Homecoming Queen

Fire crews save house

■ Damage estimated at $100,000.

By Sheila Pursglove

Associate Editor

Local fire crews were able to save a home on Chestnut Drive that caught fire Oct. 8, ironically the middle of National Fire Prevention Week.

While the cause is still under investigation, the fire appears to have started in the kitchen and spread up to the attic, Chelsea Area Fire Authority Health and Safety Officer Jim Boritzki said Tuesday.

The house, in the north end of the village close to North Creek Elementary School, sustained about $100,000 worth of damage to the kitchen and dining room area.

Boritzki said fire crews from Chelsea and Dexter were on the scene for about three hours. The fire department was alerted around 3:21 p.m. after getting calls from a neighbor and Chelsea schools transportation secretary Chris Frayer.

Frayer said school bus driver

Dave Smyth called her on his radio when he spotted smoke as he was dropping schoolchildren off at Lanewood subdivision, and she called the fire department.

Homeowners Brian and Diane Keyes were out at the time. The couple and their children are staying with family members until the home can be rebuilt, which could take several months.

"We had a quick knock-down on the fire before it spread too far," Boritzki said.

Nineteen Chelsea firefighters responded to the blaze with three engines, a tower truck, air truck and squad truck.

Chelsea Police Officer Jeff Staebler also helped by laying out fire hoses for the fire crews.

The Dexter Area Fire Department sent six firefighters and an engine. The Manchester Fire Department sent an engine and manned the fire station on West Middle Street while the Chelsea crews were at the fire.

Interviews set tonight to find new manager

■ Three hopefuls face interviews 6 p.m. at the Washington Street Education Center.

By Michael Rybka

Special Writer

Council trustees will interview three candidates tonight who hope to step into former Village Manager Jack Myers' shoes.

Interviews for the trio — Dennis Coryell, Stephen Guille and Kristine Foigt — start 6 p.m. at the Washington Street Education Center.

Chelsea has been without a manager since Myers left June 10 for the managers' post in Stockbridge.

The first step in the second round of Chelsea's manager search began Oct. 8 as the council's personnel committee, composed of Village President Richard Steele and trustees Dale Schumann and Howard Holmes, initially narrowed down its second field of candidates to four, although they may continue to add names.

They invited one of the original candidates, Matthew Storbeck, who was interviewed July 9 during a first go-round in the manager search, back for a second interview. Storbeck, who has 14 years of experience as a municipal finance director and treasurer with the city of Otsego, declined to be considered for the position.

Steele said Storbeck came in third behind former candidates Shea Charles and Dale Martin. Martin voluntarily dropped out of the running earlier this summer and the Village Council backed out of an offer it made to Charles.

Dennis Coryell has been the city administrator of Wyoming, Minn., for 11 years. He is also an attorney, which Holmes said makes him wary of what Coryell's salary expectations will be.

However, Schumann said it's unlikely that Minnesota pays a big salary, and added that Coryell's legal expertise could save money for the village in consulting fees.

Kristine Silver Foigt is also in the running. She was the city manager of Pottsville from December 1998 to July of this year.

Tonight's third candidate, Stephen Guille, is city administrator of Beaverton.

Another possible candidate has requested confidentiality. Legally, the request can be honored until an interview is confirmed, village officials said.

Steele said he received applications from about 30 people.

Fire investigator Al Thompson emerges from the charred remains of the Keyes' home on Chestnut Drive Oct. 8 as Chelsea firefighter Dave Harrison works at top. Ironically, the house caught fire during the middle of Fire Prevention Week.

Lima man creates habitat

■ Ducks Unlimited helped create a wetland for wildlife.

By Scott Hagen
Special Writer

With the help of Ducks Unlimited, Pete Niedbala's backyard is now a wetland. Niedbala's 16 acres on Steinbach Road in Lima Township was once a field of tall grass. But biologists from Ducks Unlimited, an organization dedicated to building and maintaining wetlands for environmental purposes, have turned the area into a livable habitat for critters and plant life.

"I've had the good fortune of being part of the conservation movement since I was a kid," Niedbala said. "When I moved here and was able to buy this (property), it just seemed like the right thing to do. It's a labor of love."

Niedbala didn't spend money on the project, but he did put in many hours arranging to get permits, and recruiting friends and neighbors to help.

"My goals for the area are, first, that it inspires other people to look at these programs," he said. "I've opened it up to a couple of different conservation organizations to show it off."

"I'll also have a lot of fun taking friends and neighbors through it."

The area was once an open hayfield and pastureland without areas suited for geese or ducks. The initial stages of the restoration under the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Partners for Wildlife Program were extremely successful, and the project built upon that success.

"Wetlands are very important for survival for a variety of reasons, such as flood control, groundwater and water quality improvements, and wildlife habitats," said David Brakhage, director of conservation programs in Michigan for Ducks Unlimited.

Kathy Kos, the biologist with Ducks Unlimited who directed the restoration, said the area has improved 100 percent for the proliferation of wildlife.

"We added a component that wasn't there before," she said. "As it matures, it'll just get better and better."

Open House

Chelsea firefighters Keith O'Neil (left), Don Janisse, Dave Harrison and Keith Anderson gave a demonstration of vehicle extrication at the fire department's open house Sunday. About 400 visitors enjoyed demonstrations, refreshments and met with personnel from Huron Valley Ambulance, the American Red Cross and Michigan State Police. The open house signaled the end of National Fire Prevention Week.

Play set for Nov. 13 in Chelsea

The eternal battles between management and labor — and between man and woman — get a tuneful send-up in the Chelsea Theatre Guild's production of "The Pajama Game."

The production is set 8 p.m. Nov. 13 through 15 at the Chelsea High School auditorium, 740 Freer Road.

Tickets are on sale at the Chelsea Community Education office, located at the Washington Street Education Center, 500 Washington St. Tickets also will be available at the door.

In the musical comedy, a labor strike over a pay raise is imminent in a pajama factory in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Hines (Ty Mitchell), the factory manager, keeps the workers on their toes by timing them with a stopwatch.

When Sid Sorokin (Ben Garrison), the new superintendent of the Sleep-Tite Pajama Co., runs into Babe Williams (Megan Minnick), the head of the union grievance committee, sparks fly and romance is in the air.

With added intrigue between Hines and Gladys (Lauren O'Connor), the boss' private secretary, the long-standing union-management dispute at the company is soon boiling over with all sorts of passions.

The musical opened in 1954 and became one of the greatest successes in the history of Broadway theater. The production was the eighth Broadway musical to achieve a run in excess of a thousand performances.

BRIGHT IS BETTER

Sometimes Realtors walk into a home that is basically attractive, but lacks something that they can't quite put their fingers on. Then they notice that all of the drapes are closed, and there is a lot of overgrown shrubbery blocking the sun. A dark house is not as appealing to most buyers as one that is flooded with light. As a part of your preparations to market your home, try to maximize the light in your home. Make sure that all of the windows are clean and open the drapes when the house is being shown. A fresh coat of light paint can do a lot to brighten up the interior. If your house has very dark paneling, and there is not a lot that you can do about it, you may want to consider adding additional lamps. Your Realtor may be able to provide other simple and cost effective ideas about how to maximize your home's appeal.

We Could Use Your Children (and You)

Dear Friends and Neighbors,
Faith Lutheran Church is gearing up for its third annual Christmas play. This year the play will be presented before Christmas, on Thursday and Friday evening, December 11 and 12, at 7:30 p.m.

We have many parts to fill, for adults and children, both speaking and not, along with behind the scenes roles, including set preparations and costumes. If you do not have a church of your own, and anyone in your family would like to participate in Faith's program, please call right away (734) 475-2070. For children who would like to be in the play, we need your child's name(s), age(s), height from top of shoulder to floor, combined sleeve lengths with outstretched arms from wrist to wrist, and waist measurements. The following rehearsals have been scheduled; it is not necessary to be present at all rehearsals, but obviously the more you can attend, the better:

November 2, Sunday: 11:30 a.m. We will have a read through of the program and a light lunch at church.

November 8, 15, 22 and December 6, Saturday: 9:30-11:30 a.m. We will be having practices at church.

December 7: Dress rehearsal.

December 11 and 12, Thursday and Friday: The performances at 7:30 p.m.

Whether or not your family participates in our Christmas play, you are always invited to worship with us Sunday mornings at 10:00 a.m.

School trustees oppose election consolidation

■ House bills would establish four standard election dates in both odd and even years.

By Sheila Pursglove
Associate Editor

The Chelsea Board of Education stated its opposition Monday to the state's attempt to standardize election dates.

The seven trustees were unanimous in adopting a resolution to oppose House Bills 4820-4828, the "Election Consolidation" package passed by the Michigan House June 12 and now under consideration by the Senate.

The bills would establish four standard election dates — in February, May, August and November — in both odd and even years and prohibit special elections on any other dates except by a petitioning process.

Bill Miller, superintendent of the Washtenaw Intermediate School District, said Tuesday that the Michigan Township Association, school boards and school administrators are opposing the consolidation bill.

"There are a lot of issues," Miller said. "Local school districts have historically done an excellent job of running school elections. "The changes being advocated will substantially increase costs to taxpayers and create confusion in the cases of multiple townships."

Under the package, school elections would use the same voting places as township elections. The Chelsea School District encompasses eight townships — Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, Dexter, Freedom, Sharon, Waterloo and Grass Lake.

"If the Chelsea School District has to utilize eight voting precincts versus one. It only stands to reason that associated costs would increase ... as a large portion of election expenses relate to the people, training and equipment for each site," Chelsea Superintendent Dave Killips said.

Miller, who said many of the legislators supporting the House bills have their roots as township officials, said voters should be able to focus on school issues during an annual school election in June.

"The new budget year starts July 1," Miller said. "This gives trustees time to get up to speed. The proposed changes would interrupt the flow of a normal school year."

Killips said the public has come to expect school elections in June.

"Historically, school districts have had most elections during the June school vote," he said. "This was not one of the options offered by this legislation."

Miller said that rather than increasing voter participation, voters may suffer from ballot fatigue when faced with a slew of political races and candidates. Voters could be voting for everyone from the U.S. president down to a school board trustee.

School board candidates, laboring in the shadow of candidates running for national, state and regional offices, could find their message of school issues a tough sell. Miller said the changes also would increase the costs for anyone running for a spot on a school board.

Some people, however, take the opposite view. Local resident Doug Wright, who spoke at Monday's meeting in favor of consolidation, said Tuesday the House bills would eliminate duplication of effort and that additional costs should be minimal.

"(They will) require the school elections be conducted by county and local clerks who answer to the Michigan Election Law, rather than school employees who answer to the school board or superintendent, which could be a conflict of interest," he said.

"The bills would also stop ballot and millage proposals from being held on unusual dates, which causes cynicism among the electorate, as well as having the same issue being voted upon numerous times in a short period."

Local official wants to halt development

■ Trustee Cheri Albertson to draft moratorium for Village Council to consider.

By Michael Rybka
Special Writer

Chelsea Village Council Trustee Cheri Albertson hopes to draft a resolution in the next month calling for a moratorium on development in an effort to stop increasing traffic congestion.

Albertson expressed the idea at an Oct. 7 Village Council work session.

Trustee Cindy MacFarlan backed Albertson's plan by saying a new traffic study should be commissioned as a first step to fixing the problem.

MacFarlan said she is aware of previous traffic studies in Chelsea, but said they concentrated on the entire area and not exclusively the village.

Trustee Charles Ritter scoffed at both plans. He said Albertson's proposal would be a moratorium on nothing because, with the exception of a lot on the corner of Grant and Lincoln streets, there is nothing left to develop.

Ritter said traffic became a problem in the village when the village built jutting sidewalks on downtown corners for aesthetic appeal.

He said a car coming from the south making a left-hand turn at Main and Middle streets holds up through traffic or vehicles making a right-hand turn.

Ritter said eliminating those decorative areas would allow people to go around the car making a left-hand turn.

Albertson said she would like to do something about the visibility problem related to traffic coming over the Freer Road railroad track at Dexter-Chelsea Road. But Ritter said it's difficult to make changes when a railroad is involved. He joked the best that could be hoped for is to set up a mirror to reflect oncoming cars.

Understanding The Law

with Leonard K. Kitchen, J.D. and Thomas L. Stringer, J.D.

A TOUCH OF CLASS

The type of lawsuit known as a "class action" enables many people who have been injured by the same conduct to band together and bring suit as a single unit. In fact, you may actually be a party to a suit and bound by any decision in or settlement of it even though you never knew about it or even if you would have preferred asserting your own rights on your own behalf. By being bound to the results of a class action, you may be prevented from bringing your own suit even though the amounts you could recover on your own would be substantially greater than those obtained on your behalf in the class action.

Your legal professional can help you understand the law and avoid making mistakes that might be detrimental to your future. We would be happy to answer your questions at the LAW OFFICES OF KITCHEN & STRINGER, J.D. At our initial meeting with a client, we listen to your issue, discuss possible solutions, and quote a fee for our work, so you are comfortable and there are no surprises. Please call 426-4695 for assistance. Located at 3249 Broad Street in Dexter, we are the legal experts!

HINT: The law requires that notice of a class action suit be given to the unnamed members of the class, usually in a newspaper.

Staff mulls middle school options

■ Core classes would see an extra 10 minutes of instruction.

By Sheila Pursglove
Associate Editor

What a difference 10 minutes might make.

School administrators are exploring alternative schedules at Beach Middle School that would add about 10 minutes to core classes, from 50 minutes to an hour.

"I think all staff believe they could accomplish more, given more time with kids," Principal Andy Ingall said.

Ingall and his staff brainstormed last winter and spring for the best way to deliver instruction.

One idea was a six-period day of 60-minute classes. With four core academic classes and mandatory physical education, that left room for one elective class. Staff discussed alternating music and physical education, Ingall said, but postponed consideration until more information could be gathered.

The staff is also taking a look at how other schools deliver instruction.

"Saline is a good example," Ingall said. "They have teaching teams and are able to offer music every day."

With this year's district restructuring, which saw sixth grade move to South Meadows Elementary School, Ingall said some people hoped a six-hour day would be implemented immediately.

"Obviously, that didn't happen," he said.

Ingall said he felt the staff needed to see what the school was like with only two grades, and do a more complete review of the options.

"I really did not like the idea of reducing student opportunities," he said.

Shawn Lewis-Lakin, director of student performance, said a review of the way instruction is delivered at the middle school is one of the district's annual goals for improving academic achievement. "This does not need to be a win-lose proposition," Lewis-Lakin wrote to members of the Chelsea Music Boosters who had voiced their concerns.

"There are a host of creative solutions to this challenge."

Lewis-Lakin encouraged parents to come forward with suggestions.

A survey, which was offered at the school's open house Sept. 16, is available at the school's front counter and on the district's Web site. It will be available at parent-teacher conferences this month, Ingall said.

"The survey was only the first step for parents to have a voice and input," he said.

Ingall added the budget may be a roadblock to any changes, since many options require additional teaching staff.

Lewis-Lakin said that while music education is important in itself, there is also a body of research that documents the role of music education in supporting overall academic success.

"Our district music education program is a point of pride for our district," he said.

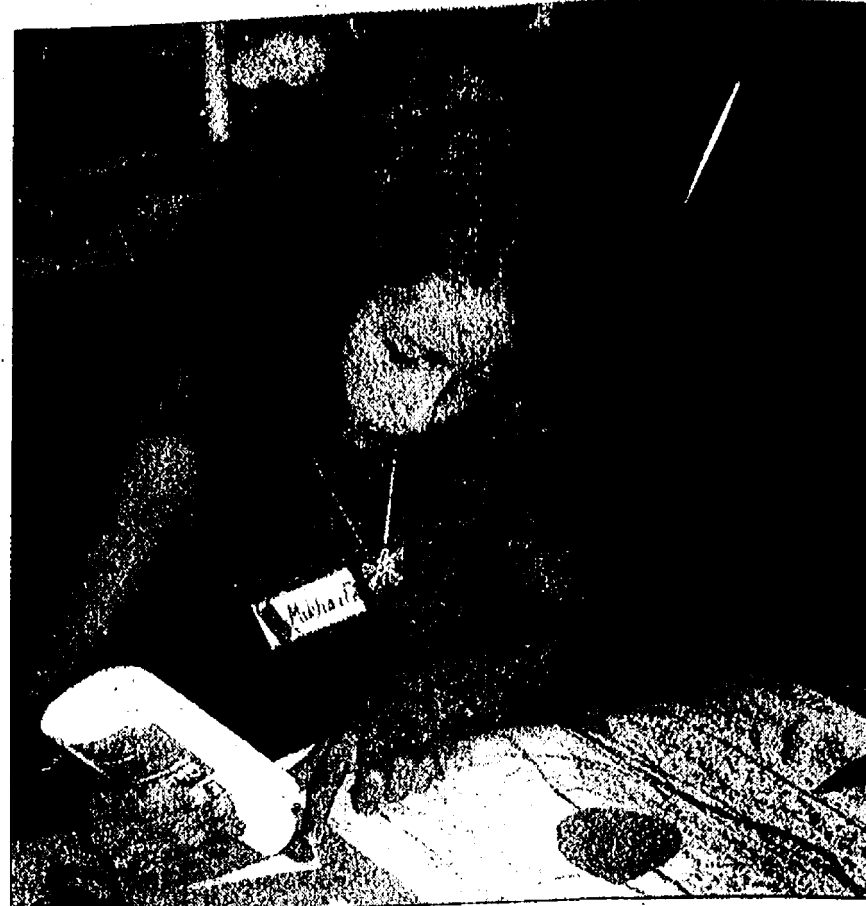

Parent Christopher Meloche, a member of the Chelsea Music Boosters, said he understands and applauds school administrators for taking steps to improve student performance.

"Where we differ is simply in approach," Meloche said Tuesday.

"Increasing time spent in MEAP-related courses will not necessarily improve performance, especially if music education, a demonstrated intellectual performance enhancement, is reduced as the trade-off."

"It makes far more sense to examine and restructure content within relevant courses, so that it more closely addresses MEAP requirements, than to reduce music education."

School report cards have new look

■ Students must master specific standards in each subject.

By Sheila Pursglove
Associate Editor

Parents of children in kindergarten through fourth grades will see a new look when first-quarter report cards are distributed later this month.

The revisions are the culmination of a three-year review process and were approved in July by the Chelsea Board of Education.

As expectations for children were updated, report cards had not been, said Shawn Lewis-Lakin, director of student performance.

"What we articulate as learning objectives in our curriculum, what we teach, what we assess and what we report need to be aligned," he said.

"With this revision, this is now so."

The new report cards describe specific standards for each subject that pupils are expected to master at that grade level. A child's progress is assessed relative to these standards.

The progress code has four levels corresponding with the four levels of progress reported by the state on Michigan Educational Assessment Program tests.

Pupils who meet standards receive a 1 or 2. Pupils below the grade level standards receive 3 or 4.

For behavior, the progress code has three levels, 2 through 4.

"Our expectation for student behavior is that students will behave appropriately," Lewis-Lakin said.

In the academic area, Lewis-Lakin said not all students will receive a 1 or 2 for academic progress.

"Some students are not yet meeting grade-level standards, and the report cards will indicate that with a 3 or 4," he said.

"The goal is to pinpoint areas of concern and areas where additional practice and support are needed so that the school and home can work together to address these needs."

"We want to communicate specific and accurate information about student progress so that appropriate decisions can be made regarding instruction and support."

Work on the revision process began three years ago under curriculum director Brian Kissman. The work was continued by his successor, Ted Gardella, and completed by Lewis-Lakin.

Drafts were previewed and critiqued by the District School Improvement Team, the District Central Curriculum Council, elementary level building chairs, and grade-level teacher teams.

"The revised report card is a significant step forward," Lewis-Lakin said. "We listened carefully to the input from groups of parents and teachers, and feel that the final product reflects a broad consensus."

"This is not a finished product. As we update curriculum, report cards will be updated so that the alignment of written curriculum, taught curriculum, assessed curriculum and reported progress is maintained."

Parents with questions may contact their child's teachers, building principals or Lewis-Lakin.

Sylvan officials share future plans

■ New developments expected to bring a lot more traffic.

By Michael Rybka
Special Writer

Sylvan Township officials LuAnn Koch and Earl Heller provided the Western Washtenaw Democrats with an overview of the township at a recent meeting of the club.

They talked about how traffic will be affected by a 350-unit manufactured home park planned west of Brown Drive, 130 condominiums to be built west of Coliseum Drive and an office and storage complex planned for west of Peilemeier Drive.

Koch and Heller said their hope is for a Chelsea bypass, beginning at the proposed Laurel Drive, which would run north to the west of Peilemeier Drive. They said Laurel Drive would connect to a proposed Commerce Park Drive extension, which would arc in a northwesterly direction and intersect with Old US-12.

The project relies on the Michigan Department of Transportation, Washtenaw County Road Commission, Chelsea Village and Magellan Properties.

MDOT has not yet lent any support, township officials said. Roy Townsend, director of the purchase of rights-of-way for the Road Commission, said at a recent Village Council meeting the project is not on the department's agenda.

The Village Council has repeatedly postponed the Commerce Drive extension issue.

Magellan Properties, which is building the condominiums and office complex, is relying on a Coliseum Drive extension, which is thought to be more challenging from an engineering standpoint than a Commerce Park Drive extension, officials said.

Its breadth also relies on an easement, granted by Bob Daniels, owner of Chelsea Lumber Co., to the township.

The easement would comprise 86 feet with a bypass and 66 feet without.

The Chelsea Area Traffic Committee, which has concerned itself with the issue, has not met in months.

"If the roads stay the same," said Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce Director Bob Pierce, "you would want to avoid the Brown Drive area 20 hours a day."

The officials said other tie-ins to the project would be to eliminate one of the stoplights in the I-94 and M-52 Brown Drive area. It could be accomplished by closing Brown Drive from Commerce Park Drive to M-52 or making the stretch one-way to allow only incoming traffic.

The officials also said that the 1-94/M-52 interchange needs to be widened, reconfigured and the bridge rebuilt.

Heller said the township spoke with John Schick, director of operations at DaimlerChrysler's Chelsea Proving Grounds, about having the auto manufacturer purchase the McKernan farm on McKernan Drive. The Chelsea Proving Grounds would then grant an easement to M-DOT for I-94 improvements.

Pierce asked how Michigan State Police troopers working in Sylvan Township could keep up with the increased population.

Heller said that Mark Lewis, developer of Sylvan Crossing, a manufactured home community, promised to pay 4 percent of his entire revenue once all the building phases are completed. It's expected to take three years.

Heller said the money could be used to contract with the Chelsea Police Department. He said the option has been explored in the past, but proved to be too expensive. He added that an alternative is to ask Sylvan Township voters to approve a millage.

Village meters going high-tech

■ Project to go ahead without contract approval.

By Michael Rybka
Special Writer

Chelsea Village soon will go high-tech in the way it reads electrical and water usage meters.

The Village Council gave a vote of confidence Sept. 29 to the new system.

The council agreed to an "acceptance of notice and acknowledgement of award" to each of the two firms hired for the update.

Wording in the contracts, however, gave some council members pause.

Itron Inc. is expected to do the electrical update for about $69,000, while SLC Meter Service Inc., the only firm to bid on the water project, is expected to do its parallel job for $91,000.

The disparity in price is because the water update requires master plumbers and its work being done within a residential or commercial building.

Once done, manual readings will be a thing of the past. Instead, two village employees will drive around in a truck collecting data from radio waves to tally usage.

Water and electrical waves will be differentiated by frequency.

Village Council President Richard Steele estimates that the entire village could be tallied in a half-day.

One reason why outright acceptance of the contracts was delayed was because, as in the case of the electrical project, a second estimate was given at $82,000. The higher figure included money set aside for contingencies based on about 15 percent of each project's estimated cost.

However, Trustee Cheri Albertson said it was not made clear in the contract at how the secondary numbers were derived.

A representative from Novak Engineering, who solicited the bids, said he would have the contract amended.

Another reason for the delay was that many of the council members agreed that the village attorney should review both contracts.

A legal opinion was expected to be ready Tuesday for the board's meeting.

The cost of the projects will be covered by the respective budgets of the electrical department (65 percent), the water department (20 percent) and the wastewater department (15 percent).

TREAT YOURSELF IN EMERGENCY URGENT CARE

Know Your Options.

Whether you have a bump on the head or a serious injury, you want care in a hurry. At Saint Joseph Mercy Health System, we offer three great choices for emergency and urgent care.

Saint Joseph Mercy Saline Hospital Emergency Department

For any emergencies and minor injuries and illnesses, residents on the southwest side of Washtenaw County receive prompt treatment from the same group of emergency physicians who also staff St. Joe's. We're open 24-hours a day, seven days a week.

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Emergency Center

Some emergencies require a Level II Trauma Center. Turn to St. Joe's for serious life-threatening emergencies. Conveniently located on Washtenaw County's northeast side. We're always open.

Saint Joseph Mercy Maple Urgent Care*

If you have an urgent matter that isn't an emergency, and you can't get in to see your primary care doctor, visit Saint Joseph Mercy Maple Urgent Care, located on the west side of Ann Arbor. We're open 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. seven days a week. No appointment is necessary.

REMEMBER:
If you are experiencing heavy bleeding, trouble breathing or convulsions, go to the closest Emergency Department. For chest pains or loss of consciousness, call 911.

Malone named to ZBA

■ Township to pay for assessor's continuing education.

By Michael Rybka
Special Writer

Lima Township Planning Commission Chairwoman Karen Malone took over Chuck Schauer's seat on the Zoning Board of Appeals last month.

The move was announced at the Sept. 5 Lima Township Board meeting.

Schauer was removed from the ZBA last month when the Michigan Township Association cast doubt on whether a township resident living within the village limits was eligible for the position.

Schauer was appointed to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Terry Wesner from the Planning Commission. Wesner represented the commission on the ZBA.

In another matter, the board agreed to help as-essor Marci Betts in maintaining her license by paying $175 for a continuing education class called "Golf Course Evaluation: Appraisal Standards and Ethics."

Township Supervisor Kenneth Unterbrink said it's a relevant issue as many golf courses, including Reddeman Farms, have protested their assessments to the level of the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

Unterbrink said Betts' knowledge could help defray legal costs in the future.

"Sometimes you have to spend to save," he said.

The board also spent $125 to enroll each member in the Michigan Township Authority Governance Academy.

Classes, which cost about $200, will be held at various locations over an 18-month period.

Superintendent delivers annual report

■ Report will be available at district Web site and school buildings.

By Sheila Pursglove

Associate Editor

Dave Killips, superintendent of Chelsea schools, delivered the district's annual report for 2002-2003 at Monday's Board of Education meeting. School districts are required by law to deliver the report by Oct. 15.

"The information ... provides data on our successes and challenges as a school district and community," Killips wrote in the report.

The report's 27 pages include a district profile, information on curriculum review, assessment, school improvement team, staff development, and how the district is striving to meet state and federal mandates.

Those who enjoy statistics will find that enrollment has changed little in four years, from 2,907 in the 1999-2000 school year to 2,943 in 2000-2001, 2,926 in 2001-2002 and 2,941 last year.

As part of Chelsea Community Education, 195 children enrolled in early childhood programs last year. Enrollment in senior citizen programs was 1,494, 2,456 in youth academic and enrichment programs, and 2,439 in adult enrichment and training.

School revenue at the end of the school year June 30 was $26,530,254 and expenditures were $25,950,956.

The report outlines other educational opportunities such as the program for independent living skills, vocational and technical training, and Michigan Virtual High School.

Information on all the schools, including test results, accreditation status, parent participation and staff development, is provided.

Two pages cover the Board of Education, and outline the duties of trustees. Anyone interested in speaking up at a board meeting will find information on public participation at meetings, as well as advice on how to reach the board by letter, telephone and e-mail.

Killips writes that, "even with tough economic times staring us in the face," he looks forward to addressing the challenges.

"We must continue to work closely together as a community to be successful in attending to our mission of achieving educational goals one student at a time," he said in the report. "The time and effort we all put forth into the children of our community, at this time, will pay dividends in the coming years."

Copies of the report are available from the superintendent's office, 500 Washington St., in every school building and on the district's Web site at www.chelsea.k12.mi.us.

Draheim competes in disabled veterans' competition

■ Area man wins gold, silver and bronze medals.

By Michael Rybka

Special Writer

Ronald Draheim, a disabled U.S. Navy veteran from Flint and the nephew of Alex and Shirley Roskowski of Dexter Township, competed in the 23rd annual National Veterans Wheelchair Games held earlier this summer in Long Beach, Calif.

Competing against 530 athletes from 46 states, Puerto Rico and Great Britain, Draheim won a gold medal in the motorized wheelchair relay, a silver medal in bowling and a bronze medal in a power chair event that demonstrated hand control.

All athletes are military veterans who use wheelchairs as a result of spinal cord injuries, neurological conditions, orthopedic amputations or other disabilities.

Draheim, 49, is brain injured and an amputee. He is receiving care at the Veterans Affairs medical facility in Ann Arbor after a long rehabilitation stay at Chelsea Community Hospital.

"I am very housebound and this gives me the opportunity to meet other people and work out," Draheim said.

The games are presented by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs and the Paralyzed Veterans of America and were hosted this year by the VA Long Beach Healthcare System and the California PVA chapter.

"We are very proud of all his accomplishments," Shirley Roskowski said.

Village won't extend water

■ Township couple unable to find 'good' water on property.

By Michael Rybka
Special Writer

Chelsea Village has decided it will not extend water to a Lima Township couple because the township will not work out an annexation deal.

Village President Richard Steele said last week that he received a request from Ken and Patty Hopkins on Meadowview Drive in Lima Township to have the village extend municipal water to them.

Steele said the Hopkins are unable to find "good" water on their property and have had three wells drilled in two years.

Steele said he explained to the Hopkins that it was not within the village's purview to extend water into the neighboring township.

Steele said he met with Lima Township Supervisor Kenneth Unterbrink on whether an Act 425 agreement could be reached. The agreement would allow the village to extend water to the couple in exchange for the promise of future annexation.

Steele said Unterbrink declined the deal.

Trustee Dale Schumann said the village should try to acquire the entire section where the couple lives and not simply one parcel.

Trustee Cindy MacFarlan said the council shouldn't use the Hopkins' misfortunes for a political advantage.

POLICE BLOTTER

Scio Township Embezzlement

Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies are investigating an embezzlement case after the owner of Ann Arbor Auto Glo, 112 Jackson Plaza, reported missing checks and money Oct. 7.

Almost $1,000 was stolen from the business between Sept. 18 and Oct. 5 after four checks were forged and cashed, a police report said.

Police have interviewed one of the suspects, a 30-year-old employee of the business. A second suspect had not been positively identified at the time of the report.

Property Damage

A 2002 Nissan Sentra was damaged in the 2700 block of Sagebrush Drive Oct. 6.

The vehicle was scratched from front to rear on the passenger side. Damage was estimated at $500. The owner, a 24-year-old man, told police he was worried because other vehicles in the area had been damaged recently.

A 2002 Mitsubishi Galant belonging to a 36-year-old man also was damaged in the same manner Oct. 5. That vehicle was parked near the damaged Nissan.

A 2002 Acura RSX was damaged in the 1000 block of Rabbit Run Circle in the Wood Chase Apartment complex Oct. 7.

The vehicle had deep scratches along the passenger side, a police report said. The owner is a 26-year-old woman.

Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Larceny

A gold diamond ring valued at more than $5,100 was stolen from a 37-year-old woman sometime between Sept. 22 and 25.

Fund-raiser set Saturday

Gimme Shelter 2003, an annual fund-raising event for the Interfaith Hospitality Network's Alpha House in Scio Township, will be held 6 to 9 p.m. Saturday at Washtenaw Community College's Morris Lawrence Building, 4800 E. Huron River Drive, in Ann Arbor.

Tickets are $30 in advance or $35 at the door. Children ages 6 and younger get in for free. For tickets, call 1-734-822-0220.

The event will include dinner, music and a silent auction.

The Interfaith Hospitality Network's Alpha House, located at 4290 Jackson Road, provides temporary shelter, food and support for homeless.

In the past year, Alpha House has provided shelter for 135 children and adults, served 21,900 meals, provided intensive support services for 45 families and responded to 388 calls from families seeking shelter.

In addition, the agency has coordinated more than 1,200 volunteers from 31 local congregations, including Chelsea First United Methodist and Dexter United Methodist churches.

The woman recently moved to a home in the 1800 block of Snowberry Ridge Road. The ring was secured in a lockable drawer in her dresser, she told police. She noticed it missing after the movers had finished working. A set of earrings also were misplaced, a police report said.

The moving company advised the woman to report the incident to police.

The case is still being investigated.

A purse was stolen from a 2001 Pontiac Aztec parked at Quality 16 Theaters, 3686 Jackson Road, Oct. 5.

The owner, a 41-year-old woman, told police she left the purse under the seat of the vehicle. When she returned from watching a movie, a passenger-side window was broken out and the purse was missing.

The purse contained $200 and credit cards.

Breaking and Entering Someone took approximately $325 worth of items from a vacant house in the 1800 block of Knight Road sometime between July 3 and Oct. 8.

The owner, a 61-year-old woman, had moved to another residence. When she received a phone bill for the vacant house, she noticed someone had made phone calls from the residence, a police report said. She went to the vacant home and noticed the items were missing.

Assault and Battery

Police are investigating an alleged assault after two girls said they were beaten by an older girl while walking along Scio Ridge Road Oct. 6.

The victims, 13- and 14-year-old sisters, told police that a 17-year-old acquaintance attacked them. The victims' mother told police the suspect had been a regular visitor at their home until items from the home were noticed missing. The items were found at the suspect's residence.

The sisters said they were hit in the head several times by the older girl.

Dexter Township Larceny

A one-carat diamond tennis bracelet valued at $500 was stolen from a 34-year-old woman sometime between Aug. 8 and Oct. 1.

The woman said she left the bracelet out while movers were transporting her belongings to a storage facility. She noticed it missing Oct. 1.

The woman said it could have fallen and gotten lost during the moving process, but she thinks it's unlikely, a police report said.

Two chainsaws and a generator valued at $4,750 were stolen from a garage in the 8500 block of Island Lake Road Oct. 4. The owner told police the garage was left open.

Suspicious Incident

Someone drove a vehicle through the lawn of a Guenther Homes model home in the 1000 block of Woodvine Road Oct. 4.

Damage to the lawn and a sign is estimated at $200.

Dexter Village Possession of Illegal Items

Police and officials at Dexter High School found tobacco products in two vehicles and a stun gun in another vehicle Oct. 7.

Two students were issued citations for being in possession of tobacco products. Another student will likely be charged with possession of a stun gun, a police report said.

Purse Snatching

A 73-year-old woman told police Oct. 1 that a man took her purse while she was loading groceries into her vehicle at Country Market, 7001 Dexter-Ann Arbor Road.

A witness also saw the incident, a police report said.

The woman said a man exited a white car parked near her vehicle and grabbed her purse, got back in the car and sped away. The woman didn't see the driver of the car.

The purse contained a wallet, credit card, personal items and $10.

Webster Township

An outdoor light valued at $15 was damaged at a residence in the 6600 block of Daly Road between Oct. 2 and Oct. 4.

The light was pulled out of the ground and torn away from its electrical connection.

Two other lights were damaged at the residence last month.

Chelsea Village

Larceny

Chelsea police officers responded to the Alternative High School, 500 Washington St., Oct. 10 after a student said $82 was stolen from the pocket of her jacket.

The student said she wasn't feeling well, and took a nap in the school's quiet room. She left the jacket in the room for a short time after her nap, a police report said. When she returned for the jacket, the money was missing.

The girl's classmates said they knew nothing of the theft.

Noisy Subjects

Police investigated a noise complaint in the 300 block of North East Street Oct. 12.

A complainant told police a band was practicing in a warehouse across the street from her home. The woman said similar incidents have happened in the past.

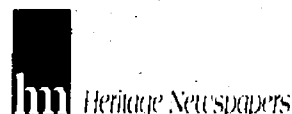

The suspects were given a final warning, a police report said.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month

ANNE SULLIVAN
HERITAGE NEWSPAPERS

HOME FRONT

This month I've added a pink ribbon to my wardrobe.

It's Breast Cancer Awareness Month, and a pink ribbon is a symbol for breast cancer awareness and a reminder to be screened for breast cancer annually.

My friend, Melody Lang, gave me the pin last weekend and asked me to wear it. She is a breast cancer survivor.

I hadn't seen Mel in many years. We were united a couple of months ago at a college reunion.

When Melody walked in wearing a T-shirt with a pink ribbon, my first thought was, "I hope you were in a walkathon."

In a moment, I knew that wasn't the case. Another friend in the group, Margo Worley, who had beaten breast cancer many years ago, immediately got up, walked over to Melody and hugged her in a way only another survivor could.

My heart sank. Nothing was said. Nothing needed to be said. We were silenced.

We knew instantly those two women, our friends, now have a closer, more personal bond, far deeper than our ties to a college.

At that moment, I never would have fathomed that as Melody talked about her cancer battle that she would have us laughing.

She did.

She's had benign lumps removed, the first when she was 23. Two years ago, one of the lumps in her breast was cancerous. She had two surgeries, including a partial mastectomy that created a balance problem for her.

After her surgery, Melody kept falling. She eventually gave us a very animated reenactment. She had us all—women and men—in stitches.

She later had reconstruction surgery and said that cured her balance problem.

"I'm going to laugh before I cry," she said. "It's the humor and the joking that has made it the easiest. I think people need to keep that thought."

Melody's body was marked so many times by doctors for procedures that she vowed to mark it with something pretty when she recovered.

She has a rose tattoo on her right ankle.

Many articles on surviving cancer and other diseases say the patient's attitude is a key factor in recovery. Mel showed us she had it then and has it now.

"I'm going to kill it before it kills me," she said.

According to the National Breast Cancer Foundation, 85 percent of breast cancer patients have no history of breast cancer in their families. Yet, if breast cancer is in the family, a woman is at higher risk for it.

It runs in Melody's family. While her mother, Ruby McClendon, didn't have it, her mother's identical twin and another sister did, Melody said.

"They think some cancers are genetically linked," she said. "And we may have the gene."

She and her younger sister, who has had the same symptoms as Melody, only four years after Melody had them, might become part of a study to try to find the genetic link, she said. They're just waiting for the call.

Melody is not the only person I know who has battled breast cancer, or some other form of the beast this year.

In fact, by the time I heard about Melody's cancer, I learned a dozen friends, co-workers and former co-workers had cancer. I am overwhelmed at the number.

Early detection is the key to battling breast cancer.

Regular self-exams of the breast and an annual mammogram are the best ways to detect breast cancer in its early stages, when it is most treatable.

The goal of National Breast Cancer Awareness Month is to make women realize that a mammogram needs to be part of routine health screening and to remind women—especially the elderly, minorities and those with low income—to have mammograms.

Tomorrow is National Mammography Day. If you haven't had one this year by this day, schedule one.

Health care providers recommend a screening mammogram at 35 and annually from age 40 on.

According to the National Breast Cancer Foundation, a woman dies of breast cancer every 12 minutes.

The rate of breast cancer was one in 20 women in 1960. Today it is one in eight women.

But it is not only a woman's disease. For every 100 women diagnosed with breast cancer, one man is diagnosed with it.

The American Cancer Society estimates that 40,800 people will die of breast cancer this year.

Melody is cancer-free now.

"I hope this is it," she said.

I wear my pink ribbon in honor of Melody and the others who have fought the disease. And with the hope that all women will be aware of breast cancer, the risks and do a self-exam monthly and get a mammogram every year.

Chelsea library position offers a voice

USA ALLIANCE

CHELSEA CHAT

The Chelsea District Library Board is seeking interested candidates for two openings on the board. One is an at-large position open to residents from Dexter, Sylvan, Lima and Lyndon townships. The other opening is for a village resident.

Here's a chance for residents on Orchard Street who have complained about some of the decisions the board has made to see things from the other side of the table. One of the residents could have a stronger voice in helping to determine the future of the library.

For more information about the position, call Library Director Metta Lansdale at 475-4268.

A letter of interest should be sent to the village offices, 305 S. Main St., in Chelsea.

Regarding Smooth Sailing

Boy, did I speak too soon on the issue of smooth sailing through town toward Stockbridge last week, as evidenced by a 20-minute traffic back-up while only one lane was open on the other side of Werkner Road last Friday and Saturday.

I got caught in it not once, but twice. Talk about wanting to eat my words off the opinion page.

However, by Sunday's "Good-bye to Mr. Orange Barrel Gala," the driving truly was easy.

And, I noticed real progress on the sidewalk and the huge mound of dirt that had taken up semi-permanent residence in Donna Lane's front yard.

Sometimes if you wait long enough, there really is a silver lining.

Beware of Cougars

Did you catch the nugget about a black cougar sighting at M-52 and Waterloo Road in last week's police blotter?

Apparently a couple of hunters spotted the large kitty and reported it to the authorities.

For those of you who have ponds or uncovered pools on your property, beware. Mountain lions, cougars and their cousins are sometimes drawn into unusual terrain in search of water.

Trick-or-Treat Hours Set

Village residents should be ready for the onslaught of bumblebees, princesses, ghosts and goblins from 4 to 6 p.m. Oct. 31.

The annual Chelsea Kiwanis Halloween party will once again take place in the parking lot behind The Common Grill beginning at 6:30 p.m.

I read somewhere that as far as decorations go, other than Christmas, Halloween has become the second most popular holiday for outdoor (and indoor) displays.

Some of the ones I've seen in the village are ghoulishly wonderful.

Committee for Chelsea Parks

Not easily deterred by its failed attempt to turn the Merkel farm into a village park, the Committee for Chelsea Parks will be out and about in the next few weeks.

Armed with survey forms and going door-to-door, members of this nonprofit corporation want to know your opinions about parks in the village.

They also want to get a handle on who might be interested in volunteering to help the group in fund-raising and other support endeavors.

For any new parks to become a reality in the village, the group has emphasized that it needs community support.

Professional Dreams

If playing semi-pro hockey is your dream, here's your chance to live it by trying out for the Super Wolves, the new team that will play its home games at Chelsea's Arctic Coliseum.

Free agent tryouts will take place at Yost Arena on State Street in Ann Arbor Oct. 30 and 31. Call 1-412-835-3801 for more information.

The Super Wolves are part of a new A-level pro league in which players will be paid an average of $500 per month.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Center lane is for left turns only

As the traffic on M-52 continues to increase, the problem of people using the center lane as a "merge" lane continues to get worse as well.

All down the main corridor leading into town, you can see people popping into this center lane to cheat their way into traffic. This action has caused two accidents involving my family over the past two years. The most recent was last week.

The signs in both directions on this section of M-52 clearly show that the center lane is for left turns only.

A person rolling down the center lane, merged right into the lane my wife was driving in, forcing her to veer out of the way to avoid a collision, hitting a curb and causing more than $600 in damage to the front of our vehicle. No one was hurt, but they were quite shaken up, and the person responsible for the accident didn't even stop.

I would encourage both the Chelsea Police Department and the Michigan State Police to start an aggressive campaign via the issuing of warnings and tickets to make people aware of this dangerous habit.

We will continue to see more accidents unless this practice is discouraged. If you are in the center lane, your only option is to make a left turn.

If you can't pull out of the grocery store or the fast-food restaurant and immediately cross over to the right-hand lane, then you cannot safely pull out. The simple solution, which I am faced with on an almost daily basis on this road, is to wait the extra 10 to 30 seconds that it may take to pull out properly.

If we all practice a little common courtesy, add a touch of patience and mix it with a little common sense, we can all safely traverse this section of road.

Meeting to address safeguarding water

Michigan is known far and wide as a water wonderland. But with this fame also comes problems starting with the Great Lakes down to local lakes, ponds and rivers.

The Great Lakes are suffering pollution and some of the lowest levels in years. Locally, we have lakes close to gravel pits, some lakes with residents that have wells and septic systems, and some that have sewers.

Unlike other states, Michigan has no authority to regulate underground water unless it is a health threat to drinking water supplies. The Legislature plans to take up the issue as officials attempt to strike a balance on water use.

"Scrambles for water are still a curiosity in water-rich Michigan. But recent hassles over the state's aquifer may be an indication of things to come," said James Clift, policy director of the Michigan Environment Council.

"As the population of the Great Lakes basin grows and becomes more spread out, there will be more conflicts," he said. "That's when the states have to step in."

With that in mind, Waterloo Township will hold a town meeting called Safeguarding the Water in Waterloo 7 p.m. Oct. 23 at the Waterloo Township Hall.

Jon Bartholic, professor of Natural Resources Development and director of the Institute of Water Research at Michigan State University, and James Wait of P.G. Groundwater and Environmental Services Inc., will speak on the issues.

They will address groundwater protection and how communities can develop defensible standards in their master plans and zoning ordinances. These issues are important to all townships in Jackson County. Make the time and attend this important event.

PLAY REVIEW

The Purple Rose Theatre in Chelsea is presenting "The Good Doctor," a collection of nine vignettes by Neil Simon based on the early writings of the Russian writer and doctor Anton Chekhov.

The production runs through Dec. 20.

The composite of sketches ranges from amusingly delightful to cleverly hilarious. The sequences are woven together with monologues delivered to the audience by narrator Tom Whalen, who also gives outstanding performances in several sketches.

Whalen's narration and role as Peter in "The Seduction" is a cunningly amusing lesson, with a twist in how to almost succeed in seducing a married woman, played by Terry Heck, with Paul Hopper as the duped husband.

Act 1 opens with "The Sneeze." An obsessively anxious Chedyakov, played with gusto by Ryan Carlson, does a phlegm splattering number on a Russian general during a theater performance.

Like his later performance in "Surgery," where as a novice dentist he wrestles a terrified patient to the floor while extracting a tooth, Carlson brings a high level of energetic slapstick and vaudeville to the stage.

For contrast there are a couple of sketches in pathos — "Too Late for Happiness," a mini-musical duet between aging romantics, with Tobin

Orchestra to perform

British musicians Simon Mayor and Hilary James will make a return guest appearance with the Chelsea House Orchestra 7:30 p.m. Nov. 1 at the Washington Street Education Center, 500 Washington St.

Ticket prices are $10 for adults, and $5 for children and senior citizens.

Tickets are on sale at the Chelsea Pharmacy, and also will be available at the door.

Simon Mayor started out as a guitarist and fiddler, but is now one of the world's foremost mandolin players and composer.

Hilary James' elegant singing has received huge acclaim for crossing the great musical divides from Celtic ballads to blues and Berlioz.

A raffle will be held for a signed and numbered print by local artist Susan Falcone, an original pottery lamp from Campbell Pottery in Edinboro, Pa., and a Chelsea House Orchestra sweatshirt.

One raffle ticket will be given at the concert per ticket purchased. Additional raffle tickets will be available at the door for $1 each.

Lil' Firefighters

Jacob McCue (left), Tobin Vaughan, Jeffrey Watko, Kevin Higman and Cole Stines are entranced at the sight of Chelsea firefighter Charles Harris as he demonstrates fire-fighting equipment. Harris, together with Chelsea firefighters Jim Boritzki and Matt Tuttle, were giving a demonstration to pupils at Little Friends PreSchool in Lima Township during last week's Fire Prevention Week.

Birch in "The Governess."

There is a touch of theater-of-the-absurd in "The Drowned Man," featuring Whalen, Carlson and Hopper as a policeman. As well as his role as the husband in "The Seduction", Hopper gives a nice performance as the father in "The Arrangement," where he attempts to bring manhood to his son, played by Carlson, through an introduction to a woman of the street, played convincingly by Birch.

Both Heck and Hopper do a sidesplitting performance in "The Defenseless Creature." Heck portrays a demented woman, demanding to borrow money from Kristunov, a banker with a very sore foot, played by Hopper. Heck is at her over-the-top best, retching, writhing, screaming and fainting as she drives the moneylender to the point of insanity in the effort to get her rubles.

This Neil Simon play is another brilliantly performed comedy, following the Purple Rose Theatre production of Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit." I can only say that if you want a bundle of laughs and a knee-slapping good time, you need to see "The Good Doctor."

Guy Sanville directs the Purple Rose production. The theater is located at 137 Park St. in Chelsea.

Up, up and AWAY

Lima Township couple enjoys flying kites

By Rita Fischer
Special Writer

If someone tells Mike Lucas to "Go fly a kite," he doesn't take offense.

He does exactly that.

Lucas and his wife, Cindy, can often be found in the schoolyard at Pierce Lake Elementary School in Chelsea, hanging on tight to strings while large multi-colored kites dance in the sky overhead.

Although spring, with windy days and longer daylight hours, is the best season for flying kites, Lucas and his wife are continuing into the fall. Shorter days, however, limit the amount of flying time.

The two even occasionally brave the cold weather.

taught him to fly his first paper kite.

While Lucas has an assortment of one-, two- and four-string kites, his favorite is a four-string Revolution Shockwave.

"This one is a challenge to master the maneuverability of it," he says.

Other kites resemble an octopus, an American flag, a space shuttle, a rainbow and a triangle.

The kite enthusiasts also have several accessories that attach to kites and help stabilize their flight.

The couple, Lima Township residents for 20 years, belongs to a kite club in Livonia, and one that meets at Schoolcraft College in Plymouth.

When the weather is too bad for kite flying, group members hold kite-making workshops. The pair would like to start a local kite club in the Chelsea-Dexter area.

They also attend kite-flying competitions and festivals in Ohio and Michigan.

"I like to watch synchronized kite events," Mike says.

"They have kites flying to music and precision-flying kites do demonstrations."

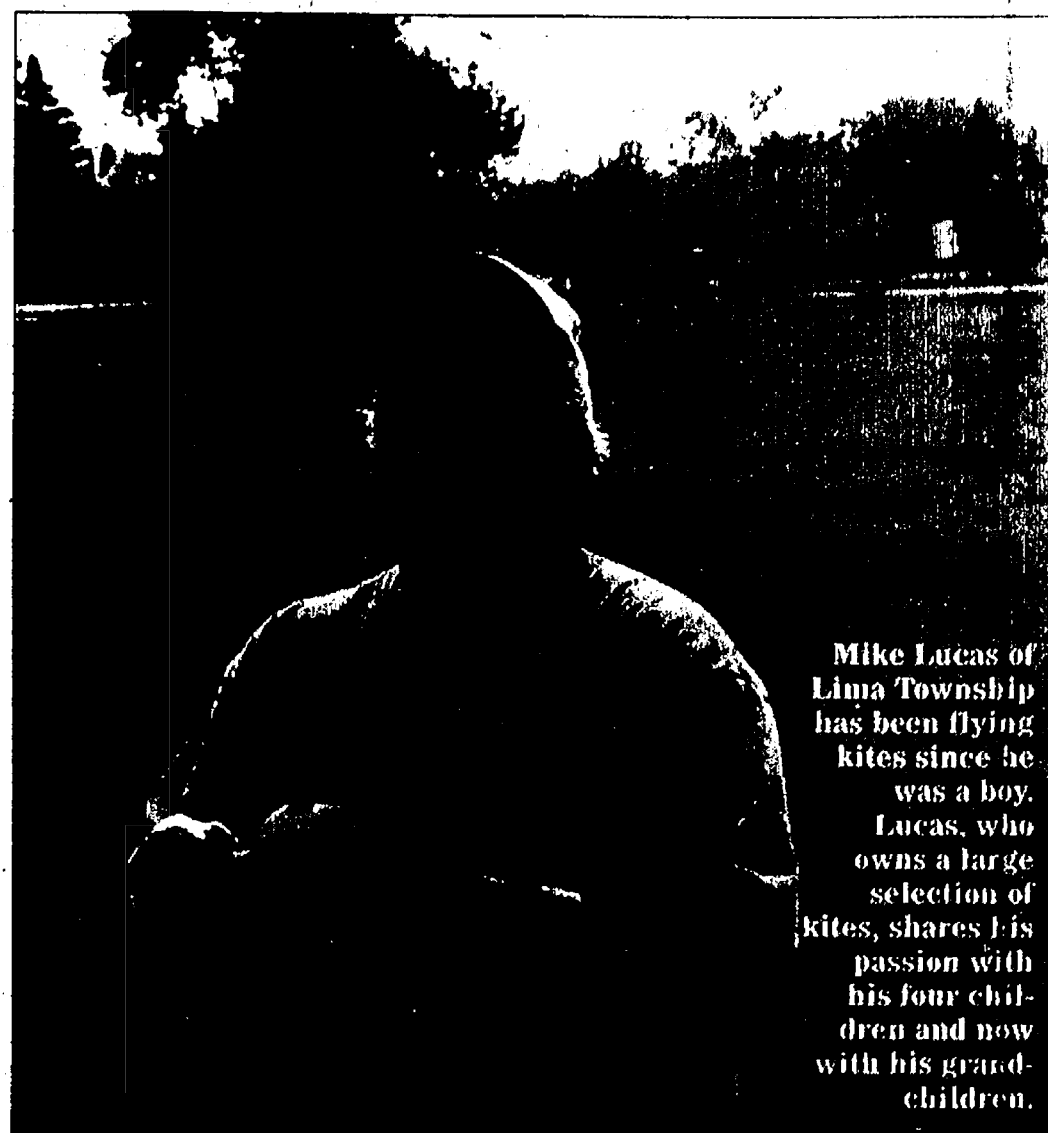

Kite flying became a family affair for the Lucases. Mike and Cindy introduced their four children — Daniel, Michael, Angie and Jennifer — to flying kites and now enjoy teaching their grandson, Christian, a second-grader at North Creek Elementary School in Chelsea.

Christian's sister, Madelyn, 2, will be next in line to inherit the kite strings.

"I like to fly kites with my grandparents," Christian says. "I like to see how high I can get it to fly."

Mike Lucas of Lima Township has been flying kites since he was a boy. Lucas, who owns a large selection of kites, shares his passion with his four children and now with his grandchildren.

GO FLY A KITE

■ Kites made their appearance more than 2,000 years ago in China.

■ From China, kite flying spread by traders to Korea, and across Asia to India.

■ Kites were brought to Japan about the seventh century by Buddhist monks, and were used to drive away evil spirits and ensure rich harvests.

■ People of Micronesia used leaf kites to carry bait far out over the sea to where the garfish fed.

■ The Polynesians have a myth about two brother gods holding a kite duel. The winning brother flew his kite the highest.

■ Marco Polo carried stories of kites to Europe around the end of the 13th century.

■ Sailors brought kites back from Japan and Malaysia in the 16th and 17th centuries.

■ In the 18th and 19th centuries, kites were used as vehicles and tools for scientific research.

■ Ben Franklin experimented with kites to investigate atmospheric electricity.

■ Alexander Wilson, Sir George Caley, Samuel Langley, Lawrence Hargrave, Alexander Graham Bell and the Wright Brothers also conducted kite studies.

■ In the late 19th and early 20th centuries, box kites sent instruments aloft to measure wind velocity, temperature, barometric pressure and humidity.

■ In the late 19th and early 20th centuries, kites were used for lifting military observers to heights from which they could observe enemy forces.

■ During World War I, British, French, Italian and Russian armies used kites for enemy observation and signaling. The German Navy used man-lifting box kites to increase the viewing range of surface-cruising submarines.

■ During World War II, kites were used as gunnery targets.

■ In the 1990s, kite traction on wheels, over water and on ice became popular.

■ In 1999, a team used kite power to pull sleds to the North Pole.

Young entrepreneurs Danielle Ruhlig (left), 10, and her sister Janelle, 12, have grown produce and sold it at Chelsea Farmers' Market this summer and fall. They've raised nearly $1,000 for their college funds.

Cinderella used a pumpkin as transportation to the ball.

Janelle and Danielle Ruhlig are using orange gourds to take them to college.

The enterprising young ladies, daughters of Marty and Ann Ruhlig, are raising produce on their Dexter Township farm to sell at the Chelsea Farmers' Market and put the proceeds into their college funds.

The girls are the youngest stallholders at the market — held on Park Street in Chelsea every Saturday morning — and offer watermelon, cantaloupe, corn, gourds, zucchini, and cherry tomatoes.

Gladioli have been their biggest success and best-sellers.

With the approach of Halloween, pumpkins, squash and ornamental gourds are bound to be top sellers.

The enterprising duo got their start last year when they asked their mother if they could start earning money for college. Janelle plans on studying veterinary medicine at Michigan State University, while Danielle has set her sights on marine biology and oceanography.

Although they're a few years off from learning to drive, the pair also wants money for a car fund, and all the other things that pre-teens and teens want.

"They always want things and we don't just give it to them," says Ann Ruhlig.

"We have them earn it and then they respect it a lot more."

Ann and her husband, Marty, who works for a farm in Carleton, help the girls out.

"I think it's a wonderful experience for them to learn a good work ethic at an early age," Ann says. "Learning how to work properly is the only way that you will survive in this world."

Ann has taught her daughters the fine art of customer service, and also how to check the ripeness of a watermelon or cantaloupe by its feel, look and smell.

Last year, the girls, members of Our Savior Lutheran Church in Chelsea, made about $100 each from their small garden. This year, their increased endeavors and market booth have brought in close to $1,000.

The cash, which also helped pay for bicycles and school clothes, more than makes up for the hard work of hoeing and pulling weeds.

"I'm a farm girl and enjoy the work," Janelle says. "My grandparents inspired me and both sides of my family are farmers."

"Once everything starts growing, it's pretty easy. Packing the truck and unloading is the hardest."

Danielle, who enjoys growing gladioli and corn the most, says their market garden project is "cool," and that friends are often shocked to find out the amount of work that goes into raising produce.

"It's fun to earn the money and seeing all the different things that grow and how they grow," she says.

"I'm learning how to spend money and save it."

Ann and her daughters rise and shine at the crack of dawn each Saturday and head out to arrive in Chelsea by 7 a.m.

The market opens at 8 a.m. and runs until noon. The girls like to be in their spot early and ready for their customers who sometimes arrive even as they are still setting up the stall.

"The farmers' market has been a wonderful place for the kids to interact with the public," Ann says. "It's been fun to see customers come back each week."

"All of the vendors are very kind and everyone is willing to help everyone out. It's a nice place for the girls to experience their first job."

Visitors have two more Saturdays to enjoy the Chelsea Farmers' Market, which runs through Oct. 25.

Radon kits available

As many as 45 percent of homes in Washtenaw County have elevated levels of radon, which could be putting local families at risk.
The Washtenaw County Department of Environmental Health is observing Monday through Friday as National Radon Action Week. The annual event encourages residents to test their homes for radon and, if necessary, take measures to reduce high radon levels.
The local agency is making radon testing affordable by selling half-priced test kits through Oct. 31 for $5, which includes postage and laboratory analysis.
The kits may be purchased from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday at the Western County Service Center in Ann Arbor, 705 N. Zeeb Road, just north of the Interstate 94 interchange.

Radon is a tasteless, colorless and odorless radioactive gas. It is found in nearly all types of soil and rock. Radon can enter homes through cracks in the foundation, dirt floors, hollow-block walls, and openings around floor drains and sump pumps.
Radon does not cause symptoms such as headaches, sneezing or coughing. High levels can damage lung tissue and eventually lead to lung cancer.
Radon is the second leading cause of lung cancer for smokers and the leading cause of lung cancer for non-smokers. Radon is associated with 14,000 lung cancer deaths each year in the United States.

Although no level of radon is considered absolutely safe, the Environmental Protection Agency recommends taking action when levels are above 4.0 pCi/L inside a home.

Volunteers conduct survey

Volunteers with the Committee for Chelsea Parks are going door-to-door asking residents their opinions on the need for parks and natural areas in the community.

Surveys also will be available at Divine Java, Pierce's Pastries and Zou Zou's coffeehouse.

Data will be compiled by a graduate student at the Center for Political Studies at the University of Michigan Institute for Social Research. Results will be utilized to plan and promote parks.

The committee is a non-profit organization whose purpose is to provide parkland in the Chelsea School District.

In the fall of 2001, a group of local residents became aware of a planned development of 352 homes on 152 acres on Dexter-Chelsea Road in the northeast corner of the village, committee member Lynn Meadows said.

"Many residents were concerned about this development's impact on the traffic and safety in that location from this kind of increase in population and about the cost to the community both in the form of quality of life and increased taxes," she said.

More than 500 signatures were gathered in support of the creation of a Nature Park instead of the development.

Meadows said that a Washtenaw Land Trust study has shown that for every $1 in taxes that residential property brings into a community, the services provided cost $1.40.

expressed support for other area parkland, such as a pocket park to the east of the Purple Rose Theatre, a green belt around the village, and a walking and bike path along Letts Creek.

"The committee has investigated grant possibilities, land conservancies and other ways to acquire property. But to succeed, any new parks need community support," Meadows said.

Residents will be asked about their desire for parks, and whether they would help raise funds. They also will be asked about support needs, their willingness to be taxed for park maintenance and possibly some purchase of property to supplement grants and donations.

Sauerkraut supper set today

■ Annual gathering began as a chicken dinner in 1921.

By Paul Fletcher
Staff Writer

St. Andrew's United Church of Christ in Dexter is preparing to continue an 82-year tradition.

And, yes, the knoeffles will be smothered in butter.

Knoeffles (pronounced nif-fles) are German noodles that, Elaine Owsley says, are one of the most popular foods at the church's annual sauerkraut supper.

Owsley said she is an "associate knoeffles maker."

"They just drench them in butter," she said. "People come in all shiny-eyed and say 'I look forward to having these every year.'"

The knoeffles are made by a special German-made machine. The church has two of them.

"They guard them like the Holy Grail," Owsley said.

Annual community gatherings began at the church in 1921, and featured a chicken dinner, Owsley said. But in 1927, church members wanted to hearken back to their German background. The sauerkraut supper was born.

"It's stayed pretty much the same (since then)," Owsley said.

Church members feed 800 to 1,000 people each year.

To accomplish that feat, it takes about 400 pounds of pork and potatoes, about 300 pounds of cabbage and several women making homemade pies for dessert.

"It's really good food," Owsley said.

This year's menu features roasted pork, sauerkraut, knoeffles, mashed potatoes, gravy, pies and pickled beets.

"It's all homemade," Owsley said.

Owsley attributes the popularity of the event to good food and the area's German heritage.

Funds raised during this year's event will go toward replacing the church's social hall.

Tickets for the supper may be purchased at the church or at the door.

To reserve a ticket or for more information, call the church at 426-8610 between 8:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Tickets are $10 for adults, $5 for children ages 5 through 12, and free for youngsters 5 years old and younger.

The supper begins at 4:30 p.m. at the church, 7610 Ann Arbor St., in Dexter.

Staff Writer Paul Fletcher can be reached at 475-1371 or pfletcher@heritage.com.

High adventure

Local Boy Scout troop explores Philmont Scout Ranch

By Gail M. Turluck
Special Writer

After a year of planning and preparation, a 12-member contingent from Chelsea Boy Scout Troop 425 this summer made a high-adventure trek to Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimmaron, N.M.

The 15-day trip included more than a day of train travel, plus a bus ride each way, in addition to 12 days of backpacking in the wilderness of the Sangre de Cristo range of the Rocky Mountains.

Members of the contingent were crew leader Neal Turluck, Max Booth, Max Wineland, Zach Green, Abram Booth, Kyle Carpenter, Darrin Livengood, J.C. Solomon, crew adviser Daniel Turluck, Scoutmaster David Booth, Ron Livengood and Rich Wineland.

The unit chose a trek among the most difficult offered. It featured about 100 hiking miles in altitudes of 6,500 to 12,441 feet, and reached the summit of Mount Baldy, Mount Phillips and Black Mountain.

Upon arrival, they went through camp orientation and training. There was safety instruction, information on dealing with and avoiding bear and other wildlife, as well as reminders on hanging food, handling personal waste, and reinforcement on low- or no-impact camping practices.

The crew made a point of getting on the trail before breakfast every morning and stopping at a scenic overlook for a long breakfast break, Booth said.

On the first day of hiking, the troop was hit with a heavy thunderstorm. They had to divert their path because a charted 6-inch-deep streambed that they planned to cross had become a raging flash flood, 5-feet deep, with mud, rocks and trees swept along with it.

Members of the crew were very proud that they passed five other contingents while hiking up Mount Baldy. Green was impressed by what he saw from Mount Baldy, which, at 12,441 feet, is the highest peak in Philmont.

"It was hard to reach the top, but it was worth the struggle," he said. "The view was awesome."

Crew adviser Daniel Turluck said he was awed that Max Booth and Neal Turluck were able to sprint, with 35- to 60-pound backpacks, across a meadow after a long day's hike.

"The boys noticed there was another crew standing off on another trail, apparently coveting the very desirable campsite at Deer Lake Mesa," he said. "The boys decided they wanted the site and sprinted so they could claim it as our campsite for the night."

For two days, the crew had a burro to help haul food. All the boys took turns caring for it. The time spent by Neal, Kyle, Max Booth and Max Wineland, who were assigned to return the burro to Miranda staffed camp, made a lasting memory because they got lost.

Other highlights of the trip included guitar music and singing at Ciphers Mine Camp, finding that the hiking was not as hard as some boys thought it was going to be and being so tired they fell asleep as soon as they laid down.

Chelsea Boy Scout Troop 425 members Neal Turluck, Max Booth, Abram Booth, Max Wineland, J.C. Solomon, Darrin Livengood, Zach Green, Ron Livengood, Daniel Turluck, David Booth, Rich Wineland and Kyle Carpenter pause to record the expansive vista they enjoyed as part of their Philmont trek experience this summer.

They also found challenges in the very steep path going up and down the 10,875-foot Black Mountain, the heat experienced on the Tooth of Time trail, panning for gold, climbing up a sparpole, and dealing with many insects.

Completing the trek was a lifetime achievement for the boys and leaders. The aches have faded, but they say the memories will provide leadership inspiration for a long time to come.

Beaumont earns degree

The Rev. Jerry Beaumont, who founded and headed up Faith In Action for two decades, has earned a doctorate in family and individual counseling.

He received the degree, conferred by the International Seminary located in Florida, June 27.

Beaumont moved to Chelsea from Grosse Pointe in the 1960s to work as a plant manager, and later as division manager at Federal Screw Works.

After seminary training, he was ordained in 1973 and served as vicar of St. Barnabas Episcopal Church for 25 years.

He founded Faith In Action in 1980 and served as board chairman and later as president. During that time, the organization grew from the back row of pews at St. Barnabas to erecting its own building on the campus of Chelsea Community Hospital.

In 2000, Beaumont transferred to the Diocese of Central Florida to serve at St. Mark's Church in Cocoa, where he continues to serve.

"While licensed as a social worker in Michigan, I felt the need to pursue advanced education in psychology and family counseling to better serve the people who came into Faith In Action with problems of relationships or personal coping difficulties," Beaumont said.

"This pursuit resulted in being awarded a Ph.D. specializing in family and individual counseling."

KENT ASHTON WALTON

BOOK REVIEW

George Kohler's first novel, "The Texan," which came out in August this year, is an action-filled Civil War novel.

The Ann Arbor resident also has just completed a second novel, "Liberators," due out in the spring.

Kohler will be at the Chelsea District Library 2 p.m. Saturday to read from and sign copies of his book.

As the book opens, Sam Duncan, a young man from San Antonio, Texas, is about to attend the funeral of his father when a band of Texas Rangers descends upon the family shop. They are stopping to replenish provisions during the pursuit of a band of marauding Comanche.

Duncan is called upon to assist a following group of wounded rangers. When they arrive, all but one is dead or dying in the saddle, and Duncan feels called to leave his family and join up with the rangers.

The novel follows Duncan as he journeys from inexperienced ranger to guerilla fighter in the Civil War, leading men outside the sanction of the army to harass Union forces.

He leads his men to the disastrous battle of Vicksburg. Later he forms friendships with a young minister's son, Elroy Parsons, a talented gunslinger, and Frank Fisher, a gentleman outlaw whose love of notoriety is both endearing and tragic.

"The Texan" is filled with fascinating characters, including Bannion, a despicable and dangerous army sergeant; Pem Phillips, the innocent and unfailingly loyal follower; Mullins, a streetwise New Orleans river rat, as well as outlaw and amusing partner Frank Fisher; and gunslinger Roy Parsons.

There is plenty of action, including clashes with Indians, gunfights and explosions. There is a generous smattering of drunks, fools and insolent men in authority.

The book portrays despair, wit and humor, and presents a spellbinding backdrop from Texas through the Oklahoma territories. It shows a changing West that Duncan both loves and hates.

Kohler was born in Detroit, but spent his childhood fishing, hunting and playing around the old ghost towns and mines in the shadow of Idaho's Sawtooth Mountains.

For several years, he and his father participated in local Wild West shows, portraying mountain men and learning the local stories and legends.

After four years serving as a medic in the U.S. Navy, Kohler returned to his family in Michigan. He began to write at that time, while driving for a local trucking company.

Kohler became a successful columnist and echoed his childhood by participating in Civil War re-enactments and Western shows.

Navy Seaman recruit Gretchen Vermeylen, daughter of Nancy Kinsky of Chelsea and William Vermeylen of Grass Lake, recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command in Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, Vermeylen, a 2000 graduate of Chelsea High School, completed a variety of training, which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, fire fighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety.

An emphasis was also placed on physical fitness.

The capstone event of boot camp is "Battle Stations". This exercise is designed to give recruits the skills and confidence they need to graduate and take to the fleet.

"Battle Stations" has been designed to galvanize the basic warrior attributes of sacrifice, dedication, teamwork and endurance in each recruit through the practical application of basic Navy skills and the core values of honor, courage and commitment.

New bowling league for the blind proves fun for all

By Chad Livengood
Special Writer

After suffering from two strokes in August and September 2001, and becoming legally blind, bowling was the last thing Dexter native Richard Dettling ever imagined doing.

Bowling became a routine biweekly reality for the 79-year-old when he joined the newly formed Washtenaw County Blind Bowling League this past July.

"It's been a lot of fun," Dettling said. "Six months ago, I would never had thought I'd be bowling."

Dettling is among 12 other Washtenaw County residents who come together on the first and third Tuesdays of each month to bowl at Colonial Lanes in Ann Arbor.

The league consists of people whom are both blind and sighted.

Dettling's daughter, Dexter resident Deborah Dettling, said the bowling experience has been very positive for her father.

"When he first had his first stroke, he couldn't do anything," she said.

After almost two years of rehabilitation, her father has gone from having to relearn how to walk, talk, dress and eat to being able to bowl with almost no sight in both eyes.

His bowling scores vary at times, he said.

"98, 35, 10...you name it, I've bowled it," Dettling said.

Dettling, who lost his sight in his left eye in 1944 during World War II, said until joining the league he hadn't bowled since 1962.

"When I was alright, I could bowl a damn good game," he said.

Dettling and his daughter first learned about the league from Ann Arbor resident Faith Meadows, the league's president and founder.

Meadows and Dettling both attend therapy and low-vision support groups for the blind at the Turner Geriatric Clinic in Ann Arbor.

It was through this group that Meadows has been able to recruit blind members and sighted volunteers in the league's early formation stages.

Meadows, 72, began bowling in 1963 after becoming blind two years earlier.

She has spent the past 40 years competing in the tournaments and leagues from Detroit to Kalamazoo as part of the Michigan Blind Bowling Association.

"I love it with a passion," she said.

Meadows, with the help of Deborah Dettling, the league's secretary, are trying to promote the group in hope of expanding the league from its lone four teams.

"I'd love to get at least 10 four-man teams," Meadows said.

Meadows said she was compelled to organize the league so blind people would have similar recreational opportunities as fully sighted people.

"Blind people don't do that much," Meadows said. "They just sit at home."

Dettling said if it weren't for the organizing Meadows has taken on, the league would never been formed.

"Faith Meadows is the real power behind the thing," said Ann Arbor resident Carl Procaskey.

Procaskey, 81, also was introduced to the league from his involvement with library and support groups that Meadows and Dettling attend.

Procaskey said he hadn't touched a bowling ball since the 1950s before joining the local league.

"For a while, I had taken up both bowling and golf, and when my two scores crossed, I decided to give them both up," he said. "When my golf score was higher than my bowling score, I said. 'The hell with it.'"

Almost 50 years later, Procaskey admits he's enjoying his newfound hobby.

"Broke a hundred last week, and I felt good about that," he said.

Procaskey is not fully blind. He said he can see up to 20 feet in front of him, which allows him to aim the bowling ball down the alley.

"I can't see the other end, but I can find the middle of the alley," he said.

During the eighth frame of the second game on the Oct. 7 league game, Procaskey stepped up to the line and went into a full four-step follow through.

"Yeah off to the left," Procaskey proclaimed as only one pin fell.

On his next attempt, he regrouped and secured a spare.

"You got nine of them, Carl," said Deborah Dettling, Procaskey's sighted volunteer.

"Well that's a lot better than one," he said while smiling and walking back to his seat.

Procaskey said he is surprised how well he has fared after a near half-century hiatus from the lanes.

"Last week, I had four (strikes), but they weren't much together," he said.

Procaskey said the league has provided him with an opportunity to get out and do something.

"It's not 'cause it's good for me; it's 'cause I have to do it," Procaskey said.

Despite some soreness in his hands from an old string of tendonitis, Procaskey said he has held up quite well physically.

"There's a lot of people my age that are having a lot worse problems," he said.

For Dettling, the league has been an opportunity to enjoy a recreational activity with his daughter.

He compared the experience of bowling to his youthful days of spending his summers swimming on Silver Lake near Dexter.

A retired telephone repairman of 35 years, Dettling said he wished to continue bowling in the league and hopes it can build up its membership and remain functioning.

Meadows said the league will continue meeting twice a month through April 27, when league play ends.

"Once I can get this league organized, I will start a league for blind children," she said.

The league is looking for business and corporate sponsorships to help pay for additional guide rails for the bowlers. For more information, contact Meadows at emann@surfree.com.

Chelsea District Library to celebrate Teen Read Week

As part of Teen Read Week celebrations, actors and staff from the Purple Rose Theatre Co. will bring the Teen Improv Workshop to Chelsea District Library 7 p.m. Oct. 23

Designed for children in seventh through 12th grades, this hands-on, creative workshop lets youth learn how to express themselves by working with experienced actors and other teens using drama techniques.

The class explores acting, movement, and writing techniques. Experienced instructors create a fun and safe environment for exploration into these fundamentals for beginning actors, as well as students with more experience.

The workshop is free, but registration is required.

The third annual Youth Bake-Off and Young Adult Short Story Contest awards ceremony will close the Teen Read Week festivities on Oct. 25.

The bake-off is open to kids ages 9 through 18.

All entries must be submitted by 1 p.m. The winners will be announced at 2 p.m.

Entry guidelines are available at the library.

All events are held at the Chelsea District Library, 500 Washington St., in Chelsea. For more information, call 475-8732 or visit the Web site www.chelsea.lib.mi.us.

NATIONAL BREAST CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS ABOUT MAMMOGRAPHY

The Importance of Early Detection

Breast cancer is the most common cancer diagnosed in women in America. When breast cancer is detected early and treated promptly, suffering and ultimately the loss of life can be significantly reduced. Women are encouraged to ask their doctors and other healthcare providers about mammography screening. Mammography (an x-ray picture of the breast) is the single most effective method to detect breast changes that may be cancer, long before physical symptoms can be seen or felt. For early stage breast cancer, there are more treatment options, treatment can be less disfiguring and less toxic, and survival is improved.

As women age, their risk of breast cancer increases. For most women, high quality mammography screening should begin at age 40. As risk factors vary in everyone, each woman and her doctor should discuss the plan that's right for her. Most organizations recommend screening every one to two years, some recommend it take place every year. Screening should continue throughout a woman's lifetime.

In addition to the use of mammography, healthcare providers should also examine a woman's breasts, called clinical breast examination (CBE), as part of routine healthcare to search for any abnormalities that may be missed by mammography. Breast self-examination (BSE), may alert a woman to any changes in her breasts, but it is not a substitute for mammography and CBE for women age 40 or older.

Mammography reliability: In 1997, the U.S. Congress passed the Mammography Quality Standards Act to ensure that mammography performed at more than 10,000 facilities throughout the country is of high quality and is reliable. To lawfully perform mammography, each facility must prominently display a certificate issued by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA). This certificate serves as evidence that the facility meets quality standards. You can order the U.S. Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality's booklet Things to Know about Quality Mammograms at no charge, in English or Spanish, by calling (800) 458-9295. Information for healthcare professionals is also available.

What should women expect when they have a mammogram?

A woman who still menstruates should schedule the mammogram for one week after her menstrual period begins, when the breast will be the least tender. Women are asked to avoid using deodorant and lotions on the day of the mammogram and should wear two-piece clothing to make undressing more convenient. A specially trained radiologic technologist will perform the mammogram. The woman will be asked to undress from the waist up only, and stand next to the x-ray machine. Two flat surfaces will compress one breast first, then the other for a few seconds. Compression is necessary to produce the best pictures using the lowest amount of radiation possible.

Is mammography screening the only way to detect breast cancer?

Mammography screening remains the single most effective method to detect breast cancer early. However, no medical test is always 100 percent accurate, and mammography is no exception. Research is under way to improve the technology to lead to better accuracy.

Will health insurance pay for screening mammograms?

Yes, Medicare covers mammography screening every year for women age 40 and older who are Medicare recipients. Yet, few eligible women utilize this important benefit. To raise awareness of this service, the National Cancer Institute (NCI) and the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) launched a national media campaign in 1998. A series of publications are available in English and Spanish. For more information on Medicare coverage for mammography screening, contact the Medicare toll-free hotline at (800) MEDICARE or the NCI's Cancer Information Service at (800) 4-CANCER.

How can women get low-cost or free mammograms?

Throughout October, National Breast Cancer Awareness Month and especially on National Mammography Day, the third Friday in October, many mammography facilities offer special programs, including extended hours. Many facilities are also willing to offer services at a lower fee or will establish a payment schedule. For the names of FDA accredited local mammography facilities, call the NCI's Cancer Information Service at (800) 4-CANCER. The CDC's Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program (NBCCEDP) also provides screening for medically underserved women. For program contacts, call the CDC at (888) 844-6245 or visit CDC's website at <http://www.cdc.gov/cancer/nbccedp/contacts.htm>. In addition, the WCA's ENCORE plus program provides low-cost or free services throughout the United States - call (800) 95EPLUS or your local WCA.

What barriers keep women from getting mammograms on a routine basis?

Studies have identified a number of barriers to mammography screening. Some can be overcome with health education, others require programs to make mammography more accessible for women. The top four barriers, in women's words are:

- "I don't need a mammogram because my doctor has never recommended I have one."
- "I've never thought about it."
- "Breast problems, so why bother?"
- "No time."

Evidence suggests that a small increase in risk exists for women who average two or more drinks per day (beer, wine, and distilled liquor).

Stay active.

The U.S. Surgeon General recently reported that you can help prevent many health problems by engaging in a moderate amount of physical activity (such as taking a brisk, 30-minute walk) on most days of the week. Strive to maintain the body weight recommended by a health professional, since excess fat may stimulate estrogen production.

Although smoking doesn't cause breast cancer, it can increase the chance of blood clots, heart disease, and other cancers that may spread to the breast.

SUPPORT ILL LOVED ONES WITH COMPASSION AND DIGNITY

Don't be afraid to reach out

According to the American Cancer Society (ACS), it is estimated that in 2003, more than 200,000 women will be diagnosed with invasive breast cancer. Among men, 1,300 cases will be diagnosed. Breast cancer is the second most common form of cancer among women. That means that it's more than likely that you will know someone afflicted by the disease.

When a close friend, colleague or loved one falls ill, even the most capable of talkers can have a tough time knowing what to say. Should you say "Get well soon?" Should you tell them how you had a great day? Should you tell them that "everything is going to be okay?"

There is no one right answer. The experts at the ACS advise taking your cues from the patient. Some people are private, while others are more open with their feelings. Offer to listen, but if he or she doesn't want to talk about it, don't push — even if you feel it's for his or her own good. Your insistence may have the reverse effect, making your friend clam up.

If and when your friend or loved one chooses to discuss his or her feelings, you shouldn't feel pressured to have something to say. While it's always good to offer words of encouragement, no one is expecting you to have the answers. Try not to show a sense of false optimism. The person may think you are dismissing his or her feelings of depression and worry. Also, stay away from the ubiquitous, "I know how you are feeling." No matter how many people you know who've been stricken with the same illness, unless you've personally experienced it, you really don't know how he or she is feeling. Reassure them of your love and support even just by saying "I'm here for you" — it's more than enough.

As a friend or family member, it's essential that you don't ignore the illness, but ACS stresses that it's a good idea to try to keep the patient's life as normal as possible. Include him or her in work and social events. There will be good days and bad days, and if an event or excursion is too much to handle, he or she will let you know.

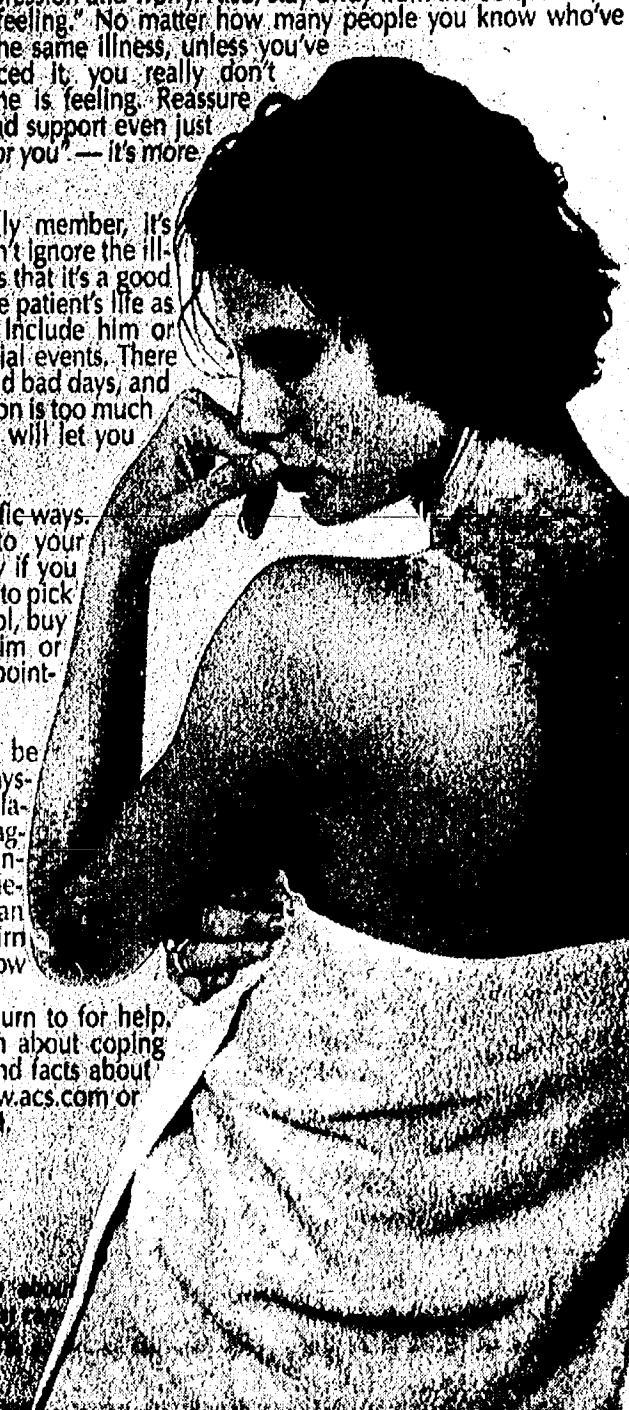

Offer to help in specific ways.

Instead of saying "to your friend, 'Let me know if you need anything,' offer to pick up a child from school, buy groceries or drive him or her to a doctor's appointment."

Most of all, don't be afraid to reach out physically to a friend or relative who has been diagnosed with breast cancer. Just because someone is ill doesn't mean he or she will turn down a hug every now and then.

There are places to turn to for help. For more information about coping with breast cancer and facts about the disease, visit www.acs.com or call (877) 88-NBCAM.

SEC champs!

Chelsea gridders beat Tecumseh to capture league title

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Chelsea football defeated Tecumseh 44-23 last Friday night in front of an overflowing Homecoming crowd of close to 5,500 at Jerry Niehaus Field.

With the victory, the Bulldogs (5-2, 3-0) captured the Southeastern Conference White Division championship. The league title was Chelsea's fourth in the last five years. Last season, the Indians beat the Bulldogs to win the SEC crown.

Last Friday was payback, of sorts, for Chelsea.

The host Bulldogs, who've won five straight games, overcame shaky special teams play early in the contest to subdue the pesky Indians (2-5, 2-1).

"We fumbled the kickoff, had a bad snap on a punt and had another punt hit our guy in the leg," said Chelsea coach Brad Bush. "It's hard to describe what happened. But our guys really hung in there."

Tecumseh jumped out to a 10-0 lead before most of the home folks even found their seats.

To begin the game, Chelsea muffed the opening kickoff.

After recovering the miscue, the Indians quickly capitalized, scoring a few plays later on senior running back Josh Hutchison's 16-yard run.

The extra point by senior placekicker Dan Adair split the uprights, and Tecumseh led 7-0, 53 seconds into the contest.

On the Bulldogs' next series, the Indians forced a three-and-out. A high snap from center resulted in a short punt, giving Tecumseh favorable field position at Chelsea's 38-yard line.

The Bulldogs, however, stiffened on defense shutting down the Indians on three straight plays. The subsequent punt hit a Chelsea blocker on the leg as it bounced in the open field. With the live ball, Tecumseh junior Nate Jacobs pounced on the ball, giving the Indians prime field position at the Bulldog 11-yard line.

Again, Chelsea's defense held, stopping Tecumseh on four straight plays. A 23-yard field goal by Adair was good, and the Indians led 10-0 with 6:45 left in the first quarter.

"Even though we turned the ball over, our defense was able to hang tough at the beginning," Bush said.

As poor as the opening quarter was for the Bulldogs, they more than made up for it in the second stanza.

Chelsea scored 24 unanswered points in the second quarter, heading into the locker room up 24-10.

After a Tecumseh punt opened second quarter action, Bulldog junior running back Alec Penix sprinted 45 yards up the middle on Chelsea's first play of the drive down to the Indians' 35-yard line.

On the next play, senior quarterback George Royce connected with senior back Tony Reifel for a 17-yard reception, down to the 17-yard line. Two plays later, Penix ran five yards up the gut, untouched for a score.

Bulldog senior quarterback George Royce hands off to junior running back Alec Penix last Friday night against Tecumseh. Chelsea beat the Indians, capturing the Southeastern Conference White Division championship.

With senior Kyle Franks' extra point, the Bulldogs closed the gap to 10-7 with 11:22 remaining in the half.

After a Tecumseh punt, Franks booted a 28-yard field goal, tying the contest at 10-10. A key play in the drive was a 32-yard run by Penix down to the Indians' 7-yard line.

Bulldog tennis wins regional crown

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Fresh off its Southeastern Conference White Division title, Chelsea's girls' tennis team captured a Division III regional championship last Friday.

The Bulldogs bested the field with 27 points.

Grosse Ile was second with 18 points, followed by Dearborn Divine Child with 16 points and Riverview with 13 points.

The Bulldogs won five of eight flights at the regional at Grosse Ile.

"The girls played their best tennis of the season," said Chelsea coach Jill McKale. "I knew we were going to play some good tennis, but the girls exceeded my expectations. It (winning title) may be one of the most memorable days of Chelsea tennis. I've never seen a group of girls more excited."

In singles play, Bulldog Lindsay Parker won 6-3, 6-1, before falling 6-1, 6-0 in the regional semifinals at the No. 1 flight.

At No. 2 singles, Lindsay Tye finished first, winning 6-4, 6-0 in the finals, and 6-3, 6-1 and 6-0, 6-1.

"Lindsay had an amazing day," McKale said. "Not to drop one set in the regional tournament is the highlight of her tennis career. I am very proud and happy for her."

At No. 3 singles, Ariel Schepers placed first, prevailing 6-4, 6-1 in the finals, and 6-1, 6-1 and 6-0, 6-0 in her other matches.

"Ariel also had an amazing day," McKale said. "Not only did she not drop a set, she only lost seven games on the day. That is a great accomplishment as a sophomore."

Jenna Gines finished as regional runner-up at No. 4 singles for Chelsea. She lost in the finals 6-4, 6-2. In the semifinals, she won 5-7, 6-3, 6-4 and 6-1, 6-2 in the quarterfinals.

In doubles play, the Bulldogs' No. 1 twosome of Stacia Morrison and Jackie Daane placed first, winning 7-5, 6-4 in the championship match. In the semifinals, the duo won 2-6, 7-5, 6-2 and 6-1, 6-0 in the quarterfinals.

"I am very proud of No. 1 doubles," McKale said. "No. 1 doubles is one of the hard-

Golfers qualify for state; share title

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

It's been quite a week for the Chelsea boys' golf team.

Last Monday, the Bulldogs captured the Southeastern Conference White Division match at Rustie Glen Golf Course in Clinton.

Chelsea finished with a score of 311. Placing second was Dexter with a tally of 315.

Rounding out the field was Tecumseh in third place, with a 328, while Ypsilanti Lincoln was fourth with 339.

The Dreadnaughts won the regular season league title. In the SEC match, points are doubled. With the Bulldogs' victory last Monday, Chelsea tied Dexter for the league crown.

Individually for the Bulldogs, Brett Common led the way, shooting a 77. He finished runner-up in the tournament.

Nate Chamberlain, Kevin Todd and Nick Harwood rounded out the scoring for Chelsea, each carding a 78.

Bulldog coach Joe Ewald

was pleased with his squad's performance.

"If you get four scores there (under 80), you're going to beat a lot of teams," he said.

Medalist for the match was the Dreadnaughts' Frank McAuliffe, who shot a 74.

Earning All-SEC honors for the Bulldogs were Common, Todd and Chamberlain. Also on the elite squad were Dexter's Ryan Haller and McAuliffe and Tecumseh's Jerrod Barley.

In the SEC Red Division, Ann Arbor Pioneer placed first with a score of 298.

Saline was second with a 306, while Temperance Bedford was third with a 316 and Adrian fourth with a 339.

Medalist for the tournament was Pioneer's Jake Johnson, who recorded a 71.

Last Friday, Chelsea placed third in a Division II regional at Raisin Valley Golf Course in Tecumseh.

The Bulldogs ended the match with a score of 313.

Winning the tournament was Trenton with a 304.

Chelsea runners best field at invitational

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

The Chelsea boys' cross country team captured the Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard Invitational at Hudson Mills Metropark last Saturday.

The Bulldogs bested the field with 94 points.

"We won this invitational for the second year in a row," said Chelsea coach Eric Swager. "We beat 17 other schools to take the top prize. We avenged an earlier loss to Dearborn Heights Crestwood."

Crestwood finished second overall with 104 points.

Rounding out the top five were Marshall, in third place with 127 points, followed by Orchard Lake St. Mary's with 140 points and Ypsilanti Lincoln with 145 points.

Individually for the Bulldogs, Trevor Bach paced the squad, finishing second with a time of 16:26.

Dan Lewis ended up ninth in 17:24, while Max Wineland was 11th in 17:25 and Chris Moyle 35th in 18:09.

Hugh White crossed the line 37th in 18:14, while Ian Girard was 39th in 18:15 and Chet Hopp 50th in 18:29.

"Five of our seven varsity runners had lifetime bests," Swager said. "Trevor Bach is now seventh fastest Chelsea runner of all-time. Max Wineland had a huge race and earns runner-of-the-week honors."

"Chris Moyle dropped more than 40 seconds to spark the final three runners. It is that type of aggressiveness that we need in our athletes to reach the state finals."

"Cross country is about toughness, both mentally and physically. Many of our runners were tough today, plain and simple," he said.

In the JV race, James Daly led the Dawgs, finishing sixth overall with a clocking of 19:19.

David Branch was seventh, in a lifetime best 19:20, while J.P. Severin was 24th in 19:40. Dolan Personke was 31st in a lifetime best 19:50 and Josh Fitzsimmons was 37th in a lifetime best 20:08.

Joe Turek ended up 62nd in a lifetime best 21:05, while Max Booth was 75th in 21:38, Eric Gasieski 96th in 22:27, Jeff Squires 98th in a lifetime best 22:31 and Abe Booth 103rd in a lifetime best 22:48.

Chelsea next competes in the Southeastern Conference Jamboree No. 3 at 3 p.m. today at Hudson Mills Metropark.

Chelsea senior Nate Chamberlain shot a 74 last Friday at the Division II regional match at Raisin Valley Golf Course in Tecumseh. The Bulldogs placed third, qualifying for the state final.

Bulldog JV football tackles Indians

Chelsea's JV football team defeated Tecumseh 48-7 last Thursday. The Bulldogs (6-1) jumped all over the host Indians early. Zack Gregory returned the opening kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown, giving visiting Chelsea a quick lead. With the extra point by Cam Hawkins, the Bulldogs led 7-0. After a Tecumseh punt, Chelsea quarterback Joe Welton hit receiver Drew Wint for a 72-yard TD bomb on the second play from scrimmage. After Hawkins' kick made it 14-0, the Indians fumbled the ensuing kickoff. A few plays later, Welton found receiver Charlie Riedel for a 21-yard touchdown score. With Hawkins' extra point, Chelsea increased its advantage to 21-0. In the second frame, Welton threw touchdown passes of 30 yards to Mike Hamilton and 11 yards to Wint. At halftime, the Bulldogs led 34-7. In the second half, Gregory scored on a 12-yard run in the third quarter. In the fourth frame, Cody Schiller ended the scoring, returning an interception 75 yards for a touchdown.

For the game, Hawkins was 6-of-7 on extra points. Welton finished 7-of-13 for 165 yards and four TDs. Wint had two catches for 83 yards and two scores. Gregory rushed for 50 yards on 12 attempts. Riedel had 57 yards on the ground on three carries. Overall, Chelsea had 331 total yards of offense. Tecumseh had 294 yards. "Our defense struggled a bit," said Chelsea coach Chris Orlandi. "Tecumseh had to drive a long way, and then they would self destruct. They were a good team. But we took care of business. Our special teams dominated. Our kids are excited. They're having fun. Everyone's doing their job." On Oct. 3, Chelsea beat Ann Arbor Pioneer 49-7. Welton scored on two quarterback sneaks to give the host Bulldogs a 14-0 early lead. Gregory led the offense, scoring three TDs, on runs of six and 10 yards. He also caught a 7-yard touchdown pass from Welton. He finished the night with 156 yards rushing on 19 carries. Wint had three catches, including a 53-yard TD score. David Fishburn closed out the scoring for Chelsea, hitting pay dirt on an 11-yard run. Welton ended up 9-of-14 for 181 yards and two touchdowns. Hamilton had four catches for 61 yards. Defensively, the Bulldogs dominated the Pioneers. "The defense did a great job," Orlandi said. Pioneer scored in the third quarter for its lone points on the night. The tally by Ann Arbor broke Chelsea's defensive streak of 16 consecutive scoreless quarters. The Bulldogs hadn't been scored upon since the second quarter of Week No. 2 against Adrian. "The defense has been tremendous," Orlandi said. The Bulldogs next travel to Temperance Bedford for a game 7 p.m. today.

Bulldog Ashley Brainerd set a lifetime best of 20:41 at last Saturday's Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard Invitational. As a team, Chelsea finished third.

Chelsea JV cagers defeat Adrian

The Chelsea JV girls' basketball team defeated Adrian 60-28 last Thursday. The host Bulldogs (9-4, 4-0) ran out to an 18-4 first quarter lead. At halftime, Chelsea led 32-16. In the second half, the Bulldogs outscored the Maples 28-12 for the final margin. Chelsea played well at both ends of the court. The Bulldogs shot 48 percent from the floor and had 20 steals. Freshman forward Paige Denison paced Chelsea with 22 points, six rebounds and eight steals. Freshman swing player Rachel Fitzsimmons added 17 points and seven rebounds, while sophomore forward co-captain Katherine Lixey and freshman guard Hannah Guenther each netted six points for the Dawgs. Sophomore center Sarah Iverson finished with four points, while junior guard co-captain Courtney Aili and freshman Maggie Manville each had two points and freshman guard Bridget Lynn one point for Chelsea. On Oct. 7, the host Bulldogs lost to Temperance Bedford 35-33. The loss snapped Chelsea's five-game winning streak. The Bulldogs trailed 23-13 at halftime. Entering the fourth frame, Chelsea was behind 31-23. Despite outscoring the Mules 10-4 in the final stanza, the Bulldogs were unable to pull out the victory. Fitzsimmons ended up with 13 points to lead Chelsea. Lixey chipped in six points, while freshman swing player Manville and Denison each had five points for the Bulldogs. Denison also had a team-high five rebounds. Iverson had four points. The Bulldogs shot 23 percent from the field. Chelsea next travels to county rival Dexter for a game 5:30 p.m. today. On Tuesday, the Bulldogs host Ann Arbor Pioneer at 5:30 p.m. On Oct. 23, Chelsea visits Temperance Bedford for a contest at 5:30 p.m.

Harriers third at Ann Arbor invite

The Chelsea girls' cross country team finished third at last Saturday's Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard Invitational at Hudson Mills Metropark. The Bulldogs ended up with 120 points. Capturing the meet was Milan with 75 points. Placing second was Dexter with 87 points, while Marshall was fourth with 127 points and Jackson Northwest fifth with 141 points. "We ran very well today," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke. "Overall, 12 out of 15 girls ran personal bests for the Hudson Mills course." Leading the way for Chelsea was freshman Amanda McKenzie, who placed third with a lifetime best mark of 19:16. Ashley Brainerd finished 23rd for the Bulldogs with a lifetime best clocking of 20:41, while Alice Gauvin was 32nd in 21:01 and Johanna Jackson 35th in 21:02. Meg Wheeler crossed the line 37th in 21:04, while Katelyn Ciacio was 38th in 21:08 and Rachel Severin 39th in 21:22 for Chelsea. In the 24-team JV race, the Bulldogs placed first overall with 15 points. Chelsea captured the event's first six spots. Brenda Satterthwaite finished first with a season best time of 21:42. Joy Wilke was second with 22:27, while Katie Grabarkiewicz was third in 22:50. Kelly Catalina was fourth in 22:59, Ashley Houle fifth in 23:01 and Nicole Bougher sixth in 23:09. Mallory Weddon ended up 23rd in 24:44, while Megan Edgar was 45th in 26:47 for the Bulldogs. "We continue to improve, and our attitude is intense heading into our most important time of the season," Clarke said. "I hope we can peak and get healthy in the next two weeks." Chelsea next participates today in the Southeastern Conference Jamboree No. 3 hosted by Saline at Hudson Mills Metropark at 3 p.m. Sports Editor Don Richter can be reached at 475-1371 or at drichter@heritage.com.

Beach Gold gridders take on Saline

Chelsea's Beach Middle School eighth-grade Gold football team lost to Saline 6-2 Oct. 7. The visiting Bulldogs (0-4) scored on Jamie Brooks' safety. He tackled a Hornet ball carrier in the end zone. Also playing well defensively for the Bulldogs was Dean Roberts. Offensively, Jeff Adams shined. The seventh-grade Gold squad lost to Saline 44-24 Oct. 7. John Hillaker scored three touchdowns for visiting Beach (2-2). One of his scores came on a kickoff return. Chad Schiller scored the Bulldogs' other touchdown and, defensively, sacked the quarterback three times. Also playing well overall for Chelsea was William Dark. The Beach eighth-grade Blue team dropped a 26-12 decision to visiting Adrian Drager Oct. 7. Despite falling, the squad played their best game of the season. Ryan Schroeder, James Connelly, Steven Bauer and Scott Nabb all played well defensively for Beach. Scoring touchdowns for the Bulldogs (0-4) were Chris Schmelz and Matt Schwarze. Also performing well offensively for Chelsea was Stuart Mann. The seventh-grade Blue team defeated Adrian Drager 36-16 Oct. 7. After falling behind 8-0 early in the game, the Bulldog defense buckled down, while the offense heated up. Kevin Rosentreter scored four touchdowns for host Beach (2-2). Riley Feeney scored the Dawgs' other touchdown. Scott Rhodes and Tim Rosentreter each added two-point conversions. Chelsea quarterback

Randy Cox played well offensively, and also stood out defensively with an interception. Nick Dyerly and Kyle Coburn had strong games on defense for the Bulldogs, as well. "Despite the outcomes, this was by far the most successful week of the season for middle school Bulldog football," said Chelsea coach Jason Morris. Beach Gold next travels to Ypsilanti-Lincoln for a game 4 p.m. Tuesday. Beach Blue next hosts Temperance Bedford 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Beach Gold hoops fall in overtime

Chelsea's Beach Middle School eighth-grade Gold girls' basketball team lost to Temperance Bedford 38-32 in overtime Oct. 8. "This was one of our best games," said Chelsea coach

Rahn Rosentreter. "We were consistent, we played tough and we stayed with a Bedford team that has never lost a game in their entire middle school career." Rosentreter said the game came down to free throws. "They made their free throws and we missed a couple," he said. "That was the difference." Sara Myers led host Beach with 10 points. Emily Rabbitt added six points, while Annie Hollandsworth and Robin Olinky each had five points. Brogan Darwin, Samantha Minzey and Rachel Voicechovski each ended up with two points for the Bulldogs. "I am extremely proud of the girls," Rosentreter said. "They played hard and we came very close to a win. I can't be disappointed with their performance." On Oct. 6, Chelsea defeated Adrian Springbrook 29-22. Olinky had eight points, pace visiting Beach. Rabbitt had six points, while Myers netted five points and Nellie Daniels four points. Voicechovski finished with three points, while Hollandsworth had two points and Darwin one point for the Bulldogs. "We played a tough game," Rosentreter said. "The girls worked hard, and while I think we could have played better, we came home with a victory." Chelsea next travels to Adrian Drager for a game 4 p.m. Monday. On Wednesday, Beach hosts Ypsilanti Lincoln at 4 p.m.

Lincoln beats Beach

Chelsea's Beach Middle School seventh-grade girls' Gold basketball team lost to Ypsilanti Lincoln 40-12 Oct. 1. Sarah Shrosbree and Stacy Marks each scored four points for the visiting Bulldogs. Kelly Maveal and Taylor Lewis each netted two points for Beach.

STATE

Dexter was second, shooting a 306. Medalist for the match was Trenton's Jack Garswood, who had a 69. With their finish, Chelsea qualified for the Division II state final tomorrow and Saturday at Eagle Crest Golf Course on the campus of Eastern Michigan University. Only the top three teams at regionals make the state tournament.

For the first time since the mid-1980s, the Bulldogs qualified for the state match. "The guys really stepped up when they needed to," said Ewald, who is in his first season as Bulldog coach. Individually for Chelsea, Chamberlain paced the squad, carding a 74. Common and Boshoven each shot a 79, while Todd had an 81. Ewald said his two seniors showed their leadership down the stretch.

Metzler excels at Denison

Chelsea's Rebecca Metzler helped lead Denison (Ohio) University's women's cross country team to a victory in the Wooster Invitational earlier this month. A senior, Metzler finished 20th overall in the meet with a time of 21:01.

"It was great to have Nick (Chamberlain) and Pieter (Boshoven) step up and lead the team," he said. "That was huge. That was a big bonus. I was absolutely thrilled." Twenty-four teams qualified for the Division II state final. To make it to Saturday's final round of the two-day championship, a team needs to be in the top 12 after tomorrow's competition. The tournament begins at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Frosh overwhelm Tecumseh

The visiting Bulldogs ran out to a commanding 20-0 lead.

Chris Tapping finished with 71 yards rushing and three touchdowns for Chelsea.

Teammate Danny Rhodes added 150 all-purpose yards.

Bulldog quarterback Jon Seelbach ended up 6-of-10 for 83 yards and one touchdown. He also rushed for two touchdowns on sneaks.

Receiver Shawn Scott caught an 8-yard TD pass from Seelbach.

Rounding out the scoring for Chelsea was Nate Schwarze on a 10-yard run.

"We were able to get good field position from our punt return team, which really helped to tilt the field," said Chelsea coach Dennis Strzyzewski.

Defensively, Dan Augustine led the Bulldogs with 15 tackles and an interception. Chris Hopkins added nine tackles and had two sacks. Jake Scott also finished with two sacks for Chelsea.

Alex Stephens recorded five tackles and had an interception, while Jessie Stewart and Gregg VanOrmann each recovered fumbles for the Bulldogs.

"The kids have responded with three impressive efforts in a row," Strzyzewski said. "I like the enthusiasm they have for the game and for each other."

Chelsea next travels to Temperance Bedford for a game 4:30 p.m. today.

Trenton no match for Bulldogs

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

The Chelsea boys' soccer team shut out Trenton 6-0 last Friday.

The Bulldogs (10-5-2, 5-2-1) were led by Ken Davis with two goals.

Also scoring for Chelsea were Ausable Schwiebert, Sye Hickey, Cam Wilson and Brandon Johnson.

Picking up assists for the Dawgs were Jason Medeiros and Schwiebert, each with two, and Steve Koich, Mike Sauers and Chris Ruikka, who each had one assist.

Combining for the shutout in net for Chelsea were keepers P.J. Stecker and Dan DeWall.

"DeWall made two great saves to preserve the shutout, and Mark Kurta cleared two balls off the line late in the game also to preserve the shutout," said Chelsea coach Chad Scaling.

Last Thursday, the Bulldogs beat host Ypsilanti Lincoln 8-2.

Max Hepburn, Matt Neff, Schwiebert, Ruikka and Koich each scored one goal for the Bulldogs.

Recording assists were Davis, with two, and Ruikka. Chelsea next hosts Tecumseh 5:30 p.m. today.

Dexter-Chelsea hold 10K race

The Dexter and Chelsea athletic boosters are hosting their second annual 10K and 5K run Saturday.

The 10K run starts at 8:30 a.m., while the 5K event begins at 9:45 a.m.

The 10K run will begin at Dexter High School and finish at Chelsea High School. The 5K run will start and finish at Chelsea High.

Another challenge available to runners this year is the Dreaded Bulldog competition, where an athlete can attempt to finish both races.

The event benefits the athletic departments of both schools.

The run is open to everyone, with age group awards given out. Top female and male finishers will receive a special award. The course will travel primarily down rural Trinkle Road.

Proceeds from the race will be split between the two athletic booster organizations.

Chelsea State Bank, Meijer and Reebok are sponsoring the race.

Application and registration forms are available on line at www.athleticventures.com.

Forms also may be picked up at Chelsea State Bank locations, Meijer and area running stores.

Registration also will be possible on the day of the race. The entry fee is $20. The price is reduced if an athlete chooses to run both races.

T-shirts will be given to the first 400 entrants.

Parking will be available at Chelsea High School. One-way bus service will be provided to the starting line at Dexter High School beginning at 6:15 a.m.

For more information on entering the race, call Julie Wagner at 433-9338. For general race information, call Greg Meyer at 1-734-449-2561.

Chelsea's Karri Kuczajda is playing well for the Henry Ford Community College volleyball team.

The freshman outside hitter helped the Hawks capture the Terra Community College Tournament last month. Kuczajda finished the tournament with a team-high 44 kills, 12 aces and five blocks.

At the St. Clair Community College Tournament, HFCC performed well, winning eight games. Kuczajda ended up with 80 kills, 14 aces and 18 blocks for the Hawks.

Against Mott Community

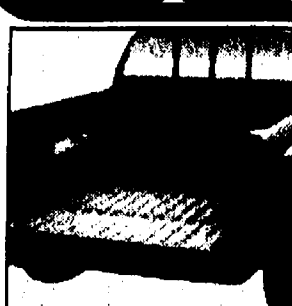

College, HFCC lost 16-14. Kuczajda had 28 kills, five blocks and seven aces.

Versus Oakland Community College, the Hawks fell 17-15. Kuczajda finished with 21 kills, five blocks and seven aces.

Kuczajda is a 2003 Chelsea High School graduate.

Beach Blue beats Bedford

Chelsea's Beach Middle School seventh-grade Blue girls' basketball team defeated Temperance Bedford 28-24 Oct. 1.

"We played our best game of the season," said Chelsea coach Mike Bareis. "The girls' effort at both ends of the court was tremendous."

The visiting Mules entered the contest undefeated.

Erin Benjamin paced the Bulldogs, scoring 13 points.

Megan Dunn added eight points, while Heather Boyer, Stevie Gregory and Zoe Suffety each scored two points for Beach.

On Oct. 6, Chelsea (5-4) beat Saline Gold 27-14.

Benjamin led the team with 13 points.

Kristin Schwarz and Suffety each added four points, while Anna Darwin and Boyer each netted two points for the host Bulldogs.

Last Thursday, Beach lost to county rival Dexter 29-24. The loss broke a Chelsea four-game winning streak.

Dunn had nine points, leading the visiting Bulldogs.

Benjamin had six points, while Schwarz had four points. Amanda Koch and Boyer had two points apiece and Suffety had one point for Beach.

Last Monday, the Bulldogs lost to visiting Ypsilanti Lincoln 18-12.

Schwarz led the team with four points, while Suffety had three points.

Gwen Eder and Gregory each added two points, while Benjamin had one point for Chelsea.

Beach next hosts Adrian Springbrook 4 p.m. Monday.

On Wednesday, the Bulldogs travel to Temperance Bedford for a game at 4 p.m.

Gridders fall to Lincoln

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Dexter football lost to Ypsilanti Lincoln 39-21 last Friday night during Homecoming at Al Ritt Field.

The host Dreadnaughts (1-6, 0-3) started strong, but faltered late in the game, dropping their fifth consecutive contest.

"It's a disappointing loss," said Dexter coach Tom Barbieri. "But the kids played hard."

At halftime, the Dreadnaughts led 14-12.

In the second half, however, the Railsplitters (1-6, 1-2) came alive offensively.

Behind three second half touchdowns by running back Eltaro Hooper, Lincoln overtook Dexter, earning its first victory of the season.

The Railsplitters opened the scoring on wide-out Trey Davidson's 40-yard touchdown reception from quarterback Kyle O'Keefe in the first quarter. The extra point was blocked, and Lincoln led 6-0.

Later in the first frame, Hooper hauled in a 37-yard touchdown pass from O'Keefe, increasing Lincoln's advantage to 12-0. A two-point conversion run was stopped.

In the second quarter, the Dreadnaughts responded.

Dexter senior running back Tony Shuck sprinted in from 19 yards out for a score. With junior placekicker Matt Glahn's successful extra point, the Dreadnaughts trimmed the Railsplitters' lead to 12-7.

Before the half, Dexter took the lead as junior quarterback Bill Burgett scampered in from four yards away for a go-ahead touchdown. With Glahn's extra point, the Dreadnaughts led 14-12.

"We were playing with confidence," Barbieri said.

In the second half, Lincoln regrouped, taking control of the game.

Hooper scored third-quarter touchdowns on 46- and 14-yard runs, vaulting the Railsplitters into the lead for good, 24-14.

Dexter fought back, answering in the fourth quarter on a 4-yard TD run by junior back Craig Baldus. With Glahn's extra point, the Dreads closed the gap to 24-21.

It was Lincoln's night, however, as the Railsplitters scored the final two touchdowns.

O'Keefe found Hooper for a 55-yard touchdown strike, while Davidson broke loose on a 29-yard TD jaunt for the game's final margin.

Hooper finished the night, with 251 yards rushing, on 27 carries.

"He ran wild," Barbieri said. "He ran by our kids."

Davidson added 45 yards on six attempts.

For Dexter, junior Mike O'Keefe had 89 yards on 21 carries, while Shuck had 72 yards on eight rushes.

Senior back Brian Taylor ended up with 43 yards on three attempts for the Dreads.

Burgett finished 4-of-12 for 20 yards, with two interceptions for the Dreadnaughts.

For Lincoln, O'Keefe ended up 4-of-16 for 156 yards.

Receiving-wise, Taylor had one catch for 30 yards.

Hooper had three receptions for 116 yards.

The Railsplitters finished with 476 total yards of offense. Dexter had 283 yards offense.

The Dreadnaughts rushed for 263 yards as a team. Lincoln had 320 yards on the ground.

Dexter lost two fumbles.

The Railsplitters ended the night with 18 penalties for 156 yards. The Dreadnaughts had eight penalties for 46 yards.

Defensively, junior linebacker Travis Bourdon paced Dexter with 13 tackles.

Senior linebacker Matt Gibson had eight tackles, while junior defensive end David Ager and Taylor each had seven stops and junior defensive tackle Nick Bensinger six tackles for the Dreadnaughts.

Junior defensive back David Muchmore finished with five tackles, while junior defensive back Curtis Laeder and Baldus each had four stops for Dexter.

The Dreadnaughts next host Hillsdale 7 p.m. tomorrow. The Hornets are 6-1 overall.

"Our team will respond with a great effort," Barbieri said. "We've been coming up short. Injuries have hurt us."

Hillsdale is led by half-back/quarterback Zack Beck on offense, and linebacker Dusty Zimmerman (5-10, 195) on defense.

"It's always a good game when Dexter and Hillsdale get together," Barbieri said. "It's the seniors' final home game. It should be a good one."

Late rally sparks Beach

Chelsea's Beach Middle School eighth-grade Blue girls' basketball team bested archrival Dexter 24-22 Oct. 8.

The visiting Bulldogs (7-1) trailed 11-3 after one quarter.

At halftime, Beach rallied, closing the gap to 17-12.

Heading into the fourth quarter, Chelsea led 18-17. The Bulldogs shut out Dexter in the third quarter.

"We were down by 10 in the first quarter, and at halftime we talked about playing tougher defense," said Chelsea coach Lonnie Mitchell.

"We then held them scoreless for 11 minutes (out of 12 minutes) in the second half."

Lizzie Bentley scored six points to lead Beach.

Cara Cremer and Colleen Sullivan each added four points, while Jenna Jarvis had three points.

Maureen Lynn, Grace Biller and Karah Schanz each had two points, while Jessica Simpson had one point for Chelsea.

Beach next hosts Adrian Springbrook 4 p.m. Monday.

On Wednesday, the Bulldogs travel to Temperance Bedford for a game at 4 p.m.

Golfers hold Beach fund-raiser

The third annual Fore Beach Golf Adventure was held Oct. 4 at Waterloo Golf Course. Fifty-seven linksters turned out for the event, raising $3,200 for Chelsea's Beach Middle School sports-expansion project. Top finishers on the day were Mike Harwood, Matt Roos and Doug Sharpe, who each shot 12 under par.

Schools and recreation share similar responsibilities

The goal of Rec Beat is to inform the public of upcoming programs, recognize our volunteers, and inform and raise awareness on recreation issues.

The National Alliance for Youth Sports states, "Sports are one of the greatest tools to help children develop positive traits and life values."

"Today's educational systems and sports programs are quite comparable when it comes to their critical roles in helping children learn and develop life-long skills. Ironically, youth sports are not held to the same high standard as our education system."

Did you ever recognize the similar structure and goals of the school system and youth sport programs?

By modeling youth sport programs after a school system and agreeing that our goals and outcomes are parallel, then we as a community have made an important positive step in enhancing the quality of life in the community.

Examine the parallel structures, goals and extreme scenarios of a school system and of youth sports programs.

A school system has a classroom, school board, principal, teacher, parents and students. Likewise, a youth sports program has facilities, a recreation board, an administrator, coaches, parents and athletes.

The goals of a school system and of youth sports programs are also similar.

A school board provides opportunities, as does a recreation board. A principal helps create a healthy environment, as does a youth sports administrator.

Teachers and coaches both instruct children. Parents in both instances watch their children grow and develop. And students and athletes both have fun learning.

Would it be appropriate for your child's teacher to smoke a cigar in the front of the classroom? The answer is, no.

Would it be appropriate for your child's coach to smoke a cigar on the ball field? Again, no.

Would it be appropriate for a parent to enter their child's classroom and yell at the teacher? No.

Would it be appropriate for a parent to run on the ball field and yell at the coach? No.

Would it be appropriate for a parent to take their child's spelling test? No.

Would it be appropriate for a parent to score soccer goals for their child? No.

By recognizing the parallel between youth sports programs and a school system, we can change the culture of youth sports. Chelsea, continue to keep our community strong and healthy. Remember, changing the culture of youth sports is as easy as ABC.

Coming soon will be Chelsea Recreation's Web site. It will be online by Nov. 1.

Coaches Spotlight

Hats off to all of our volunteer coaches. Your enthusiasm and efforts are very much appreciated.

Brooks Cone, an assistant coach for two years, turned into a full-fledged coach with the fall 2003 soccer season. He is coaching his son's first-through second-grade division soccer team. They are a burgundy team and call themselves the "Bananas." The "Bananas" even have a team song and a team yell.

Cone said he receives a lot from coaching.

"I am having a great time," he said. "My No. 1 goal is for the kids to have a great time. Our practices consist of drills, which keep the children energetic like wild stallions. The parents are all giving wonderful support. I feel great in being a small part of the boys' lives. It's a blast!"

Keep up the great work Coach Cone and Go Bananas!

Brian Schuh has been coaching his boys for four seasons. He takes on a demanding schedule by coaching both of his sons' teams during the soccer season.

Schuh has also stepped in and coached baseball while the baseball coach was on vacation. He said he enjoys spending time with his sons and getting to know their friends.

Greg Paul has coached soccer and basketball for the first- and second-grade boys' division for the last 1 and a half years. He enjoys the time he gets to spend with his son after work and school, as well as helping the community.

Paul enjoyed coaching so much that he got the "soccer bug" and started playing adult soccer last year.

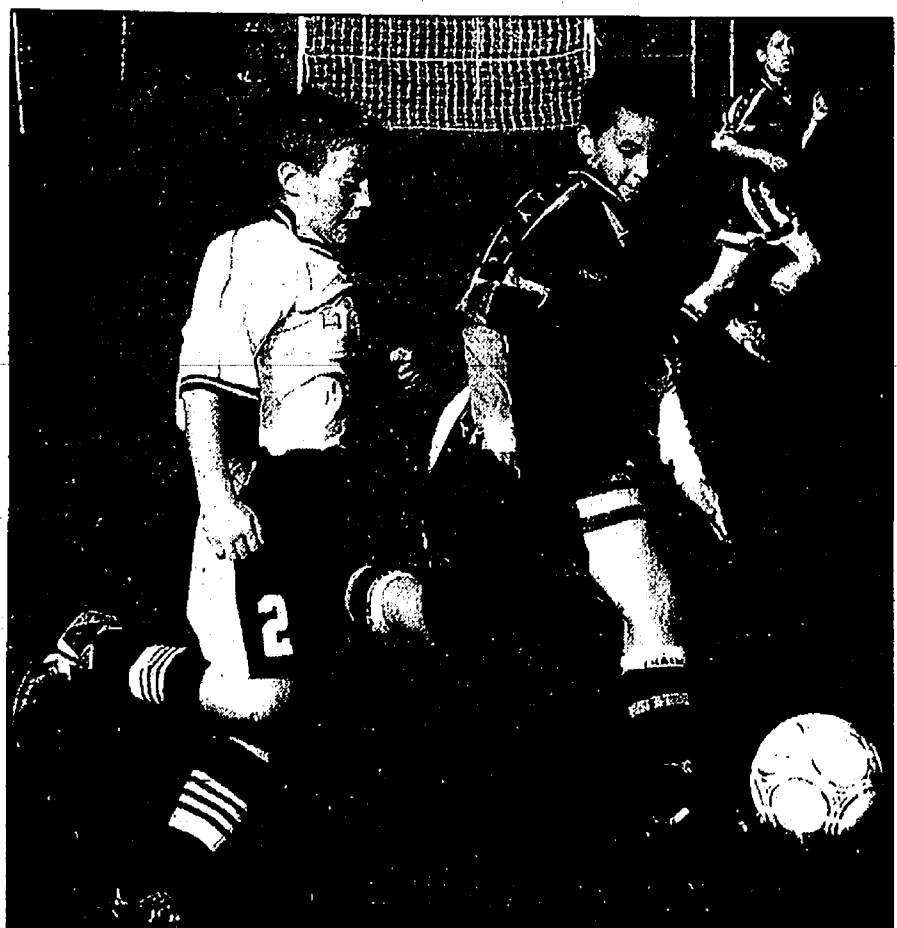

Holly Bulko decided to coach for her son and to make the sport enjoyable for the kids. She has been coaching T-ball and soccer on and off for the last seven years.

"I like watching the kids develop," Bulko said. "I enjoy the kids."

Dave "Smiles" Pentescu decided to coach six years ago because "there is always a shortage of coaches and I want to fill the community void," he said. "Plus, it's a lot of fun."

"My kids love having me out there and I get a cool shirt every year."

Michelle Mitchell is director of Chelsea Recreation. She can be reached at 475-1112.

Chelsea Soccer Club kicks Wolverines

The Chelsea Soccer Club boys' U-12 team defeated the Downriver Wolverines 4-1 last Saturday.

Scoring for the Bulldogs (2-4-1) were Trevor Mattson, Zak Giller, Zach Schepers and Victor Rozsa.

Earning the win in net for Chelsea was keeper Josh Moffett.

The club's boys' U-11 squad defeated Taylor 1-0 last Saturday as Patrick Roberts scored.

Playing well defensively for Chelsea were Spencer Mykala, Kyle Hoeflinger and August Pappas. Combining for the win in net were Chris Ballow and Charlie McCalla.

The boys' U-14 team beat Dearborn Heights 3-1.

Scoring for the squad were Josh Stiles, Jonathon Mykala and Mike Roberts.

In the girls' division, Chelsea's U-16 team lost 2-1 to Livonia Oct. 8. Scoring for the Bulldogs was Amanda Trembley.

Last Sunday, Chelsea shut out Dexter 4-0.

Ariel Schepers, Joy Wilke, Liz Gunden and Heather Neff scored for the Bulldogs. Ayla DeTroyer recorded an assist.

The club's U-18 squad lost to Huron River Valley 4-0 last Saturday.

Cross country places first at meet

By Don Richter

Sports Editor

The Dexter boys' cross country team bested the field at the Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard Invitational at Hudson Mills Metropark last Saturday.

The Division II No. 1-ranked Dreadnaughts finished first overall in the 20-team meet with 59 points.

At the Richard Invitational Dexter competed in the Division I race.

In second place was Division I No. 4-ranked Saline with 80 points. Coming in third was Division I No. 1-ranked Milford with 84 points, followed by Pinckney with 101 points and Ann Arbor Pioneer with 133 points.

"We really had a solid, consistent performance today," said Dexter coach Jaime Dudash. "We stepped it up to run Division I with top-ranked Milford."

"Last year, we came into this meet nervous, running head-to-head with these teams. But this year, the guys looked at the meet very low key, and as another invitational. If we had run in the Division II portion of the meet, we would have scored around 18 to 20 points."

Individually for the Dreadnaughts, Tony Nalli finished third with a time of 15:58. For the second week in a row, Nalli ran under the 16-minute mark.

"Had Tony run in the morning when the dew was out and the temperature was cool, he may well have topped Chris Burke's school record."

Saline's Dustin Voss ended up first overall in 15:31.

Lex Williams placed fifth for Dexter with a clocking of 16:11.

Dan Meyer was sixth in 16:19, while Ryan Boluyt was 20th in 16:56 for the Dreads.

T.J. LaRosa crossed the line 25th in 17:09, while Ryan Neely was 29th in 17:21 and Dan Jackson 33rd in 17:26.

In the 18-team Division II race, Dexter finished sixth overall with 166 points.

Chelsea placed first with 94 points.

Pacing the Dreadnaughts was Andy Paulun, who placed 19th in 17:42.

Seth Porinsky finished 24th in 17:52, while Jay Leadley ended up 30th in 18:03 and Andrew Martin 44th in 18:23 for Dexter.

Larry Gunderson was 49th in 18:27, while Will Thiele was 54th in 18:35 and Alex Heidtke 80th in 19:12 for the Dreadnaughts.

"Our varsity B team did a tremendous job," Dudash said. "They had a terrific day. With a team of 39 and only seven slots in the A varsity flight, it could be tough for a developing runner to see their role on the team. I was ecstatic with some of our younger runners' performances today."

In the Division II race, five Dreadnaughts recorded seasonal or lifetime bests.

"A sixth-place finish was phenomenal considering the rest of the teams in the meet were using their A squads," Dudash said.

In the JV event, Dexter sophomore Charles Wolcott placed first with a time of 18:47.

"Charles played soccer as a freshman, so we're awfully glad he made the switch," Dudash said. "Winning any cross country race is a true victory, and Wolcott was just tough today."

Senior Nate Morrill placed third overall with a clocking of 19:08.

"Morrill is a former footballer that this year made a switch," Dudash said. "He's run like a veteran with this performance really shining through."

Freshman Victor Krug finished 11th in a personal best of 19:29. He shaved 58 seconds off of his prior top mark.

"I can't say enough about this crop of underclassmen," Dudash said. "If they put in the summer training, now that they know the Dreadnaught training system, they'll be fun to watch for three more years."

Wolcott, Morrill and Krug earned Stars-of-the-Meet recognition for Dexter.

Dudash said his squad is having a strong season.

"This team this year has been very easy to coach because so much of the territory we are covering now the kids have been over," he said. "The races and the anticipation and excitement take care of themselves."

"The real tests are coming now in the season's last three meets. (We) have a chance to do something special as we attempt to win a third straight SEC (Southeastern Conference) White Division title. The goal all season has been to retain this title."

Dexter next participates in the SEC Jamboree No. 3 at Hudson Mills Metropark 3 p.m. today.

Ignoring Limbaugh's Football Views Yields $1,000 Power Points Payday

Midwest Results Week 5 - 10-6-2003 - As you would expect, Rush Limbaugh's views about the deficiencies of Philadelphia quarterback Donovan McNabb, the media and so on fell on a lot of deaf ears. Two of those ears belonged to Dan Sandman, of Lewistown, IL. Ignoring Limbaugh, he selected the Eagles for a whopping 15 points on his "Week 5 entry in the POWER POINTS of the Midwest Football Contest. When McNabb and mates whipped Washington, Sandman collected his 15 points -- and plenty more. He wound up with a region-high 134 of the possible 136 points.

As grand prize winner, he takes home the weekly cash bonanza of $1,000. No ditto for Limbaugh.

Sandman entered the contest through the Daily Ledger newspaper in Canton, IL. Local winners in Week 5 were:

Adrian... Dennis Harvey, 2816 Spielman Hgt Dr, Adrian, (113 points)
Coldwater... Larry Stout, 276 Kelle Dr, Coldwater, (118 points)
Garden City... Manny Gonzales, 204 S. 6th, Garden City, (126 points)
Grand Haven... William Rice, 1230 Colfax St, Grand Haven, (121 points)
Monroe... Ron Daniels, 1293 Parce, Newport, (121 points)
Pontiac... Arica Hord, 42380 Parkridge, Clinton Twp, (122 points)
Saline... Mick Robinson, 337 Green Hills, Saline, (119 points)
Southgate... Tony Kobylarz, 13220 Leslie, Gibraltar, (115 points) Kevin Vissotski, Warren, also with 115 points

Tankers face top-ranked team

The Dexter girls' swimming and diving team lost to Ann Arbor Pioneer 107-79 last Thursday.

The host Dreadnaughts are ranked No. 2 in Division II and are the defending state champions. The Pioneers are ranked No. 1 in Division I and also are defending state champions.

Dexter, which won four events and trimmed several state qualifying times among its swimmers, suffered its first defeat of the year.

"Pioneer's swimming program is tremendous, and it produces the highest level of competition in our season until we get to the SEC (Southeastern Conference) and state championships," said Dexter coach Cory Bergen. "I'm very pleased by the way our athletes challenged the Pioneers. We scored 20 points better against them than our meet last year."

Pioneer led off with a win in the 200 medley relay. Scoring second for Dexter were Hannah Smith, Katie Kujala, Sara Newell and Christina Sarnecki with a state qualifying time of 1:57.25.

Adrienne Woods took second in the 200 freestyle with an improved state cut of 1:58.76, followed by Katie Hughes, who slashed more than three seconds off her previous state cut to place third in 1:59.49. Sami Daily was fourth to give the Dreads more points in the event than the Pioneers.

In the 200 individual medley, Molly Logan finished third.

The Dreadnaughts won the 50 freestyle and captured more points overall. Smith led the assault to finish first with a faster state cut of 24.47, almost breaking her pool record. Teammate Sarnecki was third, swimming a state qualifying time of 26.02.

Dexter divers produced a higher overall score than the Pioneers, but had to settle for second, third and fourth off the one-meter board.

"I'm proud of the way our girls competed," said Dexter dive coach Manuel Billegas. "Usually the scores reflect the effort of the girls, but today wasn't the case."

Claire Coffey scored 155.55 points, while Karie Kujala finished with 150.95 points and Kelly Fasbinder tallied 146.55 points.

"We're looking forward to preparation for the SEC and regional dive meets," Billegas said.

Newell scored third for the Dreadnaughts in the 100 butterfly.

Sami Daily finished first in the 100 freestyle.

Royce hooked up with senior back Brian Kinaschuk on a 48-yard touchdown bomb with 2:24 left on the first half clock.

Franks' extra point made the score 17-10.

With the Bulldog defense swarming over the Indian offense, Chelsea regained possession after Tecumseh punted for the fourth consecutive time.

The Bulldogs took over at their own 38-yard line with 1:16 remaining in the second quarter.

On a third-down play, Royce found senior receiver Mark Borders open on a 23-yard pass, down to the Indians' 20-yard line with 20 seconds on the clock.

Four plays later, Royce scored on a quarterback sneak as the first half came to a close. With Franks' extra point, Chelsea ended the quarter leading 24-10.

The Dawgs took over at their own 39-yard line.

Seven plays later, Penix dashed in for an 18-yard TD scamper. With Franks' kick, Chelsea increased its advantage to 31-10.

The Indians answered on their next drive.

Junior quarterback Drew Lesko, who was in for starter Mark Mitchell, passed to senior back Brad Cannon for a 62-yard touchdown with 7:09 left in the third frame. With Adair's kick, Tecumseh trimmed the Bulldog lead to

With 21 seconds left in the third quarter, Penix put a halt to any momentum the Indians might have had, scoring on a 45-yard burst down the left sideline. With Franks' extra point, Chelsea led 38-17.

The Indians, however, showed their resiliency, scoring on their first play of the ensuing drive. Hutchison, who was bottled up for most of the game, broke loose down the right sideline for a 76-yard touchdown run with three ticks left in the third quarter. The extra point kick was missed and Tecumseh entered the fourth frame trailing 38-23.

The Bulldogs responded on their next possession as Borders caught a 53-yard strike from Royce, outrunning the Indians' secondary for a touchdown. The extra point was wide right, making the final score 44-23, with 10:01 remaining in the game.

Bush said his offense was really clicking during the game.

"We played outstanding in the second and third quarters," he said. "We had really good balance. We had the best rhythm offensively that I've seen all season."

Chelsea finished with 555 total yards of offense. The Indians ended up with 271 yards.

Royce was 12-of-21 for 292 yards with two touchdowns and no interceptions.

Lesko was 5-of-9 for 83 yards and one interception. Mitchell was 5-of-9 for 58 yards.

Penix dominated the ground game, finishing with a career-high 218 yards on 19 carries.

"That's the best he's run the football," Bush said. "He really played well."

His counterpart Hutchison ended up with 126 yards on 19 attempts.

Kinaschuk snagged six passes for 145 yards to pace Chelsea. Borders had three catches for 98 yards.

Cannon had three receptions for 81 yards, while teammate senior Tanner Clement had three catches for 25 yards.

Defensively, senior linebacker Lee Woodruff had nine tackles, while senior linebacker Ryan Keiser added six stops for the Bulldogs.

Senior linebacker Kyle Schiller had three tackles and an interception for Chelsea.

The Bulldogs have won five consecutive games since dropping their first two. Chelsea is one win away from qualifying for the state playoffs. To advance to the post-season, a team needs six victories.

"To win five games in a row has been huge," Bush said. "We've won four out of the last five league titles. I'm very proud of this team."

The Bulldogs next host Temperance Bedford 7 p.m. tomorrow. The Mules are 2-5 overall and 0-3 in the SEC Red Division.

"We had the best rhythm offensively that I've seen all season."

At No. 2 doubles, Rebecca Edgeworth and Heather Neff finished as regional runner-up, losing 7-5, 1-6, 6-0 in the final. In the semifinals, the combo won 6-2, 6-3, while they prevailed in the quarterfinals 6-0, 6-0.

"Becca and Heather played tough tennis all day," McKale said. "Today was definitely their best play of the season."

At No. 3 doubles, Lindsay Olsen and Rachel Gentz placed first, winning 6-4, 6-3 in the final. In the semifinals, the duo won 6-4, 7-6 and in the quarterfinals, they swept their foe 6-4, 6-1.

"Lindsay and Rachel play great tennis together," McKale said. "They are fun to watch as a team. They have a true teamwork all the way."

Hannah Taylor and Taryn

Hammer lost in the regional semifinals 6-4, 3-6, 6-1, while prevailing in the quarterfinals 6-4, 6-2.

"Hannah and Taryn played good tennis," McKale said. "As a doubles team, they have stepped it up to another level."

Chelsea next travels to Kalamazoo to participate in the Division III state final tomorrow and Saturday.

"When we leave Kalamazoo from the state finals, I think several people will remember who Chelsea tennis is," McKale said.

Finding a niche

Dexter native opens American Drug Club store

By Sarah Cormier
Special Writer

If there is one thing that Dexter native Jay Wentzel knows how to do, it is help people.

Recently, Wentzel opened a store in downtown Jackson that enables people to access cheaper prescriptions through Canada.

The business, American Drug Club, is becoming increasingly common throughout the United States.

Michigan already boasts offices in Ann Arbor, Detroit, Lansing and many other cities.

Acting as a median between consumers and pharmacies, American Drug Club allows U.S. residents to get cheaper prescription drugs through the Canadian government.

According to Brandy O'Reilly, director of operations for American Drug Club, this can happen for three main reasons. Canadian government controls automatically allow for lower prices, the exchange rate lowers the final cost and the business uses Canada's largest Internet pharmacy to fill the orders.

Any consumer who feels he or she pays too much for medications can come to an American Drug Club store and receive a free price quote.

For those pursuing it, a completed patient health profile and customer agreement/power of attorney form, as well as a valid American prescription, will make the order complete. And American Drug Club does the rest.

O'Reilly emphasizes that American Drug Club stores are not licensed pharmacies and carry no drugs in their offices.

In May 2002, Wentzel began doing research on how he could help people who were paying too much for their prescriptions. Three months later, he began renovating what was formerly a tattoo parlor. The store opened a month later.

"We've all seen the newspaper articles about bus trips to Canada to fill prescriptions," he said. "But the more research I did and the more health-care professionals and prescription medication users I talked to, I realized what a devastating impact the high prescription drug costs have on people's budgets," Wentzel said.

"We'll help put Canadian prescription drugs within the reach of more residents and allow them to maintain their good health. For the uninsured and the underinsured, the 30 to 80 percent cost savings that American Drug Club of Jackson makes available could be their only way to afford their costly medications."

Many Michigan legislators also have been supportive of lower-priced Canadian medications for needy residents. U.S. Sen. Debbie Stabenow, D-Mich., has led seniors on bus trips to Canada to buy cheaper drugs and U.S. Reps. Peter Hoekstra and Nick Smith helped to approve the U.S. House bill allowing seniors to import medications from Canada and several other countries.

"We allow them to access affordable medication so many don't have to choose between food and medication," O'Reilly said.

In the future, Wentzel hopes to open two more American Drug Clubs in Battle Creek and Kalamazoo.

He believes that the American Drug Club provides a needed service. "The American Drug Club simply makes the meds affordable for people that haven't been taking them or have not taken the right dosage," Wentzel said. "It's also for people who have been taking them, but still need to save money."

Generous Donation

Meijer Inc. recently contributed $5,000 to the Purple Rose Theatre Co. to partially underwrite the play "The Good Doctor" by Neil Simon. The play opened Oct. 10 and will run through Dec. 20. Break-A-Thon to raise money

Ann Arbor West Tae Kwon Do will hold its seventh annual Break-A-Thon noon Nov. 15 to benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

During the four-hour event, martial arts students will break as many pine boards and cement blocks as they can, using only their hands, feet and martial arts skills. Some students also will be doing as many kicks as they can during the duration of the event in a "kick-a-thon" for the hospital.

All funds raised will go directly to St. Jude's to help in the fight against such diseases as cancer, diabetes, sickle-cell anemia and pediatric AIDS.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, located in Memphis, is internationally recognized as one of the world's leading medical research facilities for life-threatening children's diseases.

Last year, students broke more than 100 cement slabs and more than 450 boards, raising a total of $2,000 for St. Jude's. This year's goal is to match, if not surpass, last year's amount raised.

At the event, people will have the opportunity to make a direct donation to St. Jude's or to "Buy a Board for a Buck" to give to a student to break. All donations are tax-deductible.

Realtors named to board posts

The Ann Arbor Area Board of Realtors elected four new directors Sept. 11 at its general membership meeting.

Scio Township resident David Lutton joins Jim Carey, Tonya Ireland and Timm Williams on the board. They will serve three-year terms beginning in January.

Carey, affiliated with University GMAC, is currently chairman of the board's Multiple Listing Service Committee, and serves on the Virtual Office Website Task Force. He is an accredited buyer representative and a graduate of the Realtor Institute.

David Lutton

Carey's community service includes the Special Days Camp, a camp for children with cancer or leukemia and their siblings. He also volunteers at C.S. Mott Children's Hospital, and is a member of the Detroit Red Wing Alumni Association.

Ireland, a Realtor with Real Estate One, has been in the business since 1992. She is licensed as an associate broker and is the assistant manager of the Ann Arbor Real Estate One office.

Ireland is an accredited buyer representative, a graduate of the Realtor Institute, and is a relocation specialist. She serves the community by rescuing stray dogs and cats.

Lutton, with The Charles Reinhart Co., has been a Realtor since 1974. In 1979, he joined Reinhart and has been the broker/owner since 1995.

Lutton is also a principal in Ann Arbor Mortgage Co., serves on the Washtenaw County Natural Areas Technical Advisory Committee and is a trustee of the Ann Arbor Area Community Foundation.

Williams of Edward Surovell Realtors serves as vice chairman of the board's Multiple Listing Service Committee and represents that committee on the board's Finance Committee.

He has been a full-time Realtor for four years, in partnership with his wife, Pat. Williams is a volunteer with Motor Meals of Ann Arbor and is active with St. Francis of Assisi Catholic Church in various capacities.

Local restaurant to help St. Jude's

The Chelsea Big Boy restaurant joins more than 100 others in the chain across Michigan and northern Ohio in raising money to help fight childhood cancer.

During the month of October, the restaurant chain is running the 12th annual Halloween program to benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

Participating establishments will recognize a $1 donation to St. Jude by putting the donor's name on a pumpkin-shaped wall pin-up.

Organizers expect more than 100,000 pin-ups to be posted throughout Michigan by Halloween.

Since 1992, the Halloween program has raised more than $17 million for the children of St. Jude.

The hospital, founded by the late entertainer Danny Thomas, is internationally recognized for its pioneering work in finding cures and helping children with cancer and other catastrophic diseases.

St. Jude freely shares its discoveries with scientific and medical communities throughout the world. No family ever pays for treatments not covered by insurance, and families without insurance are never asked to pay.

LOVING HOMES NEEDED

OSCAR

Oscar is here at the shelter as a stray. He's six years old, and not a grouchy cat at all! In fact, he's quite a happy, guy and very much a people cat. He's calm and good with kids, too! He's hoping for a new owner who will love him and care for him forever!

BUDDY

Buddy is a very energetic, playful Rottweiler mix who needs a good home! He was brought to the shelter when his previous owner could no longer keep him. Buddy is good with cats, but wants to be the only dog in your life! Buddy is a strong dog, so would be better with older children. He needs an owner who would spend time with him on training and give him all the love he needs. Buddy does not like to be left alone, so needs someone to be home for him as much as possible.

ROXY

Roxy is a very strong nice hound mix, here at the shelter as a stray and looking for a new home. She wants her new owner to know that she's good with kids, and would look forward to being a part of a family. Roxy has energy and loves to explore. She's a curious gal! She's seven years old, and really looking forward to someone giving her a second chance.

High Energy

Two local educators were among a group of 40 middle and high school teachers from southeastern Michigan who attended the 12th annual Educator's Energy Workshop hosted by DTE Energy Foundation. Teachers learned about fossil fuels, nuclear and solar energy and visited Fermi 2, Detroit Edison's nuclear power plant, and the Monroe Power Plant, the second largest coal-fired electricity generator in the country. Pictured with Pete Burkit from the Monroe Power Plant are Creekside Intermediate teacher Kristen Arbaugh, Pioneer High School teacher Jack Hentz, Michigan Islamic Academy teacher Hassan Joma'a, Creekside Intermediate teacher Mary Seymour of Chelsea and Millennium Middle School teacher Amy Miller of South Lyon.

Foundation kicks off fund-raiser

Members of the Chelsea Education Foundation have been busy stuffing envelopes for this year's direct-mail fund-raising drive.

Chelsea residents should receive brochures in the mail in the next two weeks. Brochures also will be available at area banks and businesses.

Contributions may be made in a variety of ways and will be used to fund scholarships, community and public forums, as well as grants for parents, teachers and community residents.

The direct-mail campaign is one of two major fund-raising drives by the foundation. The second will be the 13th annual dinner dance slated for Feb. 28 at the Comfort Inn in Chelsea.

Last year's direct-mail contributions raised more than $8,000. This year's goal is $11,000.

Scholarship applications have more than doubled, from 41 in the 2001-2002 school year to 91 in 2002-2003, spokesperson Sherry Suffety said.

"An even greater increase is expected this year," she said. "The Chelsea Education Foundation awarded more than $28,000 in scholarships to 35 of those applicants, the majority being high school students."

Board President Johanna Kruse said that increasing the budget through donations to help support scholarship awards is a primary goal for the board.

Grant will benefit depression center

Depression research at the University of Michigan soon will have a new home, thanks, in part, to a new $4 million National Institutes of Health grant.

The grant will help fund the construction of an entire floor of research space in the Depression Center and Ambulatory Psychiatry facility that will be built at the U of M Health System's east Ann Arbor properties.

Approved by the University's board of regents in July, the building will be completed in 2006.

The research area, totaling 24,000 square feet, will allow U of M researchers to study the causes of depression and bipolar disorder, conduct diagnostic tests, and develop treatments, as well as try to understand the biological roots of these common, debilitating and under-diagnosed mental illnesses.

The newly funded space will include labs, clinical investigation facilities and offices, and will be directly above the building's outpatient clinics and educational facilities.

"The entire depression center team welcomes this recognition, financial help and additional space. All are necessary to move research forward and make advances in scientific discovery, diagnosis and treatment," said Dr. John Greden, executive director of the depression center and chair of the U of M Medical School's Department of Psychiatry.

"The NIH's decision to fully fund our proposal signals the importance of this effort to the nation's health."

The U of M's comprehensive depression center is the first of its kind in the world, encompassing research, treatment, education and public policy. Proposed in 1999 and founded in 2001, it brings together more than 100 depression experts from seven U of M schools and colleges.

U of M researchers have nearly $13 million in federal and foundation grants to study all aspects of depression, from genetics and brain chemistry to treatment outcomes.

The new space, funded by the grant from the NIH's National Center for Research Resources and by matching funds from U of M Health System, will consolidate the depression center's clinical research in a single location convenient for researchers and clinical trial participants.

It will augment existing laboratory and office space in other U of M buildings, including the Mental Health Research Institute.

Among the specialized areas within the research floor will be:

- A soundproof sleep lab to study how depression affects sleep and vice versa.

- A light-therapy, nutrition and physiology laboratory to the effects of light, exercise and diet on depressive symptoms.

- Computing facilities that will allow rapid processing of brain-scan images and other data through high-speed links to research sites throughout the U of M.

- A translational genetics lab for studies of depression's chemical and genetic roots.

- Patient assessment rooms, including areas for infants, children and teens.

- A telemedicine facility to allow U of M mental health specialists to consult with physicians and psychologists in rural areas and other cities.

The research facility will also provide office and research space for new members of the U of M Depression Center team, who are now being recruited or have recently joined the faculty of the medical school or other areas. A dedicated Bipolar Disorders Research Clinic will be established.

"Too many of the research areas that have helped advance our understanding and treatment of depression have been developing separately, in 'silos' that interfere with the pace of future breakthroughs," Greden said. "We see this new facility as a place for cross-fertilization and multidisciplinary effort that will bring various research strategies together as never before."

The research floor will be organized into six major research modules, each based on an area of research that integrates many fields, including:

- Screening, assessment and registry — Specialists will develop and implement new strategies and technologies for evaluating research participants, storing their information in secure registries, and determining their suitability for various clinical studies.

- Neurobiology — Researchers will conduct clinical research on the interplay in depressive disorders of genetics, stress and neuroendocrinology, brain activity, sleep and chronophysiology, and other biological factors.

- Behavioral sciences and cognitive neurosciences — Studies will focus on the emotional, cognitive, social, psychological, substance abuse and psychotherapy aspects of depression. Experts from many of these disciplines will interact in unprecedented ways with scientists studying the biological underpinnings of depression.

- Clinical investigations — New treatments for depressive illnesses will be tested through clinical trials of new medications, new approaches to individual and group therapy, and interventions ranging from light therapy to deep-brain stimulation. Clinical trial participants will come to this area for outpatient visits.

- Biomedical informatics will be the "nerve center" of the new facility. The area will include computing facilities that will allow researchers to collect and process huge amounts of research data and medical images, and to develop new computer-based tools for their research. It will also house the telemedicine facility.

- Health services and outcomes — Researchers will try to close the gap between "what we know and what we do" in treating depressive disorders. By partnering with primary care clinicians and other specialists across Michigan and northern Ohio, U of M researchers will have a large network for studying patterns of care and methods for improving care.

Greden said the new facility will ensure that depression research at the U of M draws from all the strengths already present in the Depression Center team, adds to these strengths, and brings researchers together in new ways for the future.

"This model of collaborative research integrated with clinical care and education in the same building has already shown its value in the Comprehensive Cancer Centers and Geriatrics Centers throughout the nation," he said.

Blackhawk may lose development rights

Developer misses Oct. 1 deadline with village.

By Lisa Allmendinger
Special Writer

The long and winding road between the completion of the Dexter Crossing development, a mix of homes and retail shops, and Dexter Village appears to have gotten a little rockier.

A development rights agreement between the village and Joseph Bonar, president of Blackhawk Development, expired Oct. 1.

On Monday, the Village Council set a show cause hearing for the developer to explain why the village should not revoke the development rights for about eight acres of the project.

The council extended the same agreement last fall.

Bonar is developing 111-acre site that includes 262 single-family homes, 114 condominium units, the Dexter Crossing Shopping Center and 4.8 acres zoned for professional use.

The show cause hearing, which will be held 7:30 p.m. Oct. 27 at Dexter Senior Center, 7720 Ann Arbor St., will address the undeveloped land.

Last year, a public hearing for the original agreement was held and Blackhawk Development was granted an extension contingent upon Bonar transferring control of the development rights for the single-family lots to Peters Building Co.

Blackhawk completed 110 of the 262 proposed homes and Peters Building Co. is in the process of completing the remaining 152.

A second extension may not be as easy this time around. In a letter dated Oct. 13 from the village, Bonar was told the council likely would not consider a request for an extension unless he submitted approved plans prior to the proposed extension date.

Blackhawk Development has about eight acres without an approved site plan. There are 3.2 acres of land zoned for retail, located in front of the Dexter Crossing Shopping Center on Dexter-Ann Arbor Road, and 4.8 acres zoned professional off Dan Hoey Road.

If the development agreement is revoked, the village told Bonar he likely would forfeit all rights to continue developing land within the planned unit development, and the remaining land would revert back to the underlying zoning.

A piece of HISTORY

By Rachel Dotson
Special Writer

Vietnam War veteran Tom Collier is a piece of American history and enjoys sharing his wartime tales with students at Chelsea High School.

Once a year, Collier visits students in the social studies exploration class to share his knowledge and experiences in Vietnam, giving students a hands-on learning experience and direct link to history.

A retired professor at the University of Michigan, Collier is a natural in front of the classroom. He comes every year at the invitation of teacher Marta Learman, one of his former students now teaching in Chelsea.

Learman served as a student teacher under Collier during her senior year at Eastern Michigan University. The two formed an immediate bond when they first met.

When Learman began teaching a unit on Vietnam in her social studies classes, she instantly thought of her mentor.

A graduate of West Point military academy, Collier spent 10 years in the U.S. Army before shipping off to Vietnam. First arriving in 1962, Collier, a captain, was a member of the U.S. Special Forces.

Returning to the United States in 1964, he spent a second yearlong tour in Vietnam and returned again for a third. By the time he retired, he held the respected rank of lieutenant colonel.

Collier's years of training and experience made him the perfect candidate for a career as a history teacher. He was recognized with the prestigious Golden Apple award at U of M.

During a visit to Chelsea High School last week, Collier discussed a wide variety of topics with students, focusing on what to ask and what not to ask military veterans.

"The worst thing you can do is go up to them and say, 'Tell me about Vietnam,'" he said.

Collier said the important questions to ask are when a veteran served in the war, where he or she was stationed, what company he or she served in, and what function the person was assigned in the military.

Collier stressed that everyone who has served during wartime has played an important role. He said even those who were not combat fighters were in danger in Vietnam.

"You could be hit anytime, any place," he said.

Students seemed pleased to have met Collier and learned from him firsthand. Last Thursday, they pitched in to buy him a gift certificate to show their appreciation, and signed a card.

While Collier only appears once in these students' lives, his words and knowledge will undoubtedly remain with them for a long time to come.

AP classes offer many opportunities

BRANDON FITZSIMMONS

PUTTIN' ON THE FITZ

College is on the mind of many teenagers, and what courses to take in high school plays an important role in their futures.

Do advanced placement courses put students in a better position for college?

Do they better your chance to succeed in life post-high school?

These are questions I have often pondered.

The majority of college-bound students I've spoken with agree that AP courses are great for not only saving time and money in college credits, but also in challenging minds to reach a new level of thinking and develop a determination to excel at the collegiate level.

Others concur that the courses are worthwhile, because they prepare the student for the demands of life in general.

While some say the courses are only beneficial if you have a good teacher, others contend they're only for the exceptionally gifted student and not for those who just need a decent challenge.

AP teachers say attitude is a big factor in succeeding. While AP courses do not necessarily guarantee a ride to any college, many say the courses open a greater range of opportunities for students, and challenge them to step out of their comfort zones. Students develop critical thinking skills and are better prepared for college courses.

AP courses and testing were formed about 25 to 30 years ago by the National College Board Program. The National College Board decided that it was time to offer a way to better prepare students for the rigors of college life and academics by teaching them skills, not necessarily content of the subject.

AP course selection ranges from literature and composition to physics, calculus and computer science.

Research shows that if students take — not necessarily succeed in — AP courses, they will develop skills that benefit them beyond a superficial bad grade in high school. These skills will eventually propel those students to greater opportunities and, possibly, greater success.

Chelsea High School teacher Chris Orlandi, who teaches AP calculus, says if students are motivated to achieve higher standards in academics, then AP courses can only benefit them in the long term. And I agree.

CHS Homecoming has interesting past

By Jennie Palluzzi
Special Writer

This year's Chelsea High School Homecoming steals ideas from the past 20 years of celebrations.

Events last week included a parade, crowning of a senior queen and princesses from the various classes, as well as a semi-formal dance.

In 1986, however, Homecoming wasn't quite the event it is today. Then, the tradition included a girls' powder puff soccer game. The spirit days were a little different, including Wild and Crazy Day and Be A Bum Day, and the dance followed the football game and wasn't semi-formal.

In 1987, one girl from each sport, plus freshman and sophomore class representatives, all competed for the Homecoming queen title.

In 1988, a Homecoming lunchtime activity of "chugging warm coke" was introduced and Clash Day was added to Spirit Week.

For the first year in Homecoming history, a parade was added to the festivities in 1989. Key Club sponsored it, and all four classes and the athletic teams were represented with floats. It's also the year a semi-formal dance was introduced, but was held on Friday night.

In 1990, some interesting developments took place as the pep rally was held after school on Friday instead of during the last hour of the school day. It sported a "pass-your-clothes" race as an activity.

There was a '50s Day, and Class Color Day in 1991. The dance was held at 7:30 p.m. and varsity basketball player Jamie Collins took the title of Homecoming queen.

In 1992, the Student Council requested that Homecoming queen candidates come from the senior class and the change was made.

The year 1994 brought some tragedy to the senior class as senior Melinda Hafley died the Thursday before the big weekend. Also that year, the Chelsea Athletic Boosters gave away a 1994 Dodge Ram as part of a fund-raiser.

A new event graced the 1995 Homecoming year. A bonfire was held, attracting 100 people. Saturday night's dance also brought a record-breaking number of 450 students.

Also in '95, many alumni from the high school marching band joined the band in its half-time performance.

The following year, all four classes started offering nominations, with the underclassmen having three Homecoming princesses, and the senior class nominating Homecoming queen candidates.

In 1998, Margaret Shick was named

Homecoming queen and in 1999 Lindsay Powers captured the crown while rivals Dexter and Chelsea battled on the gridiron.

The first year of the millennium brought out the best of Chelsea High. Teachers and students were brought back with Retro Day, and new teachers Aimee Ohlmann, Scott Long, Heather Conklin and Bill Arons participated in festivities during the pep assembly.

During the 2001 Spirit Week, Principal Ron Mead and Assistant Principal Shawn Lewis-Lakin impersonated Elvis.

This year's Homecoming included many of the same traditions. Dress-up days included Farmer Day, Retro Day and Inside Out Day.

DEATHS

ELENORA FULLERTON Jackson

Elenora Fullerton, 88, of Jackson died peacefully at home Oct. 7, 2003, under the loving care of her family and Heartland Hospice.

Mrs. Fullerton enjoyed loving and caring for her family. She had a passion for farming, gardening and growing flowers.

She is survived by her children, Ralph (Carol) Fullerton of Grass Lake, Chuck (Shirley) Fullerton of Jackson, Lucy (Duane) Dorr of Chelsea, Marvin (Sandy) of Jackson, Bonnie (Tom) Colter of Manchester, John (Vel) of Jackson, Betty (Dick) Tripp of Jackson.

Also surviving are 18 grandchildren, 28 great-grandchildren, one great-great-grandchild and several nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her husband, Charles Albert Fullerton; two daughters; and one son.

Funeral services were held Oct. 11 at Sherwood Funeral Home in Grass Lake. Interment was in North Sharon Cemetery in Manchester.

Memorial contributions may be made to Heartland Hospice of Mason. The family would like to give special thanks to Kathie VanWagner of Heartland Hospice in Mason for her love and support during this difficult time.

DALE A. FORSHEE Dexter

Dale A. Forshee, 43, of Dexter died suddenly Oct. 7, 2003. He was born May 15, 1960, in Ann Arbor to Gerald and Shirley (Crews) Forshee. He married Debora Wasik Sept. 23, 2000, and she survives.

Mr. Forshee was employed at Colorbok in Dexter, and was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church in Dexter.

He is survived by a son, Michael; a daughter, Taylor; his parents, Gerald and Shirley Forshee; a brother, Daniel Forshee; one sister, Denise (Michael) Gozdzick; a grandmother, Essie Crews; a mother-in-law and father-in-law, Earlene and Hank Wasik; and many aunts, uncles, nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by a brother, David Forshee, on June 17, 1996.

Visitation was held last Friday at the Hosmer-Muehlig Funeral Chapel in Dexter, and included a scripture service. Mass of the Christian Burial was Saturday. The Rev. Brendan Walsh officiated at St. Joseph Catholic Church in Dexter. Burial was at Washtenaw Memorial Park.

Memorial contributions may be made to an education fund for Mr. Forshee's children in care of Debora Forshee. Envelopes are available at the funeral home.

DAVID J. SLANE SR. Grand Rapids Formerly of Chelsea

David J. Slane Sr., 74, who was affectionately known as "Popeye," died Oct. 2, 2003, in Grand Rapids. He was born Aug. 20, 1929, in Chelsea to Charles and Orva Slane.

Mr. Slane was employed by Central Fibre Products in Chelsea.

He was a veteran of the Korean War and had resided at the Grand Rapids Home for Veterans for many years.

Mr. Slane was laid to rest with a military funeral and was interred at the Veterans Cemetery in Grand Rapids.

He is survived by his children Joan, Gina, David Jr. and Susan; 10 grandchildren; one great-grandchild; four brothers, Stephen, Theodore, Charles Jr. and Irvin (Bud); and three sisters, Margaret, Eleanor and Rebecca.

He was preceded in death by his brothers, Charles Laverne and Albert; and sisters, Mae and Mildred.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Grand Rapids Home for Veterans, 3000 Monroe Ave NW, Grand Rapids, MI 49505.

"May the light lead the way to eternal salvation."

HENRY MARKS JR. Gregory

Henry Marks Jr., 78, of Gregory died Oct. 6, 2003, in Gregory. He was born Oct. 29, 1924, in Bremen, Germany.

Mr. Marks is survived by his wife, Dorothy; his daughter, Carol (Don) Weymouth; and three sons, Paul (Kathy), Kurt (Cathy) and Randy. He is also survived by his grandchildren, Don, Kelly, Daniel, Stacy, Rachel and Justin.

Mr. Marks had a career as a tool-and-die maker. He was a veteran of the U.S. Army and served in World War II. He was also a member of the VFW.

A special VFW memorial service was held Oct. 9 at John Santeiu & Son Funeral Home in Garden City.

A funeral service was held Friday at Santeiu Chapel. The Rev. Jim Vander Schuur officiated. A private cremation followed.

Memorial contributions may be made to Hospice of Livingston

Program on aging set Saturday

■ The purpose is to enhance quality of life.

By Sheila Pursglove
Associate Editor

A program for seniors called "An Introduction to Conscious Aging" will be held 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Saturday at Silver Maples of Chelsea.

The introductory program will be followed by a four-week course called "Living Mindfully/Aging Conscious," offered on Wednesdays, Oct. 22 through Nov. 12.

The course, led by Lia Wiss and Elizabeth Shuster, will be held 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Basic meditation, guided imagery and journaling techniques will be introduced into the interactive course, which will explore the newest thinking on aging.

Bringing awareness to the aging process requires attention to the physical, emotional, mental and spiritual aspects of growth and development throughout life, Wiss said.

Wiss and Shuster met six years ago after Shuster read an article about Wiss' spiritual journey. They discovered they shared a similar life path in their commitment to spiritual growth and aging well.

Since that time, they have created a shared vision for a program on conscious aging. Last spring, they presented their vision to Chelsea Community Hospital, Chelsea Senior Center and Silver Maples of Chelsea. The group developed a mission statement and began their outreach to the community.

The purpose of the program, Wiss said, is to improve quality of life by enhancing the awareness and understanding of changes that are natural as people age. Educational approaches encourage participation that focuses on inner growth, life experiences and aging well.

Wiss said that people seem to shy away from the word "aging."

"So we asked ourselves, what made people see aging as a problem — something to be avoided rather than as an opportunity for growth," she said. "We think it's because people hold the viewpoint that aging is all about decline and loss, without recognizing its potential for inner exploration and discovery."

Conscious aging, Wiss said, means that the individual is actively engaged in inner transformative processes that may lead to a sense of completeness, wholeness and peace of mind.

"A person who practices conscious aging leads a life of greater meaning, which results in deeper and richer relationships with the self, the family and the community," she said.

Julie Sverid, marketing director for Silver Maples of Chelsea, said that the time seems ripe for the community to have a discussion around aging well collectively.

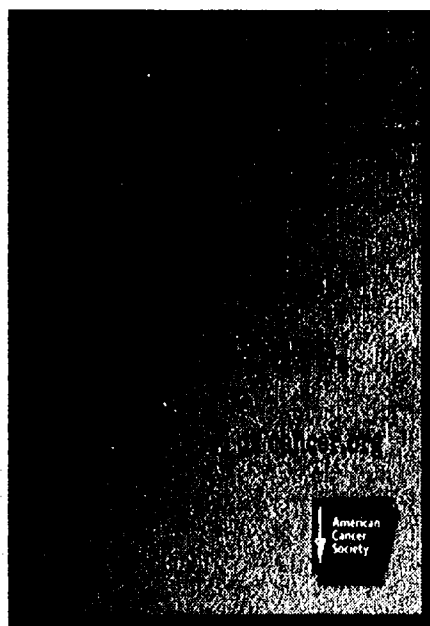

"Learning from each other in a group is quite empowering and fun," Sverid said. "The facilitators have excellent credentials in this field and great personal stories to share."

There is a cost associated with the program. For more information, call 475-4103.

Class Reunion

Stepp graduates basic training

Air Force Airman Jonathan Stepp of Pinckney has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio.

During the six weeks of training, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization, and military customs and courtesies; performed drill and ceremony marches, and received physical training, rifle marksmanship, field training exercises, and special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate's degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Stepp, the son of Dean and Maryann Sanderson of Pinckney, is a 2000 graduate of Pinckney High School.

MAKE A BAT CAVE IN YOUR PARTY ROOM

- Make two rows of chairs by putting three to four straight-backed chairs side by side in each row facing each other. Tip chairs over so that the chair backs overlap and form a "tunnel." cover the chairs with dark heavy blankets.
- To the front "entrance" and back "exit," attach black plastic garbage bags that have been cut into strips. Inside of the "cave" can be completely dark, or run small lights along the edge of the chair bottoms, taping them to the chair seats or floor so kids don't get tangled in the wires.
- Tuck a tape player playing scary music underneath the blanket between the chair legs.
- String dozens of black construction paper bats inside the bat cave.
- Have the kids crawl through the bat cave so they feel the "bats" touching their faces and hands. O-o-o-h, scary!

BLEEDING CUPCAKES

These cupcakes certainly do make an impression. I have served them warm over the past few years, using a dark chocolate cupcake with a warm fudge sauce frosting and when people bit into the warm cupcakes the filling literally oozed out of the cupcake and looked like blood. It was really really disgusting. Of course, everyone loved it and the cupcakes tasted marvelous. This recipe works equally well with any flavor of homemade or boxed cupcake mix. The filling recipe doubles and halves easily, so if you are using a non-standard cake recipe, make sure to adjust your recipe. Chocolate chips, shredded chocolate, or butterscotch chips can be used instead of the white chocolate chunks.

 8 ounces softened cream cheese
 1/3 cup sugar
 red food coloring or frosting tint
 6 ounces white chocolate chunks
 1 recipe homemade or boxed cake batter

Preheat the oven to the specified temperature in your cupcake recipe. Line muffin tins with foil or paper liners. Mix together the filling before mixing together the batter. Beat the egg in a medium bowl. Beat in the softened cream cheese and mix until smooth. Add the sugar and mix until smooth. Add the coloring until the desired color is reached. Make the color several shades darker than the desired end result as the color will lighten as it bakes. Fold in the white chocolate chunks. Prepare the cupcake batter. Fill the cups 2/3 full with the cake batter. Place about 1* teaspoonful of the filling in the center of each cupcake. Bake, cool, and frost as directed in the cupcake recipe.
