LARRY OGDEN will sell his cross stitch wares at the annual Webster Fall Festival, slated Saturday, Sept. 23. Ogden, a Chelsea resident, is a retired professor of geology. He moved to the area from Ypsilanti several years ago to be closer to his daughters.

Chelsea Man To Make Local Debut at Webster Fall Festival

■ Lawrence Ogden to create cross stitch for 14th annual event.

When Lawrence Ogden participates in the 14th annual Webster Fall Festival Sept. 23, he will have explored an entirely different genre than his days as a geology professor at Eastern Michigan University.

Retired from the university since 1989, the Chelsea resident has taken up cross stitching. He will debut his talent locally at the festival.

Ogden has been practicing the craft for the past three years since reading about it in various periodicals. He admits to often spending time browsing through the Ann Arbor Public Library and McKune Library in Chelsea. He happened upon a book on cross stitch one day, and has worked to perfect the craft ever since.

"I am not really an artist," he says, "but I do a fairly precise job of copying those illustrations."

Ogden makes his own patterns based on illustrations in bird books he finds in the library. His specialty is colorful song birds, such as the red-headed woodpecker and the gold finch. After he completes a replica, paying close attention to the bird's natural colors and feather patterns, Ogden puts a frame around it.

Pieces, ranging in size, cost between $15 and $45.

"It doesn't take a high degree of skill. Persistence is the main thing because every stitch has to be perfect," Ogden says.

Craftmaking appears to come natural for the Ogden family. Both Ogden's daughters dabble in the arts.

Susan Lancioni is a commercial artist who practices rug hooking. Marlene Dusbiber makes hand-carved wooden ornaments. Both women are now married and living in Chelsea with their families. Lawrence Ogden and his wife, Irene, moved to the village four years ago from Ypsilanti so they could be closer to them.

Besides cross stitching, Ogden has been building a doll house replica of the Ladies Literary Clubhouse in Ypsilanti. Its architecture, he says, is Greek Revival. However, he says, "I am accomplishing more with the cross stitch."

Ogden says the cross stitch is more convenient. He can pick it up, work on it a little and put it back down. "I really enjoy moving along with a project, from step to step," he said.

Ogden will be joined by several area artists at the Webster Fall Festival. The event is sponsored by the Webster Township Historical Society and Webster United Church of Christ. Ogden was invited to participate by Gloria Brigham, a member of the historical society. She practices rug hooking with Ogden's daughter, who showed Brigham her father's work. Impressed with what she saw, Brigham extended him an invitation, which will prove to be his first local show. Ogden participated in one other show three years ago in Ypsilanti. A beginner at the time, Ogden said he didn't sell much. "It was unsuccessful," he said, "I only sold one."

Ogden is hoping to do better in Webster township. The fair will be held on the corner of Farrell and Webster Church Rd. It will be from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and feature area artists, a luncheon, pig roast, rummage and antique sale, country store and bake sale.

Raid Uncovers Illegal Immigrants in Dexter

■ Owners of Chinese Tonite employed and housed the illegal aliens.

A raid in the Walkabout Creek apartment complex in Dexter Sunday morning turned up three illegal aliens.

Deputies from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department arrested the suspects, residents of Mexico ranging in age from 19 to 22, after the men could not provide paperwork proving U.S. citizenship. Three other Chinese men living there, who are claiming political asylum, provided documents from New York City which allow them to work in the U.S. while an investigation is underway to determine whether their claims are legitimate.

The six men have been living in a two-bedroom apartment leased to Jack and Nellie Wang, owners of Chinese Tonite restaurant in Chelsea. According to terms of the lease, only four people may reside in the apartment. All six men are employed by the restaurant.

Nellie Wang maintained Monday that it is not unusual for employers to provide housing for their workers. "You have to provide the housing because it's not easy to get local (workers) or get people from Ann Arbor to drive out here," she said. "Since they're not permanent (employees), I didn't think there would be a problem."

An officer from the U.S. Border Patrol joined deputies in the investigation Sunday. The sheriff's department became suspicious after responding to the apartment complex on several occasions for reports of assault and suspicious incidents. During those complaints, deputies reported none of the men could speak English.

Don Minzey, a sergeant with the sheriff's department, said Walkabout Creek management and residents have also complained about several people coming and going from the apartment in the 7800 block of Kookaburra Ct.

"We weren't sure exactly where these folks were from," Minzey said Monday. "On Sunday, we knocked on the door and they answered. We asked where they were from, and at first no one would speak."

Deputy Marvin "Skip" Davis, who is fluent in Spanish, addressed the men from Mexico, Minzey said. "He broke the barrier and asked if they were illegal aliens, and they said 'yes'. We called the border patrol and they responded with a unit."

Minzey said the three Mexicans were arrested on felony charges of illegal entry. They were lodged in Washtenaw County jail until Tuesday.

William Mitchell, senior patrol agent with the U.S. Border Patrol, said Monday that the three suspects have agreed to return to Mexico without going through a formal deportation hearing. They are set to take a Northwest Airlines flight from Detroit to Mexico City, Mexico. The airline, Mitchell said, has worked out a special arrangement with the U.S. Border Patrol that allows the government to send illegal immigrants back to Mexico at half the price paid by other travelers.

According to Mitchell, the suspects have agreed to return to their homeland in lieu of deportation. "When we arrest individual foreign nationals who are here illegally, we give them an opportunity to present their case to an immigration judge. In a formal deportation hearing, a judge renders a decision if that individual can stay," Mitchell explained. "It's more expedient and cost effective, however, if that individual admits to being here illegally."

Mitchell said if an illegal alien is deported, that person is barred from returning to the U.S. for five years. Through the alternative arrangement, the three men who were living in Dexter have the option to return if they go through the formal process of applying for legal status.

In the meantime, the Wangs may face fines and penalties for employing illegal aliens. An investigation is expected to get underway to determine if they hired the men knowing they didn't have the proper documents to be employed in the U.S.

Nellie Wang, however, said she was presented "green cards" from the three men. "I didn't know. They gave me ID. I didn't realize they were illegal," she said.

Mitchell said an employer being investigated must provide payroll records and timecards, among other records. The number of violations are determined based on information uncovered, and fines are assessed based on the number of violations. The most common violation, according to Mitchell, is when an employer does not physically verify the potential employees information when filling out an I-9 form. "We rarely find one violation," he added.

Wang said the three men arrested were on again off-again employees. "We used them when business got busy and let them go when it was slow. The three were just helping doing odd jobs. They were cutting vegetables and doing little things to keep things going."

As of early Monday morning, Wang and her husband hadn't been contacted by any police agency about the arrests at their apartment or their employment of illegal aliens. "It's unfortunate it has come down to this," she said. "I didn't realize."

An investigation is expected to get underway to determine if the Wangs hired the men knowing they didn't have the proper documents to be employed in the U.S.

Center for Development of Arts Offers Two Workshops

Chelsea Center for the Development of the Arts welcomes artists Madeleine Vallier and Janice Stevens Botsford to the Fall lineup of workshops and classes. In addition to the Chelsea Children's Chorus, directed by Steven P. Hinz, and the Voice Studio of Lisa Hinz-Johnson, the Center offers two visual art workshops for adults in the Chelsea area. These courses provide the framework for the opening season of activities for CCDA and pave the way for future programs.

The first workshop offered is "Exploring Watercolor" with Madeleine Vallier and is directed at the beginning adult painter. Ms. Vallier is an accomplished artist and has received glowing praise for her watercolor paintings. In his review of Ms. Vallier's work "Ancestral Valley," Ann Arbor News art reviewer John Carlos Cantu said, "In this spectacular painting her sheer exuberance of color handily crafts the landscape itself."

As a member of the Washtenaw Council for the Arts, she organized a French Art Class for 25 children in Chelsea. She is also a member of the Michigan Watercolor Society and is the past president of the Ann Arbor Women Painters.

Ms. Vallier was a 1995 Annie Award nominee and has displayed her work in public and private collections throughout the United States and abroad.

Originally from France, Ms.

Vallier left Paris and moved to Detroit in 1954. Finally moving to Chelsea in 1958, she raised her daughter, Michelle Papo-Panguy, and son, Rene Papo. Both of her children were educated in the Chelsea school system and she considers Chelsea to be a terrific family community.

"It was a great experience raising my children in the Chelsea area. Although I'm now living in Ann Arbor, I still maintain my ties to Chelsea and am very excited to be a part of the Chelsea Center for the Development of the Arts."

Ms. Vallier has been a tremendous influence on the community of Chelsea and has contributed her tal-

Board Asked To OK New Posts, Accept Resignation

■ Middle school orchestra director resigns and board asked to create posts of Technology Co-ordinator and Operations Director.

Last night, Chelsea School District's Board of Education was set to accept the resignation of one staff member and create two new positions for the new school year.

John Kennedy, orchestra director at Beach Middle School, resigned his position effective Aug. 22 after one year on the job. Chelsea Schools superintendent Ed Richardson said yesterday that Kennedy has accepted a post with Detroit Public Schools.

"He's got a Detroit position it sounds like he could enjoy," Richardson said. Kennedy will serve as orchestra director at the middle school level and do additional work in the elementary schools. He will remain a resident of Chelsea, and has offered to help the new hire.

The orchestra director's position here is expected to be filled at the Chelsea Board of Education meeting slated Sept. 18. Administrators have begun interviewing approximately five candidates for the post.

The school board was also set Monday to approve job descriptions and the posting of two new positions. Richardson presented a proposal to create the posts of Operations Director and Technology Co-ordinator.

The Operations Director will handle all physical assets of the school district, including buildings, grounds, equipment, vehicles and various sites. "They will report directly to the assistant superintendent for business and operations," Richardson said.

The post, expected to be filled at the Oct. 16 school board meeting, will include a special assignment for the first three years. The Operations Director will oversee construction of the new high school and elementary school. "We know they'll be very busy with the construction over the next three years," Richardson said.

In the next year or so, Richardson said, the position of Supervisor of Maintenance and Custodial operations will be eliminated and replaced with the Operations Director. "It's a new position, Richardson explained, "but we're moving the position up." Ron Joseph, who currently serves as supervisor of the department, is expected to retire.

A qualified candidate, Richardson said, would hold a bachelor's degree and have experience in facilities management, personnel administration, business or construction.

"It's a broader responsibility," Richardson said. "We're no longer looking for a supervisor of maintenance and physical care."

The position of Technology Co-ordinator, expected to be filled by the board between mid-October and early November, is a job necessary as the district embarks on implementation of a $3.5 million technology plan.

A qualified candidate will have education and experience in systems administration, training and hardware acquisition. "We need someone to co-ordinate staff training as we begin our technology plan," Richardson said. "They will ensure the plan fits our budget and needs, and implement the plan with our technology consultants to be hired."

Chelsea School District intends to implement voice, video and data. Plans call for utilizing electronic bulletin boards, electronic mail, CD-ROM, voice mail, electronic information retrieval, the Internet, distance learning and multi-media. Distance learning, for example, will allow two-way video communication where students can take a class at one site and participate and be seen and heard by a teacher teaching a class at a distant site. Multi-media is a combination of text, graphics, sound, animation and video under computer control. Teachers will be able to use multi-media to address multiple learning styles of students and foster critical thinking.

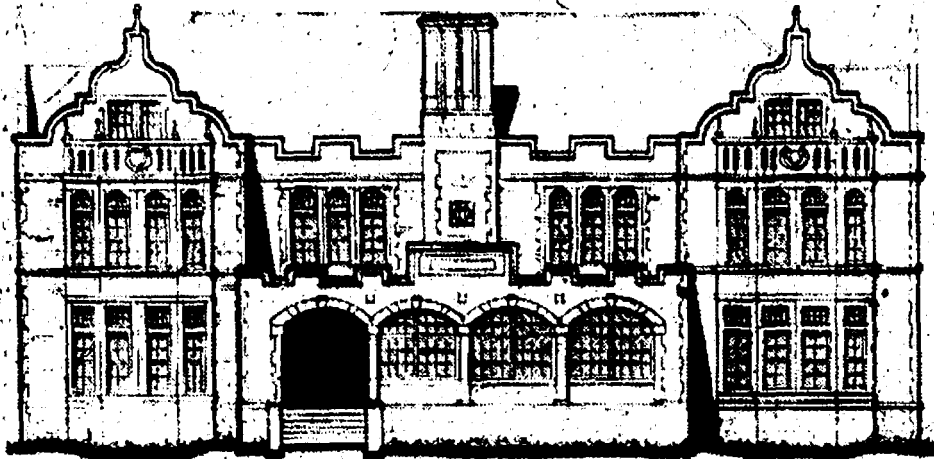

"Our plan is very comprehensive," said curriculum co-ordinator Laurie Bissell. "It was developed by teachers, board members and members of the community."

4 Years Ago . . .

Wednesday, Sept. 25, 1991—

Chelsea School District voters sent an emphatic, although maybe not completely clear, message to the board of education Monday when they soundly rejected a proposed $23.75 million bond issue for school building and improvements district-wide. A record turnout of 3,026 voters turned down the proposal, 1,893 to 1,099. There were 26 spoiled ballots and eight absentee ballots had not been returned. The board is faced with the task of trying to understand whether the vote is a rejection of the project itself, a backlash against higher property taxes or some other expression of dissatisfaction.

Chelsea Fallfest '91, the first event of its kind in Chelsea, is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 5 throughout the village. The festival is designed this year to celebrate the harvest season as well as the downtown beautification project, which is several weeks away from completion. Events range from the seventh annual senior citizens Country Craft & Folk Art Fair to bicycle sprint races, live entertainment in Pierce Park, and a Garage Theatre production.

Nearly 50 Chelsea-area residents took their property tax reform message to Lansing last week in what they hope will become a grass roots effort to change the way schools are financed. The group, which calls itself Chelsea Area Citizens, met with state Sen. Lana Pollack, Sen. Dan DeGrow, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, and Bob Swanson of the house state finance and taxation committee.

14 Years Ago . . .

Tuesday, Sept. 29, 1981—

Chelsea's touchdown play came late in the fourth quarter as David Wojcikicki took the ball into Tecumseh territory from three yards out to up the score to 20-14 in Chelsea's favor. Chelsea won the contest, 22-20, and remains atop the SEC in the company of Saline and Lincoln, the only other undefeated teams in the Southeastern Conference.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES:

Official U.S. Policy: Abandon POWs

American soldiers have been held in captivity by the Soviets since 1918. Every President from Woodrow Wilson on has covered up this shocking truth.

By F. R. Duplantier

Moscow Bound is the most thoroughly documented and comprehensive book ever written on the subject of American soldiers who disappeared in Soviet captivity from 1918 onward. It is the result of a 10-year investigation that extended from CIA, White House, State Department, and Pentagon offices to military and intelligence files in the National Archives, and to hearing rooms of the U.S. Congress.

Moscow Bound documents how the withholding of U.S. prisoners of war by Lenin and Stalin following two world wars was kept secret from the American public to avoid prolonged warfare. Thousands more American soldiers were held captive following the Korean War, and their fate was also covered up, ostensibly for fear of provoking a confrontation between the two nuclear superpowers.

By the time the Vietnam War concluded, the pattern had been established. Intelligence information on American POWs held in North Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia, China, Cuba, and the Soviet Union remained "classified."

Moscow Bound is an American version of Alexander Solzhenitsyn's Gulag Archipelago. It may be the most controversial, provocative, and explosive book ever published in the United States. Every American President from Woodrow Wilson on is implicated in this cover-up. Moscow Bound is the kind of book a publisher gets a shot at only once in a lifetime, the kind that sets off a bidding war resulting in a new record for the size of an author's advance.

Major New York publishers raved about the thousand-page manuscript, calling it extraordinary, authoritative, masterful. But guess what? Not one of them dared to publish it. The story has no commercial appeal, they said. So the author, Vietnam vet John M.G. Brown, was obliged to publish this incredibly important book at his own expense, and odds are you'll never get a chance to read it.

But remember this: American soldiers have remained imprisoned in Vietnam for more than 20 years. God only knows how long the POWs of the First World War remained in captivity. One shudders to think that American men abandoned after World War II may still be alive, after 50 years of servitude.

We the people of the United States may place too much faith in our leaders, we may be trusting and slow to anger, but we're not stupid. Poll after poll has shown that the vast majority of us know in our hearts that American fathers, brothers, and sons languish in captivity. We know that they are there; we know that our leaders lie when they deny it.

What the polls do not show is the threshold of our forbearance—how much longer we will tolerate the tragedy. Clearly, our patience is wearing thin. The day of polite inquiries is nearing an end. Mr. President, Honorable Members of Congress, tell us why you have done nothing to rescue these Americans held captive.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb told the fellows at the country store Saturday night that his preacher gave a report last Sunday on a touring exhibit of Russian religious art he saw during a trip to Atlanta a few weeks back. The preacher said the collection went from the start of Russia to the Communist revolution, and that he never had seen so much gold, silver and jewels in crowns, thrones, clothes and paintings in his life.

Zeke said the preacher talked about peasants working on the art all their lives, and he handed out pamphlets that told about the exhibit. Zeke noted where some scholar said only church leaders and members of royal families could read back then, and they made the art so the rest of the people could learn and believe by seeing and feeling. In other words, Zeke said, one percent of haves used the art to control 99 percent of have nots.

Zeke said he has thought the church art up one side and down the other, and he is worried that we're coming around to that kind of teaching. Even with all the year round, split shifts and other wrinkles in public education, he said, most children still start school about this time. So the papers have had their usual back to school ads and features. Zeke said there's been so much about computers, videos, peer pressure counseling and football practice until you wonder if students are enjoying so much enrichment they don't have time for reading and writing.

General, the fellows shared Zeke's concern. Clem Webster said he read recent where an education professor at the University of Virginia said images are replacing words as the primary means of communication, and he was talking about spoken as well as written words. Furthermore, the professor said,

Solve Mysteries . . . Read at McKune

Do you like mysteries? If R.L. Stine and Christopher Pike are your favorite authors then there is something new for you this fall at McKune Memorial Library. There are some mysterious and strange goings-on at McKune this fall and if you are in the third through eighth grades you can put your deductive skills to work and solve mysteries . . . read!

The program begins Monday, Sept. 11, and will end on Friday, Oct. 20. Registration will begin Sept. 5 at the Circulation Desk.

For more information stop by the library or call Josie Parker, Youth Services librarian, 475-8732.

Retired School Personnel To Meet

Washtenaw Association of Retired School Personnel (WARSP) will hold its monthly meeting at Weber's Inn in Ann Arbor on Sept. 8. A representative from the Turner Geriatric Clinic will address the members on perils and pleasures of retirement. There will be an opportunity for the audience to ask questions and offer suggestions.

The presentation will be followed by a short business meeting. Lunch will be served at 12:30 p.m.

All public school retirees are invited to attend. For reservations contact Katharine Angell at 662-8364.

school administrators "obfuscate" all the issues that parents of school children ought to be involved in.

Clem said after he looked up the word to see if it was fit for a family newspaper he realized the professor is part of the problem. If he wants to keep the issues confused all he's got to do is keep obfuscating them, was Clem's words. But he said the professor made sense when he said television and computer CDs are changing the way people think. More, he said, we are putting our trust in images and confusing them with reality.

From what he reads, Bug Hookum allowed, public libraries are part of this image control conspiracy. Local Governments across the country want to rent library books, and libraries cancel newspaper and magazine subscriptions and keep building video stocks.

Ed Doolittle said we have come to a sorry pass when reading is seen as an obsolete education tool. But Ed said John Paulos, who teaches at Temple University, is a candle in the darkness. He wants adults to learn reading the papers. People ought to skip over number images in the news, he says like how many stacks to the moon we could make of dollars in the national debt, and go for useful information.

After the discussion I believe the report where a TV station in England had trouble with its regular program and showed 45 minutes of tropical fish swimming in a tank. When it got back right folks called to ask about why the last program was interrupted.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Correction

It was inaccurately reported that Tracy Dufek, crowned Chelsea Fair Queen Aug. 25, hasn't been to the fair in the past three years. Dufek has been to the fair and has entered photography and pencil sketches. She has also volunteered her time by selling elephant ears, Sno-cones and parking cars for the athletic boosters. She has not, however, attended the fair queen program since beginning high school because it has conflicted with the marching band's trip to Cedar Point.

It was also inaccurately reported that Laura Roskowski was the third runner-up in the Chelsea Fair Queen contest. An error occurred when the points were tallied by the judges. Roskowski was named fourth runner-up and Cara Helman was selected third runner-up.

FAMILY ROOM

By KAREN MEIER

By the time these words are inked on the newspaper page thousands of children, including my own, will have seen the last of summer vacation. And that makes me very sad. If I were a singer, I'd sing the blues. If I were a ballerina, I'd dance "The Swan." And if I were a balloon, I'd be deflated.

Where did the summer go? One minute the children were cleaning out their lockers and having the first of the summer's backyard sleepovers in the tent and the next thing I knew they had had the last of the backyard sleepovers.

That's what they had last week. Out in the tent in our backyard, savoring summer's last breaths. On that late August Monday six young tenters happily settled themselves in our tent with their flashlights, pillows, sleeping bags, pogs, and full stomachs.

Now I know they had full stomachs because they'd just finished up the big batch of popcorn I'd made for them. I made it the old-fashioned way that night—on the stove, in a pan, with oil. And I melted butter and poured it all over the top. And I put salt on too. Then I tossed it all in the air to mix it up. It was certainly messier and more time consuming than microwave popcorn, but summer's like that. Messier and slower. And better.

Now I knew the backyard campers wanted to eat this messy, slow batch of popcorn outside, in the tent. But I wouldn't let them. That's because critters lurk and skulk about in the creek woods out there.

So I poked my head inside the tent and explained this to them. I explained the dangers of eating popcorn in the tent near a creek by the woods. "They're out there," I told them. "I hear them and smell them in the dark all the time—the skunks, the raccoons, and other furry sniffy things. Their sharp little noses smell food and they trundle out of the woods and waddle right up. And just how would that be?" I asked the would-be-tent-snackers, "if the furry sniffy things came right up to this tent and sniffed and scratched around?" The bigger campers said, "Cool." The younger ones ran in the house.

And somehow they all, big and little, wound up eating popcorn in the family room that night.

And after they all went back outside, in the tent, to safely settle themselves in with no scraps of food about to tempt skunks. And I suppose when all of them were in their sleeping bags with their heads on their pillows someone told a story. And as most tent stories go, it was probably a scary one. And that summer night was just right for a scary tent story. The stars and moon couldn't be seen because of the thick clouds. And it was sticky warm and humid. The heat lightning flashed above the clouds without making a sound and no doubt made weird shadows inside the tent. And the crickets and frogs were making their scary wild noises.

Did they make it the whole night out there? Oh sure, of course. They didn't want to cut the last summer sleepover short. Not for skunks or lightning or frogs. They didn't want to cut it short any more than I wanted to cut short summer itself.

The way I see it, summer never "ends," it crashes to a stop. It travels down the road, free and easy, the wind blowing in its hair and then out of nowhere a brick wall appears—looking very much like the side of a school building and CRASH, summer's over. It's done. It's over with.

And the days from that moment on are forced. They're forced to begin and end early. And there's shouting in houses across the land as school children poke along not tying shoes and brushing hair fast enough. And the bell rings and attendance is taken. And so on. And the days are not only forced to begin early, but end early. The homework assignments and practices and projects and Catechism classes gobble up the night. And of course, bedtime is forced.

Summer, though, is different. So breezy, easy, and unruffled. There were no bells in the summer. Feet were bare in the summer. And hair was messy in the summer. And it wasn't assignments or projects that gobbled up the night, but rather sleepovers in the tent in the backyard where still you learned things. You learned about popcorn eating, sharp nosed critters, and soundless heat lightning.

But now that summer has officially crashed to a stop, I'm singing the blues and feeling like a leaky balloon. I miss summer: the tent, the popcicles, the cicadas, the humidity, the slow popcorn. All these things are forced out of our days for quite a spell now. And it's hard giving them up.

And what's hardest of all, the most painful part about summer's end, is giving up the children to the classroom.

Center for Development of Arts Offers 2 Workshops

ents to numerous Chelsea organizations and causes. She developed Chelsea Painters 12 years ago and served as leader of this group of local artists for several years. She has been active in the Chelsea Hospital Auxiliary since its conception and has frequently served as chair of the Hospital Auction.

Ms. Vallier is as dynamic a community leader as she is a passionate artist. She explains her love and skill for watercolor as a process that evolved over several years. "I acquired my lifelong interest in art through visits to the Louvre and other museums and art galleries with my mother. After coming to the United States, I worked for many years with oils and acrylics, but more recently have been concentrating on my work with watercolor. I enjoy the loose, flowing quality that only watercolor can give: a color, a shape, a detail that triggers the beginning of a painting. As the work evolves, the subject is developed, transformed, transcended and thus becomes a part of a personal experience."

In the second CCDA Fall visual arts workshop, Janice Stevens Botsford offers a "Collage Workshop" for adults. No experience is necessary to participate in this workshop, and participants will create an art piece using various textures, shapes, forms and colors. Although she is now a Chelsea resident, Ms. Botsford, like Madeleine Vallier, has crossed the Atlantic to become a part of the Chelsea community.

Born and raised in a small village near Canterbury, England, to a family who actively participated in music and the arts, Ms. Botsford was exposed to drawing, painting, and pottery at an early age. At 17, she moved to Canada, and later came to the United States to pursue her master's degree in social work at the University of Michigan. She received her degree in 1973 and Ms. Botsford now maintains a private practice as a Clinical Social Worker in Ann Arbor.

Concurrent with her career in social work, Ms. Botsford has always been inspired to devote time to express herself through creative endeavors. She participated in the Ann Arbor Art Fair for two years in the seventies, and has had experience with ceramics, stained glass, sculpture, and drawing. Ms. Botsford's watercolors are on display throughout the Chelsea area and she also enjoys exploring various forms of mixed media, including collage. Her style is described as being free-flowing, bold, and spontaneous. She enjoys vivid, expressive, lively colors, and her layering of washes creates an intensity of rich value. Although her work is reality-based, she is intrigued by scale changes, and the abstract forms and shapes that are created by them.

A member of the Ann Arbor Women Painters and the Chelsea Painters, Ms. Botsford's work has been accepted into shows and galleries both locally and state-wide. In 1994 she won awards from the Michigan Watercolor Society and the Ann Arbor Women Painters. In the same year, a collage by Ms. Botsford was displayed in Ann Arbor and gained the attention of a representative of the United Nations, who then commissioned a piece to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the United Nations. After its unveiling in Ann Arbor, the collage has traveled on display throughout the state.

The global significance of art impacts Ms. Botsford's work and is reflected in her style. "I was tremendously inspired by the dramatic social changes in Europe throughout the past several years, perhaps because I was a European, myself. Particularly with the demolition of the Berlin Wall and Russia's restructuring, global thinking and co-operation have become tremendous forces in my work. Art is an expression of our culture, and any artist who feels strongly about something must reflect that in the medium of choice. Singer, painter, writer; every artist has the ability to make a statement through his or her specialty."

Collage is a medium that provides such a creative outlet for Ms. Stevens. She regards collage as an exciting transformation of shapes, textures, bits, and pieces, all wielded together to form a very personal work of art.

Both Madeleine Vallier's "Exploring Watercolor" and Janice Stevens Botsford's "Collage Workshop" will be offered through the Chelsea Center for the Development of the Arts, with advanced registration required. "Exploring Watercolor" will be a two-session workshop and is offered Saturdays, Sept. 30 and Oct. 7, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Room 118 of the Main Building at Chelsea High School. Tuition is $25 per adult student for the two-session workshop.

The "Collage Workshop" will be held Saturday, Oct. 21, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Room 118 of the Main Building at Chelsea High School.

Funding will begin Oct. 1, 1995 for a one-year period.

GRANDPARENTS' DAY

For all the years they've spoiled you, spoil them for a change.

Celebrate Grandparents' Day with flowers!

R9-3339

Most individuals recognize grandparents as being wise, kind, and seemingly endless sources of knowledge. They are quite often the ones we turn to when answers to life's question seem unobtainable. Grandparents have been revered for ages for these qualities. However, it wasn't until the late 1970's that grandparents were honored with a day of their own—Grandparents' Day.

Celebrated on the first Sunday after Labor Day each year, Grandparents' Day was the idea of retired New York advertiser Mike Goldgar. Goldgar felt that seniors were not receiving the recognition or appreciation they deserved, so he began efforts to create a day for grandparents that would equal Mother's Day and Father's Day.

Joining forces with other grandparents, Goldgar established the National Council of the Observance of Grandparents' Day (NCOGPD). The group put forth an extensive effort on Capitol Hill lobbying legislators to support his idea and to establish legislation that would make Grandparents' Day an official holiday.

Finally, in 1978, President Jimmy Carter signed the occasion into law. However, Carter's proclamation was valid only for 1978, so Goldgar and the NCOGPD were forced to repeat their efforts the following year. In 1979, Grandparents' Day became an official holiday to be celebrated each year.

Pinckney Players Offer Fall Dinner Theatre

Put on your country-best dress and head on out for a night in the Old West. It's 1880 and you're all invited to the fall bar-b-cue hosted by wealthy cattle baron "Den" Cartwheel for his rich and influential friends and neighbors. But keep your eyes open. The big cattle drive is coming up, and rustlers have been up in the hills. There could be trouble, even with a party in full swing.

The stage is set for Pinckney Players' first inter-active dinner theatre production, "Murder at the Broken Skull," on Sept. 22-23 at the Pinckney Masonic Lodge. The murder-mystery show offers a full western bar-b-cue dinner, live hoe-down music, some action and romance—and a bad guy to be caught before the evening is over. The story unfolds at 7 p.m.

"Murder at the Broken Skull" presents veteran local actors in the roles of Den Cartwheel's family and ranch hands. The invited "guests" become a part of the show, deciphering clues and motives that come up as the story unfolds. A prize is awarded to the team or person who correctly guesses "who done it."

Inter-active theatre is produced without stage or sets and the cast mingles with the audience throughout the evening. Show director and author Carole Ashley says the guests can decide how much they want to participate in the goings-on. "Unlike a lot of inter-active shows that are improvised, this has a real script and a story—you can just sit back and watch, or get involved in the action by asking questions and figuring out who the villain is. Either way, you're kept guessing until the end."

Carole is a member of the Pinckney Players and has written and directed several dinner theatre shows in other areas. "Murder at the Broken Skull" was first shown in Dexter in 1989.

Seating is limited for each performance. Tickets may be purchased at Pinckney Community Education, the Portage Lake Trading Post in Pinckney, Dexter Card & Gifts, and Uber's Drugs in Brighton. Parties of eight or more can request group seating.

For more show information or to order tickets-by-mail, contact Cheryl at (313) 878-3091.

United Way Kick-Off Breakfast Set Sept. 15

The Chelsea United Way Campaign for 1995-96 will begin with a Kick-Off Breakfast at the Chelsea Hospital on Friday, Sept. 15. This year's slogan "Chelsea Helping Chelsea," along with the logo will be continued from last year. The Honorary Chair for 1995-96 is William Nufer of BookCrafters. The fund-raising goal for 1995-96 will be announced at the Kick-Off.

The Budget and Allocations Committee met during August with the agencies that will receive funding. Agency needs, success of previous campaigns and general financial climate will all help to determine the 1995-96 fund-raising goal. Allocations to each agency are based on their funding requests. Special consideration is given to those agencies that directly serve the Chelsea area. This effort allows contributions that are collected in Chelsea to remain in Chelsea.

Because the Board of Directors of Chelsea United Way is totally voluntary 97 cents of every dollar collected is given to the participating agencies. Administrative costs of Chelsea United Way are only 3 percent!

The 21 members of the Chelsea United Way Board meet every third Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Chelsea Milling Co. offices. The Board plans the fund-raising campaign, reviews requests for financial assistance, and approaches businesses, institutions, professional organizations and individuals for contributions.

Healthier School Lunches

Parents have two choices—go with convenience and give the kids money for lunch or take the time to pack a healthy lunch. If you give your kids lunch money, there is the risk of it being lost, traded, stolen or used to buy junk food. And if you pack a traditional lunch, you'll be surprised to find it may not be a healthy choice. Consider that a bologna sandwich with mayo, chips, snack cake and fruit drink box gets 37 percent of its calories from fat and 32 percent from sugar. It also has virtually no vitamins or minerals. A healthier lunch of a tuna sandwich, carrot sticks, applesauce, 2 fig cookies and a juice box has only 21 percent of calories from fat and 12 percent from sugar. It also meets over 100 percent of protein and Vitamin A and C requirements. A great tip to get buy-in from your kids is to include them in the planning. Soon they'll be packing their own healthy lunches.

Prearranging a Funeral . . . A Very Special Expression of Love.

Just like buying life insurance and making a will, prearranging a funeral is expressing love for your family in a very special way. It's something you do now that will mean so much later. Those left behind will know that everything is being done exactly as you want it. And that's truly a blessing.

Visit us this week for complete information on prearranging a funeral. No charge, or obligation, of course.

Busy Farm Issue Agenda Ready for Congress in Fall

The farm bill will be a major part of the Congressional agenda this fall, but lawmakers will also tackle a number of other key agricultural issues when they return from summer recess on Sept. 6.

One of the most important deals with wetlands reform. The Senate Environment and Public Works Committee will mark up the Farm Bureau-supported wetlands reform legislation. The measure is very similar to the wetlands provisions contained in a House bill passed earlier this year.

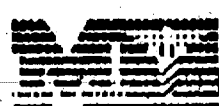

Another House bill (H.R. 1627) is the centerpiece of Farm Bureau efforts to modernize the nation's food safety laws, including reform of the outdated "zero-risk" Delaney Clause. The measure will be considered by the House Commerce Committee this fall. A Senate companion bill has also been introduced.

Legislation to reauthorize the Endangered Species Act will soon be introduced in the House and Senate. The proposed measure is expected to address several Farm Bureau concerns, including the act's intrusions on property rights, land use and water rights. The House may also see additional measures introduced that offer tax breaks and other incentives to farmers and landowners who provide habitat for endangered species.

Farmers will also be closely monitoring congressional progress on budget and tax issues, meat inspection, ethanol fuels and reform of the Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act.

Preventing Falls In the Elderly

Falls are the most common cause of fatal injuries among the elderly. But falls and aging don't have to go hand in hand. Most of these accidents can be prevented by following some common sense tips including proper lighting. For example: illuminate all stairways and install light switches at both the bottom and top; provide night lights or bedside remote-control light switches; install sturdy handrails on both sides of stairways; remove all throw rugs as they tend to slide; tack down carpeting on stairs; use grab bars on bathroom walls and apply nonskid mats or strips in the bathtub.

Waterfowl Hunting Season Approved

Department of Natural Resources Director Roland Harmes has approved this year's regular duck and goose seasons based on guidelines offered by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

DNR wildlife biologists expect this year's continental fall flight of ducks to be 80 million birds, up 10 to 15 percent from last year. Local duck production is estimated to be up from last year as well. Biologists largely attribute the improvement in this year's predicted fall duck flight to continued high numbers of ponds in United States prairie regions and southeast prairie Canada, which were created by abundant 1993 and 1994 precipitation. Another factor is the continued presence of the five to six million acres of idle grasslands in the U.S. prairies created under the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Conservation Reserve Program, where duck nest success rates have been excellent.

The seasons across the state will be as follows.

Upper Peninsula (North Zone): Sept. 30-Nov. 18.

Northern Lower Peninsula (Middle Zone): Oct. 7-Nov. 25.

Northern Lower Peninsula (Middle Zone): Oct. 7-Nov. 25.

Southern Lower Peninsula (South Zone): Oct. 14-Dec. 2.

Daily duck bag limits will be five per day, including species limits as follows: four mallards (only one of which may be a female), two wood ducks, one black duck, one pintail, one redhead, and one canvasback.

The canvasback season had been closed since 1986 but was reopened in 1994. The 1995 midcontinent breeding population of canvasbacks reached a record high of 770,000 birds. The separate daily bag limit for mergansers is again five, no more than one of which may be a hooded merganser.

Regular season Canada goose hunting opportunity will be liberalized for northern and western portions of Michigan because the Mississippi Valley Population, which breeds on the Hudson Bay coast of Ontario, reached its spring population objective and had good production. The Ontario's Southern James Bay Population Canada goose production was also good, but it is still below the planned objective. Therefore, due to a combination of past poor production and high harvest, restrictive regulations will remain in effect for southeast Michigan.

Local giant Canada geese continue at high population levels and will make up over 50 percent of the total state-wide Canada goose harvest, which is predicted to be over 100,000 birds this fall.

Regular Canada goose season dates and bag limits are as follows.

Upper Peninsula (North Zone): Sept. 23-Nov. 1. (40 days with two-bird bag limit.)

Northern Lower Peninsula (Middle Zone): Oct.-through Nov. 15. (40 days with two-bird daily bag limit.)

Southern Lower Peninsula (South Zone): In that area east of US-27/127: Oct. 14 through Nov. 2 and Nov. 23-Dec. 2. (30 days with a one-bird daily bag limit.) In that area west of US-27/127: Oct. 14-Nov. 12 (30 days with a one-bird daily bag limit) and Nov. 23-Dec. 2 (10 days with a two-bird daily bag limit).

Significant harvest quota restrictions on regular season Canada goose hunting opportunities will also continue within the DNR's southeast Michigan goose management units (GMUs), including the Saginaw county and Tuscola/Huron Units. However, harvest quotas will be increased for the Allegan county and Muskegon Wastewater GMUs in southwest Michigan. The GMU dates, bag limits, and harvest quotas are:

Tuscola/Huron—Oct. 14 through Dec. 2 (hunting on all public and private lands will be continuous this year without restrictions to weekend days and even-numbered weekdays). The daily bag limit is one, with a quota of 750.

Saginaw County—Oct. 14 through Dec. 2 (hunting on all public and private lands will be continuous this year without restrictions to weekend days and even-numbered weekdays). The daily bag limit is one, with a quota of 2,000.

Muskegon Wastewater—Oct. 14 through Nov. 14 and Dec. 1 through 21. The actual opening date is dependent on crop harvest. The daily bag limit is two, with a quota of 700.

Allegan County—Oct. 14 through Dec. 2. The daily bag limit is one, with a quota of 2,500.

Director Harmes will close Canada goose hunting in any GMU if its harvest quota is reached before the planned season is over.

The seasons on blue, snow, and Ross' geese this year will begin with the Canada goose season in the respective zones and goose management units and run continuously through the end of the duck season. The daily bag of all geese is 10 but may not include more than two whitefronts, two brant, or the legal limit of Canadas.

There will be a late special Canada goose season within the Southern Michigan GMU scheduled for Jan. 6 through Feb. 4, 1996, (30 days) with two Canada geese daily. It is designed to assist in the control of the state's local giant Canada flocks.

Shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset for all waterfowl hunting, as listed in the state Waterfowl Hunting Guide. Bismuth shot as well as steel shot will be legal shotgun loads for taking waterfowl this fall. The state Waterfowl Hunting Guide is expected to be available at license agents and DNR offices by Sept. 10, and it will provide detailed information on all hunting zones, season dates, bag limits, quotas, and shooting hours.

Hunters may now make application for reserved waterfowl hunts (for managed waterfowl areas in southern Michigan) at all electronic license outlets. An application guide is available at each license outlet. The non-refundable application fee is $3.50. Applications must be made by Sept. 9. Hunters are urged to apply early at the electronic outlets and to check their dealer receipts carefully for errors before they leave the license outlet to make sure all required information was entered correctly. Errors can only be corrected at the time of application. Only successful hunters will be notified with a mailed hunting permit, which should be received by Sept. 30.

Contemplating Life

"The deepest principle of human nature is the craving to be appreciated."—William James.

By Allen W. Smith

One of the greatest gifts we can give is a sincere compliment. We all need to be appreciated. Rousseau wrote, "Every artist loves applause. The praise of his contemporaries is the most valuable part of his recompense." In a sense, we are all artists who need to be appreciated. We need to hear compliments from others. But sincere praise is often a very scarce commodity. Why is this the case? Why are we so reluctant to praise other people? Are we so wrapped up in our own hunger for praise that we are unable, or unwilling, to praise others?

It takes so little time and effort to voice our appreciation to others, but its value to the receiver is immeasurable. Mark Twain said, "I can live two months on a good compliment. The very young and the very old often have an especially strong need for compliments because they have fewer opportunities to do things that can bring them praise than some of us. Why should we ever pass up the opportunity to make a kind comment that can lift the spirits of another?"

We must make sure that our compliments are sincere. False praise is worse than no praise at all. It is cruel and can inflict pain. In addition, when we are the receiver of praise, we need to be appreciative. In the words of Eleanor Hamilton, "A compliment is a gift, not to be thrown away carelessly unless you want to hurt the giver."

There is no shortage of critics in this world. Many of us are all too eager to find fault with others. Some of us have difficulty finding anyone whose performance measures up to our expectations. There is nothing wrong with a little constructive criticism so long as it is intended to help a person improve. But shouldn't those of us who are so free to point out the faults of others also be willing to offer a little praise now and then when it is deserved?

Criticism is a negative force which probably is very limited in its power to bring about improved behavior. But praise is a positive force that can be a powerful stimulus to improve.

Suppose that, for just one week, every person in the world would look for opportunities to offer sincere praise to the people around them. Suppose nobody neglected giving praise where praise was due. How would such a week differ from all other weeks? Wouldn't a lot more people feel appreciated? Might they not be motivated to work even harder at whatever they do to justify the praise? And what about the praise givers? Wouldn't they feel better about themselves for lifting the spirits of others? Wouldn't it be a better world? Think about it.

Bagels are bigger. Many, fresh-baked bagels now weigh 6 to 7 ounces and pack 500 calories or more, according to a recent analysis in the New York Times. Plain bagels, like any other plain bread, have 70 to 80 calories per ounce.

Girl Scout Calendars Are Now On Sale

Girl Scout calendars for 1996 are on sale now at a Huron Valley Girl Scout troop near you. The 1996 wall calendars and pocket planners showcase winning artwork from a nationwide contest open to Girl Scouts of all ages. With the theme of "Be Your Best," the 1996 calendars feature illustrations which express the girls' insights on health, fitness and the principles of the Girl Scout Promise and Law.

Calendars sell for $2, earning a $1.25 profit, which goes directly to the local Girl Scout troop. The calendar sale helps Girl Scout troops build their treasury at the beginning of the program year.

You may order calendars directly from a Girl Scout you know, or purchase them after Nov. 16 at the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council Headquarters, 1900 Manchester Rd., Ann Arbor.

CRP Sign-Up Deadline Date Announced

The secretary of Agriculture has announced that farmers will have the opportunity to bid cropland for enrollment in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) during sign-up 13. The purpose of this sign-up is to replace the approximately 651,000 acres that was released under the early release period in May of this year.

Objective of the program is to help owners and operators of eligible cropland preserve the nation's natural resource base by protecting sensitive cropland, improving and preserving water quality and to enhance fish and wildlife habitat.

Revised program provisions include:

- information will be available to applicants on how their bids will be ranked prior to submitting a bid
- applicants will know prior to placing their bid, what the bid cap in $ will be on the parcel of land offered
- once a bid is offered it cannot be withdrawn after Sept. 22nd without a monetary penalty
- applicants must have owned the land being offered for at least 3 years before the end of the sign up
- the land offered must have been cropped or certified as ACR or CU PAY for any two years between 1986 and 1990
- the land offered must be physically and legally capable of being cropped at the time of enrollment

Dennis Stoffer Joins CSB

Dennis J. Stoffer has joined Chelsea State Bank as a Banking Officer.

He will be responsible for managing the downtown branch office in Chelsea. The announcement was made by John Mann, president and CEO of Chelsea State Bank.

Stoffer brings over 20 years of banking experience to his new position. He formerly worked for Chelsea State Bank from 1973 to 1983. He then worked for Citizens Trust of Ann Arbor (now Society Bank) from 1983 to 1995 before rejoining Chelsea State Bank on Aug. 28.

A life-long resident of Chelsea, Stoffer holds a BA degree from Michigan State University. He, his wife, Barbara, and his daughter, Megan reside in Chelsea.

Crop Walk Organizes For Coming Event

Chelsea Crop Walk 1995 Committee held an organizational meeting at Faith in Action House Sunday, Aug. 27. Meeting with committee members were representatives from area churches and David C. Bower, Michigan director who reviewed the program for 1995.

Last year the Chelsea Crop Walk, through the efforts of the many people who participated, collected $7,534 of which 25% remains in the community for work in support of those in need. These funds are administered for the Chelsea Area by Faith in Action.

The Detroit Metro Area comprises 34 communities in this part of Michigan which participate in Crop Walk and extend from the Grosse Pointes to Chelsea and represent both large cities and small villages. Those who walked collected almost $500,000. Of interest to the Chelsea Walkers is the fact that Chelsea was in 22nd place over-all ahead of several much larger communities.

The Crop Walk, a program of the Church World Service, is now into its 25th year of providing help not only in your home town but around the world, including such places as Bosnia, Haiti and helping the people of Oklahoma City.

Is Your Checking Account Really Free?

Polish up your spectacles when you're shopping for a checking service, and read the fine print! There is more to some accounts than meets the eye! And it could cost you!

Most checking services that are advertised as "free" are anything but! Look what's hidden inside those "perfect" accounts:

ATM fees • NSF fees • Stop payment fees • Overdraft protection fees
Transfer fees • Duplicate check & duplicate statement fees

Chelsea State Bank's low-cost Checking Account is a feast for sore eyes! Plenty of honest perks and no small print promises! If FREE is what you're looking for, look at this!

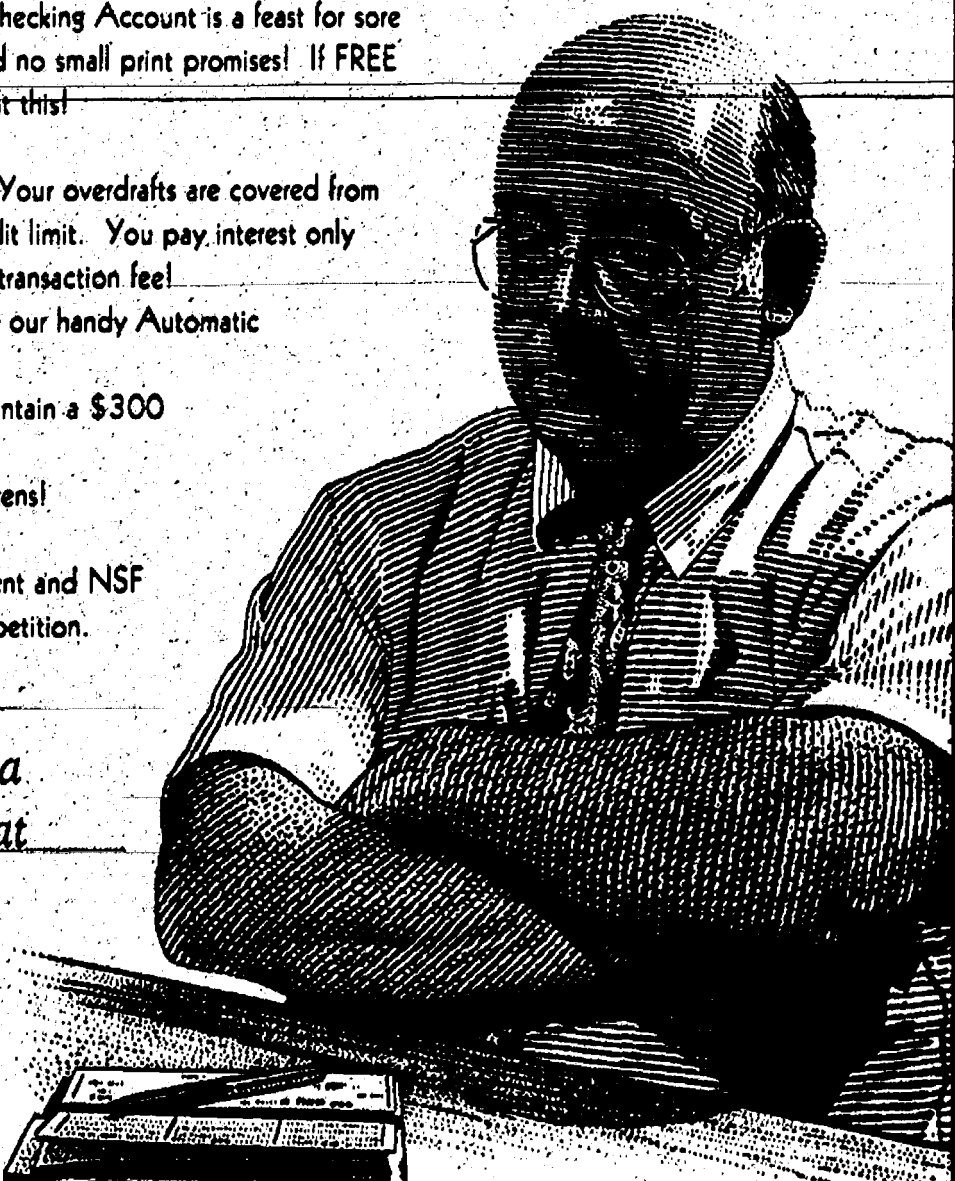

- FREE Overdraft Protection - Your overdrafts are covered from a pre-approved overdraft credit limit. You pay interest only on the amount you use. No transaction fee!
- FREE Checking when you use our handy Automatic Deposit service!
- FREE Checking when you maintain a $300 minimum balance!
- FREE Checking for senior citizens!

Of course we charge stop payment and NSF fees, but compare us to the competition.

FULL HOUSE: Checking out the Ladies Day crowd Friday, Aug. 25 at Chelsea Community Fair and enjoying the show is Tracie Stoffer, Ladies Day Committee member.

Ladies Day Is Big Success

There was boot stomp'n', fiddle playin' and down home singin' at the 1995 Chelsea Community Fair Ladies Day "Hoedown at Dawn."

Approximately 600 area ladies and some from as far away as Arizona, Florida and Argentina were present to receive goodie bags stuffed with a variety of surprises (including one which had a sheriff's badge in it matching the Ladies Day Committee members, which was worth $100!).

Joe Merkel of Wolverine Food & Spirits was kind enough, once again, to provide a breakfast treat of donuts, coffee and juices.

The program started off with three local beauty salon stylists (Pennie Ward of Mane Headquarters, Susie Grau and Barb Robinson of Studio 107 and Courtney and Amy from Linda's Hair Care) choosing volunteer audience members for makeovers. The ladies all returned more beautiful than when they left and all appeared quite pleased. In keeping with the country theme, the ladies were transported to and from the salons by a two-horse hitch/wagon driven and donated by Keith Bloomensaat.

The 1995 Fair Queen Candidates introduced themselves and then did a dance routine to "Rock Around the Clock," poodle skirts and all!

Ginger Bergey, owner of G & S Sounds sang three songs beautifully, giving goosebumps and bringing tears to the ladies eyes. Ginger and her husband Wally, donated their appearance and sound system expertise.

Once again this year, Mrs. Clara Smith presented the Homemaker and Junior Homemaker of the Year awards.

Kellie Clark, director of the Grass Lake School of Dance, led a demonstration of the Q.C. Electric Slide country line dance with several audience participants. Proving that the dance is not only fun, but also good exercise.

The Saline Fiddlers Philharmonic performed several lively numbers. This group of young people were excellent and were rewarded with a standing ovation. Included in the group were Ben and Barney Culver from Chelsea.

The grand prize, a vacation for two to Nashville, Tenn., was presented by AAA Travel Agent, Cheryl Szabo. The trip was won by Dorothy Wenk of Chelsea.

Due to the generosity of area doctors, dentists, merchants, businesses and private parties, the 1995 Hoedown guests were treated to gifts ranging from little tidbits to big money. Approximately 164 gift certificates, 78 gifts (including 17 cash prizes) and the use of a Jeep Grand Cherokee donated by the Chrysler Corp. were passed out to the ladies.

There are 4,000 miles of railroads in Michigan. Of these, approximately 700 miles are state-owned. In 1992, 1.3 million carloads totaling 76 million tons were carried over these rails. There are direct rail connections to the ports of Montreal and Halifax.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Girls Varsity Basketball Team Wins First Two

Chelsea girl's basketball team opened the season on Tuesday, Aug. 29 with a win over Jackson County Western, 40-36.

Chelsea took a 9-5 lead at the end of the first quarter as Heidi Kemnitz jumped on Western with seven of her nine points for the night.

Chelsea got a little more balance in the second quarter as Inwood, and Ruhlig hit the scoreboard and the team began to get the ball to Annie Terpstra. Chelsea led 22-12 at half but failed to put JC away as they only pushed the score out to 33-20 at the beginning of the fourth quarter.

Chelsea tied in the fourth quarter as JC Western stepped up the pressure. Western outscored Chelsea 16-7 in the fourth quarter to make the game close.

Coach Waller commented that he didn't sub enough to keep the starters fresh in the last quarter.

"I was a little tense with it being the first game of the season, and so were the girls."

Annie Terpstra had 21 points for the game, while Heidi Kemnitz had nine points and nine rebounds with five steals. Jessica Inwood and Kasie Ruhlig each had five points.

In the second game of the year on Thursday, Aug. 31 Chelsea crushed Fowlerville, 62-19.

The Chelsea girls took a commanding 26-1 lead at the end of one quarter.

Annie Terpstra poured in nine points as Inwood and Wehrwein spotted her continually around the basket and Heidi Kemnitz continued her first quarter barrage with six points on several steals.

Chelsea kept pulling away as the reserves, led by Suzy Steele and Melissa Carty, came off the bench to score. Carty had four points in the first quarter, while Steele found the range in the second half for six points.

Terpstra dominated inside with help from Chrissy Hodgson, as Annie had 14 rebounds and seven blocks.

Kasie Ruhlig continued to play well as she broke the Fowlerville press and still tossed in 12 points while getting the ball to Annie for 24 marks.

Waller said "It was a good game for the team, even with the lopsided score. Fowlerville came after us with excellent quickness and speed and we need to work on that with some of the quick SEC teams we play later in the year." Chelsea will play unbeaten Stockbridge on Tuesday next week, at Stockbridge, a short trip to see a good basketball game.

ANNIE TERPSTRA, senior captain of the girls basketball team is averaging 22.5 points per game to lead the Bulldogs in scoring after the first two games against Jackson County Western and Fowlerville.

Frosh Grid Team Loses To Mason

The Bulldog freshmen football team lost their season opener to Mason, 26-0, last Thursday. Turnovers were the story of the game.

Chelsea turned the ball over nine times on four fumbles and five interceptions and Mason turned three of them into touchdowns.

Except for some solid defense from Chelsea, it could have been worse since the Bulldogs made several stands inside their 20. Derek Olberg and Dan Kloosterman were bright spots in the Chelsea defense.

Aside from the turnovers, the Bulldogs did have some pluses. Vince Scheffler punted well, despite some pressure, averaging about 30 yards on four punts. Scott Johnson, playing the fourth quarter at quarterback, completed 3 of 8 passes for 37 yards with two interceptions.

"I thought we hung tough in the first half, keeping the score to 6-0 despite the turnovers," said coach Bill Bainton. "But we just kept giving them good field position. I think we turned the ball over more in this game than we have so far all season in practice. But there were bright spots, and will get better."

Varsity Bulldogs Fall To Tough Mason Team

The varsity Bulldogs suffered a 41-7 defeat when Mason traveled to Chelsea for the season-opener Friday, Sept. 1.

The visiting team scored on a one-yard run with three minutes remaining in the first quarter to begin what was to become Chelsea's first loss of the new season. Mason made the extra point to increase the score, 7-0.

Chelsea didn't move the ball offensively, and that remained the case throughout the second quarter. A punt from the 22-yard-line to the 43 allowed Mason to take possession with one minute remaining before halftime. The opponent scored on a five-yard running play and made the extra point to increase the margin, 14-0.

Gene LaFave, Chelsea's varsity coach, said Mason dominated the first half as the Bulldogs were held to three first downs as Mason posted 11.

"They scored on the first three drives to dominate the third quarter," he added. "We began to move the ball much better in the third."

Chelsea gained most of its 265 yards in the second half, while Mason garnered 325 total yards.

The Bulldogs scored their first touchdown in the fourth quarter on a one-yard run by Jay Schick. Running plays were set up by Jamie Halzhauzen and Schick. Casey Wescott's extra point was good to put Chelsea in the running.

LaFave praised the defensive work of players Kent Young and Jordan Dyer and offensive players Garth Hammer and Tom Barkman.

LaFave said the Mason contest was expected to be a tough battle. An equal challenge is expected when the Bulldogs take on Saline.

"We really have a lot of work to do," LaFave conceded. "A lot of changes are in store."

LaFave said four players will change positions for Friday's battle against the Hornets. "We'll get back after it, and see if we can play a little bit better this week as a result of having those people in place," he said.

Saline will prove to be the first league game of the season. LaFave said the Bulldogs will have their work cut out for them in the bout. "They're primarily a team that can run the football well and this year throw it well," he said.

SENIOR HEIDI KEMNITZ is off to a great start in the girls basketball season. With two games in the record books she has averaged 8 points and 8 rebounds with 4.5 steals per game.

Girls Tennis Team Wins 2 More Matches

Chelsea's girls tennis team increased their string of victories to three in a row last week with victories against Howell and Pinckney.

The girls beat Howell on Tuesday, Aug. 29, with a score of 6-1. In singles: Liz Holdsworth defeated Michelle Boeving, 6-4, 6-1; Aubri Sheremet defeated Jessica Kattula, 7-6, 6-3; Anne Frederick defeated Sarah Valentini, 6-2, 6-1; Leah Samuelson of Howell defeated Autumn Allen, 6-4, 6-2.

All three Chelsea girls doubles teams defeated their Howell opponents. Claire Isaaz and Laura Hurst won, 6-4, 6-4. Leslee Parker and Emily Arend won, 6-2, 6-2. Sara Walters and Bree Wireman won, 6-2, 6-1.

The girls defeated Pinckney on Thursday, Aug. 31, with a score of 6-1. Liz Holdsworth won, 6-2, 6-0; Aubri Sheremet defeated her opponent, 6-1, 6-2. Coach Learman recognized both Liz and Aubri for especially strong performances in their matches. At number three singles, Anne Frederick won, 7-5, 0-6; 6-2. Autumn Allen was defeated, 2-4, 4-6.

At first doubles Claire Isaaz and Laura Hurst won, 6-4, 7-6. Leslee Parker and Emily Arend stayed with it to win, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4. At third, Sara Walters and Bree Wireman were victorious, 6-1, 6-4; at fourth doubles Kindra Weid and Katie Zaroli defeated their opponents, 2-6, 6-1, 6-3.

"I am so proud of the way the girls are performing," stated coach Marta Learman. "Their hard work is showing."

The girls play Columbia at home on Sept. 5 and will travel to the Pinckney Invitational on Saturday, Sept. 9.

Girls Cross Country Team Looking for Success With 11 Letterwinners

Coach Pat Clarke welcomes back his largest team ever, 26 girls, as he starts his 25th season as Chelsea cross country coach.

Clarke returns no less than 11 letterwinners.

The team is led by senior tri-captains Melissa Hand, All State in 1993, Katie Spink, all-league in 1993 and 1994, and Jill McKinnon.

Other seniors who should contribute are Melissa Williams and Angie Bell.

Four juniors should provide strong back up. They include Jenny Space, Sarah Metzler, Kim Niehaus and Leigha Young. According to Clarke, Space and Metzler have looked very strong this pre-season.

The sophomore class is loaded with talent, including Jeannie Spink, All State and League Champion in 1994, Meghann Ziegler, State Qualifier 1994, Karen Pieper, Sarah Jede, Rachel Schoenberg, Emily Wineland, Megan Smith, and Krystal Baird.

There is also a fine turnout in the freshman class including Jennifer Buss, Jessica Gillespie, Katie Henry, Louisa Hubbard, Dana Meza, Katie Parker, Lauren Turek, and Becca Williams.

"We had a fair season last year until injuries and illness took us out of it at the end of the season. This year we hope to stay healthy and to become a team," Clarke stated.

The league outlook is strong indeed.

SALINE—The two-time defending league champions return everyone, led by All Stater Rita Arndt.

PINCKNEY—The Class A state qualifiers return everyone led by All League Runners Kris Lawrence and Stephanie Nelson.

MILAN—The Big Reds return everyone from a strong 1994 team led by junior All League Runner Jenny Westholm.

DEXTER—The Dreadnaughts are in a rebuilding season, led by all-league sophomore Becca Porinsky.

TECUMSEH—The Class B state qualifiers are rebuilding this season.

LINCOLN—The Railsplitters are should be stronger this season.

As far as the Bulldogs are concerned if they stay healthy and continue to improve they could contend for the top.

Girls Tennis Team Wins 2 More Matches

Chelsea's girls tennis team increased their string of victories to three in a row last week with victories against Howell and Pinckney.

The girls beat Howell on Tuesday, Aug. 29, with a score of 6-1. In singles: Liz Holdsworth defeated Michelle Boeving, 6-4, 6-1; Aubri Sheremet defeated Jessica Kattula, 7-6, 6-3; Anne Frederick defeated Sarah Valentini, 6-2, 6-1; Leah Samuelson of Howell defeated Autumn Allen, 6-4, 6-2.

All three Chelsea girls doubles teams defeated their Howell opponents. Claire Isaaz and Laura Hurst won, 6-4, 6-4; Leslee Parker and Emily Arend won, 6-2, 6-2; Sara Walters and Bree Wireman won, 6-2, 6-1.

The girls defeated Pinckney on Thursday, Aug. 31, with a score of 6-1. Liz Holdsworth won, 6-2, 6-0; Aubri Sheremet defeated her opponent, 6-1, 6-2. Coach Learman recognized both Liz and Aubri for especially strong performances in their matches. At number three singles, Anne Frederick won, 7-5, 0-6, 6-2; Autumn Allen was defeated, 2-4, 4-6.

At first doubles Claire Isaaz and Laura Hurst won, 6-4, 7-6. Leslee Parker and Emily Arend stayed with it to win, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4. At third, Sara Walters and Bree Wireman were victorious, 6-1, 6-4; at fourth doubles Kindra Weid and Catie Zaroli defeated their opponents, 2-6, 6-1, 6-3.

"I am so proud of the way the girls are performing," stated coach Maria Learman. "Their hard work is showing."

The girls play Columbia at home on Sept. 5 and will travel to the Pinckney Invitational on Saturday, Sept. 9.

Punt, Pass & Kick in Chelsea Slated Sept. 16

Young pro football fans will have the opportunity to exhibit their football skills when Chelsea Recreation hosts an NFL Gatorade Punt, Pass & Kick competition on Saturday, Sept. 16.

The competition is free and open to boys and girls age 8-15. It will be held at 3 p.m. at Chelsea High school football field. For competition information, call the NFL Gatorade PP&K hotline at 475-1112.

Sears, is the official retailer of NFL Gatorade Punt, Pass & Kick throughout the region and is distributing entry forms at the special NFL Gatorade Punt, Pass & Kick display in all stores. Entry forms are also available from Chelsea Recreation Office, 104 E. Middle St. (second floor of Municipal Building).

NFL Gatorade Punt, Pass & Kick is a football competition that allows youngsters to showcase their talents in punting, passing and place-kicking with scores based on distance and accuracy. Age classification is as of Dec. 31, 1995.

The top finishers from each of eight age groups at the local competition will advance to a sectional competition. The winners at the sectional competition will have their scores compared with other sectional champions. The top five scorers from the pool of sectional champions advance to the Nov. 12 Team Championship, to be held at the Detroit Lions vs. Tampa Bay Buccaneers game at Pontiac Silverdome.

Age group champions at this level will be declared NFL Gatorade Punt, Pass & Kick team champions. The top four finishers within each age bracket from the pool of 30 Team Champions will qualify for the national finals at an AFC playoff game in January.

A number of current NFL players have competed in Punt, Pass & Kick, including Buffalo quarterback Jim Kelly, Philadelphia's Randall Cunningham, Miami's Bernie Kosar and Dan Marino.

The NFL Gatorade Punt, Pass & Kick competition is produced by NFL Properties and sponsored by Gatorade. Support sponsors include Sears, and Wilson.

JV Hoopsters Post 2 Wins

Chelsea High school's girls' junior varsity basketball team opened the season with two wins after defeating Western, 35-34 in overtime and dominating Fowlerville, 45-20.

The Bulldogs led 12-2 in the second half, after a not-so-exciting first. The score was increased to 18-8 by the third period before Western dominated the backboards to out-score the Bulldogs, 19-9, to tie the game at 27.

In overtime, Western led up until the last minute when a freshman guard shot a three-pointer and hit a free throw with one second remaining.

Scoring for Chelsea were freshmen Lisa Zimmerman, Margaret Schick, Karla Dettling and Amy McCalla and sophomores Sarah Pruess, Cindy Richard and Hilary Spooner. Rebounds were posted by Richard and Pruess, while Spooner posted five steals.

During the Fowlerville contest, Chelsea turned a close game into a nine-point lead just before the first half ended, 19-10. The Bulldogs controlled the game in the beginning of the third and led, 31-12, after the third period.

Spooner reportedly had an outstanding game with 16 points, 19 rebounds and two steals. Other scorers were Zimmerman with nine, Richard with seven, Dettling with seven, Pruess with four and Schick with two. Richard posted seven rebounds and steals were accomplished by Schick, Pruess and Richard.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor and Chelsea Community,

I would like to thank the Fair Queen Committee, the Fair Board, Tech. Unlimited, my family, my friends and everyone who supported me during my run for the title of Chelsea Community Fair Queen. Also, thank you to The Standard for the article in last week's edition. However, I feel that I need to clear up a misunderstanding in the interview—I have attended the Fair, practically daily, each year. I have worked in the Sno-cone booth, in the Elephant Ear booth, and parking cars. I have also entered photos and sketches. The part of the Chelsea Fair that I have not attended in the past three years is the Friday night Fair Queen program. I have not attended because on that day I have been performing with the Chelsea High School Marching Band at Cedar Point.

The other misunderstanding was that I would be in charge of the Fair Queen Program next year. The program is still under the direction of Sally Heil and the Committee, I will only be assisting them.

I love the fair and have loved participating in it in past years. I am very excited and proud to be representing our fair for the next year.

Tracy Dufek
1995 Chelsea Community Fair Queen

Dear Editor,

The Women's Committee of the American Lung Association of Michigan has taken on a project worthy of our attention as we begin remodeling and building our schools.

The project is Health House '95 located in Northville. The house was built using health-wise materials combined with geothermal heating and air exchange system to drastically reduce indoor air pollution.

Environmental illness is becoming wide-spread as we continually tax our central nervous system and immune system via air pollution and pesticides on our food.

We owe it to the children of our community to provide them with an optimal learning environment. It would be wise for us to follow the guidelines in "The Healthy School Handbook" that is published by the National Education Association.

We need to build health-wise schools and do what we can at home to help and protect our children.

To obtain information on Health House '95 call (810) 559-5100 or fax 559-7434. To obtain a copy of "The Healthy School Handbook" call 1-800-229-4200.

Barb Merkel.

To the Editor,

Recently I have observed an increasing number of residents in town walking their dogs early in the morning and later at night. The dogs are often compelled to stop and do their "business" on the lawns of residents who are working hard to have healthy, attractive lawns. The dogs urinating on the lawns are killing the grass.

Dog walkers also should carry poop scoops. (Some do.)

Please—I hope it doesn't come to the point where I have to offend someone. I really am trying to avoid that.

A Belser Resident.

To the Editor,

Senator Alma Wheeler Smith gets a vote of no confidence for her August 25 article, "Lead-based Paint on Bridge Must Go."

The question here is this: "Should the paint on the Mackinac Bridge be removed in a tent-like structure to prevent the paint chips from falling onto the land or water?" The cost of this enclosure and the necessary repainting afterward is $46.2 million.

Senator Smith says yes we should do the enclosure. Senator Spence Abraham and I say no we shouldn't.

What is the extent of Senator Smith's research for her article? Apparently it is only one call to the Mackinac Bridge Authority. It's true, the officials at the Bridge Authority are honest and helpful; but they are also biased in favor of enclosure.

Before I wrote my article I checked out both sides. I talked with many officials from both MDOT and the DNR. I talked with national experts on lead pollution and bridge maintenance. I talked with the former head of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, whose opinion I discovered is different from that of the current staff. More recently, I've talked with timbermen and truckers, who are upset with the toll hikes on the bridge.

If Senator Smith had done more thorough research, she wouldn't have made so many mistakes. She misstates my position throughout the article. For example, I never said that "enclosure alone will cost $50 million."

A larger problem is that Senator Smith avoids the crux of the whole enclosure/repainting debate: No one ever did a scientific cost-benefit analysis of enclosing and repainting the bridge.

How can the EPA or the Mackinac Bridge Authority ask the taxpayers (or the tollpayers) of Michigan to spend $46.2 million to enclose and repaint the bridge and not even do a study to find out if the costs outweigh the benefits?

Does Senator Smith—or others for that matter—believe that any cost is justified to prevent lead chips falling from the bridge? Those who do believe that will like enclosure; but the rest of us need to ask, "Do the costs of enclosure and repainting outweigh the benefits?"

If the Mackinac Bridge Authority or the EPA had conducted a scientific cost-benefit test, I suspect the enclosure method would have flunked for three reasons.

First, in my discussions with officials from the Mackinac Bridge Authority and the DNR, no one could document any previous harm from sandblasting the bridge without enclosure. What's more, new technology has given us environmentally safer products that can strip the paint from the bridge efficiently without having to blast it off.

Second, scientists are unanimous that the Great Lakes are much cleaner now than they were 25 years ago and that air quality nationwide is much freer of lead particles than was the case 25 years ago. Therefore, the need for a zero-pollutant strategy is less now than it was earlier.

Third, and most important, enclosure is dangerous. It risks lives. Senator Walter North, who headed the Mackinac Bridge Authority for 11 years, carefully studied the issue of enclosing the bridge to repaint it. He resisted the pressures for enclosure not only because it is very costly, but because "the strong Michigan winds ... could hit that tent, break it apart, and kill someone in a passing car."

When we study environmental issues, we need to avoid emotionalism and look at sound scientific evidence and use careful cost-benefit analysis. For reasons of safety, as well as cost, the enclosure scheme is a bad idea.

★ Taking the Stress Out of Cracks

Cracks in the walls are not restricted to homes owned by the Addams Family or Dr. Frankenstein. Cracks are found in most homes, but you'll be glad to know that in most cases, they are not related to structural problems.

Approximately 80% of the cracks we see in residential structures are horizontal, vertical or diagonal. A large number are minor and do not require repairs outside of some basic caulk and repainting.

The following will help you better understand which cracks are potential problems and which are not:

Horizontal Cracks: Horizontal cracks are usually structurally related. However, their significance depends on whether there is lateral movement and, if so, how much.

If a wall has moved one-third of its thickness out of plumb, it is in imminent danger of falling. If it has not moved, or if the movement is less than one-third of its thickness, the wall can probably be reinforced.

Vertical Cracks: Vertical or nearly vertical cracks are only structurally related when there is lateral movement (e.g., bow or shear). This assumes the crack is a consistent width from top to bottom.

In most cases, vertical cracks are hairline or slightly wider and are caused by normal shrinkage or contraction. Expansion and contraction are normal for building materials. The more rigid the material is the more likely it is that a crack will develop. Porous or less dense materials will be flexible and less likely to crack.

Vertical cracks in a wall with a bow or sheared wall planes are structurally related. Contraction cracks are hardly ever a structural concern.

Diagonal Cracks: Diagonal wall cracks that break through the building material are almost always structurally related. Step cracks in a block wall that only crack at the mortar joints and not through the block wall are not typically a structural problem, unless lateral movement is present.

When the bearing or foundation under a wall is not adequate, the wall will settle or sink at the weak area. The adjacent wall structures that are adequately supported will resist this movement. This situation will typically cause diagonal cracking.

To determine the cause or locate the source of a diagonal crack, draw a line perpendicular to the crack down from the approximate center of the crack. Once you locate and understand the source of the crack, proper corrections will be relatively easy to determine and address.

Cracks in Plaster Ceilings: There are generally two reasons why cracks in plaster ceilings occur:

1) Over the years, gravity will cause the plaster to crack. Typically, cracks develop in larger ceilings, in the direction of the longer dimension, at approximately 30 to 40 years. Cracks develop perpendicular to the first cracks at approximately 40 to 60 years. The ceiling loosens at approximately 70 to 90 years. Repair or replacement is then necessary.

2) When the frame structure above a ceiling is not stiff enough to keep the plaster from cracking, premature cracks are inevitable.

Excessive weight or bouncing can cause floors to flex and cause plaster on the ceiling below to crack.

There are various solutions to these problems. These solutions are influenced by such things as thickness, height and span of the wall; source of the problem; and available space.

If there is a structural problem with any of the cracks as explained above, it is recommended that you consult a professional engineer.

Fall Tree Sale Dates Announced By WCSCD

Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District has announced its 1995 Fall Tree Sale. There will be two ways to order trees. First, evergreen seedlings and transplants may be ordered directly from the District.

Trees available will include: Austrian Pine, Red Pine, White Pine, Blue Spruce, Norway Spruce, White Spruce and Douglas Fir.

Also available will be tree planting bars, tree marking flags, Deer Away repellent, bluebird nesting boxes, plat books and other items.

Second, "Habipaks" which are assortments of trees and shrubs, and are ordered from the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD). The Washtenaw County SCD is a member of NACD.

Orders for both seedlings and Habipaks will be accepted through Sept. 29. Distribution of evergreen seedlings and transplants will take place on Oct. 18-19 at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds, on Ann Arbor-Saline Rd. Habipaks are shipped directly to the purchaser's home. All purchases help fund conservation work by the Conservation District in Washtenaw county.

For more information or to obtain an order form, contact the Conservation District Office, 7203 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor. Telephone: (313) 761-6721.

Wildlife Crop Damage Problems Highlighted in Public Hearings

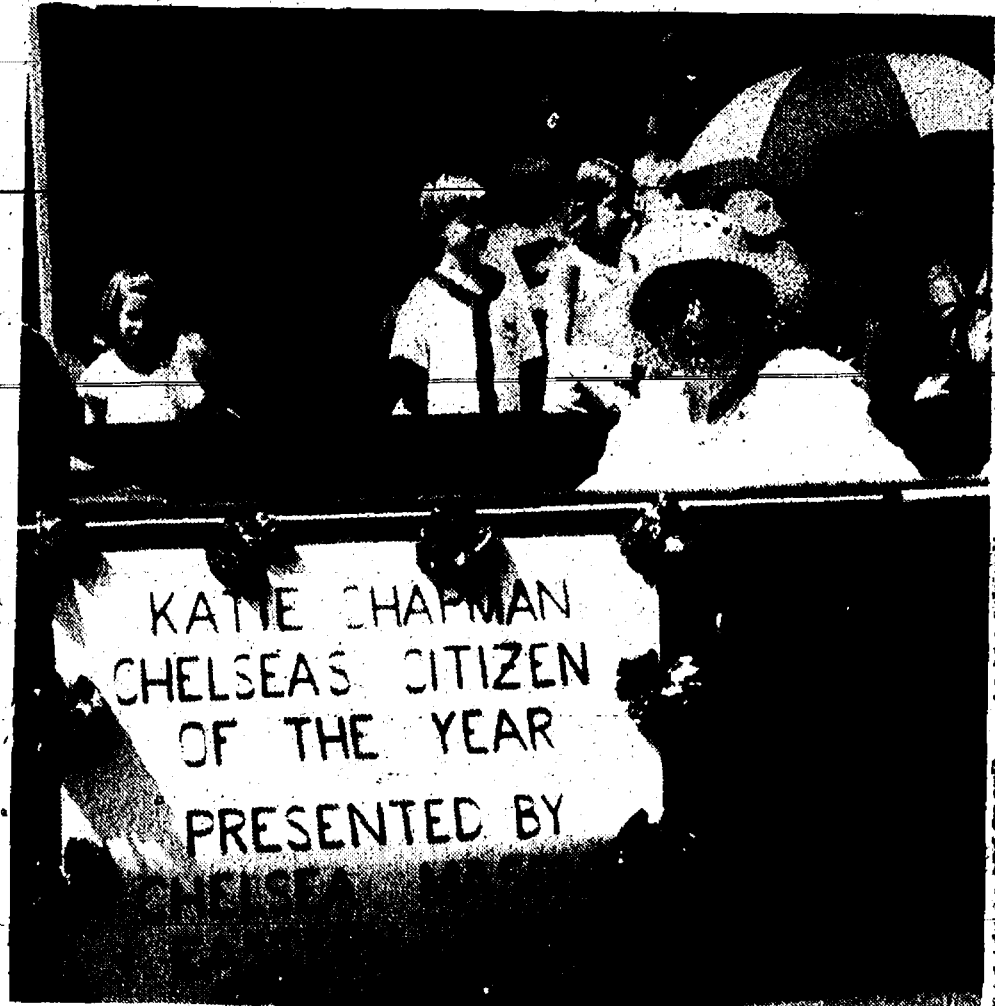

A series of public hearings held recently around the state highlighted the continuing problems Michigan farmers are having with wildlife crop damage.

Hearings sponsored by Rep. Carl Gnodtke (R-Sawyer), Rep. John Gernaat (R-McBain), Rep. David Anthony (D-Escanaba) and Rep. Michael Goschka (R-Brant) were held in Saginaw, McBain and Stevenson. "Probably the most prevalent deer damage in the state was reported in Menominee county, where farmers are losing between 10 percent and 30 percent of the crops each year," said Michigan Farm Bureau Associate Legislative Counsel Scott Everett, who attended the hearings.

Damage to the timber industry by foraging deer is a little recognized problem, said Everett. "In the Upper Peninsula we saw severe damage to red maple, oak and cedar trees. Wildlife damage is a problem not just for farm crops, but our entire natural resources industry," he said.

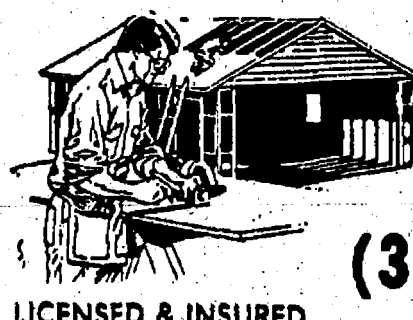

Everett expects that the state representatives who sponsored the wildlife damage hearings will schedule another hearing in Lansing near the end of September. Following that hearing, Rep. Gnodtke will hold a work-group meeting to allow agricultural and wildlife interests to discuss possible legislative solutions to the problem of wildlife crop damage, said Everett.

SHERIFF'S REPORT

Lima Township

Larceny

Larceny was reported at Hop In convenience store on S. Fletcher Rd., Aug. 30. The store's manager told police a radar detector was stolen from a glass display case. The empty box was left behind, and no one realized the radar detector, valued at $209, was missing.

Malicious Destruction of Property

Malicious destruction of property was reported at Reddeman Farms Golf Course, 555 S. Dancer Rd., Aug. 25. A 39-year-old Ann Arbor man told police someone damaged the grounds by driving a truck into trees, lamp posts and running over plantings. The truck used is a 1988 Dodge dump truck owned by Reddeman Farms. It sustained $500 in damage. The incident happened between 11 p.m. Aug. 24 and 5:30 a.m. Aug. 25.

In Memory of My Dad, HUGH W. GADDIS

Who passed away on August 30, 1968

Missing you is even harder when this day comes each year, recalling precious memories of the days when you were here.

Twenty-seven years since we heard you laugh with that twinkle in your eye. Still wishing in our hearts that we would have had the chance to say goodbye.

Angels light your world as you walk that heavenly shore, faithfully awaiting the day when we shall see you once more. Until we meet again, love,

Your Daughter Carole Son-in-Law Lester, and granddaughter Doris.

Hans Grossman

Chelsea
Hans Grossman of Chelsea, age 91, died Aug. 23, 1995 at his home. He was born Aug. 9, 1904 in Busbach near Bayreuth, Germany, the son of Konrad and Margaret (Bauer) Grossman.

He came to Detroit in 1927 and worked for Falls Spring & Wire. In 1940 he was transferred to Chelsea where Rockwell International had taken over the factory. He retired in 1969 after 32 years with that company.

He married Lucille E. Haselswerdt on Dec. 31, 1941 in Ann Arbor and she survives.

Hans was a member of the Rheingold Glee Club of Detroit for many years. In Chelsea he was a member of the First Congregational church and the Rod and Gun Club.

Surviving in addition to his wife, is his daughter, Susan K. (Richard) Urbanek of Canton; his son, Gary H. Grossman of Chelsea; two grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; and several nieces, nephews and cousins in Germany.

He was preceded in death by a sister, Anna Grossman Krauss in 1978.

The family received friends Friday, Aug. 25 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home. Private family graveside services were held Saturday, Aug. 26 at Oak Grove Cemetery, Chelsea.

Expressions of sympathy may be made to the First Congregational church or the Chelsea Retirement Community.

Thomas A. Kramer

Michigan Center
Thomas A. Kramer of Columbia township, died Friday, Sept. 1, 1995 at W.A. Foote Memorial Hospital in Jackson. He was 82.

He is survived by his wife of 56 years, Catherine; six children: Thomas J. Kramer (Martha) of California, Mrs. Ronald (Patricia) Balaze of Jackson, Lawrence R. Kramer (Antoinette) of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Edward (Catherine) Gillen of Florida, James J. Kramer of Rochester, and Diane A. Kramer of Ann Arbor; nine grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Louise Trotter of California; and two brothers: Robert Kramer (Gerry) of Detroit, and Jack Kramer (Dolores) of Traverse City.

He was preceded in death by his son, Robert Anthony Kramer in 1974 and a brother, Joseph.

He was a retiree of the Chrysler Proving Grounds, a Naval Veteran of World War II, and a member of Our Lady of Fatima Catholic church, where services were held Monday, Sept. 4 at 10:30 a.m. with the Rev. Andrew J. Dunne officiating. Private interment followed at Mt. Hope Cemetery.

The family received friends at the funeral home Saturday, 7 to 9 p.m. and Sunday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Scripture Service was Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The family suggests contributions in his memory may be made to Hospice of Jackson or the Our Lady of Fatima Education Fund.

Nichols-Arthur Funeral Home of Michigan Center was in charge of arrangements.

Helen G. Hopkins

Stockbridge
Helen G. Hopkins of Stockbridge, age 83, died Tuesday, Aug. 29, 1995 at the Chelsea Community Hospital. She was born April 15, 1912 in Jackson county, the daughter of Moses and Katie (Collins) Landis.

Helen had lived in Stockbridge since 1957, moving from Jackson.

On Aug. 9, 1938 in Howell, she married Merlin Hopkins, and he preceded in her death in 1959. She was a member of the Stockbridge United Methodist church, Sunshine Club, and Fun and Study Club. Her favorite pastimes, included, sewing and flowers, but her grandchildren were the apples in her eyes.

Surviving are, one son, Jerry Hopkins and his fiancé, Pam, of Stockbridge; one daughter, Mrs. Ron (Jane) Schubert of Stockbridge; two grandchildren, J.D. and Jamie.

She was preceded in death by two brothers, and one sister, and one great-grandson, Jordan.

Funeral services were held Friday, Sept. 1, at 1 p.m. at the Caskey-Mitchell Funeral Home, Stockbridge, where friends called on Thursday from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m. Burial followed in Oak Lawn Cemetery, Stockbridge.

Memorials may be made to Stockbridge Ambulance service.

Marcella Brown

Chelsea

Marcella Brown of Chelsea, born in Cincinnati, O., on Dec. 23, 1916, to Leslie J. and Lillie (Smith) Robinson, died Sunday, Sept. 3, 1995 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. She was loved as Mom to Pamela Gray and her son-in-law, William Gray, and Lawrence Wood and his wife, Barbara. She was loved as "Nanny" to her grandchildren: David and his wife Rachel and their five sons, Jacob, Benjamin, Zachary, Nicholas, and Daniel; Kelly and his wife, Caroline; Jordan Gray, Amanda, Sonya, Kira, and Emily; her brother, Leslie J. Robinson and his wife, Marian; her sister, Nora Drew and her late husband, Arthur; her sister, Sarah Hahn and her husband, William; her special niece, Becky and many more nieces and nephews.

She retired from the Arbor Heights Youth Home in Ann Arbor.

Funeral services will be held Thursday, Sept. 7, at 11 a.m. from the Chapel of the Chelsea Retirement Community. The family will receive friends Wednesday from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. at the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home. Burial will follow in Oak Grove East Cemetery, Chelsea.

Expressions of sympathy may be made to the Chelsea Retirement Community.

Ruth (Brooks) Kinner

She was a graduate of the University of Michigan as an RN.

Over the years, Mrs. Kinner was active in many charity projects, as well as church and community projects.

Mrs. Kinner is survived by one son, John (Vida) Portage, and five grandchildren, Scott Kinner, Ann Flemming, Gary Wilkins, Dale Kinner, Jacquelyn Kinner and one great-granddaughter, Tamara; also one sister, Rowena Brooks Simpson.

One son, David, preceded her in death as well as brothers Percy, Harold and Glen Brooks. Cremation has taken place and interment is at Lehigh Acres, Fla.

Ann T. Powers

Ann Arbor

Ann T. Powers of Ann Arbor, age 42, died Saturday, Sept. 2, 1995 at the University of Michigan Hospital. She was born July 27, 1953, the daughter of John R. and Theresa (Villemure) Thomson in Lansing.

On April 24, 1976 she married Michael H. Powers in Grosse Pointe Park and he survives.

She was a member at St. Francis of Assisi church and employed for 12 years at University Hospital as a nurse in the operating room.

In addition to her husband, Michael, survivors include: four children: Melissa, Christopher, Elizabeth, and Madeline; her parents; nine brothers and sisters; many nieces and nephews; and many brothers, sisters-in-laws, and cousins.

She was preceded in death by a son, Timothy Powers in 1983.

A mass was held Tuesday, Sept. 5, at 11 a.m. at St. Francis of Assisi church with the Rev. Fr. Charles Irvin officiating. Visitation was Monday from 1 to 4 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m. with a scripture service at 7:30 p.m.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Powers family on behalf of their children's education.

Arrangements by Muehligh Chapel, Ann Arbor.

BIRTHS

A son, Ben Alex, April 26, to Roberta and Craig Cossey of Hell. Maternal grandparents are Valerie Stanley of Harper Woods, and Everett Stanley of Maryland. Paternal grandparents are the late Claire Toth and the late Burton Cossey. Seth Aaron Cossey is the 4-year-old brother.

Fair Queen Program Observes 45th Birthday

Chelsea Community Fair Queen Program for 1995 was a year to remember and reflect back on the beginning of the Queen's program. Many changes have taken place since the beginning with Wanda Eschbach Heydlauff in 1950 and ending with the crowing of Tracy Dufek on Friday night. Throughout the past 45 years many new highlights have been added.

1995 was a year to celebrate the program's "birthday" by serving a birthday cake at the Monday Night Talent Judging Program, and to include former Fair Queens Laurie Lancaster Gravelyn (1970) as a committee member and emcee and Roxanne Shears Blaess (1966) as a judge.

It was a year for current Queen Melody Smith to include younger girls in the community as Princesses: Mary Kate Setta, Michelle Alber, Nicole Collins, Shevaun Walker and Elizabeth Skidmore.

With an increased emphasis on the development of self-confidence and personal growth skills, a "Yes I Can" Leadership Overnighter was held at the summer cottage of Edna Hatch. Numerous workshops were presented to contestants and various speakers, including 1993 Queen Amie Hatch, were available to assist with the development of these leadership skills.

The workshop session was completed with the reciting of a creed and the releasing of Friendship Boats into the lake by the contestants.

1995 will be remembered for the addition of a fourth runner-up finalist and the supplemental scholarship fund made available by the following individuals and businesses: Donald Wurtzel, DDS, Mary Barkley, DDS, Ron & Edna Hatch, Sweepster Jenkins Equipment Co., Inc., Chelsea Dance Arts Academy, Protomatic, Inc., Raymond & Peggy Hatch, Chelsea Hearing Aid Center, Mary E. & Virginia McKernan, Studio 107 Inc., Julie & Curtis Begley, Hatch Stamping Co., Variety Die & Stamping Co., Rita Wilson Howard, Chelsea Pharmacy, Inc., Encore Studio, Edward & Karen Horodecki, Alan Boyce, D.C., Washtenaw Carpet Clean, Chelsea Pets & Plants, Dapco Industries, Keusch & Flintoft, P.C., Ferris & Slater, P.C., Turner & Company, Winans Jewelry and anonymous benefactors.

The 1995 Queen and Talent Trophy winner is Tracy Dufek, 17-year-old daughter of Frank and Linda Dufek, who has participated for many years in the Fair but who also had not been able in past years to attend the Friday Night Queen's Program due to her involvement with the CHS Band Day at Cedar Point.

First Runner-Up was Danielle Longe, 17-year-old daughter of Lynda and Chris Collins and David Longe.

Second Runner-Up was Jeanine Mouilleseaux, 17-year-old daughter of Rochelle Martinex Mouilleseaux and Michael and Margaret Mouilleseaux. Third Runner-Up was Cara Heitman, 15-year-old daughter of Tom and Linda Parr and Dennis Heitman of Dearborn. Fourth Runner-Up was Laura Roskowski, 17-year-old daughter of Mike and Loretta Roskowski.

Miss Congeniality honors went to Carrie Pratt, 15-year-old daughter of Bob and Jan Pratt.

Other contestants competing were Lauren Daley, Hilary Spooner, Stephanie Lundquist, Amy Oake, Heather Dove GreenLeaf, and Jessica Timm.

Professional publicity photos of the contestants and the official portrait of the 1994 and 1995 queen were donated by Susan Carlson. The opening dance routine was choreographed by Alisha Bauer and Tech Unlimited provided the light and sound program for Talent Judging Night. Jerry Martell entertained the audience with his own vocal selections of popular 50's music, as well as the sound system for the multipurpose arena on Friday night.

Plans are already underway for the 1996 Chelsea Community Fair Queens Program. Anyone interested in sponsoring a contestant or in assisting with the program, is asked to contact organizer Sally Heil at 475-3149. Many girls are interested in being contestants but will need a sponsor in order to compete. The main responsibility of the sponsor (business, organization or service group) is the float.

The 1995 Fair Queens Program was a time to reflect back to the 1950's, poodle skirts, bobby socks, pony tails, and all... it was a time to "rock around the clock."

45th ANNIVERSARY: In commemorating 45 years of the Queen's Program in the Chelsea Community Fair, a birthday cake was served immediately following the Monday Night Talent Judging Program at Chelsea High school. 1970 Queen Laurie Lancaster Gravelyn, current Queen Melody Smith and 1969 Queen Jane Mann Shrobbree served the birthday cake in honor of all former queens and program organizers.

Timbertown Cow Chip Raffle 'Plops'

Timbertown's first fund-raiser event turned out to be not only exciting and fun, but also fast. The event took place at the Chelsea Fairgrounds, Friday at 7 p.m. in the horse arena.

Immediately after the three cows were let loose, they were off and running for a brief warm-up exercise. Within 15 minutes, all three plops had landed in squares 24, 25 and 25. Judge George Parker, looking very official in his black flowing robe jauntily gauged the winning plop's qualities with his official 'plop meter' and proceeded to flag first plop with the blue ribbon. Out of the milk can he drew 24 lottery tickets with the 24th belonging to Tracie Christie of Royal Oak, first prize winner of $1,000. Somehow Tracie got word of her luck and found her way over to the horse arena to collect the prize money.

Second prize of $750 was awarded to Toby Bell of Chelsea and third prize of $500 went to Kati Bauer, also of Chelsea.

JUDGE GEORGE PARKER inspects the official Cow Chip Meter used at the Timbertown sponsored Cow Chip Raffle held Aug. 25 at the Chelsea Fairgrounds.

LowBrow Astronomy Club Offers Program At Science Center

LowBrow Astronomy Club is inviting guests to view the stars, planets, and moons on Saturdays, Sept. 23 and 30, from 8:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. at Leslie Science Center, 1831 Traver Rd., Ann Arbor. Telescopes, a slide show and club members' expertise provide an exciting and informative evening. The program will be cancelled if overcast at sunset. Pre-registration is not required. There is no fee.

For more information, please call 662-7802. Special assistance or accommodation is available.

Metroparks Planning Golf Tournaments

An "Individual Championship" tournament will be held at Hudson Mills Metropark Golf Course near Dexter on Saturday, Sept. 23.

Entry applications and fees must be received at the golf course starter's desk by 5 p.m. on Sept. 16.

The non-refundable entry fee is $3.50. The greens fee is an additional $19. Entering golfers must have a USGA handicap. The championship will be flighted by handicap.

The tournament is limited to 100 golfers. Prizes will be awarded to the top three finishers in each flight.

For more information, contact Paul Gilson at Hudson Mills Golf Course 1-800-477-3191, or locally (313) 426-0466.

Qualifying rounds for the 8th annual "Kensington Individual Golf Championship" will be held at Kensington Metropark Golf Course near Milford/Brighton on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 9 and 10. The championship final will be held on Sunday, Sept. 24 (rain date is Oct. 1).

Entry applications and fees must be received at the Kensington Metropark Golf Course by 5 p.m. on Sept. 3.

The non-refundable entry fee is $3.50. The greens fee for the qualifying round is an additional $18.

Entering golfers must have a USGA handicap. The championship finals will be flighted by handicap.

The tournament is limited to 152 golfers each qualifying day. Prizes will be awarded to the top three finishers in each flight.

For more information, call Doug Curry at the Kensington Metropark Golf Course (810) 685-9332, or 1-800-23-GOLF-4.
