ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-FOURTH YEAR—No. 21

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1995

20 Pages This Week Plus Supplements

CHELSEA SENIOR CITIZENS major fund-raiser for the year is the Country Craft & Folk Art Show held annually in the high school. Organized for many years by Marcy Cavanaugh who retired from the job, the show is now produced by Linda Brzezinski of Dayli

Christmas Shopping Starts At Country Craft Show

The halls of Chelsea High school were transformed Sunday. Corridors became greenhouses, corners turned into candy shops, the gymnasium became a temporary craft factory. With all halls combined, the school became a jubilant marketplace.

The Country Craft and Folk Art Show, sponsored by Chelsea Senior Citizens, brought nearly 100 craft-makers together for a frenzy of home-made goods just in time for the coming holiday months.

Cindy Gaffield of Chelsea was one satisfied shopper who explained her bags of goods.

"Christmas shopping," she said. "You have to do it."

Her mother, Betty came from Burton to come to the show and join her.

Linda Brzezinski of Ann Arbor, the show's organizer, said 3500 people were expected at the one-day show, which is in its 11th year.

Her excitement for the day's art extended to her own purchases, including a simple white sweatshirt painted with a beautiful pattern. As organizer, she said she is able to deal with crafts on a new level.

"I get a chance to take all my favorites and put them in a room at one time," she said. "It's like a shopper's paradise."

Vendors from all over the Midwest were equally pleased.

"It's a good crowd," said Denene Pollock of Ypsilanti.

"People were lined up at the door this morning," she said.

Pollock said her tables, lined with everything from hand-made vests and Christmas ornaments, had been admired by a steady flow of shoppers.

Proceeds from the $2 entrance fee and merchant booth fees will go to the Senior Citizens Center. Scores of volunteers from the center manned the doors, scooped potato salad in the cafeteria and sold crafts they made in class at the Center.

"The seniors really work hard," said Pat Kaminsky, Senior Citizens Coordinator for Chelsea School District.

It was not only Kaminsky's crafts that pleased her. Her favorite part of the day was, "seeing all my friends."

With the endless craft selection from watercolor prints and white chocolate bowling pins to papier-mache pumpkins, the show had something to offer everyone who searched for a spot in the full parking lot.

Terry Pirrong gave out samples of Gigi's Applecake, named after her grandmother. The recipe is found in the Chelsea cookbook sold at her table, featuring recipes from area residents and eateries. The cookbook has entrees from every Chelsea restaurant, many of which are outstanding, Pirrong said. Proceeds from the book are for North Elementary School playground reconstruction.

Stuffed mummies, cinnamon-stick Santas, and cornucopias helped feed the show's seasonal melee.

Eucalyptus wreaths decorated walls and the scent filled the cafeteria while 9-year-old Holly Webber of Dexter, and her brother, Jake, 8, sold raffle tickets for a hand-made quilt.

"It's helping older people raise money and they have a lot of nice things here," Webber said, as she hugged her brother.

Chris Cooper, 12, a student at Beach Middle school, had more immediate concerns on his mind, such as "chips, pop and sloppy joes."

Chelsea Retiree Hits Lotto for $9.8 Million

For the first time in the history of the Michigan Lotto, a Chelsea resident has matched all six numbers and won the massive jackpot of $9.8 million.

While The Chelsea Standard doubts that there is anyone in the Chelsea area who doesn't know the winner, he has requested anonymity and we will honor his request.

The 76-year-old retiree from Federal Screw Works says he plans to share the payoff with his children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

With an annual payoff of $494,600 a year before taxes for 20 years, it probably will change the family's lifestyle.

The winner says he still hasn't decided whether he will continue his part-time retirement job.

He says at least, he will buy his wife a new kitchen and himself a new luxury auto.

The winner normally spends about $5 a week on Lotto tickets and has won $100 a couple of times. He bought the winning ticket at Tower Mart Party Store on N. Main St.

Autumn Jubilee Concert Slated To Benefit Arts

Autumn Jubilee is the next event planned for the Chelsea Center for the Development of the Arts, with a dinner planned for 7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 27 in the Main Dining Room of the Chelsea Community Hospital. The event is to start with a welcome gathering, complete with spiced cider and the harp music of Rochelle Martinez Mouilleseaux. Lisa Hinz-Johnson's CCDA Voice Studio students are giving a concert as a center fundraiser at 8 p.m. Following, at 9 p.m., Ron Yonkoski will serve hors d'oeuvres, desserts and wine.

The fall lineup of classes for CCDA are nearly filled to capacity, and programs are proving to be well-received by the Greater Chelsea Area. The Center offers workshops in visual arts, instructed by Madeleine Vallier and Janice Stevens Boisford, and music programs such as the Chelsea Children's Chorus, directed by Steven P. Hinz and the Voice Studio of Hinz-Johnson. All programs have started, and because of high demand, more workshops may follow, including more visual arts, creative writing, theatre and dance classes.

Co-founder and voice instructor Lisa Hinz-Johnson is thrilled with the Center's success.

"The possibilities are endless," she said. She was happy to see the time and energy dozens of people have put into making the Center work.

Seven of Hinz-Johnson's voice students will perform classical and musical theatre selections at the fund-raiser following the welcome reception with harpist Martinez-Mouilleseaux.

Hinz-Johnson said she was privileged to work with her students and the performance they could produce.

"I hope the Chelsea Community will show its support for these students by attending Autumn Jubilee," she said. "Chelsea has an extraordinary history of supporting its artists and we're counting on that to insure the CCDS's continued success," she added.

Benefit singers are Tracy Dufek, Michael Huschke, Bekah Knight, Courtney Chamberlin, Melissa Clairmont, Aaron Batzdorfer and Sally Walters who are Chelsea High school students and have been very active in the CHS vocal music program. The singers will perform selections ranging from Cole Porter to Mozart, in both ensembles and solos.

Tickets for the event can be purchased at The Common Market, Chelsea Pharmacy. For more information, call 475-3792.

German Exchange Student Likes Chelsea Living

Have you ever wanted to host a foreign exchange student? Four Chelsea area families are finding out what that's like, including Larry and Pamela Hopkins, Mascha Brunn, a 17-year-old from a town near Frankfurt, Germany, is staying with them this year until next July as she experiences Chelsea and Chelsea High school as a senior.

The Hopkinses have had experience in foreign exchange students before, as their daughter Andrea was one in Sweden three years ago. It was through Larry that the Hopkins family arranged to participate in Youth For Understanding (YFU), a program that brings foreign students together with host families for one year. Chelsea High school has had the program for 20 years. YFU operates in somewhat of a contrast to the Rotary Club, which rotates foreign students to different homes every three months.

YFU is apparently a very popular program. "The school community accepts them wholeheartedly," said Chelsea High school counselor and football coach Gene LaFave.

"The program is wonderful," said Pamela Hopkins, an employee at Chelsea Community Hospital.

All foreign students are encouraged to take a large role in their host families' lives, including chores and responsibilities. They are supposed to take a strong academic curriculum, but this is largely up to the host and home families, LaFave said.

In Brunn's case, art, biology, French, history and working in the student office are all part of her day. She is finding class chores to be a challenge, but she enjoys them.

Brunn, who speaks excellent English, as well as German, of course, also has a grasp on French and Latin, she called, "the dead language."

Students are usually restricted in what they can do. For instance, they are forbidden to drive or go places by themselves, he said.

When Brunn, whose father is a judge and mother is a dentist, first came to the Hopkins household, there were a few problems with her role and with Hopkins' daughter Andrea, in the chores, as Mascha is very enthusiastic. Andrea had not had to do many chores, before at home, and Brunn's coming gave her some competition. The Hopkinses live on a farm, where many chores must be done every day.

"When Mascha first came here, we told her she would get to share a bathroom with Andrea," Hopkins said. "She looked at me and said, 'This is the girls' bathroom, and we will clean it.'"

"I told her she didn't have to do that, but she insisted," she said. "She's very honest with us and very willing to acclimate," Hopkins said.

"We've kept her busy with school, cleaning and cooking," Hopkins said. "One day she even helped me give pigs shots." "Mascha wanted to drive a tractor when she found out we had one," she said. "We're trying to find out from the program if it's okay for her to do that."

"She's very hard on herself, as she has very high standards," Hopkins said. "Once we explain something, she can figure out how to do it," she said. "She's so entranced with everything," Hopkins said.

Most students adjust well to a foreign country, but not all. Hopkins said one boy, who was very shy, came to Chelsea to live with an aunt. "He hasn't gotten into things," she said.

Brunn said the hardest part about being a foreign exchange student is going away from home.

"The first week, I really missed my boyfriend and other friends," she said.

Still, most students fit in, such as Brunn, even if they find out that certain aspects are hard, such as academics and sports.

Brunn first experienced culture shock after she got here and noticed that Chelsea is much smaller than the town she comes from in Germany.

"My town is very big," she said. "Here, you get noticed, and when you say something, word gets around."

If she could offer advice to another foreign student, Brunn said that that it is very important to learn about other cultures.

"You shouldn't talk too much about where you come from. People don't like that too much," she said. "You should try to be nice."

Niceness is good, but it won't help you much in swimming, as Brunn found out this year. In fact, swimming was very tough as her high school in Germany doesn't have a sports program.

"Meets are very hard," Brunn said. "I lose a lot, but I'm getting better," she said.

Geology Arts Fair Attracts Hundreds

More than 200 people braved the wind and rain Saturday to see yet another element—rocks.

The Annual Geology Arts Fair allowed kids to mine for "gold," make trees out of gems, and learn a little about the Michigan earth.

Lisa Gamero of Michigan Parks and Recreation said at least 600 people were expected at the weekend festivities, weather improving.

Paths of giant rocks line the Gerald E. Eddy Geology Center, in eye shot of the autumnal colors surrounding Mill Lake.

In its fifth year, the fair brings in guest lecturers, demonstrations and vendors who in turn bring pieces of the earth from all over the continent—from the wood of the Southwest desert's Cholla cactus to the diamond-like crystals of a geode's innards.

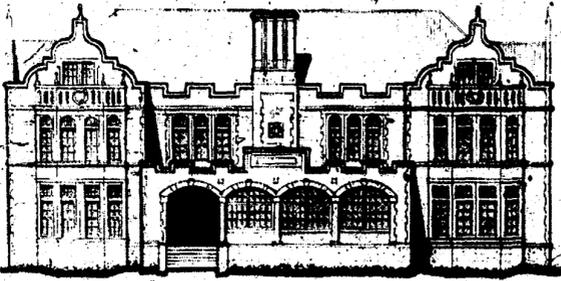

"I like the stuff that you learn," said Spencer, a 9-year-old Cub Scout from Williamston. "I learned that three-fourths of the world is water."

For those who missed the weekend fair, the Center is open year-round, every day from 9 to 5 and the transforming colors of the earth and trees in the area are just beginning.

A GEOLOGY SHOW was presented over the weekend at the Gerald E. Eddy Nature Center in the Waterloo Recreation area. Among demonstrations was instruction in making gem trees. At left, as the instructor, is Diane Dezara of Lansing from the Midwest Mineralogic and Lapidary Society. Seated is Arlette Barger of Clinton township learning how to make the trees.

Wednesday, Oct. 30, 1991—

Chelsea was in the throes of a mini-crime spree. A man, claiming to have a gun, stole $1,450 from the Chelsea branch of the Society Bank during the lunch hour. No one was hurt in Chelsea's first bank robbery in 10 years. The next day, someone stole $1,345 in cash from the Chelsea Big Boy overnight. Police believe the same person may also be responsible for a break-in at the Taco Bell on the same night. Nothing was stolen in that crime. Twelve other break-ins, a theft of insulin and a shoplifter (who was caught) were reported during the month.

Chelsea-Ann Arbor bus service was temporarily rejected by the village council. The council voted 4-2 to pay the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority $5,081 to keep the route through September of 1992, but because of a technicality, it was discovered, the vote could not pass without the absent Allen Anderson.

Trustee Jim Finch, who voted against the subsidy, said "If we vote against it, we'll have 49 people upset. If we vote for it, we'll have 3,000 people unhappy."

A grass roots group called Chelsea Citizens for Property Tax Reform began a massive chain-letter campaign in an effort to build a statewide outcry to Michigan legislators for failing to provide property tax relief.

Pinckney dumped Chelsea High 27-5 in the Bulldogs' home finale. The game was marred by opposing players taunting each other, coaches yelling at players, players yelling at players and parents yelling at coaches.

Within the past few weeks, nearly 25 auto-deer crash incidents have been reported in the Chelsea-Dexter area. Sheriff's Department Deputy Joe Yukulis said a driver who hits and kills a deer can keep the deer with a special permit from the Sheriff's Department.

Chelsea High, at 7-1, clinched the league championship with a 20-0 win over Mason. The previous year, the Bulldogs had gone winless.

The Chelsea Board of Education unanimously adopted a $2,154,344 operating budget for the 1991-92 school year during its regular bimonthly session. This year's budget is a $98,422 increase. Business Manager Fred Mills said most of the increase will be used in paying salaries of teachers and other school personnel.

Gusts of 55 mph blew through southeast Michigan, damaging several buildings. One was the Ann Arbor Federal Savings Branch being built on S. Main St. A bank official said the opening of the branch would definitely be delayed.

Chelsea took over the top ranking in the Associated Press high school football poll: Coach Phil Bareis said he wasn't going to let it go to his head. The Bulldogs were 7-0 after a 39-0 win over South Lyon.

The Chelsea District Hockey Association was organized. A year earlier, a group of high school students formed a team, playing their games in Ann Arbor. At the end of the season, they approached Owen Loasby of Gateway Sports Centre for a sponsorship: He had a better idea—to form a hockey association.

The Chicago-to-Detroit bus skidded during a heavy rainstorm, hit a guardrail, plunged down a 30-foot embankment and turned on its side at the bottom. BEHIND THE HEADLINES:

Red China Poses World Military Threat

Despite its status as host of the recently concluded United Nations Fourth World Conference on Women, China has the world's worst record of human rights abuses. It also poses a growing military threat to its neighbors, and to the United States.

F.R. Duplantier

Allowing China, with its forced abortions and other inhumane policies, to serve as the host of an international conference on the rights of women was inappropriate at best, and deserving of condemnation. Ironically, however, our concentration on the manifold abuses to which China subjects its own citizens may be obscuring the growing threat that this tyrannical regime poses to the rest of the world. "While attention has focused on its human rights record, China has been quietly building its war machine in a way that alarms military experts," says Mindy Belz in a recent issue of World magazine.

"Historically, China relied on sheer numbers, the ability as the largest country in the world to amass hordes of armed troops, however poorly trained or equipped, to overwhelm an opponent," Belz observes. All that has changed. Belz reports that the Chinese government is in the process of reinventing the People's Liberation Army. "Defense spending has doubled in the last 10 years, and the sum has gone toward thoroughly modernizing the army, growing a ballistic missile arsenal, and building a navy that can extend its reach well beyond Asian Waters," Belz warns that the "2.2-million-strong land army has upgraded its troops to a level where 70 percent qualify as special forces." That's one well-trained horde.

While China's military might may not compare to America's, it does threaten "American allies like South Korea, Thailand, Japan, and Taiwan," says Belz. Taiwan, in particular, has abundant cause for concern. Recent Chinese missile tests and growing exercises were clearly designed to intimidate, and to signal China's "disapproval of Taiwan's president Lee Teng-hui's visit to the United States in June." Belz notes that the Chinese army "threatened to use force if Taiwan tries to declare independence," and appears to be committed to making good on the threat. "Tension around the Taiwan Strait is not new," she concedes, "but the level of hostility flowing from the mainland is unprecedented."

In time, China will be able to threaten not only our allies but America as well. The sleeping giant is wide awake now and "has a growing arsenal of medium-range and long-range ballistic missiles," Belz warns. "It is developing an ability to directly target the United States and at the same time improve the technology to produce several hundred more of the Russian aircraft as well."

China's belligerent activity has not escaped the notice of our elected representatives. Increased financing for ballistic missile defenses is on the agenda in both houses of Congress, so maybe we'll get our Strategic Defense Initiative after all.

"When she first started, she couldn't swim well," Hopkins said. "She would always come in last in the meets and in practice. It was hard for her, but we encouraged her to keep swimming. Now she can swim as many laps as the other girls."

CHS swimmers have to be at the school at 5:45 a.m. to practice, which concerns Hopkins.

"I'm trying to get her to rest more," she said. "She's so excited, she wants to do everything."

As well as a swimmer, Brunn also wants to be a cheerleader, Hopkins said.

"This is every European girl's dream," she said. YHF students attend many events and parties such as an orientation group meeting when they come to their host community. A Halloween party is scheduled for 25 area-foreign students.

Brunn said she looks forward to the travel she will get to do with YFU. The group plans to go to New York and Washington, D.C. and to see shows such as Phantom of the Opera.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Every hour of community service by every AmeriCorps volunteer is costing America $18, according to a clipping waved by Ed Doolittle early in the session at the country store Saturday night. Republican Ed said this finding by the General Accounting Office shows what a bargain America is getting out of Clinton's warmover of Kennedy's Peace Corps.

Ed said a plumber might turn up his nose at that wage, but plenty of folks would trade their welfare checks for that kind of money to pick up trash along the road. And that's not to forget $4,725 college grants AmeriCorps get after 1,700 hours of makework. As for all the art education, fish ponds and playgrounds from the $351 million spent by AmeriCorps the first year, Ed said Americans have to ask whether their lives are $351 million better. For his money, Ed went on, this program heads the dismantle list.

As usual, Democrat Clem Webster allowed, Ed was mixing apples and bananas. If you do away with AmeriCorps because it costs more than it earns, Clem asks, what about all other services touched by government, especially farm subsidies? Right now, Clem went on, we're getting a preview of what would happen to medical care in this country. Regular, Clem said, the papers report loss of quality in hospital and doctor care because Congress is talking about cutbacks in Medicare and Medicaid.

It could be coincidence, but Clem said he thinks not, that private doctors worrying about cuts in public pay are finding cheaper ways to treat the sick. For instance, he saw a medical report recently where leaches and maggots are making comebacks for thinning blood and cleaning infected wounds. If Medicare stops paying for $12 aspirin and $600 MRIs, Clem said, there's no end to the shortcuts to be found by doctors and hospitals. We've got to realize what we'd get if we give up what we've got, was Clem's words.

Practical speaking, broke in Zeke Grubb, if we think government in jobs and medicine is confusing, we needn't try to understand education. Zeke said education is like economics: The questions stay the same but the answers change with every election.

Furthermore, Zeke said, national student testing has got to be more than the problem that the solution.

For instance, Zeke noted the latest SAT scores mean worse than nothing. The test gave more points just for taking it. Then the questions were easier so states and local school systems could find ways to say their students had improved when they know they didn't. Testing is supposed to show if children are learning what they're exposed to, Zeke said. It was never intended to be a competition.

Truth be told, Zeke said, the only lesson we can draw from national SAT scores is that the fewer students taking the test the higher their score, and the more students tested the lower their score. Every year, the top eight states in SAT ranks less than 10 percent, and the bottom eight states test more than 50 percent.

Personally, I can see where this kind of ranking does more harm than good. We already know the top 10 percent are going to learn in spite of the system, not because of it, just as sure as the bottom 10 percent are going to fall through the cracks.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Classic To Benefit Students

Chelsea Rotary Club has announced the second annual Chelsea Classic 5K run is set for 6 p.m. Friday, Oct. 20 at Veterans Park.

The money raised from the event is used to fund Strive Scholarships—a new scholarship project that recognizes and rewards Chelsea students from the lower third of the senior class who show the most improvement for three consecutive marking periods.

The eight students who have improved their grades the most are honored, said Dave Parham, Rotary spokesman. The most-improved student will earn a $700 scholarship to the school of his choice.

The Strive Program was created by Rotary International to give lower-end students an opportunity to attend college, Parham said.

"You've got all those scholarships for all those top kids," he said. "There's a lot of motivation for them. There's no motivation for the bottom-end kids trying to break out. There's no impetus for them."

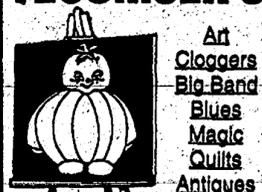

The race is broken up into several age groups. The top male and female in each age group wins a ceramic mug. Post-race refreshments are available. The course begins and ends at Veteran's Park, winding along several streets. Parham said the length of a five-kilometer race is about 3.1 miles.

Last year's inaugural race was won by Alan Van Meter and Ann Wiedmayer. Van Meter, of Southfield, won the men's division with a time of 15:50. Ann Wiedmayer of Frankenmuth, took the women's division in 18:17. Registration is $8 in advance and may be obtained by calling Parham at 475-4063. On race day, registration is $12.

If you spend your life in the fast food lane, consuming a steady diet of burgers, fries, burritos and milkshakes, it can be difficult to hold the line on calories and fats. But it can be done. The secret is to make trade offs. Drink orange juice instead of pop. Avoid mayonnaise, cheese, bacon and sour cream. And choose nutritious, fiber rich vegetables at the salad bar.

Girl Slashes Self With Knife, Threatens Officer

An officer responded to a 50-year-old woman's complaint at 7:46 p.m. on Oct. 6 to a house in the 300 block of Washington St. that her 14-year-old daughter had slashed her wrists in a suicide attempt, then fled the house. The officer was unable to find the girl.

The woman called the police again and said the girl had returned home and was on the hood of her car as it was in the driveway. She said her daughter had a large knife and was swinging it around and stabbing things. The officer went to the house and saw the girl, upon which the girl jumped off the car and ran for the back door with the 12-inch butcher knife in her hand. She tried to stop the girl but failed.

The officer asked the woman if that was the knife, which it was. The officer went to investigate a noise at the rear of the house and saw the girl attempting to jump out the window. The officer jumped over the backyard fence as the girl tried to jump out the window. The officer grabbed the girl's leg. She made verbal threats and swore to kill the officer if she didn't let her go. The officer told her to settle down.

The woman came in the room, grabbed hold of the girl, and told her to calm down. The girl swore at her mother and that she would kill the officer and lunged at her, but dropped the knife.

The officer told the woman to keep holding on to her daughter and ran around to the inside of the house. The daughter had run into the bathroom and held the door shut. The officer was able to open the door and subdue the girl. Later she called for medical assistance while holding on to the girl.

The woman said the daughter had problems with her behavior in the past and had also run away. The officer later spoke to the woman from the emergency room at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Purple Rose Theatre Offers Acting Classes

Purple Rose Theatre Company will be offering a class dealing with general acting techniques. The course will be held at the Purple Rose Theatre Company's Garage Theatre, 137 Park St., Chelsea. The Actors' Lab will be held Saturday mornings from 10 to 12 beginning Oct. 14 and run for six weeks. Janet Maylie, an acting instructor with the University of Michigan Department of Theatre and Drama, will be teaching this class which will cover a range of topics, including theatre games, improvisation, prepared two-person scene work and monologues. Ms. Maylie has been teaching classes for the Purple Rose for the last three years. She has also been seen on the Purple Rose's stage in Shoe Man and The Vast Difference.

The course will be limited to 18 students. Due to the limited enrollment, participants must register in advance starting Monday, Sept. 25. The cost of the class is $120 and is non-refundable. Payment will be required prior to the first day of class.

Catherine and Anthony Houle

Catherine Daoust, Anthony Houle
Speak Vows in Alpena Church

Catherine Daoust and Anthony Houle were united in marriage July 15 at St. Bernard's Catholic Church in Alpena. The Rev. Fr. Joseph Graff officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Eugene and Kathleen Daoust of Alpena and the bridegroom is the son of Robert and Colleen Houle of Chelsea.

Ellie Daoust-Idalski of Grand Ledge, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Sister-in-law JoAnn Daoust and friends of the bride, Katie Keebler of Novi, Susan Stern of Miami, Fla. and Gail Siller of Commerce attended as the bridesmaids. Flower girl was niece Brooke Houle.

Attending the bridegroom as best men were Kevin Houle, Rodney Houle, Lynn Houle, Dan Houle and Gary Houle, all brothers of the bridegroom.

Serving as ushers were Steve Daoust and Clark Daoust, brothers of the bride and Mike Idalski, brother-in-law of the bride. Patrick Siller and Corrie Daoust, nephew of the bride, attended as junior groomsmen and ring bearer, respectively.

The bride's parents hosted a reception at the Holiday Inn in Alpena. Later, the newlyweds left for a one-week honeymoon vacation in Kona, Hawaii aboard the Kona Aggressor scuba-diving yacht, spending two days diving off Kona.

The bride is a graduate of Northern Michigan University, where she earned a bachelor's degree in marketing, and Alpena High school.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Ferris State University, where he earned a bachelor's degree in accounting, and Chelsea High school.

The Michigan Economic Department started in 1959. That is the opinion of William M. Day, president of Michigan Bell Telephone Co., and chairman of the Economic Development Commission. Gov. Swainson called for public recognition of the active participation of Michigan newspapers in the state's development.

The first report of deer hunter success was that of a nine-point buck downed in the Cavanaugh Lake area at 7:45 a.m. by Lewis DeLois of 519 Wilkinson St. No word of a kill had been received from any of the many hunters who traveled north to be on hand for the first day's deer hunting.

A Jaycee District IV bowling tournament was held at Chelsea Lanes Saturday with 16 teams participating. Chelsea Jaycees won first place with a 2,920 series by team members George Winchester (captain), Ron Eder, J. Laurdson, Lyle and Silas Hopkins.

Lima Extension Ladies Study Lesson on Painting

Beautiful flowers lining the sidewalk and drive were glistening with rain drops as they greeted 10 Lima Extension ladies Sept. 20 as they gathered at the home of Gloria Wilson.

With the help of her sister, Shirley as co-host, not only was Gloria host but also the teacher of the day. With much enthusiasm and ease we were taught what materials were needed and how easy a picture can be looked at and reproduced with our own skill and determination. An hour of teaching and painting and her picture was almost complete!

After the pot-luck with its usual varied selection of good foods and varied chatter enjoyed at each table, all members moved to the living room for the September meeting.

Opening with the T.C.E. Creed by Barb Wing, and secretary-treasurer minutes by Alice Gardner, members were then entertained with a comical reading from Mary Ann Burgess she had acquired from the Chelsea Retirement Community Camp she had attended as nurse for the week. Included in the business was a report by Adaline Stone of the Volunteer Hour Contest conducted from the State T.C.E. level.

October lesson meeting is at the home of Fran Coy. Lesson at 10:30 is "Flu or Food Poisoning."

A pot-luck lunch will be served before the meeting time.

Miss Washtenaw County Pageant Slated Nov. 4

After several years absence, Washtenaw county will have a contestant in the Miss Michigan Pageant. This year's contest for Miss Washtenaw County will be held at Saline High school on Saturday, Nov. 4, at 7 p.m. Eleven young women from around the county and state are competing for the crown of Miss Washtenaw County, the first step towards next fall's Miss America Pageant.

The local competition for Miss Washtenaw County follows the state and national guidelines. Each young woman will be judged in talent, interview, and evening gown and swimsuit categories.

The 11 entries in this year's competition are Catherine Brownell and Julie Petrosky from Ann Arbor, Laura Welling from Livonia, Robyn Bush from Saline, Michelle Canzoneri and Melony Owens from Ypsilanti, Laurie Honbaum from Chelsea, Barb Karenko from East Lansing, Shiloh Ogea from Marquette, Kim Stec from Rochester, and Amanda Wasvary from Oxford.

In addition to winning the crown, the contestants will be competing for several scholarships.

Entertainment will be provided by the Jazz Dance Theater of Ann Arbor and Steve Cook. Former Miss Tennessee, Debbie Gooch, will be the Mistress of Ceremonies.

Tickets will be available at the door or by calling 663-3381. For more information call 475-2629

Free Food Available From WIC Program

Free, nutritious food is available from the Washtenaw County WIC Program. Pregnant women, breast-feeding women, infants and children up to age 5 are eligible. Coupons for food, including baby formula, nutrition education and referrals for health care are offered.

To find out whether you qualify, call 971-1300. The program has offices in Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Manchester.

Preparations Made For Japanese Visitors

A new display at McKune Library is part of the Chelsea welcome for the annual group of 8th grade visitors from Shimizu, Japan. Titled "An Experience of a Lifetime," the bulletin board includes photos and mementos from a July trip to Shimizu by 10 Chelsea students, teacher Andrea Maines, and Kathy Hunt, a parent and nurse. The display was prepared by Katie Harper and Paloma Haist.

From Oct. 16, 10 Shimizu students, an English teacher, principal, and two interpreters will be living with Chelsea families. Activities planned include a day at the State Capitol, a day at Beach Middle School, short visits to 4th grade classes at both North and South Elementary schools, a hayride at the Arid Tree Farm, a football game, lots of family time, and a farewell pot-luck at the historic Chelsea Depot.

A Depot brick commemorating the exchange has been added to the Depot walkway, in order to make this global relationship a part of Village history. An official certificate designating Chelsea and Shimizu as "sister cities" will also be presented to village officials.

Hosting students or adults will be the families of Jinx and Larry Bailey, Louise and Ken Barner, Barbara and Gabe Cherem, Chester and Gilda Elkins, Bonnie and Richard Haist, Daleen and Bill Harper, Kathy and Jim Hunt, Brenda and Dan McGuire, Andrea and Bill Patt, Vicki and Jim Smith, and Ginger and David Watson.

A few of the Chelsea students were reached for comments about their thoughts on being "home base" for their new Japanese friends.

Max Cherem is eager to carve a Halloween pumpkin with his visitor, Koki Yoshino. Pumpkins are considered animal food, and there is no holiday quite like Halloween in Japan.

Danielle Patt says she would like to show her visitor, Haruma Kondo, how she spends time after school. In Japan students have many after-school activities that are held at the school; and many students take "cram" courses to help them get high scores on the entrance examinations required to get into good high schools.

Andrew McGuire thinks that his visitor, Hiroki Kondo, will be surprised at how many rooms are found in a typical American house. Many families in Japan include grandparents, parents, and children all living together in a small house with just a few rooms.

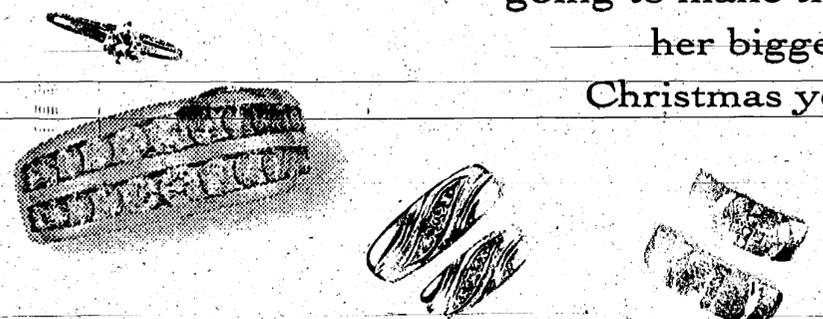

Dennis Watson is eager to talk more with his guest, Hitoshi Iketo, about the way Japanese middle school students act with one another and with adults. Dennis says that Americans might act up, while Japanese students his age tend to be respectful more of the time.

The exchange is expected to continue next summer. Shimizu leaders are also interested in starting an exchange of home-stays for adults.

"We often pray for purity, for unselfishness, for the highest quality of character, and forget that these things cannot be given but must be earned..."

—Lyman Abbott.

It's comforting to believe that if we pray for "the highest qualities of character," they will be miraculously bestowed upon us. Abbott's point is that such qualities must be earned or they cease to be virtues.

Our prayers will indeed be answered if Providence grants us the wisdom, the courage and the perseverance to develop the desired qualities for ourselves.

We can provide a lovely and comforting memorial service within the financial abilities of any family. No one is ever turned away for lack of funds.

By KAREN MEIER

Life is full—full of all sorts of things. Big, momentous, and unmistakably important events like wars and hurricanes. And small, insignificant events like hangnails and slow drains.

And as long as there are hangnails and hurricanes, slow drains and wars, life will be full. You can't really have one sort of thing without the other. You can't have all big stuff and no little stuff or vice versa.

I mean, if our days would be packed only with events of enormous consequence, our heads would surely fly off our shoulders. It'd be too much. Goodness, even the President of the United States balances his days with little things like Big Macs, golf, and Socks the cat. And that's healthy. That's good.

The way I see it, since the little things of life don't demand that much thinking time, why not think about the big things while tending to the little things? I bet the President while he's eating a Big Mac or replacing a divot doesn't think about buns and dirt clumps. I bet he thinks about big things, like balancing the budget and stuff like that.

And occasionally the little things of life go beyond just providing time for thinking. Occasionally the little things provide training and practice for the big things, the truly momentous events of life, that lie ahead. And along the way, during the training, ease and grace and wisdom are learned. And so, the little things, the "practice" things, are valuable and have their place in life.

Wouldn't you say all that's true? Wouldn't you say that's how it is?

Boy, I hope so. I really hope so. Otherwise what happened here the other day you'll think was rather atrocious. And probably inappropriate. And probably politically incorrect and environmentally unsound and theologically improper and altogether weird and awful.

You see, my children, along with several of their friends, memorialized, eulogized, and laid to rest a dead squirrel, a mere rodent, the other day. And I didn't stop them. Mostly because I didn't even know it was happening; I was absorbed in some really important tasks inside the house—folding sheets, unglugging the ketchup cap, and fixing the toilet paper holder. So what I know of this incident, this squirrel burial, I know only second-hand.

The squirrel, so goes the report, met with a gruesome demise, this according to Evan and Amy, good friends of my children and the only eyewitnesses to the death itself. The squirrel, they said, writhed on the sidewalk and switched its long tail back and forth and moved its legs in a jerky-jerky way kicking out at nothing at all before it actually passed on.

The cause of the squirrel's death is believed to be that it just up and fell, spontaneously, from a tree limb and upon landing on the sidewalk broke something important inside him. This report made me grimace and shudder involuntarily.

I continued to shudder and grimace as more of the story unfolded. The children, it seems, learned about rigor mortis that day. They didn't come up with the latin term, but the description that tumbled from their lips led me to believe they had learned plenty enough about it. They also learned a little about the circle of life and how other creatures, flies for instance keep the circle going. And they learned, or rather for most of them, reviewed the concept of death being final. That even though the squirrel didn't appear "dead" (no blood, gore or any other visible clues), it still wasn't waking up ever.

Then on their own, the children turned from scientists to mourners. They buried the squirrel in the woods by the creek. They selected this grave site because they figured the woods had probably been his favorite place to play. And then the pall bearers, actually the shovel bearers, went to the front and carefully scooped the wild creature up and then led the funeral procession from the sidewalk back to the creek side burial place.

A total of seven attended this funeral. A song was sung by the seven and words were spoken and the squirrel was laid to rest. A medium sized rock was used for a marker and a couple of end-of-the-season flowers were placed nearby. And that was that.

Had the children done wrong? Were their priorities mixed up? Weren't there other much worthier and nobler tasks for them to do than bury a squirrel? I don't know, but then who am I to say? All the while they were doing that, I was fixing the toilet paper holder and unglugging the ketchup bottle.

Like I said, life is full. And little things definitely have their place in that fullness. And the little things that teach grace and wisdom in a gentle, gradual, innocent sort of way, well, they too must certainly have their place in this life.

On the way to Chelsea, we made some pretty exciting discoveries.

Deep inside the Venezuelan jungle, a genetic disease has plagued the inhabitants of a small village for generations. Moved by their plight, we went there to better understand the disease. Not only did we accomplish our mission, but our research led to the discovery of the gene that causes Huntington's disease.

Driven by a passion for improving health care, we've traveled to the far corners of the Earth. To places like the countryside of Japan and a small shipping town in Costa Rica. Even to outer space to conduct research.

Everything we've learned we've brought back to you, through the physicians and medical staff of the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Now we are pleased to announce that our next destination is a little closer to home. In fact, it's right in your neighborhood. Because now the U-M Medical Center has physicians and health care centers near you. So you'll not only have access to the U-M Medical Center and its world-renowned facilities and programs like C.S. Mott Children's Hospital and the Comprehensive Cancer Center, you'll also have a conveniently located primary care physician for your routine care.

There's no better time to take advantage of these benefits than during the fall open enrollment period where you work. So make sure your health care plan gives you access to the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Your Money Matters

by Michael Kelly

★ Have Your Computer Keep Tabs on Your Finances

Like it or not, computers are here to stay. The business world knows it, your children know it and so the uninitiated among us need to check out some of the amazing things computers can do. Now, I can't teach you everything you need to know about computers in the space of this column, but I can give you some ideas about the revolution in personal financial record keeping that is underway with the touch of a button and a click of the mouse.

If you've ever visited your local computer store (and most places have them now), you'll see there are dozens of personal finance products out there—Microsoft Money, Quicken, Kiplinger's Simply Money, Managing Your Money, the list goes on and on. Each has its own special bells and whistles but all have the same basic capabilities: recording transactions, balancing accounts and generating reports. A friend of mine has been using Quicken at home, so we'll use it as the basis for our discussion.

When she launches Quicken on her computer, it presents a list of all her accounts, everything from checking and savings and credit cards to a car loan and a home mortgage. Of course, she had to enter in some basic information to get each of those accounts started, but it was no more complicated than making an entry in your checkbook register.

In fact, the checkbook register is the easily-understood basis of the entire system. When she makes a mortgage payment or writes a check for her electric bill, she just types the transaction amount in the appropriate account. The computer does all the math and so far, has never made a mistake. It even balances her checkbook each month! By flagging each transaction by type, she can also instantly determine exactly how much money she has spent on groceries so far this year, how much interest she paid on her credit card last year or how many payments are left on her car loan. These kinds of report functions are invaluable tools to help you get a grip on your financial big picture, and learn exactly where all that money you make is going.

Those who take the time and trouble to learn how to use personal financial software will also be greatly rewarded come tax time. How would you like to be able to compile all your pertinent tax records in about 20 seconds flat? Quicken has a special year-end report feature which recognizes and then totals up anything that might relate to income tax filings, leaving you with figures that will plug right in to your 1040. (We'll cover computer products aimed specifically at taxes in a future column.)

If all this sounds simple, rest assured that it actually is. My friend is not among the most computer-literate folks around and she says using personal financial software has been a snap. She claims to get a kick out of looking at her accounts each day, even if that figure at the bottom of the list (her net worth) isn't always above zero. Some day, when she's feeling particularly adventurous, she may ask her computer to print out checks or pay her bills through an on-line service. These and other features are included in most personal financial software packages.

Yes, it's true that my friend has not completely given up control of her finances to her computer. She still keeps a checkbook register on paper and her car is still littered with all those pesky ATM receipts. However, when her checking statement comes, she does nothing more than open the envelope, glance at the bottom line, and file it—because her checkbook is already in balance. When the credit card statement comes, she has a simple way to scan for errors or missing transactions. And get this, she's actually looking forward to next April, since 1995 will be the first full year she's been using Quicken for tax purposes. I can't wait to see how it all turns out!

If all this hasn't eliminated your fear of the unknown, there's one more thing to remember. Software manufacturers aren't in business to confuse you; they want to make money by selling products. As a result, they've got to make a product, particularly in the realm of personal finance, which is easy for anyone to use, so that everyone will be a potential customer.

I must confess that I still do my personal finances by hand but probably not for much longer. I'm girding myself to visit my local computer store and give this stuff a try myself. I'll let you know how it works out. In the meantime, if you think you'd like to give it a try, go ahead. Take the leap!

VIEWS ON DENTAL HEALTH

GARY GOCHANOUR, D.D.S.

CANKER SORES

The canker sore (or aphthous ulcer) is one of the best known and most persistently annoying dental lesions. It is small and whitish and may occur on the gums, cheeks or tongue. It appears singly and in clusters. A blister usually forms first, without notice, then breaks to form an open sore or canker. Then the acute pain begins. The open canker sore is especially sensitive to touch and to hot or spicy foods. Fortunately, the lifetime of the canker sore normally runs its course in about a week or ten days.

No good treatment is known for its cure at present. There's not much you can do except to make sure you avoid irritating foods. Some people are especially prone to canker sores. They seem to run in families and there may be a connection between canker attacks and emotional stress, though there is still no definite information on the cause of this puzzling disorder.

A dentist can treat canker sores to relieve the pain. However, certain kinds of cankers tend to persist or come back in spite of any treatment now known.

Iron Colored Water Is No Health Hazard

Residents of Bridgetown Condominiums awoke Wednesday morning to find their village water supply a dark brown color.

Village water department spokesman said it was only a result of a routine flushing of the new 12 inch water main serving the area from Arbor Drug and Bridgetown to the new water tower.

In preparation for putting the main into service next month the pipes must be flushed under pressure and disinfected, a routine procedure. After the flushing, samples are submitted to the State Health Dept. for their testing.

The pressure flush always stirs up any accumulated iron in the lower areas of the water main. It's just not pretty, but poses no health hazard.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

DUSTY WHITE, Chelsea Bulldogs quarterback, someone loose for a long gain. Unfortunately, the pass attempted a pass against Dexter, hoping to spring was not completed.

TOM WILLIS who is fast becoming one of Dexter's better runners, plows into a solid Chelsea line early in the game last Friday. Dexter won against their rivals, 16-5 for their first victory of the season.

Bulldog Gridders Lose To Dexter in 4th Quarter On 16 Unanswered Points

Dexter Dreadnaughts football team had gone without a win throughout their first four games.

The Friday, Oct. 6 game against arch-rival Chelsea, on the Bulldogs' home turf didn't seem to offer much hope for a win either.

But a bunch of fired-up kids who wanted to win, rose to the occasion and stomped the Bulldogs by scoring 16 unanswered points in the fourth quarter to win, 16-5.

In the first half, Chelsea put up a stiff defense and held the Dexter runners to very little gain.

Meanwhile Chelsea's offense moved the ball at will but failed to get into the end zone.

A 35-yard field goal by Casey Wescott put the Bulldogs in the lead with time running out in the first quarter.

Chelsea's other two points came on an intentional safety, when Dexter quarterback Mike Walsh elected to attempt to run the ball out of his own end zone rather than punt from the goal line.

Twice driving the first half the Bulldogs penetrated the Dexter 20-yard line but came away with only a three-point field goal.

Chelsea coach Gene LaFave said: "We moved the ball well in the first half, but we couldn't find the end zone."

"We let them dominate the game and we let Walsh back into it, and he hurt us," LaFave added.

Both teams failed to score in the third quarter and by the time the fourth quarter came up, Dexter began to take control of the offensive flow.

Kurt Wilson came into the game and picked up a key first down deep in Bulldog territory which seemed to ignite a spark.

With a fourth-and-six on the Chelsea 11-yard line, Walsh went back to pass. When he found all of his receivers were covered he turned to dodge an oncoming Bulldog, slipped and almost fell but regained his balance and sprinted into the far side of the end zone for the game-winning touchdown.

Later in the quarter Walsh hooked up with Andy Shank on a three-yard touchdown pass to put the game away for good.

Coach Paul Becker with his first career victory was still emotionally under control with a win.

"Even though we were 0-5 for the season, our guys have a great attitude. They kept fired-up at practice, worked hard, and listened to instructions," he said.

"They're a great bunch of kids; they just needed a break," Becker added.

JV Gridders Shut Down Dexter, 12-0

Bulldog Junior Varsity's defense came through with their third shut-out in as many games last Thursday as they defeated Dexter, 12-0. The defense continues to play well and improve each week, especially the defensive ends and linebackers. They have been working hard to improve their skill and they are doing better each week. The team has improved especially at defensive end, with two freshman playing those positions and they continue to improve.

Offensively the team scored the first two times they had the ball. Then because of terrible weather conditions, it was hard to either run or pass the ball. At times it was hard to see what was happening on the field.

"The terrible weather conditions took away a lot of our strong points. Plus both teams had a number of fumbles in the second half. But with everything considered we played well. It was raining so hard and cold we were happy to get on the bus and head home," coach Dave McWhorter said.

The Bulldog JV's have improved their record to 3-1-2.

After being on the road for three weeks the Bulldogs play at home this Thursday at 7 p.m. against Tecumseh.

DEXTER DREADNAUGHTS complete a pass for a nice gain early in the game. Chelsea's defender, Brian Lantis, moved in for the tackle.

Varsity Hoopsters Storm Past Dexter, Tecumseh

Chelsea girls varsity basketball team defeated a young Dexter team on Tuesday, 57-21. Chelsea jumped off to a 17-5 first quarter lead by pounding the ball inside against the shorter Dexter team. Annie Terpstra had eight of her game high 24 points while Jessica Inwood and Kasie Ruhlig each hit from three point range and Michelle Lucas put in three coming off the bench. The two teams played even in the second quarter as Chelsea took a 24-11 lead into half-time based on their first quarter performance.

Chelsea then buried Dexter in the third quarter as they came out of the locker room hot. Chelsea poured in 19 points while Dexter could manage only two against a fired up defense. Inwood, Terpstra, Ruhlig all continued their hot hands, and Heidi Kemnitz hit her first three-point shot of the season. In the fourth quarter Suzy Steele picked up the scoring with help from Melissa Carty.

On Thursday the Chelsea girls played at home against Tecumseh, picking up their eighth win of the season, 49-31.

Chelsea jumped out to a 13-0 lead after one quarter and a 25-6 lead at half time. Annie Terpstra led the Chelsea team in the first quarter on her way to a game high 15 points, and Kasie Ruhlig caught fire in the second quarter with 8 of her 12 points for the game. Tecumseh came back in the third quarter out-scoring Chelsea, 15-10. However, Chelsea regained control of the game in the fourth quarter as Heidi Kemnitz hit for three and Suzy Steele and Jessica Inwood helped Terpstra maintain the Chelsea lead.

Heidi Wehrwein and Terpstra controlled the backboards and both played strong defensive games.

Chelsea will travel to Pinckney for the second showdown of the season, as both Chelsea and Pinckney are unbeaten in SEC play. The two teams will meet for the first time this season on Tuesday.

JV Tennis Team Makes Good Progress

Chelsea High School's junior varsity tennis squad is a young team consisting of eight freshmen: Amanda Grey, Lauren Varady, Jenna Sporaco, Shontay Young, Jenna Hall, Ingrid Biedron, Laura Heller, and Meghan Marshall. JV coach Caroline Parker says that her girls are "dedicated and enthusiastic. Although the number of courts and the size of the other school's junior varsity squads often limit the number of meets in which the junior varsity can play, Coach Parker feels that "each of the girls is making remarkable progress."

"Since the varsity squad will be losing six seniors for the 1996 season, I expect that our '95 JV will make a significant contribution to next year's team if they continue their hard work and dedication," continued the coach.

The girls recently played Brooklyn Columbia Central. The two teams were equally matched, going to deuce frequently, but Columbia managed more often to put together two consecutive points to claim the match. Meghan Marshall and Laura Heller made a strong comeback after being down 2-6, to finish 5-8.

Chelsea will travel to Pinckney for the second showdown of the season, as both Chelsea and Pinckney are unbeaten in SEC play. The two teams will meet for the first time this season on Tuesday.

HEIDI WEHRWEIN, senior forward on Chelsea's girls varsity basketball team has been having a good year. In the recent Milan game she led in rebounding.

WINNER OF LOCAL COMPETITION in the 9 year-old age group of Punt, Pass & Kick competition was Houston Bennett. By winning his age group Houston qualifies for the Sectional competition to be held in Saline on Oct. 15 at 2 p.m. Last week end Houston worked under the expert coaching of his father, Rod Bennett, left, Joey Tripoli, center, and Casey Westcott. Tripoli is winner of the 11 year-old group, and Westcott is a Chelsea High school football team member and kicker.

Area Swimmers Honored

The first Greater Ann Arbor Swimming Honor Roll was released last week. Many swimmers from Dexter, Chelsea and Pinckney made the top 10 list. Swimmers from the 16 area high schools times are considered.

In the 200 medley relay, Dexter's team of Rhiannon Flewelling, Katie Snyder, Casey Carr and Mary Elgas was third in 1:57.89. Pinckney's Lindsay Maas, Carrie Havranek, Jenny Liken and Melissa Fielder were sixth in 1:58.66. Chelsea's combo of Kim Grossman, Erin Hack, Kelly Bowers and Erin Baird was seventh in 2:03.91.

Pinckney's Fielder was ninth in the 200 Free in 2:04.79 and Melissa Fielderman was third in the 200 Individual Medley in 2:16.45. Casey Carr of Dexter was seventh in 2:19.43.

In the 50 Free, Dexter's Rhiannon Flewelling of Dexter was fourth in :25.99 and Pinckney's Havranek was 10th in :26.57.

Anna Wall of Dexter, seventh with 219.45 and Alicia Vogel of Chelsea, tenth in 177.80, splashed their way into the diving top 10.

Four Dexter students, Flewelling (second in 1:01.04), Carr (fifth in 1:03.91), Chye Messner (seventh in 1:04.55) and Beth Schlafer (ninth in 1:04.75) and two Pinckney students, Fielder (fourth in 1:02.65) and Maas (sixth in 1:03.86) were in the 100 Fly top 10.

Melissa Fielder was tops in the 100 Free in a time of :55.09.

In the 200 Free Relay, Dexter's team of Diana Harsh, Messner, Elgas and Carr were sixth in 1:47.79. Jenny Liken, Kristen Hayes, Lindsay Fielder and Havranek of Pinckney were seventh in 1:49.85. The Chelsea team of Sarah Broshar, Hack, Baird and Grossman was eighth in 1:52.68.

In the 100, Carr of Dexter was fourth in 1:13.45. Havranek of Pinckney sixth in 1:14.71 and Hack of Chelsea eighth in 1:14.83.

Pinckney's team of Havranek, Maas, Lindsay Fielder and Melissa Fielder was fourth in the 400 Free Relay with a time of 3:52.76. Dexter's entry of Harsh, Snyder, Messner and Schlafer took seventh in 4:01.47. Chelsea's Baird, Broshar, Grossman and Hack was eighth in 4:05.33.

SENIOR SUZY STEELE can play either forward or guard positions to help the girls varsity cagers. In the recent win over arch rival Milan, she played both positions.

Winners Determined In PP&K Competition

More than 45 participants took part in the NFL Gatorade Punt, Pass & Kick competition hosted by Chelsea Recreation on Sat. Sept. 16 at 3 p.m.

Youngsters that earned first place honors in their respective age groups are:

Age 8- Alex Rabbitt, Chelsea; scored 166'10"

Age 9- Houston Bennett, Chelsea; scored 146'10"

Age 10- Kyle Kendzicky, Chelsea; scored 182'10"

Age 11- Joey Tripodi, Chelsea; scored 181'6"

Age 12- Tony Scheffler, Chelsea; scored 222'7"

Age 13- Chris Brigham, Chelsea; scored 244'4"

Age 14- Vince Scheffler, Chelsea; scored 287'4"

Age 15- Casimir Rogozinski, Gregory; scored 271'7"

Score is cumulative total of one punt, one pass and one kick. Chris Brigham broke his leg, so Scott Buccanban, who is from Gregory and had a score of 222'11", is to represent him in Saline.

These eight winners are to now move on to a Sectional competition, to be held Sunday, October 15 in Saline. They could qualify for the Team Championship competition to be held November 12 with the Detroit Lions vs. Tampa Bay Buccaneers game at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Boys CC Team Wins Trophy In Ypsi

The boys cross country team placed fifth out of 13 teams in the Ypsilanti Invitational on Saturday, Oct. 7, bringing home its first trophy of the season, said coach Eric Swager. Chelsea scored 151 points. Other placers were Pinckney, 57 points; Ida, 69; Lincoln, 119 and Erie-Mason, 145.

In addition, there were three medal winners in the race, varsity members Aaron Ruhlig, 18:12; Capt. Tim Lawrence, 18:15 and Michael Smith, 18:38.

Swager praised Ruhlig as being the most consistent performer all year who "ran another great race," and Smith, who "continues to give a great effort," he said.

"The team competed hard," Swager said.

Other varsity finishers were Capt. Ashley Coy, 18:34; Matthew Kolodica, 18:48; Dan Weir, 19:17 and Chris Dronen, 20:15.

Junior varsity finishers were Rob Frayer, 18:38; Aaron Sporer, 19:41; Aaron Atlee, 20:44; Matthew Kennedy, 20:56; Bob Armstrong, 21:17; Curt Street, 21:19; Blaise Lipiec, 21:27; Deacon Holton, 21:54; Jason Zatkovich, 22:00; Jason Atlee, 22:06; Jeremy Peace, 22:34 and Jake Bell, 24:03.

Jason Atlee ran his best time ever. Swager said:

While many runners turned in great times, Swager said, "we are still waiting for other runners to make a time drop."

"We need it heading into our last two dual meets," he said.

Girls Swim Team Downs S. Lyon, Loses to Pinckney

Chelsea girls varsity swimming team moved their dual meet record to 6-2 with a 100-86 win at South Lyon on Tuesday, Oct. 3, and an 87-105 loss against Pinckney, Thursday, Oct. 5.

Junior Alicia Vogel got her fourth and fifth wins in the diving events of each meet which qualifies her for the diving regionals. If she makes the top 18 at regionals, she will move on to the state meet, said head coach David Brinklow. Her score of 200.10 in the Pinckney meet was a personal best.

Despite the Pinckney loss, Brinklow was very happy with both meets.

"We swam better than we have all season," said Brinklow. "There were many season best times in both of the meets and we have a few swimmers less than a second away from state cuts," he said.

In the Pinckney meet, the 200-metrel relay team of Kim Grossman, Sarah Broshar, Kelly Bowers and Erin Hack were second. Erin Armstrong, Beth Vogel, Cara Heitman and Emily Taylor were third. Chriss, Tracy, Mascha Brunn, Jill Wesolowski and Hillary Smith were sixth.

Erin Baird was second in the 200-freestyle. Broshar was fourth and Michelle Dymond, sixth. In the 200-individual medley, Kim Grossman was first, Kelly Bowers second and Vogel, fifth.

In the 50-freestyle, Taylor was third; Heitman, fourth and Armstrong, sixth.

Melissa Sayer and Tina Wiese took fourth and sixth in diving.

In the 100-butterfly, Bowers was second, Vogel, fifth and Smith sixth.

Hack was second in the 100-freestyle, Grossman, third and Dymond sixth.

In the 500-freestyle, Baird was second, Taylor, fifth; and Wesolowski, sixth.

Chelsea won the 200-freestyle relay with a team of Hack, Broshar, Grossman and Baird. Heitman, Vogel, Dymond and Taylor were third, with Brunn, Laura Nilsen, Dreamala Koch and Wesolowski fifth.

Armstrong was third in the 100-backstroke, Tracy, fifth and Heitman, sixth.

The 400-free relay team of Bowers, Dymond, Armstrong and Baird was second and Wesolowski, Koch, Tracy and Smith were fifth.

In the South Lyon meet, Bowers, Broshar, Grossman and Hack were first. Armstrong, Vogel, Dymond and Tracy were fifth, with Brunn, Vogel, Michelle Dymond, sixth.

In the 200-freestyle, Broshar was fourth and Jill Wesolowski and Sayer, sixth. Baird won the 200-freestyle with Taylor, second and Stephanie Wesolowski, fifth.

In the 200-I.M., Grossman won, Bowers, second with Tracy, fifth.

In the 50-freestyle, Armstrong was third, Dymond, fifth, and Brown, sixth.

In diving, Wiese was fourth and Sayer, sixth.

Bowers won the 100-butterfly, Baird was third, and Jill Wesolowski, sixth.

In the 100-freestyle, Hack was first, Grossman second, and Taylor, fifth.

Stephanie Wesolowski won the 500-freestyle, F. Smith was first and Taylor, fifth.

The 200-free relay team of Baird, Grossman, Broshar and Hack were first, B. Vogel, Taylor, A. Vogel and S. Wesolowski were fourth.

Broshar was second in the 100-backstroke, Armstrong was third, and Tracy, fifth.

In the 100-breaststroke, B. Vogel was third; Smith, fifth and Dymond sixth.

The 400-freestyle relay team of Baird, Bowers, Taylor and Hack were first, Stephanie Wesolowski, Tracy, Armstrong and Dymond were fourth.

Boating Safety Course Offered

Those who own a boat or are thinking about buying a boat may want to attend a basic boating education course beginning Wednesday and running until Nov. 29.

The Ann Arbor Power Squadron will hold the seven-week course at Clague Middle school, 2616 Nixon Rd., Ann Arbor at 7 p.m. on Wednesday nights. The cost of the course is $32.

The content of the course includes general boating knowledge and operation, anchoring, small boat handling and legal requirements, said AAPS Public Relations Officer Iris Young. The AAPS is a non-profit organization and an unit of the U.S.A. Power Squadron, a group of boaters interested in boater education, that offers the course three times a year, she said.

"Even people who operate personal watercraft would benefit from this," Young said. She added that while boating deaths in Michigan have decreased, deaths on personal watercraft have increased.

A major cause of deaths and accidents on the state's waterways is alcohol, despite tough new state laws cracking down as heavily on drinking-and-boating as on drinking-and-driving, Young said.

"Their judgment is not as sharp and their reaction is not as sharp," she said.

Like most states, Michigan does not require its boaters to be licensed. That may be coming to an end, Young said.

"There's been a lot of discussion whether people should be licensed to operate boats and some states already have," she said.

The class is not limited to adults. Officially, students have to be at least 12 to attend, but Young said that she has seen even younger children attend, usually with the family.

Information on the course is available by calling 481-0900 at extension 211.

Golf Team Splits Two, Preparing for Tourneys

Chelsea High school's boys golf team completed their dual match portion of the season with two matches this past week.

On Wednesday, Oct. 4, the Bulldogs defeated the Milan Big Reds 156-164 at Rolling Hills Golf Course. The medalist for the match was Chelsea's Matt Freeman with 38. Other scores were Josh Bernhard, 39; Jake Szczygiel, 39 and Justin Kusterer, 40.

The Bulldogs lost to the Saline Hornets 164-197, on Friday, Oct. 6 at the Inverness Country Club.

Scott Melcher from Saline was the medalist, with 39. Leading Chelsea scores were Justin Kusterer with 44; Matt Freeman; 49; Josh Bernhard, 51 and Jake Szczygiel, 53.

For the junior varsity, Justin Fusco shot 52; John Carter, 54; Ryan McDonald, 59; and Brian Groesser, 60.

Chelsea finished the regular season with a 4-8 record. The regional tournament is on Friday, Oct. 13 at Cascade Golf Course in Jackson and the league tournament is at the same course on Tuesday, Oct. 17.

Chelsea Boys Take Fifth Place in Invitational

Chelsea boys cross country took fifth place and 100 points out of eight teams in the Mason Invitational Thursday, Oct. 5 in what turned out to be a very rainy day. Other teams were Leslie, 57; Orchard Lake, 72; Dexter, 89 and Haslett, 90.

Said coach Eric Swager: "We ran in a virtual monsoon. In one section the mud was over a foot deep. We nearly lost one freshman in the muck."

Despite the problems a few runners turned in good performances.

Coming in the first five places for Chelsea were captain Ashley Coy, 18:34; Chris Dronen, 20:15; Matthew Kolodica, 18:48; Tim Lawrence, 17:50 and Aaron Ruhlig, 18:23.

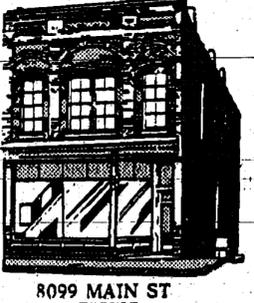

"Matt Koldica's last two races have been his best ever, as have the last two races of Mike Smith," Swager said. "These are the type of improvements we need," he said.

Bob Armstrong is improving well in his first year, Swager said.

Other times were Michael Smith, 18:24 and Dan Weir, 19:17.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
 An open letter to Martin Merkel
 Dear Mr. Merkel,
 Last night I attended a meeting in Lima township regarding the proposed rezoning of your property. I'm sure that you've probably heard what took place. About 100 of your neighbors were there. Many spoke passionately of their concerns regarding the proposed mobile home park and the possible consequences. Some demonstrated their opposition simply by taking the time out of their busy lives to be there. Others, who couldn't attend, wrote letters expressing their thoughts and sent them in advance.
 As I sat and listened, I thought what a tragedy. Here we are, neighbor against neighbor. And how truly unfortunate that you chose not to attend. If you had, you would have seen that more than anything else, we're frightened. Sure, there have been a lot of angry words over the past months. But that's what happens when people are scared. They lash out. I'll conclude that perhaps things have not always been handled in the best possible manner. Perhaps, as a community, we could have responded to your initial requests with greater sensitivity.
 If you had been there you would also have seen (contrary to what you might believe) that no one denies your right to profit from your investment, and develop your property. I think most of us realize that the Chelsea community will continue to expand and grow. As much as we might want to "slam the door behind us," more people will continue to move into the area, attracted by the natural beauty, the small-town charm, and the exceptional schools. Yet as a community, we have the responsibility to insure that the inevitable development is such that it adds value, without significantly diminishing the rural/small town atmosphere which helps to make the Chelsea area one of the finest regions in the state. Unfortunately, despite the developer's best efforts, the proposal fails to demonstrate that it would add value to the community.
 It's also unfortunate what people say when they're scared and angry. In some areas it has become common sport to vilify Martin Merkel. While I'm not at all happy with the proposal, I'm not about to personalize the matter. I realize that it wasn't you and your land, it would be someone else and theirs. If not today, then perhaps a year or two down the road. For it's unlikely that you woke up one day and said, "I think I'll build a trailer park."
 I'll bet that you were approached by the developers. While all developers are not as reckless, it appears that those with whom you are now associated are ultimately interested in only one thing. Profits. With a callous disregard to the loud objections of the community, they have demonstrated that they are willing to exploit the environment, and to exploit you. And why not? They don't live here. Like Reconstruction era carpetbaggers, they have seen an opportunity to swoop in, make a barrel of money, and leave. And you are the one left holding the bag. Certainly, you will make money. But is it worth it?

 I can guarantee that if this project is completed and the community is harmed, within a few years no one will remember who the developers were. But they will long remember Martin Merkel. And it won't be in glowing terms. And perhaps that doesn't concern you. Yet, after all of the years which you and your family have lived and contributed to the Chelsea area, this would be a terrible legacy. Don't let this happen. Develop your land. Make a profit. But not with a mobile home park. There are certainly a great many reputable developers who would be glad to work with you, in order to develop your land in a manner which would both provide you and your family with a handsome profit, and be acceptable to the community.

To the Editor:
 The recent hazardous waste spill and subsequent cleanup occurring near Gene Dr. in Chelsea and the Davidson Sales and Maintenance property is certainly a tragic accident. Local residents especially, must be relieved that the whole matter was resolved as quickly and successfully as reported.
 However, there is a more tragic part of this story that will probably never reach the newspaper. The implication that Jack Davidson would intentionally cause or knowingly be part of, the illegal dumping of any hazardous materials has already done more damage to him and his family than any of us will ever know. Jack's integrity is unproachable and to be accused of criminal intent surely must be a hard burden to bear. We have been friends with Jack and Sylvia Davidson for over 30 years and know that they are decent and conscientious people.
 We hope that everyone that knows the Davidsons will find a way to show their support during this extremely difficult time.

State Park Reservations Being Accepted Now for '96

If you think it is too early to plan a camping trip for next summer in a Michigan State Park, think again!
 Campsite reservations for the 1996 season in Michigan State Parks will be accepted starting Sunday, Oct. 1. Interested campers can call 1-800-5432-YES between 8 a.m. and 11 p.m. on weekdays and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekends.
 "We are continuing our efforts to make planning a camping trip to a state park as convenient and simple as possible," Department of Natural Resources Parks and Recreation Division Chief O.J. Scherschligt said.
 To assure that the telephone reservation process goes quickly and smoothly, callers should be ready to provide the following information for each reservation: name, address, camping equipment type and size, Visa or Mastercard number and telephone number of a contact person.
 Callers are encouraged to be patient during the first few days that reservations are accepted for the 1996 season. During this time, callers may encounter busy signals and periods of time on hold due to the initial heavy demand for campsite reservations.
 Mail-in reservations postmarked on Sept. 30, or later will be processed concurrently with telephone reservations. Requests arriving prior to Oct. 1 will be returned. To receive a reservation form, contact any state park or call the toll-free number (1-800-5432-YES).

Contemplating Life

"The deepest principle of human nature is the craving to be appreciated." —William James.

By Allen W. Smith
 One of the greatest gifts we can give is a sincere compliment. We all need to be appreciated. Rousseau wrote, "Every artist loves applause. The praise of his contemporaries is the most valuable part of his recompense." In a sense, we are all artists who need to be appreciated. We need to hear compliments from others. But sincere praise is often a very scarce commodity. Why is this the case? Why are we so reluctant to praise other people? Are we so wrapped up in our own hunger for praise that we are unable, or unwilling, to praise others?
 It takes so little time and effort to voice our appreciation to others, but its value to the receiver is immeasurable. Mark Twain said, "I can live two months on a good compliment. The very young and the very old often have an especially strong need for compliments because they have fewer opportunities to do things that can bring them praise than some of us. Why should we ever pass up the opportunity to make a kind comment that can lift the spirits of another?
 We must make sure that our compliments are sincere. False praise is worse than no praise at all. It is cruel and can inflict pain. In addition, when we are the receiver of praise, we need to be appreciative. In the words of Eleanor Hamilton, "A compliment is a gift, not to be thrown away carelessly unless you want to hurt the giver."
 There is no shortage of critics in this world. Many of us are all too eager to find fault with others. Some of us have difficulty finding anyone whose performance measures up to our expectations. There is nothing wrong with a little constructive criticism so long as it is intended to help a person improve. But shouldn't those of us who are so free to point out the faults of others also be willing to offer a little praise now and then when it is deserved?

 Criticism is a "negative force" which probably is very limited in its power to bring about improved behavior. But praise is a positive force that can be a powerful stimulus to improve.
 Suppose that, for just one week, every person in the world would look for opportunities to offer sincere praise to the people around them. Suppose nobody neglected giving praise where praise was due. How would such a week differ from all other weeks? Wouldn't a lot more people feel appreciated? Might they not be motivated to work even harder at whatever they do to justify the praise? And what about the praise givers? Wouldn't they feel better about themselves for lifting the spirits of others? Wouldn't it be a better world? Think about it.

Discussion Slated on Advantages of Leasing Vs. Buying Auto

By Debbie Barrow
 Extension Home Economist
 If you are confused about whether to buy or lease a car this program is for you! Join the Washtenaw County - Michigan State University Extension as we host Todd Baily, auto advisor from the University of Michigan Credit Union as he helps us understand this topic. Learn the pros and cons and how to figure out the true cost of leasing versus buying.
 The program will be held at the Extension office at 4133 Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor, on Thursday, Oct. 26, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Pre-registration is required by Oct. 20 and can be done by calling 971-0079.

Diabetes is a disease in which the body does not produce or properly use insulin. Insulin is needed to convert food into the energy needed for daily life. In Michigan nearly 500,000 people have diabetes. There is no cure at the present time, but it can be controlled.

Area Quakers Gather for Meeting In Kalamazoo

Six Chelsea area families recently returned from Kalamazoo where they attended a gathering of more than 1,500 Quakers (members of the Religious Society of Friends).

The theme "Gathering the Light" reflects the Quaker belief in the importance of sharing the divine Light within each person. Traditional Quaker worship takes the form of silent waiting for the "stirring of the Lord" and vocal ministry according to the inner leadings of the gathered individuals.

Eighty workshops were given on a variety of topics from Quaker faith to peace testimony, and from helping those with special needs to sharing faith in song.

A Junior Gathering was held simultaneously with close to 400 young people from pre-school through high school participating. The 105 high schoolers attended their own workshops which ranged from poetry and art to leadership and authority.

With a Michigan membership of over 200, approximately half the state's Quakers live in the Washtenaw county area and worship at the Ann Arbor Friends Meeting on Hill St. The Chelsea area is home to Friends Lake Community, a cooperative retreat and camp preserve off Waterloo Rd., and also the recently constructed Michigan Friends Center, a lake-side conference and meeting facility.

Chelsea Quaker Worship Group, affiliated with the Ann Arbor Friends Meeting, gathers monthly, on the evening of the second Sunday, at Michigan Friends Center on Clark Lake Rd. Further information may be obtained by calling Bill and Isabel Bliss at 475-9976 or John Deikis at 475-0942.

AARP Will Hear Probate Counsel Talk

Washtenaw County Chapter of AARP will meet Thursday, Oct. 12 for a program that will be both informative and entertaining. Bradley Geller, as probate counsel acting as an "ombudsman for older adults" will discuss the program that recruits and trains volunteers to serve as guardians, conservators, and bill paying assistants. Dancers from the Pittsfield Township Senior Center will perform the latest steps in the fast growing in popularity Line dancing.

The group meets at the Pittsfield township Hall, corner of Ellsworth and State Rds., at 1:30 p.m.

There is ample parking. The meeting is open to all who are interested. For more information call 995-5229.

Truck Scratched at Store

At 2:13 p.m. on Oct. 3, a 26-year-old man reported two days later after having parked his car in front of a store on Main St. and after washing his 1992 Ford F-150 pickup that he noticed scratches across the gas cap and tailgate. Police believed the scratches were caused by a sharp pointed object.

Wheat Yield Ties Record Crops of '85

This year's state-wide wheat yield average is estimated by the Michigan Agricultural Statistics Service to be 60 bushels per acre. That matches the 1985 yield, which was the highest per-acre yield reported in Michigan since 1909.

The 1995 yield can be attributed to favorable weather, improved wheat varieties and better crop management practices, says Larry Copeland, Michigan State University agronomist.

Copeland says that growers are becoming more astute in wheat fertility management and disease control. More than 5,000 acres of wheatland were enrolled in wheat pest scouting programs during the past growing season, he notes.

However, one of the most important aspects of successful wheat production begins at this time of year with variety selection, he says.

He recommends that growers review the results of MSU's 1995 wheat variety trials, which should be available at all county MSU Extension offices by early September. Growers should ask for bulletin E-2517, "Wheat Variety and Seed Selection." The bulletin may also be ordered from the MSU Bulletin Office, 10B Agriculture Hall, MSU, East Lansing 48824. The phone number is (517) 355-0240.

"We do not recommend choosing 'the winner' or winners in just one year's variety trial," Copeland says. "Wheat variety performance can vary from one location to another and from year to year."

He recommends choosing from several varieties that have averaged well across the test sites in the past several years.

"It is a good idea to plant two or more varieties. That increases the odds of having a variety that is best adapted to the coming growing season conditions," Copeland says. "Selecting two varieties can also reduce losses from diseases and insects that might overwhelm one variety's resistance in any given year."

Copeland offers the following tips on planting practices:

- Optimal dates for planting will vary from year to year and cannot be predicted with great accuracy. Planting 5 to 10 days after the local Hessian fly-free date appears best for avoiding disease and insect problems. Never plant before the local fly-free date.
- Wheat seed should be commercially treated with Vitavax 200, Baytan or Dividend to control seed rot and seedling blight fungi, loose smut and common bunt.
- Calibrate the drill to plant 1.6 million to 2.1 million seeds per acre. Seeds can vary in size by as much as 35 percent. This is why agronomists no longer recommend planting in pounds of seed per acre. The number of seeds per pound should appear on the seed label. Plant in 6- to 8-inch rows from 3/4 to 1 1/2 inches deep. There should be from 22 to 30 seeds per foot row.
- The ideal soil pH is 6.5 to 7.5. Fertilize according to soil test recommendations and apply 10 to 25 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre at planting.
- Quackgrass and other perennial grasses should be controlled at planting.

Additional information about improved wheat productivity can be obtained through MSU's Wheat 2000 program, which is currently seeking additional members.

Wheat 2000 is a co-operative effort between growers and MSU agronomists to bolster production profitability and reverse the decline in wheat acreage. Wheat 2000 membership is free.

"Wheat 2000 provides educational programs based on farm-generated data as well as MSU research," Copeland says. "This campaign will provide a single, focused forum for new ideas on how best to ensure that wheat plays the most effective role possible in Michigan agriculture."

The facilitator of the Wheat 2000 program is Sam Hazen at MSU (517) 353-8854. The chair of the Wheat 2000 Committee is Steve Poindexter, MSU Extension agricultural agent in Saginaw County (517) 799-2233.

JV Cagers Improve SEC Record to 4-0

Chelsea Junior Varsity girls basketball team improved its SEC record to 4-0 with two hard-fought victories last week, defeating Dexter, 35-33, and Tecumseh, 37-27.

Against Dexter the game was close until the fourth quarter when Chelsea opened a 33-24 lead with four minutes remaining. However, Dexter fought back as the Bulldogs could not connect on the offensive end.

Scoring were Cindy Richard with 15 points, Sarah Pruess 7, Karla Dettling 6, Hilary Spooner 4, and Margaret Schick 3.

Rebounding was by Richard 7, Dettling 6, and Pruess 6.

It was much the same story against Tecumseh—a close game throughout until Chelsea took charge in the fourth quarter, outscoring the Indians, 15-7.

Scoring was by Karla Dettling 13, Margaret Schick 10, Sarah Pruess 6, Lisa Zimmermann 2, Amy McCalla 2, and Tamra Smith 2.

Rebounding was by Pruess and Dettling with 8 each.

Dettling also had 6 blocked shots. The JV record over-all is 7-3 and 4-0 SEC.

Woman Drives Away Without Paying for Gas

An employee at a gas station on S. Main St. reported at 4:30 p.m. on Oct. 6 that someone had driven away without paying for $13 worth of premium gas.

The suspect had come into the store and bought tickets, but not the gas she had pumped. Police believe the suspect may have forgotten to pay. The suspect is a woman in her mid thirties, 5-foot-6 inches tall, with brown shoulder length hair, wearing glasses, light blue T-shirt and blue jeans driving a late model Buick Skylark.

Tom Hemingway To Speak at Dexter Chamber Breakfast

On Wednesday, Oct. 18, the Dexter Area Chamber of Commerce will hold its next breakfast meeting at Cousins Heritage Inn. The guest speaker for this meeting will be Tom Hemingway, Dexter resident and former sports director at WUOM and voice of U of M football and basketball since 1963. In addition to collegiate sports, Tom also served as the voice of the Detroit Pistons for WJR and Channel 50 for 10 years.

Breakfast cost is $7.50 per person, payable at the door. Please call the Chamber information line at 426-0887 with your name and number of reservations required by Monday, Oct. 16.

Two Sisters Argue Over Children

Two officers were dispatched at 2:54 a.m. on Sept. 28 to Maple Ct. on a report of family trouble. One of the officers spoke to the resident and said her sister-in-law had arrived and wanted to take her kids home to Dexter who were staying at the house...

The woman said her brother was not home, upsetting the sister-in-law, who had been drinking. The officer asked the resident to step outside and asked the other woman what had happened. The sister-in-law has custody of her children and her ex-husband was to have them two days of the week. She learned the ex-husband was not at home with the kids, upsetting her. She wanted to take the children home to Dexter. The sister-in-law was asked to take a breath test, resulting in .16 BAC. Officers had no reason to believe the children were in any harm. The woman was taken to police headquarters to arrange a ride to Dexter, and was later taken home by the

Lima Township Board Proceedings

Special Meeting September 19, 1995. A special meeting of the Lima Township Board on September 19, 1995 was called to order at 7:10 p.m. by Supervisor VanRiper.

The following resolution was approved. WHEREAS, this Township Board by resolution dated June 6, 1994 resolved to go on record opposing the request by Martin Merkel to annex 157 acres of land from the Township to the Village of Chelsea...

WHEREAS, this Board has since proposed a conditional transfer agreement for the Merkel property to be conditionally transferred from the Township to the Village pursuant to the provisions of Act 425 of 1984, as amended, which proposal has been rejected by the Chelsea Village Council...

WHEREAS, this Board has been notified that a petition has been filed by the Chelsea Village Council with the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners requesting annexation of some 95.6 acres of property from the Township to the Village of Chelsea...

WHEREAS, this Board has reluctantly concluded that it is in the best interests of the Township and its residents to withdraw the Township's opposition to the current annexation proposal...

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that this Board does hereby rescind its resolution of opposition adopted June 6, 1994 and formally goes on record as not opposing the present annexation petition by the Chelsea Village Council...

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Board hereby requests that the Village will not approve any zoning or rezoning request for the property to be annexed which calls for as use other than for agricultural or single-family low density (1-4) units per net acre fully taxable real property.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a certified copy of this Resolution be promptly transmitted by the Township Clerk to both the Chelsea Village Council and the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners.

AYES: Treasurer Messman, Clerk, Bareis, Trustee Trinkle, Supervisor VanRiper. NAYS: None. Absent, Trustee Heller. RESOLUTION DECLARED ADOPTED.

Damage Done to Car Window Kicked In, Heater Taken

A 39-year-old woman reported damage to her car in front of a restaurant in the 20400 block of Old U.S. 12 at 9:30 p.m. on Sept. 30 to police. She said she had parked her 1995 Plymouth in the lot and when she returned from dinner that someone had backed or driven into the front of the vehicle causing the hood and headlights to buckle upward. A suspect removed a space heater, value $60, from a bedroom and exited the house through the front door. Nothing else was taken. The man's ex-live in girlfriend is a suspect.

Intoxicated Man Gives Trouble at Hospital

A 36-year-old intoxicated Stockbridge man had been found sleeping behind the steering wheel of his car at an intersection in that town by the Ingham County Sheriff at 10 p.m. on Oct. 7 and was taken to the Chelsea Community Hospital emergency room by the Stockbridge Ambulance Service for unknown medical reasons. The man became unruly and a Chelsea officer was called to the hospital where he made contact with staff members. At the time they advised the officer that the man was being extremely un-cooperative and was yelling obscenities at the staff. A nurse asked the officer to speak to the patient so they could examine him. He then proceeded to the exam room with the nurse, where the man swore at the officer. The officer told the man he had to allow the staff to examine him and to stop using foul language. The man said he would not be treated by the staff and if he could

Women Ticketed for Yelling at Each Other

At 6:12 p.m. on Oct. 2 an officer was dispatched to the Village Apartments, 250 Wilkinson, for a manager's complaint of two women, aged 18 and 19, yelling obscenities at each other in earshot of several residents who were gathered in the front yard. The two suspects were yelling at each other from car to porch and vice versa. One stopped her car directly in front of the other's apartment. After a tenant called the police, the argument still continued. Prior to the officer's arrival, one of the women had left the complex and returned. The officer met with the manager who said the yelling was upsetting. After talking to the two women, the officer gave them appearance tickets for disturbing the peace.

Officer Stops Suspected Drunk Driver

An officer on patrol was dispatched at 1:39 a.m. on Oct. 7 to assist Washtenaw County Sheriff Department deputies at the intersection of I-94 at M-52. A Huron Valley Ambulance unit contacted WCSD and reported following a suspected drunk driver. The officer located and stopped the driver. The WCSD was not able to send a unit. The officer gave the suspect a breathalyzer test, who had a .05. The officer released the driver and returned to the village.

The man said he had no one to call, so the officer asked him if he had any money for a taxi. He reached into his pocket and pulled out several bills and a marijuana joint. The officer told the man to hand over the joint, but he tried to put it back in his pocket. The officer reached for it, and the man pulled away from him, falling against a room divider. The officer confiscated the joint, handcuffed the man and took him to the Chelsea Police Department.

CHERYL WELLS is being recognized for her unique teaching style as a winner of the Milken Family Foundation National Educator award.

Cheryl Wells Recognized for Unique Science Teaching

Many teachers fantasize about suddenly receiving a large sum of money to increase their pay or a trip. Wednesday, Sept. 27 both of these dreams came true for 20-year Dexter High school science teacher Cheryl Wells. That afternoon, in front of her ninth-grade class she was surprised to learn she had won $25,000, and visited by Principal David Z. Messner, Robert G. Harris, administrative secretary to the state Board of Education, teachers and reporters. Wells was a winner of the Milken Family Foundation National Educator Award, a private organization.

Every year, the California foundation selects 150 outstanding teachers from 30 states, with five from each state, for a week of entertainment, seminars and tours in Beverly Hills, all expenses paid, topped by a banquet when each winner gets a check for $25,000. The trip is to take place next May.

Also when she goes to the city of the rich and famous in California, Wells plans to visit relatives and to later see Yosemite National Park.

"I was really honored and completely surprised to receive the award," Wells said. Wells said she was happy to receive the award in front of her class so her students could celebrate with her.

"All the kids gave me hugs. It was great," she said.

Being modest, Wells said she found it very hard to talk about herself. "I want to stress that this award is about and for the kids," she said. She attributed help from staff, friends and family and praised the Dexter school system for allowing a good learning environment.

"No one does it by themselves," she said.

Wells was recognized for her unique approach to science teaching, paying individual attention to each student. She attributed her teaching style to the need to make changes in education to help students learn, since everyone has different learning styles. She had a need to make a difference. This keeps students interested, and some go on to a career in science, she said.

One of the ways Wells makes science fun is by taking her students on field trips to Parke-Davis, Waterloo Recreation Area and the University of Michigan.

"You get kids to learn by offering alternatives. Some kids need new approaches, by different manners. We offer opportunities not just in the classroom," she said.

"Over the years I have seen students see science hard, and it doesn't have to be," she said.

And her students say Wells goes the extra mile to make sure they understand the lessons.

"When I teach, I try to pair up kids and give help. You feel success, they pass and go on," she said. By offering tutoring and individual help after school or during lunch, "I tell them to just keep working on it and trying," she said.

Even years later, many of her students remember the help they got in class by writing letters to her about how she changed their lives. Many students have gone on to be scientists and veterinarians. One of Wells' students is presently studying beach erosion at Tulane University in New Orleans.

Wells' involvement extends outside the classroom. She founded the Women in Science and Technology group for girls aspiring to enter traditionally-male dominated fields, developed a workshop for the National Science Foundation, chairs the local school improvement team and is an advisor for the National Honor Society, of which she is a member. She has participated in the Special Olympics and the American Heart Association.

Wells and her husband Bill, who also teaches in Dexter, live at Cedar Lake, Chelsea.

Of her plans for the money, Wells plans to use it to send daughters Katie, 14, and Josie, 12, to college.

Children's Programs Starting at Library

Do you like to read, talk, and eat? asks McKune Memorial librarian Josie B. Parker, who says that fourth, fifth and sixth-graders can do those things while participating in a book discussion group starting in December at the library.

The group will be led by Parker and LeAnn Seto, an elementary school educator, and will meet once a month to discuss award winning books for children and adolescents selected and read by the group. Munchies will be provided. Paperback books of the titles selected will be purchased with funds donated by Friends of McKune Memorial Library.

An organizational meeting for interested children and their parents is scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday.

Oct. 26 at the library. Discussion group meetings will be held on Thursdays, but specific dates, meeting times and titles will be selected at the first meeting. The group is limited to 10 members. For further information, call Parker at 475-8732.

First and second-graders are invited to story hour on Tuesdays at 3:30 p.m. held until Nov. 14. Parker reads fiction, non-fiction and crafts for good fun. Registration is requested and forms are at the Circulation Desk.

U.S. exports of fruits and vegetables are up 8 percent from a year ago to total $704 million. The most dramatic export increases were frozen, fresh and canned vegetables, fruit and vegetable juices, and hops, used for brewing beer. Tree nuts were the only commodity with decreased exports. Nut exports fell 29 percent.

For U.S. Appliance purchase of $200 or more financed on your GECAF Plan account. Subject to credit approval by Monogram Credit Card Bank of Georgia. Finance charges will be assessed at (A) 21.94% APR, or, when the prime rate exceeds 8%, at an APR that varies, depending on the prime rate of the time, or (B) at 21.94% APR, plus, in either case, a maximum finance charge of 50¢ (except in certain states). In IA, ME, NC and VA, finance charges will be assessed at 15% APR, and in CO, finance charges will be assessed at 15% or 21% APR (depending on your GECAF Plan loan). However, if your purchases are paid in full within the promotional period, your account will be credited for all finance charges that have accrued on these terms. Thereafter, finance charges will continue to accrue at the applicable rate noted above.
