October 2006 MEAP scores prove Chelsea has 'top tier' schools

By Terry Jacoby
The Chelsea Standard

Some Michigan school districts don't exactly run to the mailbox when the postman delivers the latest MEAP scores. But Chelsea school officials not only run to the mailbox, but they can't wait to see how their students fared.

Judging by the latest scores, Chelsea fared pretty well.

"Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) test results for students in grades 3-8 confirm that Chelsea is a top tier school district," said Shawn Lewis-Lakin, executive director for student performance in the District.

The results, from MEAP tests that students took between Oct. 9 and Oct. 27, 2006, were released last week. Overall scores are reported by test and grade level as the percent of all students achieving a proficient level on each test. Overall, Chelsea's scores were 17.6 percent better than the state average.

"MEAP test results are one data set from an array of assessments that the school district uses to measure student achievement," Lewis Lakin said. "Daily formative classroom assessments; unit, quarterly, and semester tests aligned with district curriculum; as well as annual or semi-annual national norm referenced testing are also included in a balanced district assessment plan that is reviewed and approved by the Board of Education annually."

According to Lewis-Lakin, "the goal of assessment is to get a balanced view of student learning for the purpose of informing and improving student learning. MEAP tests are one part of a much bigger picture."

Lewis-Lakin said he was pleased with the numbers his students put up on the MEAP tests.

"Students, staff and families all work hard, and these scores are an affirmation of their efforts," he said. "Looking at these results, we compare very favorably to other districts in the state and other districts in our area."

Lewis-Lakin said while he is pleased with the results, he's not satisfied.

"Our district vision is to achieve educational goals, one student at a time," he said. "Assessment data provides us opportunities to set new goals and to look for ways to improve what we

Bad report card?
How parents can help their children improve

By Terry Jacoby
Heritage Newspapers

For most local school districts, first semester grades have been sent, and while some parents are proudly displaying those familiar honor roll bumper stickers, for other parents it's a time of real stress. There are many students who are not doing well in school, and for parents, figuring out how to help can be very complicated.

Narda Black is not only a teacher in the Dexter Community School District, she also is a parent with two children in school. She understands how both teacher and parent can pull together to help the child.

"I think it depends on the grade of the student and subject matter they are struggling with," Black says. "I would have different advice for a high school student struggling with calculus than a first grader who needs help with letter-sound relationships."

But Black has general suggestions that could apply across most grade levels.

"First, set aside a comfortable and consistent time and place in your home for your child to read (or be read to) for 20-30 minutes

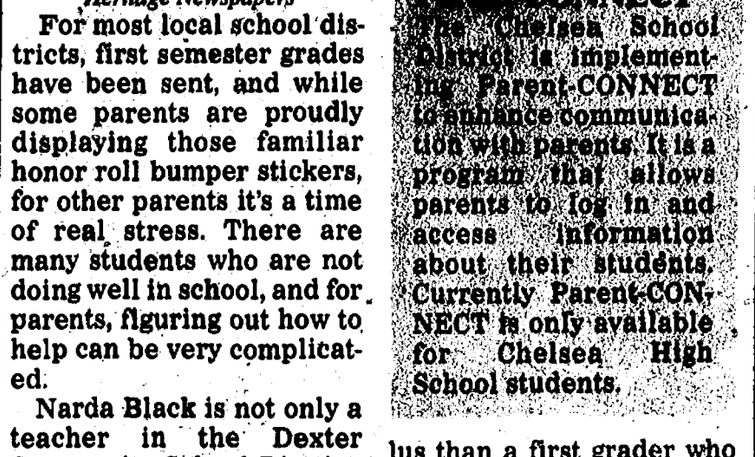
Parent-CONNECT
The Chelsea School District is implementing Parent-CONNECT to enhance communication with parents. It is a program that allows parents to log in and access information about their students. Currently Parent-CONNECT is only available for Chelsea High School students.



Teachers point out that they need help from parents.

Superintendent explains role, purpose of ISD

William MILLER Q&A

PART I

The following is the first of a two-part Q&A with William Miller, superintendent for the Washtenaw Intermediate School District. Miller talks about his role as superintendent, what the ISD does for area schools and the services the ISD provides for not only students but teachers.

How long have you been Superintendent for the Washtenaw Intermediate School District?

I became superintendent on July 1, 1999. I was hired at WISD in 1988 as Director of Special Education and then served for several years as assistant superinten-dent. But my history with the district goes back to 1975 when I student taught for WISD at Sullivan School, the predecessor to High Point School.

What are some of your responsibilities?

I serve as CEO and educational leader of the district, act as a resource to the Board of Education so it can set informed policy, carry out district policies, work with the board to set district goals, provide leadership and direction to staff to achieve district goals, work collaboratively with local superintendents and their boards of education to ensure continuous improvement and achievement for all students.

I am also responsible for the delivery of direct student services within the many programs operated by WISD and for working with the communities to assure that we have high quality schools in Washtenaw County.

Why is the intermediate school district an important part of the education process?

WISD is one of 57 regional educational service agencies created by Michigan law in 1962 to help local school districts educate students by making the best use of district resources.

WISD does this by coordinating programs and services – like special education – that are highly specialized or too expensive for any single school district to offer.

Since 1962, WISD has worked with its member schools and districts – collectively and individually – to help meet the educational needs of their students, parents, support staff, teachers, administrators and board members.

City News

Officials make tax protests easier

By Ed Freundl
The Chelsea Standard

The Chelsea City Council approved a resolution Jan. 23 making it more convenient for taxpayers to protest their tax assessments.

Currently a taxpayer is required to appear before the Board of Review in person to lodge a dispute.

The council's action now allows such a protest to be made in writing, but it still must be approved by the council.

In a related matter, the council updated the criteria used to grant assessment reductions for city taxes due to financial hardship.

For several years the city has used the same household size and income guidelines used by the Chelsea School District's free and reduced-price meal programs to determine eligibility as a financial hardship, and those guidelines have been revised.

The maximum household income guidelines range from $18,000 for one person up to maximum of $62,000 for eight people.

CCA lands grant

The Chelsea Center for the Arts will receive $35,000 in state funding to upgrade its facility at 400 Congdon St.

The Chelsea City Council agreed to sponsor the CCA's grant request to the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs.

No city funds will be involved in the request, which will fund improvements to the building's heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) system and replace the roof on the garage.

CCA Executive Director Jennifer Goulet explained that MCACA would disburse the funds in partial payments throughout the year.

Police Beat

Vehicles reported damaged

A private property hit-and-run was reported to Chelsea police at 2:05 p.m. Jan. 10 at Chelsea Community Hospital, 775 S. Main St. According to a police report, an unknown vehicle had backed into a Brooklyn woman's car in the hospital parking lot, forcing it into a vehicle belonging to a Manchester woman, then fled the area.

Loose dog attacks girls

At 5:33 p.m. Jan. 11 Chelsea police responded to the 1300 block of Provincial Drive for an 8-year-old girl being attacked by a loose dog.

According to a police report, the victim and her friend, also 8, were walking back to the friend's house on Provincial when a chocolate Labrador that was running loose began chasing them. The friend was able to escape from the dog but it nipped at and bit the victim.

The dog's owner, a 17-year-old Chelsea woman living in the 700 block of Darwin Street, has been warned before not to let the dog run loose and the responding police officer had even issued her a citation previously, so he issued another citation.

Possible attempted larceny

A 25-year-old Jackson County woman reported to Chelsea police at 5:12 p.m. Jan. 12 that her car had been tampered with while parked in the employee lot of Chelsea State Bank, 1010 S. Main St.

According to a police report, the victim told police the unlocked car had been entered and the front bracket of the stereo/CD player had been removed. Nothing else appeared to be missing or disturbed.

The responding officer advised the woman to keep the car locked in the future.

Noisy party draws complaints

Chelsea police responded to a noise complaint at 3:20 a.m. Jan. 13 in an apartment building in the 200 block of Harrison Street.

According to a police report, music could be heard outside the complex out to the street.

The responding officer advised the five adults — a Chelsea woman, an Ann Arbor man, a Brighton woman, a Manchester man and a Saline man — that if police had to return to the apartment, they all would be issued citations.

Lost property reported

At 11:55 a.m. Jan. 13, a 60-year-old East Lansing woman requested from Chelsea police an incident report for insurance purposes regarding a lost wallet.

According to a police report, the woman holds power of attorney for her 86-year-old aunt, who is a resident of the Chelsea Retirement Center.

The elderly woman had apparently lost her wallet sometime in early December, presumably somewhere in the facility.

Suspended license

While patrolling on northbound Main Street near Old US-12 at 12:49 a.m. Jan. 18, a Chelsea police officer made a traffic stop on a white van with its driver's-side headlight out.

A records check indicated the driver, a 37-year-old Ypsilanti man, had his driver's license suspended for an unpaid seat belt violation, but the man told the officer he had paid to reinstate it.

According to a police report, the man was arrested and issued a misdemeanor citation for driving on a suspended license and was released. His license was confiscated and his car was impounded and towed.

The man returned to the police station the next day and furnished proof from the Secretary of State that the reinstatement fee had been paid just as the man said, so his license was returned to him.

PFIZER: ANN ARBOR FACILITY CLOSING

Pfizer closing leaves big void

By Terry Jacoby
Heritage Newspapers

When Sharon Pignanelli went to work each day she wondered if it would be her last.

Working for Pfizer, at least for Pignanelli, meant uncertainty and uneasiness about the future.

"You always knew at some point you were going to be going," said Pignanelli, a Dexter Township resident who retired from Pfizer in 2004. "I always felt that while working for them. I just wondered if this was the day they would pick my number."

For 2,100 employees their number was picked last week when the pharmaceutical company announced plans to close the research facility off Plymouth Road in Ann Arbor.

The world's largest drugmaker is the biggest taxpayer in the city of Ann Arbor, but that will change when the doors are locked for good by the end of 2008.

"(The closing) affects over 700 people in my district alone, so everyone is going to be affected by this,"
State Rep. Pam Byrnes

Numerous requests to current employees to talk about the closing were ignored because of what one employee said was a "request by the company not to talk to the press."

Pfizer has said that it plans to transfer up to 70 percent of the Ann Arbor employees to other company locations, but that doesn't account for everyone and certainly means many of the 2,100 residents of Michigan will be moving out of state.

"I certainly wasn't surprised," said Pignanelli. "I was one of the fortunate ones because I was able to retire. My heart goes out to those still there. And especially to those who are around 50 years old and will have a tough time finding other employment. These people have skills and experience very specific to the drug industry. It won't be easy for them."

Pignanelli said many of the employees at Pfizer earned high-end salaries.

"They said the average salary is $86,000 but it's much higher when you count just the professionals," she said. "It's going to be very difficult for them to find the salary they were making there and still stay in Michigan. Some skills are transferable to other jobs, but some will find it very difficult."

State Rep. Pam Byrnes (D-52nd District) says the Pfizer closing affects more than just Ann Arbor and will be felt all over Washtenaw County. "(The closing) affects over 700 people in my district alone so everyone is going to be affected by this," she said.

Matt La Fontaine, general manager at La Fontaine Chevrolet and president of the Dexter Chamber of Commerce, agrees.

"There has been a large void created by the announcement by Pfizer and many of my neighbors are affected," he said. "Our board is meeting this week to discuss ways in which we can help, and I am also coordinating a meeting with our marketing director and Jessie Bernstein the President of the Ann Arbor Chamber to find ways we can use are strong networking capabilities to assist."

La Fontaine remains positive about doing business in Dexter and in Washtenaw County.

"I have always said one of the great things about Dexter and the Ann Arbor

The future

Gov. Jennifer Granholm (left) and U-M President Mary Sue Coleman talk Monday in Ann Arbor.

Leaders gather to plot course

By Sandi Kasha
Heritage Newspapers

ANN ARBOR – Business and political leaders from across the state, including Gov. Jennifer Granholm, gathered in Ann Arbor Monday to announce the formation of the Pfizer Strategic Working Actions Teams (SWAT) to help aid employees of the Pfizer research facility on Plymouth Road and look at long-term solutions for the site.

Pfizer Inc. announced last week that it was closing the Ann Arbor facility, which currently employs 2,100 people. The phase-out will conclude by the end of 2008 when the facility is closed for good.

Granholm, Ann Arbor Mayor John Hieftje, University of Michigan President Mary Sue Coleman and Ann Arbor Spark President and CEO Mike Finney were among 60 local leaders attending the closed-session summit to implement strategies to attract businesses to Pfizer's 90-acre site and more than 2-million square feet of lab and office space. The meeting was held at the Michigan Information Technology Center in Ann Arbor.

The group also announced Monday a $1 million commitment from the Michigan Department of Labor and Economic Growth to help assist dislocated workers.

"We all live in this community," said Coleman, who announced U-M is working with its "University Research Corridor" partners, Michigan State University and Wayne State University, to help strengthen and diversify Michigan's economy. "We want it to be good for the community. We want it to be a win-win situation."

Pfizer has said that it plans to transfer up to 70 percent of the Ann Arbor work force to other company locations. One of the goals of SWAT will be to try and keep many of these skilled professionals in Michigan.

"We want to encourage them to stay here," Granholm said. "Accelerate them to stay, and if they do stay they have options."

Ann Arbor Spark's mission is to "advance the economic development of innovation-based businesses in the Ann Arbor region by offering programs, resources, and proactive support to business at every stage."

Finney said Monday that "there is a tremendous desire to develop high-tech industries here. It's an incremental process and we are prepared to listen and adjust and we'll get better and better."

Finding the right jobs here in Michigan that match the skills and experience of those who have worked many years at Pfizer won't be easy. But the action teams have begun to take "action" to find those opportunities.

Ann Arbor Spark already has set up business formation and acceleration

Analysis

Chelsea realtor: Pfizer closing bad news for local housing market

Heather McDougall

Hearing from Pfizer that Washtenaw County is losing approximately 2,100 jobs hit me like a punch in the gut. I was standing in a client's living room when the announcement came on their TV. Some layoffs were expected but a complete closing was not even on the radar screen.

Back at the office we all shared our shock, commenting on friends and clients that we had helped move here to work for Pfizer and wondering how they were taking the news. I drove home in stunned silence. I had to be alone and think the situation through.

As a realtor who has worked in Washtenaw County for the last eight years, and a homeowner whose personal home is currently on the market, how is this going to impact my ability to 1. earn a living that is based solely on commissions 2. sell my own house?

We are currently in a buyer's market, which means that there are significantly more homes on the market than there are buyers. Let me be more specific. In Chelsea last year 30 homes were sold with values of between $201,000 and $250,000. There are currently 42 homes on the market in that price range. That translates into just over 15 months worth of inventory in January. Over and over again, I have statistics that repeat the same theme in Dexter, Manchester, Saline and Ann Arbor.

Last year, we sold 2,605 residential homes in Washtenaw County, according to Ann Arbor Area Board of Realtors numbers. We don't yet know how many homes will actually go on the market because of 2,100 job losses. Just seeing those two numbers side by side is sobering.

As the alarm begins to subside, let's put things into proper perspective. We Michiganders tend to be the rugged, independent, self-starter type. Some Pfizer folks will take this opportunity to leverage their severance package money to start up new businesses and create jobs in this area. Others will see this as a chance to retire early, and will stick around to enjoy our beautiful state has to offer.

Ann Arbor has one of the most highly educated populations in North America. Surely another company will see the advantage of moving their business to such a Mecca of brain power. The University of Michigan just finished construction on a brand new Life Sciences building. The U of M is sure to put a few good minds to work.

We life-long residents of Michigan have survived adversity in our economy before. Do you remember when Bechtel left Ann Arbor? Houses still sold. t will be tough for awhile in Michigan. It's a tough economy and it's a tough housing market. But, I also think that we are tough, and we will still sell houses.

Company C hosts Showcase

Kim Eckart works on her moves.

Company C, Chelsea High School's song and dance ensemble, will host showcase choirs from Battle Creek High School, Bedford High School, Greenville High School and Tecumseh High School at 7 p.m. on Feb. 10.

"This celebration of youthful talent allows students to share their love and enthusiasm for the performing arts in front a live audience," said Steve Hinz, Chelsea High School vocal music director and coordinator of the annual Showcase event, now in its 17th year. "It also gives us an opportunity to forge new friendships and develop lasting relationships between the participating schools."

Choreographed by Dwight Jordan, world-famous choreographer from Chicago, the Company C performance will include "Sing, Sing, Sing," "Hit That Jive, Jack," "G.I. Jive," "Boogie, Woogie Bugle Boy," "Straighten Up and Fly Right," and "Swing Brother, Swing."

Tickets for the single performance of Showcase 2007 are available from the Chelsea Pharmacy or at the door for $10.

Next year's frosh face new graduation rules

By Rita Fischer
Special Writer

The new high school graduation requirements, known as the Michigan Merit Curriculum, will begin with the Class of 2011. Since early last spring, when the Michigan Merit Curriculum began to take on its final form, school officials started working to adjust Chelsea High School graduation requirements and course offerings to meet the new standards.

The changes require a total of 21 credits must be earned. One-half credit is associated with the successful completion of a one-period one-semester course.

The District Curriculum Council, the District School Improvement Team and the high school staff have all been involved in the development of proposals designed to ensure that Chelsea district requirements and course offerings align with the mandates of Public Acts 123 & 124 of 2006 that were signed into law on April 20, 2006.

In addition, the public has been invited into this process via two public forums on the topic of graduation requirements; one forum was held last May and one was held last week.

The District Curriculum Council meeting held on Nov. 8, 2006 was organized as a workshop session to review and finalize these proposals. Since that time, the proposals have again been reviewed by the high school administration as well as the various high school departments.

Meeting set

District officials recommend that all parents of students entering the 9th grade next year should attend an important meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in the auditorium of CHS.

Shawn Lewis-Lakin, the executive director for student performance, wants parents and students to be aware of the changes and be prepared for them.

"As the class of 2011 prepares to enter high school, they will be faced with new graduation requirements," Lewis Lakin said. "It is imperative that students not only know the requirements, but that they begin making plans now to meet the requirements so they can successfully graduate in June 2011."

Whether students in the Class of 2011 can continue to take two semester elective courses to meet the requirement for a full credit of English in grade 12 is still under review and is not guaranteed at this point in time. Clarification of grade 12 English language arts course/credit guidelines from the state is needed before a final determination is possible.

District officials recommend that all parents of students entering the 9th grade next year should attend an important meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in the auditorium of CHS.

Michigan Merit Exam students must complete all portions of the appropriate state high school assessment (currently either the Michigan Merit Exam or MI-ACCESS) when scheduled during the 11th grade year. Students who do not achieve proficient scores during the first testing opportunity must retake those portions of the test on which they are not proficient at least once in order to be eligible for graduation.

Students planning to attend college should plan to take at least two full years of a language other than English at the high school level. This will be a requirement for all students, beginning with the graduating class of 2016.

Woman's generosity won't soon be forgotten

By Tina Patterson
Guest writer

It was a cold and snowy day as I watched the woman walk down the long walk to the Chelsea Senior Center. I had seen her through the window of my office and ran to the hallway to open the exterior building doors for her. It was painful to watch her struggle with two canes and her heavy arthritic legs. I knew not to go out to help her as her pride would not allow that extra effort on my part, so there I stood hoping she would not fall, seeing the exertion on her face as the wind whipped her loose jacket.

From across the parking lot a mini-van came roaring into view, and just as fast the van came to a stop and what looked to be a "soccer mom" quickly emerged. The 30-something woman with no hat or gloves came running across the grass towards the door. I wondered "what is her hurry" maybe she was coming to get information for a parent she had dropped at a doctors office or to register a child for a swim class.

She ran with vigor and it was not hard to contrast her vibrant health with the elderly woman pushing her body to its limit just to get to the door.

At about the same time both women got to the doorway where I was waiting. I swung open the door open to let them both in, hoping the "soccer mom" would not knock over the woman I was waiting to receive. Unexpectedly a huge smile broke across the face of the younger woman as she said "Oh, I did not see you; I was coming to open the door for her." With that she turned on her heel and gracefully jogged back to her waiting van.

It took me a moment to process what had just happened. On a day where the temperature would not reach 20, with a wind-chill in the single digits, a woman obviously going somewhere stopped to run to open a door for a woman she had never met. I wish I knew her name, I wish I could tell her she did more for me then she will ever know. I hope her family appreciates her and that someone adores her, I hope she never struggles with two canes on a snowy day.

Tina Patterson is the director of the Chelsea Senior Center.

need do to meet those goals for every student."

Lewis-Lakin cautioned that "there is always a risk in comparing year to year test results because each grade level cohort is unique. Moreover, with the number of students per grade level in the district (the numbers for grade 3-8 range from 180 to 220), the sample size that is being compared year to year is relatively small.

This point, he says, is particularly true with the writing test.

"When we look at our scores and compare this year's results to last year's results, we like what we see," he said.

In 10 of the 28 scores reported, the percent of all students at a grade level who were proficient improved by two or more percentage points. In three areas - writing at grades 4, 5 and 7 - the scores dipped by two or more points.

The dips in the writing scores parallel dips in state averages on these tests, which lends some suspicion to the scores, he said. At each level where the writing scores dropped, the overall literacy, or English Language Arts score, for the grade level increased.

"We will be spending additional time analyzing results in this area," Lewis-Lakin said.

"The real value in the scores comes not in what is printed in summary reports, but in the analysis that follows the articles in the newspaper. We will look at item analysis summaries, to identify instructional and curricular strengths and weaknesses. As we celebrate the strengths, we look for ways to leverage them to improver areas of weakness.

"For us, now, the task is to use the information we have from the MEAP results, along with the results of the other components of our district assessment plan, to improve instruction and learning for all students."

PARENTS

every day," she said. "This is one of the most important things you can do to help insure your child's academic success. Reading is the foundation for learning."

Black also suggests supporting and encouraging your child's academic areas of interest. "You can talk with them about the curriculum in a meaningful way," she said. "If they are reading a biography, do an Internet search together and find more information about the subjects life. If they are learning about rocks in science, go out on a rock hunt in your back yard and work together to identify some of the ones you find. The opportunities are endless."

Other ideas Black suggests include: "Make school at least as important as athletic interests; take your child to the local library on a regular basis and find books that really interest your child and make them want to read; and become involved in your child's classroom by volunteering or helping out whenever possible."

Julie Deppner, assistant principal at Chelsea High School, believes a report card grade should never be a surprise if both parents and teachers are being proactive in communicating about the child.

"Good communication between teachers and parents is a critical part of any students' success," she said. "I would encourage any parent who is concerned about their child's progress to keep an open line of communication by contacting a teacher on a weekly basis."

Deppner said many teachers at Chelsea High School send out weekly progress reports to parents. Parents are encouraged to e-mail teachers and all e-mail addresses as well as phone extensions are listed on the Chelsea School District web page.

But what happens if the report card includes a few below average grades?

"If a student does bring home an unacceptable grade, I would encourage parents to talk to their child first," Deppner said. "Find out his or her perception of why the grade was given. Is this grade truly a reflection of his or her knowledge of the content, or are missing assignments, attendance, etc., affecting the grade?"

The next step would be for the parent to contact the teacher to discuss how they can help at home and how to increase communication between the parents and teacher.

"Once a plan for improvement is in place it is important to remember that consistency over time creates change," Deppner said. "Parents need to consistently contact teachers and consistently work with their child at home. Inconsistency is one of the most common reasons grades or behavior don't improve."

Sandy Inman, who is in her 30th year of teaching science at Chelsea High School, agrees that being proactive is the key.

"I tell my students that if your grades aren't where they should be, make a plan before you go home and give the report to your parents," said Inman, who currently teaches physics and biology II. "Tell them why you think you got the grade you did and tell them what you are going to do to make improvements."

Dr. Jennifer Holmberg, psychologist and director of the Mindworks Learning program which helps kids with academic difficulties, dyslexia, and ADD/ADHD, says "when kids aren't doing well in school it's a very complex issue because there are so many different reasons why kids struggle. It would be much simpler if it didn't matter what the cause was and we could just implement the easiest solution, but that's not the way it works."

When the child has generally done well in school, but currently is having difficulty in one or two classes, traditional tutoring is often a very effective solution. When psychological or motivational factors are suspected, the child may benefit from consulting with the school counselor or an outside mental health professional.

When a child is processing information differently than his or her peers, a deeper approach that directly addresses problems with attention, memory, problem-solving or self-control is often needed in order to help the student succeed.

And when it's a motivational issue, parents and teachers need to team up and find ways to help kids make connections that increase the relevance of school for them.

Implementing the wrong solution can be costly not only in terms of money, but also in terms of the time lost when children could be getting the right kind of help for their needs. "That's why assessing the reasons for the underperformance is so important," Holmberg says. "Many parents that I speak with have already spent a small fortune on traditional tutoring or other programming, and when their child is properly assessed, we discover that the child needs a deeper approach."

The key to an effective solution is to find the solution that best addresses the causes of the child's academic difficulties. "We turn away a number of families from our program because after we assess the child, we determine that what the child needs is traditional tutoring, counseling, or another solution that is a better fit for the child's specific needs."

A good fit is everything.

As with most other problems in life, solutions to learning problems need to be tailored to the reasons behind the problem, otherwise they are ineffective, Holmberg says.

It's frustrating and heartbreaking for parents to watch their children struggle in school. They want answers and direction. Holmberg provides a framework that parents may find useful in helping them start to answer this question. She notes that some of the most common causes for academic problems include:

- Situational factors: For example, the child missed some important lessons in school due to illness, is sitting too far away from the teacher and too close to chatty friends, or is going to bed too late.
- Psychological factors: For example, depression, anxiety, or unusually high stress – all of which can have a negative impact on concentration, memory, and motivation.
- Processing based-learning problems: Many students have problems such as ADD/ADHD, or reading problems that negatively affect all aspects of their schooling. Often, these issues are caused by differences in the way these students understand and remember information, attend to information, organize and problem-solve in comparison with their peers.
- Other Motivational factors: Kids often do poorly in school when they are bored, not challenged or don't think it's relevant.

Holmberg emphasizes that these categories are not mutually exclusive. More often than not, causes for poor grades are multifaceted. Solutions should be chosen based on which factors appear to be the largest barriers to academic success, and also what type of intervention the child is most likely to respond to currently given his/her motivation.

If poor grades seem mostly a result of situational factors, parents can enlist the help of the child and his/her teacher to come up with creative solutions. Solutions may be as simple as moving a child's desk away from friends who are distracting, or designating a "study space" in the home to help the child focus and stay organized during homework time.

Jane laid near death, stricken with double pneumonia, ARDS, total body septic strep infection, and major organ shutdown. Miraculously, she pulled through — thanks, she says, to those at U-M like Dr. Upchurch, who made her laugh despite her grave situation, her RN Patty, who took time for the little things, like braiding what hair she still had, and Kim in Rehab, who taught her to walk again. How's the diet going?
Quite well, actually. I had lunch last week at the Chelsea Grill and had one of their salads. It had turkey and cheese and walnuts and even some lettuce. It's probably the best salad I've ever had.

If it was so good, why did you stop at McDonalds on the way home?
Because I am a weak, weak man.

How was lunch with Bob Pierce?
Bob is a great person and Chelsea is very lucky to have him running the chamber of commerce. He thinks local and he thinks community and he thinks positively. That's what I like most about him. He's a half-full guy.

Speaking of chambers, Dexter just hired Gordon Darr to be their marketing director? How do you think he's going to do?
I don't know much about him, but what I know is impressive. I hope he does really, really well. And if he does, maybe they will name a hall after him. How about Gordon Hall?

Isn't that already taken?
Oh yeah. How about Darr Hall? Although that sounds like a German phrase for stop. "Hey, you. Darr Hall!"

Give us a Seinfeld quote.
"Do you think I need to lose some weight? Weight? No, you just need some height."

Read any good books lately?
Actually, the good folks at Silver Maples of Chelsea (a senior retirement community) dropped off a book that the residents wrote called "What the World Needs Now." I liked the chapter about grace. It says, "We need more grace in this world. Maybe we should name more babies Grace."

I have a daughter named Teri Grace so I've done my part."

So, in other words you have offered enough grace to the world?
Yes. I am done with grace. I am still working my way through the Gs. Right now I am at guile?

How's that going?
If I can get people to keep reading this column, I would say it's going pretty well.

Something you heard this week that made you laugh?
From fitness guru Gilad: "With any fitness program, always start simple and increase difficulty as you go on. Like if you're going to take up cross-country skiing, pick a small country first."

Give the folks something to "Google" this week?
What about Google? Then, go to Yahoo and "google" Yahoo. Although the yahoos at Yahoo might just send a virus googling through your computer. Boy, I have a headache now.

Your thoughts on downtown Chelsea?
I was always told that when you don't have anything nice to say, don't say anything. Next question?

Was that an attempt to get people to write letters to the editor so you don't have to do as much writing next week?
Of course it was – I mean what's not to like about downtown Chelsea. Plus, it's easy to take shots at the best. Like when people are critical of the Beatles or the New York Yankees or Abraham Lincoln or The Chelsea Standard/Dexter Leader or Seinfeld or America.

I noticed you threw in The Chelsea Standard/Dexter Leader?
Well, at least you're still paying attention.

What does downtown Dexter need?
Two things. Another restaurant. Something along the lines of Ruby Tuesday. I know chains aren't preferred, but something similar would flourish there. They already have Terry Bs and the Dexter Pub and of course Cottage Inn. But another restaurant would be a great drawing card.

What else?
An IMAX theatre. I like to think big. If you think small, then you get small results.

Give us one of your rants?
OK, for all you people out there who think you can improve your lot in life by changing careers, forget about it. You can't improve. OK. If you're an accountant. That's who you are. And will always be. The almighty has decided we need so many accountants and you made the list, pal. Don't waste your time taking acting lessons, or learning how to sing or trying a bold move like switching over to banking. Forget about it. You're an accountant. It's your title. Your duty. Your destiny. And there is nothing wrong with pushing a broom or pumping gas or helping old ladies find the right shoe size or making my Quarterpounder with cheese. And when I order my Quarterpounder with no pickle...take the pickle off. It's not that difficult if you focus. Stop writing the next great American novel and concentrate on what's important...your lot in life and my cheeseburger.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor: I just wanted to say thank you to all the wonderful people at Tree of Life Dance Studio.

Our daughter is taking her second session of classes there and she loves it! Everyone there provides such a warm, friendly and welcoming environment. We felt like family almost as soon as we walked through the door the first time. The environment alone provides so many opportunities for cultural experiences.

You could spend hours just looking at the variety of items on display and for sale. In just one class our daughter learned dance moves from another culture and phrases in another language. The variety of classes offered there is amazing and spans most age groups. I was thrilled that there were opportunities for my daughter and I to dance together and that there is a play area for my younger daughter.

The people there have a wealth of experiences to share. I'm also very impressed with the events that are offered free to our community!

Chelsea is incredibly lucky to have a dance studio of this stature open it's doors in our community. I, for one, am so grateful that they're here, and just had to say thanks!

Our take

Detroit-based flights to China vital to economy

Michigan legislators, municipal elected officials and business leaders throughout the Midwest have a brief window of opportunity to win the latest direct-to-China flights for Detroit Metropolitan Airport and Northwest Airlines.

Those flights mean hundreds of millions of dollars to Midwest businesses and economies, the areas that have been hardest hit in this economic downturn.

Officials and leaders should be screaming loudly in the direction of Washington, D.C., over the decision by the U.S. Transportation Department to snub Northwest and Detroit Metro for proposed direct-to-Shanghai flights. United Airlines, which already has four flights daily to China, won tentative approval from the transportation department for the additional direct flights to mainland China. United can begin nonstop service between Washington and Beijing in March if the tentative decision is finalized.

That leaves Michigan and Midwest leaders little time to convince U.S. Transportation Secretary Mary Peters and her department that the correct decision is to instead approve Northwest's plan for Detroit-to-Shanghai flights.

Michigan Sens. Carl Levin and Debbie Stabenow, as well as most of the U.S. representatives from Michigan, have signed a letter demanding Peters reconsider the tentative awarding of the flights, or to grant additional China flights to Northwest out of Detroit Metropolitan.

In its letter to Peterson, the Michigan congressional contingent correctly points out that the Detroit — and Midwest — to Shanghai route draws massive business travel. Five-hundred Michigan and northern Ohio companies already have a presence in Shanghai. Of the 24 Fortune 500 companies in the same region, 17 have facilities in China. Dow Chemical, Visteon and Whirlpool have set up their Asian headquarters in Shanghai. General Motors Corp., headquartered in Detroit, has investments worth $2 billion in China.

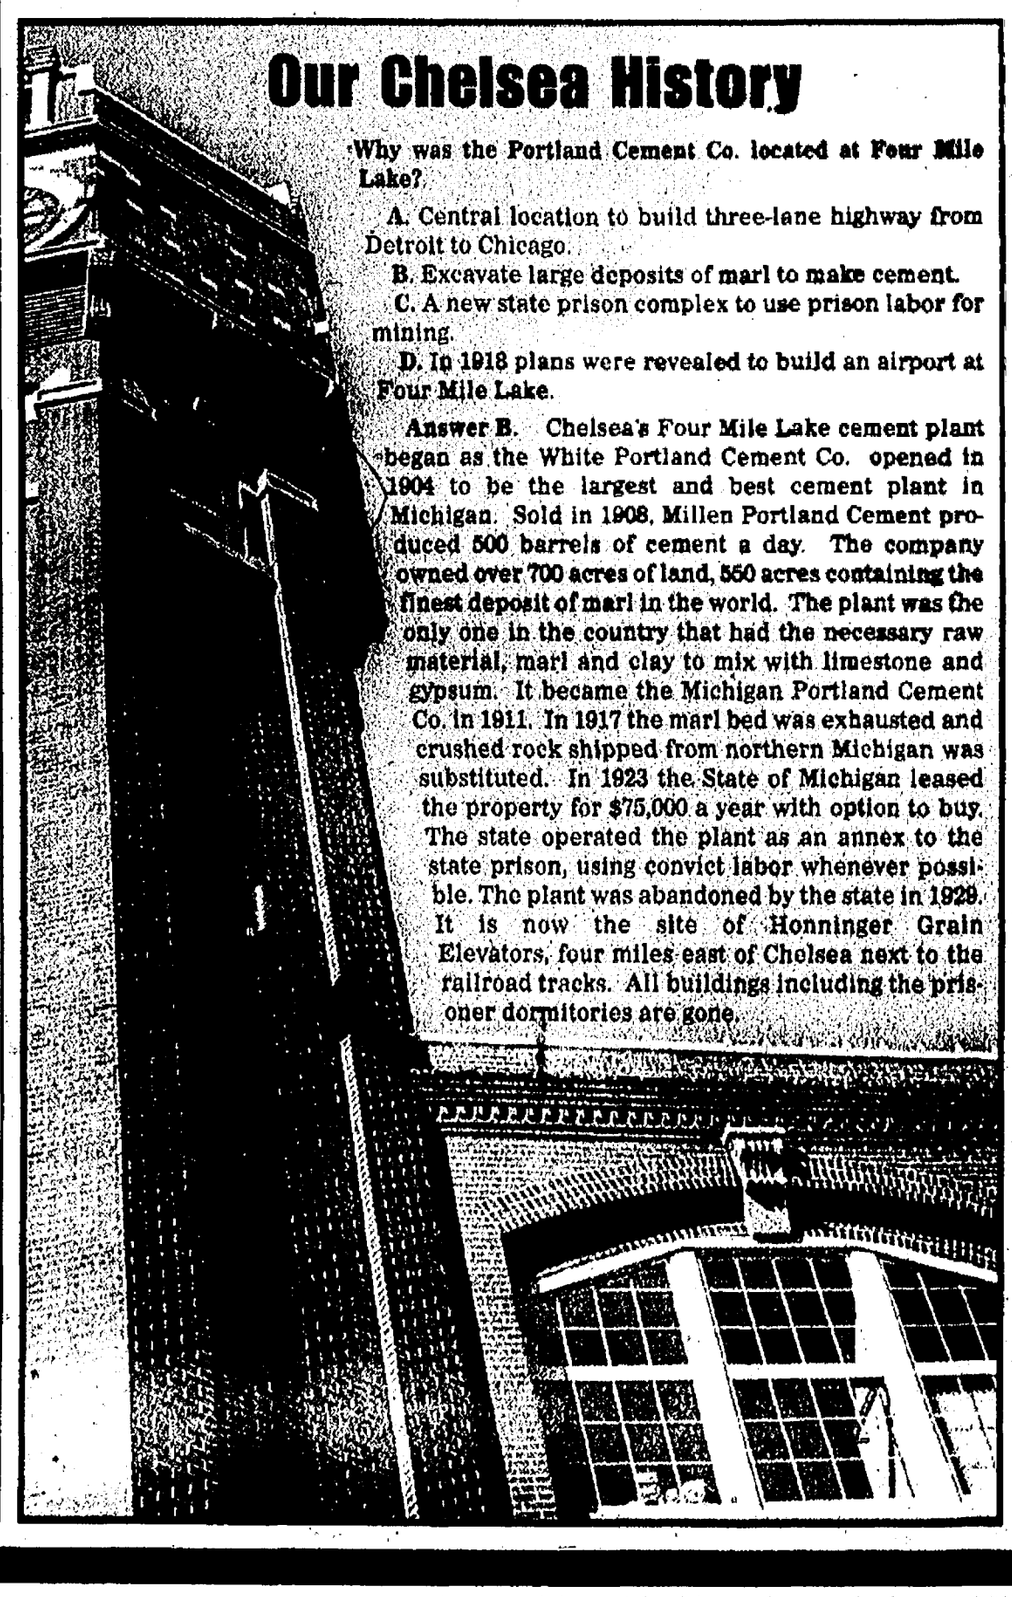
China has 20 companies with operations in southeast Michigan, and the country ranks as Michigan's second-largest export market in Asia. China's burgeoning economy is Michigan's fifth-largest export market. The state's exports to China approached $700 million in 2005, an increase of 252 percent over 1999.

In addition, the flights to China out of Detroit Metro bring with them millions of dollars to the area economy through gas purchases, parking, restaurants, hotels, taxis, car rentals and the myriad expenses travelers incur.

There is no reason the transportation department should force these business travelers to first fly to Washington to link up with a direct flight to China. Michigan, the Detroit area, and the entire Midwest must flex every fiber of its political muscle to bring these flights to Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The entire southeast Michigan region has a vital stake in securing these flights for Northwest and Metro Airport. You can make your sentiments known by writing: Mary Peters, Secretary, U.S. Department of Transportation, 400 Seventh Street S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590.

Our Chelsea History



Why was the Portland Cement Co. located at Four Mile Lake?

A. Central location to build three-lane highway from Detroit to Chicago.

B. Excavate large deposits of marl to make cement.

C. A new state prison complex to use prison labor for mining.

D. In 1918 plans were revealed to build an airport at Four Mile Lake.

Answer B. Chelsea's Four Mile Lake cement plant began as the White Portland Cement Co. opened in 1904 to be the largest and best cement plant in Michigan. Sold in 1908, Millen Portland Cement produced 500 barrels of cement a day. The company owned over 700 acres of land, 550 acres containing the finest deposit of marl in the world. The plant was the only one in the country that had the necessary raw material, marl and clay to mix with limestone and gypsum. It became the Michigan Portland Cement Co. in 1911. In 1917 the marl bed was exhausted and crushed rock shipped from northern Michigan was substituted. In 1923 the State of Michigan leased the property for $75,000 a year with option to buy. The state operated the plant as an annex to the state prison, using convict labor whenever possible. The plant was abandoned by the state in 1929. It is now the site of Honninger Grain Elevators, four miles east of Chelsea next to the railroad tracks. All buildings including the prisoner dormitories are gone.

• We provide consultant assistance, research assistance and resources including journals, books, curriculum materials, Internet access, videotapes, digital videodisks, computer software and assistive technology.

• We coordinate programs and services that are too expensive for a single school district to operate or that are very specialized for only a few students, including direct educational services for youth/adults with special needs from birth through age 26.

• We perform regulatory functions on behalf of the Michigan Department of Education, including pupil accounting and special education monitoring and compliance. This function continues to grow as the number of MDE staff continues to shrink.

• We secure educational resources and share them equitably.

What are the challenging aspects of your job?

Securing financial resources to maintain the quality of public schools in our county is extremely challenging due to the structural deficit in school funding at the state level.

Meet William Miller

Name: William C. Miller, Ph.D.
Age: 56
Native of: Detroit
High school: Bloomfield Hills
College: Doctor of philosophy and master's degree in Educational Administration from Michigan State University and a bachelor's degree in elementary and special education from Eastern Michigan University.
Experience in education: All of my education work experience has been in Michigan. I taught students with special needs in two local school districts and two intermediate school districts. I was also a special education teacher consultant, a director of special education and an elementary school principal. And that I was hired at WISD.

What are the enjoyable parts of the job?

It's exciting to be part of WISD. For years, it's enjoyed a statewide and national reputation for excellence in educational leadership and service. I am pleased to be part of that continuing tradition, am proud to be part of its past and look forward to helping shape its future. I also have the opportunity to work with a diverse group of extremely talented and committed educators.

What are some of your goals for 2007?

Some of WISD's Goals for 2006-07 are:

A) Community Collaboration Identify and complete requirements needed to apply for North Central District Accreditation (NCA)

B) Develop and implement a communication plan to address the implications of state legislative and ballot proposals on public schools funding and instruction.

C) Achievement initiatives. Expand the implementation of the district plan to improve student achievement through leadership, and support for personalized learning.

D) Continue the work with the Washtenaw Superintendents' Association to implement High School Transformation initiatives.

E) Work with the community to increase early childhood education options.

One of the areas you are involved is coordinating special education programs. Explain how this works and how many students are involved?

In Michigan, schools are required to provide special education services for children who need them from the time they are born through age 26, or until they graduate from high school. In Washtenaw County there are about 7,000 students who receive some kind of special education service. Most of these services are delivered in the local school districts where many students with special needs are included in regular classrooms.

Some examples of the many special education services supported or provided by WISD are:

• Teacher consultants who support children with learning needs such as: dyslexia, hearing or vision impairments or physical disabilities, autism, or other developmental disabilities.

• Special education teachers who are specially certified to address the learning needs of children with disabilities.

• Assistive technology and specialized materials to help students succeed in school.

• Training for teachers on the best instructional practices for children with disabilities.

• Speech, physical and occupational therapy for children identified with these needs.

How has special education programs improved over the years?

Since 1988, there has been:

• Increased participation in the general curriculum.

• Special Education students, on average, spend more than 80 percent of their time in general education.

• Decreased number of students needing separate programs.

• Identifying and promoting effective instructional practices for all students.

• Increased emphasis on the prevention of early learning failure.

• Early childhood initiatives.

• Building-based student study teams.

• Improved transition support from school to work and other activities of adult life.

• Beginning at age 14 or earlier, implementation of positive behavioral supports.

• Increased parent and student participation in educational decisions.

How important are these programs?

These programs are essential. The most frequently identified special need is a learning disability, which with the proper intervention, can be positively impacted. Research shows that the earlier an intervention is made, the better it is for the child.

Part II of the Q&A with William Miller will be in next week's paper.

area is that it is just about as recession proof as an area could be," he said. "Great things are still happening all around us, not the least of which is Google coming, not only for the jobs they will create on their own but all of the companies that will spawn around them.

"This region is also going to be impacted by the Toyota Technical Center and their new development. Our community is very diverse and highly educated."

Washtenaw County Commissioner Mark Ouimet (R-District 1) said the Pfizer closing will have a devastating impact on Washtenaw County's tax base.

"The Pfizer closure and layoffs will be a $1.5 million tax loss to the county alone," he said. "The city of Ann Arbor stands to lose about $4 million, and the schools haven't figured out how big a hit they're going to take yet."

Ouimet said such a loss will have a "trickle-down effect."

"These were extremely high paying jobs; the median income was about $95,000 a year," he said. "It will affect the housing market – there are probably 20 to 25 Pfizer families in Chelsea."

The Ann Arbor site, which had been a Warner-Lambert/Parke-Davis facility before the company's merger with Pfizer, began operating in 1960, with 256,000 square feet of lab and office space.

Pignanelli wasn't there at the beginning but she was there for the merger.

"Warner-Lambert treated us like family and Pfizer was more like a giant company that didn't care about their employees the way Warner-Lambert did," she said. "It was a hostile takeover and it happened fast."

Pignanelli said she has no regrets, but would have preferred spending her final years working in a more employee-friendly atmosphere.

"I have my pension and I have my benefits so it worked out well for me," she said. "But it's tough to work in that environment when you are afraid you are going to lose your job."

The New York-based company said it would retain manufacturing and animal-health research operations in the Kalamazoo area, preserving about 4,000 jobs.

Also affected are about 250 workers in Kalamazoo and 60 in Plymouth Township.

Eagles make the grade

By Brett Crawford
EMU volunteer assistant baseball coach

Roger Coryell

The Eastern Michigan baseball team turned in another excellent academic performance with 29 players earning a 3.0 or better GPA for the 2006 fall semester. The team finished the semester with a 3.29 cumulative GPA. The goal for the 2007 season is not only to perform successfully on the field, but to "improve as a complete person," remarked head coach Roger Coryell. "The team's continued academic performance is a big part of this growth," Coryell added.

The EMU baseball team looks to build on this academic success with a solid on-field performance in Knoxville, Tenn. for the season opener February 9, with a three-game series against the 11th ranked Tennessee Volunteers. The four weeks following that first weekend includes three-game weekend series, versus the second-ranked South Carolina Gamecocks, the Arizona Wildcats, and the Coastal Carolina Chanticleers.

EMU will open its 2007 Mid-American Conference season at Bowling Green, March 23. The EMU-BGSU matchup will be a battle of former Eastern baseball greats who are both members of the EMU Athletic Hall of Fame. Eagles' head coach Roger Coryell was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 2004 and BGSU head man Danny Schmitz was inducted in 2005. The 2007 home opener is scheduled for March 20 against Wayne State while the home MAC series opener will be against Miami, April 6.

The 2007 EMU baseball team is filled with key upperclassmen looking to contribute to a strong team performance this year. The pitching staff is led by returning MAC Pitcher of the Year, junior Jeff Fischer. Complementing the EMU staff on the mound will be a group of four seniors, along with many key returning pitchers and newcomers.

The offense is led by junior first baseman Steve Bradshaw, who was named to the preseason national player of the year watch. A solid group of experienced upperclassmen should provide ample offense and solid defense.

The 2007 season looks to be exciting for the Eagles. Growth on the field, in the classroom, and within the community will measure successful throughout the coming year.

resources.

"Spark is already doing amazing work," said State Rep. Pam Byrnes (D-52nd District) who attended Monday's meeting. "They are setting up committees that deal with talent, community (cultural and government), business development, public policy and funding and what to do with the site."

Byrnes was encouraged with the results of the meeting.

"It's a remarkable showing of community effort and turns something bad into a positive opportunity for new growth," she said. "We talked about issues that we need to focus on to attract business. This isn't just an Ann Arbor issue, it's a Washtenaw County issue. It effects over 700 people in my district alone so everyone is going to be affected by this."

When asked what could've been done to help make Pfizer stay, Coleman said the decision was made in New York and it wasn't personal.

But Hieftje remains positive about the future. "Ann Arbor is a very resilient community with deep pockets," he said.

Granholm agreed, noting that despite the struggling auto industry and Pfizer's departure, the Ann Arbor region will continue to thrive.

"Michigan won't slow down, but will speed up," she said.

The Ann Arbor site, which had been a Warner-Lambert/Parke-Davis facility before the company's merger with Pfizer, began operating in 1960, with 256,000 square feet of lab and office space. It includes a new state-of-the-art building for product and technical development research, as well as a new fully integrated discovery facility.

So there are plenty of resources to offer a potential buyer of the site.

"Right now, our first priority is to help support the Pfizer colleagues," Finney

"While we attained nearly all of our financial targets [illegible] year, we continue to face a difficult operating environment, including competitive challenges and the risks inherent in drug development. Our decision to discontinue development of torcetrapib/atorvastatin in December 2006 was disappointing and brought into sharper focus the need to transform Pfizer over time to succeed in a dynamic healthcare marketplace. We are reviewing every aspect of our business, and I look forward to discussing our priorities when we meet with [illegible] in New York later today," Kindler said.

said. "There are many people working very hard to ensure that all Pfizer colleagues that want to stay in Michigan find opportunities in the region – either by joining another company, or by launching their own venture."

Updated information and details of these opportunities will be posted on the Ann Arbor Spark website including business formation seminars, career fairs and job postings.

Sen. Liz Brater, Detroit Renaissance President Doug Rothwell and Pfizer Senior Vice President David Canter also attended the summit.

Famous AbGONE™ pill that promotes pot belly loss is now more powerful

Starts working in 20 minutes

By John Whitehead, Media Services

BioTech Research has announced that their famous AbGONE™ pill that promotes fat reducing in the abdomen is now more powerful. It starts working in 20 minutes.

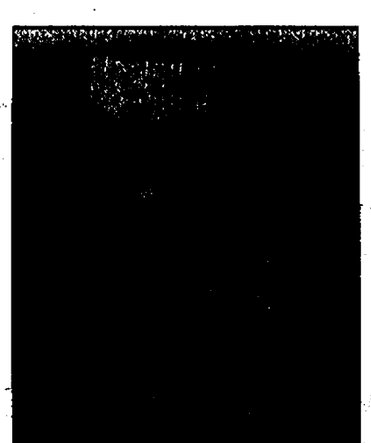
AbGONE™ had phenomenal sales in drug stores over the past 2 years. Customers flocked to the stores to get AbGONE™ and enjoyed sensational results. This original formula of AbGONE™ is still available in drug stores.

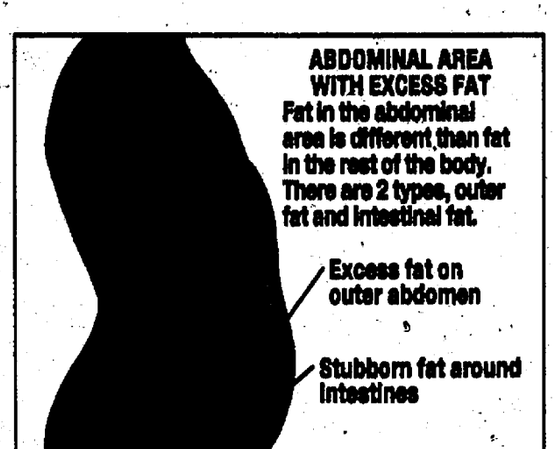
The new and improved AbGONE™ is trade named AbGONE Extra Strength™.

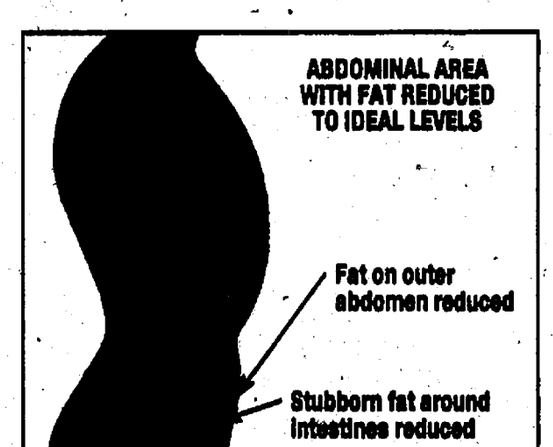
John Whitakre, Chief of Research and Development for BioTech Research said, "The original formula AbGONE™ is still a very good pill for the targeting of fat in the abdomen. And our customers are very satisfied. However, the original formula AbGONE™ took about 4 weeks for results to start. AbGONE Extra Strength™ has new breakthrough ingredients that start working in 20 minutes.*"

How does AbGONE Extra Strength™ work?

Whitakre stated, "We found in a number of research studies on laboratory animals, later confirmed in human studies, a substance called Conjugated Linoleic Acid (CLA). Studies of CLA suggest that CLA decreases body fat in three ways: 1.) CLA decreases body fat mass by decreasing the amount of fat that is stored after eating; 2.) CLA increases the rate of fat breakdown in fat cells; and 3.) CLA increases the rate of fat metabolism which decreases the total number of fat cells.







You can think of CLA as a match that lights the fuse in fat. This fuse increases the metabolic rate of fat that can result in subsequent fat loss.

Studies have shown that you can reduce abdominal fat using CLA.[1] AbGONE™ contains a good dose of CLA.

There are also a number of other beneficial effects to CLA that help decrease the future storage of fat.

Whitakre also stated, "CLA interferes with an enzyme called lipoprotein lipase (LPL). LPL is an enzyme that helps store fat in the body.[2] So, by inhibiting this fat-storing enzyme LPL, CLA can help reduce the re-accumulation of fat.

CLA also helps the body use its existing fat for energy, thereby increasing fat oxidation and energy expenditure."

AbGONE Extra Strength™ also contains highly advanced all natural ingredients. These are new ingredients which were not in the original formula.

Studies have shown that the new AbGONE Extra Strength™ ingredients increase the rate of fat metabolism which reduces both surface and intestinal abdominal fat and helps inhibit future formation of these abdominal fats.[3,4,5] One of these new ingredients is a very high quality and potent extract of green tea. This extract is EGCG which has been shown in clinical studies to dramatically and quickly increase calorie burning which helps to quickly reduce body fat.[4] These ingredients start working in 20 minutes to increase calorie burning which is the first step to reducing the pot belly and reduce fat all over the body.

Whitakre stated, "The ingredients in AbGONE Extra Strength™ are more expensive and therefore AbGONE Extra Strength™ is more expensive than the original formula. AbGONE™ original formula sells for $39 and AbGONE Extra Strength™ sells for $49. David Swain will be at Cranesbill Books on Feb. 16

Cranesbill hosts free jazz concert

Local jazz luminary David Swain will contribute his musical perspective to the 2007 Chelsea Reads Together, a jazz-themed program, co-sponsored by the McKune Memorial Library and Chelsea's community group One World One Family.

Hosted by Cranesbill Books, the free concert will take place at the store at 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 16.

Families are encouraged to attend the show, which willl include what Swain calls "jazz Americana."

The Chelsea Reads Together program will also include performances by the Royal Garden Trio, Vincent York and Marcus Belgrave, as well as a number of events that involve the selected books: Jack Kerouac's on the Road, Studs Terkel's Giants of Jazz, and Flint author Christopher Paul Curtis's novel Bud Not Buddy. Details can be seen on the library's website at http://www.chelsea.lib.mi.us

Known for his work in performing unrecorded musical scores, and less well-known compositions such as the Duke Ellington Orchestra's Nutcracker Suite, Swain is a veteran reed player and guitarist who has most recently worked with the II-V-I Orchestra. The David Swain Quartet is a smaller unit, one well-suited to the smaller environment of the bookstore.

The Swain concert is being presented as a tribute to Tad Jones, a New Orleans jazz historian who became local when he lived in Chelsea in the weeks following Hurricane Katrina in fall of 2005. Jones was a friend of Cranesbill owner Jan Loveland, known internationally for his study of Louis Armstrong's family geneology, for demythologizing the legend's youth and for discovering Satchmo's true birthday, Aug. 4, 1901, using parish baptismal records.

"Jazz is a national treasure and deserves a prominent place in American culture. I wanted to contribute some element to the mix that would be my tribute to a great friend who taught me much about his hometown's music," Loveland said.

Cranesbill also is hosting a screening of old jazz film shorts, called "soundies," at 7 p.m. on Feb. 9. For more information about this program, contact the store at 734-433-0282.

Young at heart: Couples find romance

At the surface, it doesn't seem unusual that Elmer T. Sanders, 85, and Ollie J. Lamb, 84, are heading to Florida, a winter getaway for many Michigan travelers. But these Chelsea residents are not ordinary snowbirds – they're newlywed lovebirds.

The pair, who are among several couples that found romance at Chelsea Retirement Communities (CRC), are on a honeymoon trip to celebrate Valentine's Day down south. They married Jan. 13 at a CRC Chapel ceremony attended by three generations of family members.

"We got to know each other pretty well here at CRC," explained Sanders, who joined group picnics, mall visits, a Detroit Tigers outing and other excursions so he could accompany Lamb.

"It was very flattering," she recalls, noting that the retired sales executive hadn't gone on earlier trips.

Other young-at-heart relationships have been kindled at CRC, where daily activities, bus rides, worship services and independent living choices encourage socializing. Wedding bells rang in 2005 for Alberta Sabin and Lon Dickerson, who met as neighbors at the Garden Apartments on the main campus – where they now share a unit.

Similar opportunities for relationships to flourish helped bring together Roger Merrick and Maxine Lahti, a retired librarian born in 1906 – the same year CRC was created at the site where it has expanded over the past century. Another pair who've become close companions are Fred H. Hollenberg, 91, and Marjorie M. Howell, 88.

'An ageless gift'

"Our communities are filled with men and women leading active, vibrant lives," says John Thorhauer, president and CEO of United Methodist Retirement Communities (UMRC), which operates CRC and a senior care center in Detroit. "That's a key part of our mission – to support the highest possible quality of life for each resident. So it's uplifting to see residents form friendships and more serious relationships. It's a reminder that love is an ageless gift."

CRC couples who've built new bonds, as well as those who already were lifelong partners, dine together, enjoy leisurely walks and share something that never grows old – supportive togetherness.

January's newlyweds sound almost like giddy teens as they tell how casual friendship deepened. Each was widowed after 59 years of marriage, and each says that courtship and remarriage make them feel younger.

"I was coming out of the library one day when Elmer, who I hardly knew, asked if I liked Chinese food and wanted to go out for lunch," recounts Lamb. "I had no idea what would come of it."

Lunch date

Sanders drove on that first date to China Garden on South Main Street in Chelsea shortly before Christmas 2005. "We both had wonderful lives with our first spouses, but there was a void when they died and we each missed something," he says.

"We saw we were compatible and in good health, and I asked her one time if she ever thought of getting married again. She said, 'Yes, if I meet the right fella.' I said I felt the same way, and it wasn't long after that when I told her I had met the right woman. We felt that we should be together rather than going separate ways at night."

Lamb's brother, the Rev. Hughey L. Jones of Gahanna, Ohio, performed the wedding. Lisa French, director of annual giving at the UMRC Heritage Foundation, provided piano music for vocals by Kim Tanner, a development assistant at the foundation.

Eighty guests included the groom's son, daughter, four grandchildren, five great-grandchildren and spouses. The bride – who's keeping her last name – walked down the chapel aisle on the arm of son Marvin Lamb, who came from Berkeley, Calif., with his wife and two sons. Nicholas Lamb, one of the grandsons, played piano during a reception for the couple's "other family" – CRC residents.

To prepare for the day, two devoted staff members, Patti Oakes and Hazel Barr acted as surrogate daughters, taking the engaged residents on separate trips to select a ring and wedding clothes.

Lyrics resonate

Sabin and Dickerson, who exchanged vows at the same setting in April 2005, were among well-wishers at the latest reception – a reminder of good fortune that has changed their lives. Like Lamb and Sanders, this couple also is thankful for "that second time you hear your love song sung," as Sammy Cahn wrote in a timeless 1960 song, Second Time Around:

There are those who'd bet
Love comes but once — and yet
I'm oh so glad we met
The second time around

"When you're younger, I think romance seems a little more frivolous," says Sabin, 79, who enjoys daily walks along West Middle Street with her husband, 90, to have coffee downtown – as they've done since she moved to CRC's Garden Apartments in January 2004 and he offered to help unpack boxes. "Our relationship grew from there," she says.

Other relationships growing at Chelsea Retirement Communities – with both feet on the ground – are opening new chapters for residents who'll never outgrow their desire to share every day with someone special.

money WI$E

By Dave Werman

Many of your fellow Americans just don't think they are capable of building a reasonable amount of savings for their retirement years. Should you be equally gloomy? Not if you save and invest early and often.

Just how pessimistic are people about building their net worth? Consider these findings from a recent survey sponsored by the Consumer Federation of America and the Financial Planning Association:

Only 26 percent of the adults surveyed think they could accumulate $200,000 in net worth in their lifetime.

A whopping 21 percent of those surveyed said winning the lottery would be the most practical strategy to accumulate several hundred thousand dollars.

In looking at these figures, two things jump out: The first group may be overly pessimistic - and the second group is totally unrealistic. In fact, a person's chances of winning huge in the Powerball are about 1 in 120 million, give or take a few hundred thousand. So, if you are doubtful that you'll accumulate enough money to retire, and you can't count on the lottery, what can you do to improve your savings outlook? Here are a few suggestions:

Set some goals. You will find it easier to invest for your retirement if you know how much money you will need to reach your goals. Try to visualize the type of retirement lifestyle you'll want. Will you travel? Volunteer? Open your own small business? A qualified financial professional can help you set a general "price tag" on your goals and show you about how much you will need to save each year - and what sort of investment return you will need to achieve - to meet your objectives.

Put time on your side. The earlier you start saving and investing, the better your chances of building the resources you'll need to enjoy a comfortable retirement. You might be surprised at how much you can accumulate over time. For example, if you can afford to put away $100 a month in a tax-deferred investment (such as a traditional IRA) that earned a hypothetical 7 percent a year, you would accumulate more than $121,000 after 30 years. Even after you pay taxes on your withdrawals, you'll still have a sizable sum.

Take advantage of your employer's retirement plan. If your employer offers a 401(k) or other tax-advantaged retirement plan, take full advantage of it. Every time you get a raise, try to increase your annual contributions. At the very minimum, contribute enough to earn your employer's match, if one is offered.

Avoid heavy debt burdens. Debt is one of the biggest threats to your ability to accumulate the money you'll need for retirement. Every dollar you use to pay off a high-interest credit card is a dollar that could be used for investing. Of course, it's not easy for many of us to make ends meet these days, but do whatever you can to live within your means and avoid racking up a huge debt load that will take you years to pay off.

By following these suggestions, you should gain confidence, over time, in your ability to increase your net worth to levels that once seemed unimaginable to you. And you can save money on those lottery tickets, too.

Gemini's success comes in pairs

By Terry Jacoby
Heritage Newspapers

Gemini is a constellation in the northern hemisphere that is also known as "Twins."

The Gemini Salon and Day Spa borrowed the name Gemini because the owners are not only sisters, but twins. The name has fit the bill for more than 22 years and has been a shining light on their success.

The twin connection theme extends to services offered – both salon and spa options – to the date of their opening and grand reopening (Dec. 1, 1984 and Dec. 1 2006).

But there has only been one reason they have stayed in business for more than two decades.

"I first started going to them because they were friends of the family," said Denise Walter of Manchester. "But I quickly learned they do excellent work, but what they do best is customer service. They really take care of their customers."

When guests walk through the doors at Gemini they aren't customers, they are family.

"We love to serve," said Theresa Broderick, who along with her twin sister, Lisa Preston, are 1981 graduates of Chelsea High School and opened the business when they were just 20 years old in a small store in downtown Chelsea.

Now they are in their beautifully expanded and renovated store on Main Street, just off Old U.S. 12, using the same ideals and business fundamentals that brought them here. While the walls may look better and the mirrors may be bigger and the décor fancier, the owners are still the same.

"We just like what we do," Preston says. "We like our customers and we want them to be happy when they are here and when they leave."

It's easy to see that they like what they do. The sisters not only share parents, but they share glowing smiles and heartfelt enthusiasm for their work. It's not a job for them, it's what they do and what they enjoy doing.

Two months ago Gemini swung open the doors on a newly expanded store that took more than six months to create.

The store went from 2,700-square feet to 5,500 and includes three treatment rooms (meditation room, ocean room and garden room), four pedicure chairs (that head up), a café area (with wireless internet access) and color processors that can do coloring in half the time. There also is a full kitchen for spa parties.

"When I leave at night and everyone has gone home for the day, I always look around before I turn out the lights and look at how beautiful it all turned out," Broderick said.

The staff also has grown to 14. It's been a long road since they first opened in 1984 with just young twins cutting hair.

"That first day we offered $1 haircuts and there was a line down the street before we even opened," Broderick said. "We couldn't even get to them all. We were getting rain checks for three months."

It wasn't an easy beginning.

"We were two 20-year-olds who couldn't make our payment on time," Broderick said. "And people like Bill Bott, who gave us the loan, helped us through the rough times."

Those rough times were well worth it. And people such as Bott must have known then that these twins had what it took to be successful. And walking around their new salon and spa it's easy to see they have arrived at successful.

How to avoid losing your home

By Raymond Wojtowicz
Guest Writer

'Tis the season for foreclosures — but it doesn't have to be. Not if you as a homeowner do everything you can to make sure you don't lose your home.

In case you didn't know, Wayne County — and Detroit — leads the nation in property tax foreclosures.

There are many reasons for this troubling distinction, and the decline of the auto industry — which has resulted in the loss of thousands of jobs — is certainly a major contributor to the decline of the local economy.

But the loss of jobs related to a once-thriving industry is still only part of the problem. Another equally serious part of the problem is, well, personal responsibility.

If you own a home, then you should know that property taxes need to be paid on that home. Believe it or not, the treasurer's office is not the Grim Reaper and has no interest in snatching your property. Here are some ways to avoid foreclosure:

Always pay your taxes on time.

Property taxes are always due in July and December of each year. Current taxes are payable to your local treasurer's office in the city where your property is located. You need to contact your local treasurer's office for further information on current property tax billing dates.

There are different ways to pay your taxes.

Your property taxes can be paid in one of three ways: online, in person or by mail. Payment for delinquent taxes can be paid by personal check, (current delinquent tax year only), certified funds, cash in person, or online by an electronic debit from your checking or savings account. Our office does not accept credit card payments.

If your mortgage company pays your taxes out of an escrow account, be sure to check and make sure that they are making timely payments. Ultimately, you are responsible for timely payments, not your mortgage company.

When am I late?

Officially, if you did not pay your 2004 property taxes by March 1, 2005, then those property taxes are now recorded as delinquent and a $15 collection fee was added on Oct. 1, 2005, to each delinquent parcel that is listed under your name.

Also, it is now the responsibility of the Wayne County Treasurer's Office to collect the delinquent taxes, and interest immediately kicks in at 1 percent per month. There is also a 4 percent administration fee.

When am I "really" late?

Unpaid property taxes become delinquent on March 1 of each year and are forwarded to the county treasurer for collection. State law requires a 4 percent administration fee and 1 percent per month interest.

For example, unpaid 2004 property taxes were forwarded to the county treasurer as delinquent on March 1, 2005. On March 1, 2006, unpaid 2004 delinquent taxes were forfeited to the county treasurer. State law requires the addition of a $175 fee and $26 in recording fees. Interest is increased from 1 percent per month to 1.5 percent per

Democrats huddle in Chelsea

By Sandi Kasha
Staff Writer

Some 60 people huddled at the Chelsea Depot Jan. 25 to eat, mingle and to listen to Andy Dillon, the Speaker of the Michigan House of Representatives.

Hosted by the Western Washtenaw Democratic Club, the annual meeting informed attendees of the Democratic Party's 2007 agenda.

Dillon (D-Redford Township), who was sworn in Jan. 11, addressed the crowd with his ideas to provide state families with opportunities to succeed in a stagnant economy.

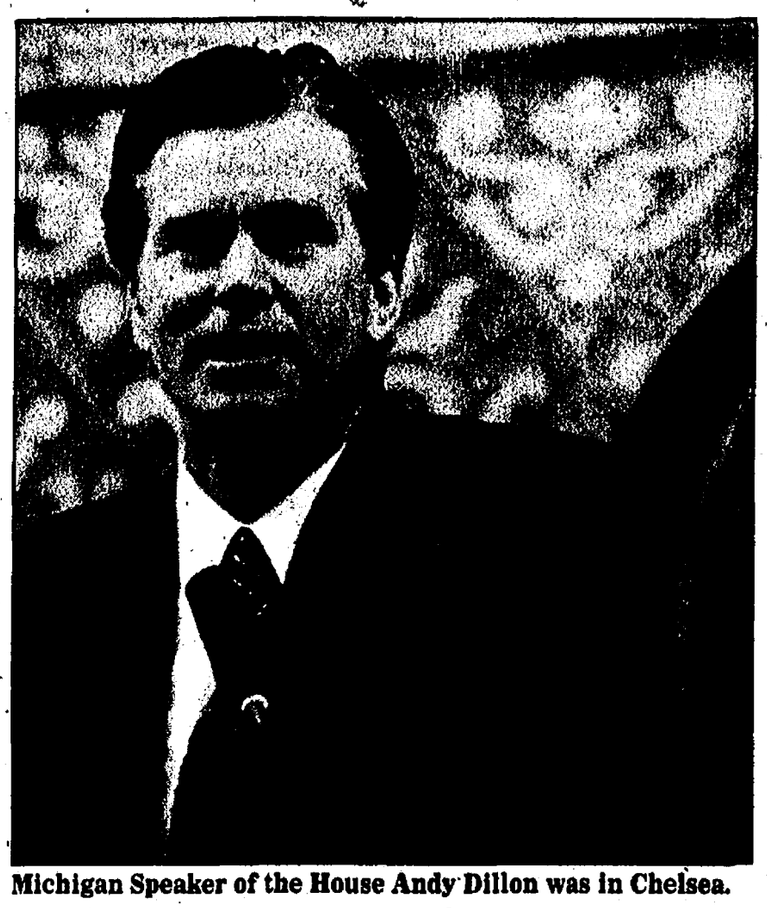
Dillon brushed up on topics such as affordable healthcare, strengthening the state's educational system, fixing the state's structural deficit, addressing the state's energy needs and making Michigan a magnet for 21st Century jobs by focusing on the state's strengths.

"We can make a commitment to lay the framework for a Michigan that we can be proud of," he said. "An economy where you can pursue a rewarding career that pays a wage that allows you to house, clothe and feed your family, get an exceptional education and have access to an affordable healthcare."

Dillon admitted that the present frail economy presents the state a challenge, but said that he is hopeful that there is a light at the end of the tunnel.

"Never before in our lifetime has Michigan confronted so many challenges," Dillon said. "We have a lot of work to do and it's unrealistic to think likewise. None of these goals can be met unless we employ a bipartisan approach.

"By putting the Democrats in control, I believe you can restore integrity to the White House."



Michigan Speaker of the House Andy Dillon was in Chelsea.

Following Dillon's speech, he answered questions from the audience.

Many in the crowd were members of the WWDC, but many were there to hear the party's views.

Chelsea resident Cary Church, who is a member of the WWDC, said that he is an active member.

"I'm here to listen to Andy Dillon," he said. "I want to see what his views are and to see if there's a new vision or new point of view."

Others such as Dexter resident Ruth Stielstra said that she isn't a member and that this is her first meeting.

"I was invited by a parent to come to this meeting," said the Pierce Lake Elementary School fourth-grade teacher. "I stopped by to listen and understand views. I think this coming election is too important for people not to get involved."

The meeting also featured the "first in the nation" 2007 Presidential Straw Poll. Guests had an opportunity to cast a ballot for any declared or rumored 2008 Democratic candidates.

The founder of the WWDC, 52nd District State Rep. Pam Byrnes (D-Lyndon Township) said that she was pleased with the outcome.

"We were happy to have the Speaker come and explain his vision for the state of Michigan," said Byrnes, who started the WWDC in 2000. "He's concerned about the economy, education, health care and energy."

Guest column
Now is the time to get involved

By Roy Schmidt
Guest Column

When the Democrats took over both houses of Congress last November, I decided it was time to get involved. We know the vices and downfalls of the Republican Party; we know what they have done to America over the last decade. Now the other party finally has a chance, and I want to help make sure they don't mess it up.

If you have read my "Other Voices" writings over the last couple years, you know that I try to act independent and moderate. Middle of the road, common sense, with a focus on human morals.

If you're one of the vast majority of Americans who's moderate, you owe it to yourself and to your country to get involved too. Now is the time to find a group that supports your political views and go to a meeting or two, and submit your two cents.

Now, you know I am not talking about your anti-gun, anti-immigrant, anti-gay, anti-abortion groups. These organizations are neither liberal nor conservative. They are extreme. None of these issues, red herrings really, has ever created a job, made your life worse or better, or made a real difference. They never will.

I am talking about affiliating yourself with a group that has a platform, a club that finds and supports candidates who have a vision that includes the issues that really matter to you – and to everyone else – and not the extreme, fringe issues I started to list above.

In December I stumbled into a Western Washtenaw Democrats (WWD) meeting. I had been meaning to find out what this bunch was all about. And if I want to help steer things, I might as well get on board the train of the party that will be making the decisions.

Now for the good dirt. Last Thursday I became chairperson of that group. I'm proud of it, I'm excited, and I'm eager to move into 2007 and start changing this world for the better. One half county at a time.

But it's not for me to dictate America's direction, or even western Washtenaw County's. It's yours! Now is your chance to exercise your freedom to speak out, to shape the future.

I welcome you, warmly, to consider joining WWD. Come to the meetings and give your input! If you're not a joiner, attend our events and programs. We work hard to plan them and make them worthwhile. If you are a staunch member of another party, identify yourself, and engage us in civil discussion. Democrats are listeners.

You and I both want the best America, and the best Michigan and the best Washtenaw County we can create. We can do it together, peacefully. Come to one of our events and influence our thinking.

month retroactively to the date the taxes became delinquent.

But seriously, when am I "really, really" late?

If your 2004 property taxes still aren't paid by March 1, 2007, then circuit court enters a judgment of foreclosure against your property.

The only way to retain ownership of your property at this point is to pay all of your delinquent property taxes, including fees and interest, by March 31, 2007.

If you don't? You're out of luck. This is your absolute last chance to get your property back. Period.

As of April 1, your property will be foreclosed, and you will lose all rights as owner of what used to be your property. Title to your property will be passed to the county treasurer.

So what happens now?

During the months of September and October 2007, your property will be sold at auction.

Former owners are allowed to register to bid on their property. However, they must follow the same rules and regulations as every other bidder. There will be no special privileges or allowances granted to anyone simply because they are the previous owners of a property about to be auctioned.

Options if you are facing foreclosure

Hardship extension

Except for a verifiable legal challenge proving that you do not owe the amount of delinquent taxes the county says you owe, applying for a hardship extension is just about the only way to hold onto your house while attempting to get caught up on your delinquent property taxes. Please refer to your handout material for details on how to apply for a hardship extension.

Important: If you believe you will need to apply for an extension, please keep in mind that this is only an extension, not an exemption. Even if you are granted an extension on the time allowed to pay your taxes, you are really only delaying the inevitable, and you will also be required to continue paying interest charges throughout the duration of the extension.

Contact treasurer's office

If you are facing foreclosure, trying to hide and act like it will all somehow go away is the worst thing you can do. What you need to do is get some help, and quick.

One thing you can do is contact the Taxpayer Assistance Section at 1-313-224-6105. Taxpayer assistance is an in-house division at the treasurer's office dedicated solely to assisting taxpayers in any way possible.

Once you have sought assistance, you may find out that it's not as bad as you think. But if you decide to ignore the problem, it will most likely turn out much worse than you could have ever imagined.

(Raymond Wojtowicz is the Wayne County treasurer.)

AS HEARD ON PAUL HARVEY NEWS

New advanced portable heater can cut your heating bill up to 50%

Heats a large room in minutes with even heat wall to wall and floor to ceiling

Does not get hot, cannot start a fire and will not reduce humidity or oxygen

By John Whitehead, Media Services

A new advanced quartz infrared portable heater, the EdenPURE®, can cut your heating bills by up to 50%.

You have probably heard about the remarkable EdenPURE® as heard on Paul Harvey News and on television features across the nation.

The EdenPURE® can pay for itself in a matter of weeks and then start putting a great deal of extra money in your pocket after that.

And that's just the start of the benefits for the new EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater.

A major cause of residential fires in the United States is portable heaters. But the EdenPURE® cannot cause a fire. That is because the quartz infrared heating element never gets to a temperature that can ignite anything.

The outside of the EdenPURE® only gets warm to the touch so that it will not burn children or pets. Pets can sleep on it when it is operating without harm.

The EdenPURE® will also make you healthier. That is because, unlike other heating sources, it will not reduce humidity or oxygen in the room. Typical heating sources reduce humidity which dries out your sinuses, makes you more susceptible to disease and makes your skin dry. With other heating sources, you'll notice that you get sleepy when the heat comes on because they are burning up oxygen.

The advanced space-age EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater also heats the room evenly, wall-to-wall and floor-to-ceiling. Other heating sources heat rooms unevenly with most of the heat concentrated high in the room and to the center of the room. And, as you know, portable heaters only heat an area a few feet around the heater. With the EdenPURE®, the temperature will not vary in any part of the room.

Unlike other heating sources, the EdenPURE® cannot put poisonous carbon monoxide into a room or any type of fumes or any type of harmful radiation.

For more details on the amazing EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater, here is my interview with Julius Toth, Director of Product Development for BioTech Research®.

Q. What is the origin of this amazing heating element in the EdenPURE®?

A. This advanced heating element was discovered accidentally by a man named John Jones. He had a large old farmhouse that was impossible to heat. Jones had a coal furnace in his basement. Jones placed a sheet of cured copper near the furnace to store it. Cured copper is a type of copper that goes through an extensive heating process to give it special properties.

After the fire went out in the coal furnace, Jones noticed that the sheet of copper was heating his entire basement evenly, even though the furnace was no longer putting out heat. He also was amazed as to how long the heat stayed in the copper and continued to warm the room.

Jones was so taken back by this that he started to experiment. He formed a company to develop a heating source out of this cured copper. But Jones had a number of children and he did not want a heating source that would cause a fire or create other hazardous situations like creating carbon monoxide or radiation. He also did not want his children to get burned.

To make a long story short, through a great deal of research and development, Jones developed a heating source that utilized commercial infrared quartz tubes.

Q. What advantages does infrared quartz tube heating source have over other heating source products?

A. John Jones designed his heating source around the three most important consumer benefits: economy, comfort, and safety. The final development of this infrared quartz heat source cannot be matched by any other heating system in the world.

In the EdenPURE® system, electricity is used to generate infrared light which, in turn, creates a very safe heat. Infrared is the safest form of heat because it doe's not create carbon monoxide or harmful radiation. And, most importantly, infrared heat does not reach a burning temperature.

After a great deal of research and development, very efficient infrared heat chambers were developed that utilize three unique patented solid copper heat exchangers in one EdenPURE® heater. Over 5 years of research, development and real life field testing stand behind this heat source. It has now worked in residential and commercial applications worldwide for over 25 years.

Q. Why is it that this quartz infrared heating source uses less energy to create heat than other sources?

A. Actually, there is more than one reason. One of the primary reasons is that heat at combustion level, which is what all other heat sources use, causes the heat to instantly rise to the ceiling. Therefore, the heat is not evenly distributed, causing a very inefficient and uncomfortable heat source.

The EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater does not use burning heat. Once the heat exchanger absorbs the infrared heat, it exhales the heat into the living area which is carried by the existing humidity in the air. This causes the heat to travel rapidly and evenly throughout a room.

In actual studies, photos using infrared lighting demonstrated that the heat was almost perfectly even from floor-to-ceiling and wall-to-wall. The EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared efficiency is based on the distribution of energized air, not on just fan movement. This heat is coined as "soft heat" due to how comfortable it is.

Q. What are the other disadvantages of combustion heat sources?

A. Heat sources that are above the burning level have many unhealthy side effects. One of these is that it creates dry, irritating indoor air. It also burns a great deal of oxygen in the air. If you remember, when you sit in front of a fireplace or a portable heater or close to a heat source, you will remember yawning. This is because you are not getting enough oxygen.

This dry irritating heat and lack of oxygen dries out sinuses and mucus in the throat, and makes people susceptible to disease. The lack of oxygen causes fatigue.

Also, many combustible heat sources produce carbon monoxide, static cling, and some produce radiation.

Q. So you're saying that children or pets can come up to this unit and touch it and not be harmed?

A. That is absolutely correct. As a matter of fact, pets are actually drawn to this heat because it is a natural source of heat, just like the sun heats the earth. Animals are much more instinctive than humans. This heat not only heats the air, but it also heats the objects in the room. It is a perfectly balanced heat.

Q. How can a person cut their heating bill by up to 50% with the EdenPURE®?

A. First, the EdenPURE® uses less energy to create heat than other sources, but that is just part of why it will cut a person's heating bill. The EdenPURE® will heat a room in minutes. Therefore, you can turn the heat down in your house to as low as 50 degrees, but the room you are occupying, which has the EdenPURE®, will be warm and comfortable. The EdenPURE® is portable. When you move to another room, it will quickly heat that room also. This can drastically cut heating bills, in some instances, by up to 50%.

Q. I also understand that the EdenPURE® produces clean fresh air without furnace filters. How can it do that?

A. A furnace generates a lot of dust due to the combustion. By lowering the furnace temperature, you are using your furnace less and therefore reducing the requirement for the furnace filters. Also, when there's no combustion, there are no harmful fumes.

Q. So, the EdenPURE® is totally safe to use?

A. It absolutely is. The EdenPURE® has zero clearance, which means you can push it up against the wall or furniture without risk of fire. Tests prove the unit does not transmit any energy into the atmosphere that will burn or harm anyone regardless of distance between the person and the EdenPURE®.

The EdenPURE® will pay for itself in weeks. It will put a great deal of extra money in a users pocket. Because of today's spiraling gas, oil, propane, and other energy costs, the EdenPURE® will provide even greater savings as the time goes by.

The EdenPURE® comes in 2 models. Model 500 heats a room up to 300 square feet and Model 1000 heats a room up to 1,000 square feet.

Bulldog Adam Connell draws the Tecumseh defense to him before passing the ball to an open teammate during last Friday's 63-41 victory over the Indians. The senior guard scored nine points and had three steals helping the No. 6-ranked Bulldogs improve their overall record to 10-0.

Chelsea senior James Bassett finished second in the 500 freestyle with a time of 5:45.14 in last Friday's dual meet against Tecumseh. The Bulldogs also participated in the Dexter Freshman/Sophomore Invitational last Saturday and faced Milan Jan. 23 in a busy stretch last week.

Bulldogs control boards in victory

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Chelsea's perfect season continues.

Last Friday, the host Bulldogs (10-0, 5-0 Southeastern Conference), ranked No. 6 in Class B by the Associated Press and No. 10 in the Detroit News' Super 10, defeated league foe Tecumseh 63-41.

Chelsea coach Robin Raymond said the Bulldogs' work down low was an important factor in their victory.

"We did a good job rebounding," he said. "We only gave up six offensive rebounds. We were able to control the boards."

For the game, Chelsea outrebounded the Indians 33-23, including 11-6 on the offensive glass.

To begin the contest, Tecumseh slowed the game down trailing only 5-4 after one quarter.

"Tecumseh came into the game with two wins in a row," Raymond said. "They worked hard all game. Defensively they played well. The first quarter was a half court game."

If the first quarter was a half court game, the second quarter was a full court sprint.

In the second quarter, Chelsea turned up the heat defensively and quickened the pace of the ballgame. At halftime, the Bulldogs opened up a 23-14 lead.

"We were able to get the ball and go," Raymond said of the second quarter turnaround. "We were able to run."

In the third quarter, the Indians were forced to press in an attempt to catch up.

"That gave us another opportunity to run," Raymond said. "We executed well in the third quarter."

Heading into the fourth quarter, Chelsea led 43-33.

In the fourth frame, the Bulldogs closed out the victory from the free throw line, canning 11-of-14 shots in the quarter. Chelsea outscored Tecumseh 20-8 in the fourth quarter for the night's final margin.

"They were trying to get back into the game," Raymond said of the Indians' foul troubles in the fourth quarter. "We did a good job of handling the ball. We had a season low six turnovers. That was exceptional."

Chelsea's boys' swimming and diving team participated in Dexter's Freshman/Sophomore Invitational last Saturday.

"Quite a few of the state's top teams were present to showcase their young talent," said Chelsea assistant coach Brian Thomas. "We competed really well and had some great swims. We were competitive with many of the teams in the area. Our swimmers and divers performed well."

There was no team score kept at the meet.

Hat trick fizzles Rockets

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Chelsea hockey righted the ship last Saturday defeating visiting Muskegon Reeths-Puffer 6-2 at the Arctic Coliseum.

Prior to their game against the Rockets, the Bulldogs (11-6-1, 2-2-1 Southeastern Conference) were in the midst of a two game losing streak and hadn't won since a 4-1 victory over Jackson Lumen Christi Jan. 10.

Versus Reeths-Puffer, Chelsea was able to take advantage of its opportunities scoring three power play goals. The Bulldogs also tightened up defensively allowing only 10 shots on goal the entire contest.

"We played well Saturday night," said Chelsea coach Don Wright. "We created some good scoring opportunities. Overall, it was a good effort."

The Bulldogs opened the scoring at 10:23 of the first period as senior forward Schyler Williams hit the back of the net giving Chelsea a 1-0 lead. Assisting on the play for the Bulldogs was freshman forward Drew Brown and sophomore forward Steve O'Keefe.

At 3:31 of the second period, Williams scored his second goal of the night unassisted on a power play increasing Chelsea's advantage to 2-0.

Sophomore forward Riley Feeney gave the Bulldogs a 3-0 lead scoring at 12:33 of the second period. Senior forward Mike Bazydlo picked up an assist on the goal for Chelsea.

In the third period, Bazydlo scored on a power play 1:22 into the frame upping the Bulldog lead to 4-0. Junior defenseman Matt Prince and Brown recorded an assist on the play for Chelsea.

Two minutes later, the Rockets finally got on the board as Jimmy Bergen scored on a power play, cutting the Bulldogs' lead to 4-1.

Chelsea answered right back as Williams scored his third goal of the game, for a hat trick, one minute later. The power play goal was assisted by senior defensemen Travis Amburgey and Jake Vaughan.

Bulldog junior defenseman Matt Prince had one assist in Chelsea's 6-2 victory over Muskegon Reeths-Puffer last Saturday.

At 7:49 of the third period, Jeremy Chinman scored for Muskegon closing the Rockets' deficit to 5-2.

At 13:04 of the third period, Bulldog junior forward Kyle George ended the scoring as he turned the light on off an assist from junior forward Garrett Nickels and Williams.

Chelsea out-shot Reeths-Puffer 32-10 for the game.

Earning the win in net for the Bulldogs was sophomore goaltender Joe Hume. The victory in net was Hume's first of his Chelsea career.

"He did well," Wright said. "I thought he handled the pressure well in his first varsity start. It was a good outing."

Last Friday, host Chelsea lost to state-ranked Davison 6-1.

The Bulldogs came out strong against the Cardinals, but faltered late in the opening period.

"I liked how we started," Wright said. "We forechecked well and kept them in their own end for the first four minutes."

At 4:19 of the first period, Zach Warson scored for Davison giving the Cardinals a 1-0 lead.

Schwarze named All-Star

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

The Dexter/Chelsea area will, once again, have a prominent presence at this year's 27th annual Michigan High School Football Coaches Association East-West All-Star Game.

Selected to participate in the elite event, July 21 at Michigan State University's Spartan Stadium, is Dexter quarterback Johnny Benjamin (6-foot-4, 185 pounds) and Chelsea wide receiver Nate Schwarze (5-11, 165).

Coaching the West squad will be Dexter's Tom Barbieri. Dexter's Ken Koenig, recently selected Assistant Coach of the Year at the MHSFCA banquet in Battle Creek last month, will also coach in the game for the West team.

Besides Benjamin and Schwarze, other local players suiting up for the West squad include Saline center Charlie Moeller (6-2, 260) and Adrian linebacker Brad Ohrman (6-4, 225).

Benjamin, Schwarze, Moeller and Ohrman all played in the Southeastern Conference.

The West includes the top 44 players from outside the Detroit metropolitan area. Detroit and the Thumb area's best 44 gridders comprise the East.

The East leads the all-time series 14-12.

Last year, Dexter quarterback Jeff Ziegler (6-6, 215) and Chelsea offensive lineman C.J. Boyer (6-3, 260) played for the West. Zielger went on to the University of Michigan, while Boyer is at Saginaw Valley State University.

Sharing quarterback duties on this season's West squad with Benjamin will be Linden's Dustin Mayner (6-1, 195).

Top players for the West this year include Battle Creek Harper Creek tight end Rocky Weaver (6-6, 230) who'll play at Central Michigan; Whitehall defensive end Ryan Van Bergen (6-5, 260) who'll play at Michigan; Flint Carman-Ainsworth defensive lineman Ryan Wheat (6-5, 305) who'll play at Michigan State; Portland defensive lineman Bridger Buche (6-4, 255) who'll play at Eastern Michigan; Marshall linebacker Kevin Pickleman (6-4, 240) who'll play at Michigan State and Muskegon defensive back Ronald Johnson (6-0, 185), arguably the best at his position in the nation, who's being recruited by U-M, MSU and USC to name a few of the schools after his services.

Standouts for the East include Milford offensive lineman Joel Foreman (6-4, 285) who'll play at Michigan State; Pontiac Northern receiver Martel Webb (6-5, 215) who'll play at Michigan; Macomb Dakota quarterback James Stallons (6-6, 185) who'll play at Wisconsin; Clarkston punter Ryan Breen (6-1, 185) who'll play at Penn State; Orchard Lake St. Mary's defensive back/quarterback Justin Siller (6-4, 205) who'll play at Purdue; Madison Heights Lamphere defensive back James Rogers (6-2, 185) who'll play at U-M and Farmington Hills Harrison receiver Mark Dell (6-1, 180) who'll play at Michigan State.

Chelsea and Dexter athletes are making their marks at all levels collegiately this winter season.

At the University of Michigan, Dexter's Jeff Marsh is a key member of the Wolverines' No. 11-ranked wrestling team. A junior, Marsh has a 9-8 overall record at 157 pounds for U-M. At the National Duals in Cedar Falls, Iowa Jan. 13, Marsh lost to the nation's No. 2-ranked 157-pound grappler Trent Paulsen from Iowa State 9-2. The No. 6-ranked Cyclones beat U-M 25-15.

At Michigan State University, Chelsea senior Allison Sayers finished second in the one-meter diving competition for the Spartans' women's swimming and diving team against Oakland University Jan. 19. Sayers also placed third in the three-meter diving event for MSU.

Also for the Spartans, Chelsea senior Dani Sawyer was a member of MSU's third-place finishing 400 freestyle relay versus Oakland in women's swimming and diving. She also was on State's fourth-place 200 medley relay team which stopped the clock in 1:54.32.

Sayers and Sawyer helped lead the Spartans to a 3-5-1 overall record this season. The duo next prepare for the Big Ten meet Feb. 8 through 11 in Minneapolis.

At Calvin College, Chelsea freshman John Mantel is averaging 7.6 points per game and 4.4 rebounds per outing for the Knights' men's basketball team. The 6-foot-8, 230-pound post player leads Calvin with 16 blocked shots this season. He also is shooting 72 percent from the free throw line and 39 percent from the field. Calvin is 10-7 overall and 5-2 in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

At Ohio State University, Dexter sophomore Christina Sarnecki was a member of the Buckeyes' second-place finishing 400 freestyle relay in OSU's 193-101 win over Kenyon College Jan. 21 in women's swimming and diving.

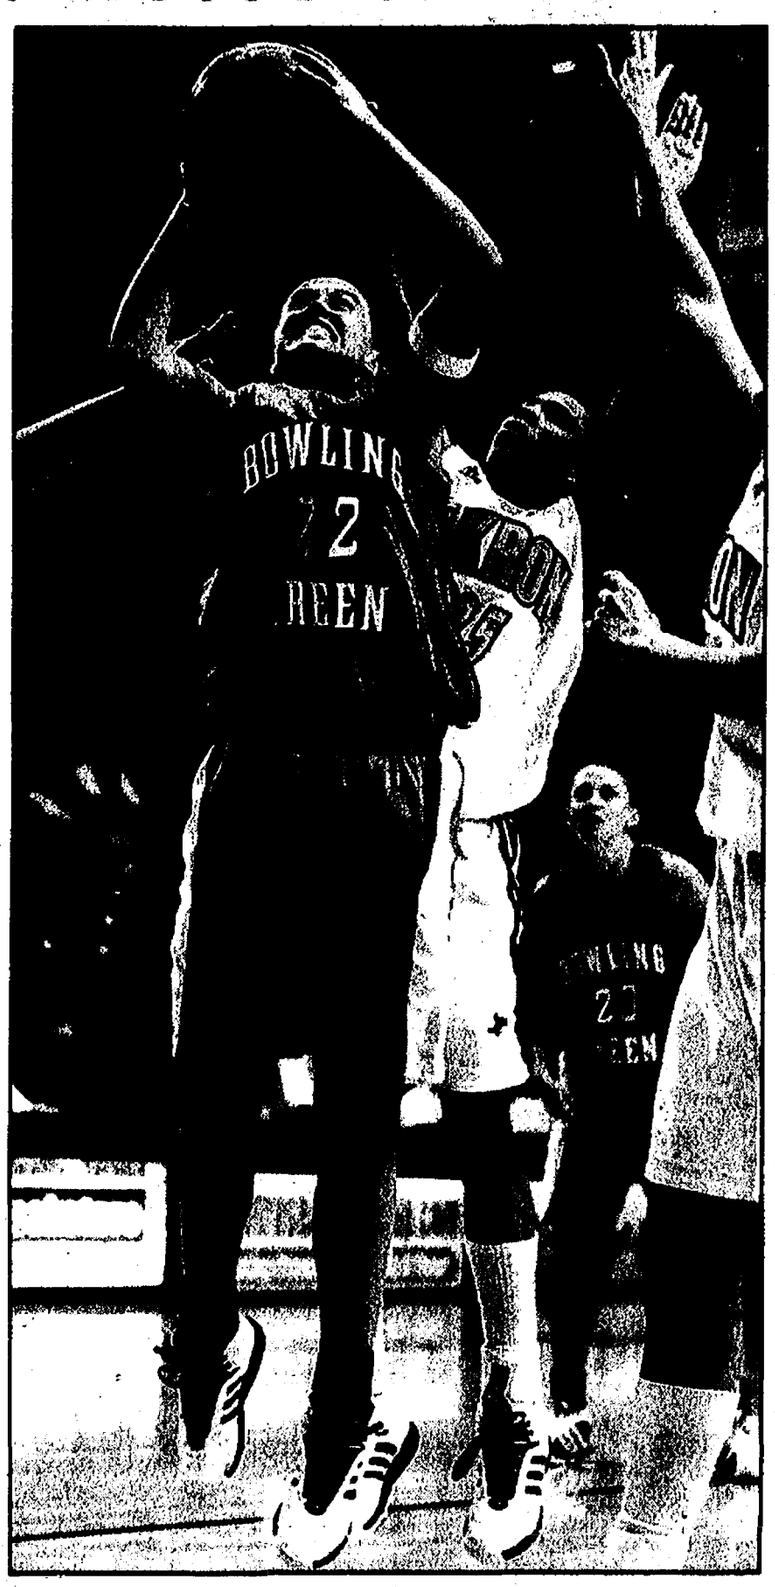
At U-M, Dexter's Lindsey Smith and Hannah Smith have helped lead the Wolverines' women's swimming and diving team to a No. 10 national ranking. On Jan. 20, Michigan defeated Northwestern 162-132. Lindsey Smith, a senior, finished second in the 200 freestyle in 1:49.69 and second in the 100 freestyle in 51.17. She also was the anchor for U-M's first place 200 medley relay (1:43.23).

Hannah Smith, a sophomore, finished first in the 100 backstroke in 56.83, first in the 200 backstroke in 2:01.57 and fourth in the 50 freestyle in 24.03 in the Wolverines' victory over the Wildcats.

This season, Lindsey Smith, a five-time NCAA All-American and six-time Big Ten champion, owns Michigan top times in the 100-yard freestyle (49.66), 100-meter freestyle (56.88) and 200-yard freestyle (1:46.92). Hannah Smith, a NCAA All-American and Big Ten champion in the 200 freestyle relay last year, owns U-M top times this season in the 100-meter backstroke (1:06.31) and 200-yard backstroke (1:59.30). The sister duo also have combined to lead the Wolverines in the 200-yard freestyle relay (1:31.29), the 200-meter freestyle relay (1:45.60), the 400-yard freestyle relay (3:20.32) and the 800-yard freestyle relay (7:16.19).

Chelsea senior Ali Mann led Bowling Green State University to a 90-62 victory over host Western Michigan University in women's basketball Jan. 24. Mann, a 6-1 forward, finished with 21 points to pace the No. 16-ranked Falcons (17-2, 7-0 Mid-American Conference).

Behind Mann, third all-time in BGSU scoring with 1,587 points, the Falcons have won 10 straight games and 32 consecutive contests in the MAC. BGSU's No. 16 national ranking is the highest in school history and the highest in MAC history for a women's basketball team.



Former Chelsea standout Ali Mann has been a major reason for Bowling Green State University's women's basketball team's No. 16 national ranking this year. The Falcons, behind Mann, the school's third leading all-time scorer, have an overall record of 17-2 this season.

At the Air Force Academy, Dexter junior Eric Ehn is a candidate for the Hobey Baker Award which is college hockey's highest honor. The Hobey Baker Award is similar to college football's Heisman Trophy in its significance. This season, Ehn is the top scorer in college hockey with 19 goals, 26 assists for 45 points. The Falcons are 12-9-5 overall and 9-4-5 in the Atlantic Hockey League.

At Michigan State University, Chelsea redshirt freshman Dan Lewis finished sixth for the Spartans in the one-mile run (4:16.04) at the Red Simmons/Jack Harvey indoor track and field invitational at the University of Michigan. Also competing for MSU's men's track and field team is Chelsea freshman Ian Girard in distance events.

At Hope College, Dexter freshman Jenny Cowen is averaging 4.3 points per game for the Flying Dutchmen's women's basketball team. The 5-9 guard is also third on the team in three-point shooting making 16-of-52 from beyond the arc for 30 percent. Cowen has played in all 17 Hope games this season. The Dutch are 15-2 overall and 7-2 in the MIAA.

Also at Hope, Chelsea seniors Jacob Holton and Andre Bravo are members of the Flying Dutchmen men's swimming and diving team. Holton, a captain, competes in freestyle events, while Bravo participates in backstroke and butterfly events. The Dutch are 4-2 overall and 3-1 in the MIAA.

At Kalamazoo College, Dexter's Kelsea Howell scored a team-high 20 points, with seven rebounds and four steals in the Hornets' 63-55 loss to Adrian College in MIAA women's basketball action Jan. 24. Howell, a 5-11 junior swing player, leads Kalamazoo in scoring this season with a 14.6 average. She also hauls down 5.5 rebounds per game. The Hornets are 3-15 overall and 2-8 in the MIAA.

At U-M, Dexter sophomore Lex Williams finished first in the 3,000-meter run in a personal best 8:02.36 at the Red Simmons/Jack Harvey indoor track and field invitational hosted by the Wolverines Jan. 20. Williams' time was a NCAA qualifying time. Also competing for U-M's men's track and field squad is Dexter sophomore Tony Nalli. Nalli placed 10th in the 3,000-meter run in 8:33.04 at the Red Simmons/Jack Harvey invite.

At Michigan, Dexter fifth-year senior Erin Penn (formerly Cobler) ended her career tied for second in U-M volleyball history in matches played with 126. The 6-1 outside hitter and two-time team captain led the Wolverines to the NCAA Tournament losing in the first round to Cal Poly 23-30, 30-26, 25-30, 23-30 last December. Penn recorded four kills, three assists, nine digs and two blocks in her final collegiate match.

A history major, Penn was named U-M Sportsmanship Award nominee for the third straight year. She ended up ninth all-time in blocks at Michigan with 334 and was the 11th Wolverine to record 1,000 kills in a career. She finished with 292 assists, 743 digs and 334 blocks in her career. Penn also was a four-time Academic All-Big Ten selection.

Public Comment

Lynn Fox related a story from a teacher who was at the Teacher Open House. This teacher had heard bad things about the new building, but after coming to the open house and seeing so many teenagers she was ecstatic that the teens were using the library and very pleased with the new library.

Construction Project Discussions and Reports

CM Report – O'Neal Construction

Mike Truax gave an update on the building and answered questions from the board about subcontractors signing off on the jobs as they are finished. The board was also wondering about the "punch list" and who was overseeing it. Jay Scott is managing the list of items that still need to be finished. M. Truax will work with subcontractors and C. Russ to set up a series of training sessions for library staff on all new building facilities and equipment.

Architect - Fanning/Howey

G. Zenz had concerns about the library paying for re-engineering of items, such as the poor lighting on the first floor. The board feels should have been addressed in the original building plan.

Building Committee

The board would like the list of concerns from the Building Committee to go to all board members. C. Russ is putting together a list of all cost figures of changes/additions for work needing to be done.

Art Committee

Lynn Fox reported that the walnut logs that have been stored in her garage have been milled to slabs 1-1/4" thick. The slabs are 12', 10' and 8" long. The cost was $100.00. The boards are drying and will be usable in a couple of years for shelves, plaques or any other items the board would like. Ideas from staff are also welcome.

The Art Committee took a tour of the building to identify places around the library that would be usable for art on loan from the local art galleries. They are also looking into hanging systems, so we don't have holes in all the walls. The Art Committee will discuss this idea further with C. Russ

They have also been contacted regarding some art donations. L. Fox suggested that the Art Committee review the Art Policy with C. Russ at the next Art Committee meeting.

There are 11 doors still available for purchase; some are here at the library. Approximately $4,400.00 has been raised through the sale.

THE CITY OF CHELSEA HEREBY ORDAINS:

An Ordinance to regulate the construction, maintenance and use of streets within City of Chelsea, the use thereof by traffic, the administration through the planning and zoning processes, enforcement thereof, fees to defray the administrative and enforcement costs incident thereto, and to insure that all residences and buildings within the City of Chelsea may be accessible to emergency, police and fire protection, and for other purposes, as follows:

274. Intent.

The Chelsea City Council hereby finds the unobstructed, safe, and continuous access to lots and parcels of real estate is necessary to promote and protect the health, safety, and welfare of the public through emergency, police and fire protection service. The Chelsea City Council further finds that such access is necessary to insure that such services can safely and quickly enter and exit private property at all times. The Chelsea City Council further finds that access to the interior of various sections within the City of Chelsea should be promoted through the orderly development of the City and such access should meet minimum standards and specifications to permit the subsequent upgrading and dedication of such access rights-of-way. The procedures, standards and specifications hereinafter set forth are determined to be the minimum procedures, standards and specifications necessary to meet the intent of this Ordinance.

274. General Standards and Specifications.

All roadways, roads, streets, and easements which are used for vehicular traffic to residences, buildings, businesses, or for the general public, except for agricultural or construction vehicles shall comply with the following standards and specifications:

The City of Chelsea hereby delegates to the City Engineer and the Department of Public Works Superintendent the functions of review, inspection, and approval of all street construction and maintenance.

D. Building and Zoning Permits. If any parcel, lot or condominium unit which fronts upon, adjoins, or is serviced by a street, is the subject of a Zoning or Building Permit for the construction of a building or structure, the permit shall not be issued until the street has been inspected, reviewed, and approved as provided by this Ordinance.

E. Retroactivity of Ordinance. This Ordinance is effective as of this date and shall apply retroactively to any land, lots, parcels or condominium units which are in development under any zoning approval or permit prior to issuance of a final certificate of occupancy.

If a private street has been certified as having been constructed in compliance with the above requirements, the certification of the Department shall constitute evidence of compliance. If a street is offered for dedication or deeded to the City of Chelsea, all information of the Department shall be forwarded to the City Council for action of acceptance. The City Council shall review the reports and information of the Department and approve or disapprove with or without conditions, acceptance of the street as a public street and its associated improvements into the public street and utility system of the City of Chelsea.

L. Conditions of Final Acceptance: In order to be certified as an approved private street and/or as part of the procedure for acceptance as a public street, the applicant shall:

1. Prepare and submit to the City Engineer the detailed plans and specifications prepared by a registered professional engineer certified after completion of construction showing all improvements "as-built," including all improvements within the easement: such as, water mains; sanitary sewers, storm sewers, drives, streets, and sidewalks in the following media: six (6) paper copies, one (1) set of dimensionally stable copy, and one (1) electronic file copy. When a public street is offered for acceptance or deeded to the City a survey and legal description showing the centerline and right-of-way width is required. All electric, telephone and other communications systems shall be placed underground or above ground in accordance with the requirements of the applicable utility applicant and the City. The location of underground utilities shall contain a statement of invert elevations of the pipes or other fixtures in accordance with the specifications of the City Engineer.

2. Cause to be maintained public liability insurance and property damage insurance in such amount and for such term as is determined by the City Council from time to time. Such insurance shall carry the City as a named insured and indemnify the City, its officers, employees and agents, against any and all claims for damage due to use of the street or other improvements, or the condition of construction or design of the same.

3. Dedicate all necessary easements to the City of Chelsea for the construction and maintenance of public improvements.

4. Deposit, prior to the issuance of any Certificates of Occupancy, in a street tree planting escrow account with the City, in cash, an amount determined by the Department for trees along the lineal street frontage on each side of the street, where required as a condition of approval by the Planning Commission or the City Engineer. If the required trees are in good condition after two years, the escrowed funds shall be returned to the applicant. If the required trees are damaged, die or otherwise not acceptable within said two years, the applicant shall replace the trees as needed. The deposit shall be maintained and adjusted to insure that sufficient security remains to cover the cost of replacement of the required trees within two years of planting.

5. Deliver to the City an irrevocable letter of credit in the amount of ten (10) percent of the total construction cost of the street and utilities, which letter of credit may be drawn upon within two (2) years after the date of acceptance of the improvements by the City. The form letter of credit shall be approved by the City Attorney.

274. Signs.

A. General Requirement: Every property improved with a principle structure, dwelling, and every apartment dwelling, and every apartment dwelling unit, office, suite, or other building space which is occupied by a separate and distinct entity, person, or business shall meet the minimum standards established by this Ordinance, and shall have affixed thereto the identification for its location required by this Ordinance.

B. Streets: All streets shall bear a sign designation as established by the Department. Each designation shall be separate and distinct and each name shall be approved by the Planning and Zoning Administrator in consultation with the Chelsea Area Fire Authority or its successor agency.

C. Individual Street Numbers and Addresses: Every principle structure located upon real estate in the City of Chelsea, including all dwellings, commercial uses, and industrial uses shall have established and maintained at all times an identification sign bearing a street number or address of the property. In residential subdivisions every principal structure shall have affixed to it a street identifying number or address as designated by the City of Chelsea Planning and Zoning Administrator. In non platted residential areas, street numbers shall also be located at or within the street right of way line on the property.

D. Apartments, Condominiums, Office Suites, and Separately Occupied Building Spaces: There shall be affixed on the exterior of all apartment buildings, multiple dwellings, office suites, condominiums, and other separately occupied building spaces or complexes, separate identifying numbers or letters in clear sequential order or pattern, on signs located within six (6) feet of the exterior entrance to each dwelling unit, office, condominium, or separately occupied building space.

E. Identification Signs: The identification signs described in this ordinance for placing along street rights-of-way and on the exterior of buildings shall meet the following minimum standards:

1. All letters or numerals shall be at least three (3) inches high and affixed to the United States Mail receptacle which serves the property, or to a sign which conforms to the provisions of the City of Chelsea Zoning Ordinance or to the front of any principal structure.

2. The color of numerals and letters shall be clearly distinct from the back-ground color of the sign board or the receptacle, and be clearly visible from the street.

274. General requirements

Every building, dwelling, business or use, which involves vehicular traffic, shall after the date of the adoption of this Ordinance directly abut upon a street dedicated and accepted by the appropriate public body, or a street approved and constructed under this Ordinance. No permit shall be issued by any City official until the certificates required by this Ordinance are obtained. This Ordinance shall apply to any streets in use and existence as of the date of adoption of this Ordinance.

274. Variance

Where there are practical difficulties or unnecessary hardships in the way of carrying out the strict letter of this Ordinance, such as topographical and other physical characteristics of a parcel, the City Council shall have the power to vary or modify the application of the provisions of this Ordinance so that the intent and purpose of the Ordinance shall be observed, public safety secured and substantial justice done. Any applicant may apply for a variance for any provision of the Ordinance. The applicant shall file a title search from a reputable title insurance company showing the names and addresses of all parties having an interest of record in the parcel and the proposed roadway. The City Council shall hold a public hearing upon such application within thirty (30) days from its filing, give due notice thereof to all parties and decide the application within thirty (30) days after hearing. At the hearing any party may appear in person, by attorney or by agent. The City Council shall keep a record of said hearing and shall render a written decision. The City Council may attach reasonable conditions in granting any variance from any provisions of the Ordinance, and the breach of such conditions or the failure of any applicant to comply with the conditions shall void the variance. It is the intent of this provision of the Ordinance that easements and rights-of-way which have been established, recorded, constructed, or maintained prior to the date of adoption of this Ordinance and which can not be brought into conformity with the provisions of this Ordinance without unnecessary hardship or where such rights-of-way and easements by reason of soil conditions, topographical considerations, or other factors can not be brought into conformance with the Ordinance without practical difficulties, that variances may be granted and conditions attached to the variance to facilitate the upgrading of such nonconforming easements and rights-of-way as is reasonably practical to the standards of the Ordinance.

274. Severability.

In the event that any provision or section of the within Ordinance shall be declared unconstitutional or unenforceable for any reason, such provisions or section shall be severed from this Ordinance and the remaining provisions shall be enforceable without respect to the severed and unenforceable provision or section.

274. Amendment of prior ordinance.

The within Ordinance here by amends and supersedes Ordinance No. 107, adopted December 18, 1990.

274. Effective date.

The within Ordinance shall be effective thirty (30) days after adoption and publication in the manner prescribed by law.

FAITH

Is the love of Self – good or bad?

MINISTERIAL Message

By Pastor Mark Porinsky
Faith Lutheran Church

I understand that Time magazine's Person of the Year for 2006 was "YOU."

Apparently the magazine cover features a sheet of Mylar that reflects the reader's own image. In a related article, the magazine shows how the media plays up individualism, with products such as MySpace, YouTube, MyYahoo, MyWay, MyStuff, MyNews and thousands of other me-centered labels.

There's not necessarily anything wrong with being allowed individual choices. But with the mirror concept on the cover, Time is sensing something more: an individualism that is narcissistic. Self-love.

Self-love is nothing new. Actually it was a misguided love for self that caused our first parents to disobey God in the Garden of Eden. And an inordinate self-love lies at the heart of all human sin ever since. After St. Paul stated, in 2 Timothy 3:1-2, "There will be terrible times in the last days," the first example he gave was, "People will be lovers of themselves...."

What's alarming is that, rather than being ashamed of how far we've gone in our self-love, we are now boasting about it openly.

But doesn't the Bible command us to love ourselves? No, the Bible does not command us to love ourselves. It doesn't have to. Every human being already does love himself or herself. When Jesus said, "Love your neighbor as yourself" (Mark 12:31), He was simply recognizing that fact.

We are so thankful that our God was not absorbed in self-love, though He had every right to be. Unlike us, God is perfect love, and is perfectly lovable, and is perfectly complete in Himself. Yet He chose to create a universe to which He could show love, and particularly He chose to create the human race.

And even when this human race turned away from Him in self-love, He did not turn His back on us. Instead, as the familiar Bible passage states, "God so loved the world that He gave His one and only Son, that whoever believes in Him shall not perish but have eternal life" (John 3:16).

Anyone who truly believes this will fight the natural tendency to live for love of self. The battle will be life-long and will be won only when we enter the eternal life our God has won for us.

Mark Porinsky is the pastor at Faith Lutheran Church at 9575 North Territorial Road in Dexter.

More than 100 guests participated in Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Day celebrations sponsored by the One World One Family Task Force. The child-centered afternoon program featured a presentation by Douglas Lewis about African Americans in the West.

Accompanied by his son Steven, Lewis shared stories and images of African Americans in the West, including Jim Beckwourth and the Buffalo Soldiers. The children's program also included a film and craft coordinated by Jackie Maveal. Maveal was assisted by members of the Chelsea High School Diversity Club, and CHS sophomore Kelly Maveal.

A Memorial March followed the afternoon program with approximately 50 participants proceeding from Park Street through downtown Chelsea reciting quotes from Dr. King. OWOF Chair Allie Suffety addressed the marchers and praised their resilience on a day in which the weather proved challenging.

Rep. Pam Byrnes presented the OWOF "Carrying the Dream" award to Faith in Action of Chelsea. FIA Director Nancy Paul and Program Coordinator Doug Smith accepted the award, which recognized Faith In Action's 26-year history serving the Chelsea-Dexter communities. Supported by United Way of Chelsea and Dexter, Scouting organizations, school clubs and community service groups, Faith In Action has provided essential support for thousands of Chelsea and Dexter residents with food, clothing, utility assistance, holiday and back-to-school needs and health care.

The Evening Program showcased the winners of the Third Annual Martin Luther King, Jr. Day Essay Contest. The theme for this year's contest was prejudice. First place winners read their essays during the program.

Entertainment was provided by two dance troops from Plymouth-Canton schools. Vocalist Jimmy Thrasher of Chelsea High School closed the program with his performance of "Waiting for the World to Change," by John Mayer.

The Third Annual Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Essay Contest Committee asked that students submit a 200-400 word essay in response to one of the following questions:

1. Is it possible to know if you, yourself, are prejudiced? Explain your answer.
2. How does prejudice contribute to "a fear-drenched community?"
3. Racial prejudice still exists. Discuss a few OTHER forms of prejudice.
4. Identify a prejudice, and develop a nonviolent plan to help eliminate this prejudice.
5. If you see or hear an act of prejudice, what could you do?

More than 140 essays were submitted by Chelsea students. Nearly 100 of the entries were submitted by sixth grade students of Mrs. Barbara Locks and Mrs. Amy Doma, at South Meadows School, resulting in two first-place, two runner-up and 10 honorable mention prizes.

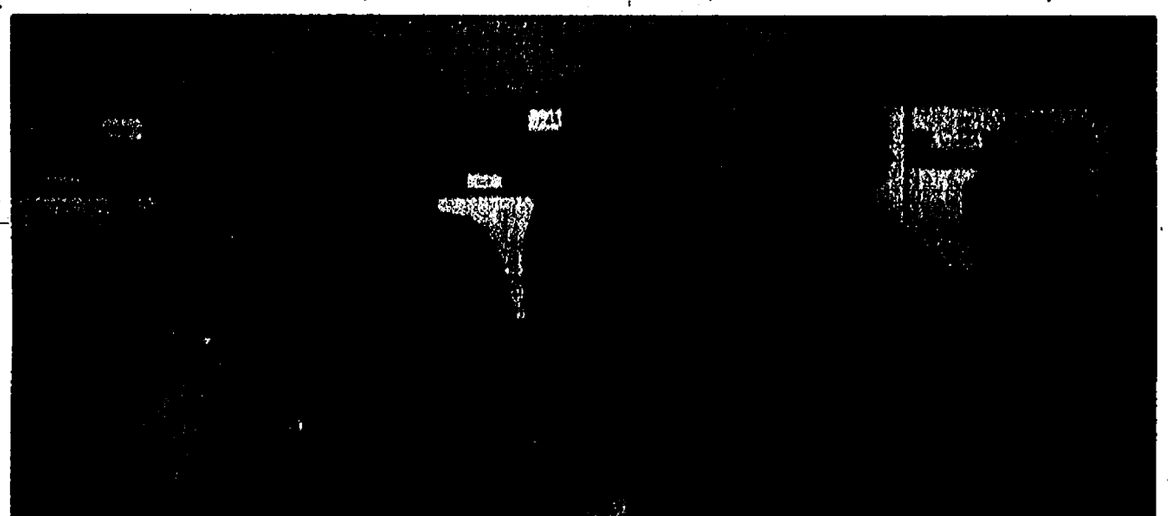
Steven Lewis shows a slide of Jim Beckwourth as part of the presentation on African Americans in the West, given by his father, Douglas Lewis. Lewis pointed out that in films, such as "Tomahawk" in the 1950s, the African American Beckwourth was portrayed by white Western film actors such as Jack Oakie.



Essay Contest Winners for Grades 7-12 (l to r): Eighth grade students Dylan and Zach Schepers won first place (Dylan) and honorable mention (Zach) prizes; Katie Koval, runner-up for grades 9-12; Patrick Holloway, First-place winner for grades 9-12, and Sherrie Peters, honorable mention winner for grades 9-12.

All that jazz

Community READ offers a musical note

By Sheila Pursglove
Special Writer

The "Chelsea Reads Together" Community READ program takes on a musical theme this year, exploring the world of jazz and the African-American musicians who created one of America's most enduring legacies in the world of music.

Now in its fourth year, "Chelsea Reads Together" is an opportunity for a community-wide discussion, said Cathy Russ, director of the Chelsea District Library. "And jazz is a great topic, with limitless avenues for discussion and exploration."

Why jazz?

"Because it's fun! It's so diverse, there's not just one umbrella that covers all of jazz," Russ said. "Also, to encounter jazz through reading, listening to the music, experiencing the performances, as well as participating in discussions, makes for a multi-dimensional experience.

"Total enrichment! And isn't that what a library is all about?"

The Community READ is a way of bringing people together, Russ said.

"Through participation in the event, people who don't know each other will have common ground, some talking points. It's a great way to get to know your neighbors, familiarize yourself with some terrific organizations, and participate in the life of your library."

The library is partnering with the local grass roots organization, One World One Family to present the Community READ.

"One of the most wonderful things about a public library is that it is for everyone, regardless of race, creed, national origin, economic status," Russ said. "Whoever you are, whatever your situation in life happens to be, the public library is available to you.

"The mission of OWOF mirrors that philosophy by working to increase awareness and respect for all members of the human family, and to fight discrimination."

The library is fortunate to have several local sponsors backing up the Community READ program, Russ said. The sponsors are from a spectrum of community organizations, demonstrating the power of partnerships.

"Together we can put on a series such as this, whereas alone, we would not be able to do so. And it illustrates the great things that can happen when people work together for a common good."

Three books and several special events will explore the elements of jazz, including the discrimination faced by African-American music pioneers, their sometimes-destructive lifestyles, and the musical exploration of jazz sounds and styles.

The three books selected for the Community READ are: "Giants of Jazz," by Studs Terkel, a collection of conversations with 13 jazz greats and a reflection of their lives, times, and contributions; "On the Road," by Jack Kerouac, the 1957 book with a style that reflects the cadences of bebop jazz; and for the younger set, "Bud, not Buddy," an award-winning children's book by Christopher Paul Curtis.

Activities during the Community READ include six weeks of Sunday jazz concerts, a film series, dance performance, jazz for kids, poetry, art exhibit, and book discussions.

Russ will head up the final event in the Community READ activities.

"I'm very excited to be the discussion leader for the March 5 program, talking about the books 'Giants of Jazz' and 'Cats of any Color,'" she said.

"I used to lead book discussion groups before I came to Chelsea and I'm looking forward to talking about the books, but more importantly, getting to know more members of the community."

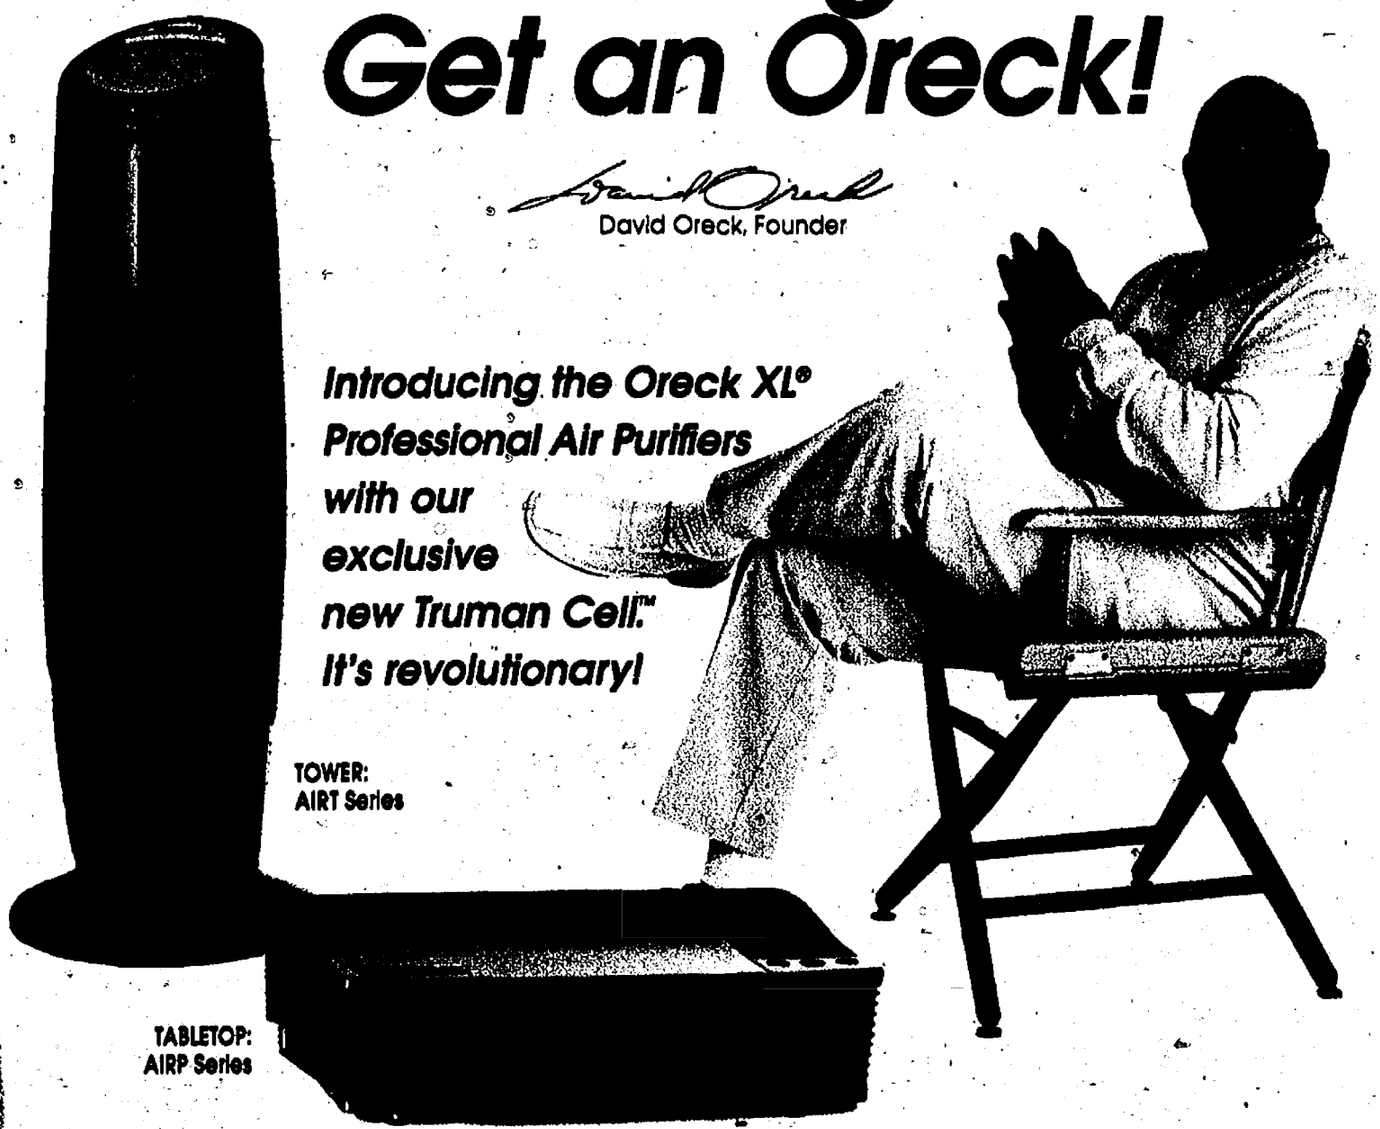
NEW INNOVATION FROM ORECK

Got allergies? Get an Oreck!

David Oreck, Founder



Introducing the Oreck XL® Professional Air Purifiers with our exclusive new Truman Cell.™ It's revolutionary!

TOWER:
AIRT Series

TABLETOP:
AIRP Series

If the air in your home is stale and stuffy, or you suffer from the kind of allergies that are aggravated by airborne contaminants, you shouldn't be surprised. According to the Environmental Protection Agency, unhealthy indoor air is one of the biggest health concerns facing Americans today. In fact, indoor air pollution levels can be five to even 100 times greater than outdoor levels.

Thankfully, there is something you can do about it (aside from holding your breath). You can own the new state-of-the-art Oreck XL® Professional Air Purifier. Its six-stage purification process with the revolutionary Truman Cell™ took years of research and development by Oreck engineers. The result is an extraordinary breakthrough in indoor air purification.

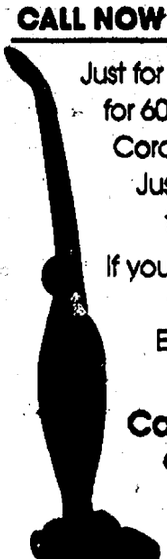
How extraordinary? An air purifier is only as good as its collection cell. The surface area of the Truman Cell in the Oreck Tower model measures an incredible 2,357 square inches. That's almost four times better than our previous best-selling model.

This means the Oreck XL is significantly more effective at trapping and destroying minute particles like germs such as bacteria and viruses. As well as capturing pet dander, dust, pollen, mold spores and chemical fumes. What you are left with is clean, fresh, crisp-smelling air.

And the new Oreck XL Professional Air Purifier comes in two sizes. For large rooms the Tower model stands 30" tall and purifies an 1125 sq. ft. room every hour. For smaller rooms the Tabletop model is just 16.6" wide and purifies a 150 sq. ft. room 6 times every hour.

If you suffer from allergies, you owe it to yourself to try my new Oreck Professional Air Purifier risk-free for 60 days. If you don't feel better, sleep better and breathe better, simply send it back. There's no obligation.

CALL NOW AND RECEIVE A $100 GIFT — FREE.



Just for trying a new Oreck Air Purifier risk-free for 60 days, we'll send you our $100 Oreck Cord-Free ElectrikBroom® absolutely free. Just mail in the voucher enclosed with the Air Purifier to receive your gift.

If you don't feel the difference simply send the Air Purifier back–but keep the ElectrikBroom–there's no obligation. The shipping is free.
