival, and a variety of safety skills required for working around ships and aircraft.

Barber and other recruits also received instruction on the Navy's core values—honor, courage and commitment; and what the words mean in guiding personal and professional conduct.

Have you ever heard the old myth that a glass of warm milk will help you sleep? Well, sleep specialists claim there is some truth to the story. Tryptophan, found in milk, does help you relax.

MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY ASSOCIATION—Washtenaw county chapter blitzed the Chelsea area last Wednesday with a mass arrest program. With the co-operation of Chelsea Police, assorted residents were handcuffed and hauled away to a make-believe jail set up in Palmer Ford showroom. They were then given the opportunity to raise bail by phoning friends and relatives to pledge enough to free them. Among the "victims" using cellular phones to raise their bail money, were, back row from left, Nancy Morgan, Bill Wescott and Lucy Stieber; front row are Karen Scheuer and Bob Bullock.

Proposed Budget Cuts Called Unfair To Agriculture

Farm program spending cuts proposed by Sen. Richard Lugar (R-Ind.) would "force agriculture to make substantial adjustments in production and affect farm real estate values and other related sectors," according to Jack Laurie, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Lugar, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, has proposed cuts of nearly $15 billion in farm spending and the agricultural export enhancement program over the next five years.

"Sen. Lugar's proposed cuts would send severe shock waves through the American agricultural system that would be felt by individual producers, related sectors and all of rural America," Laurie said. "We'd experience a downward adjustment in farm real estate values, which could cause a debt repayment problem. Those costs would far outweigh any savings realized by Sen. Lugar's proposal."

Laurie said that, when expressed in inflation-adjusted dollars, agricultural spending levels are already a third less than the 40-year average. "Cuts in total agriculture spending in the range of $3 billion a year would cause a difficult adjustment," he said. "Farm program spending already has been reduced by 45 percent over the last eight years. Agriculture has contributed more than its fair share toward deficit reduction. Before agriculture is cut further, all other federal spending programs should be forced to the chopping block."

PRINCIPAL "ARRESTED": South Elementary school students raised over $500 to bail their principal, Lucy Stieber, out of "jail." Officer Phillips arrived with handcuffs and police car to escort Mrs. Stieber to "jail" for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. The student council and kindergarten students waved good-bye and pleaded for her return. Through the generosity of the students and their families bail was raised and Mrs. Stieber was released and returned to school.

Tips To Help Raise Puppy Into Well-Behaved Dog

Imagine that you've just found the puppy of your dreams at the Humane Society of Huron Valley—a fuzzy, lovable purebred or a mixed breed that has big brown eyes and is as "cute as a button." So what do you do with this little creature that radiates love and affection for you?

Like a child, the first few months of a puppy's life are critical in the development of its temperament and key to its future behavior. How it is introduced to the family, cared for, loved and taught to obey commands will greatly determine what kind of dog it will be as an adult.

How should you care for your new four-footed friend? The Humane Society of Huron Valley gives these important tips:

• In preparation for your puppy's arrival, purchase two adult-sized bowls (it will grow into the bowls quickly!); hard rubber balls or "squeaky toys" for the puppy to play with; and a blanket, "bed" or large crate for the puppy to sleep in.

• Try to keep your puppy as warm as possible when it arrives. This induces sleep and comfort.

• Keep a new puppy confined in a kitchen, bathroom or uncarpeted area by a tension-bar gate. Never shut the door on your pet—this encourages the puppy to bark or chew things to get your attention. It will still feel part of the family, though, if only separated by a low gate.

• Don't establish other bad habits in the first few months. Don't give a puppy items of your family's clothing like socks and old shoes to play with. If you do that, you're giving the puppy permission to chew on your GOOD socks and shoes later on! Plus, playing "tug-of-war," wrestling and general "roughhousing" is not advised since this teaches and reinforces aggressive behavior and instincts. Most likely you won't want to play these kinds of games with a full-grown adult animal! Throw balls outdoors instead.

• Start training your pet, beginning at eight weeks of age. Trainers call this period "puppy kindergarten." Also, work on housebreaking your pet as early as eight weeks by anticipating when it needs to relieve itself, such as after sleeping, after exercise and after eating. Realize, however, that a puppy doesn't develop complete muscle control until four months of age, and therefore, can't be totally housebroken until then. Two important rules: prevent instead of correct—mistakes, and teach through reward and praise. Never strike or spank a puppy with a newspaper. Everytime the pet does something right, lavishly praise it with love and, intermittently, with special doggie treats.

• Socialization is critical to developing a friendly, outgoing, well-balanced dog. Encourage many different people to fondle your pet so that it becomes accustomed to human touch. In addition, handle your puppy's feet and body; check its ears; open its mouth and look at its teeth. What these exercises do, in essence, is prepare your pet for examination and handling by you and a veterinarian later on—a gesture which will be much appreciated!

• Learn how to use commands and voice properly. This is your only form of communication with a pet. Commands should be consistently used and firmly given. Praise should be delivered in an excited, higher-pitched voice to get the puppy's attention, followed by plenty of love and affection.

• In addition to handling the pet indoors, take your puppy for walks and let it socialize with neighbors. It is better for the puppy if everyone who passes by offers a warm touch and cheery hello!

• Enroll your pet in obedience school. The Humane Society of Huron Valley offers free classes to those who adopt from them. A well trained animal will provide years of happiness for both owner and pet.

• And finally, don't forget to schedule annual visits to a veterinarian for an examination and necessary inoculations to keep your pet healthy.

Larceny

Larceny was reported in the 15000 block of Old US-12, Feb. 18. A 43-year-old township man told police a teen-ager came to his door in the early morning hours and asked to use his telephone because he had car trouble. The man left the boy alone in the kitchen for a short time, and when he returned the boy was gone and two diamond rings resting on the window ledge were missing. He later identified the youth through a yearbook as a Chelsea High school student. Police interviewed the boy and he admitted to the theft. According to a police report, he said "the temptation was too great not to" steal the rings, valued at $4,000. The boy returned one ring, but said he would have to try and retrieve the other. A prosecutor will review the case for charges.

A 39-year-old township woman told police someone broke into her home between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Over $1,000 worth of items were stolen, including two VCRs, a TV, binoculars and a vacuum cleaner. Thieves kicked in the door to the residence to gain entry.

Bomb Threat

A bomb threat was made against Thomson-Shore, 7300 Joy Rd., Feb. 17. A 33-year-old afternoon shift supervisor told police a man called in a bomb threat, saying he planted a bomb in the building. In the meantime, Dexter Area Fire Department stood by in case of an emergency.

Malicious destruction of property was reported in the 12400 block of North Territorial Rd., Feb. 18. A 17-year-old township boy told police he heard a cracking noise while watching television. When he went to investigate, the boy said he found someone shot a hole in his bedroom window and a round of bullets in his bedroom wall. Damage is estimated at $1,000. The incident happened between 7:40 p.m. and 7:50 p.m.

Larceny

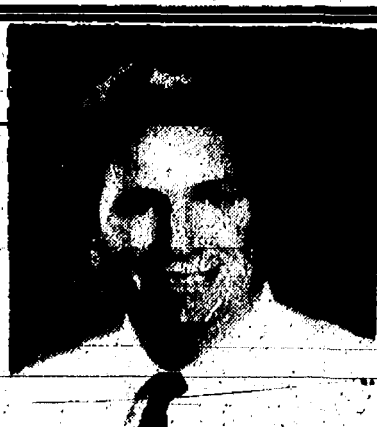

Larceny from a motor vehicle was reported in the 14000 block of Edgewater Dr., Feb. 19. A 51-year-old township man told police someone entered his 1995 Toyota Camry and 1993 Jeep Cherokee between midnight and 8 a.m. Both vehicles were parked in the driveway next to his home. Two radar detectors and two pairs of sunglasses totalling $665 were stolen. Police have no suspects.

Citizen Assist

A deputy was called to Four Mile Access near Dexter-Chelsea Rd., Feb. 19 to assist a 30-year-old Milan man who drove his 1985 AMC Eagle station wagon on the ice and got stuck. The man said he was driving the car across the ice to reach his favorite fishing spot. However, he hid a pressure crack in the ice, and his vehicle went nose first into the lake and got stuck. He asked the deputy and General Towing for help, but both declined to take the risk. Instead, the man was told the Department of Natural Resources would be notified and appropriate citations would be issued.

Washington St. Show Choir 7th in Tri-State Competition

On Feb. 4, the Washington Street Show Choir hosted and performed Showcase '95 to a sold-out audience. Featured were guest performances by show choirs from across the state, Lakeview Spartans from Battle Creek, Village Green Singers from Greenville, Sha-Bop Shoppe from Ann Arbor and Churchill Choralation from Livonia.

After giving these fine talented groups a warm welcome to our community, a week later, the Washington Street Show Choir traveled to Waterloo, Ind., for the DeKalb Classic Connection 4th annual Show Choir Invitational. This competition consisted of 14 high school show choirs representing schools from Indiana, Illinois and Michigan. The Washington Street Show Choirs' musical performance and high energy choreography and technical skills placed them seventh in the competition.

Mark your calendars for May 12 and 13 as the Washington Street Show Choir will present for your entertainment, "Cabaret."

A FUND-RAISER for Beach Middle school 8th graders to visit Washington, D. C. this spring was held this year at the Chelsea High school cafeteria. Approximately 800 dinners were served by the catering service of Wolverine Food & Spirits, Joe and Judy Merkel. Tom Kern was among the diners with his daughters, Heather, left, a member of the 8th grade class, and her sister, Becky.
