Paul McCann, director of the Dexter library, said that he is excited about the new software because students no longer will be turned away if they want to use the Internet.

Before deciding to go with the blocking software, McCann said he looked at other alternatives but was disappointed. He its filtering track record.

"I know there is no technical solution LibraryGuardian only blocked about 70 percent of explicit material that is on the Internet," he said.

CyberPatrol, which will cost the library approximately $50 a year, has been installed on one of the three computer systems at the Dexter library.

McCann said that the price is significantly lower than other programs because CyberPatrol is a stand-alone. product versus a network product like LibraryGuardian.

McCann said the new program in Daw will not have added items like a Unsupervised children will be able to to blocking everything, but the use the filtered computer, while adults and children accompanied by a parent can use the remaining two computers.

McCann said that if demand is high for the filtered computers, then blocking software may be installed on the others.

The Chelsea District Library is in the midst of negotiations to implement LibraryGuardian on all three of its computers.

Julie Lea, technology librarian for Chelsea District Library, said that the new system will cost approximately $5,000 and should have added benefits

Two neighbors told deputies that someone broke into their cars in the late evening in the 13000 block of Harper Road.

The first incident happened at about 11 p.m. April 10. More than $900 worth of items were reported missing.

A 44-year-old woman said that she parked her late-model Honda in front of the garage at about 1 p.m. April 10. She left the car unlocked.

The woman said that she didn't realize someone had broken into the car until the following morning when the sheriff's department called her.

The sheriff's department said that someone found her purse on the side of Jackson Road near Dancer Road.

The woman said that she immediately went to her car and noticed her purse and several other items were missing. She told the deputies that her briefcase, a pocket planner, a calculator, several videotapes and medication were missing.

When she canceled her credit cards, the woman was told that her bankcard was recently used to purchase gas.

Later in the day, the Michigan reached at 475-1371 or via e-mail State Police called and told her at wkeeler@heritage.com.

The sheriff's department believes that the same person is responsible for another larceny in the 13000 block of Harper Road.

A number of tools and knives were taken from a late-model pickup truck and a Suburban around 11:20 p.m. April 11. The cars were parked in the driveway near the house and left unlocked.

The owner of the cars said that he parked his truck in the driveway at about 5 p.m. April 10. The man said that six hours later he noticed a reflection on the pickup truck. He told deputies that he thought it could have been a reflection of the moon. He saw the light again, at about 4 a.m. when he got up to go to work.

When the man left for work shortly before 6 a.m., he said that he noticed that both doors to the pickup were open and the dome light was on.

The man said that a hammer, a tire iron, two utility knives and a toolbox full of tools were missing. Two portable compact disc players were missing from the Suburban.

Lyndon board OKs sewers for lakes

Officials want the county board to rescind its vote over police.

By Kent Ashton Walton Staff Writer

The Lyndon Township Board met last week to discuss extending sewers to surrounding lake communities, as well as road issues and police services.

Officials voted to enter into an agreement with the Washtenaw County Department of Public Works and Multi-Lakes Water and Sewer Authority for construction, financing and operation of sanitary sewers to serve Blind, Half Moon, Silver, Joslin, Bruin and Patterson lakes.

The sewer authority, located on North Territorial Road in Dexter Township, regulates private and public sewers and connections, industrial waste pre- with criteria for different roads. treatment facilities and industrial waste discharge into the Multi-Lakes treatment facility.

The arrangement will provide for pollutant limitations, data collection, monitoring and sampling, and will provide enforcement, penalties, and remedies for regulatory violations in the areas served by the sewer authority.

The regulations are designed to protect the health, safety and welfare of the people and properties in the townships, officials said.

The arrangement applies to lake communities in Lyndon, Dexter and Unadilla townships. It is expected that Putnam Township will join in the near future.

The board also discussed driveway standards in the township. Safety is a major issue. Currently, the township ordinance allows for single driveways, but not dual driveways. Local officials are now considering whether to allow one access from a public road to serve two private residences. The Washtenaw County Road Commission and the Michigan Department of Transportation issue variances for such requests, but none has been granted in the last two years.

rapidly moving from a rural to a residential area, the board thinks it needs to look into driveway safety and design issues.

Officials said the state is primarily concerned with the distance between driveway curb cuts and sight distance on highways, while the county is concerned exclusively with county roads. But officials said residential and private roads also need attention.

The township considers the width of driveways, overhead hazards, the nature of the area that leads into the road and access for emergency vehicles as vital, as well as drainage, culverts and grades.

The board voted to look into standards for driveways and to develop driveway ordinances, except for shared driveways.

In other news, the board is asking the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners to rescind its date of Jan. 1 to eliminate general road patrol. The township wants the county to hold off until Lyndon Township has a tax base sufficient to support police services 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The board said there is insufficient time for the township to study all police options available. Moreover, the board thinks that since the township's farms and open space do not generate sufficient revenue to support police services, the county's decision has created additional pressure in the township to convert open space to development.

During the public comment portion of the meeting, residents complained about speeders on local roads and noise, particularly from motorcycles.

Commissioners postpone cell tower decision

Vote may be taken April 24.

By Kent Ashton Walton Special Writer

Lyndon Township Planning Commission held a public hearing April 12 to discuss the location of a proposed cellular phone tower on farmland off Roepke Road.

e MIOP Inc. in conjunction with Trintel Communications and tower owners TWS/TWT want to build a 240-foot-tall self-supported lattice tower on a 100-footsquare site owned by Tom and Lee Ann Shanahan, The move requires a special-use permit from the township.

The public hearing attracted dozens of residents, who filled the township hall nearly to capacity.

MIOP representative Pete Preston delivered details of the proposal. He said the tower is ations such as the environmental effects of radio frequency.

The FCC has determined that such low-strength frequencies are deemed safe for the public. However, several residents and board members were persistent over whether the existing two towers could accommodate carriers wanting to locate in the township.

Preston said the PAX tower is a co-locatable structure, but it's limited to two co-locations of modern wireless provider equipment at 220 and 300 feet.

Preston said the option is not being considered because it still would allow gaps in cell communication coverage that would require additional towers. Preston added that the PAX tower is primarily for TV transmission and is 1.6 miles from the chosen location

Susan Morse, who lives on North Territorial Road, asked if the PAX tower is higher because

ning commission postpone its approval until speaking to tion, requiring multiple antennas. This makes the cost prohibitive, he said.

Commissioner Mike Grambau asked Preston if MIOP was in the business to market towers and if the company tries to colocate antennas on existing towers. Preston said the company is aggressively marketing towers and does not attempt to use existing ones.

Robert Perry of MIOP said that the company has been approached by businesses and knows where carriers want to locate based on consumer complaints about "dead spots" in cell phone coverage.

Bryce_Kelly, also with MIOP, said phone use, with increases in phone functions and palm devices, will soon triple. He said such towers are needed and are in compliance with the townshipordinances:

Township Supervisor Maryann Noah read statements from the Chelsea Area Fire Authority, the Chelsea Area Construction Authority and the Multi-Lakes Sewer Authority, each expressing the need for greater cellular service in the area and a concern for the safety of its workers and inspectors.

Sandy Rider of South Lake disagreed that the issue is one of better coverage. She said more information is necessary to determine whether the existing towers and facilities are sufficient if fully utilized. She asked if it was really necessary to "destroy" the landscape.

Property owner LeeAnn Shanahan and Janis Syrovy both said the livelihood of farmers is under threat from development and that locating towers on the land is one way to save farmland.

Morse said there are other ways to retain farmland, such as the Purchase of Development Rights program available to farmers.

The Township Planning Commission ended the public hearing by postponing the decision

Sylvan man is new top cop in Dexter

By Lisa Allmendinger Staff Writer

Mike Trester always wanted to be a cop. It's a decision he says he's never regretted.

On Easter Sunday, Trester took on new job responsibilities as the sergeant in charge of the Dexter substation, which provides police protection for the village and Dexter Township.

"Ever since I was a little boy, that's all I can ever rememberwanting to be," Trester said last week while sitting in his predecessor's chair in the Dexter substation.

As reports of golf ball size hail came in across the police scanner in the tiny office. Dexter's top cop got his first taste of the new position.

Trester said he was one of three sheriff's deputies who applied for the position vacated by Sgt. Troy Bevier when Bevier was promoted to lieutenant and transferred to Ypsilanti.

A subcommittee consisting of Village President John Coy, Councilman Scott Stivers and Paul Bishop of the Dexter Downtown Development Authority chose Trester as the new leader. The Clarkston High School graduate attended Eastern Michigan University and graduated in May of 1990 with a bachelor's degree in criminal justice. Trester began his career in the sheriff's department on the midnight shift with the countywide road patrol. He spent three years in Ypsilanti Township. three years in the detective bureau and then went back to road patrol. In February 1999, he was promoted to sergeant.

Trester said he applied for the Dexter post because he wanted to be in a leadership role and run his own station.

"Yes, I did talk to Troy about the job, and he told me it would be a good chance to learn a lot and meet a lot of good people," he said.

Not to mention, it's close to home. Trester lives in Sylvan Township and has been married to Rebecca for nine years in May. They have three children, 8-year-old Devyn, 6-year-old Mackenzie and 4-year-old Zachery.

Trester said his parents moved to Dexter while he was in college, so he knew something about the village and was looking forward to working in a small town.

Trester said he's been talking with Deputy Paul Mobbs, the school liaison officer, and would like to maintain the school's safe environment.

He added that he is looking forward to getting to know people in both communities and he will attend some governmental meetings to become familiar with the issues.

Trester said he knows parking is a problem in the village and he'd like to see a foot patrol and possibly a bike patrol in the village.

He said he'd be gearing up for the Dexter-Ann Arbor Run in May and Dexter Daze in August by locating extra help from deputies.

Many new residents in the Chelsea fire response area have come from places that may have provided full-time staffing in their fire departments. We at the Chelsea Area Fire Department feel you should know that the Chelsea Area Fire Authority is a paid on-call fire department.

The amount of time it takes before you see an emergency vehicle is always a very important issue. If you live outside the village and call 911, the phone rings into the Washtenaw County Central Dispatch Center. They then report it to our dispatchers in Chelsea. It may take up to two minutes before we receive the alert from our our personnel may affect this response time. At times, we still encounter vehicles that fail to yield the right of way.

So, if you take into consideration these elements, plus the distance to your home or business, the time adds up. We understand that as these minutes go by it seems like an eternity. Your emergency is also an emergency to us.

Over the past few years, we have tried to overcome the lack of full-time personnel by adding two substations, one on North Territorial Road and one on Maute Road. These substations, utilized by the firefighters livingin those areas, are still affected by the same elements.

We sometimes are delayed by an inability to locate addresses due to private drives with multiple mailboxes, poor visibility of house numbers or mailbox numbers. We have tried to overcome these obstacles by offering the sale of reflective address signs and purchasing new maps.

We hope this may answer some of the questions people who live in our response area may have:

I would like to recognize the firefighters for the risks they take, the sleepless nights, reheated meals, interrupted holidays, hours made up to employers, personal grief they encounter, and their blood, sweat and all of the other inconveniences they allow in their lives:

Most of all, I would like to recognize the firefighters' families who tolerate the absence of their loved ones at a moment's notice, and the times they are awakened by the pager that alerts our member to give to those in need.

Celtic and African music: quite an eclectic mix.

The audience can hear the exciting sounds for themselves Saturday, when the Chelsea House Orchestra will perform at the Celtic Music Festival 7 p.m. at the high school auditorium.

Under the musical direction of Jed Fritzemeier, the Chelsea House Orchestra is more than a traditional Celtic music band, which usually bases its music on violins, flutes, harps, penny whistles, bhodran and pipes. The 30 young musicians in the group play a variety of instruments, including violin, viola, harp, cello, guitar, flute, oboe, bass and djembe.

According to Fritzemeier, who also plays lead guitar for the group, there is a lot of interest in because both Celtic and African music are essentially dance music," Fritzemeier said.

They have appeared in concert with artist Jerry Holland, an internationally known Cape Breton fiddler, and the Celtic Folk music band Pub Domain from East Lansing.

The group has just completed its second recording, "Over the Sea to Skye."

The Chelsea Middle School Fiddle Clubs will also perform at Saturday's concert, and the featured artists will be internationally known English mandolin player Simon Mayor and vocalist Hilary James.

Scott and Jan Cooper thought it was perfect timing when exchange student Alain Gatignol entered their lives.

They had always thought it would be interesting to host an exchange student, and now they know. The Coopers, who reside in Sylvan Township, have been paired with 17-year-old Alain Gatignol, who comes from a small city approximately three hours south of Paris, France.

This is the teen's third host family since coming . to the United States last August through the Rotary Exchange Program. The program places exchange students with three American families as part of a yearlong visit

"You learn a lot when you are in different families and you can experience other ways of life," Gatignol said are some of the advantages of the program.

This is Gatignol's first visit to the United States, but he seems to be adjusting well. Like any typical teen-ager, he enjoys music, movies and participating in extracurricular activities.

What he finds unusual about the United States, though, is how much fast food Americans eat.

"I eat a lot of home-cooked meals back home," he said. "We don't have too many fast-food restaurants.'

"Frenchie," as many call him, has grown accustomed to such American fare as pancakes and bagels, but dislikes peanut butter.

. The Coopers are getting a taste of foreign fare during his visit. The teen has made crepes and stuffed tomatoes. Jan Cooper said that she was surprised when Gatignol made stuffed tomatoes filled with meat.

Aside from food, Gatignol enjoys music and computers. He has used his computer experience and talent to create a Web site of his trip to the United States for friends and family to view in France.

Gatignol has played the hurdy-gurdy, a French medieval stringed instrument, since he was 10 years old. He also enjoys singing classical music and is taking concert choir as part of his studies at Chelsea High School.

"It's a great class because we don't have anything like this back home," Gatignol said. In France, he squeezes in private choir lessons in an already tight schedule. Back home, the teen attends school from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. On Wednesdays and Saturdays, he has class from 8 a.m. to noon. Gatignol prefers the shorter school days in Chelsea, but said that he will have to repeat this See STUDENT -- Page 5-B

Novel idea

Dexter resident writes Chelsea's history for Sleeping Bear Press

By Kent Ashton Walton Special Writer

Yynthia Furlong Reynolds moved more than a dozen times while growing up and has regrets about not having a hometown.

But now she has written a book, "Our Hometown: America's History as Seen Through the Eyes of a Midwestern Village" about Chelsea, a place where she has discovered the roots of a community and fulfilled a dream.

Sleeping Bear Press in Chelsea has published the book. Reynolds will sign copies from 2 to: 4 p.m. Saturday at Little Professor Book Center in Chelsea.

Reynolds was born in Maine, where she visits her family each summer. She says her father's job required them to move often across the East Coast. One year, she attended third grade in three different schools. Sometimes she lived for less than three months in one place.

When she married, she expected to find roots by adopting her husband's hometown of Glen -Gardner, N.J. But two years later, he had to move. They have since moved 11 more times and now reside in Dexter.

: Reynolds attended William and Mary College in Virginia to study British and American history and American literature. She remembers taking "The Founding of a Town: A Study of the Economic, Political and Social Hierarchy of a Town." This was perhaps the seed of the book she has written.

Reynolds sees Chelsea as having the same hopes, dreams and ideals of every other place she has lived. She also sees Chelsea's history, like that of every other American town, as anchored in the history of the country.

"I set out to write a book not only for the village of Chelsea, but for people everywhere to paint a portrait of what a small, Midwestern town is like, both its

"I wanted to know what makes a town flourish or disappear, what motivates people to contribute to a town," she says.

Reynolds has found it very gratifying to know that she was able to write such a book.

"I've known since before I could write that I wanted to do this," she says, "It's the biggest thrill I've had in the 20 years my byline has been in print."

Chelsea boys' tennis overcomes windy conditions to beat Pinckney

By Don Richter

Staff Writer It was a day for holding onto one's hat.

With gale-like winds howling across Pinckney's brand-new courts, the Chelsea boys' tennis team opened the 2001 season with an impressive 7-1 victory over the host Pirates.

Buildog coach John Capper felt the reason for his squad's win was its pregame preparation.

"(We) prepped the players on how to play in windy conditions," he said. "(The keys were) low service tosses, hard-hitting, low shots into the wind, soft (shots) with the wind behind, (fast) footwork adjusting to the

Instead of fighting Mother Nature, the Bulldogs used it to ward to take their advantage.

"I was amazed at how skillfully (our) players did adapt without complaint in these most frustrating of conditions," Capper said. "That matches were finished at all is a real compliment to all the players (on both. teams)."

Capper said this was one match those in attendance erately hit the would not soon forget.

Moe, a Chelsea resident, was recently named to the American Hockey Coaches Association Division III women's All-American hockey team.

The junior forward led Gustavus Adolphus College to the Division III national championship final and a schoolrecord 23 wins this season.

Gustavus, located in St. Peter: Minn.; is 70 miles southwest of Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Moe is the Gusties' first All-American in the program's fouryear history.

For the season, Moe scored 25 goals and had 18 assists for 43 points.

She finished the year ranked fifth in Division III in points per game (2.04) and ninth in scoring. Along with being named All-American, Moe also earned -All-Minnesota filtst-team Athletic Infercollegiate Conference honors.

"It feels awesome," said Moe, a three-time All-MIAC per-

"It was the weirdest thing ever," said Moe, a triple major, who sports a 3.8 grade point average in criminal justice, psychology and political science. "It didn't seem real." Tell that to Bethel.

In the third period alone, Moe scored four goals

"That was my weirdness highpoint," she said. "I didn't even know I broke the school record." During one stretch of February, Moe had 15 points in three games.

She scored so much, occasionally Gustavus coach Mike Carroll was forced to sit her on the bench in an effort not to embarrass an opponent.

"I was fine with that," said Moe, who plans to attend graduate school to study clinical psychology. "Some games I played just two periods and in one game I didn't play at all."

Moe said playing women's hockey is a different game.

"There's no checking," she said. "I think there should be." Moe said the "no checking" rule stems from parents afraid to put their daughters in a hitting sport.

"My mom always worried about that," she said. "But my dad knew I could take it."

The first time Moe played against girls was in 1996 as a member of the national champion Connecticut Polar Bears.

On that team, Moe played with two girls who are currently on the U.S. national squad, including Olympian Angela Ruggiero, who hails from Harrison Township.

Moe lived in Trenton until she was 7 years old, In 1989, the family moved to Des Moines.

After 10 years in Iowa, the family moved to Chelsea in August of 1999.

With one year remaining in her college hockey career, Moe is driven to win a national championship. Finishing as runnerup (6-0 loss to Middlebury (VT) College) this season has only fueled her desire for next year.

Strong second half sparks Dexter

By Don Richter Staff Writer

Despite falling behind early, the Dexter girls' soccer team regrouped and defeated visiting Temperance Bedford, 3-2, April

The Dreadnaughts used two second-half goals to subdue the Class A Mules.

Bedford recorded the day's first score at the 15-minute mark of the first half as senior midfielder Kellie Nicholson reached the back of the net.

Dexter, however, answered right back as freshman midfielder Kelsea Howell beat the Bedford keeper for her first varsity goal at the 27-minute mark of the first half.

Assisting on the play were.

senior tri-captain Amanda Shirk and sophomore Shannon Kennedy.

The first half ended in a 1-1 tie.

The score stayed deadlocked at 1-1 until midway through the second half when Dreadnaught junior forward Lindsaya Mascellino recorded her first varsity goal:

Senior tri-captain Kara Rodriguez assisted on the play. With the score, Dexter (1-0-1) led, 2-1. Three minutes later, the Dreadnaughts increased their lead to 3-1 as junior tri-captain defender Liza Swan blasted a shot from 35 yards away for the game-winner.

The score was Swan's first of the season. Bedford freshman forward Allison Davis added a late goal for the final margin. Dexter keeper Katherine Thomas was solid in net, making seven saves.

For the game; Mules, 19-9.

Holding a tough Bedford team to only nine shots pleased Dexter coach Joel Anderson.

"If you can limit a team to nine shots, that's pretty good," he said.

So far this season, the Dreads have tied last year's state runner-up, Jackson Lumen Christi, and defeated a larger, deeper Bedford squad. Despite the positive results, Anderson knows his team can play better.

"We played flat during this game," he said. "We weren't finishing our shots. We should have won by a larger margin.

"We didn't come out as sharp the (against Bedford) as we did Dreadnaughts out shot the against Jackson (Lumen Christi). "But I'm happy with the victory. Bedford did a good job of getting in front of us and blocking our shots."

Dexter next hosts Adrian April 24 at 5:30 p.m. On April 26, the Dreadnaughts travel to Pinckney for a game at 7 p.m. Staff Writer Don Richter can be

Chelsea pupils to turn off the TV this week

By Sheila Pursglove Staff Writer

Put down the remote control, hide the TV listings — pupils at South Meadows and North Creek elementary schools are taking part in a contest this weekend to turn off the TV and find something else to do.

The event is being run in conjunction with National Turn Off the TV Week April 23 through 29.

Suggested activities are enjoying the sunshine, reading a good book, getting some exercise and having fun with the family

According to Mike Bareis, physical education teacher and Student Council leader at South Meadows Elementary School, the contest is all student-driven. Student Council members from each school will discuss what they want each school to do after they total up the results.

"This is the first year of the contest, the exchange day between the two schools is an annual event," Bareis said. "The teachers are left to their own discretion as far as encouraging their students to participate."

Pupils took fliers home and will get parent signatures to verify that they did not succumb to the lure of the television, computer or video games.

South Meadows Elementary School will host the North Creek Student-Council with a pizza lunch today and South Meadows Student Council will visit North Creek on Monday.

"We've been doing the exchange with South for four years," said Becky Morse, adviser for North Creek Student Council. "We start with meeting the principal and touring the building. We then partner up the kids and they will spend the morning in the classroom.

"We will be discussing our plans for the turn off the TV and computer weekend, she said."

Talented Artists

Several Beach Middle School pupils will display their art at River Gallery through April 28. A reception will be held on Saturday from 5 to 7 p.m. at the gallery, 121 S. Main St. Shown with their creations are Shaun Bush (left), Max Parkanzky and Phillip Thayer.

32,000,000 Americans wish they weren't here.

It's a state so huge that it touches one out of every six children in America — and more than 32 million people nationwide — and holds them all in its cruel grip. It's the state of poverty in America. And though many people live here, it doesn't feel like home.

UVERTY America's forgotten state.
