School Board Receives 22 Applications for Assistant Superintendent Position

□ The field of candidates will be narrowed down to six to eight applicants.

Superintendent of Schools Edward Richardson announced at Monday's school board meeting that 22 applications have been received for the assistant superintendent of schools position, which is to be vacated by Frederick A. Mills when he retires next year.

The applicants will be narrowed down between now and May 1, Richardson said. Interviews are planning to be conducted the first week of May.

"We'll probably narrow it down to six to eight applicants," he said.

Mills' retirement takes effect on June 30, 1996, marking his 30th year as an administrator and his 33rd year in the Chelsea School District.

The board of education has been searching for Mills' replacement since January. The board of education wants to make a selection by May, so the next assistant superintendent of schools can work under Mills' wing for one year before taking over the position.

A $3.5 million short-term borrowing resolution was unanimously approved, 7-0, at Monday's school board meeting. The loan is to be provided through the Michigan Municipal Bond Authority.

"There are certain months where the state doesn't pay the schools," said Superintendent of Schools Edward Richardson.

The borrowed funds are to cover operating expenses that are pending until the school receives state aid payment.

The schools borrowed $4.4 million last year to cover expenses, Richardson said.

The money will be paid back once the schools receive state aid.

Chelsea residents have the opportunity to participate in a R.E.A.D.Y. information training seminar to be held on April 26 at 7 p.m. in the school board meeting room at Chelsea High school, 500 Washington St.

The training is for anyone who is interested in becoming more acquainted with the upcoming $45 million school bond proposal. Residents will work together as teams and be able to answer questions about the proposal after completing the training process.

R.E.A.D.Y. is the key phrase that the school board is incorporating into a flyer that lists the needed improvements and technologies within the schools.

Vera Briston Receives WCC Community Service Award

Vera Briston of Chelsea has been selected to receive the Community Service Award to be presented annually by Washtenaw Community College. Briston was nominated for the award by the staff at Chelsea Community Hospital, where she has served as a volunteer for 20 years.

In her role as a volunteer at the hospital, Briston joined the fledgling Hospital Auxiliary in 1976 and is a life member. Her contributions to the Auxiliary have been many, including the initiation of the Sewing Circle, chairmanship of the Donations Committee, the Gift Shop Committee, and Bazaar and Bake Sales. Her day-to-day volunteer work is primarily in the Development and Public Relations areas of the hospital, where she annually provides leadership in getting into the mail thousands of letters, questionnaires, surveys, invitations, acknowledgments and other printed matter. She has amassed a total of 15,819 hours of volunteer service to Chelsea Community Hospital.

"We are delighted that Vera Briston's work with us has been recognized," said Bob Carr, director of development at Chelsea Community Hospital. "She is an invaluable member of our team and without her daily work with us we would be severely hard-pressed. She serves as a model for seniors who wish to spend their retirement years in useful pursuits. She is a never-ending source of humor, energy and a positive outlook on life. To those of us who work with her each day, Ms. Briston is a shining example of volunteering by an octogenarian whose vitality and wit belie her years."

The community Service Award will be presented to Ms. Briston at a ceremony on May 23 in the Towles Auditorium at Washtenaw Community College.

CHS Concert Choir Earns Top Rating

Sixty members of the Chelsea High School Concert Choir traveled to Livonia on Thursday, March 23 for a choir festival sponsored by the Michigan State Vocal Music Association. Livonia is the home of Winston Churchill High School which hosted this state-wide event.

After performing two selections, "O Sacram Convivium" by Pergolasi and "The Coolin" by Samuel Barber, the choir was judged and awarded a First Division rating over-all. The group was complimented on the level of difficulty and complexity of the music and the level of musicianship of the students.

Vocal director Steve Hinz was quite pleased with the group's performance, saying "The singers challenged themselves to perform very difficult music. They crafted an excellent performance despite pressure of their first-time at festival."

Mark your calendars now for the next public performance of the CHS Concert Choir when they will appear in an all-music concert on Thursday, May 25, at 7:30 p.m. in the Chelsea High School gym.

CHS Rehearsing Spring Musical To Open April 20

Those who are familiar with Chelsea High school music concerts, and shows know that they can expect the highest quality of artistic performance. The school's spring musical, Into the Woods, looks to match these standards of excellence. The show is scheduled to run from Thursday, April 20, through Saturday, April 22.

Into the Woods, with music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim and book by James Lapine, is a relatively new show first produced on Broadway in 1988. It combines the Grimm's Fairy Tales—Jack and the Beanstalk, Cinderella, The Baker and His Wife, Little Red Riding Hood, and Rapunzel. We even get brief glimpses of Sleeping Beauty and Snow White.

The stories unfold as the characters journey through the Woods to make their wishes come true. It's a delightful adaptation of everyone's favorite and best-known fairy tales with some pleasantly-surprising and interesting twists of plot.

Act I ends with everybody either getting their wish or getting what they had coming to them. Most live "happily ever after," at least for the moment.

Act II ventures into the future of the characters. The witty libretto by James Lapine provides ethical insight into the fairy tales that we grew up with. There are combinations of amusing comic elements with poignant and touching moments.

Producer and music director Steven P. Hinz, and director Roxy Krings are continually amazed by the strength of this year's cast. "We have never attempted any show of this complexity. The music within this show is filled with difficult melodies and quirky rhythms, yet the cast's beautiful-singing and strong-acting performances have already brought me to tears in a number of rehearsals," commented Hinz. He continued, "If you're not familiar with Into the Woods, and most people are not, you should see it and add it to your list of favorites."

Rehearsals for Into the Woods were on hiatus over the Spring Break; but the technical crew was hard at work, under the technical direction of Dan Walker with scenic design by T. Newell Krings. The rest of the cast returned to rehearsal on Tuesday, April 11, rested and ready to prepare the final details of the show.

As production week rapidly approaches, the cast, technical crew, orchestra, and directors feverishly prepare the numerous tasks required to perform a show of this magnitude.

Wednesday, April 10, 1991—

Sylvan township passed a $447,319 budget for 1991-92. The township, which no longer has a formal annual meeting, passed the budget at their April 2 regular board meeting. The previous year's budget was $359,000. Total assessed value of township property rose $20 million, said supervisor Don Schoenberg.

The village and surrounding townships have still not figured out how they will share the costs of cleaning up any groundwater pollution at the village landfill, village president Richard Steele said Saturday. Steele and other representatives of the village were scheduled to meet Monday night with representatives of Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon and Dexter townships about the matter. Steele said several options have been discussed, but would not elaborate.

Chelsea Meadows development in Lima township was granted zoning change for a 10-acre parcel that will allow developers to construct three homes rather than one on the site. The township board followed the planning commission's recommendation to change the zoning at their regular April 1 meeting.

Five candidates for the Chelsea Village manager's job have been interviewed but no finalists have been selected, according to village president Richard Steele. Two local candidates included village trustee Jack Myers, who works for the University of Michigan, and village resident Steven Pugsley, zoning administrator for Hamburg township, Steele said.

"Shoe Man," an original comedy by Jeff Daniels, will begin performances Thursday, April 25 at the Purple Rose Theatre Company.

Compared to the problem Cheryl Davis has addressed before, her position as the Chelsea School District's first full-time substance abuse prevention and mental health counselor may seem tame. Davis, a New Boston resident with a master's degree in social work from Wayne State University, was hired by the district in February. She has worked in methadone programs for heroin addicts in a rehabilitation hospital, where cocaine addicts with brain aneurysms were taken, and in devising substance abuse programs for teen-age boy prisoners. They're sides of humanity rarely seen in a rural community like Chelsea.

Nancy Heller, the 18-year-old daughter of Robert and Elsie Heller, has been selected as a state finalist in the 1981 Michigan National Teenager pageant to be held at the Plymouth Hilton Inn, May 1-3.

In co-operation with the Chelsea Recreation Department, the Chelsea Aquatic Club will present a Stroke Clinic-Swim Club beginning Monday, April 27. This is a low level competitive organization that provides advanced instruction for those persons meeting minimum requirements of being 10 years old or younger and capable of swimming one width of the pool; any stroke or if the participant is 11 years old or older, he or she must be able to swim 50 yards, non-stop, any stroke.

The Chelsea Community Choir, organized through the Adult Education program of the Chelsea Public Schools, will be giving a spring concert Monday, April 27, in the Beach Middle school cafeteria.

Modeling the clothes which they made this past winter at the Village's Country Fair will be Madonna Marzec and Cindy Giffin in the Young Miss Division with Lori Klink as alternate. Lynette Schiller and Elaine Musoff will participate in the Junior Miss Division, while Darlene Robbins, Janet Wackenhut and Mary Niehaus will model in the Senior Miss Division. Alternate will be Dianne Robbins.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES:

★ Most Americans Still Believe in America

Social commentators and media pundits all too often focus on the serious problems in this country, of which there are many. But a recent poll shows that the public still has a great deal of faith in America.

By Philip C. Clarke

In a study entitled The State of the American Dream, social scientist Dr. Frank Luntz polled Americans about the nation and their hopes and fears for the future. For example, in response to the question, "How close are you to achieving your own vision of the 'American Dream'?" Luntz reports that "just 22% of Americans believe they have already achieved it, while nearly half, or 49%, say they are closing in on it." Luntz adds that "an alarming one-quarter of the nation are either 'very far away' or believe they will never achieve their American Dream."

Notice Dr. Luntz's use of the language to paint a pessimistic picture—"just 22%" versus "an alarming 25%." In other words, he's joining the chorus of "conventional wisdom" that the American experiment is failing. But consider what the same statistics sound like with a positive view of America: More than 70% of the public say they have achieved or are close to achieving the American dream. Another 20% say it's achievable, but it's still far away. Only 6% say they never expect to achieve the American dream. Sounds a little different, doesn't it?

That this survey is tilted toward "conventional wisdom" can be seen in other data it presents. For example, Luntz asked Americans about their confidence in the country's institutions. A particularly telling response, he says, is the percentage of people who answered they had "only a little or no" confidence in our institutions. And it is telling, but maybe not in the way Luntz portrays it. Actually, only 8% said they have little or no confidence in the military. Only 25% don't have confidence in religious institutions and even with their problems, our public schools still enjoy the confidence of 60% of Americans.

Where citizens have a problem is with government and the news media. A full 60% said they have little or no confidence in government, and for the media, that figure was 64%. To Dr. Luntz, this "disturbance of government and the lack of faith in most other institutions not only is driving public pessimism and cynicism but is also undermining the American dream."

Let's consider these statistics in another light. An important reason that the military and religious institutions enjoy public confidence, while government and the media do not, may have to do with the values promoted by each of these institutions. The military stresses honor, discipline and love of country. Religious institutions promote love of God and one another. And both these institutions are conservative by nature. And they both emphasize the importance of the individual.

The government and the news media, on the other hand, tend to undermine the individual by promoting collective or socialized values. Taxes must be paid and regulations must be followed for the good of society, is the message of these institutions. But taxes and regulations can stifle the initiative of the individual. And the government spending programs, which the mainstream media tend to support, also stifle initiative and productivity, encouraging instead dependency on the government. Finally, these institutions are for the most part in the liberal camp.

Rather than revealing cynicism on the part of Americans, these numbers show a healthy skepticism of liberal institutions and a belief in conservative ones. And as the label implies, conserving the values described by the country's Founding Fathers still is a workable and popular goal.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

There's just no end to what a fellow can be exposed to during sessions at the country store. Most of it runs by like water off a duck's back, and the advance of knowledge is set back by most of what soaks in. But now and again someone comes from all the pooling of ignorance that perks up the mind and might even shed some light in dark places.

For instant, a seventh sense topped the agender Saturday night. Ed Doolittle got the floor first, and opened with a clipping that said "Americans are obsessed with a sense of hurry," and the fellows give it full attention. They know about the five regular senses, even if they've lost some of all of them, and they've heard about the sixth one they figure wimmen have a heap more of than men. But, like Bug Hookum put it, he must of complete missed the line where they were handing out hurry.

Ed explained that he learned about the sense of hurry from his old lady. They were reading one night last week when she announced she wanted to try the new icing. He ask what icing that would be better than what she uses on cakes that are the first to go at bake sales. She showed Ed a magazine piece that said space age technology has come up with icing that can be put on cakes before they cool, and that this would be a real timesaver for bakeries, caterers and ordinary homemakers.

While he was thinking this up one side and down the other, Ed said, he ran across a column where a preacher allowed that one of the problems he deals with in his counseling is impatience. The preacher said folks come to him wound tighter than a $10 watch for no better reason than they can't unwind as fast as they want to. The preacher said too many folks are in too big a hurry without being still long enough to know where they're going, not to mention why.

The plain truth, Ed declared, is that progress like icing for warm cakes is what got us in this fix. How many folks with a sense of hurry are worried sick about their jobs because their minds can't keep up with change. A homemaker won't mind waiting for her cakes to cool until she learns about the new icing. She has so much trouble keeping up with the new computer in her secretary job she's glad to put her feet up between the oven and the icing. Now she can't relax and the sense of hurry has claimed another victim, was Ed's words.

The fellows were agreed that it's our nature to want to grab more than we can reach, but Zeke Grubb took note that most of us keep our balance by finding shortcuts. Zeke read recent where makers of wimmen's clothes have figured out what to do for wimmen in too big a hurry to lose weight. They have worked a deal where the size fits, and never mind the clothes. A woman consultant to the wimmen's clothing industry said "label downsizing" is popular this spring. What was size 12 last spring now is size 10, or even eight. The consultant said "it's a feel good thing, and that's what clothes are about."

Clem Webster said there no sense of hurry in Congress. He noted it is taking its usual long Easter vacation, and for all its upheaval there's been no talk about changing its schedule of 103 days of paid vacation a year. Yours truly, Uncle Lew.

Ex-Chelsea Resident Certified as Fund Raising Executive

Ann Arbor resident M. Annette Ketner has been awarded the Certified Fund Raising Executive status by the National Association of Fund Raising Executives, the Alexandria, Va. based professional society.

Ketner passed the certification examination given in Columbus, O. in October, and was officially approved for certification by the Virginia Board in late December. Of the nation's 50,000 fund-raisers, only 3,398 are certified, less than 6.8%.

Certification can be applied for after five years of professional activity, and its award validates that the fund-raiser has an accepted level of fund-raising knowledge, has been successful in helping to raise significant sums for not-for-profit organizations, and has contributed to the advancement of fund-raising and philanthropic management.

Ketner has been active in area fund-raising for the past decade, serving for six years as annual giving officer at the Catherine McAuley Health System, and currently as fund raising manager at the National Center for Manufacturing Sciences in the Environmentally Conscious Manufacturing division. She originated the McAuley Phonathon in 1984, and the Teddy Bear campaign for pediatrics in 1985. Both programs are still active, bringing in funding from the community for the Health Center each year. At NCMS, Ketner has been responsible for various foundation grants and state awards to further the Center's educational and environmental work.

Ketner has been awarded the Jerry Huntsinger Direct Response Fund Raising Award, and the Target Award of the Direct Mail Marketing Association of Detroit. Her work has been published in Fund Raising Management Magazine, and the book "Direct Mail Fund Raising: Letters that Work" published by Plenum Press.

Ketner lived in Chelsea from 1980-1988. Both of her children, Casey and Tamey, attended Chelsea schools.

How Much Water Should You Drink?

By Debbie Barrow
Extension Home Economist

One of the questions readers of the "Berkeley Wellness Newsletter" ask is how much water they need to drink to stay healthy and what are the factors that they need to consider.

The body, under average conditions, loses about two to three quarts of fluid daily through perspiration, exhaled moisture and excretion. You need to replace this fluid to maintain the body's water balance—hence the rule of thumb about consuming the equivalent of at least eight 8-ounce glasses of water daily.

Some of the water you need comes from solid foods, especially fruits and vegetables. Some comes from other liquids you consume—juice, milk and soup—which are just as good as water.

Any change in diet—particularly an increase in protein or salt—or an increase in exercise or outdoor temperature may raise your fluid needs. Certain drugs, notably diuretics, will increase water loss, as will alcohol or caffeine, which are mild diuretics.

Dehydration can be a problem among the elderly, in part because the thirst mechanism becomes less efficient as we age.

Normally, thirst is a sign that you need more fluids. But if you're exercising or working strenuously in the heat, you can lose a quart of water in an hour. Don't wait until you're thirsty—drink before, during and after your workout.

To make sure that you're drinking enough fluids when you have a cold, check the color of your urine to make sure it's clear and pale. If it's deep yellow, you may not be drinking enough.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

A toxic waste incinerator in the Village of Chelsea?!

Why on earth would the village council consider—even for a moment—negating all of the beautification, economic, and other improvements made in and around Chelsea over the past few years?

For a Bypass? Hmmm. Seems to me that if the village adds a toxic waste incinerator to its scenery, we wouldn't exactly need a Bypass. Believe me, people will be heading away from here. Over the past two weeks I have heard many families insist that they will not share their living environment with hazardous by-products of such an incinerator with air-borne Dioxin and metal based pollutants seeping into our water supply. In other words, many of the people who make Chelsea special will leave and certainly the migration to "the country" (read: fresh air) that we've seen over that past few years will "Bypass" the village and its surrounds. This inevitably will affect property values and revenues for local businesses.

How many of us, with a choice, will allow our children to be subjected at home, at school, in the parks... to something that could potentially cause illness, reproductive problems or worse. Do we want "60 Minutes," thirty years from now, doing a piece on children who grew up in this village who were afflicted with the same illness or worse?

Perhaps, after several meetings, the village council is enjoying the unusual and considerable attention from Envirotech's corporate representatives. It would however, behoove them to start sounding out how the taxpayers feel about having a medical waste incinerator on their doorstep. The village doesn't need Envirotech's tax revenue to sustain its finances now, or in the future, to the detriment of our beautiful environment and health. If we need to we can build our own roads. Please, JUST SAY NO!

Krystn Stephens.

Truck's Window Smashed on Main St.

A female reported that her boyfriend's driver's side truck window had been smashed while it was parked unattended on Main St. on Friday, April 7.

Nothing was taken from the vehicle. The damage to the 1989 gray GMC truck was estimated at approximately $150.

Dear Editor:

It should be frightening for other businesses in the community to observe the callous, malevolent and confrontational treatment that Gelman Sciences has had to endure at the hands of community leaders, "public service" groups and the media. The Ann Arbor News, in almost tabloid like fashion, has come just short of ambush journalism tactics in its treatment of Gelman Sciences. Community leaders who once embraced the generosity and benevolence, not to mention the sound tax base of Gelman Sciences, have turned ugly and disparaging.

Gelman Sciences has been active in the communities of Ann Arbor and Scio township for well over 30 years. They employ hundreds of highly technical and skilled people. They have an honorable record of promoting activities for the public good, supporting local businesses and attempting to work with others to solve problems. I am sure the employees of Gelman Sciences have felt confusion, anguish, and anger at the unfair treatment of their company.

Instead of working with an old friend when the problem arose for Gelman Sciences, politicians, media and special interest groups jumped at the chance to sensationalize the situation and to gain exposure. The community must realize that business bashing of this type is shortsighted. It heals nothing and only serves to build barriers.

Companies can't afford to maintain a strong business presence and at the same time continually defend themselves against hyped up accusations. So many resources are wasted. Instead of becoming the benefactors of remediation, we become spectators of sensational brawling. Businesses and citizens of these communities should take heed.

We need to take our community leaders to task when they behave irresponsibly and in their own self-interest. There is little to be gained by being confrontational and sensational rather than factual. Over the years Gelman Sciences has worked hard and done much to earn our respect and trust. We should not betray an old friend.

Howard Holmes.

Dear Editor,

This is a thank you to the many, many people who signed the petitions that made the passage of the Truth-in-Sentencing and Sentencing Guidelines legislation a reality.

Governor Engler signed the Truth-in-Sentencing bills into law on June 24, 1994. Sentencing Guidelines legislation was signed into law in December of 1994, clearing the way for a committee to be established to rewrite the current guidelines. As of this date, the committee has not been formed.

Truth in Sentencing legislation will not be put into effect until the work of rewriting sentencing guidelines is complete. We are continuing to wait to see the day when violent offenders will serve their entire minimum sentences, with no time off for good behavior. As you read this letter, there are violent prisoners being released after serving only a portion of their minimum sentences. Current statistics state that 8 of 10 people will be directly impacted by acts of violent crime.

My intent to write to you was not to deliver bad news. I still consider what we accomplished together to be a major victory. I just tend to get impatient with the delays and would like to see the tie-bar that is holding up the date of Truth-in-Sentencing effectiveness be broken. You may hear more about this quest at a later date.

Senator Van Regenmorter, and crime victims rights groups, will host the annual "Crime Victims' Rights Candlelight Vigil" in Lansing on Wednesday, April 26. The program, which will be held at the State Historical Library, begins at 6 p.m., with some short statements by Senator Van Regenmorter and leaders of crime victims' rights groups. This candlelight vigil represents the 10-year anniversary of the passage of Crime Victims' Rights legislation in Michigan.

After the indoor program, weather permitting, we will congregate outside and light candles in memory of our loved ones who have lost their lives to acts of violence. This yearly event serves to acknowledge the loved ones lost to violence and to heighten public awareness of the ever increasing threat to all of us as acts of violence become more and more prevalent in our society. A new victim of violence is created every four minutes in the U.S., and murder kills 24,000 Americans a year.

Thank you for your continuing support regarding this legislation, and your personal contributions, through your own actions, to make this world a nicer, safer place to be.

Marlene Piasecki.

Keys Taken From Suspected Intoxicated Female

Chelsea police were dispatched to Village Mobil on Tuesday, April 4 for a suspicious incident involving a subject who was holding the car keys belonging to a suspected intoxicated female. The subject said he had followed the female's black Mazda on I-94, which had run three vehicles off of the road.

According to the police reports, the complainant said the female took exit 159 and pulled into Village Mobil. The subject then pulled the keys out of the female's ignition and called police.

Upon investigation, Chelsea police discovered the female had "a strong smell of intoxicants" on her breath. The officer asked the female if she had been drinking. The female started to yell at the police officer to return her car keys. She exited her vehicle unsteadily and continued to yell at the police officer.

The police officer asked the female if she had anyone to pick her up. She said she didn't. The officer transported the female to police headquarters, where she was instructed to call for a ride home. The female was unable to contact anyone and told the police officer that she was leaving the building.

Chelsea Resident Presents Senior Engineering Project

Michelle Graflund, a 1990 Chelsea High school graduate, is WMU bachelor's degree candidate

Michelle Graflund, a 1990 Chelsea High school graduate, presented a project at the 16th Conference on Senior Engineering Design projects at Western Michigan University (WMU) on April 11.

Graflund's project was entitled "Fiber- and Water-Borne Chemical Contaminants."

A shock absorbing unit for a snow plow, a geared wheelchair that goes up inclines more easily, a user-friendly camcorder, and several improvements for WMU's solar car are among projects that were presented at the conference.

The conference was held at the Bernherd Center on the WMU campus. It was sponsored by WMU's College of Engineering and Applied Sciences.

Seniors in aircraft and automotive, computer systems, electrical, industrial, mechanical, and paper engineering and in engineering technology presented the results of 82 projects they have completed to solve problems facing business and industry.

Graflund is the daughter of Norma and Steven Graflund of Chelsea. She plans to receive a bachelor's degree in paper engineering at commencement ceremonies at the end of the month.

Brian Atlee Awarded Presidential Scholarship at Cedarville College

Brian Atlee has been awarded the Presidential Scholarship at Cedarville College for the 1995-96 academic year.

"This merit-based scholarship recognizes Brian's excellent secondary school achievement and potential for high achievement in college," indicated a press release.

Brian is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Atlee of Chelsea. A graduating senior at Chelsea High school, Brian plans to pursue general studies at Cedarville. He has participated in the National Honor Society, Who's Who Among American High School Students, and the Boy Scouts Explorer program.

Cedarville College is a Baptist college of arts, sciences and professional programs. Located in southwestern Ohio, the College enrolls 2,400 students and offers over 75 academic programs. As a Christian college, Cedarville is known particularly for its open commitment to Jesus Christ, emphasis upon academic achievement, and caring, "family" environment.

Marathon Bridge Play Continues for Benefit of Hospital

On Sunday evening, April 2 the sixth meeting of the Couples (Pairs) Bridge Marathon for the benefit of the Chelsea Community Hospital was held in the Woodlands Room at the Hospital. Nine couples participated.

For the five rounds played (20 hands), the top score was 5,287, amassed by Mark and Pat Becker of Chelsea. Just 300 points behind the winning pair was the score of 4,912, giving second place to Steve and Donna Dotson of Chelsea. Lawton and Pichlik, of Chelsea and Ann Arbor, were third with a score of 3,670 for the evening's play.

Refreshments were brought by John Bohlender and June Wilson, of Chelsea. Coffee and tea were furnished by the Chelsea Hospital. Refreshments are brought by a different couple each week the group plays.

The same format will be followed for the rest of the season, using four best scores to qualify for year-end prizes in this marathon event, which takes place the first Sunday evening of each month. The group begins play at 6 p.m. so that working people may get home at a reasonable hour, usually by 9 or 9:15 p.m. Play takes place in the Woodlands Room of Chelsea Community Hospital. A donation to the Hospital of $2.75 is contributed each evening they play, and a quarter is also added to be used for prizes for the night's play. Of course, the amount given to the Hospital is tax deductible.

Mixed pairs may play, so think about a partner beginning on May 7 and give a call to Roberta Barstow (426-3887) for any further information, or just show up at 6 p.m. on May 7.

Packets Mailed For Kindergarten Registration

The kindergarten registration process for the 1995-96 school year is now underway. The dates this year for kindergarten registration and orientation are May 16-17 at North and South Elementary schools.

This year, the Washtenaw county health Department will not be testing the incoming kindergartners' vision and hearing in the spring. They will be tested for hearing and vision in the fall.

The Chelsea School District will combine the orientation and registration into one program. The program will run from 9 to 11 a.m.

Parents who are planning to enroll their child into kindergarten for the 1995-96 school year will be receiving a packet of detailed information and forms, which must be completed to enroll the child in kindergarten. If a child has not received a packet by April 18, please contact the Community Education Office at 475-9830.

Kindergarten orientation is a program to familiarize a child with the school surroundings. Children will have the opportunity to tour the school, visit the kindergarten rooms and take a school bus ride.

"This program is designed for children only," said Community Education director Jeff Rohrer. "Ten volunteer parents are needed for each school to help guide children to their stations."

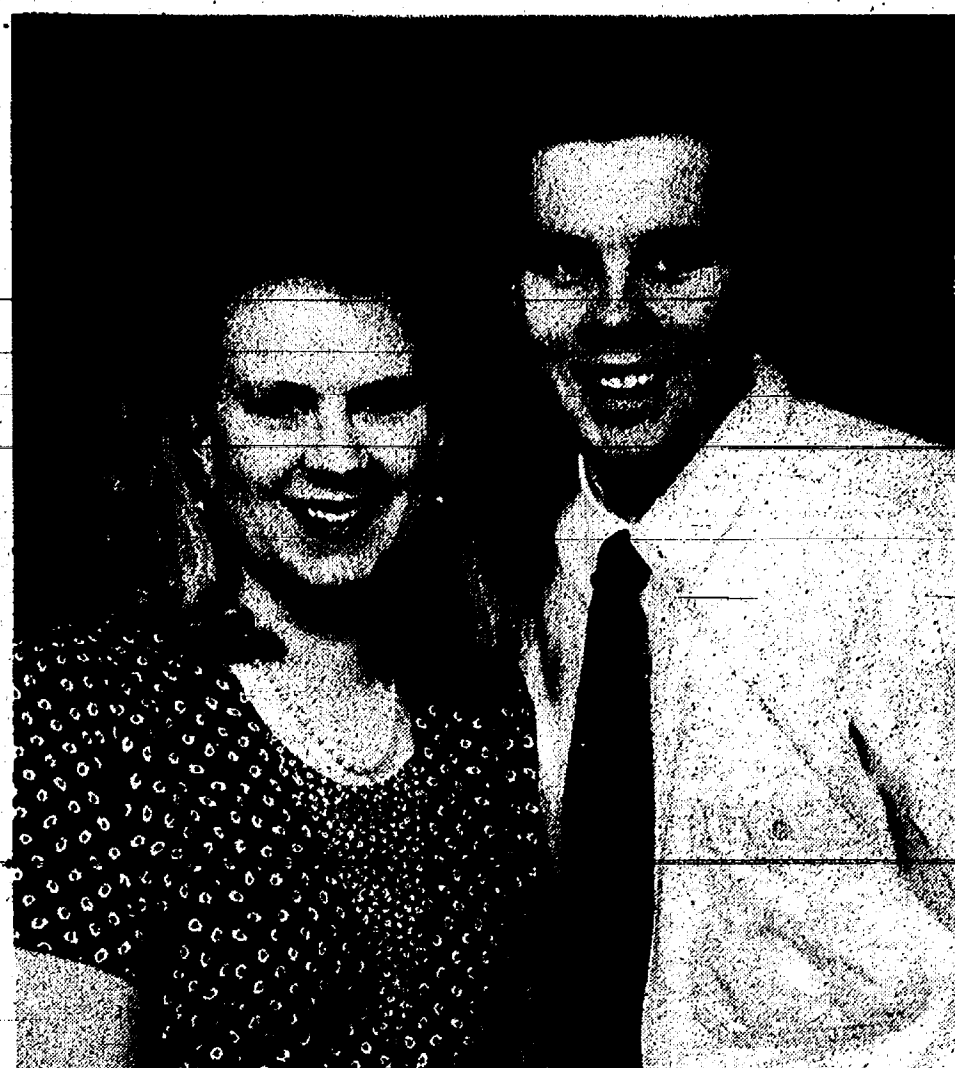

The Chelsea School District asks that parents pick up their children promptly at 11 a.m. on May 16 and 17.

Day Care Homes Assoc. To Meet

Day Care Homes Association of Washtenaw County will have a general meeting in Ann Arbor Monday, April 17, at 7:30 p.m. in Carpenter Elementary school 4250 Central Blvd.

Topic for the meeting will be Storytelling: Stories that can be told and ideas on how to do it. Local storyteller Laura Pershin gives advice so members can put more storytelling into their programs.

Call Linda at 475-6185 for further information.

ENGAGED: Kathryn Gail Giebel and Nedd Herbert Wilkens are engaged and planning a June wedding. Parents of the future bride are the Rev. Franklin and Susan Giebel of Chelsea. Parents of the future bridegroom are Douglas and Mary Wilkens of Dolton, Ill. The future bride is a graduate of Chelsea High school and Valparaiso University in Indiana, graduating with a bachelor of science degree in education. She is employed by St. Paul Lutheran school in Dolton, Ill. Her fiancé is a graduate of Luther East High school in Lansing, Ill., and the Chicago Police Academy. He is employed by the City of Orland Park, Ill., as a police officer.

Lima Extension Study Group Hears Lesson on Medicare

The normal March meeting day and time was changed this year. Eleven Lima Extension Study Group members and two guests gave up their normal buffet pot-luck and car pooled to the Emerald City on Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor. This Chinese noon buffet with its many selections was fun and enjoyable before 10 members ventured on to the Extension office for the 1:30 p.m. lesson on Medicare. Barbara Zaret from the Washtenaw Council on Aging gave this informative lesson. Many questions were asked and answered during the 1 1/2-hour class time.

Jane Schairer and Margaret Sias will host the lesson meeting on April 19, 10:30 a.m. at Lima Town Hall. Barb Wing will give the lesson, "Know Your Consumers Rights."

Members should bring their usual table service and a dish for the pot-luck luncheon.

Preserving Food Safely Means Following Guidelines

By Debbie Barrow
Extension Home Economist

It's time to start thinking about food preservation as produce will be available before we know it. Some pre-planning can help you save money in the long-run as well as ensure the safety of your canned items.

1. You must use a pressure canner for all low-acid foods.
2. If you use a dial gauge canner, you should have it tested yearly. This can be done at the County Extension office.
3. Use only approved methods and times for preparing and processing foods. Sources of information that are dated before 1988 should not be used unless you check with your Extension Home Economist. The USDA has published an updated canning guide that is available either through the MSUE office or directly from MSU.
4. Be sure and discard all jars that are nicked or chipped.
5. Only use jars that are manufactured for home canning use.
6. New lids must be used for sealing jars as used lids may not give a tight seal and food will spoil.
7. Canning tomatoes and tomato based products requires the addition of acid to ensure a safe product later.
8. It is now recommended to use lid, ring and a boiling water bath for jams and jellies.
9. When planning to use low-acid foods (such as green beans), they should never be eaten from the jar, a 10-minute boil is recommended to ensure total safety.

However, this process cannot take the place of proper canning to begin with.

Canner testing will be held by special appointment at the Washtenaw County Extension office. There will be a $2 charge for this service.

For further information or to have your gauge tested, call 313-971-0079.

Planned as a community service project, members of the Chelsea Jaycees will hold a "work-bee" Saturday afternoon at Pierce Park to clean up the area. The clean up will require all the help they can get, according to Jaycees president Dan Maroney, and anyone willing to volunteer assistance will be welcomed.

The Michigan State Highway Department has started marking land surveys for the modernization of 2.8 miles of M-52 in Washtenaw county, it was announced this week. This project will be part of the modernization of 6.4 miles of M-52 from Stockbridge in Ingham county through Jackson county to Territorial Rd., north of Chelsea in Washtenaw county.

STEVE LEEMAN, left, newest member of the Chelsea Lions Club, has been formally inducted into the club. Steve was sponsored by Dave Jachalke (right), a 13-year member of the club. The Lions currently have 1.4 million members in 160 countries.

"But now is Christ risen from the dead . . ."
—Bible, New Testament

The resurrection of Jesus Christ after his crucifixion is the basis for the Christian faith. Without His return from death, Jesus is merely another wise, understanding man . . . mortal, just like the rest of us. His resurrection is proof enough that he was indeed the Son of God, that his teachings are truth and that we may all live forever by believing in him.

Easter is the most significant Holiday on the Christian calendar. It is also the happiest because it promises us that death is not the end but merely a door through which we pass to eternal life.

We urge everyone to attend the church of their choice on Easter Sunday.

Area Senior Citizens Gather for Fellowship at Monthly Dinner

■ Area seniors meet to hear hospital speakers, occasionally see the arts and enjoy each other's company.

A traveling supper club for area senior citizens is making its mark in the world of retirees as "the place to be."

The Senior Supper Club, organized through the Senior Health Connection at Chelsea Community Hospital, is a supper held monthly at different locations in the area. About 85 to 100 seniors from Dexter, Chelsea, Manchester and Stockbridge attend by making reservations for the dinner. Dinner is catered by Chelsea Community Hospital and is usually held in the hospital's cafeteria but also travels to neighboring communities that host it.

And not only is the Senior Supper Club noted for its dinners, but also for its speakers and entertainment.

Katie Chapman, an 83-year-old Chelsea resident, has been attending the monthly dinner for at least, she says, five to six years. She goes by herself, and says she enjoys the fellowship. "When I get there, I usually know quite a few people. It's getting together with people you know."

Chapman says she also goes because of the speakers and the important information they provide seniors. In fact, Chapman has an important role in the Senior Supper Club. She is on the planning committee and helps arrange speakers for each dinner. Usually, she brings in physicians from Chelsea Community Hospital who address issues such as insomnia, blood pressure and stress management.

"I think it's good because otherwise some of these people wouldn't get out. It gives them an incentive to get out and see what other people are doing," Chapman says.

Like Chapman, many of the behind-the-scenes workers who organize the Senior Supper Club are also volunteers at Chelsea Community Hospital. In their spare time they volunteer to run the reception desk at the hospital and deliver flowers and mail.

Mary Kalmbach, also a Chelsea resident, is one of those volunteers for the hospital and Senior Supper Club. She and her husband, Richard, have been attending the monthly dinner party for the past three years. "I like the speakers and entertainment. The information you get out of it is helpful and the meal is always delicious," says the 65-year-old Kalmbach. "There is a lot of camaraderie there."

Kalmbach says she has been seeing more and more younger people attend the dinner. "More of the early retirees are coming now."

Seniors 50 years and older play Bingo and cards and are occasionally treated to such entertainment as banjo playing, vocal concerts and the performing arts. Cost is $5 with a dollar discount when the dinner falls during the month of your birthday. Chelsea Greenhouse provides complimentary carnations to birthday celebrants.

Unemployment Tax Report Filed Timely Will Avoid Penalties

When some 16,600 Michigan employers recently received their 1995 unemployment tax rate notices, they found a three percent penalty tacked onto their tax rates. But it's not too late for them to reduce or eliminate the penalty.

"Employers who have a three percent penalty on their unemployment tax rates failed to submit all of their quarterly tax reports," F. Robert Edwards, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC), said. "However, these employers have until March 1 to file those missing reports and have the penalty either reduced or eliminated."

About nine percent of the 184,000 Michigan employers who received tax notices in January were hit with a three percent penalty, because of missing unemployment tax reports. The three percent represents $285 per employee.

Until last year, an experienced employer's unemployment tax rate would have automatically jumped to 10 percent, if he or she failed to submit one or more quarterly tax reports to MESC.

"Now, we will figure the employer's tax rate based on the reports we have on hand," Edwards explained. "Then we will add a three percent penalty."

If the missing reports are submitted within 30 days after MESC determines and issues the employer's tax rate, the agency will recalculate the rate and drop the penalty.

If the reports are filed after 30 days but within one year, then MESC will:

- recalculate the rate and drop the penalty, if the employer has "good cause" for late filing, or
- recalculate the rate and reduce the penalty to two percent, if there is no good cause.

If the reports are filed after one year but within three years, then MESC will:

- recalculate the rate and add a three percent penalty.

Employers who do not file any quarterly tax reports will go to the maximum rate of 10.0 percent plus a 3.0 percent penalty.

"Under the old law, there were inequities," Edwards said. "For example, employers with few layoffs, a low tax rate and missing tax reports could have their rate bumped up to 10 percent. Meanwhile, employers with many layoffs, a high tax rate of 10 percent and missing reports would not be subject to any rate increase."

Most Michigan employers must submit a quarterly report to MESC reporting their total and taxable wages paid during the previous quarter. Along with the report, they must also include their quarterly tax payment, which is based on multiplying their tax rate by the taxable wages paid during the quarter.

An employer's tax rate can range from 0.5 to 10.0 percent. The taxes are paid on the first $9,500 of each employee's wages. The total tax can range from $47.50 to $950 per worker, depending on the tax rate.

Health insurance costs for employees with alcohol problems are about twice those of other employees.

Tom Poulter Returns As Linebacker for Navy Football

Nearly 150 candidates answered the whistle when new Navy football coach Charlie Weatherbie opened his first spring practice at Navy last Saturday at 9 a.m. Among them was Chelsea resident Tom Poulter. Playing linebacker, Poulter is a junior and returning letterwinner.

Weatherbie and his new staff will have 28 returning lettermen on hand, including 16 starters from a year ago when the Midshipmen finished 3-8. Of the starters, seven return on offense, seven return on defense and there are two specialists back.

Weatherbie doesn't hesitate when asked about his goals for the spring practices.

"Install a new system offensively and defensively and with the kicking game, find players to fit the system, have fun playing the game, and gain a winning attitude," he said.

A big priority will be to find someone to run the new offense. It is labeled a spread offense and incorporates a triple option philosophy. Thus, Weatherbie is looking for a quarterback capable of running and throwing, a pair of slotbacks, and only one running back.

Polo Fields Golf Club Signs Top Professional

Polo Fields Golf & Country Club in Ann Arbor has announced that PGA-certified Barry Redmond, will be the club's Head Professional. Redmond, regarded as one of the state's premier playing professionals makes the move from the exclusive Franklin Hills Country Club in Franklin, where he was that club's Assistant Professional. Other clubs that Redmond has served include: Detroit Golf Club, Warwick Hills Golf and Country Club in Grand Blanc, Silver Lake Country Club in Rockford, Orchard Lake C.C., Schuss Mountain Golf Club and Garland Golf Club.

Polo Fields is a private golf course community and country club in Scio township, just west of Ann Arbor. The club's 6,800 yard championship course is scheduled to open June 1. Designed by Ann Arbor native and renowned course architect, William Newcomb, the course features a "links style" Scottish posture with rolling moguls, white sand bunkers, bent grass tees, fairways and greens, and over 70 tee placements.

Long heralded as perhaps Michigan's most prolific playing professional, Barry Redmond has enjoyed success through his many accomplishments as a club professional and a competing player. He has won over 10 sanctioned tournaments in the last seven years and finished second in another five tournaments. In 1992 he was named the Michigan PGA Player of the Year. Redmond has also competed on the prestigious Hogan Tour and played in four Buick Open tournaments.

At 35, Redmond is one of the youngest teaching Head Professionals in Michigan. Says Redmond, "My goals at The Polo Fields are to establish this club as one of the State's best. With the commitment of Craig Kilmer the developer and the staff that we've assembled, the foundation is already there to begin to accomplish that goal." The Polo Fields is currently building a lavish 36,000 square foot clubhouse complete with pro shop, locker room facilities, grill room/lounge, and a 350-seat formal dining room which is also available for receptions.

Adjacent to the clubhouse are practice facilities including a large putting green and driving range. The Polo Fields offers a variety of membership plans for singles, couples, families and corporation. Monthly dues are comparatively low and there are no assessments or food and beverage minimums. The clubhouse is scheduled to open in August or early September of this year.

"One of the major factors in making my decision to come to The Polo Fields was the dedication to quality by everyone involved. As soon as I saw the concrete cart paths and the renderings of the clubhouse I knew that something special was being done out here and I wanted to be a part of it," says Redmond. "This course will be challenging to players of every caliber. Its overall beauty can only be appreciated by seeing it in person. 'I'm really looking forward to developing the club progressively and providing the best service to our members.'"

Polo Fields also offers single family homes starting from the $260's. Developer, Craig Kilmer has recruited seven of southeast Michigan's top custom builders to serve home buyers needs. With over 350 sprawling acres, The Polo Fields has kept in touch with nature by preserving the wetlands and dense foliage, which embellish the rural feel of the development. Earlier this year, The Polo Fields joined the Audubon Cooperative Sanctuary System (ACSS), a national program design to help landowners preserve and enhance the environment quality of their property.

By joining and participating in the ACSS, The Polo Fields will be involved in projects that enhance habitat for wildlife on the golf course and preserve natural resources for the benefit of the local community. These projects may include: placing nesting boxes for cavity-nesting birds such as bluebirds and swallows, utilizing integrated pest management techniques, conserving water, and maintaining food and cover for wildlife.

GARY GOCHANOUR, D.D.S.

SETTING THE FACTS STRAIGHT

It is not a "fact of life" that several or all of the permanent teeth have to be lost as we grow older. Except for accidents or malformations, teeth are lost as a consequence of decay or periodontal (gum and bone) disease—conditions which can be prevented or arrested by timely and proper care. The primary cause of loss of teeth is neglect!

A toothache that "goes away by itself" does not mean that the tooth has recovered from whatever affected it. Pain is a warning signal that something is wrong and that no time should be lost in consulting a dentist.

Fillings do not weaken teeth! The truth is that unfilled cavities weaken teeth, and if neglected lead to loss of a tooth which timely filling could have completely prevented.

Drinking lots of milk does not prevent tooth decay. Milk is the richest dietary source of calcium, needed for teeth and bone-building, and an excellent food. But milk cannot arrest the process of tooth decay or prevent its inception.

Prepared by Custom Column Service as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of GARY GOCHANOUR, D.D.S., 3108 Baker Rd., Dexter. Phone 426-8336.

Your Money Matters

by Michael Kelly

★ New Car Buying—The Smart Way

Decisions, decisions. What kind of car should you buy? What color? How big should the engine be?

First you should decide what you want this car to do for you. How many people will it have to carry regularly? Do you prefer front wheel drive? Create a checklist that outlines what you need and want in a vehicle.

An important question to ask yourself is: How much can I afford to spend? A basic rule is to add up all your monthly installment payments, plus rent or mortgage. Keep in mind other things that will cost money while you own the car like an extended warranty, fuel, insurance, maintenance. If you need to take out a loan to finance the car, do some calculations to see how large a monthly payment you can afford? The combined total of all your debt payment shouldn't be more than 40% of your monthly take-home pay.

Do some preliminary searching to see what meets your needs and budget. Where you buy does make a difference. If you buy from a dealer, you will probably have better recourse if something goes wrong than if you buy from a private party. Private sales are almost never regulated and your risk is greater. Insist on seeing a car's maintenance records. If asking too many questions kills the deal, you're probably better off finding another one anyway.

Dealer-provided financing is almost always more costly than financing from your bank or credit union. If you've negotiated the cost of the car, don't give up your price advantage by not comparing financing rates.

Make certain you're paying only simple interest. That means computed daily rather than calculated up front. That way you pay interest only on the outstanding balance. Also be realistic about the loan term. Your monthly payment will buy more car if you extend the term of your loan, but you'll pay more money in interest over the term of the loan. Usually the longer the loan, the higher the rate charged also.

Once you've got your car, there are ways to cut expenses by saving on your car insurance.

- Accepting a higher deductible can lower the cost of your insurance.
- A good driving record will keep your rates down.

If you drive very little, you may qualify for a low-mileage rate.

- Check out multi-car discounts that are available if you insure several cars in the same household.

- Having anti-theft devices installed in your car could qualify you for premium discounts.

- Having airbags and using your safety belt, may qualify you for a discount.

- Older cars don't really need the physical damage coverage.

- Consider insurance prices before buying your car. Sports cars, luxury models and cars that damage easily have a higher premium.

Now that you've taken everything into consideration, car buying can really be an exciting experience. Buckle up and enjoy your new car.

Farm Credit Services, FLCA Elects Directors

Farm Credit Services of Southeastern Michigan, which includes the Farm Credit Services of Southeastern Michigan, FLCA and Production Credit Association of Southeastern Michigan, held director elections as part of their annual meeting.

The annual meeting was held in two sessions, the first at Adrian College on March 27, and the second at the Quality Inn & Convention Center in Coldwater on March 28. A total of 395 farm stockholders and guests attended.

Elected to the PCA Board were the following two men.

William Stutzman of Lenawee county, Blissfield, was elected to a three-year term representing Lenawee and Monroe counties. Bill, together with his brothers, owns and operates Stutzman Farms, Inc., and Farm Resource Management. Both corporations are cash crop enterprises owning 1,400 acres and renting an additional 1,000 acres. Primary crops produced are corn, soybeans, and wheat. He has been a FCS member for 23 years.

Gary Weidmayer of Washtenaw county, Manchester, was elected to a three-year term representing Wayne and Washtenaw counties. He owns and operates a dairy farm consisting of 650 acres of crops, 95 Holstein cows, and feeds out Holstein steers. He has been a FCS member for 12 years.

Others serving on the PCA Board of Directors are Bernard Friend of Coldwater representing Hillsdale and Branch counties; Jill Sears of Horton representing Jackson and Calhoun counties; and Michael Van Gordon of Monroe, appointed director position.

Elected to the FLCA Board were the following two men.

Donald Baldus of Washtenaw county, Dexter, was elected to a three-year term representing Wayne and Washtenaw counties. Don farms in partnership with his step-son John Heller, a centennial farm operation including 1,200 acres of cash crops, and feeds beef cattle. He has been a FCS member for 28 years.

Fred Feight of Lenawee county, Tecumseh, was elected to a three-year term representing Lenawee and Monroe counties. He operates a dairy, cash crop and vegetable operation. Dairy enterprise consists of 160 head of Holstein cows (75% registered) and replacement stock. Feeds raised steers. Operates 2,700 acres growing corn, soybeans, wheat, hay, tomatoes, and carrots. He has been a FCS member for 14 years.

Others serving on the FLCA board of directors are Dennis Anderson of Homer, representing Jackson and Calhoun counties; Annette Magda of Hanover, representing Hillsdale and Branch counties; Roger Gravengood of Adrian, appointed director.

Other activities at the meeting included the report of operations by the FCS president, and director's report by Michael Van Gordon, FLCA director. The speaker of both meetings was Ralph Hood.

The Board of Directors sets local policy and direction for the delivery of short, intermediate, and long term credit and financially related services provided to farmers in Southeastern Michigan. Association offices are located in Adrian, Ann Arbor, Monroe, Concord, and Hillsdale.

The Links Golf Course Ready for Opening Near Whitmore Lake

Washtenaw county's newest and perhaps most scenic golf course has announced its Grand Opening for Thursday, April 20. The Links At Whitmore Lake is a joint effort of Walled Lake based Polo Development, Larry Magdell of Property Management, and golf course architect, William Newcomb.

Polo Development is a developer of private golf course communities and private country clubs. Current projects include The Polo Fields of Ann Arbor, Louisville, Ky. and Knoxville, Tenn.

The 18-hole public course reflects the traditional Scottish "Links Style" that Newcomb has become noted for, and is prevalent in his other course designs throughout North America.

The Links is nestled among dense woods, sloping meadows and preserved wetlands. Several holes reflect the inspiration and beauty of some of northern Michigan's most popular resort courses, many of which Newcomb designed.

The Links At Whitmore Lake offers a variety of tee placements to challenge golfers of every caliber. On-site features include a full service clubhouse, pro shop, a dining room with seating for 150 guests, practice green and driving range. The facilities are available for receptions and outings. Leagues are currently forming and discounted rates are available for seniors.

PGA certified Mark Zelanzy is the Head Professional at The Links. Mark was previously the Head Professional at Bay Pointe Country Club in West Bloomfield. Lessons are available by appointment.

The Links At Whitmore Lake is located at 1111 Six Mile Rd., one mile east of US-23, between Whitmore Lake and Ann Arbor. For more information or to make tee times, call the clubhouse at 313-449-GOLF.

What About Chili Peppers?

By Debbie Barrow
Extension Home Economist

Have you ever swallowed a mouthful of red-hot food and wondered if food that scorches your mucous membranes can possibly be good for you or your stomach lining? Do you get heartburn after a spicy meal? Does very spicy food cause ulcers or cancer, help you lose weight, lower cholesterol, thin your blood, warm you up in winter and cool you down in summer? Read on.

The fruits of the genus Capsicum include sweet bell peppers as well as hot chili. All contain capsaicin, the chemical that provides the "heat," but bell peppers contain comparatively little.

As many as one fourth of the people in the world eat hot peppers daily. Chilies may be the oldest known spice of all—they've turned up in archeological sites in Mexico dating to 7000 B.C. as well as in ancient Peru and Iraq. In addition to being eaten, today they're also used in anti-dog and anti-mugger sprays.

There are five kinds of capsaicin with differing effects on the mouth. Capsaicin causes watery eyes, a runny nose, sweating and burning, and the thirst you experience when you eat hot food. The chemical stimulates pain receptors all along the digestive tract. But capsaicin not only stimulates pain receptors, it also appears to block transmission of some "pain" signals. This might explain why people get accustomed to hot foods and can tolerate increasingly hotter dishes.

Chilies are rich in vitamin C. They contain nine times more than tomatoes (by weight). But you would have to eat half a chili pepper a day to get a significant amount. One health bonus is that chilies help make up for the absence of fat and salt in food.

What about the health effects of capsaicin?

Weight loss. Even though chilies can make you sweat and may raise your metabolic rate briefly, there's no evidence they help you take off weight.

Indigestion, ulcers, hemorrhoids. It's never been demonstrated that chili consumption damages the stomach lining, causes ulcers or hemorrhoids, or interferes with the healing of ulcers or hemorrhoids. You may get heartburn or feel uncomfortable after a spicy meal, which may cause a restless night. If this happens, go back to milder foods. It doesn't mean that you've suffered permanent damage.

Cancer. A recent study in Mexico claimed to find a link between high chili consumption and stomach cancer. Another in Bombay suggested a link between high consumption and oral cancer. Other researchers think that because of the vitamin C and other antioxidants they contain, chilies might actually be protective against cancer.

Blood cholesterol and blood clotting. There's no scientific reason to think that chilies lower blood cholesterol. They decrease clotting, however.

Warm you up, cool you down. Eating chilies creates a sensation of warmth, which makes curry sound tempting on a wintry night. But hot foods increase perspiration, which may be why they are particularly popular in hot climates.

Topical pain relief. Over-the-counter creams containing capsaicin can block pain perception and have been found to successfully treat the pain of rheumatoid arthritis, osteoarthritis and shingles. They work by interfering with the transmission of the pain impulse and as a counterirritant, the same way liniments work.

Tips for cooks. When handling hot peppers, it's a good idea to wear rubber or plastic gloves. Keep chilies away from cuts or abrasions and never touch your face as you work—capsaicin is very painful to the eyes. To reduce the risk, discard the seeds and the spongy white ribs from the raw chili—that's where the capsaicin is concentrated.

Earth Day Activities Planned at Eddy Geology Center April 22

The Waterloo Recreation Area's Gerald E. Eddy Geology Center is sponsoring special Earth Day activities for the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, April 22 at the Center, 16345 McClure Rd., Chelsea.

Activities include:

- "Keep it Clean" — All day. Help us to cleanup the hiking trails and roadways in the park and receive a free Michigan Amphibians poster. Stop by the Geology Center to pick up a garbage bag and get details.

- "Decorate a Gift Bag" — All day. Everyone who visits the Center will be invited to color one of our paper bags with an earth-friendly message. The bags will be used throughout the year when purchases are made at the gift shop.

- "Bog Hike" — 12:30 p.m. Guided 90-minute hike to a unique wetland led by park interpreter Lisa Gamero. Limited to 30 participants. Reservations are required. Hike leaves from the Geology Center. To register, call 475-3170.

- "Glacier Walk" — 3 p.m. Guided one-hour hike led by park interpreter Lisa Gamero exploring the role glaciers played in shaping Michigan and the Waterloo Recreation Area. Limited to 30 participants. Reservations are required. Hike leaves from the Geology Center. To register, call 475-3170.

All events are free. A Michigan State Park Motor Vehicle Permit is required for entry into the park. A daily permit is $4 or an annual permit is $20. Permits may be purchased at the Geology Center.

Potawatomi Land Trust Completes First Land Protection Project

The Potawatomi Land Trust (PLT) is pleased to announce the completion of its first land protection project.

The project is a 116-acre wildlife preserve in Lyndon township. The owner, who wishes to remain anonymous, and the land trust have signed a document called a "Conservation Easement" that limits further development of the property. Under the terms of the Easement, the owner may continue to live on the property and may construct one additional barn, but no other buildings or alterations of the land are allowed. The Easement does not allow public access, has been recorded in the county register of deeds and is legally binding on current and future landowners.

"We are elated to accept the donation of this easement as our first project," said PLT executive director Barry Lonik. "The property is of substantial size and has outstanding natural and open space qualities. Its proximity to Waterloo State Recreation Area increases the amount of protected land in that part of Washtenaw county."

The property features two streams, eight ponds, huge white oak trees and acres of woodland, wetlands and open space. It is home to a variety of wildlife, including woodcock, goshawk, white-tailed deer and hundreds of songbirds. The property's plants will be inventoried by the land trust later this year.

By donating the development rights to a qualified, tax-exempt organization, the landowner will

The donor's "vision and commitment to conservation is truly remarkable. We hope that others will follow his lead and work to protect their land with PLT."

— PLT President
Bruce Conybeare

be able to claim the values of the gift as a federal income tax deduction.

The amount of the gift, which has been determined by a qualified appraiser, is basically the difference between the property's full market value and its value with the easement restrictions in place. The decrease in values will also reduce the amount of estate tax to be paid at his death, which will make it much more feasible to pass the land on to his children as desired.

With these benefits expected, the donor was able to provide PLT with cash contributions for development of the easement and for an endowment fund. The endowment fund will be used to monitor the easement's conditions and ensure that the property will remain in its natural and open state. A thorough report documenting the property's condition at the time of the gift has been assembled.

"This donor has made an invaluable contribution to the Washtenaw county community," said PLT board president Bruce Conybeare. "His vision and commitment to conservation is truly remarkable. We hope that others will follow his lead and work to protect their land with PLT."

PLT is a tax-exempt, non-profit organization that is protecting farmland, natural areas and open space in Washtenaw county. Formed in 1989, PLT works with private landowners, local officials and developers to identify sensitive landscape features and devise plans that maintain them in perpetuity. For more information, call Barry Lonik at (810) 231-4375, or write P.O. Box 130122, Ann Arbor, 48113-0122.

Elementary Students Learn About Touch from Actors

On Tuesday, April 11, the kindergarten and first-grade classes at both North and South Elementary schools participated in "The Bubbylonian Encounter," sponsored jointly by the Washtenaw Area Council for Children and the Ann Arbor Civic Theatre.

This is a personal safety lesson about an alien, "Bub," who arrives on Earth in a protective bubble. Bub lacks the sense of touch, and learns about the four types of touch from his earthling friends. In an entertaining way, the play stresses the value of "Good touch," while it alerts children to the possibility of "bad touch" and what to do should it occur.

"Because any child in our community could become a victim of sexual abuse, it is essential that they learn to recognize and report it to someone they trust," said South

Elementary school principal Lucy Stieber.

"Bub" has been presented very successfully throughout Washtenaw County. In a letter to parents, Stieber extended an invitation for all parents to attend. A special preview of the presentation was presented to parents March 28.

"We are thankful for the generosity of the Ann Arbor Civic Theatre actors and staff who provide us with this play annually," Stieber said. "We agreed to allow some videotaping of our students for a brief segment that will be included in a promotional video for Ann Arbor Civic Theatre."

Parents who wished for their children to not attend this presentation were given the opportunity to excuse their child, Stieber said.

Chelsea, Michigan, Wednesday, April 12, 1995

MOTHER NATURE greeted runners in the 18th annual Briarwood Run with drizzle, hail, a thunderstorm, lightning, icy roads, sleet, snow and near-freezing temperatures. Despite the weather, more than 2,000 runners participated in the annual event. Runners from seven states joined Michigan runners from every area of the state and one runner from Great Britain.

Area Residents Among Winners In 18th Annual Briarwood Run

Three Chelsea-area residents placed among the top dozen runners in their divisions at the 18th annual Briarwood Run Sunday in Ann Arbor. Thomas Dew, 24, of Milan, placed second in his division for males 20-29 and seventh over-all in the 10K with a 0:37:21.

Mark Heusel, 28, placed 11th in his 5K division for males from 20-29 with a 0:19:58.

Caleb Spence, 10, of Chelsea, finished third over-all for the one-mile walk with a 0:12:18.

When the three Chelsea-area residents awoke Sunday morning to a steady drizzle and near-freezing temperatures, they figured things could be worse—and they were right.

The drizzle turned to stinging hail minutes before the race began. Thunder rumbled and lightning flashed immediately after starter Mike Burns warned the runners about icy roads. And then came sleet and snow. Ice toppled the finish line banner.

But despite Mother Nature's competition, the 18th annual Briarwood Run stayed right on track, drawing over 2,000 runners. The race includes four separate events—5K, 10K and 20K runs and a one-mile walk.

"The runners and everyone involved deserve a lot of credit this year," says Linda McIntosh, Briarwood Marketing director. "It was the most brutal weather we've ever had, but everyone seemed to be having a great time."

Mark Smith, 32, of Ypsilanti, who finished first in the 20K (1:08:13), claims that everything is relative. "I ran in a blizzard in Traverse City earlier this year and in the ice and wind at Whitmore Lake," explains the former three-year state high school champ. "This is the best weather I've had all year." Smith's wife, Kristin, was the second woman to finish the 10K (0:42:08) and then rushed to warm the car for her husband.

Briarwood officials refused to speculate whether the unexpected winter storm had anything to do with the fact that they had chosen WJBK TV-2 weathercaster Cam Carman to co-host the awards ceremony with Fat Bob Taylor.

Participants in the runs ranged in age from 7-year-old David Mirabella to 91-year-old Catherine ("Kiki") David, both from Ann Arbor. Lance Goetz, 30, of Ann Arbor, slugged through the snow in a wheelchair to complete the 10K.

Runners from seven states joined competitors from every part of Michigan and one from Great Britain. Diann Eley, 42, who lives in Dorset, England, finished first (0:45:28) in her 10K age and sixth over-all for women in the 10K category during a week-long visit in the area to see her mother.

"I wanted to do the 20K," she says, "but I couldn't handle the weather. It was sunny and in the 70s when I left England."

The inclement weather brought beginner's luck to three of the six over-all winners in this year's race. Winners new to the Briarwood Run include:

- 5K Male (0:16:43)—Aaron Prussian, 22, of Saline; Prussian, a former Hillsdale college runner who says he may have raced at Briarwood as a little boy but never as an adult, came with his mother, Helen Prussian, 48, who finished 9th in her 20K division with a 1:48:18.

- 10K Male (0:33:49)—Patrick Lencioni, 29, of Ann Arbor.
- 10K Female (0:39:00)—Nancy Collier, 23, of Romeo.

Competing this year was Doug Kurtis, 45, of Northville, who holds the all-time record for the most sub-220 marathons. Kurtis ran an easy 0:43:22; 10K; ninth in his division, to tune up for the Boston Marathon. His wife, Suzanne, 44, placed second in her 10K division behind Britain's Eley with a 0:49:47.

Park-Davis took the corporate award for having 17 employees who finished the race. Other corporate finishers include Body Buddies (8); Tortoise & Hare and Homed (5 each); U-M Technology Division (4); Domino's Pizza Fitness Center and U-M School of Dentistry (3 each); Washtenaw County Employees and Charterpoint Investment Center (2 each); and Coach AAA and Ford Motor-Fitness Club—(1 each).

Tortoise & Hare members, Patrick Lencioni and Donald Demetriades (0:34:25), took first and second over-all in the 10K while fellow member, Lester Wyborny (1:11:20), took third place over-all in the 20K.

The Ann Arbor Track Club took first place for total number of neighborhood finishers with 8. Others include Rat Tails (6); Tomodachi (5); Shotokan Karate of Michigan (3); BBC Striders and Redford RR (2); and Late Night Pizza, Dream Team Akalala Land, Belleville Striders and Earl Paxton (1 each).

After the race, runners gathered in Briarwood's Grand Court for music by The Red Garrier Band, an awards presentation and drawings for thousands of dollars in gift certificates and merchandise prizes.

Kendra Smith of Somanok, Illinois won the grand prize, a $500 shopping spree at Briarwood. The 20K runner was not quite as lucky in the race, finishing an unlucky 13th in her division.

All profits from the Briarwood Run go to the Galens Medical Society, a group of University of Michigan medical students who contribute to a variety of child-centered projects in Washtenaw county. This year's contribution will be $5,000.

Briarwood also contributed $1,000 to the Rainbow Connection in Kam Carman's name, and $1,000 to the Salvation Army in Fat Bob Taylor's name.

"Despite the weather, I think we all came out winners today," says McIntosh. "We've raised thousands of dollars to help hundreds of children, and that's what the Briarwood Run is all about."

The 18th annual Briarwood Run was co-sponsored by Briarwood, MedSport, the U-M Orthotics and Prosthetic Center, MedRehab, MCare and WNIC 100.3-FM radio. Briarwood, located at South State St. and Eisenhower Blvd. north of I-94, features 125 shops and services along with Hudson's, JCPenney, Sears and Jacobson's.

Rep. Dick Chrysler To Speak At Chelsea High School Tonight

Chelsea residents have the opportunity to meet their newest representative in Congress tonight. U.S. Rep. Dick Chrysler is to be the guest speaker at a town meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, April 12 at Chelsea High school, 500 E. Washington St., Chelsea.

The town meeting will serve as an official introduction to the community. A Chrysler spokeswoman said he will answer questions and address concerns that residents may have since Chrysler took office nearly 100 days ago. One topic he plans to address is the steps he will take to reduce regulations on small businesses, which was a concern of many business owners during Chrysler's campaign, she said.

Earlier in the day, Chrysler will speak with students at the high school from 1 to 3 p.m. His spokeswoman said that he will explain procedures on governmental processes, such as how a bill goes before the House of Representatives. Students then have the opportunity to ask him questions about how government works from a congressman's perspective.

Chrysler is a member of many committees and subcommittees; committees he sits on are the Banking and Financial Services committee and its General Oversight and Investigations and Domestic and International Monetary Policy subcommittees; the Governmental Reform and Oversight committee and its subcommittees, Human Resources and Intergovernmental Relations; and the Small Business committee and its subcommittees, Government Programs, Procurement, Exports and Business Opportunities, and is the vice chairman of those subcommittees.

Nicole Piasecki Will Run Track For Adrian Team

Once a Bulldog, always a Bulldog. Chelsea High school graduate Nicole Piasecki is one of 14 women who have been named to the Adrian College Bulldog women's track team for the 1995 season. Piasecki is a freshman at the college. She is one of three mid-distance runners on the team.

Piasecki played for Chelsea's varsity softball team, which won the district championship last year for the fourth consecutive year. She previously ran track in the eighth grade for Beach Middle school.

Adrian's women's track team is comprised of five freshmen, five sophomores, three juniors and one senior. Forest Haines, in his sixth season as head coach, is assisted by Riki Carson and Matt Cheplicki.

Adrian's next meet is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 15 at Hope College, with Calvin College dropping by to add to the competition. Adrian College is a member of the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

There are more deaths, illnesses and disabilities from substance abuse than from any other preventable health condition. More than one in four U.S. deaths are attributable to alcohol, illicit drug or tobacco use.

Chelsea High Grad Debuts on Hope College Track Team

Erin Schiller earned top honors at Chelsea High school in high jump, 400-meter relay team

Erin Schiller, a 1994 Chelsea High school graduate, is a freshman member of Hope College women's track team for spring 1995. Schiller previously ran track for the Bulldogs, under coaches Bert Kruse and Bill Bainton, while in high school. Her events at Hope College include jumps and sprints.

"She's doing pretty well up there," said Chelsea girls varsity track coach Bill Bainton. "I saw her run last week-end."

Schiller, a two-time league champion, became well-known for her talents, dominating numerous events while running for the Bulldogs.

Schiller was an Academic All State team member. She primarily competed in the high jump and ran a leg of 400-meter relay team, plus other sprint relays. Schiller placed fourth in the state meet in the high jump and was the second Chelsea girl to be selected to participate in the Midwest Meet of Champions last year. Schiller still holds a school record with a 5'-5" high jump.

At the girl's track awards banquet last year, Schiller earned a four-year award, a Farm Bureau

MHSAA scholar-athlete nomination, shared Most Valuable Player Honors with Beth Bell, was named SEC high jump champion and led the team in scoring with 129 points.

Hope College recently earned 61 points for a seventh-place finish at the Spring Break Invitational held at Emory University in Atlanta, Ga. Thirteen teams from across the nation competed in the meet.

The Hope Invitational kept the home team advantage alive winning the meet with 98 points. The track team ousted Ferris State with 90 points. Grand Valley State with 53 points and Aquinas with 25 points.

The next meet for the women's track team is Wednesday, April 12 at Alma. The meet starts at 2:30 p.m.

JV Softball Game Canceled Tuesday

The junior varsity girls softball game that was scheduled for Tuesday afternoon against Fowlerville was canceled due to the weather and field conditions.

A rescheduled game time and date had not been determined at press time.

The next scheduled game is Monday, April 17 at home against Stockbridge. Game time is 4 p.m.

The junior varsity softball team is coached by Andrea Maines and Kim Eder.

Extend Your Investment. Use Amoco Quality Products.

Amoco Premier Diesel Fuel (APDF) — Lubricity and a Whole Lot More. APDF provides the fuel lubricity your diesel fuel system needs for normal, trouble-free operation. With APDF, you don't need to use expensive, aftermarket lubricity additives which some manufacturers recommend for low-lubricity, low-sulfur fuels. APDF's exclusive D-Guard multi-purpose additive package not only helps increase fuel lubricity, it also helps protect your fuel system from corrosion, filter plugging and build-up of gums and insins. And, APDF's high 50-cetane rating helps your engine start quickly and warm-up smoothly.

Amoco Quality Lubricants — For Added Protection. Amoco has a full line of motor oils and lubricants designed to help protect your farm equipment and to help increase your fuel efficiency. Amoco Premier II is designed exclusively to boost diesel engine performance, with additives to extend engine life and cut oil consumption. Amoco 200 and 300 motor oils are multipurpose oils that provide the performance in both gasoline and diesel engines that you have come to expect from Amoco. And, APDF's 1000 transmission/hydraulic fluid offers high-level protection for hard-working gears and pumps.

Use Amoco Quality Products. You've invested tens, perhaps hundreds, of thousands of dollars to build a successful farming operation. So, use quality Amoco fuels and lubricants to help protect that investment.

SHERIFF'S REPORT

Lyndon Township

Taking Without Permission

A 50-year-old township woman told police, April 1, a former roommate and companion took her 1994 Ford Taurus without permission. The car was parked at her home in the 11000 block of Boyce Rd. The woman said her former roommate, a 43-year-old Ypsilanti man, had a set of keys to the car. She also delayed reporting the incident. Police entered the vehicle information into the Law Enforcement Information Network.

Sylvan Township

Drunk Driving

A 62-year-old Ann Arbor man was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor on eastbound I-94 near M-52, April 6. Police were dispatched to a roll-over crash involving the man at 2:39 a.m. Witnesses say he passed them on the highway in a 1993 Ford Tempo then flipped the vehicle over. They say it appeared as if he fell asleep at the wheel. When police interviewed the man, it was noted that he smelled of intoxicants and had slurred speech. The suspect admitted to drinking alcohol at a bar in Jackson prior to driving. He was transported by Huron Valley Ambulance to Chelsea Community Hospital's emergency room. A preliminary breath test proved his blood/alcohol level was .13 percent, which is more than the legal limit. A blood test was also administered. A prosecutor will review the cases for possible charges.

Dexter Township

Larceny

Larceny was reported in the 8600 block of Bell Rd., April 3. A 31-year-old township man told police someone stole a cement mixer, valued at $1,800, from his yard. The mixer was left in the westside yard in front of the garage between March 29 and April 2.

Larceny was reported in the 5800 block of Madden Rd., April 4. A 48-year-old township woman told police a 25-caliber semi-automatic pistol was stolen from her home Jan. 18. She was able to pin the date down when her son told her he had a friend over then, who he suspects of taking the gun. The boy's friend is a 19-year-old Scio township man.

Warrant Arrests

David A. Jackson, 31, of Hamburg was arrested on Dexter-Pinckney Rd., April 1. Jackson was stopped in his 1978 Chrysler for a traffic violation. A computer check revealed he was wanted by Hamburg Township Police Department for a bench warrant issued in Jackson.

Derek C. Schrock, 26, of Gregory was arrested in the 14000 block of Edgewater Dr., April 5. He was wanted on a bench warrant issued out of 15th District Court in Ann Arbor for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor.

Michael E. Holcomb, 28, of Pinckney was arrested on Dexter-Pinckney Rd. near Winston Rd., April 5. He was arrested on a warrant by Hamburg Township Police Department. They made the exchange on Dexter-Pinckney Rd.

Edward K. Woodfill, 31, of Whitmore Lake was arrested on North Territorial Rd. near Toma Rd., April 2. Woodfill was wanted on a felony warrant issued out of Canton for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor. It was also discovered his driver's license has been revoked until the year 2005. Police were dispatched to a residence on North Territorial for a residential alarm that was activated. Woodfill was seen leaving the home in a 1991 Ford Escort. Police stopped him and discovered the warrant for his arrest. His vehicle was impounded at the scene.

Breaking and Entering

Breaking and entering was reported in the 13200 block of Oakridge Rd., April 5. A 41-year-old township man told police someone broke into his home under construction and stole a generator, air compressor, several saws, air staple gun and cordless telephone valued at $1,750. He said thieves broke in through a basement window, causing $200 in damages.

Found Property

A 35-year-old Gregory man turned in a girl's 10-speed bike, old tools and a tool box his young son found while playing in the 13800 block of Ridgmont Rd., April 5. The items are valued at $220.

Food Is Still Most Affordable in the U.S.

Michigan Farm Bureau Commodity and Research Division Director Ken Nye reminds consumers that Americans still have the most affordable market basket in terms of percentage of income spent on food.

In a USDA study comparing the food costs as a percentage of income, the U.S. average was 9.3 percent of income. Only the United Kingdom came close with 11.5 percent. Japanese consumers, the comparison shows pay almost twice as much of their income for food (19.1 percent). French consumers pay 16.3 percent of income.

In the Commonwealth of Independent States (formerly the Soviet Union) food costs as a percent of income were reported to be an average 30 percent at the time of the study.

As early as 4,000 B.C. people used iron from meteorites to make ornaments and weapons.

Crop Insurance Problems Worry Farm Bureau

Farm Bureau believes Congress must change the new crop insurance program to make it more workable for farmers. Although changes in the crop insurance program this past year are improvements, "we are far from satisfied with the current crop insurance program," said Michigan Farm Bureau Public Affairs Director Al Almy.

Almy said Farm Bureau opposes the linkage of crop insurance with federal agricultural programs. While linkage may be the easiest way to increase participation, it does not recognize the fact that some people do not need crop insurance. He noted crop insurance is simply another risk management tool available to producers.

"Producers irrigate, diversify, self-insure and do many other things to insure against a disaster," Almy said. "Forcing all individuals to buy crop insurance to qualify for farm program benefits is a mistake."

He said many concerns with the new program, which was adopted relatively quickly last year, have to do with its excessive administrative and paperwork requirements. Farm Bureau is also concerned that budget pressures could increase the annual administrative fees charged to producers. Currently the fee is $50 per insured crop per county with a cap of $200 per producer per county.

Almy said Farm Bureau believes the private sector "can and will make the crop insurance program work with appropriate federal support."

RENAISSANCE ACRES, an organic herb farm located in Whitmore Lake, will be among the retailers at The Garden Gate garden fair slated Saturday, April 22 at Webster Community House. Pictured are Renaissance Acres owners Kris and Peter Stark with son Ben. The Starks are pictured with some of the scented geraniums they will sell at the fair. They also plan to set up an outdoor herb garden.

Garden Fair To Feature Local Artisans, Retailers

Local artist Catherine McClung donates companion prints for door prize.

The popularity of a garden fair, organized by two local women last year, has prompted a return engagement at Webster Community House.

The Garden Gate garden fair will be held Saturday, April 22. It has been planned two weeks later than last year's so gardeners can plant their purchases of geraniums and perennials soon after.

The event is the brainchild of Marion Curtis and Jan Sing, members of Webster church. "We were really impressed by the way the community responded last year. It was beyond our wildest dreams and a lot of fun," Sing said.

Proceeds from a luncheon will benefit the Chancel and Chime choirs of Webster United Church of Christ, which are raising money to off-set the cost of recent reconstruction to the historic church. Homemade soups, biscuits, muffins and confections will be on sale from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. For gardeners, sale of compost sheep manure, donated by local residents Sue and Brian Urquhart, will benefit Trailblazers of Washtenaw, Inc., a clubhouse for the recovering mentally ill.

This year's fair will feature 23 retailers and artists who have taken their inspiration from nature. They will display and sell their wares from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. A demonstration by members of the Master Gardener's Class, offered through Washtenaw County Extension, will be held at two different times. Sherry Stephens will present "Basil and Its Culinary Applications" at 11:30 a.m. Paul McKeever will present "Cacti" at noon in the church's Fellowship Hall.

The Webster church youth group will sell used pots and hand tools at a gardening rummage sale held in the potting shed on the grounds. Mosher Tree Farm, in Webster township will donate a couple of trees to the group to sell for profit.

Artists will travel as far away as northern Michigan and as close as Dexter. Returning artisans include Debbie Fredericks of Ann Arbor, who will sell illustrated calligraphy; Glenda Loviska of Saline, who will sell pressed flowers; Shirley Mullinex of Fenton, who will sell hand-made baskets; Debbie Perino of Ypsilanti, who will sell dried flowers; Sandy Trolz of Manchester, who will sell 18th century crafts and garden items; and Dexter favorites Lee Ann Racine and Suzanne Van Natter, who will sell sheep wool products.

New artisans include Bonnie Armbruster of Saline. She will sell herbal dried vinegars, teas and wreaths, which are home-grown and processed. Susan Falcone of Ann Arbor will sell, and may demonstrate, her original watercolor paintings. Birds carved of wood will be sold by Brooklyn artist Hal Horton. Christine Ann Finn of Macomb will sell hand-made lamps filled with natural flowers and featuring a punched paper shade. Marshall artists Jody Mankerian will sell primitive and folk art dolls.

Webster Community House will be decorated with fresh flowers donated by Cynthia's Flower Shop and Greenhouse in Pinckney. Sale of the flowers will also benefit the church, as will hanging baskets and geraniums from Farmer Grant's Market in Scio township.

Retailers on hand will include newcomers Fraleigh Landscape Nursery in Ann Arbor, Perennial Presence of Chelsea, Boik Rustic Design of northern Michigan, Jim Lonsbury of Ann Arbor and Sagauo rare plant nursery of Whitmore Lake. Fraleigh's will sell hosta and other perennials, while Perennial Presence will contribute spring wildflowers. Greg Boik will sell bent willow furniture, Jim Lonsbury will sell bird feeders, homes and bathhouses and Sagauo will sell rare plants.

Returning from last year, Brookeville Gardens of Plymouth will sell strawberry jars, herbs, ferns and herb baskets. Dexter couple Jack and Gloria Brigham will sell garden statuary and Amish rockers. They will also be joined by Webster township seed grower Charlie Sing, who will sell his hybrid popcorn seeds and popping corn. Renaissance Acres of Whitmore Lake will also make a return engagement. This year, however, they will feature an outdoor herb garden, in addition to herb plants and seeds.

Dexter-area artist Catherine McClung has donated two companion prints, "Keeping Cozy" and "Snow Bird," as door prize for the fair.

UN Report Shows Trade Gains from Passage of GATT

A United Nations report estimates the North American agriculture trade surplus will increase from $15.1 billion in the late 1980s to $22.2 billion in the year 2000. The boost is expected to come at the expense of Western Europe, where the agriculture trade deficit is expected to widen from $5.5 billion to $15.3 billion over the same time frame. The report, compiled by the U.N.'s Food and Agriculture Organization, said American exports of cereals, fats, oils, meat and milk would see increases. European exports of cereals, soybeans, milk and sugar are expected to fall, in part due to lower export subsidies brought on by the passage of GATT.

"This report confirms that GATT is working as we assumed it would," said Ken Nye, director of Commodity Activities and Research for Michigan Farm Bureau. "As the Europeans are forced by GATT to lower their export subsidies, it's going to be to the benefit of our ability to export more."

The report said with the worldwide reduction of export subsidies, world food prices are expected to increase slightly over-all. Latin America's agriculture trade surplus also will expand from $20.4 billion in the late 1980s to $31.6 billion by 2000. The agriculture trade deficit currently being experienced by Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Republics is expected to ease somewhat.

Car Abandoned in Driveway of Former Residence

A past tenant abandoned his 1981 Chevrolet in the driveway of his former residence in the 500 block of Chandler St. on March 30. Two males had been evicted from the property.

The first male, the car's original owner, said he had sold the car to the second male, whom was living at the same residence at the time. The second male moved, leaving his car behind in the driveway. The property owner called police after the car's new owner had not picked up the car. Chelsea police tagged the car as an abandoned vehicle later that day.

A letter has been sent to the second male indicating the vehicle has since been impounded.

Car's Headlights Damaged in Hit & Run Accident

Chelsea Lanes' customer parking lot was the scene of a hit & run accident on Friday, March 31.

The complainant's car was parked unattended when an unidentified vehicle struck the complainant's right front corner of his 1985 Ford Mustang sometime between the hours of 9:30 and 11 p.m.

The low-beam headlights and the surrounding areas were damaged in the accident. The case is closed due to lack of leads.

Sylvan Township Board Proceedings

Regular Meeting April 3, 1995

The regular meeting of the Sylvan Township Board was held April 3, 1995 at 7 p.m. in the Sylvan Township Hall, 112 W. Middle St., Chelsea.
The following board members were present: Supervisor Dresselhouse, Clerk Koch, Treasurer Pearsall, Trustee Heller, Trustee Lesser.
Also present were Mr. and Mrs. David Woods, Page Ashe and Mike Centafoni.
Minutes were approved as presented.

Motion by Pearsall, supported by Lesser, to adopt the 1995-96 Budget. Carried.

Motion by Pearsall, supported by Heller to pay bills as presented.

Sandra Wilkinson was present as a representative of C.A.T.S. She gave the Board an overview of the operation and accounting of C.A.T.S.
Mr. and Mrs. David Woods and Page Ashe were present to discuss their property off of Sylvan Road. They were granted a variance for distance for a Private Road off of Sylvan Road in June of 1990. To date the road has not been constructed. They are asking the Board to allow the construction of the Private Road at this time. The Board explained Ordinance Number 25, effective February 2, 1993 which states that Private Roads are not allowed. Several alternative options were offered. The Board took no action on the request.

Zoning Inspector Burgess reported 8 permits were issued in March.

Supervisor Dresselhouse reported on a meeting the Village regarding boundaries, also updated the Board on a meeting that has been set with the Village, Washtenaw County Road Commission and Sylvan Township to meet with U.Y.A.T.S. regarding the bypass.

Trustee Lesser reported on the Chelsea Fire Department quarterly meeting. A discussion was held regarding the future growth of the Fire Department.

Clerk Koch reported on the District Library status.

The Washtenaw County Road Commission Annual Agreement was presented to the Board for approval. Motion by Heller, supported by Pearsall, to give authority to the Supervisor and Clerk to sign. Carried.

Western Washtenaw Recycle Authority is asking for a donation of $3,000 in the next two years out of the Sylvan Township Solid Waste Distribution monies. Motion by Heller, supported by Lesser, to donate $1,500 for 1995-96 and $1,500 for 1996-97. Carried.

Motion by Koch, supported by Heller, to replace Kathy Wurzel as the Planning Commission representative to ZBA, per the ordinance, with Bob Lange. Carried.

Motion by Lesser, supported by Heller, to accept the resignation of Brian Koch from the ZBA. Carried.
A roll call vote: Heller, Dresselhouse, Koch, Pearsall, Lesser, all ayes; was taken to enter a closed session at 9:25 p.m. to discuss litigation. Session closed at 9:45 p.m.

Motion by Heller, supported by Pearsall, to adjourn.

LuAnn S. Koch, Clerk.

DEXTER GRADUATE James Hoeft, a petty officer in the Navy, serves as an electronics technician onboard the Navy's newest fast-attack submarine, USS Cheyenne.

DHS Graduate Building Navy Sub

When Petty Officer James Hoeft, son of Robert and Patricia Hoeft, joined the Navy, he already knew a little about life in the military: His father served onboard an aircraft carrier in the Navy.

"When my father came back from deployments, he would tell me sea stories about the places he'd seen," said the 1992 graduate of Dexter High School.

But when Hoeft joined the Navy in August 1992, he didn't choose to serve on an aircraft carrier, he chose the silent service. The second class petty officer is an electronics technician, and one of 60 sailors and officers working hard to help build USS Cheyenne, a Los Angeles-class submarine.

"It's my job to ensure the electronic gear that monitors the reactor is in good shape," Hoeft said. "I also monitor and control vital plant parameters, such as heat and coolant. It translates to a power plant operator in the civilian world."

Hoeft spent the first two years of his career in school learning about electronics and nuclear power.

"The training you receive pays off once you stand your first watch," said Hoeft. "You are a little nervous at first, but after a while, you realize that training has prepared you to handle any situation."

Hoeft said one of the best aspects of his job is "... when the submarine runs drills for training."

They are important, because once the submarine is commissioned and underway, the crew will have only itself to rely on in an emergency.

Submarines must be able to handle any crisis which may arise on the boat.

Hoeft said the hardest aspect of his job is having to make decisions and recall procedures at a moment's notice.

He said there is no room for mistakes. "There is a lot of participation required by the reactor operator. We really have to be on our toes. I like that challenge."

When completed, Cheyenne's stealth and hi-tech weaponry will enable the submarine to perform a variety of missions. Able to operate in silence, the submarine will be able to lay mines, provide counter intelligence, support special operations and launch missiles at targets ashore.

USS Cheyenne will be the last Los Angeles-class submarine built. While the submarine has significantly improved weapons and quieting systems over earlier subs of the class, there is little room in the hull for further improvements. A new class of attack submarine, Seawolf, has been designed and will enter the fleet in 1996.

"The equipment we work on is really state of the art. We have the latest modifications of equipment the Navy has, with the exception of the Seawolf," said Hoeft. "We're the most hi-tech of the Los Angeles class submarine."

Of course the equipment doesn't run itself. Hoeft said it's people working together that make things happen. "You can't run an engine room without teamwork."

Since reporting aboard, Hoeft has had his first taste of leadership, supervising a small group of people. "You don't have to twist people's arms in the Navy," he said. "Sailors are responsible and will get things done if you just ask them. It's part of the teamwork you are expected to have on a submarine."

Hoeft's focus is to continue his upward trend professionally. He says making second-class petty officer in approximately two and a half years was a major achievement in his career.

"I have to continue to forge ahead. My next step is to qualify as a reactor operator," said Hoeft. "Getting a college degree is my eventual goal. The Navy helped me get the ball rolling toward my goals."

Learning to set goals and be a leader are just a few of the values and work ethics Hoeft has learned since joining the Navy.

"I have learned study habits and integrity. I now understand that learning is the responsibility of the individual," he said. "No one is going to give you an education, you have to go out and get it."

"He says he learned these traits while completing Nuclear Power School. 'Making it through nuclear power school was quite an achievement,' he said. 'It's one of the Navy's toughest schools.'"

With all he has learned and accomplished, Petty Officer Hoeft has big plans for the future. He has put in a request to be considered for a Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps scholarship.

The View from Here

We have a new deadline to turn in material for the Reporter. Or a formula to arrive at the deadline. It is to be the sixth working day before the end of the month. It is to take effect in April for the May paper.

So many people have teddy bear collections that the addition of one or more bear should not cause much excitement. But one more to Velma Huston's group has us all agog. She has brought it to some meals. The name she gave him is Teddi-Boi. From the French Aristocracy, no less. His big attraction is his head. In fact Teddi-Boi is nearly ALL HEAD. He fits snugly (the head) in a wheel chair. You could say that he has the BIG HEAD.

A Splendid Program

Charles Cookingham gave us a wonderful program on Saturday afternoon, March 18. It attracted a full house in the exercise room. Charles has given us other slide shows, but we think that this one reached the top.

We know that he had planned the scenes from Switzerland, Austria, Italy, Norway, Sweden, England and many shots here in the U.S. with the utmost care. He has the master's touch with a camera. We noticed in particular the excellent quality of pictures with just the right exposure for light and shadows. This included the early morning and night time slides. The most spectacular were the mountain scenes at a time of day when they were not covered with clouds.

We could describe more of the cathedrals and many interiors. Thank you again, Charles, for giving us some lessons in photography and patience. By giving of your best years ago, you were to give us all a pleasant afternoon.

The Library Group, and back stage Michelle, and maintenance workers deserve a pat on the back.

Spring

On March 16 Mrs. Pickett called our attention to the magnolia tree at the edge of her balcony. Sure enough, the buds were well developed on it and with a few more mild days the leaves will burst forth.

Also on the Rickard-Martin balcony just south from there, the flower boxes have been visited by mourning doves. We think it is the same birds that we have had there last year and year before. They certainly are checking out the box or maybe the tree, even when covered with snow. And the calendar says the first day of spring comes on March 20.

And on a spring day when your old reporter was seven years old in Marion, Mich., I had been fishing with my dad and we had caught some small sunfish and blue gills. I was always told I would catch bigger ones when I was older. On a day when my folks were away I rigged up a pole with a worm as bait and (against the rules) went and tried my luck in a stream not far away. A big fish was hungry and I landed him. When my folks got home, I got a lecture. But mother and dad cleaned and fried my trophy. It reached the table and we ate it, well sort of. That sucker had lots of bones. But a young boy was happy.

Today in our hall meeting, Carolyn Darling told us about a special committee to discuss ways for an increased quality of life for the residents. Also about a new rose garden near K-1 and K-2 in the works. And possibility of having special

+ AREA DEATHS +

Phyllis A. Weber

Chelsea
Phyllis A. Weber of Chelsea, age 68, died Friday evening, April 7, 1995 at Chelsea Community Hospital. She was born Feb. 26, 1927 in Chelsea, the daughter of William J. and Mary Magdalen (Eisele) Weber. Phyllis had been a life-long resident of Chelsea and retired from Cassidy Lake after 39 years of service. She was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church.

Surviving is her sister, Mary Kathryn Weber of Chelsea; two brothers, William C. Weber of Chelsea, and Robert L. Weber of Owosso; 12 nieces and nephews and five grand-nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents and a brother, Frederick "Fritz" Weber.

The funeral mass was held Monday, April 10, at 11 a.m. from St. Mary's Catholic church with the Rev. Fr. Philip Dupuis officiating. The vigil and rosary was held Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home with Deacon Richard Shaneyfelt officiating.

Friends called Sunday from 2 p.m. until 9 p.m. at the funeral home. Burial followed in Mount Olivet Cemetery, Chelsea.

Helen M. Pearson

Chelsea
Helen M. Pearson of Chelsea, age 90, died Monday evening, April 10, 1995 at the Chelsea Retirement Community where she had been a resident for 25 years.

Arrangements are being handled by the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home.

A son, Ryan Russell, on Feb. 22 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, to Colette (Wright) and Russell Luckherdt. Grandparents are Bonnie and Andy Luckherdt of Saline, Nadine and Dick Shaneyfelt of Chelsea and Gary and Sue Wright of Jackson. Great-grandmother is Elnora Wright of Chelsea. Ryan has a sister, Sara Elizabeth, 19 months.

A son, Alec James, April 1 at Traverse City, to Julie Botsford and James Przewojewski. Maternal grandparents are James and Janice Botsford and Jean and Andrew Ford, all of Chelsea. Paternal grandparents are Lottie and Leo Przewojewski of Armada.

FOUNDER'S DAY was observed Friday, March 24 by third grade classes at South Elementary school. Rachel Misenheimer (left) and Morgan Seltz made rag wreaths. Other pioneer crafts made by the students were yarn dolls, hornhooks, stencil bags, and seed collages. Other Founders' Day activities included "attending" a one-room school house, playing pioneer games, kneading bread dough, and making butter.

Reckless Driver Abandons Car

A man was charged with reckless driving, and fleeing the scene of a property damage crash after he ran from his vehicle, which blocked the entrance to Chelsea High school on Saturday, April 8.

The man was driving a 1988 red Ford Mustang. He had damaged the front and right hand side of the vehicle as a result of damaging a lawn, a hedge row and a large landscaped boulder. Skid marks made by tire tracks indicated that the vehicle had exited the roadway in the 600 block of Washington St.

The car was impounded and put on a hold until further investigation. Police found a Whistler brand radar detector, with no serial number, was in the vehicle.

Man Picked Up on Arrest Warrant

Last Saturday, Westland police officers contacted Chelsea's Police Department to confirm a Chelsea Police Department arrest warrant for a male whom Westland officers had pulled over for a traffic stop. Chelsea police confirmed the warrant.

Chelsea police arrived on the scene and arrested Bryan John Poet. Chelsea police transported Poet to the Washtenaw County Jail until an arraignment could take place.

Poet was wanted for:
• Operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor-second offense. Bond was set at $10,000, with 10 percent needed to post bail.
• Driving while his license was suspended. Bond was set at $175.

Youth Caught Trespassing at Perky Pantry

On Monday, April 3, the Perky Pantry requested an officer to arrest a juvenile who was caught trespassing.

The clerk on duty was instructed by her manager that the 16-year-old juvenile was not allowed on the property at any time and told him to leave. The male refused. The juvenile previously was arrested for trespassing on the property.

The clerk again told the male to leave. He complied and left. When police arrived on the scene, the youth was gone. They were unable to locate the male.

Community College Month Observed Nation-Wide in April

Communities across the country will take the month of April to re-examine a sometimes overlooked community resource, their local community college. April is Community College Month.

This year's observance marks a significant milestone in Washtenaw Community College's history: the college begins its 30th year of service to Washtenaw county.

Driver Flees I-94 Accident Scene

Chelsea police assisted the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Dept. on an unknown traffic crash on I-94 at the No. 160 mile marker on Saturday, April 8.

A Dodge Ram Charger was impaled in the rear end of a semi-trailer truck. The semi-driver said the other driver fled the scene after the accident. There were no injuries in the accident.

Education Foundation Offers 5 Scholarships

Chelsea Education Foundation will be offering five scholarships in Spring of 1995. These scholarships will include the Joseph Piasecki Memorial Scholarship, the new Mary Merkel Scholarship, a scholarship to students attending Washtenaw Community College and two additional scholarships to Chelsea residents/high school students seeking a college degree program or entry into a trade school.

Applications are available and must be returned no later than May 5 to the correct location listed below.

The Joseph Piasecki Memorial Scholarship will be awarded to one 1995 Chelsea High school graduate for $500. The scholarship is intended for a college-bound student. The student will be required to compose a one-page statement describing obstacles or difficulties that he or she has confronted in their life. The Piasecki Memorial Scholarship was established by the Foundation through contributions in honor of the late Joseph K. Piasecki, Chelsea Superintendent of Schools.

The Mary Merkel Scholarship will be awarded to a Chelsea area resident entering or currently enrolled in associate, bachelor's or master's degree nursing programs. This $500 scholarship will be awarded for the first time by the Foundation and is made possible by donations to the Mary Merkel Fund for Nursing Education which was founded by the Merkel family of Chelsea.

A $1,000 scholarship will also be offered by the Education Foundation through Washtenaw Community College (WCC) for a Chelsea area resident returning to school.

Two additional Education Foundation scholarships for $750 each will be awarded to Chelsea area residents and/or high school seniors seeking a college degree program or other skilled training.

Applications for the Piasecki scholarship may be picked up and returned to the Chelsea High School counselor's office. Applications for the Merkel and the Education Foundation scholarships may be picked up and returned to the Chelsea High School counselor's office or the Chelsea Community Education Office. Applications for the WCC scholarship are available at the WCC scholarship office.

WCC Offers Courses For Active Seniors in Dexter-Chelsea Areas

Washtenaw Community College Continuing Education and Extension Program Office is offering several enrichment courses in April specially designed for today's active senior. Though some courses have begun, there is still time to register.

WCC Emeritus courses are offered free of charge to any Washtenaw county resident 65 years of age older. They are held at Centers conveniently located throughout the county.

The April, WCC Emeritus offerings in the Dexter, Chelsea, and Manchester areas include:

• Yoga (Dexter Nutrition Site)—Offered six Thursdays, April 27 to June 1, 9-11 a.m. For persons over 65, yoga is a wonderful form of exercise. Emphasis is placed on flexibility, relaxation, and gentle, deep breathing that both calms and vitalizes. Positions include: the apple-picking stretch, rag-doll bend, spinal stretch, side-to-side stretch, and wet-dog dance.

Chelsea Players Plan Auditions for 'Brigadoon'

Chelsea Area Players have announced the scheduling of auditions for the summer musical production of Brigadoon. Auditions are scheduled for May 4 and 5 at Beach Middle school, 445 Mayer Dr., Chelsea.

Brigadoon is a lyrical romance of desperation, love, and dreams of a better world centering around the magical town of Brigadoon in a misty Scottish Highland glen. The 18th century town exists for only one day each 100 years, and is characterized in the play by gay costumes, wonderful choreography, and a memorable musical score.

Eighteen principal roles are to be cast, with an unlimited chorus. The male lead is in his mid-twenties and the female lead is in her early-twenties. Major supporting roles include a young man in his middle twenties, and a middle-aged male and female.

Other cast needs include two young women in their late teens, two men in their early twenties, a man near 50, six middle-aged men and two middle-aged women.

The play is being directed by Dan LaBumbard.

Questions about the auditions may be directed to any of the three producers: Jerri Cole at 475-9987, Kathy Finger at 475-8792, or Mary Layher at 971-9405.

BB GUN INJURIES

BB gun injuries to the eye are, unfortunately, quite common. All too often these weapons are bought for children as toys, and their dangerous potential is not realized, or is ignored. Most of the victims of ocular BB gun injuries are young boys, and up to half of them are innocent bystanders. The velocity of a BB pellet may be sufficient to penetrate the eye. Non-penetrating hits can be just as devastating, and BB gun injuries are among the most serious of ocular injuries. Blindness, and even surgical removal of the eye, may result.

Even though numerous reports of injury by BB guns have been published, most states don't regulate the use or sale of these weapons. They are often sold in toys stores, which promotes the idea that they are harmless. These guns are better dealt with in gun shops, and their sale and use should be restricted to those old enough to appreciate their dangerous potential. Young persons using these guns should pass a safety course, and parents should always directly supervise their use by children.

BB gun injuries can and do cause tragic visual loss and disfigurement, which is entirely preventable. Parents should take the initiative to ensure that this doesn't happen to their child.

Busch's Valu Land Seals Deal To Buy Walco's Dexter, Pinckney Stores

■ Dexter and Pinckney stores sold to competitor. Deals still being negotiated for other locations.

In a move that will shift one family-owned business to another, the brothers who own Walco Food Store have sold their Dexter and Pinckney operations to the brothers who own Busch's Valu Land.

Rumors about the sale have been circulating in Dexter for weeks: Jim Wallace confirmed Thursday that he and John Busch, president of Busch's Valu Land, closed the deal April 3. The 40 employees in Dexter and 50 in Pinckney were told last Tuesday night.

The sale gives Busch's Valu Land a corner on the market as it becomes what Walco once was—the exclusive grocery store in both towns.

"The town is not big enough for two stores," John Busch said Friday morning.

He and his brothers, Tim and Doug, have been planning to construct a store in Dexter, reportedly in a proposed strip mall on resident John Kingsley's Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd. farm set for development. Once the liquor license transfer has been completed and some changes are made, Busch hopes to take over operations of the Dexter-Walco store by June, but still intends to construct a new store.

The Wallace brothers, Jim, 56, and Jerry, 50, will retain ownership of their building and land on Broad St. Busch has purchased the assets of both stores and will rent both spaces in Dexter and Pinckney from the Wallaces until his stores are constructed. He estimates Dexter's to be built in the next 12 to 24 months and Pinckney's, on east M-36 west of the Chrysler-Plymouth Jeep & Eagle dealership, shortly after.

The Wallace brothers also closed on a sales agreement with a Pinckney man, who operates the video rental business in the Walco Food Store chain, for the sale of the Walco Stockbridge store. The Spartan Company, which Busch's Valu Land is affiliated with, is still negotiating with the Wallace brothers to buy the stores in Napoleon and Manchester. "We're still working on Spartan and the people, but everything isn't settled yet. We haven't signed anything," Wallace said.

Walco Food Store has been around the past 31 years. It was started in Dexter by Jim Wallace, an Eastern Michigan University Business School graduate, and his uncle, George Wallace, in 1964. Jerry Wallace joined his brother in the business venture four years later after graduating from Michigan State University. The brothers later bought out their uncle and have been operating as a two-man team ever since.

The Dexter store was their first. The four other stores were added in the 1980s. They opened the Napoleon store in 1980, the Stockbridge store in 1985, the Manchester store in 1987 and the Pinckney store in 1989. The Dexter Walco store served as corporate headquarters up until three years ago when the headquarters were moved to Pinckney.

The Wallace brothers come from two generations of Kroger employees. Their grandfather, John Wallace, was a meat cutter who ran the meat department for Kroger in the 1940s. Jim and Jerry Wallace's father, John Wallace, is a 40-year veteran of Kroger. He retired in 1970 after serving as zone manager, overseeing the Kroger store located in Dexter. The family is from Plymouth, but both brothers moved to Dexter more than 20 years ago to raise their own families. All five of their children are Dexter High school graduates.

"I have mixed feelings about selling the business," Jim Wallace said. "There is a time when you have to get out and enjoy yourself a bit. We're mostly going to retire and take it easy."

"We've enjoyed the people of Dexter. It's been a real friendly community. A nice place to work and raise a family."

Over the years, the Wallace brothers have improved their chain of stores. The Dexter location was remodeled twice with an 8,000-square-foot addition put on in 1977. A deli and video rental business was later added to provide more services for customers.

The Wallaces had been planning to construct a new facility on Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd., across from the new schools site, but since the sale have abandoned those plans. They presently own the site through a land contract with Dexter Community Schools. Jim Wallace said he is not sure what they will do with the land now.

"There is a time when you have to get out and enjoy yourself a bit. We're mostly going to retire and take it easy."

—Jim Wallace

Like the Wallace family, the Busch family has been in the grocery business for a long time. John Busch's father, Joseph Busch, and Charles Mattis started the business in 1975. It was called J & C Family Foods until 1986. John joined the business in 1983. Mattis was bought out and Joseph Busch retired in 1987.

Busch's Valu Land is now run by John Busch and his younger brothers, Doug and Tim. John Busch serves as president. Tim as legal counsel and Doug heads grocery merchandising. The three brothers grew up in Clinton. John and Doug now reside in Scio township, while Tim lives in California where he practices law.

The first J & C Family Foods stores were opened in Clinton and Saline after the family purchased the buildings out of bankruptcy. Since that time, however, new buildings have been constructed to replace those stores. To date, the Busch brothers own eight stores in Washtenaw, Livingston and Lenawee counties and plan to open a ninth in Wayne county. Their employees number 550, a figure that will increase with their Dexter and Pinckney store purchases.

John Busch said he has no plans to reconstruct the present Walco Food Store site. "All the effort will be focused on a new facility," he said. The Busch's Valu Land signs, he said, have already been ordered. They will be posted outside both stores by June and the insides will be spruced up. A greater product selection and more specials are expected to set the store apart from Walco.

ACO Hardware Parking Lot Scene of Accident

The ACO Hardware customer parking lot was the scene of a hit & run accident on Sunday, April 9.

The complainant said he noticed that an unidentified vehicle had struck the rear of his 1988 white Pontiac. There was damage to the rear bumper and its fiberglass molding as well.

The car's value is unknown. No description of the suspect vehicle could be found. The case is closed due to lack of leads.

OLD MAN WINTER forgot it turned spring and dropped 2.8 inches of snow across Washtenaw county Sunday. Snow fell from Kalamazoo and Lansing to Detroit and Flint. It was a shock to many, including weather predictors. Spring sprang back yesterday, however, with temperatures near 50 degrees in the Chelsea area.

Farmers Rally in Lansing To Support MSU Funding Boost

Over 100 Michigan farmers rallied in Lansing March 22 in support of additional state funding for Michigan State University. The rally was organized by Michigan Farm Bureau, the state's largest farm organization.

Farmers took bags of Michigan-made potato chips and "Chip in for MSU" information to lawmakers to encourage their support for Gov. Engler's 1995-96 budget request of $300 extra per MSU student.

"MSU, as our only land-grant university, educates far more in-state residents than does the University of Michigan or Wayne State University," said Tuscola county dairy farmer Jack Laurie, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau. "Support for MSU means support for state residents who will work at jobs in our state and support Michigan's economy."

Laurie said there is a wide funding gap between MSU and the other two major research schools in the state, U. of M. and Wayne State. "As leaders of Michigan's agricultural organizations, we deeply appreciate the contributions MSU has made, and will make in the future, to the prosperity of the state's second largest industry," said Laurie.

Health Administrator AARP Will Hear

Washtenaw County Chapter of AARP will meet on Thursday, April 13. "Individualized Care" administrator, Ingrid Daninger, will discuss Medicare/Medicaid, Blue Cross/Blue Shield Certified, Home Nursing and Hospice.

The group meets at the Pittsfield Township Hall, corner of Ellsworth and State at 1:30 p.m. There is ample free parking. The meeting is open to all who are interested.

For more information, call (313) 995-5229.
