ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-FIFTH YEAR—No. 1 CHelsea, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1996 28 Pages This Week

—Tree Shattered by Lightning—

A 45-foot Norwegian pine tree on Stofer Road near Island Lake was struck by lightning Monday afternoon, leaving it literally in pieces. Stephen Slane, above, who was watching the house for his grandparents, said the force of the bolt threw another relative against a wall of the house, destroyed light bulbs, and took out the phone line. Pieces of the tree were found in neighbors' yards more than 75 yards away. "I had just gotten done pruning the tree," he says. Other trees in the yard were spared. The storm produced plenty of other damage along Waterloo Road as well.

Library Changes Proposed

By Scott Bishop
Staff Writer

Earlier this year, the Chelsea Village Council declined to sign a proposed District Library Agreement. Last Tuesday, May 14, the library board offered some preliminary amendments to that agreement, in hopes of revitalizing the District Library process.

Library Board President Dan Kaminsky outlined three modifications to the District Library Agreement for the council.

The original agreement called for the McKune Memorial Library to house the District Library initially, with the name changed to the McKune Memorial District Library.

Further, full transfer of ownership from Chelsea Village to the District Library was proposed in the initial agreement.

Kaminsky explained that an amended District Library Agreement would name the facility the McKune Memorial Library, and ownership of the building would stay with the village.

Rather than a transfer of the deed, the District Library would operate the building through a no charge, no time limit lease granted it by Chelsea Village.

Thus, if the District Library moved to another site, the village would retain ownership of the McKune building, the District Library being only a leasing agent.

Perhaps most significantly, Kaminsky proposed an alternative system for structuring the District Library Board.

Each participating municipality would appoint representatives to the District Library Board for a period of 3-4 years, up to the year 2000.

Then, the board would become an elected one, its members elected at large from the district library area.

"What this does is allow all the municipalities to have, I think, a say in site selection and some other critical things that will be done in the first year or so of the district library's creation."

"After that has been done, it will allow us to have the district library be sort of an autonomous agency, and the townships and the (village) council will not really have to bother with it," Kaminsky explained.

Both Sylvan Township Supervisor Gerry Dresselhouse and Lima Township Supervisor Bill Van Riper have voiced apprehension about the lack of municipal control over a district library, among other issues.

To Dresselhouse, the fact that the library board was willing to propose amending its original agreement was an encouraging sign.

"I think just the fact that some changes are proposed is a positive step," he said.

Still, the Sylvan Township Supervisor reserved judgment and retained his concerns, particularly regarding the autonomy of the District Library Board.

Dresselhouse observed that even if municipalities appointed board members, the local government organizations still had no effective control of their actions, once appointed.

Elementary Principal Approved

By Scott Bishop
Staff Writer

Chelsea School Board voted Monday night May 20 to approve Sharon Whitmore to serve as North Creek Elementary School principal.

She will take over for current North School principal William Wescott by July 1.

Over the next year, Wescott will oversee the construction of Pierce Lake Elementary School, and become its principal when the new elementary opens in the fall of 1997.

A Chelsea resident, Whitmore has been principal at Holmes Elementary School in Ypsilanti since 1989.

Chelsea Schools Superintendent Ed Richardson said Whitmore comes to Chelsea highly recommended.

"She came across as a caring and knowledgeable professional."

"When we did her site visit, her staff was very clear that they did not want her to leave, and that she was instrumental in their own personal, professional success," Richardson explained.

Whitmore and her husband, Ron, a school administrator in Ann Arbor, have lived in Chelsea for two years.

"She is not only a Chelsea resident, but she moved here because she liked Chelsea. She wanted to find a job where she could contribute to her community."

"I think her professionalism and skill level will fit in well with our administrative team," Richardson added.

Prior to assuming the Holmes Elementary School principalship, Whitmore was Director of Special Education for the Clay Community Schools in Brazil, Ind., from 1983-89.

Earlier she spent two years each teaching in a third grade position and as an elementary resource teacher, also in the Clay Community Schools.

She began her educational career as a special education teacher with the Indiana State University Laboratory School, where she taught from 1976-79.

Whitmore earned an undergraduate degree from Northern Illinois University, a Master's degree from Indiana State University, and has accumulated further graduate study credits from Indiana State, Western Michigan and Eastern Michigan Universities.

Memorial Activities Scheduled

Monday, May 27, VFW Post 4076 and American Legion Post 31 will jointly sponsor a celebration honoring United States military veterans.

A parade will begin at 10 a.m. at the Chelsea Municipal Parking Lot, including VFW and American Legion members, Chelsea area Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and Brownies, the Chelsea High School and Beach Middle School bands and likely some members of the Chelsea Sea Cadet unit.

The parade will conclude at Oak Grove Cemetery.

There, the Rev. David Cleaver-Bartholomew of First Congregational Church in Chelsea will give the invocation, followed by a selection from the band.

The featured speaker will be Ralph Cowan, a 29 year U.S. Army veteran who served during World War II, the Korean and Vietnam Wars.

Cowan, who recently retired from his position as a counselor at Eastern Michigan University and lives in Ypsilanti, said a debt for his speech will be the debt we all owe to veterans who sacrificed for the United States.

"Freedom isn't free, and we have a lot of folks who've gone before us (who protected the freedoms we enjoy)," Cowan explained.

The retired lieutenant colonel served in France with the 32nd Infantry during World War II, with the 1st Cavalry during the Korean War, and as an adviser to the Thai army during the Vietnam War.

Banquet Honors Academic Achievement

Twenty-three years ago, past Chelsea Superintendent Charles Cameron had the idea to honor senior students who had achieved a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 or better. That tradition continues.

On May 15, with the help of Modern Mothers, the school held a banquet to honor 41 students, the largest number in the history of the school, who had attained that goal.

The students each had as their guest, the one educator in their lives that had the most significant influence on them.

Included on the guest list in addition to students and their educator of choice were parents, guests of educators, superintendent, board members and special guest Ruth Cameron, wife of the late Charles Cameron.

Opening Remarks

By Brian Hamilton

It was quite a surprise to return from vacation to see the headline "Police Search Finds Drugs at School." This sort of thing has happened to me more times than I can count. I go on vacation or get sick and the one of the top news stories of the year takes place.

My first thought was, if Steve Daut could get that kind of action out of village council with a letter to the editor, no one would have to joke about how slowly village government moves. Actually, his letter about the schools' attitude toward drugs, which was published the day before, had nothing to do with the police action, but the timing of it couldn't have been better.)

From what I can tell, most people seem to think the drug search at CHS was a good idea and far overdue. They point to the fact that drug use here is on the rise, and kids are subjected to plenty of peer pressure to experiment.

One good point about the police action is it sure has people talking about substance abuse here. It got people to stand up and take notice that indeed we have a problem, and in that sense it was a fine public relations move.

Beyond that, however, I'm not so sure about the value of search.

The raid may have the effect of keeping most drugs out of the schools as it should force kids to wonder when they might get caught, and this is certainly a good thing.

But, as counselor Margaret Spaley's letter pointed out last week, most substance abuse is taking place away from the schools, at home or in a car, or at a friend's house. A drug raid isn't going to make much of a dent in this problem. And peer pressure isn't going to go away just because the drugs aren't in someone's locker or car in the high school lot. Kids are pretty resourceful when it comes to hiding things. Are we going to start searching their purses and pockets and backpacks? I used to know kids in college who hid joints and speed in their boots and hollowed-out books.

Yes, certainly there is plenty of marijuana and other illegal drugs available here and we should be concerned about them.

But the biggest problem we have is with the "legal" drugs, alcohol and cigarettes. Go to a Friday night football game and mingle with some of the kids. You can smell the cheap wine and beer on their breath. In that respect, it's not much different than mingling with some of their parents. As I wrote a couple of weeks ago, kids also seem to be smoking at younger ages and this is truly a tragedy in the making.

The only place this problem is going to be addressed in a meaningful way is in the home. And it's not enough to talk to kids about drugs. Parents have to look at their own behavior and attitudes toward drinking and smoking and the kind of role models they are. Parents who are getting looped every night shouldn't be surprised if their kids are getting high on whatever they can find.

Police actions have their limited uses. But we can't fall into the trap of believing they're actually going to make an impact on substance abuse in Chelsea. We're just giving kids fewer places to stash their drugs.

Husband Nearly Hurt While Picketing

I'm shocked and amazed at the incident my husband related to me today. It seems he and other picketers were picketing on Congdon Street. They were told to continue moving and this would be OK. As they were doing so, a truck was told or motioned to move across or over them by security guards, and my husband and another picketer was caught behind this truck as it was moving, causing them to step onto company property, giving the guards reason to reprimand them. My husband's clothes were mud-died, his back sore.

The more I think about what could have happened, the more breathless I become. Isn't there a better way to deal with these issues, without someone being hurt?

Club Supports Dying Boy's Wish To Hunt

We, the members of the Chelsea Rod & Gun Club, wish to support the decision of the Make-A-Wish Foundation to send a young man on a bear hunting trip. This decision took courage and we commend (them) for it. It is unfortunate that we are experiencing an increasing number of special interest groups who would impose their views on others. As a non-profit, charitable organization (it is) particularly vulnerable to these pressures.

In this particular case these special interest groups attempt to portray hunters as less than caring individuals. Nothing could be further from Auntie and I were taking advantage of the beautiful weather last weekend for a stroll downtown one evening. All of a sudden, she looked over and said, "It would be such a beautiful sunset, but now those big white towers are in the way. I wonder if we could spruce them up a bit."

Well, I'm not one to shirk my spousal responsibilities. Maybe the owners would consider adding some decorative elements to keep Auntie happy.

One thing that comes to mind is the mural contest being put on by the arts folks. Instead of painting something on that building by the railroad tracks, which will only look like a blur to the trains that fly across Main Street at a thousand miles an hour, we could give the artist a much, much bigger canvas. This will address our great need for a great piece of public art.

We could maybe paint the towers sky blue like the new water tower and add some vintage airplanes having a dog fight. Except then some lost pilot from a local air show could get confused and give new meaning to the term "Jiffy Mix."

Actually, maybe we should just paint a big corn muffin on them so people would know what's inside.

Or maybe we could just add those irregular black cow spots and leave the rest white. On second thought, that might not be a good idea, because we don't want to detract from the current decorative cow elements in town, and I certainly wouldn't want to suggest that the towers look anything like a huge udder.

Or, to get back to the subject of eating, we could paint them like the inside of the Common Grill to add some symmetry to the village decoration scheme. That way, we'd have the towers inside the Grill, and the inside of the Grill on the outside of the towers. Sort of an Escher thing.

Or we could get more elaborate and add arms and legs to the towers so they would look like an army of giant robots coming to stomp the village. Or use them as a memorial to Ed Sullivan and paint them like a really big shoe.

We could also paint something on the top of them, like weird stick animals or something so that airplane pilots would see them and think they were like crop circles or remnants of some ancient milling civilization and we'd get into National Geographic.

While we're on top of the towers, maybe we could build that community hot tub up there, since the village wouldn't go for the idea of using the old water tower. Or even a swimming pool. We'd probably want to put a railing around it, though, because if someone got confused on the high dive board, they could be in for a real surprise.

Maybe, instead of going underground for the M-52 bypass, we could use the towers as a support for a really tall overpass. That way, when Detroit Metro Airport got bogged up, we could use it for an emergency landing strip for the international jets. If the passengers had to stay overnight, at least they would have plenty of muffins to eat.

In back are Deborah Adams, Liz Kaminsky, Jessica Hendricks, Heather Gray, Lisa Clement, Diane Richardson, and Traci Kern.

Students, Teacher Honored

May 16 was an unforgettable night for 15 eighth grade Beach Middle School students. On that evening, parents, administrators and school board members attended the SEC Conference All-League Academic Banquet given in their honor by the Southeastern Conference League Principals.

Principals in the Southeastern Michigan conference of the Middle School State Wide Association have been meeting monthly for the past 13 years to share ideas and exchange information. In addition to sponsoring the academic honors banquet, they set athletic policies and procedures for the league, and coordinate many other events among the schools such as spelling bees, a quiz bowl program and student council representative exchange days.

Middle Schools from Chelsea, Dexter, Lincoln, Milan, Pinckney, Saline, Stockbridge and Tecumseh participated in the event that recognized top academic eighth grade students from each school. Selection is determined by the grade point average for the first three quarters of the eighth grade year.

Braidwood, Lindsey Brink, Lisa Clement, Jill Drexler, Molly Edman, Heather Gray, Jessica Hendricks, Elizabeth Kaminsky, Traci Kern, Katherine Knox, Jennifer Martin, Diane Richardson, Bob Rohrkemper, Amy Sporer and Ellyn Wheeler.

In addition, the Southeastern Conference All-League Academic Award for Teachers was presented to a teacher from each school selected by the students as the one instructor most instrumental in attaining their status of All-League Scholar. Criteria for selection included a teacher's capability in giving individualized help, recognizing student problems, actively being involved in the art of teaching and students' learning, listening to students, and maintaining a positive and encouraging attitude.

Math teacher Pat Clarke was Chelsea's distinguished award recipient this year. Pat, hired by the district in 1968, has been a math teacher for 23 years, and is currently the Math Department Head at Beach Middle School.

SEC rules dictate that once a teacher wins, he is out of the running for five years. That this is Pat's second time to receive this honor speaks highly of his ability to make a difference in students' lives. In addition to his teaching duties, Pat has served as softball and cross country coach and last year was selected Cross Country Coach of the Year by the State Athletic Association. He was recently honored by three students attending the Senior Honors Banquet, as the one teacher who had the most influence on them during their school years.

THE ANIMAL LANE People & Pets

What You May Not Know About Rabies

As far as anyone can tell, rabies has been around about as long as human beings and animals have lived together on this earth. With all that history, you'd think people would understand rabies better. Unfortunately, many myths hand on. For example, even though most reported cases of rabies are related to wild animals, the biggest threat to people today is actually unvaccinated domestic animals—cats and dogs. Another dangerous misconception is that it's easy to spot a rabid animal, which will be drooling and foaming at the mouth. In fact, those symptoms usually appear only in the final stages of the infection, if at all. Finally, rabies is now a potential problem virtually throughout the United States. Household pets must be vaccinated according to a veterinarian's instructions, and all family members should be taught to avoid any unfamiliar animal.

Most states now have laws that make it mandatory for cats, as well as dogs, to be vaccinated against rabies. If you have any questions concerning preventive vaccines, talk to your veterinarian or us at Lane Animal Hospital, 636 North Main Street (475-8696). We have five veterinarians to provide complete service to your pets. Services are available by appointment only.

Chelsea District Library Changes Proposal

On the other hand, Dresselhouse said, electing the District Library Board at large from the entire district could leave an individual municipality without any representation.

Van Riper expressed a preference for an elected District Library Board, though sharing Dresselhouse's concern over potential lack of representation.

Van Riper proposed board members elected not at large, but rather from within each of the participating municipalities, as a potential remedy.

Letters to the Editor

The truth, hunters believe in and practice humane treatment of animals. We have done more through self-regulation and self-imposed taxes than other groups to provide proper wildlife management and habitat for both game and non-game species.

Erik has obviously been raised in a family which hunts and fishes together. He has indeed been privileged to learn the joys and pleasures of these sports. The exhilaration of being afield or on a lake, the camaraderie of being with friends or family, the satisfaction of preparing a gourmet meal are all part of the hunting or fishing experience. It is our sincere wish that more children have the opportunity to experience these pleasures as opposed to sitting in front of a TV and being inculcated with the values of Hollywood.

Superintendent's Corner

By Edward Richardson
Chelsea School Superintendent

This is the hiring season for public schools. From April to July we will be hiring administrators, teachers, support staff, summer helpers, and others. As a community member, one may wonder, "How do people get hired in the Chelsea School District?"

Making the decision to hire someone who will be around our children is the most important decision we make...bar none! Therefore, additional screens have been created in our district to try to hire the best. Although we use different screens based on the position being filled, here is the process we normally use to hire an administrator.

First, a job description, posting and hiring procedure are recommended to the Board of Education. The posting includes title, the required or preferred qualifications, salary range, and directions for submitting an application.

Next, the applications are reviewed for qualifications. Usually, I will review the resumes and ask other administrators to review them as well.

Six to eight candidates are selected for a first round of interviews with a team of teachers, parents, support staff representative, peer administrators, and me! The task of round one is to select up to five second-round candidates and identify what additional information we would like to have about each candidate.

Round-two interviews are held with additional administrators, the Board of Education chair of personnel and me.

One or two candidates are usually selected for further background checks and for what is known as a "site visit." During the site visit we go to the candidate's present employment site and talk to the people who work for, with, and around the candidate. These are always very telling visits. We usually get a real feel for what he or she is like daily, not just during interviews.

If the site visit goes well, I will meet with the candidate and negotiate the contract within the parameters of the posting and Board contracts. By now, we will have called all the formal and informal references possible.

Finally, as superintendent, I'll recommend a candidate to the Board of Education for approval. The board is the legal hiring body. This process is time consuming, and when it is done, the real work begins...that of orientation of the new person to the Chelsea School District. We want all newly hired persons to know Chelsea, understand the challenges they will face, and provide the information, tools and training to do great things for students.

Well, this is a brief summary of the process we use to hire an administrator. Hiring a teacher is similar, except we require that all teachers demonstrate their teaching to us. The best teachers just "glow" when they teach. It's a wonderful thing to observe.

The process of selecting great people is not a scientific certainty. It is more of an art form. Be assured that we try to do one thing with every hire — hire someone with demonstrated knowledge and skill who puts students first and cares about the Chelsea community.

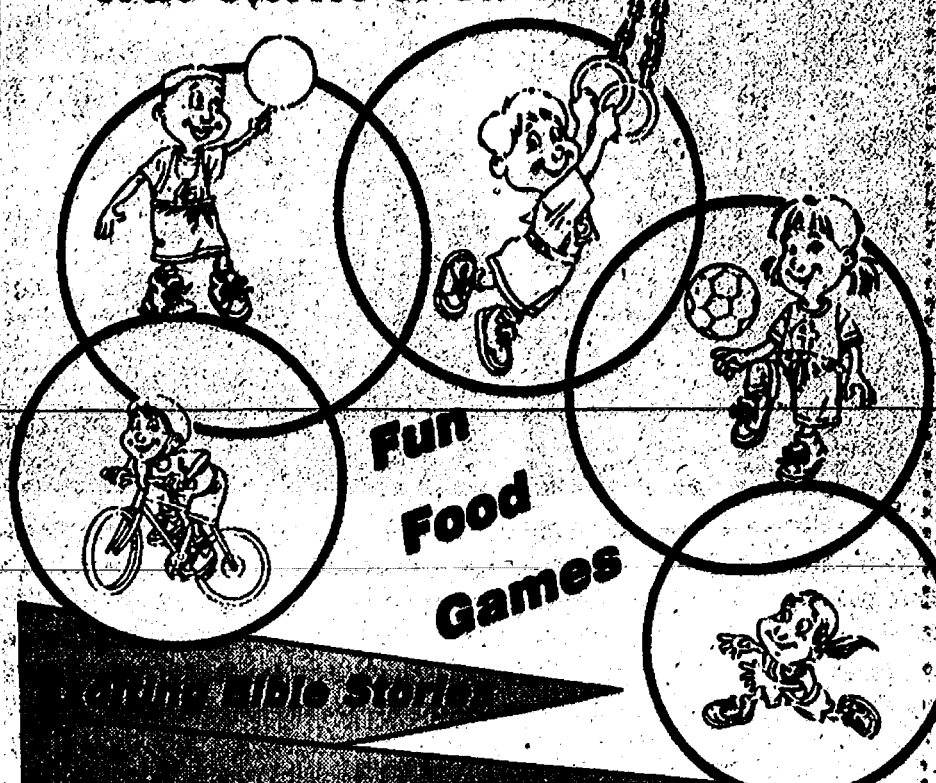

—Police Solve Case—

Surveillance of the Municipal Parking Lot by Chelsea Police netted three suspects in a rash of vehicle break-ins. Early last Friday morning, Chelsea Police officers observed and arrested a 28-year-old Manchester man, formerly of Chelsea, in the process of breaking into a motor vehicle in the lot off Park St. Officers witnessed the suspect attempt to break into every vehicle in the lot. Further investigation uncovered other suspects in the case. Several car stereos, related equipment, car phones and personal items were recovered. The arrests and recovery of property were the result of an ongoing investigation by the Chelsea Police Department. Stolen items were recovered from as far away as Ypsilanti. Chelsea Police Officer Chris Kruger is pictured holding a stereo stolen from his own vehicle.

INFECTIONS FROM CONTACT LENSES

About a year ago, major medical centers around the country began to recognize an increased incidence of infectious ulceration of the cornea in persons who wore soft contact lenses. A high percentage of these infections were in persons wearing extended wear soft contact lenses - the kind that can be worn two to four weeks without removal. The daily wear soft contacts - which must be taken out every night - were less of a problem.

Additionally, the bacteria and fungi causing these infections can be virulent, sometimes causing a permanent reduction in vision due to scarring of the cornea. The cornea is the clear dome-shaped structure covering the pupil and the iris.

A study recently published in the American Journal of Ophthalmology showed that these corneal ulcers occurred in wearers of daily wear soft contacts only when the patients did not use proper hygiene when caring for their contact lenses. Improper techniques included failure to wash hands before handling the contacts, wearing them overnight, not using a disinfecting system, or having a contaminated case. In contrast, 40% of the extended wear contact patients who got corneal ulcers had followed proper cleaning techniques.

This suggests that daily wear soft contact lenses may be safer than extended wear lenses. Extended wear lenses are still O.K. to use, provided the wearer is educated regarding the possible risks.

—Chelsea Ford Dealership Honored—

George Palmer, left, of Palmer Ford-Mercury in Chelsea received Ford's North American Customer Excellence Award from District Manager Jay Sellers recently. The award is presented to the top 10 percent of dealerships throughout the country and recognize only those dealerships that excel in both parts and service. The dealership is the oldest Ford dealership in Michigan and its many awards hang in the showroom downtown.

Hospital Awards Scholarships

Each year Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary interviews students from the Chelsea Community Hospital service area who are pursuing a health related career.

The Auxiliary has awarded Auxiliary Scholarships to the following students: Ann Arbor - Nicole Shafer, Pharmacy, U of M; Eric Zink, Medicine, U of M; Byron Kidd, Physical Therapy, CMU; Grass Lake - Danielle DeLong, Physical Therapy, Oakland U; Manchester - Rhonda Walkow, Nursing, U of M; Chris Wiethoff, Pharmacy, U of M.

The Auxiliary also oversees three special scholarships. The Palmer Scholarship is awarded to a student enrolled in a university pre-med curriculum and this year was awarded to David Klemmer of Chelsea who will be attending medical school at Columbia University in New York.

The Dorothy Miller Scholarship, in honor of Dorothy Miller who founded the Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary, was awarded to Lucy Eisenbeiser of Chelsea for Occupational Therapy at Washington U, St. Louis, MO.

The Lowell and Carol Spike Scholarship, in honor of Lowell and Carol Spike, dedicated supporters of Chelsea Community Hospital, was awarded to Erica Fielder of Brooklyn towards her Veterinary Medicine study at MSU. Carol Spike was also past president of the Auxiliary.

Wellness Advice Given To Readers

It may seem light and airy, but the typical 2-ounce croissant contains about 14 grams of fat and 260 calories. That's about 12 times as much fat and twice as many calories as a plain English muffin of the same weight.

Americans get more vitamin C by far from oranges and their juice than from any other food. But the following contain at least as much C as an orange: 1 cup strawberries, 1 green bell pepper (red and yellow peppers have more), one kiwifruit, or 1 cup of broccoli, cauliflower or Brussels sprouts.

How about a pancake trade-off—syrup instead of butter. One tablespoon of pancake syrup has about 50 calories and no fat (even those with "butter" in their names). Most "light" syrups have only about 25 calories per tablespoon. But the butter you put on the pancakes has about 100 calories per tablespoon—and is pure fat.

Position your computer screen so you look down at it at a 15 degree angle. Your eyes should be nearly level with the top of the monitor. Placing it so that it tilts slightly upward will reduce the risk of neck strain by allowing you more freedom to move your neck around. It will also let your eyes focus and, by exposing less of the eye surface, help prevent dry eyes.

Observe the ¼ plate rule. That's how much of the food on your dinner plate should be grains, vegetables, legumes and fruit, leaving just ¼ for meat, chicken or fish. This will help you get a good mix of nutrients, control portion sizes and cut down on fat.

Scott Kalitta Loses At Mopar Parts National

A win at the NHRA Mopar Parts Nationals was not to be for defending Winston Top Fuel Champion Scott Kalitta or his father and teammate Connie.

Scott, driving his American International Airways/Sequent Computers entry, defeated Kenny Bernstein and points leader Blaine Johnson before falling to Joe Armato in the semifinals — 4.753 to 4.794 seconds. Kalitta, 34, of Chelsea, Mich., is now third in the Winston points chase after seven of 19 events.

Connie, 58, of Ypsilanti, Mich., defeated Pat Dakin in round one before falling victim to Shelly Anderson in round two — 4.807 to 4.864. The American International Airways owner now is eighth in Winston points.

The next event for the team is the Pontiac Excitement Nationals in Columbus, Ohio, June 8-9. Scott has won the Pontiac Excitement Nationals for the past two years.

VIEWS ON DENTAL HEALTH

GARY GOCHANOUR, D.D.S.

TEETH SHOULD LAST A LIFETIME-PLUS

Have you ever seen the photo of an ancient human skull? If you looked closely, you would have seen a full set of teeth included. Teeth are made of one of the hardest natural substances on earth and should not only last a lifetime (if properly cared for) but thousands of years after our lifetime.

Despite the fact that Americans are among those who enjoy the best dental care in the world, most of us have an oddly defeatist attitude about our teeth. We seem to fully expect each member of our family-sooner or later-to lose several or even all of our permanent teeth.

Much of this fatalism is based upon the misconception that your natural teeth are somehow not sturdy enough to last you a lifetime-that everyone must sooner or later join the 20 million toothless people in this nation. But that's definitely not a true assumption.

With the proper eating habits (staying away from sugar), proper home care and regular visits to your dentist, your teeth should last a lifetime plus a few thousands years.

Prepared by Custom Column Service as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of:

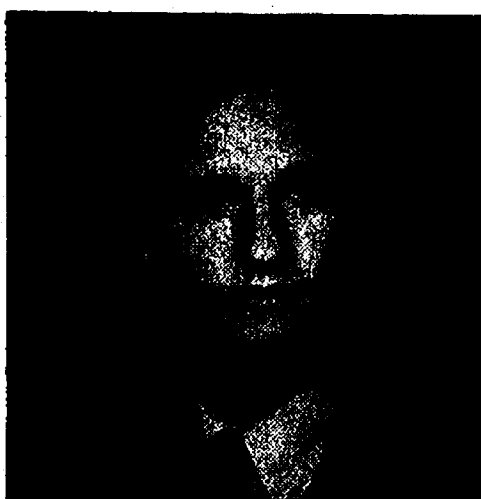

Gary Gochanour, D.D.S., 3108 Baker Rd., Dexter

TEACHER FEATURE

Independent Students Are Cooper's Goal

By Scott Bishop
Staff Writer

Nancy Cooper is in her 26th year of helping impaired students maximize their independence at Chelsea High School, and she's loving every minute of it.

The special education teacher designs her class with expansive goals in mind.

"I'm teaching kids absolutely important survival skills. Our goal is to have kids be independent."

"It's much different than a regular classroom, which is one of the reasons I think I was drawn to this."

"(The class) becomes like a family. I'm in daily contact with most parents. I'm with (the students) often more than their parents are. We become very close and I'm a real advocate for them."

"I think I'm also very demanding of them. I think that every single one of them is capable of living on his own, of getting a job and being a responsible citizen," Cooper explained.

She teaches young adults ranging in age from 14 to 26, sometimes working with them for up to five years.

Cooper's 12 students are developmentally disabled by mental, physical, emotional, speech and language or other impairments.

They come from Chelsea and Manchester. Next year, Cooper's class will be larger, and include students from Dexter and Whitmore Lake as well.

The learning goes far beyond the walls of the classroom, beyond even the boundaries of the immediate Chelsea area.

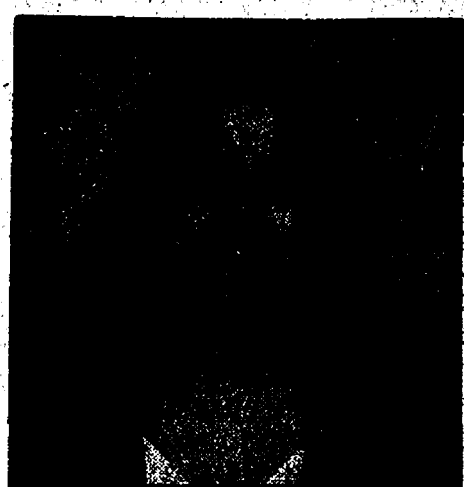

"It's really a unique program. You won't find this anywhere else in the county. It involves a lot of transportation and getting places to go to do things."

"When the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority came to Chelsea, it really opened up the whole county to us. We don't consider ourselves just a Chelsea program. We're more of a county-wide program, we use the whole county," Cooper explained.

Her students travel to places like the Washtenaw County Recreation Building, Arborland and Meijer in Ann Arbor, as well as interact with special education classes from Dexter and Ann Arbor Pioneer, where Cooper's husband teaches special education.

Each Thursday is Community Job Day. All 12 students work 4-5 hours at local businesses like Old Country Buffet, McDonalds, Wendy's, Chelsea Community Hospital and the Chelsea Retirement Community.

Wednesday mornings, the class runs a house-cleaning business that's retained some of the same clients for up to 15 years with good quality work.

Chelsea High School teacher Nancy Cooper is helping her students achieve independence.

Monday nights, the cleaners are at it again, this time revitalizing the buildings at Chelsea High School.

Every three years, Cooper rents an Ann Arbor apartment for six months, and some students truly put their independent skills to the test, living in the apartment with 24-hour assistance, if necessary, from Cooper and parents.

The heavy focus on work, life skills and autonomy shapes the program's purpose.

"It's important to (students) because it's their way to a life of independence, a life of choice, a life of being part of their community."

"They can share in what the community does, and they can be a contributing part of it, which I think is real important."

"I hope that they're able to do something meaningful. If that doesn't mean competitive employment, then it might mean some kind of volunteer activity, and that's okay. They're doing something to help other people. They're taking care of themselves," Cooper emphasized.

Her teaching strategy aims at breaking down stereotypes often attached to impaired people.

"I think the problem with a lot of developmentally disabled or handicapped kids is people treat them differently."

"I treat my students like I treat anybody else. People tend to behave as they're treated. If I treat them as adults, if I have high expectations of them, I get that back," Cooper explained.

A highlight in her career is the development of former student who came to her classroom from the nearby St. Louis Center, a home for mentally impaired young men.

Through his own, Cooper's and others efforts, the student now lives independently in his own Chelsea apartment and works at an area store.

Success stories like that are much of the reason Cooper says there's never been a day in her 26 year career that she didn't want to be in school.

"I look forward to more of what I'm doing. It's always fun," Cooper concluded.

Agricultural Scholarships Awarded to Local Students

Stephanie Wesolowski, a Chelsea High School senior, has been selected as the recipient of a $1,000 Agriculture Scholarship funded through Farm Credit Services Southeastern Michigan employee "Dress Down Days" contributions during July and August.

Stephanie plans to attend Michigan State University in the fall where her field of study will be Animal Science.

A $500 Agriculture Scholarship was awarded to John Brosamle, also a Chelsea High School Senior, who will be pursuing a two-year agriculture program.

John plans to attend Ferris State University participating in the school's Heavy Equipment Technology Program. He plans to become a master mechanic.

Deann Elizabeth Heck, a Monroe High School Senior, has been selected as the recipient of a $1,000 Agriculture Scholarship which was awarded to the son or daughter of a member of FCS of S.E. Michigan.

Through his own, Cooper's and others efforts, the student now lives independently in his own Chelsea apartment and works at an area store.

Success stories like that are much of the reason Cooper says there's never been a day in her 26 year career that she didn't want to be in school.

"I look forward to more of what I'm doing. It's always fun," Cooper concluded.

Dexter Village Retail Fraud

Retail fraud was reported at Busch's Valu Land, 3219 Broad St., May 13. A 25-year-old store manager called the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department when he caught a 43-year-old Chelsea woman stealing cold medicine. The incident occurred at 11 a.m. The manager told police he was watching the woman because she had been caught earlier in the week stealing meat and beer. The woman, who was shopping with her teenage daughter, returned the cold medicine when confronted. But upon further investigation, police discovered additional stolen merchandise in her purse.

Retail fraud was reported at Busch's Valu Land, 3219 Broad St., May 18. A 49-year-old store manager called the sheriff's department after he caught a 64-year-old Ann Arbor woman stealing food items. The manager told police he was watching the woman because he has suspected her of shoplifting in the past. He stopped her outside the store and called police. A deputy searched the woman's purse and found hot dogs, cigarettes, sausage and hamburger. Larceny

Larceny was reported at Dexter High School, 2615 Baker Rd., May 17. A 15-year-old girl told a sheriff's deputy someone stole $22 from her book bag while she was in gym class on May 8 and May 17.

Chelsea Village Warrant Arrests

Kenneth E. Snyder, 21, of Detroit was arrested by Chelsea Police April 30 on a warrant for writing checks on a closed account. Snyder wrote checks totaling $236 on two different occasions at Pamida, 1040 S. Main St.

Kevin L. LaCroix, 20, of Chelsea was arrested by Chelsea Police May 13 on a warrant for burglary. The warrant was issued out of the University of Michigan Campus Police Department. LaCroix was turned over to campus police custody.

Larceny

Larceny was reported on Moore Drive near Arthur St., May 19. Chelsea Police were called when a Chelsea boy left his Mongoose BMX bike outside overnight and found it missing the next morning. The bike is valued at $240.

Larceny was reported in the parking lot of Wolverine Food & Spirits on Old US-12. A 52-year-old Chelsea man told police someone stole a license plate off his boat trailer between 7:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

Property Damage

Malicious destruction of property was reported in the parking lot of Wolverine Food & Spirits on Old US-12. A 38-year-old Chelsea woman told police someone broke the rear side window on her 1988 Ford Econoline van. The incident occurred May 17. Police noted the window appeared to be struck with a blunt object.

Sylvan Township Juvenile Arrest

A 16-year-old township boy was arrested at his home in the 17400 block of Cavanaugh Lake Road, May 13. The boy was wanted on a juvenile pick-up order. He was transported by a Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputy to the county's juvenile detention center.

Lyndon Township Intoxicated/Suicidal Subject

A Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputy was dispatched to the 16000 block of Cassidy Road, May 8, to help an intoxicated and suicidal man. The 41-year-old township man called the emergency telephone number 911 threatening to kill himself. He also claimed to have land mines planted in his house, yard and in his driveway. When police arrived, the man was found kneeling on his lawn with a knife sticking in the ground. When the man was asked to hand over the knife, he threw it at a tree. The deputy convinced the man to go to the VA Hospital for help.

Lima Township Breaking and Entering

Breaking and entering was reported at Scrap Masters, 11784 Dexter-Chelsea Road, May 13. A 22-year-old manager told a sheriff's deputy someone broke in through an unlocked door and stole a computer monitor, processor, keyboard and printer valued at $1,000. The break-in occurred between May 11 and May 13.

Freedom Township Breaking and Entering

Breaking and entering was reported in the 10900 block of Bethel Church Road, May 12. A 30-year-old man told a sheriff's deputy he suspects an independent contractor of stealing a circular saw and cordless drill from a home under construction. The victim told police the suspect took the items because he felt he should be paid $70 more than they agreed to. When police called the suspect, the 25-year-old Ypsilanti man claimed the victim gave him the tools as collateral and the victim owed him $250. When police let the suspect talk to the victim via a speaker telephone, however, the suspect revealed he took the tools without permission and increased the amount he should be paid for the "inconvenience" he had to go through.

Dexter Township

Property Damage

Malicious destruction of property was reported in the 14100 block of Fairway Drive, May 11. A 37-year-old township man told a sheriff's deputy someone threw eggs at his residence around 12:10 a.m. The man was unable to get a vehicle description. It was noted eggs were thrown at the house on April 19, April 20 and May 10. No other homes on the street were targeted.

Trespassing/Attempted

Larceny/Possible Child Neglect
A 31-year-old Dexter man may be charged with recreational trespassing, attempted larceny and possible child neglect after he and his children were caught stealing firewood in the 10700 block of Island Lake Road, May 18. The man, who police determined to be legally intoxicated, was observed by the property owner to be stealing firewood. The 58-year-old victim approached the man, they reportedly argued, and the suspect returned the wood.

A short time later, however, the suspect returned with his children and began loading the wood in his vehicle again. The sheriff's department was called and the man's blood-alcohol level was tested at 25 percent, which is more than twice the legal limit. A neighbor of the suspect was called to transport his three children to their mother's residence. The suspect's neighbors told police the man is an alcoholic and often drives drunk with his children in the vehicle. The case has been turned over to the prosecutor and the Department of Social Services.

Larceny

Larceny was reported at A&W Restaurant, 8220 Dexter-Chelsea Rd., May 13. A 50-year-old man told a sheriff's deputy someone stole three signs valued at $1,200. The signs were stolen between 9:30 p.m. May 10 and 10 a.m. May 11.

Author Visits Historic Chelsea Depot

By Kathy Clark
Special Writer

Chelsea's 1880 depot is one of 700 depots across the United States in Janet G. Potter's book Great American Railroad Stations, published by John Wiley & Sons, Inc.

Potter stopped at Chelsea's depot last week on her way to a book signing in Durand for their 21st "Railroad Days."

Her interest in the current status of 700 stations, began in 1989 with a visit to Washington D.C.'s Union Station. "It had fallen on very hard times and many millions were spent to redo it," Potter was fascinated with the inside filled with shops, restaurants and a multiplex movie theater. Travelers could still take the train from there and the metropolitan subway. However, she noticed, "not one space in that building was being used as it was originally."

Potter's book begins with a quote from Senator Daniel P. Moynihan: In 1963 New York City's Pennsylvania Station was torn down and dumped in the New Jersey Meadows without apology, without protest.

In Washington D.C. Union Station (with a tree growing through the roof) almost met the same fate, but we saved it.

While taking current pictures of the depot, then touring inside, Potter noticed many remarkable features about the Chelsea depot.

"In here you can tell you're in a railroad depot. In others you might as well be in a dentist office." She noted the renovation had brought back to life something from its past use as a depot. She appreciated the fact that the full height of the ceiling was preserved, with authentic looking light fixtures inside and out.

Chelsea's depot setting according to Potter was very good, authentic in that the factory remained across the street. Original homes, the livery, and Farmer's Supply were in their proper setting by the tracks. "So many other depots are sitting completely isolated with none of the original buildings surrounding them."

On page 336 of Great American Railroad Stations, Chelsea's depot is described:

"Chelsea Railroad Station, 125 Jackson St. (off Main St.) Mason & Rice, 1880.

"Chelsea was a 19th century shipping point for agricultural products, particularly wheat and wool. The town's earliest depots apparently met violent ends. One was destroyed by fire and the other by nighttime vandals secretly cabling the depot to a train.

"Michigan Central's replacement was designed in stick style by a prominent Detroit architectural firm. Besides the more usual single agent's bay along the trackside, the Chelsea station had bay windows at either end with triple-gable roofs. In the 1980s a non profit group purchased the depot from Conrail. It restored the exterior to the original shades of green, although the station is still missing its roof cresting, finials, and incised chimneys."

Janet Potter, author of a book on train depots, visited the Chelsea Depot last week.

Beach Students Return From Washington D.C.

By Jasmin Roberts and Bobby Rohrkemper

We woke up to the sound of the alarm clock, and we knew we had an exciting day ahead of us. All the packing and all the working, and now it's here! It was a cold day. After last minute discussions about food, money and clothes, my Mom drove me to the buses at Beach by 4:45 a.m., and we embarked on conversations on the bus. I waited for my mother's wave, and "I'll miss you!"

There were four buses of 171 eighth graders. All at once I felt nervous. All the selling of candy and saving up was worth it! With my friends around me, we talked of what's to come and all the places we're going to go.

We departed at 5:01 a.m., and everyone started to settle in and get out their Walkmans and try to sleep.

We stopped for breakfast on the turnpike, and we got to visit with friends from other buses. We watched videos on the bus, and the next stop was lunch at Post House Cafeteria at Breezewood.

At Gettysburg we got off the bus and walked up the sidewalk to the Gettysburg Museum. There we walked through and looked at all the exhibits and saw the guns that were used at the Battle of Gettysburg. We then took a tour of the battlefield. The sights were awesome, and the tour guide made it come to reality. We hiked up Little Round Top and climbed in and on Devil's Den.

Then we drove through some beautiful mountains and ate dinner at a restaurant called the Cozy Inn. Later we got to our hotel, a Best Western Maryland Inn in Laurel, Md. We got settled in with our roommates and went to bed.

Six a.m. was the wake-up call. We rolled out of bed, showered, and were down to a big buffet breakfast by 7.

We took a group photo in front of the Capitol, and toured the F.B.I. Headquarters. We ate lunch at Union Station and did some shopping. Then we went to the American and Natural History Museums, which are part of the Smithsonian Museums.

We visited Mt. Vernon, where George Washington lived on the Potomac, and then we ate at Pentagon City. At night we went to an awesome pool party, and then back to the hotel.

To start out the third day of our trip, we had breakfast at the hotel and then got ready to visit the Capital building. After a short ride on the bus, we met our tour guide and got in line to get inside the Capitol.

When we went inside, I was surprised at how large the dome was. We saw some state statues and we saw where the House of Representatives sit.

Then it was lunch time, and today it was at the Hard Rock Cafe. It was pretty neat. There (Continued on Page 27)

The Way It Was

By Kathy Clark

Every once in a while when someone is sharing Chelsea stories, the 1955 great train wreck is brought up. Local folks seem to be holding on to the dramatic photographs.

According to Dave Pastor and Eltia Borders (Eltia lived close to the tracks on North Street) it was Chelsea's biggest event in a few decades. Borders has a dozen train wreck photographs, one showing his father, Skinny, in his Sunday white suit, and one of his brother's 1955 police car.

Pastor was 15 and remembered descriptions of the night of the crash, sounds of crash, thud, rumble. "The biggest rumble was down on East Street a block from the old high school." Pastor's most vivid memory was of a tanker carrying chemicals which left the tracks on the north side and landed in front of the house next to the Spring Division Plant.

"He said 'one of the cars developed a hot box where a bearing seized up and caused it to break and roll out under the cars, then the next one wrecked on down in a chain reaction.'"

In 1955 The Chelsea Standard article covered details of the New York Central westbound train wreck, Saturday, April 9, 1955 at 10:40 p.m. This wreck became known as one of the worst in Washtenaw County.

The reported cause of the accident was a defective journal—the round housing of wheel bearings on the 18th car became overheated and the axle broke. The disabled car was dragged and tore up tracks and switches for half a mile.

When the westbound 88-car train, loaded with bar and sheet steel, newspaper and other merchandise came to a stop, 22 freight cars had piled up. One tanker was filled with caustic acid but did not rupture.

Wrecking crews had it cleared in a few days. By Sunday, the news had spread and many went directly from church to the track. By Monday, school children were allowed to walk to the track and get a close look at the spectacle. "Many of the local residents were unaware of the accident until Sunday and described it as not loud, but more of a rumble and vibration like an earthquake."

By Sunday evening stocks of camera film in local stores had been completely exhausted by shutter bug sightseers, according to the news story. Quipped one bystander, "That's one way to get trains to stop in Chelsea."

Previous large train wrecks in Chelsea occurred in 1906 and 1921.

Village Faces Water Dilemma

By Scott Bishop
Staff Writer

The Chelsea Village Council reluctantly agreed to test an experimental remedy to reduce copper concentrations in village water last Tuesday, May 14.

While the council expressed little confidence in either the study's necessity or accuracy, action was mandated by the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality.

A letter to the village from Bryce Feighner of the DEQ Drinking Water and Radiological Protection Division, dated April 29, indicated Chelsea was delinquent in beginning a required study of a copper reducing measure and had just 30 days to implement one.

At a council meeting earlier this year, Feighner raised the possibility of reporting Chelsea to the State Attorney General for failure to initiate the mandated study.

At that earlier meeting, village trustee Frank Hammer and others questioned the scientific data on which the DEQ mandate was based, arguing there was no certain need for reducing copper levels in village water.

Village engineering firm Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May presented the council with two alternative remedies, either of which could be studied over a four month period to determine if they were effective in reducing copper levels. One involved adjusting the pH level of village water, while the other required the addition of phosphate with chlorination. Either would satisfy the DEQ.

Earlier this year, village trustees and residents voiced strong opposition to any solution that added chlorine to village water.

Confusing to village officials were seemingly mixed messages from the DEQ.

Adding phosphate and chlorine to the water is acceptable to Feighner and one division of the DEQ. However, the Huron River Watershed Initiative, a DEQ program based on a national mandate from the Environmental Protection Agency, is recommending that local municipalities remove phosphates from their water, to halt the proliferation of algae in downriver Ford and Belleville Lakes.

Village Manager Jack Myers expressed frustration with the apparent contradiction.

"On the one hand, the DEQ is saying, add phosphates. On the other hand, they're saying remove them," Myers explained.

Trustee Steve Daut said he was willing to flout DEQ directives and decline to implement either study option.

"I'm ready to go to the mat on it," Daut said.

He proposed indicating to the DEQ that neither treatment option was acceptable, that it wasn't clear that pH adjustment would work, and adding phosphate would be in conflict with the recommendation. (Continued on Page 27)

Children's Chorus Sets Year's Final Concert

Chelsea Children's Chorus will perform the final concert of its debut year at Chelsea High School's George Prinzing Auditorium Friday, May 31, at 7 p.m.

The Spring Concert will feature the 32-member chorus, under the direction of Steven P. Hinz, in a variety of choral selections. This concert will feature several large-group classical selections, such as choral works by Bach, Purcell, and Copeland, as well as some smaller ensembles performing lighter medleys from American Musical Theatre repertoire.

The Chelsea Children's Chorus is a part of the Chelsea Center for the Development of the Arts, the non-profit organization which has also brought the CCDA Visual Arts Workshops and Voice Studio to the greater Chelsea area.

Auditions were held in the fall to formulate this current group of singers. With 32 children between the ages of eight and 13, the chorus rehearses two days a week after school and has already performed several concerts throughout the community.

The children have experienced a myriad of musical styles this year, including classical American choral literature, folk songs, musical theatre repertoire, and even foreign language choral works. Their dedication and ambition have been applauded both by the community and visiting choral directors.

The children performed their debut concert at the First United Methodist Church of Chelsea in December. This performance was a joint effort with the Chelsea High School Madrigal Singers.

In March, the children performed, along with the middle school and high school choirs at the George Prinzing Auditorium.

Next year's agenda includes an exciting collaborative effort with some of Ann Arbor's finest children's choirs in a community performance.

For those children who were unable to attend this year's audition for the Chelsea Children's Chorus, auditions will be held once again in the fall for the next year's group.

Tickets for the final choral celebration may be purchased at the door, or for further information, please contact Hinz at 433-9188.

School Bids Awarded

Monday night, the Chelsea School Board approved three bids from contractors for services in constructing a new elementary school, to be called Pierce Lake Elementary.

A bid for earthwork and utilities was awarded to Parson's Construction of Fowlerville for $627,875.

Albanelli Cement Contractors of Farmington Hills were awarded a bid for concrete work worth $253,375.

A bid for materials testing was awarded to Professional Service Industries Inc. of Ann Arbor for $61,697.

Softball Captures SEC Championship

By Phil Lozen
Staff Writer

The Chelsea Softball team ran its record to 12-2 in the SEC and 20-8 overall on their way to capturing the SEC tournament title and the SEC season title.

They opened the week with a pair of convincing wins over Pinckney.

The opener was a 13-3 win. Lisa Beard, who won both games, struck out five.

The big inning was an eight run first for Chelsea, Kasie Ruhlig had a two-run single, while Sarah Petty, Beard, Suzy Steele, and Tina Richardson got RBI as well.

Petty ended up scoring twice for Chelsea, while Steele added another RBI.

In the nightcap, Chelsea handed the Pirates a 16-1 loss. Beard improved to 8-2.

In the second, Chelsea came up with nine runs on seven hits. Richardson, Carrie Williams, Margaret Schick, Danielle Longe, Beard (2), and Kyle Ketala all had RBI.

Richardson, Ketala and Ruhlig had RBI in the three-run third.

Chelsea next faced Milan and swept the twinbill, winning the opener 12-2.

Beard again earned the win while striking out eight in six innings. McKenna Houle finished the game.

Beard had four RBI and Petty scored three times to lead the bulldogs. Ruhlig had a two-run double in the fifth.

Chelsea shut Milan out in the second game 11-0. Beard only had to throw five innings to earn her 10th win while fanning seven.

Richardson had a two-run double in the second. Steele had a two-run single in the third, and Ruhlig added another RBI in the fourth.

Heading into the SEC tournament, there was a three-way tie atop the league standings between Dexter, Chelsea, and Tecumseh.

By sheer luck of the draw, Chelsea won the first-round bye and opened against Milan with a 6-0 win.

Schick drove home Ruhlig in the second. Ruhlig and Steele each had RBI singles in the third. Ruhlig added another two RBI in the fourth with a double, and Beard scored on an error in the sixth for the win.

Beard also earned the win, striking out 10 in seven innings of work.

That set up a Chelsea-Tecumseh matchup in the final game. The winner of the game won the SEC title outright.

All Chelsea did was play its best game of the season, beating the Indians 4-1.

Ruhlig and Long scored in the second on two rare wild pitches from the Indians' Marcy Mobley.

Chelsea picked up two more in the sixth. Longe walked, Ketala reached base on an error, and singles from Steele and Williams sealed the win.

"This was our best game of the year," said coach Joe Beard. "Defense was really solid and we gave Lisa a lot of support."

Lisa Beard, right, pitched and won both games in the Southeastern Conference Tournament last weekend, helping the Bulldogs to the overall league title. Also pictured is Carrie Williams at third base.

Soccer Finishes Fine Year

By Phil Lozen
Staff Writer

This week in Chelsea soccer featured three shutouts, the biggest win in the program's history, and, ultimately, the final game of this first season of soccer as a varsity sport.

The Bulldogs opened with a 5-0 win over Lincoln Tuesday.

Beth Nimke had two goals and Heidi BeGole one. Senior defensemen Erin Baird and Carrie Buss scored the first goals of their careers as well.

BeGole had two assists, with Jeanine Mouilleseaux, Nimke, and Buss picking up the others.

Leslee Parker and Jessica McVay split time in goal for Chelsea.

The Bulldogs came up with perhaps the biggest upset in the SEC this season and what Coach Chris Orlandi called the biggest win in the program's history.

Chelsea beat Saline 1-0 at Saline in the Hornets' final home game. BeGole scored the game's lone goal off a pass from Baird near the end of the first half, and Chelsea help on for the rest of the game.

"I think when we scored on them, they got a little frustrated and pressed to hard," said Orlandi. "It was a great win for us, we had set out to beat one of the big three this year, and we did it."

The Bulldogs and Indians battled to a scoreless tie on Friday. Parker proved to be the game's hero as she stopped a penalty kick early in the second half.

Monday night, Chelsea played Marshall in the opening round of districts and lost 4-2.

BeGole scored off a pass from Buss at the game's 10 minute mark to give Chelsea a 1-0 lead, and they held a 2-1 lead at half-time on Nimke's goal from Mellissa Carly.

The Bulldogs couldn't hold on, however, and Marshall picked up two goals in the second half to advance.

"We had a great season," said Orlandi. "To finish at .500 (Continued on Page 19)

Baseball Loses a Thriller

A dramatic seventh-inning rally gave the Saline Hornets a 5-4 victory over the Chelsea Bulldogs in the Southeastern Conference Baseball Tournament championship game last Saturday in Chelsea.

The Bulldogs, who reached the finals by whipping Pinckney and edging the Dexter Dreadnaughts in a tense semifinal, led most of the game against Saline. The outcome of the game had no effect on the league title as the Hornets had a commanding lead after the regular season and only had to win their first game of the tournament.

"We were on both ends of emotion," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

"We had a great win against Dexter, but the next one really hurt."

Chelsea jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the first inning on singles by Scott Hurst, Scott Colvin, Jake Walker, and Don Reilly, and a walk to Jason Sprawka, who scored on a wild pitch.

Saline got two runs back in the second on a solo homer and two hits and two walks.

In the third, Reilly's double scored Walker, who had been hit by a pitch. That's the way the game stayed until the seventh, although Chelsea left the bases loaded in the fourth, and two runners on in the fifth.

Saline, the home team for the game, used a solo home run by catcher Chris Bersuder to pull within 4-3. A walk, single, and wild pitch put runners on second and third, before a single to right center drove them home.

"Ryan Hubbard pitched well enough to win," Welton said.

"The real story of the game is we had chances to extend the lead in the fourth and fifth and didn't do it."

Hubbard, who suffered his first loss (5-1), allowed 10 hits and four walks while striking out five.

Reilly had three hits and Colvin two in the 10-hit attack.

Chelsea, which occasionally has been victimized by its defense, turned in some outstanding plays.

The Dexter game was about as thrilling as they come.

The Bulldogs held a 1-0 lead going into the seventh on the strength of a fourth-inning squeeze by Dusty White, driving in Tim Lawrence.

In the top of the seventh, Dexter tied the game on a single and double. An error and a walk loaded the bases. Pitcher Sam Morseau got Dexter's best hitter, Andy Shank, to pop to third, then ended the inning with a strikeout.

In the bottom half, three straight two-out walks loaded the bases for Reilly, who hit a two-strike breaking ball to center for the game-winner.

"It was a great piece of hitting," Welton said.

Morseau extended his record to 5-1, allowing three hits and four walks. He struck out three.

"Sam was pitching on three days rest and didn't have his best fastball, but he and (Colvin) worked well together," Welton said.

In the opening game of the tournament, Chelsea blew out Pinckney, 10-2, as Walker and Lance Ching each had three hits, and Ashley Coy, Reilly, and Sprawka each had two.

Chelsea fell behind 2-1 after two innings before scoring four runs in the third and three in the fourth.

Walker ran his record to 6-0, allowing seven hits and three walks while striking out five.

At the start of last week, the tournament seedings were wide open.

Chelsea earned the second seed by sweeping Pinckney in a double-header on Monday, 9-6 and 9-0, and Milan in a double-header on Tuesday, 8-2, and 10-0.

In the Milan games, Morseau and Hubbard each pitched a one-hit complete game.

In the opener, Chelsea scored five runs in the fourth inning and two more in the sixth on Reilly's team-leading sixth home run of the season.

Morseau struck out 14 in the game.

In the second game, Colvin's double off the center-field fence in the fourth inning produced the only run.

Hubbard struck out seven and walked one.

In the first Pinckney game, Colvin, Sprawka, and Casey Wescott each had two hits and Morseau and Colvin each drove in three runs.

Wescott picked up the win, pitching five+ innings and Morseau earned the save in relief.

In the second game, Walker went the distance, allowing three hits and one walk while striking out six.

Reilly, Colvin, and Sprawka each had two hits. Reilly drove in three runs and Sprawka two.

Chelsea ended last week with a 21-4-1 record, with three of those losses to the Saline Hornets.

Beach Boys Track Team Wins Fourth

The Beach Middle School Boys' track team won its fourth meet of the season with a 70-66 win over Lincoln, the most wins by a Beach team in 12 years.

Jerry Milliken took third in the high jump, Mark Walters third in the shotput, and Jeff Kolodica first and Rob Molina third in the long jump.

Ben Hicks won the 3,200 meter run while Mike Kattula followed closely behind him, finishing second. Justin Nadolny captured third in the 55-meter hurdles.

The 800-meter relay team, Aaron Montero, Byron McPike, Conner Gleespan, and Milliken, captured first. Kolodica and Eric Pieper finished one-two in the 1,600-meter run, and Eric Valchine finished third in the 100-meter dash.

In the 400-meter dash, Montero and Howie Hurst finished one-two. Molina and Nathan Zeigler tied for first in the 800-meter run, and the 3,200-meter relay team set a new school record with a 10:10.2 time. Hicks, Ben Myer, Zeigler, and Bobby Rohrkemper make up that team.

Ben Reynhout and Jon Baird took second and third, respectively, in the 200-meter hurdles, David Stieber third in the 70-meter dash, and McPike and Ethan Randall finished second and third in the 200-meter dash.

The 1,600-meter relay team, Hurst, Myer, Matt McAtoe and Jeff Kolodica captured first.

Coaches David Jolly and Brian Zangara were very pleased with the progress the team made, especially Jolly, who, in his four years as coach, has added a win each season.

Golf Team Qualifies for State Competition

Chelsea High School Girls golf team has qualified for the state golf tournament by placing third out of 18 schools at the regional.

Regionals were held on Friday, May 17 at Tomac Woods Golf Course in Albion. Winning the regionals was Jackson Lumen Christi with score of 396. Lansing Catholic Central was second with 407 and Chelsea was third with a 431. Dexter also played and finished 10th with a score of 500 and Ann Arbor. Gabriel Richard was 12th with 513.

Individuals scoring were the four seniors who have carried the team all season. Jessica Inwood led the team with a 89 followed by Liz Holdsworth with 104, Erin Armstrong with 111 and Lesley Davis with 117. Jennifer Saarinen also played, shooting 143.

The team will travel to East Lansing to play at Michigan State University for the State Meet on May 31 and June 1.

As the team approaches state competition, which will be played in Albion at Tomac Woods Golf Course, their scores have been consistently falling. The team has been working extremely hard and it is paying off, said coach Cheryl Vogel.

On Monday, May 13 the Bulldogs traveled to Ypsilanti to play at Pine View Golf Course and shot excellent scores, beating Ypsilanti 199-231. This was the first time this season the team broke 200.

Leading all golfers with a 45 was Inwood. This was her best round ever. She was followed closely by Holdsworth with a 47, Davis with a 53 and Armstrong with a 54.

On Tuesday, May 14 the team traveled to Hudson Mills Golf Course to play Dexter.

Inwood, after shooting her career best round on Monday, shot one stroke better to tie for medalist with a 44. Holdsworth followed with her best score ever, a 45. Armstrong shot a 48 and Davis a 52.

Filling out the varsity line up for both of these meets were Corrine Foytik with a 61 and a 60 and Tina Wiese with 62 and 61 (both were best scores for Wiese) respectively.

Wednesday, the Bulldogs hosted Pioneer and Howell. Chelsea beat Howell 195-270 but lost to Pioneer who shot a 184.

Inwood and Armstrong each shot a 48 while Holdsworth shot 49 and Davis completed the team score with 50. Inwood, Armstrong and Holdsworth each had individual bests for Inverness Golf Course.

This finishes the team's dual meet season with a 3-3 record. The Central 8 League has their league meet today. Chelsea is hosting the 18-hole meet at Reddeman Farms Golf Course.

Girls Track Third At Regional

The Chelsea High School girls track team lost to Pinckney 85.5 to 42.5 in their final dual meet of the season on Tuesday, May 14. The loss puts the Bulldogs in third in the SEC with a 4-2 record going into last night's conference meet, and gives them a 5-2 record for the season.

Despite some fine performances, the Bulldogs managed only three firsts against the class A Pirates, two of them from sophomore distance runner Jeannie Spink. Spink won the 1600 in a season-best of 5:27, then came back to win the 3200 in 12:04.2, another season-best.

Chelsea's other first came from Heidi Wehrwein in the shot put with a throw of 35'-7". Bekkah Burby finished second in the shot at 32'-14", with Cindy Richard third with a 31'-3 for the only sweep by either team.

Wehrwein took a second in the discus at 118'-8. Erin Hack was second in the long jump with a jump of 15'-3 with Katie Spink third with a jump of 15'. Jennifer Space managed a tie for third in the high jump at 4'-6. The Bulldogs also took second and third in the 100 hurdles, the 400, and the 800. Richard was second in the hurdles at 17.1, with Emily Wineland third in 17.9.

Space was second in the 400 at 1:03.8 with Katie Spink third in 1:04.4.

Melissa Hand was second in the 800 in 2:34.8 with Karen Pieper third in 2:35.5.

Chelsea also had thirds from Rachelle Skelly in the 100 in 13.8, Katie Henry in the 300 hurdles in 50.4 and the 200 in 29.1 and Sarah Jedelev with her best time ever in the 3200, a 12:24.1.

"We performed well," assessed coach Bill Bainton. "Pinckney is a good class A team, solid and deep in every event. Although we split seconds and thirds with them, we weren't able to match them for firsts or in the relays."

The girls team tied with Hillsdale for third with 50 points in their regional Saturday at Jackson County Western. Jackson Northwest won the 18-team meet with 79 points. Albion was second with 68. Western was fifth with 41.

The Bulldogs qualified for the state meet in two events. Wehrwein qualified, and was Chelsea's only regional champion, in winning the shot put with a throw of 35'-4".

The 3200 relay team of Jeannie Spink, Jennifer Space, Melissa Hand, and Katie Spink qualified with a second place finish in 10:01.8.

Athletes qualify for the state meet by finishing first or second or meeting an additional qualifying standard in their event in the regional. "This isn't a big group of qualifiers, but they've all made it before so they know what to expect. It's a big part of the group we've counted on in big meets all season so we're pleased they have the chance to run in the state meet," Bainton said.

Chelsea scored 28 of their 50 points with six places in the field events. Wehrwein also finished third in the discus with a throw of 104 feet.

Richard was fifth in the shot with a career-best of 32' and Bekkah Burby sixth with a throw of 31'-1.

Henry was third in with a long jump of 15'-2 1/2, and Erin Hack sixth with a jump of 14'-5 1/2.

Richard had a strong performance in the 100 hurdles running her top three times of the season in the prelims, semi-finals and finals to finish third in 1:08.

"Cindy had a great day. She was very focused and it showed in her performance," said Bainton. Jeannie Spink was third in the 3200 in 12:28.6. The 400 relay of Krystal Baird, Traci Kramer, Angie Carpenter, and Skelly finished fifth in 3:41, their season-best.

"We've had this group together for most of the season," said Bainton. "It was nice to see them earn regional medals." Skelly also finished sixth in the 100 in 13.4, her best time ever for that event. Space, Hand, Katie Spink, and Henry equaled their best time while finishing sixth in the 1600 relay.

The Bulldogs hosted the SEC meet Wednesday, and have the Selby Classic at Jackson High on May 28, and the Class B State Meet at Lowell on Saturday, June 1.

Hand Qualifies for State

By Jon Royce
Special Writer

The Pinckney Pirates shanghaied the Bulldogs to hand them their fifth loss in the Southeastern Conference. Chelsea got spanked soundly 100-37. There were few highlights for the Bulldogs.

Beach Girls Track Team Finishes Solid Season

The Beach girls track team concluded a fine season with a 69-59 win over Lincoln Monday and a 89-37 win at Dexter Wednesday. The team finished the year 5-2.

Mora Arnold in the 400-meter, Kim Towloo in the 200-meter, Ashley Augustine in the 1,600-meter, and the 400-meter relay team; Amanda Taylor, Emily Royce, Tia Schieler, and Arnold, all finished the season undefeated.

At Lincoln, Tabitha Gace and Lindsay Powers took the top two spots in the shotput and Towloo and Arnold were first and third in the long jump.

The 400-meter relay team of Amanda Taylor, Royce, Schieler and Arnold, ran a season best 57.2. The 800-meter relay, Caroline Winelnd, Carrie Pozsow, Jesse Cole, and Towloo ran a 2:03.4, and the 1,600 relay team of Lindsey Brink, Paxson, Sarah Skyles, and Augustine ran a season best 4:54. All three relay teams were winners.

Arnold, Royce, and Josie Wells were 1-2-3 in the 100-meter and Towloo, Wells, and Lindsay Baker swept the 200-meter.

Augustine and Postiff took first and third in the 3,200. Adding second place points were Schieler, Brink, and Skyles. Katie Taylor took third in the 400-meter.

Augustine won the 1,600 against Dexter. Also placing for Chelsea were:

Tabitha Gace, first in the shotput; Arnold first in the long jump and the 400; Baker, first in the high jump; Jocelyn Temple second in the 3,200 and Katherina Varady third; Schieler first in the 55-meter hurdles; Skylar and Deb Adams one-two in the 800-meter; Royce and Colette Montpetit first and third in the 100-meter; Royce and Colette Montpetit first and third in the 200-meter hurdles; Taylor and Cole one-two in the 70-meter; Towloo and Wells first and third in the 200-meter. The three relay teams also were all winners.

Tennis Concludes Season

Regional competition was held at Haslett and Okemos High Schools.

At number 1 singles, Nathan Butler defeated Walworth of Corunna 6-0, 6-1 before being eliminated by Hoffman of Haslett, 4-6, 2-6. Butler finished the season with a record of 8-10.

Dan Johnson was seeded third at number 2 singles and received a bye in the first round. He then beat Ludwig of Jackson Northwest 7-6, 6-1 and was eliminated by Custin of Eaton Rapids 6-2, 2-6, 2-6. Johnson's record for the season was 12-4.

Scott Boughton was seeded fourth at number 3 singles and received a first round bye. He was eliminated by Keppeler of Jackson Northwest 3-6, 6-3, 3-6. Boughton finished his season with a record of 10-7.

Stephen McDonald was eliminated by Boyko of Haslett 6-7, 1-6 and finished the season at 6-11.

At number 1 doubles, Mark Valchine and Bob Armstrong were eliminated by Jackson Lumen Christi, 4-6, 3-6.

Matt Tuttle and Ryan

McDonald beat Ortonville-Brandon 2-6, 6-3, 7-6 at Number 2 doubles before losing to Fenton 1-6, 0-6.

At number 3 doubles Nathan O'Connor and Jason Middleton were eliminated by Jackson Lumen Christi 3-6, 7-6, 1-6.

Chelsea tennis team closed their regular season in fine fashion, swatting aside Pinckney 6-1 on Tuesday, May 14.

The Bulldogs swept all four singles matches, dropping just a single set. Nathan Butler won 6-3, 5-7, 7-5 at number 1, Dan Johnson won 6-2, 6-1 at number 2, Scott Boughton won 6-3, 7-5 at number 3, and Stephen McDonald won 6-1, 6-2 at number 4.

Mark Valchine and Ryan McDonald won 6-2, 6-4 at number 1 doubles. Matt Tuttle and Nathan O'Connor won 4-6, 6-3, 7-5 at number 2, while Bob Armstrong and Nick Harris fell 4-6, 2-6 at number 3.

Jason Middleton and Jake Bell won an extra doubles match, 7-5, 4-6, 6-2.

"This was a splendid way to close out the season," said Chelsea coach John Capper.

Frosh Baseball Season Concludes

The Chelsea Freshman Baseball team went 2-3 in its last five games.

Nick McVay, Bill Lucas, Justin Schanz, Vince Scheffler, and Scott Johnson all had two or more hits in the team's 18-5 win over Ida. Schanz had five RBI as Ken Wiener and Dan Graff split time on the mound.

The Bulldogs fell to Coldwater 12-5 next. Lucas had two hits and Dan Seward, Schanz, Barry Penix, Scott Johnson, Matt Hand, and Wiener all added a hit.

Johnson and Lucas were on the mound. Chelsea won a close game 3-2 over Comstock, scoring the winning run in the bottom of the last inning.

Wiener had two hits, and Aaron Smith, Schanz, Lucas, Matt Freeman, and Graff all had one hit. Graff earned the win.

Seward, McVay, Lucas, and Smith were the only Bulldogs to get hits in an 8-3 loss to Tecumseh. Wiener took the loss.

Tecumseh completed the sweep with an 11-0 win. Gavin Gunderson was the only hitter for Chelsea. Graff suffered the loss.

Chelsea is now 4-10 on the season.

Derek Egeler won a state wrestling title.

Local Wrestlers Excel

Derek Egeler wrestled his way to a State Championship on Saturday, May 11. He wrestled in the 13-14 age group at 145 lbs. During regular tournaments, followed by Districts, Regionals, and finally the State meet in Battle Creek, Egeler's record was 32-2.

In nine tournaments he earned eight gold and one silver medal. Egeler will continue wrestling on the Michigan Schoolboy Team, competing against top wrestlers from other midwestern states. Team Michigan will host a tournament on June 21 at Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor.

Adam Egeler finished eighth in the state in the 11-12 age group at 95 lbs.

Brent Young finished second in his division and will also compete with Team Michigan.

All three young men were active members of the Dexter Wrestling Club.

Celebrity Golf Outing Set

Lexus, the luxury car company, has teamed up with Chelsea's St. Louis Center for mentally handicapped boys and men in the 2nd St. Louis Center Celebrity Golf Outing which will be held Monday, June 10 at Travis Pointe Country Club in Saline.

The 1996 Lexus Champions for Charity series contract will provide the center with over $5,000. Two participants from the winning team will be chosen to participate for over $75,000 in prizes at the Lexus National Championship in California. There will also be a hole-in-one set up in which Lexus will donate a new car. They will also have one other car on display at the event.

Dogs Face Milan in District

Chelsea Bulldogs baseball and softball teams will play a district tournament qualifying game on Tuesday, May 28 at 4 p.m. against the Milan Big Reds in Chelsea.

The winners of those games will advance to play the Dexter Dreadnaughts on Saturday, June 1 in Chelsea beginning at 10 a.m.

Lincoln and Willow Run are the other teams in the tournament.

Michigan Kidney Foundation Seeking Local Volunteers

The National Kidney Foundation of Michigan is looking for interested persons to volunteer as community representatives.

Community representatives are local volunteers who represent the foundation in their own county. These volunteers act as liaisons between the Foundation and the community, providing much needed information about kidney disease. Volunteers present educational campaigns, attend area health fairs, conduct speaking engagements and coordinate fund raising events.

If you are interested in becoming a Community Representative in your area, please contact the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan at 1-800-482-1455.

In Michigan alone, more than 6,500 residents are on dialysis and 1,300 patients are waiting for life-saving kidney transplants. The Foundation brings help and hope to these individuals, through programs in research, patient service, organ donation, professional education and public information.

Your Money Matters

by Michael Kelly

Convenience has always had a price; with the ban lifted on ATM surcharging as of April 1, that price may have just gotten a bit higher. Unfortunately it wasn't just a prank, this April Fool's Day when MasterCard and Visa, the owners of the Cirrus and Plus ATM networks, lifted their bans on surcharges allowing ATM machine owners to charge customers for the use of their equipment. These new surcharges will be in addition to any fees already required of card holders by their financial institutions.

As if things didn't cost enough already, now what should you do? The first thing to remember is not to panic. At the time this article was written no one in Michigan has begun to surcharge and Magic Line, the main ATM service for the vast majority of Michigan, has not changed their policies prohibiting surcharges among its members. According to Magic Line board member Ron D. Hale, "We're still in the process of polling our member institutions and we expect a decision within 90 days."

You may be asking, "Why would anyone support surcharging?" From a consumer's point of view I can't see any reason to. However, ATM equipment owners believe that surcharging will become a source of revenue for profit-less ATMs and help justify costs for remotely accessed machines which do not receive much traffic. On the other hand, consumerists believe it is just another way for banks to make a profit. The debate between such groups is heated and both can produce statistics to support their positions.

Nationwide, surcharging has already surfaced and you may have even noticed it when traveling. For example, ATMs located inside Disneyworld of Florida require a $5 fee for usage. Likewise, the majority of machines in Las Vegas surcharge between $3 and $5 with each use. This may be the time to prepare for what appears to be inevitable.

Examine your recent monthly statements and take inventory of just how many times you have used your ATM card. Are you taking out $10 or $20 at a time, a couple of times per week, rather than $50 in one shot? Do you search out for ATM locations where you are not charged foreign fees from your bank or credit union? You should look at those services as a trade-off for convenience then ask yourself "Is my personal convenience in using the service worth the cost?" If surcharges take hold it will become necessary to carefully choose when and how to use your ATM card.

When it comes to surcharges on ATM transactions, planning ahead will save you money. Send your financial questions to: "Your Money Matters", Michigan Credit Union League, P.O. Box 5040, Southfield, MI 48086-5040.

WCC Sets Seminars For June

This June, the Washtenaw Community College Entrepreneurial and Small Business Management Series will offer timely information for small business owners. The evening seminars are co-sponsored by WCC Business and Community Services, the Ann Arbor Area and Ypsilanti Area Chamber of Commerce and the Washtenaw Small Business Development Center.

Seminars include:
• Accounting & Recordkeeping: Tuesdays, June 4 & 11, 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

This seminar provides an overview of procedures such as the use and preparation of financial reports, ledger preparation, and account posting and statements.

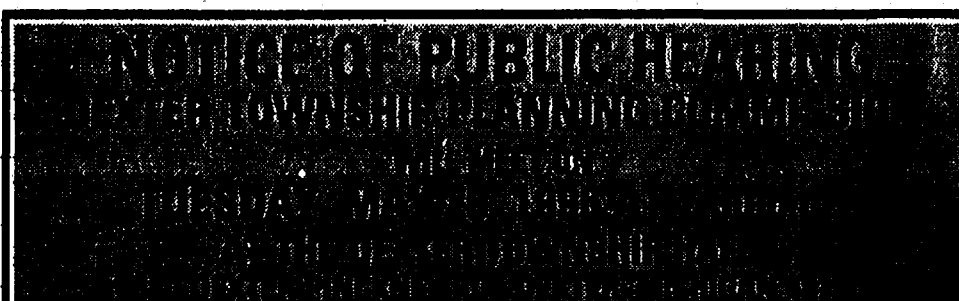

• Marketing and Advertising: Tuesdays, June 11 & 18, 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Market strategy and position development are the themes of this two-evening seminar. A thorough overview of marketing plans, strategies and procedures with emphasis on target marketing, market research, identification and penetration, pricing, distribution, advertising and promotions, is featured.

• Becoming a Successful Consultant: Thursday, June 27, 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Business people who have accumulated knowledge, experience, skills or formal education in a specific area will learn how to present themselves as a successful consultant.

Cyber Fraud Exists

Last night you visited the White House. You also explored the Grand Canyon, bought a new jacket, and landed a 747. All without leaving your chair.

The Internet and other online services have much to offer in the way of education, commerce, and entertainment. But as use continues to grow, so does the opportunity for fraud. A new publication from the Federal Trade Commission, Online Scams: Road Hazards on the Information Superhighway (Item 377C, 50¢), points out some common cyber frauds and provides tips for protecting yourself. To order a copy, send your name, address, and a check or money order for 50¢ to: Consumer Information Center, Dept. 377C, Pueblo, CO 81008.

The scams and schemes surfacing online are nothing new; they've been around for years. The only difference is swindlers can now sit at their keyboard and reach hundreds of thousands of people, pretty much for free, in a short period of time. Getting a phony ad or message out is cheap and easy, making online swindles extremely appealing to the con artist, and even more dangerous for the consumer.

What should you watch for? Look for many of the same signs of fraud as in other places. Online advertising is a favorite tool of swindlers, so be leery of overstated claims and promises, especially if you're required to send money or provide a credit card number. Take online ads for risk-free investments, guaranteed weight loss products, and high paying at-home businesses with the same dose of healthy skepticism you would if they appeared in the back pages of a newspaper or magazine.

Sometimes the pitch is more subtle than a direct advertisement. If you're familiar with the online world, you know the reason many people log on is to "talk" with others having similar interests. Discussion groups abound, set up for model railroading enthusiasts, home decorators, movie and TV show fans, you name it. Anyone can join in, and anyone can listen. And that's exactly what swindlers are counting on.

Here's an example of how swindlers use this to their advantage. Suppose in a discussion group of investors two users start talking about a hot new stock with guaranteed big earnings. Think a few other users might pay attention? You bet. But it's possible that the two doing all the talking stand to profit if everyone jumps on the bandwagon and starts buying this stock. Maybe it's in their company. Or maybe there's no company at all and they're just fronting as an investment firm. You have no way of knowing if this is an innocent discussion or a calculated ploy to lure others.

Another group swindlers may target are those with specific medical conditions or problems. Someone mentioning online that he has arthritis, for example, may find a "helpful" stranger offering a sure-fire cure—for a price.

In short, don't make any purchase or investment based solely on what you "hear" in discussion groups or read in online advertisements. Always research other sources, gather the facts, and then make an informed decision.

When you write, you'll also receive a free copy of the consumer information catalog. The Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration revises and publishes the Catalog quarterly, so you know it's up-to-date. Its pages list more than 200 free and low-cost federal publications on a variety of subjects.

Area Residents Earn Academic Honors

Several area residents were among more than 630 Eastern Michigan University students recently recognized for academic excellence at the 14th annual College of Technology Honors Banquet.

Among the students honored were Susan Cooper, Ronald Toma and Marc Whitman of Dexter; Wendy Haeussler, Allan Lindemann and Karla

Raab of Manchester; and Michael Hardy and Jeffrey Kapp of Whitmore Lake.

Dr. Gerald L. Jennings, EMU professor of business and technology education, presided over the banquet, which honored students from each of the four departments within the College of Technology with scholarships and other awards.

The regular meeting of the Lima Township Board was called to order on May 6, 1996 at 8:05 p.m. and opened with the Pledge to the Flag.

Present: Supervisor VanRiper, Clerk Bareis, Treasurer Messman, Trustees Trinkle.

Absent: Trustee Heller

Also present: Zoning Inspector Robert Koch, several residents and guests.

Approved minutes of the April 1, 1996 meeting.

The treasurer's report was received.

Zoning Inspector Koch reported two permits for homes, 1 pole barn, one addition with deck, and three new addresses.

Approved variance request from the road ordinance for Bee Tree Lane, contingent upon receipt of a copy of the recorded road maintenance agreement, all signs being in place, with the exception of the street name and stop sign, which have been paid for, and a letter from the county road commission indicating they have been purchased and will be installed.

Approved motion to use only the balance of matching money in the approximate amount of $3,000, to berm and grade, gravel and/or limestone in the area between the Ken Schiller and Parsons residences on Lima Center Road, and the balance be spent on Fletcher road North of I-94.

Approved installation of a steel door at the basement entrance to the office area at a cost of $450.00.

Approved payment of bills as presented.

Respectfully submitted,
Arlene R. Bareis, Clerk

EXCELLENCE IN ACTION

Price It Right!

Dislike having to bargain over the price of a new car? Wouldn't it be great if all cars were priced fairly from the get-go? If they were, you could concentrate on selecting the color and style just right for you, then pay the price and begin enjoying your purchase.

When selling your home, you should know that most prospective buyers feel the same way. They are looking for the home of their dreams, not a marathon negotiating session. A fairly priced home often invites full-price offers. One which is overpriced encourages only low offers.

Experience has shown that sellers who overprice their home often suffer three distinct disadvantages. First, buyers rarely even make an offer on a home which is priced above the market. They reason that making a low offer will spark a round of frustrating counteroffers. At best, it will be a tiring experience for all parties, and the price may never reach a fair level.

Few buyers purchase the first home they see. Comparison shopping allows them to form opinions about the price and value of different homes.

By the time a decision is made, it becomes easy to spot an overpriced home. Even if a seller succeeds in attracting a buyer at an inflated price, the sale may fail to be consummated when it is appraised at a lower value.

When selling your home there is one surefire method of assuring a prompt sale at or near full price. Ask your real estate agent for a price opinion. Buyers appreciate sellers who offer their homes at fair market value, and the result is often a most satisfactory transaction for all parties.

Last year the sale price to list price ratio for the Ann Arbor Area Board of Realtors was 96%.

Residency Requirement Changed

Chelsea Village Council extended the range of its residency policy for members of the Chelsea Fire Department at its Tuesday, May 14 meeting. The old residency policy for all members of the Chelsea Fire Department stated that they must live within a five minute response time from the fire station.

Chelsea Fire Chief Dan Ellenwood told the council that policy was adopted at a time the fire department made approximately 100 runs per year.

Now, Ellenwood continued, the number of runs is up 400 percent, and it is increasingly difficult to find volunteers who meet the five minute requirement.

The fire chief proposed accepting volunteers from anywhere within the 172 square miles the department covers. "If we could draw people, bring them onto the fire department from the whole area, we could get personnel onto the scene quicker," Ellenwood said.

Drawing fire fighters community-wide, Ellenwood continued, would not only quicken response times, but improve communications and help eliminate needless runs.

For example, a fire fighter responding to a call near his home, but far outside a five minute radius from the fire station, could determine what type of response was required, radio the fire station and summon only the necessary equipment.

A memorandum from Ellenwood to the village council re-emphasized the case for an alternative policy.

"We must make some allowance to current policy to aid in the continued growth of the village and the surrounding areas that are covered by the Chelsea Fire Department," the memo stated.

The council approved the amended policy with a unanimous vote.

NICK A. IANNI, SR.

Dexter

Age 69, died May 15, 1996. He was born January 12, 1927 in New Kensington, Pa. A resident of the state of Michigan since 1951, he served the youth and people of the state as a tireless educator, beginning his career as a teacher and coach at Livonia, Clarenceville High School. He served as high school principal and superintendent of schools at the Byron Area Schools, superintendent of the Dexter Community Schools, as well as superintendent of the Washtenaw Intermediate School District, from which he retired in 1986 after 20 years with the district.

During his tenure at the Intermediate Schools, he conceived and oversaw the construction of High Point, a school serving students with special needs. He was an advocate for special education the state, having a profound impact on the lives of students and parents who continue to benefit from his vision. High Point is his legacy. He was a past-president of the Michigan Association of School Administrators. Mr. Ianni graduated from the University of Pittsburgh in 1949, and earned an MA degree from the University of Michigan as well as a Specialist in Education degree from Michigan
State University.

He served his country as a member of the United States Coast Guard during WWII. He was an avid sports enthusiast and an impassioned supporter of the University of Michigan athletic program. A Wolverine season-ticket holder since 1965, he was a member of The Victors Club and the M-Club. He was also a contributor to the Ralph Young Fund for Athletics at Michigan State. His affection for athletics, especially for the University of Michigan, was only surpassed by his love for his family.

Mr. Ianni is survived by his loving wife of 45 years, Gerry; six children, Greg and wife Jamie of East Lansing, Nick and wife Mary of Ann Arbor, Kathy (Mrs. Chris) Wall was a guitar as tall as the ceiling and a car hanging from the ceiling. We liked the food and dessert was good.

After lunch we rushed to Arlington National Cemetery to get to the Wreath Laying Ceremony. Four students,
Teresa Furmanski, Matt Hicks,
Jeff Kolodica and Liz Menge represented our school, and presented a wreath in front of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Then we took a tour of part of the cemetery. We saw the Challenger Memorial and the Eternal Flame for John F.
Kennedy as well as Robert Kennedy's gravesite. It was raining off and on the whole time we were there.

Then we had a choice of going to the Air and Space Museum or the Art Museum. I went to the Air and Space Museum. It was neat because there were lots of real airplanes and space shuttles. We went to a theater in the museum and saw a movie about flying which made you feel like you were really flying.

Then we went back to the hotel to get ready to go to Toby's Dinner Theater to see "My Fair Lady", a play about a girl that was a bum on the street and was taught how to act like a queen.

We got back to the hotel late, got up and packed and loaded the buses in the morning, took pictures of the outside of the White House, and went to the Washington Fish Market where some of the fish they sold were still alive!

Then we took a tour of the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum. We each got a card representing one person who lived at that time and followed it from the top to bottom floor.
After lunch at Shops at National Place, we took a sub-ride and then visited the National Cathedral which was beautiful with its stained glass windows. We drove through Embassy Row where our guide pointed out different countries' embassies and the vice-president's home. We saw the halls of the Kennedy Center, had dinner at Pentagon City and went on an Illuminated

Tour of the Monuments.

The Vietnam Memorial was very interesting as well as the new Korean War Memorial with statues of soldiers running through rice paddies.

We took one last look at the Capitol lit up at night and drove all night back home on the bus. We arrived on schedule at 8:30 a.m. Sunday to see our parents overflowing the parking lot!

We each got a group photo
and went home to sleep!

They chose the pH adjust-

Nation's Patriots Will Not Be Forgotten

By Jesse Brown
Secretary of Veterans Affairs

Memorial Day has traditionally been one of the most solemn and patriotic days for Americans. Rightfully so. Memorial Day is a day when all Americans, regardless of ideologies, race, creed, or political persuasion, join together to remember the sacrifices of those who answered their nation's call.

The significance of this day is sometimes confused or distorted. The true meaning of Memorial Day becomes at times, distant or vague, lost to commercialism, or drowned in forgetful indulgence. Sometimes, there is a failure to recognize the magnitude of the deeds of the men and women who held true to the notion that evil and tyranny must not prevail.

It is our sacred duty to keep the legacy of our nation's patriots forever fresh in the memories of future generations. We are bound by honor to do so. They fought and died to preserve this land of hopes and dreams.

Without the courage, valor and singleness of purpose of our nation's veterans, the values that have always made it possible for us to meet new challenges, and move forward as a nation, would have been lost.

The freedoms that so many Americans enjoy did not come cheaply. They were paid for with the flesh and blood of American servicemen and women, and with the tears of those whose lives were changed forever by the loss of a loved one.

Memorial Day is a day of opportunity to give thanks for all that we are blessed with. It should also be a day that we rededicate ourselves to our country and to America's living veterans and their families in memory of the sacrifices they and others have made.

Veterans will gather to honor fallen comrades on this day—friends with whom they shared a foxhole or a meal. Their time together may have been brief, but the bonds were deeply formed. Life and feelings are intensified when there is sharing of hardship and laughter; fear and loss.

As Americans pay tribute to those who perished, we must be determined to assure that those who served and returned to us receive proper care and compensation for their wounds and infirmities. We must insist that every veteran has an opportunity for employment, education, and a home in which to live. We must vow that our veterans be treated with the dignity and respect they so richly deserve.

To properly honor our dead, we must honor our living. The defenders of this Nation have fulfilled their obligations to us; it is now our duty to honor all of the obligations owed to them.

Every Department of Veterans Affairs employee understands and appreciates the tremendous burdens and challenges many veterans are faced with. That is why "Putting Veterans First" is more than just a motto with the people at the VA. It is what they believe in; it is what they do.

It is a responsibility with which we all are charged—to do our best to repay the debt that is owed to those who have presented us with our most precious gift... freedom.

Museum Of Art Entertains Kids

There aren't many art museums that will turn kids loose in their galleries with a bag of crayons. But the University of Michigan's Museum of Art gives young visitors an opportunity to mimic the masters or create their own color schemes with crayons and specially prepared coloring sheets.

Museum staff member Thom Walsh has developed coloring sheets with outlines of works by Picasso, Tiffany, and Pissarro, among others. The sheets, a drawing board and a bag of crayons can be obtained at no cost at the Museum's information desk. Then the adventure begins.

You want to duplicate Picasso's 1934 oil on canvas "Two Girls Reading." Find it in the 20th Century Gallery on the Museum's second floor where you can also find a Japanese Theatrical Robe of silk embroidery and applique on cotton cloth or Milton Avery's 1951 oil on canvas "Hammock Reader." On the Museum's first floor you can find Dubois-Pillet's "Under the Lamp," Tiffany's "Peacock Mosaic" of iridescent glass and plaster, and Pissarro's 1876 oil on canvas "Young Girl Knitting."

Now, sit on one of the benches provided, or the floor, open the bag of crayons and get to work duplicating the colors used by the artists. Or, maybe you would rather fill the angular forms of Picasso's work with colors of your own choosing. Go ahead.

Walsh chose works from the Museum's permanent collection that he thought would be the most fun for kids and then reduced the original works to simplified line drawings ready for coloring.

There is no upper or lower age limit to who might ask for a board, coloring page and bag of crayons. The end result? Refrigerator masterpieces.

The U-M Museum of Art is open Tuesday-Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Thursday 10 a.m.-9 p.m. and Sunday 12 noon-5 p.m. From Memorial Day to Labor Day the Museum will open at 11 a.m. Tuesday-Saturday. It will maintain its usual Sunday and closing hours, but will be closed July 4, Independence Day. Admission to the Museum and its galleries is free.

p.m. and leaves Tecumseh for the return trip at 12 noon, 2 p.m., and 4 p.m. A round trip takes about 1 hour and 45 minutes. Fares are $7/adults, $6/seniors 65 and older, and $4/children ages 2-12. Group fares are available. For more information, call the Southern Michigan Railroad at (517) 456-7677. Watch for fall color tours in October.

The Downtown/Town-wide Garage Sale is set for June 6 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and the Shipshewana Country Traveler Flea Market will be held July 5-7, 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Tate Park off W. Michigan Avenue.

On Wednesday, Aug. 1, a village potluck will take place in Tate Park, beginning at 6 p.m. In the event of rain, the picnic will move to the Smith-Kimball Community Center on Tecumseh Street.

Topping the list of annual activities is the Clinton Fall Festival, set for September 27-29. Craft shows, softball tournaments, a car raffle, and much more will greet festival-goers.

IN TECUMSEH, the annual Memorial Day parade will kick off summer activities. The parade, set for May 27, will wend its way through the downtown business district and then to Brookside Cemetery, where the traditional Memorial Day ceremony will take place.

Also on May 27, a giant outdoor flea market will be held all day at the Hitching

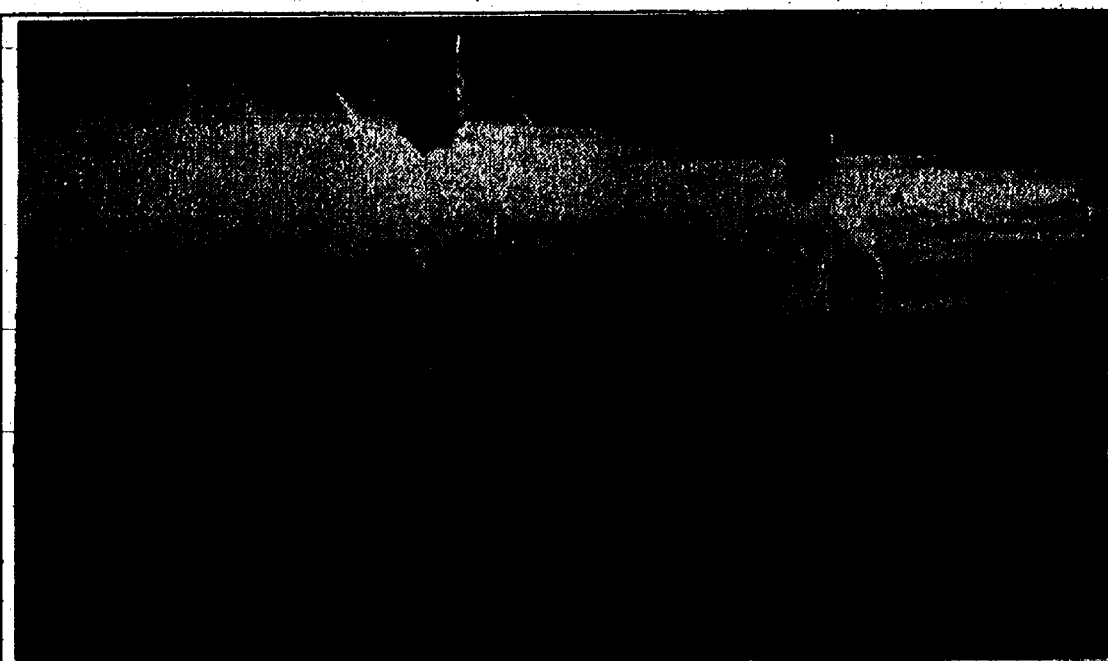

Post Antique Mall off M-50, west of Tecumseh.

The River Raisin Volleyball Festival is set for June 21-22 at Indian Stadium. For more information, call the Indian Fan Club at (517) 423-4516. The Cushman Scooter Club will be in downtown Tecumseh all day on June 26.

A second giant outdoor flea market will be held on the Fourth of July at the Hitching Post Antique Mall, and merchants will mark midsummer with the annual Sidewalk Sales July 19-20.

ON JULY 21, the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its second annual Golf Tournament and Corporate Cup Challenge at Raisin Valley Golf Course. The four-person scramble is $45 per person and $1,000 in prize money will be awarded. The entry fee includes green fees, cart, hotdog, and beverages. Deadline for registration is Friday, July 12. Tee times begin at 8 a.m. and times will be assigned to paid entrants on a first-come, first served basis. For more information, contact the Tecumseh Area Chamber of Commerce Director Kerry Smith at (517) 423-3740.

The last of the giant outdoor flea markets will be held September 2 at the Hitching Post Antique Mall, and Tecumseh merchants and crafters will herald fall with the annual Appleumpkin Arts Festival, set for October 5-6 in downtown Tecumseh.

Area parks bustle with activity for soccer enthusiasts.

Blading trend catches on

By PHIL LOZEN
STAFF WRITER

Rollerblade, Bauer, Chicago, Ultrawheels. So many choices and only two feet.

If you haven't caught the gist of the story yet, I'm talking about in-line skates, the biggest thing on four wheels since roller skates.

In the past couple years, there has been an explosion of new brands of in-line skates on the market, so what are the best brands.

So what should you look for when shopping for a new pair of blades? There are several things to consider. Exactly what type of skate you want, hockey, recreational, racing, or maybe a skate best suited for trick skating.

Price is, of course, a concern, you want to make sure you get the most for your money.

Durability also is something to consider. When paying $100 or more for skates, they should be able to withstand some punishment.

Jim Allen, general manager of the Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti Play it Again Sports has several suggestions when purchasing a new pair of skates.

"TRY ON, TRY ON, try on," he said. "You can always get new bearings and wheels, but you are stuck with the boot you buy. Try on the skate, most stores will even let you skate around a little to see how it feels. Be comfortable in your boot."

Allen has found that among his stores, the two brands that he services the least are Rollerblade and Bauer.

"They seem to be the most reliable of the brands, they are also our most popular brands," he said.

Allen went on to say that a new skate buyer should know exactly what they are going to use the skate for.

"There are different designs for different types of skaters," Allen said. "If you don't have a clear idea of what you want, you could end up buying the wrong skate."

Of course, as is the case with anything you buy, you can not expect your skates to last if you don't take care of them. A properly maintained skate will long outlast a poorly maintained one.

Your bearings need to be cleaned as often as possible. If you have serviceable bearings, you should take them apart and clean them at least twice a season. If your bearings are not serviceable, removing them from the wheel hub and wiping them with a cloth will do wonders for bearing life. After all, the dirtier the bearing, the slower you will go.

WHEELS ARE A valuable commodity when it comes to in-line skates. A new set of wheels can cost anywhere from $20 to $150 depending on how specialized you want them to be. To avoid the extra expense, rotate your wheels regularly. Depending on the amount of use, wheels should be rotated whenever there is noticeable wear on one side of the wheel. Your skates should come with a care guide that shows you how to rotate wheels properly.

Simply wiping off the boot of your skate will not help it last longer. Maintenance of your skates will make the difference between a long lasting purchase, or a waste of money.

"It's hard to say how often to clean your bearings or rotate the wheels," Allen said. "It depends a lot on the user. A good indication that it is time to clean the bearings is if you notice significant decrease in speed or noise from your bearing."

Of course don't forget safety gear when making your purchase. Wrist guards, elbow guards, and knee pads are the most common, but it doesn't hurt to cover you head either. Countless kids and adults go to emergency rooms every day with in-line skating injuries that could easily be avoided with the use of safety equipment.

That sounds like a lot to think about, doesn't it? Well, in the long run, you'll be glad you took your time and bought a skate suited just for you. It will increase your enjoyment and keep you skating for years to come.

The area brother and sister duet, Kindred Spirit has recently released its first recording, "Life Is a Journey," published by Gospel Music Association's Magnum Productions.

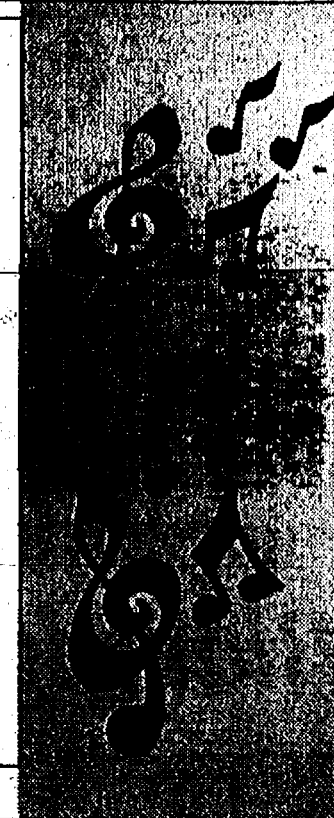

The sibling team of Robb Hudspeth and Chere' Pepper complement each other naturally, producing a spirit-filled assortment of Christian music that does not drip with sentiment.

Kindred Spirit's songs are all straightforward and inspiring.

"wrong" beat. Pure and honest thoughts are arranged with musical variation that motivates to movement—at least some toe tapping—even for the most conservative listener. Thoughtful ballads are rendered equally well.

The duo wrote, composed, and sang the album's 10 original songs which they also perform locally at churches and community centers.

KINDRED SPIRIT will perform at the Manchester Chicken Broil on July 10 and at the Old Milan Fest in August.

In concert, the duet sings accompanied by tape with Chere' on rhythm guitar and Robb on percussion instruments, using their own sound system and light show.

The dedicated musicians also are parents and business owners. Robb co-owns Mr. Satellite in Willis, and Chere' co-owns Almost Paradise Travel in Belleville.

Explore the Irish Hills

BY ALICE TIPPERY
STAFF WRITER

There's a whole world west on Route 12 ready to be explored this summer.

From go karts to antiques from romantic bed and breakfasts to roughing it camping, Irish Hills may be just the place for an affordable vacation—or just for the day.

Something of interest for all ages is cradled in the rolling hills with its 50 lakes.

Rich with history, and up to date with entertainment, Irish Hills still offers the "baffling" sights of Mystery Hill that it did 20 or more years ago when some of us were still kids.

Because of "defections" in the earth, weird things happen at Mystery Hill that are not possible elsewhere—water running uphill, for instance.

The Prehistoric Forest offers train rides, a "trampoline thing," a crazy maze, a dinosaur museum and unlimited rides on the 400 feet of twisting, turning water slide.

A possible solution for a summer birthday celebration.

For a more serene mood, consider relaxing on the grounds of Michigan State University's Hidden Lake Gardens in Tipton, enjoying its indoor and outdoor plant collections. Picnicking is available at Hidden Lake as well as a choice of driving through the winding route of more than 6 miles or hiking the 5 miles of marked trails.

Michigan International Speedway is worthy of its own article, but must be mentioned here for it is in the heart of the Irish Hills bringing people from all over the world to the Michigan resort area.

"We have people from Japan here right now," says the co-owner/innkeeper at Evans Lake Resort in Tipton.

The rustic resort offers affordable cottages and motel rooms with basic cable, boat rental, an arcade soon, and best of all—a lovely view of Evans Lake.

Irish Hills business owners are friendly and promote each other.

Judy Mannin of the Irish Hills

Chamber of Commerce in Brooklyn is eager to direct a newcomer's steps to points of interest as well. Mannin can be reached at (517) 592-8907.

The village of Brooklyn is set like a pearl amidst the variety of attractions and is worth exploring.

Time would not allow for tasting, but the Brooklyn Bistro and Michele's, both located in the historic Brooklyn Hotel offer tempting menus that include such hors d'oeuvres as crispy duck, and fresh steamed oysters, and entrees such as rack of lamb and chargrilled veal chops.

There are appealing shopping opportunities in this little burg, including probably one of the last Ben Franklin stores in the nation.

Back to the topic of food. Possibilities range from "skinny" burgers at Binkie's to the elegant Bauers Inn with lots of ice cream in between.

Highly recommended for ice cream is a place just west of Walter J. Hayes State Park with its 200 campsites is the Irish Hill Dairy Bar on the south side of Route 12. It's a comfortable spot with a shaded patio, and a grassy picnic table area with trees. The owner, who is "ready to retire" (the place is for sale,) is friendly and the deep fried mushrooms are superior as are the malted milk shakes.

Space does not allow to highlight all the attractions, but just eight miles west of Clinton is Stagecoach Stop USA, an 1800's type village which includes a railroad car museum and a fudge factory. It's family owned and hosts a 2,000 seat outdoor country music theatre.

And kids will love the Woodland Zoo in Cement City, especially in June when it's baby animal time.

Mannin stressed that a visit to the Walker Tavern Historic Complex at US-12 and M-50 is particularly interesting and it's also free.

Remember passing these places on the way to "somewhere else" and thinking about stopping "some day"? Maybe this summer is the time to see what's in our own backyard and visit the many attractions of the beautiful Irish Hills.

From the first Tuesday in May until the last one in September, "car talk" and oldie music fill the air while classic and antique cars line Boettner and Austin roads.

Car enthusiasts find niche at weekly 'Cruise Nights'

BY ALICE TIPPERY
STAFF WRITER

It has been said that car lovers are those who remember the chronology of important events in life by the model car they owned at the time.

For the classic car fancier, Bridgewater Tavern is the place to be on Tuesday evenings during the summer months.

"Cruise Night" started back in 1989 and has developed into a weekly event that attracts as many as 150 hot-rodders and classic car buffs "on a good night," according to Dave Mitchell, manager.

Dave's parents Gary and Bonnie Mitchell own the business that was once the site of the Bridgewater Bank.

The Mitchells spent a year restoring the former Guy's Tavern after purchasing the business in 1986. Daughter Jody works at the village landmark too, making it a family affair.

Official Cruise Night T-shirts are raffled off by Bonnie throughout the evening for those who drive their classic cars—or the "fanatics" who trailer them.

A Cruise Night special menu is offered and the night's activities are video taped and played later in the week for patron viewing.

"Nobody ever causes any problems. They park up and down the street double or triple deep and pretty much plug the town on a good night," remarks Dave.

Cruise Night hours are 6-9 p.m.

troop's lone fund-raiser to help them pay for educational trips and summer camp.

The rummage sale usually features furniture, clothing, garden tools, beds, household goods, appliances and electronics.

According to scoutmaster Jack Brigham, nothing goes to waste. Items not purchased during the two-day sale go to needy families via the Salvation Army and Veterans Freeman Association.

The sale will be held Friday, June 14 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Saturday, June 15 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Dexter High School.

For more information, call Jack Brigham at 426-4892.

The Dexter Community Summer Band has planned a summer concert series in the park.

Beginning June 16, Sunday concerts will be held in the gazebo at Monument Park through July 28. John Kivel will lead the band in classical music, marches and show tunes. Concert time is 7 p.m., and in the event of rain, the concert will be held at Copeland Auditorium.

For more information, call Ann Hoff at 426-0544.

The Dexter Area Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual golf outing Friday, June 14 at Reddeman Farms, 555 S. Dancer Rd.

The outing will benefit the Dexter Christmas Decoration Fund.

Participants who register before Friday, May 24 pay $65 per person. After that date the cost is $75.

The event will include door prizes, raffles, a luncheon, use of a golf cart and snack bar. Prizes for the hole-in-one contest are a 1996 GEO Tracker and 1996 boat motor trailer.

For more information, call Bob Kibbie at 426-5700.

Dexter Community Schools' Athletic Department will hold a golf outing Monday, June 17 to benefit the construction of a weight room at Dexter High School.

Community members are welcome to sign up for eight holes of golf at $80 for singles and $300 for foursomes. A shotgun scramble begins at 1 p.m. at Ann Arbor Country Club, 4699 Loch Alpine Dr.

The event includes a guest speaker, program, steak dinner, tee favors, prizes and several contests.

For more information, call Lori Hyman at 426-1935.

St. Andrew's United Church of Christ will hold an Ice Cream Social Thursday, July 18 from 5-8 p.m. on the church grounds.

Besides the sale of ice cream sundays, sloppy joe, coleslaw, knockwurst, potato salad and baked beans will be served.

Last year, more than 400 people were served.

Money raised benefits church programs.

For more information, call St. Andrew's Church at 426-8610.

St. Joseph Catholic Church in Dexter will hold its annual Summer Fun Festival July 20-21. It begins Saturday from 10 a.m. to midnight and runs Sunday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on the church grounds, 3450 Dover St.

The event includes musical entertainment, children's activities, an auction, flea market, food, a barbecue chicken dinner and some art and crafts.

Proceeds from the festival benefit select charities and church programs.

Chelsea fun is in fashion this summer

By SCOTT BISHOP
STAFF WRITER

Even those whose T-Birds have been taken away can have fun, fun, fun in and around Chelsea this summer by attending a myriad of community activities.

Whether you like biking, jazz, baseball, theater, fireworks, nature walks, reading, rug crocheting, parades, swine judging, horseshoe pitching, chicken broiling or hanging out with five guys named Mo, you can find it and much more in the Chelsea area from June to September.

For the theatrical, the literary, the musical and the artistic a wide range of fun awaits.

The Chelsea Area Players present the musical "Carousel" in the George Prinzing Auditorium at Chelsea High School July 25-27 at 8 p.m. The Thursday, July 25 show also will feature a carnival in the High School cafeteria, sponsored by the CAP, where theatergoers can find a petting zoo, ring-toss and other games from 6:00 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. For information contact Brian Myers at 475-3269.

The Purple Rose Theater on Park Street in Chelsea will present the cosmic comedy "The Harmony Codes" from June 6 through July 28. Contact the Box Office at 475-7902.

The CAP will also offer a theater workshop for thespians second through eighth grade, and the children will perform July 2 and 3. For information contact Chelsea Community Education at 475-9830.

LITERATURE LOVERS can participate in the Mystery Book Club at McKune Library, which meets the first Monday of each month at 7 p.m., or the will be staged at Mill Pond Park.

VENDORS HAVE been lined up, entertainment has signed on, and 48 visitors from Brecon have booked tickets to fly in for the event.

"The guests from Brecon will arrive July 2 and stay through the festival," noted organizer Susan Keezer. "They plan to provide entertainment, dressing up in Welsh costumes and dancing."

In the entertainment department, acclaimed fiddler Bonnie Rideout, originally from Saline, will perform at the festival. The Fiddlers Philharmonic also will conduct a performance, as well as DOFASCO, Mulligan Stew, and other local talent.

A host of food vendors in the area also recently have been contacted to provide culinary treats for the fest.

A parade, sponsored by The Reporter Papers, will be hosted to kick off the fun on Saturday. Numerous sporting activities will take place in the fields at Mill Pond Park, including a Haggis Hurl, Caber Toss, Weight for Distance, Weight for Height, and Hammers.

Serving as an attraction to the event, a Welsh garden will be constructed by Peggy Long of Saline Flowerland and her staff.

Tickets for the Celtic Festival are $5 in advance and $8 at the door. If all goes as planned, the event will be hosted each summer, organizers indicated.

IN CONJUNCTION WITH the Celtic Festival, the Saline Area Chamber of Commerce has lined up sidewalk sales, entertainment, and games in the uptown area to attract additional guests to Saline.

The sidewalk sales will replace the Saline Summerfest, which is not on tap this year. However, with thousands of people scheduled to visit Saline on July 6, Chamber Director Cindy Janecke thought the event was the perfect way to boost retail business.

"The Celtic Festival is a big deal in Saline and more people will be here to shop uptown and take advantage of the sidewalk sales," Janecke said. "We think this will be even better than the Summerfest was for our retailers."

The Depot Museum has agreed to run tours July 6, while entertainment to celebrate Saline's heritage will be set uptown, according to Janecke.

THE SALINE AMERICAN Heritage Picnic in the Park, billed as "Saline's Family Reunion," will take center stage in Mill Pond Park on Friday and Saturday, August 23 and 24.

The annual event spanning an evening and the following day promises scores of activities for the entire community, including children's games, clowns, horse-drawn wagon rides, a talent show, a car show, volleyball, remote control car races, a chicken barbecue, a beer and wine tent, euchre challenge, and live entertainment.

THE 61ST ANNUAL Saline Community Fair held at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds will delight crowds with its wide array of carnival rides, livestock shows, and featured entertainment from September 2-7.

The week-long extravaganza will include rides, livestock shows and sales, food vendors, crafts, tractor pulls, a Saturday parade through uptown Saline, big-name entertainment, the Miss Saline pageant, a talent show and prizes.

THE NEARBY Waterloo Area Farm Museum at 9998 Waterloo-Munith Road offers not just snapshots of the past but tangible skills for the present.

A variety of craft workshops are offered. Learn: how to make a flag basket on June 1; candle dipping June 8; rug crocheting June 8; chair caning June 15, 22 and 29; preserving historical memories in an album June 29; and decorating in Victorian style August 24.

All workshops are held at the Farm Museum and registration is through Chelsea Community Education 475-9830.

The Chelsea Community Fair, Michigan's largest, starts Tuesday, August 20 and runs through Saturday, August 24.

A few highlights stand out among the many events.

FAIR FESTIVITIES Tuesday will kick off with poultry judging at 11 a.m. and culminate with the opening of Demolition Derby competition at 7:30 p.m.

Wednesday features horse shows at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., swine and beef judging and more Demolition Derby at 7:30 p.m.

Among Thursday's events are another horse show and antique tractor-pulling contest, culminating with a rodeo at 6:30 p.m. and the Livestock Auction at 7 p.m.

In addition to horse shows, tractor pulling and much else, the 1996 Fair Queen and her court will be announced at 7 p.m. Friday.

A very full Saturday begins early with an 8 a.m. open horse show, features the Fair Parade at 1 p.m., horseshoe pitching at 2 p.m., the "Fly Ball" dog show at 6 p.m., 4-Wheel and 2-Wheel pulling contests at 7 p.m., the Diamondback Western Dancers at 8 p.m., with the Livestock Raffle Drawing concluding the festivities at 10 p.m.

The Milan Fair, always the third week in June, is a virtual bonanza for thrill-seeking, elephant-ear-loving, get-out-of-the-house-and-live-a-little-individuals.

The lilting tunes tumbling from the Merry-Go-Round combined with distance shrieks from the Himalaya and Tilt-a-Whirl produce a cadence of their own. Mouth-watering aromas of sugary cotton candy, delicious corn dogs and sweet caramel rolls assault the senses and beckon from Wilson Park.

THE SOUNDS, smells and familiar faces add a dimension of gaiety to otherwise hum-drum lives, and create the magical atmosphere found only at a small-town fair.

The Milan Fair, famous for its Thursday evening fireworks demonstration, has entertained Milanites for more than 40 years. This year's event boasts a Miss Milan Contest, a Little Miss Milan Show and a Milan Princess/Prince Crowning, in addition to its traditional crowd-gathering events.

The Miss Milan Contest will feature young ladies ages 16-21 vying for the title of Miss Milan of 1996. The Little Miss Milan Show features third grade girls. All participants will be crowned Little Miss Milan of 1996. The reigning princesses and princes are gathered from the community's youngest members.

THE TUESDAY evening parade, one of the biggest in the area, begins on Marvin Street then travels through the downtown district, ending in Wilson Park on Wabash Street.

The midway, open from Tuesday afternoon through Saturday night, has carnival rides and games. Food vendors and carnival attractions such as the Dunk Tank where one may dunk a favorite teacher or police officer are stationed throughout the fair grounds.

Moose and the Sharks will be on stage Saturday at 7 p.m. with KOOL 107.FM on hand to welcome the crowds. Admission to the fair grounds will be free for Saturday only.

Additional live entertainment includes Shiloh on Thursday evening and local artist Larry Rothman on Friday. The Miss Milan Contest will take place on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. The Little Miss Milan Show is at 6 p.m. on Friday and the crowning of Milan's princes and princesses will take place on Saturday at 5:30 p.m.

An extensive Arts and Craft Show featuring artists from several states as well as local crafters is slated for the entire week.

KIDS DAY, Four-Star Karaoke, live entertainment and the magic of Zeemo the Magnificent keep fair crowds busy.

Mark your calendar. June 18-22 is Milan Fair time. For a pinch of yesterday, an armload of today and a touch of tomorrow, stop in at the Milan Fair.

Milan Fest set for August

By HELEN POLASKI
STAFF WRITER

The Olde Milan Fest conjures up visions of the olden days and that's not far off the mark. Included in the event is an antique car show and a doll house tour boasting some 56 houses displayed in storefronts all around town.

A TWO-DAY arts and crafts show is held in Wilson Park while a Farmer's Market takes place in downtown and a Community Garage Sale in the Radio Shack parking lot on Dexter Street.

Sidewalk Sales draw interested customers to the area as well.

A children's activity area is provided at Wilson Park where refreshments are available and Corny Photos may be purchased.

Bobbin lace and quilting as well as basket weaving exhibits are ongoing projects in the park pavilion. Milan's fire trucks—both new and old—will be on display as will a Radio-Controlled Model Airplane exhibit.

Ypsilanti celebrates heritage in summer

By PHIL LOZEN
STAFF WRITER

Nearly 200 years ago, traders and trappers followed a path along the Huron River on their way to Fort Detroit. In 1839, a railroad was built near this trail and Ypsilanti was born.

Now, nearly 200 years later, Ypsilanti is a thriving city with plenty to offer for visitors along the banks of the Huron River.

Throughout the year, Ypsilanti offers a wide variety of festivals and special events, but summertime is the town's bread and butter.

The summer events kick off June 21-22 with the Frog Island Festival, an annual concert that offers a variety of music, from jazz to blues to gospel. It all takes place along the banks of Huron River in Depot Town's Frog Island Park.

The two-day music fest starts Friday at 5:30 p.m. and wraps up Saturday night.

The traditional fireworks display takes place July 3 over Ford Lake and the next day, Independence Day, the state's oldest parade winds its way through downtown Ypsilanti.

On July 28 the Ypsilanti Summer Music Games take center stage at Eastern Michigan's Rynearson Stadium. The country's top drum and bugle corps take to the field to strut their stuff.

But by far the major event of the summer is the Heritage Festival. This event that is held in Frog Island and Riverside Parks annually attracts 300,000 people to Ypsilanti's historic Depot Town.

Choose from the more than 200 arts and crafts exhibitors or maybe visit the Living History Encampment to see what life was like from the 1700s to 1840. There also are jazz concerts, a parade, and the millionaires' tent. Non-stop free entertainment draws thousands of people each day of the three-day festival.

This, of course, is just a taste of what to do in Ypsilanti. For more information on these or other attractions in the area, call (313) 483-4444.

Saline events

Each day of the fair centers around a special theme, with Children's Day, Farmers' Day, Old Settlers' Day, and American Legion Day on tap this fall. For more information on the fair, call 747-8863.

For golf lovers, a host of outings are planned this summer at area courses. Ping's Golf Outing is scheduled for June 21, the Saline Community Hospital outing is the same day, the Saline Area Chamber of Commerce has not yet set a date for its tournament, the Brecon Golf Outing will take place July 8, and the DARE Golf Outing is planned for September 20.

BEFORE HEADING back to school, children are invited to participate in a fun-filled evening of bowling to benefit the DARE program at Saline Area Schools.

"Last year's event was a big success and we hope to attract a good turnout this year," said Saline Police Sergeant Bob Dietrich, a co-chair of the event. "The event is a lot of fun for all the participants."

The second annual Bowl-a-thon is scheduled for Thursday, August 22 from 6-10 p.m. at Maplewood Lanes. The event is geared toward children who enjoy bowling and admission is $3 per game with shoes included.

The Rotary Club holds its annual Pancake Breakfast on Tolan Street Saturday morning. A Barbershop Quartet will be on hand to entertain passers-by.

A CORNY Kiddy parade featuring children dressed in "corn costumes" will please the eye. The Margaret Nichols Dancers from the Parks and Rec studio will perform along with the Sweet Adelines, the MHS Choir, the Songbusters, the Milan Country Dancers and the Rumbly Thunder Cloggers.

A dog pageant, puppet show,

Children Calling Contest, Huck Finn Fishing Derby, Teddy Bear Contest, Best Pie Contest and Chalk Drawing Judging are just a few of the many activities going on in and around the Wilson Park and downtown areas during the Olde Milan Fest.

There are bake sales to enjoy and country street dancing. An Ice Cream Social put on by the Milan Area Historical Society will be held for those with a sweet tooth.

The Olde Milan Fest is set for August 9 and 10 in Milan.

Ann Arbor offers full menu of summer fare

By BARBARA SCHMITT
SPECIAL WRITER

Who doesn't love Ann Arbor in the summertime? Besides the sudden availability of parking spaces after the students leave town, there are numerous bookstores, coffee shops, outdoor cafes and restaurants, and art museums to enjoy on a warm afternoon or evening.

For fun at night you can choose from a variety of fine restaurants, nightclubs offering live music, two micro breweries, a comedy club, and much, much more.

Throughout the summer there are also many scheduled events. Here are some summer highlights:

May 25: First of America Run—Commonly known as the Dexter/Ann Arbor Run, this annual race features the Half-Marathon, 10-km and 5-km events, prizes, and after-race activities. More than 4,000 runners, walkers, and wheelers participate. Phone 995-2752.

June 2: Taste of Ann Arbor—More than 20 local restaurants offer samples of their food, from 50 cents to $2.50, to benefit the Michigan Theater and Careousel (Arbor Hospice's Pediatric Division). Also, live family entertainment. Call 662-5008.

June 8 & 9: Spring Festival of Arts and Crafts—Formerly held at Cobblestone Farm, this year's activities (100 juried artisans, food, petting farm, animal shows and hayrides) will take place at Domino's Farms. Phone 971-7424.

June 14-July 7: The Ann Arbor Summer Festival—This Ann Arbor tradition runs for three weeks and features the Top of the Park series—which includes food and beverages from local restaurants, movies shown on a giant outdoor screen, and free concerts—on the top level of the Power Center Parking Structure. There are more than 80 live performances, at least 20 of which are indoors at the Power Center for the Performing Arts, beginning with the popular Chenille Sisters. Call 747-2278.

June 15 & 16: The Superball 3-on-3 Tournament—At Chrysler Arena, this event is open to basketball players of all ages and will raise money for the Ann Arbor Public Schools academic and athletic programs. Phone 994-5050.

June 15-23: Ann Arbor Showcase of Homes—Interesting and informative tours of beautifully designed and decorated houses, as well as local historic homes. Call 996-0100.

June 16: Ann Arbor Antiques Market—More than 300 dealers of Antiques and Collectibles gather at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds (5055 Ann Arbor-Saline Road). Admission $4. Also July 21 and August 18. Phone 662-9453.

June 21: Catherine McAuley Circus Parade—Families line the streets of downtown Ann Arbor to enjoy animals, circus performers, musicians, and more from the Royal Hanneford Circus. Dial 668-7112.

June 20-23: Royal Hanniford Circus—St. Joseph Mercy Hospital's Eleventh Annual Circus weekend, features an Opening Gala, the Circus Parade through downtown Ann Arbor, and public circus performances held at the Circus Grounds on Ellsworth Road at Airport Boulevard. Proceeds benefit the hospital's Campaign for Cardiovascular Care. Call (313) 712-3192.

June 21 & 22: Frog Island Festival—Twelve bands from around the United States perform various types of music (Jazz, Blues, Rhythm and Blues, (Continued on Page 15) Cajun, and Zydeco) in this unique two-day music celebration. Sponsored by The Arc and WEMU, performances take place under a large tent by the Huron River in Ypsilanti's Depot Town. Phone 761-1800.

June 23: For Women Only race—Events such as the 5-km Competitive Run, 5-km Race Walk, and 5K Fitness Walk call attention to the Breast Cancer epidemic, with proceeds going to The Breast Cancer Fund. For Girls Only events benefit The Allyson Mann Memorial Scholarship Fund. Call 769-2926.

June 29: German Park—You and your friends will have a great time at this popular summer event enjoying German food, beer, and dancing. Also on July 27 and August 31. Dial 769-0048.

July 14: Huron River Day—Just one of many summer events sponsored by the Ann Arbor Parks and Recreation Department. Activities such as the Gallup Gallop Fun Run, the Youth Fishing Derby, the Huron River Mile, and the Corporate Challenge Canoe Race take place at Gallup Park. Phone 994-2780.

July 21: Teddy Bear Show & Sale—For a different kind of fun, come and see more than one thousand Teddy Bears, displayed and sold at Weber's Inn. Call 995-7281.

July 24-27: The 1996 Ann Arbor Art Fairs—These three Art Fairs—The Ann Arbor Street Art Fair, The State Street Fair, and the Summer Art Fair—bring thousands of Art lovers to the area to see the work of hundreds of artists, and to enjoy the street musicians, sidewalk sales, large variety of foods, and various other forms of entertainment. Phone 995-7281.

July 28: Kerrytown Afterglow—Relax after the Art Fair with a variety of music and a celebration of the Artisans' Market's fifth anniversary in the Historic Market District of Ann Arbor. Sponsored by the Kerrytown Shops and the Artisan's Market. Call 662-5008.

August 5: Longest Day of Golf—Play as many holes as you can (scramble format) between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. at the Travis Pointe Country Club in this Golf Benefit for the American Cancer Society. Phone 971-4300.

August 25: Cornroast—Enjoy a day of fun-filled activities with old and new members of the Ann Arbor Ski Club in its annual Membership Drive. Call 761-3419.

Green thumbs hit the outdoors in summer

By HELEN POLASKI
STAFF WRITER

I'm not sure when my love for gardening first took root. I only know that I take extreme pleasure in admiring the budding roses, and watching creeping phlox creep.

Certain flowers and herbs trigger childhood memories and will always be special.

Wild violets have always been a part of my life. The woods behind our home were thick with the purple flowers when I was growing up. Since leaving the nest I notice that no matter where I live I have violets in my yard. I even have a great recipe for violet jam.

MY FATHER always grows Old-fashioned Hollyhocks around our house, and lo and behold, they too are one of my favorites. The double blooms are okay, but there's just something about the single bloom that takes my breath away.

Gardening lore comes in all shapes, sizes and colors, and my library holds various books on the subject. Everything from culinary and medicinal herbs to poisonous flowers and shrubs are discussed in detail. One needs only the time to peruse my bookshelves to become familiar with the magic and mysteries of gardening.

Chives, a simply wonderful herb, are one of the main ingredients in many dishes at the Polaski home. New potatoes, butter and chives are an out-of-this-world delicacy.

Rosemary, pungent and exotic in flavor, can be trained into a topiary to please the sight as well as the tastebuds.

The sunflower, both beautiful and inspiring, doubles as a staple for most birds. Grow a few sunflowers, enjoy the burst of color then dry the heads for winter bird feed.

I'm not sure if I can forgive anyone if they don't squeeze at least one tomato plant into their flower-bed. Homegrown vegetables are the best gifts you can give your family. If you have never had fresh asparagus or the first red tomato of the season, you haven't yet lived!

Beginners can start anywhere. Plant a Morning Glory vine, put in a rose bush. If concerned about seeds, purchase vegetable seedlings from the local nursery.

Where there's a will, there's a way. If you want to learn how to garden, the trial and error method is the best way to go. Just make a starting point and begin.

As your gardening skills develop you'll notice that your library shelves are beginning to expand as books on pruning and trimming appear. You'll also need a section on herbal folklore and new cookbooks.

The possibilities are endless!
