Candidate comes to Chelsea

Dole's visit warrants much preparation

By Angela Trotter
Staff Writer

In the eyes of Republicans vying for the White House, the Village of Chelsea represents a typical slice of America. That is why presidential candidate Bob Dole pulled into town for a campaign stop on Monday, Oct. 21.

Chelsea was chosen for Dole to visit by members of his advance team, who were looking for a community off the beaten path that was representative of America.

According to Washtenaw County Commissioner Joe Yekulis, the advance team members were driving through town Monday, Oct. 14, and saw a Dole/Kemp sign on the barn door of village trustee Richard Rigg. They stopped and talked to the Riggs, and thus began the process of bringing the presidential candidate to Chelsea.

This is the first time in the village's history that a presidential candidate actually stopped and spoke in the village. Richard Nixon once passed through on a train, but did not stop to address the people.

Rigg said it took a tremendous amount of work and coordination by village officials, the police department, the secret service and members of the Dole campaign to pull the event off.

Members of the Secret Service had been scoping out the village since Oct. 14 to prepare for the event, Rigg said.

The Chelsea Police played a large role in making Dole's visit run smoothly. The department called upon reinforcements from its reserves, as well as additional officers from Washtenaw County and the State of Michigan to patrol the event. To ensure the safety of the everyone involved, the police department increased the number of officers on patrol from the normal two to about 30.

To prepare for Dole's stop, the Chelsea police also held a briefing with the Secret Service, at which they mapped out the town and came up with a comprehensive plan to effectively handle the people and excitement. They were responsible for sealing off Main Street from parking the night before Dole's visit.

Although some Main Street businesses closed down because of the lack of parking available, a number

Planners adopt North Area Plan

After about 10 months of work on the project, the Chelsea Planning Commission adopted the North Area Plan, a comprehensive blueprint of what the northern section of the village is now and what it should be in the future, at its Oct. 15 meeting. This plan is an amendment to the Village's General Development Plan, adopted in 1976.

The North Area Plan calls for improvement of vehicular access to and traffic flow through the northern part of Chelsea. It also includes a mixture of low and medium density housing, more retail services in the area and plans to preserve many of the area's natural features.

The planning area contains approximately 1,200 acres and includes land in the Village of Chelsea as well as in the Townships of Lima and Sylvan. It consists of the lands north of the railroad tracks that extend west, north and east to the wetland and muck soil lands.

Letts Creek and North Fork Mill Creek are located in this band of wet soils. These two streams and their associated wetlands and muck soils create a distinct separation between urban and rural uses.

Street access to this area is severely limited, as Main Street is the only street that goes through both the village and the planning area.

In order to improve access to and traffic flow through the planning area, the village will have to establish an alternate route for through traffic, especially trucks. There are seven different alternatives under consideration so that the village can find the most suitable, efficient solution.

The plan designates an expanded commercial area on both sides of Main Street north of the railroad tracks. This area is intended to include a mix of uses, including commercial, office and residential.

Services such as food stores, drug stores and small shops are intended for the North Main area. The planning commission hopes these businesses will improve the shopping convenience for people living in the north side of Chelsea and reduce pressure for additional shopping center development in Chelsea's southern area.

Since most of the undeveloped land in the north planning area is still in large ownership parcels, planning and development are easier than in areas that have been divided into a large number of parcels of varying sizes.

The plan also calls for a mix of low and medium density housing.

"The village and nearby areas need additional low density housing," the North Area Plan says. "Additional medium density housing is needed to provide a choice in

Dexter township to respond to lawsuit filed with Supreme Court

By Michelle Rogers
Associate Editor

All the fanfare and hype about an offer to settle an ongoing lawsuit brought against Dexter Township by two residents did not pan out Oct. 15. Moreover, it appears there was no legitimate offer to begin with.

A packed meeting room and interested board anxiously awaited a settlement offer by Jon Luker, the Ypsilanti attorney representing plaintiffs Joe Boltach and Abe Williams, Jr. But Luker skirted around any negotiations, telling the board the only way to avoid a trip to the U.S. Supreme Court was to let Boltach and Williams out of a special assessment district established at Portage and Baseline Lakes to pay for a new sewer system. He also demanded the township adopt a set of standards regarding special assessment districts that addresses how to determine which properties belong in the district, a move the township and its attorney say is not a legal requirement.

After nearly an hour, the board came to realize there would be no negotiating and there was no legitimate offer.

As Luker continued to retry the case in a public arena other than the courtroom, he was told by the board several times to get to the point.

"No more legal stuff. We've been through the legal stuff," Dexter Township Supervisor Jim Drolett said. "Let's hear your offer."

When Luker said he wanted Dexter Township to delete Boltach and Williams' properties from the special assessment district, he was met with laughter from the audience.

Several residents asked why Luker thought his clients should be released and everyone else should pay. Luker responded by saying it was a constitutional issue, and he asserted Dexter Township did not obey the law when it adopted the special assessment district. He also said the Michigan Tax Tribunal acted illegally by not considering the question of constitutionality but instead based its decision on whether the assessment was fair.

Trustee Harley Rider pointed out that the Michigan Tax Tribunal ruled in favor of the township, the Court of Appeals upheld the Tax Tribunal's decision, the Court of Appeals denied a rehearing requested by Boltach and Williams and a request the plaintiffs' attorney filed with the Michigan State Supreme Court for a leave to the appeal was denied.

"The Tax Tribunal has not said this board did anything wrong. When courts see you did something wrong they take action," Rider said. "It would be hard for me to ignore what the courts have said."

Clerk Bill Eisenbeiser had similar comments. "I don't think (the courts) set out to prove people innocent. They set out to prove people guilty, and I haven't seen anything that says they think Dexter Township is guilty (of doing anything wrong)."

"It sounds like you're asking this board to ignore the responsibility we have to the electors," Rider continued, citing some $40,000 already

From Our Perspective

The Dexter Leader and The Chelsea Standard have taken a lot of criticism for an article about Burton Hoey, who's running for Dexter Township supervisor. About a dozen people have called to question why we would run a "slanderous" article about one of Dexter's long-time residents and why we would place it on the front page.

In response to this question we would like to clarify some terminology, review the role of the press and explain how articles are selected for the front page.

Slander and libel are two forms of malicious defamation. Slander is spoken, libel is written. In Hoey's case, the information released to the public was true, a matter of public record, and available at various courthouses. There was no malicious intent to the story—it was simply a matter of reporting the facts.

We visited three courthouses. Our inquiry was prompted by knowledge from covering the police beat. We became suspicious that if he has a felony conviction, there may be other charges that we were not aware of.

When we interviewed Hoey a week before the article appeared, our last question to him was why steal gas from MichCon? He responded by denying his involvement. He admitted to the conviction but blamed the crime on a tenant. At that time, we would have thought he would be more forthcoming about his other improprieties. But he was not, which led us to the various courthouses the following Friday.

When we discovered Hoey's extensive record, we felt strongly the voters of Dexter Township had a right to know that he had committed domestic violence, operated a vehicle under the influence of alcohol, was convicted of receiving and concealing stolen property, and had a long history of ignoring traffic codes. His convictions and continuous arrests for driving with a suspended license demonstrated to us that he has disregard for the law.

Some people have questioned the timeliness of the article. We should clarify that Hoey was called prior to the August primary for an interview but he never returned calls. At that time he was the only Democrat and did not face any opposition. We decided to try again in light of the November general election and the opposition he faced by Republican candidate John Sdao. The article appeared the week after we were able to obtain an interview with him.

In light of all the calls from area residents, we must clarify the position of the press. When a candidate runs for office, that individual opens himself/herself up to public scrutiny. The public has a right to know Hoey's history, and it's the media's obligation to report it.

It becomes a character issue that the voters have a right to consider. They must decide whether they think Hoey can do an honest job as a public official despite his record. They must decide whether someone who has repeatedly disobeyed the law can oversee enforcement of local ordinances. They should also consider whether a person who placed the community at risk by driving under the influence deserves the confidence and trust of that same community.

It's the role of the press to provide factual information to the public. That is what the article about Hoey accomplished. It deserved front-page placement because of its impact on the community and number of lives it affects.

It may not be pleasant for Hoey or his family but the information presented is true. Hoey made the mistakes; Hoey decided to run for office, therefore opening himself up to public scrutiny; Hoey must face the mandate voters deliver Nov. 5—whatever that may be.

Opening Remarks

By Brian Hamilton

An elbow to the midsection. A stiff arm in the side. A blindside shove. A grab and pull backward of the upper arm forcing the backside to meet the deck.

A pickup basketball game against Bill Laimbeer?

No, just another day covering the Bob Dole Tax Cut Express in downtown Chelsea.

Those Secret Service folks, while extremely polite during the downtimes when they weren't listening to their earplugs, turned into animals in the heat of the action. It was like jockeying for position at a South American soccer game, except I kept getting pushed backward rather than forward. Twice the back of my head hit a TV camera, which probably made for some great footage.

I was trying to get shots of Senator Dole shaking hands with regular Chelsea folks as he walked from The Common Market (where he admired the bread, but didn't buy) along the railing, back to the bus. It was one of those once-in-a-lifetime opportunities for a small-town newspaper. The last time a presidential candidate came here was supposedly in 1960 when either Richard Nixon or John Kennedy came through on the train. I've heard the story both ways.

The Secret Service kept telling me I had to back up if I wasn't "in the pool," their jargon for not being with the national touring media. I just pretended like I didn't hear them, and they didn't wait for me to get it.

I've got to believe Dole couldn't have been happier with his visit Monday. I know our county commissioner Joe Yekulis couldn't have been. He was beaming from the time he got off the bus and he loudly thanked the Chelsea crowd after the entourage left.

The weather was nearly perfect. The Chelsea High School Marching Band played an appropriate tune, the theme from "Mission Impossible," as well as other inspiring music before Dole arrived, which helped put the crowd in the right frame of mind.

Dole operatives were teaching parts of the crowd how to chant "Bob Dole" and Chelsea showed they love a good cheer. Other Dole workers handed out bunches of signs, oddly enough to people standing right in front of the few Clinton/Gore signs.

A few of those "15%" signs were modified to read "Clinton 15% Ahead." In general, though, the Chelsea audience seemed to be an adoring bunch. Dole was greeted with the reverence accorded to a rock star, minus the drugs and crowd surfing.

The candidate appeared relaxed, although a little on the wooden side, and well made-up for the TV lights. He made his points about President Clinton's ethics, choices of judges, campaign financing, etc., while Gov. John Engler and other Republicans like Sen. Spence Abraham and Rep. Dick Chrysler smiled approvingly in the background.

If you've been paying attention to the campaigning all along, you didn't really hear anything new. The visit won't go down as the turning point in the Dole campaign. It was just a Republican love-fest right here in Chelsea.

I just wish it didn't have to be so brutal.

Uncle Apollo

Dear Uncle Apollo,

I was pleased as punch to see that you answered a letter from Confused last week. I'm confused, too, but about a different matter. How can two people who have been part of the Lima Township Board for years call the board corrupt, running under a little bitty committee as though they will do things differently? I'm just a little ol' country gal living here in Lima, and I don't always understand these high falutin' political debates. What's your take on all this hoopla? And what ever happened to the Golden Rule?

Dazed and Amazed

Dear Dazed,

First of all, there are different kinds of Golden Rules. If you are talking about developers, it goes, "Whoever has the gold, rules." If you are talking about politicians, it's "Give me your gold so I can rule." I forget what it is for regular people, but I remembered two out of three, which is pretty good.

As to this political corruption thing, you can see that by breaking things into these itty-bitty committees that deal with itty-bitty issues, things get very complicated. First, they want to deal with corrup-

A lot of people don't. Some of them fail to yield at highway-rail crossings. Others ignore the flashing lights or gates. Still others trespass on train property. And last year alone, 3,500 people were killed or maimed for life because they just didn't expect a train.

"The Bob Dole Tax Cut Express" as Monday's swing through Michigan was billed, also featured Michigan Gov. John Engler, as well as a host of other Michigan Republicans. Dole praised Engler's tax cut policies and held them up as a model for what he says he would do for the entire country if elected.

Dexter Township prepares to go to the Supreme Court

spent in defending the township in this lawsuit. The township has incurred the up-front costs, but through an agreement with the sewer authority has been able to pass on those costs to the residents in the special assessment district.

Drolett echoed Rider's comments, stating it would be "bad public policy" to drop the lawsuit now after being vindicated every step along the way.

In related action, the board discovered it would cost an additional $20,000 to respond to an application Luker has made to the U.S. Supreme Court to hear the case.

Township attorney Peter Flintoft requested the board hire Noel Yanick, a Troy attorney who has experience writing a brief to the Supreme Court. Yanick's fees are estimated to cost the township $10,000 to $15,000 over Flintoft's estimated $5,000 in expenses. Flintoft will assist Yanick and familiarize him with the case. On Friday, the Michigan Township Association Board of Directors backed the township board's decision by voting to donate $6,500 to cover some of the legal fees.

Flintoft said during the meeting that Dexter Township is obligated to cite any perceived misstatements of fact or law stated in Luker's brief to the U.S. Supreme Court. He also said the township must point out to the court that Luker and his clients have not "federalized" their claims.

The board was faced with the decision of whether it should incur the expenses and respond to Luker's brief or not respond with the possibility the U.S. Supreme Court may rule on the complaint without hearing the township's side.

The board was divided on the issue, narrowly passing a motion, 3-2, to continue the lawsuit. Trustee Earl Doletzky and Treasurer Julie Knight were against authorizing the expenditure based on the short notice. They wanted input from residents in the sewer authority district because those residents will ultimately foot the bill. Flintoft explained, however, that he had only until Oct. 23 to respond or a few more days if he filed an extension.

"I think we would be doing a tremendous disservice to the thousand other people in the Portage Lake sewer area if we didn't do this. I think we would be thumbing our nose at them if we don't defend our actions," Rider said.

The trustee explained he was reluctant to commit the funds too, but thought it had to be done.

Eisenbeiser added, "I think it's a total waste of money but it's wasted money if we say talk is cheap and aren't willing to back it up."

United Way continues to raise funds to support local charities

The Chelsea United Way campaign has passed the halfway mark for its 1996 fundraising drive. The group has raised $61,487 since beginning this year's drive Sept. 13.

The campaign has a goal of raising $107,740 by Nov. 1.

Joy Osgood of the group's board of directors said giving to the United Way is a way to be a responsible community member.

"A lot of people don't realize they don't have to give a huge amount of money," Osgood said. "They can give as little as 50 cents a week."

Osgood emphasized that 97 percent of all donations go directly back into the Chelsea community.

"The agencies that receive the money are just incredible," she said. "They're really dependent on what the United Way does."

She said the group usually comes close to meeting its goals every year, as residents can see their money at work in the community.

Workshop can help parents deal with negative behaviors in children, teens

Pride Parent to Parent Workshops, a community-based program, is a series of videos and discussions developed to train parents in effective ways to prevent negative behaviors in children and teens.

The dangers of substance abuse, violence, gang behavior and teen pregnancy are great. It takes knowledgeable parents to prevent these harms from all our children. This set of powerful videos is presented in four two-hour sessions by trained parents. Each session also encourages parent participants with workbook exercises, discussions, support and networking.

Sponsored by Chelsea Public Schools and Chelsea Community Hospital, afternoon and evening parent workshops are scheduled in October and November. Evening sessions will be held at Beach Middle School media center in the four Tuesdays in November from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Afternoon sessions will be held at Faith In Action on Wednesday afternoons from 12:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. beginning Oct. 30.

Parents, grandparents and relative caregivers are welcome. Please call Pat Kaminsky at 475-3193 to register. There is a machine to take registrations. Please leave your name, address and phone number.

Your child's life could depend on the parenting tips you learn in these sessions. Our community can be safer from the dangers of gang behavior and drug and alcohol-related car accidents if we network with each other and become aware of dangers our children face.

Beach to hold fall parent conferences

Beach Middle School fall conferences will be held Nov. 6.

The Nov. 6 conferences will be from 3-7 p.m. and the Nov. 7 conferences will be from 12-3 p.m.

Parents should report directly to teachers' classrooms where they will be received on a 'first-come, first-serve' basis.

In order to talk to as many parents as possible, meetings of approximately five minutes are encouraged. If a need exists for a more extensive meeting, parents and teachers can schedule an additional gathering for a later date.

EXPERIENCE POMPEII FOR YOURSELF
Every school child learns about the city of Pompeii and how that lively Roman city was stopped in time, buried almost instantaneously by some 20 feet of mud and lava from an eruption by nearby Mt. Vesuvius. Most of us have seen pictures of the excavated ruins, showing scenes of daily life "frozen" in time. Pompeii, however, is one of those places you really need to see for yourself to appreciate. No mere photograph can match the impact of actually standing in the awe-inspiring Temple of Apollo, built around the third century B.C. Other must-see sites include the Civil Forum, a huge public meeting place at the heart of the city, and the House of Vetti, a spectacular, lavishly decorated former residence of wealthy merchants. Although Pompeii met a tragic end, careful excavation and preservation have made it one of the treasured marvels of the world.
It is truly awe-inspiring to witness a way of life from long ago, to stand before a centuries-old monument, to see things you've only read about in books or heard about through family members' and friends' recollections. Don't let planning your trip become a monumental hassle, though. Call UNIGLOBE CHELSEA TRAVEL, INC., 475-3110, for the kind of travel itinerary that will go down in your personal history book as something to remember always. At 1070 South Main Street, we specialize in vacation packages, international tours, cruises, and business travel.
HINT: Half-day tours of the Pompeii ruins are available, but you may want to take a full day to see the entire excavated area.

Letters to the Editor

Editor's note: Letters to the Editor dealing with election issues or personalities will not be accepted for next week's edition.

Mackie concerned for victims

I write to endorse the re-election of Prosecuting Attorney Brian L. Mackie. I've known Mr. Mackie since he joined the Washtenaw County Prosecutor's Office in early 1978. He quickly became a very skilled trial attorney and a workhorse assistant prosecuting attorney.

Brian has always worked long hours and cared enough to give that extra effort needed to make a difference. He has a deep and sincere concern for the victims of crime. Our community is indeed fortunate to have such a strong and zealous advocate working on our behalf.

In 1991 Brian and I were opponents in the general election for the office of Prosecuting Attorney. Even though our political parties were different, we shared common goals—good and effective law enforcement. I urge all who can to vote for Brian Mackie for Prosecuting Attorney. I'm going to.

Lynwood E. Noah
Retired Deputy Chief Assistant Prosecuting Attorney for Washtenaw County

Write-in for Jim Drolett

I appreciate your recent in-depth stories on Dexter Township Supervisor Jim Drolett, and his political opponents Burton Hoey and John Sdao. The obvious conclusion anyone would reach from reading those newspaper accounts is that Dexter Township has been well served by Supervisor Drolett.

It puzzles me that Jim's dedication and leadership have been sacrificed by apathetic voters in the August primary; or ignored by single-issue residents who seem hell-bent on turning over our township to either of the remaining contenders regardless of their total lack of credibility, experience, or any hint of township volunteerism prior to this election.

I am not willing to stand idly by while the reins of government are handed over to unprepared neophytes. Jim Drolett lost only because of low voter turnout and an obscene amount of spoiled ballots (205). I urge my friends and neighbors to write in James Drolett, Republican, Township Supervisor on your ballot secrecy envelope. If you are uncertain on the process of writing in a candidate's name, do not hesitate to ask one of the poll workers.

Hoey article despicable

Your recent article regarding Mr. Hoey, the Dexter Township Democratic nominee for supervisor, set a new low for local journalism.

The article was in poor taste, cruel and repugnant. In the interest in keeping the community informed, the relevant fact to be conveyed was that Mr. Hoey does in fact have felony convictions and that this does not prohibit his running for a local political office. To elaborate in such detail about the specific charges was not necessary, cruel and totally disrespectful to Mr. Hoey, his daughter, mother, family, community.

The timing of this article is a little to ironic in that Mr. Hoey has been the Democratic nominee since the August primary with very little interest or coverage of Mr. Hoey by your newspaper [See this week's editorial on the subject—ed.]. This coupled with the "incredulously coincidental" front page headline coverage of the announcement of Mr. Drolett's supporters initiating a "write in campaign" with Mr. Drolett's "Whole hearted support" read like a "Dime Novel."

Your newspaper has a moral responsibility to keep the community informed, no question about it. However, it carries with it the heavy responsibility of ethics, decency, professional journalism and absolutely unbiased reporting. Clearly, in my mind, and many others, I'm sure, your newspaper violated its precepts for fair, decent and unbiased reporting.

As a member of the community, who is proud to be thought of as a "Friend of the Hoey Family," I found the article to be a personal insult and despicable.

John Sdao likes people and listens

I will be voting for John Sdao, the Republican candidate for Dexter Township Supervisor.

I've come to know John over the last several months and find his personal qualities for dealing with diverse personalities to be an important asset for the role he will play in township government beginning mid-November. He likes people, and considers listening to their concerns a vital part of making decisions.

He realizes there are and will be even among his supporters, those who disagree on any issue. However, he listens with respect for the individual and utmost courtesy. And any disagreements can be resolved more harmoniously in such an atmosphere.

John wants to maintain our rural setting and doesn't want growth to outpace our already over-crowded highways and cause other strains on our infrastructure.

John will lead with good personal sensitivity to others as his example and find appointees for the important Zoning Appeals Board and Planning Commission to maintain our beautiful township with harmony and good common sense.

As a former teacher of American government I know that citizen respect for government depends to a great degree on the respect of government leaders for the individual citizen.

Mary Schroer has been responsive

Mary Schroer is a state representative running for re-election this November. For the record, Mary has my vote and I'd like to tell you why. First let me explain that I am an average citizen—I vote but I'm not actively involved in legislative issues or in either party. I am not influential or rich, and I control no block of votes.

I first contacted Schroer at a town meeting she held in Chelsea. I wanted to speak to her about the Multi-Lake Sewer System. As we talked I felt Mary really listened, she made notes, and she said she would get back to me. And she did.

Mary Schroer and her office staff are really interested in the needs and concerns of the individuals in her district (the 52nd district includes Chelsea, Dexter and Ann Arbor). This is the first time I'd ever approached a legislator about an issue and I was very impressed with the responsiveness of both Schroer and her office.

In the intervening two years, I'm sure because of my first very positive experience, I've contacted Mary Schroer's office with three or four more requests, everything from getting copies of "Planning for your Peace of Mind" (an excellent booklet on Living Wills and Durable Powers of Attorney for Health Care which Mary sends to her constituents free of charge) to helping get natural gas service to a part of Dexter Township. Each time Mary and her office staff have been very responsive, have followed through, and have kept me informed.

It's been a pleasure learning that government can work this way. I'd like to suggest to your readers that they vote for Mary Schroer so they have someone who will listen to them and keep government working for the people.

tion, next perhaps they will want to deal with corrosion, then maybe corridors or correlation. And what happens if they start trying to deal with corrugated cardboard? Think of what the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority would think about this committee muscling in on it's territory. I absolutely agree with you that this itty-bitty thing must be nipped in the itty-bitty bud. We need to start thinking in larger terms.

Like instead of eliminating some corr-thing in Lima Township, why not just eliminate the township altogether? Of course, we would need to give everyone equal treatment, so we would then have to do away with Sylvan and Dexter and Lyndon and on and on and well, you get the idea. And why stop with the townships? Why not the counties, maybe the states, countries, continents? If we're thinking big, the sky's the limit, right? What we could do is have Chelsea and then the whole rest of creation. Then we wouldn't have to get along with anybody.

And talking about not getting along with anybody, I'm very glad to see that my old buddy Bob Dole is standing up for me where Chelsea is concerned. Last time he called me, he made some snide comments about Clinton and how he had snubbed me on the Chelsea Parade deal, and told me if he got a chance he was gonna swing by just to show us that somebody up there cared about the little people. He's a real stand-up guy, even if he and Clinton don't see eye-to-eye on the inhale thing.

But his strategy won't work. You might believe it's a coincidence that he decided to show up just a week after I started thinking about mounting my massive write-in campaign, but in cutthroat politics like this, nothing is coincidental. So while I am sorry to make him so nervous, this attack on my home territory is a clear declaration of political war. First he goes after Clinton on TV and now me! Well, I'm just not gonna quit. My e-mail is running over with fan mail and I can't let my loyal followers down.

Vote for me! I'll show them how to run things! A vote for the Uncle is a Vote for Corrugated Cardboard Cows!

housing types and to expand the affordability range in the housing supply."

A number of neighborhoods, keeping with the neighborhood concept of the 1976 plan, will be developed within the planning area.

"The boundaries which will be utilized to define neighborhoods will consist of major streets, railroad tracks and major non-residential uses," the plan says. "While creating identifiable neighborhoods, however, it is the intent of the plan to integrate all residential areas into the total Chelsea community."

The key to the North Area Plan is for the community to grow, as it inevitably will, but to do so gracefully. The planning area has capacity for an estimated 1,350 housing units and 3,900 people.

"This growth should be spread as evenly as possible over the next twenty years; it should not be permitted to occur in a short period of time," the plan says.

The North Area Plan was passed unanimously by the Chelsea Planning Commission and will be presented to the Village Council at its next meeting.

Kidney Disease

M. C. Lane, D.V.M.
The main function of the kidneys is elimination of waste products from the bloodstream. With kidney disease, waste products can reach toxic levels if not controlled. Once a diagnosis of kidney malfunction has been reached, nutritional therapy remains the most important aspect of managing the potentially fatal disease.
Highly digestible proteins must be employed to decrease the workload of the deficient kidneys. The stressed kidneys also find an ally in vitamin B supplementation during treatment. Salt intake must be closely monitored during therapy.
The best way to ensure nutritional therapy in a pet with kidney disease is through strict adherence to a perscription diet. These diets do an excellent job of decreasing the workload of the kidneys and meeting the pet's nutritional needs.

Michigan apples common in pies

While Michigan schoolchildren might think of cold, crisp apples when they think of autumn, Michigan bakers think apple pie.

It makes sense. With more than a dozen varieties of apples commercially grown in Michigan, along with sugar processed from sugar beets grown in the Thumb, flour milled from Michigan wheat and butter churned at dairies throughout the state, the finest ingredients are at hand.

So many Michigan apples are used for apple pies, chances are better than 50/50 a slice of apple pie ordered at a restaurant or a pie purchased at a grocery store contains slices of Michigan apples. Some commercial pie makers even advertise that they use only Michigan fruit!

Many of the bakers work for the dozens of Michigan farm markets located from suburban Detroit to the Upper Peninsula. Some of the farm markets are operated by orchard owners and the pies are baked within a stone's throw of the trees that produce the fruit.

Many farm markets are featured in the Michigan Department of Agriculture's (MDA) 1996-97 Farm Market & U-Pick Directory. A list of those markets selling "homemade" apple pies is attached. The list is also available through MDA's World Wide Website at http://www.mda.state.mi.us, along with apple pie recipes from Michigan cooks.

More information about Michigan apples can be found on the Michigan Apple Committee's new World Wide Website at http://michiganapples.com.

VIEWS ON DENTAL HEALTH
GARY GOCHANOUR, D.D.S.
JUVENILE GUM DISEASE
One of your concerns as a parent is to protect your child's dental health from gum disease and tooth decay that can threaten loss of permanent teeth. Juvenile gum disease is a case in point. This is a rapidly advancing form of gum disease that is difficult to recognize in its early stages. The infection may be caused by an almost invisible formation of bacterial plaque. Contributing to the condition may be the hormonal changes that come with puberty and adolescence. It may also be caused by inefficient or improper oral hygiene techniques. The young person may not be brushing and flossing as thoroughly or as often as he or she should.
Gum disease in its advanced stages is evidenced by irritated, swollen, or bleeding gum tissue. Even in its early stages, however, when the signs are not so noticeable, it may already have caused some loss of bone support around permanent teeth. If your child hasn't had a checkup recently, have his gums and teeth examined to see if they are healthy.

DYSLEXIA
This is a condition that creates a great deal of confusion and anxiety. Parents frequently ask us if their child's eyes are the cause of their learning disability, and if there is anything we can do to improve their reading ability.
Dyslexia is a disorder of the brain in which "processing" of information is impaired. Usually the affected individual has difficulty recognizing written material, and may have trouble writing. More severely affected dyslexics may have difficulty understanding things said to them.
While the causes of dyslexia are not fully understood, we do know that it involves a brain defect, is not an eye problem and that it may be hereditary. This brain defect does not affect intelligence, and the affected person may even be above normal intelligence.
Symptoms of dyslexia include poor comprehension of reading material, poor performance on written testing despite adequate intelligence, slow reading or repeated reading of the same material, or reversing words or letters when writing. A child's inability to perform in school may lead to low self esteem, which may result in withdrawal or rebellion.
If parents suspect their child has a learning disability, they should inform the teacher or principal, who will arrange diagnostic testing. Children or adults with dyslexia can be helped by specifically tailored educated programs, and emotional support is needed to emphasize success in other areas.

Townships' elections remain largely uncontested

By Michelle Rogers
and Angela Trotter
Staff Writers

Because the Dexter-Chelsea area is heavily comprised of Republicans, the August primary narrowed down the selection of candidates for the Nov. 5 general election, leaving many uncontested races in this area.

Webster and Dexter Townships are unique in that Democrats will face Republicans in two separate contests.

Democrat Burton Hoey will battle Republican challenger John Sdao for the supervisor's post. Sdao beat long-time supervisor Jim Drolett in the primary, causing a major political upset. Drolett supporters, however, have initiated a write-in campaign.

Dexter Township Treasurer Julie Knight has retained her post as treasurer; Bill Eisenbeiser will serve another four years as clerk; Harley Rider was re-elected as board trustee; and newcomer Libby Brushaber will replace long-time public servant Earl Doletzky on the board. All are running unopposed in the general election.

The only Democratic challenger in Webster Township is Lanny Dunigan. He will battle long-time trustee Paul Kleinschmidt and newcomer Dean Fisher, who beat out Dawn Pearson for the Republican nomination.

Webster Township Supervisor Don Zeeb faces no opposition in the general election. He beat out long-time board trustee Hugh Mosher to retain the seat he has held for the past 22 years.

Webster Township Clerk Wana Baldus and Treasurer Janis Keogh faced no opposition in the primary and will be re-elected in the general election barring a strong write-in campaign.

In Lima Township, political newcomer Andrew Adrian will be running as a Democrat for township supervisor against veteran incumbent William VanRiper. Arlene Bareis will run uncontested as a Republican for township clerk, while Betty Messman will run in the same capacity for treasurer.

In another contested Lima Township race, Robert Heller, incumbent, and Charles Schauer will be on the ballot as Republicans, facing incumbent Harold Trinkle, running as a Democrat, for two trustee positions. Trinkle has been on the Lima Township Board as a Republican, however he missed the deadline to run as a Republican in the primary. Trinkle managed to garner 36 Democratic write-in votes, enough to get him on the ballot as a Democrat.

Lyndon Township has a battery of uncontested Republicans on the ballot with Maryann Noah for supervisor, Janis Kneiper for clerk, Geraldine Reith for treasurer and John Francis and Barbara Roderick for trustees.

A similar situation in Sylvan township will leave voters without Democratic representation on the ballot. Jerry Dresselhouse will once again be running as a Republican for supervisor, along with Luann Koch for clerk, Arlene Grau for treasurer, and Earl Heller and Reuben Lesser Jr. for trustees.

Asian spice may be able to help fight cancer

Anyone who has ever eaten Indian food has tasted the spice curcumin. Commonly known as cumin and turmeric, curcumin is not only used widely in Asia for cooking, but also to treat skin inflammations and ailments. Like many other common flavorings, including garlic, onions, parsley, and licorice, research studies are beginning to show preliminary evidence that curcumin, too, may have anti-cancer properties.

At the recent conference of the American Institute for Cancer Research, investigators summarized some small studies that have begun to experiment with curcumin's effects on skin, breast and colon cancers in laboratory animals and tissue samples:

• Breast Cancer: in a study with breast cancer cells, researchers at Pennsylvania State University found that curcumin may in inhibit the activity of certain proteins that play a role in cancer development. This study is ongoing and has yet to identify other key factors that may interact in combination with the curcumin to affect cell proliferation.

• Skin Cancer: Researchers at Chang Mai University in Thailand found that mice treated with curcumin before being exposed to carcinogen had significantly lower incidence of skin tumor formation and development than mice who did not receive the treatment. More research needs to be conducted in humans.

• Tissue Inflammation: Scientists from the State of New Jersey found that curcumin suppressed inflammation caused by an enzyme called nitric oxide, which is produced by the body as an immune response to infections and to harmful substances. In this study, curcumin limited nitric oxides effects to damage cells and possibly leading to cancer development.

FELBECK
INCUMBENT TAKES $15,020 FROM PUBLIC EMPLOYEE LOBBY!

The Democratic incumbent has taken big money from the public employee pressure groups, and in return has voted at least fourteen times to restrict privatization of any state function. These and many similar votes indicate that she is less concerned with reducing your tax burden than she is with voting with the lobbies.

Republican David Felbeck will take no money from lobbies and will be a champion for the taxpayer. He will seriously consider any proposal for reducing the cost of government.

Bob Dole makes promises

Presidential nominee Bob Dole highlighted plans to cut taxes, balance the budget and restore integrity to the United States government in a speech to the citizens of Chelsea Monday.

"We're going to change things starting in January when Dole and Kemp take office," Dole said.

He said his proposed 15 percent tax cut for all Americans will force the federal government to become more fiscally responsible.

"It's time the government started pinching pennies instead of the American people pinching pennies," Dole said.

He said he believes it is possible to give a tax cut to the American people, while managing to keep social security and Medicare intact and balance the budget.

Dole said he also plans to get initiate laws that are tougher on crime and criminals.

"We will start to look at the rights of the victims instead of thinking about the rights of the criminals for a change," Dole said.

The presidential nominee also said he is in favor of passing a balanced budget amendment to the Constitution, although President Clinton is not.

"President Clinton trusts the government, but I trust the people of the United States," Dole said.

He added that if he is elected President, integrity will be restored to the White House.

"Now is the time to look at the candidates," Dole said. "You have to ask yourself which candidate will keep his word and which candidate you can trust."

Dole blasted Clinton for accepting campaign funds from non-U.S. citizens and businesses.

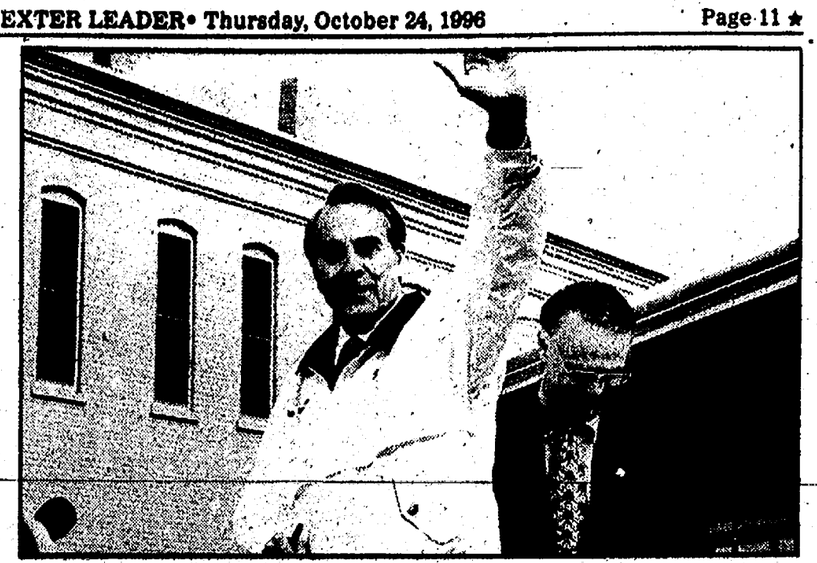

"I believe if you can't vote in America you shouldn't contribute in America," Dole said.

He said he has fought for America in the past and will continue to do so in the future. Although the polls are not in his favor, Dole said he is confident about the upcoming elections.

"November 5, 1996, Bill Clinton will be the most surprised man in America," he said. "Don't forget the tax cut. It's really going to happen."

Bob Dole supporters try to shake his hand.

Series of videos, talks slated

Pride — Parent to Parent Workshops, a community based program, is a series of videos and discussions developed to train parents in effective ways to prevent dangerous behavior in children and teens.

The dangers of substance abuse, violence, gang behavior, and teen pregnancy are great. It takes knowledgeable parents to prevent these harms. This set of powerful videos is presented in four, two-hour sessions by trained parents. Each session also encourages parent participants with workbook exercises, discussions, support and networking.

Sponsored by Chelsea Public Schools and Chelsea Community Hospital, afternoon and evening Parent to Parent workshops are scheduled in October and November.

Evening sessions will be held at Beach Middle School Media Center on the four Tuesdays in November from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

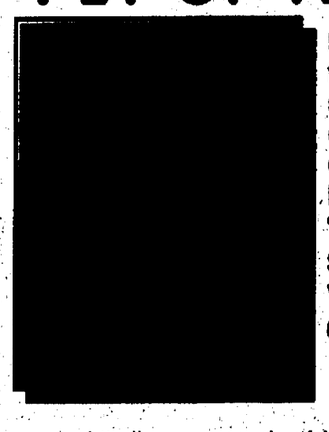

Afternoon sessions will be held at Faith In Action on Wednesday afternoons from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. beginning Oct. 30. Parents, grandparents, and relative caregivers are welcome.

Please call Pat Kaminsky at 475-3193 to register. There is a machine to take registrations. Please leave your name, address and phone number.

The community can be safer from the dangers of gang behavior and drug and alcohol-related car accidents if parents become aware of dangers children face.

David Klemer wins A. A.Palmer scholarship for medical school

David Klemer has been awarded the A.A. Palmer Scholarship from the Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary and the Chelsea Painters. Klemer is studying medicine at Columbia University.

The A.A. Palmer medical scholarship was established in 1972 by a group of local physicians as a memorial to Dr. A.A. Palmer. Palmer was born and raised in Chelsea and graduated from the University of Michigan Medical School in 1917.

After serving in the Army at Walter Reed Hospital, he joined the medical practice of his father, Dr. George William Palmer, an 1877 University of Michigan graduate. The two shared an office at 110 East Middle Street. Palmer dedicated his career to health care for the community.

The Chelsea Painters, a group of 25 artists from the area, have funded the scholarship since 1975, through the sale of their art work at their annual Art Fair in June on the grounds of Chelsea Community Hospital.

The scholarship is administered by the Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary. The recipients are chosen by a joint committee from the Chelsea Painters and the Auxiliary. The recipient must by a Chelsea High School graduate.

Everybody's Science

By Hank Becker

Try planting seeds in 7,000 pounds of Iowa soil — packed in a metal cylinder — and ignore winter's icy winds.

Tom Kaspar is doing just that this winter — indoors — on the flatlands of Iowa. He can dictate or duplicate whatever kind of weather he wants. Kaspar's "garden" grows in a two-story chamber that's far different from a greenhouse. It's one of three new two-story growth chambers in use at the National Soil Tilth Laboratory in Ames, Iowa.

A walkway takes Kaspar and his U.S. Department of Agriculture colleagues down stairs where a mammoth soil bin holds the 7,000 pounds of rich farmland. Holes in the side of the bin let scientists use laser light probes to monitor plant root growth at various depths. On the upper level, plants as tall as corn can grow to maturity.

"We can simulate just about any growing condition experienced by plants and roots growing in any soil and environment in the United States," he says. "And we are able to study how soil and the biological processes of earthworms and microbe respond to stable or changing environmental conditions."

Kaspar, a plant scientist for USDA's Agricultural Research Service, says experiments will give farmers new findings, for example, on how soil temperatures help or hinder the growth of plant roots. Other studies will show how various crops planted in rotation can take in nitrogen and water and reduce the leaching of nitrate into underground water.

All of this and other research goes on year-round in the chambers — the only ones of their kind in the world. Usually, growth chambers are built into the ground outdoors and research is timed to the growing season and the weather.

At Ames, within each of the indoor chambers, an independent computer system automatically collects all the data generated on shoots and roots during an experiment. And in the lower chamber, Kaspar says, temperature, water and drainage can be controlled and monitored to simulate changing seasons on farms. "We can make observations and measurements that would be difficult, or impossible, in the field." (Agricultural Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture)

More than 2,000 people jammed the Chelsea downtown to see Republican presidential candidate Bob Dole Monday. The Dole caravan included other notable Republicans including U.S. Rep. Dick Chrysler, right in the group photo. Next to him is U.S. Senator Spencer Abraham.

Scott Kalitta looks forward to victory

The upcoming NHRA Winston Select Finals (Oct. 27) not only mark the end of the 1996 NHRA/Winston Drag Racing season but also the end of Scott Kalitta's reign as the Winston Top Fuel Champion for the past two years. Kalitta hopes to end a season filled with frustration on a high note with a chance to win two races in one weekend.

A 34-year-old resident of Chelsea, Kalitta has driven his American International event final rounds in the past three years, winning 12 of those events. This season Kalitta has been to just four finals with one win as opposed to 1994 when he went to nine finals with five wins and 1995 when he won six of his eight final rounds. Four of his 1994 wins were consecutive, and he remains the only Top Fuel driver to have accomplished that feat.

Professional qualifying for the 32nd annual Winston Select Finals will begin on Thursday, Oct. 24 with one session at 1:30 p.m. Qualifying will continue with a 1:30 p.m. session on Friday and sessions at 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. on Saturday. Final eliminations will take place at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 27. The Budweiser Top Fuel Classic rounds will take place at 11:30 a.m., 1:45 p.m. and 4:45 p.m., Saturday. The Nashville Network (TNN) will carry live coverage of the Budweiser Classic at 7 p.m. (EDT) Saturday and the finals of the Winston Select Finals at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday.

Halloween concert slated Friday night

Dexter Community Band will hold its annual Halloween concert Friday, Oct. 25, 7:30 p.m. at Copeland Auditorium.

Conductor Bill Gourley will conduct the classical program while the audience enjoys an imaginative stage show. Selections will include The Lion. King, Danse Macabre, Orpheus in the Underworld, Storm King and Les Miserables. Costumes are encouraged and admission is free.

Volunteers needed for gypsy moth egg count

By Bobbi Lawrence
Extension Horticulture Agent

A number of Washtenaw County neighborhoods experienced troublesome populations of gypsy moth caterpillars in the summer of 1996. These caterpillars mature into egg laying adults by late summer and the population overwinters in the egg stage. The only way to predict next years population and to develop appropriate management strategies is to do an accurate egg mass count.

Washtenaw County MSU Extension has agreed to provide leadership and support to assist communities in doing accurate egg counts. A group of Advanced Master Gardener Volunteers have been specially trained and are prepared to assist communities in conducting egg counts and recording the necessary data.

Anyone who feels they had enough gypsy moth damage to think about a suppression program over the next one to two years is strongly urged to come forward and help with an egg count in their communities. The county does not have a gypsy moth coordinator at this time. Although the gypsy moth population may be locally heavy; they are widely scattered. Extension staff need to hear from citizens in order to understand where these populations exist. Washtenaw County residents, excluding City of Ann Arbor residents, are encouraged to call MSU Extension at 313/971-0079 before Nov. 1 to help set up a count in your community. Egg counts will be conducted between Nov. 12 and 23. Data will be tabulated according to State guidelines and forwarded with recommended management options to Washtenaw County Administration.

Women can reduce risk of getting breast cancer

Breast cancer is every woman's nightmare, and it may strike as many as one in nine American women, according to government figures. But there are important steps women can take to control their risk of this frightening disease, even if it runs in the family. First, get to know the signs of breast cancer, how to detect them and what changes you can make in your lifestyle for lower breast cancer risk and improve your overall health. october is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, and the American Institute for Cancer Research (AICR) recommends taking the following steps for breast cancer prevention.

Eat a High-Fiber, Low-Fat Diet. Strong evidence research studies suggests that diets high in fat and low in fiber may lead to higher risk for breast and other cancers. Although scientists now believe the link between breast cancer and fat is weaker than research previously showed, AICR advises limiting fat consumption to 30 percent or less daily calories. It's also very important to make vegetables, fruits and whole grains the major part of your diet, because fiber from vegetables, beans, fruits and whole grains (whole wheat, bran and oat cereals and breads, for example) may lower cancer risk. Newly discovered "phytoestrogens" in soy and other plant foods also may play a role in lowering hormone production and therefore risk for breast cancer. AICR advises eating six to 11 servings (half a cup of pasta or rice, or one piece of bread) of grains per day, and at least three half-cup servings of vegetables and two half-cup servings of fruit. Meat portions should be limited to four ounces per meal.

Limit Alcohol to One Drink Per Day, If Any. Limiting alcohol consumption to a moderate level (about 1 drink per day) is recommended to reduce a women's risk for breast cancer and other cancers. Although more research needs to be done on frequency of drinking alcohol; nutritional status; effects on hormone production; and age, studies have so far shown a positive link between alcohol and higher breast cancer risk.

Maintain a Healthy Weight. Body fat produces the hormone estrogen, and higher levels of estrogen are linked to breast cancer development. That's why maintaining a healthy weight with regular exercise and a healthy diet are both recommended as key to lower breast cancer risk.

Get Regular Exercise. In 1995 results from a University of California study, regular exercise was found to reduce breast cancer risk up to 60 percent in premenopausal women, with the greatest benefits from four hours per week, and to a lesser degree, from two three hours of exercise per week. A previous study from the Harvard school of Public Health noted more than 30 percent lower breast cancer rates among women who were former college athletes than those who had not been athletic.

Don't Forget Self-Exams and Mammograms. Current recommendations for mammograms are: once between ages 35 and 39; every one to two years between ages 40 and 49; and yearly after age 50 (studies show that radiation from mammography does not increase the risk.) Older women are most at risk, yet are least likely to comply with mammogram recommendations. Monthly breast self-exams are perhaps even more important for detecting growths early.

Cars can be donated to American Lung Association

The American Lung Association® of Michigan is urging area residents and businesses to help the more than 150,000 children in Michigan who are suffering from asthma by donating their vehicles to the Vehicle Donation Program, instead of selling or trading them in.

Donated vehicles are sold at auction, and the proceeds support the American Lung Association's fight against lung disease through educational programs, community services, advocacy and research.

Donors can deduct the fair-market value of the vehicle as a charitable contribution on their federal tax returns. Donating also eliminates the time and cost involved in selling a car.

"If anyone has ever tried to sell a car, they're quite familiar with what a hassle it can be," said Susan Wood of the American Lung Association of Michigan.

"We've made this program very easy, so the decision to donate is easier." The Lung Association will pick up vehicles within days, free of charge, and provide an estimated value of their vehicle as a guide for their tax deduction.

In addition to cars, the Lung Association will happily accept trucks, vans, boats, motorcycles and other vehicles. They don't have to be in working condition, but they must have a title and be accessible for towing.

Area businesses are encouraged to participate. "Businesses that trade in cars for newer models every year or so are ideal donors. The cars are usually still in good condition, so they're very valuable to us, and may be worth a lot more as a tax deduction," said Wood.

For more information about the American Lung Association of Michigan's lifesaving work and the Vehicle Donation Program, call (800) 543-LUNG.

Larceny

Larceny was reported in the 7200 block of Dexter-Ann Arbor Road, Oct. 14. The Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department is investigating the theft of a boat motor valued at $10,000. Because the motor weighs 250 pounds, police believe at least two people stole it.

Assault and Battery

Assault and battery was reported at Dexter High School, 2615 Baker Rd., Oct. 16. A 17-year-old Dexter boy told a sheriff's deputy a 19-year-old Dexter man punched him and kneed him in the stomach. The fight occurred at 7:20 p.m. after a football game. The victim dropped an eight-inch hunting knife during the attack. The suspect took the knife, which was later turned over to police by the teen's father. The victim said he used to be a friend of the suspect. The suspect was later arrested on a felony warrant.

Assault and battery was reported at Dexter High School, 2615 Baker Rd., Oct. 17. The victim said a 16-year-old boy attacked him in the hallway at 1:45 p.m. Apparently, the victim intentionally bumped into the suspect, who became upset and threw him against a wall. Presidential candidate's visit is rare treat for Chelsea residents of downtown businesses benefited from Dole coming to town.

Joanne Rowe, of Farm Bureau Insurance Group, Inc., located on the corner of Main and Park streets, said she and her husband were approached by photographers from the New York Times and United Press International, who wanted to take pictures from their second-story windows.

"We worked four hours on Sunday cleaning the windows and getting ready," Rowe said. "What an exciting time for Chelsea."

Dole himself took time to walk into the Common Market and shake hand with employees there.

"He walked through, shook hands with everyone and asked how business was," said Janna Williams, a Common Market employee. "He commented on how nice the breads were."

The village as a whole displayed great enthuiasm over Dole's visit. The secret service estimated that more than 2,000 people showed up to hear Dole speak.

Chelsea Schools let students leave school at 11 a.m., because they anticipated it would be too difficult for busses to travel through the traffic generated by Dole's visit.

"We perceive this as a historic event for the community," said High School Principal Ron Mead at an assembly Friday. "We strongly encourage all of you to attend this Monday. This is not simply a Chelsea event, it is a regional event."

School board members reported receiving calls from parents who were angry at being notified Friday that school would only be in session Monday morning.

Chelsea's streets started to fill up with people anxious to see the presidential nominee at about 11:30 Monday morning. Kathy Koke, a Pinckney woman, was among the first to arrive and stake out a position on the curb. Koke said she took her children out of school to see Dole.

"I thought it would be a good experience for them, and hopefully they'll be able to remember it," Koke said.

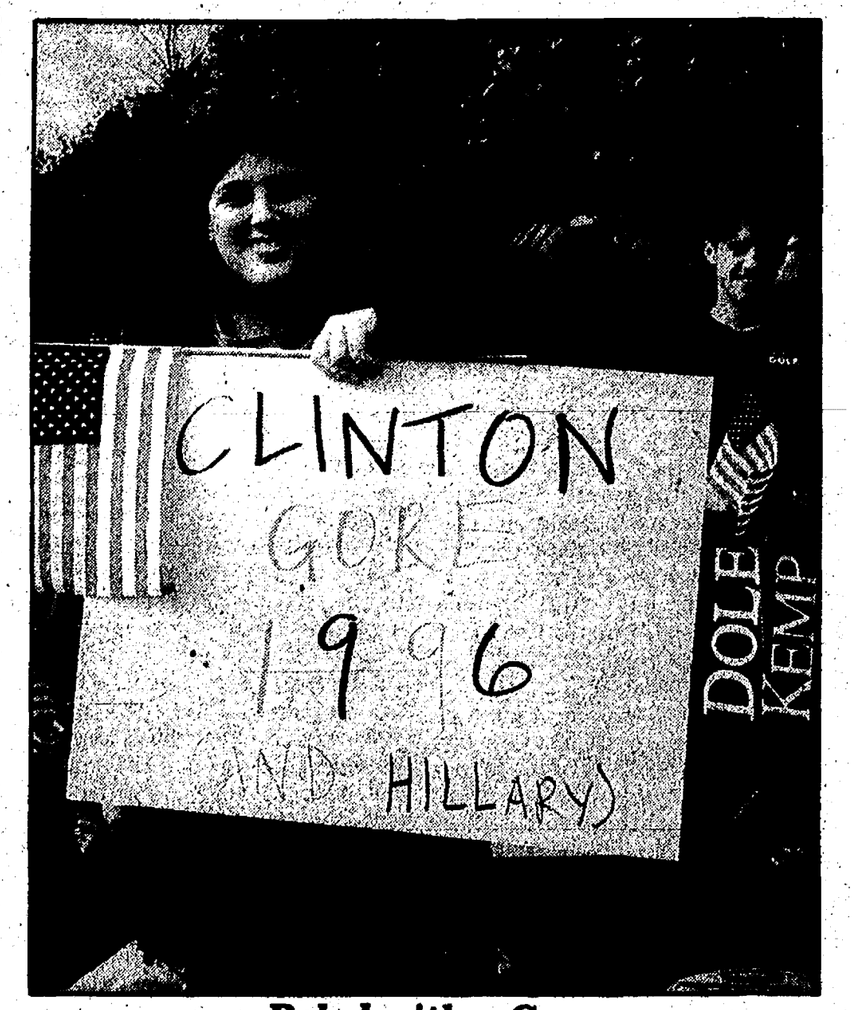

Micki Hurst said she came into town at 7:30 Monday morning to see Dole and hear him speak.

"I think it's a big deal," she said. "No matter who you're for, the schools should be shut down. The kids should have the opportunity to see this."

Even citizens who don't necessarily support Dole were present to show their civic pride.

"We think its a great honor for the village of Chelsea, no matter who you're voting for," said former Chelsea Hospital employee Peg Woehrle. "This is the democratic process in action."

Although Dole only stayed in Chelsea a half-hour, the memory of his visit will remain vivid in the minds of those in attendance for a long time to come.

—Rebel with a Cause—

Erin Combs was one of the few non-Dole supporters at Monday's event. Combs said she supports Clinton because he is pro-choice and pro-gay rights.

Village studies alternatives to alleviate downtown traffic

By Angela Trotter
Staff Writer

Representatives from the consulting team of Beckett and Raeder, Inc. and Washtenaw Engineering Co. presented some of the options available to the Village of Chelsea to alleviate traffic flow problems through the village at a public meeting Thursday, Oct. 17.

"Our purpose in this meeting is to review some of the alternative routes and solicit from the public what you think are the advantages and disadvantages of these routes," said John Iacoangeli of Beckett and Raeder, Inc.

Projections for population and employment growth from a Southeast Michigan Council of Government's study were used to predict future traffic flow.

Iacoangeli said that because of the limits of the village boundaries, the village population is not expected to grow as quickly as the surrounding townships, however the number of people working in the village is expected to increase. This will cause traffic to continue to increase on M-52 through downtown.

A Beckett and Raeder traffic study of current conditions shows that in the mornings, most of the traffic through the village is heading south and east, toward Ann Arbor. In the evenings this is reversed, and a majority of Chelsea's traffic is heading north and west.

About 15 Chelsea residents showed up to give input on the seven alternatives presented by the consulting and engineering teams.

The first alternative was to do nothing, leaving M-52 as it is now. However, with traffic increasing downtown, this would cause further congestion and delays in the downtown area.

The second alternative Iacoangeli outlined would be to widen M-52 through town to four lanes. This would force the village to remove most of the parking along M-52 downtown, to the dismay of local business owners. This would cost an estimated $1.2 million.

The third alternative would be to build a bypass to the west of town, around Wilkinson St., which would come out near the industrial park. The planners would maintain open ditches through the rural areas, however most of the intersections would have signal lights. This route is expected to alleviate much of the semi-truck traffic downtown. Building the west bypass would cost an estimated $3.4 million.

The fourth alternative is to build a bypass to the east of town, along Freer Rd from Old U.S.-12 through to M-52. This would likely be built with curbs and gutters all along the roadway. This alternative would cost $3.3 million. Citizens noted problems this alternative would present with increasing traffic flow on Old U.S.-12, where traffic is already heavy.

A fifth alternative would be to build both east and west bypasses. The planning team projected that this would divert 75 percent of the non-commercial downtown traffic. To build both bypasses would cost $6.7 million.

Downtown business owners expressed concern over what the impact would be on downtown businesses if the east and west bypasses were built.

Iacoangeli said as long as a significant amount of development is not allowed along these bypasses, he doesn't think downtown businesses will be greatly affected. He said it would be up to local township governments to ensure through zoning and development plans that this does not occur.

The sixth alternative outlined would be to build a regional route around the east side of town. This would be a smaller-scale, more short-term solution. The route would extend from Fletcher Rd. to Dexter-Chelsea Road to Lima Center Road to Island Lake Road to North Territorial Road, with traffic coming out on Chelsea's north side.

This route is expected to siphon off enough traffic to alleviate some of the downtown traffic. The regional route would cost about $4.6 million, and would call for paving of many already existing non-paved roads.

The seventh alternative would consist of building both the regional route and the west bypass. At $8 million for the project, this was the alternative many Chelsea citizens at the meeting were attracted to.

Iacoangeli said realistically, building a bypass is the only solution to a large part of the problem.

"You are going to need by 2010 some added capacity in M-52," he said. "It really doesn't matter where we put the added capacity; the real issue is what the community would feels would have the best effects on the community."

Colors chosen for new high school

The interior of the new high school facility in Chelsea will be a combination of blue and green tones that will be durable, timeless and not too trendy. Dana Trudo of Kingscott Associates presented the interior design scheme to the Board of Education at its meeting Monday.

Trudo presented color, carpeting and fabrics that will be seen throughout the entire high school, most of which will be in tones of blue and green. The colors were chosen by a team comprised of school administrators and other interested community members, under the guidance of Trudo.

Members of the board of education were pleased with the choices the color team made.

A bit of Broadway dances into Chelsea High in Pippin

The 760 A.D. feudal empire of Charlemagne has come back to life. . . with a twist. Chelsea High School music students will present the musical "Pippin" this November.

At first glimpse, the relationship between Emperor Charlemagne of the Holy Roman Empire and his son, Pippin, may seem an unusual topic for a Broadway Musical. Yet composer Stephen Schwartz cleverly devised a Tony-winning show loosely based on this very topic.

Pippin was in its glory back in the 1970s when it first had its success on Broadway, and has been a staple of professional, community, and high school companies ever since. At its dramatic center is the title character's search for meaning in life. Pippin lives in the shadow of his warrior father and strives to find his own purpose in life. One of Pippin's featured numbers is the famous Corner of the Sky, in which he expounds on his belief that he just doesn't fit the mold created for him by his father.

Pippin enters into a quest for significance in life. He experiments with the values of a corrupt feudal world; power, women, revolution, all become dangerous stepping stones on his way to carving out a niche for himself.

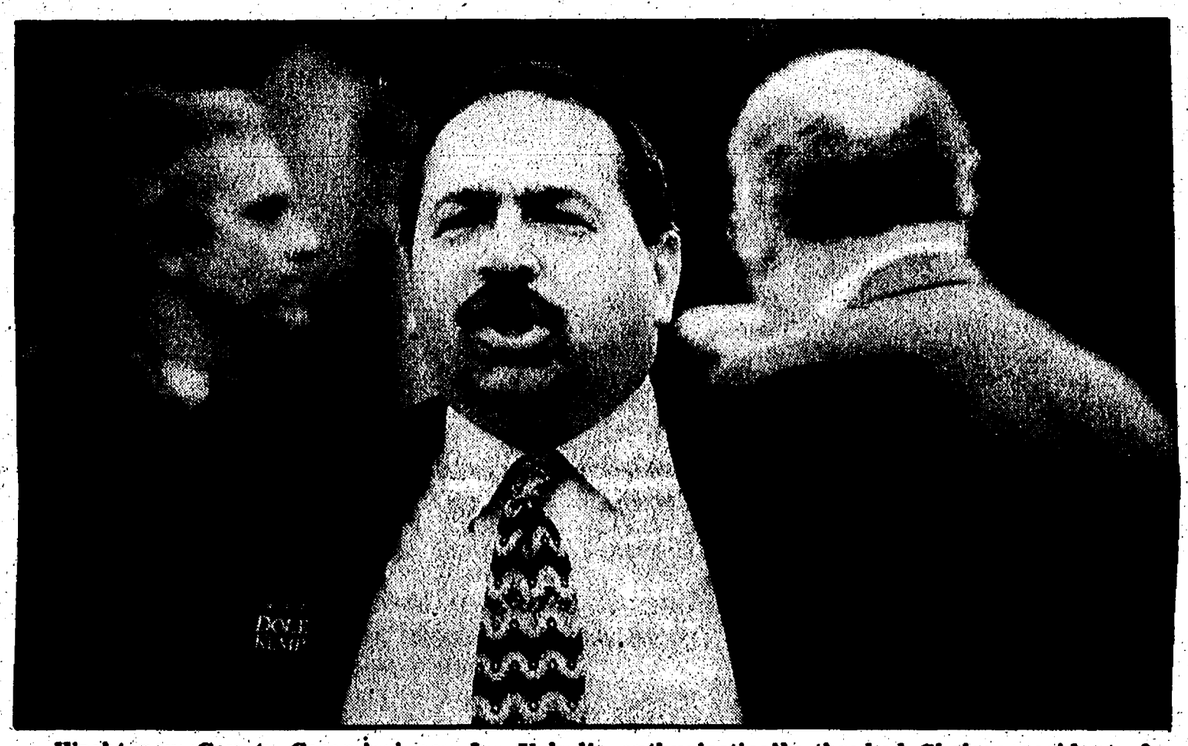

Dan Black, a CHS Senior, is cast as Pippin, along with Bekah Knight, as the Leading Player, Melissa Clairmont as Catherine, Bill Hohnke as Emperor Charles (Charlemagne), Cara Heitman as Fastrada, Robert Bullock as Lewis, Courtney Chamberlin as Bertha, and a supporting chorus to total 23 actors. Together with these performers is an 18-piece orchestra, directed by Jed Fritzemeier, and a 20-member tech crew, under the guidance of tech director Eric Bassey. Stewart Robinovitz is lighting designer for the show, and Colleen Ryan-Peters is costumer.

Director and Producer Steven P. Hinz promises an evening of fun for the entire family. "This production is definitely a family event. It's been notably adapted from the original work to maintain appropriateness for a high school family-oriented production. The music is a retro blast from the past, and with the amazing cast and the magic happening on the stage, there's really something for everyone."

Hinz is joined in this production by two choreographers currently performing throughout the country. Mark Anthony Lord, a graduate of Western Michigan University has performed in numerous industry shows throughout the United States and has served as choreographer for some of the top show choirs in the country. Assisting Lord is singer/dancer Laurie Barger, who has performed on Broadway and recently finished a national touring company of the Broadway revival of Grease.

Production dates for Pippin are set for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Nov. 7-9, at the CHS George Prinzing Auditorium. Showtime is at 8 p.m.. Tickets are on sale at Chelsea Pharmacy. There will be a special combination ticket/dinner package for senior citizens.

For further information about this package, please contact Pat Kaminsky at the Senior Center, 475-9242.

Washtenaw County Commissioner Joe Yekulis enthusiastically thanked Chelsea residents for turning out Monday to welcome Republican presidential candidate Bob Dole to town. Yekulis road in the Dole caravan from Redford to Chelsea.

County commissioner rides Dole bus

Washtenaw County Commissioner Joe Yekulis got a first-hand look into presidential politics Monday as he was afforded the opportunity to ride on the bus caravan that took presidential nominee Bob Dole and his staff from Redford, near Detroit, through to Chelsea.

Yekulis, a Chelsea resident, was one of 10 people from Washtenaw County who was invited to join the Republican caravan and witness the Republican Governor's Association Economic Summit in Redford.

"It was a day that I'll remember for the rest of my life," Yekulis said.

He said prior to learning of Dole's visit to Chelsea and his opportunity to ride the guest bus, he was scheduled to teach a class in Chicago. He had to postpone his trip and the class he was scheduled to teach in order to participate in the Dole campaign activities.

After leaving Chelsea at 7 a.m., Yekulis arrived at Detroit Diesel in Redford for the first part of his presidential political adventure. Several Republican governors from around the country were there, along with business owners from their home states.

"The business owners talked about what a positive impact the policies of the Republican governors had in their states and how it has turned their states' business climate around," Yekulis said.

He said although there was 250 people at the summit, he and other Washtenaw County officials got to sit in the front row: Vice-presidential nominee Jack Kemp also addressed those assembled at Detroit Diesel.

"Kemp was a very dynamic, energetic speaker," Yekulis said. Kemp was in Redford with his wife and son for the morning, but went separate ways from Dole in the afternoon.

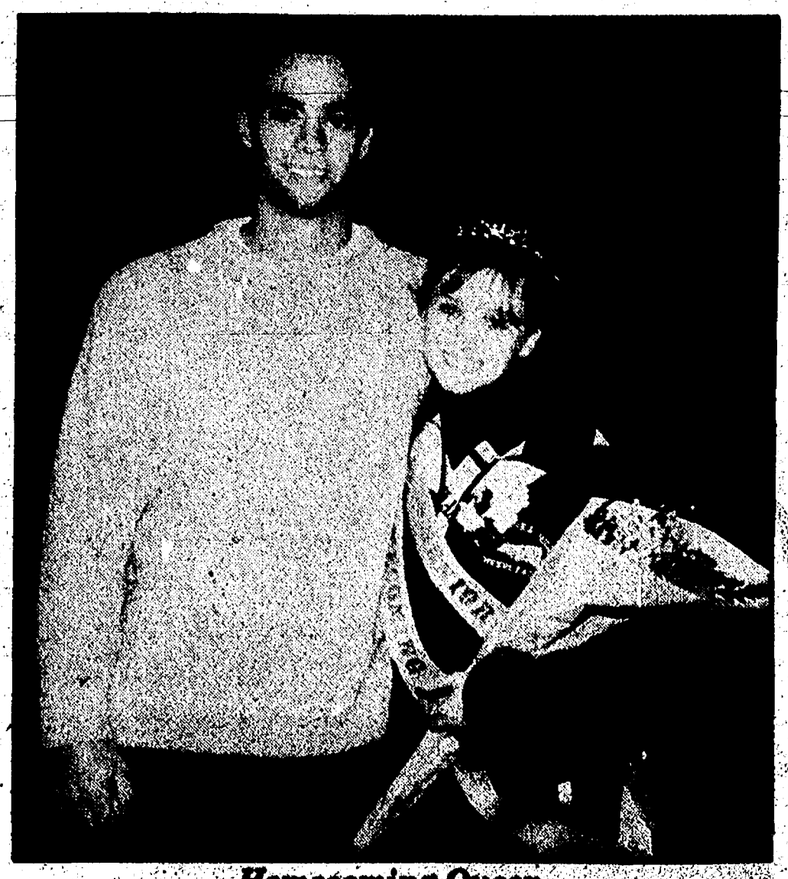

After Dole addressed the group around noon, Yekulis and the others boarded the bus for the caravan ride to Chelsea. He said the bus ride gave him an opportunity to talk with other political leaders from around the state.

When his bus pulled into his home town, Yekulis said he felt pride in his community that he could not describe in words.

"I am so grateful to the people of Chelsea for turning out the way they did," he said. "I can't say enough about the way the school turned out and the kids who were there. The excitement on the faces of the kids in this town was a wonderful sight to see."

Yekulis said members of the Dole campaign were also very impressed with the community.

"The village did a great job of putting everything together that needed to be done," he said.

Dogs stay on track for football playoff berth

By Phil Lozen
Staff Writer

The Chelsea football team kept its hopes for a post-season berth alive Friday night with a 47-20 win over Tecumseh.

Chelsea (5-2, 4-1 SEC) was fifth in Class BB Region 3 in the MHSAA's computerized playoff ranking system last week. The win Friday could move the Bulldogs into the fourth spot. The top four teams in the region make the playoffs.

Against the Indians, Chelsea used a solid air attack, led by quarterback Dustin White, to complement its usually powerful running game.

White was 19-24 for 297 yards and five touchdowns. He completed 11 passes in a row at one point.

The Bulldogs scored first, using the running game and Jay Schick to open up an 8-0 lead. Schick scored on an 11-yard run near the end of the first quarter.

The running game seemed to open up the passing attack for Chelsea, as White hit Matt Adams for two touchdown passes, one of three and one for seven, in the second quarter to give the Bulldogs a 20-0 lead.

Phillip Andre scored Tecumseh's only points of the first quarter when he hit a 34-yard field goal at the end of the second quarter.

Chelsea took no time getting started in the third. White hit Adams for a five-yard touchdown early in the third quarter.

Tecumseh came back with a Dan Tooman one-yard run to pull within 27-10, but Chelsea answered with two more touchdowns from White.

Both of them went to Rourke Skelton, the first one a 10-yarder the second from 19 yards out.

Schick scored a five-yard touchdown in between the two Rourke scores to give Chelsea the 47-20 win. Tecumseh had a field goal and a touchdown in the fourth, but by then the game was over.

Chelsea still holds on to an outside chance of sharing the SEC title with Milan. The Big Reds face Lincoln this week, and in SEC play, anything's possible. Should Lincoln beat Milan, undefeated and ranked fifth in Class B, Chelsea and Milan would share the title with 5-1 league marks. The Bulldog's only loss came to Milan.

But that is out of Chelsea's hands. What is in its hands is the chance to make the playoffs. Wins over Pinckney and Jackson Northwest in its final two games should ensure the Bulldogs of a spot, but Chelsea needs to win both to be certain.

A 7-2 record is not a assurance of a playoff spot, ask Saline, who ended last season 7-2 with an SEC title, but still did not make the playoffs.

So for now, Chelsea will look ahead to the final SEC game of the season against Pinckney this Friday.

Girls second at Jamboree

Chelsea girls took second place at the third Southeastern Conference Cross Country Jamboree last Thursday at Hudson Mills Metropark.

The Bulldogs, with 55 points, finished behind Saline with 26. Pinckney, Milan, Dexter, Tecumseh, and Lincoln followed.

Chelsea's Jeannie Spink continued her domination of the event, winning for the third time in 20:17. Karen Pieper finished fifth overall in 20:49, her best time of the season. Both girls earned all-SEC honors.

"We ran one of our best races the year," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

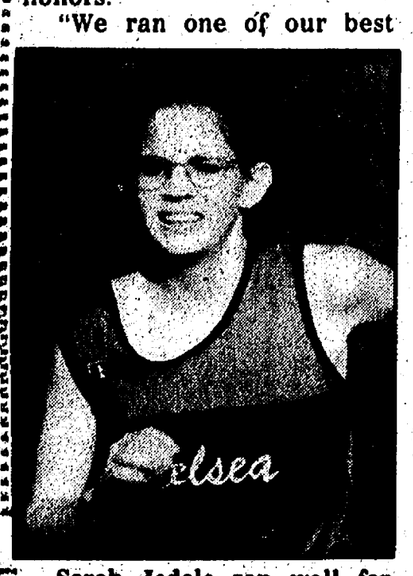

Junior Sarah Jedele just missed all-league honors by finishing 11th in 21:05.

Other times were 17. Megan Smith, 21:54; 21. Corinna Christman, 22:27; 27. Carolyn Wineland, 22:54; 34. Sarah Metzler, 23:32.

Christman and Wineland also ran season-best times.

JV results included 6. Julie Williams, 22:49; 16. Andrea Bullock, 23:46; 17. Lauren Turek, 23:50; 19. Katie Henry, 24:09; 22. Emily Wineland, 24:22; 25. Jocelyn Anderson, 24:27; 26. Seventh graders top Dreadnaughts

Beach Middle School seventh grade football team beat Dexter last week, 30-16.

Adam Montero scored two touchdowns, and Mike Sayers, Kevin Riddle, and Andy Montero each ran for one touchdown.

Chelsea swimmers down Fenton Tigers

The Chelsea girl's swimming team split this week's competitions as they defeated the Fenton Tigers 103-82 and lost to the league leading Pinckney Pirates 118-68. This moves the Bulldogs record to 6-3-1. The Bulldogs have two more dual meets before the league meet with Dexter this Thursday and Monroe Jefferson next Tuesday.

Against Fenton Chelsea put together a line-up which was competitive but not their top line-up due to sickness and other conflicts. The Bulldogs had to swim well to have a chance to win. Top performances were as follows.

Kim Grossman won the 200-yard freestyle in a time of 2:10.31 which was a season-best performance. Deb Adams was second in the event at 2:17.23 and Amber McGovern was fifth at 2:51.01 Erin Hack won the next event which was the 200 individual medley. This is not Hack's normal event but she still managed a season-best time of 2:28.26. Chrissi Tracy was third at 2:43.36 with Jessica Inwood earning fifth place points at 3:01.04.

Alicia Vogel won the one-meter diving event with 193.05 points. Melissa Sayer, who continues to improve, placed second with 143.60. And Tina Wiesse was third at 132.80.

Grossman won her second event of the evening in the 100-yard butterfly with a time of 1:08.05. Liz Kaminsky was fourth at 1:28.02.

Hack won her second event in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of :59.61. Emily Taylor was fourth at 1:03.64.

Adams won the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 6:03.43. Beth Vogel was fourth (6:13.46) and Jill Wesolowski was fifth at 6:43.77.

Temple, Sarah Broshar, Hack, and Grossman combined to win the 200-yard freestyle relay in a time of 1:53.28.

In the 100-yard backstroke, Tracy won in a time of 1:10.56. Kaminsky was fifth at 1:26.17.

In the last individual event of the evening, Broshar won the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:20.87. Vogel was third with a 1:23.84. And Katherine Knox was fourth at 1:26.33.

The Bulldogs won the last event of the evening to seal the victory, with a time of 4:09.46 in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

With Pinckney being the strongest team in the league and being ranked currently fifth in class A, the Bulldogs swam an off line-up to allow the swimmers a chance to swim some events they do not normally swim. Chelsea only won one event and that was diving. Alicia Vogel won with a score of 185.60 points

The next meet for Chelsea is tonight against Dexter at home. It promises to be an excellent meet as these two teams try to qualify swimmers for the State Meet.

Eighth grade gridders beat

Beach Middle School eighth grade football team defeated Dexter 26-0 last week.

Chelsea scored on a four-yard run by Corey Picklesimer with a two-point conversion by Chris Cooper; a 40-yard pass from Chris Brigham to Cooper, with a two-point conversion by Picklesimer; a safety by Brian Sayers; and a 30-yard run by Dal Queenan, with a two-point conversion by Tony Scheffler.

—Blocked Punt—

Tecumseh Indians didn't help themselves with their kicking game Friday in their loss at Chelsea. Above, Mike Holloway blocks a punt for the Bulldogs in the first half of the 47-20 win.

Soccer fourth in conference

The Chelsea varsity soccer team ended its regular season with a 3-3-1 record in their last seven games.

First up for the Bulldogs was a rematch with SEC opponent Lincoln. In a game similar to their first meeting, which Chelsea won 4-0, the Bulldog squad dominated from start to finish.

In a match that provided the Lincoln fans with little to cheer about, Chelsea junior forward Jeff Herman, who transferred from Lincoln this fall, had an outstanding game with a goal and an assist, and had fans from both sides showing their support.

Junior co-captain Kyle Christensen led the scoring with two goals and two assists and sophomore Ryan Cook added two goals and an assist as the Bulldogs pelted the Lincoln keeper with 21 shots.

Junior goalkeeper Adam Erskine, assisted by freshman keeper Chris Roberts, recorded the fifth Chelsea shutout stopping five shots on goal. Final score: Chelsea 5, Lincoln 0.

Next the Bulldogs traveled to Jackson to play Lumen Christi for the first time. In a game that highlighted the worst in soccer, Chelsea lost a poorly officiated game. Final score was Jackson Lumen Christi 2, Chelsea 0.

Led by a great first half effort of Christensen, two goals, with an assist by Cook, Chelsea beat their annual opponent Dansville, 2-1.

Despite dominating the first half of play against SEC foe Dexter, the Bulldogs were only able to put one ball in the net, again from the foot of Christensen. Chelsea came out flat in the second half and Dexter took advantage to steal the game, 2-1.

The Bulldogs' next match was against Tecumseh, a team that had beaten Chelsea in all of their previous meetings. This time the outcome was different as solid midfield play by junior co-captain Nate Cooper, sophomore Kyle Griffith and freshman Shawn Hayes limited Tecumseh's offensive punch.

But it was the continued stellar play of junior co-captain Mike McPike, supported by the strong defensive effort of seniors Aaron Heaven and Bryan Bloomensaat, juniors Kyle Verge and Rob Knieper, and freshmen Matt Hicks and Bryan McPike that enabled junior goalkeeper Adam Erskine to record his sixth shutout in a 0-0 tie.

In the final SEC game, Pinckney hosted Chelsea under the lights of the football stadium. Chelsea's tough defensive effort continued with the exception of two first half mental lapses.

The Bulldogs stepped it up in the second half. Led by Cooper's dominating effort at midfield, the remainder of the game was played on the Pinckney half of the field in a 2-0 Pinckney victory.

In the final regular season game, the Bulldogs traveled to Ypsilanti. Christensen and Cook each had one goal and one assist, while freshman McPike, assisted by junior Griffith, recorded his first high school goal in a 2-1 Chelsea win.

The Bulldogs enter district play with a final overall record of 9-8-1 and a fourth place SEC finish with a record of 5-6-1.

Saline, Pinckney and Tecumseh finished ahead of the Bulldogs in the league.

JV soccer loses close game to Pirates

Wednesday, Oct. 16, the Chelsea High School junior varsity soccer team took on the Pinckney Pirates in the final conference game of the season. Pinckney got the win 1-0.

The first half was dominated by both defenses. Pinckney was able to penetrate the Chelsea midfield but were turned away quickly by a new Chelsea defensive line up consisting of Ben Hicks, Jeff Dohner and Tim Herter. Their big clearing passes set up a number of break-away opportunities for Chelsea.

The Pirate defense then responded with speed capable of stopping the break before the Chelsea offense could get off a shot. The half-time score was 0-0.

Most of the second half was dominated by the Bulldogs, out-shooting Pinckney 4-2. However, the Pirates scored on a rebound at the 10:40 mark. Chelsea controlled the remainder of the game, being able to consistently put 10 players into the Pinckney half of the field. A scrappy Pirate defense kept the ball away from the net. Joe Arend made eight saves in the goal for the Bulldogs.

The final JV game of the season was on Thursday, Oct. 17, when Chelsea traveled to Ypsilanti for a non-conference match. Chelsea won the game 2-0.

In the first half neither team put together any consistent attack. The play was controlled mainly in the midfield by Chris Roberts, Jamie Murphy and Matt Kennedy. For the second consecutive game, a stingy Bulldog defense of Herter, Dohner and Hicks cleared the ball long. Matt Swope made two saves in goal.

The second half was totally controlled by Chelsea. The Bulldogs first scored when Roberts headed a corner kick off the foot of Dohner into the upper left corner of the net. The second Chelsea score came off the foot of Swope, again assisted by Dohner.

Chelsea continued to shoot at Ypsilanti, sending a total of 16 shots toward the net. Roberts led Chelsea with four shots, Mark Crandell had

Varsity cagers take first league defeat

By Phil Lozen
Staff Writer

Chelsea had been counting on going into the second half of the SEC season alone atop the standings, and Saline was the only team in the way.

Coming into the game, Chelsea was 4-0 in league play and Saline had lost two consecutive OT heart-breakers to conferenee teams to make them 1-4 in the league. Opposite ends of the spectrum, right?

Wrong.

Saline and Chelsea battled for four quarters and an overtime before the Hornets finally pulled off a 53-49 win.

Chelsea jumped out to a 10-7 lead but Saline, led by Missy Manczak, who had 29 points, pulled ahead at half-time 22-19.

Chelsea played solid defense in the third to hold Saline to just four points while taking a 27-26 lead, but allowed Saline to take a fourth quarter lead and had to come back in regulation to send it to overtime.

"We made an excellent comeback in the fourth quarter," said Chelsea coach Charlie Waller.

"We had two shots to win it in regulation, but we lost (Chrissy) Hodgson and then (Kasie) Ruhlig in overtime to fouls."

A 41-41 tie at the end of regulation turned into a 53-49 Hornet win as Saline held Chelsea to eight overtime points and won its first OT game this year.

Ruhlig led Chelsea with 13 points and was 8-11 from the free throw line. She also had six steals and five assists.

Cindy Richard scored 12 points and added five steals along with 13 rebounds.

Margaret Schick, who Waller said had an excellent game, added nine points, a season-high, and hit two three-pointers.

Freshmen drop close game to Tecumseh Indians

The Chelsea freshman football team lost to Tecumseh 36-28 last Tuesday.

Chelsea jumped to a 14-0 first quarter lead on a 10-yard run by Phil Fishburn and a five-yard pass from Ryan Barwick to David Stieber. Jeremy Price added a conversion.

The Bulldogs upped the lead to 28-0 in the second quarter as Fishburn scored on runs of 52 and 70 yards and Tim Parham caught a conversion pass from Barwick. Tecumseh made it 28-6 with a short run on a broken play just before the half.

Tecumseh capitalized on Bulldog mistakes to take control of the game in the third quarter. The Indians scored on a 27-yard interception return to make it 28-14. Chelsea fumbled the ball away on their next possession and Tecumseh scored on a 40-yard run on their first play making it 28-22 following the conversion. Later in the quarter, the Bulldogs lost another fumble which set up a 16-yard touchdown run giving Tecumseh a 30-28 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Chelsea threatened in the fourth quarter, driving the ball to Tecumseh's five, but a penalty and an incomplete pass in the end zone kept them from taking the lead. Following another Tecumseh touchdown late in the quarter, the Bulldogs passed the ball up the field but Tecumseh intercepted a fourth down pass and ran out the clock.

The Bulldogs amassed almost 450 yards of offense, led by Fishburn who ran for over 300 in 24 carries, much behind the blocking of guards Matt Underwood and Shawn Dyer and center Andrew McGuire.

"Phil had a great game. He got through the holes quickly, caught the defense going the other way and out ran everyone on his long touchdowns," said coach Bill Bainton.

Ryan Barwick completed 7-15 passes for 80 yards and a touchdown. Linebacker Rob Mida led the defense with 10 tackles and Larry Craft had a fumble recovery and an interception.

"We probably played as well as we could physically," said Bainton.

"Tecumseh just seemed to move to a higher level in the third quarter and we couldn't match it. We made a couple of mistakes and couldn't recover."

The Bulldogs played Pinckney on Tuesday and wrap up their season in an afternoon game at Jackson Northwest on Thursday, Oct. 31.

Boys cross country second in Jamboree

Chelsea boys continued to climb in Southeastern Conference cross country last Thursday with a second-place finish at the third SEC Jamboree at Hudson Mills Metropark.

The Bulldogs, with 70 points, finished just behind Lincoln, with 56. Saline, Pinckney, Dexter, Tecumseh, and Milan followed.

"We ran a great team race," said Chelsea coach Eric Swager.

"To knock off two good class A teams in Saline and Pinckney is a great accomplishment. Jeff Kolodica ran an outstanding individual race, as did Tim Lawrence. Deacon Holton dropped his best time by over a minute."

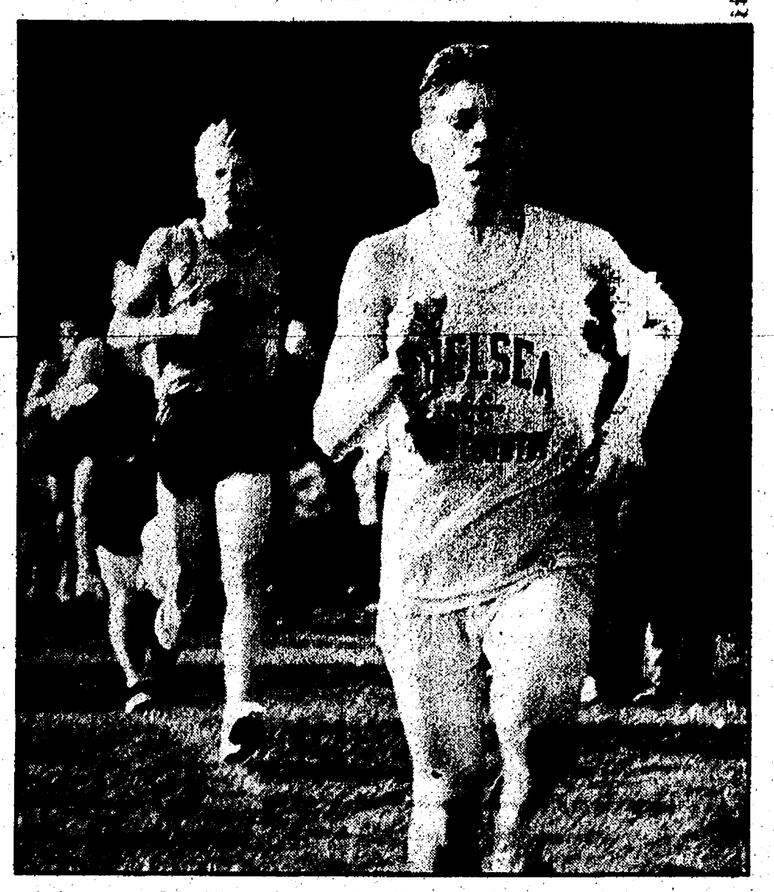

Aaron Ruhlig finished first for Chelsea and ninth overall in 17:27, while Lawrence finished 10th in 17:32. Both boys earned all-SEC honors.

Other times included 11. Jeff Kolodica, 17:34; 16. Ashley Coy, 17:40; 24. Robert Bullock, 18:13; 30. Matt Kolodica, 18:34; and Rob Frayer, 19:00.

JV times included Holton, 18:10; Dan Weir, 19:06; Bobby Rohrkemper, 19:09; Corey Bundon, 19:19; Eric Valchine, 19:59; Jason Zatkovich, 20:15; Bob Armstrong, 20:19; Blase Lipiec, 20:14; Aaron Atlee, 19:41; Aaron Sporer, 20:20; Ryan Sullivan, 20:28; Steve Erskine, 21:14; Nathan Vachan, 23:10; Pat Murphy, 23:11; Curt Street, 20:58; Jeremy Peace, 21:51; Mike Alber, 23:41; Max Cherem, 21:46.

"We must keep our top goal in mind—to advance to the state meet," Swager said.

"We need another top-notch performance this Saturday," at the regionals.

JV cagers drop a pair

Chelsea's junior varsity basketball team suffered defeats at the hands of the Pinckney Pirates and Saline Hornets last week.

On Tuesday, the Pirates outscored the Bulldogs 17-4 in the final quarter to take a 38-32 win.

"We let the game slip away in the fourth quarter after leading through the game," said Chelsea coach Paul Terpstra.

"Numerous turnovers in the last quarter contributed to the defeat."

Kristin Ellis led the Bulldogs with 10 points and five rebounds. Other Chelsea scorers were Brook Stolaski 8, Meghan Holefka 5, Amy McCalla 5, Miranda Harris 2, and Lisa Zimmerman 2.

Harris and Stolaski each had eight rebounds.

On Thursday at Saline, Chelsea pulled ahead early but was beaten soundly in the final three quarters in a 55-26 loss.

Saline led 22-16 at halftime but held the Bulldogs to five points in each the third and fourth quarter.

"Again, we had a defensive collapse in the fourth quarter," Terpstra said.

No Bulldog scored in double figures. Scorers were McCalla 7, Ellis 6, Holefka 5, Stolaski 5, Karen Kuhl 2, and Harris 1.

Chelsea is 5-8 on the season and 2-4 in the Southeastern Conference.

JV football tops Dexter

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity football team lost a close game to the Tecumseh Indians last Thursday in Tecumseh, 32-27.

Chelsea took control early in the game, scoring on three of their first four possessions Scoring drives of 56, 17, and 60 yards were the highlights.

"Offensively we played very well in the first three quarters," said Chelsea coach Kyle Plank.

"Give Tecumseh credit, they executed when they had to. This was probably our best game."

After a 69-yard scoring drive to open the third quarter, Chelsea led 27-18. Tecumseh rallied with a scoring drive and a subsequent onside kick recovery.

"We had our chances," Plank said.

"You can't fault the kids' effort."

The previous week the Bulldogs picked up a victory over the Dexter Dreadnaughts at home, 34-0.

Chelsea opened the scoring late in the first quarter on their fifth possession. A 34-yard drive was capped off by an 18-yard screen pass for the score.

The Bulldogs continued to build momentum, scoring on a 25-yard run to make the score 14-0.

Dexter managed to drive to the Chelsea four but was stopped with a fine Bulldog defensive stand, which Plank said "proved to be important.

"Keeping them off the board in the first half was vital."

In the second half, Chelsea began to roll, scoring on three of its six possessions.

three, Jeff Heidtman and Dohner had two each and Joe Arend, Brian Phillips, Kennedy, Ryan Braidwood and Swope each had one shot. Arend made three saves in the goal in the second half to combine with Swope for the shutout.

Freshman cagers fall short vs. Dexter

Chelsea freshman basketball team lost to Dexter Oct. 7, 33-24.

The game was tied after one quarter, but Dexter opened up a six-point lead in the second period, only to see that dwindle to two by half-time, 12-10.

Chelsea pressed the second half and pulled ahead 16-12. However, after a time out, Dexter clamped down defensively and limited the Bulldogs to one free throw the rest of the third quarter to take a 21-17 lead.

Two three-point shots by the Dreadnaughts in the fourth quarter and too many Chelsea turnovers foiled the Chelsea comeback attempt.

Chelsea got balanced scoring from Lindsey Brink, Tracy Kern, Mora Arnold and Deb Postiff. Elly Wheeler, Jessica Herman, Jill Drexler, and Diane Richardson also scored.

"We did some things well, but we have to finish better and put the ball in the basket when we have chances," said coach John Ruhlig.

About the Outdoors

by Jerry D. Posey

Deer hunting is done in many ways. Some hunters like to move around a lot, others prefer to find a likely looking spot, locate themselves near it and will sometimes stay in this location each day for the whole season. Some hunters like to use a rifle or shotgun, others prefer to use a bow and arrows.

Then there are those like one fellow I know, that seem to prefer to use their pickup to take the wily whitetail. The fellow I'm referring to has not done so well with the gun or bow lately, but in the last year he has been unlucky enough to be involved in three car/deer accidents.

For some reason his insurance company is now giving him a rough time.

Since our state legislators passed the bill several years ago making it legal to hunt deer with a bow from a platform or a tree, many companies have been producing different versions of portable tree stands or seats. These tree stands come in many styles and sizes and some of them are so portable that the hunter can install one in a tree, get in a day of hunting, then remove the stand and take it home with him each time he uses it.

Other so called portable stands, are so cumbersome and complicated, that most hunters, once they get them installed in a tree would rather leave it there than to start over relocating it in another tree.

If a hunter is familiar with the area he or she is hunting, they may prefer to build a more permanent tree stand that would be left in position year round, but that requires two things. First the hunter must either own the property or have permission to build a permanent structure in a tree on another person's land, and second, the hunter must be sure that the deer are going to frequent the area during the open deer seasons, or his building efforts will leave him covering an area where no action is taking place.

At one time my son and I had several permanent tree stands, strategically placed on the land that we own and hunt regularly, but we found that deer, though being creatures of habit, will often for one reason or another, change their patterns of movement. We found that a spot that was a good one for several years/ will sometimes become abandoned for a season or two for no apparent reason. This leaves an unsightly collection of wood scraps hanging in the tree after a few years, and it sometimes is more of a chore removing an old stand than it was building it in the first place.

The purchase of a couple of very light portable units has helped us to keep our woods clean, as mother nature intended and has allowed us to move around more during the long Michigan archery deer season. We still have a couple of good permanent tree stands that continue to produce for us and an occasional friend that may not have a portable stand available.

We both decided long ago that the only way to hunt deer with a bow, is to get up off the ground where your vision is less impaired by brush and ground cover, and your chances of seeing deer before they see you is increased.

Portable or permanent ground blinds also become a choice during the regular firearms deer season, when hunting is done with rifles and shotguns. Does the hunter want the flexibility of being able to move around a lot during a day of hunting, or does he prefer the comfort of an enclosed deer blind with it's roof to protect from the rain and snow and it's walls to keep off the wind and cold. There is a place and a time for each and it just boils down to preference.

The perfect setup would be to have permanent blinds in good locations to be used when the weather requires and the deer are using certain areas, and a portable blind to be relocated from time to time as the deer change their feeding and bedding patterns. Many times a hunter can sit in a comfortable permanent blind and only watch, as the deer seem to enjoy moving around just out of shooting range. That is when the use of a portable stand could come into play.

The deer sometimes move around more than many people think, when the weather is cold or it is raining very hard, and rather than heading for the house or a vehicle to set out the worst of a bad snow or rain storm, it would be great to sit in an enclosed ground blind and continue to hunt for the whitetails that have places to go and things to do.

Whichever you choose to use, tree stand or ground blind, portable or permanent, they all seem to be a better choice than getting one while driving your pickup.

AAA: Keep your car documents at home

Your car's title and lease agreements may be close at hand in the glove compartment, but they're also an open invitation to thieves.

In what has become a new trend in auto theft, perpetrators are stealing a vehicle's paperwork in order to obtain a set of replacement keys. Posing as the vehicle owner, thieves present the stolen lease or title to the dealer as proof of ownership. Replacement keys may then be issued.

According to AAA Michigan Claim Investigations Team Leader Jerry Hinton, the tactic is not the mark of a professional thief, but more likely an amateur or teens seeking to vandalize or joy ride.

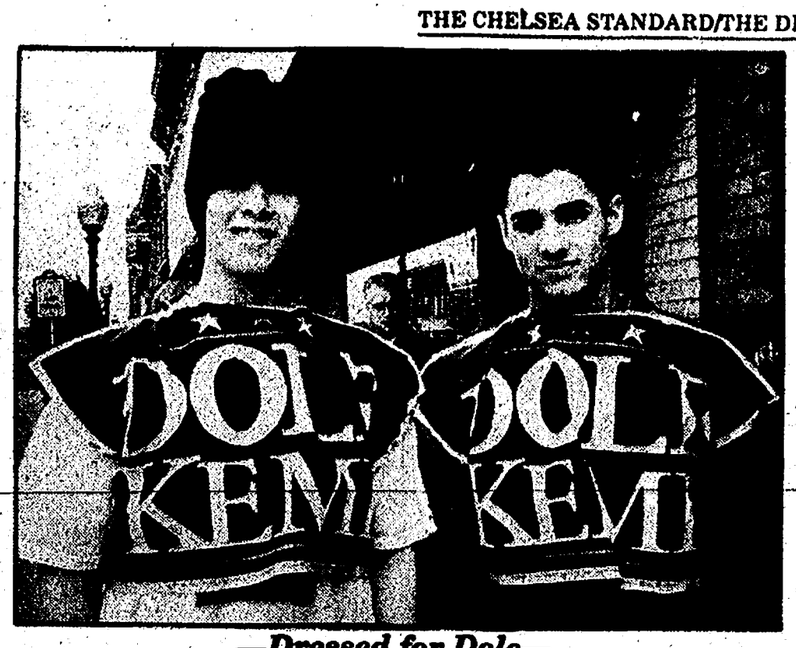

"It's still a good idea not to leave any kinds of personal information in the car," said Hinton. "You don't want the wrong person getting your home address, for instance. Your title and registration should never be kept in the car — keep your registration and proof of insurance in your wallet or purse."

In 1994, after 10 years of solid decline, the auto theft rate in Michigan posted a slight increase. To help reverse this trent, AAA Michigan and the Auto Theft Prevention Authority (ATPA) have joined forces to offer Vehicle Identification Number (VIN) etching — a process that acts as a deterrent to professional car thieves.

For more information on the VIN etching process, contact the ATPA at (517) 336-6197.

Some more tips from AAA to help prevent car theft:

- Lock your car and pocket the key every time.
- Put packages and valuables out of sight.
- Park in well-lighted areas.
- If you park in a lot or garage, leave only the ignition key.
- Keep license and registration in your wallet or purse.
- Install an approved anti-theft device.
- Participate in H.E.A.T. (Help Eliminate Auto Theft). By calling 1-800-242-HEAT (4328), Michigan citizens can provide police tips that put auto thieves in jail and in return receive rewards up to $10,000. From 1985-95, the program resulted in 4,282 tips, leading to the recovery of 1,976 vehicles valued at an estimated $21 million.

Homeowners can easily avoid injury

Before turning the first spadeful of earth for a tree, fence or deck foundation, Detroit Edison advises customers to call MISS DIG to request free location markings for underground public utility lines or assistance with overhead electric lines.

A free phone call can prevent injury to a do-it-yourselfer or damage to overhead electric or underground public utility lines that could interrupt utility service, said Glen Spence, retail customer marketing representative for Detroit Edison and president, MISS DIG System Inc.

"Home improvement chores can pose a danger if you don't know the locations of overhead and underground electric lines or other underground utilities," Spence said. "A phone call to MISS DIG can help you plan your work to avoid any problems contact with utilities may cause."

Call MISS DIG at 1-800-482-7171 weekdays between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m. at least three working days before you expect to begin an outdoor project. MISS Dig will notify participating members who will mark the locations of underground utilities on your property. Callers also will be advised about maintaining a safe 10-foot clearance from all overhead electric lines.

A VOTER'S BRIEF ON PROPOSAL C

The Michigan Legislature created the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund in 1946. This trust uses invested funds to create income for emergency and tuition assistance programs. The invested money was intended to remain untouched.

Twice in its fifty year history, the Michigan Veterans Trust fund has been liquidated, or "borrowed" by the legislature and later repaid. This cycle of loan and repayment costs Michigan additional tax dollars and threatens the future existence of this honorable benefit to our veterans.

Throughout our nation's history we have chosen men and women to protect and defend our freedom. Repay that honorable service with your vote to protect and defend their Michigan Veterans Trust Fund (MVTF).

Your Vote YES on Proposal C

- aids our war era veterans and their families.
- carries no hidden tax cost to you.
- preserves the MVTF for its original purpose.

Secretary of State registers record number of voters

Michigan's chief election officer, Secretary of State Candice S. Miller reported today that Secretary of State branch offices contributed to, what is expected to be, a record number of registered voters in the November general election.

Exceeding the average number of daily voter registration transactions by 500 percent, Secretary of State branch offices processed 18,950 registrations on Monday, Oct. 7, the last day to register for the general election.

While the final number of voter registrations will not be tallied until the end of October, statewide voter registration for the general election is expected to surpass the 6.5 million voters registered for the August primary.

Secretary Miller currently projects Michigan's voter registration at 92 percent, one of the highest percentages in the nation, based on population figures reported by the U.S. Census Bureau and registration totals reported by Michigan's 83 county clerks.

"Michigan citizens can be proud that they have registered to vote," Secretary Miller said today. "I am also pleased to report that once the Qualified Voter File is in place, voter registration will be easier than ever before because it will be essentially automatic for anyone who has a driver license or state ID card.

"Just as importantly, the Qualified Voter File will ensure the integrity of elections by establishing a state-of-the-art process that will put Michigan on the leading edge of election technology."

The Qualified Voter File is a statewide computerized voter list being developed by the Michigan Department of State that will eliminate duplicates and vastly improve the accuracy of the voter registration list. It is expected to be in place in January 1998.

"While we are working to improve the voter registration process in Michigan, voter registration for the November general election has closed," Secretary Miller added. "Now, we must encourage voters to participate in the democratic process by exercising their right to vote."

Polls will be open on Tuesday, Nov. 5, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Absent voters ballots are now available for the general election.

To obtain an absent voter ballot by mail, a voter should submit a signed ballot request to their city or township clerk no later than 2 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 2. A person can obtain a ballot in person by visiting his or her city or township clerk's office through 4 p.m. on Monday, November 4.

Individuals are eligible to vote by absent voter ballot if they expect to be away from their city or township on election day, are 60 years of age or older, are in jail awaiting trial or arraignment, cannot attend the polls for religious reasons, or are physically unable to attend the polls without the assistance of another person.

Federal and State laws require every city and township to provide accommodations for voters who are handicapped.

For additional information contact your local city or township clerk.

Regular pap smears, mammograms are essential for women's health

By John C. Wolf, D.O.
Associate Professor of Family Medicine, Ohio University
College of Osteopathic Medicine

Question: I'm a 25-year-old woman and have never given much thought to my health. Now, my older sister has been operated on for cervical cancer. The doctor says she'll be okay because it was caught early, but I'm starting to worry about my own health. What should I be concerned about? How often should I see the doctor?

Answer: From the way you ask the question, it's clear that you have already learned an important lesson from your sister's experience — early detection is a key to successful cancer treatment. For this you should be commended. Your question really encompasses two kinds of issues — health problems that are exclusive to women (those related to the female reproductive organs) and those that afflict both sexes, some of which are more common in women and others in men. Today, I'll focus on two health problems that are almost exclusively female concerns — breast and cervical cancer.

While cancer of all kinds is the second most common cause of death for women, this scourge originates in the breast far more often than in any other organ. There are about 180,000 women with this dreaded disease every year! You might be surprised to learn that men, too, can get breast cancer, but it is very uncommon.

Medicine hasn't identified a way to prevent breast cancer, but early detection can dramatically improve the chances of your survival. Even though you are only 25, I urge you to start regular monthly breast self-examinations (BSE) and report any questionable findings to your doctor immediately. Your family physician or gynecologist can teach you how to do a BSE.

I'm sure most of my female readers know that a yearly breast examination by a physician and yearly mammograms are advised after age 50. But how many of you do these simple tests? A recent national survey showed only 41 percent do. This is disconcerting because an annual physical exam with mammograms reduces the risk of dying from breast cancer by 25-30 percent.

Some women avoid mammograms because of a mistaken belief that they have little risk of developing the disease because no one in their family has had it. Unfortunately, 75 percent of women with breast cancer have no family history or other risk factors for the disease. On the other hand, a woman with a family history of breast cancer may need to begin yearly physicals and mammograms at an earlier age.

The other common disease I want to discuss if the tone your sister had — cervical cancer. The widespread use of pap smears has created a success story of sorts. In 1940 cervical cancer was the most common cause of cancer death in women. Today it is the 10th. Despite this favorable report, we health-care providers need to do better. Cervical cancer is generally a slow growing disease, and yearly examinations usually identify the condition in its early — curable — stage. Of those women who have cervical cancer, 50 percent have never had a pap smear and 24 percent haven't had one in the last five years.

Pap smear screening for cervical cancer is easily done and relatively inexpensive. Those who are poor, elderly, uninsured, belong to an ethnic minority, or live in a rural area are more likely to not get a pap smear done regularly. Therefore, these groups have more women who die from cervical cancer.

Every woman should have a pap smear when she begins having heterosexual intercourse or reaches the age of 20. This practice should continue every one to two years thereafter. There are other conditions that make more frequent pap smears advisable.

Please be sure to get a pap smear, and ask your doctor when you should come back for your next exam. If you have a friend or family member in one of the high risk groups I listed above, please ask them if they've had a pap smear lately.

More evidence links fat with cancer

"Eat less fat" is a health message many Americans are paying more attention to these days. Fat's link with heart disease, diabetes and obesity is well established, and it also increases risk for obesity is well established, and it also increases risk for some common cancers, such as prostate and colon cancer. However, some reports on fat have been confusing – its role in breast cancer remains somewhat uncertain, for example. Researchers at the recent annual conference of the American Institute for Cancer Research (AICR) presented new evidence of how fat may affect our risk for cancer.

According to Dr. Laurence Kolonel of the University of Hawaii Cancer Research Center in Honolulu, researchers suspected fat as being a cancer promoter when they noticed the great variation in colon cancer rates among international populations. Asian populations that ate less fat and more plant-based diet had dramatically lower breast, prostate and colon cancer rates than Westerners, whose diets were much higher in fat and animal-based foods. Chinese and Japanese migrants to the U.S. showed a steady increase in both cancer rates and dietary fat as they and their children and grandchildren adapted to more western lifestyles.

Now researchers are studying how a high-fat diet over time may alter genetic patterns that increase the possibility of developing cancer. In addition to looking at studies of what different populations eat, scientists are finding out how fat interferes with the health and function of cells.

In the case of colon cancer, investigators have found that fat produces bile acids in the intestinal tract that seem to promote colon cancer. Eating high-fiber foods like fruits, vegetables and grains can reduce the concentration of those bile acids, and help prevent colon cancer from developing. At the same time, the American Institute for Cancer Research advises limiting fat to no more than 30 percent of daily calories, and cutting saturated fats from animal-based foods like red meat, butter and cheese to no more than 10 percent of total daily calories.

Prostate cancer's relationship with fat is fairly well established, Kolonel said. He cited a study that attributed nearly 20 percent of prostate cancer incidence to a high-fat diet among the African-American and Caucasian men who were studied. The much lower prostate cancer rates among Chinese he said also indicated a basis in dietary differences.

Evidence of fat's link to breast cancer has been contradictory. Since international studies and animal studies first showed what seemed to be a clear link between fat and breast cancer, more recent studies of populations with the United States, such as a study by researchers at Brigham and Women's Hospital involving the dietary habits of nearly 90,000 women over eight years, have not found a connection between a high-fat and higher incidence of breast cancer. Kolonel noted that more human dietary studies currently underway should eventually give a better picture of fat's role in breast cancer development.

A newer connection has been indicated in 12 studies on lung cancer and fat consumption, Kolonel said. Although smoking is the greatest factor in this disease, more evidence points to a high-fat diet as promoting lung cancer, even in non-smokers. The research, however, is still too preliminary to draw definite conclusions about fat increasing lung cancer risk.

Fat is a complex substance, and takes different forms, both inside the body and in foods. Researchers are examining how each type interacts with normal cells, as well as different types of cancer cells. Based on the information scientists have found so far, the American Institute for Cancer Research and the National Cancer Institute advise eating a low-fat diet that includes plenty of fiber from fruits, vegetables, beans and other legumes, and whole grains.

Standard sponsoring directory photo contest

The Chelsea Standard is planning to publish a Chelsea Community Directory late this year. In the directory will be information about Chelsea schools, area governments, local churches, recreational opportunities, housing, and many local businesses.

In conjunction with the new publication, we're sponsoring a photo contest. You have a chance to see your photograph on the cover of the directory as well as win a $50 gift certificate to the Chelsea business of your choice.

The rules to the contest are simple. You may submit either a color photograph or slide. It must be in a vertical format. And the subject must have something to do with Chelsea. Capture a building, person, place or anything else you can think of. You may already have the prize winner in a photo album at home.

The contest is open to anyone.

All photos must be submitted to our office by Friday, Nov. 8 at 5 p.m.

United Way at 14 percent of goal

Washtenaw United Way today announced the second report of the 1996 Campaign. With less than one month remaining in the fundraising effort, $1,180,955 has been raised to this point, that's 14.1% of the goal of $8,350,000.

The $1 million difference between 1996 and 1995 is a direct result of individual campaigns starting later this year. Major examples are General Motors Powertrain Division, Ford Motor Company Rawsonville Plant and The University of Michigan.

Michael F. Nold, Executive Vice President, KeyBank and 1996 Washtenaw United Way General Campaign Chair says, "I am concerned by the late state of many campaigns including those above. In the second half of the campaign, it will be critical that everyone in our communities contribute generously if we are to reach and surpass our goal."

Nold also stated, "On the brighter side, eight campaigns are already well over last year's total gifts and still counting. We are also buoyed by the voluntary support of community leaders, agency directors and concerned citizens who are on record saying, (. . .we must not risk destroying an institution that is, unlike any other, the vehicle for most of us to give what we can to help our neighbors in need). This type of support shows an understanding of the 3 R's;

Recognition — the United Way has some problems;

Realization — the needy are still with us;

Response — the pledges are being made."

The second report of the 1995 Washtenaw United Way Campaign showed $2,126,992 in pledges, or 27% of the 1995 goal of $7,850,000.

Anyone interested in making a contribution to the 1996 Washtenaw United Way Campaign can call the Washtenaw United Way's Info-Line at (313) 971-9191.

Your Money Matters

by Michael Kelly

Can you afford to die? If that sounds odd, you should check out the price of a funeral. Few of us care to think about funerals until the inevitable occurs. However, preparing in advance is a sensible step to take.

There is obviously a lot working against planning. Few of us care to contemplate our own death and, if we're talking about someone else's death, it can seem heartless.

This summer, my father died. He was a wonderful man whose passing was mourned by all who knew him. He had lingered in the hospital for many months and I experienced firsthand the emotional difficulties that every family must eventually face. Even as he faded, there was a great reluctance to touch the subject of what would happed if he died. Such talk seemed disloyal. In the end, important decisions had to be made in a matter of minutes with little chance to discuss, compare and seek alternatives. Pre-planning can help avoid such a situation.

An average funeral costs about $5,500 which includes a basic casket, transportation of the departed to the mortuary and church services, embalming, and traditional ceremonial services. This does not include death notice, cemetery plot or headstone.

A death notice in a Detroit newspaper costs $6.25 a line. That works out to more than $1 a word. Remember that a death notice is not an obituary. An obituary is a news story and usually goes only to prominent citizens whose death may be of general interest. Most of us will have to pay to let people know we've died.

A plot at White Chapel Memorial Cemetery in Troy runs between $1,025 and $1,400 plus $825 for excavating the grave site and $853 for a single in-ground marker. That brings total costs well over $8,000.

Who wants to leave with a tab like that? About the only thing we don't have to pay for is the flag for veterans (and you need a copy of your discharge papers to get that). Preplan-ning a funeral can help alleviate the emotional and financial burdens at the time of death. It can also assure that you have the funeral you want.

Many funeral homes are now assisting individuals with preplanning. This is done by choosing the facilities, selecting the casket and burial method (traditional or cremation), style of service, and setting up any memorial funds. Once you've established your funeral arrangements, you can even establish a payment plan. Similar arrangements can be made with cemeteries for burial plots and headstones.

Detail your arrangements in your will and provide the funeral home with a copy. Otherwise, family members may alter your plans. Also, check with the Federal Trade Commission at (202) 326-3128 before finalizing any arrangements. They can provide you with specific regulations pertaining to funeral industry practices and assure that you are not being deceived. The American Association of Retired Person (AARP) publishes "Funeral Goods and Services" and "Pre-Paying for Your Funeral?" which are available at no charge by writing to: 601 E Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20049.

This may not be the cheeriest of topics but the death of one we love is hard enough to deal with without having to make a bunch of financial decisions at the same time.

Send your financial questions to: "Your Money Matters", Michigan Credit Union League, P.O. Box 5040, Southfield, MI 48086-5040.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT—Holy Spirit, you who made me see everything and showed me the way to reach my ideal. You who gave me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and you who are in all instances of my life with me, I, in the short dialogue, want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in perpetual glory. Amen. Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. You must pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your wish. After the third day, your wish will be granted no matter how difficult it may be. Promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. D.A.M.

Chelsea

—Chelsea Homecoming—

Chris Dronen devours a lemon at Chelsea High School's lemon eating contest, one of the many activities during Homecoming Week last week. Chris was the winner of the contest, eating his lemon faster than all of the other participants. At right, Alex Ryder presents Mike Klink with a check for more than $600 that was raised by students in a homecoming week activity. Klink's family barn recently burned to the ground. Money was donated by students in the name of the teacher they most wanted to see kiss a pig. Dawn Swartzendruber, the teacher for whom the most money was donated, got to pucker up in front of the entire school and smooch a pig at Friday's pep rally. Josh Powers is holding the pig.

Prices for automobile insurance vary dramatically

Whether domestic, foreign, new, used, leased, rented, owned or financed all cars and trucks have one thing in common: insurance. No matter what kind of car you drive, it must be insured. The price you pay for insurance however, can differ dramatically.

You may be able to reduce your current costs. Listed below are nine tips from the Insurance Information Institute that can lower your current insurance costs immediately.

1. Comparison shop. Prices for the same coverage can vary by hundreds of dollars, so it pays to shop around. Ask your friends, check the yellow pages or call the Michigan State Insurance Bureau at (517) 373-9273 to obtain the 1995 Buyer's Guide to Auto Insurance in Michigan. This will give you an idea of which companies have the lowest prices. The insurance you select should offer both fair prices and excellent services. Talk to a number of insurers to get a feeling for the quality of their service.

2. Ask for higher deductibles. Deductibles represent the amount of money you pay before you make a claim. By requesting higher deductibles on collision and comprehensive coverage, you can lower your costs substantially. For example, increasing your deductible from $200 to $500 could reduce your collision and comprehensive cost by 15 to 30 percent.

3. Drop collision and/or comprehensive coverages on older cars. It may not be cost effective to have collision or comprehensive coverage on cars worth less than $1,000 because any claim you make would not substantially exceed annual cost and deductible amounts. Call your credit union, bank or auto dealer to verify the value of your car.

4. Buy a low profile car. Before you buy a new or used car, check into the insurance costs. Cars that a re expensive to repair, or that are favorite targets for thieves, have much higher insurance costs.

5. Take advantage of low mileage discounts. Some companies offer discounts to motorists who drive a lower than average number of miles a year.

6. Review insurance costs when deciding to move your residence. Costs tend to be lowest in rural communities and highest in center cities where there i more traffic congestion.

7. Find out about automatic seat belts or air bag discounts. You may be able to take advantage of discounts on some coverages if you have automatic seat belts and/or air bags.

8. Ask about anti-lock brakes. Anti-lock brakes often improve steering control and stability when a car is brought to a stop, thus reducing accidents. Some insurers will offer discounts for this feature.

9. Inquire about other discounts. Some insurers offer discounts for more than one vehicle, no accidents in three years, drivers over 50 years of age, driver training courses, anti-theft devices or good grades for students. Group discounts are also available through many insurance companies for individuals that belong to a large membership. For example, some credit union members are offered discounts trough AAA of Michigan or League general Auto Insurance.

Farm Bureau fun facts offered

The size of the nation's farms is increasing, according to the Census Bureau. Farms with sales of $100,000 and up have multiplied over the past 25 years, growing from 52,000 in 1969 to 334,000 in 1992. At the same time, the total number of U.S. farms has dropped, from 2.7 million to 1.9 million.

For a healthy diet, you should try to eat between three and five servings of vegetables each day. Romaine lettuce and other dark greens contain Vitamin A and are healthier for you than iceberg lettuce.

About 80 percent of the pears grown in Michigan are the Bartlett variety, a pear with yellow skin and a smooth, juicy flesh. Differing from most fruits, the best fresh eating pears are picked immature and allowed to ripen for a few days. Those left on the tree mature from the inside out and are usually soft with a gritty, coarse texture.

American consumers spend about $23 billion each year for fresh beef in grocery stores. Fresh beef represents more than 7 percent of all grocery store sales.

Soybean farmers have sponsored research into a new soybean-based glue that can be used to stick together short scraps of wood to make longer pieces of usable lumber. Scientists say the new soybean-based glue will be popular in lumber mills because it cleans up with soap and water and could reduce emissions that lead to formation of smog.

Environmentalists in England claim to have found a silver lining to the massive slaughter of cattle, brought about by the hysteria over mad cow disease in Britain. Researchers reported that fewer cattle should cut emissions of methane. According to the environmentalists, each cow emits an average of 105 pounds of methane per year through belching and flatulence.

Carrots are one of the highest volume fresh market vegetables grown in Michigan. Over 100,000 tons of carrots with a value of nearly $18 billion are harvested each year. When shopping for carrots, look for those with an orange-yellow color that are firm and have crisp, green tops.

EMU freshman class larger than expected

As Eastern Michigan University rolls into its 147th year, it does so with a freshman class that is six percent larger than expected and one that features 25 high school valedictorians.

According to the official one-tenth report filed with the state of Michigan in September, EMU's 1996-97 enrollment is 22,541.

"The freshmen class total is up by about six percent, a very positive increase," said Courtney McAnuff, vice president for enrollment services. "One of the big points of pride is the 33 percent increase in the number of freshmen with a grade point average of 3.5-4.0. We're very please with the size and quality of this class," he said.

EMU'S student enrollment is primarily from Michigan (89 percent) and Ohio (5 percent), however 99 countries and 48 states are represented on campus this fall.

McAnuff said the number of new graduate students jumped by 16 percent, from 697 to 811.

Of Eastern's 22,541 students, 17,732 are undergraduates and 4,809 are graduate students. About 60 percent are women and 40 percent are men.

Justin Kusterer named MVP of Chelsea golf team

The boy's golf team finished their season with a very respectable effort at the Southeastern Conference league meet held at U. of M. golf course.

Winning the tournament and finishing first in the league was Saline with 311. Second in the tournament and second overall in the league was Tecumseh with 321. Third in the tournament and fourth in the final league standings was Pinckney with 331. Dexter finished fourth in the tournament and third overall in the league with 334. Chelsea was fifth and sixth in the tournament and final league standings with tournament scores of 379 and 418.

Individually, in the tournament Adam Tasselmyer from Pinckney finished with medalist honors with a one over par, 73. Second was Scott Melcher from Saline with 74. Justin Kusterer and Steve Cubis led the Chelsea effort with 83, followed by Dennis Price with 86, and Steve McDonald with 90.

At the annual awards dinner, held at Inverness Clubhouse last Thursday, members of this year's team were honored for their accomplishments and improved success this season. Justin Kusterer was honored with the "Most Valuable Golfer Award," while Brian Groesser earned "Most Improved Golfer." Dennis Price received "The Captain's Award" and "Most Valuable Freshman" while Gavin Gunderson was honored with "The Coaches Award."

"This season was, largely, a continuation of the rebuilding season that began with last year's team," said coach Jim Tallman. "Many of last year's prominent team members were freshmen. This year the heart of team is sophomores with several exceptionally good freshmen who will certainly contribute to the team next year. We improved over last year's scores in every single match and tournament except one. Some of those improvements were by as much as 20 strokes. These statistics are evidence that we have come a long way back this year and with the youth of the team I expect to see continued improvement next year."

Golfers 12th at regional

The Chelsea High School boys golf team finished 12th out of 18 teams at the Regional Golf Tournament held at Coldwater Country Club last Friday.

Winning the tournament was host Coldwater with 315 followed by Marshall and Dexter with 326. All three teams will advance to next week's state tournament in East Lansing.

Chelsea's team score was 380. Other team scores for SEC schools were Tecumseh with 340 (fifth place), Milan with 386 (13th place), and Lincoln with 449 (16th place).

Individually, Zack Hawker and Joey Odam from Dexter tied for medalist honors with five over par 77s. Joey Odam was awarded the honor after a play-off. For Chelsea, Justin Kusterer turned in the lowest score of 91, followed by Dennis Price with 94, Gavin Gunderson with 96, and Steve McDonald with 99.

"The showing in this year's regional marks is a 30 stroke improvement over last years effort and continues the pattern of improvement that we have shown all year," said coach Jim Tallman.

Dole visit causes a big stir in downtown Chelsea

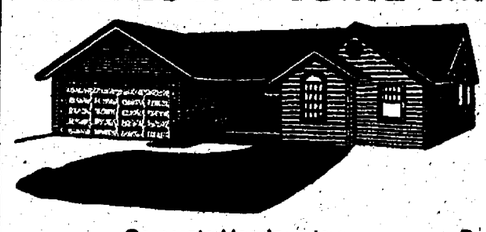

It was an historic occasion when Republican presidential candidate Bob Dole, left, came to town Monday afternoon, but the visit caused more than a little disruption. Counter clockwise, Chelsea police begin setting up barricades; Chelsea Marching Band, which played the theme from "Mission Impossible" waits on Park Street at Main; the Secret Service tries to clear people from the front of the bus as the entourage readies to leave; a sign at Winans Jewelers illustrates that there was no parking on Main Street during the visit; and Tabitha Soren of MTV interviews Chelsea High student Rob Mida.

PROCLAMATION
NATIONAL RED RIBBON WEEK
OCTOBER 23-31, 1996

Whereas, cities across our nation have been plagued by the numerous problems associated with drug and alcohol abuse; and

Whereas, there is hope for reducing alcohol and other drug abuse and associated problems, and that hope lies in the hard work and determination of our communities to create a drug free environment; and

Whereas, local leaders, in government and the community, know that the support of the entire community is the most effective resource they have in their efforts to reduce the demand for illegal and harmful drugs; and

Whereas, success will not occur overnight, our continued commitment to drug education, prevention and treatment are imperative; and

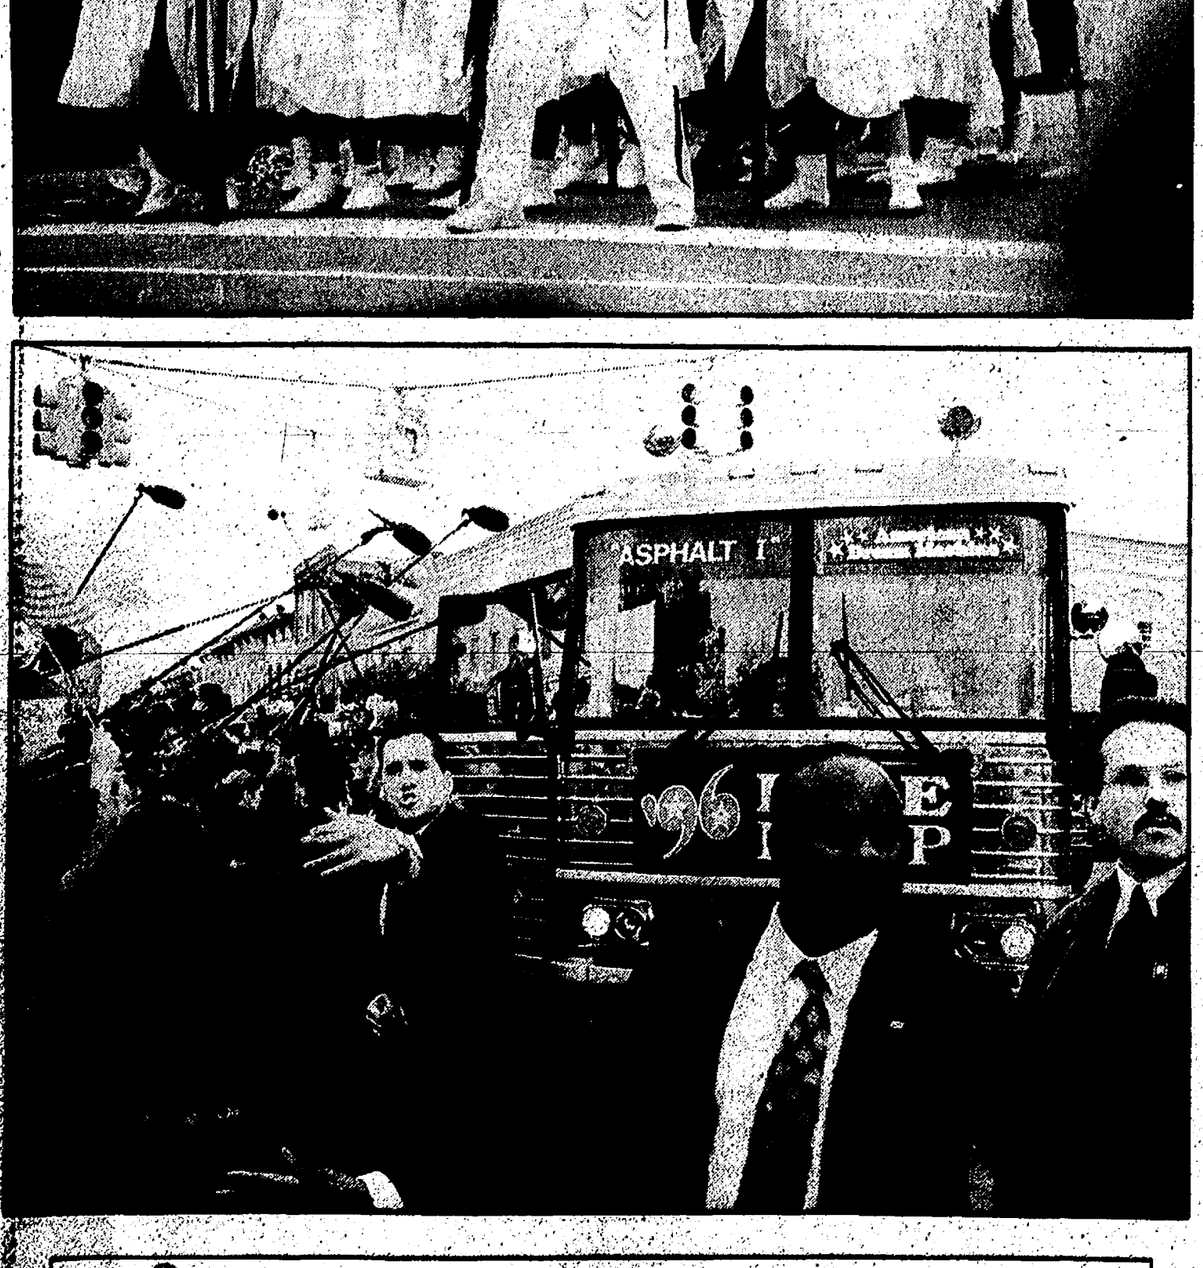

Whereas, October 23-31, 1996, has been designated National Red Ribbon Week and was established by the National Family Partnership (NFP), with President Clinton as Honorary Chair of the Celebration. All Americans are called upon to show their support for a drug free nation by displaying a red ribbon during that week and joining in the year round efforts to help our community to be drug free,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Philip J. Arbour, President of the Village of Dexter, Michigan, do hereby proclaim October 23-31, 1996 as National Red Ribbon Week in Dexter and urge citizens to join the Celebration by wearing or displaying a red ribbon during the week, and joining in the year round efforts to create a drug free America.

I hereby set my hand and seal
this 18th day of October, 1996.

Philip J. Arbour
