Library decides on operating millage

By Brian Hamilton
 Editor

The Chelsea District Library will ask voters this fall to approve an operating levy of 1.75 mills.

The library board authorized the request at a meeting Monday, June 14.

Also on the ballot will be a request to fund a $6.29 million building project. Library Director Metta Lansdale said she anticipates that less than a mill would be needed over 20 years to fund the expansion. This assumes the library stays in its current location downtown.

The current operating millage is 1.75 mills but that is only levied against property within the Chelsea village limits. The new millage would, with a few exceptions, cover property within the Chelsea School District, Lansdale said.

The exceptions include property within the school district in Waterloo, Sharon and Freedom townships.

The region served by the Chelsea District Library includes all of the village of Chelsea and Lyndon and Sylvan Townships.

Portions of Dexter Township and Lima Township that are served by the Chelsea School District are also part of the library district.

The expanded library will house a book collection twice its current size, a story-telling room within the children's area, a meeting room, small-group study rooms, a young-adult nook, plenty of comfortable seating, a computer laboratory, a local history room and area for display of local historical artifacts and the work of local artists, Lansdale said.

Services will include Sunday hours and extended evening hours, training on electronic access to information and use of the Internet, author visits, lectures and demonstrations for adults, book clubs and full information services for a two-story library building, Lansdale said.

She said the library will begin a docent program for computer assistance to adults and children.

"This will be a library to serve all segments of the community all year," Lansdale said.

Apartments planned for west side

By Michael Rybka
 Staff Writer

Rene Papo of Chelsea Land Co. successfully petitioned the Chelsea Planning Commission to recommend the rezoning of 27.56 acres of vacant land north of Old US-12 and west of Wilkinson Street to develop a 190-unit, single-family apartment complex.

The borders of the proposed development extend north to the Consumer's Power substation and west to the Chelsea Retirement Community.

The rezoning involves the combining of seven parcels on what is known to some as the former Freeman Farm.

Papo said that single-family apartments were needed in Chelsea as his informal research showed that every apartment complex in Chelsea was at maximum occupancy and that the buildings averaged 20 years in age.

Papo also said that apartments were the most practical option for housing on the parcel as soil on the site was not conducive to building structures with basements.

Papo said houses built without basements are nearly impossible to sell.

The entrance and exit to the complex would be on Old US-12, aligned with Kernwood Drive.

Papo said he also had easements rights to Meadow Lane but preferred not to use them as traffic would interfere with the existing neighborhood.

Other through-ways were ruled out because of swamp-land and the obtrusiveness of the utility substation.

Papo's proposal conforms to the master plan, which also calls for a community park in the area.

Papo said he would donate to the village a 2.3-acre lot that is isolated from the main parcel by "the Wilkinson drainage ditch" for a park.

South of Old US-12, where it flows between Kernwood and Gene drives, the drainage ditch is under county supervision. However, on the north side, where it connects with Lett's Creek, no one has ever claimed responsibility for maintaining the ditch.

Wilkinson street resident Melva French said the last time the ditch was cleaned was when her husband took on the responsibility well over a decade ago.

At that time, the village was

Richard Steele chosen Citizen of Year

By Michael Rybka
 Staff Writer

Village President Richard Steele was chosen as the 1999 Chelsea Citizen of the Year.

Steele was chosen from nominations submitted by local service organizations, the school district, the hospital, the fair board, village personnel and former honorees.

The nominations were reviewed June 10 by The Chelsea Citizen of the Year Committee.

Steele learned of his honor June 15 when Village manager Jack Myers and Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce Director Sue Starkey surprised him at the village offices with a bouquet of flowers.

Five days later, Steele said that he was still too overwhelmed by the honor to know what to say.

Last year, it was Steele, along with committee founder Monte Howard, who delivered the word to Bob and Marjorie Daniels that they were the recipients of the honor.

In bestowing the tribute, the selection committee cited Steele's years of dedication to the village and the many hours he devotes to his duties beyond what is expected.

Steele has served as village president since 1990 and, prior to that, served seven years as a trustee.

Steele's duties as council president have been augmented of late by representing the village on the Chelsea Area Planning Team and the Chelsea Area Traffic Committee.

The selection committee will host a dinner in Steele's honor July 12 at Chelsea Community Hospital. Tickets will be on sale at the village office and the Chelsea Pharmacy.

For more information, call the Chamber office at 475-1145.

Richard Steele, center, was named Chelsea's Citizen of the Year last week. He is flanked by Village Manager Jack Myers and Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Sue Starkey.

Installing a sewer line and French took up a neighborhood collection to have the worker with the back hoe do the job.

"Papo said he would ask the county to extend its jurisdiction to the north.

"Papo's offer of a park gave little satisfaction to 9-year-old Wilkinson Street resident Kyle Seidhoff, who said during the public hearing segment that his enjoyment of the land came from watching the wildlife in the spring-fed grove known as Eastman Woods.

"Papo said the bulk of the woods belonged to Consumer's Power and would not be affected by the project.

"Cheryl French said that Wilkinson had become the people's choice as the alternate route to downtown, making it as busy as Main Street was in her childhood.

"French said the apartments would only exacerbate the problem.

"Silas Hopkins, who owns land west of Papo's property and north of a row of houses on Old US-12, including his own, shared Seidhoff's lack of enthusiasm over the park because of its negative effect on any plans of his own to subdivide.

"Hopkins said that when he bought the property from Betty Freeman, she assured him that he had rights to an easement on Wilkinson south of Meadow Lane.

"From what I'm hearing, my property will become landlocked," Hopkins said.

"It's landlocked now," Papo said, citing as his proof the three years he spent on title searches which showed no documentation for an easement at that location.

"Denison said that unless Freeman had put the arrangement in writing, Hopkins was out of luck.

Understanding The Law

WILLING TO SETTLE

Parties to civil lawsuits should take more than monetary amounts into consideration when weighing the decision to settle the lawsuit out of court. Litigation is a time-consuming and expensive proposition that many people tend to underestimate. It involves being away from normal activities, disruption of life, and a drain on emotions. Settling out of court enables litigants to avoid these distractions, something to consider when being offered a settlement figure. While there is no precise formula for calculating settlement amounts, plaintiffs usually settle for less than they want and defendants usually end up paying more than they feel they should. Thus, a good settlement can be said to be one that does not leave anyone entirely happy.

Settlements can include more than financial compensation; acknowledgement of responsibility or error, the retraction of a damaging statement, even a change or compromise in regards to a business or development plan can be included in a settlement agreement. To discuss your legal concerns, call the LAW OFFICES OF KITCHEN & STRINGER, J.D. at 426-4695 to schedule a complimentary consultation. We accept cases involving personal injury, civil litigation, business and family law, real estate, and probate. Our offices are located in Dexter, at 3249 Broad St.

HINT: While it is a lawyer's job to provide advice concerning a settlement, the client has the ultimate responsibility for the decision to settle a case.

Chelsea woman earns degree

Albion College freshman Sarah Pruess was a member of the Briton softball team this spring.

Batting .226 in her initial collegiate campaign, Pruess played in 31 games, starting 25. She had one double and five runs batted in, and stole four bases.

Albion finished the 1999 softball season with a flourish, winning seven of its last eight contests.

Committee to address leaf burning

■ Township supervisor to sit on committee with six residents to address leaf burning on Forest and Stofer courts.

By Michelle Rogers
Associate Editor

A committee has been formed to resolve a long-standing dispute among residents in a north Dexter Township neighborhood where leaf burning has become a problem.

The leaf burning issue was originally brought to the Township Board's attention in the fall of 1997 when residents on Forest Court, off Stofer Road, complained that smoke was so bad it was creating health and traffic problems.

Patricia Cooper complained she developed asthma as a result of her Stofer Court neighbors burning leaves. Herbert Mida said smoke got so bad it caused traffic hazards, and Jane Diesing said that fall her house was covered in gray soot.

Since those complaints were first aired in public a year and a half ago, neighbors on Stofer and Forest courts have not been able to resolve the dispute among themselves.

As a result, Township Supervisor Robert Tetens formed a committee of residents June 15 to address the issue. Michael Foley, Hugh Weinberg, Mida, Diesing, Cooper and Douglas Tomney volunteered to serve on the committee. Tetens will represent the board and moderate.

During the June 15 Township Board meeting, Chelsea Fire Chief Dan Ellenwood said it's unfortunate neighbors cannot settle the dispute among themselves. As a medical responder, Ellenwood said he can sympathize with residents who, as a result of the smoke, are having difficulty breathing.

Ellenwood suggested neighbors agree to restrict their leaf burning to three times a month. The township ordinance currently allows unrestricted burning of leaves, brush and dried vegetation as long as residents get a permit and burn during daylight hours.

On occasion Ellenwood said he has been called to the neighborhood to put out fires burning past sundown or when residents didn't get a permit first.

Ellenwood said he also has the authority under state law to extinguish a fire if it's creating a nuisance.

"I don't want it to get to the point where I am running out there extinguishing fires, causing a tax burden," Ellenwood said about the neighborhood dispute.

Residents on Forest Court complained during the meeting that their Stofer Court neighbors burn eight months out of the year.

"We can't breathe. Our kids can't play outside because of the smoke," said Robert Cooper. "Something needs to be done."

Cooper said he supports restricted burning if the burn pile is far enough from Forest Court not to cause a problem.

"We're entitled to a healthy and safe place to live and it's not," Cooper said.

Cooper's neighbor, Mida, said he wants the Township Board to ban leaf burning altogether.

But on the other side is Stofer Court resident Foley, who opposes an outright ban.

"I've got to admit it's sometimes bad on Stofer Court but we've got to do something with all the leaves," Foley said.

Diesing estimated in 1997 that the heavily wooded area generated 1,000 to 1,500 bushels of leaves.

A suggestion to turn the leaves into mulch was dismissed by some residents on Stofer Court. Hugh Weinberg said on-site composting can create an environmental nuisance as well.

Hiring a contractor to dispose of the leaves could cost each neighbor an estimated $1,800 a season, according to Stofer Court resident Bruce Bradley.

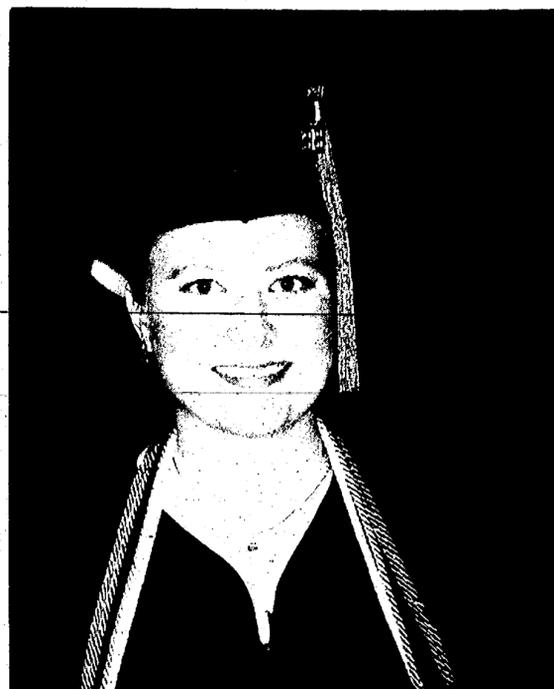

"I don't think that's reasonable at all," Bradley told the board.

Sara Smith said for the past five years her family has taken their leaves to the landfill. Smith, who lives on Stofer Road, said she supports revisions to the ordinance that will help resolve the dispute.

"I think we need to take a look at the ordinance and update it. If we can do that, maybe we can get past the grievances on the two streets," she said.

Ellenwood said something needs to be done before the leaves start falling again. He said he doesn't want to be swamped with complaints to extinguish fires some consider a nuisance.

"I don't want it to be dumped back on me to make the decision," he said. "For me to have to drop everything I am doing or ask someone else, I think is a little unfair."

AGE RELATED JOINT CHANGES
Dr. Jeff LaHuis, D.V.M.

Last week I touched on some of the causes of arthritis and their symptoms. This week I will focus on age related joint changes and treatments. The most common signs of arthritis in our pets are intermittent lameness, difficulty rising from the lying position, and problems climbing stairs. Usually these signs are more noticeable in the dog than the cat. Cats usually have more subtle indications that they are sore - usually a decrease in activity, some limping, or not jumping onto elevated objects. As our bodies age, cartilage is not maintained in the same state of health as in our youth. The gradual erosion of this substance eventually leaves bone grinding against bone producing the classic signs of stiffness and pain seen in animals and humans. There are three ways of attacking the problem: 1) the use of pain killers or anti-inflammatory drugs, 2) Administration of a cartilage protective substance, 3) Injections of a drug that causes the rebuilding of cartilage in the joint. The first method, anti-inflammatory drugs, stops the pain associated with arthritis, but does not modify the underlying cause. The other two options are intended to treat the underlying disease process and stop the pain at the source. Two drugs that are used for this are Cosequin and Adequan. Cosequin is a nutritional supplement that is purported to repair cartilage in joints. This claim has not been tested under FDA guidelines, but testimonial reports indicate that it does help. The drug Adequan has been FDA tested and has been proven to rebuild cartilage in dogs with arthritic joints. In cats the options for treatment really only include Cosequin or essential fatty acid supplements. Adequan is not approved for use in cats and cats lack the enzymes necessary to metabolize aspirin and other anti-inflammatory drugs. If you have any questions, please call Westarbor Animal Hospital (734) 769-5391.

THE CLASP PARTIAL DENTURE

If you need a partial denture to fill the gap caused by missing teeth, you may want to have a clasp partial denture to solve this problem. It can be less expensive than a fixed bridge if the supporting teeth are healthy and don't have to be crowned.

In the clasp partial denture technique, hooks are used to clasp the bridge to the supporting teeth. Some reshaping of the supporting teeth may be needed to give stronger support to the clasps. If the gap to be filled is in the back of your mouth, the clasps will hardly be noticeable when you open your mouth.

This type of partial denture is usually removed at night when you go to bed. Like your natural teeth, you should take care to make sure the denture is kept clean and free of plaque. Special care is needed in keeping the clasps clean because food and bacteria tend to collect where the clasps hook around your natural teeth.

But with good oral hygiene and regular checkups, you can maintain the good appearance and health of your mouth, and help keep the partial denture firmly in place.

Tips offered on what to do if you get slammed

LORI Z. BAHNMÜLLER

YOUR MONEY MATTERS

My colleague is a Michigan transplant and her family is scattered along the east coast. With her busy schedule and active lifestyle she doesn't get to visit often and stays in touch primarily by phone. As a result, her phone bills tend to be high.

Within months of her arrival, she found herself the victim of slamming by an unfamiliar long-distance carrier. With the quick response and cooperation of her local carrier, and good record keeping on her part, the problem was remedied with few complications. Thanks to free slamming protection and thorough review of her monthly bills, it hasn't happened again.

This example illustrates how deregulation of the telecommunications industry has been fierce and sometimes illegal, especially for phone customers. According to Mary Jo Kunkle of the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC), the state regulatory agency responsible for overseeing the telecommunications industry, slamming is the practice in which telephone customers are switched to another service provider without their knowledge or permission. Last year, 2,800 complaints were filed with the MPSC. Both state and federal mandates have been established to protect customers and punish perpetrators.

A National Consumers League survey revealed that slamming is exceptionally prevalent in Michigan, ranking eighth in unlawful carrier switching. It further disclosed that slammers target persons with sizeable incomes and high phone bills.

Customers may be tricked into authorizing a switch by signing their names on contest entries or through a promotional mailing that automatically switches them unless an enclosed card is returned to stop the transaction.

Since telephone slamming is the number one complaint at the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), the agency has recently adopted new rules governing phone service switching. By removing the financial incentive and strengthening the verification procedures of the practice, the burden of proof is placed upon the service provider and not the consumer.

The FCC directive states that if a phone customer is slammed, he or she is automatically excused from paying any slamming costs incurred for the first 30 days after the unauthorized switch. FCC regulations also require that the long-distance carriers confirm switches in writing or through an independent third party vendor.

Oral confirmation through a three-way conference call, where the conversation may be recorded and where competitive pitches from involved parties are forbidden, is another option.

Kunkle said the MPSC also has legal latitude in prosecuting slammers. Legislation signed into law last summer outlines procedures and penalties to help eliminate slamming. The MPSC verification process, in fact, gives the customer an additional opportunity to certify their switch through use of a toll-free electronic authorization.

The MPSC can impose severe financial penalties of up to $20,000 for the first offense and $50,000 for subsequent occurrences. The agency allows for the slammed customer to recover damages as well, added Kunkle.

Another MPSC deterrent is the Primary Interexchange Carrier (PIC) protection program, which essentially puts a "freeze" on the customer's carrier choice, explained Kunkle. If a customer wants to maintain continuous service from a particular long-distance carrier for example, he or she would call the local service carrier to arrange this agreement.

You can avoid getting slammed and the frustration that comes with it by following a few tips. Rick Gambert of the Michigan Consumer Federation recommends that you never sign anything without first reading it thoroughly, that you even exercise caution when filling out a seemingly innocent or legitimate contest entry form.

With phone solicitors, he said, you should ask for the information in writing before making a decision, and that if you're truly not interested, clearly say so. Finally, he advises that you examine your monthly phone bill for unfamiliar names or charges.

Gambert added that if you do get slammed, a good first step is to file a complaint with the MPSC by calling (800) 292-9555 since the agency can fine the slammer and potentially put the company out of business. Remember, FCC rules remove the customer's obligation to pay the slammed charges for the first 30 days after the illegal switch occurs. Next, call the company you were switched from and report that you were switched without your permission. You won't be charged for the reconnection. Ask to be re-enrolled on any calling plans to which you previously belonged.

Boomers need to save for retirement

PREPARED BY THE MICHIGAN ASSOCIATION OF CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS

MONEY MANAGEMENT

Baby boomers beware. Retirement is closer than you think.

And to make matters worse, you may not be able to rely on the government and your employer to fund a secure retirement.

There are several reasons for that, reports the Michigan Association of CPAs. First, more and more companies are phasing out guaranteed pensions and shifting toward defined contribution plans, such as the 401(k), where the plan's benefits depend on how much the employee contributes and how successfully he or she invests those contributions.

Then there is the widely held belief that Social Security might not be around, at least not in its present form. Add to that the poor savings habits attributed to the baby boomers generation and you have the need for some serious thinking.

The bottom line is that, if you're a baby boomer, you had better start saving for retirement like you mean it. The sooner you get serious about it, the better off you will be. By exploiting the following strategies, CPAs say baby boomers can still achieve a level of retirement security.

Maximize 401(k) Plans
Employer-sponsored 401(k) plans that boast tax-deductible contributions and tax-deferred earnings along with generous employer matches are the best hope for millions of baby boomers. If you don't do anything else, contribute every dollar you can, up to the maximum allowed.

Also, be sure to make the most of your employer's match. Moreover, if your plan allows after-tax contributions, go for it. You won't get the deduction, but the tax-deferred feature of 401(k) plans means your money grows faster.

Don't Be Too Conservative
Numerous studies have found that employees tend to invest too conservatively. The challenge for boomers is to invest aggressively enough to overcome a late start, but not enough to seriously jeopardize their future. Most experts agree that with retirement 10 or more years away you can still invest a substantial portion of your long-term retirement savings for growth in stocks or stock mutual funds, as long as your portfolio is sufficiently diversified.

Stocks can be potentially volatile investments, but history has shown that over the long term they tend to be the most profitable. As you move closer to retirement, you can begin to move your funds into more conservative investments.

Fund an IRA or Keogh
Depending on your income and other factors, your contribution may be fully, partially or not at all deductible. In any case, CPAs point out that the greatest tax savings with IRAs is not in the initial IRA contribution, but in the tax-deferred compounding of interest.

The same thinking holds true for Roth IRAs. While contributions to a Roth IRA are not deductible, they, too, accumulate earnings entirely tax-deferred. The added benefit of the Roth IRA is that distributions in general are tax-free.

If you have self-employment income, set up a Keogh Plan and make regular tax-deductible contributions. Like other qualified retirement plans, earnings from Keoghs are tax-deferred.

Don't Discount Social Security Entirely

You can expect a Social Security check when you retire, but it's likely that the benefit you receive will replace a smaller percentage of your income — and you're likely to find that more of your Social Security benefit will be subject to tax. For an estimate of how much you'll get when you retire, call the Social Security Administration (SSA) at 800-772-1213 and ask for a "Request for Earnings and Benefits Estimate Statement" form. Check your form carefully to make certain that the SSA has recorded your wages accurately.

Stop Spending So Much

Heed the financial advice of experts and pay yourself first. Have your bank transfer a fixed amount each month to a savings or mutual fund. What you don't see, you won't miss — and more importantly — you can't spend.

If you're lucky enough to reach the point where your mortgage is paid off or you've paid that last college tuition bill, you'll have a large chunk of money you can redirect into saving for retirement.

Pay Off Your Home Mortgage

A home of your own stabilizes your living costs and provides inflation protection. In your retirement, the equity you have built up in your home can become a valuable source of income. You can sell your home, move into a smaller one and live off the profits. When you own your own home, you also have the option of taking out a reverse mortgage.

CPAs caution baby boomers against becoming overwhelmed by what might seem to be an impossible goal. With personal discipline and wise spending, saving and investment choices, baby boomers still have enough time to secure a comfortable retirement.

FAMILY MEDICINE

Question: Because I'm very active outdoors, I seem to get sunburned every summer. It's usually mild and clears up in a few days. But last year I got blisters and my wife made me go to see the doctor. He treated the sunburn and said that I had a second degree burn. Is that right? I thought that was just where you were burned by a flame or hot liquid.

Answer: A sunburn is produced when the ultraviolet rays in sunlight damage the deeper growing layers of the skin. The resulting irritation to the skin, blood vessels, and associated tissue causes the inflammation we call a sunburn.

Pain develops when the nerve cells within the skin are stimulated as part of the inflammation process. It may take anywhere from one to 12 hours after the sun exposure for the pain to start. The degree of pain is directly related to the severity of the burn and the size of affected skin area.

Health problems associated with burns are related to the amount of skin involved, the depth of the burn, the individual's age and pre-existing health conditions (e.g., diabetes) that may be present. As your doctor indicated, the specific cause of the burn — the sun, boiling water, chemical injury or other cause — is not important. The extent of skin damage is what counts. The label "sunburn" only tells that the damage came from being out in the sun, not the extent of the injury.

A typical sunburn is painful with or without being touched, but the "sunburned" look and associated discomfort improve after two or three days. The dead, damaged skin usually peels off in a week or two. This type of burn is referred to as a superficial, or first-degree burn.

A second-degree burn produces damage deeper into the skin and can be very painful. Even air blowing across the burn can hurt. In addition to the pain, the skin will blister. Healing usually takes two or three weeks and a permanent mild scar or change in skin color may, but usually does not, occur.

A third-degree or "total-thickness burn" damages all the layers of skin. Touching a new third-degree burn with slight pressure may give some discomfort, but it's nothing like the sheer agony that this would produce if the burn was of the less severe, partial-thickness variety. Healing takes many weeks and always produces a scar.

As a general guideline, if you have only a mild sunburn, you can probably take care of it yourself. You should protect the skin, stay out of the sun, and take aspirin, acetaminophen or ibuprofen for the discomfort. Don't put butter or other "gooey" substances on the burn. Non-prescription sunburn products may be soothing, but they will not speed healing.

If you feel sick because of the burn, or if it covers a large percentage of your body, you should see your doctor. More severe burns with immediate blistering or blackening of the skin should have a doctor's attention today — don't wait until next week. Deep burns over a large amount of the body surface can be immediately life threatening and require prompt hospitalization.

Here are two tips that will help keep you from having to deal with the pain of sunburn this summer:

• Avoid being outdoors during the hours of the day when the sun's rays are the most direct — between about 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

• When you go outside during the day, protect your skin with clothing or by putting a number 15, or higher, sunscreen lotion on the exposed areas of your body.

Some studies suggest that 2,000-mg of vitamin C a day or use of vitamin E will reduce the risk of sunburn. That seems to me like a safe and inexpensive additional precaution.

Pizza Party

Dexter Chevrolet sponsored a pizza party June 2 for fourth-graders at Bates Elementary School who had artwork selected as part of the Create An Ad Contest organized by Heritage Newspapers. George Landry, sales manager for Dexter Chevrolet, bought the pizza to reward, in particular, student Stephen Burgett, who created the ad for Dexter Chevrolet that ran in a special advertising supplement

Sheriff's department seeks men who caused auto crash

A reward is being offered for information leading to the identification of two men approximately 17-22 years old who caused a serious two-car crash on Dexter Pinckney Road and McGregor Road, near Portage Lake, Wednesday, May 12, at 7:10 p.m. They left the scene of the accident.

The accident was caused by a black or dark gray older model small Jimmy S-15 or Chevy Blazer S-10. There were two young men in the vehicle, and both were wearing baseball-type hats.

The driver was driving erratically at a high speed, going north on Dexter-Pinckney Road. At the intersection of McGregor Road, he began passing the first far on a double yellow line. He then rrammed into the driver's door of the first car, which was forced off the road and into the second car, which was waiting to enter the road. The two young men in the vehicle did not stop and left the scene of the accident. The two cars were declared "totaled" by insurance companies at great cost.

This suspect vehicle was witnessed, prior to the accident, driving at high rate of speed, almost forcing another car off the road, and traveling through a red light at North Territorial Road.

There were very serious injuries to the driver of the second car. This person required four weeks of hospitalization and recovery care, suffering from two breaks in one leg, a concussion, and bruised ribs.

There should be some damage to the right front of the suspect vehicle, such as the grill, lights, right front of fender and possibly even the bumper. Dark green paint should be visible because of the damage done to the first car, which was dark green.

Anyone with information should call the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department Confidential Tip Line at (734) 973-7711 and ask for Lt. Brian Miller or Sgt. Dan Minzey.

Chelsea youth on winning music group

They were told a novice group of five teens could never win against experienced 20 member teams from Irish communities in Chicago, St. Louis and Cleveland. But in May they took first place at the highly competitive 1999 Midwest Fledh Cheoil with a rich and flawless performance the judges still raved about the next day. "So much music from only five instruments!" Chelsea's Colleen Shanks, 16, on the tin whistle, Saline fiddler Jeremy Kittel, 15, Ann Arbor Uilleann Piper Tyler Duncan, 13, Redford's Sean Gavin, 12, on flute and Novi's Colleen Burke, 14, on Celtic Harp won the Under-18 Grupai Cheoil.

The Groupai Cheoil ("Band of Musicians"), competition is the highlight of an Irish Fledh. Groups of four to 20 musicians perform seven minutes of traditional Irish music with a creative twist. The five young musicians will be traveling to Enniscorthy, Ireland, in August to represent the North American Midwest in the 1999 All-Ireland. They presented a celebration concert June 11 at Clonlara School in Ann Arbor, and were joined by All-Ireland Champion Irish Dancer Michael Belvitch and other Irish musicians and dancers from Southeast Michigan.

POLICE BLOTTER

Chelsea Village

Larceny
Larceny was reported on Madison Street June 19. A 75-year-old woman told Chelsea Police that she suspects her neighbor, a 13-year-old boy, of stealing an ax, a weed cutter, hammer, tree shears and meat hook from her tool shed. She recovered most of the stolen items from a nearby wooded area. She asked police not to confront the neighbor. Instead, she has placed a lock on her tool shed.

Larceny was reported at Pierce's Pastries, 102 W. Middle St., June 16. A 20-year-old employee told police that she hung her purse in the kitchen area at 5 a.m. When she left at 1:30 p.m., she discovered her wallet missing. It contained $400 and credit cards. Police noted that this is the third theft of employee items from back rooms at downtown businesses in the past two weeks.

Larceny was reported in the 200 block of Monroe Street June 15. A 19-year-old woman told police that someone stole a tent from her yard. The tent is valued at $100.

Hit and Run
A hit and run was reported in the 800 block of Grant Street June 15. A 19-year-old Dexter woman told police that someone struck her 1993 Chevy Beretta between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. However, the investigating officer told the woman the accident could not have happened that day because there was dirt and rain spots over the damaged area. The woman speculated that maybe she drove through a puddle. The officer and woman back tracked but did not find a puddle. The woman decided not to file a report. She told the officer she would pay for the damage herself.

Stolen Vehicle
A 1997 Ford pickup truck was reported stolen from Palmer Ford's used car lot, 1477 S. Main St., June 17. The vehicle was last seen at 7:30 p.m. June 18. It was noticed missing the next morning. Two pieces of a lock box were found on the pavement near where the vehicle was parked. Police have no suspects. The vehicle is valued at $29,900. Its identification number was entered into the Law Enforcement Information Network.

Delinquent Minors
Chelsea Police returned seven teen-agers to their homes June 17 after they were found hanging out by Chelsea Depot at 2:55 a.m. Three of the boys were staying overnight at a home on Book Street, while the four others were at a residence on Provincial Drive. They were given a warning for violating curfew. The suspects ranged in age from 12 to 15.

Suspicious Incident
Police were dispatched to South Meadows Elementary School, 355 Pierce St., June 16, for a report of a suspicious incident. Two people called to report a window was open. One caller said three young girls were trying to enter the building. Police searched the building but didn't find anyone.

A suspicious incident was reported in the 200 block of Harrison Street June 16. A 17-year-old Chelsea boy told police that an 18-year-old Chelsea man threw eggs at him while he was walking home from school. Police searched the area for the suspect, who was reportedly driving a multi-colored Ford Escort, but could not find him.

Scio Township
Attempted Break-in
Attempted breaking and entering was reported at Liberty Golf Range, 2815 W. Liberty Road, June 15. A 69-year-old man told police someone pried open a door and then kicked it in. Damage is estimated at $250. An alarm alerted an employee who had stopped in to pick up something from the store. Nothing appeared to be missing.

Fleeing and Eluding/ Stolen Vehicle
Michigan State Police arrested a 17-year-old Muskegon man on charges of felonious assault, fleeing and eluding police, possession of a stolen vehicle and resisting and obstructing police.

Christopher A. Britton was arrested after fleeing police in Brooklyn Township. Michigan State Police continued the pursuit from the county line to Parker Road near Jerusalem Road, where the suspect stopped. Troopers boxed in the suspect's vehicle but as an officer left his vehicle, the suspect pulled the stolen vehicle onto the shoulder of the road and drove around the front patrol car.

The suspect continued driving north on Parker Road before stowing down and putting into the front yard of a residence on Parker Road, just south of Jackson Road in Scio Township. After a short struggle, Britton was arrested. The vehicle he was driving was reported stolen out of Mackinaw City earlier in the week.

Property Damage
Malicious destruction of property was reported in the 3300 block of Oak Hollow Road May 26. A 45-year-old general contractor told police that someone broke into a home under construction between 5 p.m. May 25 and 7:20 a.m. May 26. A windshield on an excavator was damaged, as well as three windows, a drill and cabinet doors. Total damage is estimated at $2,750. Empty beer bottles were found around the area. Police suspect juveniles.

Malicious destruction of property was reported in Scio Farms Estates, 6655 Jackson Road, June 12. A 54-year-old man told police that his daughter's 20-year-old boyfriend, an Ann Arbor man, damaged closet doors in his home. The man's daughter said she would pay for any damages but the victim said his daughter was being supported by him and it was unlikely she would pay him back. Damage is estimated at $287.

Larceny
Larceny was reported on Peters Road near Zeeb Road June 14. A 22-year-old Ann Arbor man said he parked his Escort on the side of the road and returned later to find that someone threw a rock through the passenger-side window and stole his cellular telephone. The phone is valued at $100.

Juvenile Pick-Up Order
A 16-year-old township boy was arrested at his residence on a juvenile pick-up order. He was taken to the Juvenile Detention Center in Ann Arbor. There was no additional information reported on why the boy was wanted by police.

Suspicious Activity
Suspicious activity was reported on Liberty Road near Zeeb Road June 17. A 42-year-old White Lake man told police that he suspects local juveniles of urinating in a water bottle he left near building equipment on a construction site May 27. In addition, the victim said several stakes were pulled out of the ground.

Warrant Arrest

Damon T. Benson, 25, of Detroit was arrested on Baker Road near Jackson Road June 20. He was wanted on a bench warrant out of Livonia for driving with a suspended license.

Recovered Stolen Property

Police recovered a stolen vehicle on Baker Road near Jackson Road June 20. A 25-year-old Detroit man was arrested in connection with the theft. He and two passengers were stopped in the vehicle by police when an officer ran the license plate number through the computer and discovered there was no record for the plate.

The vehicle he was driving was reported stolen out of Detroit May 27. The suspect told police that he took the vehicle about a week ago while it was parked running and unattended in front of the library. However, police noted that the steering column was damaged, indicating someone had hot-wired it.

Sylvan Township

Larceny

Larceny was reported in the 15600 block of Kilmer Road June 19. A 16-year-old Chelsea girl told police that a township boy took an aquarium she lent to her friend. The 10-gallon glass aquarium was used to house a snake the suspect and the victim's friend shared. When the couple broke up, the suspect took the snake and aquarium, which is valued at $115, without the victim's permission. Police are trying to reach the suspect for his side of the story.

Drunken Driving

A 60-year-old Ypsilanti man was arrested for operating a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol on eastbound I-94 near Zeeb Road June 19. He was initially stopped for erratic driving. The deputy, however, noticed that the driver's speech was slurred and he smelled of alcohol.

The suspect admitted that he had been drinking alcohol earlier in Manchester. A test showed he had a .14 percent blood-alcohol level, which is more than the legal limit to drive.

Attempted Break-In

An attempted breaking and entering was reported in the 700 block of Glazier Road June 19. A 76-year-old man told police that he left his residence at 4:30 p.m. and returned at 10:30 p.m. to find a set of keys in his door lock. It did not appear, however, that anyone entered the house.

Missing Person

A 44-year-old man was reported as a voluntary missing person from his home on Ivey Road June 19. The man's 20-year-old son reported him missing when the man didn't return from a horse show in Munith. The missing man, however, returned home the next morning. He told police that he was irresponsible in not calling his son to say he wasn't coming home that night.

Webster Township

Larceny

Larceny was reported in the 7700 block of Mast Road June 17. A 35-year-old man told police that someone entered his home between 5 p.m. June 10 and 1 p.m. June 11 and stole a handgun and ammunition. The gun, which was not registered, is estimated to cost $700.

Graduation speech was wonderful

If you have not taken the time to read the speech given by Isaac Robinovitz at graduation, we would encourage you to do so.

As The Standard put it in the title "Helping others better than greed" was the subject of his speech. That in itself was wonderful and profound for someone of his age in this very confused world of ours.

What also spoke to us was the point he made about the push for children to succeed beyond what is healthy and normal — not allowing, in his words, "kids to be kids." How is it that we have decided that running children from one activity to another seven days a week would benefit them?

How is it that we feel that will somehow replace what children in the past have learned in the art of play in their own backyard with family and friends — to explore in their own way as children on a relaxed summer day. That kind of confusion has only brought us to this place where the children are no longer at home in their own backyards.

Are they any happier than children of the past? I don't think so. More stressed perhaps with very confused priorities. Isaac is on his way to succeed in whatever he decides to do. What is awesome about him is that he recognizes the balance that will not only benefit him but others in his life. Kudos to you, also Dad and Mom — Stew and Helena!

The Tarantowskis
Graduation speech was insightful

I would like to commend you for printing Isaac Robinovitz' commencement address in its entirety, so that those of us who did not attend

Chelsea High School's graduation exercises were also able to benefit from the words of this intelligent, insightful and sensitive young man.

His speech was well researched and perceptive. To members of the community who have not had the good fortune to read this extraordinary piece, I urge you to beg, borrow or buy a copy of the June 10 Chelsea Standard and become enlightened!

Isaac is a credit to his family, school and community, and I applaud him for his remarkable effort. In a world that confers great honor and financial compensation upon those who engage in athletic endeavors — and very little of either to those involved in helping their fellow man, Isaac, and students like him, will emerge as leaders of our next generation on a quest for better values.

Some hobbies more interesting than others

UNCLE APOLLO

I see in the paper last week where this Chelsea guy has his hobby collecting post cards and how he got this big deal article all over the page. Well, my family has all sorts of hobbies and when they saw that, they were feeling short-changed by the whole thing.

So, in order to maintain my domestic hominy, which is something I collect, I told them I'd tell you about the cool and interesting hobbies that our family has.

Well, as you might imagine, I collect bones. OK, OK, I realize this may not be a big deal to most of you, but it is to me. He'd be terribly disappointed if I didn't mention it. Of course, he can't read, so just between you and me, I'd just as soon he ate the things. They think if he doesn't get them cleaned up before he hides them, and sometimes I slip over them, and the lawnmower will never be the same after that mastodon bone or whatever it was.

But you gotta make allowances. He's a dog, after all.

Artemia has me worried, actually. For awhile she just collected inanimate things like Barbie dolls and teddy bears and bottle caps. But lately, she's been getting into more, um, mobile stuff. Like boys. She collects them.

Our food bill has gone through the roof. I didn't have any idea that Chelsea had so many pre-teen boys. I'll tell you, used to be that I didn't think we needed four more drug stores, but the guys Artemia knows could keep at least three going with sales of breath mints, acne medication and science fiction novels.

Little Art collects broken computers. I really mean it. You've heard of Silicon Valley? What about Silicon Basement? Well, that's what I have.

I think his theory is that computers are like ties. Eventually, the old ones will come back into style.

I'm not kidding. The kid still has a TRS-80, HP calculators and a slide rule for goodness sakes.

I'll bet if I dug around for long enough down there, I'd come up with an abacus. I'll tell you, if greasy keyboards ever come into the collectors' circuit, the kid will retire in a heartbeat.

Auntie doesn't collect stuff, she builds it. I'm not sure where this whole thing started. But she builds heavy equipment, like bulldozers and steam shovels and cable mining equipment and aircraft carriers.

I'm not kidding. She finds it relaxing. And actually, the resale value is pretty good, even for homemade stuff. But for the record, it's not all that relaxing when you have to spend a perfect Saturday loading an aircraft carrier onto somebody's houseboat trailer and then watching them try to haul it away without blowing out the tires.

Course, then there's me. I'm into towers. Kinda like Henry Ford with his houses. Few people know it, but I'm actually the tower king in Chelsea. I own all of them. Yeah, now you know. The Clock Tower, Jiffy, water tower, clock tower that's painted on the water tower and the clock tower that's in Timber Town, they're all mine. Also, Big Ben, the CNN Tower, the towers on Castle Dracula, the Towering Inferno. All of 'em.

And our family didn't even get a call for this hobby article. No wonder they're upset.

GUEST EDITORIAL

Historic district would protect our downtown

By John Frank

In Chelsea, as in many other communities around the nation, preservation of our historic assets is desired and has been declared a public purpose.

Village Ordinance No. 87AA was enacted in 1997 to safeguard Chelsea's heritage by preserving buildings that reflect the village's cultural, social, economic, political, or architectural history.

On Sept. 28, the Historic District Commission and the Village Council will conduct a public hearing on a proposal to list Chelsea's historic downtown on the National Register of Historic Places as a historic district. So far, more than 2,000 communities nationwide have taken advantage of historic district status, including over 70 in Michigan.

I'd like to answer some frequently asked questions regarding historic district status and provide some background. Why do we preserve old buildings and downtowns? To begin with, we preserve them simply because they are good to look at. Older buildings are a feast for the unburied eye and a welcome diversion from new, generic architecture.

Besides that, they work. Countless re-use projects have shown that old buildings can indeed function in new ways — ways their original builders never dreamed of.

We adaptively re-use old buildings because it makes good economic sense — the infrastructure already is in place, demolition costs are avoided, and "sprawl" is reduced.

We save old buildings because we want to preserve the marks left on our community by the many people who have shaped it. Preservation reflects pride in the community, helps strengthen the local economy, and improves property values.

Finally, we understand that the destruction of our old buildings would be irreversible. The character of a community, sadly, is irrevocably altered once its historic buildings are torn down. It's hard to feel an identity with a generic new store surrounded by a parking lot.

But, you say, Chelsea is doing very well, and the destruction of our downtown is unthinkable. Why do we need official historic district status?

In its annual list of America's 11 Most Endangered Historic Places in America, released last week, the National Trust for Historic Preservation placed "The Corner of Main and Main" at the top of the list. They are referring not to any particular city or town but to all communities nationwide where the hearts of old downtowns, "the corner of Main and Main," have become prime targets for expansion efforts by major national retailing chains.

While the companies' desire to locate downtown is understandable, their site development strategies are not always sensitive to Main Street's unique character, sense of place and pedestrian-oriented nature. To accommodate new freestanding, single-story, "cookie-cutter" stores with expansive parking lots and drive-through windows, historic buildings are being razed.

Chelsea's downtown is home to many historic buildings. An effort is under way to list the downtown on the National Register of Historic Places.

Let me give just two recent examples: In Paulsboro, N.J., Eckerd Corporation demolished a magnificent and monumental stone bank building, much like Chelsea's George P. Glazier Memorial Building at Main and South streets (now the courthouse), saying, "It just couldn't be renovated to meet the needs of our customers."

Even so, the mayor, John Burzichelli, wishes that the Eckerd store had been built inside the bank building, and many agree with him that such a project would have been feasible. But Paulsboro didn't have the zoning rules or historic district protection to make it happen.

In another example, Rite Aid recently demolished the majestic 1903 Masonic Hall in the middle of downtown Guilford, Maine. The new store, with Rite Aid's standardized corporate architecture and large in-front parking lot, is jarringly out of step with the other storefronts on Guilford's old Main Street.

Thus, in the Trust's view, America's Main streets are in danger of gradually, or maybe not so gradually, being transformed into downtown versions of suburban strip malls.

Later this year, Michigan Department of Transportation will widen highway M-52 between Old US-12 and I-94. This should be a reminder of what may seem unthinkable but surely could happen: the least-cost way to increase the traffic capacity of M-52 in Chelsea would be to eliminate on-street parking in the downtown and "four-lane" the highway through town.

This nightmare scenario probably could be avoided with historic district designation, which provides tools to balance highway and other needs with preservation.

So how would historic designation help Chelsea maintain its heritage and continue to prosper, and how does it work anyhow?

Under the Chelsea ordinance, any proposed changes to the exterior appearance of a building within a historic district must be approved by Chelsea's Historic District Commission. The commission is appointed by the Village Council and includes representatives from the planning commission and the Zoning Board of Appeals, among others. The commission controls only changes to the exterior of a property. Owners are free to do anything with the interior, including a complete "gut rehab."

Should a property owner be dissatisfied with a ruling of the commission, the law provides an appeal process. The first appeal is to the Village Council itself.

Two sources of funding now are available to the owner of a property within a historic district: The first is a 20 percent federal income tax credit, which has been available for a number of years, and applies only to large rehabilitation projects on income-producing property.

Since January, a new 25 percent state tax credit has become available for the preservation or adaptive re-use of any historic property, including commercial properties, businesses, and residences. It applies to projects exceeding 10 percent of the property's SEV. (This would include most rehabilitation projects.) The full text of the new state tax credit laws, Public Acts 534 and 535, may be viewed or downloaded from the Michigan Secretary of State's Web site, www.sos.state.mi.us/history/preserve/protectn/mitaxact.html.

To manage our community's rapid growth and yet preserve our village's character, Chelsea will need several new tools in its toolchest. Overlay zoning is one, and making our downtown a historic district by listing it on the National Register of Historic Places is another.

I hope you will plan to attend the public hearing on Sept. 28 and voice your support for this important initiative.

John Frank is chair of the Chelsea Historic District Commission. He has been a Chelsea resident since 1991.

FARM FACTS

When you eat ice cream too quickly, do you get a slight headache? Ever wonder why? That "ice cream headache" or "brain freeze" is one reason you shouldn't attack that pint of your favorite flavor too quickly. When you eat something cold that fast, the blood vessels in your mouth, neck and head work to help keep you warm by contracting a little, so less blood gets sent to these body parts. That way large amounts of heat won't leave your body. (If the flow of blood was not held back in this manner, more heat would escape through the blood vessels in your head and neck and out from your skin's surface). Just think of it as your body's special defense against the cold, like what happens to you outdoors on a winter day, when freezing temperatures make the blood vessels in your skin contract, making you look pale.

The name "steak" came from the Saxon word steik, meaning meat on a stick. The Saxons and Jutes, who lived in what's now known as Denmark, conquered Great Britain, bringing with them skills as cattlemen. They liked to cook their beef on a pointed stick over a campfire.

Introducing Michael Sheppard
 Dear Friends and Neighbors,
 One of our primary goals is to reach out to the Dexter-Chelsea community and let people know about Faith Lutheran Church. Over the years we have done some house-to-house canvassing and some general mailings. Also, since last November we have been writing these newspaper articles each week. For several weeks this summer we are doing more direct outreach. Michael Sheppard has started helping us visit many area homes. We have been introducing ourselves, talking about Faith, and leaving some literature. We assure you, we are not doing any arm twisting or taking up a lot of people's time, nor will we make any attempt to persuade anyone to leave a Christian church in which they are active. Our main goal is to invite, and offer what we have to those with no current church home.
 What we have is not just Michael Sheppard, but Someone who calls Himself the good Shepherd, Jesus Christ our Saviour. This Good Shepherd has a special desire for sheep who have been wandering. If that includes you, then wander no more. Visit us at 10:00-Sunday morning or 7:30 Wednesday evening. Hopefully you'll see why we consider our message so valuable that we're paying a Sheppard to help spread it.
 We will not reach every home in our area, but we really want to meet anyone who would like to talk with us. Feel free to call me at 426-4302 and set up a day and time for a visit. There will be no pressure or obligation, just an opportunity to meet, share some information, and answer any questions.
 Please call me, also, if you have any questions about the canoeing activity which we have planned tomorrow for kids entering 7th through 10th grades.

UNDERGROUND CLASSROOM

Chelsea High School students explored caves in Kentucky two months ago as part of the Outdoor Education class. Teacher Craig Demlow leads the group.

CHS Outdoor Club explores Kentucky caves

By Eric Bowen

Slugging through mud thigh-deep and sliding down steep crevices through subterranean waterfalls, 14 intrepid Chelsea students spent two days this spring more than 800 feet underground.

The students and science teacher Craig Demlow took a trip to Kentucky in April on the CHS Outdoor Club's annual spelunking tour. The cavers climbed through some 10 miles of tunnels in two days, applying their geology knowledge and learning a bit about each other.

"We study the animals — endangered bats, crayfish and fish without eyes — and the geology of the rocks," Demlow says. "They go there and it's a hands-on experience of what we learn (in the classroom)."

Demlow says he became interested in caving while he was working on his master's degree in outdoor education. He went spelunking in Iowa and he became hooked on squeezing through tight fissures with little more than a helmet and overalls.

Demlow started the caving trips with students 17 years ago in Indiana. But he soon found Kentucky offered larger and more interesting caves. So despite the increased distance, he switched the outings to the southern state.

The students load into rental vans each spring and drive the 10-hour stretch to reach a campground near the caves. Most of the caverns the students enter are owned by private individuals and are not developed with lighted walkways or concessions to the general public.

The trip, which next year will be in October, is led by the outdoor club and the students themselves, plus some help from the school district, which pays for substitute teachers. Demlow makes the trip available to up to 20 students, and some students have gone all four years they were in school.

Before the students go out each spring, they are given a short course in caving safety. Demlow says they are taught to use a lighted helmet, and overalls to keep out the mud and water. They also view a video and learn to use ropes and harnesses in case the group will be going into deep caves.

Once inside the caves, the group uses fluorescent tags to mark their way, which they retrieve on the way back. Students are taught to help each other, and not to go off alone. So far, Demlow says, the group has not had any accidents.

"We have a lot of different kids," Demlow says.

"They get put in vans, camping, caves and they have to work together. We've never had any complaints. They just learn you've got to take what's there."

Jessica Gillespie, who graduated this year, took her first trip to the caves at the behest of her best friend and boyfriend. She wasn't sure what to expect, except that the trip would be fun.

What Gillespie found was a dizzying maze of caves that defied any sense of direction. She saw rock formations in the shape of honeycombs and some that flattened out like a table. She said it was exciting to be in a mysterious place, an experience she had never felt before.

"We study the animals — endangered bats, crayfish and fish without eyes — and the geology of the rocks. They go there and it's a hands-on experience of what we learn (in the classroom)."

— Craig Demlow

"There was one spot where you could climb a steep walkway, and the rest of the group was 100 feet below you," Gillespie says. "You had to be really careful that you didn't bump up against the walls so you didn't disturb the bats and the calcite formations."

"The scariest thing that I saw was when I was sliding through a tunnel and there was a bat on the wall next to me and I almost hit it with my helmet," she adds. "Everywhere you turned, we got confused in the caves."

Brian Smith, also a graduating senior, says he decided to go on the trip after his brother went the previous year. Smith had never been in caves before but found he enjoyed the challenge.

In particular, Smith liked the bugs and bats, in addition to animal-shaped rocks carved from water. He says the group had some tight spots and ended up covered in mud, but were able to rely on each other to make it through.

"You had another person there helping you out," Smith says of his compatriots. "Everybody got along pretty well. I ended up making new friends on the trip, and I still talk to them today."

It's that type of camaraderie and excitement that keeps Demlow coming back to the caves each year, he says. The kids get to know each other well as they ride down, camp and help each other in the caves.

Demlow says he always sees something new, even in caves he has gone to before. This year, the group saw a rare bat, which Demlow says is one of the few left in the country.

But mostly what Demlow likes is allowing his students to see a different side of their teacher and different personalities of their classmates.

And he does it with just a bit of humor.

"We have our own definition of spelunking," Demlow says. "We tell the kids that to tell how deep a cave is we throw them over the edge and (they) go 'spelunk' at the bottom."

"For some of the kids, it's a challenge to get there and back. Many of them have never done something like this before. They enjoy it, and that's why we do it every year."

Maines drops law school for teaching

By Michelle Rogers
Associate Editor

Having come from a broken home, Andrea Maines grew up with the desire to help children of similar circumstance.

She considered a career as an attorney, specializing in family law, and went as far as to take the law school admissions test. But the prospect of paying for three more years of college was not appealing, especially after accumulating a lot of debt as an undergraduate.

It was a group of friends who eventually steered her toward her career today.

"They told me, 'Andrea, you don't seem to fit that bill (as an attorney). They said I should be a teacher,'" Maines recalls. "I guess I heard it enough that I thought maybe I'd give it a chance."

This year, Maines marked her seventh year as a teacher at Beach Middle School.

Maines did her student teaching at Beach under supervising teacher Bert Kruse. Teacher Jim Hoelt was Maines' mentor her first two years. Both have since retired.

"That was a highlight for me — to work with both of them," Maines says. "They were terrific teachers and terrific people."

"They guided me in those first crucial years as a teacher. They taught me more than any college class ever could."

Maines was hired in 1992 by then-principal Darcy Stielstra, who had remembered her as a student teacher and called her for an interview.

"I figured if he was calling me, he must want me here. So that's all it took," she says.

It was in 1991 that Maines earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan. She studied history, comparative religion and Latin.

Since high school she had wanted to become a lawyer because she wanted to help children of divorce. But Maines says she discovered teaching was the better route.

"I realized I could have more of an impact in a child's life and early on than in a courtroom setting," she says.

"I thought, 'Wow, look what I might be able to do.' That's what struck me right away. You can be such a part of their lives. It's a scary thing, really, you have so much influence."

So after earning her bachelor's degree, Maines returned to the U-M School of Education for a teaching certificate.

"After I took my first education class, I knew that was it," she says. "Once I got into it, I fell in love with the profession."

Maines teaches English, language arts and geography as part of a two-hour block to three, seventh-grade classes at Beach. Maines says she integrates the curriculum. For instance, when her students study Asia, they also read a book based on Asian culture.

Having studied history in college, it's no surprise social studies is her favorite subject to teach.

"I love teaching about social issues — things that affect everybody," Maines says.

TEACHER FEATURE

"I think it offers a unique way to teach kids about the world and the importance of understanding people and cultures. So hopefully the differences are seen as just differences and not something strange."

Maines says she has high expectations for students but uses a sense of humor in her classroom.

"I would say I am very fair and consistent," she says.

"I really like the kids to be active. The kids are always doing something. I am not a lecturer."

Students in her class take responsibility for their learning through such activities as the Middle Eastern Bazaar. After a nine-week lesson on the Middle East and North Africa, students have researched a country, and have learned some of the language and customs. At the bazaar, they dress in costume and prepare authentic dishes to share.

"It's just really exciting because the kids take ownership in their learning and they become the teachers," Maines says.

It's at the middle school where Maines says she has found her niche. She considered high school but decided at the time she looked too young.

"I did not think I would get the respect I would need with high school students because I looked like one of them," she says.

After completing her student teaching at Beach, Maines says she was hooked on middle school.

"I enjoy their energy and their sense of humor, sense of need and curiosity," she says.

"They challenge you. They basically say to you, 'Make me

Dogs complete a dream season at state tourney

Senior McKenna Houle had the toughest assignment of all in the finals and semifinals as she had to pitch 21 innings in two days, something she had never done before.

By Frank Dimich

Special Writer
Margaret Schick and McKenna Houle promised each other they'd get back to the MHSAA final four after getting there as freshmen in 1998.

Here in 1999, they fulfilled that promise, and this time came back with hardware to commemorate the occasion.

That hardware was the MHSAA Division II runner-up trophy for the Chelsea softball team.

A two-run sixth inning by Wyoming Rogers (37-2) prevented Chelsea from winning its first state championship since 1985 and gave the Golden Hawks a 3-1 win in the final Saturday at Bailey Park in Battle Creek.

That sixth included three hits — a double and two run-scoring singles — that gave the Golden Hawks seven to Chelsea's two.

"They just strung hits together," Schick said.

Chelsea coach Ronny O'Brien said the hitting gap was the difference, as Chelsea struggled with the changeup of pitcher Tonya Coates.

"Her changeup really threw us off," O'Brien said. "We got a little too aggressive because we were going after it so often."

Houle, pitching on her 18th birthday, took the loss as she struck out nine and walked none.

Chelsea took a brief 1-0 lead in the second as Lindsay Powers walked and Ingrid Biedron singled her in. But Rogers came right back in its half of the second with three hits, and scored on a single. Celeste Bycraft had the only other hit for Chelsea, a single to center in the fourth.

O'Brien expressed no regrets whatsoever about the Bulldogs' season, which they finished at 34-13. Remember, the Bulldogs did start off the season a bit slowly, at one point losing three straight near the beginning of the season to go to 4-4. This made their run all the more impressive in O'Brien's mind.

"The kind of run we put together was amazing," she said. "To see girls come back shows a lot about them."

"We don't have one person that cares about individual attention. They're interested in playing hard for each other."

They also won their fifth straight Southeastern Conference championship with a 13-1 finish.

O'Brien attributes much of the team's success to the type of close-knit group the Bulldogs were this season, led by the seven seniors — Houle, Schick, Biedron, Celeste Bycraft, Katy Long, Karen Kuhl and Meghan Holfka — who all played their last game Saturday.

"I've had a lot of fun and great coaches," Houle said. "I've played with people on this team I'll never forget."

ALL-STATE HONORS. Houle was named first-team All-State and Schick was given honorable mention. Houle finished 29-7 with a .69 earned-run average. Schick led the team in batting with an average that hovered around .450 most of the season. She stole more than 60 bases, which led all teams in all divisions in the final four.

The team earned Academic All-State honors with a combined 3.38 grade-point average. Three players were named individually: Schick, Holfka and Biedron.

O'BRIEN CONTINUES TRADITION. In her second season as coach, O'Brien has helped to continue the tradition of Chelsea softball by coaching her teams to back-to-back 30-plus win seasons, including two SEC championships, two districts and a regional title. Her record is 66-23.

Assistant coach Kathy Sprawka talks about defense.

Betsy Ruhlig put the Bulldogs in front in the finals as she scored on a hit by Ingrid Biedron.

Chelsea fans treated to thrilling week of softball

By Frank Dimich

Special Writer

In the course of about an hour Friday afternoon, Lindsay Powers went through a wide range of emotions.

First, she was ecstatic about hitting a two-out, two-strike, run-scoring double in the bottom of the ninth that just grazed the chalk on the right-field line, which gave the Chelsea softball team a 1-1 tie with Trenton in the MHSAA Division II semifinal at Bailey Park in Battle Creek.

"I was praying to God it was fair," Powers said. "I knew it was up to me to do it. I was so emotional about it."

Then, after breaking her glove in the 14th inning, those emotions turned to frustration. It was out of that frustration that she hit a triple in the 14th in almost the same spot — except a little longer and a little more fair — and eventually was driven home by an Ashley Augustine single to give the Bulldogs a 2-1 win.

Long game (3 hours, 11 minutes to be exact). Lots of emotion. Powers probably felt it more than anyone.

"I was frustrated, I was thinking 'Just get us out of this game,'" said the junior first baseman about the triple. "Now I'm glad it's over."

But through it all a sense of happiness and accomplishment as this win put the Bulldogs (32-13) in the state final for the first time since they last won the state title in 1985. The win also avenged previous losses to Trenton: 3-2 in the Chelsea Invitational earlier this season and 5-0 in the regionals last season.

And it didn't come without a game that was scoreless until the top of the ninth when Trenton (30-10-1) scored on a bunt single.

In fact, in the seventh through ninth innings, it looked like Chelsea and pitcher McKenna Houle would wear down first as the Trojans were hitting the ball solidly.

But after Powers' double, the tide turned. Houle settled down and the pace became more relaxed, at least from the Bulldogs' perspective.

"Because McKenna has been in those types of situations before, I knew the longer she went, the better she'd be," Chelsea coach Ronny O'Brien said.

Houle was confident the Bulldogs could come back as well. "I was getting tired but I wasn't throwing any slower," she said. "We've been in so many 2-1 games, I had confidence we'd come back right away."

Shortstop Margaret Schick said it was just a matter of not panicking. "I think we tried to stay calm and relaxed," she said. "We've overcome errors before."

That was demonstrated in the Bulldogs' execution, which O'Brien was pleased with. In fact, O'Brien actually set up the two-out situation for Powers in the ninth by having No. 4 hitter Celeste Bycraft lay down a bunt to move over

Houle, who had singled. "We executed things so well," O'Brien said. "We sort of fell back into the other pressure situations we've faced."

Houle got the win to go to 29-6, as she struck out 14, walked one and allowed eight hits. Freshman Erin Lesko took the loss for Trenton (30-10-1), striking out six, and allowing 11 hits.

The thrill of victory overcame the Bulldogs after Ashley Augustine's clutch single in the 14th inning drove in the winning run against Trenton in the state semifinal game.

Houle also led the Bulldogs' hitting, going 3-for-6 and scoring the tying run in the ninth. Powers and Jessica Herman were each 2-for-6 and Schick, Bycraft, Augustine and Karen Kuhl each had hits.

Chelsea advanced to this game by beating Marine City 2-1 in eight innings June 15 at Lake Penton.

And in this game, they were also down 1-0 as Marine City scored in the bottom of the second on a single and an error. But like with Trenton, they stayed focused on coming back.

"We talked going in that we would play every inning like it's 0-0," O'Brien said. "We talked a lot about how we've come back so many times."

Sure enough, Chelsea tied it in the fourth on a single by Powers that scored Houle, who also singled. The winning run came on a hit-and-run as Houle hit it into the ground back to the pitcher, which allowed Kuhl to just get in under the tag.

Houle struck out nine, walked no one and gave up seven hits. The run was not earned.

The Bulldogs had a hit in every inning, including three in the fifth. Even that wasn't an indicator of how well they hit in this game.

"There were a lot of balls hit hard right at people," O'Brien said.

Kuhl and Augustine, who were each 3-for-3, led the hitting.

David Bell of Chelsea shot his first turkey on May 8 on private land in western Washtenaw County. The bird had a 10 1/4-inch beard and weighed 21 pounds.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY ON... ITS SELF-SUFFICIENCY

The fact that the Word of God is all self-sufficient so as to furnish the Christian with all that is necessary to be acceptable to God, affirms that religious traditions of men are unnecessary as requirements for religious direction. The following are things which God expects to accomplish in the Christian's life through His Word.

- It has the power to change lives
The Word of God is completely able, if obeyed by an honest individual, to change the moral behavior of that individual to be well-pleasing to God. (2 Tim 3:16-17; 1 Pt 2:1-2; 2 Pt 1:3; 1 Thes 4:1-2; 3 Jn 3-4).
- It has the power to save souls
Jesus said that if we keep His Word we will never eternally die (Jn 8:51; Jn 8:24). The Word of God is sufficient to eternally save one's soul (At 11:14). The Word of God is the perfect law of liberty that gives principles by which we have the liberty to direct our lives according to the will of God (Jms 1:25).

If we trust in the power of God's Word as well as living a lifestyle that is acceptable to Him, we will see that the Bible holds true to what it claims.

Fifth-graders take tour of Detroit, Ann Arbor airports

They saw a bomb-detecting dog sniff out trouble, walked through a metal detector and even climbed aboard a real airplane.

Twenty-six students from Ron Lacro's fifth-grade class and five adult chaperones recently spent the day touring Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport and, later, stopped by Ann Arbor Municipal Airport. At Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport, Supervisor Cindy Clarke first informed the students about some airport statistics: more than 31 million people used the airport in 1998, 13,000 people work there and 86,000 passengers land and take off from there every day.

After an escalator ride, students then met Cpl. Bill Childress from Airport's Explosive Detection Team and his 4-legged partner, a 12-year-old yellow Labrador named Buddy.

Buddy is one of five working dogs in the airport trained to sniff out explosive devices.

The students watched Buddy sniff out a hunk of C4, a material used in plastic explosives that Childress had hidden earlier in a wall.

Childress lifted Buddy's floppy ear and showed the children a small, green tattoo. "Buddy carries his badge number in his ear," Childress said.

Later, Lizzie Wilkinson, 10, of Chelsea, commented that she enjoyed seeing Buddy go through his paces. "I like knowing they actually like using canines."

Part two of the tour involved seeing more of the terminal operations. Clarke pointed out that the airport is just like a city. "It's open 24 hours a day and, just like in your town," she said, "there is a police and fire department, post office, shops, ATMs and restaurants. It even has its own zip code."

Students were shown how to read an airline's flight arrivals and departures monitor and how to properly walk through the metal detector.

They were also allowed to sit down inside an airplane. Wiggling in their seats, the students could hear the whir of jet engines outside their windows. They examined tray tables, safety cards and seat belts.

All the while, Clarke patiently answered questions.

Afterwards, Brad Foster, 10, of Chelsea, leaned up against a sky bridge. "I liked going through the detector," he said, adding he went through one before when he was on vacation in Florida.

Lacro admits he enjoys outings to airports because he loves to fly. "I wanted to get this across to the kids. So many children have never been on a plane, and there are so many job opportunities out there," he said.

Brad Foster sits in an airplane at one of the airports students visited recently.

Students in teacher Ron Lacro's classroom paid a visit to Detroit Metropolitan Airport recently.

want to learn, and that's a great challenge.

"It's challenging professionally and it's challenging emotionally, but it's also rewarding."

Maines basically has two rules in her classroom: treat others with respect and no excuses.

"Respect is always a big rule," she says.

"As far as excuses, Maines says she doesn't want to hear them.

"I give them a break. I'll let them turn in a couple of assignments late," she says. "But they have a job to do and their job is being a student, and that has to be one of the most important things in their lives."

"I always tell them, 'Don't be afraid of hard work. It's something to be proud of, not afraid of."

Maines says she is an approachable teacher. She wants students to know that they can talk to her about anything. She has shared her own experiences of growing up in a divorced family, and hopes students who are in a similar circumstance feel comfortable talking to her about it.

"I try to open myself up to the kids so they feel they can open up to me about those things," she says.

"I want them to know that despite all of the troubles they may be having, school can be a place where they can excel and a place where they have control over what's going on.

"I can show them how school saved me," she says.

Maines says she hopes students see her as someone who cares about them inside the classroom and out.

"I hope they perceive me as someone who truly cares about what they're going to make of themselves in their lives," she says.

"I am constantly telling them that I care about them succeeding and doing well on their assignments and tests.

"I know my importance will fade as they get new teachers and grow up, but I hope they see me as an important part of their middle-school life and someone who really cares about what they learn."

Outside the classroom Maines supports students in athletics, music and other interests.

"You try to get to know the kids as more than just a student," she says.

Growing up, Maines says three teachers played an influential role in her life. Maines' third-grade teacher hugged her every day and made her feel safe.

"That was so important to me," Maines says.

Her middle school orchestra teacher was supportive outside of the classroom, also showing Maines how much she cared.

"She would drive me home from lessons because at the time my mother was a single parent and always working late," Maines recalls.

It was her high school history teacher who Maines says pushed her to do her best.

Today she tries to emulate each of the qualities she appreciated in those teachers.

Besides working with two of Chelsea's top-notch teachers, Maines says a highlight of her career was being named one of the nation's top 100 first-year teachers. She was nominated by Stielstra and former Superintendent Joseph Piasecki.

"That was so exciting. There were thousands of first-year teachers. Being chosen one of the top 100, I was thrilled," she says.

Maines says she has found her calling as a teacher. She enjoys teaching and says she will make a long career of it. What she looks forward to is each new school year.

"I love change," she says. "It keeps things fresh and exciting."

Besides her classroom duties, Maines has been involved in extra-curricular activities at the schools. She coached the junior varsity softball team from 1992 to 1996. For the past two years she has been the assistant coach for the girls golf team at Chelsea High School.

Maines also has chaired the middle school's Social Studies Department for the past five years and she serves as a building representative for the teachers' union.

Since 1993, Maines has coordinated the Chelsea-Shimizu Exchange Program with Deborah Oakley, a local resident. On Monday, they sent their fifth group of students to Japan for an exchange. Maines has made the trek three times and Beach science teacher Carol Strahler has chaperoned the past two years.

"I am very busy," Maines concedes, "but I wouldn't have it any other way."

When she is not in the classroom or coaching athletes, Maines is on the softball diamond. She plays twice a week through Chelsea Recreation. Maines met her husband, John, while playing on a recreational softball team in Howell. They live in Somerset Township, south of Jackson. Maines has two step-daughters, Heather, 12 and Laura, 10.

Besides softball, Maines enjoys golf. She plays on two leagues. She also is an avid reader and enjoys historical fiction. She is a big documentary film fan, as well.

b. Apply for and accept grants, loans, or contributions from the Federal Government or any of its agencies, the State, or other public or private agencies or individuals to be used for any of the purposes of the Act and to do any and all things within its express or implied powers necessary or desirable to secure that financial or other aid or cooperation in carrying out any of the purposes of the Act.
c. Enter into any contracts with other entities not prohibited by law.
d. Investigate emergency services requirements, needs and programs and engage, by contract, consultants as may be necessary and cooperate with the Federal Government, State, political subdivisions, and other authorities in those investigations.

e. Subject to the terms and conditions of Section 10 of the Act, hire employees, accountants, attorneys, and consultants as the AUTHORITY considers necessary to carry out the purposes of the AUTHORITY.

Employees of a municipal emergency service whose duties are transferred to the AUTHORITY shall be given comparable provisions of employment with the emergency services established by the AUTHORITY, shall maintain their seniority status and benefit rights of the position held in the municipal emergency service, subject to the exceptions and provisions of Section 10(2) of the Act (MCL 124.610(2)). The AUTHORITY shall have all of the power provided by Section 10 of the Act and be subject to all of the provisions, restrictions and limitations therein with respect to employment.

The AUTHORITY may levy a tax upon all of the taxable property within the limits of the AUTHORITY for the purposes of the Act. If the AUTHORITY levies a tax, the AUTHORITY shall structure its budget such that any of the INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY will not be liable for any funds above and beyond the tax levies that are collected except as outlined previously in this Article regarding waivers of billing fees and in the PRE-INCORPORATION AND FIRE ADMINISTRATIVE BOARD AGREEMENT in Sections 3.4 d. and 3.4 e. The tax shall not be levied without the approval of a majority of the registered electors residing within the AUTHORITY's jurisdiction and qualified to vote and voting on the tax at a general or special election. The election may be called by resolution of the BOARD of the AUTHORITY. The Secretary of the AUTHORITY shall file a copy of the resolution of the BOARD calling the election with a clerk of each INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY not less than 60 days before the date of the election. The resolution calling the election shall contain a statement of the proposition to be submitted to the electors. Each municipal clerk and any other municipal officials of an INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY shall undertake those steps to properly submit the propositions to the electors of the AUTHORITY. The election shall be conducted and canvassed in accordance Michigan Election Law, Act 118 of the Public Acts of 1954 (MCL 168.12, 168.992). The results of the election shall be certified to the BOARD promptly after the date of the election. Not more than one election may be held in the AUTHORITY in a calendar year for approval of a tax. If the election is at a special election, the AUTHORITY shall pay its share of the costs of the election.

Taxes authorized by these Articles may be levied at a rate not to exceed twenty (20.00) mills and for a period as determined by the BOARD in the resolution calling the election and as set forth in the propositions submitted to the electors.

The tax rate shall be levied and collected as are ad valorem property taxes in the State, and the Secretary of the BOARD shall at the appropriate times certify to the proper tax assessing or collecting officers of each INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY the amount of taxes to be levied and collected each year by each INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY. The BOARD shall determine on which tax roll, if there is more than one, of each INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY that the taxes shall be collected. The taxes shall be levied, collected and paid by each tax assessing and collecting officer and the County Treasurer to the AUTHORITY as provided by law.

In those INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITIES whose territory is not entirely included within the service area after the applicable assessment roll is certified for collection, the assessor of that INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY shall annually separate upon its assessment roll, those properties lying within the geographic service area and those lying without. The assessor shall then determine the total valuations of those properties within and those properties outside of the service area, and advise the AUTHORITY of the respective valuations. The AUTHORITY shall then apportion the collected tax revenues from that INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY annually into two (2) accounts:

- A. One account determined by the ratio between the valuations of property within the service area to the total valuations of the INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY, and
- B. One account determined by the ratio between the valuations of the MUNICIPALITY's property outside of the service area to the total valuations of the INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY.

The account determined under paragraph A, above, shall be used by the AUTHORITY for emergency services within the total service area pursuant to its budget.

The account determined under paragraph B, above, shall be used by the AUTHORITY for emergency services in the INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY's territory, outside of the service area, under an Inter-Local Agreement with that INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY, other municipalities, agencies or providers of emergency services, pursuant to Act 7 of the Public Acts of 1967, extra session, (MCLA 124.501 et seq), Act 33 of the Public Acts of 1951 (MCL 41.801 et seq), or any other provision of law authorizing the provision of emergency services. The AUTHORITY shall not be required to incur any liability beyond the amount determined under paragraph B, and the INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY shall remain primarily responsible for the furnishing of services outside the service area, and ultimately liable for any excess expense over the amount determined. Fiscal year surpluses shall be maintained in an escrow account solely for the provision of emergency services (as described in Article III) that are not within the AUTHORITY's service area within the INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY. During any fiscal year, when the funds determined under paragraph B have been depleted, any funds in escrow, from prior year surpluses shall be utilized to cover expenses. After any escrow account funds have been depleted, excess expense shall be billed to the INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY in regular intervals until the beginning of the next fiscal year.

Any INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY may levy a tax on all of the taxable property within the limits of its political subdivision and appropriate, grant, or contribute the proceeds of the tax to the AUTHORITY for the purposes of the Act or to provide sufficient money to fulfill its contractual obligation to the AUTHORITY, which tax shall be within the charter statutory constitutional limitations.

ARTICLE XVI IMPROVEMENTS: FINANCING

The AUTHORITY may acquire, construct, purchase, improve, enlarge or extend buildings for the provision of emergency services, and the necessary sites therefor, together with appurtenant properties and facilities necessary or convenient for the effective use thereof, and furnish and equip the same.

The INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITIES shall take whatever action is legally necessary for the purpose of obtaining funds to finance the cost of acquiring, constructing, purchasing, improving, enlarging or extending buildings for the provision of emergency services, and the necessary sites therefor, together with appurtenant properties and facilities necessary or convenient for the effective use thereof, or furnishing or equipping the same, including, but not limited to, any and all action required to establish a joint building authority pursuant to Act 31, Public Acts of Michigan, 1948, as amended. The INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITIES shall, if necessary, pledge their full faith and credit toward the repayment of any obligations incurred to obtain funds to finance the cost of the improvements described in this Article XVI.

ARTICLE XVII EMPLOYEES

The BOARD shall have the power to hire all necessary officers and employees to carry out the functions of the AUTHORITY and affix the compensation therefore provided, however, that no officer or employee of any INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY shall receive any compensation from the AUTHORITY except by the unanimous vote of the Trustees of the BOARD. It is further understood that the BOARD may contract with any INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY as to the employment of employees.

The BOARD is authorized to hire a Fire Chief and to establish other command staff positions as needed.

ARTICLE XVIII AUDIT

The BOARD shall cause an annual audit to be made of its financial transactions by a certified public accountant and shall furnish at least two copies thereof to each INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY.

ARTICLE XIX PUBLICATION

These Articles shall be published once in The Chelsea Standard, Chelsea Michigan, and once in the Town Crier, Stockbridge, Michigan, which newspapers have general circulation within the limits of the AUTHORITY. One printed copy of the Articles of Incorporation, certified as a true copy, as hereinafter provided, with the dates and places of publication shown by publishers' Affidavit of Publication attached hereto, shall be filed with the Secretary of State.

The Clerk of the Village of Chelsea is hereby designated as the person to cause these Articles to be published, certified and filed as aforesaid. In the event that he or she is unable to act or shall neglect to act, then the President of the Village Council of the Village of Chelsea shall act in his or her stead.

ARTICLE XX EFFECTIVE DATE

This AUTHORITY shall become effective upon adoption by all of the governing bodies of the INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITIES, if adopted prior to June 30, 1999, but not thereafter.

ARTICLE XXI AMENDMENTS

As of the adoption of these Articles of Incorporation, Dexter Township is acknowledged as not wanting to join the AUTHORITY as an INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY. Given the history of cooperation that the INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITIES have with Dexter Township in the provision of emergency services as described in Article III, at any time prior to the approval by the AUTHORITY of a millage ballot question, Dexter Township may become a part of the AUTHORITY by simply adopting these Articles of Incorporation without the need for approval by the governing bodies of the INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITIES, and providing notification to the Secretary of the AUTHORITY. By adopting these Articles, Dexter Township then agrees to fulfill the same obligations with respect to the AUTHORITY as the other INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITIES.

These Articles of Incorporation may be amended at any time so as to permit any county, city, village, township or charter township to become a part of this AUTHORITY if such amendment to the Articles of Incorporation is adopted by the governing body of such county, city, village, township or charter township proposing to become a Trustee, and if such amendment is adopted by the governing body of each INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY of which the AUTHORITY is composed. Other amendments may be made to these Articles of Incorporation at any time if adopted by the governing body of each INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITY of which the AUTHORITY is composed. Any such amendment shall be endorsed, published, certified and printed copies thereof filed in the same manner as the original Articles of Incorporation, except that the printed and filed copies shall be certified by the secretary of this AUTHORITY.

These Articles have been adopted by the several INCORPORATING MUNICIPALITIES:

- LIMA TOWNSHIP
- LYNDON TOWNSHIP
- SYLVAN TOWNSHIP
- WATERLOO TOWNSHIP
- VILLAGE OF CHELSEA

FARM BUREAU FUN FACT

We hear about the 5-A-Day Program from the National Cancer Institute, which expounds the value of eating five or more servings of fruit and vegetables a day, but what is a serving? Drink a six-ounce glass of 100 percent fruit or vegetable juice — that's a serving. One piece of whole fruit is a serving, as is one-half cup equals one serving. One-quarter cup of dried fruit, such as raisins, equals one serving. Try to pack some leafy vegetables into a one-cup measure. If it's well-packed, that's a serving. Cook up some peas, beans or lentils and one-half cup equals one serving.

IS FOR UN

Whether you're buying or building,

now's the time to make your move.

Because of recent low interest rates, financing your home costs less today than it has in the past. So buying your first home may be more affordable than ever. Or if your family is growing you can probably afford a bigger home and still hold on to a budget. We cannot guarantee these low rates will stay around for long. That's why you should apply for a mortgage from United Bank & Trust today. You can be approved in as little as 24 hours and ready to move in a couple of weeks.
