Village council wrangles over office location

By Angela Trotter
Staff Writer

Despite the unanimous recommendation of a council-appointed committee for the new village offices to be located downtown in the Clock Tower Building, the Village Council still cannot come to an agreement on the best place to relocate.

Members of the council said they were grateful for the work the committee did, but could not agree that the committee had made the best possible decision. The council members had many different ideas about the relocation of the offices.

"I like what the committee did, because it stays with the original idea of keeping the offices downtown, but the Clock Tower Building looks too industrial," Village Trustee Frank Hammer said. "I'd like very much to see us seriously consider the old Standard (Glazier Welfare) Building."

One of the biggest problems the committee found with the Glazier Welfare Building is that it is not big enough for the village's needs. The building houses about 12,000 square feet.

"It is the committee's recommendation that the Village of Chelsea obtain for the village offices and police department a minimum of 20,000 square feet," the committee's report said. "The committee believes this will meet the current and future needs for the Village of Chelsea."

Hammer noted that it would be possible to keep the police station at its current location on Middle Street, while moving the rest of the offices to the Welfare Building. This would allow enough space for the village's needs.

Another option would be to build a completely new building on a site near the Purple Rose Theater on Park Street. Village Trustee Richard Rigg said doing this would allow the village to design a facility that would meet its exact office needs.

Trustee Joe Merkel said he is in favor of building a new facility outside the village. This would alleviate many of the parking problems a downtown location would generate.

"There's no place in town to expand," Merkel said. "Put the building out of town."

However, the overwhelming sentiment of the community is to renovate a historical building in the downtown area for the new village offices.

Trustees Richard Steele, Steven Daut and Brian Cashman were all in favor of pursuing the Clock Tower location.

"One of the things we did in picking this committee was choose a representative cross-section of the community," Daut said. "By virtue of their being able to work together with a diverse group of people says a lot about the conclusions."

Gene Hopkins, an architect from Ann Arbor, has looked at the potential sites and said the Clock Tower would be a good choice. He said the option needs to be looked at and studied further, but he thinks it would be the right location.

"The village has a real opportunity here," Hopkins said. "It has the potential to become the icon for the heart of the city."

The Village Council ultimately decided to have the original committee, along with a few additional people, continue to research and look at financial considerations. This committee will meet for three months, and report back to the Village Council with its findings.

Japanese students visit Chelsea to learn, make friends

By Angela Trotter
Staff Writer

Echoes of "They're here!" and "They're in the school!" rang through the halls of Beach Middle School last Wednesday as students anxiously awaited the arrival of guests from Beach's sister school in Shimizu, Japan.

This is the third year students have come to Chelsea from Mikage Junior High School in Shimizu. This past summer, nine students from Chelsea visited Shimizu for two weeks.

The sister school program started when a former Chelsea resident went to teach in Shimizu. He found the town to be very similar to Chelsea, and helped to set up communications between the two middle schools.

Various school administrators, Board of Education members and village officials were on hand to greet the Japanese students as they arrived at Beach Middle School.

"Shimizu and Chelsea have formed a wonderful bond of friendship between our children," Board of Education President Jane Diesing said. "Thank you for being here."

Chelsea Village Council President Richard Steele welcomed the students on behalf of the village.

"We look forward to taking care of you this week and showing you what makes Chelsea Chelsea," Steele said.

Through a translator, the Mikage Junior High Principal, Mr. Shigematsu, addressed those gathered at Beach Middle School.

"I'm very happy to visit this beautiful town," Shigematsu said. "We would like to learn the language, customs and culture of this country as much as possible."

Amanda Peterson, a Chelsea middle school student who visited Shimizu over the summer, said the sister-school program has truly enhanced her life.

"It was really interesting there, because it's a totally different language and a totally different culture," Amanda Peterson said. "To go there was amazing."

Amanda's mother, Pat, was anxious to welcome one of the Shimizu students into her home.

"The kids went to Shimizu and came back with all these wonderful memories," Pat Peterson said. "Now with these kids coming here it's nice that as parents we'll get to share in the memories with them."

The Japanese students stayed in Chelsea until Tuesday, when a farewell party was held at the middle school to see them off. They will stop for a visit in Washington, D.C. before heading back to Japan.

Jessica Oberhottzer of Chelsea and Tsukasa Mituva of Shimizu, Japan greet each other at Beach Middle School. Mituva came to visit Chelsea as part of a student exchange program from Beach's sister school, Mikage Junior High in Shimizu.

Kiwanis Halloween bash, costume judging scheduled

The annual Chelsea Halloween Celebration will be held on Thursday, Oct. 31. The community Trick or Treat time is 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The Kiwanis Club of Chelsea will host its annual party beginning at 6 p.m. at Beach Middle School. Costume judging will begin promptly.

The costume categories are Most Original and Best Looking. There are six age categories. Judging will be done by local businesses persons. Each child will receive a participant ribbon.

After the costume judging, the Middle School Band will lead the children in a parade around the building.

Once back inside, contest winners will be announced. Each first, second and third place winner will receive a gift certificate from A&W restaurant. Photos of the winners will be taken by the Chelsea Standard. The Kiwanis Club members will serve cider and doughnuts.

Libraries may explore coordinating resources

The McKune Memorial Library Board of Directors has proposed forming a Library, Informational Science and Technology Coalition with Chelsea Public Schools, so that both entities can best serve the public.

The library board said in its proposal that a coalition between the two groups can ensure unnecessary duplication of technology and informational services does not occur while optimizing the use of the public library and school media centers.

"The information age, while affording tremendous assets in education and public libraries, is an expensive outlay for school and library budgets," the McKune proposal said.

The McKune board members feel that by forming a coalition with the schools, more facets of public need can be met.

The desire to form such a coalition stems in part from consideration from surrounding townships to enter into a District Library Agreement with the Village of Chelsea. The townships have voiced a desire for framework to ensure library resources are optimized before entering into any agreement. They want to be assured that unnecessary duplication of services does not occur.

Another goal in forming this coalition would be to define the missions of public libraries and school media centers.

"Also, discussion and planning between the two library systems might even result in joint use of the systems, and indeed save the public money while increasing services," the McKune proposal said.

This coalition would be comprised of the Chelsea School District Technology Coordinator, the director of McKune Memorial Library and the School District Media Specialists.

The Chelsea Board of Education has not discussed the issue yet, but is expected to do so soon.

District breaks ground for new high school building

By Angela Trotter
Staff Writer

About 80 people gathered on a frigid autumn evening last Wednesday to witness the official ground-breaking ceremony for the new Chelsea High School facility.

School district administrators, students and those who have been working on the planning and construction of the building donned hard-hats and shovels for the ceremonious throwing of dirt.

The pep band showed up to play the Bulldogs' fight song, and several people who have been functional in getting the new high school project underway offered words of thanks, anticipation and sentimentality.

"Thank you for joining us in this symbolic time of new beginnings," said High School Principal Ron Mead, the event's organizer.

"Today we are very excited to be standing here beginning the second phase of our new $45 million project," said Board of Education President

Opening Remarks

By Brian Hamilton

It was interesting to follow the debate about whether charter school students should have the opportunity to play sports in the Chelsea School District, even if they foot the bill. At issue was whether a child, a long-time member of the community, should be able to play soccer.

There were good arguments on both sides of the question, although in the end I think the Board of Education made the right decision.

There was a lot of talk about setting precedents, a spirit of cooperation and so on that, for me, were intriguing but missed the mark.

When a child who lives in Chelsea decides to attend school elsewhere, the family is essentially saying the district isn't good enough for them in some way. No doubt it is a difficult decision because the family probably loves the community or they wouldn't be living here.

Nevertheless, a family should sign on for the whole package or none of it, partly because the school gets no state aid for that child if he or she doesn't attend classes here. Athletics are paid for out of the operating budget.

But philosophically, it's difficult to accept the idea of Chelsea schools as some sort of academic smorgasbord. Only children who have attended school all day here, and have gone through all the academic rigors as well as the social challenges that are part of public schools, should be entitled to take part in the fun stuff after school. Children who attend school elsewhere are, by choice, not subjected to all those daily trials.

There's also another lesson here about living with your choices in life. Parents who opt out of our public schools need to understand they are making a sacrifice and they should have to live with every aspect of that decision. They shouldn't expect the rest of us to bail them out when some part of their decision doesn't suit their fancy.

Village Council just can't seem to pull the switch when it comes to making a decision about new village offices.

This issue has been floating around forever. It was back when the late Jerry Satterthwaite was village president that the village obtained the two vacant lots on Park Street. That was about a decade ago.

So a committee was appointed not long ago and asked to come up with a recommendation, which seemed like a good idea since there were too many different opinions among council members.

The committee, a cross-section of interested community members, carried out its charge and came up with an extremely creative idea to use the Clock Tower building. Then only three members of council—president Richard Steele and trustees Brian Cashman and Steve Daut—embraced the committee's recommendation.

So now the committee, with a couple of additions, is going to continue to study the question, and presumably make another recommendation, which may or may not be supported by council, which may force council to seek another recommendation, which...

Chelsea needs affordable senior housing

There is a need for affordable senior-citizen housing in the Chelsea community. According to the 1990 census there are over 2,500 residents of the Chelsea School District over the age of 60. Chelsea is very fortunate to have the Chelsea Retirement Community and the forthcoming Silver Maples project on the Chelsea Hospital Grounds. However, many seniors do not require this level and cost of care.

There are several reasons why affordable housing is needed for seniors. Pensions and retirement plans which were very sufficient 10 or 15 years ago are no longer enough to meet current cost of living. As a person gets older it becomes more difficult to maintain a home. When seniors are no longer able to easily take care of their home, an affordable apartment is a good solution. In later years, seniors want to remain in their own community where their friends, church, doctors and family are located.

Affordable housing for senior citizens has been a long time need for the Chelsea community. Over the past 12 years this issue has been studied, but no proposals ever materialized. The village council has been considering the acceptance of a senior housing project in Chelsea. We do not know if this project or its location is the best one for Chelsea but the need for affordable housing for seniors definitely exists. This is the only proposal we have been provided with in many years. A senior housing project could be an asset to the community, especially when we compare it to other possible development proposals.

We urge the village council to keep in mind that there is a need for senior citizen housing in Chelsea.

Board's decision created policy

The decision of the Chelsea School Board on Oct. 7, to my disappointment, appeared to be wrong. At issue was whether a child who doesn't go to Chelsea High School, but who is in good standing academically, whose parents pay taxes in the Chelsea School District and who resides within this district should be allowed to participate in sports that are part of the Chelsea High School athletic program.

The child in question goes to a small charter school, which allows children to take college-level courses in their areas of interest and has a more standard curriculum in the areas where they don't excel, but is too small to have a soccer team. The child's school in partnership with the Chelsea athletic department, would have paid for any costs associated with her participation.

The board's lack of an already-established policy to deal with such a request became a reason to deny participation to the child. But, in fact, this precedent-setting decision actually created a policy in its own way, one of closed doors and non-cooperation.

It is my belief that a more appropriate policy expressing the wishes of the majority of Chelsea School District residents should be developed. I would suggest the following:

The athletic programs of the Chelsea Schools with the support of the Chelsea School Board in a desire to promote healthy, well-rounded adults and to expose the students of the Chelsea schools to a wider variety of people and experiences, are open to all children residing in the Chelsea School District to participate in junior varsity and varsity sports at the middle and high school levels with the following stipulations:

1. The child must be academically at a level comparable to or higher than the other members of the team. Any cost of certified academic testing required to prove this would be the financial responsibility of the participating charter school, private school, or in the case of a home-schooled student the responsible adult.

Uncle Apollo

It seems like a good time to bring up an issue that has disturbed me for as long as I can remember. It's one of those deals where you can go for your whole life and not even notice, but when someone points it out, you smack the heel of your hand against your forehead and go, "of course!!"

Obviously, what I'm talking about is the fact that Halloween and the Big elections are less than a week apart. If you think about it, there are a lot of similarities.

To prepare for Halloween, all of these people spend all of this time ripping the guts out of pumpkins and making pies. You pay money to get scared at haunted houses. When the day finally comes, a bunch of pre-adolescents put on these plastic faces to make you think they are things they really aren't and go around door-to-door asking you to give them something for nothing. They stand there, looking right at you and say "Trick or Treat," as if those are your only two choices.

So after you decide which one you want to give them, which is always the treat, they go home, take their masks off, and eat all of this candy people give them, go on a big sugar high and sleep for a week or so before everything gets back to normal.

Well, with elections it takes a little longer but ends up being pretty much the same thing. First, the people that want to get re-elected spend all of this time ripping the guts out of these old laws and re-cutting the government money pie just to look like they are doing something.

The ones that want to get elected in the first place put on these plastic faces to make you think they really aren't and go around door-to-door asking you to give them money for nothing. Then you go to fund-raisers and pay for them to scare you by telling you all of the things that are going wrong or about to go wrong. And they stand there, looking right at you, telling you there are only two choices and you can vote for the Trick, which isn't them, or the Treat, which is, as if those were your only two choices.

So on election night, you vote for the treat and after a big election high they take off their masks so you can see how hideous they really are, then they go to sleep for four more years until they want something for nothing again. It's time we did something about all of this, don't you think?

Actually, I wasn't going to get involved in this election since the devastating loss in my bid for village president, but people need to have more than two choices.

OK, OK. If I get enough encouragement maybe I should do a last-minute push for write-in votes. All I have to do is find that mask that makes me look honest and hard-working. I'm sure it's around here someplace.

E-mail me at uncapollo@aol.com, if you think I should try for the President position, and I'll get to work. But hurry, there aren't many haunting days left before the elections.

VISIT "THE END OF THE WORLD"
If you want to feel the awe and terrible challenge that 14-century explorers faced when they dared to venture across the ocean, visit Cabo de Sao Vincente, Portugal. Here, on the southwestern most tip of all of Europe, the wind blasts off the ocean, hammering into a craggy coastline of 200-foot cliffs. It was medieval sailors who christened Cape St. Vincent "the end of the world," as they took the unthinkable gamble of casting off into the seemingly endless unknown. Today, coastal Algarve province is home to some spectacular resorts, as well as to the sleepy town of Sagres. Just three and a half miles from the tip of the cape, Sagres is world away from the country clubs or casinos of more highly developed cities. In Sagres, the attraction is the simple way of life still practiced by fishermen and shepherds--and scenery that is almost out of this world.
For a taste of medieval or modern, a visit to Algarve province can't be beat. Its people are special, its scenery dramatic, and its appeal indisputable. Come see us at UNIGLOBE CHELSEA TRAVEL, INC. when you are ready to experience the wonders of the world. Whether you are traveling to Portugal or another beautiful destination, we've got lots of good ideas so that you'll end up with the trip of a lifetime. We're easy to find, fun to visit, and charge you nothing for our services at 1070 South Main Street. PH: 475-3110.

2. The child must make the team, go to try-outs and be accepted on the team in the same manner as any other Chelsea student.
3. The child must be eligible for participation in Chelsea Schools.
4. Any associated costs of participation in the sports program will be borne by the participating charter school, private school, or in the case of a home-schooled student the responsible adult.

I was led to believe that the board's decision was final and would not be reviewed unless the parents of the child excluded from participation were to bring suit against the school board. Knowing the parents, this is extremely unlikely, so perhaps any discussion or comment is now worthless. However, I do think that the school board would be well-advised to consider adopting a policy that would, in my opinion, better reflect the open-hearted community of students and tax-payers that they serve.

Sdao committed to serving the community

I want solid information about the candidates for our (Dexter) township election, not letters full of smearing insinuation and sensationalized headlines.

So I took my questions to John Sdao directly. What is his background and what is motivating him to seek the office of township supervisor?

I learned that John grew up in Plymouth, and fell in love with our township's natural beauty through his many camping trips here with the Boy Scouts. Later he came here often for hunting and fishing trips. John and his fiancee, a life-long resident of our area, plan to settle and raise a family here.

John served four years in the Marines. Then he spent four years working full-time for U of M while also attending classes in order to put himself through college.

His commitment to community service has always been strong. In addition to serving his country in the military, John is very active in his church. He is a charter member of his church's Knights of Columbus, gives his time setting up coffee and doughnuts for fellowship after the weekly service, helps with special dinners and with organizing the Christmas food drive. He traveled to another church to raise pledges for the Christian Children's Foundation; then he and his fiancee participated in the five-mile walk.

The couple has also volunteered their time at the Pinckney High School Senior all-nighter. John has been elected an advocate for his church's men's group and he is a corps leader for his work team at U of M Medical Center. Leadership and service are strong attributes in his life—one can see that he cares a great deal, about people and his community.

John said that he plans to have a very open style of leadership. In addition to Saturday office hours, citizens can call him at home or just come over to talk. He said that he wants to include and inform citizens in their local government issues, so that we can all help to shape the future of our township (Note that he sent a 13-year budget summary out to all registered voters.).

Citizens who have questions for John can simply call him (313-878-4998), rather than speculate in the newspaper! I find him to be a dedicated leader and a compassionate person.

Dexter Township dilemma

Since moving to Dexter Township three years ago, I have been happily ignorant of local politics. Township matters have been handled smoothly and competently and therefore, I took little notice of them. Since only one-quarter of Dexter Township's registered voters voted in the primary election, I believe I had much company.

My attitude changed last August, however, when the incumbent Township Supervisor, James Drolett, lost the primary to an unknown newcomer, John Sdao. Mr. Sdao's blitzkrieg campaign caught my attention, and since the primary, I have attended township meetings and followed up on both the candidates, Mr. Sdao and Mr. Hoey. I find myself unable to support either candidate.

In past issues of your newspaper, I have read of Mr. Hoey's disagreements with zoning authorities of Webster Township, where he conducts his business. I do not welcome Mr. Hoey's influence in my township government.

What I know of Mr. Sdao I have learned from his campaign. He is a young newcomer (one-year resident) with no political or government experience who nonetheless wishes to enforce sweeping changes in a system he has yet to learn. His campaign literature depends on distorted statistics to frighten voters about non-existent budgetary crises. Tactics like these smack of disdain of the voter's intelligence and reasoning powers, which I dislike. His main campaign promise appears to be to control growth by dismissing zoning controls. I find this proposed solution to be both ineffective and dangerous, and I do not welcome Mr.Sdao's influence in my township government, either.

My Webster's Third New International Dictionary defines a dilemma as "a choice between equally unsatisfactory alternatives." The only solution to a dilemma is a third, more satisfactory, alternative—Mr. James Drolett.

And to the 75 percent of Dexter Township residents who also relied on the smooth, competent government of the incumbent to carry the primary, I issue a call to arms: Rouse yourselves and write in "James Drolett, Republican, Dexter Township Supervisor" on your ballot secrecy envelope, rather than punching either of the unsatisfactory choices offered to us on the general ballot.

Rep. Schroer helped with weed problem

We will soon be going to the polls to elect our state representative to Lansing. I would like to inform all those people who are connected in any way with either living on or using our beautiful Michigan inland lakes that Mary Schroer, our present representative, was a champion in our efforts here on Sugar Loaf Lake to obtain both information and to deal with our problem of non-indigenous weeds that were choking the useful life out of our lake.

Remember, when we the people elect through our vote, the elected are to listen—Mary Schroer has certainly proved this to the property owners and users of Sugar Loaf Lake.

Jerry Nelson

Burton Hoey has good leadership skills

In response to the Oct. 10 article bashing Burton Hoey as a convicted criminal running for supervisor post.

The information in the article is some what inaccurate. There was only one weekend of a domestic violence program as part of his sentencing, not numerous weekends. He also did not have to pay for attorney fees like the article states.

The article also states Burton was convicted of drunk driving. They were not drunk driving convictions they were impaired.

I do know that Burton Hoey is an intelligent man that at one time was the largest land owner in Dexter and acquired this without the financial help of his family. He's also been involved in the community as a member of the Dexter Chamber of Commerce, Dexter K of C member and a Dexter village zoning inspector.

He's concerned about his community. He has very good leadership skills as he managed his own construction business—the Hoey family-owned lumber yard—owned and managed apartments, buildings and other rental buildings.

I do believe if he's given the chance, Burton Hoey would give the people of Dexter Township what they need, and that is a supervisor that works for the people.

Gail Ressler

Sdao is tax-and-spend liberal

As a long-time resident and Dexter Township Supervisor for 10 years, it was shocking to me to see who emerged as the "winner" the Republican Primary in the township's supervisor race. A "Tax and Spend" liberal named John Sdao.

Now he won't admit his liberal leanings, but thanks to The Dexter Leader and Chelsea Standard coverage since the August primary, we now have a clear picture of Sdao's plans to boost Dexter Township spending. In Sdao own words, and his only leadership statement made thus far, "We need to look at hiring a township manager, perhaps combining some of the current clerical and inspector jobs."

Hire a township manager? The only local township wealthy enough to afford such a post is Scio Township. You cannot hire a good manager for less than a $75,000 annual package. Sdao's spending spree will send township administrative costs through the roof!

With no experience, no relevant credentials, no permanent Dexter Township address, paying no local taxes, this rookie believes he has earned our support. I don't think so!

Sdao stated in his campaign that township expenditures were out of control and we couldn't afford four more years of Jim Drolett. Rubbish! Since township funds come from you, the taxpayer, I would ask you to examine the past 12 years of your property tax bills, and lo and behold, you will discover that, except for modest inflation increases, the taxes you paid to Dexter Township have not gone up! Now that is the bottom line. An excellent record of financial responsibility I would say!

For over 12 years, Dexter Township residents have prospered under the calm, conservative leadership of James Drolett. Jim is still willing to be our full-time supervisor on part-time pay, I urge Dexter Township voters to write in James Drolett, Republican, Township Supervisor, this Nov. 5. The choice and the consequences couldn't be clearer.

The Regular meeting of the Lima Township Board was called to order at 8:05 p.m. by Supervisor VanRiper and opened with the Pledge to the Flag. Present were Supervisor VanRiper, Clerk Bareis, Trustees Heller and Trinkle. Absent Treasurer Messman. Also present Zoning Inspector Robert Koch and several residents and guests.

Andrew Brenner of the Huron River Watershed Council spoke regarding the Middle Huron River describing how the river becomes polluted and how the problem can be corrected. He requested Lima Twp. to join other communities to develop a plan to reduce pollution and improve the quality of the watershed for all of the area. Gary Adams and Bob Heller volunteered to attend a meeting on Wednesday October 30 from 9:30 to 11:30 at the Washtenaw Intermediate School District.

Approved motion to approve Lima Township participation in the Middle Huron Partnership with regard to improvement and approve the resolution document at the next meeting.

Approved minutes of September 9 as printed with correction.

Zoning Inspector Koch issued 2 new addresses and 4 new home permits and 4 pole barn for storage only permits. He has had 2 requests for temporary housing during home construction.

Household hazardous waste collection will be on October 12 at the Chelsea Fairgrounds from 8:00 a.m.-12:00 noon and also at the same time at the Manchester Methodist Church.

Planning Commission worksession with Don Wortman October 22 at 7:00 p.m. Regular meeting October 24 at 8:00.

Approved purchase of a 14' Hotpoint refrigerator for the townhall kitchen.

Approved 1996 audit as printed.

Approved to purchase on a trial basis, after more information is received regarding warranty costs, 2 reconditioned Sharp copy machines at a cost of $895 each plus a service warranty of $69.00 for the first year for each.

Charles Schauer reported that the Washtenaw County Solid Waste Consortium has joined with the Michigan Solid Waste Consortium. He discussed building materials available at the reuse center on Industrial Highway.

Approved motion to submit $3000.00 to Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority as previously approved by the Township Board, from funds distributed by BFI for recycling use.

Approved payment of bills

Meeting adjourned at 11:30 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Arlene R. Bareis, Clerk

New high school will serve as source of pride for community

Jane Diesing. Diesing is a 1965 graduate of Chelsea High School.

Jokingly referring to rain that had fallen earlier in the day, Diesing recounted an old wives' tale that if it rained on the day of a groundbreaking ceremony, the project would come out $2 million under budget and two months ahead of schedule.

"We've enjoyed a good working relationship with everyone involved in this construction project," Diesing said.

Sarah Haselschwardt, a senior design architect with Kingscott Associats, Inc., said she is very proud to know the part she has played in the design of the facility.

"When I graduated from Chelsea High School in 1980, I never dreamed I would be here presenting a design of the new high school," Haselschwardt said. "It's going to be awesome."

Chelsea Athletic Director Wayne Welton, who helped design the new athletic fields, said the new facility will be a reflection of many hours of hard work by many people.

"The community deserves what is being built," Welton said. "I feel fortunate to have been a part of this project."

Chelsea Superintendent Ed Richardson joked about how it is traditional to thank spouses of those involved in such projects for putting up with the late hours and time away from home.

"I wish somewhere in the future we could know whose spouse decided exactly what," Richardson said.

He said the new school will serve as a big and beautiful symbol of all the changes in education that will be taking place as the community moves into the 21st century.

Jerry Brand, the senior project manager of Granger Construction Company said the hard work and planning put into this facility is unique.

"I've built many schools and buildings, and I can honestly say the job the design team has done on this project is unequaled," Brand said.

All speakers agreed that the new high school will be a symbol of community pride and hope for the future.

Autumn festival offers family fun

Crisp morning air, the return of students to school and the smell of leaves are all sure signs of Autumn. In celebration of the change in the seasons and its 10th anniversary, Children's Playspace is holding an Autumn Harvest Festival.

Children, families, colleagues and community members are welcome to take part in this day of celebration. Children must be accompanied by an adult. Activities for children will include pumpkin carving and decorating, plaster hand prints, jumping in hay stacks, sidewalk chalk, apples and doughnuts on a string, face painting, tricycle obstacle courses and several other exciting opportunities.

A short program celebrating children and child advocacy will precede the entertainment provided by storyteller, Debra Christian. Refreshments of the season will be provided to all in attendance.

The Autumn Harvest Festival will take place Sunday, Oct. 20 from 1-4 p.m. in the Children's Playspace's parking lot at 123 North Ashley at the rear of the Ashley Square Building. By city council resolution, a portion of Ann Street between Ashley and First streets will be closed to help house the event. In case of rain the entertainment portion of the day will be moved inside. Information and tours of Children's Playspace will be available during the course of the event.

The event is expected to attract several hundred community members and provide a festive setting for all. Mary Wehking, executive director of Children's Playspace, explains her vision of the event by saying, "Our goal is for children and parents to play together. We want the celebration of our 10th anniversary to be interactive. In an act of child advocacy, we have invited candidates to show how they stand for children."

Toxoplasmosis and the Domestic Cat

A.W. Tremper D.V.M. — R.C. Sowers D.V.M.

Toxoplasmosis is a disease which affects many humans and animals each year. It is caused by TOXOPLASMA GONDII, a parasite present in the tissues of many food animals and the intestinal tract of some cats. Ingestion of uncooked meat (beef and pork) and inadvertent ingestion of feces of infected cats remain the principle sources of transmission.

Women who contract toxoplasmosis during pregnancy may transmit the organism to their unborn babies. Toxoplasmosis is capable of causing birth defects such as mental retardation.

To prevent infection, humans should employ standard sanitary habits such as washing hands with soap and water after handling raw meats and vegetables. Meats should be thoroughly cooked before ingestion.

A pregnant woman should avoid direct contact with cat's litter boxes, and direct questions about toxoplasmosis to her physician. Similarly, questions about toxoplasmosis and your cat should be directed to your veterinarian.

Lane Animal Hospital offers 24 hour emergency service for our clients. Our friendly staff is anxious to assist you in making an appointment fit your hectic schedule. Call us today! 475-8696

HINT: It is also prudent to wash your hands with soap and water after gardening as many cats turn flower beds into litter boxes.

Chelsea Realty selects semi-finalists

Semi-finalists have been chosen by Chelsea Realty, Inc. in their coloring contest, part of a promotion for their new Talking Window marketing tool.

Company President Sharon Roberts says she is planning to take photographs of the winners—who will take home bicycles and dinner for two—at the office on Oct. 25-26.

Finalists will be notified by phone on Oct. 24.

Roberts invites anyone to vote in the contest by stopping by the Talking Window at the front of the office on S. Main St., which now also features a 340-pound pumpkin.

"It has been difficult but fun to run a contest and a company at the same time," Robert said.

"I didn't realize how time consuming it would become."

Statue's head and torso to be reunited after nearly a century apart

His head was housed in a museum in Rome — his torso at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. For nearly a century the Roman soldier remained separated. Now, with his head and torso reunited, the marble soldier will appear with other fragments of Roman relief sculpture at U-M's Kelsey Museum of Archaeology in an exhibition, "Images of Empire: Flavian Fragments in Rome and Ann Arbor Rejoined," continuing through Feb. 17.

When marble fragments came to light during an urban development project in the Piazz della Repubblica in Rome, in 1900-1901, Paul Hartwig, a German scholar, and Francis W. Kelsey, a U-M professor, acquired the sculptures on the art market. Hartwig purchased and donated nine pieces to the Museo Nazionale Romano in Rome. Kelsey bought six fragments for the U-M collections. Each was apparently unaware of the other's acquisitions.

It was 1978 before someone realized that the head of a Roman soldier in Rome joined perfectly with the torso of a Roman soldier in Ann Arbor. All 15 pieces, now designated the "Hartwig-Kelsey fragments," actually belonged to a single complex, probably the Templum Gentis Flaviae, the Temple of the Flavian Dynasty, at its height of glory sometime between A.D. 69 and A.D. 96.

"Images of Empire" is a reconstruction of the Templum Gentis Flaviae with a faeade enlivened by male caryatids (anthropomorphic architectural supports) who stand in front of palm trees, symbols of the province of Judaea where the Flavian emperors conquered rebellious Jerusalem and gained a glorious Roman triumph. Panels of relief sculpture depict two scenes drawn from Roman state religion and imperial ceremony.

The reconstruction consists of casts of all the sculptures and used a new mold-making technique, each step of which is documented in the exhibition. Without damage to the marble surfaces of the artifacts, the process produced casts of such quality that they merit display alongside the original sculptures.

The Kelsey Museum, located at 434 South State St. on U-M's Central Campus, is open Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-4 p.m.; Sat. and Sun. 1-4 p.m. Admission is free.

Family Asthma series to conclude

The Role of Allergies in Children With Asthma will be the topic discussed by Georgiana Sanders, M.D., at the final meeting in the four-part 1996 Family Asthma Series. This program, co-sponsored by the American Lung Association of Michigan and the University of Michigan Medical Center Division of Pediatric Pulmonary Medicine, is an educational and support opportunity for parents of asthmatic children.

Family members and child care professionals are welcome and encouraged to attend.

This session will meet Wednesday, Oct. 30, 7:30 p.m. at Kellogg Eye Center (auditorium), located at 1000 Wall St. in Ann Arbor. Parking is free.

Thanks to the generous support of volunteers and local pharmaceutical companies, there is no charge for the series. Apria Healthcare will sponsor this meeting and provide refreshments.

For more information, please contact the American Lung Association of Michigan at (313) 973-6730.

WHEN THE TOOTH MUST GO

There is no substitute that can replace the natural tooth for strength, longevity and usefulness. But, there are times when the best decision is to extract the tooth. For example:

1) To relieve overcrowding: Occasionally there are too many teeth in the dental arch. Overcrowding can produce diseases, loosening, crooked teeth and a bad bite.

2) A hopelessly diseased tooth: Occasionally, a general body ill can be cured by removal of such a diseased tooth. Usual cause is waiting too long to see the dentist.

3) Looseness: Teeth loosen as a result of periodontal disease and bone loss. If it is so wobble with insufficient supporting bone to save it, kiss it goodbye.

4) Appearance: When a tooth is so crooked that it will produce an unattractive smile or bulging lip, it should probably be removed. (unless it can be reduced and crowned).

5) An impacted or imbedded tooth (normally the wisdom tooth), if it is a hazard to your oral health, would be extracted.

THINGS TO DO IN WATERLOO

A Visit To Waterloo in the fall

By Holly Bulko-Stedman

If you need something to do the last two weekends in October, travel East on I-94 from Jackson or West on I-94 from Detroit to Clear Lake Road exit left toward Waterloo be sure to stop for some ghoulish gas at the tarantula Total, then going north until you get to darling dracula Donna's Log Cabin Restaurant for a bit to eat. Keep going north and on the right is The Mill Pond, scary Eddie's and adorable Arline's Village Market on the left hand side is Mysterious Mitsy's Pizzeria. Then if you dare, you can turn either way and follow the spooky signs to crazy John's and lovely Lynn's, Waterloo Haunted Forest.

It is pulled together by haunting Holly, Mistic Maggie, boggieman John with cider & doughnuts, all at the Waterloo Tree Farm located on 80 wicked acres of a 30 minutes hay ride through the Haunted Forest. If you dare to be brave enough to see the ghouls, mummy's and much more. We will try to be easy on the children. $3.00 for children under 6 years old, Adults $6.00. Fun for the whole family join us for the frights on October 18, 19, 25, & 26. Remember absolutely no alcoholic beverages permited on premises, violators will be tortured.

Baby boomers dominate thriving housing market

"As it has for more than 25 years, the baby boom generation, which includes people born from 1946 to 1964, will dominate the housing market between 1995 and 1999, prompting builders to gear new home production primarily toward trade-up demand," reported Gilbert "Buzz" Silverman, president of the Building Industry Association of Southeastern Michigan and of The Silverman Companies in Farmington Hills.

Starter home markets will have to adjust to a continuing decline in the number of young adults, reflecting the post-1964 "baby bust." At the same time, the baby boom and bust cycle that occurred earlier in the century will mean slow growth in the active retirement market, but accelerated growth in the frail elderly market.

These are just some of the findings in a new analysis, "The Future of Home Building," which was recently published by the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB). In that report, NAHB projected that housing starts will average 1.4 million units per year during the remainder of the decade and noted that growth in new households will account for about 80 percent of demand for new homes. Other demand for new homes will come from a number of factors including the need to replace units lost from the stock and demand for second homes.

Other principal findings about demand and demographics include:

•Immigration will account for about one-third of household growth, but initially most immigrants will go to a limited number of metropolitan areas in California, New York, Florida and Texas.

•Married couples will account for a declining share of households, but will still comprise about three-quarters of new home buyers.

•Although the share of married-couple households with children will decline, more families will have teenage children.

•In trading up, many buyers will favor homes with customized features and greater privacy from their adolescent children.

•Increasing participation by women in the labor force and further narrowing of the gap between the earnings of men and women will generate more demand for homes that accommodate the time-constrained lifestyles of dual-earner couples.

•Demographic changes will raise the homeownership rate, but barriers to ownership will remain a problem of new homes.

•Growing demand for trade-up homes will raise the average size and price of new homes.

Dinner to benefit summer festival

Once again, the area's most celebrated culinary talents will join forces in serving up their best at the fifth annual Chefs for the Top of the Park! The tasteful multi-course harvest dinner will benefit the Ann Arbor Summer Festival's free summertime concert and movie series at the Top of the Park. The eagerly anticipated event will take place on Tuesday, Oct. 29, and is hosted by the Gandy Dancer Restaurant (401 Depot St., Ann Arbor).

A cocktail and appetizer reception will begin at 6 p.m. in the garden courtyard, followed by dinner at 7 p.m. inside the historic train station. Then dessert will be made even sweeter when guests are invited to meet the chefs personally.

Tickets are priced at $75 and $100 per person, which includes tax, gratuity and a tax-deductible contribution to support the Top of the Park. Advance, pre-paid reservations are required by Monday, Oct. 21 and can be made by calling (313) 647-2278. Seating is limited, so make your reservation today.

Arbor Day Foundation offers trees

Ten free white flowering dogwood trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during October 1996.

The free trees are part of the non-profit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

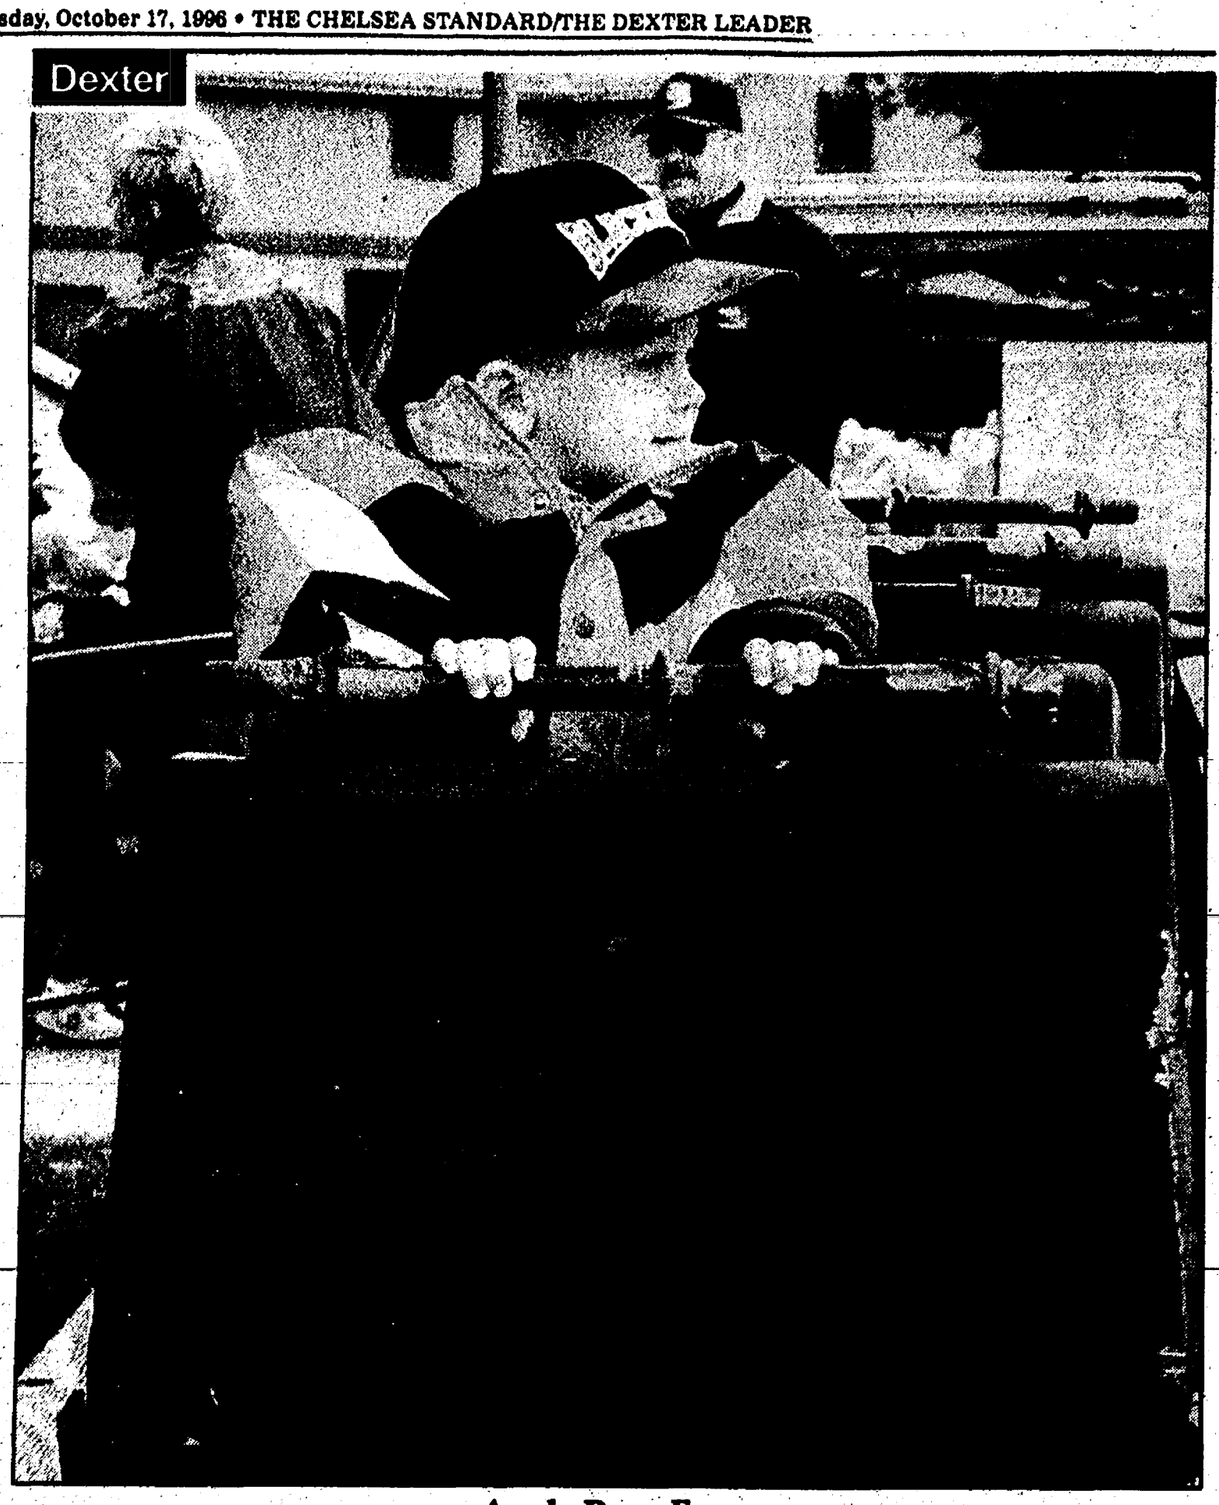
"The white flowering dogwoods will add year-round beauty to your home and neighborhood," John Rosenow, the Foundation's president, said. "Dogwoods have showy spring flowers, scarlet autumn foliage and red berries which attract songbirds all winter."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between Nov. 1 and Dec. 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to 12 inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's bi-monthly publication, Arbor Day, and The Tree Book with information about tree planting and care.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 contribution to Ten Free Dogwoods, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska, NE 68410, by Oct. 31.

Dexter



—Apple Daze Fun—

There were plenty of activities for children Saturday during the .rd annual Apple Daze, sponsored by Dexter Merchants Association and Parents for Safety. A portion of the proceeds will benefit Parents for Safety's sidewalk fund. Pictured is Blaize Borovich, 2, of Dexter enjoying a train ride in Monument Park.

Farm facts

Americans eat four times as many potatoes as they do any other vegetable - nearly 140 pounds per year. More than half of all potatoes we eat are processed in the form of chips, fries and instant potatoes. When choosing potatoes, select ones that are relatively unblemished and do not have any soft spots.

Here's where the term "pork barrel politics" came from. In pre-Civil War days, salt pork was distributed in huge barrels. By the 1870's congressmen were referring to regularly dipping into the "pork barrel" to obtain funds for popular projects in their home districts.

National Quality Month celebrated

The University of Michigan will celebrate National Quality month with its third annual M-Quality Expo 9 a.m. - 7 p.m., Oct. 17 and 9 a.m. - 3 p.m., Oct. 18 at the Michigan Union.

Featuring dozens of exhibits and presentations by campus units, the free, public Expo will showcase the University's approach to Total Quality Management (TQM). Several TQM tools and strategies also will be discussed in clinics on self-directed work teams, effective meetings, high-impact training, value-centered management and quality indicators and measurement techniques.

In addition, William Bridges, author of "Managing Transitions: Making the Most of Change" and "Job Shift: How to Prosper in a Workplace without Jobs," will speak on how to succeed in the "new world of work" in a keynote address 9-10 a.m., Oct. 18 in the Michigan Union's Pendleton Room.

The Expo, with its theme "Quality in Daily Activities," will highlight four principles of TQM: pursuing continuous improvement, respecting people and ideas, satisfying those we serve and managing by fact.

"M-Quality is one of the most significant approaches to positive change within the University over the past several years," says Robert B. Holmes, U-M director of human resource development. "The Expo is a wonderful occasion for people to see the creative work being done to foster improvement and innovation within the University. We think that our experiences and examples may be useful to others in higher education."

If you thought a cholesterol-lowering diet meant giving up meat, you'll be pleased to know it's an unnecessary sacrifice, according to the American Heart Association. A three-ounce portion of meat contains about 70-75 milligrams of cholesterol and an acceptable level of saturated fats, provided you take certain precautions. First, look for lean cuts of meat — those that contain a minimum of visible fat. Second, trim all outside fat from the meat before cooking.

For a beautiful display of spring flowers, now is the time to start planting your perennial flowers. Perennials bloom year after year with little or no maintenance, making them ideal low-labor flowers. These flowers include bulbs, corms and tubers. When choosing varieties, consider space, sunlight, size, time of bloom and color mix.

In still another way to use the versatile corn plant, scientists found a way to break down corn fiber to release a chemical used in making xylitol. Xylitol is used to put mint flavor in chewing gum, and until recently has had to be imported from Finland.

A Letter to the Community

Of Concern To Women

Breast cancer is the most common malignancy diagnosed in women and it is second only to lung cancer in causing cancer deaths in women. It is estimated that in 1996 alone 184,300 new cases of breast cancer will be diagnosed and 44,300 women will die from this disease. Although there are certain factors which increase a woman's chance of developing breast cancer, most breast cancers occur in women with no family history or other identifiable risk factors. Breast cancer is something all women should be concerned about.

Currently, breast cancer cannot be prevented, but there are steps a women can take to decrease her risk of dying from this disease.

Discovering cancer when it is still at an early stage is the best way to improve the chances that it can be cured. Unfortunately, at the present time, almost half of breast cancers are not diagnosed at a localized stage. We can do better than this!

Regular mammography, combined with clinical breast examination, is a woman's best defense against breast cancer. Mammography is the single most effective method of screening, since it can detect cancer at its earliest stages, several years before a lump will be felt by a woman or her doctor. Presently, however, only 30% of women age 50 and older reported having a mammogram within the past year (which is the recommended screening interval) and only 68% of all women age 40 and older reported ever having had a mammogram.

The American Cancer Society recommends:

Age 20 - 39: Monthly breast self-exam and, clinical breast exam every three years.

Age 40 - 49: Monthly breast self-exam, annual clinical breast exam, and mammography every 1-2 years. (baseline by age 40).

Age 50 +: Monthly breast self-exam, annual clinical breast exam, and annual mammography.

At Chelsea Community Hospital, a trained, caring technologist who is registered in mammography, will perform your exam on equipment that is accredited by the American College of Radiology and Michigan Department of Public Health. Your mammogram will be interpreted by a Radiologist with extensive experience in breast imaging. Screening routine mammography for women without symptoms is available. In addition, complete diagnostic mammography and breast ultrasound for women with a palpable lump or other breast symptom(s) are also available.

If you are over 40 and have never had a mammogram, or if you are over 50 and have not had a mammogram in the past year, discuss these recommendations with your doctor. Give yourself the best odds against cancer; get a mammogram!

Sincerely,
Deborah Jeffries, MD

Parmann elected to Albion College Student Senate

Albion College sophomore Rychee Parmann has been elected to the Student Senate at Albion College.

Parmann is the daughter of Robert and Tressa Parmann of Dexter and a graduate of Dexter High School.

The Senate is the official voice of the students and the disburser of the students activity fee. Much of the Senate's work is done in four standing committees: Campus Relations, Faculty and Academic Affairs, Financial Affairs and Student Affairs.

Through senators' "Pet Projects," the Senate is involved with improving study facilities on campus, publishing a course evaluation booklet, holding campus elections and other activities.

Albion College is a private, coeducational, liberal arts college located in the south central Michigan town of the same name.

Family Medicine

By John C. Wolf, D.O.
Associate Professor of Family Medicine, Ohio University College of Osteopathic Medicine

Question: Over the years I've had many reactions and sensitivities to chemicals, including medicines. I've had rashes, not felt well, confusion, and even one anaphylactic reaction. Currently I'm taking an antibiotic. It is helping, but it causes cramping, multiple stools, acid reflux and a burning mouth. Do you have any suggestions that would help me with my multiple sensitivities other than looking for a natural antibiotic?

Answer: I think I can best answer your question by addressing the issues you raise one at a time. First, antibiotics are "natural." There is a mistaken belief among some groups that medicine purchased from the drug store is not as good as "natural" products from the health food store. Actually, most antibiotics are refined products from molds, so they are "natural." This doesn't imply that they are without side effects, however. The frequent stools and abdominal cramps you are experiencing are common complaints associated with antibiotic use. They are not an allergy or sensitivity to the drug. Instead, they are an anticipated but unpleasant consequence — a side effect.

Second, the "multiple chemical sensitivity" condition you describe can be very frustrating. Individuals with this problem have reactions to substances — usually man-made chemicals, present in the workplace or home — at concentrations that are safe for most people. The most common symptoms are those related to the nervous system, such as headaches, dizziness, confusion and blurred vision. Other symptoms are also possible.

Some have suggested that most individuals reporting multiple chemical sensitivity are actually just showing a different manifestation of an emotional condition such as depression or a phobia. Careful scientific studies have shown this isn't so.

Other investigators have found that those with asthma and other allergic conditions are at greater risk of developing multiple chemical sensitivity. While this appears to be true, there are also many people who have multiple chemical sensitivity but do not show the kinds of immune system changes that are characteristic of allergy and asthma. In other words, we don't understand the actual physiologic changes that result in multiple chemical sensitivity.

Your initial reaction to your condition has been correct. You need to limit your exposure to man-made chemicals as well as "natural" chemicals to which you are sensitive. Most people with your condition experience symptoms from chemicals released into the air from carpet, plywood, paint, and other industrial chemicals. But some, like you, also have more classic allergic reactions to things they consume. Colorants and preservatives are frequently the culprits rather than the active ingredient in food and drink, while the active ingredient is often the problem in medicine.

If you have a reaction to a medicine, be sure to describe all of your symptoms to your doctor. This helps you and your doctor figure out if you are actually allergic to the drug or if you are just experiencing an unpleasant side effect. If it's just an unpleasant side effect, like with your antibiotic, your doctor will probably recommend that you continue taking it until the infection is cleared up. If you are having an allergic reaction, however, your doctor will want to find a substitute drug.

Larceny

Larceny was reported in the 3500 block of Cushing Court, Oct. 8. A 40-year-old Dexter woman told a Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputy someone stole six checks from her, forging three and stealing $1,220. The woman noticed the missing money when she received her bank statement. The checks were forged between Aug. 22 and Sept. 9.

Suspicious Incident

A suspicious incident was reported in Dexter Oct. 1. The mother of a 12-year-old boy told a deputy her son was riding his bike home from Wylie Middle School when a teenager assaulted him and stole the bike. When a deputy wanted to arrange a more in-depth interview, the boy's mother said she did not want the police at her home and she refused to come to the station. The woman then asked to cancel her complaint. A report was made to document the incident anyway.

Chelsea Village

Larceny

Larceny and fraudulent use of a credit card was reported at Chelsea Amoco gas station, 1630 S. Main St., Oct. 1. A 50-year-old Manchester woman told Chelsea Police she last used her credit card at the gas station Sept. 20. On Oct. 1, her credit card company called to report unusual activity on her card. A total of $1,587.34 worth of purchases were processed on her card at the local gas station. Chelsea Police investigated and discovered a 30-year-old Albion woman, an Amoco clerk, used the victim's credit card Sept. 20 through Oct. 1, charging amounts ranging from $36 to $300 and taking cash out of the register in place of the charged amounts.

The suspect is currently on probation after serving a two-year sentence for embezzlement in Georgia. She was also convicted of larceny in Jackson County. The suspect told police she embezzled money to support a cocaine habit. She admitted to the local theft and told police she needed the money this time to pay bills and child support.

Accident

An accident was reported to the Chelsea Police Department at Bridge's Travel Land, 1603 S. Main St., Oct. 10. A 35-year-old male employee had driven a 1992 Cobra Passport motor home into the side of the building, breaking a gas line and filling the building with gas. Chelsea Police, the fire department and MichCon responded and secured the building. The police report said the driver may have hit the accelerator instead of the brake and ran into the building.

Webster Township

Violation of a Personal Protection Order

A 35-year-old township man told a sheriff's deputy his former girlfriend recently violated a Personal Protection Order. Police were called to the 5900 block of Joy Road, Oct. 10. The suspect said his ex-girlfriend, a 31-year-old Ypsilanti woman, called him in violation of the order. He produced a taped conversation with the woman in which she admits she knew her call was in violation of the court order. A copy of the police report has been forwarded to the court.

Sylvan Township

Warrant Arrest

Irvine L. Williams, III, 38, of Ypsilanti was transferred into the custody of a Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputy near I-94 and Notten Road, Oct. 11. Williams was arrested on a bench warrant by a Jackson County Sheriff's deputy for driving with a suspended license.

Gregory Philip Smith, 21, of Jackson was transferred from Jackson County Sheriff's Department custody to Washtenaw County custody Oct. 11. Smith was arrested on charges of non-payment of child support.

Lima Township

Domestic Assault

Domestic assault and battery was reported in the 12800 block of Laick Drive, Oct. 12. A 36-year-old woman told a sheriff's deputy her 43-year-old husband attacked her after he became enraged that she taped over his video. The woman said she was watching TV with her three children when her husband went on a rampage, breaking glass and destroying the video tape. He then grabbed the woman by her arm and shoved her into a chair. She and her children fled to a bedroom, but he broke through the door, destroying the door jamb. She called police and he continued destroying household items. The man admitted to police that he grabbed his wife's arm and shoved her, causing minor injuries. He was arrested and taken to jail.

Lyndon Township

Property Damage

A 1992 Chevy S-10 pickup was reported damaged by a 38-year-old Lyndon Township woman Oct. 3. The woman's vehicle was parked outside her residence when a rock was thrown through the driver's side window. In addition to breaking two windows, the rock also damaged a stereo speaker, for a total of $1,000 in damages.

Dexter Township

Drunken Driving

A 33-year-old Pinckney woman was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor on Dexter-Pinckney Road near Horseshoe Bend, Oct. 12. A sheriff's deputy encountered the woman and her husband pulled over on the side of the road arguing. The woman smelled of alcohol and admitted to drinking at the Eagles Club on Jackson Road. A preliminary breath test revealed her blood-alcohol level to be .11 percent, which is considered illegal. However, enroute to jail, the deputy was delayed while stopping another suspected drunk driver. When the woman arrived at the jail two hours later, her blood-alcohol level dropped to .07 percent when the official test was administered. She was booked and released.

A 51-year-old Pinckney man was arrested in Dexter Township for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor. An officer on a routine patrol noticed the man's vehicle was wandering toward the center lane divider. When the man was pulled over, the driver failed several field sobriety tests. In a breathalyzer test, the man blew .12 percent blood alcohol level. The suspect said he had drank six or seven beers at the Eagles Club on Jackson Road.

Larceny

Larceny was reported in the 14200 block of Hay Rake Hollow, Oct. 13. A 49-year-old man told a sheriff's deputy his son's back pack was stolen from their car. The back pack contained $400 worth of items, including a calculator, pens and books. The vehicle was unlocked and parked in their driveway.

Breaking and Entering

Breaking and entering was reported in the 14000 block of Wagon Wheel Court, Oct. 12. A 23-year-old woman reported her Jeep Wrangler was broken into and a glove compartment lock was removed. The vehicle's vinyl top had been unzipped to gain entry. A men's black leather coat, a Motorola flip-type phone and two compact discs were stolen. Estimated damage to the vehicle totals $100, while the total value of stolen property is estimated at $530.

Breaking and entering was reported in the 14000 block of Hay Rake Hollow, Oct. 12. A 44-year-old man reported his 1996 Mercury Sable and 1988 Ford Escort were in his driveway unlocked at the time of the break-in. Stolen from the Mercury Sable were a cellular phone and adapter. Stolen from the Escort was a cellular phone. There was no damage to the vehicles. Estimated losses in stolen property totals $300.

Breaking and entering was reported in the 14000 block of Hay Rake Hollow, Oct. 12. A 46-year-old man reported his 1989 Dodge pick-up was broken into. Entry to the vehicle was gained through a rear window that was forced open. A walkie-talkie was stolen from the vehicle. Estimated damages to the vehicle total $200, and the value of the stolen property is estimated at $450.

Scio Township

Accidental Damage

Accidental damage was reported on Miller Road near West Delhi, Oct. 8. A 45-year-old woman told a sheriff's deputy a man passed her in his vehicle and caused pebbles to hit her 1996 Pontiac Monte Carlo, causing damage. The woman said the suspect, a 51-year-old Ann Arbor man, was speeding more than 55 mph in an area temporarily posted as 35 mph because of the loose stone. When police contacted the suspect driver, the man apologized and said he didn't realize he caused any damage.

Warrant Arrest

Dwight K. Davis, 27, of Mount Clemons was arrested on I-94 near Baker Road, Oct. 12. He was stopped by a sheriff's deputy for a traffic violation. A computer check, however, revealed Davis was wanted on a bench warrant in Clinton Township for failure to appear in court on charges of carrying a concealed weapon.

Kimberly Ann Wolf, 27, was arrested at her home in the 8100 block of Jackson Road, Oct. 9. Officers had been dispatched to the location for an unrelated problem, but a computer check found a bench warrant for Wolf for failure to appear in court on a possession of marijuana charge. Wolf was arrested and taken to Washtenaw County Jail without incident.

Larceny

Larceny was reported at Allied, Inc., 260 Metty Drive, Oct. 10. A 42-year-old Grass Lake man told a sheriff's deputy someone stole his wallet, containing $130, from his desk drawer. Police were able to obtain a confession from the victim's co-worker, a 24-year-old Ypsilanti man. He told police he entered the victim's office and opened a desk drawer to borrow a pen. When he saw the wallet, the man opened it and stole the cash. The suspect returned $85 but had spent the remainder.

Larceny of gasoline was reported from the Amoco station, 325 Zeeb Rd., Oct. 10. A 24-year-old woman reported 3.9 gallons of gas, worth $5, was taken from a pump without payment. The woman reported that the suspect pulled up directly in front of the cashier's window with three passengers in the vehicle. One of the passengers came into the station to borrow a pencil from the cashier. When the

Arbor Hospice to open 30-bed residence

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the Arbor Hospice Residence, a new community resource in hospice care, will take place on Sunday, Oct. 20 at 1 p.m. at 2366 Oak Valley Dr., just off I-94 at Ann Arbor-Saline Road on Ann Arbor's southwest side.

The 30-bed Residence will be the area's first licensed residential hospice, providing care for terminally ill patients who, for a variety of reasons, cannot continue to live at home. "We are dedicated to helping our patients complete their lives in dignity and comfort — ideally in their own homes," states Mary Lindquist, RN, BSN founder and president of Arbor Hospice. "Unfortunately, this is not always possible. The Arbor Hospice Residence fills the gap for patients who need more support than home care, and can't be cared for in a hospital or nursing home."

A sensitive design by project architects Daniels & Zermack of Ann Arbor supports the Arbor Hospice philosophy of total care for both patients and families. "The final chapter of one's life can be an important and rewarding time," Lindquist states. "With hospice care to provide a supportive environment, patients can pass along their wisdom, love and legacy to family members."

Private rooms furnished with personal items encourage families to spend the day and night with patients. The rooms look out onto gardens, nature walkways and a children's playground. Families are included in mealtime, served either in the dining room, around the fireplace, or in the patient's room. A special kitchen is designed for families to cook their favorite foods.

The 8.3 acre site, just behind the Target store and across from the Ice Cube and World Wide Sports, was donated to Arbor Hospice by local developer Don Chisholm. A community wide fundraising campaign called "The Fabric of Life," is co-chaired by Judy Dow Rumelhart and U-M Athletic Director Joe Roberson has already raised $1.5 million of its $3.5 million goal.

Generous contributions have been received from the Towsley Foundation, Warner Lambert-Parke Davis, the Ervin Foundation, the Kennedy Foundation, the Herrick Foundation, Daniels and Zermack and the Lions Club of Ann Arbor — added to the outpouring of support form the Arbor Hospice staff, board members, and family members of patients the agency has served. Donors have the opportunity to name Residence rooms and contribute furnishings and landscaping.

Scheduled to open in summer 1997, the Arbor Hospice Residence will also house the agency's administrative offices and community meeting rooms; and, as designated by the International Hospice Institute, be the hospice training center for international professionals.

The Plymouth-based R.A. DeMattia Company is the general contractor; Midwestern Consulting of Ann Arbor is the project engineer.

Since 1984, Arbor Hospice has served more than 5,000 patients and families in Washtenaw, Livingston, Lenawee, Monroe and Wayne counties.

For more information about the Arbor Hospice Residence, call Pamela Reading Smith at 313-677-0500 or 1-800-783-5764.

cashier noticed the vehicle departing without paying for the gas, she wrote down the vehicle's license plate number. When police contacted the owner of the vehicle he said he had been driving the vehicle at the time, and thought his passenger had paid for the gas. He agreed to pay the $5, and no further action was taken.

Guidelines aid in holiday shopping for young

As Christmas and the other seasonal holidays approach, children in the Chelsea-Dexter area and all throughout eastern Michigan will be deluged with ads for new games, toys, foods and movies. But young children are not the same as adults; they are impressionable and need the active involvement of their parents to understand the ads they see.

Our National Council of BBBs has suggested a number of tips on what practices are acceptable when advertising to children. For example, the BBB asks for ads where:

- The size of the product is shown,
- The ad makes clear what is included in the purchase,
- A need for batteries is stated,
- Any assembly requirement is told,
- Any premium offer like a free toy is secondary to the product itself,
- Fantasy elements used in the commercial are clearly "just pretend,"
- Children are shown using the product in a way that the average child could,
- The ad shows a reasonable number of toys that a child might own,
- A child or adult is not shown doing anything unsafe,
- Words like "only" and "just" describing the price are avoided,
- The ad does not use demeaning or derogatory social stereotypes,
- No claim is made that the adult who buys a product for a child is better of "more caring" than one who doesn't,
- The ad reflects favorably on parental judgement or proper sources of child guidance (like schools),
- The ad doesn't suggest that a child would be superior to friends or more popular by using the product,
- Children are not shown using bad manners or offensive language and overconsumption is not encouraged,
- A food product is shown within the framework of a balanced diet,
- Commercials should be clearly separated from the show and program hosts or characters should not do the commercials within their own shows. Small children cannot always tell where the program ends and the commercial begins, and
- Claims about any product are truthful and not misleading.

If you see ads for children you consider improper, let the BBB know. Write your complaints to: BBB, 30555 Southfield Rd., Suite 200, Southfield, 48076. Tell them where and when you saw the ad or (if possible) send a copy. They can send complaints on national ads to their New York office for review as well. You can also call to check out company reports 24 hours a day at (810) 644-9100. The office serves Chelsea-Dexter and all of Washtenaw and Jackson Counties.

Cavanaugh Lake homes some of oldest

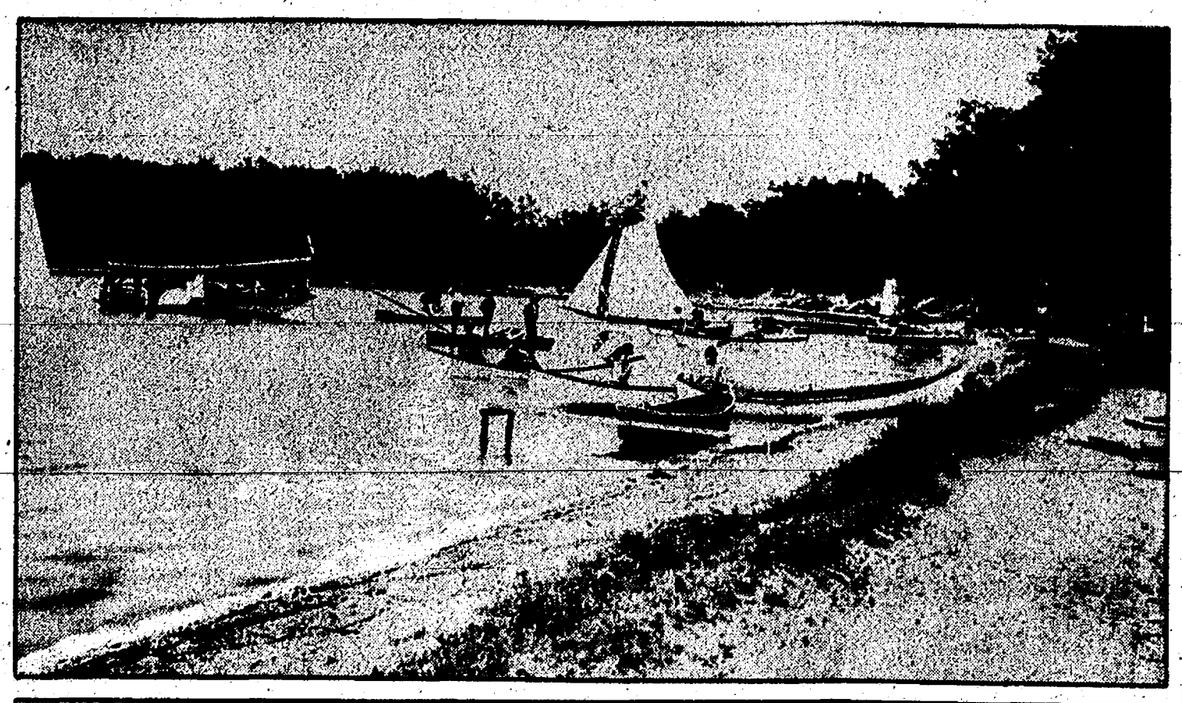
By Kathy Clark
Special Writer

Summer cottages on the south shore of Cavanaugh Lake are some of the oldest. The Cavanaugh Lake Association consists of members owning cottages on that part of the lake. It is over 100 years old.

Two photographs of the south side settlement go way back to when only round bottom boats were used. The water view shows a very low lake level, and a road in front of the cottages. At the left is the "Maid of the Mist" which took passengers out to the island.

Very early south shore summer cottages are shown all closed up in the fall of about 1906. Usually they were closed in time for children to go back to school. The round bottom boats are turned upside down to weather the winter.

A narrow path can be seen between the trees which was a sign of frequent visiting to your neighbors during the summer. Note the one cottage at the far right built on stilts! Many of these homes have been handed down to Cavanaugh Lake Association families. Most have been completely remodeled into year-around homes.



Homecoming week arouses school spirit, Bulldog pride

Chelsea High School kicked off homecoming week with a series of dress-up days and noon hour activities, which will be followed up with a parade, football game and dance this weekend.

Students dressed up in pajamas, class colors, future occupations apparel, 80's styles and blue and gold throughout the week to show their Bulldog spirit. They also participated in such activities as a Crisco sock race, lemon eating contest and wheelbarrow race as part of the week's activities.

At the end of the week, the class with the most points for these spirit activities will be awarded the Spirit Jug and souvenir footballs at Friday's pep assembly.

At Friday's football game against Tecumseh, the Homecoming Queen and Princesses will be crowned. Each class voted on its representative girls for these positions.

Seniors who have been nominated for Homecoming Queen are Jamie Roush, Julie Schwartzenberger, Kasie Ruhlig and Andrea Hopkins.

The annual Homecoming Parade will take place on Friday, Oct. 18 at 5 p.m. and will run down Chelsea's Main Street. The parade will feature floats, as well as the athletes from many of Chelsea High School's teams.

After Friday's game there will be a bonfire, and the Chelsea band will play favorite spirit tunes. The Homecoming dance will be held on Saturday evening at the high school.

Ghosts, goblins to visit fairgrounds

Ghouls, goblins and things that go BOO! That's what the Chelsea Lions Club will be providing at its tenth annual Haunted House.

The Haunted House will be at the Chelsea Fairgrounds, one block west of the corner of Old U.S.-12 and M-52, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 24-26 from 7-10 p.m.

"Our goal has always been to provide a professional scare, yet not leave the little ones in nightmares," said Lion Doug White. "Over the years we've visited numerous haunted houses, learning new techniques in production, then bring the best of those ideas to Chelsea for our show."

Construction of the Haunted House has always been a challenge for the service organizations. With the availability of the Chelsea Community Fair barn, organizers have been able to add some larger and more elaborate scenes.

"We work hard each year to make sure our 'victims' have a good time," White said.

Tickets for the Haunted House are available at the door for $5.

"Our goal has always been to provide a professional scare, yet not leave the little ones in nightmares."

— Doug White, Chelsea Lions

This year's Haunted House will be done in the theme of a Haunted Castle. It was designed by Tech Unlimited, a high school theatrical group headed by Brian Myers.

Drolett supporters conduct write-in campaign

By Michelle Rogers
Associate Editor

Several dozen Dexter Township residents have organized a write-in campaign to re-elect Jim Drolett to the township supervisor post.

Drolett suffered a 67-vote loss in the primary to Republican challenger John Sdao, a 30-year-old computer consultant. Sdao and Democratic challenger Burton Hoey, a 49-year-old self-employed contractor, will be on the November ballot.

Write-in organizers for Drolett are hoping to secure an estimated 1,200 votes needed for Drolett to win. They suspect, however, about half the number can return Drolett to office for another four years.

The primary's outcome was a major upset for Drolett, who has served as supervisor the past 12 years. He has been on the township board since 1982, serving his first two years as a trustee.

Dan H. Rhodes, a township resident and 20-year acquaintance of Drolett, is among a group calling itself "Write-in for James Drolett."

Rhodes said he and a core group of supporters began discussing the effort about a month ago.

"Shortly after the primary I found a number of people who were shocked, to say the least, that Jim lost the primary," Rhodes said was the impetus for initiating the campaign.

Rhodes suspects voters who split their ballots, voting for Republicans and Democrats during the primary, inadvertently caused the political upset.

"I personally believe the 205 spoiled ballots were largely spoiled because people wanted to vote for Jim (a Republican) and people wanted to vote for Clerk Bill Eisenbeiser (a Democrat)," Rhodes said.

Rhodes says he thinks a successful write-in campaign in Dexter Township can be accomplished with a strong, grassroots effort.

"Once you establish contacts, which we have done in virtually all neighborhoods and subdivisions, and show people how to do a write-in campaign, make them aware one is going on and the consequences if it's not successful, I think you can win," Rhodes said.

Drolett said last week he is aware of the campaign and whole-heartedly supports it.

"It's nice to see people concerned, and I share the concerns of this group," Drolett said.

"I don't want to see government in Dexter Township controlled by special interest groups, and I've made a concerted effort over the years to treat everybody equal, not to do special favors and to not do anything to hurt the township as a whole."

Drolett supporters have initiated a mailing campaign and plan to make personal contacts with residents. Stickers with Drolett's name on them will be circulated in hopes voters place the stickers on the ballot for township supervisor.

"I think that will be the primary mechanism to make this a successful effort," Rhodes said.

Drolett said educating voters about the write-in process will be one of the biggest battles. "First you have to educate voters that a write-in campaign is going on. Then, it's going to be a big effort to educate them how to do a write-in," he conceded.

Drolett said residents may vote a straight ticket and still select him as a write-in by placing the sticker on the secrecy envelope.

There are some 3,200 registered voters in Dexter Township. Only 27 percent turned out for the primary election.

"We feel if we can gather 700 (votes), we will win," Rhodes said about the Nov. 5 election.

In other election news, Ray Steinbach is running as a write-in candidate for Sylvan Township treasurer.

German exchange student finds United States comparable to home country

Katja Kobol, an foreign exchange student at Chelsea High School, has been in the United States for about two months now, and says thing aren't that much different here than in her native country of Germany.

"I came here because I wanted to learn the language and culture and meet different people," Kobol said. "I was getting bored at home."

She said there are some fundamental differences in the schooling and social customs, but overall the two countries are quite similar.

"Here you only get one lunch break at school and there you get several breaks during the day," she said. "I'll miss the school because it's easier here. I don't have to study as much."

Kobol said students are tested differently in Germany. Rather than being tested weekly or several times throughout the semester as they are here, students in Germany are only tested one or two times per semester. She also said she has to take several more classes each semester in Germany than she does here.

Although she plays on the basketball team at Chelsea High School, Kobol said there's not as much to do in Chelsea as in her home town of Frankfurt.

"In Germany you can drink when you're 16," Kobol, 17, said. "You can go out and go to discos, and you can stay out as late as you want, until 4 or 5 in the morning." She added that she misses the techno music that is popular in her native country.

Katja Kobol of Germany spends the school year at Chelsea High School.

"I came here because I wanted to learn the language and culture and meet different people."

— Katja Kobol

"There aren't a lot of things to do here, so it's not difficult to be home by midnight," she said.

Kobol said she pretty much knew what to expect when she came here, because she had two other friends who had come to the United States before her.

"I didn't have any expectations, I just came here," she said.

She said her peers behave differently here than they did in Germany.

"Here they're more selfish and go their own way," Kobol said. "One day they'll be your best friend, and then the next day they'll pass you without even saying hello."

She said since she has been here she has learned to accept other people and get along with them.

Kobol said when she goes back to Germany in June she'll miss her family and teachers here most. She added that she will definitely return to visit in the future.

Shemansky trained to maintain warfare

Navy Seaman Shannon M. Shemansky, daughter of Karen M. Shemansky of 13150 Trist Road, Chelsea, recently completed the Electronic Warfare Technician Maintenance Course.

During the course at Naval Technical Training Center, Corry Station, Pensacola, Fla., students receive the training required to perform preventive and corrective maintenance actions on electronic warfare equipment.

The 1995 graduate of Chelsea High School of Chelsea, joined the Navy in September 1995.

Gregory man dies in tractor accident

A Unadilla man died last Wednesday, Oct. 9, after being trapped underneath a tractor he had been driving at his farm on Williamsville Road, just south of the town of Gregory.

Timothy Towner, 46, was found by his young son, who had been out looking for him. Towner had been in the woods cutting a path for a road on his tractor when the tractor veered down an eight-foot embankment into a hole used for depositing garbage, according to a police report.

Towner had driven the tractor about halfway back up the embankment when it apparently tipped over on top of him. He died instantly.

The Unadilla Township police and fire departments and the Stockbridge fire department responded to the scene, using a back-hoe to lift out the tractor.

Choir festival to welcome fall

Chelsea High School's George Fleming Auditorium will soon be ringing with over 155 voices joined together for the 1996 Fall Festival of Choirs. Monday, Oct. 21, at 7:30 p.m., marks the opening of this annual event. Students from grades 6-12 will collaborate in an evening of harmony, featuring traditional and contemporary choral music.

The choirs performing in this program are the CHS Concert Choir and Women's Chorus directed by Steven P. Hinz, and the Beach Middle School seventh and eighth grade choir, and sixth grade choir, directed by Andrea Miller.

Highlights of the evening include the CHS Concert Choir's performance of American composer Randall Thompson's Frostiana. This set of seven country songs includes poet Robert Frost's "The Road Not Taken," as well as several other glimpses of rural American life as viewed by poet and composer.

The CHS Women's Chorus will perform several selections, including "Three Dominican Folksongs" and a variety of other choral pieces. The middle school choirs will sing "Pie Jesu," by Lightfoot, "Homeward Bound," by Keen, and "Music Has Brought Us Together," by Estes.

All four choirs will combine for the uplifting "This Day," to close this year's festival. Admission is free and open to the public.

Track opens for fitness event

On Saturday, Oct. 19, South Meadows and North Creek Elementary Schools will serve as joint hosts of a Jog-A-Thon at the Chelsea High School track.

This family event will begin at 9:30 a.m. and last until 2:30 p.m. Participants can jog, walk, skip or even dance around the quarter-mile track as many times as they wish. Sponsors are asking for a $1 donation from all participants except pre-schoolers, who are free.

The event will be postponed until the following Saturday, Oct. 26 only if it rains heavily.

Lets Go Bulldogs!

Bulldogs still have shot at SEC title

By Phil Lozen
Staff Writer

Chelsea remains the only team that can realistically catch Milan for the SEC football title as Dexter's homecoming was ruined by a 30-6 Bulldog win Friday night.

Chelsea, now at 4-2 overall and 3-1 in the SEC, sits one game back of Milan who, at 5-0, has just Lincoln remaining on its league schedule. So for this week at least, everyone at Chelsea High is a Railsplitter fan.

Dexter, meanwhile, looks to rebound from its fifth straight loss and grab a few more wins before the season ends to build on for next year.

Things started out on the wrong foot for Dexter when, in the first quarter, a Chelsea defender broke through the protection and tackled the Dexter punter in the end zone for a safety.

The ensuing drive for Chelsea was capped by a Jay Schick two-yard run for a touchdown to give the Bulldogs a 9-0 lead.

In the second quarter, Schick struck again on a nine-yard run. Casey Wescott's point after upped the Bulldog lead to 16-0.

Dexter, meanwhile, could not seem to get anything started offensively.

The Bulldogs held Dexter to just 29 yards offense until its final drive of the game.

The score remained 16-0 at halftime, but in the third, Dustin White hit Matt Adams on a nine-yard pass to extend the Bulldog lead to 23-0.

White later scored on a one-yard dive to complete the scoring for Chelsea. Wescott was perfect, 4-4, on extra points in the game.

Dexter's scoring drive started on the Chelsea 43 where Mark Gafney recovered a Chelsea fumble. The drive was capped by a Stephan Shank to Chris Richard six-yard touchdown pass with 40 seconds left on the game clock.

"Defensively everyone played really well," said Chelsea coach Gene LaFave.

"We're getting better every week."

The Bulldogs were led by White, who was 6-16 for 106 yards and a touchdown. He also ran the ball 11 times for 45 yards and another score.

Schick carried 20 times for 58 yards and two touchdowns as Chelsea rolled up 251 yards in the game.

Dexter, which totaled just 75 yards, was paced by Richard's 4 runs for 27 yards.

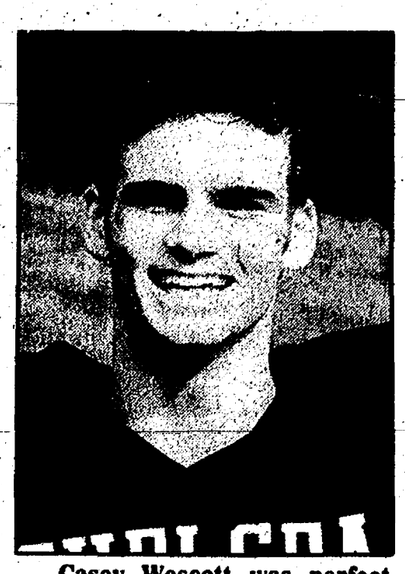
"It was nice to see the younger kids do well," said Coach Paul Becker.

"Chelsea played harder and they deserved the win. We're just not executing on offense."

Both teams have two conference games remaining and three games overall.

In the SEC, that's plenty of time for crazy things to happen. Dexter has all the time in the world to turn the season around and end the year on an up note, while Chelsea cannot be counted out of the leage race.

Lincoln has a high powered offense, despite being shut down by Saline last week, and would love to knock Milan, No. 3 in Class B, from the ranks of the unbeaten.



Casey Wescott was perfect with his extra points in last Friday's win over Dexter.

Chelsea basketball undefeated in league

By Phil Lozen
Staff Writer

The Chelsea basketball team is joining its football counterparts in fighting Milan for a league title.

The cagers, by virtue of wins over Dexter and Tecumseh, sit at 4-0 in the SEC, one victory ahead of the state's No. 5 ranked Class B team.

The Bulldogs outscored Dexter 14-2 in the second quarter to propel themselves to a 41-29 win Oct. 9.

After a close first quarter that saw Chelsea come away with a slim 10-6 lead, the Bulldog offense and defense exploded in the second stanza.

But the Dreadnaughts would not go quietly that night as they fought to within eight, 30-22, after three quarters. But Chelsea would have none of that as they stopped the Dreadnaught run in the third and pulled away for the win.

Chrissy Hodgson led Chelsea with 12 points and six rebounds. Kasie Ruhlig added 11 points by hitting 7-9 from the free throw line, along with three assists. Cindy Richard scored 10 points, pulled down six rebounds, and had two steals.

"Chrissy, Cindy, and Kasie all played very strong games," said Chelsea coach Charlie Waller.

A strong first-quarter effort led Chelsea to a 52-46 win over the Indians of Tecumseh on Oct. 11.

The Bulldogs jumped out to a 18-9 first quarter lead and held on the rest of the way as Tecumseh chipped away at the lead, cutting it to one after three quarters of play at 36-35. Chelsea pulled away in the fourth, however, to keep that perfect SEC mark intact.

Ruhlig led all scorers with 14, she also added three assists. Richard poured in 13 points and grabbed 13 rebounds to go along with two steals. Hodgson added 10 points as the trio of Bulldogs again paced the team to victory. Michelle Lucas came off the bench and hit three clutch shots for her six r_ints.

Hodgson added eight rebounds, and Ruhlig two steals to aid the Bulldog defensive effort.

"Kasie was outstanding in the first quarter with six points," said Waller. "Cindy and Chrissy were strong on the boards and Michelle did a great job off the bench."

Kasie Ruhlig, left, and Michelle Lucas battle for a loose ball during an earlier game this season. The Bulldogs are on top of the Southeastern Conference.

JV hoop team has tough week in league

Chelsea junior varsity basketball team lost to Dexter and Tecumseh in games last week.

On Tuesday against Dexter, 13 points by Amy McCalla and 10 by Miranda Harris weren't enough for the Bulldogs who lost 46-36.

"We played well for three quarters but in the fourth quarter we had too many missed opportunities offensively and had some defensive lapses," said Chelsea coach Paul Terpstra.

The Bulldogs also shot poorly at the line where they were 2-13.

Other Chelsea scorers were Katy Long 4, Meghan Holefka 3, and Lisa Zimmerman, Kristin Ellis, and Brook Stolaski 2.

In Thursday's game against Tecumseh, the Indians outscored the Bulldogs in the first quarter, 20-6, on 9-16 shooting from the field. Chelsea won the last three quarters, 30-23.

Holefka helped bring the Bulldogs closer with three, three-pointers and 11 points overall.
with 13 points. Other scorers were Ellis 6, Harris 4, and Stolaski 2.

Harris had nine rebounds and and Holefka had eight.

Chelsea was 5-6 overall and 2-2 in the Southeastern Conference after last week"s play.

Girls cross country takes Onsted meet

Chelsea Bulldogs girls cross country team began tuning up for the post-season with a victory at the seven team Onsted Invitational last Saturday.

Chelsea won the race with 28 points as the Bulldogs behind Jeannie Spink, Karen Pieper and Sarah Jedele took the top three places.

"Our first three runners ran an outstanding race," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"Junior Megan Smith ran very well to place 12th and freshman Corinna Christman ran well to finish in 14th place."

Spink won with a time of 20:16, while Pieper followed at 21:02 and Jedele at 21:04. Smith was 12th at 21:55, Christman 14th at 22:36, and Meghann Ziegler 16th at 22:53.

Places and times in the junior varsity race were as follows: 1. Carolyn Wineland, 22:30; 3. Julie Williams, 22:54; 5. Jessica Gillespie, 24:05; 6. Andrea Bullock, 24:17; 7. Katie Henry, 24:19; 11. Emily Wineland, 24:44; 12. Lauren Turek, 24:49; 14. Jenny Space, 24:59; 18. Rachel Mead, 25:06; 19. Rebecca Metzler, 25:17; 20. Jocelyn Anderson, 25:33; 24. Kristie Barner, 25:49; 26. Louisa Hubbard, 26:00; 35. Dana Meza, 27:12; 36. Kim Niehaus, 27:15; and Becca Williams, 27:39.

The Bulldogs compete this afternoon in the third and final Southeastern Conference Jamboree of the season at Hudson Mills Metropark.

Dogs take fourth at tennis regionals

The Chelsea varsity tennis team netted a fourth place finish at the Class B regional competition, held at Grosse Ile High School last Friday.

Even though Chelsea had several players who made it to the semi-final round of play, including one player who snagged a regional championship, only the top two teams may advance to the state meet held next weekend.

The number one doubles team of Laura Hurst and Bree Wireman, number two doubles Jenna Hall and Sara Mossburg and the number three singles player, Leslie Parker, all advanced to the semifinals before being defeated.

Chelsea's Emily Arend, at number four singles, battled her way to the top and beat Grosse Ile's Emily Spang, 6-2 and 7-5, in the championship round.

Chelsea boy runners win Onsted Inv.

Chelsea boys reached one of the high points of their cross country season last Saturday by winning the seven-team Onsted Invitational.

The Bulldogs had four runners in the top 15 places. They won with 56 points, edging Tecumseh with 65.

"We won our first invitational in over two years," said Chelsea coach Eric Swager.

"We beat four of the same teams we will face in the regional on October 26."

Aaron Ruhlig finished third overall in 17:12, and Ashley Coy was seventh in 17:53.

"Aaron ran an excellent race, as did Ashley," Swager said.

"Both runners attacked the hills aggressively, which is what you want on this course."

Other times and places were: 11. Tim Lawrence, 18:04; 15. Jeff Kolodica, 18:15; 21. Robert Frayer, 18:50; 30. Robert Bullock, 19:07; 32. Dan Weir, 19:12.

In the JV race, Matt Kolodica beat the field in 18:46 and Bob Rohrkemper and Mike Alber each ran his personal best.

JV times and places were: 6. Jason Zatkovich, 19:24; 10. Corey Bundon, 19:29; 11. Rohrkemper, 19:30; 14. Bob Armstrong, 19:52; 18. Eric Valchine, 20:01; 24. Deacon Holton, 20:26; 42. Steve Erskine, 21:13; 45. Max Cherem, 21:33; 50. Jeremy Peace, 21:43; 63. Pat Murphy, 22:22; 77. Alber, 23:09; 77. Jamie Stimpson, 24:08; 80. Nathan Vachan, 24:36.

"This is an enjoyable meet," Swager said.

"The kids love the hills and it's nice to compete with other class B schools for a change."

The boys take part in the third Southeastern Conference Jamboree this afternoon at Hudson Mills Metropark beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Freshman girls upend Lincoln cagers

Chelsea freshman girls basketball team put together a solid performance and defeated host Lincoln 41-22 Sept. 30.

Leading 7-6 after the first quarter, the Bulldogs turned up the defensive pressure with a three-quarter court press that the Railsplitters couldn't solve, and outscored Lincoln 16-1 in the second quarter. When Lincoln did get the ball to their offensive end, the Bulldog half-court defense kept the Railsplitters outside, and strong rebounding by Lindsay Powers, Mora Arnold, Deb Postiff, and Jill Drexler usually limited Lincoln to one shot per trip.

In the second half, Lincoln stayed closer by hitting several outside shots, including a three-pointer by Ruth Laughren, but Chelsea continued to play well and outscored the Railsplitters in both the third and fourth quarters.

The Bulldogs scorers were led by wings Lindsey Brink and Jill Drexler and guards Elly Wheeler and Jessica Herman. Diane Richardson, Tracy Kern, Jessica Hendricks, and Lindsay Powers also scored for Chelsea. Chloe Chamberlain, Betty Wescott, and Liz Menge contributed to the team effort with good defense and rebounding.

"The team played well defensively," said coach John Ruhlig after the victory. "I was also pleased with our patience on offense." He indicated that the team would probably add a few more defensive wrinkles, and felt that shooting percentage would continue to improve.

Swimmers battle for tie with Milan

The Chelsea girls swimming team fought hard in a thrilling swimming meet Thursday evening against Milan and came away with a 91-91 tie.

The meet began with the 200-yard medley relay. Chelsea needed to get off to a fast start in the meet and hoped to win the event. If they didn't, they would have to place second and third or the meet would be in jeopardy right away. Chrissi Tracy, Erin Hack, Cara Heitman and Kim Grossman fought hard but fell short and placed second with a season-best performance and state-meet time standard of 2:03.22.

The "B" relay also swam well and placed third, which was essential if the Bulldogs were to have a hope of winning the meet. Deb Adams, Beth Vogel, Jocelyn Temple and Emily Taylor stopped the clock with another season-best performance of 2:14.02.

In the 200-yard freestyle, Chelsea knew it could not compete with the strength of Milan so the goal was to split the event as best as possible. Sarah Broshar helped with a season-best performance of 2:12.50, which was good enough for third place. Taylor placed fifth with another season-best performance of 2:14.56.

The next event in the meet was the 200-yard individual medley. Chelsea fell behind as Grossman tried to place second but was touched out and finished third with a time of 2:27.87. Tracy was fifth with a season-best performance of 2:39.74.

Chelsea finally got a break in the 50-yard freestyle and out scored the Big Reds in an event for the first time in the meet. Hack placed second at :27.28, which was her best performance of the season. Temple was third at :28.85 and Liz Kaminsky touched out the Milan competitors for fourth with a career-best time of :29.68.

The Bulldogs knew they had the upper hand on Milan in diving and anticipated a 1, 2, 3 finish in the event. Alicia Vogel placed first with 201.20 points Melissa Sayer was second with 140.05 points and Tina Wiese was third with 127 points.

The next event Chelsea had to score well in if the team was to have a chance at the end of the meet. Heitman had a season-best performance in the 100 butterfly but it was not quite enough to overtake the Milan swimmers. Heitman placed third with teammate Jessica Inwood placing fourth with a tremendous effort and yet another personal-best time of 1:29.06.

In another key event, Grossman was touched out again, placing third in the 100-yard freestyle in :59.27. Temple had a season-best performance, placing fifth at 1:04.61 and Taylor had a great swim, placing fourth at 1:02.27.

The 500-yard freestylers did all they could do with Broshar dropping her time to a best of 5:54.21 which was good enough for second place. Adams broke the six-minute barrier and placed third with a time of 5:59.40. Jill Wesolowski scored a valuable point for the Bulldogs, placing fifth at 6:41.40.

The Bulldogs got the break of the swimming meet as Milan false-started on the anchor leg of the 200-yard freestyle relay, allowing the Bulldogs to take first and second. Temple, Grossman, Taylor, and Broshar just missed the state cut, swimming a 1:49.86, a personal-best for the season.

The Bulldogs had to out score the Big Reds in the last three events to win the meet.

In the 100-yard backstroke, Tracy placed second with a 1:09.21 but was a little off her time she had anticipated. Adams was third at 1.13.56 and Inwood had another season-best performance, with a 1:21.77 for fourth place

Hack won the first individual swimming event of the meet in the 100-yard breaststroke. Beth Vogel was third with a season-best time of 1:20.61, and Catherine Knox touched out the Milan competitor for fourth with her best performance of 1:23.85.

It all came down to the last event. The Bulldogs knew they could not beat the Milan A 400-yard freestyle relay so they concentrated on trying to place second and third. If they did they would win the meet. Broshar, Heitman, Wesolowski, and Adams placed second with a time of 4:17.54, but the "B" relay of Milan was too strong and beat Chelsea's "B" relay for third.

JV soccer loses a pair

On Thursday, Oct. 3, Chelsea High School junior varsity soccer team traveled to Jackson Lumen Christi for a non-conference game.

In a closely-contested game, the Bulldogs came up short, 1-0.

Jackson scored the lone goal of the game at the 4:35 mark of the first half. In the second half, the game got very physical. Chelsea players stood their ground against the constant Lumen Christi abuse. The Bulldogs out-shot their opponents in the second half, 7-2, but were unable to put the ball between the goal posts.

Matt Swope made nine saves for Chelsea.

On Tuesday, Oct. 8, the JV soccer team traveled to Hudson Mills Metropark for a game against Dexter. Dexter won the contest 7-0.

Dexter went out to a quick four-goal lead in the first 15 minutes of the game. After a goalkeeper change, Chelsea was able to keep the ball out of the net for most of the rest of the half.

Dexter scored once more in the 26th minute.

The second half showed more balanced play with shots being fired by both teams. Dexter scored twice in the second half on eight shots. Chelsea was unable to score off five shots.

The team played their final home game of the season on Thursday, Oct. 10, hosting Tecumseh. The Indians won the game 6-0.

The Indians scored three goals in seven minutes before the Chelsea defense figured them out. Tecumseh scored again in the 22nd minute. A quick goal in the first minute of the second half gave Tecumseh a 5-0 lead.

After that the half was controlled by Chelsea thanks to the outstanding defense of stopper Jeff Dohner. His long kick kept the ball away from the Chelsea end of the field but the offense was unable to put together a consistent scoring attack.

Tecumseh scored their last goal in the 21st minute. Joe Arend made seven saves in the goal.

The JV end their season on Thursday, Oct. 17 at Ypsilanti.

The Under 13 Boys Chelsea soccer travel team members have had a good start to their soccer season, accumulating a 5-3 record. They have two games left for the season, against Saline and Lincoln. The players, pictured from left to right, are Bryan Hayes, Zach Christman, Kent Reames, Coach Mike Gillespie, David Knox, Ty Christensen, Drew Warren, Kyle Brown, Paul Newhouse, James Ballas, Matt Hollo, Joey Verge, Chris Ruikka, Aaron Turek, Tim Gillespie and Coach Dennis Hayes.

Dog JV football team loses to Redford

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity football team lost to the visiting Redford Union Panthers on Thursday, Oct. 3, 34-0.

Redford scored on their first three possessions. On their opening drive they moved 65 yards and scored on a 25-yard boot pass to a wide open receiver.

"That set the tone for the game," said Chelsea coach Chris Orlandi.

"Defensively, they frustrated us all night long."

Orlandi said the Bulldogs continued to work hard throughout the contest but coach Kyle Plank noted, "We seem to be unable to make the big play when we need it. Our kids worked hard."

8th grade gridders open season strong

Beach Middle School eighth grade football team is 2-1 in the early going.

The Bullpups opened with a 14-8 win over Milan on Sept. 24 as Rob Molina and Dale Quennan each scored a touchdown.

On Oct. 1 at Saline, Chelsea was thumped by the Hornets, 26-0.

And on Oct. 8, Chelsea ran wild in a 64-12 win over Lincoln.

Queenan had three touchdowns, Corey Picklesimer had two, and Chris Brigham, Mike Radka, and Conner Gleespen each had one.

7th graders open with three grid victories

Beach Middle School seventh grade football team is undefeated after three games.

The Bullpups defeated Milan 34-6 on Sept. 24 as Adam Montero scored two touchdowns, and Andy Montero, Brian Sayers, and Dagen Gales each scored one.

Chelsea won a 16-6 victory over Saline on Oct. 1 as Mike Sayers and Adam Montero each scored a touchdown.

On Oct. 8, two touchdowns by Adam Montero, and one each by Matt Moffett, Mike Sayers, and Andy Montero gave Chelsea a 34-16 win over Lincoln.

Chelsea Soccer Club signup period starts

The Chelsea Soccer Club is now conducting registration for all players for the spring, 1997 season. All current players should have received a registration card in the mail. These must be returned with payment to the CSC no later than Oct. 28.

Late registrations will only be accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis, if there are openings at the appropriate age level. If any player has not received a registration card, please contact Dennis Hayes.

Players who currently are not on a team, but are interested in playing if openings occur in an appropriate age level, may register on Oct. 26 or 27 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at IBC fields on McKinley Road. Any questions regarding registration, please contact Dennis Hayes or Laura Christensen.

Pup 8th graders continue good cage season

The Beach Middle School eight grade basketball team extended their winning streak to six with victories over Lincoln and Temperance-Bedford.

Everyone on the team contributed to the 35-9 win over Lincoln at home Monday. Michelle Dettling led with eight points, Caitlin Biedron had six, Tia Schiller four and Lindsey Baker three pts. Adding two points each were Katrina Hammer, Erica Miller, Caitlin Deis, Jesse Cole, Heidi Layher, Jenny Diesing, and Josie Wells. Wells led the team with seven rebounds.

The team played well in defeating a good Temperance-Bedford team at Chelsea on Wed. The score was 31-25. Chelsea trailed 14-9 at half time. "The girls came out and played smarter and tougher defense," said coach Ann Schaffner.

Chelsea pulled away in the third quarter holding Bedford to four points while scoring 16 points themselves to take a 25-18 third quarter lead. The team got six pts. each from Tia Schiller, Jesse Cole and Michelle Dettling. Caitlin Biedron added 4 pts. and Lindsey Baker, Heidi Leyher, Sarah Horozdowski, and Josie Wells each scored two points. Jenny Diesing scored a foul shot. Jesse Cole pulled down a team high 10 rebounds.

The team record is now 6-1.

7th graders now 3-2

The Chelsea seventh grade basketball team defeated Lincoln on Monday, Oct 7, 20-17. The team has also recorded wins against Dexter, Milan and Pinckney, while losing to Tecumseh and Saline.

"The team plays very aggressively, and are improving each game," said coach Laura Cleveland.

Members of the 7th grade team are Susan Frederick, Alyssa Warren, Katie Beard, Kari Thompson, Andrea Daane, Jessica French, Heather Tanner, Megan Tandy, Sheresa Roberson, Rochelle Stafford, Jenelle Vleck, Allison Williams, Tiffany Dickerson, Megan Batzdorfer, Ashley Bartlett, Audrey Richardson, Cara Long and Tracy Carter.

Chelsea takes two

On Sept. 27, Chelsea U-12 traveling soccer team played well defensively and offensively and defeated Lincoln, 8-2. Winning points were scored by Kent Reames, Drew Warren, David Knox, and Zack Christman.

On Sept. 28, Chelsea hosted Tecumseh at IBC fields. Tecumseh won 6-0.

On Oct. 5, Chelsea traveled to Adrian, defeating Adrian 6-2. Assisting in the goals for Chelsea were Kent Reames, Brian Hayes, and Aaron Turek.

VILLAGE OF CHELSEA REGULAR COUNCIL MEETING Tuesday, September 24, 1996

Present: President Steele, Clerk Morrison, Village Manager Myers, Assistant Village Manager Pindzia.

Absent: Trustee Merkel.

Trustees Present: Rigg, Daut, Hammer, Clark, Cashman.

Others Present: G. Burkhardt, J. Ohren, R. Hepburn, I. Hogan, E. Botzendf, K. Hull, J. Kampas, L. Boyer, L. Boyer, D. Blanchard, L. Blackwell, H. Horning, I. Buss, H. Buss, S. Jaskot, R. Wilke, P. Wildry, P. Kaminsky, T. Osborne, A. Trotter, B. Roberts, M. Cueswell, J. Cueswell, H. Thurkow, J. Frank, B. Riecks, C. Rauchenberger, J. Frank, M. Graczyk, G. Pototzki, D. Rosentreter, A. Dils, D. Seitz.

The first order of business was public participation and John Frank, representing Preservation Chelsea, stated they would like to facilitate new Village Office location selection. Petitions as well as a letter was distributed to Council.

Holly Dracy, Taylor Street resident, stated she was concerned about the dead street that will now turn into thru street.

Pat Kaminsky, Chelsea Senior Citizen representative, stated support for the Pilot Request.

Margaret Graczyk, discussed rapid growth and her concerns. Additionally, she distributed information on the City of Taylor.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Rigg to approve the Consent Agenda. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Motion Carried.

Village Manager Myers introduced Mr. Ohren, Facilitator, from the Michigan Municipal League. Mr. Ohren will be working with the Gene Drive Residents, Council and others regarding Gene Drive.

Motion by Daut, supported by Clark to remove from the table: Offer on Lots 8 and 9 of Chelsea Industrial Park. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Motion Carried.

Motion by Daut, supported by Clark to table Offer on Lots 8 and 9 until October 8, 1996, Regular Council Meeting. In the meantime the Assistant Village Manager will check into the zoning ordinances, and to determine if we can create a conforming lot based on splitting of lots with one buildable lot. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Motion Carried.

Motion by Clark, supported by Rigg to remove from the table: Power Sales Agreement — Stand Energy Corporation. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Motion Carried.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Clark to table: Power Sales Agreement — Stand Energy Corporation. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Motion Carried.

Motion by Cashman, supported by Clark to remove from the table: Pilot Request. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Motion Carried.

Mr. Phil Seybert discussed the Pilot Request.

Margaret Graczyk spoke to Council regarding her concerns which include property value, traffic, taxpayers supporting the Pilot Request and the guidelines for residential zoning.

Pat Kaminsky, Chelsea Senior Citizens, addressed the Council and stated as an advocate for the Senior Citizens there has been a concern for a long time regarding adequate housing. She also discussed zoning and drainage. Ms. Kaminsky also stated she was excited about this development because of elevators, the raise in the cost of housing within the Village and as a taxpayer she feels this is a good use of taxpayer funds/subsidies.

John Campus, Wilkinson Street, stated that he couldn't see any reason why this shouldn't be done. Mr. Campus also stated that the idea of increased security was important.

Rob Wilke, Grant Street, addressed the Council. He stated that in general the plan seems reasonable — he wondered how we can build accountability into this type of project.

Gert Pototzki, Chandler Street, stated she was concerned about drainage issues.

Rianne Jones, Wilkinson Street, discussed the need for land for the future. She also discussed the way the Wilkinson Street property is used by school children.

Holly Darcy stated she was concerned about the flow of traffic and that she was very concerned about taxes going up.

Sheri Jones, Wilkinson Street, discussed her concerns regarding traffic, the low land and the parking lot of the development. She also discussed the Village's current sewage problems and the addition of a three story building.

Carol Rauchenberger, asked Mr. Seybert if this was a public or private development. Mr. Seybert stated private. She also stated that she thought it was a good idea, however, as "partner" she would expect to see a Profit and Loss Statement and information on what Mr. Seybert would be giving to the Senior Citizens.

President Steele reiterated that the Council was to focus on the Pilot Request. Council discussed with Mr. Seybert various portions of the agreement that were not clear to include pages that were missing, duration, take out loan explanation, taxable bonds, the number of units as well as several other items.

Trustee Hammer inquired on the number of units necessary and that he would like Randy Kraecker, Village Attorney, to review the material.

Trustee Daut discussed the taxpayers subsidy portion of this project.

Trustee Cashman asked for clarification regarding occupancy age and how amount estimated annual service change is determined.

Motion by Rigg, supported by Clark to deny request. Ayes: Rigg, Hammer, Clark, Steele. Nays: Daut, Cashman. Motion Carried.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Clark to eliminate use of chlorine and to go to a Ph adjustment as soon as possible. Additionally, to run set of chloroform testing within 72 hours later and then turn to the Ph or chlorine as appropriate. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Motion Carried.

Motion by Cashman, supported by Clark to appoint Trustee Daut as the NSF Representative. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Abstain: Hammer. Motion Carried.

Glen Burkhardt, McNamee, Porter and Seeley, Inc. discussed with Council the Final Clarifier Project at the Wastewater Treatment Plant.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Clark to purchase the final clarifier from Envirex for an amount not to exceed $45,200.00, payment within 30 days of its receipt by the Village with 10% of the quoted amount retained until after equipment startup and final acceptance. Roll Call Vote. Ayes: Rigg, Clark, Cashman, Hammer, Daut. Steele. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Motion Carried.

Motion by Rigg, supported by Clark to extend the Resolution Moratorium on Annexation. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Motion Carried.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Cashman to approve the Agreement between John and Gloria Mitchell and the Village and the Water Tower Easement. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Motion Carried. (Agreement Attached as Appendix A).

Motion by Hammer, supported by Daut that McNamee, Porter and Seeley, Inc. perform a wastewater rate study for an amount not to exceed $10,000. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Motion Carried.

Motion by Rigg, supported by Cashman to retain legal counsel for the Zoning Board of Appeals pertaining to land use variances from Steve Tracey, Martin Merkel, and Phil Jenkins. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Motion Carried.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Clark to approve the Easement/Right-of-Way on Lot 17 in the Industrial Park — Frame Hardwood. All Ayes. Absent: Merkel. Motion Carried.

Trustee Cashman distributed information regarding Ypsilanti's moratorium on building.

Jim Machnik addressed the Council regarding the video camera over use and stated he would like to see the Village Council purchase a 8 mm DEC.

Motion by Daut, supported by Cashman to adjourn the Regular Council Meeting — Time: 10:07 p.m. All Ayes. Absent Merkel. Motion Carried. Meeting Adjourned.

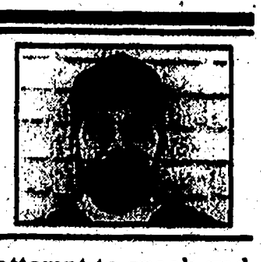
About the Outdoors

by Jerry D. Posey



Michigan is one of few states that offers its game-bird hunters more than one complete season during which the pheasant may be legally taken. The first season falls between Oct. 10-Nov. 14, depending on which zone you plan to hunt in, and it involves all of the upper and lower peninsulas.

During this season, a hunter is entitled to take eight roosters if lucky enough to score this well. But with the Michigan pheasant population in a slump as it has been for several years now, a hunter would have to consider himself lucky to do this well.

The ring-necked pheasant was at an all-time low in Michigan when in 1985 the DNR received its first batch of a new version of an old thing, and soon after started the first of many releases of a new type of pheasant known as the Sichuan pheasant. Previous to the 1996 pheasant season, over 50,000 pure bred Sichuans had been released at more than 600 different release sites scattered in more than 20 of Michigan's counties.

Most of the time you cannot tell the difference between an old type ringneck pheasant and the newer Sichuan, unless you have one of each to compare the other with. The markings, though somewhat different, are very much alike. I won't try to explain the differences in this column since they are both classified as pheasants and are both legal gamebirds.

This first pheasant hunting season is the season that most hunters are familiar with. It takes place in the fall and early winter. The birds are frisky and willing to fly when spooked, giving the hunter a chance at getting a few shots and maybe a bird or two for dinner.

The second season is a different story. The area involved includes only parts of 27 of Michigan's counties in the lower peninsula, all being located in the southwest corner of the state. This season takes place in the colder month of December and the birds the hunter is now attempting to outsmart are the leftovers from the earlier season. The key point here is, these crafty critters are not the survivors because they were the stupid ones.

Some of these birds spent a good part of the earlier season avoiding and outwitting the hunters and after a while they became very good at doing so. Now the second-season hunters must attempt to spook and flush pheasants that learned it may be better to stay on the ground and run, rather than take to the air at the first sound of a hunter and get their tail feathers blown off.

The introduction of the Sichuan pheasant to Michigan's fields has helped to bring the pheasant population back to the point where the average hunter can at least flush a few each time out, though he or she may not always bring a bird home for the table. Also, the rooster is still the only legal target, hens are still protected at this time, but we can all still hope that someday it would be acceptable to shoot a hen, too, since it seems like for every rooster I see when I'm in the field, I see at least five or six hens.

The wetland areas of most farms are usually the best spots to try for this crafty game bird. In the early season he can also be found along fence rows and in the fields that have been set aside for one or more years and have not been disturbed by crop rotation.

The high weeds and grasses provide a food source and protection from the bad weather during both seasons, and regular trails or runways can often be found, indicating the presence of the bird you are looking for.

Man is not the only enemy the pheasant has. The birds must also always be on the lookout for coyotes, fox, owls and hawks. These predators take many of the pheasants in an area where their populations are allowed to get out of control. Free running dogs and feral housecats also destroy many nests when these animals are allowed to roam freely, this too keeps the bird populations at a slow recovery pace.

Any one who has hunted pheasants knows the value of a good flushing dog. And given my choice, I would take one good dog as my partner over three other hunters when it comes to moving the birds in the thick stuff.

The pheasant, when handled properly after being taken in the field, can make a tasty tidbit on the dinner table. But if not done right it can also be gamey tasting and sometimes tough to chew. I would suggest that a person looking for a special-tasting treat try cooking the pheasant using one of the recipes found in a good wild-game cookbook.

Allstate offers community free services, information

Allstate Insurance Company, located at 501 N. Main St. in Chelsea, is offering a number of free services to the Chelsea and Dexter communities.

In addition to free photo and fingerprint identification cards for children, Allstate is also offering free fire safety and emergency phone number kits for children.

The company also has free brochures available on tornado safety, fire safety, teen drivers, drinking and driving, home burglary and child safety seats, as well as a video on fire safety. Free yummy suckers are also on hand.

Dance performance to benefit child with rare disorder

A special Dance Performance Benefit is scheduled this month to help raise funds for an experimental treatment that could help save the life of little Stephanie Smith of Belleville. Stephanie has an extremely rare autoimmune disorder which is now at a crisis only after two years of chemotherapy. It is most easily described as her blood attacking her bones because it sees her bones as foreign matter.

Eight-year-old Stephanie is a dancer who, until recently, took regular dance lessons and enjoyed performing in dance competitions even though her left leg had been amputated just below the knee. She has a genuine love for the "art of dance."

Dr. Dutkowsky of Bassett Health Care in Cooperstown N.Y. is prepared to proceed with a special treatment for Stephanie, but the associated expense will be nearly $500,000 and is not covered by insurance.

The Dance Performance Benefit will be held on Oct. 20 at Belleville High School and will feature dancers from over thirty dance studios. A silent auction is also planned for the benefit, with items autographed by Donny Osmond and the entire Dreamcoat cast being offered.

A dance workshop will take place on Oct. 27 at Belleville High School. Among the scheduled guest instructors are Keith DiOrio, who has performed with Paula Abdul, Rhee Gold, George Lon and Diane Kelly.

All proceeds from these events will go to the Stephanie Smith Fund.

Those interested in attending the events or in contributing to the fund are asked to call Joanne Zavisa or Amy Denstedt at 313-455-4330 or 313-697-8521.

Donations may also be mailed to NTAF: Friends of Stephanie Smith Transplant Fund, P.O. Box 258, Bryn Mawr, Pa 19010.

Your Money Matters

by Michael Kelly

With a tremendous increase of traffic on the Information Super Highway, consumers need to be aware of how to protect themselves from "accidents." As technology grows to meet our demands for fast and convenient service, more and more Americans are buying their tickets on the cyber-space express. In fact, one third of all American homes have a personal computer and 40% of those have fax/modem capabilities which give immediate access on-line. Yet leading on-line companies request that you release your credit card or checking account numbers in exchange for your ticket into cyber-space.

But just who has access to that number? Ideally, only those individuals with your selected on-line company. However, many people don't realize that cyber-crooks are also out there peering at their information as well. Whether its a credit card number or your secret-recipe for peanut-butter brownies, information you put on the net is out there for the taking.

"The Internet was designed to share information not to hide it," says Ron Hale, Director of Electronic Fund Transfer Services at the Michigan Credit Union League. "The Internet has been quick to adapt to the demands of the marketplace and suddenly security is an issue."

In fact, right here in Michigan at least two credit unions have been the target of an international credit card fraud with the assistance of the Internet. It is believed that by using software available on-line cyber-thieves were able to generate numerous valid credit card numbers from only one actual account number.

One account number which could have easily been identified from a transaction on the Internet. From there, the newly identified credit card numbers were sold internationally and used abroad resulting in more than $500,000 in losses.

Financial organizations and credit card issuers are also aware of the dangers lurking in cyber-space and they have been aggressive in implementing safety procedures. One system being actively used by Visa and MasterCard scrambles data entered onto the computer and hopefully only the merchants requesting the information have software to un-scramble the data. Another system being tested would bypass the merchant all together. While the merchant would request the information, the customers account numbers would go directly to their financial institution and the merchant would receive an approval or denial.

The most promising step in Internet security is the recent news that MasterCard and Visa joined forces with Netscape and Microsoft to reach the common goal of developing a single standard for merchants and consumers to use on the Internet. The new software standard being developed is to be called Secure Electronic Transactions and its technical specifications are expected to be published next month. What makes me cautious about putting my credit card number on the Internet is the fact that computer "hackers" have been able to penetrate security systems as complex as that guarding the Pentagon's computer system. If some cyber-crook can sneak into the Army's computers, what could they do to me when I'm trying to buy some software from a little company over the Internet?

When asked, "Would you use the Internet as a place to complete personal or financial transactions?"

Hale answers, "Not at this time. I would wait until after Visa and MasterCard have their encryption processes in place. However, I will continue to utilize the Internet as it was originally intended — to obtain information."

What should you do to protect yourself? (1) Call the companies which you would like to do business with on-line and confirm that they have fraud-prevention measures implemented. (2) Watch your account statements closely and report any suspicious activity to the issuing company. (3) Use common sense when giving out your account information or social security number.

If you are unfamiliar with a company with which you are considering doing business, you might check with the Better Business Bureau at (810) 644-9100 to see if that company has a record of complaints. Of course, today's high-tech cyber-thieves can appear and disappear as quickly as the horse thieves of the Old West and some of them leave fewer tracks. Just make sure it isn't your money they have when they high tail it to the hills.

Standard sponsoring directory photo contest

The Chelsea Standard is planning to publish a Chelsea Community Directory late this year. In the directory will be information about Chelsea schools, area governments, local churches, recreational opportunities, housing, and many local businesses.

In conjunction with the new publication, we're sponsoring a photo contest. You have a chance to see your photograph on the cover of the directory as well as win a $50 gift certificate to the Chelsea business of your choice.

The rules to the contest are simple. You may submit either a color photograph or slide. It must be in a vertical format. And the subject must have something to do with Chelsea. Capture a building, person, place or anything else you can think of. You may already have the prize winner in a photo album at home.

The contest is open to anyone.

All photos must be submitted to our office by Friday, Nov. 8 at 5 p.m.

Your ticket to a secure retirement.

Why Money Source is better than a bank
Reason #14
Access to more mortgage products
You wouldn't go to a supermarket that stocked only store brands, so why get your mortgage through a bank that sells only its products?
At Money Source we access mortgage products from all over the country, giving you the best variety for you to comparison shop.

Donald R. Walz
To the world he may be forgotten
To some just a part of the past
But to us who loved and lost him
His memory will always last.
This is in loving memory of our father, Donald R. Walz, who passed away on Oct. 15, 22 years ago.
You will be in our hearts forever.
Love,
Diane and Tylene

Nazarene church members dedicate new parsonage

Sunday, Oct. 13, the Chelsea Church of the Nazarene celebrated the dedication of their new parsonage with an afternoon potluck dinner and a celebration in the parsonage, located at 54 Chestnut St.

The special guest and speaker at the morning worship service was Rev. Steve Anthony, district superintendent for the Eastern Michigan District for the Church of the Nazarene. Chelsea is one of 72 Nazarene churches in the EMD in the southeast portion of Michigan.

The church began as a two-family Bible study more than a year ago, then moved to the Chelsea Free Methodist Church on Sunday afternoons and now meets Sunday mornings in the sanctuary of the Chelsea Retirement Community. The Sunday morning worship service has expanded to include a Sunday morning educational hour for children, teens and adults, a Sunday morning prayer time and a midweek Bible study.

The pastor, Jeff Crowder, has been working full-time as the planter of the church since April. He, his wife, Tammi, and their three children moved into the parsonage in July. The majority of the congregation is comprised of young families and people who have recently moved into Chelsea.

Face it. There will probably be no gold watch in your future. Unless you buy it yourself.

That's exactly what 22 million Americans are currently doing, according to Link Resources, a New York market research firm that tracks the work-at-home business. The "do-it-for-yourself" trend has grown almost 13 percent per year for the last four years.

Of course, that doesn't mean necessarily that entrepreneurial opportunities are for you. If the shoe doesn't fit, don't wear it. Better to take your chances on remaining a company person.

But if you've been tantalized by the "Do what you love; the money will follow" philosophy of the '90s, you may be interested in a free quiz, "Test Your EQ," offered as a public service by the IOF Foresters. The quiz is designed to test your entrepreneurial quotient so that you can make an informed decision about which career options to pursue in the '90s. —A High Adventure—
Students from the Chelsea High School Alternative Education Program geared up with safety equipment before embarking on the high ropes portion of the University of Michigan Challenge Course. The course consisted of different challenges for the group to overcome, forcing them to work together to come up with solutions to the very physical problems they were confronted with. Pictured from left are Mike Auquier, Shelly Kruger, Andrea Tompkins, Wally Steinaway, Rachel Zincke, Mindy Arnet and Tom Colin.

FCC opens lines of communication

Residents of this state can now call the FCC toll-free at 1-888-225-5322 to get facts about telephone rates or charges on their bills, broadcast services, or to express an opinion about communication issues. (The TTY toll-free number is 1-888-835-5322.)

The toll-free service will be staffed between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday (ET) and also will provide automated information 24-hours a day, seven days a week. Bilingual (Spanish/English) specialists also are available to assist the public.

This 888 code marks the first time that callers outside the Washington, D.C. area can call the FCC with general questions or seek specific information without being charged for the call.

The FCC's new centralized Call Center will be able to respond to queries about specific issues, telephone rates or charges on your phone bill, answer questions about long-distance carriers, or provide information on obtaining a license or form, filing a complaint, or expressing a concern about what a local radio or television broadcast station aired. When Commission subject matter experts must be consulted, the call will be transferred directly from the Call Center to FCC Washington Headquarters at no cost to the caller.

"This is a giant leap for consumers," said FCC Chairman Reed E. Hundt. "Consumers now have one place they can call to ask questions or voice concerns or complaints about communications services, programs or companies. This center will help consumers get information to better make informed choices."

The toll-free center is not the only way consumers can get information rapidly and free from the Commission. Users of the Internet can access the FCC's web site pages (http://www.fcc.gov) for headline updates of important Commission issues, access to all the agency's bureaus and offices, and a daily digest of information. Internet users can also respond to information on the Web or pass a comment on to the FCC Chairman of Commissioners.

Former Chelsea players to return

Former football players of Chelsea Coach Gene LaFave plan to show up for the final home game this season Nov. 1 against Jackson Northwest.

As part of a tribute to their former coach, the players want to establish a Gene LaFave Scholarship Fund. The scholarship would go to a senior football player who plans to attend college or technical school. A fund has been set up at Chelsea State Bank.

As another part of the evening, the players plan to hold a tailgate party after the game, either in the high school parking lot or the gymnasium.

Rick Poljan, one of the organizers of the event, says he hopes more than 100 players will return for the evening.

"It's amazing how many former players are still in the area," he said.

Doctors recommend scheduling a routine check-up before winter season hits.

Prepare now for flu season

By Barbara Schmitt
SPECIAL WRITER

Winter is on its way and, as always, will be arriving with its usual scourge of sniffles, aches, fever, and chills — commonly known as the flu. Saline area residents, armed with a little knowledge and a flu shot, can go a long way to protect themselves from getting sick.

What exactly is the flu? Dr. Linda Speegle, who is affiliated with Saline Community Hospital, describes the symptoms of influenza as congestion, runny nose, cough, headache, chills, fever, and myalgia — which she describes as intense muscle aches.

"Most people think of the flu as a gastrointestinal disorder, but it's really a respiratory illness," says Speegle. "People generally contract the virus from respiratory particles which are passed through the air."

TO AVOID getting sick during flu season, Speegle suggests that people wash their hands often and stay away from crowds, where the virus can spread easily through direct contact and air-borne droplets. And, although prevention is always the best medicine, sometimes a little extra help is necessary — in the form of a flu shot.

Those most in need of immunization, according to Speegle, are people over 65 years old, those who are on long-term aspirin therapy, and anyone who has problems with their heart, lungs, or immune system.

"These people are vulnerable," warns Speegle, "and if exposed to the flu could get seriously ill and perhaps even die."

Anyone who works with the general public, says Speegle, or with small children, such as teachers and child care workers, may want to get a flu shot, too. And, to avoid spreading the flu virus to those with compromised immune systems, people who come in contact with the disabled, sick, or chronically ill should be immunized as well.

THE FLU SEASON usually starts in December and continues through April says Sylvia Brown, quality and infection control specialist at Saline Community Hospital. Based on Center for Disease Control (CDC) predictions, this season's flu vaccine has been developed to cover three strains of the virus: Influenza A — Texas, Influenza A — Nan-Chang, and Influenza B — Harbin.

It's best to get your flu shot before the season begins, claims Brown, because it can take one to two weeks for the shot to effectively protect you from the virus. Saline area residents can start getting immunized now, either from their local family physician or through other community-based programs.

Saline Community Hospital will be making flu shots available through its Parish Nurse Program. Upcoming clinics include two that will be held November 9-10 at St. Andrew's Catholic Church in Saline, and one that will be held November 17, at Marble Methodist Church in Milan. Residents can get more information about these and other clinics through their church bulletins, or by calling Saline Hospital's Sylvia Brown at 429-1607.

The advantages of aging

By Alice Tippery
STAFF WRITER

The healthy living out of the second half of one's life may require a shift in "rules."

As Betty Friedan, author of The Feminine Mystique and The Fountain of Age, says:

"It takes so much effort to hold on to the illusion of youth, to keep the fear of age at bay, that in doing so, we could fail to recognize the new qualities and strengths that might emerge."

It is well known that extraordinary creativity can emerge or intensify as we age—if we let it.

"There often is a huge growth spurt sometime after 50," says Dr. Lydia Bronte, author of The Longevity Factor. Bronte explains that by then most people have learned a tremendous amount, and assimilated life experiences.

While many people hold an image of old age as downhill and disabling, only 6 percent to 15 percent of Americans older than 65 are classified by gerontologists as frail.

Aging can resurrect talents buried in one's heart. For one thing, folks finally have the luxury of time to pursue dormant passions.

Also, there are better and better role models emerging.

AS FRIEDAN SAYS:

"Its time that we stop denying our growing older and look at the actuality of our experience and that of other women and men who have gone beyond denial to a new place in their 60s, 70s, and 80s. It's time to look at age on its own terms, and put names on its values and strengths."

"I find that at in my 60s I can do more things at once than I could at 32. You just become more versatile as you grow older," notes journalist Morley Safer.

Other comments from those blazing trails through their second half of life are:

"I get up at 6 or 6:30 in the morning and I thank God that I've awakened and I say to myself, 'Now, where am I going to go today, what shall I do first?'"

"I don't think old. I don't look old, I don't act old. I don't dress like a little old lady and I walk snappy."

A change in language is important.

One writer notes that fruit ripens as it ages and she prefers to think of her added years in that way.

Suggestions from other "ripening" souls:

"Get involved in an activity that's going to be a bit demanding," says a 79-year-young gentleman. "When I'm skiing, I go after the 50-year-olds—the 40-year-olds can beat me."

As in all of life, a sense of humor is especially valuable.

Humor consultant, former classroom teacher and Ph.D Sheila Feigelson of Ann Arbor advises:

"Invite laughter into your life. Be on the lookout for opportunities to laugh. Focus in a funny direction. Keep things in your environment that make you giggle each time you see them."

The writer's personal favorite advice is:

"I don't know, but I've been told if you keep on dancing, you'll never get old."

Hysterectomy alternatives available

By Fredric Frigoletto, Jr., M.D.
President, The American College of OB/GYN

Hysterectomy, or surgical removal of the uterus, is one of the most common major operations for women. For certain non–cancerous conditions, however, there may be alternatives to a hysterectomy, some of them developed only recently.

A third of all hysterectomies are performed because of fibroids, or noncancerous tumors growing in or on the uterine wall. If they are causing no symptoms, then a "wait and see" approach may be recommended, especially if you are nearing menopause. Once a body stops producing estrogen, fibroids typically stop growing and shrink.

If you have problems, however—such as bladder pressure, pain or infertility caused by the size or location of fibroids—treatment may be necessary. A procedure known as myomectomy can sometimes be used to remove the fibroids but spare the uterus.

THE THREE SURGICAL methods to perform myomectomy are hysteroscopy, an outpatient procedure that uses a thin instrument to remove fibroids inside the uterus; laparoscopy, a similar technique removing tumors outside the uterus; or abdominal surgery, a more extensive, in-hospital procedure. Fibroids are sometimes treated temporarily with drugs that cause them to shrink.

Painful scarring from endometriosis (a disease where endometrial tissue grows outside of the uterus) and uterine prolapse (sagging of the muscles and ligaments that hold the uterus in place) together account for another one-third of all hysterectomies. Scarring from endometriosis may respond to drug treatment. Patches of scar tissue can be removed through endoscopic surgery (a small surgical instrument inserted into the pelvic area).

PELVIC PROLAPSE is sometimes prevented with simple muscle contractions known as Kegel exercises, to restore some muscle tone to surrounding tissue. A pessary device can sometimes be inserted into the vagina to help support the uterus. Estrogen replacement therapy or surgery may reduce incontinence problems.

Treatment for abnormal uterine bleeding will depend on what is causing the problem. Sometimes hormonal or drug therapy can help. In some cases, bleeding may be controlled after a dilatation and curettage (D&C) procedure, in which uterine tissue is scraped to diagnose problems. Endometrial ablation—the destruction of the endometrial lining with laser or electrocautery—may help a woman who no longer wishes to bear children but wishes to keep her uterus.

Pre–cancerous cervical tissue can often be removed through minor surgery, using techniques like lasers, allowing a new layer of normal cells to grow.

If a hysterectomy has been recommended, talk with your doctor about alternatives. If questions remain, consider a second opinion. Know your options.

Health problems may be result of physical inactivity

A major new Surgeon General's Report on Physical Activity and Health provides a comprehensive national look at the benefits of physical activity and the health risks of an inactive lifestyle.

The report shows that as many as 250,000 deaths a year in the United States are attributable to a lack of regular physical activity, with millions more suffering from related chronic diseases. Approximately 3.7 million Michigan adults are estimated to lead inactive or sedentary lifestyles.

In Michigan, however, the governor's Council on Physical Fitness, Health and Sports and the Michigan Department of Community Health are leading efforts to promote physical activity. A model K-12 physical education "fitness for life" curriculum has been developed and eight regional fitness councils have been developed.

"Physical inactivity is an important contributor to cardiovascular disease, the leading cause of death in Michigan and the United States," said James Haveman Jr., director of the Department of Community Health. "About one in every two deaths in Michigan is due to cardiovascular disease, a category that includes heart disease and stroke, and 45 percent of these deaths could be prevented with changes in lifestyle."

In addition, it is estimated that eight out of 10 Michigan adults have one or more CVD risk factors.

"Again, a more active, healthier lifestyle can reduce these risk factors," Haveman said.

"Physical inactivity is a deadly serious health problem in Michigan," said Charles Kuntzleman, chairman of the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness, Health and Sports. "But people who are inactive will be pleasantly surprised at the small change it takes to significantly reduce the risk of chronic disease. Simple, modest increases in daily physical activity will greatly improve the health of Michigan residents."

'Parent's Helper' answers health concerns of parents

By Cindy Hopman
SPECIAL WRITER

When a child is sick, a parent thrives on information to make that child better.

The family doctor is a natural choice, but there are times when more information is needed. Or support from a family whose child has the same illness can provide comfort. But where do you turn?

"The Parent's Helper, Who to Call on Health and Family Issues," (Castle, Connolly Medical Ltd.; 1996) is part of the Castle Connolly Guides aimed at finding the best health care.

The 441-page book lists more than 1,200 organizations, most nonprofits, that offer nationwide information and support on a host of issues via the phone, fax, mail and even the Internet.

THE BOOK DEALS with general topics like parenting and adolescence to more specifics such as allergies to rare disorders.

While it covers diseases and health issues in general, it also addresses mental health and disabilities, dental health, safety, accidents, injuries, food and nutrition, school health and sports and recreation.

To say the least, the book is comprehensive, listing an organization's name, phone number, address, hours, hotlines, synopsis of services and resources available.

The book helps to point parents in the right direction but also can be a valuable resource for family counselors, school personnel, social workers and nursery/day-care workers.

IN ADDITION to giving a list of resources, the book also advises its readers on what questions to ask when making an inquiry and how to best make use of time spent on the phone.

With the advent of the Internet, "The Parent's Helper" opens up resources beyond the pages of the book itself.

Health and family issues are one of the fastest-growing areas on the Internet and users can access articles from consumer magazines and professional journals, up-to-date research and clinical trials, doctor referrals, links to support, advocacy groups and even patients.

Part of the book is dedicated to resources available via the Internet. Listings resemble those in the front of the book, but this time, with Internet addresses.

THE BOOK was edited by Dr. Christine Williams, director of the Child Health Center at the American Health Foundation, and clinical professor of pediatrics and medicine at New York Medical College, and John Connolly, president of Castle, Connolly Medical Ltd. He served as president of the New York Medical College for more than 10 years and is a fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine. His experience in health care and education is extensive.

"The Parent's Helper" is just one of a number of Castle, Connolly Medical guides.

Other titles include "How to Find the Best Doctors, Hospitals and HMOs for You and Your Family" and "The ABCs of HMOs: How to Get the Best from Managed Care."

("The Parent's Helper" sells for $15.95 and is available at most major bookstores or can be ordered by calling 1-800-888-4741.)

Medical research considered vital by majority of citizens

Many Americans view medical research as vital and they say the federal government, private industry and even individual citizens should be involved in paying for medical research.

Polls conducted in California, Texas and Florida found that more than 60 percent are more likely to vote for a candidate who strongly supports medical research, and about 70 percent say they are more likely to think a hospital is good if it conducts medical research and trains medical students.

Respondents say they trust their personal doctor and organizations like the American Heart Association the most and they least trust health maintenance organizations.

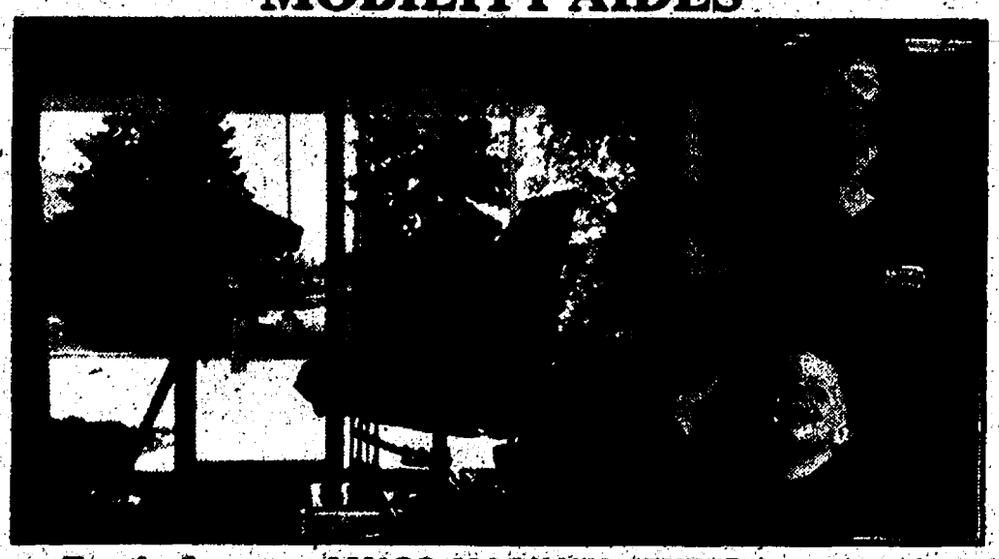
"MOBILITY AIDES"



For the Langers, AMIGO MOBILITY CENTER is a natural.

Mary Ellen Langer, owner of the Amigo Mobility Center on South Industrial in Ann Arbor, doesn't use words like "problem" or "difficulty", although she and her husband, Herb and their customers have perhaps more than their share of both. Amigo is a brand of electric carts, or "platform mobility aids", also called "scooters" by the people who use them. Amigo is the brand of scooter provided for shoppers by the Meijer stores, among others.

The Langers first learned about Amigos in 1991 when Mary Ellen's aunt, who has Lou Gehrig's disease, bought one. "About the same time she bought it, my husband was diagnosed with MS (multiple sclerosis)". Mary Ellen says "When she couldn't use hers anymore, he was about where he couldn't walk long distances anymore." That wasn't the family's only challenge. Mary Ellen was an accountant with twelve years experience at the Digital Equipment Corporation, which over the last few years has been reducing staff. As more and more people in Langer's department left, her own workload-and her stress level-grew. So she decided to look for a new job. Herb Langer is a chemical engineer who specialized in toxic waste cleanup.

The couple hadn't been searching long when they saw an ad offering the Amigo franchise in the Ann Arbor area. The company, based in Bridgeport, Michigan, has been serving Ann Arbor from a company-owned store in Lansing but decided to split off a five-county area as a franchise.

Mary Ellen is running the business. "It's a nice opportunity for us to help people," she says. "How does an accountant fit someone for a scooter? Well, I'm always learning, and there are lots of people at Amigo who can help me. Who better than someone who uses one and someone who lives with someone who uses one?"

Besides Amigos, the store sells lift chairs, folding portable ramp systems, walkers, canes, and a few other aids. The shop provides service on any brand scooter, sells used ones, and rents Amigos.

"I wear a lot of hats," Langer says. "We have a four-year old son, Herbie, and we'd like to have another child. Right now, between all this I'm hoppin'"

'Disease detectives' serve to investigate health issues

Whenever and wherever disease outbreaks occur, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention responds by sending an Epidemic Intelligence Service (EIS) Officer to investigate.

Known as "disease detectives," EIS officers perform a two-year tour of duty that includes participating in approximately 500 field investigations every year involving acute or chronic health problems and health-related concerns.

It was EIS officers that helped investigate the abandoned toxic waste site at Love Canal; assessed the health effects of Mount St. Helen's eruptions; and investigated the cases of Reye syndrome and its link to the use of aspirin. EIS officers also create surveillance systems to track and monitor diseases and provide vital health information to the media and the public.

Established in 1951, EIS has trained more than 2,000 officers. Every year, 60-70 health professionals are admitted to the program, which is based at CDC in Atlanta. Those selected for this elite program are physicians with at least one year of clinic training; doctoral-degree holders in epidemiology, biostatostics or related fields; or dentists, veterinarians, and nurses with a master of public health or equivalent degree.

EIS makes a special effort to identify and recruit highly qualified women and members of minority groups and is celebrating 50 years of public health excellence.

Medicare issues debated recently by the Senate

With the debate on the future of Medicare likely to carry over until next year, a bill (S. 1964) aimed at curtailing medical costs and improving health recently was introduced by Sen. Jeff Bingaman (D-N.M.). The bill would provide for coverage under part B of the Medicare program (outpatient services) for medical nutrition therapy services provided by or under the supervision of a registered dietitian or nutrition professional.

This bill is a companion to H.R. 2247 that was introduced last year in the House by Rep. Jose Serrano (D-N.Y.) and currently has 85 co-sponsors. To date, the Senate bill is co-sponsored by Sens. Ernest Hollings (D-S.C.) and Olympia Snowe (R-Maine).

Researchers working to repair spinal injuries

The spinal cord is the body's "information superhighway."

It is a road no thicker than your finger but far busier than any 12-lane interstate. Composed of more than 20 million individual nerve fibers, the spinal cord carries billions of messages daily between nerve cells in the brain and those scattered in the far reaches of the body.

Some bodily functions such as the heartbeat do not rely on this conduit. They are autonomic. But voluntary muscle activities, from walking to bladder control, depend upon a free and unimpeded flow of information. When bad things happen to the spinal cord, these abilities are greatly hindered. They may even disappear, wiped away in the stasis of paralysis.

FIFTY YEARS ago, most people who suffered significant spinal cord damage simply died. That is no longer the case. Advances in emergency medical procedures and neurological treatment have greatly improved survival odds.

But many doctors and researchers have something far better in mind than a long life using a state-of-the-art wheelchair. They envision a therapy (or more likely, an arsenal of therapies) that would remediate, even reverse, the paralyzing effects of serious spinal trauma. They cannot do it yet, but they are learning much about how it might be done.

AT ANY MOMENT, according to most estimates, some 250,000 Americans are afflicted by partial or total paralysis because of spinal cord injury. More than 10,000 new, survivable injuries occur annually, most to young men involved in motor vehicle accidents, sports mishaps or acts of violence. The cost of health care for someone partly paralyzed ranges from $25,000 to $50,000 a year. For someone suffering total paralysis: up to $200,000 annually.

The degree of seriousness depends on the severity of the trauma and its location. Injuries high on the cord are more serious because they cut off more nerve cells from the brain.

Spinal repair explored

The spinal cord can be damaged in many ways, including simple compression. Much of the permanent damage, however, usually occurs hours, days or weeks after the initial trauma.

First, damaged nerve cells die, then healthy ones, starved by a cut-off of nutrients or perhaps inadvertently destroyed as the body conducts damage control.

"Generally, the cascade of secondary effects occurs because new and different chemicals are released into the area where the initial damage happened," said Naomi Kleitman, director of education and scientific liaison for the Miami Project to Cure Paralysis, a private research foundation.

"There is hemorrhaging, which may produce harmful pressure or reduce blood flow to cells downline. Or dying nerve cells may burst open, releasing destructive free radicals. Or immune system cells called in to clean up the damage may secrete chemicals that actually kill other cells as well.

"IT'S A CHANGING chemical milieu that can take weeks to clear, and in that time, different amounts of damage can be caused by one or more of these factors."

A lot of spinal cord research has focused on ways to impede or stop this secondary cascade. Researchers at the UCLA School of Medicine reported last August that dogs whose spines had been compressed experienced significant neurological recovery if the pressure on the cord was removed within an hour.

Similarly, doctors have developed drug therapies that, if applied soon after injury, appear able to reduce at least some of the permanent damage. For example, a National Institute of Neurological Disorders and Stroke study of 487 patients who received high doses of the steroid hormone methylprednisolone within eight hours of being injured found that, on average, they regained 20 percent of their lost motor and sensory function.

THE STEROID works by apparently checking the breakdown of membranes in dead cells, a process that releases destructive free radicals capable of killing healthy cells. But the steroid's value is limited. In damage more than eight hours old, the steroid produces negative effects.

But the most attractive remedy remains invoking the body to heal itself, to boost damaged nerve cells to repair themselves by regrowing the long, communications fibers—called axons—that link cell to cell.

Until the early 1980s, scientific dogma said mammalian nerve cells, unlike those of some lower species, could not regenerate. Once a nerve cell was damaged, it died.

Then neurologist Albert Aguayo and colleagues at McGill University in Montreal reported that damaged cells in a rat's central nervous system could, in fact, regrow axons.

But prompting axons to grow again is just part of the problem, said Fred Gage, a neurologist at the Salk Institute and the University of California at San Diego, and scientific director of the American Paralysis Association. It is step two in a complex series of five.

The first step is to reactivate any damaged cells at the site of the injury. Here researchers have found both good and bad news. The bad news, said Gage, is that after an injury, surrounding spinal cord cells tend to recede and degenerate because their connections to other supporting cells have been severed.

THE GOOD NEWS is that these cells don't necessarily disappear. In some cases, they simply shut down.

"That at least makes it possible to attempt restoring them to function," Gage said.

The second step is growing new axons. Interestingly, wounded nerve cells often attempt to do this naturally in a process called sprouting. Unfortunately, the other factors usually conspire to overwhelm the cell, which gives up and permits the axon to wither away.

Step three requires that any regenerating axons grow in the right direction, toward their appropriate target cells. Step four is perhaps the most complicated.

"Basically, what we're trying to do in an adult injury is reintroduce processes that occurred in the womb when the nervous system was developing," said Gage.

New nerve cell growth isn't something humans do naturally as adults. Indeed, a host of factors exist to keep it from happening easily. The fourth step requires overcoming obstacles such as myelin, a fatty substance that insulates axons and increases their efficiency at conducting signals.

When humans are developing, myelin acts as a sort of final template, locking in useful nerve patterns and inhibiting any further spontaneous nerve growth that could prove harmful. When neurological damage occurs in adults, however, myelin does the same thing, imposing restrictions that make it hard for damaged cells to grow new axons.

Bill to fill hole in Medicare stays and reduced drug, surgery and treatment needs, according to the American Dietetic Association's president, Ronni Chernoff, a registered dietitian.

Medical nutrition therapy includes the assessment of a patient's nutritional status followed by appropriate therapy, which can range from diet modification to the administration of specialized treatment methods such as intravenous or tube feedings.

"Medical nutrition therapy is proven to be medically necessary and cost-effective in treating and controlling many diseases and medical conditions, such as diabetes, cancer, kidney disease, burns and AIDS," Sen. Bingaman said. "I believe this legislation should be a part of the debate on how to ensure the long-term stability of Medicare," he added.

An analysis of nearly 2,400 case studies by the ADA shows that, on average, more than $8,000 per patient can be saved with the intervention of medical nutrition therapy.

A STUDY conducted in 1994 by the ADA and the International Diabetes Center in Minneapolis showed that people with non-insulin dependent diabetes mellitus—also known as type II diabetes—can better control their blood sugar levels, weight and cholesterol with medical nutrition therapy provided by a registered dietitian.

Hospital care of patients with diabetes costs an estimated $65 billion a year.

"The ADA/IDC study translates into billions of dollars per year in potential health care savings," Chernoff said. "The true savings from the increased use of medical nutrition therapy in other illnesses is also substantial."

Dietitians are extensively trained and educated in the science of nutrition and its application to disease prevention and treatment.

"They are fundamental members of the medical team in providing effective health care delivery," Chernoff said.

Currently in the U.S., about 17 million patients each year are treated for illnesses or injuries that stem from or place them at risk of malnutrition, according to the ADA. However, Chernoff pointed out that there is no consistent policy for covering the costs for medical nutrition therapy, which has been recognized by medical professionals as a key factor in improving a patient's health or speeding recovery.

WHILE PRESCRIBED medical nutritional products are reimbursed in inpatient settings, a dietitian's services are not. In outpatient settings, Medicare and some Medicaid programs cover physician-prescribed medical nutrition therapy as part of home care therapy benefits. However, a professional dietitian's services are not covered as a reimbursable expense.

"This bill offers an opportunity to correct a monumental oversight in Medicare coverage by providing the essential nutrition services that have been recognized as vital to the treatment of many health conditions," Chernoff said. "We applaud Sen. Bingaman's leadership on this critical issue."

Make New Friends

The Young-at-Heart Find Friends and Support at the Dexter Intergenerational Center

Many adults suffer from Alzheimer's disease and mild forms of dementia. Caring for these loved ones can place a high demand on time, patience and the emotions of you and extended family members.

Respite care is provided daily by friendly, knowledgeable and supportive staff Monday-Friday 7 am- 6 pm.

The unique "alone/together" concept of the Dexter Intergenerational Center offers opportunities to participate in structured activities in music, art, crafts, reading and greenhouse gardening. This can be done alone, in small groups with other adults or with toddlers from our childcare program.

Let Dexter Intergenerational Center provide peace of mind to you by caring for those who are unable to care for themselves.

NSAIDS users at risk for other medical problems

Thirty million people worldwide—including 14 million in the United States—depend on medications called "non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs" to relieve their aches and pains, primarily due to arthritis.

And all evidence shows that for many users, these drugs—including aspirin, ibuprofen, oxaprozin and other such medications—are an effective way to maintain their productivity and quality of life, despite their ailment.

But use of NSAIDs also can have a price: It's estimated that, overall, a quarter of regular NSAID users will develop ulcers or other gastrointestinal complications, some of which are life-threatening. In a study published August 15 in the "Annals of Internal Medicine," it was found that NSAID users are at higher risk if they are older, have heart disease, or have a history of ulcers or gastrointestinal bleeding.

"NSAIDS ARE important, needed drugs; for many people, they provide much-needed relief from pain and inflammation," said Dr. Fred Silverstein, the gastroenterologist who served as the lead author of the research report, "But for approximately one percent to two percent (which translates into 140,000 to 280,000 individuals in the United States alone), they can cause life-threatening GI side-effects."

This study demonstrated that use of a drug called misoprostol significantly reduces the occurrence of such serious complications.

NSAIDs work by depleting hormone-like substances in the body, called prostaglandins, that can be both beneficial and harmful.

Although prostaglandins cause pain and inflammation in the joints and other areas of the body, they also help protect the gastrointestinal tract. Misoprostol (brand name Cytotec) is a synthetic prostaglandin that replenishes this substance in the stomach.

IN THE STUDY published in the "Annals," 8,843 NSAID users—of which about half also were taking misoprostol —were followed for six months. The use of misoprostol reduced the occurrence of serious GI complications by 40 percent.

Like other medications, misoprostol can cause some side-effects of its own, of which the most common are diarrhea and abdominal pain. However, these symptoms are rarely severe and are usually transient, lasting a few days at the beginning of therapy. In addition, Cytotec should not be taken by women who are or may become pregnant.

Regular NSAIDS users, say physicians, should be on the watch for common GI side-effects of NSAIDS, such as indigestion, nausea and abdominal cramps. If they occur, they should be reported to a doctor. However, previous research has shown that up to 58 percent of serious, NSAID-induced GI complications occur without warning signs.

"THE BASIC take-home message from this new research is that NSAIDs can exact a price, particularly from some types of patients," says Dr. David Graham, chief of gastroenterology at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston and another author of the research report.

"But that doesn't mean these individuals must give up their medication and its benefits. There are preventive steps that can be taken, and NSAID users should discuss with their doctors whether this option makes sense for them."

Michigan residents atop health profile

Michigan residents are healthier than U.S. citizens in 10 of 18 major categories, including the rates for infectious diseases, according to a recent report from the National Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

The report, "1996 Michigan State Health Profile," is one of a series of reports highlighting the leading causes of death and disability in each of the 50 states.

The rates of births to adolescents and prenatal care also are better in Michigan than for the nation as a whole and deaths due to suicide and breast cancer also are lower.
