Bill Wescott recommended as new Beach school principal

Chelsea Schools Superintendent Ed Richardson indicated Tuesday afternoon that Bill Wescott, principal at North Elementary School for the past 12½ years, will be recommended to the school board Monday, Aug. 19 as permanent principal at Beach Middle School.

Prior to being principal at North School, Wescott taught for nine years in Chelsea.

If, as expected, the board approves Wescott's hire at Beach Middle School, that will mean a shift in school plans, according to Richardson.

Wescott has been serving as interim Beach principal for the past month, in addition to other responsibilities, as the school system sought a permanent middle school principal.

This spring, it was announced that Wescott would give up his position at North Elementary School to oversee construction of the new Pierce Lake Elementary School and eventually be its principal when the school opened its doors in the fall of 1997.

Sharon Whitmore has been hired to succeed Wescott at North Creek Elementary. Wescott's near certain appointment as Beach Middle School principal will necessitate two changes.

First, Richardson and other administrators will need to assume more responsibility for the construction and preparation of Pierce Lake Elementary School, since Wescott cannot alone oversee the new elementary project along with new middle school duties.

Second, another elementary principal for Pierce Lake School will need to be hired.

Richardson said he would reassess the position at Pierce Lake Elementary in terms of the school district's needs and the new principal's responsibilities before posting the position.

The superintendent expected to post the opening at Pierce Lake Elementary by October or November, hoping to hire a new administrator in January of next year.

Richardson further said that once Wescott applied for the Beach position, he became the best choice among a strong field of candidates.

"He's an outstanding administrator," Richardson said, adding that Wescott was highly regarded for his work during tenure as North Elementary School principal.

The Beach teaching staff involved in the interviewing process, Richardson explained, felt that Wescott was the best fit for the position.

According to Richardson, Wescott recently made the decision to apply for the Beach Middle School post after enjoying the challenges of middle school as interim Beach principal.

Wescott could not be reached for comment before this edition went to press.

Bill Wescott is likely to be named principal of Beach Middle School.

School registration scheduled

All schools in the Chelsea School District are looking forward to beginning the 1996-97 school year. All buildings will begin on Tuesday, Aug. 27.

Parents registering students at the elementary schools should contact South Meadows at 475-3715 or North Creek at 475-3714.

South Meadows student orientation for new students will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 20, 9:30-10:15 a.m. (grades 1-3) and 10:15-11:00 a.m. (grades 4-5).

North Creek Orientation will be held on Wednesday, Aug. 21. Grades 1-3 grades will be at 9:30-10:15 a.m. and grades 4-5 will be at 10:15-11 a.m. This orientation will help children make a smooth transition to the elementary schools.

Students attending Beach Middle School are welcome to register today, Aug. 15 or Friday, Aug. 16 from 9 a.m. to noon or 1 to 3 p.m.

All middle school students will receive their own personal planner the first day of school. Parents are encouraged to review and acquaint themselves with the student handbook, which is part of the planner. The planner also includes school policies and operational procedures at Beach School.

Chelsea High School will register new students on Thursday, Aug. 15 and Friday, Aug. 16. Registration will take place by setting up an appointment with a high school counselor. Please call Diane Kyte at 475-9131 for an appointment.

All new entrants of the Chelsea School District must comply with Michigan law regarding immunizations, and must provide the school with record verifying that proper vaccinations have been obtained. Parent involvement is encouraged in the schools and parents are asked to accompany new students when registering.

Please help the school district ensure students a smooth beginning to school by registering before the week of Aug. 26.

No county-wide PDR proposal to be on ballot in November election

By Kevin Bull
Special Writer

Chelsea area voters won't see a countywide purchasing development rights (PDR) proposal on the November general election ballot.

The Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners voted unanimously (15-0) against the proposal at its Aug. 7 meeting.

However, after more than two hours of discussion—including 22 speakers during citizen participation—the board approved a resolution to further explore the idea of PDR in Washtenaw County.

The resolution, drafted by commissioner Dave Monforton of Ann Arbor, directs the county administrator to develop a Farmland and Open Space Preservation Program through an Agricultural Lands and Open Space Task Force that would present a plan for review and endorsement of the board in May 1997.

"Part of the reason we were not able to put it on the ballot as quickly as proponents wanted was that the Board of Commissioners were pretty much left out of the process and not really informed until June," Washtenaw County Commissioner Joe Yekulis said.

"That didn't allow us enough time to develop and analyze all the issues. We feel that this compromise will provide us enough time to properly study it and give us an opportunity to come up with a concrete solution by next year."

Monforton's resolution, which mirrors the Washtenaw County Planning Commission's recommendation to the board, except for a May deadline instead of December 1997.

The task force will be appointed by the Board of Commissioners and consist of four commissioners, planning commission representatives, local government officials and planners, several communities and members of the general public.

"People need to understand that not putting it on the ballot doesn't mean we don't see its importance," Yekulis said. "It means we are interested in pursuing the process and including all the stakeholders."

"We also didn't have enough time to study the long-term effects of a countywide program. Even the early consensus of the board in June was that we couldn't do it this soon."

Another reason for not putting a countywide PDR proposal on the ballot is that Corporation Counsel said the board didn't have the legal authority.

In fact, Peninsula Township in Grand Traverse County is the only township in Michigan with a PDR program. None of the state's 83 counties has instituted a PDR program.

"The only impact a county-wide PDR would have on the Village of Chelsea would have been taxing residents to preserve agricultural lands and open space on the village outskirts," Yekulis said. "And there's no guarantee those outskirts would have been among the county's first choices to protect, either."

But Yekulis said he thinks township PDR proposals will appear on the ballot for Sylvan and Superior townships in November. Sylvan's proposal will focus on preserving agricultural land, and Superior will primarily protect open space.

"But even if a proposal makes it on the ballot, the voters could still reject it," Yekulis said.

Sylvan Township won't propose PDR

Somewhat surprisingly, the Sylvan Township Board decided at its Aug. 7 meeting that no Purchasing-Development-Rights proposal would appear on the November election ballot for township voters to approve or reject.

Among those surprised were members of the Sylvan Township Planning Commission and the Washtenaw County Commissioners.

The Sylvan planning commission recently made a recommendation to the township board that it take whatever steps necessary to place a PDR proposal before voters this fall.

And according to commissioner Joe Yekulis, county commissioners expected that Sylvan would be one of two townships whose local PDR programs would be studied by the county.

Sylvan planning commission chairman Bob Lange said the township board's decision was a surprise and a disappointment, but not, in hindsight, unexplainable.

"At first I was very surprised when they denied it, then on reflection I understood it. The board wanted more information," Lange said.

The township board, Lange said, was not well acquainted with PDR and didn't want to approve something that wasn't well understood. Further, he indicated that the planning commission should bear some responsibility for the confusion.

"We didn't present our case very well. We just assumed they understood it," said a disappointed Lange.

Sylvan Township Trustee Reuben Lesser, Jr., who opposed placing PDR on the fall election ballot, said the township board wasn't sufficiently knowledgeable about PDR to justify pushing the issue ahead.

"I don't think anybody knows enough about it. How can I support putting it on the ballot when I haven't seen the specific proposal?" Lesser said.

Lesser explained that he hadn't seen the final language that would go into a ballot proposal and that the township board hadn't had the opportunity to study PDR adequately.

"There's too many unknowns at the present time," Lesser said. "I want (the final language) in writing, a final draft before I would consider putting on the ballot," he continued.

Lange explained that he hoped to continue pursuing the issue, possibly addressing the township board and supplying more and more detailed information.

Lesser indicated he would be open to considering PDR in the future.

"The concept is probably worth pursuing," Lesser said.

Kids' events start Tuesday

Tuesday, Aug. 20 will be a big day for children at the Chelsea Community Fair.

The Children's Parade begins at 5:30 p.m. from the parking lot behind the courthouse and Common Grill.

Children will walk and ride decorated bikes and wagons down West Middle Street to Wilkinson, then continue from there to the Fairgrounds. The rules prohibit horses or gas powered vehicles.

The Children's Parade is sponsored by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club and Chelsea High School Key Club.

Once the parade reaches the Fairgrounds, even more fun begins.

In front of the main arena, sack races for four to 12 year-olds, three-legged races for six to 12 year-olds (divided into three different age categories), and a tricycle pull for nursery school age children will be offered.

Children five years old and younger are in for still more fun if they participate in the money find, discovering money hidden in a pile of sawdust.

—First Sign of School—

High school sports practices started Monday throughout Michigan in preparation for the fall season. Above, Chelsea Head Coach Gene LaFave had his varsity team on the field to practice a little footwork. School starts in Chelsea the last week of August.

Opening Remarks

By Brian Hamilton

The last big local splurge before school starts gets underway next week in the form of the annual Chelsea Community Fair. You may not know it, but Chelsea's is the largest community fair in Michigan.

I've attended the fairs regularly for about a dozen years, ever since hooking up with The Standard. It's always fun, although when you're covering an event—any event—you tend to look at it differently than the average spectator.

I'll never forget my introduction to the fair. We first moved here on Friday of fair week and had no idea the fair even existed. Saturday morning we awoke to find out Park Street driveway blocked by horses.

The biggest enemy or best friend the fair has, in any given year, is the weather because it has such a major impact on attendance. Over the last decade or so there have been a couple of fair weeks that have been cold and wet and attendance has fallen flat.

One year there was so much rain my car got stuck in the parking lot and nearly had to be towed but a couple of kind athletic boosters helped give me a push. That may have been the same year I nearly froze while watching both Ladies Day on Friday morning and the fair queen program that evening as wind whipped through the arena.

Most years the weather is good and the fair thrives. I can't remember the last time it rained for...well, I don't want to jinx it.

Best rumor I've heard about this year's fair is the Western Washtenaw Republicans were trying to find an elephant to tag along with them in the parade. Maybe U.S. Rep. Dick Chrysler, always the self-promoter, could play the role of Tarzan. (I give Chrysler a hard time for a lot of good reasons but I will hand him this—he's been to Chelsea probably more than all the rest of our representatives combined.)

This year's fair parade does figure to be loaded with politicians. We could see the fabulous Democratic trio of State Sen. Alma Smith, State Rep. Mary Schroer, and Chrysler's challenger, Debbie Stabenow. I know where they could get a donkey as I've seen one right across Freer Road from Chelsea High. Uncle Apollo, as you can read in this week's column, tried to get the Top Donkey (you might have another term for him), or at least his daughter, but it didn't work out.

Even if you've never seen them, you can always recognize the politicians because they're the only ones trying to shake your hand or give you leaflets rather than something worthwhile like Tootsie Rolls or Starburst.

Politicians of all sorts should love the Chelsea Fair because it shows the best a community has to offer.

The fair is totally self-sustaining. It receives no state, federal, or even village money.

The fair is staffed totally by volunteers and the work goes all year. In the few weeks leading up to the fair, many volunteers put in eight-hour days at the fairgrounds, before and after their own eight-hour jobs. Some don't even bother with work and go directly to the grounds.

Fair week itself is almost around-the-clock work for a number of people.

I'm sure I can speak for many people when I say thanks to the fair board and all those volunteers who work their behinds off to give the rest of us a good time.

It should be another fine week.

Uncle Apollo

Sometimes I hate politics. Here the Chelsea Fair is about to begin and I had hoped to give the village a wonderful surprise, but I couldn't pull it off. I'll bet if I had been successful in my bid for Village President the story would have been different. Anyway, the following letters should tell the tragic story. (The following letter was written before Mr. Apollo began writing for The Chelsea Standard.)

Arthur Apollo
September 6, 1995
President Bill Clinton

Washington DC 20500

Dear President Bill:

I'm a columnist for the Chelsea Review, a paper that serves the area around Chelsea, MI. You may have heard of our paper. If not, I've enclosed an issue for your enlightenment.

I'll get right to the point since I understand how busy you must be with all the stuff you have to do. My publisher and I were sitting around one day and we noticed that our village and your daughter have very similar names. Well, we have this fair parade on August 24 next year, and you'll be on the campaign trail and we thought it might be a good idea for Chelsea to be the Grand Marshall of the fair and to bring you and the First Lady.

We'd build a really cool float for your family if you could show up. It might even help to swing a lot of the local Republican voters. Please let us know as soon as possible so we can plan accordingly.

A few details. Chelsea (the village) is just west of Ann Arbor, so there's lots to do if Chelsea (your daughter) gets bored waiting around for the parade. It can be really hot, or wet, or even cold around fair time so bring a variety of clothing. Insects usually aren't a problem since the floats move pretty good.

Oh, and the float riders usually throw candy to the kids. I was thinking red, white, and blue bon-bons might be nice. We can make them for you so you don't have to bring your own. And Chelsea residents are pretty friendly people so you might not need to bring all those secret service people, but I'll leave that up to you.

Oh, and we have a couple of great bed and breakfast places in town.

My publisher and I are really excited about this plan, so please let us know as soon as possible. We'll get the red carpet shampooed as soon as we hear from you.
Very Truly Yours,
Arthur Apollo

Dear Mr. Apollo:

Thank you for inviting President Clinton to participate in the Chelsea parade. The President has asked us to convey his appreciation for your kind offer.

At this time, we are unable to make a commitment to your request. However, we will keep your invitation on file for further consideration as the date of this event approaches. Please be assured that we will contact you if it is possible for the President to participate in the parade.

On behalf of the President, thank you again for your thoughtful invitation. We encourage you to contact our office if we can be of further assistance.

Drolet's efforts did save Dexter Township

It must be very frustrating for our Dexter Township Supervisor Jim Drolett to spend 12 years battling people opposed to improving the environment of, and the way of life in, Dexter Township, to find that of the many residents who have benefited from his efforts, only 283 cared enough to vote for him this past election.

Most of his opposition was due to our Multi-Lake Sewer Project.

If our school systems were run the same as some of the sewer system opponents suggest the sewer system be run, only the people sending the kids to school would pay for the school system.

Like having good school systems that all benefit from, having lakes that can be used by all, clean enough to swim in, and reasonably free of weeds should also be important.

If today, the Washtenaw County Environmental Health Department could issue violation tickets to all township septic systems that do not meet all of the present-day requirements—that exist because the were proven necessary for our good health—Dexter Township would be in serious trouble.

Upon placing our homes on the market for sale, we would find signing the Michigan Sellers Disclosure Act statement concerning the working order of our septic tank and field very difficult.

We feel that Jim Drolett's efforts those of the others on the township board did "save Dexter Township" and we hope our vote or lack of it did not send the wrong message to the next supervisor of Dexter Township.

Superintendent's Corner

By Edward Richardson
Chelsea School Superintendent

By now, most of us have seen the progress being made on our new Pierce Lake Elementary building located at the northwest corner of Freer Road and Old U.S. 12. Although the site is presently brown, can you imagine the future beauty of this site with green grass, soccer, softball and baseball fields surrounding a well landscaped K-5 elementary building?

Most Chelsea people know the scope of our school construction project. But, for those just moving into the district, here is a summary.

The Chelsea School District is using the $45 million generated by the bond approval of June 1995 to construct a new 9th-12th-grade high school and a new K-5 elementary school. In addition, both South Meadows (K-5) and North Creek (K-5) will be renovated along with Beach Middle School (6-7-8) and our present high school site, which will be converted to a community education and administrative service center.

All school sites will be improved in some way. Kingscott, our architectural firm located in Kalamazoo, has designed all of our projects. They have provided professional consulting and guidance as we describe our educational needs.

Our 56,000-square-foot elementary and 200,000-square-foot high school should not only beautify our community; they should provide the space we need for our growing student population. The renovations being planned will give each of our buildings a new look and increase function. The $3.5 million earmarked for technology can ignite new enthusiasm for learning and connect us to outside resources.

Granger Construction (Lansing, Mich.) is serving us by providing construction "management" for the district. Some have asked me if they gain financially if we cut costs on our project; the answer is "no." Granger Construction is on a fixed "not-to-exceed" contract which neither benefits nor penalizes the firm for reducing construction costs. Any cost savings return to the school district for reallocation within our total project.

Presently, the bidding environment is not in our favor. Many contractors are busy, so bids are higher than last year. Therefore, Granger Construction is assisting us to work with contractors to use "value engineering" to get the most for our money.

Our construction goals have not changed since the passage of the bond. We want to build and renovate our buildings to provide the space we need for students, the quality materials we need to reduce operational maintenance costs, the program areas that reflect our school community commitment, and the technology necessary to deliver a modern curriculum. The goals are being accomplished.

The next two years will be filled with improvements. The future is bright!

Waterloo Farm Museum to present workshops

If the approach of fall whisks "back to school" to those who have been out in the world for a while, Waterloo Farm has a solution to that yearning that can provide new skills and hobbies for you.

And, if you're looking for a fun activity for parents and adults (let's face it, these are hard to come by) Waterloo Farm can accommodate that need as well.

Both needs will be satisfied during the Waterloo Area Farm Museum, Fall Workshop programs which take place at the farm. Beginning Wednesday, Sept. 4 and continuing for three additional Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to noon, members of the museum staff will present a workshop in "Recording Family Memories". This is a writing class aimed at helping you write down those family happenings and history you want to pass on to your grandchildren, or your children, or perhaps, just record while they are fresh in your mind. The fee for this workshop is $5.00.

Along those same lines, Janet Distelzweig will be at the farm on Thursday, Sept. 26 from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. to offer a class called "Creative Memories." Janet will help you organize and preserve those family photos and memorabilia now hiding in boxes and drawers, or in photo albums unsuited to preserving them. A step-by-step method for mounting, cropping, documenting and decorating an acid free album will be offered, along with the chance to start your own archives the right way with photos you bring along.

For the Martha Stewart in you, the museum offers two classes, one on Rug Hooking, Saturday, Sept. 21 with Robin Rennie from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., where you will learn how to design, hook and bind a rug with strips of woolen fabric torn from old clothing. The fee includes wool, burlap and a hook. Bring along a sack lunch, old woolies, and dress warm.

The other class, in Victorian Potpourri, will be presented by herb expert Beverly Anderson on Saturday, Sept. 28 from 10 a.m. to noon. Learn how potpourri is made and the different materials used in the process while you make a quart of your own mixture. The $23 fee includes materials.

The family event, "Nature Saturday at the Farm", will take place from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 14, when Lisa Lava-Keller and Paul McCormack offer experiences either morning, afternoon or both, exploring the life on an 19th century farm — the wild life, both plant and animal. Lisa will show plants pioneers used for food and medicine which grow even now around the Waterloo Farm site. Paul will offer opportunities to meet the wildlife a 19th century farmer and his family might have met on a late night trip to the outhouse. "Pa, There's a Snake in the Outhouse" is the theme of this session. There are fees for both classes.

To register for any of these events, contact the Chelsea Community Education Office at 313-475-9830. Fees must be prior to the class, and classes have a fixed maximum attendance, so it is important to sign up as soon as possible.

Waterloo Farm is located three miles north of the Village of Waterloo which can be reached from I-94 via Clear Lake Road to left on Waterloo Road. For further information, or to register, call (313) 475-9830.

KEEP YOUR MEDICINE TO YOURSELF

J.A. Lane, D.V.M.

M.C. Lane, D.V.M.

Even best friends shouldn't share medicines, and that's especially true if one of those friends is of the canine or feline variety. "Human" medications can be poisonous to cats, dogs, and other pets. Cats, for example, metabolize drugs quite differently than people do, with the result that human medication may have exactly the opposite effect of what was intended. Pain relievers are the most commonly misused drugs by pet owners. Products such as aspirin, ibuprofen, and acetaminophen are dangerous for two reasons: 1) many pets are extremely sensitive to the drugs, and overdoses are likely, and 2) the drugs may mask symptoms of serious medical problems, delaying proper treatment or enabling a pet to further injure itself.

Never delay calling your veterinarian when you have a sick pet. Quick treatment can, many times, avoid a serious problem. Complete veterinary service is available at LANE ANIMAL HOSPITAL, 636 North Main Street. We have been serving Chelsea and the Washtenaw area since 1910. Services are provided by appointment only.

HINT: Veterinarians sometimes withhold pain relievers after surgery because pain is essential to keeping a pet inactive during healing.

Everybody's Science

By Henry Becker

Just about every city and town has an Elm Street. But the classic American elm trees are missing.

Dutch elm disease attacked those beautiful trees and spread rapidly in the 1930s. About 25 years ago, U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists started research that has led to the planting in Washington, D.C. of an American elm tolerant of the fungus-causing disease.

'Valley Forge' — the newly planted tree — and a second variety called 'New Harmony' were found to have the highest tolerance rates of thousands of elms in which the Dutch elm virus was inoculated, says Alden M. Townsend, who directed the research at the U.S. National Arboretum in Washington, D.C.

"It is not uncommon to find a single elm surviving by chance where others have died," says Townsend. "But, such an elm is just lucky and escaped the disease rather than being disease tolerant." An estimated 90 percent of American elms were lost to the disease.

Leaves on disease-infected trees turn yellow, then brown. Often by the second year, the disease is fatal, says Townsend a plant geneticist for USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

Townsend says the country now has two American elms that can restore the tree to Main Street, USA. They are the first commercially available elms that are highly disease-tolerant of Dutch elm attacks.

Over a hundred rooted cuttings of 'Valley Forge' and 'New Harmony' were distributed in the last two years to tree nurseries, experiment stations and arboreta. Wholesale nurseries will propagate the trees for sale by late 1997 or 1998; retail nurseries should have them in 1999. (Agricultural Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture)

Munith nurse suspended
 A local woman's nursing license has been suspended because of a substance abuse problem.
 Kathleen S. Bennett, 31, of Munith, had her license suspended for six months and a $250 fine imposed June 26.
 Information on Bennett's case was provided by the Michigan Department of Consumer and Industry Services, Office of Health Services.
 Bennett is among 18 nurses to be disciplined between July 1 and July 5. Others face disciplinary action for negligence, drug related criminal convictions and mental and physical inability to practice.

County honors volunteers

The thousands of Timber Town volunteers were recognized by a resolution certificate from the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners on Aug. 7 at the Administration Building in downtown Ann Arbor.
 Washtenaw County Commissioner Joe Yekulis presented project coordinators Gloria Mitchell and Julie Rutherford with a framed certificate complete with the county seal.
 "It was wonderful to recognize the Chelsea community for what they had done. I was very proud to accept it on behalf of the community," Mitchell said. "It was an entire community effort from the smallest child to the eldest citizen."
 The board recognized volunteering as being one of the "central characteristics of America, bringing together people and communities to make a difference in one another's lives."
 After two years of planning, thousands of volunteers from the Chelsea community came together to construct the estimated $500,000 children's wooden playground during one week in June.
 Volunteers contributed 2,800 work shifts, 2,000 meals, raised $130,000, and loaned hundreds of power tools and heavy equipment for the project.

Washtenaw County Commissioner Joe Yekulis presents a certificate of commendation to Timber Town co-chair Gloria Mitchell while Timber Town co-chair Julie Rutherford looks on.

For additional family members add:	+3,406	+284	+66	+4,847	+404	+94

Children from households whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free and reduced-price meals.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. To apply for free or reduced-price meals, households should fill out the form and return it to the school. Additional copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school.

NON-FOOD STAMP HOUSEHOLDS: An application which does not contain all of the following information cannot be processed by the school: (1) monthly source of income received by each household member (such as wages, child support, etc.); (2) names of all household members; (3) social security number of adult household member who signs the application; and (4) the signature of an adult household member.

FOOD STAMP/AFDC HOUSEHOLDS: If you currently receive Food Stamps or "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" (AFDC) for your child, you only have to list your child's name and Food Stamp or AFDC case number, and sign the application.

The information provided by the household is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility, verifying data, or qualifying children for other federal and state programs, as authorized by the United States Department of Agriculture; applications may be verified by the school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If children are approved for free or reduced-price meal or free milk benefits, the household must report to the school increases in household income over $50 per month ($600 per year) and decreases in household size.

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If a household is not currently eligible but has a decrease in household income, an increase in household size or if a household member becomes unemployed, the household should fill out an application at that time.

In most cases, foster children are eligible for these benefits regardless of the household's income. If a household has foster children living with them and they wish to apply for free or reduced-price meals for them, the household should contact the school for more information.

Under the provisions of the policy, the building principals will review applications and determine eligibility. Parents or guardians dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. The household also has the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official: Christine Anness, Assistant Superintendent. Each school and the Administration Building have a copy of the complete policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party.

In the operation of the child-feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex, or handicap. If any member of a household believes they have been discriminated against, they should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Breaking and entering was reported at Birchwood West, 6087 Jackson Rd., Aug. 5. A 65-year-old man told a sheriff's deputy someone broke into a shed behind the strip mall between 4 p.m. Aug. 4 and 8 a.m. Aug. 5. Nothing was reported stolen. Damage to the door is estimated at $100.

Breaking and entering was reported at Soil & Materials Engineers, Inc., Aug. 9. A 29-year-old Plymouth man employed at the company told a sheriff's deputy a utility trailer was broken into. An air conditioning unit valued at $400 was stolen. Damage to the trailer is estimated at $100. The break-in occurred between 8 p.m. Aug. 7 and 6 a.m. Aug. 9.

Vehicle Fire

A truck belonging to Filion Trucking Company sustained $500 in damages when an electrical fire broke out in the engine compartment on the westbound I-94 ramp near Zeeb Road, Aug. 8. A 37-year-old Warren man driving the truck reported seeing six- to 12-inch high flames in the rear compartment near the fuel tank. He used up the truck's fire extinguisher in an attempt to put out the flames.

Domestic Assault

Domestic assault was reported at Scio Farms Estates, 6655 Jackson Rd., Aug. 10. A 41-year-old woman told a sheriff's deputy her 37-year-old boyfriend pushed her against a wall after a verbal argument. The woman said she tried to call for help when her boyfriend ripped the telephone out of the wall. He told police she hit him with the phone. He denies any physical assault took place. The woman's son confirmed her account of what happened. The man was arrested and lodged in jail.

Domestic assault was reported at Scio Farms Estates, 6655 Jackson Rd., Aug. 7. A 31-year-old woman told a sheriff's deputy her husband tried to strangle her after he consumed a 12-pack of beer. The woman suffered a cut lip and bruises on her neck during the assault. She tried to call for help, but her husband hung up on the 911 dispatcher. When the dispatcher called back, the woman's husband said everything was all right. When a deputy arrived, the suspect said he came home to retrieve some clothing when his wife began screaming at him. The man was arrested and lodged in jail.

Chelsea's old-time ice cream parlors

By Kathy Clark
Special Writer

Clarence Vogt of Louisville Ky. invented the first successful continuous freezer. Ice cream could then be mass produced by pouring mix in one end with the final product coming out the other. Before 1928 ice cream was made in small batches in hand-cranked freezers.

Munson Burkhardt had the first Chelsea ice cream parlor anyone can remember. It was located at the corner of Park and Main Street (now Werkel's Furniture). Glen Wiseman, who married Burkhardt's daughter, Olive, recalls, "By 1910 he was making the ice cream in a barn on East Street behind the home he built in 1901 (second house south of Park Street on the west side)." It was made in hand-operated ice cream freezing containers, probably using ground cakes of lake ice. Glen believes Munson was the first to make ice cream in Chelsea.

The parlor was furnished with typical wire parlor chairs. Young people at a soda fountain, likely Burkhardt's are shown above in the circa 1910 photo. A sign painted on the glass says "Vernors Gingerale & Coke."

"Panarites" was the next popular parlor that Glen and Howard Dancer remembered from the 1930s. It was their high school hangout. Panarites was located in the vicinity of Johnson's How To Store.

John Panarites opened a candy kitchen in the building in 1919 and called the business "John's." John and Mamma (a Greek family) did business there for 39 years until it was sold to Louie Birch in 1958. Louie named it "Louie's Dairy Bar." Louie remodeled and sold lunches in addition to operating the soda fountain.

Weber's Dairy Bar was opened in 1945. In 1948 Fred and Marion Schaff became the owners. Leroy May bought the business in 1952, and in 1954 it was sold to LaVerne (Onie) Niehaus. Glen and Howard recalled it as "Onie's." Frederick C. Weber purchased it in 1958. It was a great place for high school kids to get together. I believe it was in the area of the Chelsea Cleaners on Park Street.

Burg's Corner Drug Store opened a soda fountain at the corner of Main and Middle, probably in the 30s. Many in Chelsea remember the same corner drug store as it continued to include a soda fountain in 1958 when Charles Lancaster purchased it and named the store The Chelsea Drug.

Across the street F&M Restaurant operated by Kermit and Bessie Sharp sold ice cream concoctions as late as 1974. Bessie said she has stored all the old equipment, including the wall-mounted juke boxes.

After Chelsea Drug and F&M fountains closed, Niehaus's operated a modern dairy bar for a few years in the building now occupied by Chelsea Pets & Plants near the corner of Old U.S. 12 and M-52.

The whole history of ice cream is displayed on the wall of the Big Dipper in the Sylvan Building. I had wanted to start out this story with the line, "I Scream, You Scream, We All Scream for Ice Cream," not quite knowing where the words came from. The article said that "I Scream" was a song popular in 1927 when ice cream became the nation's latest craze.

Long-time coach retires

By Kevin Bull
Special Writer

This time, Bert Kruse says he's retiring for good.

Sure, he'll probably still volunteer some time to the Chelsea High School track teams during the warmer months.

But Kruse's 34 years of coaching Chelsea athletics full time appear to be over. At least, for now.

"It's still hard to tell," Kruse said of his future coaching prospects. "I might do some volunteer coaching again. But I don't think I'll come back for a steady job."

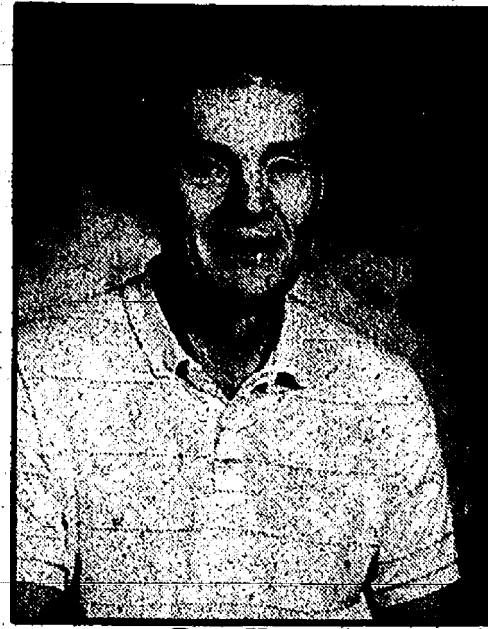

"It was really a combination of things, but the Michigan weather was the deciding factor. This spring was the final blow."

Kruse and his wife, Gerry, a retired Eastern Michigan University accounting professor, plan to spend more time at their winter home in Del Ray Beach, Fla. That means less time for coaching.

Although Kruse retired from teaching at Beach Middle School four years ago, he still worked with the girls' high school track team as an assistant coach after many years as the boys' coach.

"I've moved from one position to another," said Kruse, a longtime Ypsilanti resident. "I'd come back as a volunteer coach and then keep coaching. It's always difficult to get people to coach track, so I was glad I could come back."

Former Chelsea High School Principal Chuck Lange actually hired Kruse in 1962 to teach U.S. history at the junior high, as well as coach junior high football and high school baseball.

After two years of coaching baseball, Kruse switched to high school boys' track. He served as the head coach and later an assistant before joining the girls' track team in 1984 as an assistant coach.

"Bert is essentially the only assistant track coach the girls' team has ever had," said girls' track coach Bill Bainton, who formerly assisted Kruse with the boys' team.

"It will be hard to find somebody that has his skills and ability to work with people. His technical knowledge and use of personnel was a major factor in the success we had."

Kruse, a former shot putter and discus thrower for Western Michigan University, coached a number of standout athletes in his 32-year track career at Chelsea.

Amy Wolfgang was an outstanding middle-distance runner and hurdler for the Bulldogs and Alma College before becoming the women's track coach at Albion College. Matt Heydlauff won the 1977 state championship in pole vaulting.

"Bert was a great guy, a great teacher and a great coach," said Heydlauff, who still holds the school pole vaulting record of 14 feet. "He never blew up at people so I think a lot of athletes respected him for that."

Lisa Monti won the 3,200-meter state title before a career at the University of South Carolina. And Charity Allen won the 300-meter hurdles at the state meet.

"All of the really great athletes had an ability to visualize their events," said Kruse, whose son Paul was an All-American doubles tennis player at Ball State. "They could pick up very quickly on technique. You could tell them once, and they'd be able to visualize it."

Kruse's 1970 boys' team won a regional championship and the 1982 team placed second. He also was a part of three straight regional championships and four Southeastern Conference titles with the girls' team in the 1990s.

Kruse has seen the sport evolve during his career at Chelsea, adding the 3,200 meters, discus and 400-meter relays. Even the hurdle distances have changed.

"It seems like everything has changed except Bert," said Oren Wireman, a catcher on Kruse's first Chelsea baseball team. "Nobody ever had anything bad to say about him. He was a dedicated teacher and a dedicated coach."

Sloan strengthens conditioning

Jeff Sloan certainly understands the importance of strength training and conditioning in athletics.

A former All-Southeastern Conference quarterback at Ypsilanti Lincoln High School, Sloan led the Railsplitter football team to a 7-2 record in 1985—the school's best mark since 1958.

Now, the 28-year-old Sloan would like to see that same type of excellence for Chelsea athletics. Only this time as a coach.

Sloan, an assistant football and baseball coach at Chelsea, pioneered a summer strength and conditioning program through Chelsea Community Education for students to train during the off-season.

A program that began in 1992 with about 30-35 students has increased to 65 students for this summer's eight-week session.

The students, mostly eighth- to 12th-graders, paid a $30 membership fee to partake in the strength and conditioning program that ended last Friday, Aug. 9. The program ran from 7 a.m. to noon Monday.

Drollet loss shocks some residents

By Michelle Rogers
Associate Editor

Long-time Dexter Township Supervisor Jim Drollet's defeat in last Tuesday's primary is sending shock waves through the township.

Drollet was ousted from office when he garnered just 293 votes to challenger John Sdao's 360. Sdao is a political newcomer, while Drollet has been a mainstay in Dexter Township office for 14 years. The past 12 years of Drollet's political career has been in the supervisor's post.

"I was shocked, I was thoroughly shocked," said George Stripp, a 14-year resident of the township.

"I thought Jim was doing an excellent job over his tenure. His opponent seemed to be running against the support of the sewer situation, and to me that's an old battle."

"I live on the lake and I saw the pollution from not having sewers. I thought that was the best thing for the lake community. To make that a campaign issue, I thought, was deplorable," said Stripp, 47.

Drollet weathered an unsuccessful recall election over the sewer project. His campaign for re-election this year was based on his long tenure, accomplishments in office and concern for orderly growth.

Sdao, a 30-year-old computer systems consultant, ran on pledges of strengthening communication between government and citizens and tightening the ropes of development. He also advocated a two-year term limit for the supervisor's post and possibility of hiring a township manager.

Dexter Township Clerk Bill Eisenbeiser, who was re-elected to office 72-21 over opponent Mark Wojno, partly attributes Drollet's loss to low voter turnout.

"I was somewhat surprised that Drollet was upset. But you never know what the real mood of the voters is at the time of the election."

"When you have a small number voting, it's very hard to predict whose going to win," Eisenbeiser said.

Of some 3,400 registered township voters, just 950 voted in the primary.

Township resident Richard Darr, 64, was another surprised voter. "I didn't think things had been too terribly bad. There has been some improvements and some things I didn't agree with, but that's how it goes," Darr said.

Darr has lived in the township for the past 25 years. He says he didn't know Drollet personally, but he did vote for Drollet in the primary after researching his stand on issues. Darr said he knew less about Sdao.

"I don't know where this person specifically stands except he thinks we pay too many taxes," Darr said about Sdao.

Darr says he will seek out more information about Sdao so he can make an educated vote in the November election. Sdao faces Democratic contender Burton Hooey in the general election.

Like Darr, Stripp isn't sure if he will vote for Sdao come November. "I am not sure," he said. "I believe in being an informed voter and I don't know enough to say what I'll do."

As for the township's future, both men say it's questionable. "It's hard to say. I thought Jim did a good job," Stripp said.

Darr pointed to Sdao's campaign assertion that Drolett guided a high-spending administration. But Darr predicts Sdao will not escape the same fate. "We'll see more of that as the federal and state government pass the burden down to the local level," he said.

Beard named All-American

By Phil Lozen
Staff Writer

The honors just keep coming for Chelsea graduate and all-anything softball player Lisa Beard.

Beard, who already has been named All-SEC, All-Region, All-State, — and I'm sure there's a couple I am missing — was recently named a second team All-American as a pitcher.

Beard made the first team last year as a utility player, and this year both her and her coach/father Joe Beard, figured that's where the accolades would come again. But not so.

"I really thought she would get the utility player," said Joe. "But I guess she pitched so many innings that they went with her as a pitcher."

Only 32 players nationwide make the All-American squads, and they are voted in by the National Softball Coaches Association. Beard, who last year became the first Chelsea High player to be named All-American, becomes the first Chelsea High player to make the team two years in a row.

"I was really surprised I made it as a pitcher," she said. "It really is a good feeling, though."

"It's a great feeling to know that I am the first person at Chelsea to make this team," she added. "It really feels pretty cool."

Beard has been keeping quite busy this offseason, playing with a Computware travel team that has taken her all over the country, from Ohio to Colorado.

She just this week returned from Minnesota and the ASA National Tournament where her team went 2-2. But now she has about two weeks off before her next odyssey begins as she takes the field as a Michigan Wolverine.

"I just got back and I'm going to relax for two weeks," he said. "I've been doing a lot of traveling, so it'll be nice to relax."

Lisa Beard has been named a Second Team All-American.

But on Sept. 6, it's back to business as freshmen practice starts for the Maize and Blue.

Beard will be on a team that has been to the College World Series two years running, so it may be tough to crack that line-up.

Neither Beard is quite sure where U-M will have her playing this season, but it's a fairly safe bet that she will be in the mix somewhere along the line.

"She's a good hitter, so I am sure they wanted to get her bat on the team," Joe said. "But beyond that it's hard to tell."

So after leading Chelsea to the state quarterfinals this season, Beard hopes some of that magic will carry her into a spot for the Wolverines.

"I'm very excited for this," she said. "They have a great team, I can't wait."

—Early-Season Sprinting—

Chelsea varsity football hopefuls go through a series of windsprints as part of Monday's first day of practice. Chelsea opens the season on Friday, Sept. 6 at Mason, then returns home the following week to host Saline.

Rampy Chevrolet has special edition car

By Phil Lozen
Staff Writer

It may not move as fast as the Chevrolet Monte Carlo that Jeff Gordon drove to victory in the inaugural Brickyard 400 on Aug. 6, 1994, the first NASCAR race run at the legendary Indianapolis Motor Speedway, but this 1995 Monte Carlo Z34 has all the characteristics of a Jeff Gordon car, including his autograph.

Rampy Chevrolet on Jackson Road is proud owner of one of only 400 special edition Monte Carlo Pace Cars produced with the Brickyard 400 logo and special edition decals and additions.

But this car is special, a true collector's item. Jeff Gordon signed the rear spoiler and the sun visors, making this a unique automobile.

Chuck Stoddard, salesman in charge of the car, says he believes this is the only car in the 400 that has Gordon's signature emblazoned on it.

"This really is a collector's item," he said. "Any Jeff Gordon or NASCAR fan would be proud to own this piece of history."

This particular pace car, number 188 of 400, came to Rampy about a year ago when the dealership purchased it from a dealer in Ohio. Rampy then decided that it would be even more distinctive if they could get the Brickyard champion to sign the car.

The plan was for Gordon to meet with Rampy officials when he was in Brooklyn for the Miller Genuine Draft 400 in 1995, but the two never crossed paths.

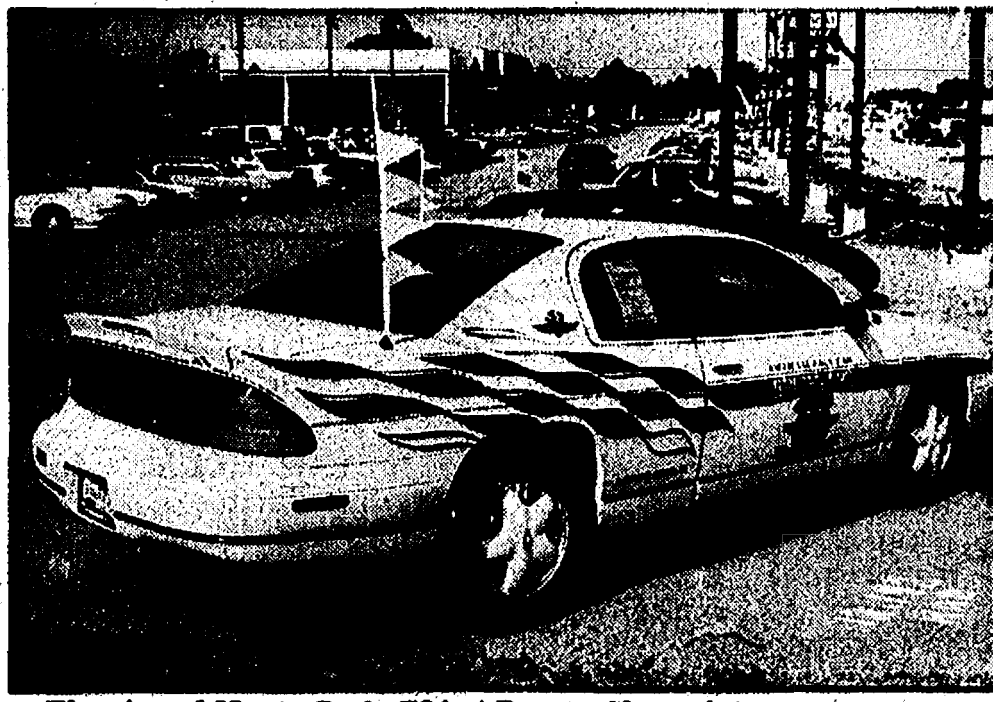

Undaunted, the rear spoiler and the sun visors were mailed to Gordon's home, where he gladly signed the pieces of the car.

A Clear Cote finish has been applied over the signature on the spoiler to ensure that it will remain.

The car has only 1,400 miles and has never been titled, meaning it has never been privately owned. It was stored in the Rampy showroom during the winter and is not driven on the lot. To say it is in mint condition is an understatement.

"The car is pristine," Stoddard says. "It is one of few new cars that would be allowed into car shows, outside of maybe Vipers or other exotic cars. It is a rarity."

The car also is loaded.

The signed Monte Carlo Z34 at Rampy Chevrolet.

Leather interior, complete with Brickyard 400 logo embroidered into the seats and floor mats. All the bells and whistles from AM/FM cassette to power everything make this a top-of-the-line motorcar.

A 210 horsepower, 3.4 liter V6 powertrain, while it may not propel you around Indy at 189 miles per hour, gives this white knight plenty of get up and go.

Special insignias on the car's dash authenticate its membership in the exclusive 400 car group, and a special authentication is included for the autographed portions of the car.

The car sells for $23,500, and Stoddard says they are looking for a buyer.

"We have had it for about a year, and now we want someone else to enjoy it," he said. "Any car collector should give this one some serious thought."

Stoddard can be reached at 663-3321, ext. 226.

NHRA champion auto stores nationals

Defending two-time Winston Top Fuel Champion Scott Kalitta of Chelsea knows how to get to the final round of a National Hot Rod Association event. He has been to 23 finals in the last three and a half years, 24 in his career. He would like nothing better than to score number 25 at the NHRA Champion Auto Stores Nationals this weekend (Aug. 15-17) at Brainerd International Raceway.

The 34-year-old driver of the American International Airways/Sequent Computers entry currently finds himself in third place in the Winston point standings, eight rounds out of first place. Kalitta needs a good showing in Brainerd to close the gap that Blaine Johnson is extending (Kenny Bernstein is second, 15 points ahead of Kalitta.) The past two years Kalitta was leading the points at this stage of the season. This year, though, he had been plagued by a few gremlins.

The problems started when Kalitta went into an unrecoverable wheelstand in the final round of the Mac Tools Gatornationals in March. The car was destroyed when it flipped over backwards. Kalitta was uninjured and in his back-up car two weeks later at the Slick 50 Nationals where he took his first pole position of the season and went to the semifinals. The primary car was back in action at the Fram Nationals where Kalitta again qualified on the pole but went out in round one.

Kalitta made it back to the finals at the Pennzoil Nationals but fell to Shelly Anderson. Four races later he was back in the finals taking the win at the Western Auto Nationals over Bernstein. Kalitta also set the National speed record in Topeka at 315.67 mph.

Two races later disaster struck again in the first round of the Autolite Nationals as the left rear tire blew out about half-track sending Kalitta into the retaining wall twice and, again, destroying his primary car. The back-up car was put into service again at the recently completed Northwest Nationals where Larry Dixon took the first round win over Kalitta. With 24 rounds of racing left in his quest for a third straight Winston title, Kalitta knows that every round he goes is critical towards securing his goal.

In 1993 Kalitta was the number one qualifier at the Champion Auto Stores Nationals and in 1994 he was runner-up to Don Prudhomme. At last year's event he fell to Mike Dunn in round two after qualifying number eight.

Professional drivers will have the first attempts at qualifying for the Champion Auto Stores Nationals on Friday, Aug. 16 with sessions at 2 and 6 p.m. (CDT). Qualifying will conclude with sessions at Noon and 4 p.m. on Saturday. Final eliminations are scheduled for 11 a.m., Sunday, Aug. 18.

A one-hour highlights show from the event will be aired on ESPN on Friday, Aug. 23, at 9:30 p.m. (EDT).

Thank You Radha Family!

I'll bet if I were to ask you if you got more venison than you could use this year, you would probably think I was trying to mooch a package of free steaks wouldn't you?

More venison than you could eat, that's a problem that most hunters only wish they had, but it is a possibility now that some of Michigan's deer hunting limits have been loosened up a bit.

Most hunters will not find an oversupply of deer meat a problem, since they probably just hunt the regular firearm season and not all hunters are lucky or skilled enough to take more than one or two deer per season. Most families can handle that much venison, especially if they like it. But a hunter that hunts the early archery season, the regular firearms season, the muzzle-loading season and the late archery season, with a little luck, can end up with more venison in the freezer than his family could ever eat, without growing antlers.

When this happens, your freezer fills rapidly and there is very little room left for a varied assortment of other foods to be eaten with the venison.

There are several ways to spread this delicious, nutritious table fare around a bit.

The first is to offer some of your excess to friends, that's number one on my list. I have several friends and relatives, some that do not hunt, that I have given my extra meat to in the past if they expressed their desire before it was all doled out. But don't force the meat on someone who says they do not like venison, unless you know they will cook and try it. I have heard of some that took the meat just to be polite then fed it to the dog.

Another outlet is to go back to the farmer or landowner who was nice enough to let you hunt his land. If he is not a hunter but he likes venison, he will welcome your visit when you come with a package of venison in each hand. He may not have had time to hunt or

by Jerry D. Posey

maybe just didn't get around to it this year, but next year, when you ask for permission to hunt again, I'll bet he will remember who it was that gave him the venison.

Another group of people that may be glad to help reduce your over-supply are invalids or shut-ins that don't get a chance to hunt. This includes older people, some of whom may have been hunters but are no longer able to make the annual trek to the woods. Just because they no longer hunt doesn't mean they no longer like venison.

Also, don't forget the fellows you spent time with in the woods this year. Did they all get a deer or were you the only lucky one and some of them didn't fill their tags? An offer made to any of my fellow hunters has seldom been refused.

Probably the ones I think of, and offer steak and venison burger to first, are the ones that made similar offers to me during the years that I did not bring home venison, and there have been a few years like that.

The DNR reports that they have been contacted by several hunting organizations and charitable organizations and have been asked to pass their names on to anyone having extra game meat to donate to needy families and worthy causes. The DNR encourages these donations as long as the game was taken by means of legal hunting and would be glad to pass on to you thenames of these organizations. Just call your local DNR district office for more information.

I can't find the paper clipping, but about a month ago I read an article in the newspaper that said the Salvation Army would take any wild-game meat donation that was offered, and this is one organization that I would be sure to pass some of my excess on to, since I have long felt that it is doing a great job of helping the needy.

This organization is run by an almost 100-percent volunteer group and has shown that nearly all donations given to it are passed on to those that need a little help. Very little is kept to pay for overhead or leadership. You don't hear much about this organization any more but that is because they don't use your donation money to advertise or for solicitations, it goes where you intended it to go, to the needy. But they are still out there and doing a great job.

Venison can be kept in the freezer for up to one year if it is handled properly and kept from freezer burn, which can usually be done by double wrapping the meat when it is processed but after the meat has been kept frozen for too long a period, it seems to lose some of its flavor, just as beef or pork will.

Venison is very low in cholesterol, since you are trimming all fat from the meat when preparing to cook it and is a healthy food for those who must watch their diet for one reason or another.

It is my feeling that anyone who has tried venison and did not care for it, has had meat that was either not properly cared for when it was processed or was not cooked properly. I challenge any one to try venison stirfry, or Swissed venison steak, prepared by my wife and honestly tell me that they don't like it. It would be a first.

Venison can be used in any food dish that calls for beef, such as roasts, stews, and soups, and venison burger can be used in spaghetti sauces, chili, tacos, meatloafs and all kinds of casseroles.

My family's favorite ways of fixing venison are venison-jerky and venison stirfry and we also eat a lot of pasta dishes made with venison instead of beef.

My wife and I have an extensive collection of wild game recipes and I have been considering including a few once in a while with this column so that others may find they enjoy new ways of preparing this delicious meat as we have.

But let me suggest one more time, if you know of someone who could use a little help in reducing the large percentage of their income that is spent on groceries, any gift of your excess venison may provide them with a treat that would be greatly appreciated. Pass the venison around!

REDUCING CAVITIES BY 65%
Because studies have shown that the addition of a small amount of fluoride to the water supply can reduce cavities by as much as 65%, some 7,000 communities have chosen to treat their water with fluoride over the past 30 years. Fluoride is the single most effective element we have today for preventing tooth decay.
There are other methods of applying fluoride to the teeth such as: topical application at your dentist's office; at-home application of fluoride gel by a mouthguard type applicator; special fluoride mouth rinses; fluoride tablets; and brushing with accepted fluoride toothpaste. But, as a whole, fluoridated water has proven to be the most effective and simplest application.
Is fluoridation safe? Yes! Literally hundreds of carefully conducted scientific research studies have shown that the use of fluoride at the levels recommended for optimum dental health (about one part per million in water) has no harmful effects. Its use is supported by virtually all national and international health organizations.
Prepared by Custom Column Service as a public service to promote better dental health.

—Clerks Tour Proving Grounds—

Chrysler Proving Grounds hosted the Washtenaw County Clerks Association on July 23 for a luncheon and tour of the grounds. The clerks were also treated to a close-up look at a Viper and a Prowler, Chrysler's most prestigious sports cars. Pictured are Plant Manager Don Goodwin, Washtenaw County Clerk Peggy Haines, Sylvan Township Deputy Clerk and newly elected Sylvan Township Treasurer Arlene Grau and Sylvan Township Clerk LuAnn Koch.

County to continue assessment for local recycling program

The Washtenaw County Ways & Means Committee approved the continuation of the Western Washtenaw Recycling Project at its Aug. 7 board meeting in Ann Arbor.

The Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority provides curbside recycling services for Chelsea and Manchester, and drop-off recycling services for the townships of Bridgewater, Dexter, Lima, Lyndon, Manchester and Sylvan. Over the past five years, the authority has diverted more than 5,000 tons of material from landfill disposal.

The extended contract allows the county to continue to provide assistance to these communities for the next five years at the same rate as the first five years: $30 per household per year for the villages, and $17 per household per year for the townships.

Rally for Crop Walk set for Aug. 18

Chelsea Crop-walk '96 is fast approaching.

A recruitment rally for Area Church Recruiters will be held on Aug. 25 at 3 p.m., at the Faith in Action House (Chelsea Community Hospital Campus).

The Chelsea Crop-Walk '96 will be held on Oct. 6 at 1 a.m. starting from St. Paul UCC.

The goals for 1996 are to raise $7,500 and have a total of at least 175 walkers. This year the walk has been rerouted to take advantage of the new hospital entrance which will avoid the woods and cornfields.

All churches, service clubs and other organizations are invited to join the Crop-Walk. Each year the Golden Sneaker Award is presented to the organization that collects the highest average pledge per walker.

In addition to aiding people in other places combat hunger, the Faith In Action programs receive financial support. FIA received $1,688.51 from the 1995 Chelsea Crop-Walk for their work in the community.

Deadline set for clothing donations

This summer, Faith In Action has been blessed by the communities with an abundant supply of clothing, so much so it cannot accept any more summer clothing this year. Winter clothing will be greatly appreciated after Sept. 15, which will give volunteers time to prepare the clothing room.

Faith In Action again requests that donations be brought during working hours, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, unless other arrangements have been made by contacting FIA House prior to delivery. When clothing (especially) is left outside it gets damp or wild creatures get into it and it has to be disposed at the village dump, which costs money that could be better used elsewhere.

"All of us at Faith In Action deeply appreciate the support we receive from all of you, without you we would not be able to provide the help that many need in the community. Your contributions of food, clothing, money and many other items make the burden of your neighbor easier to bear, for them we thank you, keep up your good work," said the Rev. Dr. Jerrold Beaumont.

Don't Burn it — Recycle It!

Protect our natural resources — recycle yard wastes, instead of burning them. Recycling yard wastes through composting and mulching eliminates the smoke and fire hazards from burning, and enriches the soil. It also saves precious landfill space.

Sponsored by the Michigan Interagency Wildland Fire Protection Association

The regular meeting of the Sylvan Township Board was held August 7, 1996 at 7 p.m. in the Sylvan Township Hall, 112 W. Middle Street, Chelsea, MI.

The following board members were present: Supervisor Dresselhouse, Clerk Koch, Treasurer Pearsall, Trustee Heller and Trustee Lesser.

Also present were Charles Burgess, Arlene Grau, Don Schoenberg. Congratulations were extended to Arlene Grau for being elected the new Sylvan Township Treasurer.

Minutes for the July meeting were approved with changes.

Motion by Pearsall, supported by Heller to pay bills as presented.

Alan Cole was present to discuss with the Board the District Library Agreement with its changes. The Board felt concern over the ownership issue as it relates to any building modifications that may arise and also would like to see the District Wide Library Planning Committee come back to the table and take a look at another Library Law that would form a Library differently than the District Library Law.

Zoning Inspector Burgess reported 4 permits and 1 Certificate of Occupancy issued in July.

Supervisor Dresselhouse reported on the CAPT meeting stating that an Area Wide Fire is in the future, also Dresselhouse reported that a group of people are interested in restoring the Old School House on Old US 12 in Sylvan Center. The School House is near the property the Township has purchased for a future Town Hall and it also next to the Township Maple Grove Cemetery. The Board agreed to look into the cost to purchase the School House.

Clerk Koch reported that she will be moving her office to the Township Hall the end of August. A request was made to purchase a computer desk. Motion by Lesser, supported by Pearsall to purchase a desk not to exceed $600.00. Carried.

Motion by Koch, supported by Pearsall to adopt a Resolution for Western Washtenaw Recycle Authority regarding the 5 year contract with the Department of Public Works and the Special Assessment continue. Roll call vote-all ayes.

Motion by Pearsall, supported by Heller to approve the merge of Continental Cablevision with US West with intent to toll the 120 days without objection. Carried.

A letter was received from Arden Musbach regarding the spelling of the MUSHBACH road sign. Records indicate the spelling as it is, is incorrect and should be spelled MUSBACH. Motion by Heller, supported by Koch to request the Washtenaw County Road Commission to hold public hearings to correct the spelling of the road and Sylvan Township will provide the Road Commission with names and addresses current residents living on Musbach Road. Carried.

Motion by Lesser, supported by Koch to amend the Land Division Application.

A Resolution regarding County-Wide PDR (Purchase of Development Rights) was presented. Supervisor Dresselhouse expressed concern that no action be taken on this as the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners were meeting at the same time as the Township Board. Therefore no action was taken on Resolution.

PDR (Purchase Development Rights)-Sylvan Township was presented in the General Development Plan as a planning tool. The Planning Commission adopted the GDP and recommended to the Township Board to place PDR on the November ballot.

Supervisor Dresselhouse again pointed out that the County Commissioners were meeting the very same time as the Board to reach the County decision as to a County-Wide PDR ballot question. With the issue of a double tax in front of Sylvan Township it was recommended by the Supervisor to not make any decision on the Township PDR until the County has made their decision. Therefore a special meeting would need to occur if the County voted down their PDR proposal and Sylvan Township could then make their decision whether to put a PDR question on the November ballot. Treasurer Pearsall stated to forego the special meeting as he was not in favor of PDR. Trustee Lesser stated that he was not informed enough on the issue of PDR make a decision.

Clerk Koch stated that there were to many unanswered questions, concerns over the State Land Use package including PDR was pending. The County legal counsel stating no statutory authority to operate a PDR program, and with no verbiage in writing as to what would be put on the ballot, a decision could not be made. After much discussion Supervisor Dresselhouse insisted on a motion for the record or a Special Meeting would occur. Motion by Koch, supported by Pearsall that the Purchase of Development Rights NOT be placed on the November 1996 ballot due to the lack of education by the Board. 3 ayes, 2 nays. Carried.

Supervisor Dresselhouse stated that PDR was a dead issue and the meeting was adjourned.

—Running and Walking To Fight Cancer—

Relay for Life was held Saturday and Sunday at the Chelsea High School track as a fundraiser to help the fight against cancer. Organizers achieved their goal of raising $20,000. The event was a 24-hour run-walk and companies sponsored teams. Above, Diana Walsh of Chelsea's Liberty Title Co., left, works a baton while walking the track. Below, 4-year-old Alex McMurray talks to a group about his fight against lymphoma shortly before taking the track for the "Victory Lap," a lap run and walked by cancer survivors.

day, Wednesday and Friday. "It's not exclusively open to males on the football team or just athletes, it's open to anybody," Sloan said. "But we typically get kids who are preparing for fall sports."

"We emphasize strength training to make sure we can stay injury-free. As the summer goes on, we do more conditioning like running."

The program ended last week because most fall high school sports teams begin practice this week. Sloan is starting his sixth season as an assistant varsity football coach, primarily working with the defensive backs and receivers.

Although more than half of the participants are high school football players, Sloan said he welcomes anyone from the community to join the program. But he is adamant about a minimum age.

"I don't take any kids younger than 13," Sloan said. "I don't see a need to start kids before eighth grade. Kids around 13 or 14 are ready, but before that is not necessary."

Sloan also has helped improve the weight room's equipment in recent years. HammerStrength leg press and leg curl machines were added in the last few years, while seated press and bench press equipment were acquired from Eastern Michigan University in the spring.

One of Sloan's greatest joys of the summer strength and conditioning program is watching the development of students from middle-schoolers to college-bound athletes.

"Several of them have gone on to play in college," said Sloan, who will teach a new exercise science class this fall in addition to ninth-grade health, ninth-grade fitness and advanced fitness courses.

"I can recall seeing many students young-looking and young in stature develop and mature into athletes. My situation lets me see them mature physically."

Study needs volunteers

Can breast cancer be prevented? Researchers at Detroit's Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute are looking for area women to participate in a study that may answer this question.

The Breast Cancer Prevention Trial, established in 1992, is an international effort to determine whether the drug tamoxifen can prevent breast cancer. Tamoxifen has already proven effective in the treatment of breast cancer, to prevent recurrence in women already diagnosed with the disease. It is the most commonly-prescribed cancer medication in the world.

"Research studies such as this one are vital if we are to understand how best to treat — and to prevent — breast cancer," said Michael Simon, M.D., the Institute's principal investigator for the study.

According to Simon, African American women are especially encouraged to participate. "We need to make sure our results are representative of the entire population."

To be eligible, women must be 35 or older, with a family history of breast cancer or a personal history of benign breast biopsies. Participants will receive either the drug or a placebo (a pill containing no drugs). For more information, call Erica Anderson, (313) 745-9600 or Ann Marie Ferris, (313) 993-0097.

"O SON OF SPIRIT! The best beloved of all things in My sight is Justice; turn not away therefrom if thou desirest Me, and neglect it not that I may abide in thee, by its aid thou shalt see with thine own eyes and not through the eyes of others, and shalt know of thine own knowledge and not through the knowledge of thy neighbor. Fender this in thy heart; how it behooveth thee to be. Verily Justice is My gift to thee and the sign of My loving-kindness. Set it then before thine eyes."

Dexter

A Tricky Maneuver

Tricked by a grandfatherly gentleman and his pet "mongoose," Nicholas Mikeska of Pinckney tries to get a closer look. But when he pulled the string, a fake mongoose leaped out at him and a crowd of children. The trick was an unofficial attraction during Dexter Daze, held Friday and Saturday in downtown Dexter. Other highlights included musical entertainment, craft sales and raffle drawings.

Farm Bureau facts

There are fewer dairy farms in America but they are growing in size. The number of farms went down by 5 percent last year, to about 112,000, but the average size of a dairy operation rose, with an increase in the number of farms with 100 head or more of dairy cattle. Michigan dairy herds produce about 5.5 billion pounds of milk each year.

First Chelsea Fair organized in 1872

Next week Chelsea will present its 59th Annual Chelsea Community Fair as it has evolved today.

Management of the fair and its location have experienced many changes over the years, but the original purpose of the founding farmers remains the same: To improve the science of agriculture, horticulture and stock raising along with education in these pursuits.

The first community fair was held in the old Chelsea High School in 1872. It was organized by the Northwestern Farmers Club of Washtenaw County.

By 1880 a race track and grandstand were built west of town at the site where Chelsea Retirement Community is today. The early fairs became rather famous attracting people from miles around. One main feature was the horse racing. "Texas Jim" brought racing horses each year to the fair. It was said he always brought good stock and even sold some of his horses to the local "Sports."

In 1890 the Union Agricultural Society held their "First Annual Fair" Oct. 7, 8 and 9. They advertised: "No pains will be spared to make it one of the best fairs ever held in Chelsea."

For a few years the fairs closed and the grandstand was sold and moved to a point along the railroad track and used for a dried apple factory, then a bean factory until it burned down.

Many local Chelsea people remember "Sports Day" held in the 1920s as part of the fair celebration downtown.

There were years when the fair couldn't be held (as in World War II) and there was a down time when the fairgrounds and building had to be sold to pay off the mortgage.

The present fairgrounds property is bordered by Old U.S. 12 and Old Manchester Road. There are several substantial buildings for contests, auctions, exhibits, storage, fair operations and public service.

The fair kitchen once operated during the week of the fair in the "Red School House" or Merkel School which was moved from Chrysler Proving grounds to the fair grounds in the 1950s (It was St. Barnabas Episcopal Church for the rest of the year). By the 1970s it had outlived its usefulness and was removed and replaced by the current Fair Kitchen building. In addition a new pole barn called "Little Red Barn" was built on grounds once occupied by the Red School.

The Fair Queen Contest started in 1950 with the first queen being Wanda Eschelbach. Early queen candidates competed in front of the grandstand, rain or shine, on a platform or wagon. They now compete in the newly closed-in arena which seats 4,000 spectators.

The "Demolition Derby" organized in the 1980s is still attracting record evening crowds.

"Ladies Day" another newer (1980s), entertaining and popular event is still being held on Friday in the main arena.

Today the Chelsea Community Fair fulfills all of the aspirations of its founders and is strongly self-supporting.

Exhibitors of all ages number in the hundreds. Among them are exhibitors of animals, including many youngsters who are 4-H members or livestock club members. Bids for some of the winning cattle, swine and lambs are among the highest in Washtenaw County.

Interesting exhibitions are presented by merchants, civic and social organizations as well as talented artisans. Liberal premiums are offered.

Amusement rides for children, and scores of carnival attractions, horse shows, livestock auctions, plus the drama of tractor pulls, demolition derbies and mud bogs are some of the popular events held in the past and present.

Chelsea Community Fair has matured in 124 years as a brilliant showcase of the agricultural skills, arts, crafts and friendship of western Washtenaw County. The fair is a meeting place where country families and village families can come together to celebrate.

Chelsea Community Fair runs Tuesday-Saturday

The 59th Annual Chelsea Community Fair gets going in earnest with a full slate of activities Tuesday, Aug. 20, starting with the traditional Children's Parade and Kid's Day activities. Whether your interest is in rabbit judging, draft horses, Powder Puff Demolition Derby or other events, there's probably something for you Tuesday.

And the remainder of the fair, which runs through Saturday, Aug. 24, promises much, much more.

This year's fair will maintain many of the long-time favorite events and activities with a few new ones added.

The main arena will feature a rodeo presented by Wagon Wheel on Thursday, Aug. 22.

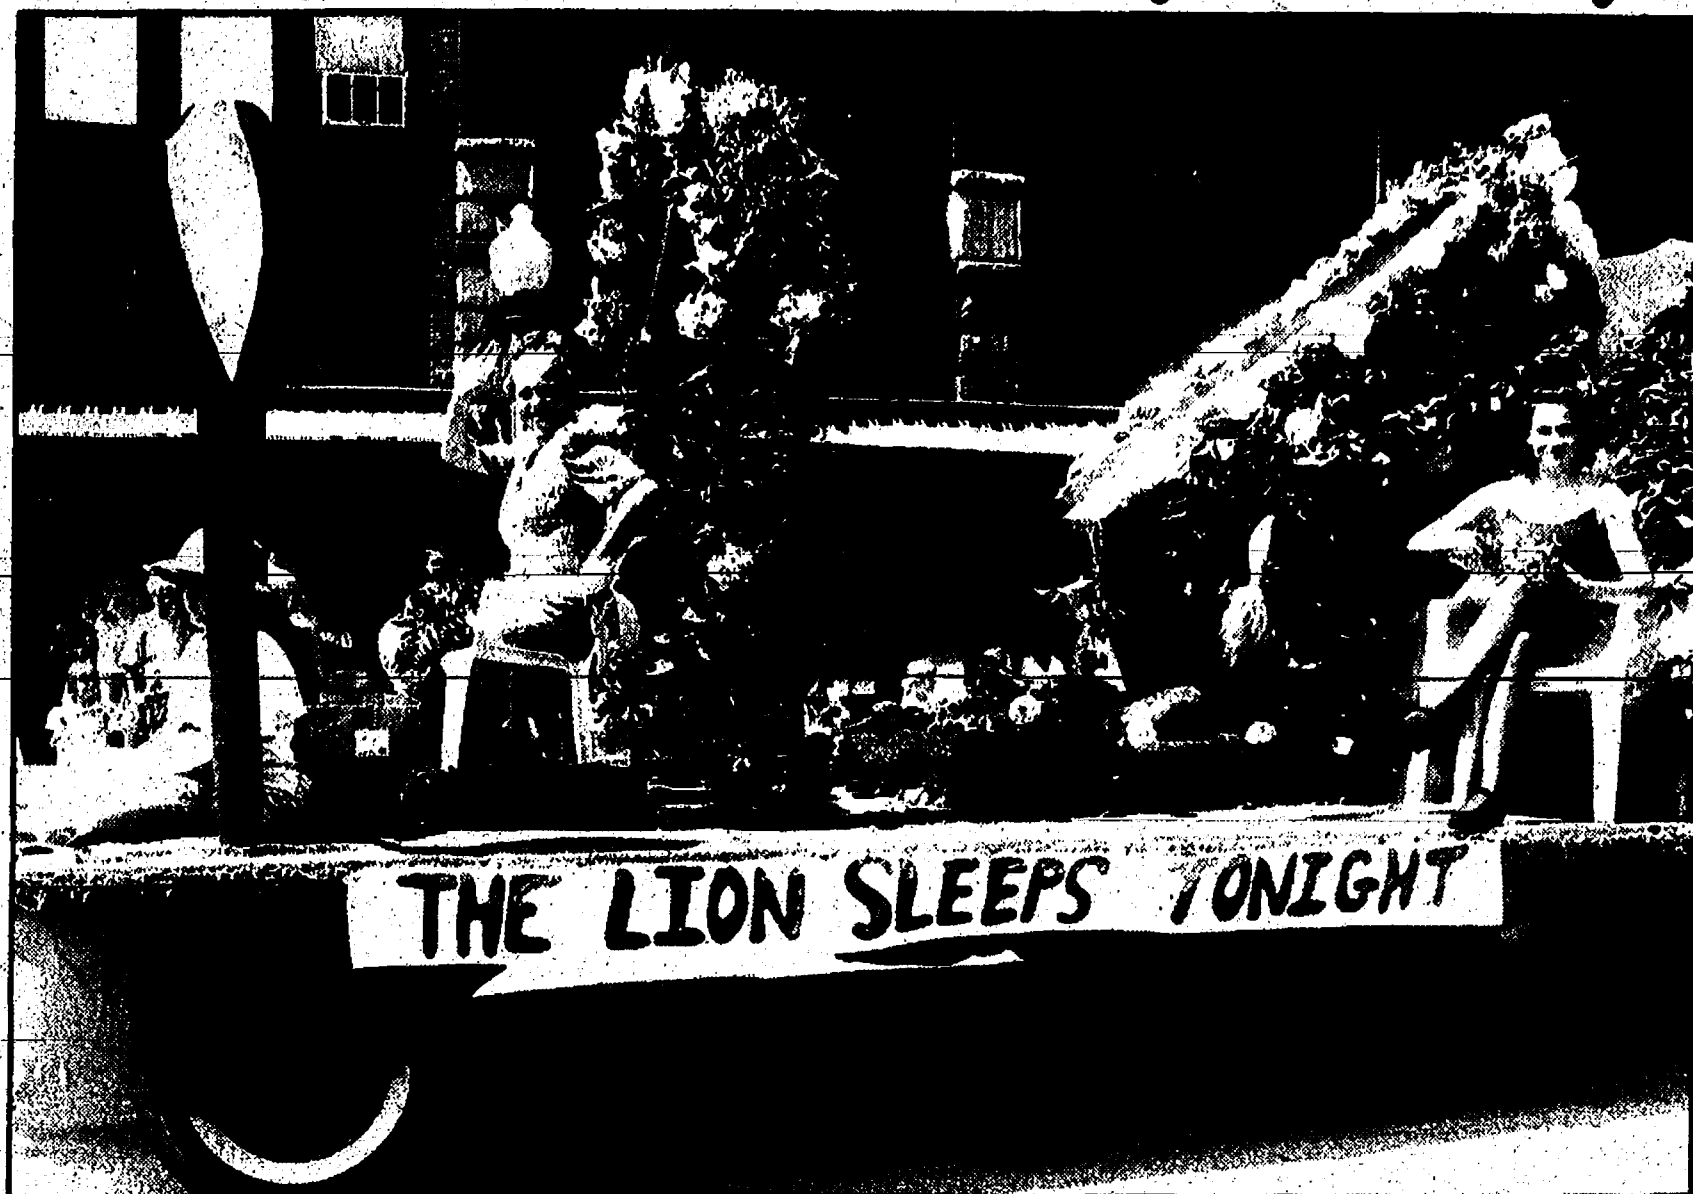

The expanded multi-purpose arena, now able to seat an additional 300 audience members, will feature the Saline Fiddlers, followed by the country and western line-dancing of the Diamondback Dance Team, on Saturday night Aug. 24.

Traditional big events like the selection of the Fair Queen, the Chelsea Fair Parade, tractor pulls, livestock judging and others will be featured once again.

Chelsea Fair Board President Ken McCalla said he hopes for a total crowd of 50,000 for the five-day fair, assuming comfortable weather.

Midway rides are again being provided by Pugh Shows. Kids and adults can buy individual tickets or one ride-all-day ticket.

Some of the highlights of the biggest community fair in Michigan include Tuesday's Children's

The Chelsea Fair Parade is perhaps the most popular single attraction of the Chelsea Community Fair. Children have the chance to collect plenty of candy thrown from vehicles.

Day activities, including the Children's Parade; the Cavalcade of Thrills Demolition Derby on Tuesday and Wednesday; the Livestock Auction and rodeo on Thursday; Ladies Day and the Chelsea Fair Queen Program on Friday; and the ever-growing Chelsea Fair Parade on Saturday.

Daily admission to the fair is $4 for anyone 13 and older, while younger children get in free. Senior citizens get in free on Thursday, women get a reduced rate of $3 on Friday. Season passes are $12, while high school students with a high school ID get in for $8.

Volunteers are the backbone of the fair. They run the events, and staff the parking lots. But more than anything else, they work all year long to get the fairgrounds ready for Chelsea's largest event of the year.

A complete daily schedule of events is listed below.

BUILDINGS CHELSEA'S FUTURE

Demolition Derby offers plenty of excitement

Ladies and gentlemen: "Start your engines."

Less than a week remains before the annual no-holds-barred Cavalcade of Thrills Demolition Derby returns to the Chelsea Fair.

The first collision should start around 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday at the Chelsea Fairgrounds. A second derby is scheduled for the same time Wednesday.

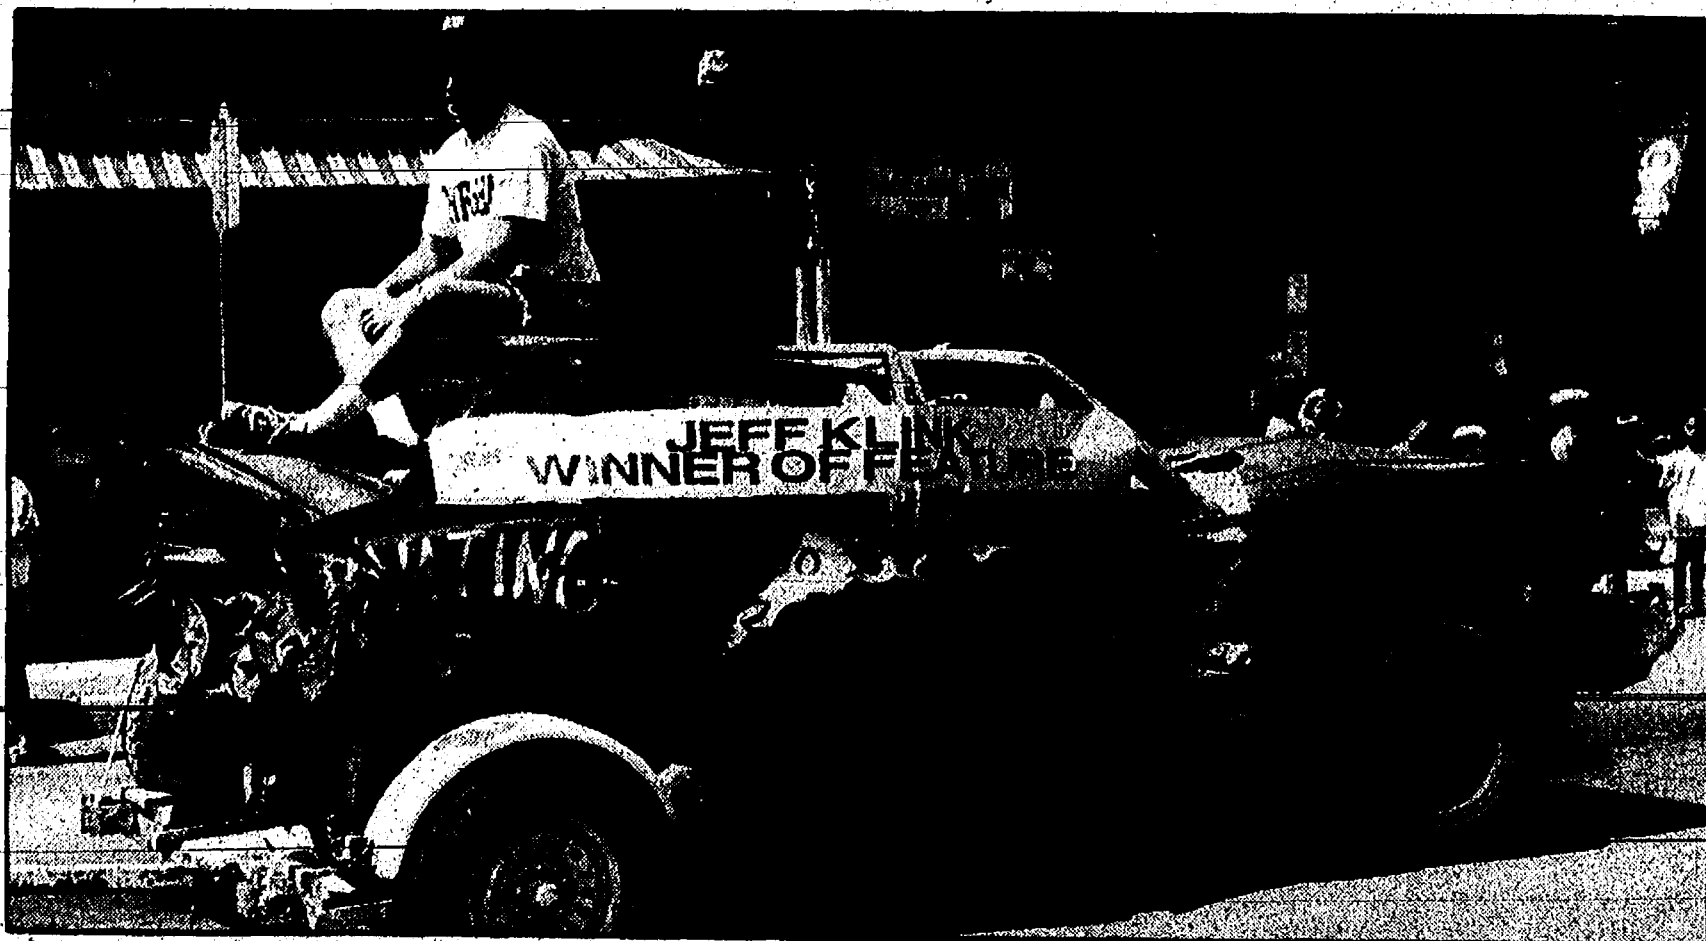

"It's total destruction," said derby assistant organizer Jeff Layher, "until the last car stops moving under its own power."

Drivers must be at least 18 years old, and must have a valid driver's license in possession for inspection when signing in day of exhibition.

Ladies have the first green light with the Powder Puff heat slated for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Three heats of more than 20 cars will follow. The last three moving cars from the four heats—including the Powder Puff—will square off in the feature.

"The station wagons seem to be the hottest ticket," said Layher, owner of Paris Peddler in Chelsea. "It's big and heavy. The bigger, the better."

Small cars with no more than a 104-inch wheel base are eligible to compete in the compact car demolition derby to start Wednesday's events.

The Cavalcade of Thrills Demolition Derby is the single event of the Chelsea Community Fair that lasts two nights. It's one of the most popular attractions.

Three regular heats will follow the compact cars to set up the night's feature. All cars except the first night's winner can be entered in the derby both days.

"Every year we have more people," Layher said. "Even last year we added more bleachers and still had people standing.

"The biggest thing the drivers get out of it is the competition. They get out there and smash each other. It gets the adrenaline going. We see a lot of the same faces each year, and a few newcomers."

Drivers from Belleville, Jackson and Ann Arbor are expected to compete in the derby, as well as many local participants from the greater Chelsea-Dexter area.

"Some guys start fixing their cars up two months after its over," Layher added.

The Chelsea Fair has free parking, and the $4 daily fee includes admission to grandstand events like the derby.

'Sentimental Journey' is popular Ladies Day theme

Gonna take a "Sentimental Journey" into the big band era of the 1930s/1940s. Want to come along?

The invitation is open to all area women. The 1996 Chelsea Community Fair Ladies Day committee has been working for several months to put together a program for all women to enjoy.

The Ladies Day program will take place on Friday, Aug. 23 at the covered, newly-enclosed arena at the fairgrounds. Registration will begin at 8 a.m.

"It's hard to please everyone, especially when you have 500 to 600 women in one place. What we hope for, is that everyone has a relaxed and fun couple of hours," says Marlene Larder, superintendent.

The program will be centered around its theme—the Big Band Era. Ginger and Walt Bergey, owners of G & S Sounds, will once again provide the sound system. Ginger will also exhibit her beautiful voice with a couple of songs. The fair queen candidates will take a break from Friday night's preparations to join in the show.

The highlight of the program will be the performance of The Couriers, a nine-piece group offering music in the big-band style.

The Couriers are a nine member band of professionals led by Al Townsend, a former trombonist for the Gene Krupa band during the 1940s. They consist of three woodwinds, two brass, three rhythm and a solo vocalist, Lynn Raglin, Townsend's daughter.

The band has played at Bowling Green University, Travis Pointe Country Club, Lansing Country Club, Barton Hills Country Club, Michigan Union, Michigan League, Ann Arbor Womens City Club and Chelsea's own Seniors Prom.

As Townsend says, "Good music never gets old and good times never cease to offer some good music, so let the good times roll!"

There will also be plenty of door prizes and cash (donated by area merchants and businesses) which will be given away throughout the program. This year's grand prize is a trip for two to Chicago with "a small added surprise."

Ladies must be 18 years of age or older to be eligible for prizes.
