Gregory woman sees ice rink in future

To provide a recreational outlet for teens in the Chelsea area, Gregory resident Lisa Molina would like to build a community center featuring an ice and in-line skate rink. Molina recently sent a letter to members of the Chamber of Commerce to raise awareness for the effort, which is still in the preliminary stages of planning.

"Right now it's just to get people involved in the process," Molina said of the letter. "Kids with skates have to go in parking lots; it would be a great place for them."

Molina hopes the recreation center will grow beyond the ice rink into a larger community center so residents don't have to go to Ann Arbor or Jackson for family entertainment.

If you have ideas or would like to get involved, call Molina at (313) 475-0458.

Recyclers miss Jefferson Street

The Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority skipped over Jefferson Street in Chelsea last Wednesday, leaving some residents with their recyclables on their curbs. The recycling authority's director Bob Redding said the driver made an error and missed the short road.

"He did miss a whole street," Redding said. "We've got kind of a pattern, but we're only human beings and we make mistakes."

Area kids compete in national horse show

Several kids from Chelsea, Dexter and Gregory competed against 1,000 other contestants last weekend in a four-day national horse show in Virginia, according to Martha Huard, the mother of one of the competitors. The kids, all members of the Great Lakes area organization of the U.S. Pony Club, were judged on horse management and riding.

Competing for Chelsea were Shelley Williams, Jasmin Roberts and Catie Dusbiber. Dexter competitors were Brett Huard, and Claire McLean. Heather Kalus represented Gregory.

Some Demo Derby rules have changed

Anyone who plans to participate in this year's Cavalcade of Thrills Demolition Derby in the Chelsea Community Fair should be aware that a couple of the rules have been changed regarding modifications to the cars.

For complete details, check the printed rules sheets available at the Wolverine Food & Spirits, Parts Peddler, or McCalla Feed Service.

In addition, the fair board has decided this year not to print the full premium books at it has for many years.

Rules for entering items in any of the displays are available at the locations above.

Motorcycle crash kills woman

A Chelsea woman riding her motorcycle in heavy rain was killed by an oncoming pickup truck Friday, when the truck reportedly swerved into her lane to avoid a traffic jam.

Brenda Taylor, 41, died at the scene of the crash, park officials said. She was traveling at about the speed limit and was wearing a helmet. Charges could be filed against Leslie Molzan, 36, of Alberta, Canada, the driver of the pickup.

Mike Roskowski, said Taylor was a frequent visitor to Art Farley's Chelsea Motorcycle Supply and good personal friend of himself and his sister, Farley's wife. Roskowski was filling in at the store while Farley was away.

"Brenda was a special person and laughed at everything," Roskowski said. "We're hoping to wake up in a couple hours and find it didn't happen."

Taylor graduated from Chelsea High School in 1974 and could be frequently seen fixing up her Harley Davidson around town. She was a member of the Harley Owners Group and the Ladies of Harley.

Taylor worked as a house cleaner in town and saved up her money to buy a Harley four years ago. According to her longtime friend Lynn Paxton, Taylor was on her way to a Harley meet in Sturgis, S.D., near the Black Hills.

"She's going to be missed by everybody," Roskowski said. "If she had to go, that was the way she would have wanted."

Taylor is survived by her husband Thomas, and her three children Rushell, Adam and Martha. Her father, brother, Albert, and sister, Rose, also survive. Taylor also has three nieces, two grandnephews, an uncle, four aunts, a mother- and father-in-law, and a sister- and brother-in-law who also survive.

Lima to study Chelsea fire coalition

By Michael Rybka
Special Writer

On an issue that will occupy the Lima Township Board for some time, a proposal was unanimously passed Monday night to study entering a district operating coalition with the Chelsea Fire Department.

Currently, Lima Township contracts the Chelsea Fire Department's services and charges are based on use of services. However, the Village of Chelsea sets all policy.

The new proposal would allow the township representation in procedural and budgeting decisions.

The plan that was approved for study by the board under a recommendation by township Supervisor Andrew Adrian is Public Act 57. One funding option it permits is to allow a request for a millage increase once a year and the total millage could not exceed 20 mills. Adrian speculated that only a one mill increase would be needed and the cost would be offset by a decrease in homeowner's fire insurance premiums as well as reallocating the taxes already used for the current contract agreement.

The proposal would require that every property within the township be within five miles of a substation. It was estimated that three substations would be needed. Costs were expected to be low because of the simplicity of such structures.

Trustee Bob Heller, while approving of the general outline of the plan, reminded the board that too many new ideas in the past had greatly exceeded their original cost projections. Adrian agreed and promised to make sure that the township would not enter into something that wasn't an improvement to the existing situation.

"In a way, this situation is very similar to the district library agreement," said Adrian. "But, in my book, it is far more important."

Development plans include hotel, Wendy's

By Eric N. Bowen

A new building project going in just north of the freeway off M-52 will include a hotel and a Wendy's restaurant if all goes as planned, according to developer Rene Papo, who owns the property. Construction has already begun on sewer and water lines at a cost of $500,000.

The new road will be named "Commerce Park Drive," according to Village Manager Jack Myers, and will curve 1,700 feet from M-52 just north of Taco Bell to Brown Drive. Papo, who developed Chelsea Shopping Center and Pierce Lake Condos, said the property includes eight lots and is zoned for highway commercial development. He hopes to sell the remainder of the lots as soon as possible.

"There's a lot of activity going on," Papo said. "I'm dealing with a lot of fast foods, car washes and auto parts."

Papo sold the hotel property six months ago to Chuck

Skelton of Hospitality Advisers Real Estate Services Group. Skelton confirmed the sale and said that a Comfort Inn was planned, but he didn't have any details since the project was in the preliminary stages.

Construction continued on the new road Monday as work crews put in holding tanks for road drainage. Burying the concrete tanks more than six feet underground took three workers and a tractor to lift the four-foot diameter tanks.

The building project is a sign of rapid growth in the area. Chelsea has grown from 3,772 people in the 1990 census to an estimated 4,200 now, and the surrounding area has grown as well, Myers said.

Fair gets new facilities, barn

By Eric N. Bowen
Staff Writer

With only two weeks until the annual Chelsea Community Fair, organizers are rushing to finish a wide range of fairground improvements. Fair Board President Ken McCalla said volunteer workers have been at the fairgrounds every day of the week working on projects from a new horse barn to a larger midway area for rides.

"It's a big year for us," Fair Manager Jamie Bollinger said. "There hadn't been a lot of capital improvements in a long time. The board's pretty excited about it."

Among the most anticipated improvements is the addition of a restroom to the fairgrounds just west of the outdoor arena. The new restrooms will have 26 fixtures, including 14 toilets, six urinals and six sinks. When completed, the restrooms will also include showers, though the showers won't be finished by the time the fair starts.

"It's been something we wanted to do for years," McCalla said. "We're hoping (fair-goers) will like them and stay longer at the fair."

In addition to the restrooms, work crews are putting the finishing touches on new horse barns. The volunteers will lay concrete for the barns this week, Bollinger said. New lighting in the parking lot and walkway have been completed as well.

Fair organizers have also recently finished adding 60,000 square feet to the fairground midway making room for six more rides at the carnival, Bollinger said. The larger area will also make it easier for parents with small children.

"With the new midway, we're going to be able to separate kids rides from adult rides," Bollinger said. "Little kids won't have to mingle with the bigger kids so parents will feel more comfortable with their young children."

Cost of improvements totaled close to $200,000, with the restrooms coming to between $70,000 and $90,000, according to Bollinger. The board borrowed a large amount of the money and will pay it off over three years from ticket sales.

Opening Remarks

By Brian Hamilton

Our family returned from a Great Baseball Weekend in New York on Sunday and it was one of the most memorable weekends I've ever had.

Friday, I saw my first minor league baseball game in almost 30 years. As a kid, I used to go regularly to Columbus Jets (now Columbus Clippers) games and got to know the players' statistics by heart.

When I wasn't at the games, I was listening to them on my tiny Japanese transistor radio, the pictures vivid in my mind's eye. I remember Jim Perry, Pancho Herrera, Gene Michael, Fred Patek, Jim Price, George "The Jet" Spriggs (base stealer supreme), and many others. Some of them became somewhat famous, but most of them disappeared into obscurity and didn't even earn a mention in the Baseball Encyclopedia.

Friday night brought back a lot of those wonderful memories. If you've been a baseball fan forever, as I have, I suspect a trip to a minor league ballpark would make you a little nostalgic as well.

Friday night was made even more special by the fact that we went to Watertown to see the Indians, where Chelsea's Adam Taylor plays catcher. (I will tell you a lot more next week about Taylor's life as a Watertown Indian.)

I have wanted to see Adam play ever since he was drafted last year because I remember his work ethic, tenacity and intensity in both football and baseball at Chelsea High School. I remember his many contributions to Chelsea's state championship team. But most of all, I remember his arm and how it seemed to belong to a much bigger guy.

Minor league players, especially in the lower levels, seem to be perpetually in the role of the underdog, which I think is what makes them so much fun to watch. They know this is their big shot, they know they have a long way to go, so they want to make the most of it. Big-money contracts may be in the back of their minds, but mostly they just want to play.

That's Adam. He would play 24 hours a day if he could. He was a joy to watch. He epitomizes what professional baseball should be.

The second day of our Great Baseball Weekend took us to the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, and it happened to be induction weekend.

The streets were elbow-to-elbow with baseball fans.

The memorabilia shops had old-timers signing autographs for a fee. The priciest was Pete Rose's at $25. This seems like an odd strategy for a guy who's desperate to be enshrined in the hall. He ought to stand on a corner and sign them for free and invite the media to watch him do it.

A restaurant even served Coors beer in bottles that looked like baseball bats.

The museum was outstanding. We saw everything from the shoes worn by Shoeless Joe Jackson to the bat used by Hank Aaron for number 715. What struck me, in particular, was how the technology of gloves has changed.

Our son got in on a kids autograph session. About 30 hall of famers got together in a gym for 300 lucky kids, and parents had to stay outside. Stan Musial, Enos Slaughter, Brooks Robinson, Yogi Berra, and many others were there.

When our son emerged from the gym after more than two hours of standing in line, he was all smiles. He got to shake hands and talk to some of the greats of the game. He seemed to like Jim Palmer and Frank Robinson the best.

I have always wanted to meet Yogi Berra, the great New York Yankees catcher, known almost as much for his use of the language. So I asked my son what he thought of him. Without hesitating he said, "He's lost a lot of hair, but he can still talk pretty good."

Yogi would have been proud.

Uncle Apollo

A friend of mine was telling me the other day that the geese are already starting to get organized to fly south.

In fact, it seems that birds all over the place are doing this, and everyone is puzzled. The doomsayers are claiming that this is because the earth's magnetic field is reversing and it's going to be mass chaos, like when the dinosaurs all kicked off.

Well, it seems to me that the magnetic-field theory is a convenient way to cause a major panic, but frankly, there's a very simple explanation for all these geese leaving. You just have to calmly and rationally look at the facts.

Now everyone knows that geese are worthless critters. Flying pillows with bones. Honking poop machines. Hissing rodents with wings. Well, you get the idea. The only reason they aren't extinct is because fiberfill is cheaper than goose down. And that's too bad, because it means that they are still intact.

Well, until not too long ago they were content to be scum of the sky. They didn't have any aspirations, because they knew that nobody was ever gonna like them. So they just went around where they pleased, doing their thing on every spot of flat lawn they could find by the water, and if some guy shooed them off they went to the next flat place and then came back later when the shooer was taking a bath or watching TV, covering the lawn two feet thick just to show him how much they cared what he thought about them.

But then, about a year ago, this local celebrity made a movie about these geese in Canada and how they migrate and think that airplanes are their parents. And the geese were stars in this movie.

Well, if you know about geese, you realize that they are all related. So all of a sudden when these geese went to the movies, they would see their cousin Vinny or Aunt Esmerelda, or dear little Poppie Goose, everyone's favorite little niece. Geese were stars with new respectability. Well, critters as greasy as geese don't handle that kind of attention very well. It gave them big heads, which probably doesn't surprise you.

So they began getting a little more pushy. You know, walking around like they owned the lake shore, attacking small dogs, and stuff like that. You may have noticed the trend. Anyway, with their egos (egooses?) getting out of hand like that, they began to believe that they should be able to influence public policy, so they put together a major lobbying effort in Lansing.

You see, since geese, and birds in general, like water so much, they are fond of potholes which are like a bunch of little bathtubs every time it rains. So they tried to preserve the potholes. But, as we all know, their campaign failed miserably. So as a protest, they are massing for an early exodus. Pretty soon, though, they'll discover that even without the potholes there is a lot of water around here and they'll come back. So for those of you who were getting worried about global disaster, you can relax. Just be glad nobody made a movie about cows.

Letters to the Editor

Dogs shouldn't be at sidewalk festival

I was at the Chelsea Street Fair over the weekend and was very disappointed to see so many dogs there.

What pleasure do they get out of seeing knees and feet, being jerked around on a leash, having the soles of their feet burned on hot, and their tongues hanging out from thirst.

Maybe the owners should try swapping places with them just to see how it feels. Next time, leave the dogs at home where they belong.

Horse barn among fair improvements

To offset the cost of the new improvements and entertainment, and to eliminate the problem of giving change in $1 bills, the board raised the entrance price to $5 from $4 last year. Bollinger said he thought fair-goers would understand considering what they're getting for the ticket price.

"We spent the income on entertainment and on the grounds," Bollinger said. "Entertainment is free, and it's still one of the cheaper fairs to go to."

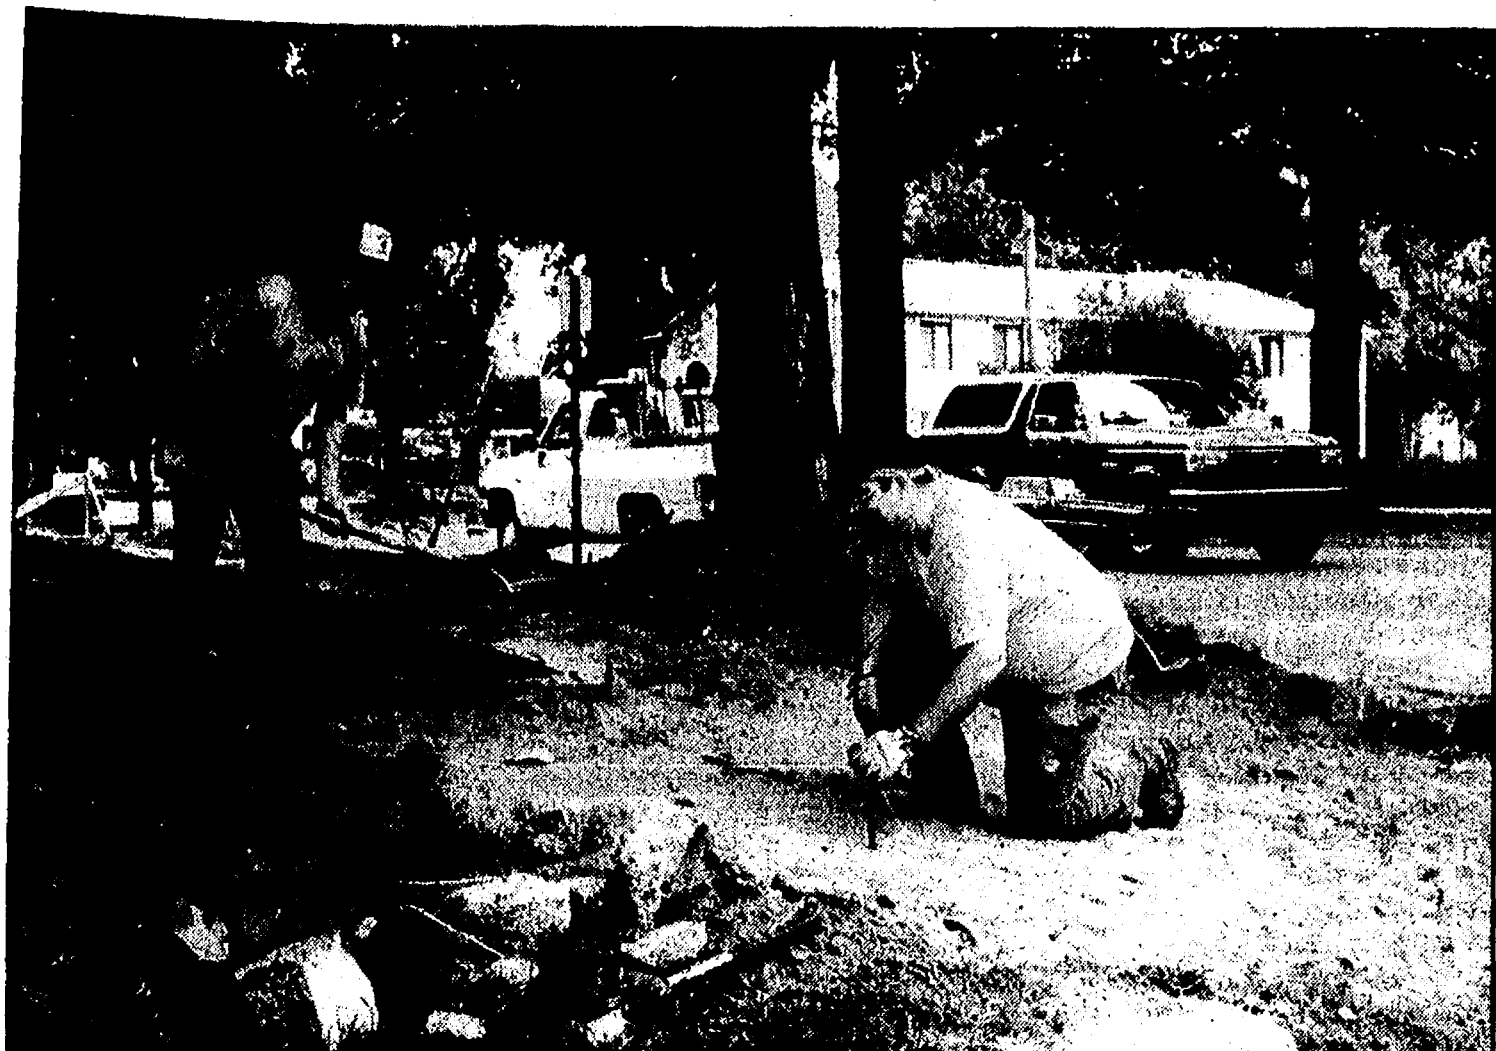

Except for plumbing and electrician work, all of the improvements were done by volunteers. Bollinger said the price tag could have been one third higher if members of the fair board and the community hadn't spent so much time building things themselves.

"We've been down there every day of the week," McCalla said. "It takes a lot of hours to put this together."

Aging sidewalks get facelift

By Eric N. Bowen
Staff Writer

The Chelsea Department of Public Works began construction on several hundred linear feet of sidewalk maintenance this week bringing in laborers from a nearby prison to complete the job.

"It's routine sidewalk maintenance," Village Manager Jack Myers said. "Every year we try to do so many linear feet of replacement."

Myers also said that the village plans to build a sidewalk along Sibley Road north of Weber field from M-52 to the opening to the Timbertown parking lot. Myers said the tentative starting date for construction is September.

The village will go ahead with the Sibley construction even though it was turned down for a Michigan Department of Natural Resources grant to build an asphalt path from Weber Fields, along Letts Creek, across to Timbertown and up to Sibley Road, making a half-mile loop.

Myers said the grant proposal included the current site for the Sibley Road construction and would have provided a bridge along the path over the wetlands in Dana Park and Veteran's Park. The path, designed with walkers in mind, would have been eight feet across to accommodate everyone who wanted to enjoy the park.

"The path was to connect the two parks," Myers said. "It also gave a little bit of access to the wetland area for schools."

The path would have been a total of 1,100 feet long and paved the parking lot near Timbertown as well as the path. The village requested $166,100 for the sidewalk and would have matched the grant with $67,750 of village funds, much of which was in labor costs that could have been done with volunteers. The expected cost of the Sibley Road sidewalk is $19,500 and could include retaining walls to stabilize the construction.

The village has another chance to receive the grant in September when it comes up for another review, though Myers isn't optimistic they will receive the money. The Natural Resources Department gave no reason why the proposal was rejected, Myers said.

Knight advances toward representative bid

In an early effort at canvassing for a possible run as state representative in 1998, Dexter Township Treasurer Julie Knight attended the Monday night, Aug. 4 meeting of the Lima Township Board.

Knight would run in the 52nd District which includes Lima, Dexter, Sylvan, Scio, Webster and Northfield townships as well as a small section of the city of Ann Arbor. The district is currently represented by Mary Schroer, who will be unable to seek reelection due to term limit legislation.

Aside from a desire to lower taxes, Knight has not formulated a platform as yet. She hopes that further attendance at municipal meetings within her prospective district will help to give focus to the constituents' needs.

Should Knight decide to officially file as a candidate, she would do so on the Republican ticket.

Knight resides in Dexter Township.

Visiting band needs local host families

Chelsea area will again host a group of musicians from Germany.

The Kieler Turnbund Brunswick will need housing from 8:30 p.m. on Sept. 10 to Saturday, Sept. 13. The musicians range in age from 3 to 52.

Chelsea Music Boosters is looking for families that will be willing to house at least two of these musicians during that time. Also included in the group is a family of three.

The musicians will need to be picked up from Chelsea High School in the evening and returned to Chelsea High School in the morning in time for their daily schedule.

If interested, call Clara Smith 475-8713 or 475-0917 as soon as possible.

Krupp Technologies relocates in Chelsea

P/M Krupp Technologies has begun operations in its new technology center in Chelsea, close to the growing technology and manufacturing corridor located near Ann Arbor.

"Our company and our customers will both benefit from the improved efficiency of the new facility," said Frieda Krupp, president.

"We expect quicker production turnaround, improved quality, and lower project costs."

The Krupp Technology Center affords P/M Krupp more than double the production space from the previous facility, and will incorporate all of the company's administrative and research and development functions. The new building also allows for an easier transition to completing a specialized certification, expected sometime during 1997.

AN ARTFUL VISIT TO FRANCE

For some, France stands for fantastic food and world-class wines. For others, it's the historical sights and strong ties to our own country. For many, though, France is simply an artist's paradise, the place where the likes of Monet and Renoir created their immortal works. Two destinations stand out for experiencing the rich tradition of French art, particularly that of the well-known Impressionists. La Maison Fournaise is a recently restored property outside of Paris where Renoir did many of his most famous works. The restaurant and grounds where the painter lived and worked have been returned to their original state, and a museum has been established. Giverny is the picturesque village about an hour's drive from Paris, where Monet developed his trademark style of depicting shimmering light, water and landscape.

Can't decide where in the world to visit this vacation? Perhaps a step back into the world of the French Impressionists is the way to go this year. #### —Civil War Homefront at Waterloo Farm—

Citizen involvement in the Civil War was the theme of a program at the Waterloo Farm Museum last Saturday and Sunday. The home front took on special chores during the war as the wounded were taken home. Neighbors and friends came by to help out with farm chores. Medications had to be brewed, cooking had to be done, and labor on the farm attended to. Reenactors from as far away as Grand Rapids took part in the event. Above, Robin Spink of Allendale works with a hand plow. Top is a group of Civil War neighbors, including Christine Ballard of Comstock Park, Spink, Kathleen Mooney of Lowell, Rick Finch of Chelsea, Matt Nikkar of Grand Rapids, Roger Jessicope of Inkster, Brenda Plakmeyer of Grant, and Tracy Webb of Big Rapids. Left, Webb stands at the back of a covered wagon.

The Summer Cold

Although August is hardly the time of year we associate with colds, this is when our feline friends usually come down with the sniffles. Cats and kittens are susceptible to viruses that can manifest as upper respiratory tract infections. The virus, once on board can open the door for secondary infections that can make your cat very ill.

Feline upper respiratory infections usually cause nasal and ocular discharge, coughing and sneezing. Some cats may become very lethargic and may not be interested in eating and playing.

The best way to prevent these infections is to keep your cat up to date on vaccinations, and see your veterinarian annually for health maintenance exams.

If you have any questions about feline upper respiratory infections or vaccinations, call Lane Animal Hospital 475-8696.

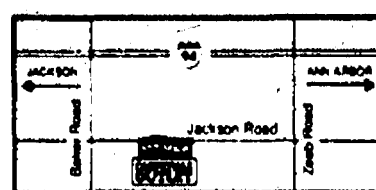

Hint: These "Kitty Colds" are highly contagious, and can rapidly spread from cat to cat.

Family Medicine

By John C. Wolf, D.O.
Associate Professor of Family Medicine
Ohio University College of Osteopathic Medicine

Question: I've been putting new siding on our house. After I'd been working for several hours in the bright sunshine I became rather weak, nauseous, hot, and just felt lousy all over. I couldn't finish work that day and didn't work the next day, either. My wife thinks I had heat stroke, and I think I had the flu. I didn't see the doctor, so do you have any way to resolve this family discussion about my illness at this point?

Answer: I have no way to be certain about the cause of your illness, but I can make an education guess - and I think both of you have probably missed the correct diagnosis. Influenza is not particularly common in the summer months, and usually its symptoms are described differently than you described yours. I think your wife's concern over a heat-related illness is more likely, but heat stroke is a life-threatening form of this problem. I suspect you had a less severe type of heat illness called heat exhaustion. Let me explain a bit more about these two problems.

Our organs operate efficiently in a very narrow range of temperatures, about 98 to 100 degrees Fahrenheit. The reason we can function well in a wide variety of environments, from cold winter weather to the heat of summer, is that the human body has effective methods for controlling the temperature of the organs in the head, chest and abdomen.

In a warm environment the body generates more heat from muscular activity than it needs to keep the organs at their optimal working temperature. The body deals with this situation by pumping increased amounts of warmed blood to the skin where its heat can be released to the environment. Additional cooling is afforded by the evaporation of perspiration on the surface of the skin. On a hot day you can become flushed due to the increased circulation in the blood vessels near the skin surface, and your body may produce two quarts of sweat each hour.

Normally these and other temperature-control mechanisms, including air exchange in the lungs, do a satisfactory job. In some situations, however, these methods may not be sufficient to keep the body temperature down where it belongs. Prolonged exercise while in bright sunlight on a hot summer day - such as you experienced - is one of these situations.

If the internal temperature of the body increases above the optimal level, the body's organs start to work less efficiently, and this can produce telltale symptoms. A mild elevation, say to a temperature of 101 or 102, causes some general muscle weakness, nausea, headaches, dizziness, muscle cramps and clammy skin. This milder form of heat-related illness is called heat exhaustion, and I think this is what you had.

Heat exhaustion is treated by moving to a cooler place, preferably out of the direct sunlight, and consumption of a large amount of fluids. This and a day of rest are usually the only treatments that are necessary.

In the most extreme cases of heat illness, the internal temperature may reach 105 to 107 degrees and cause serious damage to the liver, kidneys, brain and heart. This is called heat stroke, and it may be fatal without immediate medical intervention. Fortunately, you didn't have this. If you suspect someone has heat stroke, call emergency medical services immediately. Don't try to treat them yourself.

As in most situations, prevention of a heat-related illness is better than any treatment. To avoid getting into trouble again this summer, I'd suggest that you do two things: When you are working outside, you should take frequent breaks - even if the job is almost done or the break seems inconvenient - to rest and get out of the direct sunlight. You must also drink large amounts of liquid to replenish the water lost in perspiration. Remember that this can be up to two quarts each hour. These simple measures should let us each work and play in the summer heat without suffering a heat-related illness.

PUTTING OUR COMMUNITY FIRST.

Kathy Jackson sets a brisk pace.

When Kathy Jackson decided it was time to give something back to the community, she got moving in several different directions at once. She became a volunteer and fundraiser for Get Fit, Dexter!—a community education event featuring workshops, sports clinics, and a 5K run/walk. She started spending one day every week as a parent volunteer in the local kindergarten. And she began teaching a fourth grade religion class at St. Joseph's Church in Dexter. When it comes to community service, Kathy and her Surovell colleagues are definitely in the fast lane. And we're delighted to cheer them on.

THUMBSUCKING OR PACIFIER?

If your infant has the thumbsucking habit, should you try to replace this habit with a pacifier?

All babies have a natural instinct to suck. But if the habit lingers beyond infancy, when the primary teeth are beginning to appear, you may want to give baby a pacifier. If you start the pacifier soon enough, just after your child has been weaned and is getting solid foods, your child may never develop the thumbsucking habit.

Pacifiers have proved a lot less harmful to a child's teeth and mouth than sucking thumb or fingers. Thumbsucking may force your child's teeth out of position and narrow the dental arches. This may cause the upper teeth to protrude outward because of a deformation of the supporting bone.

One advantage of the pacifier is that it is made of soft rubber, while thumb or fingers have an unyielding bone inside. They exert much more pressure than a pacifier and are much more likely to cause dental problems.

Volleyball club's tigers take state tournament

On June 14 and 15 Dexter Volleyball Club's maroon 16-and-under team, the Tigers, traveled to the Michigan Junior Volleyball Association State Championships in Grand Rapids. The team includes several Chelsea girls.

The Tigers capped off their successful season with complete domination of their field throughout the weekend. The team, coached by Paula Palmer, finished undefeated after the first day of competition. Returning for the second day of competition the Tigers wrapped up pool play without losing any games and went in to the seeding round with a match record of 6-0.

The pivotal seeding round would determine whether the Tigers were placed in the gold division or the silver division. Led by setter Karra Tasker and defensive specialist Cassi Palmer, the Tigers survived a tough three-game match to advance to the gold division playoffs. Seeded first in the tournament the Tigers received a bye for the first round of flight play.

In the second round, the Tigers played Team Zone 6. With middle blocker Katrina Royce and universal Celeste Bycraft setting the tone of the match, the Tigers defeated Team Zone 6 in three games for the state championship semi-final match.

The Tigers advanced to the finals to play favorite Stars and Stripes. Stars and Stripes had been expected to win at all age levels and had always proved to be dominant team throughout the season.

The Tigers served up an immediate 10-0 lead coming out of their first rotation. Universal Lindsey Brink and middle blocker Lindsay Powers stunned Stars and Stripes with outstanding net play, delivering a shocking game one defeat to the favorite.

Keeping the momentum alive through the match break, universals Jill Drexler and Marissa Jekabson continued the domination of Stars and Stripes into game 2. Again, taking an early 10-2 lead through their first three rotations, the Tigers rode their emotions through for the game, match and tournament win in a dramatic two-game match.

With the win the Tigers finished a tremendously successful season. Competing in nine tournaments from April 19 to the state tournament, they brought home four gold medals, one silver and two bronze medals while competing at one of the top levels.

The Tigers celebrated their season record of 52-5-2 at the club's annual end of the season picnic at which player awards were given.

The Players' Choice Award was given to two players who received the same number of votes from their fellow teammates, Royce of Chelsea and Tasker of Dexter. The Dedication award was given to Palmer of Chelsea and the Most Valuable

Player was awarded to Powers of Chelsea.

Coach Paula Palmer of Dexter said "Each athlete learned that pride and determination can take you as far, if not farther than skill. When you take a group of kids from different schools and allow them to succeed they realize that the strength of a team can come from the attitude of the individuals."

Brink, Palmer and Powers played freshman volleyball while Bycraft and Drexler played junior varsity for Chelsea High School during the past school season.

Jacobson and Tasker played junior varsity at Dexter and Royce did not play volleyball last season.

Palmer has coached freshmen at Dexter High School for two years and has marked her fourth season with the Dexter Volleyball Club by coaching the Tigers to the gold medal. In 1995, Palmer coached Dexter Volleyball Club maroon 14-and-under team to a gold medal in the silver division state championships.

Farm Bureau fun fact

A new exotic pest, the pink hibiscus mealybug, could threaten large areas of crops if it reaches the U.S. mainland. The pest feeds on 215 different crops including coffee, cotton, soybeans, fruit and citrus crops. The mealybug injects a toxic saliva as it feeds, causing stunted or malformed stems and leaves and can actually kill the plant. Researchers are investigating the use of parasitic wasps and other natural enemies to combat the pest.

"There is no greater honor than to lay down one's life while serving God and Country"

In loving memory of navy Lt. Marcus Blue "Moon" Pletcher, honor graduate of Chelsea High School class of 1987, killed while serving God and Country Sept. 14, 1994 as an F-14 Naval Flight Officer assigned to the aircraft carrier USS Dwight D. Eisenhower CVN 69 (and a tribute to all our servicemen and veterans)

LTJG Marcus Blue Pletcher, USN

LTJG Marcus Blue Pletcher was born 19 June 1969 in Jackson, MI. He graduated from Chelsea High School in June 1987. He attended the United States Naval Academy, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in general engineering. He was commissioned an Ensign on 29 May 1991.

His first assignment was to NAS Pensacola, FL for primary flight training in the T-34C. This was followed by intermediate and advanced jet training also at NAS Pensacola. He distinguished himself by being selected to the Commodore's List for flight and academic excellence during all three phases of Naval Flight Officer training. He was designated a Naval Flight Officer on 26 February 1993.

Following his designation, LTJG Pletcher went to VF-101 for replacement Radar Intercept Officer (RIO) training. He finished in January 1994, and was assigned to VF-32. Enroute to VF-32, LTJG Pletcher completed Navy Legal School at Newport, RI. As an NFO, he flew over 380 total hours, including 173 F-14 hours, and made 47 arrested carrier landings.

LTJG Pletcher's awards include the National Defense Service Medal, Expert Rifle Medal, and Expert Pistol Medal.

He is survived by his father and mother, David and Valeta, 36 yr. Chelsea residents, now residing at 9118 Elmwood Ct., Stanwood, MI 49346, brothers David and Daniel, sisters Diana and Valisa, and girlfriend Tracey Freeman.

THE PLAN OF THE MASTER WEAVER

Our lives are but fine weavings that God and we prepare.
Each life becomes a fabric planned and fashioned in His care.
We may not always see just how the weavings intertwine,
But we must trust the master's hand
and follow his design,
For He can view the pattern
Upon the upper side,
While we must look from underneath and trust in Him to guide...
Sometimes a strand of sorrow is added to his plan,
And though it's difficult for us,
we still must understand
That it's He who fills the shuttle,
It's He who knows what's best,
So we must weave in patience and leave to Him the rest.
Not till the loom is silent and the shuttles cease to fly, Shall God unroll the canvas and explain the reason why...
The dark threads are as needed in the weavers skillful hand
As the threads of gold and silver in the pattern He has planned.

TO ALL PARENTS:

"I'll lend you for a little time a child of mine,"
He said,
"For you to love the while he lives and mourn for when he's dead.
It may be six or seven years, or twenty, two or three.
But will you, 'til I call him back, take care of him for me?"
He'll bring his charms to gladden you, and shall his stay be brief.
You'll have his lovely memories as solace for your grief."

"I cannot promise he will stay, since all from earth return;
But there are lessons taught down there, I want this child to learn.
I've looked the wide world over in my search for teachers true,
And from the throngs that crowd life's lanes, I have selected you."

Now will you give him all your love, nor think the labor vain,
Nor hate me when I come to call to take him back again?"

I fancied that I heard them say: "Dear Lord,
Thy will be done!"
For all the joy Thy child shall bring, the risk of grief we'll run.
We'll shelter him with tenderness; we'll love him while we may.
But shall the angel call for him much sooner than we have planned,
We'll brave the bitter grief that comes and try to understand."

"LOOK UP"

Look up there's someone to see you
You'll not see if your head is bent low
Look up there are things I must tell you Look up there are things you should know.
Don't ask if I'm happy and smiling I am and I hope you are too.
Each day is like Christmas and Easter and Birthdays...
Like I had when I was with you.
I met my sweet Jesus and others
Who have gone on long before.
Will you excuse me for a minute
Did you hear that knock at the door?
A Friend just learned I'm in heaven
And came in to welcome me
Each day is a little more special
Than ever I dreamed it could be.
Up here there's always tomorrow
And now I know who I am
It's like something you've always wanted
Like passing the final exam
So don't bend your head low in weeping
But start looking up and you'll see
That I am looking down at you —So smile and look up at me!

The Everlasting Light

those we love must someday pass beyond our present sight must leave us
and the world we know without their radiant light,
but we know
that like a candle
their lovely light will shine
to brighten up another place more perfect...more divine and in the realm of heaven
where they shine
so warm and bright
our loved ones
live forever more in God's eternal light.

His journey's just begun
Don't think of him as gone away
His journey's just begun:
Life holds so many facets-
This earth is only one.
Just think of him as resting
From the sorrows and the tears in a place of warmth and comfort
Where there are no days and years
Think how he must be wishing
That we could know, today,
How nothing but our sadness
Can really pass away.
And think of him as living
In the hearts of those he touched...
For nothing loved is ever lost-
And he was loved so much.
Ellen Brenneman

The Secretary of the Navy in presenting the Navy commendation medal posthumously to Marc stated "His superlative achievements culminated a distinguished career of over three years of loyal and faithful service to his country. Lieutenant Pletcher's distinctive accomplishments, unrelenting perseverance and loyal devotion to duty reflected great credit upon himself and were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Marc's devotion and faithful service were probably best understood when the Chaplain conducting the joint funeral service stated that he had asked the roommates of each of the deceased "What would your roommate (The deceased) say about the prospect of being killed in combat or training?" Marc's roommate replied, Marc would think for about five seconds and then say "There is no greater honor than to die while serving God and Country."

"There is no greater honor than to die while serving God and Country."

More for money at Chelsea Fair

Though the admission price is increasing to $5 this year, Chelsea Community Fair Manager Jamie Bollinger said attendees will get more for their entertainment dollar. With six new rides and more free entertainment, Bollinger said the fair is "still one of the cheaper fairs to go to."

Among the highlights of the new entertainment is a bigger tractor pull event. Bollinger said there are no competing events in the area on Friday so many competitors who would normally be somewhere else are coming to Chelsea.

Bollinger also said the fair has added two comedy acts to the bill. One is a clown and mime act that will wander around the fair grounds. The second is an animal act with birds and other small critters.

Among the six additional rides on the newly expanded midway will be a pirate ship ride, according to Bollinger.

"Marker" tells the story of Judge Nelson Connor, a recovering alcoholic who is finally putting his life, family, and career back together. Just when he is getting a handle on things, an incriminating IOU — the result of indiscretion on his last bender falls into the wrong hands, and Connor finds himself up against a couple of ex-cons with the power to ruin everything he's fought so hard to preserve.

Connor has a few tricks up his sleeve as well, however — resources available to a man in his judicial position — and he'll do anything to keep from losing the things that matter most to him.

Several years ago when a couple of buddies asked me to join them on a night-time bowfishing trip, I thought they were kidding. Who in their right mind would think about going hunting for fish with a bow and arrow, and not only that, they were planning to do it at night. It sounded to me like a new twist on the old "Snipe Hunting Trick," and somehow I felt like I was going to be the one left holding the bag, waiting for the Snipe. As I said, this event took place several years ago, actually a lot of years ago, about 1963 if I remember right.

Discussions of this type no longer surprise me. Shortly after that first experience, I purchased the basic equipment needed and have tried to get in a couple of nights of bowfishing each year ever since.

Bow fishing is like many other outdoor activities, it can be just what you want to make it. You can get really involved and spend a lot of money on top of the line equipment, or you can be more like me and rework some of your older bow hunting equipment to do the job. Either way, bowfishing can be a lot of fun for those who give it a try.

The basic equipment needed is no more than bow, a reel and a couple of arrows. I say a couple of arrows because, although you will probably be shooting the same one over and over, keep in mind that water is usually shallow and you are shooting at fish that are backed up by the stoney river bed. Each shot is another chance to bend the arrow beyond a useable condition and extras are usually needed.

Although many archers like to bowfish during the daytime and some prefer to do their shooting from the banks of the river, or off of a bridge, the group that got me started did their hunting from a flat bottomed fishing boat at night, and that is the way I still prefer to go about it.

Our system of one man guiding the boat down the creek or river while the other fellow stands in the bow with the bow ready to take his turn at shooting - if the carp or suckers are co-operating that night - seems to be the most common. If a third person is along on the trip, it is usually his job to keep the hot coffee and sandwiches within reach of the others.

The shooting area in front of the boat is well lit with the use of a Coleman lantern that is mounted to the bow where it needs little attention other than an occasional pump-up.

The prey being searched for, is usually limited to carp or suckers that will often prove to be an elusive target for the inexperienced bowfisherman or woman. That is, until they

About the Outdoors

by Jerry D. Posey

learn to adjust for the refraction, (I think it's called), or the light rays as they sight in on the fish below the surface of the water. This causes the illusion that the fish is in one spot while it is really in another, the variation or difference in the fishes actual location and where it looks like the fish is, will vary according to the depth of the water. This can make for some interesting shooting and a lot of misses.

I don't care to eat the carp taken on any of our nightly trips but it never goes to waste. I have several friends that are willing to accept and clean any offerings that I may make, even those that are made in the early morning hours. Most of our bowfishing trips on the river start after the sun sets and sometimes continue until we get tired or too cold to stay out on the water, long after midnight.

I remember one lady in Albion that always looked forward to our late night offerings. She said that she would gladly cut the big carp into smaller pieces and grind it up to be used as cat food for her several pets that always seemed to be hanging around the house. Then one afternoon, on the day following one of our fishing trips and delivery of two nice sized carp to the residence, I ran into the lady's husband after work. He said he was in a hurry to get home because his wife was fixing salmon patties for supper and he claimed his wife cooked up the best salmon patties in town. Sounded kind of fishy to me.

Whether you feed the night's catch to your pets or to your husband is one's own choice but the enjoyment that can be gained by spending the night with a couple of buddies, in a shakedown boat on the river and drinking a nice cold coffee or two is hard to beat.

Dexter District Library to hold special program

Brake for Moose. That is, take a break with Marc Thomas and his puppet-buddy, Max the Moose.

The Dexter District Library will present a children's program with puppeteer and singer, Marc Thomas on Tuesday, Aug. 12, at 1:30 p.m. The program will be held on the library's front lawn at 8040 Fourth St. in Dexter and all children are welcome to attend. The program will round out the Dexter District Library's Summer Reading Program. In case of rain, the program will be held inside the library.

Performing popular songs and ventriloquism, Thomas brings to life his friend Max for lots of moose mischief. It's a lovable mix of music, humor and harmony that will send everyone singing their way home.

Performer Thomas lives in Farmington and performs extensively throughout the Great Lakes region and beyond. He has appeared at some of the regions premier venues, including Wharton Center for the Performing Arts of Michigan State University, Music Hall Center of Detroit, the Grand Rapids Museum Theater, the Flint Youthcenter at Bower Auditorium and the Midland Center for the Arts.

The program, co-sponsored by the Dexter District Library and Dexter Community Education, is being presented to round out the Dexter District Library's Summer Reading Program, which ends Aug. 15.

This year, over 130 area children participated in the Summer Reading Program.

"The program with Marc Thomas is a great time for children and parents to come to the library and have fun," Library Director Paul McCann said. "Children will be able to finish filling out their summer reading logs and, for those who have met their summer reading goal, enter their names in the drawing for Little Professor Bookstore gift certificates."

McCann noted that all children are welcome to attend the program and that winners of the gift certificates will be notified during the week of Aug. 18.

People consider starting a business for many reasons. For some, it's a life dream. For others, it's the thrill of entrepreneurship. And, for some, it's a way to escape management bureaucracies, set their own hours and boost their incomes. Whatever your reasons, if you're seeking to start your own business, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests that before you begin to design your widget or practice your sales pitch, you perform a thorough self-assessment to ensure that you have what it takes to succeed. Then take the time to consider the financial ramifications of such a decision. Evaluate your skills and commitment.

First, make sure the business fits your lifestyle, values, and personality. Typically, ideas for a business come from past or current career positions, hobbies, or special skills and talents. Building on interests or skills you already have may increase the likelihood of success.

In addition to your skills and knowledge in a particular industry, you'll also need to become knowledgeable about a wide range of business issues, including accounting, insurance, payroll, taxes, legal matters, licensing, purchasing and marketing, for starters.

The market

Find out if there is really a market for the product or service you want to sell. Speak to people who sell similar or

Money Management

Prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants

allied products, look at purchasing and other trends, identify potential customers, and determine the competition that exists. Then get a sense for how much customers might be willing to pay for what you are selling by making some cold calls.

Determine the best legal structure

An important decision you'll need to make is whether you want to structure your business as a proprietorship, partnership, limited liability company or corporation. Each form has advantages and disadvantages. The type of business you are starting will narrow your choices somewhat. Other factors that need to be considered in selecting an organizational structure are the tax implications, number of owners, financial and legal liability of owners and how you plan to manage the company. Your CPA can help you evaluate the options available to you.

Develop a financial plan

While it's important that your business goals meet your personal style, they must also realistically fit your budget. One of the most common reasons small businesses fail is that the owners underestimate how much money they will need to start the business and keep it going. A detailed financial plan can help ensure that you're prepared to meet the costs of setting up and running a business, as well as the challenges presented by uneven cash flow and seasonal peaks and valleys.

Find financing

Finding the money you need to start a new business is probably the most frustrating hurdle new owners face. If you're just starting out, you should be aware that most banks don't like to lend to start-ups and those few that do will expect you to put up a significant amount of your own money.

Some small loans may be available through the Small Business Administration (SBA) or economic development authorities in your state. However, in most instances you'll need to invest some of your own savings or borrow from yourself, through, for example, a home equity loan. You also might consider turning to family and friends.

Do your homework

Take advantage of the various resources that exist to help you get into business. The federal and state governments print publications on a wide range of small business topics.

Get advice

Don't try to do everything yourself. Put together a trusted team of professional advisors who can provide guidance on legal, tax, accounting, and insurance issues.

2. Amend Article 5, Supplemental Regulations, by inserting the following new Section 5.24 "Wireless Telecommunications Towers and Antennas."

SECTION 5.24 WIRELESS TELECOMMUNICATIONS TOWERS AND ANTENNAS

A. Purpose and Goals — The purpose of this Section is to establish guidelines for the siting, uses, and maintenance of wireless telecommunications towers and antennas. The goals of this Section are to: (1) protect residential areas, agricultural or natural areas, and contemplated future land uses from potential adverse impacts of towers and antennas; (2) protect the public health and safety; (3) permit telecommunications facilities within Township boundaries as required by law; (4) minimize that total number of towers throughout the Township by encouraging the joint use of existing and new tower sites; (5) require users of towers and antennas to configure or shield them in a way that minimizes the adverse visual impact of the towers and antennas; (6) avoid potential damage to adjacent properties from spontaneous or induced tower failure; and (7) provide for maintenance of existing facilities as well as timely removal of obsolete facilities. In furtherance of these goals, Webster Township shall give due consideration to the Township's master plan, zoning map, existing and future land uses, and environmentally sensitive areas in approving sites for the location of towers and antennas.

B. Applicability

1. New Towers and Antennas - All new towers and antennas in Webster Township shall be subject to these regulations, except as provided in sub-sections 2 and 3, following.

2. Amateur Radio Station Operators/Receive Only Antennas - This Section shall not govern any tower, or the installation of any antenna, which is owned and operated by a federally-licensed amateur radio station operator or is used exclusively for receive only antennas. Amateur radio towers will be governed by maximum heights for non-attached structures in appropriate districts, as stipulated elsewhere in the Ordinance.

3. Preexisting Towers and Antennas - Preexisting towers and antennas shall not be required to meet the requirements of this Section, other than the applicable requirements of sub-sections C12, 13, 16, 17 and 18, and sub-sections G and H.

C. General Requirements.

1. Principal or Accessory Use - Antennas and towers may be considered either principal or accessory uses. A different existing use of an existing structure on the same lot shall not preclude the installation of an antenna or tower on such lot.

2. Lot Size - For purposes of determining whether the installation of a tower or antenna complies with district development regulations, including but not limited to setback requirements, road frontage requirements, lot coverage requirements, and other such requirements, the dimensions of the entire lot shall control, even though the antennas or towers may be located on leased parcels within such lot.

3. Inventory of Existing Sites and Justification of New Sites - Each applicant for an antennas and/or tower shall provide to the Township an inventory of existing towers, antennas, or sites approved for towers and antennas, that are either within the jurisdiction of Webster Township or within three (3) miles of the border thereof, including specific information about the location, height, and design of each tower. The Township may share such information with other applicants applying for siting approvals under this Ordinance, provided however that the Township is not, by sharing such information, in any way representing or warranting that such sites are available or suitable. In addition, the applicant shall supply a written statement from a State of Michigan licensed professional engineer which justifies the need for the proposed new site by describing the suitability of existing towers for the proposed use.

4. Height - Overall heights for new towers and antennas shall meet the following requirements:

a. Maximum height for a single-user tower is one hundred fifty (150) feet. A single-user tower must have a foundation capable of supporting a tower with a height of one hundred ninety five (195) feet, to facilitate possible future tower height extension in the event of collocation by other users.

b. Except when sub-section E-2c applies, maximum height for multiple users is in hundred ninety-five (195) feet. The applicant must provide written assurance, verifying that there are reasonable provisions (involving the tower, the equipment structure plan, and site location) for collocation by two other users. In addition, the applicant must provide written assurance that permission to collocate will be granted for compensation at the prevailing market rate. Suitability of this documentation will be assessed by the Township Zoning Inspector (for permitted use) or by the Township Commission during the site plan review (for permitted special use).

5. Setbacks - The following setbacks requirements shall apply to all new towers:

a. Towers must be set back a distance equal to at least the height of the tower from any adjoining lot line, except in an industrial district where the setback from an adjoining lot line will be half the tower height. These setback requirements are in addition to meeting the requirements of sub-section C-7.

b. Accessory buildings must satisfy the minimum zoning district setback requirements.

6. Road Frontage - For the entire lot, including a subparcel on which a tower or antenna is sited, there shall be a minimum of one hundred fifty (150) feet of road frontage.

7. Separation Distance - New towers shall be located a minimum of four hundred (400) feet from any existing residential dwelling.

8. Tower and Antenna Appearance - Towers and antennas shall meet the following requirements:

a. Towers shall either maintain a galvanized steel finish or, subject to any applicable standards of the FAA, be painted a neutral color so as to reduce visual obtrusiveness.

b. At a tower site, the design of the buildings and related structures shall, to the extent possible, use materials, colors, textures, screening, and landscaping that will blend then into the natural setting and surrounding buildings.

c. If an antennas is installed on a structure other than a tower, the antenna and supporting electrical and mechanical equipment must be of a neutral color that is identical to, or closely compatible with, the color of the supporting structure so as to make the antenna and related equipment as visually unobtrusive as possible.

9. Landscaping - The following requirements shall govern the landscaping surrounding towers:

a. Towers and accompanying facilities shall be landscaped in a manner that effectively screens the view of the tower compound from property used (or potentially to be used) for residences. A landscaping plan shall be submitted for approval by the Township Zoning Inspector (for permitted use) or by the Township Planning Commission as part of the site plan review (for permitted special use).

b. Existing mature tree growth and natural land forms on the site shall be preserved to the maximum extent possible. In some cases, such as towers sited on large, wooded lots, natural growth around the property may provide sufficient buffer.

10. Security Fencing - Towers shall be enclosed by security fencing not less than eight (8) feet in height. The fence may be equipped with an appropriate anti-climbing device, at the discretion of the owner.

11. Lighting - Towers shall not be artificially lighted, unless required by the FAA or other applicable authority. If lighting is required, all available lighting options must be presented to the Township Zoning Inspector (for permitted use) or to the Township Planning Commission for consideration as part of the site plan review (for permitted special use).

12. State or Federal Requirements - All towers and antennas must meet or exceed current standards and regulations of the FAA, and the FCC, and any other agency of the state or federal government with the authority to regulate towers and antennas. If such standards and regulations are changed, then the owners of the towers and antennas governed by this Ordinance shall bring such towers and antennas into compliance with such revised standards and regulations. Failure to bring towers and antennas into compliance with such revised standards and regulations shall constitute grounds for the removal of the tower or antenna at the owner's expense, as stipulated in sub-section G.

13. Building Codes; Safety Standards - To ensure the structural integrity of towers, the owner of a tower shall ensure that it is maintained in compliance with standards contained in applicable state or local building codes and the applicable standards for towers. If, upon inspection, Webster Township concludes that a tower fails to comply with applicable codes and standards and constitutes a danger to persons or property then upon, notice being provided to the owner shall have sixty (60) days to bring such tower into compliance for removal of the tower or antenna at the owner's expense, as stipulated in sub-section G.

14. Engineering Certification and Liability Insurance - Application for tower or antenna siting approval must be accompanied by a signed certification from State or Michigan licensed professional engineer, certifying integrity of the design and indicating how the tower or antenna would fall in the event of such occurrence. Application for tower or antenna siting approval must also include evidence of at least one million ($1,000,000) U.S. dollars of general liability insurance to cover any damage to persons or property that may result from unforeseen events or circumstances.

15. Measurements - For purposes of measurement, tower setbacks and separation distances shall be calculated and applied to facilities located in Webster Township irrespective of municipal, county, and state jurisdictional boundaries.

16. Not Essential Services - Towers and antennas shall be regulated or permitted pursuant to this Section and shall not be regulated or permitted as essential services, public utilities, or private utilities.

17. Licenses or Franchises - Owners and/or operators of towers or antennas shall certify that all licenses or franchises required by law for the construction and/or operation of a wireless communications system in Webster Township have been obtained and shall file a copy of all required licenses or franchises with the Zoning Inspector. In addition, owners and/or operators of towers or antennas shall identify the entities providing relevant backhaul networks for newly operated sites and also for other sites owned or operated by the applicant in Webster Township.

18. Signs - No sign shall be allowed on an antenna or tower.

19. Buildings and Support Equipment - Buildings and support equipment associated with antennas or towers shall comply with the requirements of sub-section F.

20. Provision for Removal - The application for siting of any antenna or tower shall include a description of security to be posted at the time of receiving a building permit for the facility to ensure timely removal of the facility when it has been abandoned, is no longer in use, or is in violation as provided in sub-section G. The security in the amount of ten thousand ($10,000) U.S. dollars shall be in the form of cash, surety bond, or letter of credit, establishing a promise of the applicant and owner of the property to remove the facility in a timely manner, with the further provision that the applicant and owner shall be responsible for the payment of any costs and attorney fees incurred by the Township in securing removal.

D. Permitted Uses.

1. General - The uses listed in this sub-section are deemed to be permitted uses. They shall not require a special use permit, but they shall require administrative approval as governed by the following provisions:

a. The Webster Township Zoning Inspector may administratively approve the uses listed in this sub-section.

b. Each applicant for administrative approval shall apply to the Zoning Inspector, providing all information called for and/or regulated in sub-section C and a non-refundable fee as established by resolution of the Webster Township Board to reimburse Webster Township for the costs of reviewing the application.

c. The Zoning Inspector shall review the application within a reasonable time and determine if the proposed use complies with all requirements and regulations of this Ordinance.

d. If an administrative approval is denied, the applicant shall take an appeal to the Township Planning Commission and Board before filing any appeal with the Zoning Board of Appeals.

2. List any of Permitted Uses - The following uses are permitted, upon approval by the Zoning Inspector after conducting an administrative review.

a. Location of towers or antennas, including the placement of additional buildings or other supporting equipment used in connection with said tower's or antennas, in an industrial zoning district.

b. Locating antennas on existing or preexisting towers or structures consistent with the terms of subsections (1) and (2) below: (1) Administratively approved tower collocation must not require tower height modification. There may be support building reconstruction or modification as necessary, in keeping with the requirements for support buildings contained in the Section.

(2) Any antenna which is not attached to a tower may be approved by the Zoning Inspector as a secondary use to any commercial industrial, or institutional structure provided:

(a) The antenna does not extend more than thirty (30) feet above the highest point of the structure;

(b) The antenna complies with all applicable FCC and FAA regulations; and

(c) The antenna complies with all applicable building codes.

c. Installing a cable microcell network through use of multiple low-powered transmitters/receivers attached to existing wireline systems, such as conventional cable or telephone wires, or similar technology that does not require the use of towers.

E. Permitted Special Uses

1. General - The uses listed in this sub-section will require a special use permit involving a public hearing before the Township Planning Commission and approval by the Township Board, in accordance with the rules for special use permits described in Article 10, herein.

2. List of Permitted Special Uses - The following may be permitted special uses if they meet all applicable requirements set forth in this Ordinance:

a. Locating a tower, including the placement of additional buildings or other supporting equipment used in connection with said tower, in any commercial zoning district or on public lands.

b. Locating antennas on existing or preexisting towers or structures when height or structural modification is required. Collocation by multiple carriers on existing or preexisting towers will be strongly encouraged, provided such collocation is accomplished in a manner consistent with the following:

(1) A tower which is modified or reconstructed to accommodate the collocation of additional antennas shall be of the same tower type as the existing tower or reconstructed as a monopole.

(2) Height

(a) An existing or preexisting tower may be modified or rebuilt to a taller height, not to exceed thirty (30) feet over tower's original height, to accommodate the collocation of an additional antenna or set of antennas, provided the ultimate height does not exceed the maximum height listed in sub-section C-4b.

(b) The additional height referred to in subsection (2)(a) above shall not require an additional setback distance as set forth in sub-section C-5.

(3) Onsite location

(a) A tower which is being rebuilt to accommodate the collocation of additional antennas may be moved onsite within fifty (50) feet of its existing location, provided this does not further decrease a required setback as stipulated in sub-section C-5 or cause violation of the separation requirement in sub-section C-7.

(b) After a tower is rebuilt to accommodate collocation, any abandoned or unused tower must be removed from the site, in accordance with the stipulations of sub-section G.

(c) Locating a tower, including the placement of additional buildings or other supporting equipment used in connection with said tower, in an industrial zoning district in accordance with all applicable requirements set forth in this Ordinance, as amended by the following allowances and stipulations:

(1) Maximum height for a tower with allowances for three users will be the minimum height demonstrated to be necessary for reasonable communication purposes by the applicant (and by other entities to collocate on the tower), in accordance with the stipulations set forth below:

(a) If the proposed tower height exceeds one hundred ninety-five (195) feet, the applicant must provide engineering documentation as necessary to demonstrate specific justification for the proposed tower height requirements, including an evaluation of any alternative designs that might result in lower height requirements. In addition, the applicant shall submit a non-refundable fee, as established by resolution of the Township Board, to reimburse Webster Township for costs incurred by hiring a consultant to help in reviewing this documentation.

(b) The applicant must provide written assurance, verifying reasonable allowances for collocation by two other potential users, as stipulated in sub-section C-4b.

F. Buildings or Other Equipment Storage

1. Antennas Located on Towers

a. The related unmanned equipment structure shall not contain more than three hundred (300) square feet of gross floor area per user or be more than twelve (12) feet in height. It shall be located within fifty (50) feet of the associated tower. Multiple users will be strongly encouraged to share an equipment structure with a common wall.

b. The structure or cabinet shall be screened as stipulated in subsection C-9.

c. The structure will be surrounded by a security fence as stipulated in sub-section C-10.

d. The structure will comply with all applicable building codes.

2. Antennas Mounted on Structures or Rooftops - The equipment cabinet or structure used in association with antennas shall comply with the following:

a. The cabinet or structure shall not contain more than three hundred (300) square feet of gross floor area per user or be more than twelve (12) feet in height. In addition, for buildings and structures which are less than sixty-five (65) feet in height, the related unmanned equipment structure, if over one hundred (100) square feet of gross floor area or eight (8) feet in height, shall be located on the ground and shall not be located on the roof of the structure.

b. If the equipment structure is located on the roof of a building, the area of the equipment structure and other equipment and structures shall not occupy more than twenty-five (25) percent of the roof area.

c. If the equipment structure or cabinet is located on the ground, it will be surrounded by a security fence as stipulated in sub-section C-10.

d. Equipment storage buildings or cabinets shall comply with all applicable building codes.

G. Removal of Antennas, Towers, and Associated Facilities.

1. A condition of every approval of a wireless communication facility shall be adequate provision for removal of all or part of the facility as stipulated in Sub-Section C-20. Removal shall be called for upon the occurrence of one or more of the following events:

a. When the facility has not been used for one hundred eighty (180) days or more. For purposes of this section, the removal of antennas or other equipment necessary to operate the facility, or the cessation of operations (transmission and/or reception of communications signals) shall be considered as the beginning of a period of nonuse. Also, a change of use, from the original principal use, without reacquisition and approval by Webster Township will be considered as the beginning of a period of nonuse.

b. When a tower, antenna, or other facility is in violation of this Ordinance, as stipulated in any of sub-sections C-12, C-13, or E-2b(3)(b).

2. The situations in which removal of a facility is required, as set forth above, may be applied and limited to portions of a facility.

3. Upon the occurrence of one or more of the events requiring removal, as specified above, the property owner or persons who had used the facility shall immediately apply or secure the application for any required demolition or removal permits, and immediately proceed with and complete the demolition/removal, restoring the premises to an acceptable condition as reasonably determined by the Zoning Inspector.

4. If the required removal of a facility or a portion thereof has not been lawfully completed within sixty (60) days following written notice by the Township, the Township may remove or secure the removal of the facility or required portions thereof, with its actual cost and reasonable administrative charge to be drawn, collected and/or enforced from or under the security posted at the time application was made for establishing the facility. If reasonable actual costs for facility removal and site restoration exceed the posted security, then the owner of this facility will be liable for those excess costs.

H. Nonconforming Uses

1. Not Expansion of Nonconforming Use - Towers that are constructed, and antennas that are installed, in accordance with the provisions of this Section shall not be deemed to constitute the expansion of a nonconforming use or structure.

2. Preexisting Towers - Preexisting towers shall be allowed to continue their usage as they presently exist. Routine maintenance shall be permitted on such preexisting towers, new construction (other than routine maintenance), height modification, expanded use, or application for collocation on a preexisting tower shall comply with the requirements of this Ordinance.

3. Replacing Damaged or Destroyed Nonconforming Towers or Antennas - Preexisting or nonconforming antennas or towers that are damaged or destroyed are governed by reconstruction stipulations in Section 12.04 and 12.06 of this Ordinance. ## Hill, Love Butlers to perform

Al Hill is a veteran player whose skills on guitar and piano are as legendary in southeastern Michigan as his heart-stopping vocals.

In 1992 and 1996 Hill was a featured performer in the Ann Arbor Blues and Jazz Festival. He has twice been nominated for "Best R&B Vocalist" in the Detroit Metro Music Awards and has opened shows for blues great Willie Dixon, Sugar Blue, Taj Mahal, Robert Jr. Lockwood, and Charlie Musselwhite.

Hill has worked as a sideman with a number of artists as well as appearing on recordings as a vocalist, piano man, and guitarist. His own band, Al Hill & the Love Butlers, reaches into a big bag of soulful sounds rooted in piano boogie, straight-up blues, New Orleans rhythm and Texas swing.

Currently at work on its first CD, the Butlers mine a deep vein of '50s and '60s R&B and extract its own distinct brand of boogie. Al's original songs mix it up with choice roots covers. His funky piano and guitar work is enhanced by accommodating Love Butlers Eric Korte on sax, John Ferry on trombone, Andy Conlin on drums and Bill Lewis on bass.

Dexter Daze has grown

One of the area's favorite summertime events, Dexter Daze, began 20 years ago as a simple sidewalk sale, organized by merchants in an effort to draw people into downtown. Today, it is a weekend extravaganza that draws an astounding attendance of 30,000 people, and the original tables of merchandise have been joined by a variety of food and craft booths and exciting entertainment.

The weekend event has also become something of an "Old Home Days," where people are sure to run into neighbors and old friends that have moved away.

"It's a real positive experience for everybody," according to Carol Model, secretary for the event.

"People come for the weekend from out of town and see many people they know. Some even plan their vacations around the event. They enjoy the social opportunity Dexter Daze offers."

With the thousands of people attending the event, organizers of Dexter Daze are no longer focused on drawing people into town.

"The event is purely to celebrate the community of Dexter," says Model.

"It was created to give something back to the community and celebrate Dexter together."

The people of Dexter are very community-oriented and Dexter Daze is a great opportunity to draw residents and non-residents together. In addition to local residents, businesspeople, and real estate people, members of various churches and organizations such as the Lions and Kiwanis Clubs, all work side by side with the common goal of organizing a successful festival.

"There is even one man who has moved from Dexter to Ann Arbor," says Model, "but enjoys the event so much he still participates on the board."

Dexter Daze has also evolved into a favorite summertime stop for many talented craftspeople, who mark to event on their calendar because of its reputation as being an enjoyable place to go. "We provide a nice place in the park for the craftspeople," says Model, "and serve them coffee and doughnuts."

Model also attributes the growth of Dexter Daze to the recent and growing interest in smaller communities and the greater sense of civic pride that has resulted.

"Dexter is very community oriented, which is partly why people are moving to smaller communities like it," she says.

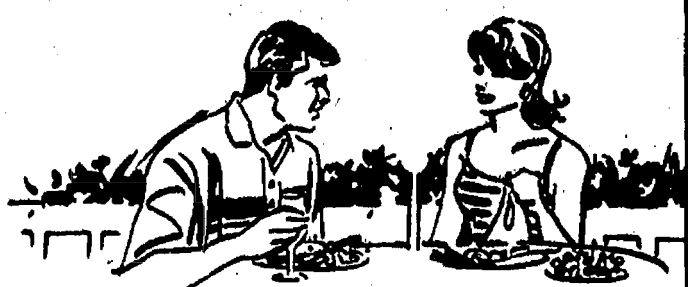

"We are experiencing a lot of growth in this area, because people are looking for something they can identify with." She says that the event has taken some time to evolve into what it is today, but that it has been similar in form for the last 10 years.

Model says everyone works very hard to make Dexter Daze an enjoyable event. Following the weekend, a cleanup day is held, and everyone pitches in to keep Dexter a beautiful and clean town.

Big Pinky, Joint Effort to perform at festival

Big Pinky and The Joint Effort Band has been in its present form for about six years.

Glen "Pinky" Pingston is the originator of the group and plays guitar. Ric Mayer plays lead guitar and was Glen's high school classmate. Nick Bauder is originally from New York and plays bass. Pat Peck and Mark Amsdill went to Dexter schools together and play drums and saxophone, respectively.

Ric, Nick, Pat, and Mark all learned music in high school, which propelled them into their present musical careers.

Ric played in different groups before joining Glen years ago.

Nick played bass with Susie and the Nobles in New York previous to joining Joint Effort.

Pat played with The Derelex, The Sindells, The Pranksters, Mister Wiggly, and finally The Joint Effort.

Mark was a saxophonist with The Sindells.

Glen stayed in the public-school music program all the way through Milford Junior High and Milford High School.

Pinky started writing music at age 14 and teaching drums and guitar at the age of 16. During his high school years, Glen's band, the El Cobras, performed at the same gigs with The Rolling Stones, The Dave Clark Five, The Four Seasons and Mitch Rider.

Glen's band also backed up on stage such artists as Paul Anka, Del Shannon, Barbara Lewis, Tony Clark and Gino Washington. After a three-year-hitch in the U.S. Army during the Vietnam War, Glen formed a band that became the Joint Effort by the mid-70s. All of the group's members are veterans with most serving in Vietnam.

Everyone started playing in the mid-60s and are still producing the same music they all grew up with.

The band is continually striving to produce the most authentic '50s, '60s and '70s music and have become one of the most popular groups in the area. They perform at all types of municipal functions, car shows, corporate parties, wedding receptions, class reunions, and other private parties.

Zeemo The Magnificent will show off his yo-yo skills at Dexter Daze.

Yo-Yo master featured

Zeemo the Magnificent performs a fast-paced comedy act that combines classic juggling skills, magic, and precarious balancing stunts. The humor in the act stems from Zeemo's zany personality and includes physical comedy, sight gags, and slapstick. Audience participation is also involved.

The Yo-Yo Man of the 1950's comes to life as Paul Kyrie assumes his alter ego "Yo-Master" Zeemo. While just about everybody has played with a yo-yo at some time, few master the variety of tricks required to be a yo-yo pro. Zeemo has the world on a string as he can perform more than 200 different yo-yo tricks. These range in difficulty from fundamental tricks like "walk the dog" and "around the world" to the more complex "whirly-bird" and splitting the atom."

In addition to yo-yos, Zeemo is adept with other spinning toys such as hula-hoops, spin tops, frisbees and the amazing Chinese diabolo. By combining these and other talents, "Yo-Master" Zeemo can perform a fun-filled stage act. Musical routines and audience participation are highlights of the show.

Sandor Slomovits of Gemini to entertain in rare solo concert

Sandor Slomovits, one of the twin brothers called Gemini, the nationally known children's-music duo, will be performing "A Musical Celebration for Children and the Whole Family". No, Gemini is not breaking up. While his brother, Las, is involved in another project, San is doing a rare solo concert. He will be playing Dexter Daze on Aug. 9.

San celebrates with his audiences, the fun, the warmth, and humor of family life. Kids and adults love to sing with him. From start to finish, a family concert with San abounds with rousing sing-alongs, hand motion tunes, folk tales, and music from around the world. The highlights of his show are his original, sparkling songs about the everyday experiences of childhood and growing up.

San brings to the stage a warm singing voice and accomplished musicianship on guitar and a number of percussion instruments including the bones. He has an upbeat flair for involving everyone, from tots to grandparents, in the music making. The result is a show full of laughter and grins, boisterous fun, and the magic of hushed singing.

San, as part of Gemini, has helped produce eight recordings and one live concert video of original songs and traditional folk music. Gemini's recordings have won several Parent's Choice Magazine awards, American Library Association Notable Children's Recording awards, and a National Parenting Publications Honors award.

"Fancy That," Gemini's live concert video, has been voted one of the top 10 children's videos in the Random House book "The American Library Association Best of the Best for Children".

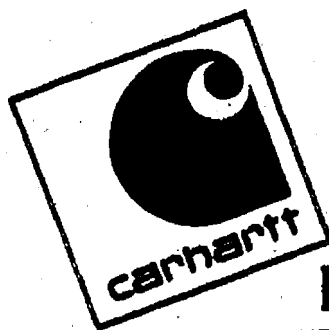

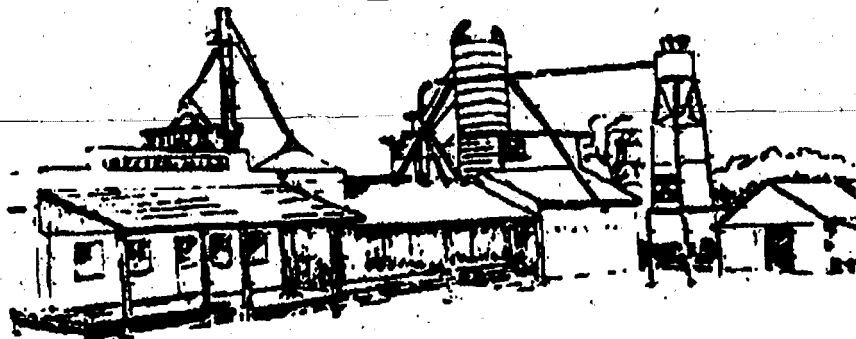

San has received songwriting grants from the Michigan Council for the Arts and ASCAP, and has written music for educational TV and films. Along with his brother, he has also recorded 13 albums of international folk dance music for the High/Scope Educational Foundation. For more than 20 years, from his home base in Ann Arbor, San alone, and with Gemini, has toured throughout the United States, performing in concert halls, festivals, and schools.

Coming up for San and Gemini are new recordings, an ever-expanding touring schedule, and family concerts with symphony orchestras.

Sandor Slomovits, half of the children's act, Gemini, will perform music for the whole family.

There are plenty of activities and entertainment for children during the annual two-day festival. This year's event features a parade Saturday morning, over 90 booths of arts and crafts, a used book sale at Dexter District Library, bingo tent and entertainment, such as Zemo's One Man Circus, Colors the Clown and Al Hill and George Bedard bands.

Church to sponsor infant comfort station at event

Peace Lutheran Church will be holding an infant comfort station for the first time at Dexter Daze. The booth (number 9 on the grass between Main Street and the sidewalk) will be set up with a changing table or two, a rocking chair, and a play table for siblings.

Parents may go there to feed or change their infants and toddlers. There will be helpers to keep an eye on any other siblings while the parent is busy with the infant.

The booth will not be a baby-sitting service nor will the volunteers be doing the changing or feeding. They will simply be providing the equipment and assistance a parent may need.

It is believed to be the first such project at Dexter Daze or any such fair in the area.

The changing table will be covered with fresh paper for each child, and gloves will be available for use.
