4-H Youth Show

Roxie Wesolowski, the former coordinator for Rogers Corners Herdsmen whose two children are involved in the club, called it a phenomenal year. "The kids worked hard and their work paid off," she observed.

Rogers Corners, with over 50 members representing Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester and Saline, won several championship ribbons. Jamie Powers captured grand champion individual in the swine category; Valerie Schiller won grand champion poultry; Brian Schiller won reserve grand champion poultry; Melissa Bycraft won reserve grand champion steer; Stephanie Wesolowski won grand champion market heifer and reserve champion pair of sheep; Josh Hofing won reserve champion individual for sheep and grand champion pair; and Cassie Palmer won grand champion individual for sheep.

Popular Chelsea bakery closes suddenly

By Kevin Bull
Special Writer

Norine Collins had called The Village Bakery her second home for most of the last 21 years.

But on Tuesday, July 30, the longtime manager of the Chelsea bakery lost that home.

Owners Michael and Kimberly O'Connor of Manchester, who purchased the bakery in March, told Collins the store would close that evening after losing more than $10,000 in four months of ownership.

"Mike told me to come in at 6:30 and said, 'As of now, the bakery is closed and I'm changing the locks on the doors,'" Collins said.

"He didn't give me time to call my employees or anything. I felt like my best friend had died."

Kimberly O'Connor insisted she and her husband did everything they could to keep the business operating, but the loss seemed never-ending.

"We were losing more than $2,000 a month, and we couldn't afford to lose that much," O'Connor said. "We'd been contemplating closing the store after the first six weeks, so Norine can't say it was a shock."

The O'Connors moved from Rhode Island in December and purchased The Village Bakery and its wholesale company, Bakers Dozen in Manchester, from Chuck and Sandy King on March 29.

Kimberly O'Connor, who grew up in Jackson before moving out East for college, said the Chelsea bakery was less than a quarter of the business.

"I guess we probably should have never bought that part of the business," she said. "We're at the Manchester location from 3 in the morning until 10 at night, so we didn't have time to make it work with Chelsea."

But Collins said the O'Connors had never expressed any indications that the Chelsea bakery would close. Collins and the store's other six employees did not learn of the decision until the evening before it folded, she said.

"Mike kept saying we were losing money, but I don't think that's the whole truth," said the 57-year-old Collins, who hadn't taken a sick day in the last nine years.

The bakery, located at 103 W. Middle St., has closed down only once since its 1975 opening. A fire caused a month-long shutdown for repairs in 1982.

The O'Connors, both in their early 30s, had a daughter born in January and couldn't continue to take a loss.

"We're really sorry it had to close, but to give two or three weeks notice would have meant another $1,500 loss," O'Connor said. "I'm sorry but when you try to raise a family and spend over a half-million in a business, you have to make business decisions. Nobody wants to be known as a failure."

The O'Connors rented the building space and leased the equipment. And the bread was baked at the Manchester bakery and transported to the Chelsea location.

"There's not a kitchen there so there's really nothing to sell," O'Connor said.

O'Connor said she offered Collins and the other Chelsea employees full-time positions in Manchester.

But Collins declined the offer and said she will contact an attorney to explore her options, possibly taking legal action against the O'Connors for closing the bakery without notice.

Sdao upsets Jim Drolett's 12-year rule in Dexter Twp.

Political newcomer John Sdao upset long-time Dexter Township Supervisor Jim Drolett in Tuesday's Republican primary.

Sdao, who will face Democrat Elton Hoey in the general election in November, won handily, 360-293.

Drolett had held the position since 1984. He is also the Village of Chelsea's zoning inspector.

In other Dexter Township results, incumbent Julie Knight beat fellow Republican Vicky Lawrence, 385-232 for treasurer. For trustee, Libby Brushaber, 360, and Harley Rider, 331, got the nod over Earl Doletsky, 302. In the Republican race for constable, Roger Burns, 233, edged W.

Roger Stielow, 226. In one of the few Democratic races, William Eisenbeiser defeated Mark Wojno for clerk, 72-21.

In Lyndon Township, Maryann Noah won the Republican race for supervisor over Norman Bauer, 150-48. Also in Lyndon, John Francis, 133, and incumbent Barbara Roderick, 132, beat John Phelps, 71, for trustee.

In Webster Township, incumbent Supervisor Don Zeeb beat Hugh Mosher in the Republican race, 312-163. In the race for trustee, Paul Kleinschmidt, 340, and Dean Fisher, 232, defeated Dawn Pearson, 169, for the Republican nomination.

Six finalists for Beach principal begin interviews

Six finalists from about 30 applicants for the Beach Middle School principal position were expected to be interviewed Wednesday by Chelsea school officials.

Chelsea administrator Bill Wescott, who has served as the school's interim principal for the last month, was to be the first of six one-hour interviews.

Although Wescott has been named principal of new Pierce Lake Elementary—which will open its doors in the fall of 1997—he is still a possibility at Beach.

Former Chelsea School Board member Barbara Cherem, who works at Spring Arbor College, is also a candidate.

Other finalists include middle school principals Robert Howe of Plainwell and Jim Wencel of Anchor Bay, Candy Nuzzolillo, an assistant principal in Florida, and James Wood, director of professional development at Cincinnati State Technical and Community College.

"We hope to have a candidate to recommend to the board for approval at the Aug. 19 school board meeting," Chelsea Superintendent Ed Richardson said.

The opening was created in March when Darcy Stielstra, principal at Beach Middle School since 1984, announced his resignation.

Gang affiliated clothing, jewelry, insignias or other paraphernalia will not be allowed in Chelsea High School, according to a new section in the 1996-97 Student/Parent Handbook.

Richardson said at Monday night's School Board meeting that the board does not forbid gang memberships, only associated items displayed.

Students will be required to remove the gang-related items and their parents or legal guardians will be contacted.

The board approved the new gang section and several other revisions of the handbook at Monday's meeting.

"We added the gang section, but basically everything else is the same as in years past," Richardson said.

Academic requirements for taking driver's education at the high school were eliminated from the handbook. Driver's education students had the same grade-point requirements as athletic eligibility in the past.

Another change is "pants worn below the waist" will not be permitted in a small alteration of the dress code section.

Other minor handbook revisions include reworded sections on academic eligibility and attendance, and "expulsion" added as a possible state law mandate in a section on weapon possession.

The board approved the addition of junior varsity boys and girls soccer to the funded school athletic programs.

Chelsea Athletic Director Wayne Welton noted in the proposal that more than 30 players are expected for fall tryouts with the boys team. More than 40 are expected for the girls team in the spring.

Chelsea joins Dexter, Pinckney, Saline and Tecumseh as Southeastern Conference schools with JV soccer programs.

Last year, Chelsea added boys' and girls' varsity soccer teams to the athletic budget after a few years as club sports.

The board approved the hiring of Wendy Nellis for a sixth-grade math/science teaching position at Beach Middle School.

Nellis, a Novi resident, has taught fourth grade for St. Joseph Public Schools since 1992.

The board approved the recommendations of four trade contracts by Granger Construction Co. for work on new Pierce Lake Elementary.

Granger awarded bids to Baker Construction for masonry work ($946,739), Erickson & Lindstrom for general trades ($417,400), Pride Mechanical for plumbing and piping ($328,834) and Kent Electric for building and site electrical work ($640,000).

Also, the board approved Granger's recommendation for E.T. MacKenzie Co. to be awarded the bid for earthwork and utilities at the new high school for $1,074,000.

Chelsea Assistant Superintendent Christine Annese announced at the board meeting the school's intent of hiring Karen Carty as the new food service supervisor.

Carty, director of food and nutrition services at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital since 1991, will take over in Chelsea on Aug. 18.

Carty, who earned a bachelor's degree in food service management from Eastern Michigan University, applied (Continued on Page Three)

Mobile home lawsuit likely

It appears that the Chelsea Village Council denial of a rezoning request to change 117 acres of agricultural land to allow for a mobile home park will end up in court.

Developer Steve Tracy indicated that he, along with development partners Phil Jenkins and Martin Merkel, would continue pursuing the rezoning through a lawsuit, which Tracy termed the only remaining option. He said attorneys were reviewing legal alternatives.

"I anticipate that we'll move ahead with some kind of legal action. We just need to decide on what direction to proceed," Tracy said.

Chelsea Sidewalk Festival

Alex Acker, 2, of Chelsea browsed through the craft booths with his grandmother, Pat Martell of Chelsea, during Chelsea Sidewalk Festival, held Aug. 2-3. Among the other attractions were musical entertainment, clowns, a book sale and flea market.

Opening Remarks

By Brian Hamilton

Election time is a wonderful time to be in the news business because we get to see our politicians at both their shrewdest and nastiest, and sometimes their dumbest.

We also receive a lot of interesting political garbage in the mail and by fax.

Lately we've been getting testimonial letters—about 20 or so—from supporters of one of my favorite politicians of all time, U.S. Rep. Nick Smith, arch-Republican.

These Republicans can waste money and time with the best of Democrats. Smith gets people, some of whom don't even live his district (a few who were even too young to vote), to write letters to a newspaper (us) that has a handful of subscribers in his district. The only thing Smith's doing by sending us any mail at all is supporting the U.S. Postal Service, which I'm sure he'd like to dismantle or privatize, or at least reform into oblivion.

Our guy, U.S. Rep. Dick Chrysler, is very clever.

Here's a man who got his hands dirty for a couple hours, then took the platform at the Timber-Town playground during the dedication as though he purchased and delivered the thing directly to Chelsea.

Even better, though, was his trick at the Silver Maples retirement community groundbreaking a couple weeks ago. He turned down an invitation to attend, claiming a scheduling conflict, but then the organizer read his letter of regret, which probably contained most of the speech he might have made. And he didn't have to answer all those seniors' questions about Medicare.

My good friend, presidential hopeful Bob Dole, has also sent me a letter. "Dear Friend," it began. All he wanted me to do was to fill out a survey about issues of interest to Republicans, and maybe send a little money along with it. The best offer, though, was the option of sending just $9 to "defray the costs of tabulating my survey questions." That worked out to about $1 per question.

In fairness, the Democrats are very difficult to pick on because there don't seem to be any around here, at least any visible ones. I understand Debbie Stabenow is running against Chrysler, although when she comes to town she kind of tiptoes in. The Dems may just be taking a low-key approach, especially in Chelsea where they have to operate like guerrillas since they're terrified of being recognized in public. The only thing worse than being a Democrat in Chelsea is being

Uncle Apollo

I think we're missing a great opportunity here.

This weekend we had Sidewalk Days, which is a way to draw people downtown to buy a lot of stuff once a year. Besides a whole bunch of good stuff that the store owners put out on the sidewalk, there are these booths with artsy-crafty stuff and really great junk food and musicians and a brand new truck for only 20 bucks plus license fees. (This is a real, full-sized truck and not made of plastic like at those fast-food places!)

And what is all of this stuff celebrating? Sidewalks! Little slabs of flat concrete that cars can't even drive on! Hot, hard surfaces that don't feel cool between your toes like grass! Sidewalks aren't even good looking. They are gray and flat and full of little pockmarks if you look at them closely, but mostly just boring.

Still, all of these people come around every year to celebrate them and buy up all of these things that they normally wouldn't.

So if people are willing to celebrate sidewalks, it seems to me that they would celebrate almost anything. If we had one of these things every week, people would eat so many elephant ears that they would have to start buying bigger cars just to fit in them. It would be great for the economy since everyone would be buying this stuff from the back shelves all the time.

Merchants would have to build deeper shelves, which would be good for the carpenters. You get the idea.

So what kind of things could we celebrate? Well, it seems to me that it might take people a while to get used to the idea, so we would want to start out with things that are a little more familiar before moving on to the more interesting stuff. Streets would be a good step, since they are a lot like sidewalks except wider and more dangerous to walk on. Actually, streets could be a problem, since you'd have to move everything when the cars wanted to get through.

Maybe we could celebrate curbs and gutters instead. And then there's buildings. We could celebrate buildings, or maybe just building parts. Like one week we could celebrate bricks and another week, building stone.

We could have Tower Days when we had elevator and airplane rides and bungee jumping and bird watching. We could celebrate windows and just stroll around looking at all the different windows in town, stopping by a lemonade stand or a hot dog stand once in a while.

Then there's things like cats and birds and cars and used tires and mattresses, and antique cow sculpture made of the finest walnut. If we ran out of that sort of thing, we could always do stuff like air and water and dirt and the sun. It worked for the Aztecs, so why not us?

Maybe we could take all of the money we get from this and start building even more interesting things, like amusement park rides. It seems to me that people like to drive a long ways to go to places like that, so maybe if we build one here, people would move away so they could drive a long way to get to it and they would quit filling up the countryside with houses.

The more I think about it, the better I like it. I'll get started on this plan right away. Watch for the "Fancy Iron Trash Can Days" announcements coming up in the newspaper.

Letters to the Editor

Dexter Township running smoothly

I saw from Jim Drolett's opponents' literature they are asking people to send money to "Save Dexter Township." Save it from what? I think things are running very well in Dexter Township for the following reasons:

1. More public improvements have been put in the township in the last 12 years than at any time in its history.

2. The township hall is open daily with elected and appointed officials holding regularly scheduled office hours to better serve the public.

3. The township has been computerized to provide better and quicker information.

4. The neighborhoods and streets look nice and are not littered with signs hanging on poles and trash and junk cars in yards.

5. Property values are up.

6. There's no favoritism or good-ole-boyism going on, everybody has to abide by the same rules for the betterment of the community.

So I ask again, what's to save us from? Township sounds like a good place to live to me and that didn't happen by accident. It takes good honest leadership, which we have in Jim Drolett, Dexter Township Supervisor.

Mobile home park is all about ego

And so once again, the Chelsea Village Council, echoing the sentiments of the community they serve, deny a rezoning request of the Merkel property for a high-density mobile home park. And once again, Merkel, Jenkins & Co. promise another round in court.

Mr. Jenkins states, "People are just bound and determined to tell you what you can do with your land." Well Mr. Jenkins, that's not entirely true, yet I suppose to a degree, you are right. For you see, that is one of the prices we all pay for living in a community. Rather than existing apart in the wilderness as totally autonomous beings, doing whatever we please, whenever we desire; we are social creatures, living together in communities. We become interconnected and interdependent.

As a consequence, quite often the actions and activities of one will have an impact on the others around them. And so our behavior and actions are held in check by the common good. While I might benefit financially by, say, raising chickens or hogs in my residential backyard, in so doing, I would bring inconvenience to my neighbors and a decline in the value of their adjacent property. And so the common good takes precedence over my personal gain.

"But it's my property!" I holler. "I should be able to do whatever I want with it!" This of course should only be true if it is demonstrated that said use will not negatively impact those around me. If as a result of my actions, there will be no harm or additional cost to them (roads, utilities, public services), and that their existing property (value) will not be negatively impacted.

If however, my personal designs will have a negative effect, then I should be restricted from such actions. The old cliché, "Your freedom to swing your fist, stops at my nose," holds true.

Perhaps, Mr. Jenkins, some of the difficulty stems from the fact that you chose to build a development a little too close to your prior effort at Scio Farms. Unfortunately for you, the people of Chelsea don't believe your claims of attractive, safe, affordable housing, because 10 minutes away we can witness the actuality—one pre-fab unit built on top of another.

We read in our local paper each week of the high number of police actions at the development. We hear of those folks who want to leave the development, but they are trapped because they can't find buyers. We talk to our neighbors in Scio Township who speak of the development and all of the attendant problems in less than glowing terms. We can see what the future would hold for our community should the project be approved.

You deny that any such negative consequences will take place, but the reality is that you don't really care. Because you and your family don't live here.

Tell you what, maybe you've noticed all of the 'For Sale' signs sprouting up like dandelions around the village, as panic that this monstrosity may actually be built spreads. Why don't you buy one of those homes and move your family in right next door to the development? What do you think? Imagine the convenience! You could walk to work. You could stroll here among all of the residents of Chelsea, who would personally thank you for the good you have brought to their lives.

And if as you claim, the development does not have a negative affect on the value of your new property or the safety of your family, why it would be a shrewd move. Come on, Phil, put your money where your mouth is. Pack up the family, and come on down.

Mr. Jenkins, you also said that the developers' legal costs will result in higher rent for the residents of the development. At least you are being truthful here. Certainly the expense of this string of legal battles which you have initiated will not adversely affect your own bottom line. Heavens no. Future residents will have to pick up the tab.

It's ironic that all along, you have been touting the line that the intent of this development was to provide housing in Chelsea for those who are less fortunate. For those who need a break getting started. For those who don't have the financial resources for a traditional home. And yet, the expense of fighting against the very community where it is proposed, will be visited upon those lower income individuals you claim you want to help. What a pal.

While it makes sense for you to roll up your carpet bag and move on to another small town which might prove more receptive to what you are selling, I doubt that will happen. Because the tragedy is this has become much more than a reckless quest for profits. It's not just about money anymore. It's about ego.

Maybe you and your partners thought that the citizens of Chelsea were nothing but a group of naive, uneducated hayseeds, ripe for the picking. Well you were wrong Mr. Jenkins. We are intelligent. We are united. And we are going to fight you and your partners every step of the way.

Christopher Meloche

Board

for the position in late April. She was the unanimous choice from a pool of 47 applicants after a second-round interview.

The board approved the Food Service Agreement with the Manchester Community Schools for the 1996-97 school year.

The Chelsea School District agreed to sell Manchester type-A hot lunches at a pick-up price of $1.50 per meal, excluding milk. The contract may be terminated prior to its expiration date of June 30, 1997, only if both schools mutually consent.

In another matter, Chelsea Superintendent Ed Richardson said he will request state police to consider reducing the speed limit on Trinkle Road from 55 mph to 25 or 35 mph.

Trinkle Road is expected to lead to a driveway into the new high school. But local government officials and the road commission have not made a decision as to who will pay for the paving and other possible improvements of the dirt road.

Early estimates from the road commission note that a quarter-mile stretch of Trinkle Road to the school entrance would cost about $100,000 to pave.

Committed. Experienced.

When you choose a St. Joe's OB/Gyn doctor to help you bring a new life into the world, you're choosing someone with a longstanding commitment to families in your area. Someone who has put down roots, just like you. Someone who continues to meet the high quality standards set by the St. Joe's medical staff. Collectively, those shown here have 81 years of experience delivering babies. Yet, they continue to welcome each newborn baby like a close, special friend.

If you're pregnant or planning a new addition, find out more about the OB/Gyn professionals on staff at St. Joe's in Ann Arbor, where more babies are born than any other place in Washtenaw County. We now accept SelectCare HMO and PPO (plus Care Choices HMO and lots of other insurances). Call for help in finding a provider near you. If you'd like, we'll even schedule your first appointment.

—CHS Class of 1933—

Relay for Life set Saturday at CHS

Cancer survivors and current patients are invited to join American Cancer Society volunteers this weekend to celebrate survivorship in the inaugural Chelsea Relay For Life.

Opening ceremonies for the 24-hour event begin at noon Saturday at the Chelsea High School track. A kiddy carnival and face painting then prelude the 6 p.m. Cancer Survivor Victory Lap.

A complimentary dinner for cancer survivors from 6:30-7 p.m. follows the first lap.

After performances by The Kitchen Band and Jim Bichirler, the Luminary Ceremony will honor lost loved ones and persons battling cancer at 10 p.m.

The name of each person for whom a luminary candle has been lit will be read aloud, and friends and families are invited to attend. A candle costs $10 and will remain burning throughout the night.

Luminary donation forms and more information about the Victory Lap can be obtained by calling 971-4300.

A sing-a-long and movies are scheduled events throughout the night. A 7:30 a.m. breakfast will be followed by a team tug-a-war/gong show, and awards and closing ceremonies Sunday morning.

Various cancer control programs include Tell-A-Friend, the Great American Smoke Out, Road to Recovery and Smoke Free Class of 2000.

The teams are represented by Chelsea Area Players, Chelsea cross country, Chelsea Flag Corps, Chelsea Lumber-Splinters, Chelsea Rotary, Chelsea State Bank, Cleary's Pub-Street Walkers, First United Methodist Church, Dancers, Great Lakes Bank Corp., Gumps, Liberty Title, Nancy's Magnificent Pals, Something Nasty and the 19th Hole.

Local sponsors include Liberty Title, Palmer Motor Sales, Chelsea Lumber, Chelsea State Bank, Cleary's Pub, Chelsea Community Hospital and Chelsea Milling. Other donations were made by Thompson's Pizza, The Wolfverine, Gina's Cafe, Stir Crazy, A&W, The Common Grill and Kellogg's Corp.

Townships wait for district library pitch

Since the Chelsea Village Council agreed to sign the revised district library agreement, the next step for the library board is to approach the surrounding township governments they hope will join the village in signing on to the district library project.

However, at the Wednesday, July 31 meeting of the Chelsea Area Planning Team, several township officials were wondering where the district library issue stood, saying they hadn't heard from library board representatives.

Lima Township Supervisor Bill Van Riper voiced surprise that no district library representatives had contacted him or requested a place on the agenda of a Lima Township Board meeting.

Sylvan Township Supervisor Jerry Dresselhouse expressed frustration that a District Library Study Committee, set up with representatives from each of the townships, had apparently not met to discuss either the revised agreement signed by the Chelsea Village Council, or plans on how to go forward with it.

Lyndon Township Trustee Barbara Roderick, who represents Lyndon Township on that District Library Study Committee, seemed equally perplexed as Dresselhouse, saying she was uncertain why the study committee had not met or even been contacted by the library board.

Dan Kaminsky, president of the McKune Memorial Library Board, said Tuesday that any delay has been caused by summer vacations.

"People are real involved in 4-H, camp, and taking their kids to college," Kaminsky said.

"When it gets down to people and volunteers, there's still a summer mindset. But I know we're coming (to the township boards) soon."

Opening Remarks

Our local primary election was pretty low-key although there were fireworks Tuesday. John Sdao took the unusual tact of painting incumbent Dexter Township Supervisor Jim Drolett as a spendthrift Republican, which was an interesting twist, but apparently it worked very well. A few of President Bill Clinton's anti-Dole ads have taken that general approach, so maybe it's a sign of the times.

One of my favorite letters was an endorsement for James English for county drain commissioner. English was trounced by incumbent Janis Bobrin.

"He would never approve plans for a retention pond to be placed on top of a hill—water always runs downhill," the letter read. Maybe we elected the wrong person.

Upset in Dexter Twp. highlights primary

Grau won the Republican race for treasurer with 204 votes, over Ray Steinbach, 88, and Larry Weidmayer, 69.

In Lima Township, Republican incumbent Robert Heller, 163, and newcomer Charles Schauer, 99, beat township planning commissioner Greg McKenzie, 91, in the battle for trustee.

Another incumbent supervisor was beaten in Sharon Township. John Savage, 86, took second to Gary Blades, 125. In third was Roger Kappler, 16.

A SIP OF SPAIN

The Andalusia region of Spain can be an intoxicating place to visit—quite literally. Three of the country's most picturesque villages are located within a few miles of each other there, and together they produce almost all of Spain's fine sherry. Jerez de la Frontera, Sanlúcar de Barrameda, and El Puerto de Santa Maria each has its own personality and distinctive style of sherry. All welcome visitors at any time of year, but each is particularly hospitable in the fall, when grape crushing occurs. In Jerez, for example, the first week in September ushers in a four-day harvest festival featuring traditional parades, bullfights, and blessing of the wine. Nestled throughout the countryside, magnificent old churches and estates showcase a rich Moorish legacy that has endured for more than 500 years. Everywhere, "bodegas" (wine shops) beckon the thirsty.

What are you dreaming of for your next adventure? A visit to the wine country in Spain? The old-world charm of Europe? The spice and excitement of Mexico? How about a relaxing, fun-filled Caribbean cruise? Whatever part of the world beckons you, see UNIGLOBE CHELSEA TRAVEL, INC. first. Whether you're going across the country or around the world, good planning can make the trip smoother. Please stop by at 1070 South Main Street, or call 475-3110. Make us your first stop to anywhere in the world. No charge for our services.

Hint: British merchants coined the word "sherry" from a poor pronunciation of the name of the wine-producing town "Jerez."

NOTICE OF LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION Of the Qualified Electors

Dexter Community Schools
Counties of Washtenaw and Livingston, Michigan
For the Special Election
To be held on Monday, September 23, 1996

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT:
PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a special election for Dexter Community Schools will be held in the School District on Monday, September 23, 1996.

Act 451, Public Acts of Michigan, 1976, as amended, provides in part that the inspectors of election at an annual or special election shall not receive the vote of a person residing in a registration school district whose name is not registered as an elector in the city or township in which the person resides.

The last day for receiving registrations for the special election will be Monday, August 26, 1996. Persons registering after the Clerk's office closes, on Monday, August 26, 1996, will not be eligible to vote at the special election. Persons planning to register must determine when the Clerk's office will be open for registration.

Under the provisions of Act 451, Public Acts of Michigan, 1976, as amended, registrations will not be taken by school officials, and only persons who have registered as general electors with the appropriate Clerk of the City or Township in which they reside, or through registration at a Secretary of State driver's license bureau, are registered school electors.

The following proposal will be submitted to the electors at the election on Monday, September 23, 1996:

SINKING FUND MILLAGE PROPOSAL

Shall the Dexter Community Schools, Counties of Washtenaw and Livingston, Michigan, levy 1 mill to create a sinking fund for the purpose of purchasing real estate for a site for school buildings by increasing the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be imposed on taxable property in the School District for a period of one (1) year, being the year 1996? It is estimated that 1 mill ($1.00 per $1,000 of taxable value) would raise approximately $428,287 in the year that it is levied.

Weddings, Engagements and Anniversaries

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY: Irma and Gerald Burns of Dexter celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary June 29 with a party organized by their children at Weber's Inn. Over 100 friends and family came as far away as Finland, Florida, North Carolina, Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio. The couple's best man and maid of honor were also present. The party was hosted by the Burns' children, Candice (Brian Malville) Burns of Dexter; Robert (Mary Kay) Burns of Brownstown Township; Larry (Lotta Jarnefelt) Burns of Kalamazoo; Bart (Lori) Burns of Warren; and David Burns of San Francisco, Calif.

U-M study looks at long marriages in two countries

When two hearts beat as one long after the pacemakers are in, the marriage relationship is bound to be different from a honeymooner's.

But in the precise way that longevity affects a marriage, a University of Michigan study suggests, east is east and west is west.

Most of the long-married U.S. couples studied by U-M researchers started out believing in romance and togetherness. By their golden anniversaries, what they wanted most was independence.

Japanese couples took the opposite tack. Many had arranged marriages, starting as virtual strangers and developing warmth and closeness over the years.

The Michigan study, published in the current (August 1996) issue of the Journal of Social and Personal Relationships, was conducted by U-M researchers Berit Ingersoll-Dayton and Ruth Campbell with colleagues from Tokyo University Hospital.

For the study, the researchers interviewed 24 long-married couples from the two nations, where life expectancy is the highest in the world.

"Today in the United States, 54 percent of the people over the age of 65 live as couples, compared to about 30 percent 10 years ago," says Campbell, a faculty associate at the U-M Institute of Gerontology and associate director of social work and community programs at the U-M Turner Geriatric Services.

Campbell and colleagues started out each interview asking how the couple met and decided to marry, then ended up asking what each couple saw for their relationship in the future.

"The American couples wanted more space and distance from each other after retirement," Campbell reports, "whereas the Japanese couples were involved in becoming closer."

The Japanese couples had been married between 30 and 52 years, while the American couples had been wed between 28 and 67 years.

"I have very consciously tried to have each of us have things that are ours," said one American wife who retired, reluctantly, after her husband died.

Another American wife spoke of moving to a larger, rather than a smaller, home after her husband retired, just so both could be home at the same time without bumping into each other. Other wives mentioned how important it was to keep two cars after retirement, or to pursue different hobbies and interests.

Campbell cautions against seeing the findings as an indictment of long-term marriage in the United States. On the contrary, she emphasizes that seeking intimacy with your spouse and seeking distance are not necessarily mutually exclusive. "These couples viewed their time apart as a way of enhancing their time together," she says.

Museum remembers Civil War with event

The Michigan Historical Museum commemorates the "war that divided a nation," with Tin Cups and Hard Tack: A Civil War Encampment on Saturday, Aug. 17, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

"This Civil War encampment is a piece of living history," said Secretary of State Candice S. Miller, the Michigan's official historian. "This program offers families an opportunity to learn about the Civil War through interaction and entertainment."

Highlighting the event will be a mini-encampment and program by the 3rd Michigan Infantry and Ross' Battery, 2nd Michigan Light Artillery, on the lawn of the Michigan Library and Historical Center.

Throughout the day, the 3rd Michigan Volunteer Infantry Regiment and Ross' Battery, 2nd Michigan Light Artillery reenactors will demonstrate musket and cannon firing while the 7th Michigan Volunteer Infantry Regiment's Fife and Drum Corps performs Civil War era music.

Visitors can also see "Rally Round the Flags," a special exhibit that honors Michigan's Civil War battle flags. The exhibit rotates 14 Michigan Civil War flags at a time, from the 160 Civil War battle flags in the museum's collection.

The exhibit features stories of the flags through a period homefront scene.

The exhibit features stories of the flags through a period homefront scene, cemetery setting, a battlefield diorama and Civil War artwork. An authentic cannon, Civil War uniforms, military equipment and rare photographs complete the setting.

A video program presents the entire flag collection to museum visitors.

Tin Cups and Hard Tack activities and exhibits include:

- A large collection of rare Civil War artifacts, throughout the day, Rotunda.

- An historically accurate northern town hall meeting with a Union officer informing the townsfolk (the audience) about developments in the war, 1 p.m., forum; and

- A special presentation on A Day in the Life of a Union Artillerist.

Admission to the Michigan Historical Museum and Tin

Cups and Hard Tack program are free. The museum is handicapped-accessible and a concession stand is available. For more information, telephone (517) 373-3559.

The Michigan Historical Museum is located in the Michigan Library and Historical Center at 717 W. Allegan St., two blocks west of the State Capital in downtown Lansing. Museum hours are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; Saturday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; and Sunday 1 to 5 p.m. Weekend parking is free.

Dexter Daze set this weekend

Nearly 30,000 visitors are expected in Dexter this weekend as the community hosts the annual Dexter Daze festival.

Among the attractions are entertainment, art, crafts, sidewalk sales, museum tours, book sales and cook outs.

Dexter Daze is held annually during the second weekend in August. Events and displays are set up in the center of town with entertainment in the gazebo at Monument Park, craft booths lining the park and information booths and sales of merchandise decorating the sidewalks along Main Street. Craft sales open at 9 a.m. Friday and usually close at 9 p.m., while entertainment runs from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday's activities are kicked off with a parade through town at 10 a.m.

This year's event includes more entertainment with a greater emphasis on amusement for children. Friday's line-up includes two shows by Fantasy E-Fex Puppet Theater at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., Zeemo the Magnificent at 12:30 p.m., Colors the Clown at 3:30 p.m., Ragtime Charlie and Sister Kate at 3:30 p.m., new acts Mustard's Retreat and the Pocket Band at 4:30 p.m. and 6 p.m., respectively, and the Al Hill Band at 8 p.m.

The parade begins at 10 a.m. Saturday and will feature Dexter High School's marching band, the Ann Arbor Highlanders, draft horses, fire and drum corps, antique cars, trucks, fire engines and tractors and local organizations. Pre-registration to participate in the parade is encouraged with 150 of the first entries receiving plaques.

Entertainment for Saturday includes Colors the Clown at 11:30 a.m., the Ann Arbor Highlanders at 11:30 a.m., storyteller LaRon Williams at 12:30 p.m., Gemini at 2 p.m., Mad Cat Ruth and Shari Kane at 3 p.m., Kiwanis Club and the American Business Woman's Association raffles at 4 p.m., Big Pinky and the Joint Effort at 4:15 p.m., the RFD Boys at 5:30 p.m. and George Bedard at 8 p.m.

Over 100 art and crafts booths will be set up and a beer tent operated by Dexter Area Firefighters Association will be housed in Monument Park. Dexter District Library will hold a used book sale Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Dexter Area Museum will welcome the public from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday highlighted by the operation of the scenic railroad model train. Dexter Historical Society member Earl Doletzky will guide a tour of Forest Lawn Cemetery beginning at 2 p.m.

Dexter American Legion will offer a steak dinner Friday night and St. James Episcopal Church will hold their annual barbecue Saturday. Food wagons run by Dexter Lions Club and Dexter Kiwanis Club will also be housed in the park. Dexter Senior Citizens will hold a bake sale both days. Dexter Knight of Columbus will also set up bingo.

New highlights include Cruise Night at A & W restaurant and a private antique car show at Grohs Chevrolet.

As in the past, a map pinpointing all the garage sales in town will be distributed by Carol Model at Dexter Card & Office Supply. A shuttle bus will transport festival-goers from designated parking areas to downtown.

Dexter Area Museum offers special exhibits

Visitors to Dexter Area Museum will be treated to a new exhibit this weekend during Dexter Daze.

A carriage from the 19th century, formerly owned by the Historical Society of Michigan, was recently purchased and restored by Dexter Area Museum. It is on exhibit now and will be a permanent fixture in Dexter.

The carriage, once owned by the Tuomey family of Scio Township, is a double brougham manufactured by Slevers and Erdman of Detroit. It was in need of extensive professional restoration when the museum bought it.

According to museum director Nina Rackham, the Tuomey Carriage is highly unusual in that all its parts appeared to be intact, although some were detached from the carriage. It's also unusual, Rackham said, that the provenance is so fully documented, from the name of the builder to the single-family ownership.

Rackham said the carriage is a Michigan product in its entirety and part of Michigan's history of horse-drawn private transportation. It's also of superior design and workmanship, she said. The upholstery of the interior, including the ceiling, was from the best line of vehicles and the fabrics used in the upholstery and in such items as the arm rests and the window straps are of extraordinary quality.

Preservation work was completed by Justin Carriage Works of Nashville. Dexter Historical Society and the Heritage Guild paid for the work. During the restoration project, two artifacts were found. A paper American flag, which is around the late 19th century, was stitched behind the fabric of one of the doors and a child's change purse was found behind a seat.

Also to be featured at the museum this weekend is a collection of quilt baskets and American Airline memorabilia offered by Sarah and

Neil Frank of Dexter, as in past years, the museum's scenic railroad model train will be in operation; and Dexter Historical Society member Earl Doletzky will give a tour of Forest Lawn Cemetery beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday with everyone meeting on the grounds near Grand Street.

—Big Pinky and the Joint Effort—

Big Pinky and the Joint Effort Band will perform at 4:15 p.m. Saturday in the gazebo at Monument Park. The band includes Glen "Pinky" Pingston, Ric Mayer, Nick Bauder, Pat Peck and Mark Amsdill. Amsdill and Peck grew up in Dexter. The band plays music from the 50s, 60s and 70s, and has become one of the most popular groups in the area. The group has backed such artists as Paul Anka, Del Shannon, Barbara Lewis, Tony Clark and Gino Washington.

—Mustard's Retreat—

Mustard's Retreat will perform at 4:30 p.m. Friday in the gazebo at Monument Park during Dexter Daze. The band produced its first album in 1979. Since then, the duo has appeared on the stages of many prestigious clubs, including frequent appearances on National Public Radio's "The Flea Market," and in festivals across the United States and Canada. Pictured are David Tamulevich and Michael Hough of Mustard's Retreat.

—Madcat & Kane—

Madcat & Kane will perform at 3 p.m. Saturday in the gazebo at Monument Park as part of Dexter Daze. Peter Madcat Ruth and Shari Kane have toured extensively throughout the United States. They have also performed in Canada, Spain, Brazil and the Cayman Islands. In 1992 the group was voted one of six finalists in the Long Beach Blues Festival National Talent Contest. In December 1992, they released their first CD, Key to the Highway, on the Schoolkids' Records label.

Juvenile Arrest

A 16-year-old escapee from the Washtenaw County Juvenile Detention Center was apprehended in Dexter Aug. 5 by Washtenaw County Sheriff's Deputy Tina Stock with assistance from deputies Marvin "Skip" Davis and Mark Mesko. The 16-year-old boy was serving time for stealing a vehicle. He escaped July 30 and was caught at his mother's apartment in Dexter. Police were in the area investigating another case when they recognized the teen from a posted photograph. After a brief foot chase, the juvenile jumped off the roof at the apartment complex and was apprehended by Stock shortly after 8 a.m.

Larceny

Larceny was reported in the 3000 block of Baker Road, July 30. A 31-year-old woman told a sheriff's deputy someone stole her 11-year-old son's dirt bike. The bike was left unattended in the front yard and was stolen between 9:30 p.m. July 29 and 9:15 a.m. July 30.

Threats

A 22-year-old Manchester man complained of threats made against him at Pilot Industries, 7931 Grand St., July 31. The man told a sheriff's deputy two female co-workers have made threats against his life and told another co-worker they would carry them out. The suspects are a mother and her daughter from Jackson.

Chelsea Village

Larceny

Larceny was reported at Polly's Market, 1101 S. Main St., Aug. 2. The store's manager called Chelsea Police when he caught a Chelsea man stealing two packs of cigarettes. The suspect returned the cigarettes, but refused to wait until police arrived. Police were able to locate him after the manager turned in the license plate number of the suspect's Ford Bronco.

Larceny was reported in Chelsea Village. A 71-year-old woman said her cellular telephone was stolen between Memorial Day and July 19. She thinks someone may have taken it from her vehicle.

Larceny was reported in the village after a truck driver picked up $18,000 worth of Jiffy Mix and never arrived at his destination. The packages were to be delivered to Georgia and Florida by a St. Clair Shores man. The suspect's employer, a North Dakota company, reported the larceny but later discovered the man quit his job and left the truck in St. Clair Shores.

Larceny was reported in the parking lot at Polly's Market, 1101 S. Main St., Aug. 2. A woman told Chelsea Police someone stole her purse while it was inside her vehicle. The purse contained three checkbooks, a credit card, over $600 and other items.

Warrant Arrest

Kristin J. Werness, 17, of Ann Arbor was arrested on a warrant Aug. 3 by Chelsea Police. An officer encountered Werness at the intersection of Cavanaugh Lake Road and Cleveland Street. She was wanted for failing to appear in court on charges of violating the noise ordinance in Ann Arbor.

Gary D. Matheny, 25, of Ypsilanti was arrested on a warrant July 31 by Chelsea Police. Matheny was wanted on several warrants, including armed robbery and failing to appear in court on charges of driving with a suspended license and for not wearing a seat belt. Chelsea Police arrested him during routine patrol when he was discovered working on his vehicle behind Best Video Store on S. Main Street.

Dexter Township

Credit Card Fraud

Credit card fraud was reported in the 4500 block of Wylie Road, July 29. A 42-year-old woman told a sheriff's deputy her son used a credit card to make a purchase over the Internet during the winter. Since that time, $2,000 in merchandise has been charged to the Discover card without her knowledge. The woman canceled the card in February, but thieves illegally made the charges before that time. The credit card company asked the woman to file a police report.

Breaking and Entering

Breaking and entering was reported in the 12800 block of Oakhill Road, July 30. A 41-year-old man told a sheriff's deputy someone broke into his home and stole a VCR, stereo equipment, chain saw, hockey equipment and checks. The man said the house was secured, but the thief may have found a key hidden outside. Over $2,000 worth of items were stolen.

Larceny

Larceny was reported on Rainbow Drive near Noah Road, Aug. 1. An employee with Mueller Pipeline told a sheriff's deputy $10,000 worth of machinery was stolen from a construction site.

Property Damage

Malicious destruction of property was reported at the former Three Kegs party store, 9805 Dexter-Pinckney Rd., Aug. 1. A 46-year-old man told a sheriff's deputy someone broke several windows between July 28 and July 30. Damage is estimated at $300.

Malicious destruction of property was reported in the 7800 block of Toma Road, Aug. 1. A 32-year-old man told a sheriff's deputy someone broke a window in his 1988 Ford van. The window was damaged between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Lima Township

Runaway

A runaway was reported in the 13700 block of Old US-12, Aug. 4. A 45-year-old woman told a Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputy her 15-year-old daughter left home despite a court order restricting her from leaving past 10 p.m. The girl, who was babysitting, fled the state with her boyfriend and later called from Cedar Point. It was noted the girl is a habitual runaway.

Property Damage

Malicious destruction of property was reported in the 400 block of Bee Tree Lane off Jackson Road, Aug. 1. An 84-year-old man told a sheriff's deputy someone spray painted a bench located near his driveway. Toilet paper was also strewn in the trees. Damage is estimated at $100.

Medical Assist/Dogs at Large

A Stockbridge man was thrown from his bicycle Aug. 2

after two dogs pursued him in the 10400 block of Jackson Road. The 49-year-old man was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital's emergency room, where a sheriff's deputy interviewed him about the incident. The man said he encountered the dogs two days earlier and prepared himself this time by carrying pepper spray and riding on the other side of the road. But one dog came across the road and hit his front tire as the victim tried to spray the animal. The man suffered several injuries in the collision.

Drunken Driving

A 38-year-old Dearborn man was arrested by a sheriff's deputy July 29 on east-bound I-94 near Dancer Road for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor. The man was stopped after a deputy witnessed his vehicle cross the fog line and ride along the shoulder of the road. The man told police he was coming from Little Portage Lake. He blamed his poor driving on his girlfriend, who he claimed slapped him several times. The woman, however, was suffering a nose bleed. She told police her boyfriend slammed her face against the window during a verbal argument in Jackson County. The man was arrested at 2 a.m. for drunken driving. His blood-alcohol level was tested at .13 percent, which is more than the legal limit. Jackson County Sheriff's Department will investigate the assault, which allegedly took place near Grass Lake.

Freedom Township

Warrant Arrest

Jason M. Wallen, 18, of Freedom Township was arrested in the 11500 block of Pheasant Shore Drive, Aug. 2. A sheriff's deputy was interviewing Wallen about a runaway when a computer check revealed the felony warrant for his arrest.

Runaway

A runaway was reported in the 11800 block of Pheasant Shore Drive, Aug. 2. A 37-year-old woman reported her foster daughter, 16, ran away from home. The girl, a student at Manchester High School, is reportedly involved with drugs and is a habitual runaway. The woman said the last time she saw the girl was when she packed a duffel bag on Aug. 2.

Larceny

Larceny was reported in the 11500 block of Pleasant Shore Drive, July 31. An 18-year-old woman told a sheriff's deputy she suspects a 19-year-old man of stealing nearly $600 worth of electronic equipment and compact discs from her vehicle. The woman's 1991 Ford Escort also sustained $100 in damage during the theft. The vehicle owner sus-

VIEWS ON DENTAL HEALTH

GARY GOCHANOUR, D.D.S.

TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE

There is a legal phrase: "Time is of the essence," which means there is no fooling around with dates in a contract. If your youngster accidentally gets a tooth knocked out and you'd like to give the dentist half a chance to successfully replant it - "time is also of the essence."

Take the typical case where a child gets his front tooth knocked out at a hockey game. He skates over and hands it to his parents and finishes the game. Later on - probably the next day - they'll go see a dentist. Too late, my friends. No chance for saving that tooth.

The proper reaction would be to take Johnnie - skates and all - immediately to the dentist. This is an emergency. A tooth replaced within 30 minutes has a 90% chance of being saved, but in two hours the success rate drops considerably.

To improve the chances of a successful replantation of a knocked-out tooth, rinse it in tap water (don't scrub it), replace it in its socket and have the patient hold it in place with his tongue on the way to the dentist.

Prepared by Custom Column Service as a public service to promote better dental health. From the office of:

Gary Gochanour, D.D.S., 3108 Baker Rd., Dexter

Structure Fire

A Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputy responded to a pole barn on fire in the 9800 block of Pleasant Lake Dr., July 24. The blaze totally destroyed the barn, two wagons, harvesting equipment and other machinery valued at more than $31,000. Manchester Fire Department also received the call. Lightning is believed to be the cause.

Webster Township

Larceny

Larceny was reported in the 7300 block of North Territorial Rd., July 25. A 32-year-old Dexter man told a sheriff's deputy 37 boxes of replacement blades for arrow heads and other bow hunting equipment were stolen from a barn. The victim, the former owner of a bow and arrow hunting business, said he was storing the items and hasn't checked on them in the past six weeks.

Assault and Battery

Assault and battery was reported in the 8700 block of Rolatic Drive, July 17. A 14-year-old Ypsilanti girl told a sheriff's deputy she was hanging out with a friend and some other people in Webster Township when a teen visiting from Alabama punched her in the face. The girl filed the report at the sheriff's department substation in Dexter. She said the 14-year-old boy gave her a bloody nose and swollen eye after they were joking around and she pretended to kick him. The boy told police, however, that the girl kicked him three times in the head when he started laughing at her. He said she challenged him to a fight. Witnesses told police they saw the girl kick the boy. All were drinking beer at the time of the incident.

Scio Township

Recovered Stolen Vehicle

A 1995 Saab reported stolen in Ann Arbor was recovered by a sheriff's deputy on Zeeb Road near Waters Road, July 31. A deputy was dispatched to the area at 10:20 p.m. for a crash, but the driver wasn't on the scene. The car's steering column was broken and the vehicle sustained front-end damage.

Dumping Complaint

A sheriff's deputy responded to the 700 block of Rose Street, Aug. 4, for a dumping complaint. A 39-year-old man told a sheriff's deputy someone dumped debris, including scrap metal and a chair, in his driveway. The incident occurred between 6 p.m. and 11:50 p.m. on Aug. 3. The Washtenaw County Road Commission was called to clean it up.

Warrant Arrest

Kevin C. Tate, 18, of Ypsilanti was arrested on a warrant by a sheriff's deputy on Liberty Road near Strieter Road, Aug. 1. Tate was a passenger in a vehicle stopped for defective equipment. A computer check revealed Tate was wanted in Ypsilanti Township for driving without a license.

Drunk Driving

A 46-year-old Onsted man was arrested by a sheriff's deputy on westbound I-94 near Zeeb Road for operating a motor vehicle under the influence, for having an unlawful blood-alcohol content and driving without an operator's license. The suspect was stopped for driving erratically. Police noticed he possessed signs of intoxication, including blood shot, watery eyes and he smelled of intoxicants. The man's blood-alcohol level was tested at .11 percent, which is more than the legal limit. The man admitted to drinking alcohol at home prior to driving.

Larceny

Larceny was reported in the 2600 block of Parkridge Road, July 30. A 51-year-old man told a sheriff's deputy someone stole a stereo system from his Dodge Ram van. The vehicle also sustained $20 in damage when the items, valued at $750, were stolen. The vehicle was parked in the driveway and left unlocked. The man's son told police he saw a scruffy-looking man rifling through the vehicle at about 7 a.m.

Larceny was reported in the 2600 block of Laurettide Road, July 29. A 35-year-old woman told a sheriff's deputy someone stole $800 worth of items from her vehicle. A cellular telephone, calculator and realtor key board were taken during the night. A briefcase stolen was recovered in a ditch by a neighbor.

Property Damage

Malicious destruction of property was reported at the Knights of Columbus park at 21-3 Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd., July 25. An 86-year-old man told a sheriff's deputy someone spray painted graffiti on two picnic tables, two rocks, a tree and trash dumpster. A total $500 in damages was reported.

Breaking and Entering/ Stolen Vehicle

A 35-year-old man told a sheriff's deputy someone broke into his home in the 4400 block of Corey Circle, July 28, and stole a company vehicle, two TVs and a VCR. The break-in occurred while the man and his family were on vacation between July 20 and July 28. A 1992 Ford Aerostar van owned by Coach's Carpet Care in Ann Arbor was stolen. The thief also caused $75,000 in damages by slashing furniture with a knife and spilling food and drink on the carpet. The victim's daughter suspects a 17-year-old Whitmore Lake boy, who knew the family would be out of town.

Housing plays major role in local, national economy

Housing is vital to the nation's economy. The building industry accounts for millions of jobs, about five percent of the gross domestic product and billions of dollars worth of goods, services, wages and taxes each year. It is essential to any economic recovery. "In fact, housing accounted for as much as 33 percent of the growth in gross domestic product during the early quarters of the current economic rebound," said Gilbert "Buzz" Silverman, president of the Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan and of The Silverman Companies in Farmington Hills.

Housing's contribution to the economy goes even further. According to a recent National Association of Home Builders survey, a family spends an average of $6,500 to furnish, decorate and improve its new home during the first year of ownership. "That means buyers of the 1.1 million new homes forecast to be built in 1996 will pour an estimated $7.15 billion into their local economies when they furnish and equip those homes," Silverman added.

Construction of 1,000 new single-family homes generates $60.5 million in wages and $33.2 million in federal, state and local taxes and fees while creating 2,097 worker-years of employment. Construction of 1,000 multi-family units generates 800 worker-years of employment, $23.3 million in wages and $15.8 million in federal, state and local taxes and fees. In 1994, the nation's home builders constructed a total of 1.45 million new homes, providing jobs for 2.7 million people and generating $78.3 billion in wages and $43.8 billion in tax revenues.

New home construction and remodeling typically account for between four and five percent of the total domestic economy — or about $250 billion a year. In 1994, home building and remodeling accounted for 4.3 percent of the U.S. gross domestic product.

"Because of the demand for new homes during the remainder of the decade, the housing industry will continue to play a crucial role in the nation's economy," he said. Between 1.3 and 1.5 million new homes, including multi-family units, will be needed annually to meet demand created by the formation of new households and the demand for trade-up homes.

Other growth sectors in the industry include senior housing and remodeling. The demand for housing for the senior population is projected to increase by 10 percent over the next decade with the double impact of the aging of the baby boom generation and the fact that people are living longer, healthier lives.

Similarly, the remodeling estimated at $116 billion in 1996 and $200 billion by the turn of the century. This trend is driven by a growing tendency to age in place and the aging of housing stock from a median age of 27 years in 1990 to 32 years by the end of the decade. In addition, by that same time, the sheer number of homes in the country will rise from more than 100 million to 110 million. Therefore, a large number of homes will need maintenance or renovation.

PDR decision expected soon

The Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners was expected to decide at Wednesday evening's meeting whether a county Purchasing Development Rights (PDR) proposal will go on the November general election ballot.

Washtenaw County Commissioner Joe Yekulis said he thought the ballot deadline was around Aug. 27 so a decision needed to be made. He also hinted that many townships are waiting for the county's decision.

"There would be a certain cause and effect," Yekulis said Tuesday afternoon. "I've been told if we do a countywide proposal at least one township will pull their support." Sylvan Township Supervisor Jerry Dresselhouse said the Sylvan Township board probably would not make a decision at Wednesday's meeting.

ing on whether a township PDR proposal will be on the ballot for township voters.

"Our board wants to wait to see what the county's decision is," Dresselhouse said Monday afternoon. "There's a lot of question marks. If the county goes forth we have to see what provisions there are to prevent a double-tax."

The Washtenaw County Clerk must be notified by late August if a township PDR proposal is to go on the ballot. Dresselhouse said a special township board meeting would need to be created soon since the next scheduled meeting isn't until Sept. 3.

Foundation has help for bedwetters

Bedwetting affects an estimated five to seven million children in the United States. Most children outgrow bedwetting eventually, but in many cases, children who wet the bed can develop low self-esteem and their families can become angry and frustrated because of the condition.

The National Kidney Foundation of Michigan aims to increase awareness of disorders that affect kidneys and urinary tract. If bedwetting is causing a family a great deal of trouble, there are several treatment approaches that can be used to help cure the problem. Successful bedwetting treatments include:

- Exercises to help improve bladder control;
- Changing a child's eating and drinking habits, for example, not allowing a child to drink a lot of fluid containing caffeine late at night; and
- Moisture alarms, which are set off when the child begins to wet the bed. These alarms wake the child to go to the bathroom.

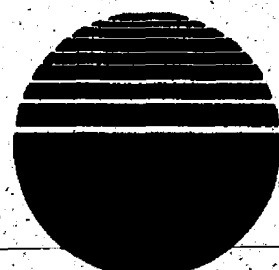

Bedwetting may be considered a problem if a child is six or seven years old and has never been able to stay dry overnight, or if the child or parents are troubled or frustrated by the bedwetting. For a free copy of the National Kidney Foundation's publication on bedwetting, call 1-800-482-1455.

Family Medicine

By John C. Wolf, D.O.
Associate Professor of Family
Medicine, Ohio University College of Osteopathic Medicine

Question: One of the common vacation spots my family goes to on the East Coast requires driving over one of the world's longest bridges. I always get scared and feel my palms sweat and my heart pound as we approach this huge bridge and go over it. I have a great sense of relief when we make it safely to the other side. What causes this feeling I have? It's not shared by other members of my family who love being up on this bridge, but I'm the one that usually does the driving!

Answer: The physical reaction of sweating palms, pounding heartbeat and a sense of foreboding are part of the normal "fight or flight" reaction to a stressful situation. We all get a similar response under the appropriate circumstances. I'm sure you felt this way the first time you took a driving test of did other important but stressful things.

From your question, it is apparent that you feel your reaction is unusual or perhaps inappropriate. I'm sure the bridge won't collapse just because you drive across it, and you know this too. Despite your intellectual understanding, the situation is still very stressful for you. Your response fits the classic definition of a phobia. Your mind says it's safe to cross the bridge, but your emotions tell you differently.

Phobias are the most common emotional problem. Studies have found between 2 to 13 percent of people have phobias of some sort, but I suspect the figures underestimate their prevalence since most people don't report episodes like yours. Phobias most commonly start in childhood or adolescence, and it's unusual for them to start after age 25. Statistically, about one-half of individuals with phobias have other psychiatric disorders such as depression or alcohol abuse, but I suspect these figures mainly reflect the difficulty we have in identifying those with phobias but without other psychiatric problems.

Phobias tend to be a lifelong problem. In severe cases, specific treatment can give great benefit, but for many sufferers this is impractical. Many choose to avoid the situation — like taking another route that avoids the bridge — rather than invest the time, money and effort in treatment. For others, specific behavioral therapy and occasional use of medication can give satisfactory relief.

Question: Although I experience similar fears when I'm near the edge of a cliff, or climbing up a tall ladder, I don't feel the same fear in an airplane. Why is this? It doesn't make sense to me.

Answer: You answered your own question without realizing it. Phobias never make sense. They are an emotional response that is contrary to your rational judgement. You have a fear of heights, not of flying, so flying seems like a safe activity.

It may be worth your time to see a psychologist or psychiatrist about your phobias if you find they interfere with your ability to do necessary activities. On the other hand, if your palms sweat and your heart pounds for only a few minutes each vacation, you may choose to do nothing. Just view the reaction as one of those wonderful idiosyncrasies that contributes to making you who you are.

Parker Mill county park reopens after construction

Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission has announced that the entire Parker Mill County Park complex is open, including the bridge crossing at the Huron River to Gallup Park.

Parker Mill, a restored 19th century grist mill, is a 28-acre park site on Geddes Road, just east of Dixboro Road, between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti. This popular park site is host to family reunions, individuals and families looking for a beautiful and serene nature experience, as well as for more active persons such as runner/joggers, walkers and bicyclists.

The park re-opened in June following completion of three construction components including a new visitor's center, a mile long wheelchair/stroller accessible boardwalk, and a bituminous path. The visitor's center is complete with a water fountain and wheelchair accessible restrooms. The visitor's center also hosts an outdoor information center detailing the Hoyt Garrod Post boardwalk and nature trails, as well as the Parker family history, for whom the park and mill are named.

Another significant addition is the new bituminous path running through Parker Mill County Park to Gallup Park, via the previously closed bridge over the Huron River. The bridge, set in place in January of this year, connects the two parks into one continuous loop for jogging, walking or bicycling.

Fall weekends in September and October the Parker Mill grist mill will be open for milling demonstrations and tours. For times and dates, please call Jan at 313-971-6337. Free brochures are also available by calling the same.

Parker Mill County Park is open on a daily basis with summer hours of 8 a.m.-8 p.m. with winter hours of 8 a.m.-6 p.m.

Farm Bureau Fun Facts

Michigan farmers grow about 1,000 acres of wine grapes. Vinifera and French-American hybrids are the two primary types of wine grapes grown in the state. Michigan ranks number six in the nation in wine output.

Whole wheat bread can be a healthy addition to your diet. It's a good source of fiber and has more vitamins than even enriched white bread. But be aware that a darker color doesn't necessarily mean that bread is made from the whole grain.

Michigan's red tart cherry crop is forecast to be down over 40 percent from last year's large harvest, but there will still be plenty of cherries for pies and other desserts. Farmers expect to harvest 180 million pounds of cherries this year, compared to 310 million pounds in 1995. The red tart cherry season was slowed by cool spring weather and a shortage of bees for pollination. Michigan is by far the leading red tart cherry state, accounting for almost three-quarters of the nation's output. Southeast Michigan, the Saginaw Valley and the Thumb produce more than 90 percent of the sugar beets grown east of the Mississippi. Not all sugar beets are processed into sugar. Beet pulp is used as cattle feed, and molasses is used to make citric acid, vinegar, yeast and antibiotics.

Everybody's Science

By Jill Lee

Love french fries but need to cut back on the fat? A U.S. Department of Agriculture researcher has an idea for an alternative — fries made from rice.

Ranjit Kadan, a food scientist, is using finely ground rice flour to make fries that have 25 to 50 percent less fat than regular fries.

Kadan suggests subtle differences in the chemical makeup of rice may be why it absorbs less oil during frying. He is working to discover exactly why in a laboratory at the Southern Regional Research Center operated by the Agricultural Research Service in New Orleans.

When fried, the new fries are crispy on the outside and fluffy white on the inside. "We can fortify it with protein, vitamins and minerals to make an even more nutritious, wholesome food," Kadan says.

How do the fries taste? "Rice has a very mild taste and you can flavor the fries with onions or spices," he says.

As to when the rice fries could be on the market, that depends on someone developing a commercial production process. A food processor, Rishelco, Inc. in Crowley, La., is looking into the possibility of a new product.

Pinckney residents graduate from GVS

Among the graduates at Grand Valley State University are three Pinckney residents.

Carrie Blanchard, Kaye Krolewski and Melissa Watkins earned bachelor's degrees at the conclusion of the winter semester.

Kadan notes that rice is part of the bread and cereal food group that federal dietary guidelines recommend as the main staple of a diet. Those guidelines also encourage consumers to get less than 30 percent of daily calories from fat. (Agricultural Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture).

The Way It Was

One of the earliest woman's clubs

By Kathy Clark
Special Writer

The Cytherean Circle was one of Chelsea's earliest women's clubs, founded in 1908. It was a group of 16 ladies who met every Friday afternoon for a social gathering. They divided into groups of four to play cards, croquet and then share an evening meal. Each of the groups entertained once a month.

A few of the charter members (two with croquet mallets) identified in the above photo are Mrs. Chase, Mrs. Avry, Mrs. Hammond, Nellie Hall, Pearl Vogel, Mrs. Walworth, Mrs. Clarence Maroney, Mrs. Bacon, Mrs. H. W. Schmidt, Nina Crowell and Mrs. McLaren.

The Victorian period (1880-1910) was the most important time period in the development of the Village of Chelsea. Through a process of change in the areas of transportation, industry, population growth, and socio-economic activities, Chelsea was transformed from an agricultural community to an industrial town. Chelsea was a dominant economic force in western Washtenaw County.

During the late 1890s and early 1900s a strong temperance movement was taking place. The village was never able to pass temperance laws, but in 1907 they succeeded in passing an ordinance against gambling in the village. It is my guess that at least some of the Cythereans were involved in these movements.

The Cytherean Circle was likely made up of the wives of prospering Chelsea businessmen who lived in the village. Technological advances were happening at the time, like electricity and telephones, and the ladies could plan their meetings easily.

The club observed their 50th anniversary in 1958 and members present at a dinner at Schumm's Restaurant were: Miss Nina Crowell (only surviving charter member in 1958), Mrs. D. R. Hoppe, Mrs. Walter Pielemer, Mrs. D. A. Riker, Mrs. Henry Schneider, Mrs. Alice Roedel, Mrs. Otto Luick, Mrs. M. J. Baxter, Mrs. Harold Spaulding, Mrs. William Geddes, Mrs. Otto Hinderer, Mrs. Chandler Rogers, Miss Nina Belle Wurster and Miss Marian Schmidt. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maroney and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bacon, children of two charter members.

A few other Chelsea women's clubs in existence by 1959 and their charter dates are: Woman's Relief Corps (1890); Olive Chapter No. 108, O.E.S. (1893); Olive Chapter No. 140, R.A.M. (1900); Chelsea Rebekah Lodge No. 130 (1918); The Women's Club of Chelsea (1931); Chelsea Girl Scouts (1932); Chelsea Child Study Club (1935); Ladies' Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars (1945); Modern Mothers Child Study Club (1953); Pythian Sisters changed to The Friendly Club in 1957; Herbert J. McKune Post 31 Auxiliary (1933).

Townships push for area fire department

Representatives of Lyndon, Lima and Sylvan Townships made the case for an area-wide fire department at the Wednesday, July 31 Chelsea Area Planning Team meeting, and Chelsea Village President Richard Steele seemed amenable to the idea in the long-term.

George Coash, Lyndon Township ordinance officer, voiced concerns about the current system of fire service, saying that up to half Lyndon Township's budget was consumed by fire expenses, while the township lacked any ownership in the fire department.

"We spend a tremendous amount of money on that fire department, yet we have literally no voice in it," he said.

Currently, the Chelsea Fire Department serves Chelsea Village and contracts with the surrounding townships.

Sylvan Township Supervisor Jerry Dresselhouse advocated extensively for an area-wide service which would be funded and controlled through a coalition of Chelsea and the surrounding townships.

Dresselhouse said that the townships ultimately paid up to 75 percent of the Chelsea fire budget but were still at risk because Chelsea could decide to discontinue contracting out its fire department at any time.

Steele said he understood the concern but could not foresee a time when the village would turn its back on the townships in terms of ending fire service.

Dresselhouse went on to assert that billing for fire service, now inefficient and time-consuming, could be streamlined through an area-wide department that would coordinate billing policies.

Further, Dresselhouse urged locating fire substations in the townships for more efficient and timely service.

An area-wide fire agreement, Dresselhouse said, would allow better long-term planning for the location of substations, purchase of equipment, building, etc.

Lima Township Supervisor Bill Van Riper agreed that planning substations would be an important benefit.

"I think the reason for the area-wide is, you need somebody to make decisions about where the substations are going to be," Van Riper said.

The Lima supervisor went on to ask Steele whether the village would be open to an area-wide fire service.

Steele was guardedly positive about dispersing village control over the fire department in the long term.

"I think it's possible. I don't know as it's possible right now. I think it's possible down the road, maybe not that far away. I don't really think it's that far away, but it's not going to happen in the next two or three months, I'm sure," Steele said.

Kids shine at 4-H Youth Show

By Michelle Rogers
Associate Editor

Summer is usually a relaxed time of year when families go on vacation and children find things to occupy their time.

But the competition heats up in this area come mid-July and early-August as many area residents prepare for the annual Washtenaw County 4-H Youth Show.

Held last week on the Washtenaw County Farm Council Grounds near Saline, over 800 youth from all over the county participated this year. A large majority are from this area, represented by such clubs as Cloverleaf Lane, Rogers Corners Herdsmen, Goats 'R Us, Blue Ribbon Livestock and Jolly Ranchers, among many others.

"I would say we had a phenomenal year," said Roxie Wesolowski, the former coordinator for Rogers Corners Herdsmen whose two children are involved in the club. "The kids worked hard and their work paid off," she observed.

The club, with over 50 members representing Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester and Saline, won several championship ribbons. Jamie Powers captured grand champion individual in the swine category; Valerie Schiller won grand champion poultry; Brian Schiller won reserve grand champion poultry; Melissa Bycraft won reserve grand champion steer; Stephanie Wesolowski won grand champion market heifer and reserve champion pair of sheep; Josh Hofing won reserve champion individual for sheep and grand champion pair; and Cassie Palmer won grand champion individual for sheep.

Like Rogers Corners, Blue Ribbon Livestock 4-H Club specializes in livestock. Leader Barb Baldus said all 28 members, representing Dexter, Whitmore Lake, Pinckney and Ann Arbor, showed livestock. Steve Farha earned the championship title in poultry showmanship. Many others took home second and third place ribbons.

"They always have a good time out there. I like it because there are no carnival rides and the kids have to entertain themselves with their animals," Baldus said about the local show.

Baldus said things begin to heat up for local 4-Hers a few months before the event. "We don't do too much after the fair. We do a lot of our work after starting up in the winter and just before the show."

Cloverleaf Lane club members brought home a slew of awards for their exhibits at the fair. A total of 51 honors, eight best of show and two state fair winners were produced at the Youth Show.

"It was phenomenal," observed Debbie Luckhardt, the club's leader.

Other highlights for Cloverleaf Lane, which mainly consists of Dexter and Chelsea youth, were in livestock categories. Debbie Poet, 9, won young goat showmanship; Katrina Luckhardt, 15, won grand champion jersey cow; and club members with llamas cleaned up in the showmanship and public relations categories.

Cloverleaf Lane club members Jon Herrst of Chelsea and Amy Fink of Dexter were also named 4-H ambassadors.

Katrina Luckhardt of Dexter has been showing animals since she was eight years old.

"It was interesting to me so I wanted to try it," is how she says she got started seven years ago. Luckhardt has since

Common sells downtown market

By Scott Bishop
Staff Writer

The Common Market, prominent in downtown Chelsea on the northeast corner of intersecting Main and Park Streets, is in the process of being sold.

Owner Craig Common is selling the store in order to focus his full attention on the Common Grill restaurant he owns on the opposite side of Main Street.

"I'm a restaurant guy. It's my life, my love and that's what I want to concentrate on," Common said.

Splitting time between overseeing his two businesses since the fall 1994 opening of the Common Market was problematic, the owner said. The Common Grill restaurant opened in July of 1991.

"I'm a restaurateur. I can't spend enough time to nurture and develop (the Common Market). I underestimated the amount of time that was really needed to make sure it was going in the right direction.

"It's no different than any other business. You've got to be there to feel out what the customers are looking for. I just wasn't able to spend enough time (at the Market) because of the restaurant," Common said.

Noting that he had no experience in retail prior to opening the Common Market, the restaurateur continued.

"If (the Common Market) was a restaurant, it would be easier to split my time, because I can analyze and really look at things (in a restaurant).

"But looking at something I've never been involved in before, it's hard to analyze, find the right mix," Common said.

Selling the market, Common explained, didn't diminish his satisfaction with the business he's run since replacing Schneider's Grocery nearly two years ago.

"I feel good about what we did here, and what we're doing here. I think it's the right niche.

"I think it's real important to have a market like this in downtown Chelsea. I really do. I think it's a foot traffic builder. People like to come in here. So I'm certainly not disappointed in that aspect of it. I just think it's time to move on," Common said.

If all goes according to plan, the business will remain as the common market for up to three months, until the legal transfer of licenses confirms the ownership switch from Common to the O'Sullivan family.

The O'Sullivans have owned and operated Ann Arbor Food and Drug Mart since 1950, and also own and operate Ann Arbor Food Mart and Lodi Food Mart.

Jim O'Sullivan said that the Common Market was an "attractive business in an attractive community," explaining the family's desire to purchase it. "We've always liked Chelsea," he said.

The prospective owner said the future store, while not called the Common Market, would be similar, carrying a few more grocery items but retaining a commitment to high quality meat and produce.

Common said he was pleased that the O'Sullivans, life-long grocers, would be taking over the downtown site.

"That's the other thing. I feel good about, is I'm turning it over to somebody that knows the business.

"So I'm not selling it to somebody who's going to change it into something different. I feel good about that," Common said.

Further, Common indicated that he had future plans for the Common Grill.

Over the next year, the restaurateur plans to either expand the restaurant into the current buildings second story or use the second story for a different venture, mentioning jazz performances on weekends as a possibility.

Committee studying several sites for new village office complex

A committee appointed by the Chelsea Village Council is meeting to study possible sites for a new village hall and how inclusive the new facility should be.

Village council members have voiced differing opinions about whether a new village hall needs to be a complex coordinating various agencies of Chelsea government like the DPW.

The committee, chaired by public safety coordinator Mike Foster and including restoration contractor Jim Myles, businessmen Paul Frisinger and Ed Greenleaf, assistant

About the Outdoors

by Jerry D. Posey

Antlerless deer licenses available Aug. 10

The Department of Natural Resources has traditionally opened the application period for antlerless deer licenses on Aug. 1. However, this year the start will be delayed until Aug. 10 so the DNR has time to complete necessary computer software changes for this program. These changes will simplify the application process for some applicants and will provide more information for the customer on the receipt. These changes should not affect the sale of other licenses or applications.

The new computerized licensing system has been very successful in its first year of operation. These changes are part of an ongoing effort to make improvements to the system that will benefit the hunters and anglers, the license agents and the DNR.

This delay should have minimal impact on applicants. Most applications are received by the DNR during the last two weeks of the application period. Of the 382,700 applications received last year, only 4,200 were made during the first 10 days of the program.

Even with a delay in the start of the application period, hunters will have more than application. The deadline for six weeks to submit their applications is September 24.

Free mouth guards offered

The University of Michigan School of Dentistry will offer free, customized athletic mouth guards to elementary, junior high, high school and college students. Impressions will be made 9 a.m.-noon Aug. 10 at the Mouth Guard Clinic, third floor, School of Dentistry Building.

The impression process takes about 10 minutes once you reach the chair, although there is usually a 30- to 45-minute wait before you can be seated, depending on the crowd. The finished guards will be available for fitting and pickup about two hours after the impressions. No appointments are necessary. Students will be taken "first come, first served," while supplies last. The clinic will be able to make 125 mouth guards.

U-M faculty members, dental students and local dentists will make the protective mouth guards that are required for most student athletes.

"A U-M School of Dentistry study shows that the customized mouth guards are considerably more comfortable than those bought in stores," said William C. Godwin, U-M professor of dentistry and specialist in sports dentistry. "When we surveyed the men's and women's lacrosse teams at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School, 34 of 38 players preferred the customized mouth guards made at the clinic to those available in stores. The more comfortable the guards are, the more likely students are to wear them."

Dexter Community Schools Public Hearing to Solicit Input on School Breakfast

On July 1, 1996, according to State mandate, the Dexter Community Schools held a public hearing to solicit community input concerning the implementation of a School Breakfast Program (SBP). Section 380.1272 of the School Code, amended in December 1993, requires that breakfast be made available in all K-12 public school buildings during the school year. Districts that claim less than 20% of their enrollment eligible for free or reduce - priced lunches may opt to conduct a public hearing to determine the community need or desire to have breakfast served in school. Information was provided to the Board of Education about government regulations, reimbursement rates, typical menus, and estimated cost of operation for SBP by Catherine Durocher, Director of Food and Nutrition Services for the district.

No public comments were received by the Board of Education. The Board of Education voted to not begin a School Breakfast Program for the 1996-97 school year.

SHARON TOWNSHIP PLANNING COMMISSION

Public Hearing and Meeting

On Thursday, August 15, 1996, at 8:00 pm EDT, at the Sharon Township Hall, 18010 Pleasant Lake Road, the Sharon Township Planning Commission will hold a Public Hearing to hear comments on the following proposals:

1. An application by Michael and Danielle McLennan of 10710 M-52, Manchester, for a Special Use Permit to operate a landscape business as a Home Occupation Category II, involving the sale of topsoil and the growing of trees and shrubs for sale, at that address, part of Property ID 15-35-400-005, in the SE 1/4 of Sec. 35. The property is zoned R-2 (Low density residential).
2. An application by Doug Jones of Saline, Michigan, to re-zone the northernmost 6.77 acres of a property in the SE 1/4 of Sec. 35, part of Property ID 15-35-400-005, from AG-1 to R-2, preparatory to developing a larger property of which the subject property is part as a low-density site condominium.

Written comments may be sent to Roger Kappler, Chairman, Sharon Township Planning Commission, 19163 Bethel Church Road, Manchester, Michigan 48158, and must be received by August 14, 1996.

The Sharon Township Zoning Ordinance, and the above applications, may be reviewed, and the Ordinance purchased, by appointment through Duane Haselschwerdt, Sharon Township Clerk. Call 428-7733.

The regular meeting of the Commission will commence immediately following the Public Hearing.

The almighty "Trophy Buck." That's what every deer hunter is looking for, right? Many hunters have the feeling that the buck is smarter than the doe, since they are seen less often in the wild, and seem to be harder to score on. I don't believe this is true, and if you will bear with me I will explain why I feel this way.

First of all, the buck is not smarter, just sneakier; he has to be to survive. Many times a doe will counter a hunter or group of hunters in the woods and they let her go along her way undisturbed, or perhaps they just frighten her a little.

After a while the doe becomes accustomed to this and does not always bolt for the heavy stuff at the first sign of man, or head for the impenetrable swamp as soon as she hears a car door slam.

But let a well-antlered buck wander carelessly within range of a group of armed hunters and what happens? The woods suddenly explode with the sound of very much gunfire and the air around him fills with lead. This continues until all weapons are emptied of their noisy ammunition. Do you think that big fellow isn't going to relate this disturbance to the presence of man in his domain? He surely will, and before it happens many times if he makes it through a few of these scary happenings.

The deer does not know what is actually happening, after all, he doesn't know what a gun is, or what it means to be shot at, but he does know that every time he gets around man, hears certain sounds, or smells certain odors and something jumps out of the brush and scares heck out of him. So before long, he is alerted by these things, and he will change directions to avoid them. When this happens he is never seen by the offending hunter.

The doe, being less frightened by this type of thing in the past, since it has not always brought on the same action, continues on her merry way and is possibly seen by the hunter. Thus, more does are seen on an outing than are bucks.

Another point to be mentioned, all does are not created equal. Each group of deer in an area will have one that seems to be the leader. This is the dominate doe and she is usually the matriarch, the oldest of the group and the mother of most of them. The rest are her offspring, the results of several years of birthing.

This group of followers can, and usually does, consist of younger does along with several younger bucks that are not yet ready to take on the world on their own. The old doe will let them stay with the rest of her group as long as they show no sign of dominance. When this happens she will drive them off to live alone or with other young bucks about their same age.

The old doe, if she is in good health, will probably give birth to at least twins. Sometimes triplets are born to a healthy mature doe that has had a good diet.

A full-grown doe requires about 10-12 pounds of food each day, so it is the duty of the dominant doe to lead her group from one feed area to another to assure they all get enough to eat.

The old doe leads her group to the heavy cover when it is necessary and to food and water when it is desired. The dominant doe seems to be more alert than most in the small herd, and is usually the one to sound the alert at the first sign of danger, if not she soon takes charge and will be followed by most of the other deer if it is necessary to flee.

The doe will use her very acute sense of smell along with her well developed hearing to keep her group out of trouble. This is not because she has any great feeling of protection owed to the others, she is just looking out for herself and this year's fawns, but from past experience the others have learned to respect her actions and will usually act as she does.

She has learned to use the wind direction when picking a spot for the group to bed down in, and will position herself where she can either see, hear, or smell in all directions while the group relaxes and chew their cud or take an occasional cat nap. When the herd is up and moving around, she will usually lead them into the wind whenever it is possible.

The deer's eyesight is also very good, much better than man's, but it is motion the deer usually detects that gives the hunter away, since the deer is color blind and cannot distinguish colors. To a deer everything is just various shades of grey and black.

The dominant doe learns to listen to the sounds of the other woods' creatures for signals to let her know what is going on in other parts of the woods, the other deer will wait for her to make a move, then they will follow, seldom pausing to question her decision. When the boss doe gives her snort to alert the herd of danger, it is like the coach of a well-disciplined team yelling, "Move!"

Everybody moves. Some of them don't know where they are going or why they are moving, but you can bet, they all move. The deer act in the same manner, they all move, then when they feel safe they regroup and return to normal actions.

As the weather cools and the fall season arrives, the food supply for the deer changes, and this is the time of year that the habits of the bucks get them into big trouble.

The time of the rut, the breeding season for most deer. It is the only time of the year that this overly cautious animal lets his guard down.

He doesn't eat much, he doesn't sleep much, and all he has on his mind is that sexy long-legged little doe in the next woods. It is this time of the year the dominant doe helps to keep him out of trouble and alive.

It is a known fact that the normally wise old buck is at his weakest defense during the rutting season, so it is a good thing the still cautious, dominant doe and her side kicks are there to warn him of the many dangers that he has put out of his mind at this time of carelessness.

So to end, I will only say, the next time you start talking about the wise old buck that got away, give a little thought to the wise old doe that taught him every thing he knows.

Local kids shine in Youth Fair

shown beef, dairy, swine, sheep and llamas. "Every time I win it's pretty much a big highlight for me," she said.

Over the years, Luckhardt has captured titles in such categories as grand champion pig, grand champion market heifer, grand champion jersey (four consecutive years) and three best of show in crafts.

Luckhardt says she would recommend joining 4-H to area youngsters. "Especially for the younger and shy kids because it makes them more talkative. It gets them involved," she said.

"I am an animal person. That's the best part for me. I like watching them grow," she said.

Luckhardt plans to continue showing animals through her senior year at Dexter High School. She says some years it's hard for her to sell the livestock at the annual auction, but other years it's not so bad.

Goats 'R Us club members don't have to worry about selling off their animals come the end of the fair. But they do have to watch their steps during judging.

This year, the kids pulled it off with a spectacular showing in many events. Megan Schuchman won four first place ribbons, a second place ribbon and boasted a champion goat and reserve champion goat. Fellow club member Julie Taylor took second place in intermediate showmanship, buck kid and doe kid, fourth place in whether confirmation and third place in doe kid; Kelsey Benton captured second place in junior showmanship and fourth in aged doe; Tony Bogdanski won third place in junior showmanship and whether confirmation; and John Cramer captured second place in young showmanship. As a club, Goats 'R Us captured first place in club herd.

Megan Schuchman, 13, has been a member of the club for five years.

"My mom thought it would be a good idea to get some animals and join 4-H, and it sounded like fun," is how Schuchman described her introduction to the organization. Over the years she has brought home eight showmanship titles and one grand champion.

Schuchman's mother, Sue Cramer of Dexter, has been the club's leader the past four years.

"I think it's a kind of generational thing. That's one of the reasons why I got my kids involved, because I was involved," she said.

"The kids all have a general love of animals, and it's a good way to get out there and meet other kids."

Among other things, Cramer said youngsters learn about responsibility, sportsmanship, teamwork and respect for others. Her group meets up to two times a week during the summer in preparation for the fair.

Jolly Ranchers, which exclusively shows horses, consists of 22 youth representing Dexter and Ann Arbor. It has been around 15 years, which is more than twice of Goats 'R Us' life span.

Highlights for Jolly Ranchers included Sarah Stella's grand championship showmanship title; Amy Wilson's gymkhana championship title; and Peter Rykowski's fourth place ribbon in one of the more difficult jumping categories. Many others took home first and second place prizes.

Leader Jenny Rykowski says many of the club's members, ranging in ages from eight to 19, do it because they enjoy horses. "They love horses in this particular club," she said. "It gives them an opportunity to go to a fair and show what they've worked on the whole year."

For the first time this year, Jolly Ranchers had one member participate in the Walk-Trot program, two in the Protégé program and 12 members participated in showing all week.

Baldus, a 4-H leader for three decades, recognizes there aren't as many farm kids anymore. But she says those out there participate for the same reasons and learn the same things taught many years ago.

"They learn responsibility. That's what I like to see, especially in my grandchildren. The responsibility of raising them and handling the money if they get a buyer," she said.

Many of the teens use the money they earn at the auction to invest in their future. Some save for college and others save for a home or to buy land.

—Libby Tomshany—

Libby Tomshany of Dexter, a member of Jolly Ranchers, is pictured with her horse, Glory Standard. They earned first, second and fifth places and honorable mention in the showmanship championships at the Washtenaw County 4-H Youth Show held last week.

—Steve Farha—

Steve Farha of Pinckney, a member of Blue Ribbon Livestock, is pictured at the Washtenaw County 4-H Youth Show with his third-place market hogs. Rocky and Bullwinkle weigh in at 240 and 210 pounds. The event was held last week on Farm Council Grounds near Saline.

—Kate Huehl—

Notice of Public Hearing on the Desirability of Implementing a Recycling and Resource Recovery System

TO THE OWNERS OF ANY LANDS WITHIN THE PROPERTY DESCRIBED BELOW AND ALL OTHER INTERESTED PARTIES:
PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the Board of Public Works of the County of Washtenaw has declared its intention to continue to implement the following resource recovery system:

A recycling collection and processing system which includes recycling drop off stations, and intermediate materials processing center and educational programs to serve Townships of Bridgewater, Dexter, Lima, Lyndon, Manchester, and Sylvan, all of which is hereafter referred to as the "project," and has tentatively designated a special assessment district against which all or a part of the cost of the project is to be assessed, which district consists of the following lands:

All tax parcels identified as having a household or households located within the Townships of Bridgewater, Dexter, Lima, Lyndon, Manchester, and Sylvan within Washtenaw County, excluding those tax parcels located within the incorporated limits of the Villages of Chelsea and Manchester.

The above properties are located within the boundaries of the Special Assessment District shown on the sketch on the reverse side.

Each parcel identified above will be annually assessed seventeen ($17.00) for each household located on the parcel for a five year period. A report describing the project including program elements and cost estimates has been prepared and is on file with the Washtenaw County Director of Public Works. The report is available for public examination at the Division of Public Works office, County Courthouse Annex Building, 110 N. Fourth Avenue, Suite 200, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48107. To ask questions or obtain information on the project, please call (313) 994-2398.

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Board of Public Works will meet on Wednesday, August 14, 1996 at 8:00 p.m., (E.D.T.), or as soon thereafter as may be heard, at the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority, Materials Recovery Facility, 8027 Werkner Road, Chelsea, Michigan for the purpose of hearing all interested parties concerning the project and the special assessment district.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the owner or any person having an interest in property that is specially assessed may file a written appeal with the Michigan Tax Tribunal within 30 days after confirmation of the special assessment roll. However, appearance and protest at the public hearing on the special assessment roll are required in order to appeal the special assessment to the Michigan Tax Tribunal. An owner or a party in interest or his or her agent may (1) appear in person at the hearing to protest the special assessment or (2) file his or her appearance or protest by letter before the close of the hearing. The Board of Public Works shall maintain a record of parties who appear to protest at the hearing. If the hearing is terminated or adjourned for the day before a party is provided the opportunity to be heard, a party whose appearance was recorded shall be considered to have protested the special assessment in person.

Farm Bureau Fun Facts

The United Nations estimates that by the year 2050, the world's population will swell to 9.4 billion people from the current 5.7 billion. The U.N. says the world will have to come up with 75 percent more food to feed the masses. Overall, world food supplies have doubled in the last 40 years and that trend will have to continue. The report said Asian countries will have to increase food production by 69 percent and Latin American and Caribbean countries will have to increase production by 80 percent, while North America will have to increase food production by 30 percent to meet the needs of growing populations.

Some cuts of chicken contain as much or more fat than leaner cuts of beef. Skinless baked chicken thigh contains 7 grams of fat per 3-ounce serving, while the same size broiled round steak has 4 grams of fat.

Freezing can extend life of fruit, vegetables

Remember how in January you dreamed of July's strawberry shortcake and August's corn on the cob? Summer is prime time for most fruits and vegetables, offering garden-fresh produce with the best color, texture, flavor and nutrition. You don't have to give up summer's abundance at the end of the season, however, if you take action during the height of the harvest.

Freezing fresh fruits and vegetables offers a safe and economical way to keep summer's variety and freshness around all year. Home freezing also allows you to control the salt, sugar and fat content of food and package it in sizes that make sense for your family.

While almost any fruit or vegetable can be frozen for later use, you'll have the most success with vegetables that are served cooked. Equally important is to choose produce at the height of ripeness and to wash it thoroughly. Avoid peeling and chopping produce more than necessary, as exposure to oxygen can cause fruits and vegetables to lose nutrients.

Raw vegetables should be briefly steamed, then submerged in cold water ("blanched") before freezing. This step will deactivate the enzymes that assist in the ripening process and will help vegetables retain nutrients and color. Seal them immediately afterward in airtight containers or plastic zipper bags and freeze. Vegetables used to season stocks and stews, such as onions and green peppers, do not have to be blanched before freezing.

Fruit can be frozen without any preparation beyond washing, cutting and sealing in airtight containers. Since the texture will be soft upon thawing, however, it is better to use this method for fruit that will eventually be cooked. Juicy fruits like peaches and other pie fruits can also be covered with fruit juice and sealed in an airtight container to retain the most flavor and texture.

To make frozen produce even more convenient, place fruits and blanched vegetables on a cookie sheet and allow pieces to freeze without touching. Once frozen, transfer to airtight containers. Drop handfuls of frozen broccoli, peas, etc. into a bowl of low-fat, low-sodium canned soup and heat to boost nutrients and fiber. Puree some frozen raspberries for a fresh, delicious dessert sauce packed with vitamin C.

Frozen fruit and vegetables should not be relegated to the category of mere "convenience food." Nutritional studies have shown that frozen vegetables can retain as many or more vitamins and nutrients as their raw counterparts. Avoid losing nutrients and crispness when cooking previously frozen vegetables by steaming them briefly over the stove or in the microwave with a minimal amount of added water.

While freezing can extend the life of fresh fruits and vegetables long beyond their normal shelf lives, it does not mean they can be left in your freezer forever. Put a date on all containers to serve as a reminder of how long the food has been frozen. Vegetables can remain in the freezer for between six and 12 months after freezing for optimum quality.

mended by the American Institute for Cancer Research, send a stamped (55 cents postage), self-addressed #10 envelope to the American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. AP, Washington, D.C., 20088.

The Multilakes Water and Sewer Authority is seeking contractors interested in performing construction of final connections to the new low pressure sanitary sewer system currently being installed to serve the area surrounding Silver, Halfmoon, Blind and North Lakes in Dexter and Lyndon Townships, Washtenaw County. The work will be performed under contract to individual home or business owners and will probably entail some or all of the following tasks:

- Obtain permits from and schedule inspections by the Multilake Authority and the Washtenaw County Department of Environment and Infrastructure.
- Disconnect the drain connection from the existing septic system, reconnect the drain to a new grinder pumping station which has already been installed by others, and remove or abandon the septic tank and drain field.
- Reroute the waste backwash/regeneration water from the water softener to an alternate point of disposal.
- Restore the surface as required by the property owner.

Interested contractors may request to have their name placed onto a list which will be made available to the public by the Sewer Authority to assist property owners in procuring this construction effort. Prior to listing, contractors will be required to provide proof of general liability, automobile liability and workers compensation insurance in the form of certificates to be issued in the name of the Multilake Authority, and attend a brief training and indoctrination session.

If you are interested, please contact the Multilakes Water and Sewer Authority at 313-426-9797 for more information. One hour training/indoctrination sessions will be held at 9:00 a.m., Tuesday, August 13, 1996, and again at 3:30 p.m., Wednesday August 14, 1996, at the Dexter Township Hall, 6880 Dexter-Pinckney in Dexter Township.

MDNR plans two August meetings

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources will hold two public informational meetings in August.

Recreational users, neighbors, and other interested people are invited to participate. The purpose will be to listen to concerns and answer questions about the management and use of state-owned areas.

The first meeting will be held at the Norvell Township Hall, 106 E. Commercial St.

on Aug. 19. Discussions will focus on the Sharonville State Game Area.

On Aug. 21, a meeting is scheduled at the Waterloo Township Hall. This session will address concerns on the Waterloo Recreation Area.

Both meetings will start at 7 p.m. For more information, contact Bruce Baker, Wildlife Technician, at the Waterloo Wildlife Field Office. The telephone number at the field office is 517-522-4097.

Accelerated reader tests available at South Meadows

South Meadows Elementary School third- through fifth-graders may take accelerated reader tests on Tuesday, Aug. 13 from 1-3 p.m. and Thursday, Aug. 15 from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

For more information call Media Specialist Laurel McDonald at (517) 522-8355.

Chelsea schools await proficiency exam results

This coming fall's Chelsea High School seniors were among the first to take the Michigan Proficiency Exams, administered this past spring.

Eleventh-graders take the test, and must achieve a threshold score determined by the State Board of Education in order to graduate with a state-endorsed diploma.

Students who do not achieve proficiency as juniors have the opportunity to retake the exam as seniors.

While Chelsea High School has not yet received a report on how its students scored on the new exam, a preliminary state-wide sampling provided the State Board of Education two weeks ago indicated that less than half of Michigan's high school juniors scored high enough to receive a state-endorsed diploma.

The sampling surveyed approximately 20,000 student exams from among roughly 100,000 total students.

The survey indicated that 48 percent of students achieved proficiency in math, 41 percent in reading and 31 percent in science and in writing.

State officials have downplayed the importance of the scores, predicting that proficiency exam scores will rise as curriculums begin to reflect the purposes of the test and teachers and students become more familiar with it.

Chelsea High School expects to receive its students' scores no earlier than Aug. 24 and likely later, according to counselor and testing coordinator Sue Carter.

—Great American Folk Dance—

John Walker (back in photo) of Chelsea has been teaching children in Chelsea Community Hospital's summer daycare program about American folk dancing. He is a folk dance caller and has been teaching styles such as the Southern Big Circle, Contra and Play Party styles. Walker, who works at the Chelsea Arbor Treatment Center, will be leading two dance programs in Chelsea Community Education this fall.

Arts Council awards grants

Washtenaw Council for the Arts, which serves as a regional regrating agency for the mini-grant program of the Michigan Council for the Arts and Cultural Affairs, has announced that five applicants were selected for funding for the first round of 1997 Mini-Grants.

The five grant recipients include Young People's Theater for a "Theater-Reach at Carpenter Elementary" ($800), the University of Michigan for an "Exhibition of Art by Michigan Prisoners" ($1500), Whitmore Lake Middle School for "Beginning Guitar/Popular & Ethnic Music" ($700), Birmingham-Bloomfield Symphony Orchestra for "Bach to Rock" at Howell Public Schools ($1500) and Monroe Public Schools for "Detroit Storyliving Educational Project" ($1000). The total amount awarded is $5,500.

The mini-grant program offers matching grants to organizations in Livingston, Monroe and Washtenaw counties presenting arts projects responding to local needs. The maximum amount an organization may receive is $2,000. Any Michigan non-profit organization, institution, school, association or local government agency may apply. Grants are not awarded to individuals. Application packets, including an application form, instructions and program guidelines are available upon request.

Anyone who would like a packet or would like to register for the Aug. 31 workshop taking place between 10 a.m. and noon, should call WCA at (313) 484-4882. The next deadline for minigrant applications is Oct. 11 for projects taking place between Feb. 1 and May 31.

An application has been filed by James Machnik of 1231 Gene Drive for a variance from the requirements of Section 3.12 and 12.08 E-1 and E-2 of Ordinance No. 79 (Zoning Ordinance), to construct a single family residence on a non-conforming private road and to waive the 180 day requirement to build said residence.

The property is described as follows:

A two acre parcel at the end of Machnik Drive, Parcel #06-13-200-034, Chelsea, Michigan 48118

Pursuant to the procedure for a variance request: A Notice of Hearing shall be given and will be served personally or by mail at least ten (10) days prior to the date of such hearing, upon the party or parties making the request for appeal, and all owners of record of property and occupants of property located within three-hundred (300) feet of such premises in question.

You are herein notified that a hearing will be held by the Chelsea Zoning Board of Appeals on August 21, 1996 at 5:00 p.m. or as soon thereafter as possible, in the Sylvan Township Hall, 112 W. Middle Street, Chelsea, Michigan to consider objections to said request.

Persons requiring reasonable accommodations to disabilities in order that the hearing be accessible to them, are requested to notify the Zoning Board of Appeals Chairman no later than five (5) business days prior to the date of the hearing of such disability.

Dexter

—Young Talent—

Youngsters from Bates Elementary School in Dexter and North Elementary School in Chelsea displayed their photography at Briarwood Mall in Ann Arbor as part of an exhibit by Farmington Hills photographer Monte Nagler. Children ages 10 to 11 were given film from Briarwood and CPI enlarged their photos as part of the display after Nagler visited the children and taught them how to take photographs. Nagler has won numerous awards and has work in many private and public collections, including the Detroit Institute of Arts, Center for Creative Photography, Ford Motor Company and the General Electric Corporation.

I WISH TO THANK all my friends, family and neighbors for all their many acts of kindness shown to me during my stay in the hospital and since my return home. Your kindness will never be forgotten.
Don O'Dell

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT—Holy Spirit, you who made me see everything and showed me the way to reach my ideal. You who gave me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in the short dialogue, want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in perpetual glory. Amen. Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. You must pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your wish. After the third day, your wish will be granted no matter how difficult it may be. Promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
TAKE NOTICE that the Land and Water Management Division of the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality will hold a public hearing on Thursday, August 22, 1996, at 2:00 p.m. at the new Webster Township Hall, 5685 Webster Church Road, Dexter, Michigan.
The purpose of the hearing is to secure the views of interested persons concerning the following application for permit: Application for permit 95-13-018 under the Part 303 Wetland Protection and Natural Resource Environmental Protection Act 451, as amended, by Stephen Deokle, 7900 Parklane, Dexter, Michigan, 48130, to place approximately 350 cubic yards of fill material in two areas measuring a total of 210 feet by 50 feet within a wetland area for the construction of a road. Prior to the placement of any fill approximately 117 cubic yards of material will be removed and disposed of on site. Project is located T18, R5E, Section 18, Washtenaw Township, Washtenaw County, Michigan.
The application may be reviewed in the Land and Water Management Division, DEQ, 310 E. Louis Glick Hwy., Jackson, Michigan 49201, during normal office hours.
The hearing will be held pursuant to Section 30307 of the cited statute. The hearing will not be a court-type proceeding; witnesses will not be sworn, and there will be no cross examination. Public hearings are primarily informational and are held to encourage the expression of views and presentation of facts. The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality will, upon written request, provide a copy of the Department's decision on the application.

AREA DEATHS

CHARLES "BUD" HAFNER
Chelsea

Age 65, died Friday Aug. 2, 1996 at his home following a long illness. He was born on Aug. 29, 1930 in Chelsea, the son of William J. and Mary B. (Honeck) Hafner. Bud lived in Chelsea all his life. He was a life-time member of the Chelsea Fire Department and former assistant chief. He was a member of the Boy Scouts and active in Troops 425 and 476. He retired from the Village of Chelsea as superintendent of public utilities in 1991 after 32 years of service. Bud was a member of the Michigan Municipal Electricians Association.

On July 22, 1950, he married Elaine Ferry in Brighton, and she survives. Other survivors include five sons, Lloyd (Margaret) of Chelsea, Bill (and his friend, Janet) of Stockridge, Lee (Mary) of Munnith, Tony (Deedee) of Munnith, and Larry (and his significant-other Robbie) of Clinton; one daughter, Carol (Tom) Houle of Chelsea; three brothers, Leonard of Chelsea, Leo of Dexter, and Dennis of Chelsea; five sisters, Genevieve Brown of Dexter, Josephine Hafner of Whitmore Lake, Norma Weirich of Clinton, Barbara Anderson of Florida, and Gloria Near of Saline; seven grandchildren, Kevin, Jennifer, Nicholas, and Carrie Hafner, and Ashley, Danielle, and Brian Houle; and several aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces, and nephews. He was preceded in death by one grandson, Christopher; one brother, Lavern; and one sister, Mary Ann.

Funeral services were held Monday, Aug. 5, at 11 a.m. at Cole Funeral Chapel, Chelsea, with the Rev. Richard Dake officiating. Burial followed at Maple Grove Cemetery, Chelsea. The family received friends Saturday 7-9 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m.-9 p.m. Memorial contributions may be made to Chelsea Fire Department or Individualized Hospice.

MARION C. MARTIN

Age 92, died Thursday Aug. 1, 1996 at Chelsea Community Hospital. He was born Feb. 9, 1904 in Belding, Mich., the son of Erford and Effie (Houghtaling) Martin. Mr. Martin had been a resident of Chelsea for 14 years, living in Clawson since 1935. He was retired from Chrysler Corp., and had been a very active member of the Clawson United Methodist Church.

He was married on Oct. 1, 1927 in Lansing to Winnifred M. McMichel and she survives. Also surviving are his two children, Charles R. Martin of Milford and Marilyn J. (Douglas) Sanford of Galesburg, Ill.; five grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren. Memorial services were held Wednesday, Aug. 7, at 1:15 p.m. at the chapel of the Chelsea Retirement Community. Expressions of sympathy may be made to the charity of choice. Arrangements by the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, Chelsea.

ANNA SALYER

Age 90 died Sunday morning Aug. 4, 1996 at Cedar Knoll Care Center. She was born Dec. 9, 1905 in Carver, Ky., the daughter of Logan and Maude (Salzer) Watson. She had been a resident of Chelsea for 56 years and was retired from Rockwell International.

Her husband, Dewey Salzer, preceded her in death on April 5, 1973. Surviving are her three daughters Neet, Caudill, Bea Fletcher, and Rose Risner, all of Chelsea; five grandchildren; six great-grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; five brothers; and four sisters. Funeral services were held Tues. Aug. 6 at 2 p.m. at the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, with the Rev. Rebecca Foote officiating. Burial was in Oak Grove Cemetery. The family received friends Monday from 6-9 p.m. at the funeral home.

ROLAND A. ZEITZ

Chelsea
Formerly of Cardiff, Ontario, Canada.

Age 105, was born June 1, 1891 in Mewautaka, Mich., the son of Robert and Michellina (Van Dan Wiltenberg) Zeitz. Mr. Zeitz had been a resident of Chelsea for two years. From 1924 to 1980 he was the Game Warden at Beauchessne Fish and Game Club, Beauchessne, Quebec. He was a certified lifetime Badge Game Warden of the Ontario Providence and was U.S. Coast Guard-qualified as a captain. Mr. Zeitz served in the Canadian Army during WW I and in the Canadian Navy during WW II. Roland was a rock hound and enjoyed lapidary—he cut and set a diamond.

On Nov. 15, 1923 he married Ethel Mercer and she preceded him in death on July 8, 1994. Surviving are his daughter, Dorothy Hafner of Chelsea; three sons, Leigh A. Zeitz of Pembroke, Ontario, Roland R. Zeitz of Duncan, British Columbia, and Otto O. "Bud" Zeitz of St. Albert, Alberta; 11 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. Mr. Zeitz was the seventh son and was preceded in death by seven brothers and four sisters. Memorial services will be held Friday, Aug. 9 at 11 a.m. at the Cardiff Canadian Legion Hall, Cardiff, Ontario. Private interment will be in Beauchessne, Quebec. Expressions of sympathy may be made to a charity of one's choice. Arrangements by Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, Chelsea.

EARL R. HEIM

Formerly of Chelsea

Age 75, died Friday evening Aug. 2, 1996 in Venice, Fla. He was born May 5, 1921 in Sylvan Township, the son of Henry and Vera (Gage) Heim. Mr. Heim retired from Pittsfield Products and had been a dairy farmer. He was a veteran of WWII and a member of the VFW, the Eagles Club of Ann Arbor, and the Farm Bureau. Earl was a member of Ephany Cathedral in Venice.

Surviving are his wife, Ruth I. (Gottschalk); five sons, Glenn (Mary) Heim and Marvin (Sandra) Heim, both of Chelsea, Ralph Heim, and Harold (Laura) Heim all of Grass Lake, and Arnold (Huong) Heim of Ann Arbor; his daughter, Elaine (Dave) Pickell of Burkburnett, Texas; 16 grandchildren; six great-grandchildren; his sister, Helen (Wayne) Harvey of Grass Lake, and a brother Warren (Josephine) Heim of Michigan. He was preceded in death by a sister, Florence Lightner.

The funeral mass was held Tuesday Aug. 6 at 11 a.m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church, with his nephew, the Rev. Fr. David Harvey, and the Rev. Fr. Philip Dupuis Con officiating. The family received friends Monday from 2-5 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. at the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, where the vigil service was held Monday at 8 p.m. Burial was in Mount Olivet Cemetery. Expressions of sympathy may be made to Michigan Heart or Kidney Associations.

LEON (LEE) BUTLER

Formerly of Chelsea

Leon Loren (Lee) Butler, Capt. USN, of Crystal Lake, Ill. and Waco, Texas, age 85, died May 11, 1996 in Waco. He was born in Chelsea on Oct. 2, 1910 to Edwin and Mary Beutler. He married Coula Pearas on Feb. 6, 1942. Together they maintained a joint law practice in Chicago from 1948 until her death in 1983.

Survivors include his daughters, Sandy (Theodore) Londres of Waco and Carla Butler of Crystal Lake; his granddaughters, Mary Londres of Austin, Texas and Annie Londres of Waco; two sisters, Helen (Albert) Fink of Rives Junction, Mich., and Lorinda (Alvin) Jedelev of Gregory (North Lake); and two nephews and two nieces. A brother, Carl W. Butler, preceded him in death in 1988.

A memorial service was held in Waco on May 13, 1996. Those from this area who attended the ceremony were Alvin and Lorinda Jedelev, James Jedelev, and Carol Tunningley. Interment was in Arlington National Cemetery, with full military honors, on July 26, 1996.

Committee studies sites in Chelsea

village manager Bruce Pindzia, village administrative assistant Georgia Beeman and village clerk Suzanne Morrison, will ultimately recommend a site and scope of use for a new village facility to the village council.

The committee first met Tuesday, July 30 to introduce committee members, discuss the task of the group and tour the existing municipal building and fire department.

Committee members met again Tuesday evening, Aug. 6 to discuss and decide the needs of the municipal building and fire department, then review five potential sites for new village offices or a village complex.

Those five sites are the old Chelsea Standard building; property adjacent to the Chelsea Community Hospital campus, property adjacent to the industrial park on Sibley Road, the Municipal Parking Lot and Park Street parking lot.

Jessamine Gould, a resident of the Chelsea Retirement Community, will celebrate her 100th birthday Aug. 11.

Birthday party planned for centenarian Gould

A 100th birthday party celebration is planned for Jessamine Gould at Chelsea Retirement Community on Aug. 11.

Born in Watertown, Conn. on Aug. 13, 1896, Jessamine was one of seven children. Her earliest memory is of traveling to church in a sleigh.

At age 13, her father, a farmer, took his family to live in Orlando, Fla. She attended Stetson College and worked as assistant bookkeeper in her father's large department store.

In 1921, she married Stuart M. Gould and moved to Kirksville, Mo. Her husband died in 1956.

Jessamine moved to Michigan in 1960 and worked in Ann Arbor at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital's gift shop for 10 years. She lived in a large home near the hospital, renting out the top floors for many years.

Jessamine became skilled at many kinds of handwork throughout her life, but her main interest is knitting.

"I learned to knit during World War I when I was engaged and my fiancé was in the service and I had to do something," she commented.

Jessamine is very active and is enjoying life in the Chelsea Retirement Community, playing card games and bingo regularly. She looks forward to attending the Golden Years Band concerts presented at the Community every Thursday.

Jessamine moved to Chelsea Oct. 23, 1993 from Orlando, where she lived on the 15th floor of a high rise for 21 years. The Methodist church has always played a central part in her life wherever she lived. At the Orlando First Methodist Church she won the "Volunteer of the Year" award at the age of 96.

When asked how she feels about turning 100, she said she can hardly believe it is real.

Her children, Stuart Gould, Jr., M.D. of Northport, Mich., Robert Gould of Whispering Pines, N.C.; Marjory Comstock of Colorado Springs, Colo., and her grandchildren and great-grandchildren from across the United States, plus many friends will join her at her birthday party in the nursing unit of Chelsea Retirement Community.

Chelsea physician in U-M hypertension study

University of Michigan has announced its participation in a major study of more than 8,000 patients in the U.S. and in Scandinavia with hypertension and a type of heart enlargement known as left ventricular hypertrophy (LVH). The study will evaluate whether there are benefits of reversing LVH, which afflicts approximately 13 million individuals in the U.S. Often caused by chronic high blood pressure, LVH is an important cardiac health risk factor.

Shawna Nesbitt, M.D. and Steven A. Yarows, M.D., the clinical investigators for the study at University of Michigan, said, "We are delighted to have been selected as one of the 300 U.S. clinical study sites. This study is expected to be the first one to conclusively evaluate the benefits of trying to reverse LVH. We think our work will help to provide the medical community around the world with definitive information on one of the most important questions facing cardiology today — does reversing LVH help to reduce deaths?"

The study, called the LIFE Study, an acronym for Losartan Intervention For Endpoint reduction in hypertension, will enroll 3,000 patients in the U.S. It is designed to compare the effects of two medications, both marketed in the U.S. for reducing high blood pressure. The study is being sponsored by Merck & Co., Inc., the distributor of one of the drugs.

"Candidates for the study are men and women between the ages of 55 and 80 who have high blood pressure and LVH.

Since most patients don't know they have LVH, that diagnosis will be made as part of our screening procedure," Dr. Yarows said. Patients who volunteer for the study will visit the study facility seven times during the first year and every six months for the remainder of the study. "Of course, the medical evaluations, tests and medications associated with the study at University of Michigan are free of charge to patients who participate," Dr. Nesbitt said.

"The LIFE study is expected to continue for four years and will conclude when 1,040 patients in the worldwide study have experienced a cardiac-related event," Dr. Yarows and Nesbitt explained. "We will monitor our patients closely throughout the study. Neither we nor the patients will know which of the two study medications they are taking until the end of the study. We will evaluate electrocardiogram (ECG) results, laboratory tests, blood pressure control and visits to physicians for cardiac-related health problems, among other parameters."

For more information, call Dr. Yarows at 475-8677.

Massengale reports for duty

Marine Lance Cpl. Jason L. Massengale, son of Larry J. Massengale of Pinckney, recently reported for duty with Headquarters Battery, 12th Marines, 3rd Marine Division, Okinawa, Japan.

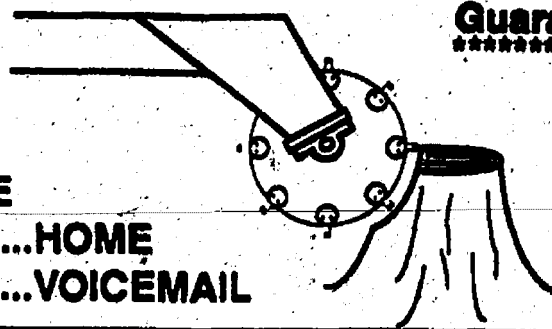

Massengale's new assignment is an example of how Navy and Marine Corps men and women are assigned to ships, squadrons and shore commands around the world. Whether serving in the Persian Gulf near Iraq or in the Adriatic Sea near Bosnia, people like Massengale are making a difference as they work to improve their knowledge and skill as part of the most highly technical naval force in history.

The 1994 graduate of Spring Hill High School of Longview, Texas, joined the Marine Corps in September 1995.

Washtenaw County Board of Public Works

Notice of Public Hearing on the Desirability of Implementing a Washtenaw County Resource Recovery System Project and the Establishment of Special Assessment District #1

TO THE OWNERS OF ANY LANDS WITHIN THE PROPERTY DESCRIBED BELOW AND ALL OTHER INTERESTED PARTIES: PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the Board of Public Works of the County of Washtenaw has declared its intention to continue to implement the following resource recovery system:

A recycling collection and processing system which includes recycling drop off stations, and intermediate materials processing center and educational programs to serve the Villages of Chelsea and Manchester, all of which is hereafter referred to as the "project," and has tentatively designated a special assessment district against which all or a part of the cost of the project is to be assessed, which district consists of the following lands:

All tax parcels identified as having a household or households located within the Village of Chelsea and the Village of Manchester in Washtenaw County.

The above properties are located within the boundaries of the Special Assessment District shown on the sketch on the reverse side.

Each parcel identified above will be annually assessed thirty dollars ($30.00) for each household located on the parcel for a five year period. A report describing the project including program elements and cost estimates has been prepared and is on file with the Washtenaw County Director of Public Works. The report is available for public examination at the Division of Public Works office, County Courthouse Annex Building, 110 N. Fourth Avenue, Suite 200, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48107. To ask questions or obtain information on the project, please call (313) 994-2398.

TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Board of Public Works will meet on Wednesday, August 14, 1996 at 7:00 p.m., (E.D.T.), or as soon thereafter as may be heard, at the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority, Materials Recovery Facility, 8027 Werkner Road, Chelsea, Michigan for the purpose of hearing all interested parties concerning the project and the special assessment district.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the owner or any person having an interest in property that is specially assessed may file a written appeal with the Michigan Tax Tribunal within 30 days after confirmation of the special assessment roll. However, appearance and protest at the public hearing on the special assessment roll are required in order to appeal the special assessment to the Michigan Tax Tribunal. An owner or a party in interest or his or her agent may (1) appear in person at the hearing to protest the special assessment or (2) file his or her appearance or protest by letter before the close of the hearing. The Board of Public Works shall maintain a record of parties who appear to protest at the hearing. If the hearing is terminated or adjourned for the day before a party is provided the opportunity to be heard, a party whose appearance was recorded shall be considered to have protested the special assessment in person.
