Gov. Engler in Chelsea today

Gov. John Engler will make a brief stop in downtown Chelsea today from 10:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. on Main Street as part of a 40-city tour to kick off his campaign for re-election, according to Maureen McNulty, Engler's deputy campaign manager for communication.

Engler will speak with business owners and residents before getting back on his bus to head to Plymouth.

Village to hire new village engineer

After much searching, the village finally chose a new village engineer, according to Village Manager Jack Myers. The council interviewed two candidates and hired Christine Linfield.

Linfield currently works as a junior civil engineer for the city of Marshall. She received a bachelor's degree in environmental engineering from Michigan Technological University in 1994.

Trinkle Road paving to begin

The Washtenaw County Road Commission will begin paving Trinkle Road just east of Freer Road on May 4. The pavement will extend 75 feet past the driveway for the new high school.

The road will be closed to through traffic until the middle of August. The entire project will cost $214,762, which will be shared by the road commission and Chelsea School District.

Prom not just for kids anymore

Chelsea High School students won't be the only ones decked out in fancy clothes and corsages Saturday. Chelsea Lions Club and Chelsea Senior Center will host the annual Senior Prom for the wiser generation from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. at Beach Middle School cafeteria.

According to Senior Center Director Pat Kaminsky, the Lions will have appetizers and flowers for seniors available. A live band, II-V-I, will play favorites from the '30s '40s and '50s, and the line dance class will make a demonstration of its techniques.

Exchange students to hold car wash

Chelsea-Shimizu exchange students will be holding their annual car wash at Chelsea State Bank May 2, from 12:30 to 3 p.m., to raise money to send 14 Beach Middle School students to Japan.

Volunteers from as far away as Belleville came out to help rebuild and refurbish a house on Hayes Street Saturday as part of Christmas in April. Above Merle Leach, Don Hawkins and Frank Phillips rebuild a small front porch, installing new wood and supports. At right, St. Mary's of Chelsea youth group members Thomas Brennan and Cat Baibak give the house a new coat of paint.

Christmas in April garners support for helping others

By Eric Bowen
 Staff Writer

Santa Claus doffed his stocking cap and bag of toys Saturday to pick up a hammer and electric screwdriver to help out those in need for Christmas in April. The sounds of Santa's work echoed down Hayes Street, stopping only when a passing train drowned out the construction.

Chelsea High School sophomore Thomas Brennan came out with several other students as part of St. Mary's of Chelsea youth group. This is Brennan's first year with Christmas in April, but he said the youth group has been involved in Habitat for Humanity before now.

Cat Baibak, also a member of the youth group, said the youth group leader asked them to come to the house to help out because she feels it's important for the community. Baibak has her own motives.

"You get an excuse to go out and get dirty and you don't care," she said. "Besides you're helping people."

Duane Schroen, a Chelsea-area cabinet maker, helped out by laying flooring in the homeowner's kitchen. He put in a sub-floor then, with the help of two other volunteers, put in tile to finish the job.

"Putting in flooring is a little different than making cabinets," he said.

Chris Burnett came from Belleville to help lay tile in the kitchen. She said she works for Great Lakes Bank, which helped fund the project, so she decided to come out and help with the actual construction.

"I'm in community development and this is what I do every day is help people," she said.

"It's a good cause to help people who could not afford to have the work done otherwise."

Lima Township resident Frank Phillips came out to help construct a new porch, putting in place new floor boards and support beams. Though he works in the computer field in the engineering office of Ford Motor Co., Phillips said he has general experience in construction and felt his expertise could be of use.

His first time doing Christmas in April, Phillips said he was glad to help out someone in need. He said that while he is able he will continue to do as much as he can.

"I hope some day if I'm in this predicament somebody will help me," he said. "I like to help. I'm healthy enough to help and I can't think of too many reasons not to help."

Duane Schroen took a break from making cabinets to rebuild the kitchen floor. He and two other volunteers laid tile on a newly built sub-floor.

Over budget bids under discussion

By Eric Bowen
 Staff Writer

Chelsea School District is continuing negotiations for renovation of the current high school complex to try to reduce construction bids, which came in higher than expected, Superintendent Ed Richardson told the school board Monday night.

Richardson said that to get everything on the wish list, the district would have to spend $1.8 million with the current bids. The base bid came in at roughly $1.1 million.

Since the district currently has only $750,000 budgeted for the entire community education renovation, Richardson said the board may have to consider altering the bid. Construction managers are currently looking for ways to reduce the base bid or find cheaper alternatives to the specifications laid out in the bid proposals.

Another way of achieving the renovation would be to allocate additional money up to the necessary level. Richardson said he would recommend using earned interest, enhancement millage and sinking fund money to bring the budget up to the bids.

In addition to the base bid, Richardson said he would recommend using the same three pools of money to purchase $200,000 worth of furnishings and equipment for the current high school site. He said these items were high on the list of alternates and something the district may want to consider.

The board did decide Monday to go ahead with some asbestos removal for the community education site and Beach Middle School. The removal will cost approximately $190,000 for the two school sites.

The board also agreed to purchase close to $95,000 of science equipment for the new high school. Benz Microscope received the largest chunk of money at $48,697.39 with Frey receiving $31,230.26 for equipment ranging from microscopes and beakers to cameras that project microscope slides onto TV monitors.

The board also purchased about $110,000 worth of exercise equipment. The majority of the money went to buying weight room equipment that CHS Principal Ron Mead said were quality items that would last for many years.

The community education site's renovation has drawn the interest of numerous community groups, which want to use the facilities as a base of operations.

At Monday night's board meeting Jackie Maveal of Chelsea Area Responding to Teens pleaded the case for CART's inclusion among the groups.

Maveal said that CART has become an important part of the Chelsea community, providing activities for both middle- and high-school kids. Until recently CART has been renting space but can no longer afford to pay for a teen center, so is looking to set one up in the high school.

Maveal said CART would like to have two rooms that are adjoining. One would be for activities such as table tennis and socializing. The other would be for tutoring and quiet

District may hire nine new teachers

By Eric Bowen
 Staff Writer

With the expectation of having an increase of about 60 students for next year, Chelsea School District will likely post a total of nine new job positions in various departments for next year.

Assistant Superintendent Iva Corbett said there were 33 requests for increased staffing throughout the district, all of which were valid for the increased number of students.

Corbett said she would come to the board and Superintendent Ed Richardson with a recommendation for 2 1/2 positions for the high school, half a position for the Alternative High School and lower elementary schools and 1 1/2 for the upper elementary grades.

One of the positions is likely to be an auditorium manager for the new high school and old high school site. The manager would oversee the use of the stage for productions to ensure the expensive equipment is used properly.

The auditorium manager would be a full-time staff person, working year-round. The manager would determine a schedule for use of the auditorium and train students and faculty how to maintain the auditorium.

Though the lower elementary will ostensibly only receive an increase of 5 teachers, the district will have an actual increase of two teachers for the lower grades, if the proposal is accepted. The district would reallocate money from its reading program to have teachers in with regular classes so the students will have more class time available.

Students will also likely see the integration of a new teacher consultant, 60 percent of which will be paid for from special education funding.

The integration of the reading and special education programs is part of a general trend in the district and the country toward bringing specialized programs together in one place, according to Henry DeYoung, director of special education for Region V, which includes Chelsea. Programs such as English as a second language and special education can be put together so that students are not classified, and they receive the services they need.

DeYoung said system unification is not just a way to put special education kids in with other kids, but to help all children. He said the Alternative High School, the gifted and talented program, teaming, looping and block scheduling are all examples of the mantra of system unification.

DeYoung said the implementation of the philosophy is more of a process than a program. He said he expects the district to continue to focus on the needs of all of the children in the district.

"This is a way of thinking about all support systems to work collaboratively to make sure all support gets to all students," DeYoung said. "I hope that what we will do is to give students what they need when they need it and make everybody responsible for all students."

To help facilitate the hiring of new teachers to fill the positions, Corbett outlined for the board a new system for interviewing teachers. The "Teacher Perceiver" system was developed by the same company that makes the Gallup Polls, which are cited in election campaigns.

The interview style asks a set of stock questions to elicit answers in one of nine categories. Successful candidates for the job will score high in all nine categories.

Richardson said at the meeting that the "Teacher Perceiver"

Letters to the Editor

Crash changes attitude about seat belts

Recently I had an experience while driving back from a conference in Ohio. It was an incredibly horrific experience, the sort that you hear about but doesn't seem "real" until it happens to you. I'm hoping that you'll think twice the next time you allow your children to ride without a seat belt, or drive too fast on the expressway, or forget to give your children that last hug as you rush out the door to work.

My friend and I were driving home from a nursing conference on a beautifully sunny day. We were on a long, straight stretch of highway, it was around noon, and there was little traffic.

Up ahead, we noticed a few cars braking, so we slowed down. As we got closer, we saw a semi on its side, and a minivan off the road, also on its side.

Because no emergency vehicles had yet arrived, my friend and I decided to stop since we are both nurses. We ran to the scene and found two adults, presumably the father and mother next to the minivan, both injured, but conscious. As I started to attend to the father, my friend called me, saying, "come right now, there's a little girl over here."

I ran over to her and found a beautiful little girl, no older than 4-5 years old, lying too quietly in the grass. I reached to feel for her pulse and felt none. We carefully rolled her on her back and did CPR until an ambulance arrived, then rushed her into the ambulance.

As the ambulance pulled away, I turned around and saw the mother crying her daughter's name and looking at the ambulance. A second little girl, who had been restrained in a car seat looked fine, and was sitting on her mother's lap. That evening, I called the sheriff's department and found out that the little girl died on the way to the hospital, that she hadn't been buckled up in the minivan and had been thrown from the vehicle.

When I left the scene, I felt numb. Crushed. I was worried about the daughter, but also thought about the mother and the family. How could they ever get back to "normal" after something like this? I hoped that the mother knows, as she tries to process her daughter's death, that we did everything we could to save her daughter's life. I also thought about how much difference simply making the daughter wear her seat belt would have made.

I've always been pretty good at making sure my kids wear their seat belts, but sometimes, if they're not feeling well, I've let them sit on my lap in the front. At other times, when I'm not feeling particularly vigilant or don't feel like an argument, they haven't worn their seat belts. I don't think my experience with my children is much different from most families.

Now my attitude is changed. The car doesn't move until everyone is buckled up. I make sure that my kids know that it is because I love them that they need to wear seat belts.

It's been about three weeks since the accident and the numbness that I initially experienced is gone. I'm wondering, though, if anything can come out of the senseless death of that beautiful little girl. I hope that by sharing my experience with all of you, you'll be reminded of the importance of such a simple thing as wearing your seat belt, and making sure your children wear them too.

Tolerance not answer for gays

I was saddened by the lengthy article in The Chelsea Standard last month entitled, "Growing up Gay in a Small Town." The whole tenor and emphasis of the article seemed to be that our community needed to learn to show tolerance and acceptance of the gay lifestyle. This was not surprising seeing that the article regularly quoted the past and present heads of the Ann Arbor chapter of Parents, Families and Friends of Lesbians and Gays, otherwise known as PFLAG.

The perspective that I would like to add to the article comes from one who believes that there are absolute moral standards that exist and are found in the Bible. Unfortunately, we live in a culture that increasingly rejects the concept of absolute truth, truth that is true for all people, for all cultures, for all times.

The truth of God's word provides us with an unchanging standard of truth, and of right and wrong behavior that is desperately needed in our individual lives, our families, our churches and our communities. Without this basis, standards of right and wrong behavior become totally subjective and are left to personal and popular opinion.

What gay people in our community really need is someone to love them enough to share with them the life changing truth of God's word. Truth that has the power to enable them to choose not to participate in what the Bible states is a sinful and self-destructive lifestyle.

Coming to know Jesus Christ personally and understanding the truth of the Bible can free individuals to make a choice to live within the moral guidelines of Scripture. "And you shall know the truth and the truth shall set you free," John 8:32. Tolerance and acceptance is not the answer, but rather deliverance through the life changing power of the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Ron Clark

Opening Remarks

Surveys in the newspaper industry show consistently that religion is one of the most widely neglected areas of coverage in most newspapers.

We, unfortunately, have been no exception to this general trend, although we try to run all the news related to our various area churches.

Clearly, though, publishing news blurbs about church suppers or camps or special services is not the same as covering religion. Many people long to read about faith and how it relates to their everyday lives.

A couple of years ago, we made an attempt to have local clergy write columns on a rotating basis. Our local spiritual leaders seemed enthused about the idea and they did contribute for a short time.

However, like most every one else these days, they are busy people and the momentum to write died quickly. This is, it should be noted, a common problem for many would-be columnists of any stripe. They run out of ideas or enthusiasm in fairly short order because they minimize how difficult it is to write on a regular basis.

Now when someone approaches me about writing a column, no matter what the subject, the first thing I do is ask them to submit half a dozen samples before I decide. That usually takes care of the problem.

Anyway, this week marks the debut of what should be a regular feature of this newspaper. The new column is called "Cross Roads." It is produced by a team of Christian writers from a Lansing-based organization called the Amy Foundation. This week's first column, on page 27, talks about religion in the media and gives a little background about the foundation.

When I received the first packet of columns from the foundation, the first thing I did was contact the Rev. David Cleaver-Bartholomew of the First Congregational Church of Chelsea. I wanted him to take a look at what was offered and give me his opinion. He, in turn, showed them to a colleague or two. They agreed that the columns seemed to be fairly middle of the road and not too extreme in either direction. That's pretty much what I wanted to hear. It was also noted that the columns are decidedly Christian and that it would be nice every so often to feature material about other religions. If we can, we will.

The foundation plans to send us six columns each month, and we can choose four or five depending on how many Thursdays we have in the month.

If all goes well, those columns are going to be chosen by a few members of our local clergy — kind of an informal religious editorial board — not the newspaper editorial staff. They are the experts and we trust their judgment.

We hope you find "Cross Roads" enlightening, uplifting and helpful. Please write and let us know what you think.

Uncle Apollo

Well I see my old pal John Engler is going to show up here just in time to get a full blast of chlorine from the village. Let's hope he doesn't get thirsty, because if you're not used to this seasonal bacteria kill, it can throw you for a loop. There's only one way to find out, of course. We'll have to watch the papers afterward to see how quickly his hair turns white.

It's pretty neat that he's gonna show though, because this will be the first time I've seen him since he hit the big time. Guess he just got too busy to keep in touch, what with the roads falling apart and having to keep the mansions clean and all that. In the old days, we used to get together once in awhile to skateboard down Iron Mountain and do some jammin' on Drummond Island. But now the press of business has taken over our lives. He has a state to run and I have to write these columns every week.

I'll tell you, it's a grind. Whatever happened to the good old days when I wrote for The Chelsea Review and I could take a whole month to think about what to say? And I know the governor feels the same way, too. Used to be, he only had to worry about getting his driveway shoveled. Now look at all the roads he's got to think about.

But still, he's taking time out of his busy schedule just to come and see his old pal Arthur Apollo. I'll tell you, I'm touched. And I'll be there with bells on. Actually, my running mate, Ariotta Moofellow will be wearing her bells, but I'll be cheering her on. And rumor has it the governor is going to walk-right under her and wave as he goes past. It's kind of an endorsement for our upcoming bid for Congress. What a pal!

I'm so grateful, I've got a major tour planned. It will be sort of like mayor exchange day, but with a governor instead. First, I'll take him to the new water tower so he can see where to go if he needs to fill up his swimming pool with bacteria-free water. While we're down there, I'll show him Schumm's restaurant to see if I can get it nominated to the register of hysteric places.

Maybe I'll take him on a sampling of our wide assortment of car washes to impress him with what a clean little village we have. And of course, I'll show him the fairgrounds so he can see where Chelsea Clinton snubbed us. Maybe he can use that information in his campaign. As we go up Main Street, I'll show him where the billboard and the oak tree used to be, and the stop light by the hospital that didn't used to be. And if we have time, I'll show him the Waste-water Treatment Plant where we make our world-famous Chelsea Redrinkable Water.

By that time, he will probably be pretty tired so he'll want to go home. But after I've given him the tour, he'll know more about Chelsea than he ever thought possible, believe me.

Chelsea Education Through The Arts

Ben and Mary Lou Bower, above, show their delight for the performance of a scene from MacBeth by a group of Beach Middle School sixth graders last Thursday at the Chelsea First United Methodist Church. The occasion was a program called Love Your Library and Schools. It was the Bowers' 50th wedding anniversary and the special program was built around that event. Mary Lou was a longtime teacher in the district and Bower, a noted local artist, created the mural that is pictured behind the children's choir, below. The mural depicts the history of the school district. Both have also been active for many years in library affairs. The children below are members of the Glory Choir and Praise Choir. They sang "School Days" under the direction of Sue Comstock.

Village pension program change may save taxpayers

By Eric Bowen
Staff Writer

Faced with accelerating costs for employee pensions, the Village Council voted in recent months for all new hires of the village. The new plans are expected to save the village money, but how much has yet to be determined.

According to Village Manager Jack Myers, payments to the Municipal Employees' Retirement System have risen to about $140,000 to make up a shortfall in retirement funding. Myers said that because of a change in expected payouts, the village only has 80 percent of the amount needed for the fund, which the village hopes to make up in the next five years.

The new plans change the pension system so all new employees will have to contribute toward their retirement, which will be matched up to 4 percent by the village. The retirement is similar to a 401(k) plan at many businesses.

Until the new plan was put in place, the village added 10.4 percent of an employee's salary into the pension. Myers said now the village will only contribute a maximum of 7 percent, which includes 4 percent for the employee match, and 3 percent base contribution.

The other major difference in the two plans is when an employee becomes vested, the point at which the person can draw from the village's contribution to retirement. Before vestment, an employee wouldn't be able to take any money the village put in.

Under the old plan, an employee would have to work for the village for 10 years before becoming vested. The new plan drops that total to 3 years. Employees under the new plan can always take their contribution with them when they quit the job or retire, but can only begin drawing the money at retirement.

A potential drawback to the new plan is that employees can work for the village for just over three years and take the village's contribution with them. That person would not have gotten the money under the old system.

Myers said that since the plan has only been in place a short time, he didn't know how many vested people would retire under the new plan. The village has only hired three people since the plans went into effect.

Currently the village has 14 people drawing retirement from MERS, for a yearly total of $134,834.16.

Church discusses new congregation

Ever wonder where new churches come from and how they begin?

This Sunday, May 3, Sam and Ann Mullen will be at the Chelsea Church of the Nazarene to discuss the new congregation they will be helping to plant in Dundee. A number of Churches of the Nazarene will take part in helping launch the new church which will begin Sunday morning services on Easter Sunday 1999.

The Chelsea Church of the Nazarene itself is a new church. The congregation began holding Sunday morning services here in town a little over two years ago on Easter Sunday, April 7, 1996. The Chelsea church, which was helped initially with financial support by other churches in the Eastern Michigan District of the Church of the Nazarene, became financially self-supporting after only eighteen months in existence. The church also supports a full-time minister, Pastor Jeff Crowder.

The Mullens will be speaking in the 11 a.m. service about their involvement in the new church. The public is invited to attend. The Chelsea Church of the Nazarene is currently meeting Sunday mornings in the chapel of the Chelsea Retirement Community at 805 W. Middle St. For more information call 475-2526.

ACTING WITH MALICE

It sometimes happens that people use the legal system for their own vengeful purposes. If so, those who do bring unfounded criminal prosecution against innocent parties can be charged with malicious prosecution. If the victims of malicious prosecution can prove in a civil lawsuit that criminal proceedings were intentionally brought against them for a malicious purpose, and that the charges were dismissed, they may be able to recover any attorneys' fees, court costs, and other expenses that were incurred in defending themselves against the criminal proceedings. Moreover, they may be able to receive compensation for the damage done to their personal reputations, careers, and businesses, as well as for embarrassment and mental anguish.

False accusations can be as damaging as allegations which are, in fact, true. Thus the law provides a public forum which allows individuals who can prove their innocence to clear their names and receive just compensation. # Dexter Twp. Board discusses millage

■ Dexter Township has seen a 60-percent increase in cost for fire protection over three years.

By Michelle Rogers
Associate Editor

Dexter Township Board may ask township property owners to support a millage for fire protection as early as November.

Board members Libby Brushaber and Bill Eisenbeiser raised the question at the board's April 21 meeting. They have been investigating the possibility for over a year and have discussed the issue at fire board meetings, where they represent the township.

Dexter Township Board discussed whether to levy one mill, which would generate approximately $164,000 for the first year.

Dexter Township spent $130,000 on fire protection last year and expects that amount will increase steadily in years to come. The extra revenue the millage would raise in the first few years, they said, could be placed in an account to cover increased costs.

"It's getting down to the point where the cost of fire protection is an overwhelming part of our budget," Eisenbeiser told the board.

"It's sure not going to get any cheaper."

Trustee Harley Rider pointed out that Dexter Township's fire costs have increased 60 percent in the past three years. During the 1995-96 fiscal year, the township spent $80,000 on fire protection, he said.

The board discussed whether to move fast to get the request on the August ballot.

wait until the November general election or put it off until 2000.

"We can survive this year," Eisenbeiser said.

The board decided to wait a few months to see if Chelsea Fire Board forms a fire authority and requests a millage in November. Brushaber said the Chelsea Fire Board, which includes representation from Chelsea Village, Lima, Sylvan, Lyndon and Waterloo townships, may ask for two to three mills.

Township board to name road projects

By Michelle Rogers
Associate Editor

As Dexter Township Board decides which local roads will get attention this year, plans for the future may include the formation of a citizens road committee to make recommendations.

Dexter Township Supervisor Robert Tetens proposed the idea at the board's monthly meeting April 21.

It appears too late for this year because the board must make a decision by next month to meet the road commission deadline. However, Tetens said it may be something the board should consider in the future.

Board members will drive local roads called to attention by the Washtenaw County Road Commission before voting May 19. It has set aside $50,500 in the budget for improvements.

Board Trustee Libby Brushaber said North Lake Road appeared to be the most in need. The road commission has suggested improvements on North Lake Road from Hankerd west to the township line. Work would include removal of existing roadside berm, limited grade ditching, shaping the existing surface, adding about 3,900 tons of limestone, applying dust control and project restoration for a total estimated cost of $46,200.

Other roads under consideration include Riker Road from Colby to Island Lake, Stinchfield Woods Road from Toma to Dexter-Pinckney, Dexter Town Hall Road from the end of the asphalt to the county line, Madden Road between Quigley and Colby, Cottonwood and Oakridge Lane off Island Lake Road, Noah from Noah Court to South Rainbow Drive off Hankerd, Stonehedge Valley off North Lake Road and Forest Court off Stofer Road.

Township to participate in project

By Michelle Rogers
Associate Editor

Dexter Township Board authorized Supervisor Robert Tetens April 21 to sign an agreement with Washtenaw County for geographical information system services.

The agreement commits the township to sharing the cost of converting parcel tax maps to a digital format.

The board has agreed to reimburse the county 80 cents for each parcel in the township, which amounts to approximately $2,640 for over 3,000 parcels.

Tetens estimates the cost to be a third of how much the township would pay to do it on its own. Money, he said, has been set aside in the township's capital improvements fund.

In a memorandum to the board, Tetens said the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners authorized funding in late 1997 to support the development of a countywide geographical information system in partnership with local municipalities.

All told, 865 tax maps detailing over 70,000 individual parcel descriptions will be converted into digital format.

Maps of Salem, Superior and Ann Arbor townships are complete and Northfield, Pittsfield, York, Augusta and Ypsilanti townships are currently having maps converted.

When the project is completed, local officials will be able to call up every parcel in the township. Information available will include parcel boundaries, rights of way, waterways, railroads, easements, and land records.

What's more, Tetens said, photographs of every home will be updated and digitized so the township assessor, for instance, can see, without leaving the office, if a new deck or swimming pool has been added.

Farm machinery needed for fire dept. training

The Washtenaw Area Mutual Aid Association will hold a class for large vehicle extrication and farm rescue this fall but needs some help to do it.

Firefighters from area departments will be trained in specialized extrication techniques involving large vehicles, such as semi trucks and other large trucks during a two-day seminar.

A second seminar will train firefighters in extrication techniques involving accidents with farm machinery.

But to do it, the Washtenaw Mutual Aid Association needs donated vehicles and farm machinery for the classes, as well as someone to move the equipment.

The classes will attempt to replicate typical accident situations so that area firefighters can perfect their skills, which allow them to be better prepared when they are called on to extricate injured victims.

To volunteer or donate equipment call Bill Paul and Chelsea Fire Department, 475-5983, or Jim Kay at the Ann Arbor City Fire Department, 994-2772.

Baseball club to wash cars this Saturday

Players and coaches from the Dexter Baseball Club will be washing cars this Saturday to raise money to pay for uniforms, equipment and travel this spring.

The car wash will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Bates Elementary School.

For more information, contact Steve Puuri, Dexter Baseball Club president, at 426-3097.

Dexter Community Band to present concert Sunday

The Dexter Community Band will present a concert by Leonard Bernstein. Two dances from "West Side Story" and two dances from Robert Russell Bennett's "Suite of Old American Dances" bring the American heritage to mind.

Finally, no dance theme concert could be complete without something from the Big Band era of American music. John Higgins has arranged an excellent medley of seven well-known tunes entitled "Big Band Signatures."

Sponsored by Dexter Community Education, the membership of the ensemble includes ages from teens to 70s with representatives from all of the surrounding communities. Additional members are always welcome.

Sunday's concert will be the final for the band's 1997-1998 season. New members are welcome for the fall and interested people should contact Dexter Community Education for further contact information.

Got grass? Mow high!

Make your lawn easier and cheaper to maintain by mowing high — three inches is the rule!

The roots of your lawn grow as deep as the grass grows tall, so taller grass has deeper, healthier roots. Keep your lawn 3" or higher and never cut off more than 1/3 of the blade each time you mow. A healthy lawn tolerates hot, dry weather better — so you won't need to spend your summer watering and fertilizing.

Mow high. Save time and money. It's that easy.

AN INTRODUCTION TO FLEA CONTROL PRODUCTS
By Dr. Andrew Maglott, D.V.M.

As flea season approaches again, those of us who own pets are faced with a wide selection of products designed to control fleas. This is a brief introduction to some of the more widely used products and how they work. Program (Lufenuron) is currently the only oral flea preventative on the market. Given once a month, it makes fleas who ingest it unable to reproduce. Program prevents flea eggs from hatching, so the fleas cannot infest the house. It is an effective medication, but may work best as a preventative, as it may take several months to control a flea infestation with lufenuron alone. Lufenuron will not keep your pet from being bitten by fleas. Available only through veterinarians as Program or Sentinel (with Interceptor heartworm preventative). Lufenuron is safe for dogs and cats over 6 weeks of age, and is now available in an injectable form, for cats only, that lasts 6 months. Once-a-month topical products: these products are applied to the skin over your pet's shoulders once a month. Advantage (imidacloprid) and Frontline (fipronil) kill adult fleas within 24 hours. Both products will kill adult fleas even if they don't bite your pet, making them ideal for animals with a flea allergy. Frontline also kills adult ticks within 48 hours, and is not washed off when the animal gets wet. Frontline is also available in a once-a-month spray bottle. These products are safe for cats and dogs over 2-4 months of age, and are available only through a veterinarian. Next week: commercially available flea control products. If you have any questions about flea control, please call Westarbor Animal Hospital at (734) 769-5391.

Bad Checks

A 26-year-old employee of Polly's Market, 1101 Main St., reported four separate incidents of check fraud to police at 2:45 p.m. April 17. A $132.60 check was written by a 28-year-old Munith man. Polly's tried to collect, but there was no money in the account. A 19-year-old Leslie man wrote a check for $93.67 from a closed account. A 23-year-old Albion man wrote a bad check for $240.96 to a closed account. The last bad check was for $131.13 from a 47-year-old Ann Arbor man.

Drunken Driving

Police driving on Main Street, near Old US-12 at 2:47 a.m. April 23, saw an unoccupied pickup truck with heavy damage on the side of the road. Apparently the truck had hit a light post. Another officer was called to search for the driver while the first officer cleared some of the debris from the road. The second officer found the driver, a 20-year-old Gregory man, walking along Main Street. He was uninjured.

Police asked the man to perform sobriety tests, which he initially refused. However, he did take a breath test, which revealed he had a blood-alcohol level twice the legal limit. When taken to the police station, he refused to take a blood test. A warrant for the man's blood was acquired from a judge, and he was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital, where his blood was forcibly taken. He was then taken to jail.

Assault

A 59-year-old Chelsea woman called police at 5:11 p.m. April 23 after she tried to serve an eviction notice to her tenant, a 72-year-old Chelsea man, from her home in the 200 block E. North Street. The man became angry and threw the papers at her. When she tried to call the police, he slammed the phone down and began to chase her around the yard. She got on a portable phone and called police.

Police responded to the scene and stopped the man from trying to re-enter the house, which the woman had been told to return to. The man was apparently placed at the woman's house as part of a homeless shelter program that places people with local families. The man's legal guardian would not take him so he was transported to a men's shelter in Ann Arbor.

Dexter Village

Harassing Telephone Calls

A 22-year-old Pinckney woman told police at 10:30 a.m. April 19 that she had been receiving harassing telephone calls from a 30-year-old Pinckney man. The woman received a call at work in the 3200 block of Broad Street, where a song played over the phone using profanities. The caller did not say anything, but the woman knew who it was because she had problems with the man in the past. She has changed her home phone number to stop the problem, but is now getting calls at work.

Property Damage

A custodian at Bates Elementary School, 2704 Baker Road, reported malicious destruction of property at 10:23 a.m. April 20. Three windows at the school had been broken by rocks thrown at them.

Drunken Driving

Police monitoring traffic at Baker and Dan Hoey roads at 1:15 a.m. April 24 observed a car pass by with a very loud exhaust system. Police stopped the driver, a 38-year-old Dexter man, whose breath smelled of alcohol. The man said he had five drinks at a bar, and was arrested after sobriety tests were performed. His test revealed a blood-alcohol content above the legal limit for driving.

Dexter Township

Warrant Arrest

Larry Alan Hatch, 22, of Chelsea was arrested at 2:20 a.m. April 21 after police were dispatched to Riker and Golby roads on a public disturbance call. Hatch appeared intoxicated when police arrived. He was wanted on a bench warrant out of Washtenaw County for possession of marijuana.

Breaking and Entering

Sheriff's deputies assisted on a breaking and entering call on April 24 in the 9600 block of Alice Hill Road. A deputy was asked to attempt to lift fingerprints from a minivan that had been broken into. Police were able to lift four prints.

Sylvan Township

Assault and Battery

A 26-year-old employee at the St. Louis Center, 16195 Old US-12, told police at 8:09 p.m. April 26 that he was assaulted by a resident, a 24-year-old Dimondale man. The resident was angry and was told to go outside to cool off. As he was going, he turned around and tackled the employee, punching him in the face before another employee could arrive. The resident was questioned by police and apologized, stating he knew it was wrong to hit another person. The resident's parents were called.

Attempted Arson

Attempted arson and breaking and entering were reported at 9:17 a.m. April 25 at Sugar Loaf Campgrounds, 5000 Loveland Road. A 42-year-old ranger from Linden told police he entered a storage shed at the campgrounds and found it had been rifled through. A broom had been lit on fire and thrown in the shed. The shed did not catch fire.

Manchester Township

Breaking and Entering

An Ypsilanti man told police at 7:22 a.m. March 26 that someone had cut the padlock on the rear door of a semi trailer carrying various bathroom items. Sinks, toilet seats and faucets were taken.

Larceny

A 46-year-old Manchester man called police from his home in the 7100 block of Sharon Hollow Road at 1:20 p.m. April 21 to report a gun was stolen from his car. The man has a permit to carry the gun. He discovered the gun missing when he went to shoot a sick horse. He reached in his glove compartment and the gun was not there. The last time he remembered using the gun was around Christmas time.

Scio Township

Death Investigation

A 46-year-old Ann Arbor man called police at 5:30 p.m. April 20 when he entered his ex-wife's house on S. Staebler and found her lying face-down on the couch. She had a yellow color to her skin. The ambulance was called and medical workers pronounced her dead. The man said that a few weeks ago she had complained of yellow color developing in her eyes and skin. He recommended to her that she see a doctor, but he didn't know if she had. He said she suffered from depression and was on medication.

Animal Problem

A 50-year-old Scio Township man told police at 3:25 p.m. April 22 that he came home from work and began to walk his dogs near his home in the 5000 block of John Holmes Road. He noticed his neighbors' dogs were unsecured and wanted to be sure his dogs did not bark at them. He turned around to see the neighbor dogs standing over his dog. He chased off the dogs and noticed blood coming from his dog's neck. He took the dog inside and it died.

The attacking dog's owner, a 40-year-old Scio Township woman, later came over to apologize. She stated she had work crews at her house and wasn't aware of whether the rear door to her house was secure and the dogs had gotten loose.

Domestic Assault

A 43-year-old Scio Township man was contacted by police at 9 p.m. April 22 in Scio Farms Estates, 6655 Jackson Road, after police received a call about domestic abuse. The man admitted having done things he should not have. When pressed, he said he had grabbed his wife, 38, by the throat and had pushed her.

Assault and Battery

A 37-year-old Jackson woman was entering the Pilot Travel Center, 195 Baker Road, at 10:57 p.m. April 23. As she was turning in, a vehicle nearly struck her. The two drivers argued and the driver of the other vehicle, an unidentified man, pushed the woman. The man then entered his pickup truck and drove away. A few minutes later the man returned to order food at the counter. He was asked by the establishment to leave, at which point the woman called police. She wants to press charges.

Accidental Fire

A 40-year-old Haines City, Fla., man told police at 3:23 p.m. April 23 that he drove his truck into the Blue Beacon Truck Wash, 98 Baker Road. When his truck was finished washing, he noticed smoke coming from the engine. He opened the hood and extinguished the fire, but not before $5,000 of damage occurred to the engine.

A 58-year-old Ann Arbor woman told police at 6:09 p.m. April 17, that she was in the turn lane of Jackson Road near Zeeb Road when her car stalled and wouldn't restart. She noticed smoke coming from under the hood. A 37-year-old Clinton man, who is a firefighter, arrived and put out the flames with a fire extinguisher. He had the woman call 911 on his cellular phone. The fire caused $1,000 in damage.

Stolen Vehicle

A van was reported stolen to police at 5:27 a.m. April 25. A 33-year-old Saline man told police he left his van unlocked in the RPG Packaging Co.

parking lot, 296 Jackson Plaza, with the keys in a pocket of the van. The vehicle was later found in a field nearby. A TV, VCR and sunglasses were taken from the car valued at $650 total.

Retirement community president Foote resigns position

Seneca S. Foote, president of the United Methodist Retirement Communities, will resign his position, effective May 31.

Foote, who has served as president since 1991, has accepted a position as president and CEO of the Alexian Village of Tennessee, located in Signal Mountain, Tenn.

"Seneca has provided us distinguished leadership and vision during his tenure at United Methodist Retirement Communities. We will miss greatly his guidance and the passion he brings to our organization," said James Ford, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Foote, recognized as a national leader in the field of long-term care for the elderly, is a graduate of Carson Newman College (BA '69) and Vanderbilt University (Masters of Divinity '75). After his ordination as a United Methodist Church minister, he served various churches and has been associated with church affiliated retirement communities for the past 18 years.

Foote's achievements at United Methodist Retirement

Communities include overseeing Chelsea Retirement Community's accreditation from the Continuing Care Accreditation Committee in 1992 and in 1998; redesigning services provided to the elderly at Boulevard Temple in Detroit; leading a successful $2 million Van Dusen Endowment Challenge for benevolent care; partnering with Chelsea Community Hospital to establish Silver Maples, an independent and assisted living facility in Chelsea; managing Huron Woods, the Alzheimer's/memory loss unit at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor; examining potential MSHDA (Michigan State Housing Development Authority) projects for moderate income seniors in Chelsea (Sylvan Pines) and Detroit; and directing the vision for and development of a new 190-bed Alzheimer's and memory loss facility for the Chelsea campus that will open in late 1999.

Foote's professional associations include membership in the House of Delegates for the American Association of the Homes and Services for the Aging (AAHSA) and chair of the Michigan Association of the Homes and Services for the Aging (MAHSA). In 1994, Foote was elected as one of 12 commissioners for the national accreditation body of the Continuing Care Accreditation Commission in Washington D.C. This commission provides leadership in assuring the integrity and credibility of continuing care for older Americans.

Foote and his wife, Becky, associate minister of the First United Methodist Church in Chelsea, are the parents of three grown daughters.

"My work with United Methodist Retirement Communities has been extremely rewarding, and I believe we have achieved major goals," Foote said.

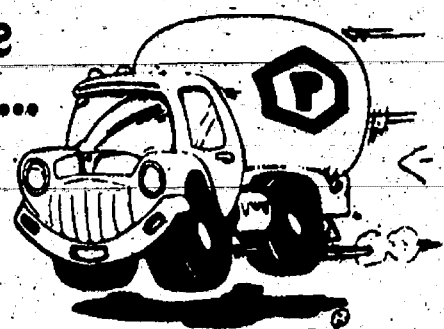

"This is a wonderful corporation blessed with a board and staff who recognize and respond to the needs of the elderly. The people I have met through my association with United Methodist Retirement Communities have become good friends and colleagues. I will miss them. Although Becky and I are saddened to leave, we welcome the opportunity to return to our Southern heritage and be closer to our families," Foote said.

Donald C. House, senior vice president of United Methodist Retirement Communities, Inc., will serve as interim president. House is the chief financial officer of United Methodist Retirement Communities and has worked for the organization for 20 years. A search committee has been established by the board.

Nominating petitions due for primary candidates due May 12

The deadline for partisan and nonpartisan candidates to file nominating petitions for the August primary is 4 p.m. on May 12, according to Peggy Haines, county clerk. Petitions to place local questions on the August primary ballot filed with the county and local clerks are also due by 4 p.m. on May 12.

Precinct delegate procedures were heavily modified under state law and require precinct delegates to file an affidavit of identity to gain ballot access.

Precinct delegates must file with the county clerk in the city or township of residence by 4 p.m. on May 12.

Anyone who wishes to seek a precinct delegate position with write-in votes must file a Declaration of Intent with the city or township clerk by 4 p.m. on July 31.

Such candidates may also file a Declaration of Intent with the appropriate precinct board of Aug. 4, anytime prior to the close of the polls.

The Washtenaw County Website at www.co.washtenaw.mi.us has a complete list of election dates.

The awards will be presented at a ceremony hosted by The Freedom Forum on Wednesday, May 13, at noon at The Freedom Forum World Center in Arlington, Va. Satterthwaite and his students will be flown to Washington, D.C., to accept their award by the Kennedy Memorial and Channel One. Satterthwaite's journalism program at Hudsonville High School will be awarded $1,000 and each student will be awarded an engraved bust of Robert Kennedy.

The Robert F. Kennedy Journalism Awards Ceremony is held in conjunction with the Robert F. Kennedy Book Awards Ceremony, and is hosted by The Freedom Forum, a non-partisan international organization dedicated to free press, free speech and free spirit for all people.

Satterthwaite, a 1985 Chelsea High School graduate, is the son of Ron and Jean Satterthwaite of Chelsea.

Greg Buchanan, described as a world-class harpist, is scheduled to play in Chelsea.

World-class harpist to perform at Methodist church May 13

Greg Buchanan, a world-class harpist, will perform in concert at the Chelsea Free Methodist Church on May 13, beginning at 7 p.m. in the church sanctuary. The church is located at 7665 Werkner Road in Chelsea.

Buchanan's aggressive style of playing redefines the listener's concept of performance on the harp. His superb musicianship combined with an enthusiastic attitude toward the Christian life make him one of the most sought-after Christian performers in America.

Buchanan enjoys the privilege of being the first harpist in the world to own and play an electronic grand harp developed and hand-crafted by Lyon and Healy of Chicago. This newly introduced instrument has technical capabilities that take Buchanan's music into realms of expression that were previously unattainable. The instrument is a Salzedo Art Deco design that was personalized according to Buchanan's specific needs. During concert performances, Buchanan also performs on a Celtic (Irish-folk) harp and a Kinnor (David's lyre).

The concert is free. Everyone is invited to attend. For further information, contact the church office at (734) 475-1391.

Under the supervision of former Chelsea resident Rod Satterthwaite, two Hudsonville High School students will receive the first annual Student Newspaper Award for an article they wrote entitled "Picking Apples and Learning English." This award is one of 13 R.F.K. Journalism Awards given to honor outstanding reporting on the problems of the disadvantaged.

Under the instruction of Satterthwaite, an English and journalism teacher at Hudsonville High School, senior Elise Erickson and junior Andrea Prisky reported for their school newspaper, The Vantage Point, on the conditions of a group of migrant workers who work in the apple orchards of Sparta. The story details obstacles such as governmental regulations, educational testing requirements, and the constant moving from place to place which these workers struggle with in an attempt to keep their culture alive in the face of so much unfamiliarity.

This is the first year the Robert F. Kennedy Journalism Awards Program has teamed up with Channel One Network to present the first annual Robert F. Kennedy Student Journalism Awards for middle, junior high and high school students. Judges for this year's awards included Helen Thomas of United Press International, Bob Herbert of The New York Times, and Jonathan Kaufman of The Wall Street Journal. Channel One Network is the leading provider of world news and educational programming to America's secondary schools.

"Robert F. Kennedy championed timeless principles — among them love of country, compassion, the conviction to challenge the status quo and the courage to fight for change," said Edwin Guthman, chair of the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial.

Chelsea Community Fair committee searches for Fair Queen candidates

The Chelsea Community Fair Queen Program has begun its search for Chelsea and Dexter girls interested in becoming the 1999 Fair Queen. Girls who live in the Dexter and Chelsea school district and who will be attending high school next fall are eligible.

Each contestant must be sponsored by a high school class, club, community organization or business. Sponsors must provide a float for the candidate and her court to ride on during the fair parade.

The fair queen will be chosen Aug. 28. Interested girls should call Jane Shrosbree at 475-1711. For further information. Deadline for entry is June 12.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY EXTENSION SERVICE

There's a lot more to growing grapes than planting some vines and waiting for the harvest.

"Long before you think of ordering plants, a whole host of decisions have to be made, starting with whether your intended planting site is suitable," says Tom Zabadal, Michigan State University professor of horticulture and the co-author of four new publications on growing grapes in Michigan.

Evaluating a planting site is one of the topics covered in Extension bulletin E-2644, "Vineyard Establishment I: Preplant Decisions." Winter minimum temperatures, growing season length and heat accumulation, cropping history and soil characteristics are some of the things a grower needs to consider when evaluating a site.

The publication also covers designing the vineyard, obtaining plants and calculating how many you need, and preparing the site.

E-2645, "Vineyard Establishment II: Planting and early Care of Vineyards," walks growers through the steps in preparing the soil. Marking the site for planting and planting and managing the new planting through the first three years, from controlling weeds and pests to fertilizing and pruning are covered. A detailed section on engineering a trellis system that will last draws on the experience of growers in several states.

E-2642, "Table Grape Varieties for Michigan," and E-2643, "Wine Grapes for Michigan," describe dozens of grape varieties and evaluates their potential for Michigan vineyards.

All four publications are fully illustrated with color photos, and line drawings, and provide useful tables such as those for calculating how many vines and trellis posts, or how much wire you need to establish your planting.

Through the publications are intended for commercial grape growers, backyard gardeners thinking of planting a few vines will also find the information useful.

To order these publications, contact your county MSU Extension office or the MSU Bulletin Office, 10-B Agriculture Hall, MSU, East Lansing, MI 48824-1039. Prices range from $2 to $5.

Question: I have had a problem with a fast pulse for about three months now. When I am sitting quietly it is as slow as 111, but at times it is 130. What can be done for this?

Answer: The heart is an amazing organ. It works constantly, starting before birth and continuing until the time of death. Your heart uses feedback from different areas of the body to help determine the rate of its beating. Especially important are the blood-pressure levels in the brain and kidneys and the amount of oxygen reaching the muscles.

Babies have a faster heart rate than do adults, and sedentary adults have a faster resting rate than do their athletic counterparts. A resting heart rate of 111 is not unusual for a baby, but it certainly is for an adult, even one who is sedentary. Most adults have a resting heart rate of 90 or less, and very physically fit adults may have one in the 50s.

Remember that the heart rate you use to compare with these norms should be taken after you have been resting for about 10 minutes and feel calm emotionally. This is because the heart rate increases both during exercise and when you are nervous.

There are several conditions that cause a fast resting heart rate, a situation we doctors describe as "tachycardia." Though we use this single word to describe all cases, tachycardia with an irregular rhythm can be caused by a potentially serious heart condition called atrial fibrillation. This usually develops because of heart disease. There are other conditions that cause an irregular rate, too. Some of them aren't a sign of serious heart problems, but some are.

Therefore, anyone with tachycardia and an irregular rate should see his or her physician for an electrocardiogram (EKG). This common test may identify the specific cause of the problem, but often additional tests are needed, too.

Tachycardia with a regular rhythm can, likewise, have several causes. It may develop as the consequence of the heart's natural pacemaker setting the cadence of contractions higher than is necessary for the level of physical exertion. This can occur as a consequence of an overactive thyroid gland, other hormonal abnormalities, heart disease, or for no specific identifiable reason at all.

I have seen a number of patients who had tachycardia from a side effect of medicine they took. The decongestants found in cough, cold and sinus remedies are the most common drugs that do this, but certainly there are many others.

Now, to answer your question about what can be done to help your tachycardia. The treatment depends upon the cause, so you will need to see your doctor for a treatment designed specifically for you. If your family doctor can't help, then try a cardiologist.

Local residents receive honors

Several local students have been recognized by colleges and universities.

Christopher Gayer, Jr., a graduate of Dexter High School, is among 19 Alma College students who have been selected for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, a national leadership honor society. To qualify, students must be juniors or seniors in the top third of their class and participate in a wide variety of campus activities.

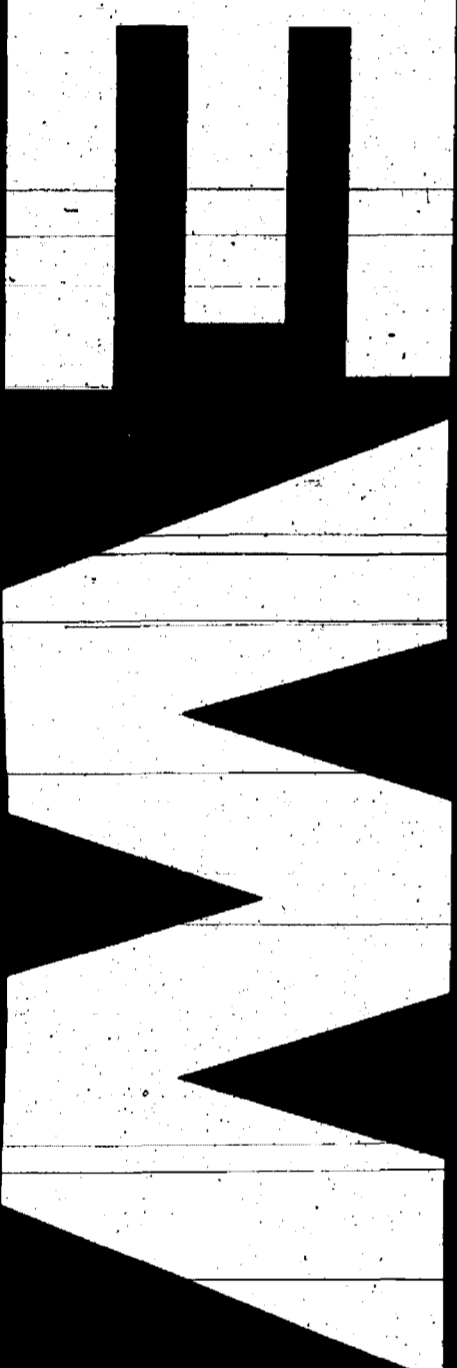

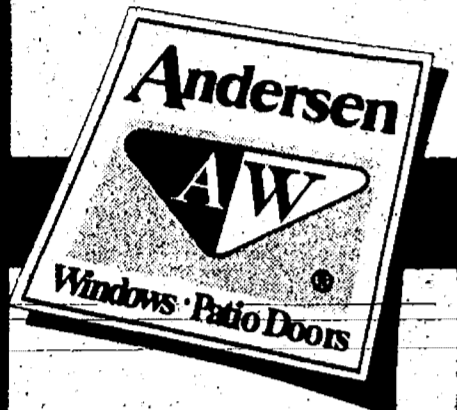

Shannon Stahlin of Dexter has been named to the dean's list for the winter quarter at Baldwin-Wallace College.

Julie Grannis, Jennifer Nowaczek and Sharon Bihlmeyer are among over 300 degree candidates at Alma College. Both Grannis and Nowaczek are Dexter High School graduates. Bihlmeyer is a graduate of Manchester High School.

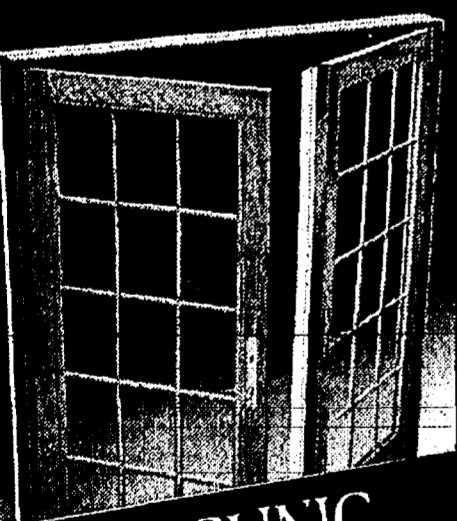

Richard Nesbitt, Derek Johnson, Sara Kingsley, Christopher Low, Mark Reichardt and Carolyn Shedlock, all of Dexter, achieved placement on the winter quarter dean's list at Michigan Technological University by earning a grade point average of 3.5 or higher. Johnson posted a straight "A" average.

Bill McCullough, a Dexter High School graduate, made the dean's list at Northwestern College in Lima, Ohio.

Shiloh Avery of Dexter was named to the dean's list for the fall 1997 semester at Western Kentucky University.

DENTAL PROBLEMS OF TEENAGERS

If you have a teenager at home, among your other concerns you probably want to do whatever you can to protect his permanent teeth. The teenage years can be critical in protecting his permanent teeth. By the time a child reaches the age of thirteen he probably has all of his permanent teeth except his third molars or wisdom teeth. But he may also be more prone to tooth decay and the damage it can do to his teeth through neglect and poor dental health habits. Accidental injuries are common in the teenage years, and often a broken or chipped tooth may be ignored. Injuries may also cause his teeth to be pushed out of alignment, causing malocclusion and other problems.

The teenage years are the growing up years, a period in which the child is learning to think for himself and to assume responsibility. This responsibility should include concern for his dental health. Regular checkups and treatment when he needs it will help prevent serious and expensive problems from developing later.

Chelsea resident Kevin Bloomensaat receives appointment to Air Force Academy in Colo.

Kevin Bloomensaat, the son of Keith and Laura Bloomensaat, received an appointment to attend the United States Air Force Academy on a full four-year scholarship.

Bloomensaat will enter the academy, located just outside Colorado Springs, Colo., this summer. He will begin a six-week basic cadet training program prior to the start of academics.

While a student at Chelsea High School, he participated in both football and wrestling. In addition, he is a member of the National Honor Society, and has taken advanced placement courses, has high math and science college admission test scores, and has maintained a 3.44 grade-point average, which enabled him to graduate in the top 27 percent of his class.

Competing against more than 12,000 of the nation's best high school students, he is one of nearly 1,200 selectees to the Academy's Class of 2002.

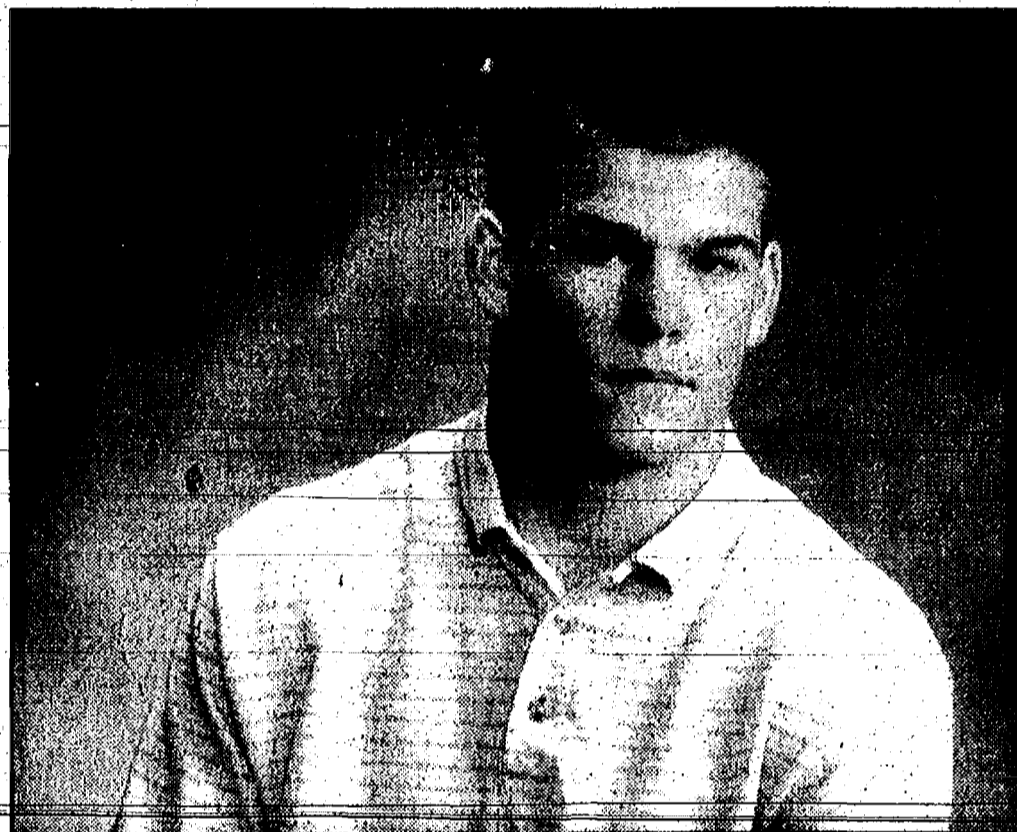

The Air Force Academy educates, trains, motivates, and prepares young men and women for leadership roles as U.S. Air Force officers. Graduates earn a bachelor of science degree in one or more of 32 academic majors. Upon graduation Bloomensaat will be commissioned as a second lieutenant of the Air Force, with the opportunity to continue on to pilot training.

Chamber of Commerce to hold 12th annual golf outing

The Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce will hold its 12th annual golf outing, the organization's biggest fund-raiser of the year, on Tuesday, June 9, at Pierce Lake Golf Course.

This year's outing is co-sponsored by The Chelsea Standard and Ann Arbor News, and features 18 holes of golf with a four-person scramble format, a continental breakfast, lunch provided by The Inverness Inn, and a steak dinner prepared by the Wolverine Food & Spirits.

An awards program during dinner will recognize the teams with the top scores, closest to pin and longest drive, as well as the team that had the most fun (highest score). Winners of the putting contest will also be recognized. There also will be a skins competition for the first time this year and several hole-in-1 prizes including a new Dodge from Village Motors.

Hole sponsorships are available for $125 per hole and are going fast. Each participant will also receive a complimentary thank-you bag at check-in and after dinner there will be drawing for dozens of door prizes donated by area merchants and businesses. Those who are not golfers but wish to attend may purchase dinner tickets for $25.

Registration is from 8 a.m. to 8:45 a.m. with a shotgun start at 9 a.m. Reservations can be made by calling committee chair John Daniels at 475-9126 (Chelsea Lumber) or Sue Starkey at the Chamber at 475-1145. Checks can be sent to the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, 114 N. Main, suite 5, Chelsea, MI, 48118. Space is limited on a first-come, first-pay basis.

Dexter maintains NCA accreditation

Dexter High School Principal Dr. Dave Messner has announced that the school's accreditation by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools (NCA) has been extended through the 1997-98 school year.

Action was taken at the NCA's annual meeting in Chicago, Ill., March 31.

The NCA works with schools to improve the quality of education through a continuous process of accreditation and evaluation. Continued accreditation for Dexter means that the conditions for effective education exist in the school.

The North Central Association is the largest of the country's regional accrediting agencies. It is a voluntary coalition of over 8,400 schools and over 1,000 colleges and universities in the 19-state region of the central United States. NCA currently accredits 1,224 schools in Michigan.

Your Money Matters

by David Adams

With spring here, many consumers will be in the new car buying mood. In order to avoid the pitfalls of buying a new car, you merely need some knowledge of the business.

To protect yourself, you need some information as to the tactics of the average automobile dealership.

Following are some practical ideas I found on the Internet to assist you in your new car purchase.

What to do before you go to the dealership

First, and most important, figure out if you can afford a new car. The total of all your debt shouldn't be more than 40 percent of your monthly take-home pay. Shop for financing first. A credit union tends to lend more money than a bank and generally offers more favorable rates. Credit unions also have arrangements with local dealerships, offering member-only sales.

Decide exactly what you want this car to do for you. How many people will you be carrying? What options do you want in order to be comfortable? So often, consumers end up settling for less simply because they are caught up in the excitement of buying a new car. Know exactly what you want before you set foot into the dealership and stick to it.

Research which dealership to buy from. Make sure that you find one close to you; if you ever need service, it will be much easier to establish a relationship with the service manager if the location is convenient.

Know the car you want to buy before you go shopping. The Internet is an excellent way to find information. There are numerous sites specifically for supplying consumers with information on the make and model of the car you want to buy. Most sites include information such as dealer price, equipment listings, specifications, safety features, and warranty details.

Find out how much insurance is going to cost for the new vehicle. If you find that you can afford the car, but the insurance is out of your budget, you obviously shouldn't be looking to buy this car.

Try to determine the actual value of your trade-in. You can use market guide books for an estimate, but they are merely that. To get a real idea of what your trade-in is worth, visit various used car lots and get a bid on the car.

When to Visit the Dealership
Automobile dealers usually pay their sales staff a commission based on the amount of gross profit the salesperson develops from the sale of the vehicle. In addition to commission, there are usually monthly volume bonuses that are paid when a certain number of cars are sold. By the end of the month, the sales staff is eager to reach the goal in order to collect substantial bonuses that are offered. Late in the month is the time to make your grand entry into the dealership to negotiate a fair deal.

What to Do When You Arrive at the Dealership

Take the vehicle for a test drive to see if it lives up to your expectations. Don't give the dealership your driver's license or Social Security card. This is an easy way for them to run a credit check while you're out driving around.

Instead, Jeff Ostroff in his book "How to Buy A New Car," suggests that you make copies of your license and write on it that the dealership is not allowed to run a credit check until you have approved it in writing. Make sure to get the copy back before you leave.

Ask the dealership if there are any unadvertised incentives that they are sharing with customers. You can also research this on the Internet before you make the trip; many Web sites list the rebates and incentives that are currently offered for specific cars.

If you are asked to make an offer, refuse until they commit first to a best price. Then, you may counter-offer with a figure substantially below your best price. Work from there to the maximum you have set for yourself.

When you give them the keys to your trade-in, tell them that you want the keys back when they are finished with their appraisal. When they return, do not continue to negotiate until you get the keys back. This way, should you decide to get up and leave, you don't have to wait while the salesperson stalls you just to get your keys back.

Do not give any money to show good faith. You can show good faith when they reach a price you can live with. Good-faith money is another way to intimidate you and keep you from jumping and running before they have reached their best price.

Never buy the first time you go into the dealership. Once you've signed a contract, you're stuck. It's always a good rule to "sleep on it" at least one night.

How to Handle Your Trade-In

Your trade-in will usually cause the most haggling during your new car purchase. Some dealerships' policy is to appraise your vehicle and then keep the keys locked in the sales manager's office. Again, this is an intimidating trick to keep you from leaving when you want to. Simply tell the salesperson that the negotiating is over until you get your keys back.

Keep in mind that during this transaction, you are also a salesperson. Call it a trade-in, but you are selling a vehicle while trying to buy another. Clean your car spotless. Be assured that the appraiser will go through the glove box looking for any personal financial information. Keep brochures from other dealerships in there, letting them know that you've been shopping around. Put any maintenance receipts for tune-ups and oil changes in the glove box. They will impress the appraiser and they will be found.

Keep the price of the new vehicle and the price you want for your trade-in separate. Don't allow one dollar amount to depend on the other; most often if you don't get what you want for your trade-in, the new car salesperson isn't going to lower the price on the new car to make up the difference.

Financing Your New Car
Some dealership finance companies offer low rate specials like 1.9 percent. However, look at the terms involved. Most likely you'll have to pay 40 percent down, and finance for only 24 months.

Do not give the dealership a credit application until you know for sure that you are going to finance through them. Make sure that you have exhausted all other sources including your local credit union—a little extra-time shopping may save you a lot of money. If you do apply through the dealership, and then try to go somewhere else for your loan, you may find that you have a number of inquiries on your credit report. This makes it look like you weren't approved for other loans and each lender thinks the others know something bad about you.

If you finance at the dealership, never take delivery the same day. Pick up the car only once you know that the financing is absolutely final.

Always check their numbers carefully and don't sign until you are positive that they are correct. Remember, once you've signed, you rarely can get out of the deal.

Taking Delivery of Your New Car

Walk around the vehicle before going to sign the papers. Check for nicks, dents and scratches that will forever be yours unless you point them out now. Check to make sure that all the features work such as inside and outside lights. Ask to meet the service manager and ask him about recommendations for service and maintenance. Check to see if all recall procedures have been performed on your car.

Make sure that extra options haven't been added to the car. Be assured that you will pay for these. They are not freebies, even if you didn't ask for them. Also check that the options you did want are present and written in the contract.

When reviewing the paperwork, make sure that vehicle extension such as LX, ES or GT are written next to the car model. You want to make sure you're paying for the right car, not a cheaper model.

Make sure to carefully read the contract, checking for any blank spaces. If there are blank spaces, have them filled in with the number zero.

Don't sign anything until you are sure you understand everything that is written. Most likely, this will be the last time you can question anything and still be able to change it.

Now that you've taken all these tips into consideration, car buying can be a fun and exciting experience. Buckle up and enjoy your new car.

Local man sponsors Vietnam memorial for state capitol

Edwin Brown of Chelsea recently became a founding sponsor of the Michigan Vietnam Monument. Brown participated in the campaign to raise funds to build the monument in Lansing on the State Capitol grounds.

The Vietnam Monument is well on its way to reaching its fundraising goal of $2.3 million. The names of all founding sponsors will be listed in the Founding Sponsor Registry, which will be maintained at the Michigan Department of Military and Veterans Affairs in Lansing.

The Vietnam Monument will be the first project to be located in the proposed Michigan All Veterans Park to be located directly behind the State Capitol and in line with the Michigan Historical Library and Museum. The monument will radiate strength, dignity and tension, characteristics of the era and the veterans who served.

The design integrates a 109-foot-long, eight-foot-high arc of steel raised three feet above the ground supported at each end by concrete piers. The names of the 2,649 people who died from Michigan in the Vietnam War will be inscribed on panels fastened to the arc. The back of the panels will reflect other era-related events and issues.

RE/MAX balloon to come to Pierce school

Weather permitting, a 50-foot tall RE/MAX hot air balloon will make an appearance at 8:30 a.m. on May 5 at Pierce Lake Elementary School, courtesy of RE/MAX Community Associates of Chelsea.

The balloonmeister will tether the balloon on the playground for the entire school. If the weather does not allow a tether, a "huff and puff" cold air inflation will be given. The children will then assemble for a balloon history presentation.

"We enjoy providing the RE/MAX balloon at community events and for our school children," said Marcia Kipfiller, broker and owners of RE/MAX Community Associates of Chelsea.

"Kids love seeing a hot air balloon, and we're pleased to be part of the educational process. Did you know that the first balloon ride took place in France in 1783, but the development of modern hot air ballooning is actually a little more than 40 years old."

During the assembly, the company will present the school library with a copy of The Great Balloon Festival, an elaborate, colorful book with 208 pages celebrating the sport of hot air ballooning.

always expect a train

A lot of people don't. Some of them fail to yield at highway-rail crossings. Others ignore the flashing lights or gates. Still others trespass on train property. And last year alone, 3,500 people were killed or maimed for life because they just didn't expect a train.

Fairgrounds to hold community garage sale

Chelsea Fairgrounds will hold a communitywide garage sale beginning at 8 a.m. June 20 at the fairgrounds. Space in the fairgrounds' covered barns will be made available to sellers.

Sellers can rent space for $1 for every 1-foot-by-10-foot plot they occupy. All selling plots will be 10 feet deep. A 10-by-10 space, for example, will cost $10. Sellers will also be required to pay a $25 deposit, which will be returned after the area is cleaned up.

Fair Board President Ken McCalla said community members requested the garage sale because they lived too far away from the village to get visitors. McCalla said township officials also thought it would be a good idea to limit traffic on Old US-12 and other high-traffic streets.

Local firms friendly to environment

By Eric Bowen
Staff Writer

Two local businesses were named honorable mentions in the Washtenaw County Environmental Issues Group 1998 Environmental Excellence Awards recently. Ann Arbor Machine in Chelsea received the award in pollution prevention, and Industrial Tectonics Inc. in Dexter won for Water Quality Protection.

The awards were presented to the businesses at the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners meeting April 15. The awards recognize businesses that have environmentally sound practices to protect water quality, reduce waste, increase recycling and prevent pollution.

Ann Arbor Machine, which makes industrial machinery, was lauded for making improvements in environmental protection including building containment systems and putting in place an aggressive plan for environmental protection. Al Oesterle, plant engineer for Ann Arbor Machine, said his company has made an effort to keep the area around the manufacturing plant clean.

The company has built containment drains and pads so any spills or other problems will not leak into the water or land outside. Ann Arbor Machine has also implemented plans for recycling of oils and coolants used in its machinery, as well as recycling paper, plastics and cardboard. The manufacturing company also has tried to limit salt in the parking lots and use less environmentally damaging materials.

"Since we've been over here in Chelsea, we've been more involved environmentally," Oesterle said. Industrial Tectonics Inc., which makes ball bearings, received the award for implementing a storm water management system and for its recycling program. Jeff Comstock, engineering manager for Industrial Tectonics, said the company participated in a voluntary program with the county to protect the Huron River Watershed.

"We didn't apply for the award," Comstock said. "One of the initiatives the county takes is to have a program to protect the watershed."

As part of the program, Comstock led a team of people to assess the possible impacts to the environment at his facility. He said they followed a set of guidelines given them by the Watershed Council and applied it specifically to the plant.

Comstock's team took a look at whether they could eliminate oil-based products and use less fertilizer on the grounds. Industrial Tectonics' plan calls for examining whether the company can use water-based lubricants instead of oil for machine parts.

Comstock also put in place a system to reduce the amount of potentially hazardous materials on site on any given time. Instead of ordering 10 drums of oil at a time, Industrial Tectonics now only has two drums of oil on site so if a spill does happen, the impact won't be as great.

Industrial Tectonics has been forward-looking in assessing possible environmental impact at its plant, according to Comstock. His predecessors in the job have made sure to have detention ponds for drainage and have made changes so the entire building acts as a containment field for spills.

Prom organizers prepare for trip to 'Never-never land'

By Eric Bowen
Staff Writer

Flying high on a trail of pixie dust, Chelsea High juniors and seniors will be heading second to the right and straight on till morning Saturday as they make a journey to the Never-never land of this year's prom.

Students and parents have been working diligently to create miniature houses, ocean backdrops and a scale model of a pirate ship, of which even the boy who wouldn't grow up would be proud.

Junior Emily Taylor has been working on the prom decorations since day one of the school year. She watched countless hours of the movie "Hook," drew up plans and put the ideas into blue prints for construction.

Taylor also has been involved in the arrangements for the D.J., invitations and business sponsorships. She said she has enjoyed watching the class come together to put on prom and expects the dance to impress.

"I think it's going to be really cool," Taylor said. "It's great knowing I can take something from an idea, to on paper, to having it all come together."

Taylor's co-planner, Katie Parker, said the prom's theme was decided after a brainstorming session last school year. The vote came down to between Batman and Peter Pan, with the latter winning out because of an abundance of ideas for decorations.

Construction of the props has been going on for about a month, Parker said. She was a little worried when the process started, because more parents than students showed up to begin the necessary planning, not to mention painting and hammering, that comes with making the prom happen.

However, once the prom drew closer, Parker said the number of students and parents working grew to more than 200. She said the production has been exciting, if all consuming.

"The whole idea of going to a dance hasn't hit me yet," Parker said. "It's still construction right now. But once you get there and see everything that's been done, you appreciate it."

Despite their heavy workload, Parker and Taylor have found time to prepare for their own individual trips to prom.

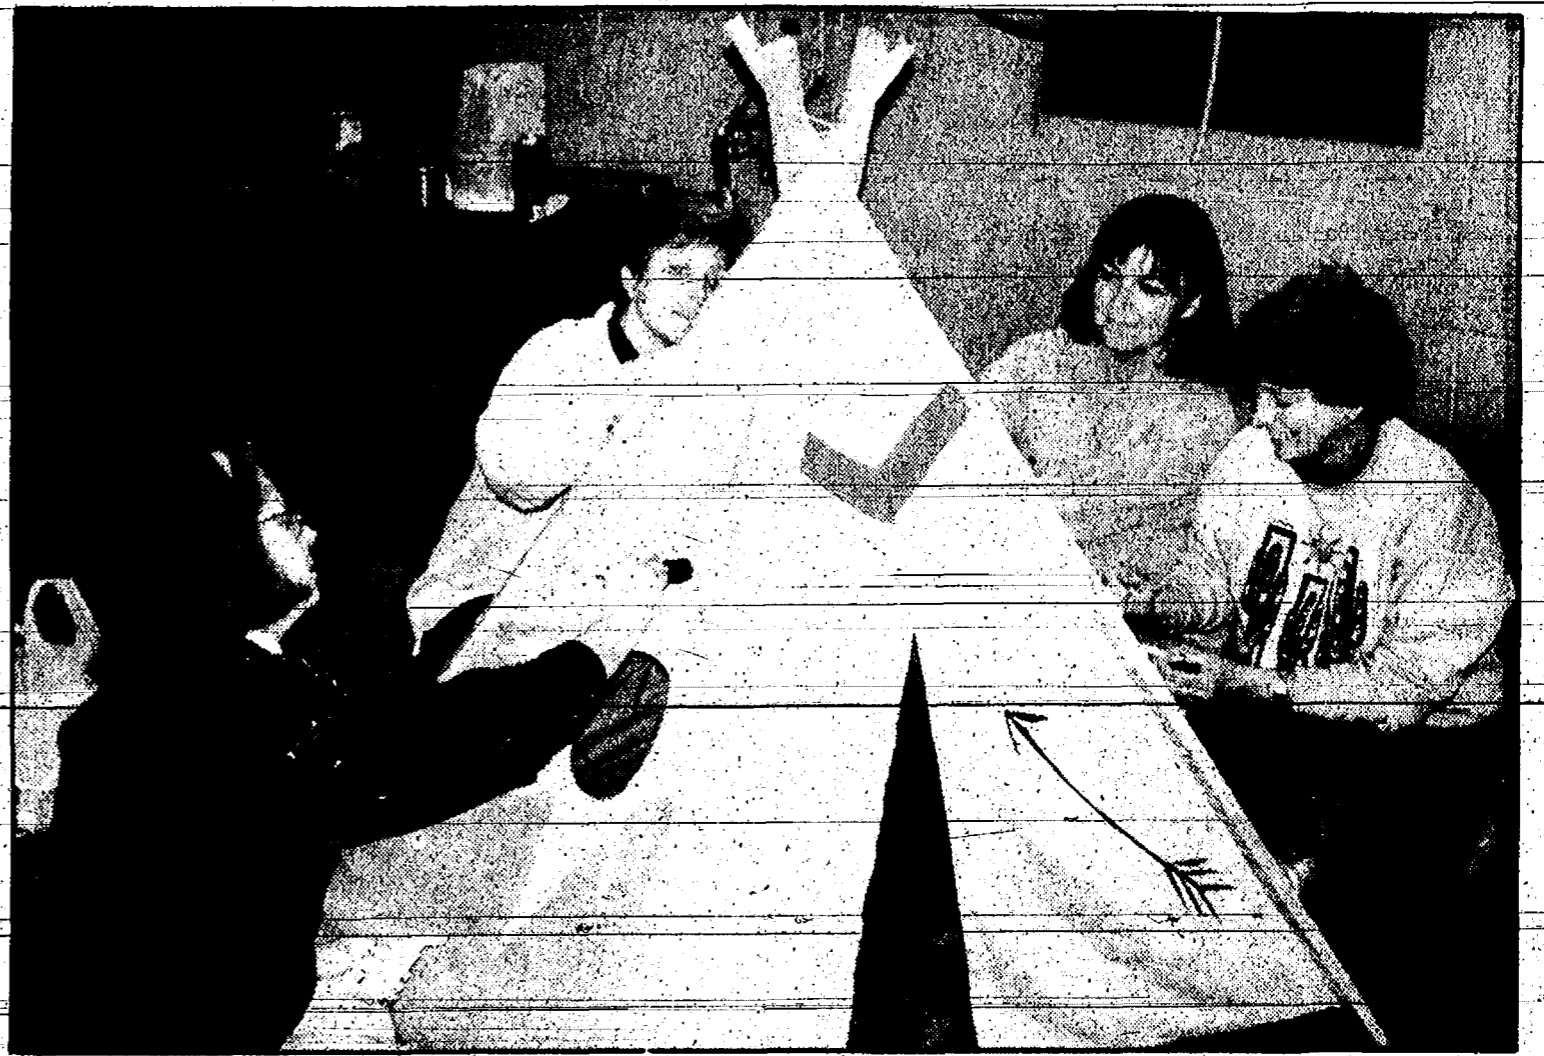

Parker said she and five other couples are renting a limousine to shuttle them to the ball. She said her date is making most of the pre-prom plans because she is so busy with the decorations.

Taylor said her before-prom festivities will be cut short to make room for finishing touches on the decorations. But she got her dress weeks before the dance, and lined up dinner reservations despite packed houses for the University of Michigan graduation ceremonies that same weekend.

Working so hard for the dance is important to Taylor, because she wants the seniors to receive a good send-off. She said she'll expect no less next year.

"Prom is something people remember," Taylor said. "Hopefully it will be a good memory in people's mind."

The primary beneficiaries of the prom planning, of course, are the seniors, who Numerous parents and teachers pitch in to help out with preparations for the prom, spending time and energy to support their children. Painting the teepee for the Lost Boys Village are Kathy Trudell, Karmel Bycraft, Lexa O'Brien and Debby Holeska.

Junior Emily Taylor (right) was among the masterminds behind the decorations for this year's prom, with the theme "Never-never land." She saw the project from start to finish brainstorming ideas and making blue prints. Pictured with Taylor is art teacher Kerry Kargel, who supported students throughout the process.

will get to waltz into the gym and just take in the scenery.

Though senior Jeff McConville didn't have a date to the prom as of two weeks before the dance, he wasn't worried. He said he would enjoy the dance whether he went alone or not, intending to dress in an old-style gangster suit with no tie and wingtip shoes.

McConville and senior Cory Dixon said they were looking forward to the after-prom parties as much as the dance itself. Dixon said it was likely there would be plenty of individual parties for those who don't want to attend the lock-in at Chelsea Lanes.

Both McConville and Dixon attend Chelsea's Alternative High School. McConville said he expects the dance to be somewhat of a homecoming, seeing his classmates he doesn't see often during the day.

"We don't walk around the halls and associate with other people," McConville said. "You see a lot of people you used to hang out with."

Stephanie McQuarrie, who like McConville and Dixon, is a senior at the alternative school, said her school-to-work schedule presents challenges with going to prom other students don't face. She said many of her workmates also are going to prom, so working out the schedule is difficult.

She also said she usually doesn't attend high school functions. The hype about prom doesn't reach them at the alternative high school.

but she's been getting ready anyway.

"My mom's excited, because I usually don't do things like this," McQuarrie said. "Last year our teacher was teaching us ballroom dancing so we wouldn't look stupid."

Senior Jessica Timm said this year's prom will be her third. Last year she went to Chelsea's and Dexter's prom.

Last year, Timm helped out with the decorations and was amazed with the final product. But this year she's just going to enjoy herself.

"It's senior prom, more of a sentimental prom," she said. "You get to see all of your friends in dresses out of a magazine. The guys are looking spiffy. It's going to be a blast."

Lets Go Bulldogs!

Kate Huehl and her Chelsea teammates were unbeaten last week, but a scoreless tie of Pinckney kept them from moving into first place in the SEC. The Bulldogs are 3-1-1 in conference play.

Fit to be tied

Chelsea kickers miss chance to jump into first

By Scott Held
Sports Editor

Chelsea's soccer team got through last week unbeaten but missed a chance to jump into a first-place tie atop the Southeastern Conference.

Last Friday, the team traveled to Pinckney, which had the same 2-1 SEC mark. Neither team would be able to earn a share of the league lead, however, as the teams played to a 2-2 tie.

Chelsea came flying out of the gate, and put immediate pressure on the Pinckney defense. Freshman Caitlin Biedron scored the first goal of her varsity career in the 15th minute off of a pass from Heidi BeGole. Eleven minutes later, Lara Gourlay scored her first goal of the year when she finished off forward Kim Touroo's shot that went just wide.

The Pirates came to life in the second half, however, as it scored twice in the first 11 minutes. Pinckney kept the pressure on for the remainder of the game, but Chelsea keeper Leslee Parker stood tall in the net to maintain the deadlock.

"We played outstandingly well in the first half. That was easily our best offensive pressure of the year," said Chelsea coach Chris Orlandi. "I'm not sure what happened to us in the second half."

"Our defensive marking was sloppy. Pinckney changed formations on us, and we never adjusted adequately... Pinckney turned up the heat, and we failed to respond."

The Bulldogs outshot the Pirates 18 to 13 on the evening as Parker saved eight Pinckney shots. The draw, coupled with a subsequent win, left Chelsea at 3-1-1 in the SEC.

Monday night, Chelsea traveled to Lincoln to make up a game that had been rained out in early April. The Bulldogs completely dominated play, but were only able to scratch out a 1-0 shutout.

Chelsea outshot the Railsplitters 15-1, and maintained possession of the ball for much of the contest deep in the Lincoln end.

Lara Gourlay scored the game's lone goal midway through the second half on an assist from Touroo.

"We just struggled to find good shots," Orlandi said. "Lincoln packed the box with six or seven defenders and gave us no room to operate in close."

"Defensively, the entire group played very well. We didn't have any breakdowns."

The Bulldogs started the week by handing Tecumseh a 2-0 loss April 22 as Parker picked up the shutout.

After a scoreless first half, Chelsea broke the tie on a goal from sophomore Kristie Barner in the first minute of the second half. Touroo assisted on the play as she passed to an unmarked Barner whose shot was deflected by the Tecumseh goalie.

"We played awful in the first half," Orlandi said. "I was glad to see us come out after the break and attack them."

The score remained 1-0 until the final minute of play. Chelsea had a throw-in deep in its own end and attempted to pass the ball back to Parker (three saves). A Tecumseh forward anticipated the throw, collided with Parker and was awarded a penalty shot. Parker dove to her left, and blocked Tecumseh's attempt to tie the game.

"Leslee is simply the best goalkeeper in the area," Orlandi added. "The throw-in back to her was a terrible decision on my part and I'm thankful that she bailed me out."

After the save, the Chelsea offense earned a penalty kick of its own. Kate Huehl took the shot and scored to complete the final score.

Chelsea (7-1-1 overall) went to Saline Tuesday and welcomes Huron this afternoon. Lincoln comes to town for an SEC battle Monday.

Baseball team shows moxie in comebacks

By Tim Russell
Special Writer

One thing is certain about the Chelsea baseball team — they're not quitters.

The Bulldogs spotted their opponents early leads three times last week and fought back in each game.

"We're tough. We don't quit. I know that," Chelsea coach Wayne Welton said. "We're not going to let them quit."

In the Rumpy Baseball Invitational on Saturday, Birmingham Groves beat Chelsea, 14-13.

Groves took a 13-4 lead but Chelsea scored eight runs in the fifth inning, sending 13 runners to the plate.

Drew Henson hit a home run and a two-run double in the inning. Scott Basar, Vince Scheffler and Dan Seaward also tallied run-scoring hits.

Groves scored an insurance run in the bottom of the fifth, taking a 14-12 lead.

Chelsea scored once in the seventh, putting the first three batters on base. But Groves retired the next three batters to end the game.

In the first game of the tournament, Chelsea beat Belleville, 10-8. The Bulldogs trailed 5-0 and 8-3 before taking the victory.

"There were a lot of runs scored," Welton said of the tournament. "Unfortunately, I didn't think we'd give up that many."

"We've been this way defensively for about a week to 10-day period now. You can't expect to score double digit runs every game. Even when we have, it might not be good enough to win."

Part of the problem is the pitching staff is tired. Hubbard beat Belleville to improve to 4-1 this year. Don Reilly fell to 3-2.

"Our staff is tired," Welton said. "The pitching isn't sharp. When that happens, the other team puts it in play more and hit the ball harder. It becomes tougher to field the ball."

Thursday, Ypsilanti Lincoln jumped all over Chelsea early before losing, 16-15.

Chelsea trailed 11-0. The Bulldogs scored seven runs in Chris Herter and company came back from large deficits three times last week.

Bedford upends Chelsea at tourney

By Scott Held

So far, so good.

Seventeen games into her first season, Chelsea softball coach Veronica O'Brien likes what she sees. The Bulldogs have run their record to 15-2 on the season and seem to be working, and learning, as well as can be hoped.

It took a good team to end the Bulldogs' 11-game win streak, too. Temperance Bedford did the honors last Saturday morning before going on to top Plymouth Canton, a team ranked in the Division 1 top 10, for the Chelsea Invitational title.

"That was a good team," O'Brien said of the Mules. "We didn't feel so bad after what they did to Canton."

McKenna Houle took a 3-1 loss in the opener as Bedford broke away in the late innings. Jenny Schick hit a solo home run in the third for Chelsea's only run while teammate Emily Arend added two hits.

The Bulldogs recovered nicely, however, to take their remaining two games Saturday. Holt was first to go, dropping a 9-6 decision as Jessica Ritter picked up the win.

Arend went 3-for-3 (all triples) to knock in four runs. Dana Meza (4-for-4) and Houle (3-for-3) were also perfect at the plate. Ingrid Biedron added a pair of hits.

The Bulldogs pushed their Southeastern Conference record to 5-1 April 23 as it took a pair of games from Lincoln. Chelsea outscored the Railsplitters 26-5 on the day to hold on to first place in the conference.

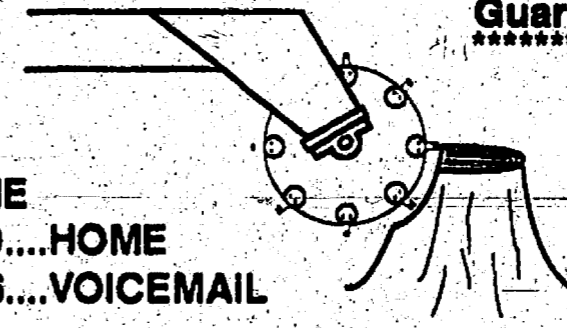

Houle threw a one-hitter in the opener, adding 12 strikeouts in an 8-1 win. Schick drove in two runs with a double and triple.

Ritter (seven strikeouts) came on in the nightcap and needed only five innings to hand Lincoln an 18-4 setback. Houle hit the first home run out of the school's new park to join Bycraft and Sarah Preuss with three RBIs each.

Girls' track second at invite

Dual-meet win, runner-up finish highlight week

By Scott Held
Sports Editor

Chelsea's girls' track team started last week the right way, upping its record to 2-1 in the Southeastern Conference by handing host Milan an 89-38 defeat April 21.

The meet was essentially over after the field events as the Bulldogs built an early 32-3 advantage by sweeping three of four events.

Karla Dettling got things started by taking the high jump with a season-best 4-foot, 8-inch effort. Emily Wineland was second.

Bekkah Burby followed with a personal-best 114.7 discus throw to lead teammates Cindy Richard (104-2) and Amy McCalla (95-4) in a sweep. Richard took the shot put (31-9) while McCalla and Burby completed the sweep. Freshmen Tabitha Gale and Sarah Horazdovsky were fourth and fifth, respectively.

Shanell McWhorter completed the field-event spree with a first in the long jump (13-6). Teammate Jill Drexler was third.

On the track, Chelsea added six wins. Richard picked up another first as she took the 100-meter hurdles in 17.1 seconds. Wineland was second. Jeannie Spink took the 1,600 in 5:42.7 while Karen Pieper was runner-up. Spink then added a first in the 3,200 (season-best 13:26.1) while Sarah Jedele took third.

Pieper got a win of her own, however, as she took the 800 (2:35.2) to finish ahead of teammate Megan Smith. Mora Arnold added the 400 to the win total as she took the race in 60.9.

Chelsea also got runner-up finishes from Arnold (100 dash), Katie Taylor (300 hurdles) and Angie Carpenter (200). Drexler, Jennifer Young and Erin Kenney scored third-place finishes.

Spink, Jedele, Smith and

Pieper teamed to win the 3,200 relay in 11:19.2 while Smith, Drexler, Taylor and Diane Richardson closed out the meet with a 4:43.9 win in the 1,600 relay.

The Bulldogs ended the week at the Mason Kiwanis Invitational last Friday, where they were a half-point better than the hosts to finish second. Okemos (148 points) easily won the meet while Chelsea (89) had to wait until the end of the day to edge Mason (88.5).

"We ran very well and found ourselves in a battle for second and pulled it out," said Chelsea Coach Bill Bainton. "We had 15 season- or career-best performances."

The finish was Chelsea's best at Mason since 1993, when the Bulldogs won the invitational.

Arnold led the way with three wins, the best being a meet- and school-record 26.0 run to first place in the 200. She also took first in the 100 (12.9) and 400 (59.9).

Spink took the 1,600 in a season-best 5:30.5, complimenting a fourth in the 3,200, for Chelsea's only other event win. Burby added a second in the discus before taking sixth in the shot. Richard came up with a third in the discus with a personal-best 110-2 fling and added a fifth in the shot.

Lindsey Brink came through with a personal-best 50.2 in the 300 hurdles while Pieper added a third in the 800. Wineland (fifth) and Richard (sixth) also scored in the 100 hurdles.

The 3,200 relay team (Spink, Jedele, Smith, Pieper) took fourth while the 400 (Drexler, Carpenter, Wineland, Young) and 1,600 (Pieper, Smith, Drexler and Taylor) teams came up with fifth-place finishes.

The Bulldogs went to Fowlerville Monday and head to the Corunna Relays Friday afternoon.

Chelsea's Emily Arend takes a hard hit but still makes the tag in Saturday afternoon's win over Holt.

Chelsea christened its new park two days before with a twin-bill sweep of visiting Fowlerville. Houle struck out eight in the opener to as the Bulldogs cruised to an 11-3 win.

Ritter led the offensive attack with two hits and three RBIs while Arend drove in a pair of runs.

The second game saw Ritter go six innings to pick up a 7-1 win, striking out six along the way. Houle came up with three hits while Schick added a pair of RBIs.

Field events, relays help upend Milan

By Scott Held
Sports Editor

Strong performances in the field events and relays made the difference for the Chelsea boys' track team last week as it handed Milan a 77-60 loss April 21.

Freshman Ben Smith got things started, clearing a personal-best 6 feet in the high jump.

Jon Herst led a Chelsea sweep of the discus with a 122-8 fling while teammate Alex Underwood took second in the shot put with a personal-best 46-4 heave.

Ben Stafford, Mark Taylor, Rourke Skelton, Sam Compton, Josh Powers and Rick Huntington also scored field-event points.

On the track, teammates Mike Holloway and Aaron Ruhlig were multiple winners. Holloway swept the sprints, taking the 100-, 200- and 400-meter runs while Ruhlig did the same in the distance races, capturing the 1,600 and 3,200.

Max Cherem and Nathan Ziegler each ran personal-bests in the distance races. Steve Erskine, May Kennedy, Skelton, Aaron Montero, Joe Mahoney, Matt Adams and Chad Forner also scored on the track.

Chelsea's sophomores and freshmen saw extensive action a few days before at the April 18 Southgate Anderson Relays. Three teams earned medals, led by Fortner, Montero, Cherem and Ziegler, who captures a second in the distance medley.

The shot put team (Alex Underwood, Matt Underwood, Jason Martinez) picked up a fourth-place medal while the High-jump team (Smith, Alan Bairley, Kyle Schertzing) added a fifth.

Freshmen push

Chelsea's freshman ran its record to 10-0 last week as it rolled past Riverview last Friday in a 10-0 laugher. A five-run first inning gave the Bulldogs all they needed as Brian Sayers struck out four Pirates for the win.

Chris Cooper came on to throw the final two innings and knocked in three runs with a home run. Tony Schefler had a double and two RBIs as Chelsea pounded out 10 hits to Riverview's two.

The 'Dogs improved to 6-0 in Southeastern Conference play April 21 with a twin-bill sweep of host Milan. Chris Brigham improved to 3-0 in the opener as he struck out six while allowing only three hits.

Cory Picklesimer (double) and Sayers (save) each had RBIs in the 6-3 win.

Picklesimer went to the hill in the nightcap, throwing four innings of three-hit ball to pick up a 5-4 win. Chelsea came from behind to win the game in the top of the fifth.

Greg Kennedy had a pair of hits in the closer while Mike Radka added an RBI.

The week started the day before as Chelsea rolled past Monroe Jefferson in a doubleheader. Cooper (13 strikeouts) went the distance in the opener as a seen-run sixth helped sink the Bears, 13-5.

Cooper (three hits), Picklesimer and Sayers each knocked in a pair of runs.

Kennedy threw five innings of one-hit ball in the closer as the Bulldogs won 6-2. He added an RBI while Sayers doubled twice.

Tennis wins first

By Tim Russell
Special Writer

In addition to winning its first dual meet of the season last week, the Chelsea boys' tennis team won two silver medals and a bronze at the Dexter Invitational on Saturday.

Bob Armstrong finished second at No. 4 singles, beating Hillsdale's Mark Ransford, 6-3, 6-1 in the semifinals. Armstrong lost to Dexter's Jared Utke, 6-0, 6-2.

At No. 1 doubles, Matt Hand and Ian Ballard finished third, beating Hillsdale, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4. Ryan Braidwood and Shawn Hayes beat Hillsdale at No. 2 singles, 6-1, 7-6 (5).

Thursday, Chelsea won its first dual meet of the season, beating Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard, 6-1.

At No. 1 singles, Ryan McDonald lost to Richard's Paul Van Slambrauer, 6-1, 6-2.

The Bulldogs won the rest of the matches. At No. 2 singles, Joe Arend beat Kenny Allen, 6-0, 6-0. Joe Spooner beat Kevin Murray, 6-1, 7-6 (10-8) at No. 3 singles and Bob Armstrong beat Kevin Benson, 6-3, 6-4, at No. 4.

In doubles, Ian Ballard and Matt Hand topped John Lynch and Ben Kim, 6-3, 6-4, at No. 1.

At No. 2, Shawn Hayes and Ryan Braidwood cruised past Jung Koral and Dave Campbell, 6-1, 6-1, and Mike Offenhacher and Eric Valchine also beat Campbell and Koral, 6-0, 6-4.

Eric Valchine and the Bulldogs won their first dual match last week.

JV squad takes two from Fowlerville, Lincoln

A pair of twin-bill sweeps put Chelsea's junior-varsity baseball team well above the .500 mark last week. Sweeps of Lincoln and Fowlerville left the Bulldogs at 8-3.

Chelsea closed out the week last Friday at Lincoln, where Ethan Rendell picked up a 7-6 win in the opener. He came on to relieve Ken Weiner before Todd Coryell threw the final 1½ innings to pick up the save.

Matt Richard had two hits and four RBIs, thanks in part to two doubles. Rendell added a pair of RBIs. A four-run first inning gave Chelsea a lead it would never lose.

Coryell went to the mound in the nightcap and went the distance for a 5-1 decision, striking out four along the way. A big first-inning, this time a three-run job, gave the Bulldogs an early lead.

Weiner, Coryell, Ryan Barwick and Rendell each had RBIs.

"We played just well enough to win," said coach Jim Ticknor, "which is a sign of a good team that can win a game even when they're not playing their best."

Fowlerville got swept three days before as Jeff Kolodica opened the series with a 6-5 win. His eight-strikeouts, and a three-run rally in the seventh, proved to be the difference.

Chelsea got a two-run single from Rendell (3-for-4) and an RBI double from Weiner (3-for-4, two RBIs) in the decisive inning.

The Bulldogs closed out the doubleheader with an 18-3 laugher. Jason Young went five innings as five-run first and third innings helped doom Fowlerville. Weiner (five RBIs, triple), Rendell (four RBIs) and Chad Schwartzberger all went 4-for-5.

The only losses of the week came the day before as Milan opened a twin-bill with a 10-5 win. Weiner went the distance, striking out six, to take the loss. Milan scored in every inning but the sixth.

Weiner (3-for-4) had an RBI triple while Luke Olinyk added a run-scoring double.

Milan completed the sweep in the closer as it built a 7-0 en route to a 7-3 win. Rendell took the loss as the Big Reds held the Bulldogs hitless until the sixth. Jason Young and Ryan Erskine (triple) drove in runs for Chelsea.

"We made too many mistakes today," Ticknor said. "We will get better."

The Bulldogs welcomed Pioneer Tuesday and head to Dexter today. Carleton Airport comes to town Friday.

JV sweeps pair

Chelsea's junior-varsity softball team went on a bit of a roller-coaster ride last week, sandwiching a doubleheader loss between a pair of sweeps. Milan and Lincoln were swept away while Fowlerville turned the tables in between.

The week started with a pair of lopsided wins over visiting Milan April 20. Jessica Inwood picked up a 16-3 win in the opener as Ashley Augustine and Deb Postiff each collected a pair of hits and triple.

Plenty of walks played a part in a wild, 23-12 nightcap win. Augustine, Postiff and Inwood (double, triple) each had two hits.

A day later, Fowlerville handed Inwood a tough 13-12 loss as the hosts scored twice in their final at-bat. Fowlerville completed the sweep in the nightcap with a 20-7 win as Betsy Ruhlig (three hits) and Amy Dault (two hits) paced the Chelsea offense.

Inwood recovered nicely, however, and returned with a 14-2 win over visiting Lincoln two days later. She struck out nine Raisplitters while Augustine (two hits) and Lindsey Baker (double, triple) backed her up at the plate.

Baker was on the hill in the closer to pick up a 21-7 win, striking out five. Lindsay Powers had three hits while Dault, Ruhlig, Augustine and Postiff had two each.

The team (7-6 overall) welcomed Pioneer Tuesday and heads to Dexter today.

Baseball back to RBI

"It was a pure ugly game," Welton said. "It was three hours, 10 minutes with 10 walks and nine errors."

"And I don't think (Lincoln coach) Howard (Schroeder) felt too good about it for Lincoln either, but maybe we're most of the Bulldogs' problems are defensive.

Chelsea has hit the ball extremely well. In 13 games, the Bulldogs have hit 18 home runs without surrendering one.

Diamond doings

Dorothy Herter (above) and Meghan Ritter have been the backbone of Dexter's pitching corps. The Dreadnaughts are currently 15-4 and 6-0 in the SEC.

Margaraet Schick (above) and her softball teammates look to move up in the SEC this afternoon when Dexter comes to town. The Dreadnaughts are a game ahead of the Bulldogs. Meanwhile, Jerry Milliken (top right) and company will look to handle the Dreadnaught baseball team the same day.

JV soccer runs into rough slide

Two losses and a tie marked a tough week for an injury-depleted junior-varsity team. Last Friday's scoreless tie of Pinckney kept the Bulldogs from wearing the collar.

The week started April 20 as the team fell 2-0 at Dexter. The evenly played game saw Dexter score in the last minute of the first half to take a 1-0 lead into half time.

Dexter scored again in the 52 minute for the only goal of the second half. Emily Taylor lead the Chelsea defense with four tackles.

Two days later, the Bulldogs hosted Tecumseh and dropped another 2-0 decision. Tecumseh controlled the first half with 10 shots but Chelsea keeper Tamara Smith turned away nine of them.

The second half was more evenly played as Chelsea held the Indians to four shots while getting off two of their own. The Indians scored their second goal in the 55th minute.

Kate Wheeler and Coreen Wildey led the Chelsea defense with four and three tackles respectively.

Last Friday, the team visited Pinckney and came away with a 0-0 tie. Pinckney out-shot Chelsea 6-4 in each half, but Smith continued her career shutout record against the Lady Pirates with 12 saves.

Annalyse Hofing had an outstanding game controlling the midfield for Chelsea.

"The team is short on healthy players right now due to illness and injury," said coach Jim Hicks. "We played with 12 players against Dexter and Pinckney and had no available substitutes against Tecumseh."

Golf team falls twice

Chelsea's golf team dropped a pair of dual matches last week, but several Bulldog players improved from one match to the next.

The week started with a 215-230 loss at Pinckney April 20. Jen Saarinen led the Bulldogs with a 50 while Meghan Williams (season-best 56), Kara Bunton (61) and Chloe Chamberlin (63) followed her in.

near took a 186-234 decision. Saarinen fired a 49 to lead Chelsea. Candice Hall (58), Williams (59) and Megan Morgan (68) rounded out the scoring for the Bulldogs.

Chelsea welcomed Tecumseh and Pinckney for a tri-match Monday and went to Brighton yesterday. The Bulldogs head to the Jackson County Western Invitational tomorrow.

Two days later, visiting Pio-

About the Outdoors

by Jerry D. Posey

Now that Mother Nature has cleared the ice, (what little we did have this year), from the lakes and puddles, the open water will begin to call to the hardy fisherman who doesn't mind a little cold weather and a stiff wind now and then.

This early part of the open-water fishing season can sometimes provide the best fishing one may find all year.

Once the small icebergs are gone and the spring sun starts to warm the water surface a bit, fishermen and women can once again put to use the fishing equipment that has been standing in the corner for the last several months. With a little luck they may even drag in enough fish for a good meal now and then.

Just as the early ice usually produces the best ice fishing, the early open water will often prove to be a good time to lose the late winter doldrums and take advantage of the voracious appetites the fish seem to have as soon as the water is clear.

Many smaller lakes and ponds that are ice-covered for any length of time will often become short on oxygen supply and the fish will naturally become sluggish. They will not seem to be interested in feeding, whether it may be on the natural food supply in the area or the tasty morsel on the end of the fisherman's line. Then, as the lake's surface once again becomes open, the oxygen content of the water will increase. The fish will become more active as it searches for something to eat and prepares to head into another summer of battling wits with the area's anglers.

The food supply in most areas is somewhat limited during the winter months while the lake is ice covered, so the fish will spend the long cold season slowly cruising the parts of the lake it is most familiar with, eating what little tidbits it can find. Then when things warm up a bit and the water is once again open ... look out.

When plying your casting skills on these cold waters, keep in mind that the fish, too, are still in a cold condition and will be a bit slower to react to the offerings you are making. Better results can often be obtained if the fisherman spends a little more time in an area, making a few extra casts before moving on to another spot.

When fishing through the ice, most fishermen find that the brighter colors work best. That is because the water below is darkened since the sun is filtered as it passes through the ice. But that filter is not there when the water is open.

The duller colors often work better after the ice is gone, since they more closely resemble the food supply provided by Mother Nature. Color of lure and type of bait to be used at this time of the year is the same as at any other time. Just keep trying different things until you find the one that works best, then go to work. Keep in mind that the fish have spent the past few months in water covered by a layer of ice and in a totally silent environment. The noise made by you and your fishing buddies, as you kick around in your aluminum fishing boat, must be kept to a minimum if you expect to take home enough to fill a small skillet at the end of the day. The fish seem to be affected more by outside noises early in the season and the last thing you want to do is scare them away once you find a decent spot.

Just as it is later in the summer, the early spring can be a good time to fish closer to the lake's shoreline, especially if there is a little dead cover left from the previous year. There won't be much new weed growth yet, but the feeders like to spend the early part of the day checking out the edges.

Panfish can be found in almost any part of a lake or pond but if it's perch you're after, concentrate on the areas nearer the lake's inlets or the shallow-necked down areas where the water often has a little more movement. The feeding perch can often be tempted to grab your offering of a small minnow as it hangs around these areas in search of the schools of minnows usually found there.

Once you catch a couple in this type of feeding zone, don't be too quick to move on to the next good spot. Places such as this are visited several times during the day by perch that seem to know the small groups of minnows come and go all day long. The hungry perch has the same goal the fisherman has. He's looking for a meal and so are you.

Fishing the cold waters of early spring sometimes requires warmer clothing and an extra Thermos of coffee, but it beats sitting inside and staring out of the window waiting for summer.

The Village of Chelsea water department will begin chlorinating the water supply starting on Monday, April 27th and lasting through September 1998. Those people sensitive to chlorine, and those with aquariums should take proper precautions.
Two weeks later, on Monday, May 11th, the Chelsea Water Department will start its semi annual hydrant flushing program. The flushing will take place between the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. to minimize brown water occurrences. It is expected that the hydrant flushing will last from two to three weeks. Residents are advised to check the color and condition of their water before doing laundry.

Michigan Streams and Lakes

LOST STREAM MAP FOUND AND RESTORED

The recently published STREAM MAP OF MICHIGAN is just like another map - known to Pennsylvania anglers as the "Lost Stream Map."

The "Stream Map of Pennsylvania" was completed in 1965 after a thirty-year effort by Howard Higbee, a former Penn State Professor.

Professor Higbee succeeded in creating a map of the highest detail possible... a map that shows every stream and lake. He painstakingly plotted by hand, the location of 45,000 miles of streams onto a 3 x 5 foot map.

The map sold extremely well - until it was lost several years later. Incredibly, the printer entrusted with the original drawing and printing plates, declared bankruptcy, then carelessly bailed Higbee's 30 years of work to the landfill.

The few remaining dog-eared copies became a prized fisherman's possession. Professor Higbee was offered $400 for one of his last maps. And state agencies were forced to keep their copies under lock and key.

The experts had always told Professor Higbee that reprints were impossible, because the maps were printed in non-photographic blue. Then, in 1991, at the age of 91, Howard Higbee's dream came true. Computers made it possible to reprint the map. "Holding an updated map," Howard said, "I never thought I'd live to see this day."

Then, by combining Professor Higbee's knowledge with computer technology - the STREAM MAP OF MICHIGAN was created.

CLASSIFIED CLASSIFIED CLASSIFIED CLASSIFIED works in many ways!

Stream MAP of Michigan

Why every fisherman needs this map

It is estimated that 10% of all the fishermen catch 90% of the fish. Regardless of which group you fall into... there's a sure way to up your odds... simply try new fishing waters. Fish where few fishermen ever fish.

Michigan is loaded with great fishing waters...many of them overlooked. From the AuSable River to all of the Great Lakes tributaries to the Pere Marquette River...thousands of miles of streams, lakes and rivers are now easy-to-locate on one map.

Professor Higbee's Stream Map of Michigan is the first and only highly detailed map of its kind. This new 4 foot by 4 foot color map shows virtually all of the 35,000 miles of Michigan streams & lakes on both peninsulas. That's almost two times the earth's circumference!

RAVE REVIEWS

"It is amazingly detailed and names some creeks in the Mahawk Valley that can't even be found on topographic maps."

John Pitaras OBSERVER-DISPATCH-Utica

"If you're looking for the most definitive maps ever created depicting every single creek, river, stream, pond and lake...then Professor Higbee's Stream Maps are without question the finest."

Howard Grant THE NEWARK STAR-LEDGER

"It is in showing where to find out-of-the-way trout streams that makes the map such a treasure to the fisherman."

Joe Gordon TRIBUNE-DEMOCRAT-Johnstown

FREE LOCATION GUIDEBOOK INCLUDED

Pinpoint the best fishing in Michigan with this valuable 40-page guide. Easily locate over 5,000 streams and lakes shown on the "Stream Map." Your map and guidebook will take you to the top 443 fishing waters - select waters for 14 species of gamefish!

CROSS ROADS

By Terry Hart, Amy Foundation

What do Cal Thomas, Bill Mattox, Columbia University and this newspaper have in common? They are part of a growing pool of writers, newspapers and academic institutions dedicated to the publication of religiously oriented news and features. Print media publishers are waking up to the fact that articles dealing with faith and spirituality are important to mainstream Americans and can be good for the bottom line. God is making a comeback in American journalism.

Cal Thomas is a great example. He is an outspoken, committed Christian and one of America's most read columnists. His columns — published in hundreds of newspapers across the country — regularly feature a biblical perspective and often quote directly from the Bible.

Bill Mattox is another. He is a dedicated Christian and former Family Research Council vice president for policy, and now a feature writer for the nation's largest daily newspaper, USA Today. His specialty is good news stories that often present biblical solutions for everyday problems Americans face.

Notably, Mr. Mattox was the first prize winner of the Amy Foundation's 1994 Amy Writing Awards (AWA), another leading indicator of print media's change. Acclaimed as the most "popular journalism contest in America," the AWA receives over 1,000 articles annually from publications such as The Wall Street Journal, The Washington Post, and U.S. News and World Report. The requirements for qualified entries include quoting the Bible and being published in a non-religious publication.

Now, Columbia University and the Scripps Howard Foundation have teamed up to offer a program that helps prepare journalism students to cover religious news.

The program, entitled "The Scripps Program in Religion, Journalism, and the Spiritual Life," is being offered this fall at the university's New York City campus. Its goals are impressive:

- To educate a new corps of professional journalists to cover religious subjects;

- To increase the stature among news organizations of religion as an important "news beat" and to improve the accuracy of reporting on religious and spiritual issues; and

• To bring together religious news writers and representatives of different religious traditions.

This development is exciting because it represents an acknowledgment by academia that religion plays a dominant role in American culture and should be covered by the news media. Right on, Columbia!

Then there is the Amy Foundation's Cross Roads column. Begun in earnest by Lansing's Don Lineman and far from a "religious" column, the syndicate's objective is to present the biblical position on contemporary issues in a focused effort to help people apply truth to their lives. The column is currently featured in several Michigan newspapers and is growing fast.

God is reappearing in America's newspapers — not just in the Sunday religion section, but on every page. Why? Because God is at the heart of America. Because America is a deeply religious nation. Because publishers recognize that religion is important to the people who read their papers.

Knowingly or unknowingly, they are contributing to a spiritual awakening.

AREA DEATHS

PAUL F. KOCH
Chelsea

Age 77, died April 22, 1998, at Chelsea Community Hospital. He was born July 6, 1920, in Lima Township, the son of Frederick and Lena K. (Egeler) Koch. Paul was a lifelong resident of Chelsea and retired from Federal Screw Works in 1970. He was a veteran of World War II, serving in the U.S. Army, and was a member of the Herbert J. McKune Post 31 of the American Legion. Paul was a very caring person and was dedicated to his family. From 1962-1972 he owned and operated Koch Trout Ponds south of Chelsea. His love of ice fishing in the Waterloo Recreation Area was well known.

He was married to Bernadine E. Wheeler on April 30, 1955, and she preceded him in death on Oct. 7, 1990. Surviving are his two daughters, Elaine Koch of Manchester, and Lois (Dan-Skip) Foytik of Pinckney; and two grandchildren, Sophie and Joseph Paul Foytik. He was preceded in death by a brother, Donald Koch.

The funeral mass was held Saturday, April 25, at 11 a.m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church, with the Rev. Fr. Philip Dupuis officiating. The family received friends Thursday, April 23, from 7-9 p.m. and Friday, April 24, from 1-9 p.m. at the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, where the Vigil was held Friday at 7:30 p.m. Burial was in Mount Olivet Cemetery, Chelsea. Expressions of sympathy may be made to Stone-Kettering Hospital, New York for Myelodeys' Plastic Syndrome Research.

RENEE L. STANKEVICH

Age 89 died at her home on April 22, 1998. She was born on Dec. 3, 1908, in Montfauet, France, the daughter of Pierre and Renee L. (Gros) Lautier. She had lived in Chelsea for the past 10 years, moving from Canton. Renee was a telegraph operator in France during World War II. In her later years she was the head chef at Stoffers Restaurant in Northland. Favorite pastimes were making cream puffs for the grandchildren.

On Aug. 8, 1946, she married Vincent E. Stankevich and he preceded her in death on Feb. 8, 1988. Surviving are a son, Edward, and his wife, Deborah Stankevich of Chelsea; and two grandchildren. She was also preceded in death by three brothers.

In accordance with her wishes, her body was donated to the University of Michigan. Expressions of sympathy can be made to the Chelsea Meals on Wheels. Arrangements by Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home.

MARTIN JOSEPH NICH (Nyies)

Age 85, died Monday afternoon April 27, 1998, at Whitehall Health Care in Ann Arbor. He was born Oct. 20, 1912, in Newberry, Mich., the son of Martin and Mary (Miller) Nyies. Mr. Nich had been a resident of Chelsea since 1924. He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church, the Knights of Columbus and farmed for many years in the Waterloo area.

He was married to Mary Bialik on Feb. 10, 1945, and she preceded him in death on April 2, 1996. Surviving are his children, David D. Nyies of Chelsea, Mary E. Nyies of Ann Arbor, Ann M. Nyies of Ida, and Joseph M. Nyies of Jackson; and three granddaughters, Jacquelyn R. Nyies, Jeannine M. Nyies and Jeanna M. Nyies. He was preceded in death by an infant son, and a sister, Mary.

The funeral mass will be held Friday, May 1, at 11 a.m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church, with the Rev. Fr. Philip Dupuis officiating. The family will receive friends Thursday, April 30, from 7-9 p.m. at the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, where the Vigil and Rosary will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, Chelsea.

WESLEY G. "STUB" BROWN
Dexter

Age 71, died Sunday, April 26, 1998, at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. He was born on Nov. 15, 1926, in Canton, the son of George W. and Alma L. (Doletzky) Brown. Stub lived in the Dexter area most of his life. He was a member of Faith Lutheran Church, and American Legion Post #557, and retired from Sweepster Inc. in 1988.

He married Jenny Hafner at Faith Lutheran Church in Dexter on July 1, 1950, and she survives. Other survivors include one son, Michael J. Brown, and one daughter, Peggy J. Brown, both of Dexter; two brothers, David (Jan) Brown of California and Kenneth (Helen) Brown of Grass Lake; one sister-in-law, Ruby Brown; an uncle, Earl Doletzky; an aunt, Arlene Crocker; and several nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by one sister, Louise Brown, and two brothers, Frank and James.

Funeral service was held Wednesday, April 29, at 11 a.m. at the Cole Funeral Chapel, Chelsea, with the Rev. Mark Porinsky officiating. Burial followed at Oak Grove East Cemetery, Chelsea. The family received friends Monday 7-9 p.m. and Tuesday 12-4 and 6-9 p.m. Memorial contributions may be made to Faith Lutheran Church.
