Board OKs Wording of Bond Proposal, Waiting for State Treasurer's Approval

■ If approved, the school board will vote on the final draft April 17

The growing number of enrolled students at Chelsea High school, Beach Middle school and both North and South Elementary schools is a major concern of Superintendent Edward Richardson and the school board, thus calling for changes to be made.

The school board is requesting a $45 million bond proposal to be used for construction projects and renovating existing schools. A $54 million "wish list" of wanted projects was the guide for the proposal, which is to be trimmed down to $45 million, costing taxpayers an additional six mills of property tax. Taxpayers currently are paying one mill tax on a 1974 bond, Richardson said.

"I believe this bond issue reflects what the community has told us they want in a bond issue," Richardson said. "If we didn't believe that, we wouldn't take it to a vote."

The school board approved the language of the proposal, 7-0, at its regular meeting on March 20. Richardson estimated that the bond would gain $3 million in interest, upgrading the monies to be used to $48 million. He said the additional funds could be used for further renovations.

"The board is waiting to hear from the State Treasurer's office on April 10, which is reviewing the approval of the proposal. If approved, the board will vote on whether it chooses to approve the final draft on April 17.

If the board approves the final draft, Chelsea residents will be asked to vote for it on June 12 in the school board election. Also, in that election, Conrad Knutson's seat on the board will be vacant and up to voters to fill.

Richardson, who assumed the superintendent position nearly eight months ago, said the last time buildings were renovated was 21 years ago.

Chelsea High school currently numbers 770 enrolled students. By the year 2000, Richardson said that number could reach upwards to 1,000 enrolled students. The elementary schools enrollment is expected to increase as well, he said. New schools will be needed to adequately house the increased number of students, he said.

"If we're going to grow in housing and in business, our schools will need to be the best," Richardson said. "Our buildings are some of the oldest. We have really fine people and really fine programs, but the facilities are lacking."

The proposal will include new construction projects, as well as renovating existing buildings.

A new high school would be built on land already owned by the school district. The land, along Freer Rd. and Trinkle Rd., would enable the district to build an estimated $31 million facility near the present high school on Washington St. The project would be complete in 28 months from the time of groundbreaking, Richardson said. The completion date is targeted for the fall of 1998.

A third elementary school would be built, costing $8 million. The targeted completion date is the fall of 1997. The project would take an estimated 14 months from start to finish, Richardson said.

Renovations to Beach Middle school and North and South Elementary schools would cost $2 million per school. Many of the classrooms are ill-equipped for advancing technology, Richardson said. He said some classrooms have only one electrical outlet, limiting learning resources to be implemented into the classrooms. Plumbing and flooring problems need to be upgraded as time has taken its toll, he said. The renovations would bring the schools "into the 90s," Richardson said.

Each of the district's schools would receive upgraded technologies. The district's administrative offices and community education buildings also would be part of this renovation costing $1 million.

Richardson said the school board conducted an investigation to determine if the district can afford to keep the buildings up to par and operational when completed.

Projected three-year income documents ensured we have enough money to open and operate the buildings after they are built," Richardson said.

The bond proposal would cost the average resident an estimated $350 more per year. The proposal could be paid off in as little as 17 years if the projected growth stays at 5 percent, Richardson said.

That figure was derived from the median $93,500 cost of an average home in Chelsea.

Richardson said that Chelsea residents saved $1,200 to $1,800 on property taxes due to the Proposal A property tax cut that was approved last fall.

"We're just asking for $350 of it back," Richardson said.

Two years ago, voters rejected a $27-million bond proposal. To make sure this doesn't happen again, Richardson said, the board surveyed 368 people on what it would take for them to vote "Yes" on a new proposal. "I have personally talked to 325 people and asked what they think about the proposal," Richardson said. "We believe we have listened," he said.

Chelsea Grad Assigned Crime Prevention Post

■ Lisa (Taylor) King will help residents organize Neighborhood Watch.

Area residents will be getting some extra help from a familiar face when it comes to crime prevention.

Lisa (Taylor) King, a 1989 Chelsea High school graduate, has been appointed to the west side crime prevention post. A deputy with the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department three years, King has been charged with helping residents organize local neighborhood watch programs. She will also educate the public with such programs as Project Identification Child, Operation Identification Merchandise, Business Watch, Gang Awareness, Home Security, Senior Citizen Awareness and more.

In the past, the sheriff's department had one, county-wide crime prevention deputy. But since Ypsilanti township residents passed a three-mill levy to increase police services, crime prevention officer Chuck Mullins has been assigned full time to the township post.

King, 23, will cover the remainder of the county and work locally out of the sheriff's department substation on Zeeb Rd. She was appointed by a panel comprised of Manchester Village manager Jeff Wallace, Michigan State Police trooper Al Veal and Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department lieutenants James Fink, R.J. Smith and Brenda Sutton. Sutton said Wallace was selected to sit on the panel because Manchester Village is the largest contractor for police services on the west side. The village has four deputies assigned to it. Trooper Veal was asked to join the panel because he heads the state police crime prevention program.

King took on her new assignment March 1 and has a two-year commitment to the post. She has been working road patrol the past three years, covering local areas such as Dexter, Manchester and the central-west portion of the county. King has an associates degree from Washtenaw Community College and is a graduate of the college's police academy.

Sutton said King, who lives north of Chelsea, will take over already instituted neighborhood watch programs, organize new ones and request more citizen involvement from area residents. Mullins and King will operate as a team, giving presentations and speaking on behalf of the crime prevention program at community meetings.

King says she became involved in police work because she likes to help people and become directly involved in community crime prevention. She has been awarded two meritorious service awards for her police work and two unit citations. Her new assignment will bring her even closer into local communities. King's goals include organizing a business watch in Dexter and Manchester. "I would like to see, especially in towns like Manchester and Dexter, a business watch right downtown," she said. "I'd like to see business people watching out for each other."

"I would like to see, especially in towns like Manchester and Dexter, a business watch right downtown."

—Lisa King, Crime Prevention Deputy

King would also like to see more neighborhood watch programs in rural areas. Presently, Webster township has one, as does York township, the McKinley Rd. area in Sylvan township, Uplands Subdivision in Sylvan township and Rose Dr. in Scio township. Recently, King said, Rose Dr. residents pulled together to shut down a drug house in their neighborhood by reporting suspicious activity.

(Anyone interested in organizing a neighborhood watch program may contact King at 994-8098.)

Chelsea Education Foundation Will Offer 5 Scholarships for '95

Chelsea Education Foundation will be offering five scholarships during 1995.

The Joseph Piasecki Memorial Scholarship will be awarded to one 1995 Chelsea High school graduate in the amount of $500. This scholarship is intended for a student with goals for receiving a higher education. The applicant will be asked to write a one-page statement describing obstacles or difficulties he or she has confronted so far in life. Applications may be picked up and returned to the Chelsea High school counselor's office.

Two additional scholarships in the amount of $750 each will be awarded to Chelsea residents seeking a college degree program or other skilled training such as a trade school. Applications may be picked up and returned to either the Chelsea Community Education Office or the Chelsea High school counselor's office.

Chelsea Education Foundation also offers a $1,000 scholarship through Washtenaw Community College, for a Chelsea area resident seeking higher education. Applications for this scholarship may be picked up and returned to the Washtenaw Community College scholarship office.

Applications are available now and must be returned no later than May 5, to the correct location to be considered.

Forensics Team Makes Presence Known at Districts

■ Five students take district championship honors

They may encounter frustration, anxiety and nervousness, but are able to keep a level head, despite all the pressure.

Imagine standing in front of a roomful of people who expect to hear the best statement of their lives about a subject most of them know little of or nothing about at all.

It is the never-ending job of forensics team members to research their topics inside and out, never stopping to forget the tiniest detail that makes up a rock-solid presentation. It is their job to put in long hours in their free time to make sure that their opponents get the upper hand in this case—the upper voice.

Coached by Chelsea high school teacher Bill Coelius, the forensics team has made their presence an unwanted experience at a debate. Opposing teams know that Chelsea has—and will—give them one of the fiercest competitions they've ever encountered.

Demolishing its last opponents, the team captured top honors at the Brighton Invitational. The team had three first, three second, and three third-place finishes at the debate.

The team traveled to Dexter for the district tournament Monday afternoon to try and make the district honor its own.

"We entered in all 14 events, with two entries each," Coelius said.

At the district competition, Chelsea debaters claimed five championships.

Ana Morell-Samuels took first place in broadcasting, while Tara Platt took first in storytelling. Jessica Flintoft added another first-place finish in impromptu speaking. Evan Knott took first in the extemporaneous speaking category and Cara Heitman took first place in the extemporaneous speaking in the nine-10 category.

"Usually freshman and sophomores are entered in the extemporaneous category for nine-10," Coelius said. "We didn't enter any freshmen. Cara is a sophomore."

Others who qualified for the regional level are Lori Ritter for impromptu speaking; Corrie Schoenberg for poetry; Sylvia Jorgensen for extemporaneous speaking; Dan Black and Bekkah Knight in the duo category; Leigha Young for extemporaneous speaking; Mariah Cherem for informative speaking; Sarah Mead for oratory speaking.

Impromptu speakers have six minutes from the time they receive their subject until they must finish their debate, Coelius said. Most know the basic idea of the topic at hand before they have to speak, he said.

Extemporaneous speakers have 30 minutes to speak, Coelius said. The difference is that they have time to research their topic within that time period, Coelius said.

Coelius said he will take 12 competitors to regionals. One person can be entered in more than one event, he reminded.

Those who placed at the regional level have an excellent shot making it at the state level and going to the final round," Coelius said. "Our region is tough to qualify for."

The regional forensics competition will take place at Birmingham Seaholm High school on Tuesday, April 25, Coelius said.

LISA (TAYLOR) KING, a Chelsea High school graduate, has been assigned to the new crime prevention post for the west side of the county. A Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputy three years, King will help residents organize Neighborhood Watch and inform them about other crime prevention programs.

The house behind the Chelsea 14th District Courthouse that was scheduled to be moved to the former Pump 'N Pantry site as part of the Downtown Development Authority's parking lot project is now likely to be moved to a village-owned lot on W. Middle St. DDA has decided the estimated $50,000 cost to move the house to the corner of Orchard and Main Sts. and renovate in for use as an addition to McKune Memorial Library is too much money to spend.

The fate of the Chelsea-Ann Arbor bus route offered through Ann Arbor Transportation Authority has not been determined. AATA has asked the village to contribute more than $9,000 for six months of service under a new contract. State money for the project runs out at the end of the month.

Chelsea Village Council appears willing to lower its liability insurance requirements for a Fourth of July fireworks display this summer. A total of 25 residents of Sylvan township, which was a higher number than average, met to discuss township business and review the budget. The majority of people were still grumbling about the increased valuation shown in their taxes and some discussion centered around the situation. Aside from the decision to change township officials' car allowances to a straight fee of 10 cents per mile, there was no actual contest on the proposed budget. ### ★ MEGA Problems: A New Industrial Policy Bureaucracy

By Joseph P. Overton

Suddenly, after four years of nationally acclaimed fiscal management, the Engler administration has decided that Michigan needs a new state bureaucracy to grant tax credits to selected big businesses.

The Governor's proposal for the Michigan Economic Growth Authority (MEGA) is a departure from an ambitious—and effective—policy of government downsizing aimed at lowering the over-all costs of doing business in Michigan. MEGA is a move toward an industrial policy model of government economic planning, with the administration choosing the winners and losers. If passed, the MEGA proposal would not only fail to achieve its primary objective, but also increase the size of state government, subject it to litigation, hinder future tax reform, and set a poor precedent of state-level discretionary tax policy.

MEGA was born out of the new War Between the States—the headline-grabbing practice of states competing for private sector jobs. Nearly every state has a program of either selective subsidies or tax credits to entice firms to locate or expand within its borders, and MEGA is touted as a "state of the art" economic development weapon that Michigan needs in its arsenal.

The MEGA proposal would create a seven member board, all appointed by the Governor. The board would select certain companies to receive Single Business Tax credits for up to 20 years, the amount of the credit based on the amount of state income tax paid by the new employees. To even be considered, a Michigan company must create 150 or more such jobs. After qualifying, the MEGA board chooses which firms will actually receive the credit based on additional criteria.

Will MEGA achieve its objective of job growth? The Governor would be wise to heed the findings of his own report. In 1988, then Senate Majority Leader Engler received a study he commissioned of Michigan's performance in the 1979-86 business cycle, titled Michigan in Perspective. The 331-page report analyzed Michigan's use of property tax abatements and reviewed a host of other studies evaluating the effectiveness of MEGA-style incentives in other states. The report concluded:

The arguments against the conventional incentives approach to business development are overwhelming. Practically every major analysis conducted in the past decade has concluded that standard business incentives packages neither substantially encourage investment, nor boost output or create jobs...

A 1989 review of the economic development literature by the Council of State Governments confirmed these findings. The reason, as the Engler report states, is that the value of an incentive pales when compared to such locational factors as over-all tax levels, a reasonably priced skilled-labor force, the relative cost of bureaucratic compliance, efficient transportation facilities, and general quality of life. If Michigan is not competitive in these areas, business will go elsewhere despite subsidies or credits.

Furthermore, economic growth within the state is very uneven: low-tax Grand Rapids is growing at a much faster rate than high-tax Detroit. A firm in a high-tax locale that threatens to move out of state may be responding more to that local circumstance than the state-wide business climate; a MEGA tax credit would simply reward the high tax jurisdiction and thereby send the wrong signal to those areas that have kept their taxes under control.

MEGA would increase the size and cost of Michigan government. The proposal authorizes staffing the Michigan Jobs Commission to handle the administrative work involved in promulgating MEGA guidelines and rules, evaluating company applications, publishing an annual report, and other program oversight. The proposal would allow any company denied a tax credit to appeal the ruling, first before an administrative judge and then in circuit court. What happens when a manufacturer is granted a multi-million dollar credit, but its in-state competitor is not? Such a situation would be unfair—and subject to litigation.

MEGA would also hinder further tax reform. One of the current problems with the Single Business Tax is that so many employers are exempt that those who remain find it difficult to build a constituency for change. MEGA would exacerbate this situation, diminishing the incentive for those firms lucky enough to receive the credit to lobby for further reform. Those states that aggressively pursue selective tax credit schemes to lure away business are actually reducing their ability to produce an over-all, competitive business climate with each arbitrary subsidy or rebate contrivance they create. Michigan can foster superior and sustainable growth, as it is already proving, if it spends less energy on a few trees and cares instead for the forest as a whole.

Perhaps most disturbing, however, is that MEGA sets an unwelcome precedent with discretionary tax policy. While calling for cost/benefit analysis of each application for credit, it still leaves a seven-member board of political appointees with broad discretion to determine tax policy for some of Michigan's largest corporations. Although the proposed legislation sets no limit on the amount of tax credits that may be granted, the Jobs Commission proposes about $8 million per year. However, these 20-year credits add up each year; after 10 years such a program would be foregoing SBT revenue of $80 million each year—high stakes for the subjective determination of an unelected board.

Today, with Michigan unemployment at a 25-year low of 4.1 percent and a track record of sound and courageous fiscal management, Michigan is heading in the right direction. The 1988 Engler report properly noted, "Incentives are ephemeral. Efforts to improve business climate, and tax climate in particular, on the other hand, are more intrinsic and tend to work." That's an important lesson that administration of officials should learn from their own first-term track record.

MEGA is not "state-of-the-art" development strategy as its proponents claim. It is a step backward on Michigan's road to a world competitive, free-market economy. Making Michigan more competitive by reducing the business tax burden is a laudable goal, but we don't need a new state bureaucracy to do it.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellows weren't viewing everything with alarm at the country store Saturday night, and the only reason I can figure is that they are so happy to see signs of spring that can't help looking on the bright side. Even Bug Hookum was heard to admit that life can't get much better than being out in the clean air with plenty of room to move about and keep the old joints loose. And Bug said it always does his old heart good this time of year to see farmers and ranchers getting ready to make another run at it.

Ed Doolittle came to the session with his usual shirt pocket full of clippings, and he was prepared to go through the full agenda. He started out wondering if anybody in politics has a tougher job right now than Sen. Richard Lugar. Ed has been reading where he is riding high on the Republican reform wagon, and farm subsidies are at the top of his hit list as chairman of the Agriculture Committee. Knowing a little of the senator's background, Ed said he's got a tough row to hoe and a tight rope to walk if he expects to keep being seen as a friend of the farmer.

But even Democrat Clem Webster was in a good enough mood to give Lugar the benefit of a heap of doubt. Clem said the senator didn't just fall off the turnip wagon. He's been around long enough to know there's too many players in this game, especially in Europe, to cut agriculture loose in the marketplace. Lugar knows subsidies and support prices come about for good reason, and there's no way to phase them out without first building a foundation for whatever is put in place to give farmers and ranchers the stability they've got to have.

For one thing, Clem went on, Lugar needs to look at what the Democrats have been trying to work around for years, subsidizing farmers instead of crops. This would level the field some by basing assistance on farmers who need it most instead of them who can grow the most. Government also can help farmers by working out a way for them to get insurance on what they produce to give them a better shot at surviving a bad year.

For sure, everybody knew that good will was in the air when Ed Doolittle said Clem was right, if he was saying that any change in the way Government helps agriculture would be an improvement. And Ed went on to note that somehow we got to get away from seeing farm support like the arms race, doing more of it because all the other countries are doing more of it. The fact is, Ed said, the United States is the biggest player in the game, and if it changes the rules and sticks to them the rest will have to fall in line.

The fellows got to talking general about the problems, ranchers and farmers have with financing. They agreed credit is a necessary part of farm life, and satisfaction folks find in farming is a temptation to keep borrowing to keep going. One farmer spoke for all farmers when he was asked what he would do if he won the $10 million lottery, and he said he'd keep farming as long as the money lasted.

But you got to ask why Congress frets over farm subsidies but never makes a move to jerk Washington, D.C. in line. Instead of subsidizing its wild spending, a Congress serious about reform would turn the capital back into the Congress-run city it was meant to be.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Orchestra Teacher To Give 'Hands-on' Demonstration

Students in first and second grades at both North and South Elementary schools will have the opportunity to attend a music demonstration Wednesday, March 29.

John Kennedy, Chelsea High school's orchestra teacher, and a few of his students, will bring their instruments for a "hands-on" demonstration.

South school students will meet in the cafeteria from 2 to 2:30 p.m. North school students will meet in the Multi-purpose room from 1 to 1:30 p.m.

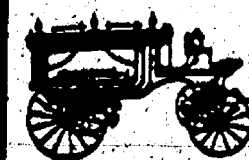

This is one in a series of Exploration Workshops to be offered to grade school children this year. The program is sponsored by the Chelsea School District, a part of the Talent Development Program, as developed by Laurie Bissell, Chelsea schools curriculum director and is co-ordinated by Mary Jane Eder.

SHERIFF'S REPORT

Sylvan Township

Drunk Driving

A 24-year-old Bronson man was arrested on I-94 near Old US-12 March 18 for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor. Police found the man sitting in his 1993 Ford Mustang in a ditch. The vehicle suffered extensive damage. The driver said he blacked out after drinking at a bar in Jackson. His blood/alcohol level was tested at .14 percent.

Lima Township

Malicious Destruction of Property

Malicious destruction of property was reported in the 13900 block of Dexter-Chelsea Rd., March 20. A 42-year-old township man told police someone kicked in his 1989 Ford Escort's door, causing $300 in damages. The victim has a suspect in mind, but asked police not to question him because he fears repercussion by the youth.

Dexter Township

Runaway

A 14-year-old boy was reported missing from his home in the 13400 block of Rainbow Dr., March 18. The boy's 42-year-old father told police his son called to say he wasn't coming home and didn't say where he was. After receiving a few telephone calls from his son's friends who were looking for the boy, the father became concerned. It was later reported that the boy returned home.

Child Abuse

Child abuse was reported in the 8500 block of Hankerd Rd., March 14. Police were dispatched to the home after Child Protective Services received a telephone call from a concerned resident. When police arrived, a 13-year-old boy told police his father was angry that he rode his dirt bike motor cycle without permission and then tried to lie about it. He said his father grabbed him by the chin and pushed him. Then, he said, his father struck him arm and cheek. The father, however, denies hitting the boy. He said he grabbed the boy's face after he lied about riding the dirt bike. A prosecutor will review the case.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Recently I had the opportunity and privilege, along with 50 from the State of Florida and another 1,900 from the other states, all members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States of America, to attend the 46th annual Washington Conference in Washington, D.C.

The purpose of this Conference was to bring together the delegates to the various committees of our national organization for business and information.

Highlight of the Conference was the presentation by our VFW National Commander Allen F. "Gunner" Kent of Arizona to a Joint Hearing of the Committee on Veterans Affairs of your Congress. He spoke on the concerns of the veteran, noting that 24 million Veterans are denied access to the VA Health Care System because of varied reasons including the rules governing access which are complicated, undated and plain unfair.

The Veterans Administration must be authorized by law to collect and retain funds collected from third party payers including Medicare and Medicaid. Most of our veterans are not aware that payments go directly into the General Treasury Fund. This must stop NOW!

The Dept. of Veterans Affairs has an outstanding director in Jesse Brown. He won a tremendous acclamation from all the delegates for his efforts these past two years as a cabinet member.

President Clinton has introduced the largest VA budget to Congress in history; however, your 104th Congress has cut that total amount by $205 million. This is an outrage when your administration sent more than that to Russia for aid.

The top personnel of all of our armed forces noted that we are in an ever changing world, our service men and women are highly trained and ready to go to all areas of the world at the call of the Commander-in-Chief.

All 50 state representatives of the VFW Voice of Democracy Program were present and the winner was from Michigan; however, Florida placed fourth.

President Clinton signed into law extending membership eligibility to the veteran who has served in Korea since July 1, 1949 to present.

I know that we have a large national deficit—we must bite the bullet—we have lived too high on the "hog"—but let's not take it out on the veterans of this nation. The Veterans of Foreign Wars served you in the past and continue to serve even today, assisting our fellow veterans and their families including those on active duty.

I am proud to be a member of the largest VFW Post in Florida and the 11th largest in the nation.

What do baby food, beers and biofuels have in common? They could all be produced in a fraction of the time currently required. Starch from corn, barley and other grains is used as a key ingredient in the making of these products. Now, scientists have found that starch can be broken down up to 10 times faster with the use of a natural enzyme that may have been used by the Egyptians 5,500 years ago.

KATHRYN SQUIRES helped the participants of South Elementary School's Math and Science Night to learn about color separation. By writing with magic markers on coffee filters and placing them in water, students and their families were able to watch the colors separate. Pictured with Mrs. Squires are students Sarah Schauder and Caitlin Power.

Diet Research Reveals Fatty Food Nostalgia

By Debbie Barrow, Extension Home Economist

Many Americans are enlisting but lack the will to win the war for good nutrition. According to a nationally representative survey of almost 1,000 adults conducted by D'Arcy Masium Benton & Bowles (DMB&B), half of consumers are ambivalent toward reduced-fat foods, and only a small fraction consistently select reduced-fat products.

What this suggests is that, for many people, cutting back on fat has meant abandoning foods and tastes they like. They end up feeling deprived. Despite the fact that they start out with good intentions, they quickly tire of denying themselves. Food is a relatively inexpensive self-indulgence that offers sensual and emotional gratification.

The research suggests that we are seeing a trend toward "fat nostalgia," defined as an intense longing for high-fat comfort foods such as lasagna and ice cream.

The study identifies three segments of consumers based on their attitudes toward fat:

• Ambivalents are the largest group, making up half of the adult population. They take some steps to reduce the fat they consume, but they do so reluctantly. More than half of these people say they are extremely or very concerned about the fat amount of fat in their diet. Yet the majority agree that they really miss the taste of regular (fatty) foods.

Seventy-three percent of Ambivalents complain that reduced-fat food tastes funny, and 86 percent say they would prefer some fat if it made the food taste better. Not surprisingly, they eat a combination of fatty and low-fat foods.

• Uninterested are the true "fat-phobics" of American Society. Only 10 percent are extremely or very concerned about the fat they eat, and the vast majority stick to regular types of ice cream, salad dressing and mayonnaise.

Uninterested may be aware of the health risks of a high-fat diet, but their desire for tasty food takes precedence. Two-thirds of the group agree that they eat fewer fat-free foods because they are less appealing and have a funny texture, taste or aftertaste.

• Fat-free Fanatics, on the other hand, seem oblivious to the issues of taste. Just 14 percent of American adults fall into this segment. Only 11 percent of them miss the taste of regular food. Almost 90 percent of them are very concerned with fat intake, and 78 percent say they have already cut down on fat drastically or a great deal. Almost nine in 10 agree that the less fat a product has, the more likely they are to buy it.

ENGAGED: Amy N. Carpenter and Howard J. Brooks, both of Chelsea, are engaged and planning a summer wedding. The bride is the daughter of Janet S. Carpenter. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brooks, all of Chelsea. Amy is a 1990 graduate of Chelsea High school and will be graduating from Siena Heights College this spring with a BA in child development and an elementary education certification. Howard is a 1991 graduate of Chelsea High school and will be graduating this spring with a BS in computer engineering from Michigan State University. Their wedding is slated for July 22.

Grains, Legumes Considered Important Part of Healthy Diet

By Debbie Barrow, Extension Home Economist

Long gone are the days of skipping the bread and foregoing the macaroni. Health experts tell us to eat more food high in complex carbohydrates—vegetables, fruits, grains, breads, pasta and legumes.

How much? Strive for five—or more—servings of vegetables and fruits each day and six or more servings of grains and legumes.

Most people understand about fruits and vegetables. They're fairly easy to identify. Grains and legumes are a bigger challenge. Not only don't we eat enough of them, we don't even know what many of them are. You may eat rice, oatmeal and kidney beans, but have you ever heard of bulgur, amaranth or cannellini beans?

If you get to know some of the less common grains and legumes, you add variety, flavor and nutrition to your meals.

Amaranth: A staple grain of the ancient Aztecs; comes from the willow-like amaranth plant. Commonly prepared dish: pilaf.

Arborio rice: Italian rice that becomes creamy when cooked. Commonly cooked dish: risotto.

Basmati rice: Long-grain, aromatic rice grown in India, usually aged to develop flavor. Commonly prepared dish: curry.

Buckwheat groats: Kernels of the buckwheat plant. Unroasted buckwheat has more delicate flavor than roasted buckwheat. Commonly prepared dishes: unroasted—pilaf; roasted—kasha.

Bulgur: Whole wheat that's been processed, steamed and cracked. Commonly prepared dish: tabouli.

Couscous: Tiny ricelike bits made from semolina flour, traditional in the Middle East. Commonly prepared dish: pilaf.

Pearl barley: Barley with its tough hull removed. Commonly prepared dish: barley soup.

Rolled oats: Oats that have been steamed and flattened into flakes. Commonly prepared dish: oatmeal.

Quinoa: A staple of the ancient Incas, called a supergrain because of its high nutrition. Commonly prepared dish: hot cereal or pilaf.

Legumes

Black Beans: Earthy flavor, favored in South and Central America and the Caribbean.

Black-eyed peas: Robust, slightly earthy flavor. Common in southern U.S. cooking.

Cannellini beans: One of many white beans, also called white kidney beans. Popular in Italian, Greek and French cooking.

Fava beans: Earthy-flavored beans common in Mideastern, Italian, Spanish and Portuguese cooking.

Flageole: Young beans removed from the pod before maturity. Developed in France. A member of the white bean family.

Kidney beans: Full-flavored Mexican beans, available in light red and dark red.

Lima beans: Large lima beans and small lima beans (also called butter beans) are two different beans. The large ones are slightly starchy; the small ones are more buttery.

Navy beans: Mild-flavored white beans. Interchangeable with the smaller pea bean and larger Great Northern bean.

Pinto beans: Closely related to kidney beans. Earthy flavor. Commonly used in most Spanish-speaking countries.

Soybeans: Most soybeans are used in processed foods. Dried soybeans require long soaking and cooking.

Chickpeas: Also called garbanzo beans. Common in Indian and Mideastern cooking.

Split peas: Dried green peas that are split. Popular in the United States, Europe and Asia.

Lentils: Available in many varieties, including green, brown and red. Common in Indian and Mideastern cooking.

Keep Communicating With Your Various Health Professionals

By Debbie Barrow, Washenaw Extension Home Economist
Your doctors, pharmacists, nurses and other health professionals need to know about the medicines you are taking and any problems you may be having with them. Here are the things you should tell every health professional you see.

—All medicines you are taking. Tell your health professional about all the medications you take—including those you bought without a prescription and those prescribed by other doctors. Don't forget to include eye drops, vitamins or topical medications (creams or ointments). If you have borrowed or been given medicines from someone else, tell the doctor or pharmacist about those, too.

If you have been taking a medicine for a long time, it might be worth asking your doctor to evaluate how well it is working, whether you still need to take it, and if there is anything you can do to cut back or eventually stop needing the medicine. It's important that you don't stop taking the medicine on your own.

—Medical history. Tell your health professional about your medical history, including other conditions you have or have had and how they are or were treated by other doctors. He or she will also want to know about food, medicine or other allergies.

—Eating habits. You should let the doctor know if you have changed your eating habits, are consuming more or less of something. And be sure to tell the doctor about your daily coffee, tea and alcohol consumption and whether you smoke. These things may make a difference in your medicine's effectiveness.

—Dealing with your medicine. If you have trouble swallowing tablets, ask for suggestions. The liquid or a tablet that can be crushed. Do not break or crush tablets without consulting your health professional.

If you have trouble telling your medicines apart, let the doctor know. He or she may have some helpful suggestions.

—Your lifestyle. If you would like to change your medication schedule, discuss it with your doctor. He or she may have an alternative medication or a suggestion that better fits your lifestyle. For example, there may be a medication you need to take only once or twice a day instead of four times.

High School Students Preparing 'Into the Woods' for Spring Musical

As spring time closes in, over 50 hard working Chelsea High school students are busy preparing for this year's spring musical, Into the Woods by Stephen Sondheim. Performance dates are April 20, 21, 22 at 8 p.m. in the George Prinzing Auditorium at Chelsea High school.

In this challenging production, Stephen Sondheim uses mostly sung dialogues between characters. Into the Woods weaves many of the fairy tales that we have grown up with into one unforgettable story. Stories such as Little Red Riding Hood, Cinderella, Rapunzel, and Jack and the Beanstalk, along with a witch, a baker and his wife, compose this tale.

In the first act the stories unfold like the ones that you know so well, everyone lives "happily ever after."

The second act opens a few years later, and things have changed. It makes one wonder what really happened, and if all of the characters really did live "happily ever after." Throughout the show there are many interesting twists. This show is appropriate for children and adults alike.

This year's show has an incredible staff working behind the scenes, most of whom are volunteering their time from the Purple Rose. This year's staff is: director, Roxanne Kring; producer/music director, Steven P. Hinz; orchestra director, John Kennedy; set designer, T. Newell Kring; costumes, Colleen Ryan-Peters; technical director, Dan Walker; properties advisor, Danna Segrest; sound technician, Scott Marsh; publicity advisor, Kathy Finger.

This year's cast is also a very talented group. The cast consists of: Lloyd Eddy, narrator; Ryan Guenther, baker; Bekah Knight, Baker's wife; Corrie Schoenberg, witch; Tracy Dufek, Cinderella; Mike Huschke, Cinderella's prince; James Drain, steward; Aaron Batzdorfer, Cinderella's father; Ana Morrel-

The show is supported by an energetic and talented tech crew and pit orchestra.

Tickets are available at the Chelsea Pharmacy.

Community College
Discontinues Prayer
At Commencement

In order to avoid the expense of a legal battle with the American Civil Liberties Union, Washtenaw Community College will discontinue its tradition of having an invocation and benediction at its commencement exercises.

The decision to discontinue prayer at commencement was made by the college's Board of Trustees at a special meeting Feb. 28 and will be effective with the May 20 commencement ceremony. The Board has indicated, however, that it will revisit the issue if and when the courts determine the constitutionality of the practice of including prayer at such ceremonies.

Complaint Documentation Featured In WCC Building Inspection Course

Building inspectors and officials, code administrators, mechanical, plumbing and electrical inspectors, plan reviewers and architects will learn how to help State mediators resolve contractor/homeowner disputes more quickly in a one-day seminar at Washtenaw Community College April 19.

Effective Documentation for the State Complaint Process, sponsored by the WCC Construction Institute, will meet from 7-9 p.m. in the Morris Lawrence Building, formerly the Job Skills/Campus Events Building. The fee includes handouts and light refreshments.

Instructor Thomas W. Colburn, a regulation agent with the Bureau of Occupational and Professional Regulation, Michigan Department of Commerce, will identify how to resolve contractor/homeowner disputes more quickly through improved documentation and accurate reporting. Thursday, April 6, 1961—
Fifty to sixty Michigan school bus drivers tested their skill in the School Bus Driver Rodeo to be held at Ann Arbor High school. Selection had not yet been made as to which four Chelsea drivers would participate in the event. Driver proficiency was to be tested in four areas, including knowledge of the motor vehicle code, personal grooming, operational skills and pre-operational vehicle check procedures. Winners of the Ann Arbor contest would later compete against the top drivers from the Jackson area competition.

A 350-ton high speed Warco impact extrusion press arrived in Chelsea by train and was unloaded by Federal Screw Works. The press was capable of stamping out fully completed automotive parts in one operation after the die is set. It was the sixth and largest of the machines installed in the new division.

The long-familiar two-letter, five numeral system of numbering telephones will become history. The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. announced it will start to introduce All Number Calling on a progressive basis throughout its territory. Under the ANC plan, telephones will be known by all numbers, no letter of a central office name. A number such as Howard 8-2556, for example, would become 468-2556. The advantage of locating numbers more easily on the dial than letters is supposed to be more convenient to customers.

Printers Walk To Benefit March of Dimes Fund

On Sunday, April 30, printers from all over the Washtenaw county area will make the annual challenge to each other to raise the most money for the March of Dimes Walk-America.

Ten area printing companies have already accepted the challenge including the Ann Arbor News, BookCrafters, Braun-Brumfield, Cushing-Malloy, Inc., Edwards Brothers, Malloy Lithographing, McNaughton & Gunn, Inc., Thomson-Shore, Inc., University Litho-Printers and University of Michigan Printing Services.

The Printer's Challenge, also known as Step Out With the Printers, is a challenge among printers to field teams, gather pledges and raise money for the March of Dimes campaign for healthier babies. It began in 1989 as the first challenge issued in the Ann Arbor area March of Dimes Walk-America.

The printing team which collects the most money for March of Dimes wins possession of a traveling trophy. In addition, several generous supporters have donated prizes to the top pledge getter of each company's team.

Step Out With the Printers is a fun way for employees of area companies in the printing industry to help prevent birth defects—the nation's number one child health problem. If your company is interested in fielding a team for the Walk-America, please call the March of Dimes at 761-6331.

U-M Announces Local Honors Convocation Award Recipients

Some 5,400 University of Michigan (U-M) students on the Ann Arbor campus were recognized at the University's annual Honors Convocation on March 19.

A total of 6,392 awards were recognized at the convocation.

Of the total, 5,134 were Class Honors, recognizing an undergraduate academic record equal to at least half A's and half B's for two terms (one term for new students) during 1994.

In addition, 1,018 students were named James B. Angell Scholars. They have maintained an all-A record for two or more consecutive terms as undergraduates.

Also, 240 members of the freshman class received the William J. Branstrom Prize, a book of their choice. The recipients ranked in the top five percent of their class.

Some students have won more than one type of honor.

Chelsea recipients are Ward Beauchamp, Class Honor; Amy Brown, Class Honor and Branstrom Prize; Kate Dillworth, Class Honor; Stacey Gallagher, Class Honor; Steven Gaunt, Class Honor; Julia Gray-Lion, Class Honor; John Hall, Class Honor; Sarah Henry, Class Honor; Christine McLaughlin, Class Honor; Matthew Postiff, Angell Scholar and Class Honor; Rebecca Pryor, Class Honor; Shana Radcliffe, Angell Scholar and Class Honor; Tara Roehm, Angell Scholar and Class Honor; Christine Sawicki, Class Honor; David Seitz, Class Honor and Branstrom Prize; Melody vanderWaard, Class Honor; and Elizabeth Williams, Class Honor.

Dexter recipients are Daniel Berman, Angell Scholar; Shannon Brines, Class Honor; Brian Bucher, Angell Scholar and Class Honor; Laura Bullen, Angell Scholar and Class Honor; Bradford Chatigny, Class Honor; Elizabeth Collins, Angell Scholar and Class Honor; Jennifer Haig, Class Honor; Michael Kelley, Angell Scholar and Class Honor; Bruce Kiesling, Class Honor; Elizabeth Lundy, Angell Scholar and Class Honor; Nathan Redmond, Class Honor; Susan Schlee, Class Honor; Jacquelynne Walsh, Class Honor; and Hsin Wang, Class Honor.

Pinkney recipients are Stacey Fahrner, Class Honor; Steven Hixson, Angell Scholar; and Joseph Keller, Class Honor.

Grass Lake recipients are Tina Bednarski-Lynch, Class Honor; Ross Johnston, Angell Scholar; and Lydia Pelton, Class Honor.

Whitmore Lake recipients are Karen Cunningham, Class Honor and Branstrom Prize; Elizabeth Prast, Class Honor; and Jessica Ulbrich, Class Honor.

Buy a bone! No digging required!

By "buying a bone" YOU can be a part of the Exhibit Museum's mounting of Deinonychus!

Dinosaur Bone Purchase To Help with Exhibit Cost

From Alaska to Louisiana, Rogers City to Royal Oak, donations continue to arrive for the University of Michigan Exhibit Museum's buy-a-(dinosaur)-bone project.

So while museum officials put the finishing touches on Deinonychus, individuals and school classes, including students at Dexter and Chelsea school districts, are buying bones, teeth, claws and all the other skeletal parts of the meat-eating dinosaur that goes on display March 31.

More than 600 of the "buy-a-bone" sponsors, or the people for whom they sponsored a purchase, have accepted an invitation to the unveiling. All will have their names inscribed on a plaque.

As dinosaurs go, Deinonychus was small, about the size of a Michigan white-tail deer. Museum intern Angela Moggo estimates that it stood about four feet tall, was 12 feet long and weighed anywhere from 125 to 150 pounds, depending on the amount of flesh and muscle it carried.

Unlike other predators, Deinonychus' main weapon of attack was its large "terrible claw" on its second toe. Rather than bite with its teeth or slash with its front claws, Deinonychus would hold an opponent at bay with its unusually long arms and then disembowel it with kicks from its feet, said Moggo.

A sheath of fine bony rods surround the last three-quarters of the dinosaur's tail, stiffening it and helping Deinonychus' mobility when running. The stiffened tail also helped the dinosaur balance itself on one foot as it slashed its prey with the other.

While Moggo, a Frankenmuth native and 1994 U-M graduate, has recorded at least 100 donations from Ann Arbor, one gift arrived from a family in the United Kingdom and others have come from Alaska, Arizona, California and West Virginia.

Parents and grandparents are donating in their children's and grandchildren's names and many of the donor cards are clearly the work of young people, printed carefully in pencil.

At $5, teeth have been the biggest draw, but the "terrible claw" is selling well at $50.

To date, the buy-a-bone program has brought in more than $27,000. At the outset, museum officials had hoped to raise the dinosaur's purchase price of $21,000. They plan to use the extra funds to mount it and for other projects.

The U-M skeleton, the first new dinosaur to go on display for at least 30 years, said exhibit preparator John Klausmeyer, is a casting. Museums no longer use real bones for exhibits, he said, because bones are heavy, and limit a display stance to a static rather than dynamic position. Deinonychus is poised to attack.

Following the private reception on March 31, the Exhibit Museum will open to the public from 7 to 10 p.m. For more information, or to buy a bone, call (313) 747-0176.

★ Know Your (Net) Worth

With tax time coming around you might be asking yourself "What's left for me?" That's a good question and finding the answer is easier than you might think. Tax time is a good time to figure out your net worth. Your net worth is the total of all your assets minus the total of your liabilities. It's a good measure to use to figure out if you're keeping ahead of inflation and moving toward your goals. You also need to know your net worth if you plan on buying a house or applying for college financial aid.

Why do it now? Because right now you are receiving year-end statements from financial institutions and brokerages. These statements show your total value of investments. You also receive statements from your mortgage lender which shows the balance remaining on your mortgage and the interest you paid during the year. All of this type of information is needed to accurately figure your net worth.

Begin by taking a sheet of paper and folding it in half vertically. Mark the left column "Assets." This is all that you have or own right now. List your savings and checking accounts, money market accounts, certificate of deposits, bonds, annuities, life insurance (cash value), securities, home, pension, car(s), furnishings, jewelry and any money owed to you. Include any other investments you may have such as real estate or business interests. Use figures that are based on market value, meaning what your property would be worth today if you were to sell it.

Title the right hand column "Liabilities." This is what you owe others. List the balance due on your mortgage, taxes, debt (include any installment debt, such as loans), insurance premiums, credit card balances, charitable pledges and any other money you may owe to family or friends.

Add up each column and at the bottom subtract your total liabilities from your total assets. That number is your net worth.

So what do you do with that number now? Well, for starters if your assets are greater than your liabilities, you are saving more than you are spending. If not, it's time to do some budget crunching. Also keep a file on hand and place that piece of paper in it. Every year, figure your net worth to see how you're doing. Your net worth should increase if you are to move closer to your goals. If your net worth is decreasing over time, you need to take a closer look at your investments and figure out where and why you are losing value in your assets or why you have more liabilities, such as credit card debt.

Once you have at least two years of your net worth figures on file, you can figure out if you are staying ahead of inflation. You simply figure out how much your net worth increased by percentage and compare that to the rate of inflation. In 1994, the rate of inflation was 2.8 percent. That means to stay ahead of inflation, your net worth would have had to increase by more than 2.8 percent.

Many financial problems are created simply because consumers spend more than they save. Knowing your net worth will help you avoid that trap. It will also provide you with a fundamental building block to reaching both long-term and short-term goals. Once you know where your finances are now, you can take steps to reach future goals and even dreams.

Send your financial questions to: "Your Money Matters," Michigan Credit Union League, P.O. Box 5210, Detroit 48235.

Fire Prevention Codes Seminar Set April 18 at WCC

Building inspectors and officials, code administrators, mechanical, plumbing and electrical inspectors, plan reviewers and architects will get the latest updates in the 1993 BOCA Fire Prevention Code in a one-day seminar at Washtenaw Community College April 18.

The 1993 BOCA Fire Prevention Code Update seminar, sponsored by the WCC Construction Institute, will meet from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Morris Lawrence Building, formerly the Job Skills/Campus Events Building. The fee includes a copy of the BOCA Fire Prevention Code Book, handouts and refreshments. Lunch is on your own.

Instructor Robert F. Breckel, airport safety officer, Willow Run Airport, will identify the most significant differences between the 1990 and 1993 editions of the BOCA Fire Prevention Code. The program has been approved by the Michigan State Police Fire Marshal Division for six continuing education points.

Class size is limited, early registration is encouraged. For more information and fee charges, call the WCC Construction Institute at (313) 973-3533.

DAIRY PROJECT AWARD: Several dairy project members from the Rogers Corners Herdsmen 4-H club pose with the awards won by the educational exhibit they made for the 1994 Washtenaw County Youth Show. The exhibit was selected by the Washtenaw Farm Council to be entered in the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Premier

Local 4-H Club's Exhibit Wins Award

By Nancy Thelen
County Extension Director
An educational exhibit developed and made by the dairy members of the Rogers Corners Herdsmen 4-H Club recently received state-wide recognition in the fifth annual Michigan Premier Agriculture Exhibit Contest. The contest was sponsored by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and was designed to encourage a quality and educational agricultural exhibit at local fairs.

Exhibits in 1994 focused on the theme, "Agriculture Production in Your Area." The club's exhibit was titled, "When Does a Calf Become a Cow?" It discussed the five major dairy breeds in Washtenaw county, as well as the growth, management and diet of dairy cattle at different stages of development. Questions and answers about county dairy information completed the display.

The club's outstanding display was exhibited at the Washtenaw County 4-H Youth Show. It received a top award for livestock educational exhibits and was selected from all local appropriate exhibits to be the Youth Show's entry in the state-wide contest. A video tape of the exhibit was made, complete with narrations by the 4-H'ers. The tape was then submitted to the Michigan Department of Agriculture for judging. There were 18 entries from fairs across Michigan and the Youth Show's entry received honorable mention. The award included a rosette, plaque and a $100 check.

Portage Lake Level Will Be Raised Starting April 1

The water level at Portage Lake will be raised to its summer level of 851.54 feet above sea level beginning April 1, according to Janis A. Bobrin, Washtenaw county drain commissioner.

Bobrin said that each winter, the lake level is lowered to reduce frost damage and shore erosion at the lake. Homeowners in the Portage Lake area are cautioned to prepare for the raising of the lake level, which should be completed around April 8. The boat launch facility is scheduled for opening on April 15.

Dennis M. Wojcik, deputy drain commissioner, will answer inquiries and may be reached at (313) 994-2525.

Gregory Munson Awarded Graphic Arts Scholarship

Gregory Munson, a 1992 graduate of Dexter High school, has been awarded a $1,000 Ann Arbor Graphic Arts Memorial Foundation Scholarship.

He is the son of Linda and Roger Munson, 1660 S. Parker Rd., Ann Arbor.

He plans to receive a bachelor's degree in printing management from Western Michigan University in December 1996.

Manchester Student Earns Honor in State Essay Contest

Kathy Thompson had never written an essay before. That's why news that she had won the Liberal Arts Network for Development (LAND) student essay contest came as a big surprise.

Thompson (Ann Arbor), a first-year student at Washtenaw Community College, won top honors with an essay that recounts a true experience of racial intolerance. "Of Rainbows and Chop Suey" recalls the bigotry and prejudice she experienced with her daughter when she lived in Hawaii. It was the first assignment she had completed in her English composition class, and the first time she started thinking about writing.

WCC student Linda Halsey-Ames (Manchester) received an honorable mention with her poem, "A Storm of Memories." Halsey-Ames, who sees her writing as a bit rebellious, wrote the poem in the sestina style. Sestina is a complex French poetic form that turns on end words to form a unique rhythmic order. This was a departure from her usual style of free form verse that often recounts her years of experience as a Hospice worker.

LAND is a professional organization of liberal arts educators and deans from Michigan's 29 community colleges. Students from all over Michigan were eligible to compete.

Is Your Tax Refund Check in the Mail?

So far, nearly 800,000 Michigan taxpayers have received their 1994 federal tax refund, averaging about $1,100 each, said IRS district director Arlene Kay. "But many Michiganders are still checking their mailboxes."

"I encourage all those who have not yet received their refund to use our automated refund information system to find out the status of their check," she said.

Ms. Kay said that individuals may call the IRS toll-free on 1-800-829-4477 to receive information about when their federal income tax refund is scheduled to be mailed.

"Taxpayers calling our automated refund system, or Teletax, should have a copy of their tax return available when they call since they will need to know the social security numbers, filing status, and exact amount of refund expected," Ms. Kay said.

"We're working to make taxes less taxing this year, and our automated refund system should help!"

Views On Dental Health

GARY GOCHANOUR, D.D.S.

WHY DENTAL FLOSS?

Dental plaque is the primary cause of tooth decay and gum disease. A tooth brush can help remove plaque from visible surfaces but cannot remove it from between the teeth and beneath the gum line. Unwaxed floss is most often recommended to remove plaque from these hidden areas. Here's how to use it:

Cut off about 18 inches of floss and wrap the ends around the middle fingers, leaving about 2 inches between the hands. Guide it with thumbs for the top teeth and index fingers for lowers. Pass the floss gently between two teeth, sliding several times to the gum and back along the side of one tooth. Repeat the scraping on the side of the adjacent tooth and move on until all teeth are flossed.

A word of caution: Always control the floss. Try never to snap the floss suddenly between two teeth as the gums may be sensitive. Use a gentle, sawing motion. If gums bleed, you may be flossing too hard, or they may be in poor health. It makes sense to have your dentist or hygienist demonstrate the flossing method to you. It will help insure the future health of your teeth and gums.

Prepared by Custom Column Service as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: GARY GOCHANOUR, D.D.S., 3108 Baker Rd., Dexter. Phone 426-8336.

WASHTENAW AGRICULTURAL BANQUET was enjoyed by 468 persons Thursday evening in Chelsea High school. Following the dinner the group moved from the gym to the auditorium for entertainment. "Fiddlers Philharmonic," a 20-member group of musicians from Saline provided American style fiddling music, and Walt Buescher, public speaker, humorist, author provided laughs. Members of the Washtenaw County Dairy & Livestock Council in above photo are, front row, left to right, Paul Rothfuss, Charles Koenn, speaker Walt Buescher,

Walking Clinic

Scheduled for April 15

Ann Arbor Department of Parks and Recreation and Running Fit is sponsoring a free Walking Clinic on Saturday, April 15, at Gallup Park, 3000 Fuller Rd., Ann Arbor. Walkers should meet at 10 a.m.

There will be a demonstration of equipment and techniques and a drawing for prizes.

For more information, please call 662-9319. For special assistance or accommodation, call 994-2780.

EXPERT BAT MAN: Although bats conjure up negative images, they are nothing to be afraid of, according to Dr. Allen Kurta, EMU associate professor of biology and a bat researcher. According to Kurta, who will be a featured speaker during Chelsea's annual "Love Your Library Week" celebration, "Bats are not aggressive at all. They have no reason to attack; if one does, you've got a sick bat," he said. "A bat swooping close to your head probably is feeding on insects (near you)."

Batman To Appear at McKune During Love Your Library Week

Batman Allen Kurta, associate professor of Biology at Eastern Michigan University, Chelsea, area resident, and nationally recognized bat researcher, will make a presentation titled, Bats: Myth and Reality on Tuesday, April 25 at 7:30 p.m. at McKune Memorial Library. His presentation will be a part of McKune Memorial Library's annual Love Your Library Week celebration.

Kurta is well known for his extensive research on bat energetics and the ecology of the endangered Indiana bat.

Kurta's talk and slide presentation will be geared to adults. "But children are welcome to accompany adults, and I hope both the children and adults will ask lots of questions," he said.

"The emphasis of my presentation will be on bat species found in Michigan, but I also include slides of bats from Costa Rica, Trinidad, and Puerto Rico," Kurta said. "I will bring specimens. Museum specimens and not live bats—just so people can get a better feel for the bats' size and coloration," he quickly added.

From 1980 to 1987, Kurta participated in extensive field research and laboratory projects in Puerto Rico, Trinidad, and Costa Rica. "One interesting project involved determining the metabolic rate of free-ranging, harem-forming bats. Another project focused on the co-operative behavior in tent-making bats," he recalled.

Kurta also has worked in co-operation with the Michigan Department of Public Health, Department of Virology in monitoring wildlife rabies.

In January of this year, Kurta completed a revised edition of Mammals of the Great Lakes Region, a reference book first published in 1957 by William H. Burt. This book is a part of the Great Lakes Environment Series published by The University of Michigan Press.

"Over the past 38 years, knowledge of mammals has grown tremendously, and this new edition offers the most up-to-date information on the species currently living in the region," Kurta explained.

"Because the book is designed as a quick reference for teachers, students and naturalists, as well as professional biologists, it has lots of illustrations. Still it can be tucked into a backpack and carried into the field," Kurta added.

"The book introduction gives the reader information about the major characteristics of mammals and the Great Lakes ecosystem. The physical factors that affect the distribution and abundance of mammals in this area, such as surface geology, temperature, snowfall and vegetation also are included in the book," he said.

"The book also features detailed information for 83 species and describes the appearance, behavior and ecology of each mammal. All the species' accounts have accompanying photographs as well as maps showing their geographic range in the Great Lakes region and in North America," Kurta added.

As a part of his presentation.

Kurta will provide the participants with a hand-out that answers common questions about bats, including information about how to get bats out of your attic and information about the construction of bat houses. He also will provide a suggested reading list about bats and Michigan mammals in general, for those who want to know more about these interesting creatures.

Kurta began his teaching career in Michigan as a biology teacher at Berrien Springs High school. He also has served as assistant professor of biology at Nazareth College in Kalamazoo, and as a lecturer and research associate at MSU.

He holds a PhD in biology from Boston University, and completed his undergraduate and master's degrees in zoology at Michigan State University. He also completed the state requirements for secondary teaching certification in biology, general science, physical science and earth science at MSU. In addition, Kurta completed a two-month field course conducted in Central America by the University of Costa Rica.

Kurta's book, Mammals of the Great Lakes Region, is now available at McKune Library as a part of the Library's reference collection.

Love Your Library Week activities are sponsored by Friends of McKune Memorial Library. All events are free and open to the public.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Bulldog Baseball Team Prepares for New Season

Ah, the rites of Spring thoughts of a bitter winter disappear with the snow; the stirrings of animal life surround us; and dreams of many a heart, young and old alike, turn to—what else but America's game—baseball.

Of course, for most of us, baseball is not the first thing on our minds at six in the morning. That is, unless you're one of the 17 young men and a handful of coaches involved in Chelsea High school's varsity baseball program. For them, spring training starts with rigorous conditioning; repetitive instructional drills, and constant mechanics and technique analysis . . . all before most of us roll out of bed each morning.

Chelsea High gymnasium serves as the teaching ground before the team embarks on their annual week of camaraderie and baseball fine-tuning known as the Florida Spring Trip.

This will be Coach Wayne Welton's 17th season guiding the Bulldog baseball program; a program regarded by many as one of the finest in the state. Several district, regional, and Southeastern Conference trophies sit proudly in the school display case next to the program's crowning achievement: a 1991 Class B State Championship award. Coach Welton credits the young men who have been involved in the program over the years, as well as his all-volunteer coaching staff for the success of baseball at Chelsea High. "I believe anyone would be extremely hard-pressed to find a more knowledgeable and dedicated coaching staff in the state." The coaches give a great amount of their time and top-notch baseball knowledge, all for the love of the game and the joy of working with the kids.

Outfield coach Akel Marshall has been a rock-solid fixture on the Chelsea baseball scene for some 20 years, including 16 in the high school program and the last 11 as Welton's sidekick. Long-time friend and teammate Randy Brier has contributed his considerable baseball knowledge for the last eight years. Former players Todd Starkey and Rich Slater have been involved for six years, ex-Detroit Tiger pitcher Fred Holdsworth the last five, and area baseball veteran Bobby Moffett has joined the program this season.

"It's good for a player to hear a different angle on instruction than they normally might hear from me," Welton adds. "If they don't understand it from me, it might hit home when another coach has something to say about it." All of the instruction contributes to one common goal: fundamentally sound baseball.

To that end, the coaches spend time in the off-season attending coaching clinics and seminars. Even with time severely limited due to his duties as athletic director, Welton still finds time to attend, and sometimes lecture at, annual clinics of the American Baseball Coaches Association and the Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association (of which Welton is also on the Board of Directors). Welton says he often learns "new or different coaching and instructional techniques" at these clinics and may even occasionally pick up a new practice drill.

The team continues to put the batting cages, batting tees, pitching machines and practice drills to use at their early-bird indoor practices until next week's Florida trip. The Gulf Coast city of Venice annually welcomes the squad and generously donates some outstanding practice facilities.

After what you might call "cozy" van ride down, the team will spend Sunday at leisure before beginning their first outdoor practices at 7 a.m. Monday. A full week of four-to-five-hour morning practices culminates on Friday with a competitive intrasquad scrimmage.

The trip not only allows the team to get a jump on the weather that many Michigan teams are not afforded, but spending a week with your teammates in three vans and a 30-man army tent certainly does something for team unity.

This year's team features an unusual mix of talent and experience. Seven returners from last year's squad join up with four junior first-year men and an unprecedented six sophomores for what should prove to be an exciting season. "I think they'll adapt well," Welton says of the sophomores. "Even though they all played freshman ball last year, they all have strong baseball backgrounds. They've played together for several years, through little leagues and travel teams. I've seen improvement from them already in the gym, and I'm excited to see what will happen when we get outdoors."

Seniors Case McCalla and All-League pitcher Jeff Branch head a strong cast of returners which also includes senior Dirk Wales in the infield and junior centerfielder Nick Brink. Junior lefty Sam Morseau will spend much of his time on the mound tossing to senior catcher Ryan Wagner and junior Scott Colvin, who combine at the position to provide what Welton calls "some of the best catching we've had in the last several years."

Senior Jesse Pette combines with juniors Scott Hurst and David Paton to provide some outfield depth, while junior Mike Thayer should see plenty of action at third base.

Paton will also join up with sophomores Casey Wescott and Dusty White to round out the pitching duties. Other sophomores to see action will be utility man Tim Lawrence, and infielders Jason Sprawka, Lance Ching and Ashley Coy.

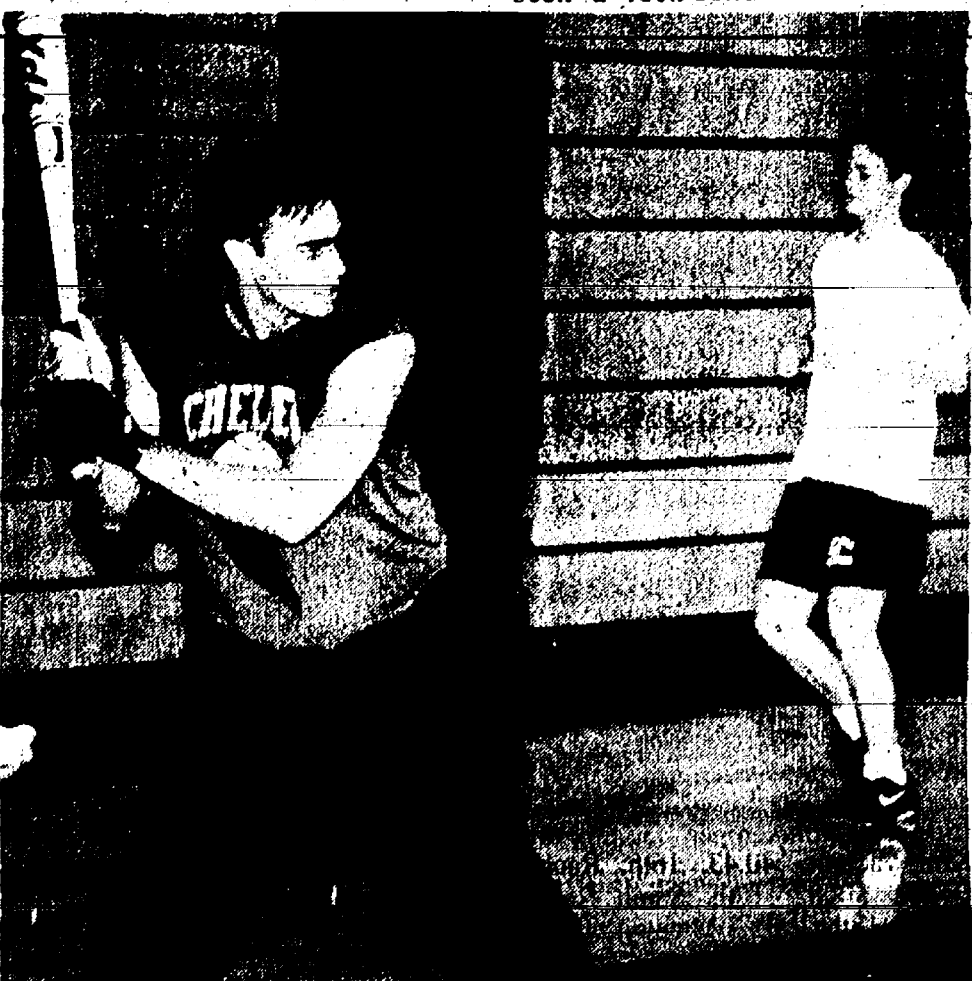

As always, the Bulldogs have a tough schedule ahead. In addition to an always competitive league schedule which includes league favorite Class A Saline, the squad will have contests against Class A schools Huron, Arbor Pioneer, Ann Arbor Huron, and Brighton. They will also host their annual tournament, the Chelsea/Manchester Invitational, and participate in the Cliff Keen Classic tourney as well as the St. Joseph Invitational late in the season leading into the Michigan State tournament.

The Dogs will have a few days to practice upon their return from Florida, then will open the season at Pioneer on Thursday, April 13 (4 p.m. game time). A great time to catch the squad in early action would be Saturday the 15th when they host their home tourney. So stop by and catch baseball the way it used to be played—for the love of the game.

TEAM ROUNDUP: The Chelsea varsity baseball team finishes up another spirited morning practice at the high school gym. The team rises early to get their practice done before school begins, and are preparing to leave Friday for Florida where they will get in a full week of work and fun in preparation for the coming season.

SWINGING AWAY in the batting cage, junior center fielder Nick Brink takes a big cut during morning practice at the high school gym. Brink is a key returner from last year's squad, and is expected to bring stability to a relatively inexperienced outfield.

JV Softball Coaches' Goal: Prepare Players For Varsity Level

Chelsea's junior varsity softball team kicks off its season at home against Fowlerville on Tuesday, April 11 at 4 p.m.

Hoping to improve on last year's combined .364 batting average, coaches Andrea Maines and Kim Eder said their main goal is always to prepare junior varsity players to play on the varsity team. "It's our No. 1 goal every year," said Maines.

The team ended last year's season with a 23-4 record.

"We're looking to have over 20 wins this season," Maines said.

Improving on "strength concentration and strategy are two goals the coaches hope to make a reality," she said.

Melissa Bycraft leads the team with being the No. 1 pitcher. Freshman Jessica Ritter will lend a helping hand at the mound.

"We have high hopes for Jessica," Maines said.

Rounding out the roster is catcher Hilarie Szczygiel, and freshman catcher Sarah Pruess.

"We're looking to the veterans to lead the team," Maines said.

Returning players are Jenny Paddock, first base; Laura Hurst, second base; and Karrie Williams, shortstop.

Three sophomores are new to the team. Two of them are sisters Shannon and Erin Longe. Shannon will play first base and the outfield. Erin will play third base. Beth Vogel will help out at second and in the outfield.

"(Freshman) Hilary Spooner will be learning shortstop," Maines said. "Katie Rickard, another freshman, will play the outfield and help out at catching."

The coaches are trying something new this year. They hope to incorporate mental aptitude, with physical quickness.

"We want the girls to be better thinkers about the game, rather than just playing the game," Maines said. "We want them to think about plays, and what they will do, before the plays happen."

squad practices in the high school gymnasium every morning before school before they leave Friday for their Florida Spring trip.

LISTENING TO EXPERIENCE: Coach Wayne Welton reminds his players of some key techniques during a drill at the varsity squad's morning practice.

Welton begins his 17th season as Chelsea's varsity baseball coach this year.

Women's Track Team Builds on Past Success, Experience in New Season

■ Lady Bulldogs have 17 returning letter winners, 18 freshmen joining ranks

Holding a 1994 8-1 record ... placing second in the Southeastern Conference (SEC) ... AND winning a third consecutive regional championship is a tough act to follow, but the girl's track team is ready to accomplish just that and more.

"We're looking to have a good season," said girl's track coach Bill Bainton.

The Lady Bulldogs track team encompasses five seniors, 10 juniors, 11 sophomores and 18 freshmen, for a total of 44 team members. There are 17 returning letter winners.

Top Athletes

Sprints: Senior Sarah Schick is a previous state qualifier. She is temporarily out with an injury. Junior Katie Spink, a 400-runner, was academic all-state in '94.

"We have a good group of freshman. The top ones currently seem to be Rachel Weirauch, who placed fourth in the 55-meter hurdles at Siena Heights indoor meet, Rachelle Skelly, Rachel Schoenberg and Shanell McWhorter," Bainton said. "Junior Laurie Schiller can run on any of the sprint relays."

Hurdles: "Senior Keri Kentala is one of the best in the SEC. Juniors Heidi Kemnitz and Jill McKinnon are strong in both the 100- and 300-meter hurdles, and freshman Cindy Richards and Emily Wineland will help," Bainton said.

Distance: Junior Melissa Hand and sophomore Jennifer Space played in the state on the 3,200-relay last year. Freshman Jeannie Spink leads a solid freshman class. Sophomore Sarah Metzler should help in the middle distances.

Jumps: Senior high jumper Courtney Thompson was a state qualifier and briefly held the school record last year.

"Behind her, we are very inexperienced," Bainton said. "Hopefuls are Chrissy Hodgson, Beth Redding and Emily Wineland. Junior Laurie Schiller, one of our top long jumpers, has high jumped some and may this year. Rounding out a very capable corps of long jumpers are Katie Spink, sophomore Erin Hack and freshman Rachelle Skelly and Shanell McWhorter. Sophomore Traci Kramer is new to the event this year."

Throws: The Bulldogs should have three discus throwers near or over 100 feet divided by seniors Courtney Thompson and Jessica Flintoft and junior Heidi Wehrwein. make this one of the team's strongest events. Wehrwein is the top shot-putter with newcomers Kay Bulman, Kim Herrst and Becca Burby showing promise.

"We're solid everywhere, no glaring weaknesses." — Bill Bainton, girl's track coach

Coaches' Outlook
The Bulldogs have an experienced, solid core and a group of talented newcomers, which should meld to make them a strong threat in the SEC. The Bulldogs only lost last year was to Pinckney, who ended Chelsea's 36-meet winning streak late last season.

"Pinckney is again the pre-season SEC favorite," Bainton said.

Coaches Bainton and Bert Kruse have 44 athletes, their largest team in several years, and feel they have top performers in every area.

"Being deeper, we may be able to run people less than sometimes in the past. That may help us as the season moves along," Bainton said. "We're solid everywhere, no glaring weaknesses."

"The solid core of returnees will also help the freshman adjust to the higher level of intensity of high school track," he said. "Also, the high school track season is somewhat longer than the middle school season. It depends on freshman adjustment."

The next scheduled meet is Thursday, April 11 at Lincoln.

Girl's Golf Team Under New Coach's Direction

Under the direction of new coach Cheryl Vogel, Chelsea's golf team hopes to improve its record from last year.

The team has been practicing indoors due to inclement weather, Vogel said.

"We got to practice outside on Thursday, but now we're indoors again," she said.

The team calls the Inverness Country Club's golf course home.

Vogel said she has four returning varsity players and three freshman players. Returning are Jessica Inwood, Erin Armstrong, Lesley Davis and Liz Holdsworth. Newcomers to the team are Meghan Williams, Beth Wagenschutz and Corinne Foytik.

Vogel said six varsity players play and the top four scores are used to determine the over-all team's score for each match.

The team is preparing for the season-opener at Brighton at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, April 12.

Chelsea faces Brighton again on Monday, April 24 at 3 p.m.; this time at home. Chelsea's other competition at that meet is Ypsilanti.

"We're optimistic about having a good season," Vogel said.

The season ends Wednesday, May 17 with an away visit at Ann Arbor Pioneer, with Saline dropping in to give both teams added competition.

Highlights of the season should be the Jefferson Invitational on Friday, April 28 at 8 a.m. and the JC Western Invitational on Friday, May 5 at 9 a.m.

Regional contests are to take place Friday, May 19. On Thursday, May 25, teams will compete to determine who will take the top seed in the Central "8" conference tournament.

The Lady Bulldogs finished sixth in the regional tournament last year, and placed seventh out of eight teams in the Central "8" Conference Finals.

Teams that make up the Central "8" are Chelsea, Ann Arbor Huron, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Ypsilanti, Brighton, Howell, Pinckney and Saline.

CHELSEA BOYS 5th Grade Travel Basketball Team just completed its season. They played in three tournaments during the season, ending with a 5-6-0 record. The skills of all the players improved throughout the season with every player having a chance to score. Members of the team are, front row,

Chelsea Aquatic Club Finishes 4th Over-all in Championships

"I am very pleased with the total team effort," said head coach John Crispin following Saturday's SMSL championship held in Chelsea. "Seventy percent of our team placed and scored at championships with 85% of the swimmers finishing with personal best times."

The 8 & Under & 9-10 swimmers competed on Saturday, March 18 at Plymouth Salem Pool. "The 8 & Under boys won their division for the third consecutive season. All 8 & Under boys who swam placed and scored. The group of 9-10 girls doubled their score from the fall championships. All five 9-10 boys scored and placed," continued Crispin.

The 13-14 and 11-12 groups competed in Chelsea on Saturday, March 25. "The 11-12 boys and girls swam outstanding and scored a whopping 377 points after they were originally projected to score only 280," said the coach.

The 13-14 girls and boys featuring Kim Grossman, Rob Frayer, and Chris Frayer swimming in their last SMSL championship helped lead the team in the grand effort to score 1,230 points. Grossman and the two Frayers closed out their SMSL career in a fine fashion," coach Crispin concluded.

Chelsea scoring was as follows.

Varsity Softball Heads To S. Carolina for Training

All work and no play sums up the varsity girl's softball team's expectations for spring break.

The girls will leave at approximately 8 p.m. Friday night, said head coach Joe Beard. They'll be taking a chartered bus and picking up a fresh driver halfway through the trip, he said. The trip will take approximately 12-14 hours.

Their final destination is Isle of Palms, South Carolina. The town is located 20-30 miles outside of Charleston, Beard said.

Beard said the team will practice Monday through Friday for about five hours each day. Mornings strictly will be for practicing and in the afternoons, the 18 girls will split up into two teams and play each other to hone their offensive and defensive skills.

Beard said the school has a deal with the Isle of Palms Recreation Department to use a few ball diamonds for the week. Beard said he expects to arrive back in town early Sunday morning, April 9.

Once back in town, the team will gear up for its first game on Tuesday, April 11 at Fowlerville. Game time is 4 p.m.

Returning players are Lisa Beard, outfield and pitcher; Martha Merkel, first base; Melissa Messner, catcher; Lori Ritter, catcher; Karey Schiller, pitcher and outfield; Charlotte Ziegler, shortstop; Nancy Pidd, third base; and

"We have the chance to win the league in the SEC." — Joe Beard, varsity softball coach

Shannon Shemansky, second base. Juniors who are new to the squad are Kyla Kentala, third base; Nikki Lang, pitcher; Danielle Long, second base; Carrie Lynch, catcher; Sarah Petty, outfield and possible pitcher; and Tina Richardson, outfielder.

The team also has some sophomore players. They are Cassie Ruhlig, catcher and outfield; Susie Steele, first base and starting outfield; and Chrissy Vargo, infield-second or third base.

"We have the chance to win the league in the SEC," Beard said. "Anything can happen with a lot of team work and hard work. The girls work well together as a team."

The team earned bragging rights as district champs for the fourth consecutive year. They also won the regional tournament last year over Allen Park, 4-3, and Monroe Catholic Central, 7-3.

"We won at least 32 games last year," Beard said. "We hope to win over 30 games this year."

Boy's Track Begins Season At Invationals

Chelsea boy's track team members got an early start in the season at the Siena Heights Invitational on March 18, and the EMU Relays Friday. Coach Pat Clarke heads up the team.

Teams that will face Chelsea include Lincoln, Manchester, Saline, Portland/Webberville, Milan, Mason, Corunna, Dexter, Tecumseh, Jackson Northwest, Pinckney and Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Highlights of the season will be the Mason Invitational and the Jackson Northwest Relay Invitational.

The regionals will take place at JC Western on Saturday, May 20.

The Southeastern Conference tournament will take place at Lincoln on Wednesday, May 24.

The Jackson Selby Classic takes place on Tuesday, May 30.

The boy's team earned bragging rights by placing third in the state meet last season. That finish was the highest outcome that any Chelsea track team has ever accomplished.

THE PULPIT is where he belongs. Dave Hendrick is the newest pastor to preach at Zion Lutheran church in Freedom township. Renovations of the church are underway and should be completed by Easter Sunday on April 16. Hendrick, who assumed the position eight weeks ago, tries to keep children involved in the church with their "own" sermons.

Zion Lutheran Church Receives New Pastor in Time for Easter Services

Position has been vacant since July 1994

"Keep it 15 minutes and under and they like it," said Zion Lutheran church's new pastor Dave Hendrick, when referring to his congregation's preference for his sermons. "I'm still getting to know the people."

Hendrick took up residence in Freedom township almost eight weeks ago to permanently fill the vacant pastor position at the church.

The position suddenly became vacant when the previous pastor, Mark Weirauch, unexpectedly suffered a massive coronary heart attack on July 16, 1994. One interim pastor filled the pulpit on Sundays until Hendrick was offered the new position.

Hendrick, ordained eight years ago at Emmanuel Lutheran in Deshler, O., previously ministered at Zion Lutheran church in Ottawa Lake, O., and the Cross of Glory Lutheran church in Detroit.

"Attendance is way up," said church secretary Susan Wylie. "People love it."

Hendrick said: "I didn't pay her to say that."

At each service, Hendrick makes sure to include the children with their "own" sermon.

"It helps to get them involved," Hendrick said. "It's the largest group of kids I've ever had at a children's sermon."

The church, in addition to receiving a new pastor, is also getting a new look. Renovations have been under way for almost a year, Hendrick said. The renovations include new carpeting, additional building space and an elevator to make the church handicap accessible.

"We hope that by April 16 (Easter Sunday), the renovations will be complete," he said.

Zion Lutheran church is the original church, declared a Michigan Historic Site, now sits next to the new one that Hendrick ministers from. Wylie said that services are conducted in the old church the last

Free Golf From Arthritis Foundation

Golf . . . Think Spring! Think Golf! They are both around the corner! The Arthritis Foundation is offering the 1995 Michigan Golfers Discount Guide with 500 rounds of free golf for a $25 donation and $3 shipping. It is a beautiful, bound, four-color coupon book listing all the public golf courses in Michigan. It lists the course address and directions to the course, telephone number, number of holes and par for the course with total yardage.

There are over 350 public golf courses throughout Michigan that are participating in offering "two for the price of one" coupons in this book. Many of the coupons can be redeemed two to four times. The coupons are valid from April to November, 1995.

Exercise is good for almost everyone! For many years, it was thought that people with arthritis should not exercise because it would damage their joints. Now, doctors know that when the arthritis is under control, people with arthritis can improve their health and fitness through exercise, without hurting their joints. Exercising for fitness is as important for people with arthritis as for anyone else.

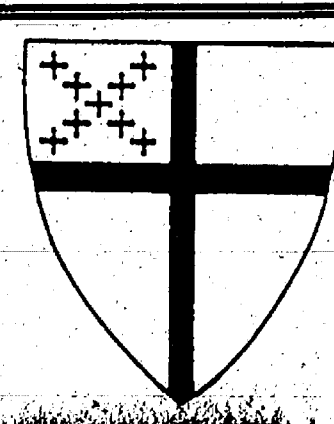

For more information about arthritis or the Golfers Discount Guide, contact the Arthritis Foundation, Michigan Chapter at 1-800-968-3030 or (810) 350-3030.

Nature Events at Metroparks Herald Arrival of Spring

Two nature events will be held at the Activity Center of Hudson Mills Metropark near Dexter.

"Needles and Cones—The (Usually) Evergreens," a walk examining the differences between spruces, pines, junipers and other evergreens and discussing the value of coniferous trees, will be held Sunday, April 2 at 1 p.m. Please meet at the Activity Center. Pre-registration is required.

"Catching the Early Birds," a three-hour birdwatching walk looking especially for those birds that have already returned north from their wintering grounds, will be held Sunday, April 2 at 8 a.m. Beginning birders welcome. Pre-registration is not required. For more information, contact Hudson Mills Metropark at (313) 426-8211 or 1-800-477-3191.

Two nature events will be held at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near Milford-Brighton.

"Beginning Birding Workshop," a three-hour program covering birding guides and binoculars and using mounts and slides to give participants a basic knowledge of bird identification, will be held Saturday, April 1 at 9 a.m. Pre-registration is required.

"Talking Frogs and Toads." If the only "Toad" you know is the character from "Wind in the Willows," you can learn about a few more species of amphibians during this program that includes slides and host outdoor session to be held Sunday, April 2 at 2 p.m.

Volleyball Tourney Rated Successful

A volleyball tournament for Washtenaw county area middle and high school students with special needs was held Friday, March 24 at Warner Gymnasium on Eastern Michigan University's campus. Nine teams competed from Ann Arbor, Chelsea, Dexter and Ypsilanti.

The double elimination competition was organized by Nancy Cooper of Chelsea High school.

All 120 participants played with great enthusiasm and fearless drive for the ball.

With many close matches, Ypsilanti High school came in first with Chelsea taking a hard-fought second place. Ron Burgess was M.V.P. for Chelsea. Clague Middle school placed third. Dexter High school came in fourth with Michael Bloom being M.V.P. Pioneer placed fifth. Beach Middle school placed sixth. Chris Moore was voted M.V.P. from Beach. The seventh place team was a combined group from Pioneer and Chelsea with Kyle McCalla of Chelsea being awarded M.V.P.

Chris Hurst of Chelsea High school officiated.

*Crisp Potato Chips Now Easy To Make

By Marcia Wood

Crisp, light-colored chips are no problem to make from "Chipeta," a newly-named potato developed by university and U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists.

Potato breeder Dennis L. Corsini of USDA's Agricultural Research Service says these chips are generally free of bruises, burnt edges or unwanted bubbles that can sometimes form in deep-frying.

All these traits add up to an ideal potato chip for consumers. At the same time, it's a plus for potato growers in the West. Chipeta plants typically yield more potatoes per acre than standard varieties of chipping potatoes like Atlantic and Norchip. What's more, the new plants require less nitrogen fertilizer than many other chipping types. That reduces the potential for polluting ground water.

Also, the new potato holds up well in cold storage. It tends not to form sugars that could caramelize during frying and make chips look burnt, explains Corsini. He's at the ARS Small Grains and Potato Germplasm Laboratory in Aberdeen, Ida.

The potato is the work of plant breeder David G. Holm at Colorado State University, who collaborated with Corsini and ARS colleague Joseph J. Pavek of the Aberdeen laboratory and Steven L. Love of the University of Idaho.

Until last year, says Corsini, Chipeta was an experimental potato. Growers and scientists in the West had tested it for some 10 years, but knew it only by its pedigree number—AC80545-1. And, for several years, some of America's largest producers of snack foods had experimented with the potato.

Pleased with the potato's performance in tests, the researchers gave it a name and made it available to other potato breeders and growers of potato seed. Today, potato farmers in six western states market Chipeta potatoes for chipping or for seed potatoes needed for next year's crop.

(Agricultural Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture)

Map, Compass Help Offered April 1

Do you have trouble reading maps or knowing which direction is North? Join park interpreter Lisa Gamero as she teaches the basics of maps and compasses at 1 p.m. April 1 at the Gerald E. Eddy Geology Center, 16345 McClure Rd., Chelsea.

Pre-registration is required for the program. Class size is limited to 20. Children under the age of 12 will need to be accompanied by an adult. The event, co-sponsored by the Waterloo Natural History Association, is free and open to the public.

A Michigan State Park Motor Vehicle Permit is required for entry into the park. A daily permit is $4, or an annual permit is $20. Permits can be purchased at the Geology Center.

For more information, call 475-3170 Tuesday through Sunday.

If the high cost of heat
leaves you cold,

take a look at a natural solution from MichCon.

Are heating bills giving your finances frostbite? Probably so, if you're using electricity, propane or fuel oil as your home's heat source. The solution? A high-efficiency gas furnace to give you more heat for your dollar.

Natural gas heat gives you a 3-to-1 price advantage over electricity. And a natural gas heating system costs half as much to install as an electric geothermal system. On average, it can take homeowners over 40 years to recapture the up-front cost of an electric geothermal system, which is longer than the system's life.

Gas appliances, like water heaters, ranges, gas grills and clothes dryers, offer long-term savings that warm your heart, too. Direct vent fireplaces with natural gas logs are up to 80% efficient and no masonry chimney is needed. Clean burning gas is also better for the environment.

To learn more about the savings of natural gas, visit MichCon, or one of the dealers listed below, during the 1995 Builders Home and Improvement Show — March 31 through April 2 at the Washtenaw Fair Council Grounds. Or call MichCon — 1-800-456-6402, ext. 5814. We'll have a solution. Naturally.

MORTGAGE SALE—Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by JOHN L. FOSKET, a single man, of Washtenaw County, Michigan, original mortgagor, to Citizens Mortgage Corporation, a Michigan corporation. Mortgage dated the 18th day of February, A.D. 1969, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, on the 20th day of February, A.D. 1969, in Liber 1277 of Washtenaw County Records, on page 355, which said mortgage was thereafter assigned to the First Savings and Loan Association of Jersey City, New Jersey, now known as Statewide Savings Bank, S.L.A., and recorded on the 9th day of June, A.D. 1969, in the office of the Register of Deeds in Liber 1290, Washtenaw County Records, on page 389, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due, at the date of this notice, for principal, interest and late charges, the sum of Six Thousand Two Hundred Eleven Dollars and Twenty-Nine Cents ($6,211.29). And no suit or proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute of the State of Michigan in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Thursday, April 13, 1995, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, local time, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale at public auction to the highest bidder, in the main lobby of the Washtenaw County Courthouse, Huron Street entrance, Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, Michigan, of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due, as aforesaid, on said mortgage, with the interest thereon at Eight and One-Half percent (8.500%) per annum and all legal costs, charges and expenses, including the attorney fees allowed by law, and also any sum or sums which may be paid by the undersigned, necessary to protect its interest in the premises, which said premises are described as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situated in the City of Ann Arbor, in the County of Washtenaw, and State of Michigan, and described as follows:

LOT 133, West Willow Unit No. 9, as recorded in Liber 133 of Plats, page(s) 33, Washtenaw County Records.

The redemption period shall be one (1) year from the date of such sale, unless determined abandoned in accordance with MCLA 600.3241a, in which case the redemption period shall be 30 days from the date of such sale.

MORTGAGE SALE—Default has been made in the terms and conditions of a certain mortgage made by JOHN W. MCCLARY and LYNN K. PETERSON, his wife, Mortgagor, to Standard Federal Bank, a federal savings bank, of Troy, Oakland County, Michigan, original mortgagor, to Citizens Mortgage Corporation, a Michigan corporation. Mortgage dated the 26th day of June, 1989, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, on August 2, 1989, in Liber 2336, on page 422, of Washtenaw County Records, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due, at the date of this notice, for principal, interest and late charges, the sum of Four Thousand Five Hundred Fifty-One and 42/100 Dollars ($4,551.42). And no suit or proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof. Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute of the State of Michigan in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Thursday, May 4, 1995, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, local time, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale at public auction to the highest bidder, in the main lobby of the Washtenaw County Courthouse, Huron Street entrance, in the City of Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, Michigan, of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due, as aforesaid, on said mortgage, with the interest thereon at Ten and One-Half percent (10.500%) per annum, which interest rate may be adjusted on April 21, 1995, as provided in the Equity Line Agreement and Disclosure Statement, and all legal costs, charges and expenses, including the attorney fees allowed by law, and also any sum or sums which may be paid by the undersigned, necessary to protect its interest in the premises, which said premises are described as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situated in the City of Ypsilanti, in the County of Washtenaw, and State of Michigan, and described as follows:

The North 58 1/2' of width of Lot Thirty-Five (35), and the West 1/2' of the abandoned alley adjacent to the East side of said lot of GILBERT'S ADDITION TO THE CITY OF YPSILANTI, Washtenaw County, Michigan, according to the plat thereof as recorded in Liber 45 of Deeds, Page 153, Washtenaw County Records.

During the six months immediately following the sale, the property may be redeemed, except that in the event that the property is determined to be abandoned pursuant to MCLA 600.3241a, the property may be redeemed during the 30 days immediately following the sale.

DEXTER TOWNSHIP
ORDINANCE NO. 15-6

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND DEXTER TOWNSHIP ORDINANCE NO. 15, THE PROHIBITION OF THE OPERATION OF MOTOR VEHICLES IN AREAS OF PUBLIC PARKS, WHICH ARE OPEN TO THE PUBLIC, TO PROVIDE FOR THE POSTING OF THE SAME AND TO PROVIDE FOR PENALTIES AND IMPOSITION OF FINES AND COSTS ON RESPONSIBLE PARTIES.

The Township of Dexter Ordains:
Section 1. Dexter Township Ordinance No. 15, as amended, which provides for the adoption of the Uniform Traffic Code, and amendments thereto, is hereby amended by the addition thereto of the following provision:

Section 5.101 No person may operate any motor vehicle within the boundaries of the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority lands, other than those areas specifically designed and constructed for public operation and parking of vehicles, provided that park employees during the performance of their duties and park patrons who are specially directed by authority personnel, may operate and park off or outside of paved areas as necessary.

Section 2. Severability. If any clause, sentence, section, paragraph, or part of this ordinance, or the application thereof to any person, firm, corporation, legal entity or circumstances, shall be for any reason adjudged by a court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or invalid, said judgment shall not affect, impair, or invalidate the remainder of this Ordinance and the application of such provision to other persons, firms, corporations, legal entities or circumstances by said judgment shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, section, paragraph, or part of this Ordinance thereof directly involved in the case or controversy in which said judgment shall have been rendered and to the person, firm, corporation, legal entity or circumstances then and there involved. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent of this body that the Ordinance would have been adopted had such invalid or unconstitutional provisions not have been included in this Ordinance.

Section 3. Repeal. All other Ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this Ordinance are, to the extent of such inconsistencies, hereby repealed.

Section 4. Savings Clause. The balance of the Dexter Township Ordinance No. 15, as amended, shall remain in full force and effect. The repeal provided herein shall not abrogate or affect any offense or act committed or done, or any penalty or forfeiture incurred, or any pending fee, assessments, litigation or prosecution of any right established, occurring prior to the effective date hereof.

Section 5. Penalty. Any person, corporation, partnership or any other legal entity who fails to comply with any of the provisions of Ordinance No. 15, as amended, or any of the regulations adopted or notices posted in pursuance thereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, may be fined not more than five-hundred ($500.00) dollars or imprisoned not more than ninety (90) days or both, upon the discretion of the court. Every act or violation and every day upon which a violation occurs shall be considered a separate offense.

Section 6. Publication and Effective Date. The Township Clerk shall cause this Ordinance to be published in the manner required by law. This Ordinance is declared to be an emergency ordinance and shall be effective as of the date of the publication.

The Township of Dexter Ordains:
Section 1. Dexter Township Ordinance No. 16, as amended, which governs the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority parks and lands, is amended as follows:

A. Section 8, E; Ordinance No. 16 is amended by the addition thereto of the following highlighted language and to read as follows:
"No person shall consume any alcoholic beverage on Authority lands except in the picnic areas and the golf course and related areas."

B. Section 14, B, 1; Ordinance No. 16 is amended by the addition of the following highlighted language, and to read as follows:
Intentionally expose the male or female buttocks or genital areas, or the female breasts, either openly or by wearing beach attire calculated to expose such areas."

C. Section 14, B; Ordinance No. 16 is amended by the addition of the following sub-section 3:
3-Use a skateboard, roller-skate, inline-skates, Frisbee, football, soccerball, or other game equipment within the boundaries of Authority lands in any area where use of such equipment is prohibited by posted notices."

D. Section 16, B; Ordinance No. 16 is amended by the addition of the following sub-section B:
B. "No person shall operate any motor vehicle within the boundaries of the Authority lands other than those areas specifically designed and constructed for public operation and parking of vehicles, provided that park employees during the performance of their duties, and park patrons who are specially directed by Authority personnel, may operate and park off or outside of paved areas as necessary."

Section 2. Severability. If any clause, sentence, section, paragraph, or part of this ordinance, or the application thereof to any person, firm, corporation, legal entity or circumstances, shall be for any reason adjudged by a court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or invalid, said judgment shall not affect, impair, or invalidate the remainder of this Ordinance and the application of such provision to other persons, firms, corporations, legal entities or circumstances by said judgment shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, section, paragraph, or part of this Ordinance thereof directly involved in the case or controversy in which said judgment shall have been rendered and to the person, firm, corporation, legal entity or circumstances then and there involved. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent of this body that the Ordinance would have been adopted had such invalid or unconstitutional provisions not have been included in this Ordinance.

Section 3. Repeal. All other Ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this Ordinance are, to the extent of such inconsistencies, hereby repealed.

Section 4. Savings Clause. The balance of the Dexter Township Ordinance No. 16, as amended, except as herein or heretofore amended, shall remain in full force and effect. The repeal provided herein shall not abrogate or affect any offense or act committed or done, or any penalty or forfeiture incurred, or any pending fee, assessments, litigation or prosecution of any right established, occurring prior to the effective date hereof.

Section 5. Penalty. Any person, corporation, partnership or any other legal entity who fails to comply with any of the provisions of Ordinance No. 16, as amended, or any of the regulations adopted or notices posted in pursuance thereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, may be fined not more than five-hundred ($500.00) dollars or imprisoned not more than ninety (90) days or both, upon the discretion of the court. Dr. Rode emphasizes high quality care, a friendly, attentive atmosphere, and outstanding service.

The Chelsea Animal Hospital is located at 1475 S. Main St., Chelsea.

The clinic will keep the following hours, scheduling visits by appointment: Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Saturday, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Paula Rode received her veterinary training at Michigan State University, where in 1988 she won an award from the Association of Feline Veterinarians for excellence in feline medicine. She has since

PATSY STOLLSTEIMER, a quality control inspector at Federal Screw Works, retired Friday, March 24 after 10 years on the job. Adding their best wishes to her were, from left, Fred Hoffman, plant manager; Jeff Harness, general manager, presenting a framed plaque and gold wrist watch to Stollsteimer; Rich Stewart, UAW Local 437 vice-chairman presenting the Local's gift of a bible; and Mark Bohlman, quality manager and Stollsteimer's supervisor. She will continue living in Saline and says she has "no immediate plans for any extended travels."

No Crime Reported Last Week-end

Last week-end was slow for crime fighters in Chelsea.

No criminal police reports were filed throughout the week-end at the police station located on Middle St.

Chelsea Police Chief Lenard

McDougall said this is the first week-end in a long time that crime has been this minimal.

Police officers said they and McDougall were surprised at the week-end's low crime rate.

State Park Reservations Halted for System Change

Good things come to those who wait—like campsites at Michigan State Parks. Reservations at Michigan State Park campgrounds will not be accepted until April 17, when a new centralized reservation system will provide "one-stop shopping" for Michigan State Park campers.

Campers will be able to use a toll-free number to reserve campsites at 90 campgrounds in the Michigan State Park system. Once this toll-free number is installed, campsite reservations will no longer be taken at individual state parks.

The temporary moratorium on campsite reservations is necessary so that reservation forms taken prior to March 13, can be entered into the new system. Reservations mailed to state parks will be returned to the sender after this date.

"We apologize to our loyal state-park visitors for any inconvenience caused during this moratorium," O.J. Scherschligt, chief of the Department of Natural Resources Parks and Recreation Division said. "When the new system goes on-line, we plan to fulfill our promise of providing a convenient, efficient service to assist you with all of your vacation plans."

Campers should not be concerned about losing a site at a state park during the moratorium, as other campers will not be able to make reservations during this time.

New Travel Guide, Calendar of Events Is Now Available

Make plans for your Michigan summer getaway now with the new 1995 Michigan Summer Travel Guide and Calendar of Events, available now from the Michigan Travel Bureau.

Travelers will find more than 1,100 events listed in the 64-page booklet—including the performing visual arts, festivals paying tribute to everything from bass to bluegrass, parades, arts and crafts fairs, fishing tournaments, sailing and powerboat races, classic car shows and county fairs.

The guide also includes a listing of Michigan state parks, a page of general travel tips, and a section listing additional sources of Michigan travel information.

For a free copy of the Michigan Summer Travel Guide & Calendar of Events, write the Michigan Travel Bureau at P.O. Box 3393, Livonia 48151-3393; or call toll-free (800) 5432-YES, from anywhere in the United States and Canada. Travel advisors are available 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, to assist travelers in planning their vacations or week-end getaways.

Effective April 1, travelers may call (800) 644-8644, in the U.S. and Canada, for a recorded Michigan summer activities and events report, updated weekly.

Michigan Housing Starts for January Up Over Last Year

Michigan 1995 Housing Project starts were up 4.0% over 1994; however, they were down 14.5% from December. Michigan January unit starts were up 3.4% over December indicating that multifamily activity increased.

"1994 was an excellent year as far as home starts. We do not expect 1995 to be able to keep pace with last year. However, 1995 is off to a good start," commented Bob Woodard, president of the Michigan Association of Home Builders. "Year to date project starts are up this year over last year. This is being led by the multifamily sector, but it can also be attributed to the weather. This January wasn't nearly as harsh temperature wise as last January."

The Michigan Association of Home Builders is comprised of more than 10,000 member companies, thus providing service to over 370,000 people in the home building/construction industry. MAHB also represents 36 local home builder associations throughout the state.

Huron River Clean Up Days Slated

The City of Ann Arbor Department of Parks and Recreation is holding three Huron River Clean Up Days in April (8th, 15th, 22nd).

Volunteers are invited to help clean up debris and general eyesore areas along the river from Barton Park to Gallup Park. Bring your own canoe or use theirs.

Clean up will take place at Gallup Park Canoe Livery, 3000 Fuller Rd., from 9 a.m. to noon.

For more information or for groups wishing to sponsor their own clean up, please call 662-9319. For special assistance and accommodation, call 994-2780.

Friends ...

Do you want your children breathing air from a Medical Waste Incinerator for the next 20 years?

Do you want these waste haulers coming in from southern Michigan (Ohio and Indiana may also be included) to burn their waste in our town.

For a fistful of dollars this is what your council is considering. Tell them we are not interested in being a dumping spot for every hospital and medical center around!

Yesterday's Girl Scouts Are Today's Leaders

Debra with Brownies from Brownie Troop at Miller Elementary

"I credit my Girl Scout experience for teaching me lifelong lessons of independence, goal setting, self-confidence, perseverance, believing in myself and citizenship.

My Girl Scout experience was excellent and I attribute that to my supportive parents and wonderful leaders.

The one leader that had the greatest influence on me was Mrs. Patsie Ketterer. She believed an active Girl Scout was the best Scout. Mrs. Ketterer took our Troop on camping trips, rain or shine.

Patsie was very special because, not only was she an excellent role model but, she had overcome the handicap of having multiple sclerosis. Her positive attitude on life was reflective on her leadership abilities."

Principal, Miller Elementary School,
Huron School District, New Boston
Former Brownie, Junior and Cadette Girl Scout

Debra Krauss

Alma with girls from Junior Troop at St. Francis School, Ann Arbor

"My mother, Emma Wheeler, a community and civil rights leader, was my Brownie Leader. My sisters and I were all Brownies in the troop sponsored by St. Thomas Catholic Church in Ann Arbor.

Later, when my own daughters were in grade school, I became the Girl Scout Leader for their troop at Salem School in the South Lyon School district. I remember this experience as enjoyable.

My fondest memories are of leading their troop on camping trips. I believe this kind of experience teaches an appreciation for the outdoors and the environment.

I also believe through citizenship activities girls can develop an interest in the political process and making a difference in their communities."

Michigan State Senator, 18th Senatorial District
Former Brownie in Ann Arbor and former Girl Scout Leader

Alma Wheeler-Smith

Lucy Ann with Co-Host Dean Erskine

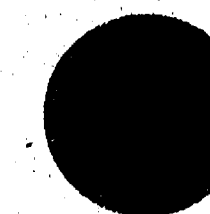

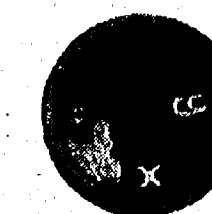

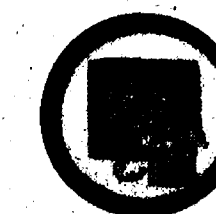

"From the moment I became a Brownie in elementary school, I learned the importance of service and participation. Whether it's visiting residents at a local nursing home or learning how to speak out through a 'letter to the Editor', the lessons learned in Girl Scouting become a framework for life. Girl Scouting is where I first learned how to speak in front of a group. The leadership skills I gained through Girl Scouting gave me the self-confidence to participate fully in my school and community, and still continue to guide me today.

Of course, I had great personal examples of this. Mom was a Girl Scout leader and Dad was an Eagle Scout. My Auntie Minnie remained active as a Girl Scout leader long after her own children had left home.

Girl Scouting has provided me with many treasured memories. In fact, my Junior Girl Scout uniform, complete with sash and badges, still has a place of honor in my closet!"

HURON VALLEY GIRL SCOUT COUNCIL

We serve over 14,000 girls in Washtenaw, Livingston, Monroe, western Oakland and western Wayne counties.

Daisy	Kindergarten
Brownie	Grades 1-3
Junior	Grades 4-6
Cadette	Grades 7-9
Senior	Grades 10-12

Locally, more than 5,000 adult volunteers give their time to help girls reach their full potential and become competent resourceful women.

Girl Scouting includes badge, patch and camping programs. Girls earn badges and patches for their proficiency and participation in age-appropriate activities designed to help build self-esteem, self-confidence, decision-making and leadership skills.

Sample badge and patch programs: communications, technology, auto maintenance, entrepreneurship, space exploration, child care and camping. Over 10,000 girls attend our Huron Valley camps each year. Girl Scouting also addresses specific contemporary issues today's girls must confront: math and science competency, child abuse, teen pregnancy, body image and suicide.

Girl Scouts interact with positive, female role models and routinely see women in positions of responsibility.

Invitation To Alumnae & Friends

Since 1912 when Girl Scouting began in the U.S.A., millions of women have been Girl Scouts.

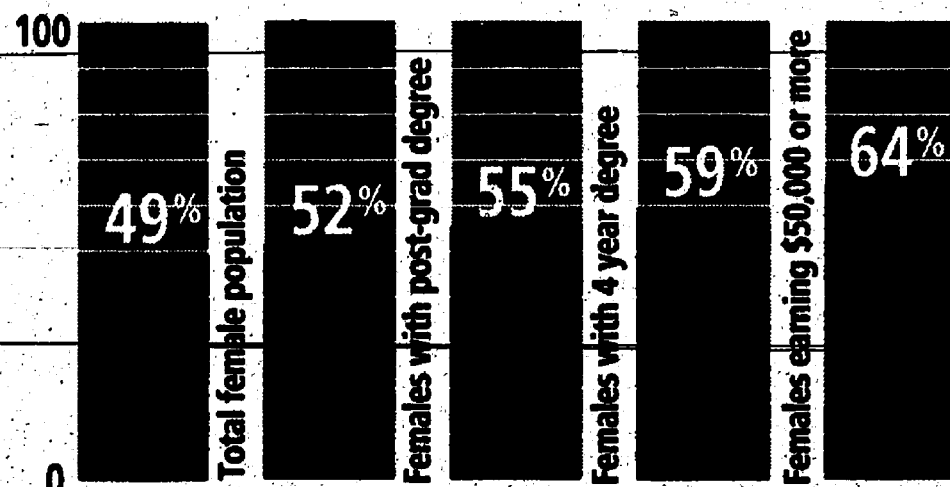

It has been shown that a strong relationship exists between the Girl Scout experience and achievement. We believe that the Girl Scout experience triggers a kind of behavior, character formation, and aspiration for leadership that is carried into adult life — indeed for the rest of a woman's life.

It is this belief that makes us both proud of our past achievement and dedicated to providing the same quality experience for girls today and into the future.

To that end, we are forming an Alumnae Society so that we may inform alumnae about Girl Scout programs and activities and involve them, to the extent that they desire, in shaping our organization to benefit future generations of women.

% Former Girl Scouts

Alumnae Society

We invite all former Girl Scouts, from any troop throughout the world, to become Charter Members of our new Alumnae Society.

The Society will be a means for alumnae to reminisce with peers about their Scouting experiences and to serve, individually and as a group, as an inspiration for current Girl Scouts.
