FIDDLERS TO PERFORM at Chelsea Community Fair Ladies Day, Friday, Aug. 25. The Fiddlers Philharmonic is a Saline Community-based program, consisting of a select group of outstanding student musicians. Dedicated and committed to preserving and performing traditional American fiddle music, these young adults are model youth ambassadors representing Saline and its rural traditions wherever they perform. They will be appearing at the 1995 Chelsea Community Fair Ladies Day "Hoedown at Dawn" Friday, Aug. 25 at the fairgrounds covered arena. Their appearance is being sponsored by Doug and Sue Rodgers of Rodgers Corners Produce.

Early Enrollment Urged for New Students in Schools

Parents who will be residing in the Chelsea School District are urged to enroll their children early for the 1995-96 school year. All Chelsea students will begin the 1995-96 school year on Tuesday, Aug. 29; elementaries at 8:25, middle school at 8:25, and high school at 8:25.

All new entrants must comply with Michigan law regarding immunizations, and must provide the school with a record verifying that proper vaccines have been obtained.

Elementary Schools
All school district kindergarten students should register at North Elementary school. Parents will need the child's health immunization forms, social security number, and birth certificate to register for kindergarten. All other elementary-age students can register at either North or South school on Aug. 16, 17, 18 from 9-11 and 1-3.

Both North and South schools will be hosting an orientation program to welcome new students. South school will be hosting an orientation program on Aug. 22, and North school will have its orientation on Aug. 23. The time schedules for both elementary orientations are:

North school: Kindergarten to grade 2, 9:30-10:15 a.m. Grades 3 to 5, 10:15 to 11 a.m.

South school: Kindergarten to grade 2, 9:30-1:15 p.m. Grades 3 to 5, 1:15-2 p.m.

Middle School
Sixth-grade students should plan to report directly to the school cafeteria, where they will be introduced to their first-hour teachers who will, in turn, escort them to their classrooms. Seventh and eighth-grade students will pick up their class schedules and then report to their first-hour classes. Students should plan to arrive at school between 8:15 and 8:25 a.m. First-hour classes will begin at 8:25 a.m.

Families new to the Chelsea School District may wish to enroll their middle school students on Aug. 16, 17 and 18 from 9 a.m. until 11 a.m., and from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. Patricia Compton will be available to answer questions and to register new students at Beach.

Blood Drive Slated By Businesses

Chelsea area businesses are sponsoring a blood drive on Monday, Aug. 21, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the VFW Hall, 105 N. Main St. The drive is open to the public; no appointment is necessary.

Currently, the blood inventory levels for the Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Region are extremely low. The summer months are always a critical time for blood collections and this year the problem has been intensified by the extreme heat.

To donate blood, an individual must be 17 years of age or older, weigh at least 110 lbs., and be in general good health. A person may donate blood every eight weeks.

A welcome for students new to Beach school will take place on Thursday, Aug. 24, from 1-2:30 p.m. in the (Large Group Instruction) Room. All newcomers will have an opportunity to meet "veteran" students and participate in some activities. Refreshments will be provided.

The middle school principal will review the parent/student handbook on the first few days of school. A copy of the handbook will be sent home with policies and operational procedures at Beach school.

High School
Parents and students are asked to report to the high school office to pick up and complete registration forms and scheduling information as soon as possible so that records may be requested from the former school. All new students must meet with a counselor on Aug. 16, 17 or 18 to establish a schedule for the 1995-96 school year. Counseling appointments may be arranged through the counseling office secretary, Jan Sweet.

Any new student interested in athletics should be aware that fall practice began Aug. 14. Likewise, new students interested in band should be aware that band camp will be held from Aug. 21 through Aug. 25.

The first day of school for all students will be Tuesday, Aug. 29. All high school students should report by 8:25 for a brief orientation in advisory groups before reporting to classes. All current students will be receiving a letter with more detailed information.

Transportation
Complete information on bus schedules is available elsewhere in The Chelsea Standard.

■ Besides the addition of a rodeo, the fair will include a traditional schedule of events.

Nine months of planning and preparation will culminate Tuesday, Aug. 22 when residents of Chelsea embrace the biggest annual event on the local calendar.

The Chelsea Community Fair is here, and it's marking 58 years.

The event begins unofficially Sunday, Aug. 20 when exhibitors of agricultural, floricultural, canning, sewing, needlework and gift wrapping enter their projects. It will end Saturday, Aug. 26 with the livestock raffle drawing in the main arena.

Other pre-fair activities include more exhibit entries and the talent portion of the fair queen program on Monday, Aug. 21. The 12 fair queen candidates will be judged on their talent in Chelsea High school's auditorium beginning at 7 p.m. The public is welcome to attend the competition, which will include singing, twirling, poetry reading, forensics and a magic act.

As in the past, the Children's Parade will officially kick off the fair at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday. Youngsters will don costumes and ride bicycles, pull wagons or just walk down W. Middle to Wilkinson St. Back at the fairgrounds, a three-legged race, tricycle pull and other children's games will be going on in the main arena after the parade.

An estimated 40,000 people are expected to attend given favorable weather conditions, but fair attendance has been down across the state because of the unbearable heat. "Hopefully, we're going to have a great fair this year," said fair secretary Janet Buku. "The weather has a lot to do with the crowd."

A highlight of this year's event includes the addition of a rodeo. Buku said the motorcross has been eliminated and replaced with a rodeo, which will feature calf roping and bronco riding Thursday at 6:30 p.m. The livestock auction is slated that same night, 7 p.m. in the show arena.

Other highlights include the demolition derby held on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. A total of 60 entries each night will compete for trophies and prize money. More than 5,000 people will be able to watch the derby in the main arena since additional bleachers have been installed to accommodate the crowd.

Friday is Ladies Day at Chelsea Community Fair. Free goodie bags will be handed to the first 500 registrants 18 years and older. The program will be held from 8:30 a.m. to noon in the show arena with registration beginning at 8 a.m. The event's theme is county, and will feature line dancing. Queen candidates will perform a choreographed dance. Door prizes presented will be from local merchants and businesses.

The illustrious fair queen program will culminate Friday when the 1995 fair queen is crowned in the multi-purpose arena at 7 p.m. The candidates will perform for the audience and answer questions. The livestock showmanship sweepstakes will also be held that evening at 9 p.m. in the multi-purpose arena.

The last day of the fair will see a horse show, tractor pull, a second parade and other activities held up to 10 p.m. The festivities will end, Buku said, once the crowd disperses.

Besides the fair exhibits and shows, local service clubs will be selling typical fair food, including knockwurst, ice cream, elephant ears and Sno-cones. The fair kitchen will feature a menu, including breakfast, lunch and dinner with specials such as mosticcoli, roast beef sandwiches, lasagna, baked chicken and meat loaf.

Included is a list of fair activities.

Wednesday, Aug. 21, 1991—

The 54th Annual Chelsea Community Fair opened in cool, sunny weather Tuesday afternoon as the annual Children's Parade made its way from the Municipal Parking Lot to the fairgrounds. Fair officials hope the community's largest annual event will draw at least 40,000 people through the gates this year if rainfall can be avoided most of the week.

Village of Chelsea plans major changes in its residential garbage service beginning in November with the expiration of its current trash hauling contract, village manager Jack Myers and village president Richard Steele confirmed Monday morning. Residents will no longer be charged a flat $12 fee per month but instead will be charged for the amount of trash they actually put out at the curb. The village will implement a tag system. Only bags with the proper tags will be picked up.

School begins next Monday, Aug. 26 for students in the Chelsea School District. Students at Beach Middle school and North and South Elementary schools begin the day at 8:30 a.m., while Chelsea High school starts at 8:25 a.m. Middle school sixth graders should report directly to the cafeteria on Monday. There they will be introduced to their first-hour teachers, who will escort them to their rooms.

Downtown Chelsea's newest parking lot should be ready for public use this week, perhaps by today. DDA consultant Franz Mogdis said parking space lines were scheduled to be painted early this week and landscaping completed on the lot west of Main St. from South St. to W. Middle St.

Derek has been constructing models for three years and is the son of Keith Hodgin of Trinkle Rd. Approximately 300 models were entered in the competition which featured categories of street machine, street rod and the like.

Saturday, Aug. 29, the Chelsea Fire Department will again be hosting the Fair Parade. Chelsea fire-fighters have been working for the last three months to make this year's parade a highlight of the 1981 fair. Bands, people on horseback and horse-drawn wagons, as well as antique cars, fire trucks, farm equipment and business representatives will all be there with fire-fighters stationed on each of the streets where the various units form.

The American League came out on top in the All-Star Softball game played Saturday, Aug. 21, at the high school, defeating the National League, 4-0. In what was described as a pitcher's game, the American League held their opponents to one hit, while picking up five hits of their own.

★ Lessons To Be Learned from Outrageous Laws

By Joseph Overton

The current backlash over the growth of government has spawned an often bitter struggle to separate the statutory wheat from the chaff. While most of the controversy surrounds costly entitlements and federal regulations, politicians should be aware that there are many laws and ordinances in Michigan that nearly everyone will agree should be repealed. A brief review not only makes for some laughs, but also should cause public officials to think twice before regulating further. To the careful observer, such laws speak volumes about what occurs when political leaders abandon principle, and begin governing by crisis or by special interest.

Consider the Michigan law that makes it illegal to have an emblem or insignia of an organization on your car when you are not a member of that organization. How many Michigan motorists are illegally driving around the state in a used car with the former owner's alumni association decal plastered to the window. Or what about that auto dealership insignia? Does buying a Taurus make me a member of Big Al's Ford? Who in the world ever thought that driving with the wrong bumper sticker should be a punishable offense?

Michigan municipalities have their own unique laws. The City of Harper Woods prohibits painting birds—in an apparent effort to stop unscrupulous persons from passing off a sparrow as a canary with the help of a yellow highlighter. The city manager there notes, however, that to his knowledge no one has ever been prosecuted under the ordinance. The Village of Lyons provides a fine for "indecent exposure of any stallion or bull." And it is unlawful in Hancock, a city with steep terrain, to coast or slide on any of its streets or sidewalks—except those designated by the City as streets or sidewalks for coasting or sliding.

Politicians have addressed actions that run from the basic to the bizarre. State law prohibits walkathons, playing the Star Spangled Banner as a dance tune or exit march, and inciting

Indians to break a law—the latter being a felony. It clamps down on free speech with many laws that would most likely be held unconstitutional if challenged, including statutes which prohibit blasphemy, profane curses, and using indecent language in the presence of a woman or child. A state law even allows city mayors and council members to be fined if they fail to move to suppress a riot.

Some of the worst laws are those that make it difficult for a person to earn a living or operate a business, which often hit hardest low income business people and struggling entrepreneurs. For example, Michigan farmers need a license to feed garbage to a pig, unless the garbage is from his own household. Barbers may not cut hair on Sunday unless the person receiving the haircut is dead. The fire protection code requires sprinklers in walk-in freezers, and the City of Detroit requires parking lot attendants to be licensed, even if all they do is direct cars to a parking spot. State law prohibits selling bulk candy by gross weight, requiring small mom and pop stores to buy special scales for candy with wrappers.

While many rules reflect historical times and mores, there are some lessons to be learned from these often silly and sometimes destructive laws. First, there is tremendous political pressure to govern by crisis. When a riot occurs and the people think the mayor could have done more to stop it, we pass a state law providing a fine for such neglect. When someone poisons a pig with tainted garbage, we require a license. When a parking lot attendant damages a car or allows a car to be damaged, we require a license. When dwarf tossing becomes a spectator sport, we require a permit, as the City of Lansing does. Any abuse or unconventional behavior becomes grounds for government intervention.

While it is always hard to resist the heat of the moment, this problem of governing by crisis is exacerbated by the popular sentiment that we should look immediately to government to remedy problems. And often, as if in search of utopia, we mistakenly believe that all problems have political solutions. What we need are officials with a better definition of the role of government and when, instead of turning to the law, people should either turn to themselves or accept a certain modicum of imperfection. A country without some abuse of liberty is a country without liberty.

The second lesson to glean from outrageous laws is that special interests thrive where policy is not circumscribed by principle. Movers of household goods have a special Michigan law that fixes prices when moving goods more than eight miles, which prevents small entrepreneurial firms from competing freely on the basis of price, and guarantees greater profits for others. And what association was so miffed that people were putting its stickers on their cars without actually being members that it lobbied successfully to prohibit that act? Where there is no commitment to a free-market economy, citizens are at the mercy of the well-heeled interests.

Abraham Lincoln once said that the best way to get a bad law repealed is to strictly enforce it. Maybe we should begin to arrest Michigan drivers with empty windshield washers, fine people who sell or give cigarettes containing ingredients deleterious to health, jail divorced couples who live together, and prosecute architects who fail to specify enough temporary toilets in a construction contract. Perhaps, however, we should simply be more sensible about what we expect from government.

FAMILY ROOM

By KAREN MEIER

Restaurant review articles somehow, and I don't know why this is, captivate me. You know the kinds of articles I'm talking about - where the writer goes out to eat and makes notes, probably on a napkin, about the service, the food, the ambience, the wine list, the use of exotic spices, and the price. And I'm captivated by this. I don't know why; restaurants themselves don't captivate me. That's because they're all too fancy. And too expensive.

Now, fancy, exotic food I am deathly afraid of. If the food is exotic, I'm scared. And here's how I determine exotic food: If it lived in the water, it's exotic. Except tuna. But that lives in a can. And if it's wild, it's exotic. Raw? Exotic. Or has its bones still in? Exotic. And steak? And nursery rhyme animals? All exotic. My mother used to call this "being a picky eater." My husband calls it "annoying, but cheap." Which brings me to the subject of "expensive" restaurants.

Restaurants are always expensive. There are no inexpensive ones. Restaurant, as you may know, is a French word meaning, "Bring lots of money—and put the washing machine repair off for awhile."

You see—when you make an entire supper for a family of six at home, from scratch, of say "Chicken Stir Fry," and that includes seconds, a salad, a side dish of vegetables, a glass or two of milk, and dessert, it doesn't cost anywhere near $25 or $30 or whatever it costs in a restaurant. I've figured it up. And here's the bottom line: the cost of one meal at a restaurant is equivalent to seven meals at home. And so for a picky, cheapskate eater like me, reading restaurant articles doesn't make any sense. But I do it anyway. It's weird.

And another thing about those restaurant articles, they always feature restaurants in far flung places. Now you must understand, anything you can't walk to is "far flung" in my book. I know that's being entirely unreasonable. But piling everyone into the van and then driving somewhere can be horribly unreasonable, especially when they're all hungry. Proximity is paramount at feeding time.

Now maybe the reason I get caught up in those articles is because I think that maybe, just maybe, I'll read about a restaurant that meets the outrageous and unreasonable criteria for restaurants that I have: Not exotic, not expensive, not far flung.

Well, I haven't found the article featuring such a place. But I did find the place. It opened just a couple of weeks ago. And around here the excitement and anticipation for the opening had been building since the very first days of summer vacation and "The Coming Soon" sign went up in the window. Now the excitement wasn't just here in this house, it was throughout the neighborhood. We all waited and waited. And then it happened. The Soda Jerk opened wide its doors and in poured the people. Including us—the Meier six. One hot evening, after supper, chicken stir fry I think, we walked there. Actually four of us walked and two were in the stroller. How do you like that? Within walking and strolling distance. We walked, strolled, and talked ice cream flavors.

The Soda Jerk is about a six minute walk from my house. And it is really cool. It's a soda fountain straight out of the 50's. The floor is black and white squares, the stools at the long counter are red and spin all the way around, the metal container of ice cream and syrups and toppings shines like the bumper of a '57 Chevy and the fluted sundae glasses stacked in old fashioned pyramids are perfect and real and made of glass. And the jukebox in the back is real. Honest to goodness. And it plays 45's, all 50's songs. I guess. They all sounded 50's, anyway, especially the song that made the two waitresses burst into dance right in the middle of the black and white floor. Everyone in the restaurant clapped for them. It was great!

And then there was the ice cream we ordered. It was not exotic. In my sundae glass was none other than good, creamy vanilla ice cream with hot fudge poured all over it and whipped cream and cherry on top. Nothing raw, nothing fishy, nothing bony.

And the price for this? $1.85. Still higher than a hot fudge sundae at home. But then, a real soda jerk, a juke box, and the jitter-bug have their worth, too.

Former Chelseaite Competes in National Cycling Races

Former Chelsea resident and Chelsea High school graduate, Karen Keiser, competed in the Masters' National Cycling Championships in Nashville, Tenn., July 25-29. The conditions were hot, hot, hot, with the temperature over 100 degrees three out of the five days of competition.

Athletes from all over the country converged for some spectacular racing in three different events: 1) Time Trial, 2) Road Race, and 3) Criterium. Most athletes specialize in one event and compete in one or two; however, Karen chose to give it her all and compete in all three events, finishing 16th in the Time Trial, 22nd in the Road Race and 12th in the Criterium. Very impressive for a first time competitor on the National Level.

Karen started cycling with friends at Parke-Davis Pharmaceutical Research Division in Ann Arbor, where she is employed as an administrative assistant for the Biochemistry Department. She and colleagues, competed as a team in local triathlons, with Karen doing the bike leg of the event. Karen began trying some citizens' road races on the side and last year decided to become a licensed racer.

Karen's impressive results at the National level come in her second year as a licensed racer.

Just like people, plants need a variety of essential nutrients in order to grow. Plants get their most important nutrients from air and water, but the rest must come from soil. Especially important are adequate amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, calcium, magnesium and sulfur. If there are not enough of these nutrients present in the soil, farmers must add extra amounts in the form of fertilizer.

Timber Town Booth Operated at Fairgrounds

people to be at the display booth during the fair to sell tickets, give out information, obtain names of people who are willing to volunteer for other projects and so on. The fair booth hours will be from 5 to 9 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and on Friday from 5 to 7 p.m.

Keep in mind that Timber Town can only be made possible through the time and effort of people in our community. People are needed now as well as up to 400 people a day at build time. If you could volunteer an hour or so of your time please call Anne Reimenschneider at 475-0322.

Timber Town will be relying on fund-raising, as well as the time of people in the community. You will be hearing many exciting things about this project in the months to come.

Stop by the display at the fair to learn more about how you can be a part of this new playground. Tickets for the cow chip raffle will be on sale at the booth. The raffle will take place Friday, Aug. 25 at 7 p.m. at the Chelsea Fairgrounds Horse Arena.

A cow chip raffle is an event where a couple of cows are let loose in a marked-off area to "do their thing" in whatever square they choose. For example, if the dropping lands on square number 12, the 12th ticket drawn will be first prize winner of $1,000. Both second and third prize winners will follow in a similar manner with $750 and $500 prizes.

A maximum of 2,000 tickets will be sold.

If you desire further information on the raffle contact Anna Dunn at 475-9301.

We don't care if you paint your hair blue, rip the sleeves off your shirt or pierce your ear.

But don't smoke just to be like your friends. Or to be different from your friends.

Or to be anything at all. Because with everything we know about cigarettes today, there's only one thing you'll be if you start smoking now. And that's sorry. Sorry you can't get up in the morning without coughing your lungs out. Sorry you can't climb a single flight of stairs without getting winded. Sorry that every time you light one up, your risk of heart disease goes up. If you're already a smoker, take some time to stop and think it all the way through. Right now, it's your decision. In the long run, it's your life.

POLISH TEENS VISIT: Two Polish exchange teens were hosted by area families during the month of July. These two students were among 20 Polish students and chaperones brought to Michigan through the 4-H. Ewa Bublik was hosted by the Gourlay family of Chelsea. Marlana Gardy was hosted by the Parr family of Manchester. Their visit coincided with the Washtenaw County 4-H Youth Fair so they were able to view it and Marlana even entered some still projects. They also took in the Ann Arbor Art Fair and traveled to see the Great Lakes. Of the dunes and Lake Michigan, Ewa remarked that it looked similar to the Baltic Sea. The 4-H hopes to arrange a reciprocal exchange of Michigan teens to Poland next summer. In photo above, left to right, standing are Marlana Gardy, Genny and Lara Gourlay, Missy LeFurge, seated, Ewa Bublik, Barney (dog).

Local Graduates Offered EMU Scholarships

Eastern Michigan University recently offered its Recognition of Excellence Scholarships to several area high school graduating seniors. Eric LeFurge and Joseph Lussier of Chelsea; Megan Dunaj, Amber Luiton and Jessica Newmeyer of Dexter; Anna Loveland of Grass Lake; Theodore Scott of Pinckney; Angela White of Stockbridge; and Sarah Farréll and Alicia Staskievitz of Whitmore Lake were among more than 385 graduating seniors to receive the award.

The Recognition of Excellence Scholarships, valued at $3,000 each, provide $1,500 annually for two years. They are offered to students based on scores earned in EMU's annual $2.8 million Presidential Scholarship Competition and to academically talented high school students, based on their American College Test or Scholastic Aptitude Test scores and high school grade point averages.

To maintain the scholarship, students must complete 12 credit hours each semester and have at least a 3.3 grade point average. They also must live in EMU residence halls during the first two years of college. Students may reapply to receive the award in their junior and senior years at EMU.

MSU Recognizes Degree Candidates

Property Damage Reported to Police

Chelsea Police questioned a group of teens Tuesday, Aug. 1 after one was accused of kicking a vehicle owned by an 18-year-old Saline man.

An officer responded to the complaint at McDonald's restaurant, 1535 S. Main St., Aug. 1. The Saline man told police a group of five teens approached him and tried to launch an assault while he was eating in his vehicle. He said the alleged assailants appeared to be in a gang because they wore gang colors on their bandanas. When he drove away, the man said one of the teens kicked his vehicle door.

Police found the same group of teens relocated at the car wash. They were questioned and one admitted to the property damage. The 17-year-old boy said he did it because the driver swerved toward them in the restaurant's parking lot.

"It is well to be up before daybreak, for such habits contribute to health, wealth and wisdom..."

—Aristotle

Two thousand years after Aristotle, Ben Franklin confirmed it in his almanac: "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise."

Of course, no one guarantees these benefits to all who are up and around at sunrise, but we do know that most early-risers thrill to the dawn of each crisp new day, fresh and clean and brimming with promise.

Thoughtful people may wish to specify their wishes regarding their own memorial service, well in advance of need. This spares their loved ones the necessity for making painful decisions. may we help you?

Accountability, Efficiency Are Keys to Success of Governor's Split of DNR

By Warren McArthur

When John Engler was first elected governor, he received some good advice from the now late Governor Romney. That advice was for Engler to "be bold." The split of the DNR into two departments, the Department of Environmental Quality overseeing environmental quality and the Department of Natural Resources managing state parks and outdoor sports, was a bold move to bring more accountability and efficiency to each of the new departments.

Those who would say that the split is pandering to business interests could not be farther from the truth. The business community was just as surprised by the announcement as anyone else. The splitting of the two departments, however, is not a new idea. The pros and cons of one department with two functions or two separate departments, each with their own distinct responsibilities has been part of the policy debate for at least a decade before John Engler was elected governor. The Governor, through an earlier executive order, had already made significant changes aimed at increasing accountability within the agency, but with efficiency and accountability challenges still remaining, is it any wonder that a strong governor would take the proverbial bull by the horns and further streamline operations. Now, with the new Environmental Quality Department answering directly to the governor, with no commission in between, the political accountability for success or failure rests squarely on the shoulders of the Governor and his director. The chain of command is clear. If it works, they will be praised. If it does not, they will pay the full political price. That, my friends, is accountability.

There are many who are saying that a splitting of the two divisions into separate departments will necessarily add more deputies and a larger bureaucratic structure. John Engler's track record on achieving efficiency and accountability should give some indication of what is being sought in this move. Since the budget did not specify funds for this reorganization, it is proper to assume that requisite staffing changes will be absorbed with current funding. The focus must remain on accountability and efficiency. These must become the benchmarks against which the success or failure of this new structure are measured.

A healthy economic and regulatory environment is vital if we expect continued job growth. Nothing grows in a hostile environment. The time it takes for business to obtain operating permits is unacceptable in today's global economy. Progress has been made in this area, but our businesses still suffer because their competition in other states or other countries may have already cornered the market in the time it takes Michigan businesses to obtain a permit to operate. The notion that only business benefits from improved efficiency in the permitting process is ludicrous. When jobs are lost, we all suffer the consequences. Likewise, when environmental permits are issued in a timely manner, new jobs are created with related economic benefits.

A positive first step in creating this healthy economic and regulatory environment can be found in the newly formed Environmental Assistance Division. Formed to provide both the public and business with assistance in negotiating the regulatory maze, this program will foster the co-operation necessary for the future growth of our economic, regulatory, and natural environments. Command and control have their place, but government co-operation must take us into the future.

Governor Engler recognizes these realities and has demonstrated the boldness necessary to create a government structure that can foster the efficiency desired. Courts have ruled that he has the constitutional authority, by executive order, to split current DNR, and it is unlikely that the legislature will reverse that order. To continue to second guess the soundness of that decision is not particularly worthwhile or productive. What must be done now is to hold the Governor and his directors responsible for creating the accountability and efficiency desired. If they are successful, the result will be a cleaner, natural, economic, and regulatory environment in Michigan.

(Warren McArthur is Executive Director of the Michigan Center for Environmental Studies. MCEs is affiliated with the Michigan Chamber Foundation and The Heartland Institute. Its mission is to create and disseminate research and commentary on environmental issues based on critical thinking and an understanding of science and economics.)

Kalitta Hopes To Extend Lead in Drag Racing Series

Brainerd, Minn.—With just six races left on the NHRA Winston Drag Racing Series tour, defending Winston Top Fuel Champion Scott Kalitta knows how crucial a win at this week's (Aug. 17-20) Champion Auto Stores Nationals at Brainerd International Raceway can be.

As runner-up of last year's event Kalitta maintained his points lead over second place Don Prudhomme and held on to the lead to win the series title. In his efforts to retain his title he'll be aiming to put a little more distance between himself, number two Cory McClenathan and number three Larry Dixon. While all three drivers have won three events this season, Kalitta leads McClenathan by 65 points and Dixon by 188.

The owner and operator of Trans Continental Airlines in Ypsilanti, Kalitta put his Dick LaHaie-tuned American International Airways/Sequent Computers entry in the points lead with his win at the recently completed Mopar Parts Mile-High Nationals; previous wins were at the Oldsmobile Spring Nationals and Western Auto Nationals. Those three wins were duplicates of his 1994 charge when he became the first Top Fuel driver to ever win four consecutive events (the Autolite Nationals was the fourth). His final round finishes at the Northwest Nationals and Champion Auto Stores Nationals gave him a record six finals in a row.

The number one qualifier at this event in 1993, the 33-year-old Chelsea resident has competed in only six of the 13 Champion Auto Stores Nationals held. From 1986 to 1990 Kalitta campaigned a Funny Car at this event with his best finish coming in 1988 when he fell to John Force in the semifinals after qualifying eighth. The following year Kalitta had Top Speed of the Meet at 273.30 mph.

One driver who will be looking to give Scott a little competition will be his father Connie. A three-time winner last season, the 57-year-old Ypsilanti resident is after his first win of the season. The proprietor of American International Airways has been battling problems this year and is currently tied for the number 11 spot in points with Ron Capps. A 1992 inductee into the Motorsports Hall of Fame of America, Connie finished fourth in the 1994 points chase.

Connie will be trying to recapture the magic he worked when he swept this event 10 years ago. Not only did he take the title over Gene Snow in the final but he was number one qualifier and had Low ET (5.458) and Top Speed of the Meet (268.62.)

Giving Connie some help in finding that magic will be new crew chief Ed McCulloch. Joining the team at the beginning of the season as a test driver due to Connie and Scott's hectic schedules, McCulloch assumed his duties as crew chief just four races ago and is working closely with LaHaie to return Connie to his winning ways.

Professional-qualifying for the Champion Auto Stores Nationals will begin on Friday, Aug. 17, with sessions at 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. Qualifying will continue on Saturday with sessions at Noon and 4 p.m. Final eliminations will begin Sunday, Aug. 19, at 11 a.m.

A highlights show will be televised on ESPN at 8 p.m. (EDT) Monday, Aug. 21.

Sheriff's Underwater Recovery Team Recognizes Supporters

Washtenaw County Sheriff Department's Underwater Search and Recovery Team (Dive Team) recently presented special awards to several local companies who donated equipment to be used for diving operations.

Layher, Paul Mobbs, Rob Pasternak and Tim White. Each has received several hundred hours of training above their normal scuba diving certification.

The team will also train this year in such disciplines as underwater investigation, vehicle extraction and swiftwater rescue.

Some local service groups have donated equipment to the team in the past. They include Ann Arbor Kiwanis Club, Chelsea Kiwanis Club and the Junior League of Ann Arbor.

Farm Bureau Joins Challenge of Court Ruling on Fertilizer

The American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF) is urging the U. S. Supreme Court to review a case in which a lower court ruled that fertilizer application from a New York dairy farm constitutes a discharge of pollution. "If allowed to stand, the circuit court's decision would open the federal courts to a myriad of false Clean Water Act citizen suit actions against farmers by individuals whose real complaints may merely be with the customary farm odors that existed in rural areas prior to their decisions to live there," according to Al Almy, director of public affairs for Michigan Farm Bureau.

The question, Almy said, is whether agricultural fertilizer applications constitute a discharge of pollutants from a point source. Point source pollution, defined as an easily recognizable source where pollutants emanate from a specific point or pipe, is most often associated with industrial sites. Agricultural practices have "traditionally and rightfully" been regulated under non-point source provisions of the Clean Water Act, according to Almy. "Under the reach of the Second Circuit Court of Appeal's decision, farmers could be forced to seek federal permits for usual and customary field activities," Almy said. "Routine activities, such as the application of any and all fertilizers and pesticides to agricultural fields and crop lands, could not take place without a federal permit because they could be considered point source discharges of pollution."

TETRACYCLINE STAINED TEETH

Tetracyclines—a group of infection-fighting antibiotics—can produce staining of children's teeth if they are given during the time when the primary teeth are forming. According to the National Institute of Health, if tetracycline is given to a woman during her last trimester of pregnancy, or to an infant during the first three months of life, discoloration of the dentin of baby's teeth could occur. The resulting stains are then visible as soon as the baby teeth erupt. The sensitive period of tetracycline-induced staining of the permanent teeth occurs between the age of 3 months and 8 years. These stains may not become visible for several years.

Although the stains are permanent, the enamel of the teeth is seldom weakened, and, therefore, the teeth function well. It is not a health hazard and if properly cared for, teeth—stained or not—can last a lifetime.

There are some cosmetic treatments for tetracycline-stained teeth, however, the best treatment is prevention. Parents should discuss with their doctors the use of alternative drugs during late pregnancy or early childhood.

Around The House

Tips To Help the Homeowner
By REX PERRINE
Home Inspector

Buying an Air Conditioner . . .

Visions of the scorching heat of summer fill your mind as you walk through the department store. You're closer than ever to buying that air conditioning unit you've wanted for years. The only questions that remain are, should you buy window units or a central system? And, what size should the unit be to properly cool your home?

There are advantages to both window and central systems. The window units are lower in cost and can target certain areas of the home but are not as efficient as central air systems and have to be manually installed each season. Their cost is between $200 and $300 for a one-room window unit and $450 and $550 for a large window unit intended to cool several rooms on one level. The life expectancy for the window unit is approximately 10-12 years.

The advantages to the central system include the efficiency and overall house coverage. The downside is the initial cash outlay. If you already have an older system in your home and are just replacing the compressor, the central air system will cost between $450 and $600 per ton, including labor. To cool a 2,000-square-foot, two-story colonial home, you probably need a 3-ton or 36,000 BTU unit. Your cost would be $1,200 - $1,800. If you have never had a unit and need the ductwork installed, you will probably spend between $4,500 and $6,500 for the system, including installation. The life expectancy on a central unit is approximately 10-15 years.

The more important question you need to address is the sizing of the unit or system, especially the central system. You should size an air conditioning system carefully because it has to dehumidify as well as cool. A system that is too large will certainly cool. However, when a unit is too large, it will not remove enough moisture from the air (dehumidify) and will still be uncomfortable because of the moist air. You will have to call on the oversized unit to reduce the temperature three or four degrees more than you would have if you had a properly sized unit. This is not as critical with the window units as with the central systems.

Regarding efficiency, both the window units and central systems need to be closely reviewed. Check the units for efficiency. On the newer units, both window and central, you can look at the energy guide stickers for a SEER number. Most window units and central systems will have this, but if they don't, or you would like to know what the efficiency is or what SEER means, you can figure it out by comparing the BTUs (British Thermal Units), or tonnage, of the unit/system to the electrical draw in amperage. (There are some gas units, but they are nearly obsolete in residential applications. They do, though, exist in commercial settings.)

The SEER number is directly related to the efficiency of the unit. The higher the SEER number, the more efficient the unit. One point of SEER is approximately 10 percent more efficient than its lower counterpart. This is important because the initial purchase price of a 12 SEER unit is approximately $700 or $800 more than a 10 SEER unit. However, if your cooling costs are $500, you can save 20 percent by using a 12 SEER unit versus a 10 SEER unit. This translates into $100 saved each year.

If a 12 SEER unit costs $700 more than a 10 SEER unit, you will break even at seven years and double your savings at 14 years. The more you use, the more you save with the efficient units. Someone in the South who doesn't buy a 12 SEER unit is probably making a big mistake. The homeowner in the North may not be making a mistake at all, due to limited usage of the unit.

SEER numbers range from about eight to 16, but above 12 are still somewhat experimental. They may be a more prudent buy in a couple of years, after they are time-tested.

Several Larcenies Reported to Police

Chelsea Police responded to a series of larceny complaints in the village between July 28 and Aug. 9. Larceny was reported at Tower Mart, 528 Main St., July 28 when a 13-year-old Chelsea boy stole a Playboy magazine from the store. The store owner said she would not press charges as long as the parents are notified of the theft. The boy was questioned by a Chelsea police officer and released to his father.

Larceny was reported at Polly's Market, 1101 S. Main St., Aug. 8. An employee of the supermarket told police she parked her 1993 Ford Ranger in the parking lot away from the building off Old US-12. When she returned to her vehicle, its green tail gate was missing. It is valued at $300.

Larceny was reported at Chelsea High school, 500 Washington St., Aug. 8. The school's band director told police two series M-170 transmitters and head phones were stolen between late June and Aug. 8. The man said at least 20 people have keys to his office, where the equipment was stored, and he has found the room unlocked many times throughout the summer.

Larceny was reported at Choke Gas Station, 930 S. Main St., Aug. 9. The assistant manager of Choke told police six containers holding returnable bottles were stolen during the night. The containers were kept behind a locked cage in a storage area. When the assistant manager arrived in the morning, she discovered the padlock missing, the cage door open and the returnables gone.

THE CHELSEA BRAVES enjoyed a fine baseball 1995 season in the WABA Stan Musial division. The team was even at .500 and members are looking forward to next year's 14-year-old season. Farmers To Help Communities Protect Groundwater Quality

Michigan Farm Bureau (MFB) has been awarded a $30,000 grant from the Michigan Department of Agriculture to help communities protect the quality of their groundwater supplies.

The project will be a collaboration between MFB, the Michigan State University (MSU) Groundwater Education in Michigan Program, the Natural Resource Conservation Service and MSU Extension. The partnership will set the stage for co-operative groundwater protection efforts in Michigan communities, according to Julie Chamberlain, MFB manager of promotion and education. She and MFB Commodity and Environmental Specialist Kevin Kirk are co-ordinating the program.

"The goal of this project is to assist communities by integrating the necessary tools and resources to initiate a plan and implement a program for protecting groundwater," she said. "We will be researching and developing a comprehensive manual for community groundwater planning teams. The manual, which will be available by Sept. 30, will offer steps to form and facilitate local teams, choose groundwater protection priorities, create and carry out action plans and evaluate projects," said Chamberlain.

The grant was made through P.A. 247, Michigan's Groundwater and Freshwater Protection Act.

School Property Damaged by Driver

Chelsea Police apprehended two Jackson met who were caught four-wheel driving in a field owned by Chelsea Schools.

Matthew S. Marshall, 24, of Jackson was arrested on an unrelated warrant when police investigated the trespassing complaint Aug. 9.

Marshall was driving a 1969 Dodge pick-up in the cornfield west of the school district's bus garage. He told police he joined several other drivers as they drove their trucks in the field. The others, he claimed, left before the police arrived. Marshall said he thought the property belonged to one of the other drivers.

Chelsea Schools' assistant superintendent told police she would not pursue prosecution if the suspect agreed to repair the damage.

CHELSEA SCHOOL DISTRICT

BUS TRANSPORTATION SCHEDULE

The Transportation Department of the Chelsea School District will operate K-12 buses to accommodate the District's transportation needs. Kindergarten noon bus runs begin on Wednesday, September 6th (the 2nd week of school). The bus schedules for kindergarten students will be published in the Chelsea Standard the first week of school.

The 1995-96 bus routes have been established with a commitment to the first rider on in the A.M. being the first one to arrive home in the afternoon. There have been changes in routes and drivers. Please take time to find your route in this schedule so that you may plan accordingly.

The District's Transportation Department follows the laws of the State of Michigan and the policies of the Board of Education. Each driver is properly licensed, attends inservices for continual training during the school year, and is CPR and first-aid certified. Evacuation drills are held at the Bus Garage in the morning prior to the children being taken to school 2-3 times per year.

All District buses have two-way radios for communication between buses and the bus garage. The radio provides a means of locating a child who may have boarded the wrong bus, reporting mechanical difficulties, and telephone communication through the bus garage to parents or others when needed.

Chelsea's bus drivers will send home to each family, within the first couple of days of school, a copy of the bus regulations. Please review these with your child(ren) and complete the bottom portion and return to the bus driver. The information provides a way to reach parents before and after the schools are open (before 8:00 A.M. and after 3:30 P.M.) when children are traveling to and from school.

Robin Melton, Transportation Supervisor, encourages and welcomes comments and questions regarding the district's bus service. She can be reached at (313) 475-7647.

NEARLY 30 FAMILIES from Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Orchard, and Washington streets gathered on Aug. 6 for a Sunday Block Party on Jefferson St. Closure of the street allowed the families to play games and picnic in the street. The children's highlight was pony rides furnished by Uncle Bill's. Jefferson St. (top photo) was decorated for the block party before the activities began. Allie Broekhuizen of Madison St. (in photo below) enjoyed a leisurely stroll aboard a pony along one of the Village's most stately streets. One of the Lynn twins (Katie or Bridget, left) and P.J. Edds, bottom photo, painted in front of the Edd's Jefferson St., residence.

SHERIFF'S REPORT

Webster Township

Assault and Battery

Assault and malicious destruction of property was reported on Huron River Dr. near S. Walsh Rd., Aug. 1. A 73-year-old township man told police he was checking his mail in the afternoon when a 24-year-old Ann Arbor man driving a Ford Taurus sped passed him, nearly hitting him. The victim said he got in his Ford Ranger and followed the man to the intersection of Huron River Dr. and Walsh Rd. At that point, the suspect got out of his car and a verbal argument ensued. The victim told police the suspect threw a plastic water bottle at his vehicle, causing minor damage. The suspect told police the older man retrieved a pool cue from his Ranger and threatened him with it.

Breaking and Entering

Breaking and entering was reported in the 7400-block of Black Forest Rd. off Walsh Rd., Aug. 9. A 48-year-old woman told police someone broke into her home under construction and stole several appliances, light fixtures and miscellaneous items valued at $2,000. The theft occurred between 9 p.m. Aug. 8 and 7 a.m. Aug. 9.

Breaking and Entering

Breaking and entering was reported in the 7100 block of Lucy Dr., July 28. A 30-year-old Pinckney man told police someone broke into his brother-in-law's home and stole an undetermined amount of jewelry. The man was collecting mail at the home while his sister and her husband were on vacation. On July 28, he noticed the front door was open and a light was turned on. He found several drawers open, including a jewelry box in the master bedroom. It is believed the thief broke in through a window after forcing it open.

Lima Township

Drunken Driving

A 37-year-old Chelsea man was arrested on Jackson Rd. near Fletcher Rd., Aug. 5 for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor. Police were dispatched to a personal injury crash at approximately 10:45 p.m. A 19-year-old Clayton man was involved in the crash with the suspect. The suspect failed several field sobriety tests. His blood/alcohol level was tested at .17 percent, which is considered illegal. The man admitted to drinking alcohol at a local bar prior to driving.

Medical Assist

Police were called to the 8900 block of Jackson Rd., Aug. 3, on a medical assist. A woman called police to say her estranged husband was depressed and talking about suicide. Police arrived at his door, and the man said he was depressed after being arrested on criminal sexual conduct charges. He is presently out of jail on bond. The man was convinced by deputies to seek treatment at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Lyndon Township

Malicious Destruction of Property

Malicious destruction of property was reported in the 20000 block of Island Lake Rd., July 27. A 36-year-old woman told police her daughter's former boyfriend drove his motorcycle on the lawn, causing $200 in damages. The woman said it is the second time the teen has done it. A group of three teen-agers witnessed the boy create a 2-foot wide, 20-foot long stripe in the lawn. The boy told police he didn't remember doing it, and if he did it was an accident. A prosecutor will review the case.

Dexter Township

Drunken Driving

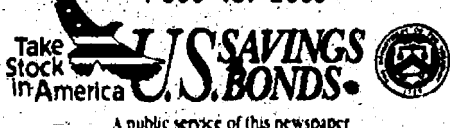

A 24-year-old Munith woman was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor on North Territorial Rd. west of Hankerd Rd., Aug. 6. The woman was stopped in her 1984 Ford Ranger for driving a vehicle with defective equipment. The deputy also noticed the woman driving erratically. The woman was asked to take a breathalyzer test. Her blood/alcohol level was tested at .12 percent, which is more than the legal limit. The suspect admitted to drinking alcohol at the Dam Site Inn prior to driving.

Runaway

A 44-year-old township man reported his 14-year-old daughter as a runaway from their home in the 10000 block of Stinchfield Woods Rd., Aug. 9. The man told police his daughter left at 5:30 p.m. Aug. 8 to go to Pinckney with friends. Her curfew was at 9:30 p.m., and she didn't return. The teen's name was entered into the Law Enforcement Information Network.

Mary Lou Haas

Chelsea
Mary Lou Haas of Chelsea, age 95, died Aug. 10, 1995. She spent her final days at the home of her daughter with loving family and friends at her side. She was born Feb. 14, 1900 in Ionia, to Gertrude (Wilson) and Ralph Cheney. Upon completing school at Western State Normal College, she taught high school home economics.

Mary Lou had been a resident of the Chelsea Retirement Community for 22 years, coming from the Detroit area. Over the years while at CRC she managed the variety shop, sat on a number of committees and was a Senior Girl Scout in Troop 777. As long as she was able she maintained a flower garden on the CRC campus.

A long-time member of the United Methodist Church, she served her church in many acts over the years. She was a member of the East Detroit Garden Club and volunteered her time and talents to enrich the lives of special children.

She was preceded in death by her husband, John George Haas; a daughter, Jackie Craig; and a sister, Eleanor Cheney.

Many loving memories will be cherished by those who loved and survived her, including her daughter, Nancy (John) Tandy of Gregory; her grandchildren, Karin (Thomas) Hall of Bethlehem, Pa., Nannette Tandy of Gregory; Mary (Jeffrey) Bust of Pewaukee, Wis., John (Diane) Tandy of Gregory, Jennifer (James) Szamecki of Ann Arbor, James (Cathy) Craig of Brighton, John Craig of Westland, Jeffrey and Jason Craig of Holiday, Fla., Joel (Mary) Craig of South Lyon, and Jill (David) McIntyre of South Lyon; and 13 great-grandchildren; two sisters, Lucille Davies of Boca Raton, Fla., and Irma Richards of Grand Rapids. A celebration of her life was held on Aug. 16, at 11 a.m. at the CRC Chapel with the Rev. Dr. Gordon Schleicher, Chaplain and the Rev. Wayne Hawley of North Lake United Methodist church officiating. She was laid to rest at Forest Lawn Cemetery in Detroit. Arrangements were by the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home.

Mrs. Brown died Monday, July 31, 1995.

She was born Nov. 1, 1915, in Canton, to Willard and Mary Huston.

She graduated from Chelsea High school in 1933 and from Mercy College of Nursing in Detroit in 1938; she also attended Wayne University.

Mrs. Brown served as a trustee of the Michigan Hospital Association, president of the Northwest Texas Hospital Association, a charter member and district advisor to the Texas Hospital Association and as a trustee to its House of Delegates.

She moved to Texas in 1946 and to Seguin in 1961.

She was instrumental in helping to build the Guadalupe Valley Hospital, which opened in 1965, and continued as its administrator until her retirement in 1977.

She has remained a life-time member of the Hospital Auxiliary.

Mrs. Brown was a member of the First United Methodist church and served on its Education Committee and as president of the Foundation Board. She became a charter member of the Seguin Zonta Club in 1973 and was named Boss of the Year by the American Business Women's Association in 1976.

The family requests memorial contributions be made to the Guadalupe Valley Hospital or to the First United Methodist church.

Eagle Scout Project Completed

On Saturday, Aug. 5, nine young men from our community worked together under the direction of Glenn Wright to complete his Eagle Scout project. The project, the construction of a Covered Wagon Roundup playground structure, will benefit the young students who will attend Lambs of Our Savior Christian Preschool this fall.

As 8:30 a.m. rolled around, the scouts of Boy Scout Troop 476 began to arrive. A casual observer may have initially interpreted their activities as chaotic, but as these young men began working it became clear that the many hours of planning put in by their peer was anything but disorganized. By 5:30 p.m. the climbing structure was complete.

Several months ago, Glenn approached the preschool committee in regards to their needs. At that time he learned of the upcoming plans for the development and installation of the school's playground. Glenn's involvement began with attending meetings and helping to determine the final size of the playground and the placement of the equipment according to C.P.S.C. (U.S. Consumers Product Safety Commission) guidelines. He then offered to assemble the largest and most complicated piece of climbing equipment to be installed. The project included assessing the work that needed to be done, determining a timeline for completion, lining up the workers, cutting the materials, and assembling of the equipment.

As you drive down M-52, the result of Glenn's planning and his troop's work can be clearly seen. What can't be seen, but is most important, is the attitude and commitment these young men have towards their community and their understanding of the importance of giving of themselves.

As she watched, Debbie Kennedy, preschool treasurer said, "There is so much in the news regarding the negative activities the young people of our country chose to become involved in. When young men such as these do something positive, their choices often go unrecognized. As a valued and respected member of our church, Glenn has always demonstrated his beliefs and ideals. His choices speak for what we as community members expect and hope from our young people."

Keeping Control of Farm Product Loads Keeps Drivers Happy

Farm loads should stay in farm wagons, and farmers who want to be good neighbors should strive to make sure agricultural commodities don't spill onto roadways.

"There are problems with spillage of farm commodities on the highway," admits Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau. "From the standpoint of the farmer, that's a loss of product that doesn't make it to the feedbunk or the market. But from the standpoint of motorcycle riders or other motorists, the spillage can be a hazard if there's enough to make the roadway coated and slippery."

Roadway mishaps due to spillage create a potential liability issue for farmers, said Nelson. "But beyond the legal liability, the most important issue surrounding spillage of farm commodities is the public relations to the motoring public. It's a nuisance for a motorist to have to clean his car or have the paint blemished by a product that comes from a load of farm products. Having that happen is not good for the image of production agriculture," he said.

Nelson said that state lawmakers are working on an early draft of a bill that would clarify farmers' responsibility to prevent loads from spilling. "There's always the possibility of spillage regulations being tightened. If agriculture wants to make sure motorists are not calling their legislators to complain about farm spillage, let's make sure the product is not spilled in the first place," he said.

Athletic Boosters Need Fair Gate Volunteer Help

As in years past the Chelsea Athletic Boosters will staff the fair gates with parents, friends and relatives of past, present and future Chelsea athletes. Also, as in years past, this effort earns much needed funds for the athletes in our school district. All monies earned by these dedicated individuals and families goes directly to Chelsea sports programs. As one coach at the high school recently put it "If it weren't for the Boosters and the community support, our program wouldn't be as successful as it always is."

If the Athletic Boosters missed calling you to enlist your help during Fair Week, call them!

A shift of 2 to 3 hours will be very much appreciated. You'll meet new people and see old friends, as well.

The Boosters and our student athletes will appreciate your help. For more information, please call Emmie at 662-7173.

G & E Sounds, Inc., have donated their services for the Chelsea Community Fair Ladies Day program Friday morning, Aug. 25 in the covered arena at the fairgrounds. Co-owner and operator Ginger Spears Bergey was raised in Chelsea and graduated from Chelsea High school in 1995.

Ginger, along with Sherri Viau (who lived in Chelsea for nine years) started G & E Sounds in 1993. Not only do they do weekly shows at the Wolverine, but also have bookings which average 35 to 40 shows a month. Ginger will be performing several songs during the program.

Break-in Reported at Water Tower Site

A foreman at the construction site of the new Chelsea Village water tower reported to police Aug. 8 that someone broke into the main shed.

Police found a lock pried off the shed's door. Nothing appeared to be missing. A piece of equipment was displaced, however.

The incident occurred between Aug. 4 and Aug. 7.

New, natural plant oil treatments against mites—a deadly enemy of domestic honey bees—are being tested by the Agriculture Department. Small-scale laboratory and field tests already have proven the blends of plant oils are effective agents in the fight against tracheal and Varroa mite infestation. Beekeepers currently use synthetic chemicals to contain mite infestation in their hives, but these chemicals are expensive and labor intensive, and some experts fear the mites are becoming resistant to the treatments.
