Postal Service wants Palmer site

■ Village won't appeal decision.

By Will Keeler
Staff Writer

The U.S. Postal Service has decided to build the new village post office at 222 S. Main St., where the Palmer Family Ford dealership is now located.

The decision will become final following a 30-day appeal period, but Village Manager Jack Myers said officials won't appeal the decision.

David Howard, a real estate specialist with the Postal Service, informed Village President Richard Steele last week that the 2.2-acre Ford dealership site was chosen over the former Meabon's TV Appliance and Furniture property on M-52.

Steele said that the village would like to have all of the village offices centrally located in the downtown area.

"Having the post office in this area, would be icing on the cake," he said.

Previously, the Village Council entered into a purchase agreement for $1.5 million with Palmer Ford's Biff Weber for the site.

Weber said that he plans to move the dealership to the other side of town.

Ann Arbor developer Rene Papo of Magellan Properties and the village have a lease agreement for portions of the property and have worked in cooperation to redevelop a concept plan for the site.

"The Palmer Ford site is the preferred site, but they have a lot of work to do," Howard said. "They still haven't figured out how to get the trucks in and out of the area."

The Meabon property has access for the 55-foot-long trucks that are expected to make five trips in and out of the post office a day. Currently, the trucks come in and out twice a day.

Steele said that before the site plan is finished some kind of traffic engineering test will have to be done, so the contractors can get an idea how the traffic will flow.

Putting this project together has taken a lot of cooperation on everyone's part, Steele said.

He said that when the post office issue was first proposed to residents, they overwhelmingly said they wanted it to remain downtown.

The current post office, which has more than 4,000 square feet, has limited parking and room for services.

Mastie earns Lifetime Achievement Award

By Sheila Pursglove
Staff Writer

Chelsea resident Marjorie Mastie, supervisor of assessment services for Washtenaw Intermediate School District, recently received the Lifetime Achievement Award from the American Council on Education's General Educational Development Testing Service in Washington, D.C.

She is the first recipient of the award, established to honor individuals who have consistently made contributions to the GED program that have had lasting significance at the national level.

"Mastie's contributions have enhanced the international GED program," said Joan Auchter, executive director of the program.

"Her initiatives have swept the gamut, from forming partnerships with local military recruiters to providing leadership in developing a partnership between the GED Testing Service and a national franchise."

Mastie has run a highly successful GED Testing Center at Washtenaw Intermediate School District since 1983. The center is now one of the largest in the United States.

Last year, over 2,000 Washtenaw County residents earned high school equivalency credentials through the WISD program, enabling them to move into higher education, more productive employment, military service or other areas requiring a diploma.

Mastie has served on the national GED Advisory Committee and the GED Psychometric Panel, written several documents for the American Council on Education, and launched a new outreach effort to employers needing workers with upgraded skills.

State GED Administrator William King praised Mastie's contributions in GED examination development, testing security, accommodations for the disabled, testing center standards, and GED program outreach to individuals and employers.

The tests of General Educational Development began in 1942 with the development of a battery of tests for U.S. military personnel who had not completed high school. The program now tests over 800,000 individuals around the globe each year.

Mastie and her husband, David, moved to Chelsea two years ago, after 32 years in Ann Arbor.

"We're enjoying working in the garden, exploring everything Chelsea has to offer, shopping and dining in town and seeing shows at the Purple Rose Theatre," Mastie says.

A native of Holland, Mich., Mastie grew up in Ann Arbor. She earned a bachelor's degree in English, and a master's degree in guidance counseling from the University of Michigan.

Mastie was working toward a doctorate in guidance counseling and assessment when she was offered a position with the National Assessment Educational Program, an opportunity she refers to as once in a lifetime.

Mastie has taught at the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Eastern Michigan University, and been a classroom teacher and high school counselor.

She and her husband have two sons, Scott and Andrew, and five grandchildren.

A Chelsea boy was seriously injured and two passengers escaped with minor injuries in a single car crash on Waterloo Road, near McKinley Road, last Friday. Police said the crash occurred after the vehicle, traveling west on Waterloo Road, rounded a corner and the driver lost control.

The Chelsea Community Fairgrounds is known by residents to be a place for entertainment, relaxation and enjoyment. However, last Thursday night the fairgrounds became home to a different type of entertainment in the form of a public meeting. The meeting was sponsored by a group called the "Bipartisan Committee to Eliminate Political Corruption in Lima Township." Andrew Adrian, Democratic challenger for Lima Township supervisor; Betty Messman, incumbent running for treasurer; and Harold Trinkle, an incumbent running for another term as trustee, comprised the core of the meeting.

Chelsea police officers Frank Reed and Carl Koch traveled at speeds of 90 to 120 mph in a chase that ended just beyond Green Lake on M-52 with the arrest of David C. Ripley, 18, of Rives Junction. The two police officers took up the chase when they noticed the car with a noisy muffler traveling at approximately 85 mph as it headed out North Main Street across the railroad tracks. Ripley appeared before justice of the peace Chandler Rogers in Sylvan Township Justice Court Friday on a charge of reckless driving. He was fined $20 and assessed $3 in court costs.

The new building would have 110 parking spaces and additional post office boxes, which would increase mail volume.

"This will be a traditional building along the street for a walkable community and it will hide the parking," Papo said.

Papo said there would be two-story buildings that look like the structures downtown. They will be close to the road and have some trees around them.

The village will own the land and lease it for $24,000 a year to the developer in a land-lease agreement for 30 years. After that time, the buildings would become the property of the village.

Recently, results have come back from the phase 2 assessment that included soil boring samples and checks for any contaminants on the property, Steele said.

"There were some small amounts of contaminants, but nothing abnormal," he said.

"An old oil tank was found underground. The tank, when it's full, is used to heat the current facility in the winter, and it was recommended to be taken out," Steele said.

He added that in the coming weeks a baseline assessment will be conducted by a local environmental agency.

Village water users support new equipment

Survey results show 3-1 support for new water softener system.

By Lisa Allmendinger
Staff Writer
By a 3-1 margin, Chelsea Village water consumers support the installation of new water softening equipment to the village's water system. It will cost the average user $2 more per month but homeowners will no longer need individual units. A survey was sent to about 1,800 village water consumers in early October and about 570 responses were received by the village's Oct. 17 deadline. About 75 percent were in favor of adding the state-of-the-art system.

The request for water customer input, both industrial and residential, follows the Village Council's decision to install a new well and construct a water treatment plant on a newly annexed piece of property north of the village limits off Werker Road.

The proposed softening process would eliminate the need for village residents to have individual water softeners in their homes.

The proposed softening process uses a semipermeable membrane known as a reverse osmosis membrane to filter out the minerals in the groundwater. The process reduces the hardness of the water to an acceptable level, according to information provided by the village.

No salt or other minerals are added to the water during the process.

The improvements to the village's water system will begin this winter. The system should be operational by next winter.

The cost of these improvements will be funded in two ways: new user tap fees and a water rate increase.

For Chelsea residents and businesses, the average water bill for those using 5,000 gallons of water per month will increase by about $20 a month over a multiple-year period.

The cost of adding the water softening equipment will mean a $2 increase to the average water bill in addition to the cost of the mandatory improvements.

According to the village, the benefits of adding this equipment are:

- Residential customers will not have to pay for or run their own water softening equipment.
- Billable water use will decrease due to the discontinuation of a home softener cleaning cycle called regeneration.
- Softened water prevents scaling and extends the life of pipes, water heaters and appliances.
- The softening filters also remove contaminants, offering improved safety and ability to meet future regulations.
- The new system will improve water color, taste and smell.

The equipment will soften the village's well water to a hardness of 100 parts per million, or 5.8 grams per gallon. This is a level deemed acceptable by the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality.

According to the village, a typical home water softener uses an ion exchange process to swap the sodium in salt for the calcium, magnesium and other minerals in the groundwater, which make up the hardness.

Enough sodium is added to the water that health advisories are given to those on low sodium diets to avoid drinking water softened using this process.

No such advisories are required for water softened through the reverse osmosis membrane process proposed by the village water softening system, however.

for two trustee seats in Lima. Current trustees Robert Heller and Harold Trinkle chose not to run. Donald Laler (R), Gregory McKenzie (R) and Marshall Thomsen (D) will vie for the two open seats.

In Lyndon Township, incumbent Maryann Noah (R) is running unopposed for supervisor. For the clerk position, Janis Knieper (R) is also running unopposed for a position she currently holds.

Incumbent Treasurer Nancy Ellen McMurray (R) is also running without opposition.

John Francis, a current trustee, is not running again. There are three candidates vying for the two open trustee seats. They are incumbent LeeAnn Shanahan (R), Kathryn Francis (D) and Thomas DeKeyser (D).

Voters in Lyndon Township also will be asked to vote on a local ballot question about the formation of a township police department.

The special ballot question calls for 2.75 mills on the taxable value of real and personal properties, which means $2.75 per $1,000 of taxable value per property in the first year, and 1.5 mills for the next five years.

In Scio Township, the candidates all are running unopposed. They are E. Spaulding Clark (R) for supervisor, Gay Korschuh (R) for clerk, and Donna Palmer (R) for treasurer.

There are four available seats for trustee. Current board members Jerry Schleicher (R), James Cameron Jr. (R) and Charles Ream (R) hope to retain their seats.

Aaron Machnik chose not to seek re-election. Newcomer to the race is Gordon Darr (R). Darr is a current Dexter Village trustee. If elected, he will have to resign his seat in the village.

In Dexter Township, Robert Tetens (D), an incumbent, runs unopposed for supervisor.

Longtime Clerk Bill Eisenbeiser will not seek re-election.

Current Township Board Trustee Harley Rider (R) is running for the position. Julie Knight (R), the township's treasurer, is running unopposed.

There are two open trustee seats in the township. With Rider running for clerk, his seat on the board becomes open. Incumbent Elizabeth Brushaber (R) and newcomer Mike Howard (R) hope to fill the slots.

In countywide races, Ronald Schebil (R), Dan Minzey (D) and Gaia Kile (Green Party) square off for county sheriff.

In the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners District 1 race, Joseph Yekulis Jr. (R) of Chelsea, the incumbent, faces Wendy Burkhardt (D).

Separation of Church and State

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

One thing the Reformation of Martin Luther accomplished in the 1500's was to validate the authority of a secular government functioning independently of the church. Before Luther's time church and state were totally intermingled, with the church claiming authority over the government. Luther himself couldn't fully picture a society in which church and government functioned independently of each other, though his teachings laid the groundwork for it.

Of course Jesus 1500 years earlier had affirmed the independent authority of the government when He made His famous statement, "Give to Caesar what is Caesar's, and to God what is God's" (Matthew 22:21). Peter and Paul said similar things in their inspired writings.

There's a great temptation for churches to forget that. We look at the injustices in our world and we naturally want to correct them. And as citizens, we are permitted to attempt that, and to influence our government. But the church's mission is spiritual, and for a church to dabble in government or to try to rally its members to support or oppose certain candidates or issues is contradictory to the church's spiritual calling.

There is a vast difference between the way the church and the government need to approach issues. The church can say, and must say, about a given issue, "This is God's Word. Take it or leave it!" and if someone refuses, the church might have to deny them fellowship.

The government has to deal with all kinds of people, goodly and ungodly, and must operate on the basis of human reason and force. Although governments base their laws on moral principles, a lot of harm can be done when a government passes laws it can't enforce, even though the laws may be good ones. So, unlike the church, the principle of compromise comes heavily into the practice of government.

Faith Lutheran Church will respect the authority of government. We will not tell people whom to vote for, or even distribute "Vote's Guides." We will pray for the welfare of our nation, for our leaders, and for next week's elections.

But our main concern as a church is that God's Word can function and His Kingdom grow.

Bill could lower drinking limits

■ Local police say it's unlikely to make a big difference.

By Heather Cary and Will Keeler

Heritage Newspapers

People drinking and driving may soon have to start watching how much they are actually drinking.

Congress recently passed a transportation appropriations bill that included a provision requiring states to adopt a lower level at which a person is considered drunk or risk losing highway money.

By 2004, states must establish 0.08 percent blood-alcohol content as the standard for legal intoxication. Eighteen states and the District of Columbia already have the lower level but states such as Michigan consider 0.10 percent the legal limit.

"If they decide not to implement those standards, they lose a percentage of their federal highway funds, 2 percent in 2004," said Kathleen Long, a spokesperson for Michigan Sen. Carl Levin. Between 2004 and 2007, states would lose an additional 2 percent each year.

States that adopt the lower levels after 2004 but before 2007 will be reimbursed for the lost money.

Based on figures through 2003, Michigan could lose up to $11.5 million in the first year if it fails to implement the new standards.

While similar legislation has gone to Congress before, restaurant and liquor interests lobbied against it saying it would hurt business.

But owners of local restaurants don't necessarily agree.

"I don't think it's going to make that much of a difference," said Paul Cousins, co-owner of Cousins Heritage Inn.

"Our patrons come in for lunch and, most of the time, will have one glass of wine with their meal," Cousins said.

"People who come into our restaurant are here to eat a lot, not drink a lot," he said.

Cousins said he and his employees feel responsible for their patrons. If they thought someone was intoxicated, they would ensure that person returned home safe.

While it would take more than a second glass of wine to reach 0.08 percent, studies show after three or four it's possible.

For a 170-pound man, it would take about five drinks within one hour on an empty stomach to reach the lower alcohol level. For a 140-pound woman it would take about three drinks.

Sen. Frank Lautenberg of New Jersey, sponsor of the bill, said the lower alcohol levels could save lives.

A study published in the American Journal of Public Health concluded that if all states adopted 0.08 blood-alcohol laws, there would be 500 to 600 fewer fatal crashes each year.

In 1996, 9 percent of alcohol-related traffic fatalities, about 4,000, involved drivers who were under the 0.10 percent blood-alcohol content.

"It won't have much of an impact, because a blood-alcohol level of .07 is considered legally impaired," said Washtenaw County Lt. Mike Radzik.

Chelsea Police Chief Lenard McDougall agreed that dropping the level won't have much of an effect on the area.

On average, McDougall said, he may make two drunken driving arrests a week in the Chelsea area, but it really depends on the time of the year.

Radzik said that as of Oct. 15, the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department has had 442 drunken driving arrests, compared to 390 for the entire year of 1999.

He said that the increase of arrests this year is due to more training and increased patrolling.

Yenkel loses battle with cancer

■ Recent walk-a-thon raised more than $50,000.

By Lisa Allmendinger
Staff Writer

Courage comes in many forms for many people.

For 36-year-old Christy Yenkel, the courage to fight breast cancer came from the love of her young children, Nathan and Maria, and her husband, Mark.

Her courage was sustained by her family and friends, and the more than 350 people who participated in the second annual 5K walk for the Christy Yenkel Cancer Fund held Sept. 16 at Hudson Mills metropark. The event raised more than $50,000.

On Oct. 5, Yenkel, died of cancer at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital surrounded by her family and friends, peacefully and gently, according to those by her side.

Her funeral was held on Oct. 7 at St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church in Ann Arbor and she was buried at Bethlehem Cemetery in Ann Arbor.

Since her first treatment for breast cancer on April 28, 1999, Yenkel's life had been an emotional roller coaster that had taken place in and out of hospitals, clinics and doctor's offices.

But throughout it all, she remained courageous, steadfast in the thought that with all the advancements in breast cancer treatment, there would be something that would work for her.

Courageously, she left the hospital and spoke to all the participants at the Sept. 16 walk-a-thon, thanking them for supporting her efforts to help others who were suffering with the same disease.

The proceeds from this year's event benefited the Circle of Care, the joint collaboration of the University of Michigan Comprehensive Cancer Center and McCauley Cancer Care Center.

Yenkel was born Aug. 17 in Royal Oak, and attended Pioneer High School. She was a graduate of Eastern Michigan University.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Christy Yenkel Friends Fund, P.O. Box 3049, Ann Arbor, MI 48106 or St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church Building Fund.

Long-awaited regional plan gets green light

■ Officials to discuss how to implement plan.

By Lisa Allmendinger
Staff Writer

The Chelsea Area Planning Team unanimously approved the Chelsea Area Regional Plan Oct. 23 and has scheduled a meeting of all the boards and planning commissions from the village of Chelsea and Dexter, Lima, Lyndon and Sylvan townships.

The meeting will take place at 7 p.m. on Dec. 7 at the Washington Street Education Center. At the meeting, village and township officials will discuss how to implement the plan.

"I'm very proud to say that after two years of continuous effort on the part of all local units of governments, we're finally reaching an end point in this process where we will be able to present a final plan to the community," said Washtenaw County Commissioner Joseph Yekulis, a member of the planning team.

What started out as a cooperative program for police, fire and libraries has turned into a regional plan that will form the basis for updating local master plans, said Erin Perdu, a senior planner for the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission.

"It's another layer, like the county master plan," Perdu said. "There's no legal authority."

The plan will become a policy statement and, in turn, part of the local planning and zoning ordinances. How this process will be implemented will be ironed out at the December meeting.

"I think this speaks well of a tight-knit community that's able to collaborate on projects that are in the best interest of the community," Yekulis said.

The regional plan will serve as a guide to help the planning and zoning boards in these municipalities when it comes time for making decisions on land use.

This regional concept, which hopes to provide better uses of land for the future, utilized projected population growth figures from the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments to determine the future population of the area.

The project marks a collaborative effort to "guide future events to achieve a better environment in which to live, work and play," according to the draft.

The regional plan takes into account both the present and projected land uses in the five participating municipalities. It is considered a "working plan" that can be used area wide to plan "the most efficient and logical allocation of land uses," according to the document.

It takes regional development beyond "individual political boundaries," the document says.

The goal for the collaborative effort is to retain the rural character of the area and create consistent zoning through the neighboring areas. This requires that the individual municipalities adopt the regional plan as a part of their master plans.

Planning for projected population growth in the Chelsea area has been a concept that's been kicked around since the spring of 1996.

"Our village and township leadership should be lauded for their ability to achieve our final vision for the future," Yekulis said.

The history of the regional plan takes into account that the population around Chelsea has increased 94 percent since 1960, and is expected to increase another 23 percent by 2020, according to figures provided by Yekulis.

Household size is decreasing, while the number of households is increasing, according to the same document.

In the 1990s, almost 200 building permits were issued in each of the five Chelsea area communities, the document says.

Armed with these figures, the planning group has met monthly since 1996 and explored the issues of growth and development, including new schools.

Officials have discussed roads and utilities, including the M-52 bypass, financial opportunities in the form of state grants, zoning as it pertains to general development plans and annexations and public service issues.

It all comes down to a balancing act: How best to deal with growth issues in an area that has park, wet and other environmental areas, agricultural, rural, urban and lake residential areas, as well as manufactured housing, general, local and light industrial.

"This plan provides the basis upon which local unit master plans can be developed, and in turn, zoning and land-use decisions can be made," the plan's introduction says.

Gourlay named library trustee

By Sheila Pursglove
Staff Writer

At its Oct. 17 meeting, the Chelsea District Library Board selected John Gourlay to serve as an at-large trustee, succeeding the late Dick Lee, who died in June.

Gourlay's term will run through December 2002.

The Lima Township Board recommended Gourlay for the position. Candidates were solicited from the village of Chelsea and Dexter, Lima, Lyndon and Sylvan townships.

In addition to Gourlay, Mike Williams of Sylvan Township and Gregory DeGraff of Chelsea Village, were also under consideration for the position.

The addition of Gourlay rounds out the library board membership as the library moves toward facility expansion downtown.

Gourlay, who holds a doctorate in computer and communication sciences from the University of Michigan, is a software engineer for Bauer Controls in Ann Arbor, providing software and controls for testing in automotive assembly plants.

He has also taught computer science at Ohio State University and the University of Michigan.

He participated in the campaign to adopt the library millage and bond proposals.

Gourlay is a member of the Chelsea School District Technology Committee, which helped design and plan the district's new computer and communication facilities.

He volunteers in many school activities, including sponsoring a Chelsea High School computer club, and coaching math students entering state competitions.

Gourlay, who enjoys running, canoeing and cross country skiing, is involved with several food buying cooperatives and is active in Amnesty International, as well as other volunteer organizations.

He and his wife, Kathie, have been married for 27 years and have lived in Lima Township since 1987. They have three children, Ken, Lara and Genny.

Residents pile leaves under traps to keep them dry

Leaf-burning compromise met

■ Township waiting on final approval from the DEQ.

By Lisa Allmendinger
Staff Writer

Pending approval from the state Department of Environmental Quality, residents in the Stoffer Court area will be able to burn their leaves again.

Residents, who have not made other arrangements for leaf removal, have been raking their leaves and have piled them up under tarps to keep them dry.

A limited leaf-burning compromise includes two four-day periods, beginning Friday and running through Monday. This will be followed by a second weekend, from Nov. 10 through Nov. 13.

In the event of rain or bad weather, additional weekends will be added.

Permits must be obtained from the fire department. Fire Chief Dan Ellenwood said he will closely monitor both the fires and the weather conditions.

The closely monitored limited-burning period will take place from dawn until dusk.

"This is an interim solution," Ellenwood said.

The chief told residents that to keep the smoke to a minimum, they should rake and tarp the leaves to keep them as dry as possible. He also suggested burning them on grates with cinder blocks to keep them up off the ground.

"Keep working the pile," he said.

If there is a fire going, he said it must be attended.

Ellenwood said he has been keeping a close watch on burning and would not issue permits if the weather conditions weren't conducive to keeping smoke at a minimum.

This compromise follows repeated efforts by Dexter Township Supervisor Robert Tetens to find an amicable solution to the complaints about leaf burning from area residents. Some have cited health concerns.

Except in this specific area, where complaints were filed with the DEQ, township residents are able to burn leaves as a means of disposal from sun up until sundown.

Both township and state laws will be in effect during this limited burn. All fires must be out at sundown.

Tetens said he was going to send a letter about the plan to the DEQ. He hopes that with the colder weather and less leaves on the trees, the smoke will dissipate while residents are allowed to burn their leaves.

Opponents of leaf burning cite health concerns for their stand. They say the heavy canopy of trees and the direction of the wind in the area forces the smoke into their homes.

"If the smoke is coming our way, we're going to call the chief," said Herb Mida, one of several outspoken opponents of any leaf burning in the area.

Mida and other nearby residents point to the state regulation that says, in part: "... a person shall not cause or permit the emission of an air contaminant or water vapor alone or in reaction with other air contaminants ... that cause the unreasonable interference with the comfortable enjoyment of life and property."

Opponents of leaf burning say that the smoke is not only irritating, but also a health issue.

The chief assured them that if the wind is blowing from the east or the south toward Forest Court or if it's raining, he will not issue permits.

He also suggested residents haul the leaves as far from Forest Court as possible, adding that a high-pressure day is the best for burning leaves.

It is hoped that in November, when windows are closed, and there is a lighter canopy of leaves, the effects of burning will not be as adverse.

Continuing efforts have taken place for more than three years between township officials and area residents, and limited burning is seen as a temporary solution.

The chief said he would not issue leaf-burning permits for the area in the spring and other methods of disposal will have to be found.

The original proposal offered to residents in a letter from Tetens, contained provisions for a limited-burning period in both the fall and in the spring.

One resident said he'd found someone who might be willing to haul the leaves from neighbor's properties, and he said he'd research it further.

In the meantime, a permit must be issued for leaves, sticks and twigs in burn barrels of any other type of recreational fire.

Residents will be informed of the final DEQ decision by a letter from the township.

CSB opens Dexter branch

Chelsea State Bank Dexter Banking Center, Chelsea State Bank's first office location outside of Chelsea, opened to the public on Oct. 23.

A ceremonial ribbon cutting featuring officials from the village of Dexter, the planning commission, zoning board and the Dexter Area Chamber of Commerce, along with bank officers and directors, Dexter schools officials, and the project planning team, kicked off a grand-opening week of activities.

The 4,721-square-foot facility is located at the corner of Dexter-Ann Arbor and Dan Hoey roads, across from Dexter Chevrolet. The facility has four drive-up banking lanes and ATM service, and employs a staff of between eight and 12 people.

The bank is part of Dexter Commerce Center, a small, planned unit development that will occupy approximately five acres on the triangular corner.

During its Grand Opening Days, the bank is offering daily refreshments, special product promotions and door prize drawings that include a two-year free lease on a new automobile as the grand prize.

"On behalf of our directors, officers, our staff and myself, let me say how excited we are to be here in Dexter, and to be finally open for businesses, even before we opened," said John Mann, bank president and CEO. "Our goal is to provide the best community banking services possible by supporting and responding to the needs of our customers."

Longtime Dexter area resident and Dexter High graduate David Klumpp is the bank's office manager in Dexter.

The Chelsea State Bank Dexter Banking Center offers an extensive range of commercial and residential service, and products including: on-line banking, ATM, Check Card, and Bank Access Phone Banking.

There are onsite loan officers, safe deposit boxes and Internet customer account access at two lobby computer stations.

As part of its grand opening celebration and as an expression of its commitment to the needs of the Dexter community, the Chelsea State Bank Dexter Banking Center recently made a $10,000 contribution to the Educational Foundation of Dexter.

Understanding The Law

with Leonard K. Kitchen, J.D. and Thomas L. Stringer, J.D.

PRODUCT LIABILITY

Aside from harms caused by negligence and intentional acts, injured parties may also recover damages for harms caused by commercial products. Consumers are protected from defective products by product liability laws, prior to which, in order to recover damages, injured parties had to sue the product's manufacturer based on the theory of negligence. That is, the consumer had to prove that the manufacturer knew, or should have known, that the product was going to cause injury. Now, product liability laws hold manufacturers strictly liable if the product was defective or unreasonably dangerous and caused injury or death. This latter standard is easier to prove than negligence because it does not go to the state of mind of the manufacturer.

If you have been injured by a defective product, don't be intimidated by the size and considerable resources of the manufacturer; large corporations, as well as small, must comply with the law; and, in fact, the larger a business entity is, the greater ability they have to compensate consumers fairly for their loss or injury. To schedule a complimentary consultation, call the LAW OFFICES OF KITCHEN & STRINGER at 426-4695. You'll find our offices conveniently located at 3249 Broad Street, in Dexter. We also handle cases involving family law, real estate, and business law.

HINT: The condition of the product and whether it caused injury are the main issues of product liability.

Elect David Brooks
Sylvan Township Supervisor

To prevent your taxes from subsidizing overdevelopment, it will take strong leadership in Sylvan Township.

Community leaders must take on the responsibility to protect our community in the face of many conflicting agendas.

In the past, Townships have not been very successful in this struggle. I will research the few successes in Michigan and, armed with this knowledge, work with citizens to develop a strategy appropriate for Sylvan Township.

Local government impacts you directly. I am running without party affiliation because I believe that Sylvan Township citizens need to join together to maintain our community quality of life.

Theatre Guild to present musical

The Chelsea High School Theatre Guild will be singing and tap dancing when it takes to the stage for a production of the Tony Award-winning musical "42nd Street."

The performance is set for 8 p.m. Nov. 16, 17 and 18 at Chelsea High School auditorium.

Tickets, which cost $8 each, are available at the Chelsea Pharmacy.

The show is a backstage drama about dancers putting on a show called "Pretty Lady."

The main theme is the story of a young understudy who makes it big on Broadway when she replaces the lead actress in an emergency, and has to rise to the occasion.

Set during the Depression years, the musical is based on a 1933 movie of the same name. After being adapted as a musical, it opened on Broadway in 1980.

Rob Hohnke plays the show's director, Julian Marsh. Sarah Maynard plays an aging actress cast in the leading lady role, and Elizabeth Branch plays the young ingénue chorus girl, thrown into the lead part when fate takes a hand.

The musical features big production numbers, simple, catchy songs, and lots of tap dancing.

Getting as many as 20 dancers to tap in synchronicity is no easy task.

"It's basically a rhythm instrument, so all the beats have to be happening at the same time," Hohnke said.

Some of the musical's best-known songs are "We're in the Money," "I Only Have Eyes For You," "Lullaby of Broadway" and the title song.

Government office closes

The Chelsea Secretary of State branch office at 1113 M-52 will be closed through Dec. 8 for a major renovation and remodeling project.

The office will reopen 9 a.m. Dec. 11.

In the meantime, business may be transacted at branch offices at 353 N. Maple in Ann Arbor or at Jackson Crossing.

Business hours for these locations are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Wednesday.

Chelsea Milling earns award

■ Company finds creative ways to reduce waste.

By Sheila Pursglove
Staff Writer

Chelsea Milling Co. believes in the three R's: Reducing, Reusing and Recycling.

The company's efforts have resulted in it winning the Washtenaw County Waste Knot Award for the second consecutive year.

The award will be presented next spring, close to Earth Day.

"The Waste Knot program was developed to help local businesses with their waste prevention and recycling programs," said Kathy Cencer, program spokesperson.

"Through the annual awards program, businesses that excel in their efforts to preserve and protect the environment are honored as Waste Knot partners."

Each applicant is evaluated in its waste-reducing business practices, operation of a strong recycling program, use of recycled content products and employee education of waste.

In 1999, Chelsea Milling Co. managed to reduce its waste output by 88 percent, going from producing 180 cubic yards of waste a week to only 80 cubic yards a month.

Even animals get a taste of the company's famous Jiffy Mix.

The company devised a method to collect any mix that falls on the floor during production, to sell to a company that cleans and recycles the wasted mix into animal feed.

Perhaps their greatest achievement was to work with a supplier to reduce the amount of shipping waste entering the facility by eliminating plastic liners in bags that were otherwise recyclable.

"Church & Dwight, makers of Arm & Hammer sodium bicarbonate, were shipping the product in paper bags lined with plastic. The company had developed a brand of sodium bicarbonate that could be stored in recyclable paper bags and by making the change to the different brand, the amount of waste was vastly reduced," said Dudley Holmes, owner of Chelsea Milling Co.

Fresh pork has shaped up and slimmed down. Today's pork is, on average, 31 percent lower in fat, 14 percent lower in calories and 10 percent lower in cholesterol than in 1983. The reduction in fat, saturated fat, calories and cholesterol is a result of pork producers making genetic, feeding and management improvements.

The bags are then sent to Great Lakes Recycling.

The move also saved the company money on landfill charges and costs for transporting waste to the landfill.

Holmes, who has begun asking other ingredient suppliers to use recyclable bags, estimates that recycling paper products has saved the company over $10,000 in a six-month period.

Cencer was also impressed by the company's reuse of adding machine tape.

"Staff rewind the paper tapes from adding machines and then reuse the reverse side, which is both cost saving and reduces the amount of trash," she says.

"Reduction and reuse is even better than recycling."

New employees at Chelsea Milling Co. are introduced to the waste reduction and recycling program, and all staff are periodically reminded and updated about the program.

The company also closes the recycling loop by buying recycled content products.

Common sense keeps children safe

By Jessica McArthur
Heritage Newspapers

It's a beautiful sunny day and you're sitting on your front porch watching your 9-year-old son ride the new toy you bought just days earlier. It's the latest miniscooter, which he just "had to have."

All of a sudden, you see the scooter swerve to the left, and a terrifying look comes over your son's face. He has hit a large crack in the sidewalk and is now lying face down, wailing from the pain of a scraped knee.

These tiny new scooters have become widely popular with children, but there is a growing concern about safety.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission reported more than 4,000 injuries this summer, and children younger than 15 accounted for most of those.

But is this really any reason to take the scooters off store shelves? Like skateboards, roller skates, in-line skates and bicycles, injuries are expected to happen if precautions are not taken.

Critics of the new style of scooters are concerned about the model's narrow wheels, which are similar to ones on fast-moving in-line skates. The scooter also has a metal frame that weighs less than 10 pounds.

The commission is reporting that many of the children riding the scooters are ending up in the hospital.

Shouldn't we be looking at what they are going to the hospital for before condemning the use?

The majority of injuries reported last year were cuts, scrapes, bruises and sprains, and about a third involved broken bones or dislocation.

The commission also says that most of the scooter-related injuries could have been prevented or lessened if riders had been wearing helmets, wrist guards and knee and elbow pads.

So, what is this report really telling parents? It is saying that just like all of the riding toys that you have bought in the past, caution should be taken when riding these scooters.

These kinds of injuries can happen whenever a child is involved in an activity. Isn't it a part of being a kid to get an occasional scrape or bruise?

Parents shouldn't take away the scooters; we can't lock our children in the house to prevent a few scrapes.

When your son or daughter is using a scooter, bike or skates, use common sense and the proper equipment to keep your child safe.

Could you imagine what your childhood would have been like without riding your favorite bike?

Grant supports patient initiative

A statewide organization in Michigan recently was awarded a grant to help select health-care facilities, including long-term care facilities, home health agencies, and small, community-based hospitals, improve pain management practices.

Supported by a grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, the program is administered by the American Alliance of Cancer Pain Initiatives, based in Madison, Wis.

The Michigan Cancer Pain Initiative is one of seven statewide pain initiatives throughout the nation to receive a $16,500 grant under a new program to institutionalize effective pain management practices.

State Pain Initiatives are voluntary inter-disciplinary organizations composed of health professionals, educators and patient advocates dedicated to promoting the relief of cancer pain, as well as other types of pain.

Under the requirements of the program, the Michigan Cancer Pain Initiative will recruit teams from approximately 20 healthcare facilities to participate in a 10-month-long educational program to improve pain management.

The teams will participate in workshops on pain assessment, the use of drug and non-drug therapies to manage pain, and establishing and implementing a process for improving pain management practices within their own care settings.

The Michigan Cancer Pain Initiative was chosen to receive the award because of its demonstrated commitment and leadership in improving pain management in the state.

Fifty million Americans suffer from chronic pain and each year another 25 million experience acute pain as a result of injuries or surgery. About one-third of people with cancer have pain at the time their disease is diagnosed and more than two-thirds with advanced disease have pain.

Much of the pain for which people seek care goes untreated. Although most, if not all, cancer pain can be effectively managed. It is estimated that one-half to three-quarters of cancer patients with pain are inadequately treated.

Four out of 10 people with moderate to severe chronic pain do not receive adequate relief, and only one in four of the millions of people who have surgery have their acute pain adequately relieved.

Property Damage

Malicious destruction of property was reported at Bates Elementary School, 2704 Baker Road, Oct. 27. A Whitmore Lake man called police when he saw someone driving on the school's lawn. He gave police a description of the vehicle and a license plate number.

The car was registered to a 17-year-old Ann Arbor boy. He said he did it on a dare from his friends. He told police that he did not mean to do any damage and offered to make restitution.

Chelsea Village

Property Damage

A 65-year-old Chelsea man told Chelsea police that his 1995 Buick was struck and damaged while parked in the parking lot at Polly's, 1101 S. Main St., Oct. 26. The man said his mechanic noticed the damage to the driver's side headlight about a month ago. It will cost $360 to repair the vehicle.

Larceny

Larceny was reported at the Washington Street Education Center, 500 Washington St., Oct. 28. An 18-year-old football player said someone stole a sterling silver necklace valued at $50, as well as $10 cash, from his locker while the Bulldogs played the Huron River Rats on home turf Oct. 13. The incident happened between 7:30 and 10 p.m.

Larceny was reported at Chelsea High School, 740 N. Freer Road, Oct. 24. A biology teacher told police that someone stole three electronic scales from a locked cabinet in her classroom between Sept. 21 and Oct. 24. The scales are valued at $288 each. Police have no suspecks.

Hit and Run

A hit and run was reported at the intersection of Main and Pierce streets Oct. 20. A 36-year-old Manitou Beach woman told Chelsea police a woman driving a 1985 Mercury Marquis struck her 1996 Chevy Monte Carlo and fled the scene. A witness provided a license plate number to police and the suspect, an 18-year-old Jackson woman, was spotted in Chelsea three days later.

The woman admitted to police that she struck the vehicle but said she left the scene because it appeared as if everything was OK since the other driver was pulling away. She was cited for failing to stop and identify herself at the scene of a property damage accident.

Crash

A bicycle and car reportedly collided at the intersection of Main and Middle streets Oct. 25. A witness told police that the bicyclist struck a late model Lincoln that was approaching the intersection. The witness said the victim, a 24-year-old Chelsea man, refused medical treatment. His bike sustained damage to the front wheel. The driver left the scene when the bicyclist said he was OK.

Warrant Arrest

Dennis W. Beaty, 23, of Belleville was arrested on a warrant for obstructing justice. Michigan State Police troopers arrested Beaty and transferred him into the custody of Chelsea police. A Chelsea police officer drove him to Washtenaw County jail.

Scio Township

License Suspended

A 28-year-old Ypsilanti man was arrested Oct. 26 for operating a vehicle with a suspended license, no registration and no proof of insurance.

A sheriff's deputy stopped the man on Jackson Road near Jackson Plaza at 7 p.m. A check of the Law Enforcement Information Network showed the man had two prior convictions of driving with a suspended license.

In addition, a Breathalyzer test proved he had been drinking. The suspect had a .019 percent blood-alcohol level, which is within the legal limit to drive.

The man was issued three citations and taken to jail.

Disorderly Conduct

A fraternity party was shut down at Jeffery Arena, 3990 Jackson Road, Oct. 25. Sheriff's deputies helped Ann Arbor Police, University of Michigan Police and the Scio Township Fire Department with crowd control.

Police reported that a crowd of more than 1,000 people was gathered outside in the parking lot trying to get inside.

Inside the building police saw a DJ booth and several hundred people. Police reported that many of the people waiting to get in said they couldn't leave because the people they came with were inside.

After several unsuccessful attempts to disperse the crowd, police called the fraternity organizers and ordered them to shut down the party.

Assault and Battery

Assault and battery was reported at Banfield's Westside, 5510 Jackson Road, Oct. 12. A 38-year-old Ann Arbor man was taken to the University of Michigan Hospital after he was attacked by a 30-year-old Ypsilanti man. The victim was reportedly intoxicated and starting rubbing the suspect's wife's shoulders. The suspect reported that he told the man to stop, but the man did not.

The suspect then punched him in the face and the victim fell to the floor.

The suspect was kicked out of the bar and police arrived minutes later. A deputy later met the victim at the hospital. The victim said he had too much to drink and he did not want to press assault charges.

Embezzlement

Embezzlement was reported at McDonald's restaurant, 373 Zeeb Road, Oct. 15. A manager told police that $98 was missing from a cash register. Management suspects a temporary employee, but cannot prove it. Police suggested better security measures be put into place.

Embezzlement was reported at Burger King restaurant, 151 Zeeb Road, Aug. 30. A report was filed Oct. 16.

The manager provided police with a list of people who have access to the safe. He said $1,284 is missing. He said all of the managers have keys to the door and the combination to the safe.

Larceny was reported in Scio Farms Estates, 6855 Jackson Road, Oct. 23. A 28-year-old man told police that between 10 p.m. Oct. 23 and 8:30 a.m. Oct. 24, someone broke the rear passenger window of his truck and stole $1,000 worth of property, including arrows, a bow, hunting jacket and radio.

Damage to the man's truck is estimated at $400. Police have no suspects.

Larceny was reported at Pilot Travel Center, 185 Baker Road, Oct. 24. An 18-year-old employee told police that a man came into the store at about midnight and bought a pack of cigarettes. She said the man kept changing his money and asking how much the cigarettes were. She didn't think she gave him any extra money, but her cash drawer ended up $120 short.

Larceny was reported at Pilot truck stop, 195 Baker Road, Oct. 23. A 48-year-old employee told police that a man in a newer vehicle pumped $20.45 worth of gasoline and left without paying. The woman got the license plate number of the suspect, who lives in Chelsea.

Police left messages at the man's home asking him to contact Pilot and make restitution. Managers at the truck stop said they will not press charges if the man pays.

Larceny was reported at the Meijer construction site on the corner of Jackson and Zeeb roads Oct. 20. A man working with the onsite trenching company said someone stole a nail gun when the work crew took a lunch break at noon Oct. 18. The nail gun is valued at $300.

Domestic Assault Domestic assault was reported in Scio Farms Estates, 6855 Jackson Road, Oct. 23. A 37-year-old woman told police that her 16-year-old son attacked her and her 12-year-old son.

The victim said her son is not obeying her rules and is smoking marijuana and cigarettes. When she came home from class at 8:30 p.m., she said he hadn't done any of his chores.

When she confronted him, the woman said her son threw a glass of water on her and broke a plate on the kitchen floor. She said he then flipped a table over and tried to take the TV off its stand, but couldn't disconnect it.

The woman said her younger son threatened to call the police and the suspect punched him in the back, knocking him down. Then she said he got on top of the boy and began hitting him. She said she hit her older son to make him stop and then he attacked her.

The woman said her son grabbed her hair and put her in a headlock. Then he hit her in the face and chest. He then hit the wall with his fist and left the house.

The suspect told police that he was acting in self-defense and that his mother hit him for no reason.

Property Damage Malicious destruction of property was reported in the 5000 block of Versailles Road Oct. 19. A 29-year-old man told police that between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. someone damaged his garage door. Police speculated a truck may have turned around in the driveway, accidentally striking the garage.

Violation of Personal Protection Order

A 22-year-old man told police that a 38-year-old woman had entered his trailer without permission and was violating a personal protection order because she was not allowed on the premises. The man is renting the trailer from the woman and her estranged husband.

Police found the woman intoxicated and sitting inside a bathroom sink cabinet in the trailer. She was arrested for violating the court order.

Home Invasion Home invasion was reported in the 2700 block of Sagebrush Street Oct. 19. A 27-year-old man told police that someone entered his apartment and ransacked his bedroom. He said several pictures of him and his girlfriend were damaged.

Police said it appeared someone used a key to enter the home. The man said he didn't have any suspects in the case. But he did say he recently broke up with his girlfriend and works with his ex-girlfriend's father.

Found Property

A construction crew working in the 5000 block of Jackson Road found a purse and turned it over to police Oct. 9. Identification in the purse belongs to an Ypsilanti woman.

Chelsea man gets prison term

School employee convicted of kidnapping

Former Chelsea resident Steven Goddard was sentenced Oct. 24 to a minimum of four years and three months in prison for an April 18 kidnapping in Chelsea.

Goddard, 34, was convicted after an Aug. 7 jury trial of kidnapping his former girlfriend from JB's Party Center & Deli in Chelsea, where she worked, and taking her to a motel near Birch Run.

Washtenaw County Circuit Judge Donald E. Shelton sentenced Goddard, a former Chelsea School District employee, 51 months to 77 months in prison, or no more than six years and five months.

Goddard was also sentenced to five to 60 months in prison after pleading guilty to being a felon in possession of a firearm. Goddard had pleaded guilty to that charge in September.

Goddard denied kidnapping his former girlfriend, Tammy Jean Daily, claiming she had called him the night before and asked him to meet her the next morning.

Goddard told the judge that he was guilty of using bad judgment and apologized for wasting the court's time.

Restore honor to the White House

HEINZ

HOMEFRONT

Throughout the 15 years that I have been the owner of the Heritage Newspapers, I have never influenced or attempted to influence the editorial position of any of the newspapers within the Heritage family. Certainly, I intend to continue to respect the journalistic integrity of each of the newspapers long into the future.

I don't consider myself a writer; in fact, I've never written a column before. Yet, as we approach Election Day — a critically important day for our region and our great nation — I find myself compelled to share with you why I believe George W. Bush best answers America's call for a bold new leader.

Some of you may be reading this and saying to yourself that you wouldn't expect me, a Republican, to vote any other way.

Yes, I share the core values of the Republican Party. But those of you who know me well know that I embrace a bipartisan spirit when it comes to selecting the candidate who will best make Downriver, Michigan and America a better place to live and raise a family.

Over the years, I have proudly supported Congressman John Dingell, Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara and Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer — all Democrats with whom I share many common denominators despite our party line differences.

This election year, I have dedicated my energies to helping George W. Bush reach the White House. I have done so for a number of reasons.

First, and most importantly, I know Gov. Bush, and I know what kind of individual he is. I can say without reservation, he is a man of immense character, intellect and integrity. He is an upright, decent individual who can relate to all Americans — from the Motor City autoworker to the small town farmer to the big city business owner to the start-up entrepreneur of all colors and cultural backgrounds.

Secondly, I want my two children to look to the White House with pride. I want them to look at the Oval Office not with cynicism and embarrassment, but with respect for its political and ethical integrity. I believe George W. Bush will restore the much-needed honor and integrity to the greatest office in the world.

I also am endorsing George W. Bush because he is a man who looks for answers, not political advantage when it comes to addressing the nation's issues. He has a proven track record of working with Republicans and Democrats alike to build consensus.

He's a man who thinks government can be a little more practical and a lot less partisan. And, he is an individual who believes that one of government's most critical roles is to free its citizens to achieve their highest potential in pursuit of the American Dream.

Having come to this great country nearly 40 years ago with little more than a pocketful of dreams and my toolbox in hand, I know firsthand about realizing the American Dream. And, I know how important it is for government to create an environment where creativity can flourish and where people can live an idea and do well for themselves, their families and their communities without being stifled by government.

George W. Bush understands what the American Dream is all about. He knows this dream is being realized each day as people go to work to build a better world for their children and their children's children. He knows what it takes to create jobs and meet a payroll. He knows how to bring Republicans and Democrats together to work for the common good of all people. He knows how to rally Americans together, not divide people along economic and social lines.

One of the most important reasons I am casting my ballot for George W. Bush is because of my passion for the automotive industry. As Lee Iacocca, former Chrysler chairman, has said, "Al Gore may see the car as our enemy, but in Michigan, it's our jobs."

As we all know, the auto industry is our state's most important economic engine. This industry has touched my life for over 37 years. During that time, I have seen my company grow from a one-man sunroof installation shop to a global automotive supply company, providing jobs to many people worldwide. I want to see this kind of growth continue for all of us within this industry.

That's why I'm voting for George W. Bush.

He doesn't hold extreme or radical views on the automobile industry. Instead, I believe he will encourage investment in new technologies that will positively impact the auto business. Furthermore, it is my belief that he will encourage innovation and promote high-tech job growth, helping Detroit and Michigan further their competitive stance in the global marketplace.

When I cast my vote on Tuesday, I will let my conscience be my guide. I will pull the curtain around me and cast my vote not for a Republican or a Democrat, but, rather, for the candidate who will bring us together as a nation, not separate us. The candidate who will lead our nation by setting the highest possible standards of public and private conduct. And, the candidate who understands and fosters the American Dream in all.

As I exit the polls, I also will remind myself how blessed I am to be a citizen of this great nation, a nation of freedom and possibilities. I have always said that I am a German by birth, but an American by choice.

The American spirit that inspired me and has motivated millions of other immigrants to come to this country is the same American spirit I hope will inspire you to support George W. Bush for president of the United States.

Heinz Prechter of Grosse Ile founded ASC Inc. and now is the chairman of Prechter Holdings, the parent company of Heritage Newspapers. He is generally known as one of the most influential fund-raisers for the Republican Party.

Chelsea Library Board decision irresponsible

When we first learned of the Chelsea Library Board's purchase of the Robert Riemenschneider home at 121 Orchard St. we were both confused and alarmed.

What could the library want with a property that was not adjacent to the empty lot on the corner of Orchard and Main streets?

This is a residentially zoned property, sitting between two private homes in a residential neighborhood.

We have since learned that the board quickly moved to close on the property, spending $192,000 of our tax dollars when, in the words of the board president, they had no short-term or long-term plans for the property.

It is now clear that the long-term plan for the property is to remove the home from our neighborhood to provide a "green space buffer" between the new library and the neighborhood.

But the taxpayers in this district have not approved a bond to build a new library! Meanwhile, we are all paying for utilities, insurance, taxes and maintenance on a property that could sit vacant for many years.

At the most recent board meeting, the board discussed the problem of insuring a vacant home and the liability issues around occupying it. It appears they cannot rent it, use it, or leave it empty.

Why weren't these questions asked before the purchase? Why are we continuing to pay for a piece of property that does not serve the district in any way? Is this an indication of the library board's fiscal responsibility if they are given $6 million to spend on new construction?

While we are in support of the library remaining downtown, the impulsive and irresponsible purchase of this property with tax dollars should have all district residents concerned about the library board's ability to make reasonable financial decisions that serve the needs of this community.

District library board made wrong decision

At the Sept. 19 Chelsea District Library Board meeting, residents of Orchard Street expressed their concerns about the library's purchase of the Robert Riemenschneider home at 121 Orchard St. Prior to this meeting, I personally spoke with, or contacted by mail, every family on our street.

I did not talk with one single person who was in favor of this purchase and its implications for our neighborhood. Nine of us attended the meeting. Since then, we have organized two heavily attended neighborhood meetings, sent two representatives to attend the October library board meeting, made numerous phone calls and are still trying our best to stay on top of this situation.

The library's long-term plan for this home always has been clear. The home eventually will be removed and it is still unknown by the library what will take its place. However, we learned at the Oct. 17 meeting that the short-term plan is becoming much more problematic.

Apparently, the library board didn't do its homework before the purchase and has faced a variety of roadblocks to its use of this empty house. It is becoming increasingly worrisome that they may be forced to remove it sooner rather than later.

The library will be asking district residents to vote for a bond proposal next September to build a new library. Every resident of Orchard Street, including myself, wants to see the library back on the corner of Orchard and Main streets. However, this bond to build the new library has not yet passed, and removing a home from our neighborhood before it does, would seem to be the board's most irresponsible act yet.

At the end of the Sept. 19 board meeting, a board member abruptly asked us, "Well, what's it going to take to please you people?" At our neighborhood meeting last week, we finally came up with our answer:

This property is not critical to the building of the library on this corner.

Please put a "for sale" sign in the front yard and sell it to a nice family. It is a very pretty, old house that has been renovated and lovingly cared for, for many years. Our neighbors have lived there, grown flowers in the yard in the summers, decorated it for the holidays and passed out treats at Halloween. We have watched their children be born and one grow to adulthood.

This isn't just a house, it has been someone's home for at least 100 years and is part of the fabric of this old section of Chelsea.

The library board has consistently expressed a desire to be good neighbors to Orchard Street. This would be its best opportunity to be just that.

School officials should review bus transfer

I am the mother of three elementary-aged children in the Chelsea School District and a resident of Sylvan Township. After viewing the bus transfer at Beach Middle School since the start of school, I have some concerns that I think the school administration should address.

My first concern is that there has been no adult supervision on the ground (drivers are in their buses). The children run between buses, walk immediately next to or on the drive and, recently, I saw a scuffle break out between two children, with no adult to intervene.

The bus drivers do a great job, however, they are in their buses and have their hands full supervising the kids on the bus. Supervising the children during the transfer should be top priority.

My other concern is that there is no sidewalk or path for the children to walk on. I assume the children are walking on the drive, or immediately next to it so that their feet don't get wet from the grass. A sidewalk 10 to 20 feet inside the drive would keep them away from the road's edge and also keep their feet relatively dry.

Prior to staying home with my children, I worked for 10 years as a safety consultant to business and industry, and I know that a good safety management program includes continuous review and revision of operations.

I believe the bus transfer is an operation that should be reviewed by the administration. Just because there has not been an accident in the past does not mean that the operation is as safe as it can be.

Someone should clean up blight

We moved to the Dexter-Chelsea area 14 years ago. There are two sites that I drive by every day and every day I think surely someone will do something to preserve these places.

Well, nobody has and, for one of the sites, it's too late. I feel guilty every time I drive by because I didn't say something sooner. I hope it isn't too late for the other site and I hope there is someone who cares and has the ability to do something about it.

One site was the old schoolhouse on Island Lake Road at Lima Center Road. It was in pretty bad shape 14 years ago, but looked salvageable.

It could have been a museum that schoolchildren could visit to see how it was during earlier times.

The schoolhouse could have made for an interesting local history lesson. However, the school was allowed to continue to deteriorate and when the property was sold recently, the structure had become so bad that it was torn down and only a pile of rubble remains.

The other site is a cemetery on Baker Road, just south of the Brokaw building in Dexter. You used to be able to see broken headstones there, but it has become so overgrown you'd never realize there was a cemetery there.

I don't know who was responsible for maintaining this little cemetery, but clearly the ball has been dropped.

If it isn't the responsibility of a governmental unit, perhaps a civic group, a Scout troop or maybe even an Eagle Scout needing a project would be willing to attempt a preservation effort. Hopefully, it isn't too late to do something there.

We should rise up against carnage

The letter in the Oct. 9 edition describing the carnage along North Territorial Road saddened me.

The letter writer described the "despair and disgust" she felt because every mile for a 12-mile stretch was strewn with the bodies of opossums, raccoons, squirrels, cats, foxes and deer. How tragic!

The writer had several solutions to protect our little friends. Those solutions included lowering the speed limit, adding a shoulder on the side of the road so drivers could swerve to avoid the kill without heading into the trees, and building a cattle grate along both sides of the road so the critters could never get on the road.

I think this tragedy calls for even more drastic actions. Therefore, I have formed a group of concerned citizens called "International Coalition of Advocates for Roadkill Eradication (ICARE). Our plan of action to make our highways a safe haven for our furry friends is as follows:

1. The first, and most important step is to eliminate the automobile. Keep them off the roads. Bring back the horse and buggy.

2. Form rural Neighborhood Watch groups to patrol the highways looking for injured animals. If they should happen upon an injured creature, they will immediately call 911 and request an animal ambulance be dispatched immediately.

3. Federal land should be set aside, so in the event the poor creature should expire, we could provide a funeral procession and bury them in little tiny hand made coffins.

The world is such a cold and unfriendly place. Fighting has broken out in the Middle East again, AIDS and cancer continue to impact world health, the stock market is declining while the economy begins to struggle, children go to bed hungry and, worst of all, we have a dead opossum on North Territorial.

It's time to act.

Strike UP the band

Locals play kitchen music

By Sheila Pursglove
Staff Writer

The Chelsea Kitchen Band strikes up the old-time music, launching into perennial old favorites like "A Bicycle Built for Two."

Their audience of elderly, nursing-home residents nod their heads to the rhythm, enjoying the familiar sounds from their youth.

"As a person's memory declines, one of the last things to remain is music," says Chelsea Senior Citizens Center Coordinator Pat Kaminsky.

"When our Chelsea Kitchen Band plays at nursing homes and retirement homes or for disabled veterans, the audience is so moved by songs that they remember from their younger days many of them cry."

The musicians, all members of the Chelsea Senior Citizens Center, are a diverse group of individuals, with an even more diverse choice of instruments.

"We just raid the kitchen and garage for whatever makes a good noise and is comical," says Stockbridge resident Marie Morgan, who plays an eclectic assortment of items in the band, including washtub, gasoline drum and ice cube trays.

Morgan even tried her hand at playing the bones.

"I wasn't too adept at it," she says.

"I used to be quite the singer, but my voice has pretty much gone now, along with a few other things."

During World War II, Morgan worked as a "Rosie the Riveter" at Ypsilanti's bomber plant.

She is one of the more musically talented band members, having played the trumpet in high school and sung with the Glee Club.

Others, like Paul Schwab, "couldn't carry a tune in a basket," according to his wife, Ginny.

So while her hubby is assigned the relatively simple musical task of tapping on a triangle, Ginny Schwab bangs a tambourine and blows on a kazoo, handmade from an empty dishwashing liquid bottle.

"I get a lot of comments on my kazoo. I play the melody for singers in the band to follow," Schwab says.

The pair, retirees from Ford Motor Co. who have spent 50 years of their married life in Manchester, have been with the band for 20 years.

"I've always been a performer. I can carry a tune but I wouldn't say I was a singer, whereas my sister, Vi, has a lovely voice," Ginny Schwab says.

Her sister is Vi Poley, who together with her husband, Howard, has been a band member for 20 years.

The Scio Township residents have made sweet music together since their early courting days when they sang duets in church.

Howard Poley was given his first harmonica by an older cousin when he was 12 years old. The self-taught musician also plays washtub bass.

Vi Poley plays the hammered dulcimer and an auto harp that her son, Jerry, bought for her in 1997.

Vi fell in love with the dulcimer at the Evart Dulcimer Festival at the Osceola County Fairgrounds, and attended workshops to learn how to play it.

Music runs in the Poley genes. One of their four sons plays everything he can lay his hands on, while another son is learning to play the guitar.

One of their 12 grandchildren plays the piano, while another follows in grandma's footsteps by playing the dulcimer.

Howard and his harmonica have been in wilder places than a kitchen band. While serving as a machine gunner with the 78th Lightning Division in Germany during World War II, Poley would make music with his Army buddies.

The Kitchen Band is a familiar sight in the Chelsea Fair Parade, and has performed in parades in Jackson and Gregory, at Dexter Daze and at Chelsea Summerfest.

They take their show on the road, playing to appreciative audiences that range from nursing-home residents, retirees and disabled veterans to preschoolers.

Anna Laban, who came to Chelsea in 1933 during the Depression when her husband found work here as a barber, is an original member.

"Mary and Don Parsons started the band in 1983," Laban says.

"Vi Poley joined us when her kids were grown and Howard was on the road a lot as a truck driver. She conned her sister, Ginny, and brother-in-law, Paul, into joining."

Laban performed in many skits over the years, starting with her first one as a shotgun bride, and a very popular one as an alley cat.

"I danced about the audience wearing a black cat costume," she says. "That went over so well I was stuck with it for years, until I finally had to give it up a few years ago due to a bad back."

Laban still plays the original kazoo she started with in 1983, as well as bells she found at a garage sale, and cymbals that someone donated to the band.

She plays a set of spoons that once belonged to Lawrence Welk that were given to her by her granddaughter.

Gert Pototzki, who calls herself the "Boom Boom girl," bangs on a gasoline can with turkey basters.

"That's about as musical as I get," she says.

"My late husband, Frank, joined the band in the early '80s after we moved here from New York."

Compton finds 'ideal' job

By Sheila Pursglove
Staff Writer

Patricia Compton views working in education as the ideal career.

"Teaching enabled me to work with children, to be always learning myself, and to go and have fun," she says.

During her 13 years as an elementary and middle school teacher in Inlay City and Hartland, the Beach Middle School counselor saw the direct relationship between a child's emotional health and learning success.

"I became more and more interested in the emotional well-being of my students and how I could reach out and help them," Compton says.

This interest led to her earning two master's degrees: one in dance therapy from Goucher College in Maryland and the other in guidance and counseling from Eastern Michigan University.

Compton started dancing as a young adult, and loved ballet and modern dance.

"Dance and movement therapy is the use of movement, not necessarily dance, to help people gain awareness and work through issues," Compton says.

"Movement is our earliest form of communication. For many people, especially children and teens, it is a good outlet for expressing feelings."

Compton worked as a dance therapist in a residential facility in Tulsa, Okla., for adolescents with serious emotional issues such as sexual and physical abuse, substance abuse and eating disorders.

"Dance and movement therapy was used in conjunction with individual psychotherapy and family therapy to help the adolescents work through issues, make healthier decisions and be able to return home," Compton says.

Compton also taught dance therapy part time at Marygrove College in Detroit, near her hometown of St. Clair Shores.

Before coming to Beach in 1992, she worked as a school counselor for kindergarten through eighth-graders in Grass Lake.

Compton took the position in Chelsea because she wanted to work in one building as a middle school counselor.

"Sometimes I find people are surprised by my choice to work in a middle school. I really enjoy it," she says.

"Middle schoolers are fun, always changing, and much more capable than we give them credit for. To be successful with them, you need to be flexible, honest, treat them with respect and, above all, have a sense of humor."

Compton hopes her students perceive her as a student advocate, someone who is helpful and friendly, open to new ideas, whom they can trust and depend on.

"I enjoy being able to help students through a tough time, and see them grow and do well. I help them learn skills that will enable them to lead healthier lives," she says.

Compton and social worker Margaret Spaly do small group counseling at Beach.

"I feel it's very helpful for teens to learn from one another's experiences, and to find out how their peers cope with difficult situations, like death and divorce," Compton says.

"Teens will often listen to another teen rather than adults. Group counseling allows students to get support from each other, learn new, easy to handle situations, and provides the opportunity to learn new skills."

Compton especially enjoys the friendship groups.

"As teens become more peer-oriented, it's a great time to learn conflict-resolution skills, how to be a good friend, how to handle peer pressure, how friendships change in the mid-

At Adkins Chiropractic Life Center there is nothing frivolous about the seriousness of the vertebral subluxation. We are not just a backache clinic. Subluxations have a damaging and debilitating effect on humankind and there is an unlimited potential of innate intelligence yearning to express itself in each and every one of us, and our children.

Man's best friend

Fur Angels brighten day of sick, elderly with unconditional love

By Jim Kasuba
Heritage Newspapers

Man's best friend is known to pull off some miraculous feats of courage and to display an uncanny sense of impending danger.

Stories abound about dogs that wake their owners when a fire breaks out, rescue drowning swimmers and otherwise protect humans from harm.

But what most dogs offer their owners is much more subtle and less dramatic than the occasional lifesaving incidents that make headlines.

Martha Hall, creator and director of the Fur Angels, believes the main gift dogs have to offer is unconditional love and that gift can and should be given to those who need it most — to those who are sick and lonely.

Hall describes Fur Angels as a Christian-oriented group, composed of volunteers who offer compassion and unconditional love through pet therapy. She views this work as a ministry.

The official address for the group is Hall's home in Taylor, but she reaches people all over the area.

The first step Hall's dogs took in becoming therapy dogs was to pass the American Kennel Club's Canine Good Citizenship test. Those who are successful go on to take the TDI test, which is more elaborate.

According to Hall, finding evaluators qualified to conduct testing was no small feat because so few of them exist.

That's why Hall was so pleased when evaluator Beth Duman agreed to come Downriver from her home in Howell to conduct the tests.

Even better news for the group is that one of its own members, Jan Bereszczasz, just became certified as an evaluator. Hall said that means that the days of searching high and low for an evaluator should be over.

It also means that dogs and owners can be certified in a timelier manner, allowing the group to expand into more nursing homes and giving members greater flexibility.

"If I'm sick someone else could take Lakota (her German shepherd)," Hall said. "Certification allows us to interchange dogs."

That's one of the beauties about the training program, Hall said. Truly well-behaved dogs that are ideally suited for this type of work will obey commands from other people, not just from their owners.

The certification process actually is divided into a series of smaller tests, such as accepting a friendly stranger, sitting politely for petting, walking through a crowd, and reacting to other dogs.

When the dogs go into a nursing home, they almost always go in as a group, so getting along with their fellow canines is of the utmost importance.

The vast majority of the Fur Angels are dogs, with a couple of exceptions. Abigail Downing, the youngest member of the group at the age of 14, has miniature flop-eared rabbits and another member has a cat.

"She's the sweetest young lady," Hall said of Downing. "It's nice to see the younger generation interested in this."

Hall believes that dogs, by their very nature, can be the best animals suited for pet therapy work, but concedes that other domesticated animals can serve the same purpose.

That purpose is to offer friendship to those who may feel alienated from the rest of society.

Many nursing home residents used to own dogs and this is one way to rekindle those memories.

It also gives the residents an opportunity to display emotions, which for some is not something that is readily done.

"We all have stories of how these dogs have gotten through to people who have not responded to anyone for the longest time," Hall said. "We have seen our Fur Angels bring light to dim eyes, smiles to a sad, lonely face, and tears of joy from the simple act of a dog's kiss placed gently on a cheek."

For more information about Fur Angels, contact Hall at 1-734-285-4085.

It's time to check heating systems

By Angie Zelenak
Heritage Newspapers

Before you click on the heat and leave it on for the next six months, it's time to make sure your cooling units, heating system and humidifiers are ready for the cold weather.

Contractor Kevin McNiven said that even though this year never really felt like a hot summer, "the calendar is telling us differently and it's time to get things ready for cold weather."

Closing down summer

"Since summer is coming to an end, address the maintenance of the air conditioners first," McNiven said.

Window units should be removed and stored in the basement or garage during the cold months.

Not only will this keep the unit clean for next year, you will remove a major source of air infiltration into the home, he said.

"If you must keep it in the window, cover the unit with exterior vinyl covering for protection," McNiven said.

McNiven suggests that homeowners who have central air conditioning can do a number of tasks themselves to keep their system in tip-top shape and ready for winter.

First, clean the condensing coil on the unit that is outside the home by using a garden hose to spray water through the air conditioning coils.

Then cover the central air unit with a heavy exterior vinyl cover made specifically for air conditioning units.

Clean the dirt

Once every five years, have the furnace and ducts thoroughly cleaned by a duct cleaning company to remove dirt, he said.

At the same time have the company examine the ductwork and clean the furnace burners. Make sure the heat exchanger is checked for cracks, which can cause carbon monoxide leakage into the house.

The furnace's air filter should be checked once a month and changed or replaced every three months, McNiven said.

Electronic air cleaners should be cleaned every month.

They can be cleaned using an electronic air cleaning concentrate, or as McNiven prefers, a non-residue dish-washing soap such as Calgon. Then rinse the air cleaner's cells well, and let them drip dry.

Keeping it comfortable

McNiven recommends humidifiers during the winter months since they are noted for maintaining a healthy environment by adding moisture to the air.

Good humidification in the winter also allows the heat in the home to be kept lower while maintaining comfort, he said.

If your furnace has a humidifier it should be cleaned at the end of every heating season to prevent a build up of dust and molds. To do this, the humidifier water and the humidistat should be turned off. Clean humidifier pad and parts with warm water and vinegar to dissolve minerals. Then rinse the parts and replace them in the unit.

When it's time to start the humidifier, check the humidity with these easy steps: turn the water to the unit back on and set humidistat at 35 percent. If moisture accumulates on windows or walls, slowly turn it lower. If you end up with a carpet shock or dry throat, turn higher.

die school years.

"The kids have a chance to practice new skills in a safe environment."

Compton and Spaly also coordinate a mentoring program for eighth-grade students who are struggling academically and could benefit from a relationship with a positive role model.

"Participating students work with a high school mentor twice a week," she says. "It's beneficial both for the eighth-graders and also for the high school students who get an opportunity to see if they would like working with teens or in education."

Compton views the mentoring program as one of the highlights of her job.

"The cooperation of the middle and high school faculties and partial funding by the Chelsea Education Foundation enable this program to be a success," she says.

Compton and Spaly join forces again to coordinate STAND, Students Taking A New Direction, a substance abuse prevention group for middle school students. The group meets once a month after school. "Our purpose is to educate students about drugs, alcohol and tobacco and to provide positive alternative activities," Compton says.

"We have four activities and four meetings every year. We also have a fund-raiser and donate the profits to a good cause."

Compton pairs up with Bev Yelsik to coordinate the Recycling Team.

"Bev has been a dedicated recycler for years and started the program at Beach," Compton says.

"We have a crew of students who handle all the weekly recycling for teachers and for the building.

"We also have a dedicated crew who recycles and sorts for the four large locker cleanouts each year. Two years ago, the Beach recyclers won the Waste Knot Award for being one of the best recyclers in Washtenaw County."

Compton enjoys extra curricular activities with the students because it gives her the opportunity to interact with them in a different light.

Her own outside interests include reading mysteries, and dance.

Although a knee injury ended her own dancing, she loves to go to dance concerts. Alvin Ailey and Pilobus are her favorite dance companies.

Compton has traveled to Europe twice and all over the United States, with New Mexico and the Traverse City area ranking as her two favorites. Alaska, Australia and Spain are on her to-do list.

"I love canoeing and fly fishing, although the fish aren't in any danger," Compton says. "I'm a beginner and certainly won't win any trophies."

"Getting out in nature, removed from the everyday world, is my goal. Hiking also feeds my love of nature."

Although Compton enjoys school counseling, she sometimes misses working with students and families at a more in-depth level.

"I am working on getting my couple and family counseling certification and license from Oakland University, so I can work at that deeper level on a part time basis."

Compton is currently serving as president of the Washtenaw Counselor Association.

"It's a great opportunity to work with other counselors, learn new things and make new friends," she says.

"My participation has helped me grow and be a better counselor."

"He had a fine singing voice and was a big hit with the band, and I got pulled along into the fun," she says.

Doris Calcut tickles the ivories for the band.

Calcut, born and raised on a farm in Chelsea, has lived in Scio Township since 1948, and has been with the band since the mid '80s.

A retired nurse, she has played piano since she was a child.

"When I first joined the group they already had a pianist. So I played other instruments, like the watering can or the gas can," she says.

"I took over when the pianist had to quit because of her arthritis."

At 90, Elsie Mollenkopf is one of the band's most senior members, and one of the original troupe.

An Ohio native, she lived for many years in Manchester, and now calls the Silver Maples Retirement Community in Chelsea home.

"I've played the harmonica for years, since I was a little girl," Mollenkopf says.

"I've been at Silver Maples for four months, and whenever someone celebrates a birthday, they send for me to play 'Happy Birthday' on my harmonica."

Royal Oak native Stella Sroka moved to Stockbridge three years ago from Gregory.

As part of her costume, the maracas player wears a straw hat decorated with flowers, a memento of a 1984 vacation in Hawaii.

Her three children and six grandchildren get a kick out of seeing grandma play in the band, and have cheered her on from the sidelines during the Chelsea Fair Parade.

Nancy Schutze of Dexter Township remembers taking her mother to watch a kitchen band, and thinking it would be a fun thing to do when she retired.

Former member Barbara Van

Gorder brought her into the Chelsea band.

Schutze, who once played cornet in her school band, now bangs saucepan lids together like cymbals.

Cedora Dryer is another "cymbals" player.

Dryer, who has lived in Chelsea for five years, found her costume at the Chelsea Seniors Center.

"We keep a box of donated clothes in the cupboard, and I found one that was a perfect fit and style," Dryer says.

"It's a bit like being a kid playing at dress-up. I completed the outfit by decorating a large-brimmed hat."

The musical maestros are rounded out by Stockbridge resident Loal Townsend, who plays the bones, percussionist Julia Meyer of Chelsea; Gregory resident Vivian May, who plays the washboard, and Manchester resident Mary Herrst, who plays the washtub.

Chelsea out guns Tecumseh

By Don Richter
Staff Writer

Chelsea defensive back Dan Mueller was a tired puppy. A happy puppy, but still a tired one.

Mueller had just endured three and a half hours of practically nonstop running. He fought through continuous backpedaling, constant pass defense and a seemingly inexhaustible supply of Tecumseh receivers to help lead the Bulldogs to a 33-26 victory over the Indians in a first round Division III state playoff game.

Friday night Tecumseh's offense employed three and four wide receiver sets virtually every play. Translation: Long night for the Chelsea defense, especially its defensive backfield.

But according to Mueller, the Bulldogs were well prepared.

"It helped that we played them before," he said. "We knew what to expect."

The pass-happy Indians didn't disappoint.

Tecumseh senior quarterback Randy Hutchison Jr. completed 18-of-34 passes for 322 yards and four touchdowns.

But despite the big numbers, Chelsea's defense held up well, especially in the secondary.

"We played a nickel defense to get an extra defensive back in there to stop the pass," said Mueller, a junior. "We basically tried to stay deep and play the pass."

And play the pass. And play the pass. And play the pass.

Besides Hutchison's scrambling, Tecumseh (6-4) ran the ball just eight times the entire game for 24 yards. Take away Hutchison's minus 20 yards in sacks and the Indians rushed for a net of 4 yards.

Not exactly Bo Schembechler's or Woody Hayes' "2 yards and a cloud of dust" offense made famous in the late 1960s and mid-'70s.

"It was pretty hard," said Chelsea junior defensive back Eddie McClendon about his long night battling Hutchison and chasing Tecumseh receivers. "He's a great quarterback. He threw the ball real well."

Not well enough, however.

After a Cory Picklesimer 21-yard touchdown run during the game's early stages gave the Bulldogs a 6-0 lead, the Indians regrouped and mounted what appeared to be a touchdown answering drive on its next possession.

But on a fourth down and 29 from Chelsea's 20-yard line, McClendon leaped and intercepted a Hutchison pass in the left corner of the end zone to thwart the Tecumseh threat.

Despite the defensive stand, it was the Bulldog offense that got Chelsea (10-0) off to a roaring start.

"It was nice to get an early one (score)," said Picklesimer, who finished with 78 yards on eight attempts, about the first of his two TD runs. "I cut down on (Tony) Scheffler's block. I think he took out about three people with one block."

"It's a team game, you can't do it alone. I had a big hole and just cutback. That was all I did by myself. The rest was Tony and the line."

Besides his fine downfield blocking, Scheffler also managed to squeeze in a game-high nine receptions for 121 yards and a score.

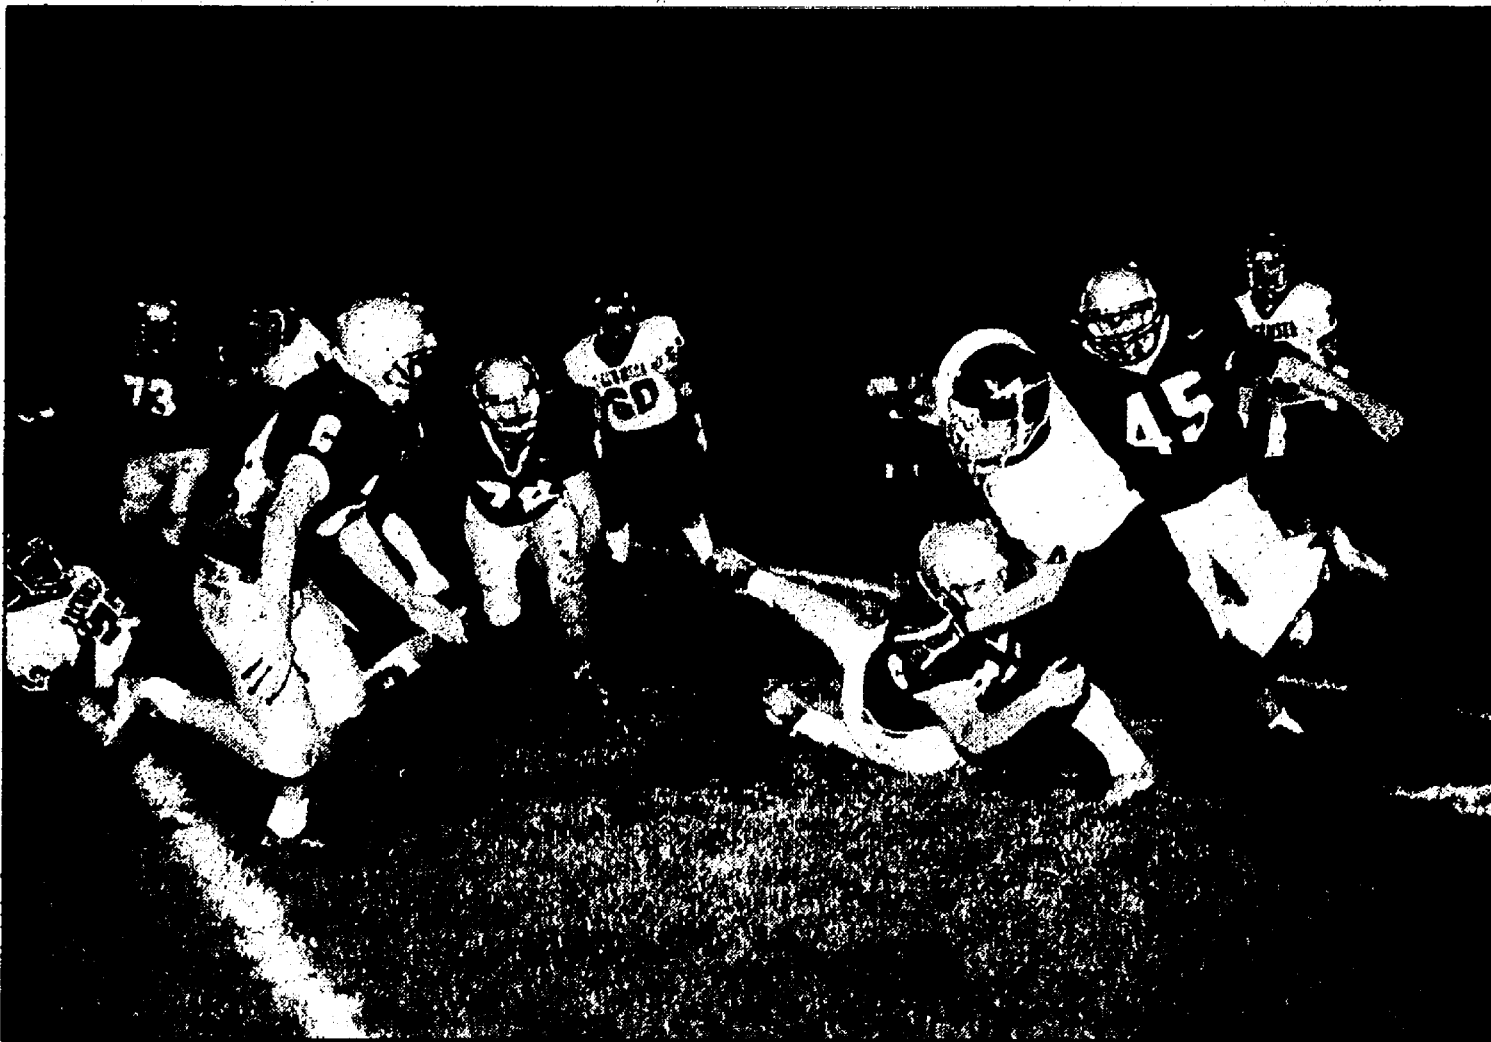

The Bulldog offensive line blew open enough holes for the Chelsea backs to rush for 198 total yards.

Senior halfback Chris Cooper led the way on the ground for the Dawgs by running for 107 yards on 19 attempts.

After McClendon's pick in the end zone, Tecumseh would come back on its next two possessions and score to take the lead.

After a Chelsea punt, the Indians took two plays to hit pay dirt as Hutchison hit split end Bobby Valdez (seven catches, 154 yards) on a 55-yard TD slant pass. The sophomore wide out streaked untouched into the end zone to tie the game at 6-6 with 1:27 left in the first quarter.

After another Chelsea punt,

Chelsea senior defensive end Matt Lussier brings down the Tecumseh ball carrier during the Bulldogs' first round district game against the Indians. He's assisted on the play by junior Brett Putman (45), senior Brandon Butler (72) and senior Nate Keiser.

Tecumseh took just five plays to break the tie.

Indian senior receiver Kyle Vogel (three catches, 60 yards) got behind the Bulldog secondary and Hutchison hit him for a 46-yard TD reception for a 12-6 Tecumseh lead.

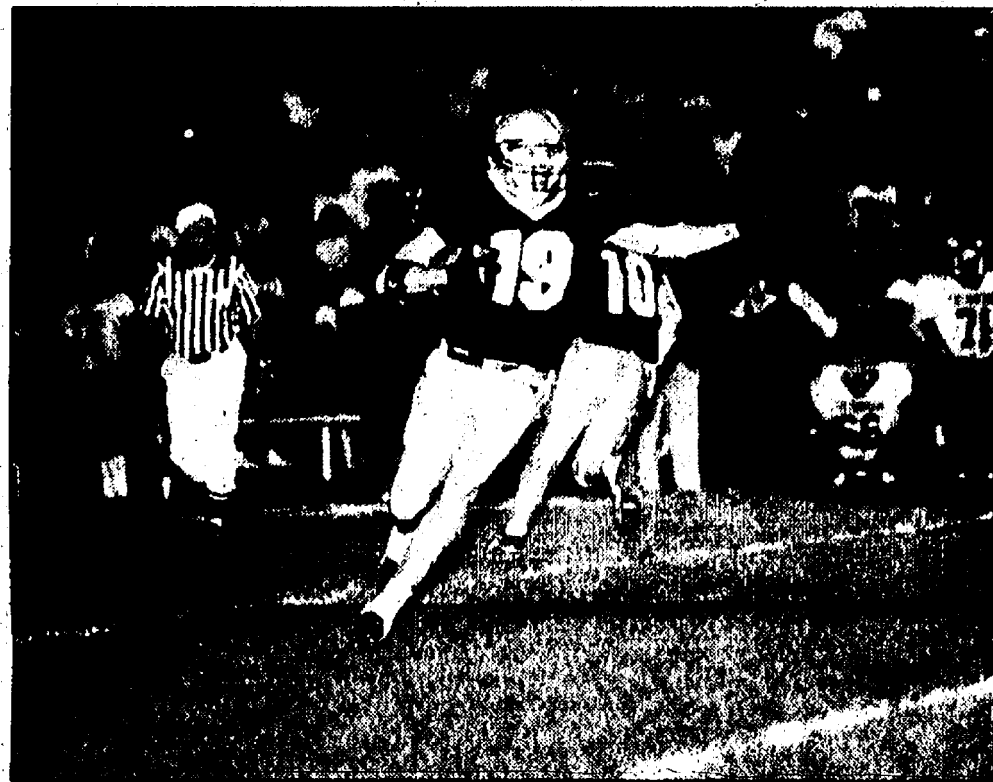

Chelsea would answer the next time it had the ball.

With 6:27 left in the first half, Cooper scampered 20 yards for the score and a 13-12 Bulldog lead.

Chelsea increased its advantage to four after senior Mike Radka booted a 28-yard field goal.

Then with 25 seconds remaining in the half, Tecumseh tried a fake punt deep in its own territory. The Bulldog defense wasn't fooled and tackled the Indian punter at the Tecumseh 11-yard line.

Harriers capture second straight regional crown

For the second consecutive year, the Chelsea boys' cross country squad captured a regional title.

Last weekend at Haslett High School, the Bulldog runners bested the field with a total team score of 94.

Chelsea beat out East Lansing, which finished second with 101 points. Tecumseh, which finished third with 105 points, Haslett, which placed fourth with 114 points, and Battle Creek Harper Creek, which finished fifth with 140 points, rounded out the top five.

Mike Kattula (18:52) paced the Bulldogs, placing sixth overall.

Others helping lead Chelsea to the regional victory were David Fedele (17:15) in 17th, Jared Daniel (17:16) in 19th, and James McKenzie (17:21), who placed 20th.

Trevor Bach (17:40), who finished 32nd; Kyle Brown (17:48), who placed 36th, and Nathan Zeigler (17:52), who finished 39th rounded out the Bulldog scoring.

With 16 teams competing, Chelsea coach Eric Swager anticipated a hard meet.

"This was a close, tough regional and we had several outstanding efforts to propel us to victory," he said.

Especially Kattula's. "Mike was incredible," Swager said. "He ran one of the toughest races I have ever seen. He blew away a pack of four runners with 500 meters to go to finish sixth."

Swager also had high praise for Daniel and Bach.

"Jared fought through a cold to run a solid race," he said. "And freshman Trevor Bach ran a lifetime best to round out the scoring."

With the regional taken care of, Chelsea now focuses its attention on Saturday's state Division II finals at Michigan International Speedway in Brooklyn.

Twenty-seven teams have advanced to the finals with additional qualifying individuals also competing.

Dean paces Bulldog cross country to fifth place

By Don Richter

With six runners achieving their personal best times and with what Chelsea coach Pat Clarke described as "our finest meet of the season," the Bulldogs girls' cross country team finished fifth overall at last weekend's regional meet held at Haslett High School.

Chelsea finished the day with 144 points.

Winning the meet was Dexter with 91 points.

Battle Creek Lakeview placed second with 99 points, Mason was third with 110 points and Jackson Parma Western finished fourth with 123 points.

Leading the way for the Bulldogs were Jessica Dean (20:54), who placed 23rd; Sarah Kaminsky (20:56), who finished 24th; and Ashley Brainerd (20:58), who placed 27th.

Having three athletes under the 21-minute mark was a benchmark for Chelsea.

"Our top three runners all broke the 21-minute barrier for the first time," Clarke said.

Other top performances were turned in by Alison Sacks (21:03), who finished 31st; Karl Moyle (21:28), who ended up 44th; Genny Gourlay (21:33), who placed 46th; and Erica Miller (22:32), who finished 69th.

"The girls achieved every mark that I set for them at this meet," Clarke said. "I was very proud of their efforts at the regional and I look forward to next season when almost the entire team returns."

According to Clarke, the Bulldogs return 11 of their top 12 runners next year including six sophomores and five freshmen.

Chelsea's Genny Gourlay (left) and Jessica Dean pair up to improve their times. The duo helped lead the Bulldogs to a fifth place finish at last weekend's regional meet.

Who let the what out?

What does it all mean?

Somebody please help me.

I'm new to this area and only in the third week of my job, but already I'm confused.

In my travels around Chelsea this past week, all I've seen plastered on store windows and entrances around town is the question, "Who let the Dawgs out?"

Huh?

What's the big deal with the Dawgs being outside and why does anyone care who let them out?

Should we alert the police?

Or how about animal control? Shouldn't they at least know about these Dawgs being let loose?

I figured it must have something to do with the Chelsea Bulldogs, since most of the signs I saw were written in blue and gold, the school's colors.

But exactly what it had to do with the school I wasn't sure.

A quick call to the Chelsea athletic department cleared things up a little bit.

When asked the significance of the signs and the phrase, Sue Myers, of the Chelsea athletic director's office, said she thought it was the theme of the state-ranked Bulldog girls' swimming and diving team.

Apparently, the words "Who let the Dawgs out?" are part of a popular song.

"I believe the girls play that before each home meet," Myers said. "That's been their theme song all year."

I see. Now it's starting to make sense.

According to others around town, the song is for the Chelsea football team, which happens to be in the midst of a state football playoff run.

But whoever the words are meant for, one question begs to be asked.

Who sings it?

"I can't remember," Myers said. "Oh, I should know this. I think it starts with a 'B', but I'm not sure. Can you call back later? I'll have the answer for you then."

I could understand her predicament.

For a guy who still thinks Van Halen and AC/DC are cool, I'm the last person to ask about popular songs of the day.

Even my co-workers in the newspaper office were clueless.

"Doesn't Snoop Doggy Dog sing that," one said.

"Isn't it some sort of rap song?" asked another. "I've never heard of it."

Some help they were.

Anyhow, I finally got the answer to my "Who let the Dawgs out?" question.

"Baha Men," said Myers after I called her back. "That's what one of my aides said."

Great.

Now, one more question.

What's a "Baha"?

Over in Dexter I have a question as well. What's in the water? Again, being a newcomer to these parts I was unaware just how dominate the Dexter girls' swimming and diving team was.

What's the secret behind these female fishes in bathing suits? How did they get so fast? Whatever it is, I hope they continue doing it. A state championship could be on the horizon.

Boshoven earns Chelsea tennis MVP honors

By Don Richter
Staff Writer

Senior Catie Boshoven was honored recently as the Chelsea girls' tennis team's Most Valuable Player.

Boshoven completed her final prep season as the Bulldogs' No. 1 singles player. She recorded nine victories in 2000 and had a winning record throughout her four-year varsity career.

The Chelsea end of the season banquet was held at the Chelsea Hospital Dining Room last week.

Other awards went to Alicia Seamon who was named Most Improved; Ashley Cook, who won the Coaches Award for her four-year contribution to the program and her 12 wins this season; and the Best Doubles Award went to Denise Arnston and Jennie Parker, who finished the year with seven victories.

Andrea Daane carried off the Best Singles Award for her 16 wins and only four losses.

The Outstanding Service and Most Spirited Awards went to Kirra Sheremet and Sam Hepburn, respectively.

"They more than earned their plaques as being the two most focused players, supporting their fellow players at all levels and being the first to volunteer when necessary chores were to be done," said Chelsea coach John Capper. "Their value to their contemporaries was emphasized when players asked by name for these girls to support them during close matches."

Finally, earning the Most Promising Freshman Award was Lindsay Parker. Parker spent most of the 2000 season on the varsity roster and helped contribute to the Bulldogs' success.

Captaining the varsity this year were Arnston, Boshoven and Cook.

Shannon Jennings wore the "C" for the JV squad.

Additional awards doled out last week went to Amy Baker, Courtney Barlow, Daane, Jessica French, Cindy Grau, Hepburn, Mary Howlin, Jennings, Sarah Maynard, Seamon, Caroline Shanks, Rochelle Stafford, Alyssa Warren and Melissa Watts for being third-year varity performers.

Melissa Collinsworth, Devon Horvath, Cara Long, Jennie Parker and Sheremet were each honored with second-year Bulldog awards.

Earning a varsity letter were Kelly Clement, Anna-Marie Cooper, Cynthia Johnson and Lindsay Parker.

Parker also was named the Most Improved Player for the JV squad.

The Coaches JV Award went to Rebecca Edgeworth and Janey Aselyne.

Earning JV Certificates were Caitlin Dark, Edgeworth, Sabrina Roberson and Lindsay Tye.

Freestylers lead tankers

The Chelsea girls' swimming and diving team closed out the regular season in style last Thursday with a dominating 117-69 victory over Southeastern Conference foe Tecumseh.

The meet, close early, was decided later in the sprint freestyles.

With the Bulldogs clinging to a narrow six-point advantage after six events, Chelsea broke the competition wide open, finishing first, third and fourth in the 100 freestyle and taking one-two finishes in both the 200 and 400 freestyle relays.

Highlights for the Bulldogs (8-4) included the best overall performance by the divers this season.

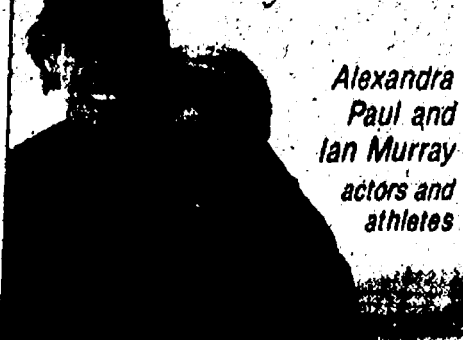

"All five divers, Kari Ceo, Christine Rosentreter, Katie Widmayer, Chelsea Gibbs and Stephanie Sannes, did well," said Chelsea coach John Crispin. "They are showing a consistency which should really help in the upcoming Southeastern Conference championships."

Sarah Manville's state qualifying swim in the 100 breaststroke and Danielle Hughes' double qualifying performances in the 200 and 100 freestyles were also singled out by the coaches.

The team is now preparing for the SEC championships to be held tomorrow and Saturday at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School.

"This will be a very fast, competitive meet," Crispin said. "With Class A schools from Ann Arbor, Saline, Temperance Bedford and Class B powerhouse Dexter, in many, if not all of the events, it will be even faster than our state meet."

line. With two seconds left in the half, Radka nailed his second field goal, this time from 22 yards away, giving Chelsea a 19-14 lead as the two teams headed to the locker room. "I called that fake punt play," said Tecumseh coach Randy Hutchison. "That's gone two or three times for a touchdown this year. But they (Chelsea) never rushed. They just sat there. That (fake punt) was stupid on my part."

Senior Writer Making only its second appearance ever in a district final, the Chelsea boys' soccer team fell to Tecumseh last weekend, 2-1.

With the loss, the Bulldogs (7-7) ended their season.

Senior Craig Forshee posted Chelsea's lone goal.

Despite peppering the Indian keeper with shots in the second half, the Bulldogs were unable to reach the back of the net.

"We really dominated the second half," said Chelsea coach Chad Scaling. "We just couldn't find a goal."

According to Scaling, the Bulldog defense was outstanding.

"The defense played well," he said. "We had a great team effort. Everybody gave 110 percent."

Scaling cited the play of Greg Kennedy on defense and keeper Jeff Jigga as examples of his squad's all-out effort.

Jigga ended the game with 13 saves.

Looking back on the 2000 season, Scaling said he was proud of his team.

"It's been a real good year," he said. "The kids have done everything I've asked of them. The seniors will be missed."

ception and the failed fake punt, Tecumseh also lost one fumble.

"If we take ourselves out of some of those bad situations, maybe it's a different ballgame," Hutchison said.

In the third quarter, Picklesimer scored his second touchdown on a 7-yard sprint around right end.

Tecumseh answered on its next possession as junior Eric Cannon hauled in an 18-yard pass with 18 ticks left in the third quarter. With the extra point, the Indians entered the fourth quarter down, 26-19.

It wouldn't last.

On its opening drive of the fourth quarter, Chelsea would cross the goal line as senior quarterback Chris Brigham (15-of-28, 215 yards) connected with Scheffler for a 5-yard TD pass.

With the Tecumseh coaches shouting at the top of their collective lungs to, "double Scheffler, double Scheffler," the Indians' secondary was unable to hear them and suffered the consequences falling behind, 33-19.

Tecumseh refused to go quietly, however. The Indians would score with 2:08 remaining as Hutchison hooked up with Cannon for a 21-yard touchdown to close the gap to 33-28.

But after senior Brian Sayers gobbled up Tecumseh's ensuing onside kick, it was all just a matter of time.

After the Indians used the last of its timeouts, Brigham took a knee to run out the rest of the clock and preserve the Bulldog "W".

"I thought Tecumseh played really well," said Chelsea coach Brad Bush. "Their kids played extremely hard. Their kids competed like crazy until the end and gave us everything we could handle."

Cannon, who ended the night with six catches for 88 yards and two scores echoed Bush's remarks.

"We never gave up," he said.

"The whole week we figured they'd come out with confidence after beating us (earlier in season). We knew we could play better than the last time we played them. We knew that wasn't us."

"It's a tough loss, but it's something to build on for Tecumseh football. We just wanted to come out here and show everybody that we have a good football team."

Picklesimer wouldn't argue with that.

"They came to play," he said. "We knew it was going to be a battle coming into the game. We figured to stay tough, play as a team and wear them out in the end."

"They have a lot of two-way players and we don't so we knew eventually we'd wear them out."

Bush/Cheney

Vote for a team that is capable of bringing this country together. A team that shows experience in the one trait this country needs the most, working together. The recent debates showed why the Clinton/Gore team has not been able to accomplish anything...positive. During the debates, Al Gore broke every rule of the debates, including the rules he demanded. Time and again his actions showed arrogance and disrespect for the opposing side, the same attitude Clinton/Gore has shown for the past eight years. This country needs leadership, not dictatorship.

I'm sure too, that the farmers of this country climbed out of their chairs when, in the third debate Gore said that he would only "keep the 'death tax' for those 20% or so—you know, the billionaire farmers and business owners." It must have been startling to learn that 20% of farmers and business owners are billionaires. Reject this illogical person and vote for a team that knows how to work with all Americans.

Vlcek, Arend lead JV roundball to wins

By Don Richter
Staff Writer

The Chelsea girls' JV basketball team improved its overall record to 16-1 on the year with two victories last week.

On Thursday, the Bulldogs disposed of Temperance Bedford, 40-23.

Anna Arend led the way for Chelsea, scoring 10 points.

Julia Arnold added seven points and five rebounds and Stephanie Minzey added six points and four boards.

The Bulldogs jumped out to a 23-9 halftime lead, but went scoreless in the third quarter.

The goose egg allowed Bedford to cut the lead to 10 at 23-13 heading into the fourth quarter.

But Chelsea would awaken from its stupor and outscore Bedford 17-10 in the final stanza to secure the win.

The Bulldog defense was superb, limiting the Mules to just 24 percent shooting from the field.

Chelsea also created 12 turnovers and had seven steals. The Bulldogs shot 48 percent from the floor and 50 percent from the line.

On Oct. 24, Chelsea opened the week with an exciting 42-41 victory over Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Jenelle Vlcek scored the winning basket with two seconds remaining on a full-court pass from Arend.

Vlcek led the offense with 11 points and had five steals on defense. Arend added 10 points, six boards and five steals.

Arnold had seven points and Tracy Carter had six for Chelsea.

The Bulldogs let a 38-31 lead slip away and trailed by three points with 28 ticks left before pulling out the last second win.

Both teams shot 41 percent from the field.

The difference was at the charity stripe, where Chelsea shot a sterling 75 percent and Ann Arbor 38 percent.

Beach splits final two games

The Chelsea Beach Middle School seventh-grade football team ended its season Oct. 23 with a 26-16 victory over Tecumseh.

Beach, down 6-0 at halftime, exploded for 26 points in the second half for the win.

Scoring a touchdown for Chelsea early in the third quarter to tie the game was David Fishburn on a short run.

Passes to Ryan Ruikka from quarterback Lucas Daniels helped Chelsea preserve the victory.

Austin Rodgers, Cameron Hawkins and Ross Fortner led the Beach defensive charge.

In the eighth-grade game, Chelsea fell to Tecumseh, 12-6.

The Indians scored first on a 65-yard pass play.

The Beach defense thwarted two other Tecumseh drives with a fumble recovery and an interception by Brian Seyferth.

The game remained a defensive struggle late into the fourth quarter when both Tecumseh and Chelsea were able to score.

The Indians scored on a 2-yard run and Beach crossed the goal line on a 52-yard ramble by Alex Guenther. Guenther broke three different tackles on his way to the end zone.

Guenther kept Tecumseh deep in its own zone with his booming punts, while Alex Penix did well kicking off.

Free throws spark Bulldogs

By Don Richter
Staff Writer

With ice in their veins, the Chelsea girls' basketball team defeated Ann Arbor Pioneer, 55-47, in overtime last week.

On the road, in a hostile environment, the Bulldogs kept their calm, sinking 11-of-12 from the free throw line in the fourth quarter and 18 of 23 for the game.

Despite shooting poorly from the field, Chelsea buckled down at the line and won the game.

"It was a great win for the kids on a night where we didn't shoot the ball particularly well," said Chelsea coach Todd Blomquist. "The kids really played well in our half court defense and made plays when we needed them down the stretch."

Chelsea was able to avenge an earlier defeat to Pioneer with last week's clutch free-throw shooting.

Despite the Pioneers nailing a three-pointer as time expired in the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs refused to wilt, outscoring Ann Arbor 14-6 in the extra period.

Junior guard Stephanie Crews led all scorers for Chelsea, pouring in a career-high 24 points.

Senior forward Michelle Dettling added 14 points, with sophomore forward Ali Mann chipping in 10 points and eight rebounds.

Senior center Caitlin Biedron

(6-foot-0) led all rebounders, hauling down a career-high 10 boards.

Against Temperance Bedford last Thursday, Chelsea defeated the Mules, 60-50.

The Bulldogs led early and often in this one, taking a 12-9 lead after one quarter and a 28-16 advantage at the half.

By the end of the third quarter, Chelsea had doubled up on Bedford leading 50-25.

Everyone was able to play significant minutes, and 10 out of 13 players scored.

Mann led the Bulldog attack with a career-high 21 points.

Senior guard Jessie Cole added a season-high nine points, while senior guard Lindsey Baker, Crews and Biedron each netted six points apiece.

"We played with a lot of energy, especially in the third quarter," Blomquist said.

Sheriff Schebil is on Your Side

The Truth About Road Patrol

A lot of people are concerned about their police protection. They want to know what's going to happen when the County no longer pays for their road patrol.

Here are some facts you should know:

★ Sheriff Schebil DID NOT MAKE THE DECISION to stop paying for road patrol. The County Commissioners did – against his advice.

★ Sheriff Schebil OPPOSED THE CHANGE. He's on record at many County Commission meetings urging the Commissioners to take a different approach.

★ Sheriff Schebil is WORKING FOR A SOLUTION. He's taken leadership in working with townships and others to make sure you get your police protection.

"Although the problem [road patrol] was created by others, the task of addressing it now rests with the County's top law enforcement officer. And it seems certain that Schebil is much better positioned to handle that job than Minzey."

Ann Arbor News – 10/16/00

Your protection is far too important to trust to inexperience and untested leadership. Sheriff Schebil has proven he can get the job done for 16 years. Now's not the time to let politics get in the way of your family's security. If you have any questions about road patrol, call the Sheriff at 971-8400 ext. 1116.

Run oriented Jefferson next up for Chelsea football

By Don Richter
Staff Writer

In last week's first round of the Division III football state playoffs, Chelsea faced a team that loved to pass.

The Bulldogs suited up against a Tecumseh squad that attempted 34 passes and threw for over 300 yards.

On the flip side, the Indians ran the ball just eight times for a net of four yards.

In tomorrow's district final at Chelsea, the Bulldogs (10-0) begin week two of its second season taking the field against Tecumseh's total opposite: Monroe Jefferson.

As much as the Indians liked to wing it, Jefferson (8-2), state champions in 1994, likes to run it.

"They're an excellent running team," said Chelsea coach Brad Bush. "They're a power team. They like to line up with two tight ends and pound you."

And who can blame them? With Adam Servey, a 6-foot-3, 215 pound fullback toting the ball, you'd plan on running the football, too.

"He's a great fullback," Bush said. "He's averaging 40 carries a game."

To have a strong running game a team must also be tough along the line of scrimmage.

The Bears average close to 220 pounds across the front five with 6-2, 260-pound senior tackle Andy Dietrich the anchor.

"They're very good upfront," Bush said. "We'll have to contain their running game for us to have a chance to win."

Bush said field position will be crucial Friday.

"We can't have many three and outs," he said. "We're going to have to put together some drives."

Bush said making the transition from playing Tecumseh's wide open offense to Jefferson's ball control attack hasn't been easy.

"Our preparation has been difficult," he said.

The Bears and Bulldogs do have one thing in common — they've both played Milan. The difference is Jefferson lost to the Big Reds, 35-20, in a Huron League match up.

That fact doesn't seem to faze Bush.

"That was early in the season," he said. "They've improved since then."

But so has Chelsea. According to Bush, the Bulldogs are well aware of the importance of Friday's game.

"The kids understand it will be the most wins in school history and the farthest we've gone in the playoffs if we win," he said. "There should be a big crowd. It shouldn't be hard to get up for this game. We'll be ready."

Last week, the Bears traveled to 8-1 Carleton Airport and defeated the Jets, 28-23.

Jefferson coach Mark Cisco admits his squad will be ready, but he's still concerned about Chelsea's high-octane offense.

"They run the ball well because the (opponents') defense is so concerned about the pass," he said. "They can strike anytime. We have to try and keep the ball away from them."

To do that, the Bears must do what they do best — run the football and control the clock.

"Our philosophy is to line up and run right at them," Cisco said.

Kickoff is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

FARM FACTS

Fresh pork has shaped up and slimmed down. Today's pork is, on average, 31 percent lower in fat, 14 percent lower in calories and 10 percent lower in cholesterol than in 1983. The reduction in fat, saturated fat, calories and cholesterol is a result of pork producers making genetic, feeding and management improvements.

You surely have read about the importance of antioxidants. They help defend your body's cells against free radicals, which cause aging and diseases in the body. USDA researchers have identified the blueberry as the top antioxidant provider of 30 fruits and vegetables studied. For more information on the nutritional benefits of blueberries, visit www.blueberry.org.

The autumnal equinox signals the changing of the seasons — the official end of summer. This means that penguins living at the South Pole are seeing the sun rise for the first time in six months. While at the North Pole, polar bears, the largest carnivores on land, are getting ready to sleep for six long months of winter.

President Steele opened the meeting for audience participation. There being none he closed the audience participation portion of the meeting.

Public Hearings:

Hatch Stamping Request for Abatement was reviewed by B. Travis, Corporate Secretary of Hatch Stamping Company. He said that Hatch Stamping has purchased a $1.8 million press. He said originally they were going to request a 7-year abatement but after completing the evaluation form for tax abatement requests the figures showed they were eligible for a 6-year tax abatement.

Mr. Travis said that the purchase of this press would retain 5 positions and add 8 new ones. Trustee Hammer asked why he mentioned the retention of 5 positions. He asked if they had not purchased the machine if 5 people would have been laid off. Mr. Travis said no.

Trustee Myles asked if there would be an additional power demand. Mr. Travis said that they would be within the current parameters.

President Steele opened the public hearing. There being no comment, President Steele closed the public hearing.

In response to a question, J. Myers said the tax abatement was equal to 50% of the tax.

Motion by Trustee Hammer, seconded by Trustee Schumann to grant the Hatch Stamping Request for Abatement. 6 Ayes, 0 Nay, 1 Absent. Motion carried.

Communications to Council: Letter from the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce supporting keeping the Post Office downtown; a letter authorizing C. Ritter as the delegate to the Fire Authority; letter from MDOT regarding turn signals at the corner of Old US 12 and M 52 and why the turn signals are on M 52 only; letter from McKinley Properties regarding blocking the sidewalk down by the Clocktower; letter from First Equity Residential Mortgage Company; letter from Dove & Hickey, P.L.C. regarding general purpose financial statements of the Chelsea Area Fire Authority; letter from Magellan Properties, L.L.C. which is now part of the agenda.

President Steele said that he had set a work session for the Council on Thursday, October 12, 2000, at 5:00 p.m. to discuss the wastewater treatment discharge permit with Brad. He said he had also set a work session for Thursday, October 19, 2000, at 7:00 to meet with Andrew Adrienne to discuss the Authority.

Trustee Schumann said he had received a communication from Lee Lewis regarding the newsletter. He also volunteered his help to Georgia Beaman in getting the newsletter ready for publication. He passed a copy of the District Library Newsletter around.

Reports from Council Committees: Trustee Schumann said that he would try to make the CATS Board meeting on October 26, 2000.

Trustee Myles said that he wanted to discuss the letter the Council had received from B. Yopko of the First Equity Residential Mortgage Company. He said he would like to have Dan or Jack Myers respond to his letter and that he would like to see a copy of it. He said that many people have the same misconception regarding the water softening issue.

C. Ritter said that the Fire Authority was changing its meeting schedule to every other month, rather than monthly. He said that the dispatcher quote from HVA was for one year only; that they would not quote for more than that. He said the Fire Authority had requested bids for a consultant and had received a bid for $45,207.00 to analyze the fire department, the staff, public relations and the level of service. He said in addition there were travel expenses.

Mr. Ritter said that the first cost for putting a furnace into the sub-station had been $1,103.00, he said that that cost had now risen to $8,200. He said that Chelsea's share of that cost would be $1,000. In response to President Steele's question whether the $8,000 was for just the furnace, Mr. Ritter said that was to heat the building. He said the building is nothing but a big barn and it could cost as much as $1,400 a month to heat it. He said that half the cost of the heating system will be paid for by Waterloo Township as they will be using the front part of the building. He said at this time the money for the furnace, etc., is coming out of building maintenance.

Mr. Ritter said that Mr. Sweet is talking with the DNR to ask them to donate some land to put a fire station on. He said at this time the Fire Authority does not have the money to construct a new building. He said that if the DNR gives the Fire Authority the property, the Fire Authority will try to get a builder to build the building, and the Fire Authority will then lease that building from that builder. They would like to have a building within a 5-mile radius of everyone in the Township.

Mr. Ritter said the Fire Authority had a new budget proposal on October 2, 2000. He said the assessed valuation in this district went up 6.1% and the Fire Authority based their budget on a 6.1%.

He said that some of the expenses included in the new budget was the purchase of three t-shirts for each fireman with Chelsea Fire Department printed on them. He said this would come to approximately $1,500.00. They are also looking into leasing a new copier at a cost of $300 a month.

He said that last year they had $10,000.00 left over in the budget. He said that when monies are left over, rather than adding them on to the current budget, which had been done, they should be put into a general fund. He said that the Fire Authority does not have a general fund.

Mr. Ritter also suggested that the Village put the money from the sale of the fire engine into an escrow account.

Trustee Myles said that now that the Fire Authority would be meeting every other month he would like to see the minutes of the meetings more often than every two months. Mr. Ritter said that he would pass on the request to the secretary.

J. Drolett reviewed his monthly zoning report for the Council. He also said that at the October 17, 2000, meeting of the Planning Commission they would be reviewing a preliminary site plan for the renovation of the McDonald's, discussing the Merkel property and the Chelsea Ridge.

B. Shepherd reported on the power outage that occurred on Wednesday, October 4, 2000. He said it was caused by a lightning strike at the Garfield Street substation. The duration was from 3:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

He also reported on the progress of the ice rink and the substation.

P. Newhouse said that Consumers did an excellent job of getting the power back up. Trustee Myles asked if the Electric Department had anything in their inventory that might have helped get the power restored sooner. B. Shepherd said that the Village's portable generators were too small to handle the 46,000-volt power.

Trustee Cashman asked if there was any possibility of getting an alternate feed from Edison as a contingency in situations such as this. B. Shepherd said that this had been discussed a few years ago but at that time it was not possible.

Trustee Cashman asked if any of the outage was due to the Garfield station being old. He was told that the Electric Department continues to do maintenance on the transformer.

J. Myers gave a tabulation of the responses to the water softening survey as of October 10, 2000: Phone responses - 37 yes, 11 no; e-mail responses - 57 yes, 6 no; surveys returned - 108 yes, 35 no.

J. Myers reviewed the Bond Authorizing Resolution. Trustee Hammer asked if there had been a response from the Fair Board regarding his motion on the Special Assessment from the September 26, 2000 meeting of the Council. He also asked if the Fair Board had received a copy of that motion. J. Myers said that he had not sent them any formal notification. Trustees Hammer and Myles both asked if J. Myers would send them formal notice and both said they would like to see the Fair Board's response.

President Steele said that he had spoken with Mr. McCalla about it, but had not received any commitment one way or the other.

Motion by Trustee Hammer, seconded by Trustee Schumann to pass the Bond Authorizing Resolution. 6 Ayes, 0 Nay, 1 Absent. Motion Carried.

J. Myers reviewed Ordinance 123B - Revision to the Stormwater Utility Ordinance. Motion by Trustee Myles, seconded by Trustee Hammer to adopt Ordinance 123B. 6 Ayes, 0 Nay, 1 Absent. Motion Carried.

Motion by Trustee Hammer, seconded by Trustee Myles to approve the Resolution regarding Ordinance 123B. 6 Ayes, 0 Nay, 1 Absent. Motion Carried.

Motion by Trustee Hammer, seconded by Trustee Cashman to grant Magellan Properties, L.L.C. an extension to their letter of intent because the Post Office had not yet made a decision on any property. 5 Ayes (Trustees Cashman, Hammer, Myles, Schumann and President Steele), 1 Nay (Trustee Ortring), 1 Absent (Trustee Rigg). Motion carried.

Motion by Trustee Hammer, seconded by Trustee Schumann to pass the resolution regarding the Municipal Trunkline Maintenance contract between the Michigan Department of Transportation and the Village of Chelsea. 6 Ayes, 0 Nay, 1 Absent. Motion Carried.

President Steele presented the letter from the Michigan Association of Mayors of the Michigan Municipal League. After some discussion the consensus was that if there were to be a Mayor Exchange the Village would set it up by itself, rather than have the Michigan Association of Mayors do it for them.

P. Newhouse presented the proposal that the new south sub-station that is being constructed be named in honor of Robert Shepherd, the Electric Superintendent. He praised Mr. Shepherd for his devotion to the Village and the Electric Department and commended the energy he showed in getting this substation built.

When asked by President Steele how he felt about this, B. Shepherd said that it was the greatest honor he had ever received and he appreciated the support from the people who work for him.

Motion by Trustee Hammer, seconded by Trustee Cashman to name the new south substation the Robert G. Shepherd Sub-Station. 6 Ayes, 0 Nay, 1 Absent. Motion Carried.

J. Drolett said that there were two terms on the ZBA Board that would expire this year and one that had expired in 1999, plus an alternate position. When asked if he had asked the current members if they wanted to serve again, he said that none of them had told him they wanted to leave the board. President Steele asked Mr. Drolett to formally ask the sitting members of the board if they wished to continue.

J. Myers reviewed the Resolution Re: West Middle Street Reconstruction. He said the funds available from the United States Department of Transportation, Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) for this project had risen from $230,000 when first proposed to $380,000. He said that if the resolution is passed the project will begin in the spring of 2001.

Motion by Trustee Myles, seconded by Trustee Ortring to adopt the Resolution Re: West Middle Street Reconstruction. 6 Ayes, 0 Nay, 1 Absent. Motion Carried.

Motion by Trustee Ortring, seconded by Trustee Hammer to adjourn. 6 Ayes, 0 Nay, 1 Absent. Motion Carried.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:31 p.m.

Garden presentation features master gardener

"Gardens Across America," a slide show and presentation by Master Gardener Charlene Harris, will be the topic of this month's meeting of the Evening Primrose Garden Club, 7 p.m., Nov. 8, at the Chelsea Depot. Guests are invited and welcome.

The slide show, of private and public gardens around the United States, includes Longwood Gardens in Pennsylvania, Denver Botanical Gardens, Mendocino Botanical Gardens in California, southern estates and California coastal gardens.

"The show will demonstrate unique garden styles in varying climates and conditions around the country," Harris said. "Authentic Japanese gardens, conifer gardens, rhododendrons, a heather garden on a 100 foot drop over the California coast and a hillside garden in Asheville, N.C., are among the highlights."

Harris, a horticultural instructor, is a member of both Chelsea garden clubs, and is a frequent lecturer in garden design throughout southern Michigan.

The Evening Primrose Garden Club meets on the second Wednesday of the month.

Upcoming events include a Christmas celebration party, wreath making, mosaic cre-

Auction to benefit St. Louis Center

St. Louis Center of Chelsea will hold its annual Fall Dinner and Auction Saturday at Chelsea Community Hospital's main dining room. The theme for this year is "Be A Hero To Our Boys."

This marks the 13th consecutive year for the event, which raises money for the St. Louis Center and its residents.

The evening begins with appetizers, silent auction bidding and review of live auction items from 6 to 7:30 p.m., followed by a full-course dinner at 7:30 p.m.

The live auction, facilitated by Merkel Auctioneers, begins at 8:30 p.m. and runs for approximately an hour. Orchestra music will entertain the guests during the evening.

There are dozens of items up for auction this year, ranging from fine art, imported paintings, electronics, custom-made jewelry, handmade clothing, glassware, collectibles, memorabilia and much more.

The menu for the evening includes a main course choice of prime rib or fresh salmon.

Chelsea Community Hospital is located at 775 South Main St. in Chelsea. Cost for the event is $100 per person, $150 per couple, or $450 for a table of six. Seating will be assigned this year. Tickets are tax deductible.

This annual event is to provide the opportunity to help the developmentally disabled boys and young men of St. Louis Center. The center is located at 16195 Old US-12, just west of Chelsea.

For more information, to reserve tickets, or to donate an auction item, contact the center at 475-8430.
