Two sought in armed robbery

Gas station loses $460 Monday in early-morning hold-up

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

Investigators are looking for two suspects in an armed robbery in Lima Township early Monday morning.

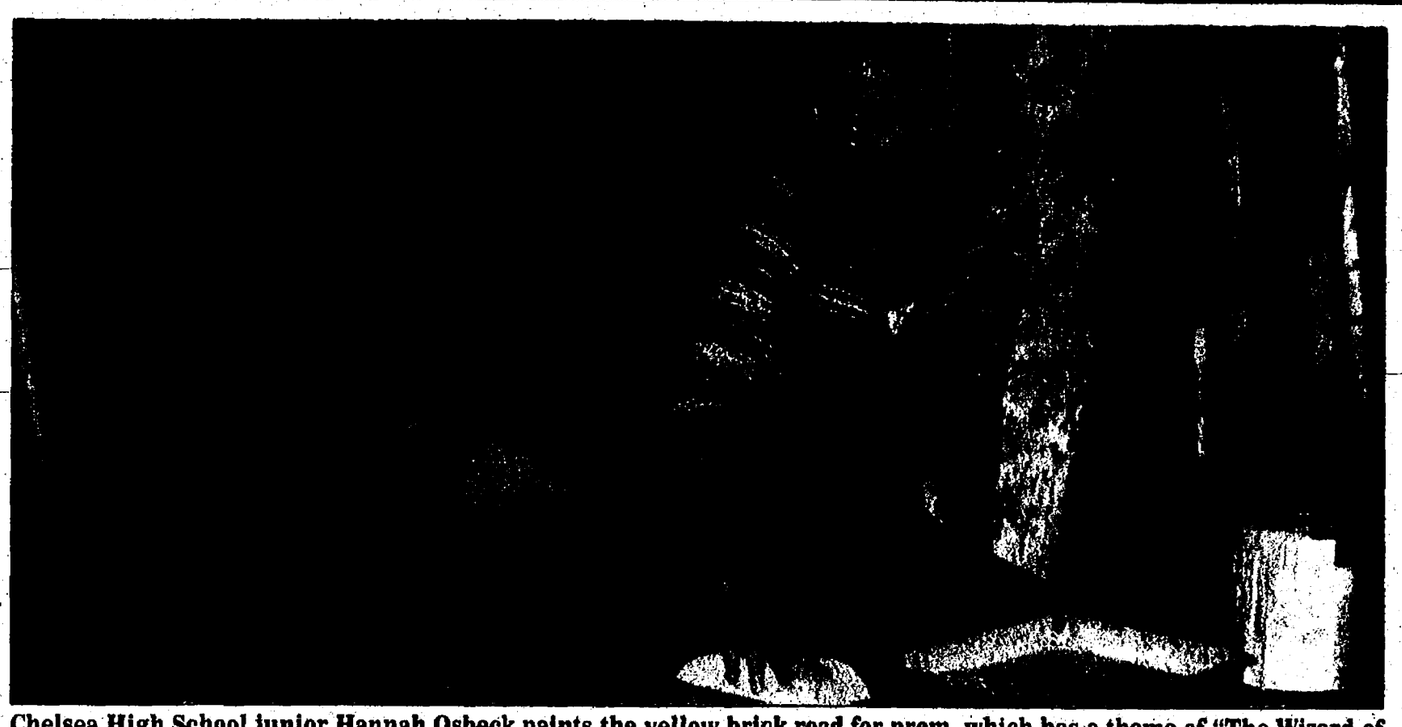

Around 12:30 a.m. May 1, two men entered a gas station in the 100 block of Fletcher Road near Interstate 94. According to a release by the Michigan State Police Ypsilanti Post, one of the men had a shotgun.

The clerk, who was the only one present at the time of the robbery, was held at bay by the first suspect, while the second suspect stole $460 in cash. Both men were wearing masks and gloves.

According to the release, the two suspects were in and out of the store within minutes. They were last seen fleeing the scene in a vehicle headed east on I-94.

Detective Sgt. Fred Farkas of the State Police Ypsilanti Post said investigators are not releasing a description of Lions and tigers and bears, oh my!

Students at Chelsea High School will follow the yellow brick road all the way to the Emerald City in the Land of Oz at prom Saturday.

And area residents can take a walk through the magical land Saturday for the traditional prom walk-through from noon to 4 p.m. at Chelsea High School. Prom begins 9 p.m. Saturday.

Prom adviser Heather Benz said planning for the monumental event starts in the fall. Possible themes for the prom are narrowed down to 10, and the junior and senior student body votes for their favorite theme, which this year was "The Wizard of Oz."

Benz said organizers held a meeting with parents in October to designate captains of each room in the high school.

"We have captains of each room and they start designing things and starting thinking of ideas like what to paint the walls," Benz said.

During those initial meetings, parents are assigned a room to decorate for the event. Even the bathrooms will be decorated with the "Wizard of Oz" theme.

"We'll usually have a meeting in October and another one in December, right before winter break," Benz said. "Many parents want to start working on their rooms."

Study supports merger

Chelsea, Manchester transit services should be combined, study says

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

A merger of the Manchester Senior Citizens transit service and the Western Washtenaw Area Value Express would "provide a more unified and efficient demand-response service for the citizens of western Washtenaw County and ensure the continuation of the essential transit service provided in the Manchester area," according to a draft report of the Washtenaw Area Transportation Study.

The Western Washtenaw Regional Coordination Transit Study Report, prepared for the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority, was completed in April. The study focused on Lyndon, Dexter, Sylvan, Lima, Sharon, Freedom, Manchester and Bridgewater townships, as well as the city of Chelsea and the villages of Dexter and Manchester.

Its purpose was to analyze existing transit services and identify any unmet public transit needs in western Washtenaw County.

The report next goes to the WATS Technical Committee, comprised of local planners and engineers, and the WATS Policy Committee, comprised of local elected officials, for approval.

The technical committee meets June 7 and the policy committee meets June 21. Both meetings are open to the public.

"Once the report is finalized, the report will be used in a countywide transit study that WATS will be kicking off this summer," said Matthew Raschke, associate transportation planner for Washtenaw Area Transportation Study.

WATS appointed a steering committee to oversee the study. Township supervisors from Lyndon, Dexter, Sylvan, Lima, Sharon, Freedom, Manchester and Bridgewater townships were invited to serve on the committee, along with representatives of the villages of Dexter and Manchester, the city of

Bentley, DeVol win two board seats; ballot issue passes

Local Elections 2006

By Jennifer McArdle

Incumbent Jon Bentley has been re-elected to a second four-year term on the Chelsea Board of Education, along with newcomer Sally DeVol.

Bentley gathered 48 percent of the vote with 1,012 votes in Tuesday's election. DeVol trailed closely behind with support from 47 percent of voters at 979 votes. Write-in candidate Todd Koch gathered 85 votes. The three vied for two open positions on the Chelsea school board.

Bentley, 41, is thrilled to serve another term on the board.

"I'm very happy to be re-elected. I'm excited about serving the community on the school board for another four years," Bentley said. "I really enjoy representing our community when helping make decisions regarding the direction our school district."

Bentley, a lifelong resident of Chelsea, has served on the Chelsea Board of Education since 2002. He also served on the Chelsea Recreation Council from 1996 to 2002, the Chelsea Hockey Association House Committee from 2003 to 2004 and as a volunteer for the Chelsea High School Athletic Department.

He is looking forward to serving with DeVol.

"It's going to be great having Sally DeVol join us, too. It's good to get new perspectives from new board members. I think we have a healthy mix of opinions on the board today and I think

Sesi – 60 years in business and counting

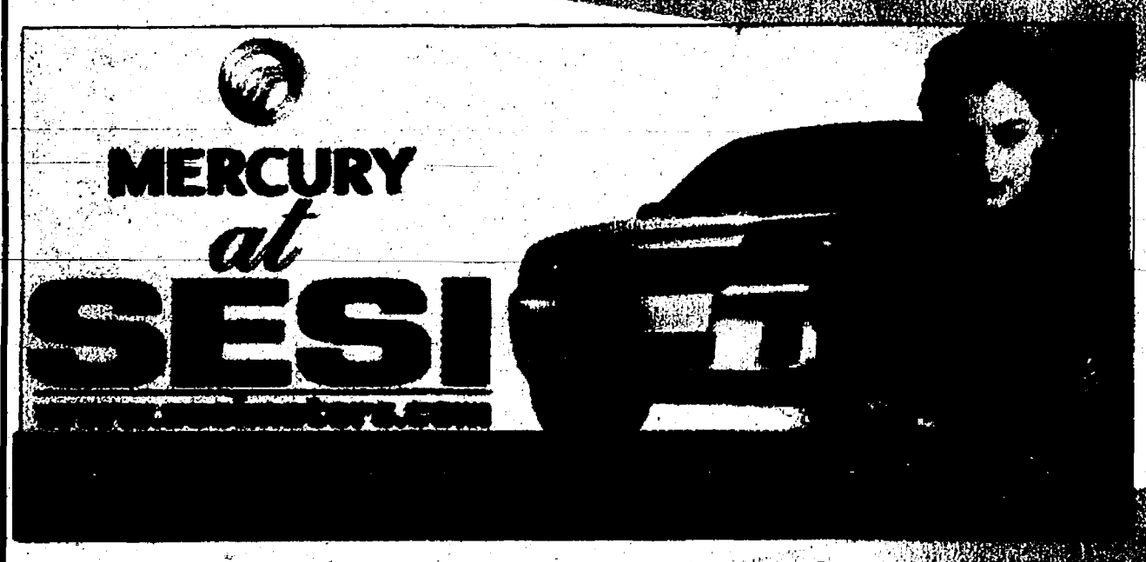

Tradition of service, honesty, integrity and caring continues

Sesi Lincoln Mercury Volvo, located in a brand-new facility at 3990 Jackson Road, between Wagner and Zeeb roads, may be a relatively new dealership, but it is backed by a 60-year tradition of service, honesty, integrity and caring.

Sesi Lincoln Mercury Volvo has been in business for 3 years, but the Sesi family's successful business experience dates back to 1946 at its Ypsilanti location.

Now serving its third generation of customers and still treating them like honored members of the family, Sesi's Ypsilanti Lincoln-Mercury-Mazda dealership, located at 950 E. Michigan Ave., is in the top 25 in the nation for vehicle sales among all Lincoln Mercury dealerships and is also among the fastest-growing Mazda dealerships in the nation.

The customer-friendly environment allows Sesi to offer better service to their customers and keeps them coming back for future purchases. More than 75 percent of Sesi's business comes from repeat customers or those referred by other Sesi customers.

"Our reputation, our employees and our customers are our most valuable assets," Sesi says.

Chris Conley, general manager at Sesi's Jackson Road location, is enthusiastic about the new facility and the fantastic opportunities service it provides.

"Our service and parts departments have doubled in size," he says. "Even though we're a relatively new dealership, it's important for people to know that we operate under the Sesi family's [illegible]. Our employees are committed to [illegible] and professionalism."

With its sales and service staff averaging 8 years of service, Sesi has one of the most experienced staffs in the business.

"Our employees stay, and our customers keep coming back," says Joseph Sesi, owner of the dealership. "That combination has always led to our success."

The unique aspects of the Ypsilanti dealership, including an [illegible] front [illegible] desk to play areas and flat-screen televisions, [illegible] same person throughout the sale process, have extended to their new Scio Township location as well.

[illegible] transportation during [illegible] related service appointments. [illegible] customers to have a pleasant experience even when their car needs [illegible].

"We have a great team of highly qualified and [illegible] experienced mechanics who have the same commitment to outstanding customer service as our sales group," Sesi says.

Sesi is also one of the top used-car dealers in the state. With a [illegible] large inventory of quality low-mileage used cars, trucks and vans, Sesi says the used car selection is second to none.

"They're safety-checked, cleaned, polished and priced right with no confusion," he said. "If there's a problem, we'll [illegible] it." The Certified Pre-Owned vehicles have been well [illegible] their customers. [illegible] backed [illegible] to 72 [illegible] miles, the Certified Pre-Owned vehicle offers the customer greater peace of mind.

Now that Sesi is selling cars to the children and grandchildren of its original customers, they rely on the trust they have established with generations [illegible]

"Our customers [illegible] we don't let them [illegible] down," he says. "Our reputation [illegible]"

Area students participate in Project RED

Chelsea students not among the participants, which draws criticism

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

Third-graders throughout Washtenaw County gathered at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds near Saline last week for Project Rural Education Days, but not third-graders from Chelsea schools.

The annual event, which is called Project RED, is a free half-day program sponsored by Michigan State University Extension and Washtenaw County Farm Bureau to educate third-graders about agriculture.

Lima Township resident Else Heller said the program is a great way to teach children about farm life and the role that agriculture plays in Michigan.

"If you go down there, you'd be amazed at what you'd see," she said.

Heller is concerned that Chelsea School District does not participate in Project RED, which is provided for all third-graders in Washtenaw County.

But Shawn Lewis-Lakin, executive director of student performance at Chelsea School District, said field trips are determined according to the district's instructional goals and Project RED does not fit in with curriculum for Chelsea third-graders.

"The primary criteria we have in determining what field trips to take is the ability of the trips to support defined instructional goals at each grade level," he said.

"The focus of third-grade social studies has been states and regions, along with Chelsea, past and present. To support our objectives for third-grade social studies, our students go on a field trip to the Waterloo Farm Museum and Dewey School. We feel that this trip, and the learning that occurs with it, are a better match to our defined learning outcomes for grade 3 than the Project RED opportunity.

"Our proximity to the Waterloo Farm Museum and Dewey School, and the alignment of the learning to grade 3 objectives, make it an ideal grade 3 field trip," he said.

Lewis-Lakin said Project RED is more aligned with Chelsea students' learning in fourth grade. Fourth-grade objectives include history, government, geography and economics of Michigan.

"These objectives include studying the important role of agriculture in the Michigan economy," Lewis-Lakin said, noting that Project RED does not target fourth-grade students. Instead, fourth-graders at Chelsea take a field trip to the Michigan capitol and the Michigan History Museum.

But transportation is also an issue that has prevented the Chelsea School District from participating in the agricultural program.

"The other complicating issue with the Project RED trip is that schools are assigned to a specific half of the day. We cannot take buses for a field trip until after all morning runs are completed. We must have buses back from field trips before afternoon runs begin. This limits the amount of time available for students to actually participate in Project RED learning," Lewis-Lakin said.

But for residents such as Heller, the district's lack of participation in the program suggests that the community is not focused on teaching agriculture.

"When you ask (children) where milk comes from, they're saying, 'From the store.' The kids need to learn about agriculture," Heller said.

Wylie Elementary School students in Dexter visited the Washtenaw County Farm Council Grounds April 26 as part of Rural Education Days. The students joined 18 other local school districts in visiting the display, which ran for three days. The outing was intended to educate students about local agriculture and natural resources. Sessions included learning centers and displays featuring samples of agricultural products, along with petting stations for local farm animals. STRAIGHT FACTS

The article, "Flags spark controversy," published April 27 in The Chelsea Standard, incorrectly stated that the Michigan State Police Sylvan Township Outpost did not lower its American flag to half-staff in honor of fallen Chelsea Police Chief Riley Scott Sumner and Chelsea Fire Capt. Matthew Tuttle. According to First Lt. Ann McCaffery of the State Police Ypsilanti Post, the flagpole does not belong to the State Police. Sylvan Township Outpost. The outpost utilizes space at the Sylvan Township Hall and the flagpole in question belongs to the township.

Relay nears goal

Organizers will collect money through Sept. 1 as part of annual event

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

Pledges are still being collected, but preliminary figures for the 2006 Relay for Life event held at the Chelsea Fairgrounds last weekend show that nearly $100,000 was raised.

"We are very near our goal of $100,000 — within a few thousand dollars," said Jamie Seyfried, 2006 Relay for Life event chairwoman. "I'm very confident that our goal will be met."

And that's good news for people suffering from cancer. All funds raised at the annual event benefit the American Cancer Society, which offers resources to cancer patients and funds research.

Seyfried noted that donations continue to come in through the end of the fiscal year Sept. 1.

This year, the relay was moved to the Chelsea Fairgrounds from its usual location at the Chelsea High School track. Seyfried said the location had one drawback because of the walking surface, which is gravel. Even so, she said, more than 500 people turned out in support throughout the weekend and 26 teams walked from Saturday through Sunday.

"I think the turnout was as good as it has been in the past," she said. "The venue was very well received."

She said the fair board has offered an invitation for the Relay for Life to be held in the same location next year and plans to make improvements to the walking area.

In the past two years, Western Washtenaw County Relay for Life has raised approximately $200,000.

Relay for Life also holds events in Milan, Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

PROM

Construction and decorating began in early April and students have been working almost every day after school. On Saturday, the prom committee began setting up the Land of Oz in the high school gymnasium, which will be converted into a maze.

As students enter the school, they'll walk into an old cinema, purchase a movie ticket and step into "The Wizard of Oz."

"They'll come in the entrance and they'll see 'Now Playing: Wizard of Oz.' It will be all movie glitz, glamour and marquee lights all around," Benz said.

A recreation of Dorothy's home in Kansas is the entry to a land of make-believe. Attendees will step onto the porch and walk through the home.

"It'll be all drab and gray. It's really interesting," Benz said.

Next, they'll enter Munchkinland, which includes live "Munchkins."

"They'll turn left into the gym and it's Munchkinland. It's bright. It's colorful. There's a yellow brick road. There's a little bridge with water going under it," Benz explained.

Prom-goers will make their way into the cornfield, filled with blue skies and rolling hills. The magic continues as students enter the dark forest and encounter the Cowardly Lion.

"The teachers are dressing up as all the characters. We just have wonderful support here at Chelsea," Benz said.

After stopping off at the witch's castle for games and refreshments, prom-goers will eventually make their way to the Emerald City for some dancing.

Some major attractions include a talking Oz and moving props.

"The electrical engineer is building an Oz face and it's going to talk and smoke's going to come out. It's really cool," Benz said.

She said the technical work is thanks to electrical engineer Steve Anthony and carpenter Scott Allen, who donate their time to make prom special.

"We couldn't do it without them. They come in and take time out of their jobs to help build prom," Benz said.

The production is paid for entirely by donations, student fund-raisers, and ticket sales. The event is such an important part of the high school experience that students start fundraising for the prom as freshmen in high school.

Tickets cost $5 for seniors and $10 for juniors.

Help is needed for cleanup after the event. Parents and volunteers are needed to assist with cleanup 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday.

the suspects or the vehicle.

"We do have surveillance video and some leads to follow up on, so we didn't want to release a description of the suspects yet," Farkas said.

He said the State Police are following up on some "positive leads" and the investigation is ongoing.

The clerk was not harmed during the robbery. The Michigan State Police believe that if you are confronted in a robbery or carjacking, for your own safety it is best to give up your property without a struggle.

Gray Panthers recognize local residents

A Chelsea resident has been named a recipient of the 2005-06 Ann Bonar Award for Gray Activism presented by The Gray Panthers of Huron Valley.

Bill Bliss of Chelsea was among three selected to receive the award out of a pool of 22 nominees. His late wife, Isabel, was also named as a recipient posthumously.

The Ann Bonar Award for Gray Activism was established in remembrance of the woman who founded the Gray Panthers of Huron Valley in 1979. Bonar was a lifetime activist for social justice causes, including women's voting rights.

The award is presented to area residents age 65 or older who have striven to bring about greater social justice in the community on a number of issues, from civil liberties and election abuse to housing discrimination and gender inequalities. The term "gray activism" emphasizes that social justice is a lifetime concern for which older residents can be role models.

A chemical engineer working in chemical plants and engineering firms in northeast Ohio most of his working life, Bill Bliss had a first-hand knowledge of the water and air pollutants emanating from these sources and became very concerned. He and his wife, with others, organized in 1980 the Friends Committee on Unity with Nature. Now called Quaker Earthcare Witness, the group has ties with Quakers in Canada, the United States and Central American countries educating Quakers and others about ecologically sustainable communities.

It works with the Friends Committee on National Legislation lobbying Congress for clean energy legislation. The Blisses led peace vigils and Vietnam War protests in Cleveland in the 1960s and 1970s, and were leaders in the Cleveland civil rights movement.

Moving to Michigan after Bill's retirement in the early 1980s, the Blisses were among the organizers of the Michigan Ecumenical Christian Coalition on the Environment, an organization with strong ties to Protestant, Catholic and Jewish environmental bodies, and Bill served on the Steering Committee of Michigan Global Climate Change.

The purpose of these groups was to persuade faith communities to support legislation reducing environmental damage.

Bliss is currently active in the Chelsea Area Network of Peace Activists and Supporters. All who are concerned about the conduct of the war in Iraq demonstrate every Sunday at the U.S. Post Office in Chelsea for one hour by holding placards and stating their concerns. The weekly vigil has been held through all seasons since January 2003.

Also receiving the Ann Bonar Award for Gray Activism were Bunyan Bryant and Barbara Wykes.

The honorees will receive an art-form certificate designed by Bonar's daughter and granddaughter, Ellen Bonar Wilt and Robin Wilt Mendenhall, as well as a contribution of $200 directed to a cause of their choice.

Chelsea resident Lynn Meadows was among five other nominees named for their exceptional merit.

Meadows has been active in working to expand peaceful and democratic methods of government and conflict resolution, as well as halting environmental degradation. She served as membership secretary in the Green Party of Michigan from 2001 to 2003, and has chaired the Tamarack Green Party since 2000.

Meadows has presented education programs on Instant Runoff Voting and clean elections to service clubs, high school classes, and the public. She supported a reverend's struggles in Benton Harbor challenging racism and issues of poverty there.

She also participated for three years in weekly vigils sponsored by CANOPAS, a local Chelsea peace group, and in Ann Arbor peace vigils. She attended the School of the Americas (SOA) Watch for the past five years, and visited congressional representatives seeking help in closing the school.

Meadows serves on the ICPJ Steering Committee and its Latin-America Task Force. In the realm of protecting the environment, she is president of the Committee for Chelsea Parks, which tried unsuccessfully to create a park instead of 500 new houses, and is planning a restoration of the banks of Letts Creek with native plantings.

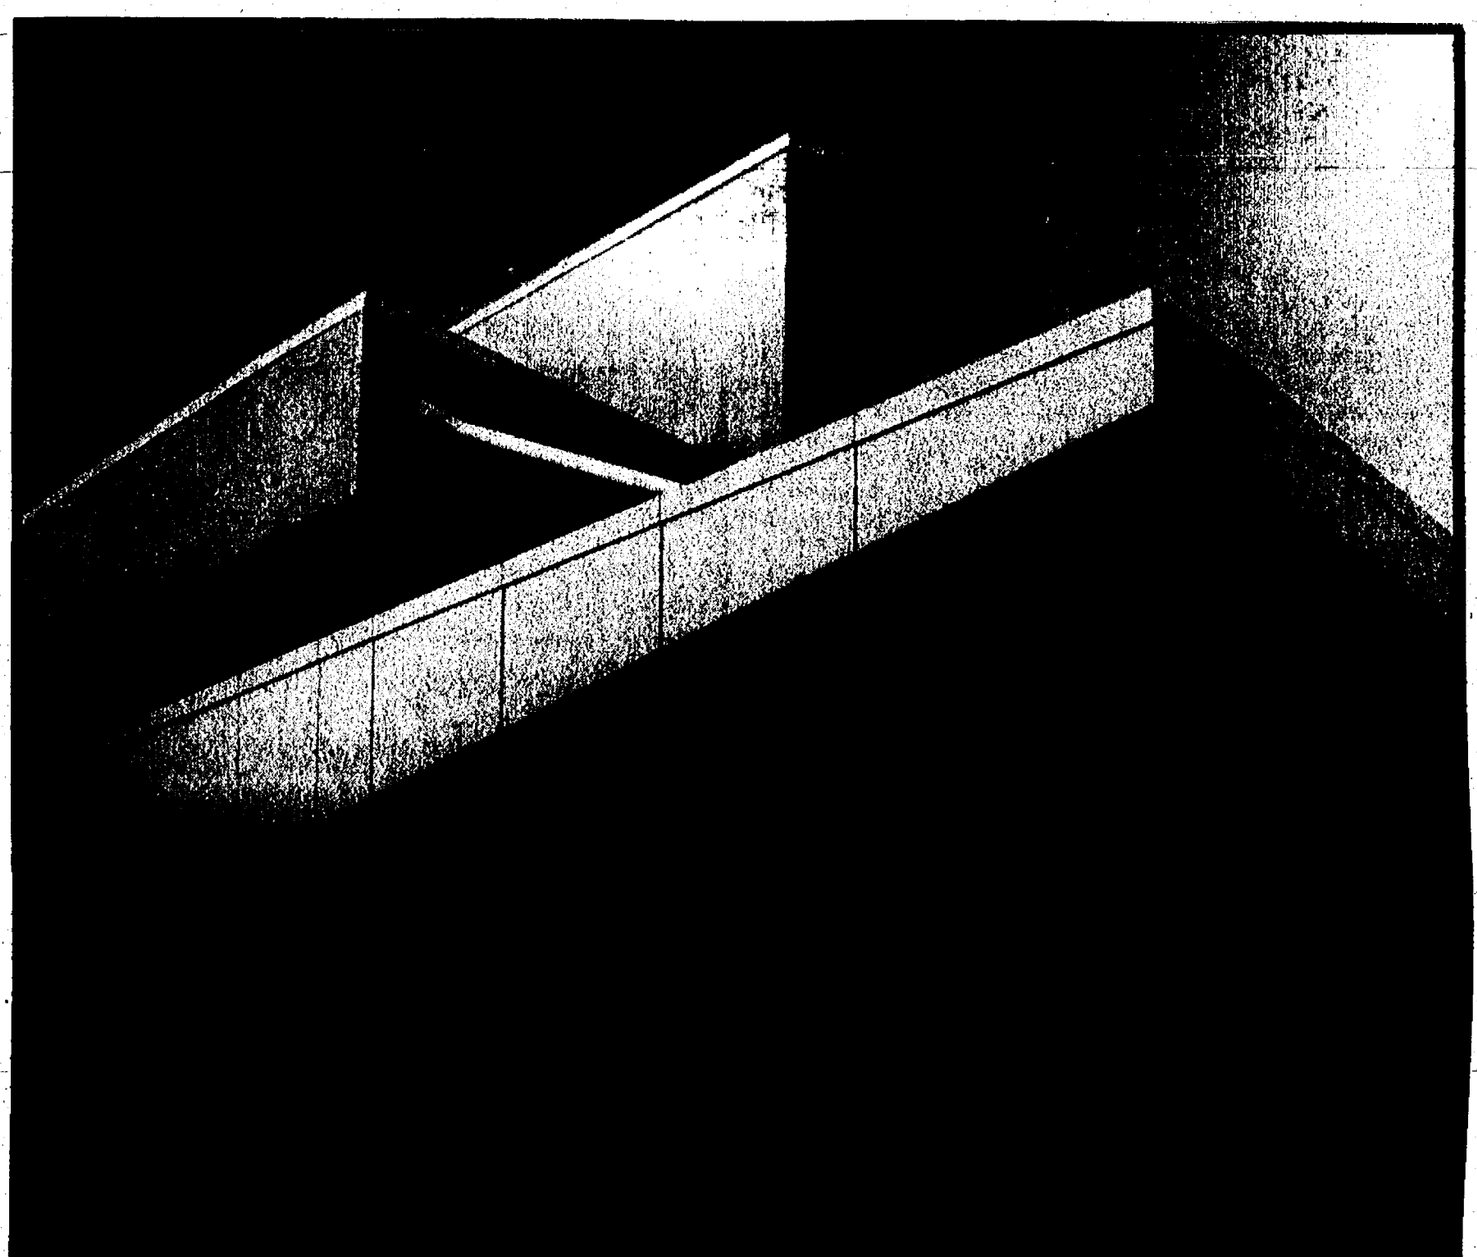

In addition, she is helping in the challenge to the Ice Mountain Co.'s large withdrawals of water from an underground Michigan aquifer.

The 22 nominees were submitted or supported both by unaffiliated individuals and by religious and secular organizations in the county.

In mid-May, a public reception will be held, and the Ann Bonar Award will be formally presented to the three honorees, while the other five nominees of exceptional merit will be recognized.

Sally will offer some new opinions."

DeVol, 45, has been actively involved in the schools. She served as president of the Parent-Teacher Association for three years, a classroom volunteer, and as a member of the school improvement committee.

She is looking forward to serving the school district as a board member.

"I'm excited and a little humbled," DeVol said.

"I am thrilled to be able to serve the district."

Koch could not be reached for comment.

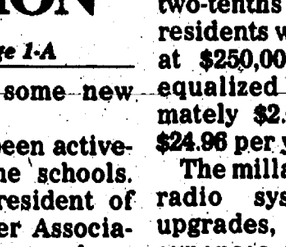

Also on the ballot Tuesday was a countywide millage proposal for a new 800 MHz radio system. Proposal A passed 12,126 to 7,352 with support from 62 percent of voters in the county.

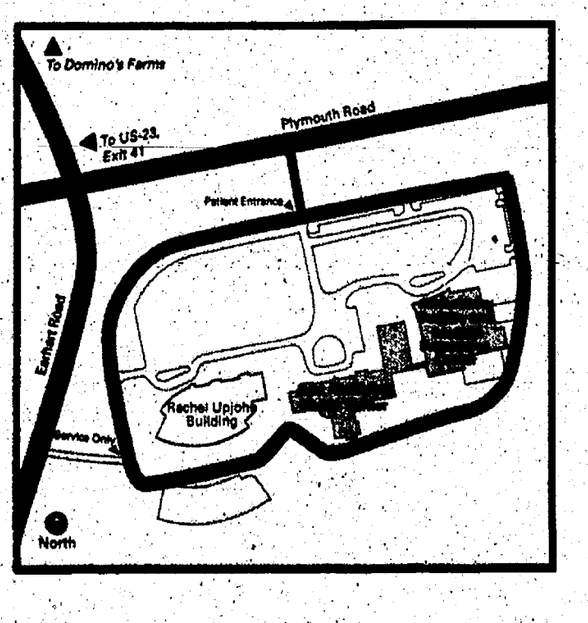

The approval of the millage proposal will fund equipment and operations for the new radio system with a 0.2 mill tax levy for 10 years. The two-tenths of a mill will cost residents with a home valued at $250,000 ($125,000 state equalized value) approximately $2.08 per month or $24.96 per year.

The millage will pay for the radio system expansion, upgrades, and operational expenses to put all emergency responders, police officers, and fire departments in the county on the same system, allowing them to communicate with each other without having to utilize multiple radio systems.

It will also allow responders in Washtenaw County to communicate with other agencies throughout the entire state on the Michigan Public Safety Communications System (MPSCS), a comprehensive digital radio system used by the Michigan State Police and a number of counties throughout Michigan.

Students win writing awards from VFW

Annual contest designed to foster patriotism

By Rita Fischer
Special Writer

Beach Middle School and Chelsea High School students earned awards from the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Chelsea.

The Voice of Democracy, endorsed by the National Association of Secondary School Principals' contest criteria, is an audio essay contest for high school students in ninth through 12th grades. The annual contest, which is designed to foster patriotism, allows students the opportunity to voice their opinion in a three to five minute essay based on an annual theme.

High school students Matthew Glover, Alison Beatty, Rachel Severin, Amy Whitesall, Megan Jerant, Cassandra Keszler and Andrew Bean received awards in February, earning recognition for their talent in writing.

Beatty won first place, while Severin received a plaque for second place and Bean captured third.

Bean, a senior at Chelsea High School, said he was proud to receive the award.

"Receiving the award, this evening meant a great deal to me because it was a way of honoring my grandfather," he said. "As a 28-year tour Marine and the founder of the first Warren VFW Post, it's the least I can do in appreciation for all he's given our country."

The Voice of Democracy was created in 1947. The scholarship program annually provides more than $3 million in awards. Each department's first-place winner receives an all-expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C., plus the opportunity to compete for national scholarships. The first-place national winner receives a $25,000 scholarship.

The Patriot's Pen was awarded to middle school students. A youth essay-writing contest, it's a nationwide competition that gives students in sixth through eighth grades the opportunity to write essays expressing their views on democracy. Annually, more than 115,000 students participate in the contest.

Contestants write a 300- to 400-word essay based on a patriotic theme. The first-place winner receives a $10,000 savings bond and an all-expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C. The top national winners each receive a savings bond ranging from $1,000 to $10,000.

Three eighth-graders from Beach Middle School earned awards. First place was awarded to Olivia Detroyer, Brett Caid won second place and Viran Rana received third place.

Andrew Ingall, principal at Beach Middle School, said that the VFW Patriot's Pen Contest is a good contest for the students.

"The opportunity to write about a patriotic topic is thought-provoking and rewarding for them," he said. "The interaction between our students and veterans at the ceremony is always something pleasant to be a part of."

DeTroyer said she was very happy to win the middle school division of this contest. When writing the paper as a class assignment, she mostly thought about how she could get an A on it, so she was surprised to find out that she had won the contest.

"When I came into the banquet, I was even more excited when I saw what I won," she said. "The banquet was also really nice; the dinner was delicious. It was also really nice to see all the other winners.

"Even though I was shaking when I read my essay — and that wasn't so much fun — I really enjoyed this whole experience."

Scio Township resident Chuck Reed, the commander of the VFW post in Chelsea, has been commander nine of the 10 years he has been involved with the post. His job is to oversee the operations of the post.

Reed said he is proud of the students who participate in this contest.

"This award allows them to earn scholarships, say a speech and enhances their penmanship," he said. "It allows them to communicate more with others, encourages their self-esteem and it gives us veterans a chance to recognize kids."

Bill Pierce of Chelsea, spokesman for the banquet, served in World War II, Korea and two tours of Vietnam. He said that if he had to do it all over again, "I'd like to do the exact same thing if I had to live my life over."

Amanda Moyer, an eighth-grader at Beach Middle School, also received an award for writing an essay for the Patriot's Pen. She wrote about how the soldiers in Iraq are helping our country.

"I feel very good about getting this award," she said. "I am honored by this award."

Students can enter either contest for next year by submitting the required entry form, along with their essay, to a local VFW Post.

To learn more, check out the Web site at www.vfw.org or contact the Chelsea VFW.

Below is DeTroyer's essay, which she read aloud at the ceremony.

Warriors on Ignorance

"Every day we see the same history teachers standing in front of their classes risking the ridicule that many of them receive just to enlighten the next generation of Americans of the events that have happened to help shape America. While most people would cower at the thought of standing in front of 30 judgmental teenagers, trying to teach them about a life before iPods and text messaging, there are the few adults who gladly do this every day.

"While some people may think that only people who fight physical wars are patriots, I believe that the Americans who fight the war on ignorance — history teachers — are also patriots.

"Despite the fact that there are a sparse amount of us who will deny that history was one of those classes that they counted the minutes until it ended, there are also a meager amount of people who haven't had the knowledge of history affect some of their decisions. If we weren't to educate people of the past, many of our mistakes would be repeated.

"Imagine what life would be like if the Americans were oblivious to the fact that slavery wasn't always looked upon as taboo or that there was a point in time where people were killed based only upon their religion. If we weren't conscious of the outcomes of these events, or just how wrong they are, it would be easy for people to slip into the mind set that it is OK to do these things.

"Fortunately, we have votaries of history who spend their time educating the youth of America of all the things that have happened throughout time. These buffs not only teach us about all of the awful things that have happened, but also of the heroic and courageous events that have occurred. The best example of these noble acts is the hundreds of thousands of American citizens who have put their life on the line to defend our country in times of war.

"With these lessons, teachers not only teach us statistical facts but also that determination and ambition can make people capable of anything.

"Next time you see one of these patriots lecturing their class on the importance of the Declaration of Independence, don't think of the hours you spent watching the seconds slowly tick by. Instead think of the times where your knowledge of these facts has led you to make better decisions."

Chelsea, AATA, The Western Washtenaw Area Value Express and The Manchester Area Senior Citizens Council.

Western Washtenaw Area Value Express

WWAVE, formerly the Chelsea Area Transportation System, currently provides transit service to residents in and around the city of Chelsea, Dexter Village and the townships of Sylvan, Lima, Dexter and Scio. It's is a nonprofit organization that operates a demand-response service, a special trip bus and a fixed route service linking Chelsea, Dexter and Ann Arbor.

The study found that the number of WWAVE riders continues to increase.

From April 2003 through March 2004, there were 12,967 riders and 66 percent of the service that it provided was demand response. The demand response trips are typically needed for medical appointments, work, social activities and senior activities.

During that same time period, the Community Connector express bus service made up 34 percent of the trips.

Of the total trips from October 2004 through September 2005, there were 14,784 riders and demand response service was used 49 percent of the time, while 51 percent of the trips were provided by the Community Connector express bus service.

Manchester Area Senior Citizens Council

MASCC is a nonprofit volunteer organization that provides transit service to all seniors and the disabled who live in Manchester Village, and Bridgewater, Freedom, Sharon and Manchester townships.

The Manchester Senior Citizens demand-response trips include trips for medical needs, shopping, senior activities and yoga classes. The MASCC also provides service for special event trips, which include visiting nearby nursing homes, a fall color tour, trips to Frankenmuth, ice cream socials, as well as shopping trips within Manchester and to the cities of Brooklyn, Adrian, Chelsea and Ann Arbor.

In 2004, the bus traveled a total of 6,822 miles. That year, it provided demand-response service to 2,673 seniors, 449 seniors with a disability and 441 rides for the general public.

Transit Need

The study results showed that the elderly population in western Washtenaw County, which makes up a large portion of WWAVE and MASCC riders, continues to grow.

In 1990, the number of residents in western Washtenaw County who were 65 and older totaled 2,736. That number jumped to 3,357 in 2000, reflecting an 18 percent increase in 10 years. Those 65 and older who had a disability also in increased over the 10-year time frame from 773 in 1990 to 885 in 2000.

WATS utilized data from the 2000 census to identify areas that were considered transit dependent — households that do not have sufficient transportation. Of the 7,037 households in western Washtenaw County in 2000, 1,459 were potentially dependent on public transit.

By the year 2010, the population of people age 65 and older who live within western Washtenaw County is expected to increase to double to nearly 6,000 persons, according to the study.

Public Involvement

Throughout the course of the study, several meetings were held to gauge public opinion on the WWAVE and MASCC transit systems.

"The public involvement meetings were very vital to the study. As noted in the report, WATS obtained numerous public comments and surveys from local seniors who rely on the transit service in western Washtenaw County in order to meet their daily needs," Raschke said.

Meetings were held January through March at the Manchester Village Hall, the Chelsea Community Hospital, Emanuel United Church of Christ in Manchester and the Chelsea Retirement Community.

Attendees were given handouts describing the data collection process and were asked about the destinations that were important to them when considering transit service.

A survey was also developed to determine why residents choose to use the WWAVE and MASCC. WATS received 62 completed surveys and 20 comment forms. Of the 62 completed surveys, five were filled out by seniors in and around Dexter Village, 24 were filled out by seniors in and around Chelsea, and 33 were filled out by seniors in and around Manchester.

According to the survey, most people reported that the reason for not using transit was because they drove themselves or due to the limited service area that a transit service provides. Hours of operation were also listed as a reason for not using the transit services.

Study Recommendation

The WATS study recommends that the MASCC and WWAVE transit services be combined to more efficiently provide demand-response service to area residents.

"Combining the (MASCC) current demand-response service with the WWAVE transit service would be the most efficient way to provide transit service to seniors and persons with disabilities that reside in western Washtenaw County," the draft results state. "Creating a new transit service for the citizens of Manchester would not be as efficient as merging (MASCC) with WWAVE."

If the two services were to merge, WWAVE would be eligible for additional state and federal funding, as well, the study said. WWAVE currently receives state operating assistance equal to 39.25 percent of eligible operating expenses and federal operating assistance for 15 percent of eligible operating expenses.

Complete Results

The draft report also includes public comment sheets received from the public.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Articles on deaths were moving to read

I wanted to comment on the articles that were allowed to appear online regarding the death of the police chief and the fireman.

I was moved and felt that it was a great honor to read about these two wonderful and devoted men who died doing what they loved to do.

In the 1990s, I lived in Dexter for some time, and the communities of Dexter and Chelsea were always so accommodating. For the most part, the officials were like these two great men.

Our hearts go out to both these families and our thoughts and prayers are with them.

Lee and Kay Wylie
LaFollette, Tenn.

Changes should be made to flag code

Recently, the entire community of Chelsea was devastated by the loss of its police chief and fire captain. From those who knew them on a professional side or a personal side, it was a tremendous loss.

We lost two very young gentlemen who committed their lives to protecting our lives — a selfless sacrifice that many of us perhaps would chose not to do.

Unfortunately, a related tragedy of this loss is the inability (by law) to respect those who did so much for us through the simple gesture of flying our flags at half-staff.

Currently, our federal and state governments do not recognize the need to lower our flags to show our respect to those who protect us on a local level. However, we are able to lower our flags for those in the military who die in the line of duty. Aren't these losses the same? Haven't both groups put others lives before their own?

We are not writing to take away from the honor and respect that our military personnel should receive; we're writing in hopes that someone will see that we should be paying our deepest respects to any officer or firefighter that gives his or her life for us, no matter where they are located.

In addition, there should be a better way to recognize our veterans who, although they may not have died in the line of duty, did do their jobs by protecting us all from harm's way.

The federal and state governments need to help us honor those citizens who serve in a public service capacity. They, too, are heroes — our heroes. If the law needs to be changed, then let's make it happen.

Police department showed great strength

Big Texas hug to Chelsea Police Chief Riley Scott Sumner's family.

Great job to all members of the Chelsea Police Department for their strength and courage and to all the agencies, officers and departments who joined together in coordinating the event.

All the officers I met during the event immediately became my friends. They greeted me with respect and professionalism.

To the entire City of Chelsea: Chelsea showed that it is a great town and showed a great support of law enforcement. You made me proud to be from Chelsea. I was honored and proud to go back to Texas having been in Chelsea during and taking part in the events.

Rest in peace, Riley Scott Sumner, hero.

Cuts to school libraries deserve more attention

I'd like to thank writer Jennifer McArdle for her coverage, "Schools to cut $1.5 million from budget," April 27, and for sharing information regarding the district's need to reduce expenditures.

It's most important to recognize that statewide all public schools are suffering from the severe reductions in the level of support necessary to fund our schools properly. The state of Michigan sales tax is not sufficient to raise adequate revenue for our schools.

The devastating, deep-rooted consequences of Proposal A (the 1994 vote that changed most school funding from local property taxes to the state) have helped some poorer districts; however, there is very negative impact on many other districts, including Chelsea.

A much larger issue that impacts our entire economy is the lack of national healthcare insurance, which, among many sectors with problems, burdens the school districts with covering those ever-increasing benefit costs to employees.

However, given the scope and complexity of the necessity to reduce costs to meet the state mandate for a balanced school budget, we cannot be satisfied that Chelsea schools are making the best available decisions.

While there are numerous departments heavily affected by the planned cuts, I wish to highlight the astounding reductions in the school media centers. The euphemism "media center restructuring" really means that there will be no professionally trained librarian at South Meadows Elementary School next year; the librarian currently serving at both North Creek and Pierce Lake only will be a "consultant" to the media center at South Meadows. The library will be managed by a parapro, with no professional library training.

Beach Middle School's librarian also will be cut back in her time in the library, and also assigned other classroom teaching duties. And at the high school, the librarian will be decreased to 3/5 time in the library, and be assigned to teaching two other high school classes.

I do wonder if the school district surveyed the research, which clearly indicates the positive impact of school librarians on academic achievement. A very accessible source for this information is available at the Michigan Association for Media in Education Web site at www.mame.gen.mi.us.

I also hope that we will not allow the mistaken rationalization that the Internet lessens the need for the broad range of school media center resources. And we must remember that not all families may even have access to the Internet in their homes, for their students' needs.

Our community is looking forward to a very exciting expansion of the Chelsea District Library this fall. However, the new McKune Memorial Library cannot and should not substitute or replace the services of the school media centers. The public library can and will complement and support the schools, but their mandate is not to take over the responsibility of the schools to provide all educational tools to their students.

Residents with concerns about the weaknesses in state funding should not hesitate to contact state Rep. Pam Byrnes, D-52nd District, and State Sen. Liz Brater, D-18th District, to express your views and ask what state leadership can do.

Parents and all concerned community members are highly encouraged to attend the next Chelsea school board meeting 7 p.m. Monday at the district boardroom. There are always opportunities to voice your views and raise questions during the public input times on the agenda.

Bring your children, also, to communicate to our district their student comments. Or give your school board members a call or e-mail message, if you can't attend.

I'll be ready to hear more from the community at next week's board meeting.

Misconceptions stated concerning flag code

I am astounded at the number of inaccuracies and misconceptions concerning the lowering of the flag to half-staff put out by the Chelsea school superintendent and our elected officials.

Lower-income students deserve opportunity

CHRIS BARNES

Looking out for those who need some help — help they cannot necessarily control.

It's a beautiful thing.

It's a tough situation when a high school student has such potential, great intelligence and a strong desire, yet his or her family income isn't sufficient enough to provide a big-name education, if any at all.

It's not the student's fault. He or she doesn't dictate the parents' career and income. And from Mom or Dad's perspective, maybe their skills and talents only have such limits.

Should the child suffer and be prohibited from receiving a quality college experience because of that?

The University of Pennsylvania, in addition to a few other institutions, is taking this into consideration, which really shows a concerted effort to offer its services, rather than placing all emphasis on revenue from its customers, or students.

The university recently announced it will cover tuition and room-and-board costs for students whose families earn less than $50,000 a year. The university joins a handful of other high-profile schools that have started waiving such fees in an effort to diversify their student populations based on economic backgrounds.

University President Amy Gutmann recently told the media it's a way to make Ivy League schools more accessible. This is astonishing and a rarity these days.

When colleges and universities perform their main goal — to put students first — now we're talking about education.

How often does higher education promote minority ratios, sports accomplishments and a new wing to the science building, paid for by increased tuition?

Those Ivy League names are so honorable. No disrespect to Kutztown University — my alma mater — but the names Columbia, Harvard, Yale — they have an aura about them. Teens who come from lower-income families should be given such opportunities that maybe their parents weren't offered.

In most cases, Mom and Dad will be happy to have a child smarter than them.

At selective schools, 3 percent of students come from the poorest socio-economic quarter of families, while 74 percent come from the richest, according to a 2003 study by the Century Foundation.

Code does it say that only the president and governor can order flags to be lowered to half-staff. In fact, if people would bother to read the entire code, including executive proclamations, they would see that President Eisenhower listed additional people within the federal government that could order flags lowered at places and locations under their jurisdiction.

President Eisenhower also made it quite clear that the president could only order the flag lowered at buildings, grounds and naval vessels owned by the federal government.

Even if the president did have jurisdiction over local governments, a key concept of law in this country is that anything not prohibited by law is automatically legal. Therefore, since there is no prohibition against others lowering the flag, it's "legal" for local authorities to order it lowered in areas under their control.

Another falsehood is that the governor has authority to order flags lowered in the state when military personnel die. Nowhere in the U.S. Flag Code does it mention military personnel under the part about the governor lowering the flag.

So, unless the governor is making the case that members of the U.S. military are "a present or former official of the government of any state," she is the one treading on thin ice when it comes to lowering the flag.

In fact, the governor didn't actually "order" flags to be lowered for military personnel because she knew she didn't have the legal authority to do so. Instead, she issued a proclamation, not an executive order, the difference being that a proclamation has no legal weight.

Even if the governor did issue an executive order to lower the flag for military personnel, Chelsea schools are under no obligation to lower their flags because they are not under the governor's authority.

Superintendent Dave Killips reports to the Chelsea school board and the Chelsea school Board only. Therefore, if the board was to order him to lower the flag or they had a policy regarding it, he would be obligated to do it because that is who he reports to. The same goes for other local units of government, such as Chelsea city government. They aren't under the governor's authority, so they had the authority to make their own (correct) decision to lower the flag.

However, the local Michigan State Police post should not be criticized for keeping their flag raised. They are under the authority of the governor and since she didn't give an order to lower them, they were obligated to keep them raised, even though I'm sure they wanted to lower them. (See Straight Facts, page 3-A)

The post office faced the same dilemma. They report to the federal government, and since the president didn't issue an order to lower the flag, they had to keep their flag raised.

God forbid that Chelsea will ever have to face a similar tragedy, but if it does, I hope school district officials won't spend all their time wringing their hands wondering what to do and will instead just do the right thing and lower the flag. We used to call that common sense.

Chelsea Robotics did well in contest

I would like to tell everyone how pleased I was to be able to witness firsthand how well our Chelsea High School Robotics Team, Technical Difficulties, conducted themselves while en route to and from, and during our stay at the Atlanta, Ga., First Robotics final competition.

These students were all an honor to be around. They were always prompt, even on time in the mornings. Whenever there was a time given for us all to meet, they would all be there — sometimes more on time than some of the adults.

They were always very well mannered and conducted themselves as young adults who would make any parent proud, as well as represent Chelsea High School and our community.

This team went to the finals ready to compete, and that they did very well. The competition included the seasoned veteran teams, as well as some repeat winners, from around the world.

There were teams from 18 different countries in the competition. And our team finished quite well against them, and this was our first time to compete at this level.

It was very obvious to me that this team had been guided very well in the way they conducted themselves, on and off the competition area. Very definitely a team effort by all.

I congratulate Deb Bentley and the Chelsea High School Robotics Team Technical Difficulties for a job well done.

Film series inspiring, makes people think

The film showing of "The End of Suburbia" at Cranesbill Books April 28 was well attended and indeed stimulating and inspiring.

Kurt Cobb of Kalamazoo, author, journalist and expert on environmental issues, was present to lead the discussion. Attendees were anxious to consider concrete ways that they can begin now to conserve our limited oil resources and delay consequences of depleting supplies.

There is a desire for more shared transportation, especially to Ann Arbor and Jackson. And, as the newspaper's "Street Talk" in the April 25 issue of The Standard questioned, much interest in having the train stop in Chelsea. In fact, postcards were written to the director of transportation at the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments to request more public transportation opportunities for Chelsea.

We were also reminded of the opportunity to use the economical and convenient Western Washtenaw Area Value Express bus.

We look forward to supporting our local businesses with our second film, "Going Local," to be shown May 12, also at 7 p.m., at Cranesbill Books. It's important for Chelsea to maintain its healthy local services so that it's not necessary for residents to drive distances to fulfill their needs.

DESERVE

UP's program will cost the university about $800,000 a year and help between 300 and 400 students.

And other schools have joined in. Harvard, for the past two years, covers students with family incomes of up to $40,000; Stanford covers up to $45,000.

That is really stepping up to the plate when the batter needs help. Maybe the new science wing will have to wait a few years.

For those students given such a grand offer, there should be no question which is more important.

A Good Cause

Laura Lodewyk, Audrey Lodewyk, Tony Kurcz, Alexis Butler and Ann Cerveny washed cars April 29 as part of a fund-raiser held in the parking lot at Chelsea State Bank. Members of the Chelsea High School Key Club and Diversity Club participated. More than $345 was raised to benefit cystic fibrosis research and treatment.

THE BEST AIR PURIFIER EVER Works 4 Ways to Attack Pollution from Air, Surfaces and Fabrics

Works to eliminate odors, dust, smoke, pollen, germs, mold, bacteria, viruses, pet dander, dust mites and much more

Will eliminate the most noticeable indoor air pollutants in just 15 minutes

Provides relief from allergies and sinus

By John Whitehead, Media Services

BioTech Research has announced EdenPURE™, the ultimate air purifier.

We believe the EdenPURE™ is the best and most advanced air purifier on the market.

You have probably heard about the remarkable EdenPURE™ on television across the nation and as heard on Paul Harvey News nationally.

It runs super quiet and requires no filter replacement.

Unlike typical air purifiers which have only 1 or 2 mechanisms of reducing pollution, the EdenPURE™ has 4 mechanisms which attack pollution.

There are many different types of pollution and many of them, especially the worst, cannot be effectively reduced with the limited mechanisms of old-style air purifiers. The EdenPURE™ 4-mechanism process destroys more types of pollution.

Some of the worst pollution comes from contaminated surfaces and fabrics. This remarkable air purifier not only attacks pollution from the air, but also can safely reduce pollution embedded in walls, ceilings, floors, carpets, furniture, clothing, and on countertops, as well as, other surfaces. It works to sanitizes everything in the home.

The EdenPURE™ can bring relief from the symptoms associated with sinus, and other respiratory discomfort. When pollutants are removed from the air you should sleep better, and feel better in a cleaner environment. The result is reduced fatigue and improved mental abilities.

The air purification technology in the EdenPURE™ is that used by the federal government to purify air in the Space Shuttle and the International Space Station.

Old style HEPA type air purifiers only remove dust and some allergens. They do not remove the most harmful pollutants such as bacteria, viruses, mold and yeast.

And if you have one of those air purifiers that has no fan, beware. More will be explained on this as you read on.

The EdenPURE™ has a super advanced system of air movement that is so quiet that you would have to put your ear up next to it to know that it's even running. And the EdenPURE™ is virtually maintenance free.

For more on the new EdenPURE™, here is my remarkable interview with Julius Toth, Director of Product Development for BioTech Research.

Q. BioTech Research has been in the air purification business for a long time and your previous air purifier model was the all-time best seller and was super effective. Why is the new EdenPURE™ air purifier so much better?

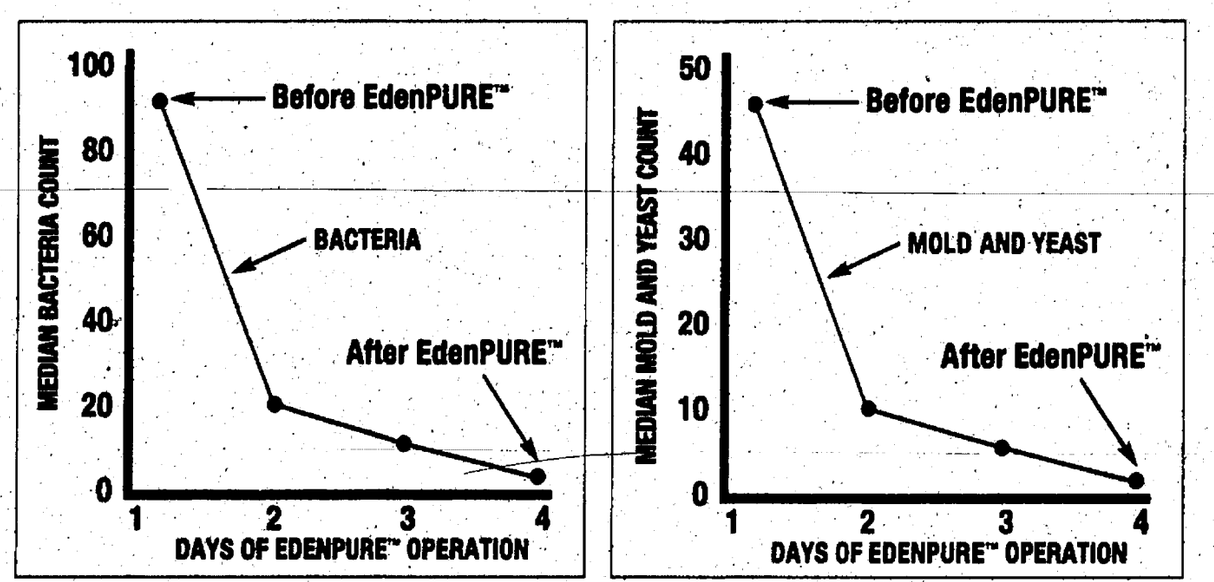

A. Yes, our previous model was an all-time best seller and in our opinion was the best air purifier on the market, which was also the opinion of our customers.

But the new EdenPURE™ is much more advanced. Our previous model used 2 very effective mechanisms to eliminate pollution, which were combinations of activated oxygen and ultraviolet light.

EdenPURE™ - Never breathe bad air again

Independent Test Results

EdenPURE™ eliminates most pollution in 15 minutes. Bacteria, mold and yeast are among the most difficult pollutants to eliminate. Old style air purifiers rarely remove them to an exceptable level. The EdenPURE™ eliminated virtually all the bacteria, mold and yeast in only 24 hours. This independent laboratory test was conducted by Dr. Dee M. Graham, one of the leading air pollution experts in the world.

Testimonies of a few of the many EdenPURE™ satisfied customers

The EdenPURE™ is the most remarkable product that I have tried in years. All of the claims hold true. Not only did it eliminate the dust in my house, I have not had a sinus headache or scratchy throat since I began using it. The whole house smells fresh and clean. You would never be able to tell that I have two dogs and a cat. It is also nice not to have to bother changing filters. You just plug it in, turn it on and forget about it. It is truly refreshing to use a product that does everything that it is supposed to do and more. Michelle Goldsmith

The EdenPURE™ that I used in my apartment for approximately a week was different than any air purifier that I have tried. Everyone was able to take deeper breathes than normal in the apartment. My cats now stay in the room more when someone is smoking. They would not before. My boyfriend's allergies were unnoticeable when he was inside. I personally like the fresh smell the EdenPURE™ let off. Jenny Kico

I have terrible sinus problems. I'm also allergic to dog and cat dander, grass, dust, and ragweed. Before using the EdenPURE™ I had to take antihistamines and use allergy/sinus nasal spray. I was embarrassed because my eyes were red and I always sounded like I had a cold. I then got the amazing EdenPURE™. I plugged in the EdenPURE™ and went about my daily duties when I suddenly noticed I wasn't coughing or wheezing or clearing my throat. This was incredible. The EdenPURE™ really works! I am so happy. My eyes are clear and I can breath. I've tried many other air purifiers, they're all in my storage room with other failed products. The EdenPURE™ truly does what it claims to do. Diane C. Vance

The EdenPURE™ utilizes 4 advanced electronic air purification mechanisms. I call it the EdenPURE™ process.

The advanced technology in the EdenPURE™ is that used in spacecrafts such as the Space Shuttle and the International Space Station.

Q. Why is it that you just can't have a good filter system to eliminate air pollution?

A. There are many reasons. First of all, a lot of the most powerful pollutants such as viruses and bacteria and a number of allergens are so small, filters cannot trap them effectively. HEPA filter type air purifiers mainly remove dust and some allergens.

Secondly, filter air purifiers require the air to be brought through the machine. Therefore, it does not get to the air in the far corners of the room. And worse it does not eliminate the main source of the pollution which is contamination on surfaces, and embedded pollution in fabric and walls.

Q. What about those air purifiers that have no fan?

A. It has been well documented that an air purifier without a fan cannot possibly remove pollution to any substantial level. Those types mainly remove pollution that is very close to the unit. That's fine if you're purifying the air in a broom closet, but not for a wide area. Also, those units have you wiping off a plate to clean off the trapped pollution. But unless those units have ultraviolet light, that plate contains live bacteria and viruses that can be harmful.

Q. How does the EdenPURE™ eliminate pollution without requiring the air to go through the unit, and how does it eliminate pollution on surfaces and fabrics?

A. The EdenPURE™ has 4 electronic mechanisms to attack pollution that mimic the way it is done by nature's thunderstorm. Thunderstorms produce highly activated oxygen which destroys pollution and puts negative ions in the air that also destroy pollution. The air is now ionized fresh and free of the most irritating pollutants, which promotes a healthier environment.

Three of the 4 electronic mechanisms in the EdenPURE™ go out and seek out pollution throughout the room, on surfaces, and in fabrics like guided missiles. The pollution cannot hide.

Q. What is the range of pollutants that the EdenPURE™ takes out of the air?

A. It removes nearly all airborne and surface organic and inorganic pollutants.

Organic pollutants removed by the EdenPURE™ include: fungus, mold, bacteria, tobacco odor, pet odors and most other household odors. It can also kill viruses.

The EdenPURE™ removes inorganic pollutants including dust and many other chemical compounds present in the home too numerous to mention here.

The Wall Street Journal recently reported that there is 5 times more air pollution in a house than there is in the open air outside the house. Everyday you breathe all these pollutants into your lungs and many go into your body.

Q. Does the EdenPURE™ require filter replacement like the old-style HEPA air purifiers?

A. No. There is a small 4 inch by 8 inch pre-filter that you simply clean periodically by running water over it. This pre-filter is made of highly durable mesh that will last a lifetime.

Q. So then the EdenPURE™ sanitizes everything in the house?

A. It works to sanitize the air, walls, floors, ceiling, furniture, carpeting, countertop surfaces, sinks, bathtubs, toilets, and even sanitizes your clothes.

Q. How well does the EdenPURE™ work on eliminating odors?

A. The EdenPURE™ will work to eliminate all odors. It eliminates odors from cigarette smoke, urine, mildew, cooking odors, and any other odors in your home. The EdenPURE™ odor elimination is so powerful that it will eliminate the odor of a skunk in minutes.

After eliminating the odor from the air, the EdenPURE™ then goes to the source of the odor. It neutralizes embedded urine in carpet, and cigarette smoke that is embedded in carpet, furniture, wallpaper, and clothing. It also destroys mold and yeast.

Q. What are the health benefits to the EdenPURE™?

A. There are many. The EdenPURE™ will help relieve allergies, asthma and other respiratory problems. It also introduces extra oxygen into the air and puts healthy negative ions into the air. Therefore you will tend to sleep better at night. As a result you will be much more alert and experience less fatigue when you are awake.

The EdenPURE™ works to eliminate toxins so that they do not get into your body. Therefore you will look better, feel better, and live healthier. You will now have energy and be more mentally alert. The EdenPURE™ can change the mood of everyone in your home for the better.

WASHTENAW COUNTY

Environmental clean-up day set

The Washtenaw County Solid Waste Program is sponsoring regional environmental clean-up days for residents to dispose of unwanted household waste in a safe manner.

Four collection events will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the summer and fall. The first is May 6 at the Western Washtenaw Recycle Authority, 8027 Werkner Road, in Chelsea. Another will be held June 3 at Lincoln High School, 7425 Willis Road, in Willis.

Numerous household materials may be brought to the environmental clean-up day to be recycled. There will be bins for traditional materials, such as plastics, glass and tin containers; cardboard; paper; scrap metal; and Freon appliances such as air conditioners and refrigerators.

There also will be an opportunity for residents to dispose of household hazardous wastes, such as cleaning supplies, motor oil, mercury and oil-based paints, as well as furniture, old tires and electronic equipment, such as computers, televisions and toasters.

Residents may bring up to four tires for free, but will be asked to pay $5 for each additional tire.

Residents may bring one television, Freon-containing appliance or computer for free. They will be asked to pay $10 for each additional item.

The program is funded and coordinated by the Washenaw County Solid Waste Program on behalf of local units of government.

Gardener excited about plant sale

Money raised from plant sale to fund local scholarships

By Susan Moore
Special Writer

Jayetta Edward's 10-year-old grandson recently told her that she should plant some little yellow tomatoes that he likes so well because they are so sweet.

And because Edwards is such a loving grandmother and avid gardener, that is exactly what she will do.

For the last 10 years, Jayetta and John Edwards have lived on 10 secluded wooded acres east of Chelsea, where they have created beautiful naturalized flowerbeds that blend seamlessly with the woods and marsh.

Gardening is a family project.

"I grew up on a farm in southern Ohio and we've always had a garden," Jayetta Edwards said.

So whenever possible, she gets her grandchildren involved.

"It's really important that they get a chance to explore and experience growing things themselves," she said.

Edwards also has professional gardening experience. She spent 15 years working for Walsh Nursery in Detroit, where she learned about greenhouses and landscape design.

Visitors can tell right away that Edwards is an avid gardener. She has her own potting shed, where she can work planting and arranging flowers to her heart's content. All her tools are hung from pegs or stacked neatly on shelves within easy reach.

Edwards calls her 4-year-old garden shed a dream come true.

"There was no space in the garage because that's where John has his wood-working shop. I wanted my own space," she said.

So, her husband used his skills — and a lot of recycled materials — to build the small but functional shed.

This spring, Edwards is thinning out her landscape and, rather than discarding the plants, will put them in pots to sell at the Chelsea Garden Club Plant Sale May 20.

"I'm excited about the plant sale because it gives the club a chance to fulfill our goals," she said.

Money raised by the plant sale will fund the Garden Club's scholarship program and civic beautification projects.

"Another primary goal is to educate people about plants and gardening. There is always someone available who knows how to care for particular plants that are on sale," Edwards said.

The plant sale is set from 8:30 a.m. to noon in the Park Street parking lot just east of Main Street. The sale will include a variety of annuals, vegetables, wildflowers, herbs and ornamental grasses, as well as house plants.

For more information, call 433-9772.

Jayetta Edwards will contribute a variety of plants from her garden to the annual Chelsea Garden Club plant sale to be held from 8:30 a.m. to noon May 20 in the Park Street parking lot.

why we put dog poop in little plastic baggies

- Our neighbors like us to.
- It makes our dogs feel important.
- It keeps the poop from being washed into the storm drains.

Select them all, and it's "two paws up" for you!

Truth is, most of us pick up after our dogs as a courtesy to our neighbors. Plus it makes that backyard barbecue all the more enjoyable.

But there's another important reason to pick up after your pet: water. When pet waste is left behind, it washes into storm drains and ditches. From there, it heads straight to your local river. No filters, no cleansing. Swimming, anyone?

Help protect water quality. Stoop, scoop, and drop those little baggies in the trash. Then give yourself a nice pat. . . . You deserve it.

Small actions make a BIG difference.

Girls raise $350 for families of Riley Scott Sumner, Matt Tuttle

Two Chelsea eighth-graders have been raising money for their class trip to Washington, D.C., later this spring. But when they heard of the deaths of Chelsea Police Chief Riley Scott Sumner and Chelsea Fire Capt. Matt Tuttle, the girls decided to put the money to better use.

Charla Gledhill and Danielle MacFarlan took a donation can around town hoping to raise at least $100 for the families of Sumner and Tuttle, who were killed April 13 in a helicopter accident. Tuttle left behind a wife. Sumner leaves a wife and two young sons.

But their fund-raiser was much more successful than they expected. The 13-year-old girls were surprised to raise $350.

"We actually had to set a new goal every day because we raised more than we expected," Danielle said.

On April 24, the girls presented two checks, each in the amount of $175, to Chelsea Fire Chief Jim Payeur.

Payeur said he was impressed with the girls' generosity in donating money intended for their school trip.

"They gave it up for these families. I think that's pretty awesome," he said.

Say WHAT?

Seventeen colors of duct tape give Pete Warburton the ability to create just about any design, including this piece featuring tulips.

Counselor turns duct tape into art

By Jennifer McArdle
Staff Writer

He doesn't use watercolors or oils to create his masterpieces. No, this local artist chooses to use duct tape.

And as of this week, Pete Warburton's art is on exhibit at the Bearclaw Coffee Co., 8074 Main St., in Dexter.

Warburton, a counselor at Beach Middle School in Chelsea for the past 29 years, will present 14 new pieces in the exhibit titled "Duct tape art — More than ties." The works range from small pieces measuring 11-by-14 inches to the largest, "Balzac's Kitchen Chair," at 4-feet-by-4-feet. Every piece is made from colored duct tape.

"Courtesan" is one piece that will be on display at the Bearclaw Coffee Co. in Dexter in early May.

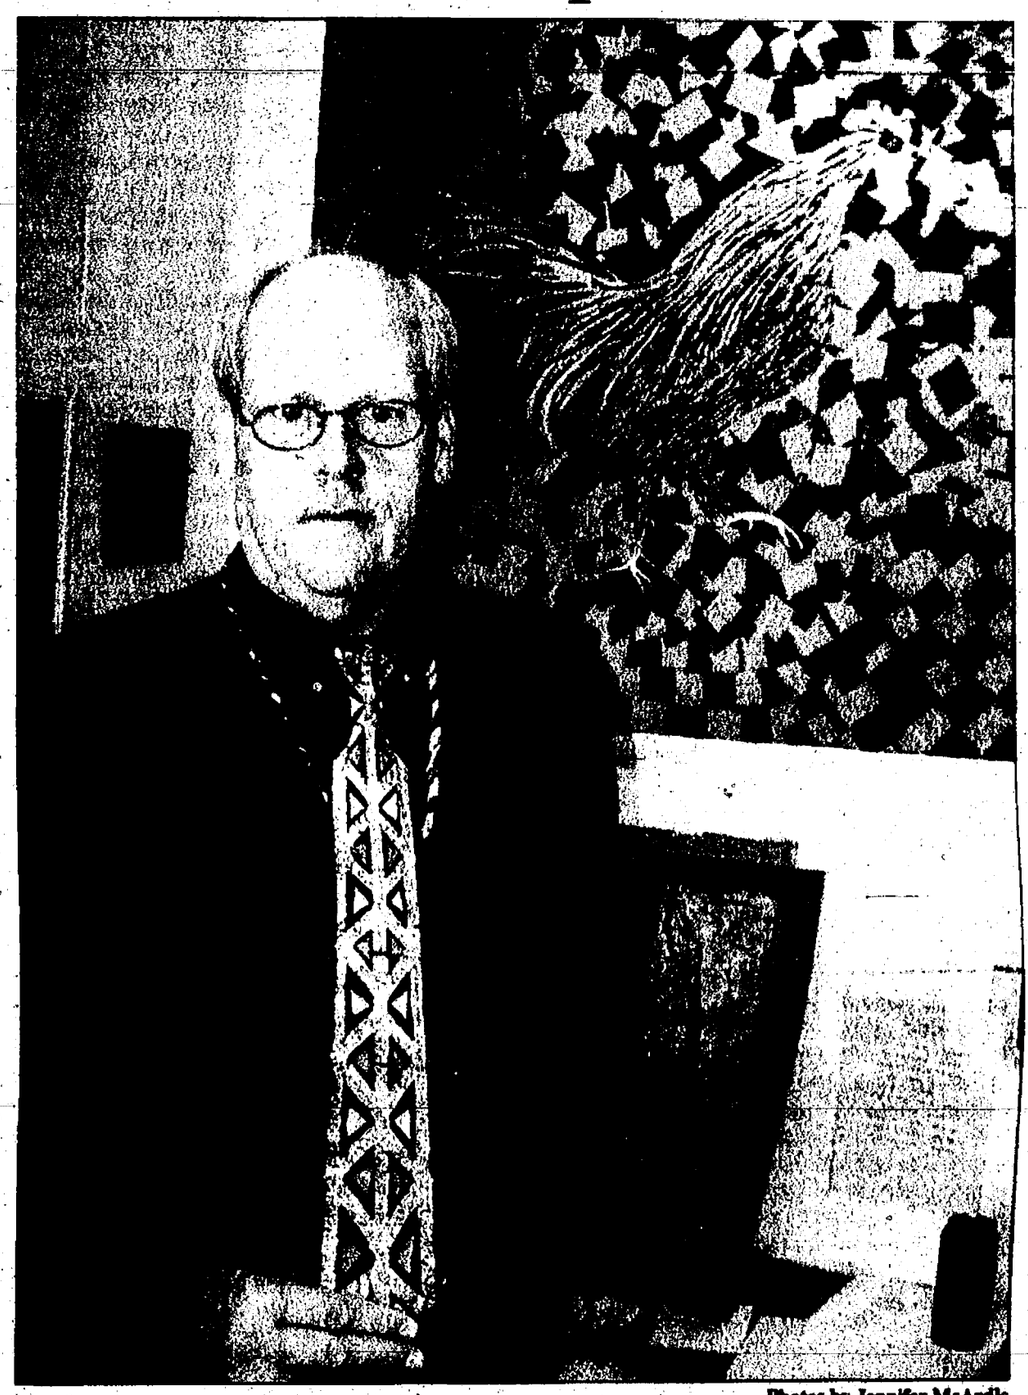

The exhibit is set for May 1 through 15.

Remarkably, Warburton got his start making ties from duct tape. Several years ago, members of the middle school swim team started wearing duct tape ties, and Warburton liked the idea. One of the students made him a tie and he started wearing it to school.

"Then I had a little time on my hands. I decorated another one and then I made one and then I started making more. I started making more and more and more ties, and then all of a sudden I got kind of interested," Warburton said.

In his travels, Warburton decided to take it one step further.

Orchestra founder receives honor for work

Don Parrish recognized in April during Orchestra Night

Music man Don Parrish was honored last month during Orchestra Night as the driving force behind the orchestra program in Dexter schools.

"He laid the foundation for years of great orchestras to come and continues to play a role in the development of our program," said Matt Deloria, Dexter Community Schools orchestra director.

The annual event where he was recognized featured all of the orchestras in the Dexter school system.

"Orchestra Night is our annual concert that puts our entire orchestra program on display," Deloria said. "One of the best parts of the performance is that it allows the younger students to see and hear what the future holds for them down the road.

"It's also an extremely exciting night for our fifth-grade students, as it's their first-ever concert experience."

Parrish started teaching instrumental music in 1960. His career with Dexter Community Schools spanned 14 years until his retirement in 2004.

While serving as maestro, Parrish was instrumental in organizing the district's orchestra program. He recruited 16 young and ambitious fifth-graders who helped pave the way for future musicians.

The group has grown since its modest beginning in 1994. Currently, there are 44 orchestra members and 36 chamber members.

"That number doesn't include the band members who also play in the orchestras," said Deloria, a 29-year-old Livonia resident who has been teaching in Dexter for the past six years.

"The sixth-grade group has 57 members. The fifth-grade orchestra has 73 members. I'm not sure the exact numbers of the Mill Creek groups but I'd have to guess at about 75," he said.

Students can opt to play in the orchestra in fifth grade, and have an opportunity to hear and try all of the instruments before choosing what they would like to learn to play.

"Most of our members join at that time, although we always welcome new members at any grade level," he said.

Parrish's love for teaching strings and classical music are a couple of reasons why the Hamburg Township resident decided to start the orchestra program 12 years ago.

"Dexter was one of the few larger districts in Washtenaw County without a string program," Parrish said. "I had several parents talk to me about starting this program and my wife, Sally, was completely behind this idea." Sally currently teaches flute lessons in the Dexter schools.

Growth and opportunity flourished for the new music program while Parrish served as conductor.

Before his retirement, more than 300 fifth- to 12th-grade students had joined the music program, a second high school orchestra was established and the fifth-grade beginning class had more than 80 students.

ART

Museum in Nice and I saw some of Matisse's work and I said, 'You know you could really kind of copy that with duct tape.'

"I investigated and I found there are 17 colors of duct tape. So, I started dabbling a little bit with doing replicas," Warburton said.

He started by recreating a Matisse piece.

"Being a little quirky like I am, after I did it, I thought it looked pretty good, so I sent it to the Matisse Museum in Nice," Warburton said.

He later received a reply from the curator.

"It said, 'Nice work. Keep up your hobby.'" Warburton said.

He did keep up the hobby and completed a duct tape replica of another Matissepiece. This one, he sent to the Louvre, which was sent back with a note stating, "No comment."

"I sent her a tie for at least saying, 'No comment.' So she has one of my ties," Warburton said.

From there, Warburton's hobby catapulted from replicas into original works.

"I got enough guts to try some things of my own, besides just copying things," he said. "Much to my surprise, considering I don't have any training at all, they started to turn out to look like what I thought they were going to look like. It was gratifying."

Warburton doesn't sell any of his works, which adorn the walls at Beach Middle School. But he enjoys sharing his art. He has held two exhibits in Dexter, the second of which he asked people to vote on whether his pieces could be considered art. In a 327-27 vote, the response was an overwhelming "yes."

As much as he enjoys creating duct tape art, Warburton found that he has to limit himself when it comes to duct tape art.

"I get too obsessed with it," he said.

So he only allows himself to make duct tape art from the first of the year until the first day of spring.

And he hasn't given up on getting his pieces into well-known museums.

"I still send things to art museums in Europe, mostly just to see what I get as reactions," he said.

This year, Warburton received a positive response from a museum in Nice for untrained artists. The Musee International d' Art Naif accepted one of his pieces as a gift and asked to see more of his art.

"That probably encouraged me to keep on going with this," he admitted.

HONOR

cians performed at conferences and festivals. In 2003, the high school orchestra toured Italy.

The 67-year-old Parrish explained the importance of music in a child's life.

"Most prodigious musicians start at a very early age — three or four," he said. "Most public schools begin their instrumental music programs in the fifth grade. The fifth grade works fine for us mere mortal musicians.

"Besides the immense cultural aspects, music teaches a student discipline, perseverance, teamwork and allows them to become involved in community activities," he said.

"Music enables a child to see the value of hard work. It also stimulates the brain and provides an avenue for stress relief."

"Surprised and flabbergasted" are two words Parrish used to describe his feeling about receiving the award.

"I felt that being allowed to start this program and having the opportunity to conduct it for 10 years was honor enough," he said.

A plaque bearing his picture will hang on a wall in the orchestra rehearsal room.

"I have to leave it at the high school. I also feel that I have to share it with my wife since she has been so involved with the Dexter orchestras and with my career," Parrish said. "I feel very confident that with Matt Deloria at the helm, the Dexter school orchestra will continue to grow and prosper.

"I like the course we are on and I just see the program growing in size and quality every year."

The former teacher believes education is one of the most important ventures a nation can undertake.

"Our very success as a people depends upon a well-educated, informed citizenry," he said. "It's not enough to just teach children facts and figures.

"I am continually amazed by the outrageous amounts of money paid to professional entertainers, athletes and CEOs, while our educational systems are continually cut, teachers are laid off and programs are watered down. I hope and pray that our priorities will soon change.

"I believe that an outstanding educational system is the world's best hope to avoid war, eliminate poverty and enrich all humans."

LOVING HOMES NEEDED

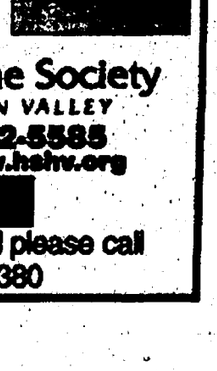

KIPPY is a 2 year old beagle mix. He is great with young kids around 5 and younger. Kippy weighs about 25 pounds and he has a dark brown coat. Kippy loves to socialize with other dogs.

OPHELIA Was brought to the shelter as a stray. She's only about 6 months old.

PETER is a super-pooch! He came to the shelter because his guardian has allergies. However, it might be worth taking some Allegra just to be around this great 1 year old doggie! Despite his 62 lb. frame, Peter is a dream on the leash. Like all good Labs, he LOVES to play fetch. That seems to be all that he lives for! We don't know how he is with cats or other dogs, but he seems quite social and friendly. I snapped his picture mid-blink and mid-smell but trust me, this pooch is quite the looker - see for yourself when you play fetch with Peter in the fenced-in play area, and see if he's the perfect pooch for you!

Fiber artist brings creations to farmers' market

Sally Houck has been looking forward to Saturday for some time.

The local artist, who runs Five River Fibers out of her Scio Township home, has been busily hand-knitting hats in preparation for the opening day of the Chelsea Farmers' Market.

Houck has been selling her one-of-a-kind hand-knit hats at the market for four years. May through October, she can be found sitting quietly next to a table displaying her work, spinning yarn on her Ashford traditional spinning wheel.

Houck said she sells her work at the local market because it's a small, intimate, friendly venue with Chelsea's unmistakable hospitality.

Greeting people with a warm smile and dancing eyes, Houck often finds people can't help but smile back. She has a way of making people feel relaxed as she talks about her craft. It's clear she takes great joy in explaining how the spinning wheel works and giving demonstrations on simple drop spindles.

But most of all, she says, she gets great satisfaction from helping to keep alive a craft that has existed for thousands of years.

Each of Houck's hats is hand knit and most are made of handspun yarn from Michigan-grown fibers that she buys locally from members of the Spinners Flock. She loves to spin many different fibers, including wool, alpaca, angora, mohair and some of the new fibers such as ingeo from corn, soy silk from soybeans, viscose rayon and bamboo.

A spinner for three decades, she still loves the feel of the fibers slipping through her fingers.

Houck was born in Ypsilanti, and grew up in Michigan and Indiana. Her parents moved back to Washtenaw County in 1967, buying a farm west of Ann Arbor where they raised Michland Morgan horses for 30 years. Her sister, Polly Ellison, lives south of Chelsea and her niece, Jennifer Ellison, owns Chelsea Village Flowers on East Middle Street.

Houck learned to knit, crochet and sew from her mother and grandmother when she was a young girl. Little did she know that fiber arts would become her life's passion.

She studied art at Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City and then transferred to Western Michigan University. The first art class she took at WMU was for weaving, and she quickly realized that she had found her medium, eventually earning a bachelor's degree in textiles.

After marrying and having her first child in Northport, Houck bought an organic farm adjoining the Siuslaw National Forest in the Coastal Mountain Range in Oregon. She started a small flock of sheep with two Karakul ewes and a ram that friends brought to her from Michigan.

Houck sheared her sheep and then learned to spin from the members of the Corvallis Handspinners Guild. Several years later, she opened The Weavers Workshop on the coast in Waldport, Ore., where she taught classes in spinning and weaving and sold equipment and supplies.

Hock returned to Michigan in 1998. She earned certificates in Internet professional and graphic design technology from Washtenaw Community College and was working on a certificate in photography when she met Marilyn Prucka, a graduate student in the textiles department at Eastern Michigan University. Prucka gave her a tour of the textile studio and showed her two digital looms, which changed her art.

With a computer background from WCC, Houck knew that she had to return to textiles to explore contemporary digital weaving. She immediately enrolled at EMU and started taking textile classes and workshops on the TC-1 Jacquard loom.

In the fall of 2004, she was accepted in the master's degree program for textiles, and is currently a graduate assistant in textiles and is working on a series of weavings on the Jacquard loom.

In addition, she is a part-time faculty member at WCC and manages the production center for the Visual Art Technology Department.

For a sneak peak of Houck's work before the market opens, check out her hats at West of the Moon Gallery on Middle Street in Chelsea.

WASHTENAW COUNTY

Watch for West Nile virus

Local health officials are warning residents not to let their guard down this year when it comes to the West Nile virus.

Although the past few virus seasons were relatively quiet in Washtenaw County, multiple bird, horse and human infections indicate that the virus was circulating throughout the community, according to the Washtenaw County Health Department.

The county will continue its prevention efforts this year, including operating a local hotline, testing dead birds, and tracking bird, horse and human infections.

The county also encourages municipalities and individuals to take an active role in West Nile virus prevention. Residents are reminded to:

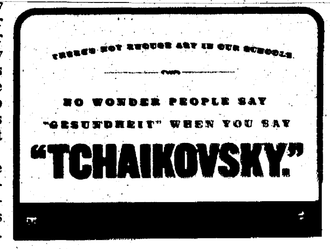

• Reduce areas where mosquitoes breed by getting rid of standing water. Empty water from clogged rain gutters, pool covers, flower pots, toys and other outdoor items that may hold water. Change water in horse troughs and outdoor pet dishes every two to three days. Also, municipalities are encouraged to apply larvicides to storm water catch basins and other areas of standing water that cannot be drained.

• Repel mosquitoes by wearing protective clothing and insect repellent. When outdoors, wear long sleeves and pants, if possible, and apply insect repellent that contains DEET, picaridin, or oil of lemon eucalyptus. Remember to follow all label instructions, and wash the repellent off after coming indoors.

• Report dead birds to the Washtenaw County West Nile Virus Hotline at 1-734-544-6750, or to the state's West Nile Virus Web site at www.michigan.gov/emergingdiseases.

Last year in the United States, West Nile virus caused nearly 3,000 human infections and more than 100 deaths. Michigan experienced 62 human infections, with four deaths. Three of Michigan's cases were in Washtenaw County. All three people have since recovered.

For more information, visit the Web site http://westnile.ewashtenaw.org or call the Washtenaw County West Nile Virus Hotline.

Reinhardt hat trick leads Chelsea

Bulldogs suffer first loss of season against Saline

The Chelsea girls' soccer team defeated host Adrian 7-0 last Friday. With the victory, the Bulldogs (7-1, 2-1) have shut out seven of their eight opponents this season.

"That matches last year's total," said Chelsea coach Chris Orlandi.

Sarah Reinhardt led Chelsea with three goals, for a hat trick.

Mackenzie Lake, Liz Gunden and Lee McLaughlin also scored for the Bulldogs.

Picking up assists for Chelsea were Tiffany Goetz, who had two, and Ellen Stewart, Amanda McKenzie, Gunden and Reinhardt, who had one each.

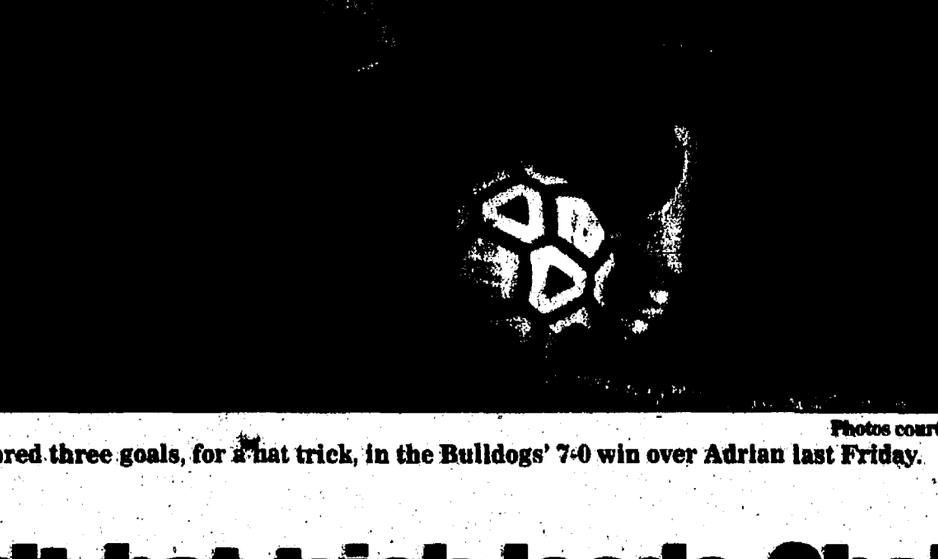

Keeper Maggie Manville earned the shutout in net for the Bulldogs.

Chelsea out-shot the Maples 47-0 for the game.

Chelsea vs. Saline

Last Thursday, the Bulldogs dropped their first game of the season, and allowed their first goal of the year, losing to host Saline 4-2.

"Well, the perfect season is definitely over," Orlandi said. "I thought we came out strong and played with good energy early. We just ended up in a tailspin that we couldn't get out of. Our defense really lost their confidence and got down on themselves.

Bulldog Jenny Carty beats a Saline defender to the ball, during Chelsea's 4-2 loss to the Hornets last Thursday. The setback was the Bulldogs' first defeat of the season.

"Saline, like always, is a quality team so you're never embarrassed losing to them. Still, this team expects more of itself and is terribly disappointed with the result."

The Bulldogs opened the scoring, as Reinhardt beat the Hornet keeper off an assist from Stewart at the 11-minute mark of the first half.

"Ellen hit a corner (kick) that landed in the box and Reinhardt hit a half volley from the PK (penalty kick) spot into the lower right corner of the net," Orlandi said.

Saline answered three minutes later, tying the game at 1-1. The goal was the first given up by Chelsea all season.

In the second half, McKenzie gave the Bulldogs a 2-1 lead, scoring at the 58-minute mark off an assist from Reinardt.

One minute later, the Hornets tied it up with a goal, making the score 2-2.

Two minutes after tying the contest, Saline took the lead for good with a goal at the 61-minute mark.

With two minutes remaining, the Hornets secured their victory with a goal for the day's final margin.

Saline out-shot Chelsea 17-7 for the game.

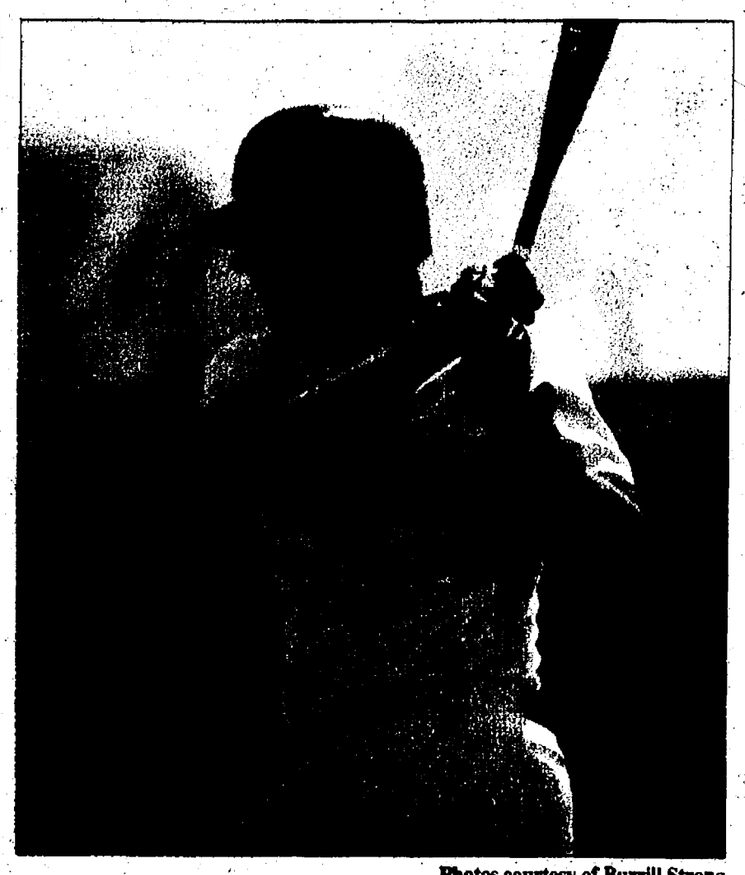

"Each time we scored, Saline answered immediately, which took a lot of the wind out of our sails," Orlandi said. "After Saline tied things up at two in the second half, they absolutely took over the game for the next 10 minutes."

Chelsea vs. Bedford

On April 25, host Chelsea blanked Temperance Bedford 4-0.

After a scoreless first half, Lake hit the back of the Mule net, giving the Bulldogs a 1-0 advantage. Angela Koich recorded an assist on the play for Chelsea.

Chelsea baseball split a doubleheader with visiting Adrian, winning 13-3 and losing 5-3, last Monday.

In the opener, the Maples jumped out to a 3-0 first inning lead.

The Bulldogs (10-5, 3-3), however, responded with 13 unanswered runs, forcing the 10-run deficit mercy rule victory.

Chad Nielsen picked up the win from the mound for Chelsea, improving his record to 3-1 on the young season.

The Bulldogs broke the game open, scoring seven runs in the second inning. Dan Augustine cranked a two-run home run, while Robbie Moffett and Nielsen each had doubles. Travis Amburgey had a two-run single, while Adam Connell had one RBI and Joe Welton a single in the second frame for Chelsea.

The Bulldogs put the contest away in the fifth inning, as C.J. Boyer belted a three-run home run over the center field fence.

For the game, Chelsea finished with 14 hits.

Moffett led the offensive attack for the Bulldogs with three hits, including a double and two RBIs. Connell and Amburgey each had two hits for Chelsea.

In the second game, Adrian turned three Bulldog errors into runs to earn the win.

"It was a frustrating game," said Chelsea Wayne Welton. "Our three errors cost us. But give Adrian credit, they bounced back (from opening loss)."

Connell, Welton and Moffett led Chelsea with two hits each. Boyer added a double.

Danny Rhodes absorbed the loss for the Bulldogs, throwing all seven innings, allowing six hits.

"He pitched well," Welton said of Rhodes, who evened his record at 2-2 for the year.

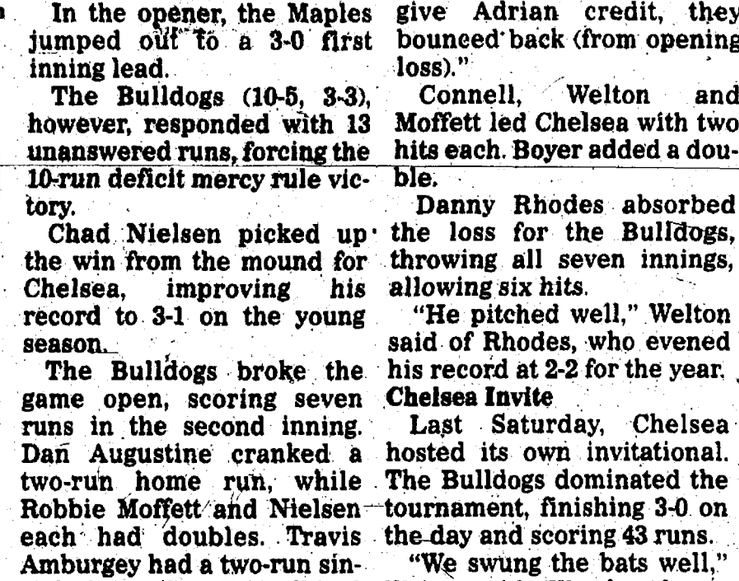

Chelsea Invite

Last Saturday, Chelsea hosted its own invitational. The Bulldogs dominated the tournament, finishing 3-0 on the day and scoring 43 runs.

"We swung the bats well," Welton said. "We played very well."

Prior to the tournament, Chelsea held a ceremony honoring all of the donors who helped in the building of the Bulldogs' baseball stadium, one of the finest high school facilities in the state.

GOLF

Linksters fifth at invitational

Three Bulldogs shoot best competitive rounds of career

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

The Chelsea girls' golf team finished fifth overall at last Saturday's Temperance Bedford Invitational at Bedford Hills Golf Club.

The Bulldogs ended up with a score of 383.

"This was a great overall team effort," said Chelsea coach Andrea Bareis. "Three of our top four golfers shot their best competitive rounds ever. How exciting to have them all come on the same day."

Emily Hardcastle led Chelsea, shooting a career best 84. For her efforts, she placed sixth individually in the 15-team tournament.

"Emily's 84 was just an overall fantastic round of golf," Bareis said. "She is proving herself to be one of the best golfers in the area. She is a very consistent, even-tempered golfer. She is having a simply spectacular junior year."

Krystin Schwarze added a career best 91 for the Bulldogs, placing 10th individually.

"Krystin's 91 is the best competitive 18-hole score a (Chelsea) freshman girls' golfer has ever posted," Bareis said. "In fact, she would have had an 89, but she had to take a two-stroke penalty on a hole she would have parred."

After an opponent asked her to, Schwarze moved her mark on the putting green. She later forgot to replace the mark to its original position before making a stroke. Because of that miscue, Schwarze had to take a two-stroke penalty, and absorb a double-bogey instead of par.

"It was a great lesson though, and, as a testament to her integrity, no one in her group remembered that she didn't replace her mark to its original position," Bareis said. "She remembered and called the penalty on herself. That just embodies all the honor and integrity this game stands for."

Kate Trinkle and Hannah Harwood each carded a 104 for Chelsea. Harwood's tally was a career best total.

"This was Hannah's first 18-hole competitive round of golf," Bareis said. "She rose to the occasion. I knew that Hannah was capable of this kind of golf. It's so nice to see her start reaching her potential this year as a freshman. She has a great career in the making."

Trinkle participated in the tournament despite suffering back pain throughout the day.

"Playing through her pain, Kate showed her commitment to the team and wound up shooting a good round of golf," Bareis said.

Emma Chervinsky finished with a 113, while Chrissy Burman had a 121 for the Bulldogs.

"Emma is continually improving as the season progresses, which is good for our team," Bareis said. "She works hard on every round of golf and has an incredible drive and passion to improve.

"Chrissy was playing her first round of varsity golf. She turned in a great performance."

Chelsea Quad

On April 26, Chelsea finished second at its own quad, shooting a 203 at Reddeman Farms Golf Course.

Winning the quad was Division II No. 1-ranked Dexter with a 184. Tecumseh was third with a 219, while Ypsilanti Lincoln was fourth with a 258.

Dreadnaught Katelin Davis was medalist for the match, recording a 39.

Pacing the Bulldogs was Hardcastle, who finished runner-up with a 45.

"Emily's consistency is really shining through," Bareis said. "She hit six of seven fairways and hit half the greens in regulation."

Schwarze ended up with a 49, while Trinkle had a 50 and Chervinsky a 59 for Chelsea. Emma Seitz carded a 60, while Harwood had a 62.

Perry Rambler Invite

On April 22, the Bulldogs participated in the 18-team Perry Rambler Invitational at Glenbrier Golf Course in Perry.

Chelsea ended up with a total team score of 446.

"When you shoot a team score of 446, there aren't many bright spots," Bareis said.

One of the highlights for the Bulldogs was Hardcastle's 87, placing her fifth overall individually in the tournament.

Schwarze finished with a 112, while Chervinsky had a 123. Kate Trinkle and Emma Seitz each shot a 124 for Chelsea.

"This course got the best of most of the girls today, but they learned some very good lessons," Bareis said. "You've got to remember to play the course, it's not going to change. If your game isn't working, you've got to change your game to meet the conditions of the course. We didn't do that as a team."

The Bulldogs next travel to Jackson County Western to participate in its invitational 9 a.m. Friday.

On Monday, Chelsea hosts Ann Arbor Pioneer at 3 p.m.

On Wednesday, the Bulldogs visit Tecumseh to compete in its quad at 3 p.m.

Bulldog Austin Rodgers finished first in the shot put, with a throw of 45-feet, 5 inches, at last Friday's Mason Invitational. The senior also bested the field in the discus, placing first with a toss of 138-8.

The Chelsea boys' track and field team placed third at last Friday's Mason Invitational.

The Bulldogs finished with 123 points.

Capturing the overall crown was Okemos with 157 points. Dexter was second with 127 points.

"We saw improvement across the board at this meet," said Chelsea coach Eric Swager. "We were focusing on individual time, distance improvement, and we saw a lot of it."

Pacing the Bulldogs was Ian Girard, who placed first in the 3,200-meter run with a time of 9:28.

"The performance of the meet had to be Ian's 3,200-meter run," Swager said. "He beat Dexter's Dan Jackson for the third time in a week. He ran the second fastest time in school history, setting a meet record. It was a great effort, on a great day."

Brandon Smith crossed the line second in the 1,600-meter run in 4:36. Teammate Riley Feeney ended up sixth in 4:52 for Chelsea.

In the 800-meter run, Al Stewart placed second in 2:02.7 for the Bulldogs.

Evan Carpenter paced Chelsea in the 110-meter hurdles, finishing second in 15.7. Drew Wint was fifth in 16.2, while Justin McGrath was seventh in 16.6 for the Bulldogs.

Carpenter placed second in the 300-meter hurdles in 42.6, while Wint was third in 43.4.

"The hurdlers continue to dominate, with Evan Carpenter and Drew Wint both running personal bests and earning medals," Swager said.

In the 400-meter run, Antwan McClendon ended up eighth in 56.1 for Chelsea.

Danny Ngo topped the Bulldogs in the 100 meters with a time of 12.1. Jason Ratliff recorded a mark of 24.1 in the 200 meters for Chelsea.

In the field events, Austin Rodgers finished first in the discus with a toss of 138-feet, 8 inches. Tyler Ball was fourth with a 119-11. In the shot put, Rodgers was first with a throw of 45-5. Ball was third with a mark of 43-6.

"Austin is starting to perform with the sort of leadership that we need," Swager said.

Wint placed fifth in the pole vault with a height of 11-0.

McClendon ended up sixth in the long jump with a leap of 18-9.

The Bulldog group of Jason Ratliff, Zach Gregory, Ngo and McClendon placed second in the 800-meter relay with a time of 1:34.8.

Brad Ratliff, Kevin Rosentreter, Ngo and Gregory finished third in the 400-meter relay with a clocking of 46.1.

In the 1,600-meter relay, Stewart, Girard, Smith and McClendon placed fourth in 3:33.5 for Chelsea.

"We have some big competition coming up in the next few weeks, and it's nice to be rolling in the right direction as we enter the meat of the season," Swager said.

Chelsea vs. Dexter

On April 25, the Bulldogs lost to county rival Dexter 74-63.

Girard led Chelsea, finishing first in the 3,200-meter run in 9:47 and in the 1,600-meter run in 4:29.

"Ian beat indoor All-American Dan Jackson," Swager said. "He is becoming a better racer as the season progresses."

Carpenter placed first in the 110-meter hurdles in 15.6. McGrath was second in 16.05, while Wint was third in 16.07.

The Bulldogs also swept the 300-meter hurdles with Carpenter first in 42.3. Wint was second in 44.0, while McGrath was third in 44.9.

"I am very proud of our hurdlers and distance runners," Swager said. "They stepped up to the plate and gave us a chance to win."

Stewart placed first in the 800-meter run in 2:02.8. Smith was third in 2:04.8.

Smith crossed the line second in the 400-meter run in 54.2.

Jason Ratliff finished third in the 100 meters in 11.5. Ngo was close behind with an 11.56.

Sam Boyce was tops on Chelsea in the 200 meters with a time of 25.4.

In the field events, Rodgers placed first in the shot put with a 45-10 and in the discus in 133-11. Ball was third in the shot put with a mark of 41-4 and second in the discus with a 111-11.

"Austin Rodgers and Tyler Ball had solid throws to contribute to our point total," Swager said.

McClendon was third in the long jump with a leap of 19-5.

The Bulldog quartet of Drew Hamilton, Stewart, Feeney and Smith broke the tape first in the 3,200-meter relay with a time of 8:50.

In the 800-meter relay, Jason Ratliff, Ngo, Gregory and McClendon placed first in 1:35.9.

"For the fourth straight year, the meet was decided by a six-point swing or less," Swager said. "Dexter dominated us in the short sprints and jumping events. In the three short sprints and three jumping events, we were outscored 48-2. It is darn near impossible to overcome a deficit like that.

"I would like to congratulate Dexter on a fine team effort in victory."

Swager said his young runners continue to improve as the season moves along.

"But we need to execute better across the board if we wish to be a complete team," he said.

Chelsea next travels to Ypsilanti to participate in its invitational 2 p.m. Friday.

On Wednesday, the Bulldogs visit Ypsilanti Lincoln for a Southeastern Conference White Division quad at 1 p.m.

In the opener, Hannah Myers led the Bulldogs (10-8) with two singles, while Brogan Darwin had a double.

Tawny McSweeney absorbed the loss from the circle for Chelsea.

In the nightcap, the Bulldogs swatted 10 hits, but couldn't hold on for the victory.

"It was a hard-fought game," said Chelsea coach Jenni Linde.

Kelly Jo Milliken and Alisha Jacobs each finished with two hits for Chelsea.

Milliken recorded the loss from the rubber for the Bulldogs.

Last Saturday, Chelsea hosted its own invitational. The Bulldogs ended up 1-2 on the day.

"The day started off with a nice dedication ceremony of the new stadium field," Linde said. "We thanked all of our donors."

In its first game, Chelsea lost to Holt 11-1.

In Game 2, the Bulldogs fell to Lansing Catholic Central 4-1.

In its final contest, Chelsea defeated Napoleon 8-4.

Darwin led the hit parade for the Bulldogs with one triple and two singles.

Milliken added one double and one single, while McSweeney had three singles.

Chelsea's Lizzie Bentley sprints down to first base versus Adrian last Monday.

Last Thursday, the visiting Bulldogs lost a doubleheader to Tecumseh 3-2, 6-0.

In the opener, McSweeney absorbed the loss from the circle.

At the plate, Milliken stroked a double to lead Chelsea.

In Game 2, Milliken took the loss from the rubber.

"We had no one with multiple hits and only three hits total, and they were all singles," Linde said.

On April 24, the visiting Bulldogs swept a doubleheader from Fowlerville, winning 4-3, 8-1.

"It was a great day overall for the Bulldogs," Linde said.

Highlights of the two-game sweep included a fence-clearing home run and a double by Annie Hollandsworth, while Milliken finished 3-for-4 on the day and Jacobs hit a triple for Chelsea.

Picking up the victories from the circle for the Bulldogs were McSweeney and Milliken.

Chelsea next hosts Ypsilanti Lincoln 4 p.m. Thursday.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS

Sayers earns MSU award

Former Bulldog competes in Big Ten meet despite injury

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Chelsea's Allison Sayers was honored as Michigan State University's Spartan of the Year at MSU's women's swimming and diving banquet last month. Flanking Sayers is diving coach Eric Best (left) and head coach Matt Gianiodis.

Chelsea's Allison Sayers was named Spartan of the Year for the Michigan State University women's swimming and diving team last month.

"It feels really great, and it makes all the hard work at practices and in-season meets worth it," said Sayers, a junior diver. "I had to work really hard this year to make it to the (Big Ten) championships, and once I got there I had this accident. But I wasn't about to let that stop me from competing, so to be honored for that was really great."

Sayers' "accident" was a broken hand suffered prior to the Big Ten meet.

"It's still sore and aches a lot after practices, but it's getting much better," she said.

Sayers, who carries a 3.4 grade point average in hospitality business, injured her hand in an unusual manner.

"I was in practice at the (Big Ten) meet and fractured climbing the steps up to the three-meter board," she said.

Despite the unfortunate accident, Sayers refused to be discouraged. Enduring pain every time she dived, Sayers still finished 20th overall in the Big Ten.

"I thought that was very respectable considering the condition of my hand," she said. "It (diving) was incredibly painful. I was unable to warm up my dives, so I had to do every dive in the meet completely unprepared.

"With a mixture of ice, Motrin, taping my hand every day, numbing gel and adrenaline, I was able to make it through the competition."

Sayers said it's an honor being named Spartan of the Year.

"It feels really great," she said. "It makes all the hard work at practices and in season meets worth it. I had to work really hard this year to make it to the (Big Ten) championships. Once I was there, I had this accident, but I wasn't about to let that stop me from competing. So to be honored for that was really great."

Sayers said, despite her injury, she plans to dive next year for MSU. It will be her final season as a Spartan.

"I would like to place in the top 15 at the (Big Ten) championships, and place in the top 20 at regionals," she said. "I would just like to finish out my last year with a great season."

"It was a good day," Welton said. "I'd like to thank all of the donors. We had a good turnout."

In its first game, Chelsea blanked Gibraltor Carlson 15-0 in a mercy rule victory.

Augustine chalked up the win from the rubber, allowing one hit, fanning four and walking none.

The Bulldogs scored seven runs in the first inning. Key hits in the frame came from Nielsen and Amburgey, who each stroked two-run doubles.

After increasing its lead to 9-0, Chelsea secured its win, scoring six runs in the third inning for the game's ending tally.

Connell, Amburgey and Augustine each finished with two hits, while Boyer had three RBIs for the Bulldogs. Todd Elliott had a two-run double, while Welton and Rhodes each had a single for Chelsea.

In their second game, the Bulldog bats continued booming, as Chelsea beat Swartz Creek 16-1 in a mercy rule victory.

Boyer recorded the win from the mound, yielding three hits, with five strikeouts and no walks.

After taking a 3-0 lead in the second inning, Chelsea broke open the contest with an eight-run third frame.

The Bulldogs batted around the line-up in the third inning. Moffett had a single, triple and four RBIs in the frame, while Augustine had a three-run home run and a double for Chelsea. Connell added a double, while Welton had a single in the third stanza for the Bulldogs.

In the fourth inning, Chelsea put the Dragons out of their misery, as Derek Brown clubbed a three-run home run over the left centerfield fence.

"He hit the ball over both fences, including the old ball field, and over the trees," Welton said.

In the day's third game, the Bulldogs defeated Ypsilanti 12-7.

Moffett tossed the first five innings for Chelsea. Augustine finished up, throwing the final two frames for the "W."

Augustine was also a standout with the bat, connecting for two two-run home runs during the contest.

The Bulldogs led 6-1 entering the top of the fifth inning. The Braves rallied for six runs, taking a 7-6 lead into the bottom of the stanza.

In Chelsea's half of the fifth inning, the Bulldogs answered with six runs of their own for the game's final margin. The key hit in the inning was a bases-loaded, three-run double by Connell.

Chelsea vs. Tecumseh

Last Thursday, visiting Chelsea split a doubleheader with Southeastern Conference White Division foe Tecumseh, losing 1-0 and winning 3-1.

In the opener, the Indians scored the game's lone run in the fourth inning on two singles, a sacrifice and a squeeze play.

Nielsen picked up the loss for the Bulldogs, allowing two hits, fanning 12 and walking one.

Joe Hill was the winning pitcher for Tecumseh.

"It was a classic pitcher's duel," Welton said. "We never really threatened. It was a tough game to lose."

Chelsea managed only three hits, with Augustine, Amburgey and Nielsen all singling for the Bulldogs.

In the nightcap, Rhodes recorded the win from the rubber, giving up two hits, striking out 11 and walking none.

Connell paced the offensive attack with three hits. Welton knocked in all three runs, with a two-run double and a RBI single.

Cam Hawkins and Brown each had a single for Chelsea.

For the doubleheader, Bulldog pitchers allowed four hits, struck out 23 and walked one.

"Rhodes and Nielsen were magnificent," Welton said.

Chelsea vs. Huron

On April 25, Chelsea split a doubleheader with host Ann Arbor Huron, prevailing 10-4 and losing 7-5.

In the first game, Welton chalked up the win, striking out seven in four innings of work. Moffett earned the save, throwing three innings and fanning five.

Trailing 2-0 entering the third inning, the Bulldogs scored five runs, taking control of the game. Boyer smacked a three-run home run, while Hawkins had a two-run RBI single for the inning's key hits.

For the contest, Welton and Moffett paced Chelsea, each with three hits.

In the second game, Moffett had three hits, including a two-run home run to lead the Bulldogs. Welton added three hits, including a double, while Augustine had two hits.

Chelsea next hosts Ypsilanti Lincoln 4 p.m. Thursday.

On Saturday, the Bulldogs host Ypsilanti at 10 a.m.

On Monday, Chelsea travels to Saline for a game at 4 p.m.

On May 11, the Bulldogs visit county rival Dexter for a contest at 4 p.m.

Freshman Baseball

Chelsea's freshman baseball team swept a doubleheader from host Adrian, winning 14-4, 12-7 last Monday.

In the opener, the Bulldogs scored eight runs in the first inning.

Randy Cox pitched five innings for the win.

Michael Lenneman and Andrew Sensoli had three hits each for Chelsea.

In the second game, a five-run fourth inning keyed the Bulldogs' victory.

Sensoli earned the win from the hill for Chelsea. Scott Rhodes finished up throwing the final two innings, striking out five of the six batters he faced.

"Needless to say, it was our best performance this year in all three phases of the game," said Chelsea coach Jason Morris. "Our pitching was great, we played sound defense and we continue to hit the ball well. What we want to do now is be consistent every game in all three of these areas."

Last Friday, host Chelsea lost 15-11 against Tecumseh in the first game of a doubleheader. Game 2 was called after three innings, with the Bulldogs leading 3-2.

Chelsea next travels to Coldwater Saturday to participate in its invitational at 10 a.m.

On Monday, the Bulldogs host Saline at 4 p.m.

CHELSEA

Kaitlin Ehman scored one minute later for the Bulldogs, increasing the lead to 2-0. Lake picked up an assist on the goal for Chelsea.

McKenzie gave the Bulldogs a 3-0 lead, scoring off an assist from Stewart at the 68-minute mark.

To close out the game, Leah Morrison scored unassisted for the day's final tally.

Manville earned the win in net for Chelsea.

The Bulldogs out-shot Bedford 26-2 for the game.

"We dominated from the opening kick through the final whistle, with outstanding passing and defense," Orlandi said. "The Bedford defense was also stingy in the first half, however, and we were unable to get on the scoreboard. It's always scary when you do everything right, but you can't score. Fortunately, the offense really got things going in the second half."

Despite the win, Chelsea suffered a setback as senior leader Jaime Franks injured her knee in the first half.

"That could sideline her for a while, potentially the season," Orlandi said. "We're waiting for the assessment of the damage. Losing her will make things extremely difficult in the coming weeks, but it will pose a great opportunity and challenge for the rest of the team to overcome."

The Bulldogs next host Ann Arbor Pioneer 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

On Tuesday, Chelsea travels to Southeastern Conference White Division foe Tecumseh for a contest at 5:30 p.m.

On May 11, the Bulldogs host SEC White rival Ypsilanti Lincoln at 5:30 p.m.

JV Soccer

Chelsea's JV girls' soccer team defeated host Jackson Northwest 5-1 April 21.

Emily Rabbitt led the Bulldogs (5-0-1), with three goals, for a hat trick.

Also scoring for Chelsea were Emily Harris and Devin Steiger.

Picking up assists for the Bulldogs were Codie Barron, Kara Cremer and Brooke MacMillan.

"Our team had great switches on the field, changing direction from one side of the field to the other," said Chelsea coach Carly Groves.

Jenna Jarvis earned the win in net for Chelsea.

On April 20, the host Bulldogs beat Adrian 10-0.

Kelly Fountain scored two goals to pace Chelsea.

Scoring one goal for the Bulldogs were Carolyn Olsen, Alexa Petoskey, Brooke Ehman, Barron, Jarvis, Steiger and Rabbitt.

Cayla Redmond, Tisha Hash, Olsen, Ehman, Jarvis, Steiger, Petoskey and Rabbitt each recorded an assist for Chelsea.

"We were on the offensive during the whole game and had several great opportunities for goals," Groves said.

Chelsea's Ariel Schepers and her Bulldog teammates lost to Saline 4-2 last Thursday. The four scores were the first goals allowed by Chelsea this season.

On April 25, the host Bulldogs bested Temperance Bedford 7-0.

Rabbitt sparked Chelsea with three goals for a hat trick.

"Emily is doing an excellent job of going to the goal aggressively and finishing," Groves said.

Olsen added two goals, while Steiger and Petoskey each had one goal for the Dawgs. Leah Cooperider and Olsen each finished with two assists, while MacMillian, Harris and Steiger each had one assist.

Chelsea next hosts Ann Arbor Pioneer 4 p.m. Thursday.

On Tuesday, the Bulldogs travel to Tecumseh for a match at 4 p.m.

Nominations sought for teaching award

The Gilder Lehrman Institute of American History is seeking nominations for the annual Michigan History Teacher of the Year Award.

The Institute, in partnership with Preserve America, inaugurated the award in 2004. The History Teacher of the Year Award is designed to promote and celebrate the teaching of American history in classrooms across the United States. It honors one exceptional teacher of American history from each state and U.S. territory.

The selection of the state winner is based on several criteria, including experience in teaching American history for at least three years; a deep career commitment to teaching American history; evidence of creativity and imagination in the classroom; and close attention to documents, artifacts, historic sites, and the other primary materials of history.

The state winner will receive a $1,000 honorarium and will be in the running for the National History Teacher of the Year award to be selected this fall. His or her school library will receive a core archive of history books and materials.

The deadline is May 31.

For more information, contact Gordon Andrews, Michigan coordinator, at 1-269-674-4709 or e-mail gandrews@portageps.org.

Tom Burch (left) of Manchester and David Miley of Dexter start the bidding for a new queen-size bed spread April 12 as the Knights of Columbus raised $2,000 for the St. Louis Center in Sylvan Township.

CHELSEA-DEXTER AREA

Auction raises money

The Knights of Columbus Hall in Dexter was the place to be April 12 as members of the Fourth Degree of the Knights of Columbus held an auction to benefit the developmentally disabled children and adults of the St. Louis Center in Sylvan Township.

A total of $2,000 was raised and a check was presented to the Rev. Fortunato Turati.

David Miley of Dexter and Tom Burch of Manchester helped auction off more than 100 items donated by members.

Known as the "Patriotic Degree" of the Knights of Columbus, the membership of Cardinal O'Hara Assembly 0489 comes from the 12 third degree councils of the Knights of Columbus that exist throughout Washtenaw County.

One unusual aspect of the event is the annual potato auction. Mike DuRussel of DuRussel Potato Farms in Manchester donates 200 pounds of potatoes that are bid on by members of the audience. Ten couples paid $27 each for ten 10-pound bags, and two couples paid $40 each for two 50-pound bags. The 200 pounds of potatoes were then donated back to St. Louis Center.

"We've been holding this auction for several years now to benefit St. Louis Center. Since the first principle of the Knights of Columbus is charity, we felt that this was a great way to show our support for the good works done by the Servants of Charity Order," said Mark Anderson, who holds the title "faithful navigator" in the assembly.

"There are many disadvantaged children at the center without family ties, and this is our small way of improving their quality of life."

DEXTER VILLAGE

Church gets new rector

The 216-member congregation of St. James' Episcopal Church in Dexter has welcomed a new rector, the Rev. Cynthia Guthkelch. She comes to Dexter from St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Tunkhannock, Pa., where she had been rector since January 2003.

After losing the parish campus in September 2004 due to massive flooding from Hurricane Ivan, Guthkelch led the parish to re-establish in a storefront and successfully negotiated a buyout through the Federal Emergency Management Administration.

Before serving at St. Peter's, Guthkelch was associate rector at Saint Paul's in Kansas City, Mo. She earned a master's degree in divinity from the Episcopal Divinity School in Cambridge, Mass., and was ordained in the Diocese of Kansas, where she had served as a hospital resident chaplain and as a deacon.

Guthkelch is a physician assistant, and enjoys reading poetry, playing the piano and shooting sporting clays. Her earlier degrees are from Prescott College in Prescott, Ariz., and Wichita State University in Wichita, Kan.

Her husband, Norman, is a retired pediatric neurosurgeon and was the first physician to recognize the association between brain injury in infants and the practice of shaking the children to punish or silence them, now known as Shaken Baby Syndrome. He is also the founder of the International Society for Research in Spina Bifida and Hydrocephalus.

The Rev. Cynthia Guthkelch was named the new rector at the 216-member St. James' Episcopal Church in Dexter. She comes to Dexter from St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Tunkhannock, Pa., where she had been rector since January 2003.

Guthkelch's daughter, Ashley, attends the University of Kansas.

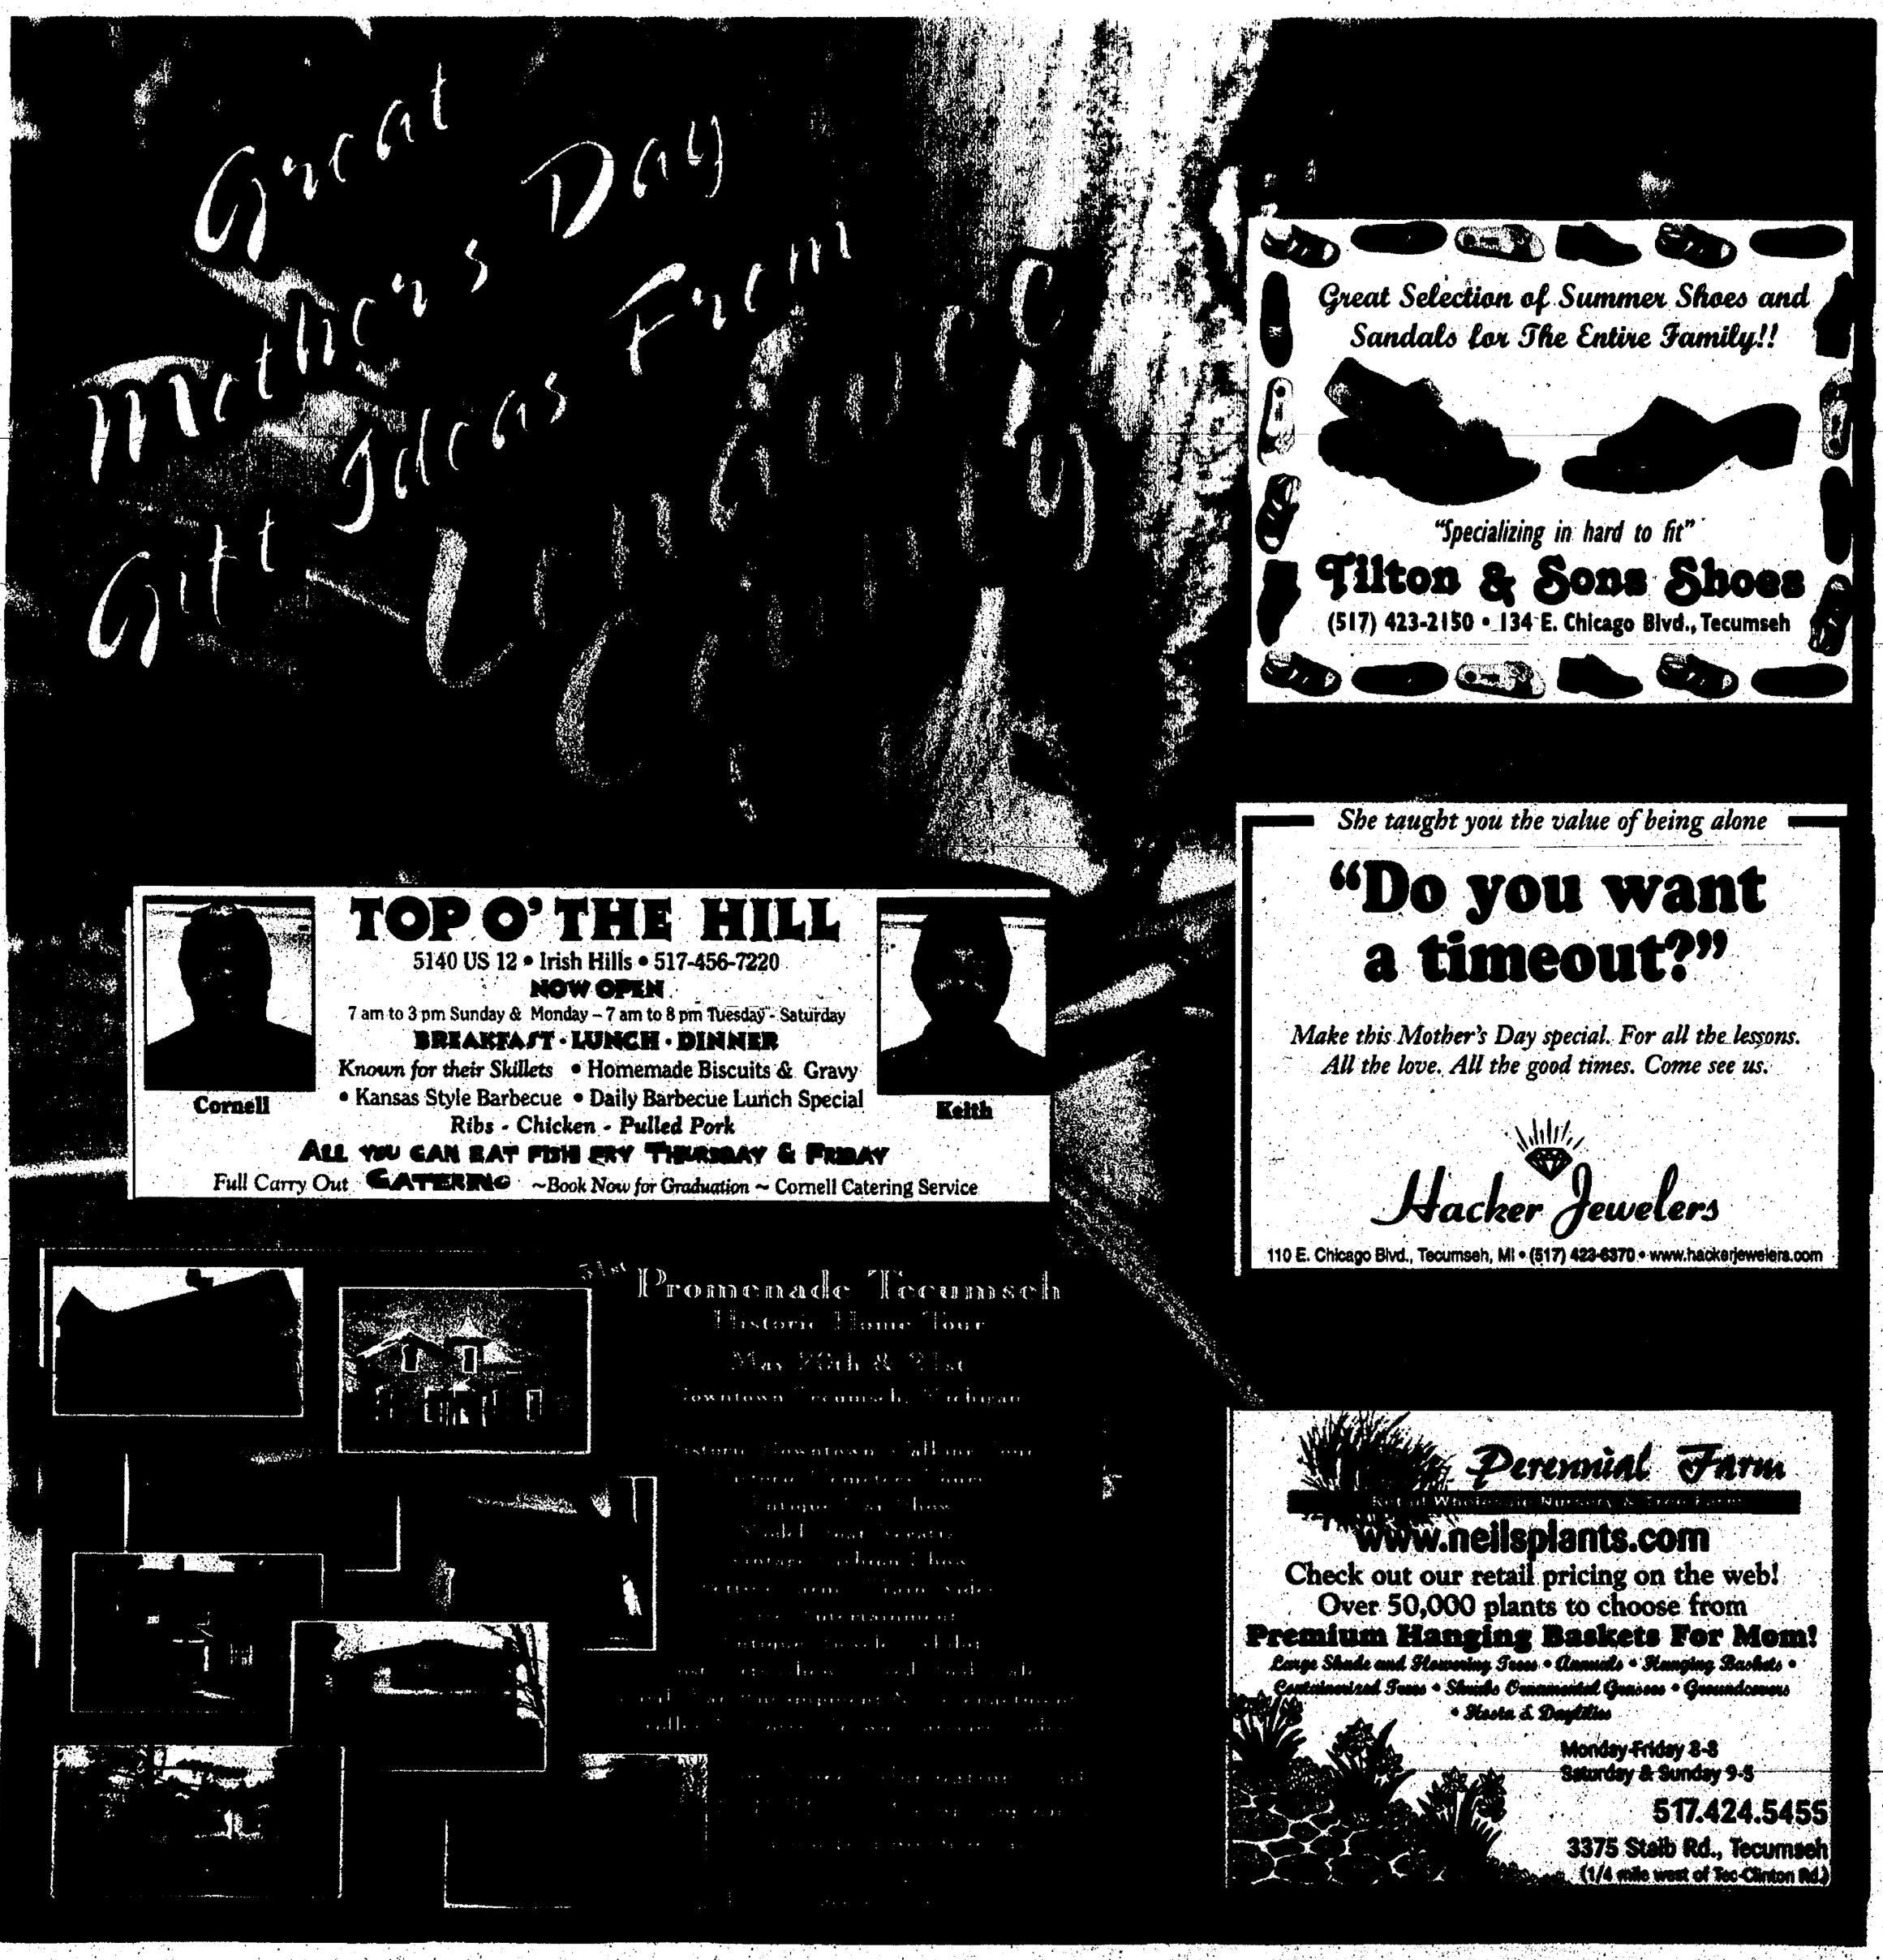

For the previous 18 months, before her arrival in February, the Rev. R. Bruce Birdsey had served as interim rector while the congregation searched for a permanent rector. He has moved with his wife, Brenda, to serve as interim at Holy Comforter Episcopal Church in Richmond, Va.

St. James' church, 3279 Broad St., has been a part of the Dexter community since 1837, the year in which Michigan gained statehood and the University of Michigan was moved to Ann Arbor. The original church was constructed of locally cut and hewn logs. The current building is on land donated by town founder Samuel Dexter.

Today, the church contributes to the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan and the broader church, participating in ecumenical celebrations and initiatives, and by helping local charities and community activities.

The church sponsors a chicken broil during Dexter Daze in July, a turkey dinner in November and a cookie walk during the Victorian Christmas celebration in December.

Members of the congregation come from a wide range of local communities, including Ann Arbor, Brighton, Chelsea, Pinckney, Saline, Whitmore Lake and Ypsilanti, as well as Dexter.

Overview

Whether spending a weekend or a lifetime in Chelsea, it's easy to see why people in surrounding communities have ranked Chelsea as the area's best small town.

With music, sports, community service organizations for any interest, a top-ranked community hospital, a school system known for excellence, special events through the year and access to the state's largest recreational area, Chelsea mixes big-city options in a small-town package.

Chelsea offers entertainment in many forms, many artistic. Music, dance, theater and fine art all have a place in the town's culture. Home of the Purple Rose Theatre Company, Chelsea attracts some of the area's best talent and largest theatrical audiences as it draws rave reviews.

Many youth performance companies also exist in town, focusing on dance, theater and choral arts. Fine arts can be seen at two downtown galleries, and the Chelsea Center for the Arts coordinates a community art project every year in which area artists, individuals, families and organizations can express themselves through a project to be enjoyed by the entire community.

There are also ample opportunities to enjoy sports and recreation. Adult team sports are available through Community Education, while youth can find them through numerous associations.

Recreation is one of Chelsea's biggest draws, as the town is a gateway to the Waterloo Recreation Area, the largest park in Michigan's lower peninsula.

which includes more than 20,000 acres and 11 fishing lakes.

Clubs and organizations are available in Chelsea to suit every desire. Whether you are looking for a social group, community outreach, education or support, the variety of options in Chelsea has a perfect fit for every individual. Children can participate in one of many Scouting troops, as well as 4-H clubs, and senior citizens can enjoy the camaraderie at the Chelsea Senior Center.

Chelsea Community Hospital is one amenity that makes Chelsea stand out from other area towns. The Chelsea hospital is one of the nation's top-ranked medical centers for patient care and satisfaction. Residing on 119 acres in the heart of Chelsea, the hospital offers 300 physicians in a variety of specialties not often seen outside of a major metropolitan area.

One of the greatest draws attracting people to the Chelsea area is the school district. Chelsea schools are consistently ranked well above state average. In 2006, expect to see the finishing touches put on projects made possible by the 2004 bond. These projects include building updates in nearly every school, and a major renovation to the track and football field area.

Special events bring visitors to Chelsea throughout the year. Summer Fest is one of the biggest draws, featuring sidewalk sales, entertainers and music the last weekend of July. The Chelsea Community Fair in August brings people in to enjoy rides, food, animals, truck and tractor pulls, and a demolition derby. Around the holidays, Chelsea celebrates with Hometown Holidays, a kick off to the season featuring a light parade and walking tours.

With all the reasons to enjoy Chelsea, get out and enjoy the town, whether for a weekend or a lifetime.

CALENDAR

There's never a bad time to visit Chelsea. Through all seasons, braving Michigan weather, community groups and organizations host a variety of events to educate and entertain.

The Herbert J. McKune Post 31 of the American Legion starts the event season off with its annual Winter Carnival in February. Those brave enough to face the winter weather can enjoy ice-fishing competitions, then warm up at the chili cook-off. Indoor fun also can be had with euchre tournaments, Monte Carlo Night and concerts.

In the spring, pull out your running shoes for the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life April 29 and Chelsea Community Hospital's Heart & Sole Fun Run-Walk in May. Both events are fund-raisers for health issues.

The relay is a 24-hour campout with teams taking turns keeping the track full to raise money for cancer research. Every year also features a celebration of survivors and a Luminaria ceremony at dusk. This year's event will be held at the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds.

The Heart & Sole event is a 17-year tradition in the area, designed to involve residents in the Healthy Communities Walking Program by encouraging participation in fun, structured exercise.

Spring is also the time when the downtown municipal parking lot erupts with fresh flowers, produce, baked good and crafts for the Chelsea Farmers' Market, every Saturday through October. A chef's series also offers healthy cooking tips.

Through the summer residents and visitors can enjoy Sounds and Sights on Thursday Nights, an eclectic mix of downtown entertainment, including music, jugglers, fire-eaters, art and food.

The highlight of summer is the Chelsea Summer Fest July 28 and 29. Sidewalk sales take over the downtown area, as merchants, entertainers, artists, classic cars and performers come out to celebrate the summer. Shuttle service is available throughout town, and children can enjoy a special play area.

In August, the Chelsea Community Fair brings summer to a close. But before the children go back to school, they can enjoy four days of animal showing, midway rides, truck and tractor pulls, and a demolition derby at the fairgrounds. Scheduled for Aug. 22 through 26, the fair's final day features a fair parade from downtown to the grounds, and the crowning of a Chelsea Fair queen.

Autumn brings the CROP Walk, a fund-raiser for poverty and hunger. Participants can choose a one- or five-mile stroll through Chelsea. Senior citizens also can participate in Rocking for CROP. The event is coordinated by the Church World Service, which is part of an international network and distributed aid to families in need.

The holiday season brings numerous celebrations and special events.

Chelsea's Hometown Holiday is a weekend celebration kicking off the holiday season with Santa visits, cookies, a tree-lighting ceremony and a light parade with architectural walking tours through the city. Area youth also celebrate the holidays with the Madrigal Dinner, a renaissance dinner theater, and the annual ballet production of "The Nutcracker" by the Youth Dance Theatre.

Throughout the year, there is always something to do in Chelsea.

Entertainment & Culture

The diverse array of cultural experiences offered in Chelsea is one of the features that helps the town stand out from other area communities. From dance to theater and music to art, Chelsea offers something for every taste.

One of Chelsea's greatest attractions, the Purple Rose Theatre Company, has some surprises in store for 2006. With a show for each season, 2006's four attractions include "Guest Artist," written by Chelsea's own Jeff Daniels, in what is being touted as his most autobiographical work to date.

Spring and summer will bring "The Late Great Henry Boyle" and "Honus & Me," both by Midwestern authors.

The Purple Rose will be adding some excitement to its summer program by sponsoring a fundraiser raffle. The raffle's first prize is an evening with Jeff and Kathleen Daniels, either on set or in New York. Other prizes ensembles.

Student groups, from fifth grade through high school also host public performances. From the Chelsea House Orchestra, a string group performing Celtic tunes, to Company C, a show choir that integrates song and dance into lively performances, Chelsea's school system showcases some of the area's best musical talent.

Chelsea's annual Madrigal Dinner, a musical dinner theater performed with a renaissance theme, is a holiday-season highlight.

Another holiday staple, Chelsea's Youth Dance Theatre produces Tchaikovsky's ballet, "The Nutcracker," every December. In spring 2006, the theater will produce "Sleeping Beauty," a full-length ballet. Youth Dance Theatre also hosts a Summer Dance Intensive for ages 8 through 18.

An organization spanning nearly all outlets of artistic expression, the Chelsea Center for the Arts offers classes and exhibitions throughout the year. The crowning achievement of each year is the annual Community Arts Project. Past projects have worked in sculpture and mosaic. This year will see paint and mixed media.

The CCA will sponsor a project representing doors of knowledge in partnership with the Chelsea District Library. Summertime will see a set of doors erected downtown. These doors will be painted and decorated by area artists, community groups, students and families to symbolize learning and knowledge.

Fine art exhibitions also can be seen in Chelsea's two downtown galleries. The Chelsea Gallery and The River Gallery, both open year-round, also host special events.

With the variety of artistic expression and performances available, it's easy to see how Chelsea can provide entertainment for a variety of tastes, whether spending an evening or a lifetime in town.

GOVERNMENT

This year will see a partial changing of the guard for local government and possible resolutions for ongoing issues discussed throughout last year.

Chelsea's City Council, led by Mayor Ann Feeney, and consisting of six council members, will continue discussion on the staffing and funding of Chelsea's fire department. The council also approved a rate hike for water and electric services.

The City Council meets at 7:30 p.m. the second and fourth Tuesday of each month at the Washington Street Education Center, 500 Washington St.

Along with the council, the townships of Sylvan and Lyndon govern the area.

The Lyndon Township Board meets 7 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month at the Lyndon Township Hall, 17751 North Territorial Road. Lyndon Township includes much of the northwestern corner of Washtenaw County.

The Sylvan Township Board meets at 7 p.m. the first Tuesday of the month at the Sylvan Township Hall, 18027 Old US-12. Sylvan's board will be discussing some big issues in 2006, including a proposed agricultural zoning change. The township is also involved in the city of Chelsea's ongoing water system issues and will be working with the city through 2006 to support an interconnection to the township's water supply for emergency use.

Township halls also serve as polling places for residents, at which Chelsea and neighboring areas may see some big changes to the rosters of elected officials in 2006.

Locally, the Chelsea Board of Education will hold its election in May. Two seats on the board will be up for election, with current President Dayle Wright stepping down after 12 years on the board.

On the state level, House Rep. Pam Byrnes, D-52nd District, and state Sen. Liz Brater, D-18th District, will see the end of their first terms and seek re-election.

Other Michigan officials running for re-election in 2006 include Gov. Jennifer Granholm, U.S. Sen. Debbie Stabenow and U.S. Rep. Joe Schwarz.

It's also expected that Washtenaw County residents will see a millage request to upgrade the county's 9-1-1 service coverage. If passed, police, ambulance and fire services would all operate on the digital system currently used by the Michigan State Police. Some areas of western Washtenaw County are currently without any coverage. The millage vote will take place in May, along with school elections.

Whether interested in local or national government, the kitchen-table style of government in Chelsea makes it easy to ensure your opinions are heard.

RESTAURANTS

If you're looking for a quick bite to eat, a leisurely lunch, a cure for a sweet tooth or a great date night dinner, Chelsea has a restaurant for every budget and taste.

A perfect complement to an evening at the Purple Rose Theatre, Chelsea's Common Grill has been offering a gourmet dining experience to the area since 1991. Owned by executive chef Craig Common, the award-winning grill is described as "upscale American bistro." The eatery's success has been mirrored in publishing with "The Common Grill Cookbook" and "Return to the Common Grill Cookbook."

Always attracting a crowd to the downtown area, the Common Grill is one of Chelsea's unique draws.

Right across the street from the Grill, Cleary's Pub is another local favorite. More casual than the grill, Cleary's offers sports, a pub atmosphere and live entertainment in addition to sandwiches, steaks and a selection of Mexican favorites.

Downtown also offers quick bites at Zou Zou's, a coffeehouse favorite. With all the variety of a big-city coffee joint, plus sandwiches and sweets, Zou Zou's brings a funky edge to Chelsea's downtown scene.

And if you want to eat like the locals, Mike's Deli offers fresh sandwiches for every possible taste combination.

If downtown isn't your destination, numerous options exist with easy parking on the city outskirts along M-52.

The Chelsea Grille, near Pamida Discount Center, offers Italian fare as well as being a favorite stop for a burger in town.

Farther south on M-52, you can find the Main Street Coney Island and Big Boy restaurants, both sure locales to find an affordable, home-cooked-style meal. Also in the area are fast-food offerings such as McDonald's, Wendy's, Taco Bell and Kitchen Fresh Chicken.

Chinese favorites can be found at Chinese Tonite and the China Garden.

Many options also exist if pizza is what you're craving. Cottage Inn and Hungry Howie's, as well as local favorite Thompson's Pizzeria, satisfy Chelsea's pizza needs.

Chelsea visitors and residents staying on the outskirts of town can also find coffee and light food offerings at Divine Java and Bearclaw Coffee Co.

Whether you want a night on the town or to grab a quick bite, Chelsea offers a dining option for every taste.

Organizations

Whether you're looking for a way to improve the community, a social group, an artistic outlet, business network or a personal support group, Chelsea has an organization catered toward your wants and needs.

There is a wide array of community action groups in Chelsea, with missions as diverse as eliminating discrimination, giving assistance to those in need or fund-raising for youth activities.

Chelsea offers branches of Lions, Kiwanis, Knights of Columbus, Rotary and a Masonic Lodge.

In addition to these service clubs, there are groups available that started with the unique issues facing Chelsea in mind. One World One Family is a local group that started in 2002 with the goal of eliminating discrimination, whether ethnic, religious or economically based. Along with organizing the annual Martin Luther King Jr. observances, the group hosts reading groups and movie showings throughout the year promoting acceptance of other cultures.

Another local service and education group, the Chelsea Senior Center is a community center that promotes furthering education and social activities among Chelsea's senior population.

Faith In Action is a faith-based service group that works to help families and individuals in the area who need help. FIA provides emergency relief, as well as pantry-stocking assistance and health clinics to those in need.

Teens also have many outlets for community service work through the high school's Key Club, InterAct and National Honor Society.

The presence of the Chelsea Community Hospital is an invaluable resource for those looking for personal or health-issue support groups. Hosting groups for chemical dependency, brain injury, stroke and many other health issues, the hospital provides a service to community members looking for support.

You can look to the Chelsea District Library for an educational social group, The Friends of the Library, Books and Banter and Mystery Clubs offer social fun and education.

Chelsea's own Red Hat Society and Hard Hat Brotherhoods offer social events, as well as fund-raising for charitable causes.

For green thumbs, the Evening Primrose Garden Club hosts lectures and programs to further the love of gardening, environment beautification and conservation.

Business support is also available in the form of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, which hosts Chelsea's major events, including Sounds and Sights on Thursday Nights, Summer Fest, Oktoberfest and Hometown Holiday.

Youth also have many community groups and organizations open to them. The Chelsea Kiwanis Club sponsors Boy Scout, Cub Scout and Girl Scout troops, and numerous Chelsea-based 4-H clubs are available.

For youth support, Parent Teacher Organizations are available in school buildings, as well as music and athletic booster organizations.

Each of these organizations, and many more, are available to fit a specific need within the community.

Sports and Recreation

Whether your interests are group sports or fitness, fishing or hiking, the Chelsea area boasts some of the best recreational opportunities in the state.

As gateway to the Waterloo Recreation Area, Chelsea offers a diverse array of outdoor activity. With campgrounds, beaches, hiking trails and a nature discovery center, Waterloo encompasses more than 21,000 acres, with 11 lakes and three campgrounds.

If you're looking for a rustic, back-to-nature experience, the Green Lake campground is available, while those looking for creature comforts such as electricity, bathhouses and a boat launch can try either the Sugarloaf Lake or Big Portage Lake locations.

The Gerald E. Eddy Discovery Center features displays and programs on local geology and natural habitats. Visitors also can see cultural artifacts from area civilizations. The center features both guided and self-guided walking trails, with information on local wildlife and plant species.

For those wanting to keep their recreational options within city limits, several groups and facilities can accommodate nearly any sporting desire.

The Chelsea Recreation Council, a partner with Community Education, offers classes and organized sports teams for participants of all ages.

Adults can enjoy team play in basketball, softball and volleyball, while kids from kindergarten through teen years have options changing with the seasons. In winter, they can play floor hockey or basketball. Spring sees the beginning of soccer season, and in the summer there is baseball, T-ball, softball and sports camps. The fall brings soccer and flag football.

Community Education also sponsors swimming programs at the Charles S. Cameron pool throughout the year. Educational Learn-to-Swim programming takes students from polliwog (parent/tot) to dolphin, for ages 5 and older. For those with skills beyond educational classes, the Chelsea Aquatic Club offers a competitive team environment. Junior CAC is an intermediate step between instructional and competitive swimming. Diving instruction, lifeguard training and synchronized swimming are also offered. Adults also have special times at the pool for lap swim.

For those who like their water colder, the Arctic Coliseum offers instructional skating and hockey classes, as well as competitive teams. Learn-to-skate and learn-to-play classes are available for children ages 4 and older. The youngest hockey team is offered to children age 6.

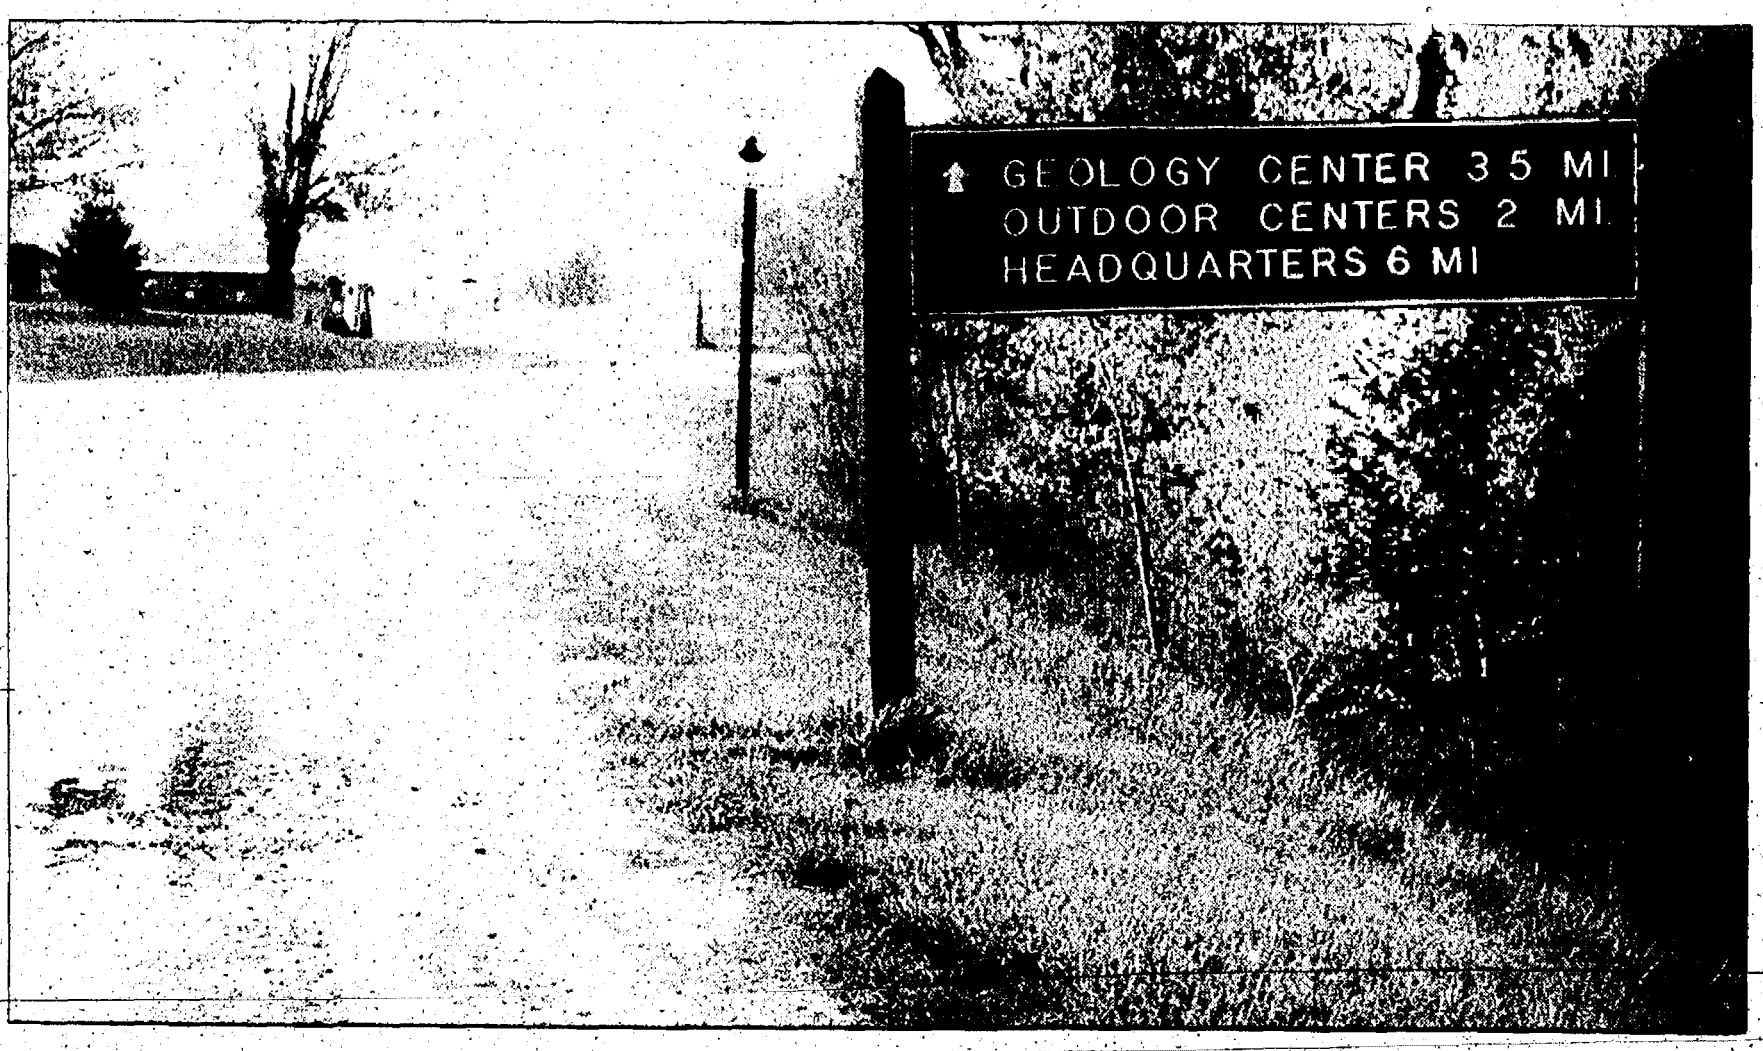

Adults also can get in on the game, with teams for players 18 and older, 40 and older, and 50 and older. The coliseum also hosts tournaments for traveling teams, as well as Chelsea High School's team. Open skate is available between classes and on weekends.

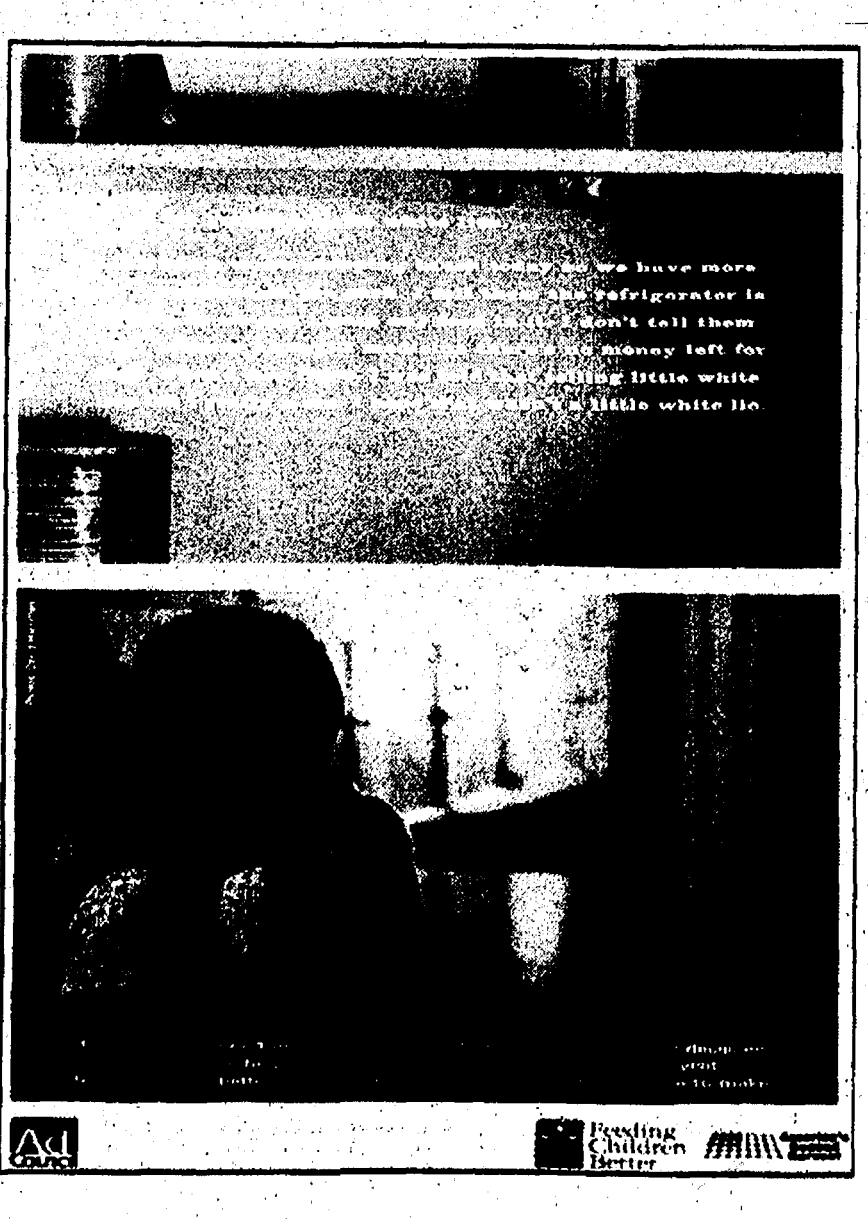

If team sports aren't what you're after, adult enrichment classes through Community Education also offer fitness classes such as pilates, yoga, ballroom dance and belly dance. Children also have options separate from team sports, with gymnastics; dance and cheerleading courses.

Chelsea seniors also can get active through the Chelsea Senior Center at the Washington Street Education Center, which offers gentle muscle toning and yoga, square dancing, line dancing and bowling groups.

For those who consider a quiet evening outdoors, Chelsea parks include Cavanaugh Lake, Pierce Lake and Pierce Park, as well as Timber Town and Veterans Park. They offer free, quiet settings to relax and enjoy nature, as well as play equipment for children.

Educational opportunities abound in Chelsea, and not just for those in the K-12 age bracket. From birth to the senior years, one can find opportunities to challenge the mind.

Many of these services are offered through the Chelsea Public Schools, which covers 120 square miles. More than 16,500 people live in the district, with a student enrollment of 2,860 during the 2004-2005 school year.

With continuing uncertainty about the availability of state funding and dropping enrollment in the district, 2006 looks to be another year of difficult decisions in Chelsea schools. Two seats on the school board also will be up for election this year.

Parents-as-Teachers, the first stop for a child of Chelsea, is a parent education program that offers parental support from pregnancy and encourages educational play through kindergarten years. The district also offers traditional preschool for 3- and 4-year-olds through Community Education.

Once entering kindergarten, children start their tour through Chelsea schools.

With elementary and middle grade levels split by twos in separate facilities, each building is able to customize the learning environment to the child's developmental and educational stage.

Still under construction, the 2004 bond project upgrades to school buildings included technology updates to all buildings, including new computers and wireless infrastructure for all grade levels. All buildings also received an architectural update, from new flooring at Pierce Elementary School to nearly a complete facility overhaul at Beach Middle School.

While the bulk of the work is done, some construction to school facilities will continue through summer 2006.

Chelsea High School, a 221,500-square-foot facility, completed in 1998, was one of the first in a wave of new high schools in the area. With a current enrollment of 1,040 students, Chelsea competes against the best as a Class A school.

SCHOOLS

Though Chelsea has consistently performed above state standards, academics are only one side of the offerings at Chelsea High School. Along with the traditional clubs and sports, Chelsea offers standout programs in music, art and theater, as well as organizations for any interest, including robotics, debate, forensics, writing, foreign language and a wide variety of community service groups.

Following school years, adults in Chelsea can seek further instruction through Community Education, including the only general education diploma preparation in western Washtenaw County. Other adult programs include fitness, life skills, art and technology skills.

For senior citizens, the Adult Learners Institute, a collaborative effort between Washtenaw Community College and the Chelsea Senior Center, offers low-cost classes in language, literature, history and more. Some classes run for several weeks while others are one session.

Supporting educational efforts for all ages, the Chelsea Education Foundation is a nonprofit group that has been awarding grants and scholarships to area residents and organizations since 1990.

Library

For the Chelsea District Library, a move back to the McKune House site means new events and features in 2006.

With an opening planned for fall 2006, library administrators are planning a year full of special events to celebrate the move back from the Washington Street Education Center.

Some of the events include an author series and a November visit from children's author and illustrator Steven Kellogg, who has illustrated works by Fred Rogers, Mark Twain and Trinka Noble.

A big production for the library staff will be hosting and kicking off the Michigan tour of the Smithsonian Institution's "Key Ingredients: America By Food" traveling exhibit in spring 2007 in conjunction with the Michigan Humanities Council.

"While plans are in the very early stages, we're hoping to develop something with The Common Grill, as well as working with Jiffy Mix to encourage all the many school groups that tour their facility to stop at the library and see this engaging exhibit that focuses on America's great love affair with food and Chelsea's contributions to both the local and national scene," said Shawn Personke, library public relations and development coordinator.

The library serves the city of Chelsea, as well as Sylvan, Lyndon, Lima and Dexter townships, and currently has a 38,000-volume collection.

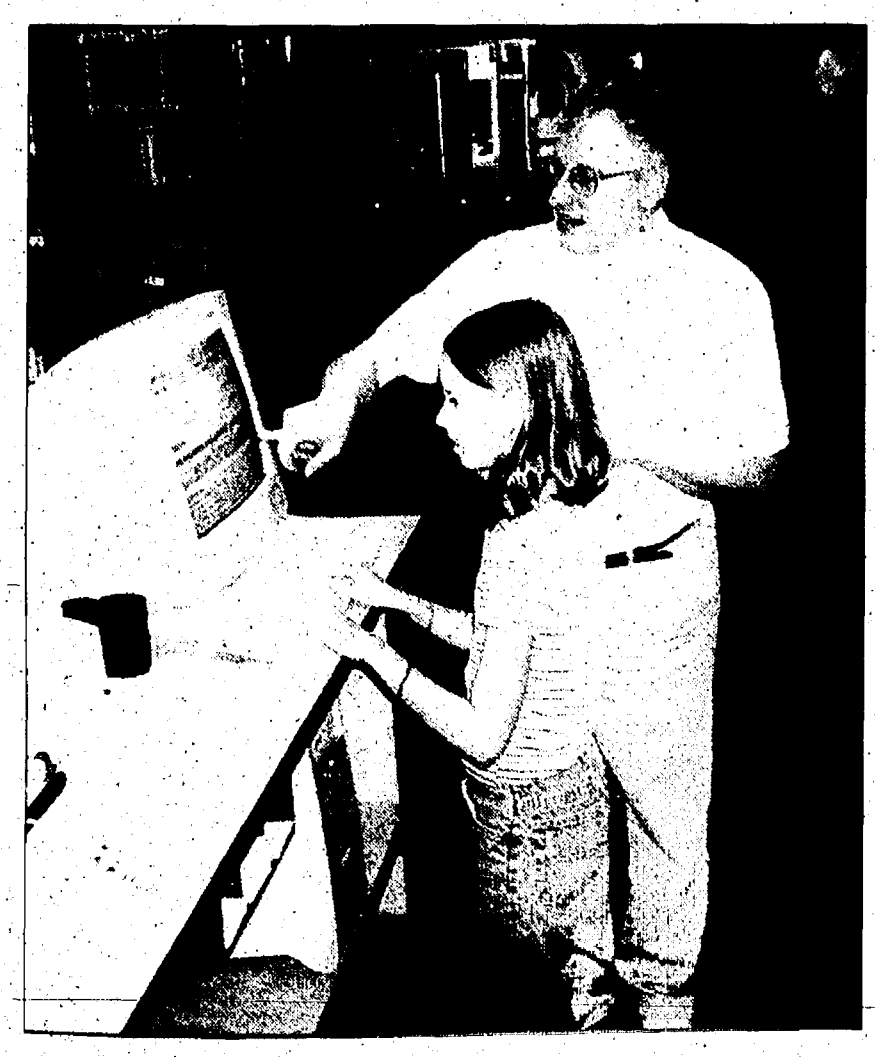

"One of the biggest problems at the Washington Street location is that we have no separate spaces for different activities," Personke said. "In the new facility, we'll have spaces for people who want to quietly read, study rooms for groups of teens working on noisy hands-on projects, and a computer center for those needing access to the Web and other technology."

The library first moved to Washington Street in January 2000 to provide a barrier-free setting for easier public access.

After a close bond election in 2004, the collection will be moving back to the McKune House site downtown, with an 18,000-foot expansion added behind the building and renovations to the existing building. Cost levied to the district was $8.2 million.

Concerns with site contamination because of leaking gasoline tanks from a gas station that formerly resided on the expansion property have been allayed by the removal of the contaminated soil and a protective layer added to the basement design. While the soil did set the project back slightly, favorable weather in the fall and winter of 2005 has made up for the delay.

Other new features that will be provided by the new site include separate spaces for youth story time, a children's garden and a media commons with talking books, movies and music. Technology also will be featured, with a computer lab and wireless Internet access throughout the building.

Before the move, there are many ongoing programs at the Washington Street location for everyone from toddlers to seniors.

Children can enjoy scheduled story-time programming and a Youth Service Club, while adults have educational programming options, including technology use and reading groups.

Places of Worship

People of any faith or denomination can find a place to worship in Chelsea and the surrounding area.

Youth groups, support groups, family events and community outreach can be found in one of Chelsea's many religious organizations.

The following are just a few of the varied options available when looking for a place of worship to suit your needs.

The Chelsea Free Methodist Church sets itself apart through its large and varied youth ministries. From youngsters through high school students, the Free Methodists have a ministry for all.

From KWEST, which includes nursery care and Sunday school to the 180-youth ministry for junior high and high school students, all ages are involved in the church's message.

The Chelsea Free Methodist Church also offers classes, counseling and support groups for adults. The church is working on relocating to property on Jackson Road, and is currently holding services both at its Werkner Road campus and the Washington Street Education Center.

When strolling through downtown Chelsea, one can often hear music when passing by the First United Methodist on Park Street. The church, a Chelsea landmark, features no less than five choirs and six instrumental groups. The choirs vary from traditional adult ensembles to the Glory Choir for children in kindergarten through third grade. The instrumental groups include Christian rock, orchestra and hand-chime groups. All ensembles perform for the congregation several times each year.

St. Mary Catholic Church attracts one of the largest congregations in town. One of the church's newer additions is the Garden of Peace, a relaxation, prayer and meditation garden planned by a Chelsea teen in 2001 and put together by local Boy Scouts with help from the Knights of Columbus. The garden is dedicated to the victims of the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks, and all victims of violence and terror.

The church also hosts the annual Ladies of St. Mary Bazaar, a bake and craft sale in November. Proceeds benefit the congregation. Youth groups are also available, as well as social and community groups for adults.

For those looking for a more traditional experience, St. Vladimir Orthodox Church on Jackson Road is Chelsea's only Orthodox Christian congregation. The church is celebrating its 25th anniversary in 2006, and is building an addition. St. Vladimir offers services in Slavonic, as well as English, and its Sisterhood of St. Xenia host an annual bake sale each December.

If a Christian organization does not suit your needs, nearby Ann Arbor offers numerous places of worship for any faith, including Hinduism, Tibetan and Zen Buddhism, Judaism, Baha'i Faith and Islam, among many others.

No matter what you are looking for in a religious institution, Chelsea and its surrounding communities can provide a match for your needs.

HEALTH CARE

Of all the things that set Chelsea apart from area small towns, the Chelsea Community Hospital is truly unique.

An independent facility that is host to more than 300 physicians and employs some 960 people full or part time, the hospital is a choice destination in an area rife with healthcare options, as well as being the city's largest employer.

With its small size compared to other facilities in Washtenaw County, Chelsea Community Hospital excels in patient care and satisfaction, an area in which the hospital is consistently ranked among the top in the nation.

Founded in 1970 on 119 wooded acres in the heart of the city of Chelsea, the hospital offers many of the options in health care typically only found at big-city facilities. This includes specialized clinics for women's health, head pain, behavioral health and sleep disorders. Senior citizens also receive special consideration through the hospital's senior health connection.

Additionally, families of patients receive a warm welcome when staying in Chelsea. The hospital owns and maintains two temporary housing facilities on the property, The White Oak Inn and Dorothy Miller House provide a home-away-from-home for patients' families.

But with Chelsea Community Hospital, the well-being of area residents doesn't end when they walk out the door. The hospital also sponsors numerous community wellness initiatives.

Last year, the hospital implemented the Move Forward! program at Pierce Lake Elementary School in Chelsea with help from school administrators and a grant from the Chelsea Community Foundation. The program teaches Pierce's third- and fourth-graders about making healthy food choices and remaining active. The school's hot lunch program has reflected this effort, now offering healthier alternatives to lunchroom staples.

Even farther reaching, the Healthy Communities initiative encourages weight management and healthy activity in adults by supporting and mapping walking trails in the Chelsea, Dexter and Manchester areas. The annual Heart & Sole Fun Run, a 5K run-walk benefits the effort. The 2005 run raised more than $2,000, with this year's scheduled for May 20.

With an emphasis on fitness as a preventative medicine, the Chelsea Health and Wellness Center, operated by the hospital, provides recreational opportunities, including swimming, weights, a track and fitness classes, including cardiovascular workouts and yoga.

The hospital also supplies senior living resources through a partnership with Silver Maples Retirement Community. Silver Maples has more than 100 housing units for senior citizens, whether they desire independent living or need daily assistance.

Whether looking for a specialist, a healthy activity to enjoy or a senior living community to fit your needs, Chelsea's health care providers have big options in a small package.

CHELSEA COMMUNITY HOSPITAL

Chelsea Community Hospital, established in 1970, is a privately owned, not-for-profit, acute-care facility located on 119 wooded acres in Chelsea.

The hospital is fully accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations and is governed by a 15-member board of trustees.

While independent, the hospital collaborates with other area hospitals to provide a wide breadth of programs and services designed to meet the healthcare needs of the surrounding communities.

More than 300 highly qualified primary care and specialty physicians are affiliated with Chelsea Community Hospital, and some choose to have all or part of their practice in Chelsea. The hospital ranks consistently among the top hospitals in the country for in-patient satisfaction. They attribute this success to the outstanding physicians, employees, and volunteers who consistently provide exemplary patient care.

Recycling

Chelsea residents can look to the Washtenaw County resources to help them do their part for the environment. Whether aluminum cans, a broken refrigerator or an old transmission, there's a resource to help you dispose of it safely.

For standard recycling needs, the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority serves all of the area. The organization's headquarters are conveniently located at the Chelsea Transfer Station on Werkner Road.

The WWRA will accept the traditional recyclables such as paper, plastic and glass in the bins located at Polly's and Vogel's Party Store in Chelsea. City residents also can arrange for curbside pickup through the WWRA at 475-6160.

The WWRA also will accept computers, televisions and other electronics at the transfer station at 8025 Werkner Road. The station accepts appliances such as refrigerators and stoves for a fee.

While the city's waste program will not accept lawn clippings, these materials also can be dropped off at the Werkner transfer station. The city will pick up brush and tree trimmings curbside on the second week of each month.

In greater Washtenaw County, one can find drop sites for a variety of nontraditional recyclables.

The Washtenaw County Drop-Off Station at 2950 E. Ellsworth Road in Ann Arbor can accept building materials such as concrete, steel and propane tanks for a fee. It also will take automotive materials such as tires and engine fluids.

Hazardous materials, such as flammable, toxic and corrosive substances can be dropped off at the Home Toxins Reduction Center, 705 N. Zeeb Road, on Saturdays from April to December. In the winter, the center will take items by appointment only at 222-6874.

For functional-but-unneeded items, the Chelsea Recycle Group is an organization of more than 650 members that post free, usable items online.

Contact the Washtenaw County Solid Waste Program at 944-2398 for a complete listing of waste removal and recycling options.

ALL FERRIS MOWERS ARE BACKED BY A 2-YEAR COMMERCIAL WARRANTY

FERRIS

pure MOWING TECHNOLOGY

Calculate your own productivity results at www.ferrisindustries.com/calculator.php.

Ferris mowers - with patented suspension technology - offer multiple benefits:

PRODUCTIVITY

The benefits of Ferris suspension all add up to increased productivity for you. The more productive you can be the more time you will save and the more money you can make. You can even calculate your own productivity results at www.FerrisIndustries.com.

SPEED

Many operators are not aware that they slow down to compensate for rough terrain – until they test-drive a Ferris with suspension. Protected from the effects of rough terrain, the operator naturally increases speed, taking full advantage of available horsepower. The result: more acres per hour, and more money in your pocket.

CONSISTENCY OF CUT

The deck of the mower follows the movement of the wheels and the flow of the terrain. The result is a beautiful consistent cut.

EXTENDED MOWER LIFE

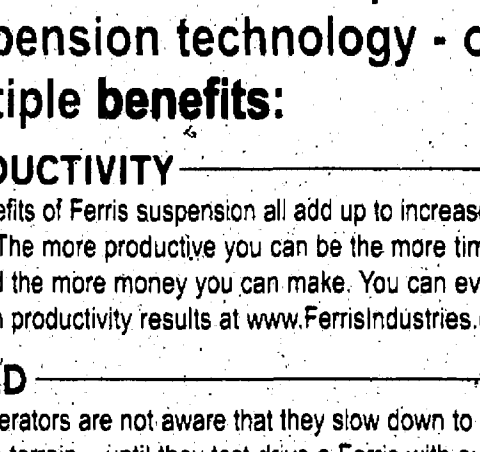

Suspension also benefits the chassis by reducing shock load. As a result, a mower with suspension will last longer and require fewer repairs than a similar non-suspension mower. Our frame rails are made of much heavier material; because we do not rely on frame flex to keep all four wheels on the ground.

COMFORT

Ferris' exclusive suspension system absorbs the bumps and vibration that cause operator fatigue. The increased comfort translates to operator satisfaction and increased productivity.
