Candidates state their case for Council

By Edward Freundl

The City Council candi-

each hoping to make an

Three Chelsea residents trying to unseat council members Joe Merkel, Jamie Bollinger and Jason

Lindauer in the Nov. 6 elec-

Myles, the owner of a bed-

Holmberg and Anderson

both are members of the anti-tax group Chelsea

Living with diabetes

Family deals with a double dose of the potentially deadly disease

By Terry Jacoby
Heritage Newspapers

Parents rarely think twice when their child oversleeps. But when Kim Kaster's son doesn't wake up at 5 a.m. she thinks the worst. "On those rare occasions that he doesn't get up, my first thought is that he might have died in his sleep," Kim says.
And when someone from the school calls, Kim can't help but feel something's seriously wrong.

"When the phone rings and I see it's the school, my heart begins beating fast due to concerns that it could be something serious with (Zach's) health," she says.

Part I Imagine having to live with such trauma and such fear at things most people never worry about in the least.

Saline's Kim Kaster lives in a world of fear. But she also allows hope to slip by for a visit every once in awhile. If she didn't, she would have lost this fight a long time ago. There is too much at stake not to keep fighting and believing. When it's your son living on that edge, a mom will stand by him no matter how frightening the view.

Kim's 16-year-old son Zach was diagnosed with Type 1 diabetes five years ago. And everything in their world changed that day.

"Our family has felt everything from sadness to anxiousness," said Kim, a mother of two. "We also feel relief that he does not have an illness that will kill him today or even in the near future. We have to worry about him getting sick. Sickness has huge ramifications on diabetes. Luckily, he has not ended up in the hospital due to any illness.
But we have a 'sickness plan' that we need to follow."

Type 1 diabetes is usually diagnosed in children and young adults, and was previously known as juvenile diabetes. In type 1 diabetes, the body does not produce insulin, which is a hormone that is needed to convert sugar, starches and other food into energy needed for daily life.

Everything changes

About five years ago Zach, who also is autistic, began drinking water and using the restroom more frequently. Like many moms, Kim felt that since he was

School safety practices constantly reviewed

By Edward Freundl
Staff Writer

"Maintaining a positive and safe school climate" is one of four goals under which the Chelsea School District operates, and one which school officials are always looking at improving.

Like the other goals - increase individual student achievement, maintain fiscal responsibility and promote interaction between the schools and community
- this goal is subject to change over time.

There is much more to maintaining a safe school environment than installing metal detectors or teaching ways to ward off schoolyard bullies.

Chelsea Board of Education President Laurel
McDevitt has seen the goals evolve since she was elected to the board in 2004, and school safety is an important consideration.

"That's the newest goal we've had since I've been on the board," she said.

"The world we live in today is not the same one most of us grew up in."

Andrew Ingall, Executive Director of Instruction and Community Services, pointed out the district has taken a "hardware" and "software" approach.

"There were several building improvements
undertaken this past summer," Ingall said, which is the "hardware," and student initiatives make up the "software."

"In addition, each building is implementing programs directed toward promoting positive interaction between students," Ingall added.

Implement physical improvements to increase safety for students.

Building improvements include the relocation of the North Creek office, installation of card-key access to buildings for staff and playground substructure upgrades at North Creek

Meet the Candidates

Six vie for three open seats on the Chelsea City Council

On Nov. 6 Chelsea voters will be asked to choose between three incumbent City Council members, Jamie Bollinger, Jason Lindauer and Joe Merkel; and three challengers, Rod Anderson, Bill Holmberg and Jim Myles. The Chelsea Standard asked all six to describe the ways they would address various issues facing the city. Their responses have been edited only for spelling, grammar and formatting, and are printed in the order received.

Bill Holmberg

Age: 44
Family: Daughter Shaylee, age 3-12
Occupation: Corporate Quality Assurance Manager, Domino's Pizza LLC Educational background: A.A.S. degree in Animal Science, B.S. in Business Management and M.S. in Food Science

Bill Holmberg

Political background: None
Memberships in community organizations: None at this time.
Why do you want to be elected? Quite honestly, there seems to be an element of basic disapproval on how our city has been run. Current council is perceived by many as "old school" and does not represent the best interest for a changing community.

I am a fresh face with a fresh way of thinking. I believe I can make a difference by representing creative thought to issues such as the existing budget (see below).

What is the most important issue facing Chelsea today, and how can you help?

Taxes are on the rise in Chelsea, some of which are unnecessary. This will make Chelsea hard to live in, especially as the housing market is decreasing.

Michigan is in a one-state recession and state tax increases are likely. Council raised Chelsea's millage by 1.3 percent. I estimate an increase in property tax of 29 percent. I propose looking at deep cuts in city spending instead of raising taxes.

The current budget is too difficult to understand, making money appropriations near impossible to understand. Budget has increased by 3.5 percent.

I have reviewed the budget. My belief is that all citizens should be able to review the budget and make sense of spending and appropriation of funds. "Transparency" of the budget is necessary in order to maintain accountability of budget items.

I propose making the budget easily understandable to the residents of Chelsea, so they can feel like they can understand Chelsea in their community and they have a right to understand the spending.

What are your priorities if seated on the City Council?
To uncover the truth and reasoning behind recent decisions and practices council has created.

Most, I'm sure, have been good for the community. I am still puzzled, however, by the complexity of our current budget. How can the city account for spending activities, when it is not relatively easy to track? As stated above, this is a huge issue and needs to be prioritized for change.

What are your ideas to retain or attract businesses?
As indicated at the Oct. 17 Chamber of Commerce candidates' forum, incentives are going to be crucial, especially as the Michigan economy continues to struggle. Incentives can and should be creative.

A point I did not get to during my presentation was some tax incentives. Although our existing manufacturing jobs (and creation of new ones) may be limited at this time due to infrastructure constraints, Industries Facility Tax Exemptions (ITFEs) do exist that can give relief for expansion. Let's keep it affordable for existing businesses and new businesses to come to our city. The Magellan property is seeking a brown-field tax credit for the 2.88-acre site. This is a creative solution to attract business to our area.

How would you define your role as a member of City Council?

My beginning role would be the person that can and will ask the question of "why?" Sometimes, we as people get locked into a way of thinking (right or wrong). I think a fresh perspective will allow existing council members to question and maybe create new ways of thinking on issues.

Later in my tenure, as I become more knowledgeable with individual issues and roadblocks associated with them, I see myself as a leader and assign specific duties to specific individuals to create a level of accountability to get things done.

Jason F. Lindauer

Age: 47
Family: I am the son of Arthur and Mary, also of Chelsea. I have two brothers and two sisters, all older. They all reside here in the U.S.; Michigan, Wisconsin and Texas primarily. A younger sister passed away in 1962.

Married to Amy L. Andes, Sept. 29, 1990. Blessed with our children Katie, 16; Matt, 14; Margaret, 12; and Daniel, 10. They are the objects of my total support and devotion.

Occupation: I've been privileged to work for Merrill Lynch since 1995. I am currently a Vice President and Wealth Management Advisor in Ann Arbor.

Educational background: My high school graduation took place at the "old" Chelsea High School and my B.A. is from Adrian College.

Political background: Chelsea's city council is non-partisan, and the current term is my first public service position at the city level.

Memberships in community organizations: Public service elsewhere included the American Cancer Society county Board of Directors in the 1980s, various church boards and committees here in Chelsea and Ann Arbor.

As a council member, I am also the city liaison to Ann Arbor SPARK, the Chelsea School District Board of Trustees and the Chelsea Recreation Council.

Since 2005, I've been on Brad Bush's football staff at Chelsea High School. This year, my coaching responsibilities include the tight ends on offense and other duties on special teams.

Why do you want to be re-elected?

Being re-elected to council is very important to me due to many factors, but two specific reasons are:

1. Continue the progress the city has made in many critical areas of community government and,
2. The positive momentum created toward addressing the issues facing Chelsea and the surrounding townships in the years to come.

What is the most important issue facing Chelsea today, and how can you help?

At this time, there are a number of important opportunities the city of Chelsea has before it. Many of them center on what most of our citizens consider "quality of life" issues. These opportunities would include, but are not limited to, those listed below.

What are your priorities if seated on the City Council?
Continue developing the close dialogue and working relationships with our surrounding townships. Any present or future issue facing Chelsea may also be a shared concern with those communities directly adjacent to us.

Efficient land use, mutual service and infrastructure agreements and overall expansion can no longer be appropriately addressed in a vacuum. Working jointly with surrounding governments will not only help Chelsea in addressing its current needs and those of the townships but also provide a template for success in these areas for generations to come.

Jason F. Lindauer

What are your ideas to retain or attract businesses?
Attracting new businesses to the city while maintaining a positive climate for those businesses already here. Continuing the work already begun toward this objective brings with it a number of related benefits for the present citizenry and for the generations to come.

A diversified tax base, stable real estate values and steady employment are some of the benefits that traditionally come with a growing business community.

Chelsea is uniquely situated to move ahead here owing in part to the close relationships built in the past years with federal, state and county agencies as well as public and private corporations to successfully complete a number of projects for the citizenry.

These would include the ongoing renovation of our historic landmark, the Clocktower Complex in conjunction with McKinley Associates, the recent expansion at the Silver Maple retirement community, the additions to the research and professional campus at Chelsea Community Hospital and others.

Zoning laws in Chelsea help to promote efficient reuse of land areas within the city as is most recently evident in the sale of the former Federal Screw Works property on Main Street, which is pending redevelopment.

Many companies moving to Chelsea also cite quality municipal services as one reason for coming here. While prudently planned additions to a city's service delivery and infrastructure over time is every community's goal, Chelsea is currently taking concrete steps toward securing adequate water, sewer and power resources for the years to come.

The process of accomplishing this goal is long indeed but that longer time horizon is not without the benefit of careful planning and pragmatism. Mayor Ann Feeney and the City Council recently convened a Citizens Advisory Committee that included local residents with vast expertise in city water systems to examine options that are before the city in addressing its service expansion requirements.

How would you define your role as a member of City Council?

My role on City Council is to clearly understand the needs and interests of our citizens and to help articulate those same concerns throughout the federal, state and county agencies and city departments that can most effectively address those concerns.

Rod Anderson

Age: 62
Family: Nancy (approaching our 40th anniversary), three adult children

Occupation: Manager, Spectral and Polarimetric Imaging, General Dynamics, Ann Arbor

Educational background: University of West Florida, Pensacola, Fla.: B.S. in Physics, summa cum laude; Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.: M.A., Ph.D. in Physics; thesis in experimental astrophysics: "Diffuse Matter and Extragalactic Light."

U.S. Navy 1965-71 (active), 1971-1990 (Ready Reserve); Naval Flight Officer qualified in various patrol and reconnaissance aircraft; Vietnam combat veteran; retired in 1990 at the grade of Captain (O-6)

Political background: Former precinct delegate, state committee (communications chair), and executive committee member for major political party

Memberships in community organizations: Church (Elder, audiovisual team), former Cub Scout and Boy Scout leader

Why do you want to be elected?
Our Mayor and City Council are hard-working, dedicated public servants who, in my view, are fundamentally misguided about the purpose of city government.

This point was hammered home by the Council's recent approval of a major millage increase for the current fiscal year. The increase was poorly justified.

What is worse, the Council did not consider the impact of the increase on Chelsea stakeholders: property owners, residents, and potential residents. We need to reset our priorities to place Chelsea stakeholders at the top.

While increased scrutiny by Chelsea Citizens for Accountability may influence council actions, the council as a whole still does not take the need for change seriously. Only by replacing some of the current incumbents can we truly get their attention.

What is the most important issue facing Chelsea today, and how can you help?

The most obvious challenge for the Chelsea community and city government is how to manage efficient delivery of services in a time of economic turmoil. In times of growth and rising real estate values, it is easier to fund additional services while maintaining a static tax rate.

Now, however, the community is being pressed by job loss, declining property values, and certain tax increases at the state level. We need to be tightening our belt, not letting it out a notch.

Why hasn't this happened? This is due to a fundamental problem: the city council's faulty approach to decision-making. Generally the Council seeks solutions to problems, rather than conducting studies involving all costs and benefits of the decision.

Rod Anderson

For example, the Council based its 2007-08 budget on City department inputs. Council did not consider the impact of the millage increase on homeowners, residents, and business property owners, nor did it base the draft budget on available revenues.

The Council's solution-based approach to decision-making is completely inappropriate in today's difficult economy. We believe that under current circumstances, the council must take into consideration all costs and benefits, for all stakeholders. Our "new vision" for Chelsea is based on the necessity of making decisions in an environment of constrained resources.

What are your priorities if seated on the City Council?

We (CCRA) have developed a specific approach to moving council decision-making in the right direction. This involves making city government:

More accountable to all stakeholders, not just those most visible.

Transparent to inquiries by stakeholders about operations. Prioritize needs so that actual costs and benefits can be estimated.

We believe the result of this approach will be a more efficient city government that could operate at a lower cost to the community. Our preliminary calculations indicate that the millage increase could have been lessened or even eliminated.

While we can't predict the future, we pledge that the total impact of tax changes on the community as a whole will be our paramount focus.

What are your ideas to retain or attract businesses?

A diverse mix of healthy businesses is crucial to a thriving community. The best way to attract businesses is a low tax rate with an acceptable level of services.

Business owners and potential owners need to be considered as important stakeholders. Still, the needs of business owners do not supersede those of the community as a whole.

How would you define your role as a member of City Council?

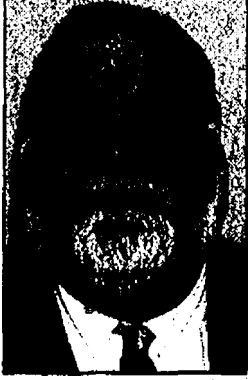

The current council seems to be operating as a monolithic bloc (with perhaps one exception). While this is good for apparent collegiality and lots of unanimous votes, I don't believe it makes for efficient government.

My particular role would depend on the specifics of the election. If both Bill Holmberg and I were to be elected (especially by a strong plurality), the community's rejection of current policies would be obvious.

In this case, Bill and I would work with the mayor and other council members to achieve accountable, transparent and efficient city government.

On the other hand, if I was elected and Bill was not, I would expect to be forced to play defense, trying to stop council decisions that are poorly supported by analysis or do not take into account all stakeholders. In this case, I would expect to cast many "no" votes.

Memberships in community organizations: Vice-Chair of the Chelsea Area Fire Authority Board of Directors, served seven years on the Chelsea Community Fair Board of Directors and as Fair Manager, Chelsea Rod & Gun Club member and past member of Board of Directors

James Bollinger

Why do you want to be re-elected?
I believe we have accomplished many things in the last three years and believe we are a strong, hard-working council dedicated to leading this community into a very challenging future.

We have many projects under our leadership moving forward that I would hate to see slowed down while a new city council learns what has taken us several months to study and make decisions on that I am ready to push forward on.

I feel that I have more to give to help see our city move forward on a path that all of us as longtime residents demand to see.

What are the most important issues facing Chelsea today and how could you help?

A. Maintaining small-town charm but still providing what our residents want and need.

1. Continue to support downtown events; help keep the merchants we have and try to provide an avenue for new ones.

2. Encourage the manufacturing we have to continue here and expand with more jobs availability.

3. Avoid big-box businesses (i.e. Home Depot, Wal-Mart).

B. The cost of doing business:

1. Continue to maintain departments to ensure fiscal responsibility on spending.

2. Continue to allow the City Manager time to evaluate personnel needs and make changes including elimination of positions where possible.

3. Look for more affordable avenues of day-to-day operations and still maintain high levels of service.

What are your priorities if seated on the City Council?

The above mentioned are a large part of it, but two other items I feel are priorities are the continued improvements to the city's water treatment plant, and future expansion of the waste water treatment plant.

What are your ideas to retain or attract businesses?

We definitely need to encourage our residents to support existing markets and downtown merchants. We need to pay close attention to new businesses that may have harmful effects on existing ones (big-box businesses).

We also need to encourage new business growth and I think that can be accomplished by continuing to help manufacturing with tax relief on personal property taxes, continue to offer some of the lowest electrical rates in the state and show them the very professional work force that is available here.

How would you define your role as a member of the City Council?

With my professional background I feel that I provide strong insight to capital improvement purchases (equipment, trucks, etc.) and a strong understanding of construction projects, from minor utility repairs to major street reconstruction, and spend a fair amount of time researching and watching these projects. I also think I provide hands-on experience for the history of our utilities.

Joseph M. Merkel

Age: 61
Family: Married to his high school sweetheart Judy for 41 years; three children, Joseph A. Merkel, Michael Merkel and Christina Scrippler; five grandchildren.

Occupation: Restaurateur

Educational background: Chelsea School District until ninth grade, graduated in 1964 from St. Paul in Owosso.

Political background: Mayor pro tem, Village of Chelsea 1980-1998; Police Commissioner 16 years; Fire Commissioner 12 years; elected to new City Council in 2004 and hope to be re-elected to continue serving the Chelsea community I so dearly love.

Memberships in community organizations: Chelsea Community Fair Board Member, 30 years; Chelsea American Legion Member, 36 years; Chelsea Rod & Gun Club, 38 years; Knights of Columbus, St. Mary Church, 40 years; Chelsea Citizen of the Year Award, 1996

Why do you want to be re-elected?

If re-elected I will bring experience and continuity to the council.

I am driven to fulfill the needs of police, fire and city offices to ensure proper services to the residents of this great city.

These and other issues have been discussed by council for more than 15 years.

It is my goal to ensure the infrastructure is put in place during my next term as one of your elected city officials.

What is the most important issue facing Chelsea today, and how could you help?

Water RO (reverse osmosis system) issues: Continue to make improvements in our water softener system and keep providing our citizens with soft water.

Moves have already been made in improving relationships with Sylvan Township to connect our two water systems for an emergency connection if either water system ever went down for any reason.

What are your priorities if seated on the City Council?

My priorities are to run this city more efficiently given the dwindling budget, and I resolve to seek additional state and federal monies appropriated for such projects.

What are your ideas to retain or attract businesses?

We must continue open communications with all business owners throughout the community such that we keep taxes at minimal levels while maintaining our beautiful downtown area.

This will be accomplished through the many efforts of your Downtown Development Authority (DDA), the state of Michigan and Ann Arbor SPARK.

We also need to work with developers like McKinley & Associates and others who want to come into our area.

How would you define your role as a member of the City Council?

I have been a fair and open-minded person with all issues concerning village and city affairs during my 21-year tenure.

As a clear voice within the community who is not afraid to express the community's desires on controversial and/or difficult issues. For those who may not know me, call any city department and ask about my record of community service.

Steklac enjoying role with nonprofit

By Sheila Pursglove
Special Writer

Mike Steklac — who stepped down as Chelsea's city manager in February — now plays a major role with the Alzheimer Association in Ann Arbor.

Liz Longley, executive director of the association, didn't hesitate to snap Steklac up when he became available.

"When I read in the Chelsea Standard that Mike was leaving the City of Chelsea, I immediately contacted him about working with us. I knew him, mostly by reputation, as being an honest, hard working, experienced administrator," Longley says.

The pair met for lunch and talked about the needs of the local Chapter, and Steklac agreed to come in a few days a week as a volunteer, before coming on board as a member of staff.

"He quickly won the respect of our staff and became invaluable," Longley says. "I am very grateful that he chose to join us."

"In addition to his financial responsibilities, Mike also capably handles Human Resources and facilities. We have staff in four offices throughout an area covering 23 townships."

Steklac is enjoying his new position.

"Working for a nonprofit is just another form of public service," he says. "I spent six months volunteering for the organization. During that time I got to know the staff and to see first hand the impact the organization has in communities."

"Alzheimer's is unfortunately a growth industry. As the population ages the number of people who will be diagnosed with Alzheimer's is expected to explode."

"It isn't only the 44,000 people in our service area that are diagnosed but we are working for all the caregivers and friends that are affected by each diagnosis. This Chapter excels in not only providing support for the person affected with Alzheimer's but to the caregivers as well. In that way, I am in a position to make a difference — and I've dedicated my entire career to make a difference."

Steklac came to Chelsea in 2004 when he succeeded Jack Myers as Village Manager.

His tenure as village manager was the shortest on record — he started March 1 and by March 8 voters had changed Chelsea's status from general-law village to home-rule city. Steklac found himself in the unusual position of going from village manager to city manager in the space of a week.

Before coming to Chelsea, the Chicago native served as city administrator in Gering, Neb., and held a similar position in Keego Harbor, near Detroit. He also has worked in the Michigan towns of Riverview and Gibraltar.

He resigned as city manager, in February after Chelsea City Council told him they would not renew his contract.

Steklac and his family still live in Chelsea, where they are members of the First United Methodist Church.

Steklac's wife Teresa is a registered nurse and works as a case manager at the Residence of Arbor Hospice.

Their daughters — 17-year-old Katy and 14-year-old Marybeth — are both students at Chelsea High School and active in music program. Katy is one of two drum majors and plays in the Michigan Youth Band, and Marybeth plays clarinet.

"Chelsea is our home. The people of Chelsea are our neighbors and friends," Steklac says. "It was important for us to stay in Chelsea."

For relaxation, Steklac has taken up the new sport of "Geocaching" — a treasure hunt for a container using GPS receivers. He says it's a great family activity.

"The territory can be anything from urban to wilderness," he says. "Coordinates are posted on a website, but the coordinates only get you to the area. The challenge is to use your skills, and what we call 'geo sense' to find the containers."

"The sport is pretty new — it started in May of 2000. I've been involved for about two years and I'm close to close my 250th find. I've hidden five caches — all of them in Chelsea."

"Once you find the container you open it. Inside is what we call 'swag,' usually trinkets. Sometimes a cache will have kid's toys — we call that McSwag For containers I've hidden, I usually put in things that geocachers can use such as first aid kits or bug repellent."

Steklac also joined the Washtenaw Toastmasters a little over a year ago, and serves as their vice president of Public Relations.

"It's a great club," he says. "In addition to helping to improve my presentation skills, I enjoy it for the diversity. It is one of the most diverse clubs I've ever been in. The club has people of all races, ages, and educational backgrounds."

"It's a very supportive club. I've found that if people come to just one meeting they are hooked — I was."

Teddy Bear Project under way

The sixth-grade Junior Girl Scout Troop #1595 has kicked off its second year of participation in the Teddy Bear Project.

This community service project involves collecting new, stuffed animals to be given to people during times of crisis.

Police officers, firefighters, first responders, crisis workers, hospitals, homeless shelters and Hospice will distribute the animals.

New animals are being requested to enable local hospitals to participate. The Teddy Bear Project: Chelsea Drive began Monday and runs through Nov. 2.

All five Chelsea schools are graciously hosting donation stations, as well as the Chelsea District Library, Chelsea Market, Dayspring Gifts, Chelsea Pharmacy, Polly's Country Market and Pamida.

The UPS Store donated the drop boxes this year, and Chelsea Print and Graphics has printed flyers for the project.

DIABETES

drinking more water he would naturally need to use the rest room more often. But an aide at school suggested she take Zach to a doctor just to be on the safe side.

"It was just a few days before his 11th birthday and the doctor did a couple tests and then came into the room and sat down," Kim says. "He gently told me that Zach had diabetes. I did not know what that meant. He took my hand and told me it was a lifelong chronic illness and that we would have to watch what he ate and give him insulin for the rest of his life."

Nothing again would be the same — for Zach or Kim.

"He then let me know that we had to take him to the hospital immediately," Kim said. "I was allowed to come home and quickly get clothes for him. I also got on the internet and printed out quite a bit about diabetes which I read after he was checked in."

When Zach went to the hospital that first time, his blood sugar number was in the high 500's.

"The range we aim for now is 70-150, so you can see it was quite high then," Kim says. "Our aim is 100. He had to take insulin shots at the beginning. He also had to be very scheduled when he ate. For example, if he ate breakfast at 7 a.m., he had to eat breakfast every day at 7 a.m. This was to help get his blood sugar numbers as regulated as possible and to learn how his body reacted at different times of the day and to different foods."

After six months, Kim was able to get Zach on a pump, which was a "big help" because of Zach's autism. The pump also provides the user with a great deal more flexibility.

The pump works a lot like an outside pancreas and gives insulin continuously to keep blood sugars even. Kim helps program the pump with carbohydrate numbers based on what Zach is eating. This process helps give him an extra dose of insulin when he eats.

"The pump is not infallible," Kim says. "I say that because what is given to him is programmed in by us. As he grows, the amount of insulin he needs changes so we have to change the basal and bolus rates. To know how to change these we need to constantly keep track of his blood sugar numbers (he tests his blood by poking his finger at least five times a day)."

If they see a decline or incline of numbers at a certain time of day, they need to try and determine why. If they think it will continue they then have to decide whether to change his basal or bolus numbers that are programmed into his pump.

"At least two times a year, we check his blood every

Misconceptions

Kim Kaster has to deal with misconceptions about diabetes almost on a daily basis. But she doesn't mind helping set people straight. The following is what Kim says about the misconceptions surrounding diabetes:

"People think it is easy to maintain diabetes. It is an everyday challenge that you often lose. People think diabetes is because you ate too much sugar. (Her son) Zach was diagnosed shortly after Halloween (five years ago). A lot of people thought it was because he ate too much sugar. That has nothing to do with it. For years, diabetes was called 'sugar.' I still hear people call it that. Sugar affects diabetes differently, but it is not the cause of diabetes. People think that once you begin taking insulin and changing your diet, everything is OK. Zach can have a sudden high or low that we cannot understand or find a reason for. It can just happen. These can lead to a coma or death. Also, no matter how closely we monitor and maintain his blood sugar numbers, there will be lifetime ramifications. Things that can happen are loss of appendages, heart disease, blindness, kidney failure and strokes."

two hours for 48 hours to see what the pattern is and if we need to change the basal or bolus," she says.

"My husband and I are perfectionists. It is difficult because the best you can hope for is a 60-70 percent accuracy rate (having his blood sugar numbers in the range). There is no clear cut way to know how his body will react to every thing that happens throughout the day."

A typical day

According to the Diabetes Association of America there are more than 20 million children and adults in the United States (or 7 percent of the population) who have diabetes. It was the sixth leading cause of death listed on U.S. death certificates in 2002.

Zach's battle against the disease is fought 24 hours a day, seven days a week. He wears a waist pack that carries his tester, test strips, alcohol wipes, glucagon, and glucose tablets to take for any low blood-sugars he may have.

What is glucagon? If Zach were to pass out from a blood sugar low, it would give him a quick dose of medicine to help his blood sugar numbers rise until paramedics arrived on the scene.

Zach has to test his blood before he eats at any time of the day, including meals and snacks. The adults around him have to watch for both low and high blood sugar signs. For lows, this includes listlessness and sweating. For highs, this includes thirstiness and listlessness.

"We are working with Zach to understand when he does not feel well and to tell an adult," Kim says. "At this point, he is unable to do so. So the adults around him have to be very aware of the signs and keep a close eye on him. Both severe highs or lows can cause comas or death."

There are really no physical limitations caused by diabetes. There are professional baseball players and marathon runners with the disease. They just need to be super aware of how they feel and monitor closely their blood sugar numbers. The amount of insulin taken often needs to be adjusted for physical activity.

"Zach is a bike rider," Kim says. "He rides his bike many hours of the day and throughout the year, even in the winter. 'We have to keep close tabs on his blood sugar numbers and readjust his pump when needed. We have to keep a close eye on him to look for signs of lows and highs.'"

Kim has to take Zach to the endocrinologist at the University of Michigan Hospital every three months. They also need to take him to an ophthalmologist every year to have his eyes dilated to check for any effects on his eyes.

The pump Zach wears is becoming a lot more popular.

"There are some people who don't want it hooked to them around the clock or worry it makes them look different, but it's important for Zach," Kim says. "It is becoming a lot more popular. It allows more flexibility to the person with diabetes. You can eat anytime without having to get numerous shots. For example, when Zach was receiving shots, if he wanted a second helping at a meal, he would have to receive another shot. The pump also helps keep blood sugars a lot more constant."

Maintaining good health

A good diet and physical activity are essential in the fight against diabetes.

"When I shop, I look for lower carbs in the foods I purchase," Kim says. "A carbohydrate increases his blood sugar. For every carb he ingests, we give him insulin (bolus) to offset that carb. Complex carbs like processed sugars affect his blood sugars differently. They are harder to understand so we try to stay away from them as much as possible."

"I use Splenda instead of real sugar when I cook because it has no carbs. We try to limit the carbs he ingests in order to limit the amount of insulin he has to receive."

While a lot of foods have carbohydrates, others don't, including meat, cheese and eggs. Fruits and vegetables do, and, of course, breads and grains are high in carbs.

"No matter how far along medically we are, the insulin we give him is a foreign substance to his body," Kim says. "Therefore it is in his best interest to limit the amount we give his body. Shopping can be difficult, until you get it down to the brands you can buy. For example, a light yogurt can range in carbs from 11 to 20 for a single serving depending on brand. A regular yogurt can range in carbs from 27 to 35 for a single serving depending on brand. I know that Dannon Light and Fit has only 11 carbs so that is the only brand I purchase."

"We don't go to a lot of restaurants either unless they can tell me the brands they use. Many restaurants now provide nutritional information, including carbs, but it's amazing how many more do not."

Diabetes times two

Earlier this year, Kim's husband, Mike was diagnosed with type 2 diabetes. Kim has made the adjustment to watching over the diet now of Zach and Mike.

"We have had to watch even closer the carbs Mike eats," she says. "He maintains his blood sugar numbers with his diet, exercise and medication. He does not use insulin to bring his blood sugar numbers down."

"Zach can once in a while splurge, like having cake for his birthday, but Mike cannot. If he does, his blood sugars will spike and he will feel sick."

Kim and Mike's other son Nick is not diabetic or autistic. Kim calls Nick "an awesome kid."

"Nick has to go through a lot and live with less attention because of Zach and his autism and diabetes," Kim says. "On a daily basis, they are normal brothers who bicker. But if something goes wrong with Zach, Nick is right there helping him out. He worries about him as much as we do."

Nick, however, does struggle with feelings of jealousy and neglect.

"He does get angry and jealous," Kim says. "Sometimes there is yelling at him or at us over it. We then sit down and talk about it. Nick will at times ask about what will happen to Zach as he gets older and my husband and I are not around to take care of him. He understands that Zach may have to live with us his entire life. We have told him that as we get older and can't take care of him anymore, we would have to find a home where he could live."

"Even though Nick says Zach will just have to live with him, we let him know that we do not expect that and that decision should not be made until he is older. It can be heartbreaking to see Nick already worried about what will happen to his brother when his parents die."

When Nick was 10 he looked for an activity he could do to raise money to find a cure for diabetes.

"He first found a walk that was held in Ann Arbor and then he found a bike ride, called the Tour de Cure, in Brighton," Kim said. "He has done the Tour de Cure for the last three years and has already signed himself up for the

Water plant OK

By Edward Freundl
Staff Writer

The Chelsea City Council got some good news Tuesday: The Water Treatment Plant is "a success story," according to a consultant conducting a study of the city's water and wastewater systems.

Tom Ritter, project manager for Tetra Tech, presented a report to the council on the steps taken to fix the ongoing problems at the Water Treatment Plant (WTP).

"The plant is operating properly, and the hardware is within specifications," Ritter told the council. "It is a success story, and that problem is basically behind us."

The problem to which Ritter was referring was what to do with the buildup of waste material from the membranes of the reverse osmosis water-softening equipment.

Ritter studied four alternative solutions, but it turned out that the current course of action, sending the WTP discharge through the WWTP, is the most economical.

According to his report, continuing to discharge to the WWTP is estimated to cost the city about $236,274 per year.

The other alternatives were more expensive, ranging from $479,600 to $650,500 annually.

Tetra Tech and the city are continuing on ways to improve the water and wastewater systems, but Ritter said they are off to a good start.

"Step one was to get the water plant working, get happy people and go from there," he said.

and direct: each candidate took turns delivering a three-minute opening statement, then moderator and Chamber president Steven Olsen asked questions that had been prepared by the Chamber and given to the candidates in advance.

The audience then had the opportunity to submit written questions, and once the candidates cleared that briar patch, they each had another three minutes to making closing arguments.

As expected, the sitting council members defended decisions that had been made on various issues during their tenure.

On the other hand, the challengers were making a case for a change in leadership because of perceived mismanagement that led to costly mistakes.

One topic that has been a sore spot for city officials and many residents for the past several years has been the substandard performance of the water-softening reverse osmosis system at the water treatment plant.

"I have the utmost respect for the people on the council, but they are moving in the wrong direction," Anderson said, referring to the history of problems with the system.

Bollinger responded to that criticism. "Our rates are very competitive and we are working very hard to continue that," he said. "We are always looking at ways to produce the product cheaper, trying to keep costs in line."

Holmberg and Merkel were asked about how they would handle business and residential growth in the city. "Chelsea's new money is in tourism," Holmberg said. "We already have the (Purple Rose) theater and the arts; we should also promote the other things we have to offer."

Merkel, a longtime restaurant owner, stressed that continuity on the council ultimately would benefit businesses.

"I agree with everything that was said about tourism, but we also need industry," he said. "There is a lot of infrastructure involved, and we need to be re-elected to see these projects through. I think we can make Chelsea grow by taking care of our people."

Lindauer and Myles were asked to address the city's financial situation, particularly in terms of employee pay and benefits in an environment of shrinking revenues.

"Chelsea led the way years ago by eliminating the defined-benefit plan for city employees, which over the years has been replaced by defined contributions," Lindauer said.

"Yes, we granted employees a small raise, but it was less than the rate of inflation and they have shouldered a greater share of their health-care responsibilities."

Myles said collective bargaining agreements should be reviewed before granting automatic increases, and he was "disappointed" that the council voted to increase taxes earlier this year. "As we go into new contracts, all employees are aware there may be things we need to do to adjust that; we need to manage other costs," he said.

"We need to be proactive with our services and employees. When I was on the council we never increased taxes to our current level."

The candidates continued sparring over a variety of issues, such as property purchases, quality of life, increased traffic congestion and more.

Why do you want to be elected? There are issues that seem to be overlooked or not addressed in a timely manner. It appears that questions are not being asked and parties involved are not being accountable for actions in the past.

This has cost the citizens and businesses money while the quality of life and standard of living here in Chelsea could be compromised.

The current council appears to be raising our taxes and not making people accountable. I want to know why. What has been put in place to see the problems don't happen again?

What is the most important issue facing Chelsea today, and how could you help?

My major concern and most important issue is to make sure the council does everything in its power to maintain and if possible to improve the quality of life in Chelsea.

What are your priorities if seated on the City Council?

I and other residents and businesspeople here have invested a substantial amount of our hard-earned incomes in Chelsea. We all believe this is a great place to live, raise a family and do business.

I, along with them, am not interested in seeing that investment being devalued. Actions of the current council and past administrations appear to be eroding that quality image.

What are your ideas to retain or attract businesses?

Businesses are interested in our community. As compared to other communities like ours, they see a more vibrant and positive environment in Chelsea.

There are tons of other communities that will give them bigger tax breaks and better deals should they wish to locate there. As a businessman it is only natural for business to be drawn to more dynamic communities. If they are going to invest their business dollars into a community, it will be in a community that is vibrant with plenty of potential to grow and be a safer bet to receive and positive return on their investment. Chelsea has that.

Currently we do not have an empty storefront in our downtown. As an innkeeper, I hear hundreds of people who come from all over the state who say how wonderful the experience is here. We are doing something right. Let's not screw it up!

How would you define your role as a member of the City Council?

I plan to ask the hard questions. I want answers and I want our government to be proactive versus reactive. Catching up always costs more money than planning ahead.

Yes, the current economic environment is not good. I don't see the bottom as of yet. As I have said before, we need a "Plan B."

Where else can we possibly cut costs and save money, should we have to go there? I believe there are areas we can do this.

I'm not interested in reading in the paper that we are going to pay more taxes or pay more money for something we didn't see or plan for.

The major portion of the last tax increase was due to the shortfall of the employee pension fund.

As Mr. Merkel said in the Oct. 17 candidate forum, "When (he) left council six years ago, the fund was over a million dollars in the good." When I left council three years ago, I understood it was in the good.

Suddenly the fund is substantially short and an emergency tax had to be implemented to cover it.

This amount of deficit didn't happen overnight. We are required by state law to have an annual audit by a certified public accountant. Why wasn't this caught?

If not them, then who is responsible to keep the council informed of this fund? What is in place to see this does not happen again?

All I know is that this has happened on the current council's watch. Who else are we as citizens supposed to hold accountable?

and South Meadows elementary schools, and fencing was also installed at North Creek, Ingalls noted.

"Items that will be addressed throughout the year will include the additional installation of video surveillance cameras and developing backup capacity for technology communications," he said.

Chelsea Schools Superintendent David Killips said school safety is "paramount" because in order for students to learn, they need to be in a safe and orderly environment.

"Our recent work at North Creek demonstrates our commitment to safety," Killips said. "Not only was the playground fenced in to maintain the children in an enclosed area, but in addition, the office was moved to the front of the building."

Visitors entering the school during the day now must come in the south entry and pass through the office prior to entering the rest of the school.

"This way we can keep track of who is coming and going from our building," Killips said.

McDevitt said "a positive and safe school climate" also relates to physical safety.

"The office relocation to the front of the building and playground fencing at North Creek are things that the board felt were a positive and necessary change to protect our youngest students," McDevitt said. "Fortunately, we have an incredibly supportive community that granted us the resources for these changes to occur."

Programs directed at students and children.

Ingalls outlined the various approaches each school is taking to work with students on issues of safety.

At North Creek, students are "bucket fillers," while students at South Meadows follow the "S.T.A.R." approach in an effort against bullying.

"Pierce Lake Elementary is combining these two programs to offer continuity as students move between buildings, and offers a nice bridge between the two programs," he said.

Beach Middle School plans to implement "Project Wisdom," a program dedicated to creating a positive and caring school environment.

Chelsea High School is considering "Link Crew," which is a program aimed at easing the transition into high school.

Killips enumerated the efforts the district has put into maintaining a safe school environment. "We have taken many strides toward this goal, inclusive of maintaining only one entry open once school starts; identification badges worn by all employees; security cameras located in several of our buildings; updating our policies on bullying, harassment and hazing," he said, "while continually working with our staff and local law enforcement agencies to ensure the safety of our children."

McDevitt said it is important for school officials to be able to watch out for the students, whether in elementary or high school.

"We're proactive; we're not blind to the fact that every place may have some issues,"

Part IV

This is the final installment of a series of stories taking an in-depth look at each of the goals established by the Chelsea School District and how it proposes to reach them.

she said.

"As kids grow up they try different things."

In reality, each of the goals the board has set play off one another, and are all integral parts of student success.

Educational programs throughout the district provide students the resources to help build a positive learning environment and foster respect for one another.

"The strategies employed by individual buildings complement one another," McDevitt said.

"These programs give our students valuable skills that will help them beyond our classrooms."

Gov. insists Washington is not in her future

The shoe on this foot fits perfectly. The only problem is that Cinderella — aka Gov. Jennifer Granholm — does not want to put it on.

With the not-so-surprising announcement this week that the governor is endorsing U.S. Sen. Hillary Rodham Clinton for president, the know-it-alls in this town have Granholm shuffling off to Washington to be part of the second Clinton administration... assuming the Hill wins, of course.

On the surface, the shoe does fit. Governors who support winning presidential candidates get jobs. Ask Jim Blanchard, who missed by a hair becoming transportation director in the first Bill Clinton cabinet and settled for ambassador to Canada.

If former Gov. George Romney were alive, you could ask him about joining the Nixon administration.

The pundits connect the following dots: This governor would love to be on a bigger national stage. Now that the chatter about running her for president has died a slow death, plopping her in as U.S. attorney general or some other high-level post matches her ego and long-range goals. On top of that, if Granholm leaves early she turns the keys over to her buddy, Lt. Gov. John Cherry, who would then run in 2010 as an incumbent.

She does him a favor for being a loyal servant and he has two years to put his own stamp on the executive office.

Here's the problem: She's not interested.

Judge for yourself based on her own words during a recent "Off the Record" public TV appearance.

"Will you serve out your term?"

"Yes. Yes."

"Promise?"

"Yes...."

OK, but politicians have a propensity to revise their promises over time. Based on more questioning, she shows no signs of that.

"So if a Democrat is elected president, you will not go to a cabinet post?"

Here she switches on the fog machine for a moment, saying, "I'm interested in doing the job here."

Of course she is, but that didn't answer the question.

Finally after some gentle teeth pulling, she concedes, "I don't want to go to Washington.... I'm not interested in that. I've got family here, my kids are here, moving the whole kit and caboodle to Washington is not something I'm interested in."

Could she be more direct? Nope.

And another source who is very familiar with her thinking confirmed the same notion in a column here months ago. One of the key elements is the children. They were yanked out of a comfortable home in Northville to come to Lansing and firmly transplanted — here. Granholm the parent doesn't want to uproot them again.

But despite all that, the GOP will continue to shop the notion that the governor will leave. It is part wishful thinking and part hoping to make her limp, as a lame duck political figure, even more severe. That way, the GOP under-cuts whatever power she has left in the tank. If anyone thinks she is leaving, no lawmaker will want to help her out because they'll get nothing in return.

So with the governor saying no to Washington, what about that persistent speculation that she could run for the State Supreme Court against incumbent GOP Chief Justice Cliff Taylor next year, or for a seat in 2010?

"Cinderella" won't put that shoe on, either.

She's determined to finish her term as governor.

"I'm not a quitter," she says.

Next question?

To the Editor: I am writing to clear up some points in the article in last week's Chelsea Standard, some of which were attributed to the CCFA. The city council has maintained in all interactions with CCFA that citizen views are valued and differences of opinion are healthy, but accuracy of fact must be respected and also is the starting point for discussions.

The first correction is that the Chelsea City Q and A document was not written by me, but was word-smithed by my wife, Elizabeth (as a volunteer—no cost to the city), using information that came from a variety of city council members, city officers, city records, and citizens who had involvement in particular projects or decisions.

Council members and city officers, who reviewed, edited and approved everything in the document, are the authors of record. The document is as close to the facts as can be established.

Copies are widely available for citizens to read, both online and at the city offices, the senior citizen center, library, etc., so it is a mystery why the misinformation the article attributes to CCFA is still "out there."

From the Chelsea City Q and A document the following facts are presented about the purchase of the Buchanan Street Building.

The Village had been searching for nearly a decade for a new, centrally located site to house Village offices and police facilities together. A citizen's task force was formed in 2001, to investigate several options including the BookCrafters site that was newly listed for sale.

An initial architectural review of the BookCrafters building seemed to show that adaptations could be made which would allow for Village offices, meeting rooms, parking and police facilities, including space for police vehicles.

The task force recommended purchasing BookCrafters. The property had been appraised in 1999 at $2,450,000. The purchase price was negotiated at $996,000. As a pre-condition of the sale, a full, three-part environmental impact survey was completed.

The survey showed that while there were some metals that slightly exceeded

MDEQ standards for property with certain intended uses (e.g., parks or housing), they were well within guidelines for the light industrial use the property was zoned for, had always been used for, and would continue to be used for under the Village plan.

As planning for the structure progressed, it became apparent that remodeling the existing building would exceed the cost of building a new structure. Knowing that a change to city status was imminent, the Village Council postponed the decision for the new city to make.

The new City Council reconvened the citizen's committee, which examined the economics of tearing down the old building and constructing a new one. A decision was eventually made in 2006 to locate the City and police offices elsewhere.

A decision about the disposition of the property has not yet been made (Page 9, Chelsea City Q and A).

The known, but very mild, contamination on the property, did not prevent the construction, making that statement simply wrong. Furthermore, considering the zoning in that area, it should not prevent a sale of the property to many possible buyers.

The appraised value of the property was over twice what the city paid for it. Claiming the purchase was $200,000 more than the taxable (i.e., assessed) value, while accurate in the detail, is misleading without this additional fact. Any property, which has been maintained or improved and owned by the same owner for many years — which BookCrafters did — sells for considerably more than the assessed value.

Because of caps on how much the taxable value can increase, after several years have gone by the assessed value is nearly always much less than the appraised value. This is especially true in a robust market like we had in the early part of this decade. It is the sale of a property that triggers the adjustment of the assessment up to the level of the sale price.

By any measure, the city made a good deal on this property. Though not being used as originally proposed, the city will eventually gain from its sale.

Buying land with no immediate use is something that governmental units do frequently. For example, school districts anticipating growth will often buy land at lower prices to be ready to build schools when the development comes.

In the early 1980s, Chelsea Village acquired two downtown former residential properties on Park Street at a very good price, and held them for several years. The Village was eventually able to sell the property to the DDA, and when the Purple Rose needed to expand in the mid-'90s, the property was available. This kept that vital piece of our local economy and community pride in Chelsea rather than moving to Ann Arbor.

This was not foreseen or planned when the property was acquired, but the land was centrally located and was a good deal, both at the time of purchase, and in its eventual use.

There are clearly differences of opinion between Mr. Anderson and the several committees and councils which decided to buy the Buchanan property, about whether governmental entities should be involved with acquiring or selling real estate. Discussing the merits of governmental land ownership is a worthy discussion to have, but is very different than misrepresenting the facts of city land acquisition.

Well-informed citizens are a vital asset to the democratic process. I hope this has clarified the issue for the readers of this newspaper.

To the Editor: We would like to thank Michael Williams, Sylvan township supervisor, for his aid in the progress made at Chelsea Springs Condos.

Our entire infrastructure was not completed and roads were collapsing, detention ponds became retention ponds, elevations were not correct, etc.

Our builder would not acknowledge our problems and any attempt to reach him by the homeowners, either by phone or registered letters, went unanswered. This has not changed.

In frustration, some of us contacted Mike. He immediately checked the situation out and made a punch list for our builder to complete in accordance with the original plans filed at the township. Pressure was put on the builder by the township along with Lee Fahrner, township engineer.

A letter of credit that was allowed to expire in 2006 was reinstated, thanks to township diligence.

We are by no means completed, and we suspect a lot of the promises made by the builder will not come to fruition. However, we do have the second coat on our private roads and they are draining correctly. We have much needed extra parking. The detention pond was studied and evaluated and, hopefully, the problems will be addressed this year.

Coliseum road is scheduled to be completed next

Our Chelsea History

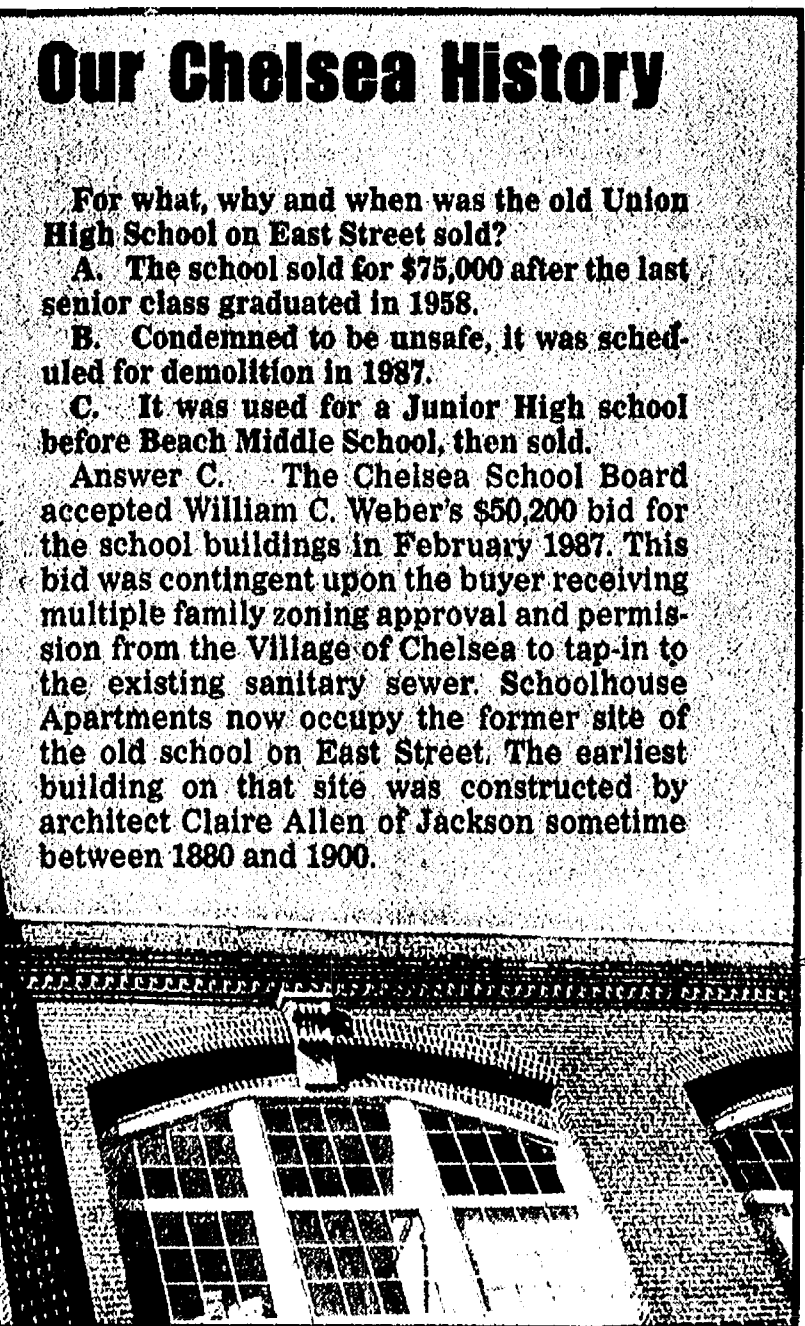

For what, why and when was the old Union High School on East Street sold?

A. The school sold for $75,000 after the last senior class graduated in 1958.

B. Condemned to be unsafe, it was scheduled for demolition in 1987.

C. It was used for a Junior High school before Beach Middle School, then sold.

Answer C. The Chelsea School Board accepted William C. Weber's $50,200 bid for the school buildings in February 1987. This bid was contingent upon the buyer receiving multiple family zoning approval and permission from the Village of Chelsea to tap-in to the existing sanitary sewer. Schoolhouse Apartments now occupy the former site of the old school on East Street. The earliest building on that site was constructed by architect Claire Allen of Jackson sometime between 1880 and 1900.

Local genealogy just got a lot easier

By Sheila Pursglove
Special Writer

The McKune Memorial Library will unveil its Family History Index Online – a collection of obituaries from throughout Chelsea history in an online database accessible from anywhere in the world – in a program from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Special guest speaker Kris Rzepczynski from the Library of Michigan will give a talk on the role obituaries play in genealogy research. Attendees will hear how volunteers created this unique family history resource, and can be among the first to use the new database.

Since starting the project in February 2006, volunteers have entered about 15,500 records of Chelsea residents into the database, said Adult Services Librarian Elizabeth Goldman.

"This accounts for our entire collection of obituaries from the Chelsea Standard, as well as cards recorded off gravestones or from non-newspaper sources," she said.

Records stretch from people born before 1800 – Chelsea's earliest founders

History Index unveiling

What: Unveiling of the Family History Index Online, giving free web-based access to a collection of more than 15,000 Chelsea obituaries.

When: 1 to 4 p.m., Saturday

Where: McKune Memorial Library, 221 S. Main St. in Chelsea – McKune Room.

Guest speaker: Kris Rzepczynski of the Library of Michigan

Registration: Not required.

Refreshments: Will be served

Information: Call 475-8732

Index access: After its release Oct. 27, the index will be available at <http://fh.chelsea.lib.mi.us>.

— to the present, Goldman said. "Unlike other obituary indexes, this online database contains scanned images of each card, including the full text of the obituary where available.

"We anticipate adding additional material to bring the stories of these people alive, including family trees, photos, and any other material people are willing to contribute." Starting Oct. 27, the Family History Index will be available online at <http://fh.chelsea.lib.mi.us>.

"Here at the library, we've gone from being a storehouse to creating our own content and, in my opinion, re-branding or redefining the role of the public library by providing this service to the community," said Bill Harmer, Head of Adult Services.

In addition, the library has a new public access computer dedicated to use of this database and other genealogy research.

"This exciting addition to the Chelsea Area History Room will make family history and local history research easier for our patrons, many of whom come from hundreds of miles away to use the Family History Index," Goldman said.

Close to 50 volunteers signed on to the project, contributing 2,000 hours to the library on tasks such as data entry, scanning, sorting cards, and proofreading.

"Without the volunteers, there is no way the library could have accomplished this project, much less in under two years," Goldman said. "I'm deeply grateful for their expertise, friendliness, patience and willingness to give back to their community."

Marie Brooks, the library's volunteer services coordinator until May 2007, deserves a lot of credit for keeping everything running smoothly."

Volunteer Dorothy Fletcher said the Family Index database is a great tool for genealogists, especially those living outside this area.

"Obituaries are filled with lots of leads and information, like the maiden or married names of the female family members," she said.

Another local volunteer is Shirley Burg. "The work has been very interesting, to read the old obituaries and to find out where the cemeteries are, especially if you've lived around here a while," Burg said.

When library volunteer Sharleen Eisenbeiser moved to Chelsea over 40 years ago, she enjoyed visiting the records on the second floor of the old McKune Library.

"I was thrilled when someone took on this large project to preserve this information and make it accessible to the public on the computer," she says.

"Although it was his passion, we owe much to Harold Jones for his many hours spent visiting cemeteries, talking to local people, cutting obits out of newspapers, typing 3 by 5 cards, and cataloging these. I can't imagine how many painstaking hours he must have spent."

"Many thanks to Elizabeth Goldman for taking on this huge project and then coordinating volunteers to help. This project will be enjoyed by generations in the years to come."

Doors will open at the WSEC at 5:30 with a wait-staff served dinner, choices of beef, grilled salmon or vegetarian entrees. Entertainment will be provided by Marsha Munn & Scott Riedel, who will delight guests with their innovative song styling. You don't have to be a senior to be part of the festivities. Seating is limited, call 475-9242 for tickets or more information.

County Dems hold fund-raiser

The Western Washtenaw Democrats are hosting a special "Dinner and a Show" on Thursday, Nov. 8 as its 2007 fund-raiser. A gourmet pizza dinner will be provided by Catering by Leslie, and followed by a performance of "The Poetry of Pizza" at the Purple Rose Theater in Chelsea. The dinner is at 6 p.m. at the Historic Train Depot with the show beginning at 8 p.m.

There are a very limited number of tickets available, and advance purchase is highly recommended. Tickets are priced at $60, $80 and $100.

"We are pleasantly surprised at the early response we've had for this event," said Rich Robinson, communications director for the Western Washtenaw Democrats. "Anyone who wants to attend should order their tickets as soon as possible."

The event is the only time the WWDems will ask for funds this year. "We do only one fund-raising event each year and we try to find something fun and special. This show at the Purple Rose fits that idea nicely," Robinson said.

next one in June 2008. He has raised almost $4,000 in the three years he has done it."

Kim says Zach does not understand the long term effects of diabetes. She said Zach does not like to admit he doesn't feel well because if he admits it, he might die.

"Zach does not understand that not everyone has diabetes or will get diabetes," she says. "We can only deal with it day to day. We know that the better we do each day, the longer his life will be. It's not to say that I haven't dwelled on it at times. But this does not help the situation. He is a happy kid that makes me laugh every day. Not every parent gets that, so I try to remember how lucky I am."

"Parents need to know the signs of diabetes and to keep their kids active and watch what they eat. Hopefully this will lead to more understanding and a bigger fight to find a cure. There is hope for a cure. So we will live with hope every day."

I wanted to personally invite you to attend our volleyball clinic on November 3rd. It's a great opportunity to learn more about volleyball and the skills needed to play. You will also meet all of our players and coaches as we teach you the basic fundamentals of volleyball. After the clinic, you can stay and cheer us on to a victory against our in-state rival, Western Michigan. At the conclusion of the match, the volleyball team will be signing autographs, so be sure to grab a poster when you arrive! It's fun for the entire family at the EMU Convocation Center. Please see below for specific details on the event. We would love to have you as part of the Eagle family! Come out and join the fun!

year and we have the letter of credit to assure this happens.

We are very fortunate to have an honorable man like Mike Williams in our township government. Mike has been totally accessible to us at all times.

We would also like to extend thanks to LuAnn Koch, township clerk and David Solo, trustee, who spent an evening walking around with us to get a firsthand look at problems facing Chelsea Springs.

To the Editor: Like many Chelsea residents, I am not happy with the amount of taxes we pay. So, when I heard about the Chelsea Citizens for Accountability (CCFA) and their first public meeting, I sat in. The CCFA group expressed many of the same concerns that I and many of the attendees have. Such as: the continuously increasing millage and taxable value of our property in contradicting to the housing market downturn, the BookCrafters property, the reverse osmosis water treatment system, police and fire protection, trash and waste disposal and so forth.

Prior to the second meeting, the mayor and council members prepared a booklet answering some of the questions. Unfortunately, I don't think many of our citizens saw it. I accidentally happened to see a copy. Although the information was appreciated, it was a little to defensive and in some cases, too much of "I gotcha." I just don't recall the CCFA core group being partisan or accusatory during their presentation.

Let's be practical. The BookCrafters acquisition was a good deal for the seller. For us, it's much like a bad stock that needs to be liquidated. We would be better off giving the property to a developer on a 99-year lease or for a sale of $1. At least we would be receiving tax revenue.

Reverse osmosis is an expensive, and resource wasting system. It is unnecessary in a state with readily available potable fresh water. It is also over-taxing our waste water plant and making us liable for potassium dumping. Most of us already have water softeners; so, let's get back to a more practical, efficient and inexpensive system.

As for comparing the current budget with previous year's budgets, just compare the current budget with the previous fiscal year's close-out. One more comment. I found the statement answering the $180 tax increase based on the average house value annoying. Yes, it doesn't sound like much until you add it to the almost $6,000 tax bill. Why do you think people are moving outside of the city limits?

The second meeting proved to me that we need a citizen's oversight organization. Chelsea belongs to its citizens and we all are going to have to get involved at some level of participation. The first step is your November vote. Its time for a changing of the guard.

To the Editor: I would like to add another perspective to the recent letters responding to Pastor Dawson's writing on female pastors in the Christian Church.

While I strongly disagree with the pastor's views, I am not at all troubled, that he or others hold such beliefs. I do however have serious concerns with the manner in which the Pastor chose to express his opinions. In his Letter to the Editor on Oct. 4, the pastor states that, beliefs contrary to his are "shameful." According to Webster's dictionary, the term shameful means to bring dishonor, disgrace and to deserve condemnation. As if these insults are not sufficient, the pastor continues that they must be "liars." Consider the sweeping nature of this statement. Pastor Dawson not only is certain they are wrong, but is also willing and able to judge the sincerity of their beliefs.

It is difficult not to sense strong intolerance when you read these words and a contradiction of the pastor's stated belief in the freedom of religious beliefs.

One of our society's great contributions to humanity is the social compact to ensure free religious thought. It would seem logical that the stronger your religious beliefs, the more fervently you should work to respect this concept.

Intolerant public writings that seek to "judge" and condemn the religious views of others can only serve to undermine this prized personal freedom. The next time Pastor Dawson picks up his pen, I would ask him to consider how fortunate he is to live in a society that provides broad religious freedom, and to challenge him to express his views in a manner that demonstrates respect for the beliefs of his fellow citizens!

Refusing to be enemies

One World One Family is offering an opportunity to meet and hear Zeitouna, a group of Arab and Jewish women who are refusing to be enemies. Zeitouna, which means "olive tree" in Arabic, was formed in Ann Arbor in 2002 by six Arab and six Jewish women. They began with the intent to talk to each other. Their dialogue has been intense and is the subject of a documentary entitled "Refusing to Be Enemies." They have continued to meet and are actively engaged in the search for a peaceful and just coexistence of the Arab and Jewish peoples and a sustainable future for Palestine and Israel. Representatives from Zeitouna will show segments of their documentary and discuss the impact of their dialogue on themselves and on the larger community from 5 to 6:30 p.m. on Sunday at the Washington Street Education Center, Room 100. Dexter ladies deliver check to St. Louis Center

Three ladies from Dexter visited St. Louis Center on Oct. 18 to visit with the Provincial of the Divine Providence Province of the Servants of Charity Order, and to present two checks from the Ladies Auxiliary of St. Joseph Catholic Church. Rev. Luigi DeGiambattista arrived at St. Louis Center on Oct. 14 from India, and spent the week with his confreres from the Servants of Charity assessing their operations here in Michigan, and helping them to chart their future.

Mary Ann Finke, Frances Gordenier, and Augusta Sloan presented two checks to St. Louis Center totaling more than $800 that was raised from their cookie sale during the Dexter Knights of Columbus Chicken Barbeque held during the weekend of Oct. 12-14.

According to Mrs. Finke, "Many people were very generous when they learned that the money was being raised for St. Louis Center. One gentleman gave me a $20 bill for a $1 plate of cookies, and told me to keep the change if it was going to the kids at the Center. We are grateful to the community for their generous support."

St. Louis Center is a residential care center for children and adults with developmental disabilities west of Chelsea that has been serving the needs of the community for 47 years.

Artists leave their hearts in Colorado

By Marsi Parker Darwin
Guest Writer

Part 4

It was warm and sunny every day we spent in Colorado. Dexter artist Lauren Kingsley and I had worked a trade show in Denver for three days, and were doing some serious fishing now. We'd gotten a tip about a local fishing spot, so we headed out early Friday, Sept. 21 up one of the canyons leading out of Lyons, following the South St. Vrain River. We hiked a trail along the river to Button Rock.

I had worn Lauren's husband's waders the day before on the Big Thompson and nearly killed myself trying to clamber up the rocky slope back to the road in boots several sizes too big for me. So today I elected to wade in rolled up pants and bare feet. My legs were soon numb to the knees.

The source of the Middle and South forks of the St. Vrain is around 12,000 feet in the Indian Peaks Wilderness Area, whereas the North St. Vrain starts in Rocky Mountain National Park. It flows east and joins the North Platte east of Longmont. The upper reaches of the river boasts cutthroat trout while on the lower branches you might see browns, brook trout, and a few rainbows.

It was windy, and I was using a prince nymph like a streamer, fooling one fish briefly, but failing to hook it. The catch of the day was a tennis ball that floated downstream, probably a loss from somebody playing with a dog along the trail. We made our way up past a waterfall and practiced casting on a small reservoir. Most of the streams we had seen up until now were very brushy with a little pocket water.

We hiked and fished most of the day, stopping for a picnic of apples and cheese. That afternoon, Lauren was spooked by a strong ammonia smell along the banks of the river, and knowing that signaled the possibility of a mountain lion, we decided to call it a day.

We were a little discouraged that we hadn't caught any fish, but we took comfort that it was late in the season, streams were overfished, "catch and release" areas are home to wily fish at season's end, we had the wrong equipment, it was windy, and there was hardly any bug activity. But the next day as we walked by the fly shop in Lyons, we bemoaned our luck to owner and rod maker Mike Clark, who told us that six guys from Texas claimed they had caught a hundred fish between them on the St. Vrain the day before.

We wanted to strangle him, but we just smiled sweetly. It was a joke for the rest of the trip - "six guys from Texas!" Yeah, right.

A few of my friends may not believe that we nearly encountered a writing god in the fly-fishing world, John Gierach. I read "Trout Bum" about 20 years ago and he's written a shelf full since. A friend e-mailed me before I left, "Say hi to John Gierach if you see him", and I thought, "Oh, sure." Little did I know that he not only lives in Lyons, he's a good friend of our hosts, who asked him to stop by. We learned later that he did so twice, but we weren't there - we were out fishing!

Later Friday we drove down to Boulder and called at an outfitter's shop that will handle some of Lauren's creations, had dinner with some old family friends, and made our way back to Lyons. There we met our friend KC at Oskar Blues, the café we'd visited our first night in town. I ordered a piece of carrot cake and just about had a heart attack seeing the portion - three of us shared and still had half of it to take home.

John Paul Jones of Led Zeppelin manages KC's bluegrass band, Uncle Earl, and the band has stayed at his house. She told us she had tickets to a Zeppelin reunion concert in London, where Uncle Earl will be on tour. The reunion was just announced to the public recently, with a lot of fanfare. We didn't realize we'd gotten a "scoop"!

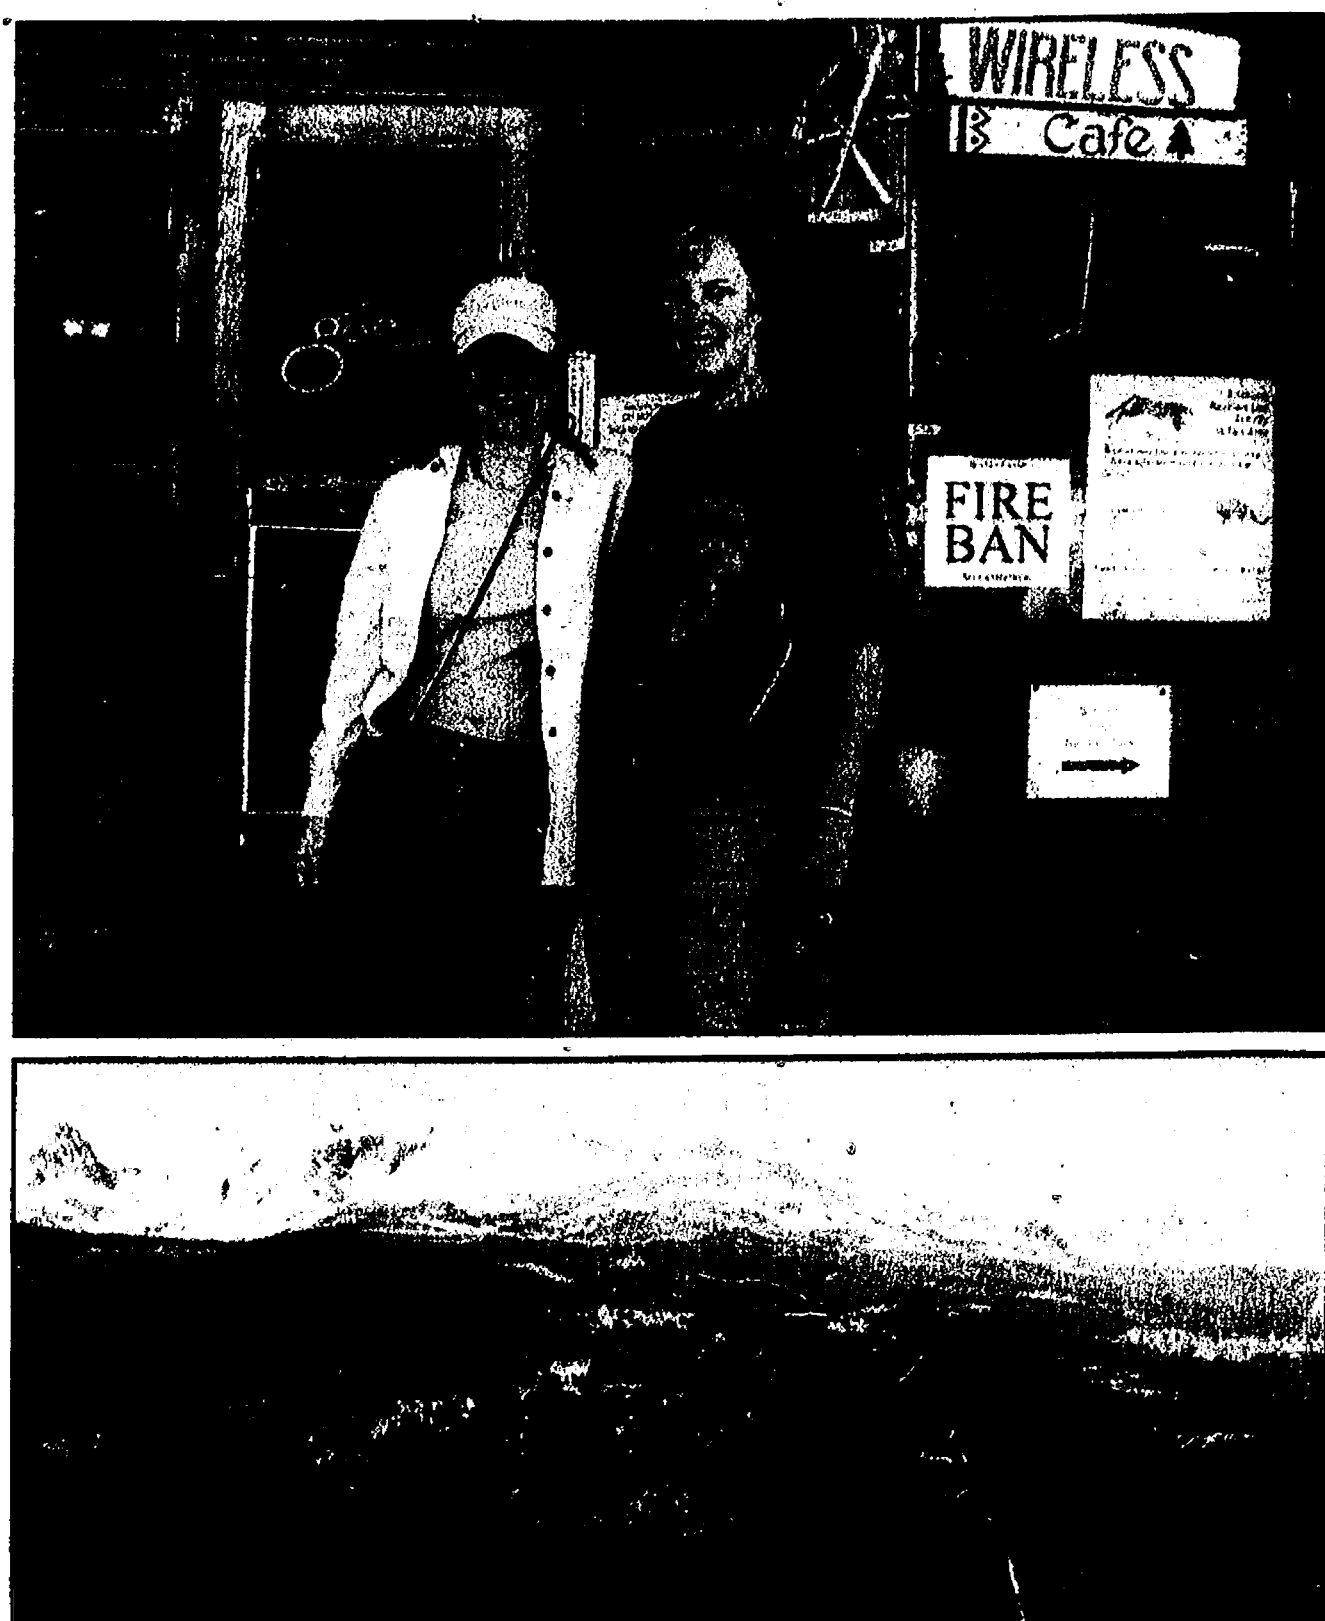

After breakfast at the Stone Cup Café the next morning, Lauren and I met KC and her friend Eric Thorin, the bass player we'd met earlier, and we all climbed into Eric's Toyota 4Runner and drove up Lefthand Canyon to Licksillet Road, which leads to Gold Hill. I'm not afraid of heights and am accustomed to mountain roads, but I was biting my knuckles on this one, with switchbacks at every turn. The scenery was breath taking, and when we got to the old mining town, it was like a scene out of "Deadwood."

We visited the Gold Hill Inn, which features a 7-course meal and has been praised in Gourmet magazine. We met a lady who showed us the inside walls of her cabin, lined with egg cartons for insulation. "This place isn't for the faint of heart," she told us, "especially in winter." We stopped at the general store, whose windows were lined with flyers warning of mountain lion and bear activity, water shortage, and a fire ban, and advertising "Wireless Café". We don't even have wireless in Waterloo!

After lunch in Boulder at an outdoor café - salmon pesto salad for Lauren, tomato Gorgonzola soup and baby spinach salad for Hospice seeks support for 'Bells' campaign

Arbor Hospice is urging religious and community organizations to participate in the statewide Bells for Hospice campaign.

It's asking that bells be rung noon Nov. 1 in honor of Michigan residents who have died under hospice care during the last year, and also in respect for their grieving families.

Considered to be the model for quality, compassionate care at the end of life, hospice care involves a team-oriented approach of medical care, pain management, and emotional and spiritual support tailored to the patient's wishes. Emotional and spiritual support also is extended to the family and loved ones. Generally, the care is provided in the patient's home or in a home-like setting operated by a hospice program. Medicare, private health insurance and Medicaid in Michigan cover hospice care for patients who meet certain criteria.

Health care professionals who specialize in hospice and palliative care work closely with staff and volunteers to address all the symptoms of illness, with the aim of promoting comfort and dignity.

Nominated by: Casey Klepacz

After moving to the area from Davenport, Iowa, Dana Andrews opened Andrews Family Chiropractic Feb. 5 under the direction of Dr. Ed Plentz of Brooklyn.

Born and raised in Lena, Ill., Andrews' interest in chiropractics began at the age of 4 when he received care for recurring pain with his tonsils. He graduated from Palmer College of Chiropractics in 2006.

"Dana Andrews has worked so hard to get to where he is today because of the love he has for others," Casey Klepacz, administrative assistant, writes in Andrews' nomination. "He is a caring, respectful, kind-hearted, unconditional giver in every sense of the word. He spends all of his time helping others in need.

Scott Eckland

Age: 33
Place of residence: Chelsea
Title: ChelseaSigns.com owner

Nominated by: Amy Eckland
Scott Eckland's nature is that of a hard-working, self-motivated individual. As the entrepreneur behind ChelseaSigns.com, he has had to embody those qualities — for his family's livelihood and to be closer to them.

Eckland is also characterized by his intent focus on his family and the hands-on way in which he is involved with them. He began the entrepreneurial journey six years ago when his daughter, Katherine, was born. Since then the Ecklands have also added Grayson, 3, to the family roster. His wife, Amy, continues working in Ann Arbor at JJR as an environmental specialist.

ChelseaSigns.com is built on a foundation of graphic design services applied to banners, signs, hand-crafted sand blasted signs, marketing, and website design.

Eckland's clients include well-known downtown Chelsea businesses, such as the Pink Turtle, Winans Jewelry, Cranesbill Books, and the River Gallery. He has also been tasked with marketing and signage for Chelsea's SummerFest and has helped with Oktoberfest.

When he isn't working or directly taking care of the kids, Eckland is involved with PAT playgroups or sits amidst a group of mom's at Katherine's ballet classes. He is also involved with the Chelsea Public Library, Chelsea Center for the Arts, and the Chelsea Preschools.

Bryan Girbach

Age: 38
Place of residence: Milan
Title: Assistant superintendent of Milan schools
Nominated by: Dennis McComb

Bryan Girbach has worked for Milan Area Schools for 15 years. He began his career as a high school mathematics teacher in 1992, was appointed to middle school assistant principal in 1997, middle school principal in 1999 and then promoted to assistant superintendent in 2005.

"Bryan is a conscientious, dedicated, hardworking educator. As an administrator he has helped the district improve student achievement, implement research based instructional strategies, and how to use technology as a teaching tool to name just a few accomplishments," Superintendent Dennis McComb writes in his nomination.

Girbach is always willing to undertake new tasks and challenging assignments. For example, he coordinated, prepared the required documents, and helped the buildings administer the Measure of Academic Progress assessment program.

Additionally, he has been in charge of the Energy Management Program at Milan schools. Working with the district's energy educator and director of operations, he has helped the district save more than $175,000 in utility costs since June of 2006.

Royal Caswell III

Age: 37
Place of residence: Saline
Title: Executive vice president, commercial operations at McKinley Inc.
Nominated by: Matthew Mason

Caswell, who goes by the nickname "Trey," oversees a portfolio of commercial properties in excess of 5,000,000 square feet in seven states and a staff of 70 people. Prior to joining McKinley, he served as a finance and budget analyst for the city of Pasadena, Calif., and then as the budget analyst and budget administrator for the city of Sunnyvale, Calif.

In his current role, Caswell has consistently grown McKinley's commercial operations in terms of both volume and revenue. Some notable transactions include the acquisition and redevelopment of McKinley Towne Centre in downtown Ann Arbor, the redevelopment of the Chelsea Clocktower Complex and bringing Google to downtown Ann Arbor.

"In short, Trey's leadership and vision have reaffirmed McKinley as not only the premier owner and manager of real estate in the Washtenaw County area, but as major benefactor to the communities in which he lives and works," Matthew Mason writes in his nomination.

Lynnette Volink-Frand

Age: 39
Place of residence: Saline
Title: Director, Human Resources Global Policy and Process Administration for Federal Mogul's world headquarters in Southfield

Nominated by: Rebecca Sitz
Lynnette Volink-Frand has been described as a leader, caring, energetic, organizer, team player and "working to improve the world."

Leading various human resources initiatives to further enhance the function and drive toward global standardization and resolution for the 45,000-plus employees worldwide are her primary job responsibilities. Not only does she put her human resources education and experience into practice in her career, she transfers these skills and natural leadership ability with much caring into all aspects of her life.

Being a devoted wife and nurturing mother, family comes first. Additionally, she has helped with Cub Scout activities, school events or leadership positions at Peoples Presbyterian Church in Milan. Being an elder serving on Session, the Worship and Music Committee, Membership Committee or Personnel Committees are all examples of the many ways she has made past positive contributions in her church.

She is president of the Warner Creek Homeowners' Association.

Elizabeth Goldman

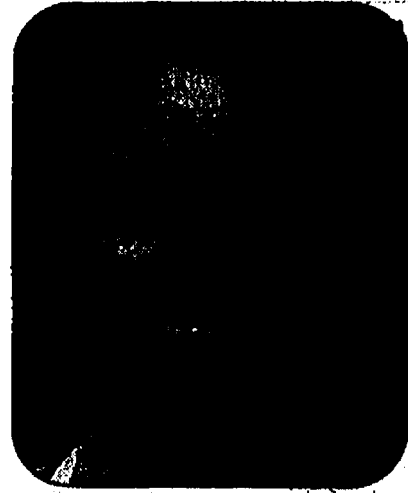

Name: Elizabeth Goldman
Age: 31
Place of residence: Ann Arbor
Title: Chelsea District Library department head
Nominated by: William Harmer

Elizabeth Goldman has been an asset to Chelsea's library structure for the past couple of years.

Already she is praised highly by library administrators as a leader and an individual at the cusp of what they hope will be a new breed of library staffer.

Administrators say that she has made great strides towards revitalizing the adult collections and general adult programming. Whereas the adult programs were once very traditional, Goldman has breathed new life into them and made them fresh enough to garner quite a bit of attention in the community.

Goldman's ideas given form are the pride of Chelsea's library community and the envy of neighboring library programs. She has also spearheaded an effort to digitize local history, which reached a milestone in 2006 and continues to move forward.

The project's success has hinged in large part on her ability to organize, train and motivate a large core of volunteers, administrators said. Goldman's effort has provided more resources for local historians and genealogists than ever before. Goldman possesses the combination of high energy, self-motivation, leadership, personality and a profound consideration for customer service, her boss says.

Ben Culver

Age: 30
Residence: Ann Arbor
Title: Artistic director of Saline Fiddlers and teacher in Saline schools
Nominated by: Joseph O'Brien

Ben Culver, a former member of Saline Fiddlers, spends his time inspiring and developing students as a teacher in Saline High School's music program and then works overtime with them as the artistic director for the Saline Fiddlers.

A Chelsea native, Culver began taking violin lessons at the age of 2 and grew up steeped in an atmosphere of some of the best training available for string educators. He was invited by Bob Phillips, the founder of the Saline Fiddlers, an extra-curricular performing ensemble with the Saline schools, to become a member of the group in its first year of existence.

Since taking over as artistic director, he has arranged or composed much of the group's extensive and very original repertoire, while teaching 300 students daily. His orchestras have received superior ratings at district festivals.

"Mr. Culver has devoted countless hours to developing a fun, challenging and rewarding program for these student-musicians. He writes music for the group, rehearses the students, and travels with the group to every performance. He coordinates the efforts of more than 50 parent volunteers with this group alone," Joseph O'Brien writes in his nomination.

Chris Gill

Age: 35
Place of residence: Ypsilanti
Title: Teacher at Milan High School
Nominated by: Jordan Smith

"If there is one person that deserves this award it should be Mr. Gill," Jordan Smith writes in Chris Gill's nomination. "He does so much stuff at football games and at all different kinds of sporting events. In school, students fear him most of the time, but, me, I think he's cool. "He teaches kids to respect adults, teachers and other students. At every football game or sporting event, you can see Mr. Gill there walking around making sure that no rules are being broken. If there are rules being broken or a fight going down, you can bet that he will be right there on the scene breaking it up and making sure that nothing else happens.

"I think that Mr. Gill should get this award because he is one of the coolest teachers we have. He always stands by every rule in the book. Mr. Gill is even a huge sports fan, but when it comes to punishment, he does not let any athlete off the hook.

"So consider Mr. Gill in all of this because he is one of every student's favorite teachers."

Christina Curcione

Names: Christina Curcione, O.D.; and Jennifer Sorter, O.D.
Age: 38 and 34, respectively
Place of residence: Saline and Dexter, respectively
Title: Optometrists
Nominated by: Patrick Sorter

Drs. Christina Curcione and Jennifer Sorter are quite a pair. With eight years of optometry under their belts, they have developed their own unique ideas about patient care, practice management and general optometry.

Their experience has also given Curcione and Sorter an entrepreneurial edge, which is why the two have decided to open their own business—Ann Arbor Optometry.

Jennifer Sorter

The idea is to provide top-quality vision care with a warm, personal touch, while focusing on proper coordination of their patients' eye care, and how it fits into the bigger picture of overall health care.

Curcione and Sorter examine patients with special needs, such as infants and young children, those with cognitive or physical limitations, and closed-head-injury patients.

Such patients require additional skills and expertise that many other optometrists don't possess. They also help people with vision therapy and rehabilitation for patients who require care that goes beyond a simple pair of glasses or contact lenses.

At ages 38 and 34, both Curcione and Sorter have accrued a long list of accomplishments, both personal and professional, for a pair of medical professionals with families and higher career ambitions.

Their private practice is slated to open later this fall at 2433 Oak Valley Drive, Ann Arbor.

Ben Swayze

Age: 28
Place of residence: Milan
Title: Milan Parks and Recreation director
Nominated by: Martha Churchill

Ben Swayze started his professional career in 2002 with the North Jeffco Parks and Recreation District in Arvada, Colo. He helped manage a 169,000-square-foot multi-use recreation facility with NHL regulation ice rinks, an indoor water park, climbing wall and full service fitness center.

In September 2005, the city of Milan chose him to head the Parks and Recreation Department. He supervises everything, from sports leagues, guitar lessons, cartoon classes, health walks, daddy-daughter dances, and special events such as Mayor Exchange Day and the Holiday Dinner.

Swayze is in charge of publicity, city newsletters, parks newsletters and grant applications. In late summer 2007, his duties were expanded to include water and sewer patrol. He arrives at the scene of malfunctioning water or sewer lines in the city of Milan, even at all hours of the night, and goes beneath the manhole cover to diagnose and fix the problem.

"Always looking to improve his knowledge, Ben is planning on enrolling at Eastern Michigan University in the winter to pursue his master's in public administration. He may eventually be a village or city manager," Martha Churchill writes in her nomination.

Dan Heikka

Age: 33
Place of residence: Ypsilanti

Title: Swim coach, as well as anatomy and physiology teacher at Milan High School
Nominated by: Maura Donahue

Dan Heikka has been both the girls' and boys' varsity head swim coach at Milan High School for the past three years. He motivates his athletes to push themselves and swim faster.

"It must have been tough to take over head coaching position since Milan has had a long history of excellence in the swim program. It had to be huge shoes to fill, especially since most of the team members had the same coach for many years," Maura Donahue writes in her nomination.

Heikka isn't afraid to step up and try something that he knows will be difficult. He pushes people to the potential that he knows they are capable of achieving.

"In both the classroom and on the pool deck, Mr. Heikka gives the same amount of respect to a person that he would want them to give to him," Donahue said.

Michael McLennan

Age: 39
Place of residence: Manchester Village

Nominated by: Timothy Cox, Cindy McBride and Gail Quaderer

"I have worked with Mike since 1991 and have seen him build his landscape contracting and retail nursery businesses from the ground up. It would have been easy for him to focus only on his business, but that has never been the case. He always thinks about the people who helped him get there," Timothy Cox, McLennan Landscape and Nursery project manager writes in his nomination of Michael McLennan.

"I believe Mike's knowledge of design, plant material expertise, vision, customer service approach and leadership skills are just some of the reasons we continue to appreciate and recommend McLennan Landscape," Ann Arbor resident Cindy McBride said.

"Mike is highly skilled at all aspects of his work and is an excellent teacher, eager and willing to share his knowledge to build an efficient team. He is the quintessential multitasker with the unusual ability to do the work and manage it at the same time," employee Gail Quaderer said.

"Mike creates an environment where his employees can rise to their fullest potential. It pleases him when his people take charge and make decisions," she added.

Lee Willwerth

Age: 38
Place of residence: Saline
Title: Co-owner of DreamMaker Bath and Kitchen in Ann Arbor Nominated by: Alex Nickodemus

Lee Willwerth has managed his business according to his core values, creating a structured and professional working environment, while maintaining an almost family-like bond with his team.

Along with his business leadership, he is also an active leader in his church and community. He has served his congregation at the First Presbyterian Church of Saline as a Christian education elder for the past three years, has actively participated in Habitat for Humanity builds, and has volunteered on several mission trips and community service jobs.

Eight years ago, Willwerth served on two mission trips to the Dominican Republic during which his team helped construct a church that he designed.

"Throughout my life, Lee has always been a wonderful influence. In working with him in recent years, I have come to know him as more than an uncle. He has been a model employer, respected by his customers and employees; a mentor, always willing to lend a helping hand or advice; and as a friend, who is just there to listen," Alex Nickodemus writes in his nomination.

Sharon Kegerreis

Name: Sharon Kegerreis
Age: 38
Place of residence: Chelsea
Title: Owner of MichiganVine.com and author
Nominated by: Annie Treglia

Sharon Kegerreis wondered what would be better than a successful career in marketing and public relations four years ago. Had she pondered this over a glass of wine, the answer would have been right under her nose.

Kegerreis decided to launch MichiganVine.com in 2003 and co-wrote her first book, "From the Vine: Exploring Michigan Wineries," with Lorri Hathaway in 2006, after signing with Ann Arbor Media Group. The website is intended to promote Michigan wine country and the book—a first-of-its-kind—covers 51 Michigan wineries.

Prior to touting the prowess of Michigan wineries, the 1990 Central Michigan University graduate had been from Michigan to Colorado and California and back during the course of her professional journey in marketing and public relations.

Kegerreis' experience ranges from writing and producing television commercials to promoting high-tech products. She has spent considerable time collaborating with worldwide media and analysts, and directing online and print communication strategies for products and services.

She continues to work as a freelancer writer and photographer covering Michigan wine country.

Paul Montagno

Place of residence: Ann Arbor

Title: Senior planner for Pittsfield Charter Township
Nominated by: Bruce Fowler

Paul Montagno serves Pittsfield Charter Township as senior planner. Since he began his employment with the township in 2003, he has progressed from assistant planner to associate planner and senior planner.

His primary responsibility is the management and coordination of the process by which new development projects are reviewed and approved during the planning and development stage. He assists with the management of full-time staff and coordinates with as many as eight professional consultants.

Montagno communicates with developers, residents, representatives from outside agencies, and elected and appointed officials, and makes presentations to the Township

Planning Commission, Board of Zoning Appeals and other public bodies.

"Paul has done a remarkable job for Pittsfield Township. Prior to my being hired as planning director, he ran the planning department on an interim basis for several months as the sole planning professional. Without his dedication, planning in Pittsfield Township, included many actions required by law, would not have occurred," Bruce Fowler writes in his nomination.

Melanie Wilson

Age: 35
Place of residence: Milan
Title: Teacher consultant and bowling coach at Milan High School Nominated by: Rocky Garcia

Melanie Wilson is a teacher consultant, bowling coach and advisory teacher at Milan High School who is so highly thought of by her students that one nominated her.

"She is my bowling coach and helped me improve," Rocky Garcia, a junior at Milan High School, writes in his nomination.

Garcia quotes classmate Jacob Varney as saying, "She is helpful and supportive. She never lets you get down on yourself."

Other teachers think she is a great coworker and role model for kids. They also say she is caring and supportive to both students and staff.

"Math and computer science teacher Claire Neff notes that she is a team player who goes the extra mile," Garcia said.

"As fellow teacher Amy Creten states, 'Melanie is a team player and has proven to be an excellent leader at the high school,'" Garcia writes.

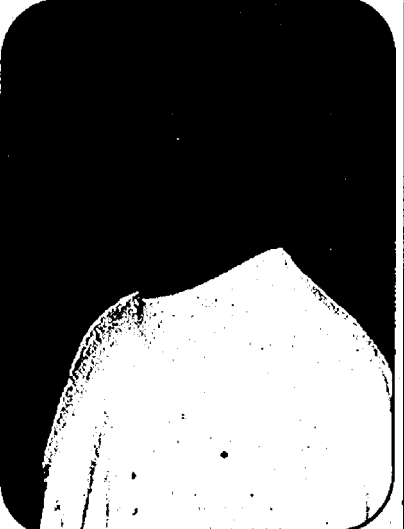

Clint Kraft

Age: 34
Place of residence: Milan
Title: Math teacher and wrestling coach at Milan High School Nominated by: Garrett Gimson

"I believe that a good teacher is not one that just shows up and does what they are required to, but they are ones who go above and beyond. These teachers will help students even when it may not be in class. These teachers help shape us into young adults and prepare us for life outside of high school and college," Garrett Gimson writes in his nomination of Clint Kraft.

"Mr. Kraft not only teaches math, but he also coaches the wrestling team, and coaching wrestling is not an easy task because the only day wrestlers have off is Sunday.

"Mr. Kraft is someone that I could talk to about any problems that I may have because he gives great advice. He is a very dedicated coach; he is at practice every single day unless it's an absolute emergency.

"Mr. Kraft also inspires students and athletes to keep trying at their goals no matter what kind of obstacles step in the way. (He) is also a kind of person that would help someone and not expect anything in return."

Chris Packard

Age: 37
Place of residence: Tecumseh

Title: Teacher at Milan High School
Nominated by: Samantha Day

"A good teacher is someone who is more than your actual teacher—someone who is almost your friend, who won't give up on you in time of need. They are there to sculpt us, educate us, and get us ready for the real world," Samantha Day writes in her nomination of Chris Packard.

"Mr. Packard is an amazing teacher. He always knew how to keep things interesting and fun. I can't tell you how much I looked forward to his class every other day."

Packard is described as an all-around nice guy. "He could make anyone laugh on their worst day," she said.

"Mr. Packard has been the only teacher to keep my head up, and keep me going. He made books not worth reading, readable and interesting. I still can't believe from this day that I actually understood 'The Crucible,' and if it wasn't for Mr. Packard, it wouldn't be possible.

"I appreciate what Mr. Packard has done for all his students and myself. He would do anything for his students, and I would do as much as possible for him to be recognized."

me - we met more friends at a beautiful spot outside of Lyons called Planet Bluegrass. It's a large park framed by cliffs and river, with outdoor pavilions. Tonight's event was billed as a Mabon festival, which we learned is a Celtic harvest festival. A cadre of bagpipes and drums played at sunset on the cliffs above us, a very moving experience. We ate corned beef, salmon hash browns, kale with bacon, potato mushroom soup, and soda bread under tiny lights in the trees on the river bank.

The Yonder Mountain String Band played, and we listened until our toes froze, then walked back into town to retrieve the truck and say our goodbyes. We were up before sunrise on Sunday, Sept. 23, packed the truck, and reluctantly headed east.

As working artists, Lauren and I normally spend most of our days and nights thinking and dreaming about our art business, but we both admitted that we scarcely gave it a thought after leaving Denver. We brainstormed all the way home, however. We both sponsor artist-driven shows - her Art on the Farm is this Sunday on Island Lake Road near Dexter, and my More Friends Holiday Show is Nov. 10 at the Chelsea Fairgrounds. We shared ideas for publicity and logistics, easing back into our working lives.

The first day of our trip home, we drove from Lyons to Iowa City in 12 hours. We passed fields of corn and soybeans, Iowa 80, the "largest truck stop in the world," and a town called Crook. Iowa City is just east of Brooklyn, Iowa, where I'd stayed with my family years ago at a "B&B" that was straight out of the Munsters. A crew of very scary looking rough-necks was staying there, the "doors" were flimsy curtains, and the power went out in an electrical storm during the night, I swear. But that's another story...

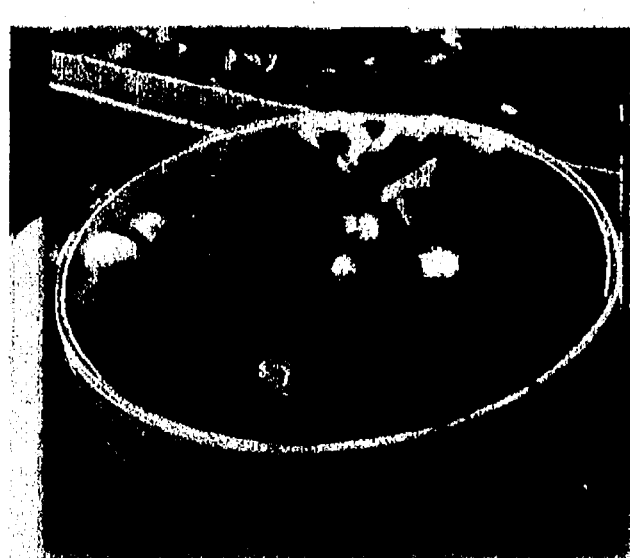

The sticky, humid air hit us hard when we stopped at our motel, the dry air of the west only a memory. The next day was an easy drive, with only seven hours to go. We passed a sign near Peoria, Illinois, directing people to a Memorial Wall to the Middle East Conflicts. I must admit that I'd barely given world affairs a thought while we'd been gone.

As we neared the Michigan state line, I reached into the cooler and took out the last of the carrot cake. My mouth filled with carrots and raisins and nuts baked in Colorado a few days earlier, and as I chewed the sweetness turned salty as tears rolled down my cheeks. Home is where the heart is, they say, and although my heart is with my family here in Michigan, a little piece of it still lives in the mountains where I was born.

Chalk Talk

Chelsea Standard / Dexter Leader Sports Editor Don Richter goes beyond the final scores.

I wrote last week that Chelsea and Dexter natives were making their marks athletically throughout the state and country.

I was wrong. I know, I know, that's impossible, right? Me, wrong?

Yes. What I should have wrote was that Chelsea and Dexter residents are making their marks throughout the state, country and internationally.

Former Bulldogs and Dreadnaughts are turning heads all over this big, blue planet of ours.

Earlier this summer, Dexter's Lindsey Smith, a recent University of Michigan graduate, won a gold medal as a member of the United States' 800-meter relay team at the World University Games in Bangkok, Thailand. Smith, a 10-time NCAA All-American for the Wolverines, swam the relay's third leg in 2:00.17. Behind Smith, the U.S. foursome set a World University Games record with a time of 7:57.87.

Chelsea's All Mann, the Mid-American Conference's women's basketball Player of the Year last season, is beginning her first season this fall as a professional player overseas in Luxembourg. Mann, who led Bowling Green State University to the NCAA women's basketball Sweet Sixteen last year, is playing for AB Contern in the Luxembourg professional women's basketball league. For those who would like to keep closer tabs on Mann, she's currently writing a diary, of sorts, for the Bowling Green athletics Web site. The diary documents Mann's experiences in the tiny European country. The Web site can be reached at bgsufalcons.com.

Back in the United States, Chelsea's Tony Scheffler helped lead the Denver Broncos to a thrilling 31-28 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers last Sunday night in a nationally televised NFL football game on NBC. Scheffler (6-foot-5, 250 pounds) caught a short touchdown pass from quarterback Jay Cutler in the second half of the contest. Scheffler's teammate, kicker Jason Elam, booted a 49-yard field goal as time expired to win the game for the Broncos (3-3). Two weeks ago, Scheffler blocked a punt against the San Diego Chargers in a 41-3 Denver loss. The blocked punt was a first by a Bronco player since the 2003 season.

Chelsea stays unbeaten

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Chelsea football completed an unbeaten regular season with last Friday's workmanlike 20-7 victory over visiting Milan at Jerry Niehaus Field.

The Bulldogs (9-0, 7-0 Southeastern Conference), once again, used a power running game to wear down the Big Reds (7-2), who entered the contest ranked No. 7 in the state in Division 4.

Defensively, Chelsea, ranked No. 2 in the state in Division 3, hounded Milan All-State candidate running back senior Ron Spears (5-foot-8, 170) the entire game. Though Spears finished with 113 yards on 27 carries, it was rough going and well below his season average. The Bulldogs rarely allowed Spears, who's a threat to score from anywhere on the field, to break free. Though picking up four or five yards a carry for most of the night, Spears was unable to hurt Chelsea with a long gainer. He seemed to have multiple Bulldogs draped over him the entire night.

"Defensively, we did not give up the big play," said Chelsea coach Brad Bush. "Watching film of Milan, I believe that's the first time all year they haven't hit the big play. But they're a very good team. They're a first-class operation."

Volleyball Beach battles unbeaten Tecumseh

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Chelsea's Beach Middle School seventh-grade Gold volleyball team lost to undefeated host Tecumseh 23-25, 26-28, 20-25 Oct. 17.

"I never thought I could be so happy about a loss," said Chelsea coach Dave Brinklow. "It sure feels like a victory for us. I told our team before the game that I didn't care what the score was, I just wanted them to pass the ball and set each other up for good volleys. That's exactly what they did."

"Tecumseh is the best team we've seen and we played them point for point all the way."

Leading the Bulldogs was Katelyn Brosnan and Jessi Baldwin who each finished with six service points.

Jessie Fox added five service points, while Katie Sullivan and Maddie Perry each had three service points for Beach.

Olivia Steele, Rachel Katz, Kelsey Brinklow and Ella Fritzemeier each had two service points, while Gabrielle Triveline had one service point for Chelsea.

On Oct. 15, the host Bulldogs defeated county rival Dexter Maroon 25-16, 25-14, 17-25.

Steele and Triveline paced Beach each ending up with seven service points.

Brosnan chipped in six service points, while Baldwin had five service points and Perry three service points.

Emma Doty, Meghan Bennett, Fox and Fritzemeier each had one service point for the Bulldogs.

Chelsea next hosts Tecumseh Monday at 4 p.m.

On Wednesday, the Bulldogs conclude their regular season traveling to Saline Blue for a match at 4 p.m.

Schwarze places 11th at state match

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Chelsea's Krystin Schwarze finished one stroke short of cracking the state's top 10 at last weekend's Division 2 girls' golf final at Forest Akers West Golf Course on the campus of Michigan State University.

The Bulldog junior standout placed 11th in the state individually, shooting a two-day 176 (88-88).

"I was extremely proud of her performance, her sportsmanship, and her perseverance," said Chelsea coach Andrea Bareis. "Conditions were very tough on both days, but she put two great rounds together despite the extreme winds, rain and cold."

Schwarze, at least, is making improvement from year to year. Last season, she missed qualifying for the state final by one stroke. This year, she was one stroke away from a state top 10 finish.

"Although Krystin finished one stroke out of the top 10 finish at the state finals, she actually had the 10th best score on Friday and the 10th best score on Saturday," Bareis said. "So, she really had two top 10 finishes at the state finals if you look at it day by day."

Winning the state title was DeWitt with a two-day tally of 730 (361-369).

Rounding out the state's top five were Birmingham Seaholm in second with a 740 (372-368), Greenville third with a 760 (368-394), Dexter fourth with a 768 (397-371) and Mt. Pleasant fifth with a 774 (394-380).

Capturing the individual state title was DeWitt's Liz Nagel with a two-day total of 153 (74-79).

Rounding out the top five were Amy Ruthenberg of Okemos in second with a 158 (79-79), Alexandra Lipa of Birmingham Seaholm in third with a 160 (83-77), Leah Grawburg of Mt. Pleasant in fourth with a 166 (85-81) and Megan Scholten of Grand Rapids Christan (81-90) and Brooke Hovenkamp of Vicksburg (79-92) tied for fifth with a 171.

Bareis said Schwarze deserved to be mentioned with the state's best.

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Chelsea's boys' tennis team finished 12th overall at last weekend's Division 3 state match in Kalamazoo.

The Bulldogs ended up with six points.

Winning the state title was St. Joseph with 29 points. East Grand Rapids was runner-up with 27 points.

"I think we finished about as well as we could," said Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter. "Considering where we were four months ago, a 12th-place finish was good. I think it is nice to see that this group of seniors came out of the shadow of last year's group to make their own history."

Leading Chelsea at the state match was No. 1 singles player Josh Stiles. The senior standout reached the state semifinals before falling 6-1, 6-1 to eventual champion Michael Sukenik of East Grand Rapids.

At No. 2 singles, Bulldog

Chris LaDuke advanced to the second round before losing 6-0, 6-1 to eventual state champion Brian Cutler of East Grand Rapids. It was the third straight year LaDuke reached the second round.

At No. 3 singles, Chelsea's Teddy Eyster fell 6-0, 6-0 to Bloomfield Hills Andover's Pat Lertdumrikarn in the first round.

Bulldog Mike Kozma lost in the second round to eventual state runner-up Jeffrey LoDuca of Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook-Kingswood 6-0, 6-1 at No. 4 singles.

In doubles, Chelsea's Wes Fritzemeier and Zach Gier lost to Zeeland West's Jeremy Decker and Alec Peterson 6-1, 6-1 in the second round of the No. 1 flight.

At No. 2 doubles, the Bulldog duo of Cory Vandervoort and Jordan Veenstra lost to Zeeland West's Kevin Osbeck and Josh Lutz 6-2, 6-1 in the sec-

Cross Country Chelsea second at league meet

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Chelsea's boys' cross country team placed second at the Southeastern Conference White Division Jamboree No. 3 last Thursday at Hudson Mills Metropark.

The Bulldogs ended up with 39 points.

Winning the meet was Dexter with 18 points. Tecumseh was third with 82 points, while Ypsilanti Lincoln was fourth with 110 points and Adrian fifth with 119 points.

Overall, Chelsea finished second in the final league standings, behind Dexter, the five-time defending Division II state champions.

Individually, August Pappas paced the Bulldogs placing fourth overall with a time of 16:51.

Teddy Eyster wasn't far behind, finishing sixth in 16:59, while Peter Wilke was eighth in 17:43 for Chelsea.

"August and Teddy were two runners that definitely ran like dominant bucks," said Chelsea coach Eric Swager. "Both earned all-league status and each ran times right at their lifetime bests."

Nick Hewitt crossed the line ninth in 17:44, while Mark Smith was 12th in 18:18 and Geoff Smith-Woolams 17th in 18:52 for the Bulldogs.

In the Chelsea JV Blue/Gray Invitational, the Gray captured the title with a team score of 607. The Blue finished with a tally of 813.

"This Civil War-like contest pitted brother against brother in a winner-take-all donnybrook," Swager said.

Leading Gray was Dominic Conybeare who crossed the line 19th in 18:32.

Ryan Patrick ended up 45th in 19:28, while Justin McGrath was 46th in 19:30 and Kevin Rosentreter 98th in 20:52.

Josh Hovater was 101st in 21:01, while Sean Owsley was 143rd in 23:37 and Jack Hermann 155th in 25:01 for Chelsea Gray.

Pacing the Blue was Jared Gentz who finished seventh overall with a time of 18:08.

"Jared Gentz posted a sterling effort to pace the Union squad, but it was the superior depth that won the day for the South (Gray)," Swager said.

Dan Case placed 61st in 19:49, while Evan Carpenter was 78th in 20:25 and Josh Deaton 99th in 20:53 for Chelsea Blue.

Josh Golec ended up 117th in 21:45, while Noah Hermann was 129th in 22:25 and Robert Bailey 161st in 31:55 for the Blue.

"This was a fun meet to end our regular season," Swager said. "The squad will now be pared down to the regional roster. We will focus on our ultimate goal, which is a trip to the state finals."

Chelsea next travels to Haslett to participate in the Division II state regional at Haslett Saturday.

Capturing the meet title was Dexter with 25 points.

Finishing second was Tecumseh with 33 points, while Ypsilanti Lincoln was fourth with 120 points and Adrian fifth with 130 points.

"We ran a good race," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke. "The weather was warm and humid. The course was wet which dictated slower times for the Hudson Mills course."

Freshman Samantha Newbound crossed the line 14th in 21:43, while Taylor Heydlauff was 16th in 22:12 and Julie Beaumont 17th in 22:22 for the Bulldogs.

Nikki Oberholtzer finished 20th in 22:48, while Nicole Hopp was 21st in 23:02 and Katie Lindauer 25th in 23:33 for Chelsea.

For their efforts, Maher and Newbound earned All-Southeastern Conference White Division accolades.

"We ran well, but the times did not reflect it due to the poor conditions," Clarke said. "Hopefully they can improve their times at next week's regional meet at Haslett High School. Usually, the Haslett course runs faster than Hudson Mills."

In the JV race, Bailie Simpson led Chelsea placing 38th overall with a time of 23:22.

"Bailie made the varsity for the first time this season with her performance," Clarke said.

Bulldog Julie Beaumont placed 17th in 22:22 at last Thursday's league meet at Hudson Mills Metropark. Overall, Chelsea finished third with 78 points.

Jenny Squires was 42nd in 23:27, while Stasi Kanellopoulos was 45th in 23:37, Nikki Laeder 50th in 23:43 and Stephanie Becker 68th in 24:13 for the Bulldogs.

Cassie Coffman ended up 77th in 24:40, while Lauren Johnson was 78th in 24:41. Christina Coffman 92nd in 25:08, Katie Martin 96th in 25:18, Emma Argiroff 161st in 29:10 and Kathryn Brieland-Shoulz 168th in 30:15 for Chelsea.

The Bulldogs next travel to Haslett to compete in the Division II state regional meet Saturday.

"We have our work cut out for us in the regional meet as we go-up against five other teams who were in the state meet last year," Clarke said. "Hopefully, we will peak at this meet."

Soccer Kickers lose OT thriller

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Chelsea's boys' soccer team bowed out of the Division 2 state district tournament losing a heart-breaking 2-1 overtime decision to Tecumseh Oct. 15.

"This was an exciting game for the fans and players," said Chelsea coach Dave Pieske. "After tying them (Tecumseh) twice during the regular season, we tied them again here (district first round)."

After falling behind 1-0 in the first half, the Bulldogs tied the contest midway through the second half as William Murdock scored on a breakaway for Chelsea.

With eight seconds left in overtime, the Indians gathered a loose ball and scored the game-winner.

Despite the season-ending loss, Bulldog keeper John Zink played well.

"Zink played a tremendous game," Pieske said. "Still hurting from a collision in the Huron game (3-0 loss Oct. 11), he made some big saves for us, including a breakaway in OT."

On Oct. 12, host Chelsea beat Milan 2-0.

With three minutes left in the game, Kiefer Forsch scored for the game's final margin. Recording an assist for Chelsea was Vlcek.

Chelsea celebrated Senior Night against the Big Reds.

"The boys were ready to play knowing this was the last regular season game we would play this year," Pieske said. "We came out strong and dominated the first half."

On Oct. 11, the host Bulldogs lost to Ann Arbor Huron 3-0.

"Our game was well-played except for about six minutes in the second half when Huron was able to get three unanswered goals," Pieske said. "It was a very windy day and I thought the boys did a nice job of possessing and passing. We got

On Oct. 9, visiting Chelsea lost to Ypsilanti Lincoln 6-1.

Scoring the Bulldogs' lone goal was Vlcek.

"We were a little slow and a much improved Lincoln took advantage of that," Pieske said.

Football Dawgs host Indians Friday

By Don Richter
Sports Editor

Five more wins. For Chelsea football, the road to Ford Field begins Friday at 7 p.m. in a Division 3 first round state playoff district match-up against Southeastern Conference White Division foe Tecumseh.

The Bulldogs (9-0), ranked No. 2 in the state in Division 3, defeated the Indians (6-3) 41-28 in Week 3 of the regular season. Tecumseh hasn't lost since, reeling off six straight victories.

The Indians are arguably the area's hottest team at the moment. In its last six games, Tecumseh has been almost unstoppable on offense. The lowest point total for the Indians in their final six contests of the regular season was 30, in a 30-27 win over Ann Arbor Pioneer.

After losing to Chelsea, Tecumseh defeated Saline (49-27), Dexter (38-21), Pioneer, Ypsilanti Lincoln (72-42), Temperance Bedford (44-21) and Monroe Jefferson (52-29).

Besides the Bulldogs, the Indians lost to Carleton Airport in Week 1 7-0 and to Adrian in the season's second week 44-42.

For a team that scores as many points as Tecumseh, one would think the Indians run a four wide-receiver spread offense. On the contrary, the Indians, more often than not, line up with two tight ends and a full-house backfield and run power football the entire game.

Who can blame them? With a gigantic offensive line featuring senior tight end Trey Searles (6-foot-5, 280), senior tackle Jon Adams (6-5, 270) and senior center Chuck O'Donnell (5-11, 275) opening holes, Tecumseh is one of the area's most physical teams. Add junior standout Zach Galloway (6-4, 200) and senior speedster Troy Hill (6-0, 190) in the backfield, and the Indians are difficult to stop.

Junior quarterback Andrew Simpson (5-10, 180) is effective enough as a passer to keep opposing defenses honest.

Defensively, Tecumseh is also big upfront, with senior Alex Royal (6-4, 225) and Searles at ends, and O'Donnell and Adams clogging things up in the middle at tackle.

Senior Will Kasper (6-0, 210) is a leader at linebacker, while Galloway is a receiver's nightmare over the middle at safety.

In his first season on the sidelines, Jason Mensing coaches the Indians.

Offensively, senior quarterback Jeff Adams (5-10, 160) leads the Bulldogs. An accurate passer, Adams also hurts defenses with his scrambling ability.

In the backfield, Chelsea has sophomore Nick Hill (5-9, 170). A rare combination of quickness and power, Hill has been a scoring machine in the red zone for

Traditionally a team with a big offensive line, this season's Chelsea squad is no different. Senior tackle Sam Birgy (6-3, 285), senior tackle Sam Dyer (6-1, 235), senior center Kyle Raymond (5-11, 225) and senior tackle/center Dean Roberts (6-4, 265) lead the way for the Bulldogs. Add in quick guards senior Stephen Dreyer (5-11, 205) and junior Joel Boyce (5-11, 200) and Chelsea's line is one of the best in the area.

Defensively, Roberts, a Division I recruit, anchors the front four for the Bulldogs.

At linebacker, a trio of talented seniors prowls the field sideline-to-sideline for Chelsea. Taylor Hopkins (5-10, 195), Stu Mann (6-2, 215) and James Connelly (5-11, 195) are the defensive leaders for the Bulldogs.

In the secondary, junior Scott Rhodes (5-10, 155) has been a lockdown corner for Chelsea this season.

Brad Bush, in his 11th season, coaches the Bulldogs.

Chelsea finished with the highest playoff point total of any team in Division 3, with 115.55 points. Because of their high playoff point total, the Bulldogs, if they continue to win, will host their first three games of the playoffs.

It takes five wins to reach Ford Field in Detroit, site of the Michigan High School Athletic Association state finals. Last season, Chelsea lost in the regional final, two wins away from a state championship. The regional final is the farthest a Bulldog team has ever advanced in the football state playoffs.

If successful against the Indians, Chelsea would play the winner of Fowlerville (8-1)-Adrian (7-2) in the district final. Fowlerville knocked the Bulldogs out of the state playoffs last year, winning on a last second touchdown pass.

The journey to Ford Field starts Friday.

Five more wins.

Milan coach Steve Robb was pleased with his squad's defensive effort, as well.

"Chelsea's a good team," said Milan coach Steve Robb. "We figured if we gave them 20 points we had a shot to win. We just didn't hold up our end of the bargain on offense."

Despite all attempts to stop him, Spears still found openings in Chelsea's defense, opening the scoring with a two-yard touchdown run up the middle. With junior Sam Rowe's point after touchdown kick, the Big Reds led 7-0 with 6:50 left in the first quarter. To begin the second quarter, the Bulldogs responded with a touchdown on a two-yard toss from senior quarterback Jeff Adams to senior receiver Donny Riedel. The extra point was blocked by Milan, preserving the Big Red lead at 7-6 with 11:56 remaining in the second frame.

Though both clubs moved up and down the field the rest of the second quarter, neither squad could muster any points. At the break, Milan continued leading 7-6.

To begin the third quarter, Chelsea reeled off 11 straight plays, driving down to the Big Reds' five-yard line before lining up for a field goal. The Bulldogs faked the kick, but were stopped as Chelsea junior Randy Cox was tackled by an alert Milan defense before he could get the pass away.

With the score still 7-6, the Big Reds began the ensuing drive at their own five-yard line. With the Bulldog crowd yelling at the top of their collective lungs, Chelsea defenders dug in, forcing Milan to punt from its own end zone after three unsuccessful plays.

The punt was shanked and the Bulldogs regained possession at the Big Red 27-yard line. Five plays later, Adams scored on a one-yard quarterback sneak. The two-point conversion run by Adams was good and Chelsea led 14-7 with 4:41 left in the third quarter.

In the fourth quarter, the Bulldog defense continued to smother Spears and the Milan offense.

Conversely, Chelsea's offense put the finishing touches on the game, executing a 10-play, 66-yard drive culminating in a four-yard quarterback keeper by Adams around right end for a touchdown with 1:08 remaining in the fourth quarter. The drive consumed 5:49 seconds off the fourth quarter clock.

Though victorious, the Bulldogs suffered key injuries to senior line-backer Tyler Ball and senior center Kyle Raymond. Ball, who was blindsided by a crack-back block in the second half, was taken off the field by ambulance. It was a precautionary measure, as by all accounts Ball is fine and will be ready for Friday's playoff opener.

his knee late in the contest, is more of a game-day decision on whether he'll play in the district match-up Friday.

Adams finished 8-of-15 for 99 yards and one touchdown. He also had 34 yards rushing on eight carries.

On the ground, sophomore Nick Hill outshined Spears, recording a game-high 153 yards on 29 attempts for Chelsea.

Receiving-wise, Riedel led the way with three catches for 17 yards.

Chelsea next hosts Southeastern Conference White Division rival Tecumseh (6-3) 7 p.m. Friday in a Division 3 first round state district playoff.

JV Football
Chelsea's JV football team defeated host Milan 14-7 last Thursday.

Scoring for the Bulldogs (5-4) was Zack Giller, with two touchdowns. He also finished with 119 yards rushing on 24 carries.

Besides Giller, other Bulldogs playing well included Dakota Cooley, Nigel Schuh, Tate Feeney, Trevor Mattson, Blake Blaha and Evan Grau.

Freshman Football
Chelsea's freshman football team defeated host Milan 33-20 last Thursday ending its season.

MILES: Notice something extra about Miles? He's got extra toes! Yep, he's a Hemingway Polydactyl! He's also a real sweetheart who came here as a stray. He had been hanging around a house for a couple of weeks and the nice person who found him brought him here to find a new and forever home. He was someone's kitty at some point in his life, because Miles is front declawed. So he will need to be an indoor cat only! Miles is just 4 years old and is ready to go to a new family today!

HANK: This is Hank the handsome Beagle. He's just a year old and here as a stray. Hard to believe, isn't it? Hank walks well on a leash, is good with other dogs and knows the command to "sit". Because of his energy level he should be in a household with children 10 years old or older. Hank loved to pose for the camera, and so in addition to being handsome he's a bit of a ham! Come visit Hank and see if he's the Beagle for you!

COCOA: Cocoa is a great guy who has multiple rave comments from our wonderful dog walkers! They say he is a nice friendly boy who loves to have his tummy rubbed and walks really well on a leash. He also knows the command "sit". Cocoa went to the UM tailgate and was a big hit and very well behaved. Check out pix of him wearing his cool HSHV bandanna!

The great outdoors Take special care to preserve that trophy

THE NEWS-HERALD

Think about this as you sit in your blind and wait for Ol' Mossyhorn to show up this year.

After all, there isn't much else to do while you wait.

Unlike the hunting professionals on TV, we generally don't down a trophy-class animal each time we shoot something. Just taking pleasure in harvesting some quality meat and the sheer enjoyment of the hunt is as good as it will get for us.

Handling non-trophy animals generally means field dressing and carting it off to the butcher as soon as possible to avoid spoilage if the temperatures are above the upper 30s.

In temperatures over 42 degrees, bacteria really begin to build up and it gets worse as the temperature climbs.

Because I usually butcher my own animals, I normally don't hunt again until the butchering chore is finished and the meat is wrapped and in the freezer. Anything less usually means poor-quality table fare and a wasted animal.

You don't really need a thermometer to determine if the meat is good or not. A good sense of smell will tell you immediately when an animal is decaying. That sweet, sickly odor of blood soon taints the meat and all of a sudden we've added to the ranks of venison haters.

On the other hand, we could get lucky and get a chance at the buck of a lifetime. If successful, we should be prepared to use a bit more caution handling the animal and have an idea of what type mount we're looking for.

When you've put the big one down for good, you want to treat that animal properly for mounting.

My good buddy and master taxidermist Rick Kowalski of Southgate offers these tips for handling a trophy animal until you get it to the taxidermist. "Just as with a non-trophy animal, it is important to field dress the animal as soon as possible," he said. "But do it in a cautious manner so as not to put any additional slices or holes in the hide or cape with your knife."

"Do not slit the neck (in any field dressing procedure) to bleed the animal. This is pure nonsense and only damages the cape (the portion of the hide to be used with the mount)."

With a trophy to be mounted, do not pull, hang or drag the animal by the neck or horns. This only causes hair to separate from the hide. Put the animal on a sled, sheet of plywood or the bed of your truck for transportation out of the woods.

If you must drag the animal, use one of those cheap, blue plastic tarps, roll the deer up in it and tie it securely. Then use a rope run through several eyes in the tarp and drag the animal.

If you are far from home or in a remote area and can't carry all the meat out at once, the animal should be caped for transportation to the taxidermist.

The style of mount determines the cape size.

All good cape jobs begin with extremely sharp knives that must be kept sharp throughout the process.

Make a slit down the back of the neck from just below the skull to well past the front legs. The hide is then sliced around the girth of the animal 90 degrees to the initial cut.

Now carefully skin the animal along these inci-

DNR launches new trapper education program

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources, in cooperation with state trapping organizations, is developing a trapper education program that will help individuals acquire the knowledge and skills they need to become successful, responsible trappers.

"We are very excited about Michigan's new trapper education program," said DNR Director Rebecca Humphries. "This program will educate our youth and other interested individuals about one of the oldest wildlife management tools - trapping - and we hope it also will recruit new trappers into this sport."

One component of the program is an online trapper education student manual.

The basic content for the manual, which is about 140 pages, was developed by the Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies, who, in turn, provided it to state agencies for state-specific modifications and incorporation into respective state trapper education programs. The manual has been customized to reflect Michigan conditions and regulations.

DNR Wildlife Division personnel and members of the Michigan Trappers Association spearheaded the effort to review and adapt the manual to Michigan trappers. The MTA also was helpful in coordinating reviews by members of other trapping organizations in Michigan to assist with the development of the final content.

"It's great to see how trapping has evolved since I started in 1973," said John Caretti, MTA vice president and trapper education chairman. "When I started, information was at a premium. Videos had not yet been invented and the Internet was still science fiction."

The Michigan trapper education manual teaches basic techniques with a strong focus on the responsible treatment of animals, legal methods, safety, selectivity and ethical trapper behavior.

sions. You will have to remove the front legs at the first joint and pull the skin over them for what is known as a full-cape mount.

After skinning, remove the head from the base of the neck, leaving the skull in. Do not remove the horns unless it's necessary for travel purposes.

Skinning out those areas calls for a professional and can really mess up the cape if done wrong. Taxidermists are artists, not magicians.

If you decide to do the capping yourself for the first time and blow it, you can generally order a replacement. A whitetail replacement cape usually goes for $140 to $170 depending on its size.

Parents as Teachers What to do when your child isn't potty ready

Dear Parents as Teachers,
I am 24 months old. My mommy and daddy want me to use the potty, but I'm just not ready.

Dear "Not ready,"
Lots of children your age learn to use the potty between 2 and 3 years of age, however, every child is different and develops at his or her own rate. Your mommy and daddy need to look for signs that you are ready such as: staying dry for two hours at a time consistently in the daytime and waking up dry from a nap, or wanting to imitate adults and be grown up, or having the ability to take your clothes off and put them back on.

New feature
"Parents as Teachers" is a new feature focusing on needs of parents. The column will appear regularly in the Chelsea Standard and Dexter Leader and will be written by parent educators from the Early Childhood Center, part of the Chelsea School District.

They can help you by letting you use the potty whenever you want to even while you are still wearing diapers so you can practice!

It is fun to read books about toilet learning so your mommy and daddy can teach you the words they want to use when talking about going to the bathroom. Once you change from diapers during the day to pants and using the potty all the time, you can start to use the potty first thing in the morning, shortly after breakfast, midmorning, before dinner, mid-evening and before bedtime; that will give you lots of practice.

You may even want to sit on the potty many more times than you need to go, but that's ok too. As long as you receive lots of encouragement and praise for successes and understanding even when you have had an accident, you will be happy about your body and have positive self confidence.

Your mommy and daddy are welcome to attend our special Parents as Teachers program at 6:30 p.m. on Nov. 6 in the Early Childhood Center on the Chelsea School District Washington Street Campus to learn more about the process Toilet Learning.

Running around goes with the job description

Have you seen the new Suave shampoo commercial on television? The one with the woman, she looks to be in her early 30s, who has let herself go after having children.

The commercial starts out when a young, beautiful woman, who is dressed to the nines, gets engaged. In 45-seconds you see her transformation - from a single, hip woman to a glamorous bride to a frumpy mom of two-children. In the end, thanks to Suave, she gracefully returns to her sleek, fashionable self, pregnant, again, with her third child. If only shampoo really worked miracles.

As a stay-at-home mother of two children, I can relate to the frumpiness. We are always running. Running after the kids; running around looking for keys; or running late for an appointment. We spend our spare time getting our kids ready to go, and our time spent caring for ourselves is put on the back burner.

It is, however, imperative to take time to care for ourselves; and, to find the time to indulge in non-mommy activities to soothe the strains of our days. Motherhood is fabulous, and I wouldn't trade it for a second, but some days are tough and some days I feel like I may explode if I don't get out of this house immediately.

Those days are usually filled with many sessions of temper-tantrums, lots of "No, mom's" spilling from my three-year-old's mouth, a crying-teething baby, or a dog that continues to run away or poop in the house despite all dog training tactics and money spent on obedience training. Some days are darn right tough. On those days, as soon as my husband gets home from work, or as soon as I can muster up a babysitter, I take off running again.

Now, I am running for me. Nature and sweat does wonders for my mental health. Some find relief in shopping, which I do too; others in spa treatments, I wouldn't complain if I had one; but, if I had to pick my medicine it would be to run.

So, even though I feel like the Suave lady at the end of the day, I finish it up with Gústo and after I round mile four the sounds of my children start calling me back home.

Running around is what this column and what my blog, (www.runlikeamother.blogspot.com) is all about. Here you will read about the basics of the stay-at-home mom; and also stuff that I will probably regret confessing.

Feel free to share your stories or your method for keeping sane during the roller-coaster ride of motherhood and track us down in town, frequenting one of the kid-friendly destination spots listed in the "Chumming around Town" section.

Reinhart coat drive begins Sunday

The Charles Reinhart Company, realtors, announce its 12th annual coat drive, to begin on Sunday. This project is a unique collaboration among the public, agents of the Reinhart Company, and the owners of a few local dry cleaning companies.

Here's how the drive works: During the month of November, coats in good repair may be dropped off at any Charles Reinhart Company sales office, or at any Reinhart Sunday Open House. Reinhart agents will then take the coats to participating cleaners, who are donating their services: Capitol Cleaners, Chelsea Cleaners, Gold Bond Cleaners, and Hicks Cleaners, have joined in the effort again this year, and are to be commended for their on-going support of the drive. After cleaning, the coats will be delivered to the recipient agencies by Reinhart sales agents.

Reinhart's 11 previous coat drives have yielded nearly 9,000 coats, which have been redirected to people in need in the greater Ann Arbor area. Last year, coats went to 22 agencies right here in our local communities, including the Ann Arbor Community Center, Dawn Farm, Faith in Action, Parents Together, and Saline Social Services.

For 2007, 19 agencies have expressed a need for coats for their clients. For information, call 669-5870.

Chelsea family opens hearts and home to foster kids

Sauers feel 'blessed' to have helped two children

By Sheila Pursglove
Special Writer

Paul and Sarah Sauers once thought of becoming missionaries, working with orphans in a third world country.

"But we realized that we don't need to go to third world countries to care for orphans," Sarah Sauers says. "There are orphans right here in Washtenaw County, and our children could be a part of making a difference in the life of a child."

"Through a variety of circumstances the Lord led us to fostering as a ministry of our family that our children were in support of."

The Sauers, who have four biological children — 21-year old Bekah and 19-year-old Michael, both at college; 18-year-old Ben, a sophomore at Chelsea High School; and Grace, a seventh-grader at Beach Middle School — got their foster license in April 2003.

A month later, the Sauers received their first placement through the Department of Health Services in Washtenaw County — a 7-month-old baby boy.

"We loved Caleb each and every day as our own son, knowing this was what he needed and received the blessing of watching him blossom," Sauers says.

Team Sauers.

"Three years later we celebrated his adoption on June 1, 2006."

"Yes, there were difficult days and weeks at times, but loving him one day at a time and entrusting him to God is what we knew we needed to do as with our own biological children. They all belong to Him."

"We are blessed to have a relationship with Caleb's birth mother so he knows how many people love him."

The family, that has called Chelsea home for seven years and belongs to the Chelsea Free Methodist Church, was not necessarily fostering to adopt. However, the agency training desires foster families be open to adoption since it is usually better for a foster child to stay in their foster home if he or she becomes available for adoption, Sauers says.

"Of course, it didn't take long to fall in love with Caleb and fortunately we were able to adopt him."

Caleb attends pre-school at Little Lambs in Chelsea, and loves to play outside with his neighbors and friends, swim, and visit local parks. He enjoys gymnastics and is looking forward to T-ball in the spring.

"Having two older brothers, Caleb is a sports nut and knows more about professional sports than I do probably," Sauers says.

The family's second placement has been less easy, as they are in the process of transitioning a foster baby girl they have had since birth to a relative placement.

"She is 3 months old now — and it has been a difficult few weeks and will be difficult the next month, but we know that we have given her a wonderful start in life and she has blessed so many people," Sauers says. "We of course were hoping to keep her and provide a minority sibling for Caleb, but God may have other plans and maybe another child to help.

"Whether we foster again will have to do with how Caleb, Grace and Ben — our children living at home — feel after this transition, but we feel blessed to have helped even two children."

"Caleb said it best — 'Anna has two families that love her and we are connected.'"

This is one of the challenges foster parents face, Sauers says — offering your heart and life to a child you may not keep. While Sauers has not previously been a part of a support group, she now feels the need to connect to foster moms who have been through the loss of a foster child.

"This is what Jesus would have done and we want to be like him. There are so many children in the world who just need to be loved. There is always a cost to fulfilling a call upon your life but it is always the right thing to do," she says.

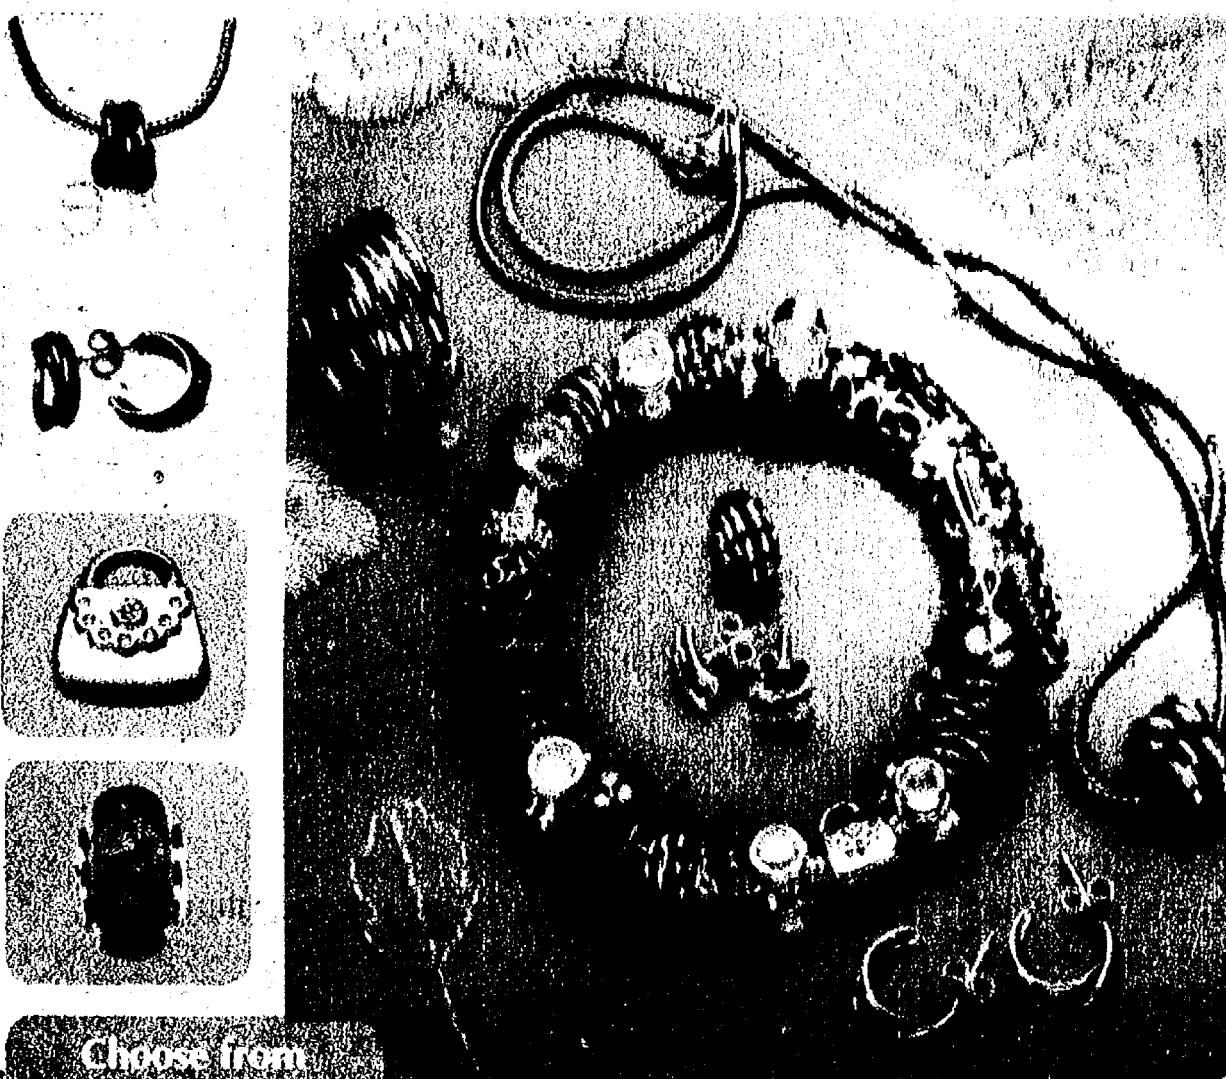

"I thank the Lord for a husband and children who are willing to stand in the gap for children who need to be loved for a short time or a lifetime."

Focused on nature

Photographer Patricia Ramsey - one of 20 artists and artisans taking part in the More Friends Holiday Gift Show at the Chelsea Fairgrounds Nov. 10 - got her love of the lens from her father.

"Photography was one of my dad's passions and I remember feeling very close to him when he was snapping pictures - first on an old box camera and later on the first Polaroid camera that came out in 1948," Ramsey says.

"At my young age it evoked the mystery of magic, and my dad became a wonderful magician."

Ramsey's family lived across the street from Argus, at the time the biggest camera manufacturer in the world. Every Sunday, the Argus main lobby was open to the public and had boxes of slightly defective lenses for anyone to take.

"I treasured those lenses and used many over the years to burn holes in leaves, feeling as though I had power over the rays of the sun, and could shine light on, or burn, whatever I desired," Ramsey says.

"My dad also brought home photo sensitive paper and let me place my hand, a comb, a leaf, or whatever called to me, on the paper. Then with the object in place, the light of the sun turned the rest of the paper dark purple, so the end result was an image of the object in white surrounded by deep purple. Again, magic."

"I think all of these conditions set the stage for my own love of photography."

Ramsey, an Ann Arbor resident her entire life who now calls Scio Township home, won the Grand Prize in an Ann Arbor News photo contest many years ago, and also won first and third places in a couple of Humane Society of Huron Valley photo contests.

About 10 years ago, Ramsey became interested in videography, and is now vice president of Celebration of Life Video Productions in Ann Arbor.

At the More Friends show, Ramsey will be selling note cards, either singles or in boxes of 8 or 10.

Photographer Patricia Ramsey will be one of 20 artists and artisans taking part in the More Friends Holiday Gift Show at the Chelsea Fairgrounds Nov. 10.

She also will display two blown-up photos on canvas that look like oil paintings, and will provide pricing on having that done with any of her photos.

Her photo topics include deer, Ann Arbor, and scenes from around Michigan, and Europe including shots of Paris, Venice, and Stockholm.

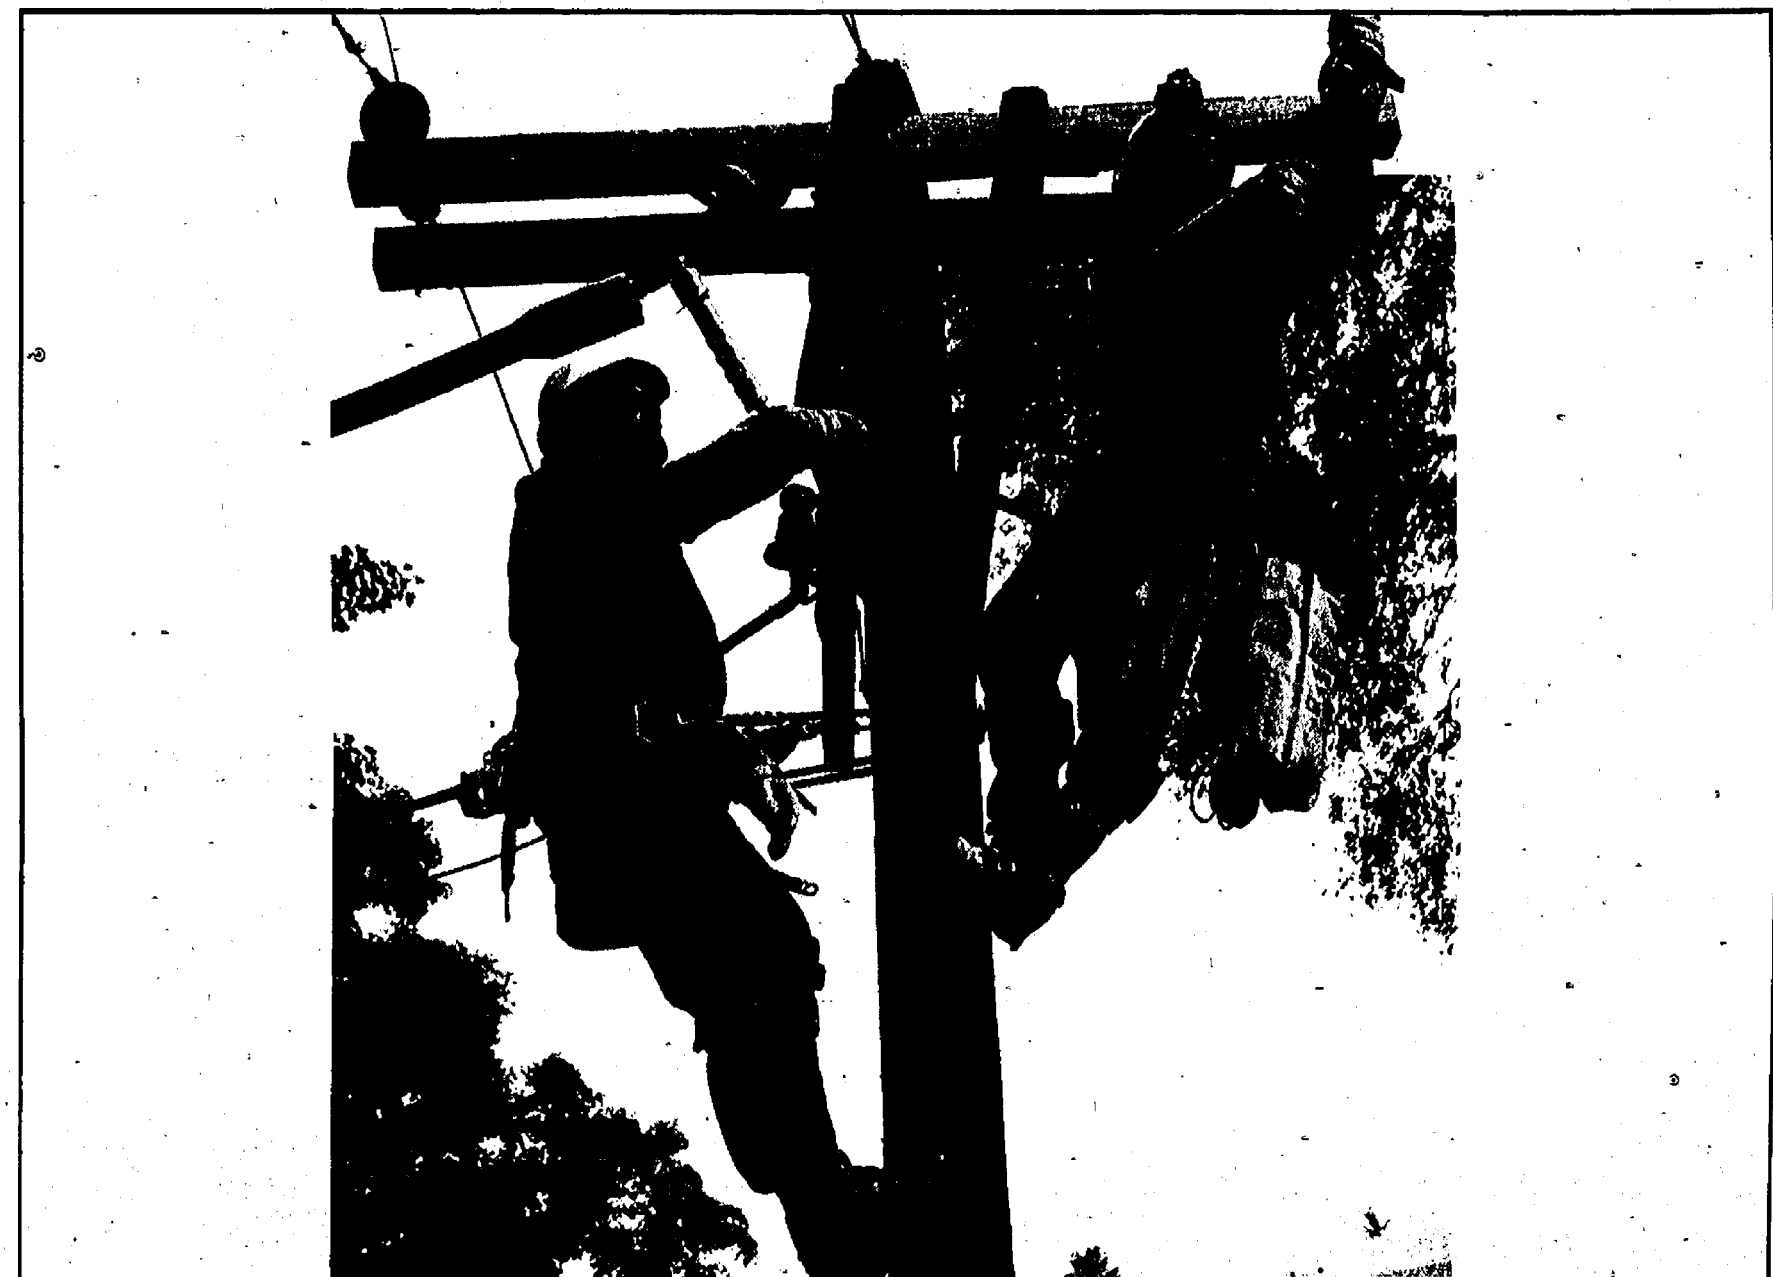

Ramsey also enjoys designing jewelry as a hobby. Both photography and jewelry design keep her more than busy, but balance off her life and her daytime profession as a depth psychotherapist, she says.

At the show, she will display and sell about 30 pieces of one-of-a-kind jewelry - all necklaces made of semi-precious stones, bone, silver, glass, and crystals, in a wide variety of styles. She has exhibited in a small boutique in Booth Bay, Maine; at Collected

Works and Fashions 'N' Things in Ann Arbor; and at Darwin's Stained Glass Studio in Chelsea, as well as at a few shows over the years.

"I began creating jewelry because I often wouldn't find anything in stores that appealed to me so I began creating my own pieces," she says.

"I enjoy the process and find it very relaxing and gratifying."

AS HEARD ON PAUL HARVEY NEWS Famous EdenPURE® portable heater that can cut your heating bill up to 50% is now much better

Heats a large room in minutes with even heat wall to wall and floor to ceiling

Does not get hot, cannot start a fire and will not reduce humidity or oxygen

By John Whitehead, Media Services

The famous infrared portable heater, the EdenPURE®, which can cut your heating bills by up to 50%, has been greatly improved.

The new heater heats better, faster, saves more on heating bills and runs almost silent.

You have probably heard about the remarkable EdenPURE® as heard on Paul Harvey News and on television features across the nation.

The EdenPURE® can pay for itself in a matter of weeks and then start putting a great deal of extra money in your pocket after that.

And that's just the start of the benefits for the new EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater.

A major cause of residential fires in the United States is portable heaters. But the EdenPURE® cannot cause a fire. That is because the quartz infrared heating element never gets to a temperature that can ignite anything.

The outside of the EdenPURE® only gets warm to the touch so that it will not burn children or pets. Pets can sleep on it when it is operating without harm.

The EdenPURE® will also make you healthier. That is because, unlike other heating sources, it will not reduce humidity or oxygen in the room. Typical heating sources reduce humidity which dries out your sinuses, makes you more susceptible to disease and makes your skin dry. With other heating sources, you'll notice that you get sleepy when the heat comes on because they are burning up oxygen.

The advanced space-age EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater also heats the room evenly, wall-to-wall and floor-to-ceiling. Other heating sources heat rooms unevenly with most of the heat concentrated high in the room and to the center of the room. And, as you know, portable heaters only heat an area a few feet around the heater. With the EdenPURE®, the temperature will not vary in any part of the room.

Unlike other heating sources, the EdenPURE® cannot put poisonous carbon monoxide into a room or any type of fumes or any type of harmful radiation.

The new improved models are the Model 1000-XL and the Model 500-XL. See the improvements provided on this page. For more details on the amazing EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater, here is my interview with Julius Toth, Director of Product Development for BioTech Research®.

Q. What is the origin of this amazing heating element in the EdenPURE®?

A. This advanced heating element was discovered accidentally by a man named John Jones. He had a large old farmhouse that was impossible to heat. Jones had a coal furnace in his basement. Jones placed a sheet of cured copper near the furnace to store it. Cured copper is a type of copper that goes through an extensive heating process to give it special properties.

After the fire went out in the coal furnace, Jones noticed that the sheet of copper was heating his entire basement evenly, even though the furnace was no longer putting out heat. He also was amazed as to how long the heat stayed in the copper and continued to warm the room.

Never be cold again

Jones was so taken back by this that he started to experiment. He formed a company to develop a heating source out of this cured copper. But Jones had a number of children and he did not want a heating source that would cause a fire or create other hazardous situations like creating carbon monoxide or radiation. He also did not want his children to get burned.

To make a long story short, through a great deal of research and development, Jones developed a heating source that utilized commercial infrared quartz tubes.

Q. What advantages does infrared quartz tube heating source have over other heating source products?

A. John Jones designed his heating source around the three most important consumer benefits: economy, comfort, and safety. The final development of this infrared quartz heat source cannot be matched by any other heating system in the world.

In the EdenPURE® system, electricity is used to generate infrared light which, in turn, creates a very safe heat. Infrared is the safest form of heat because it does not create carbon monoxide or harmful radiation. And, most importantly, infrared heat does not reach a burning temperature.

After a great deal of research and development, very efficient infrared heat chambers were developed that utilize three unique patented solid copper heat exchangers in one EdenPURE® heater. Over 5 years of research, development and real life field testing stand behind this heat source. It has now worked in residential and commercial applications worldwide for over 25 years.

Q. Why is it that this quartz infrared heating source uses less energy to create heat than other sources?

A. Actually, there is more than one reason. One of the primary reasons is that heat at combustion level, which is what all other heat sources use, causes the heat to instantly rise to the ceiling. Therefore, the heat is not evenly distributed, causing a very inefficient and uncomfortable heat source.

The EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared Portable Heater does not use burning heat. Once the heat exchanger absorbs the infrared heat, it exhales the heat into the living area which is carried by the existing humidity in the air. This causes the heat to travel rapidly and evenly throughout a room.

In actual studies, photos using infrared lighting demonstrated that the heat was almost perfectly even from floor-to-ceiling and wall-to-wall. The EdenPURE® Quartz Infrared efficiency is based on the distribution of energized air, not on just fan movement. This heat is coined as "soft heat" due to how comfortable it is.

Q. What are the other disadvantages of combustion heat sources?

A. Heat sources that are above the burning level have many unhealthy side effects. One of these is that it creates dry, irritating indoor air. It also burns a great deal of oxygen in the air. If you remember, when you sit in front of a fireplace or a portable heater or close to a heat source, you will remember yawning. This is because you are not getting enough oxygen.

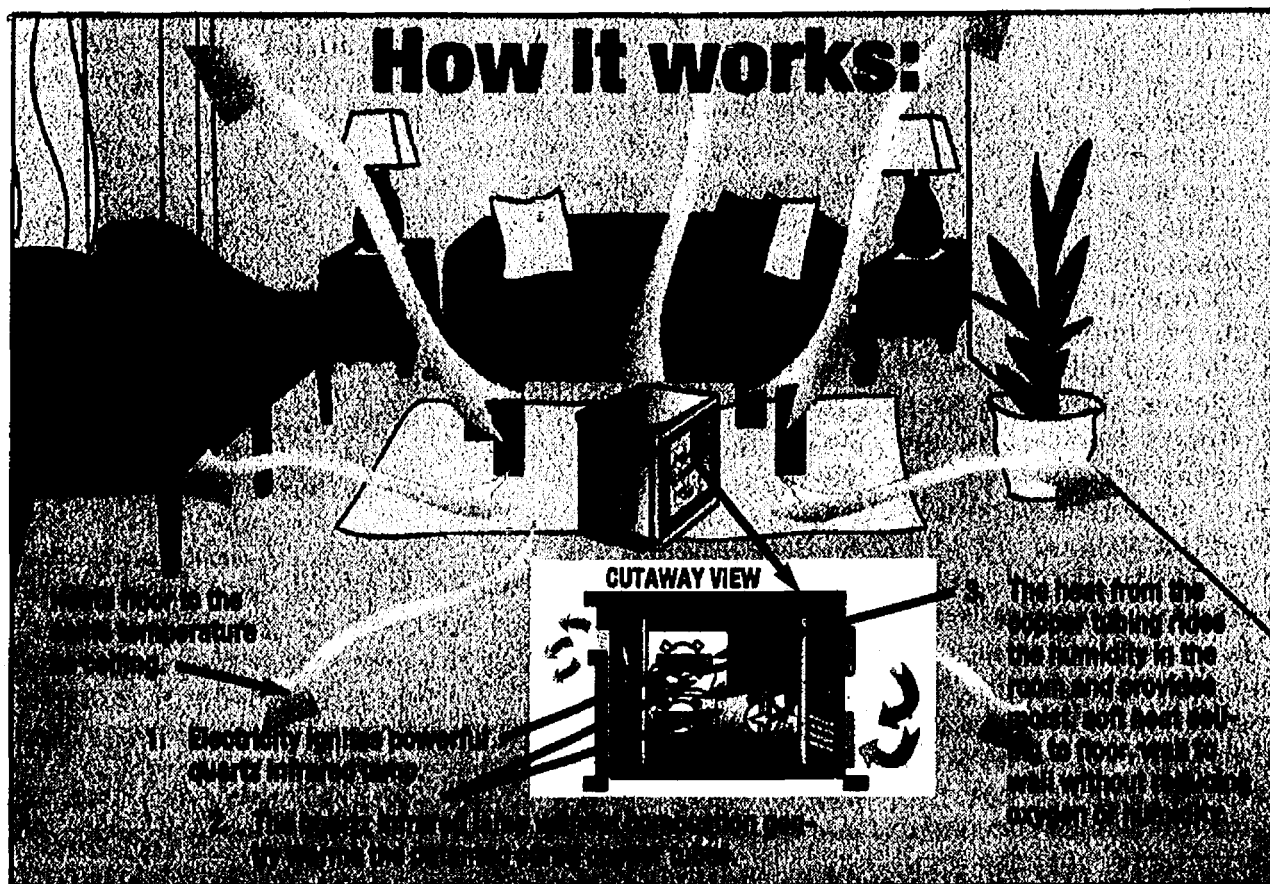

This dry irritating heat and lack of oxygen dries out sinuses and mucus in the throat, and makes people susceptible to disease. The lack of oxygen causes fatigue.

Also, many combustible heat sources produce carbon monoxide, static cling, and some produce radiation.

Q. So you're saying that children or pets can come up to this unit and touch it and not be harmed?

A. That is absolutely correct. As a matter of fact, pets are actually drawn to this heat because it is a natural source of heat, just like the sun heats the earth. Animals are much more instinctive than humans. This heat not only heats the air, but it also heats the objects in the room. It is a perfectly balanced heat.

Q. How can a person cut their heating bill by up to

New Model Improvements

1) The XL runs very much quieter. This type of super efficient fan system produces what is termed white noise which blends into a home atmosphere and becomes virtually inaudible. You now have to put your ear next to the heater to hear it operate. In addition to quieter the new fan blades are able to generate higher pressure air flow which pushes the warmer air out further into the room.

2) The XL heats better. The XL thermostat has been vastly improved so that it operates within a tighter range of degrees. The previous model used a mechanical thermostat which could produce a 6 degree variance in heat. This could be uncomfortable especially for the more heat sensitive elderly. The XL's electronic thermostat does not only eliminate the problems of a mechanical thermostat, but it is set to a much tighter tolerance. This will promote an extremely more comfortable even stable heat.

3) The 1000-XL features digital controls. It has a simple 3 large button control which turns the unit on, and you set the comfort level that you want which reads out on the front of the unit. It also has a remote control so you can adjust the comfort level without getting up.

4) The 500-XL has a single on/off switch and adjustable digital thermostat.

5) The XL is much more reliable. The thermostat and electronics are all solid state and the infrared bulbs are greatly improved to last for a very long time.

50% with the EdenPURE®?

A. First, the EdenPURE® uses less energy to create heat than other sources, but that is just part of why it will cut a person's heating bill. The EdenPURE® will heat a room in minutes. Therefore, you can turn the heat down in your house to as low as 50 degrees, but the room you are occupying, which has the EdenPURE®, will be warm and comfortable. The EdenPURE® is portable. When you move to another room, it will quickly heat that room also. This can drastically cut heating bills, in some instances, by up to 50%.

Q. I also understand that the EdenPURE® produces clean fresh air without furnace filters. How can it do that?

A. A furnace generates a lot of dust due to the combustion. By lowering the furnace temperature, you are using your furnace less and therefore reducing the requirement for the furnace filters. Also, when there's no combustion, there are no harmful fumes.

Q. So, the EdenPURE® is totally safe to use?

A. It absolutely is. The EdenPURE® has zero clearance, which means you can push it up against the wall or furniture without risk of fire. Tests prove the unit does not transmit any energy into the atmosphere that will burn or harm anyone regardless of distance between the person and the EdenPURE®.

The EdenPURE® will pay for itself in weeks. It will put a great deal of extra money in a users pocket. Because of today's spiraling gas, oil, propane, and other energy costs, the EdenPURE® will provide even greater savings as the time goes by.

The EdenPURE® heater is now greatly improved. The EdenPURE® comes in 2 models. Model 500-XL heats a room up to 300 square feet and Model 1000-XL heats a room up to 1,000 square feet.

John A. Palmer was a fascinating character

By Tom Diab
Guest Writer

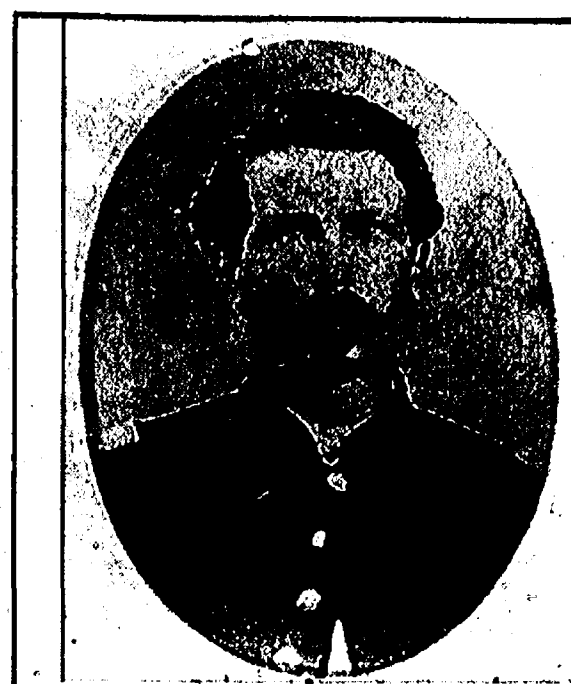

John A. Palmer was born in 1840 in Oneida County, N.Y. His father came to Michigan in 1841 and lived in Ann Arbor, later moving to Brooklyn where he passed away in 1852. John A. arrived in Chelsea in 1857 when he was 18.

In Chelsea he learned the blacksmith and worked at it until 1861 when the spirit of patriotism prompted his enlistment for service in the Civil War.

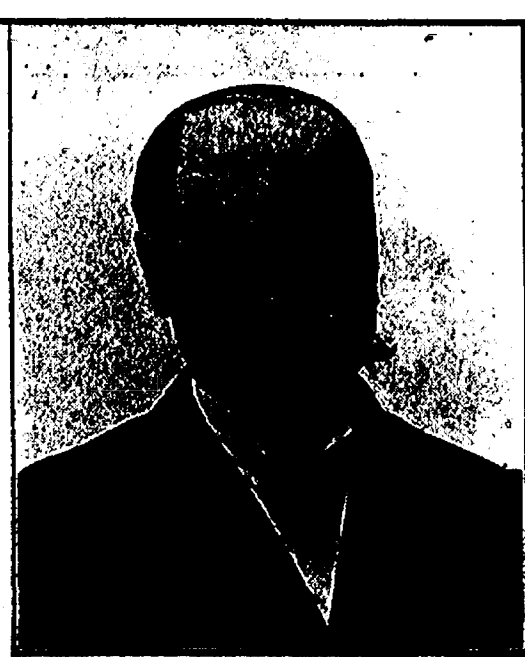

He served for four years and participated in all of the battles with his company, and was never wounded. He took part in the Atlanta campaign and after the capitulation of that city returned to Tennessee and came under the command of Gen. Thomas at Nashville. Later with his command he aided in the defeat of Confederate Gen. Hood's forces. Palmer worked his way through the ranks to become captain.

When the war was over he returned to Chelsea and partnered with J.P. and H.L. Wood, manufacturers and dealers in wagons and carriages.

Three years later he sold out and entered the employ of the Michigan Central Railroad Company until 1876. He then went into the private bank of R. Kempf & Brother as cashier and bookkeeper.

In 1866 Palmer was united in marriage to Jennie S. Townsend of Chelsea, but she died in 1892; the following year he married Carrie Mohrlok and had one child, J.A. Palmer Jr., born in October 1898.

In March 1905 he was elected president of the village and also had been treasurer of his township and trustee of the village.

John A. Palmer is of a completely different lineage of Palmers who made their name known throughout Chelsea's history. He died in 1908 in Chelsea.

The Chelsea Area

Historical Society invites you to see Palmer come to life from 4 to 6 p.m. Saturday at the Historical Cemetery Tour at Oak Grove Cemetery.

The tour will consist of 10 actors portraying the roles of prominent citizens from Chelsea's past.

The actors will give a brief oral biography of each person as you stroll by in a walking tour or on a hayride. Golf carts will also be provided for those who need them.

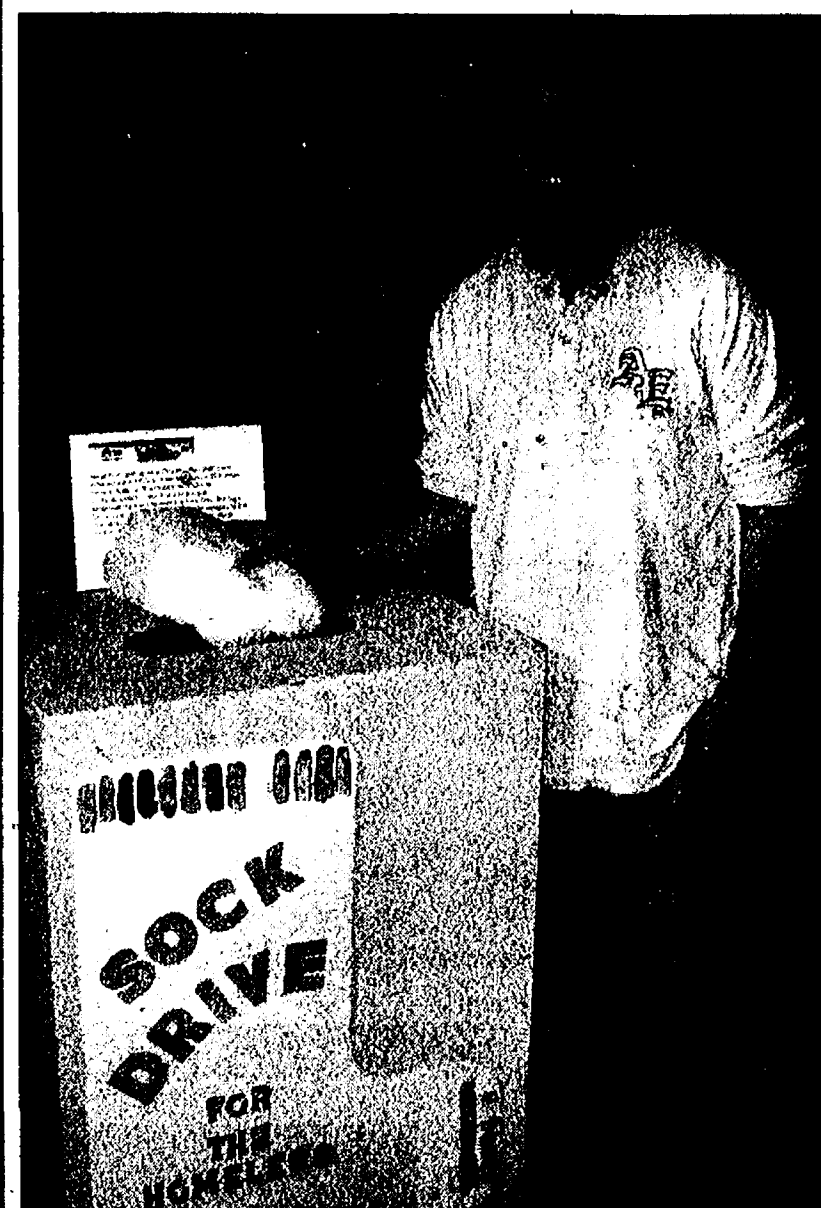

Beside Palmer, citizens being portrayed include: Elisha Congdon, town founder; William Bacon, prominent businessman; Frank P. Glazier, prominent businessman; Gertrude Daniels, community advocate; Frank Staffan, mortician and businessman; Isaac Taylor, distinguished farmer; Mabel Holmes, Jiffy Mix inventor; Harmon S. Holmes, prominent businessman; and John Lingane, farmer and victim of the R.M.S. Titanic sinking.

The tour will begin at the Freer Road cemetery entrance. Hot drinks and snacks will be provided.

Ticket prices are $10 for adults and $8 for 12 and under. Advance tickets will be $8 and $6 and can be purchased at the Gourmet Chocolate Café, 312 N. Main St. Call 475-1071 for more information.

Tom Diab is president of the Chelsea Area Historical Society and owner of the Gourmet Chocolate Café.

Sock drive

Chelsea's Dean Carpenter, a nurse practitioner at a homeless shelter in Detroit, is collecting socks for the homeless. "Last year as a result of a case of trench foot in a homeless woman, my neighborhood in Chelsea responded to my request for socks by donating over 100 pairs of socks to the shelter," Carpenter said. "This year, I have secured permission for a donation box to be placed in the lobby of Pamida on South Main." Chelsea's Eric Gasiewski (above) makes a donation.

Sleepy Hollow

CAP Jr. performs classic this weekend

In conjunction with the Halloween season, Chelsea Area Players Youth Theater performs Washington Irving's classic story Sleepy Hollow live on stage (in the round) at 7:30 p.m. this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Chelsea Clocktower Complex. Tickets are $10 for adults and only $5 for students and senior citizens. They are available at the Chelsea Teddy Bear Factory Store, Chelsea Pharmacy, Pierce's Pastries Plus, or at the door.

The show is produced and directed by Ty Jacobs with CHS student Jillian Heinrich as the production's vocal director.

Pre-performance festivities for the evening begin at the Chelsea Teddy Bear warehouse where tickets holders can tour the haunted "Doom Factory" before they attend the play starting at 7 p.m. Other special activities are also part of the Sleepy Hollow weekend.

"The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" is a short story by Washington Irving contained in his collection The Sketch Book of Geoffrey Crayon, Gent., written while he was living in Birmingham, England, and first published in 1820. With Irving's companion piece "Rip Van Winkle," "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" is among the earliest American fiction still read today. The version CAP Jr. is doing this weekend features over a dozen songs performed by the cast.

The cast for Sleepy Hollow features 32 area kids along with another 12 behind the scenes helping with production.

"The kids have been working very hard," Jacobs said. "The sets are really cool and the space in the Commons building is perfect for our big surprise ending. And, we have some really creepy special effects and the costumes are truly amazing. This will be a great Halloween treat for the whole family."

The shows will be performed in the Clocktower Commons Building on Main Street, downtown Chelsea. A custom made theatre has been created for the performances with special lighting, sound and seating, thanks to the cooperation of McKinley, and support from the Chelsea Teddy Bear

Factory and Edgar Norman Creative. Other joint promotional activities are being planned for the weekend to include other downtown merchants and the Teddy Bear Factory.

"I don't think Chelsea has ever seen a play like this before," says Jacobs. "And, everyone will get in the mood once they walk through the Teddy Bear haunted Doom Factory before the show."

Tickets also are available by phone at 1-734-274-2498.

Phone-in ticket reservations are for WILL CALL and will be at the box office. You may also purchase tickets online at www.chelseareplayers.org.

DEXTER TOWNSHIP SUMMARY OF ACTION OF THE DEXTER TOWNSHIP BOARD OF TRUSTEES REGULAR BOARD MEETING OCTOBER 16, 2007

Called to order at 7:01 PM
Members Present: Supervisor Kelly, Treasurer Kooyers, Clerk Rider, Trustees Howard, Lesser, Ottoman and Wojno
Absent: None

Also present: Patrick Sloan, Director of Planning & Zoning and Peter Flintoft, Township Attorney.

The Board approved the Consent Agenda, along with gross October payroll of $22,311.77, General Fund bills of $55,417.40, Fire Fund bills of $6,463.98 and Police Fund bills of $27,293.93.

The Board tabled action on a proposed consent judgment in one Circuit Court case (West Lake Hills, LLC v Dexter Township) and approved two consent judgments in Michigan Tax Tribunal cases involving personal property of Enbridge Pipelines (Toledo), Inc.

The Board also approved participation in the Local Update of Census Address (LUCA) program; approved a contract with A-1 Tree, Inc. for snow removal at the Township Hall; and approved an amendment to the budget to permit the Supervisor to hire clerical assistance.

In addition, the Board unanimously expressed displeasure with the Chelsea Area Construction Agency (CACA) for their policy of requiring only one signature on some CACA checks, with the concern that not requiring dual signatures on checks from a public agency fails to provide adequate internal financial control and erodes the public trust in the public agency.

The Board discussed, but did not take action on: Final acceptance of the private roads in the Gregory Farms development; adding recycle bins at the Multi-Lakes Sewer Authority; installing a dry hydrant at the east end of North Lake.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:31 PM
Respectfully submitted, Harley B. Rider, Clerk, Dexter Township

The total cost of the Project over the five-year period is estimated at $290,000.

The WCBPW has tentatively designated a special assessment district against which all or a part of the cost of such Project is to be assessed, which district consists of the following lands:

All tax parcels identified as having lake access and use of the waters of North Lake located in Sections 7, 17, 18 and 19 in Dexter Township and Section 13, Lyndon Township, Washtenaw County.

Each parcel identified above will be assessed the following amounts based on the type of property (the cost is the total cost for the five (5) year project):

Waterfront residential properties $1,100

A report describing the Project including program elements and cost estimates has been prepared and is on file with the Washtenaw County Director of Public Works. An owner or a party in interest or his or her agent may (1) appear in person at the hearing to protest the special assessment or (2) file his or her appearance or protest by letter before the close of the hearing.

The Board of Public Works shall maintain a record of parties who appear to protest at the hearing. DEXTER TOWNSHIP

 THE TOWNSHIP HALL, 6880 DEXTER PINCKNEY RD., DEXTER, MI 48130

Agenda Item #1

Appeal Number: 07-ZBA-672
 Property Tax ID: 04-18-471-011
 Applicant Name(s): Gary & Catherine Hoepfner
 Property Address: 7021 North Lake Orchard Drive

Section	Current	Requested	Permitted	Description/Notes
12.01.E.1	1.46 acres	1.46 acres	2 acres	Recognize lot area is less than 2 acres
12.01.E.3.a	Approx. 140 ft.	Approx. 140' extended 16' westward		To extend the existing front yard (south side) setback nonconformity by 16' westward.

The purpose of this variance request is to allow for construction of a 16' x 20' attached, uncovered deck on the west side of the existing single family home at 7021 North Lake Orchard Drive, Gregory, MI 48137 (parcel 04-18-471-011). The home is on a corner lot; therefore, it has 2 front yards. The front yard setback from the North Territorial Road right-of-way is approximately 140 feet. Since the minimum setback from North Territorial Road is 150 feet, the existing home is a legal nonconforming structure. The south line of the proposed deck is proposed to follow the south line of the house. Therefore, the proposed deck will also be nonconforming. The deck was built recently without a zoning permit or a variance.

Agenda Item #2

Appeal Number: 07-ZBA-673
 Property Tax ID: 04-08-255-009
 Applicant Name(s): John & Susan Vredevelde
 Property Address: 13246 Noah Court

Section	Current	Requested	Permitted	Description/Notes
12.01.E.1	1.14 acres	1.14 acres	2 acres	Recognize lot area is less than 2 acres
12.01.E.3.a	Approx. 101 ft. (house)	Approx. 41.2 ft. (garage)	100 feet	To create a new nonconformity in the front (north) yard setback area from Noah Road.
18.18.C	N/A	Yes	No	To locate a detached accessory structure in a front yard area.

The purpose of this variance request is to allow for construction of a 24' x 24' detached garage proposed to be located north of the existing single family home at 13246 Noah Court, Gregory, MI 48137 (parcel 04-08-255-009). This is a corner lot; therefore, it has 2 front yards. The proposed front yard setback for the garage from the Noah Road right-of-way is approximately 41.2 feet. Since the minimum setback from Noah Road is 100 feet, the proposed garage would involve the creation of a new nonconforming structure. Also, Section 18.18(C) of the Zoning Ordinance prohibits detached accessory structures from being constructed in a front yard area. The proposed garage is located in both front yard areas (i.e. in the front yards abutting both Noah Road and Noah Court). According to the applicants, locating the garage in a conforming area would involve maneuvering around the septic area and significant tree clearing. The proposed 24' x 24' garage floor area would be approximately 23.7% of the ground floor area of the principal structure.

Agenda Item #3

Appeal Number: 07-ZBA-674
 Property Tax ID: 04-18-100-026, -033, & -057
 Applicant Name(s): Michael & Kathleen Conter
 Property Address: 7563 Noah's Landing and 7557 Noah's Landing

Section	Approved for 7563 Noah's Landing in 07-ZBA-667	Current for 7557 Noah's Landing	Requested for 7563 and 7557 Noah's Landing Combination	Permitted	Description/Notes
12.02.E.1	.07 acres	.05 acres	.12 acres	1 acre	To increase lot area to be less nonconforming
12.02.E.2	33 feet	33 feet	66 feet	150 feet	To increase lot frontage/width to be less nonconforming

12.02.E.3.a (2nd story)	15'6" (road); 40'5" (water)	N/A	15'6" (home-road); 40'5" (home-water) 21.1' (garage-road)	50' (road); 50' (water)	To extend by about 29' southward the existing non-conforming second story front yard at 7563 Noah's Landing onto 7557 Noah's Landing.
12.02.E.3.b (deck)	11'6" (road); 31'0" (water)	N/A	11'6" (road); 31'0" (water)	50' (road); 50' (water)	Recognize existing front yard setback nonconformities of the decks at 7563 Noah's Landing
12.02.E.3.b	17' (north); 6'2" (south)	Approx. 2' (north); 4.5' (south)	17' (north); Approx. 10.2' (south) (conforming)	7 feet	Recognize current side yard setback nonconformities on the north side of the house at 7563 Noah's Landing. The side yard setback on the south side would be conforming.
12.02.E.3.c (house)	N/A	Approx. 10.5' (west)	Approx. 16' (west)	30 feet	To retract the nonconforming rear yard setback at 7557 Noah's Landing to approximately 16' and extend the nonconformity northward to the home at 7563 Noah's Landing.
12.02.E.4	33.27%	37.75%	33.21%	25%	To reduce the nonconforming lot coverage by way of increasing the lot area and reducing overall lot area.

The applicants currently own the property at 7563 Noah's Landing (04-18-100-026 & -057), which currently has a single family home. At its April 10, 2007 meeting, the Zoning Board of Appeals granted a variance, with conditions, to complete the second story of the home (07-ZBA-657). The applicants have not yet applied for a zoning permit for this project. The applicants have recently purchased (or have an agreement to purchase) the property at 7557 Noah's Landing (parcel 04-18-100-033), which is located directly south. They propose to demolish the home at 7557 Noah's Landing and replace it with a 2-story structure that will attach to their soon-to-be renovated home at 7563 Noah's Landing. This new structure is proposed to include a new main entry, a 2-car garage, and additional 2nd story living space. The applicants also propose to unite all 3 parcels.

Agenda Item #4

Appeal Number: 07-ZBA-675
 Property Tax ID: 04-14-400-011
 Applicant Name(s): Kevin & Sandy Sloan
 Property Address: 9838 North Territorial Road

Section	Current	Requested	Permitted	Description/Notes
12.01.E.1	1.17 acres	1.17 acres	2 acres	Recognize lot area is less than 2 acres
12.01.E.2	125 feet	125 feet	150 feet	Recognize lot width/frontage is less than 150 feet
12.01.E.3.a	Approx. 150 ft.	Approx. 150 ft.	150 feet	To change the profile, square footage, and foundation footprint of a nonconforming structure.

The purpose of this variance request is to allow for construction of a 30' x 40' attached addition to the rear (north) side of the existing single family home at 9838 North Territorial Road, Dexter, MI 48130 (parcel 04-14-400-011). The proposed addition will include garage area in the lower level and living area in the upper level. Because the minimum front yard setback along North Territorial Road is 150 feet and the single family home is currently set back approximately 145 feet from the right-of-way line, the single family home is a legal nonconforming structure. According to Section 19.04.B of the Dexter Township Zoning Ordinance, any change to the profile, foundation footprint, or square footage of a nonconforming structure will require a variance.

Appeal Number: 06-ZBA-676

The main purpose of this variance request is to allow for the construction of a second story to the "primary" single family home at 4201 Dexter Townhall Road, Dexter, MI 48130 (parcel 04-34-100-019). The parcel currently contains two (2) single family residences (the residence in question is referred to in this report as the "primary" residence), a pole barn (approved by Dexter Township in 1996), 2 sheds, and a water tower.

The "secondary" residence in the northwest corner of the parcel currently has no occupant, but will be used by the applicants to live in during the construction period on the "primary" residence. Both residences have existed for a long time, and Dexter Township has issued zoning permits for an expansion of the "secondary" residence as recently as 1996. The property has also been assessed for two (2) single family homes.

The Chelsea Standard THE DEXTER LEADER

October 25, 2007

It's not about you

Whether the exact words, "For Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory, forever and ever," were taught by Jesus or not, they certainly are found in a number of places in the Bible; and they are especially appropriate at the close of the Lord's Prayer because they capture the spirit of this prayer - the spirit of giving all glory and honor to our God.

Our Father demonstrated time after time that the kingdom, the power, and the glory are His. He demonstrated it to Pharaoh and the Egyptians when they oppressed His people. He demonstrated it to King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon during Daniel's time. He has demonstrated it throughout the centuries to many who have tried to stamp out the Christian faith.

Unfortunately, even those of us who speak these words all the time have to admit that our attitudes do not always match up with this statement. Each one of us is determined to exercise our own authority on occasion, and wants to think we have at least some power and glory. But when we pray these words to our Father, we admit that nothing is really ours. We have no authority over our next breath. It's not about us. Prayer and worship is not about us, it's all about God's kingdom and power and glory. We lose sight of this when we expect the church to entertain us and make us feel good. We lose sight of this when we give in to self-pity and bitterness and other forms of self-indulgence, as if we're the center of the universe.

It's not about us. And, really, this is a good thing, because our Father in heaven is not a tyrant, but a loving Father. He could have destroyed us, but instead He spared us, sending His Son to the death that we deserved. And now in prayer we acknowledge His kingship and power and glory.

Our God created and controls the sun, moon, stars, and vast galaxies; He also has an inventory of the hairs on your head, and is aware when even a tiny bird falls to the ground. Who can oppose Him, escape Him, or deceive Him? Who would dare even to approach Him? Thank God, we don't have to worry about that. He reconciled us to Himself through the death of His Son (Romans 8:10). He offers us His love and friendship as a free gift.

By praying, "Thine is the Kingdom and the power and the glory," and the rest of the Lord's Prayer, we are acknowledging that we are part of a larger cause. The question is not just whether I will have a happy, successful life, but "What is my role in this universe - this universe that is ruled by the kingship and power of my heavenly "Father?" We were called into His Kingdom. We are kept by His power. We were created and redeemed for His glory. It's not about us, it's about Him. And even though each of us resists, that at times, in our hearts that is the way we want it. We pray it every time we say the Lord's Prayer. Let's live it.

Honors & Awards

Dr. Zachary Kistka (right) of Chelsea, son of Gary and Heidi Kistka, graduated from the Wayne State School of Medicine. Dr. Kistka has begun his residency at the University Hospital of Cincinnati. At the graduation ceremony, which occurred on June 5, 2007, Zachary achieved the Distinction in Biomedical Research he conducted (and was published) while at Washington University in St. Louis regarding preterm births. Dr. Kistka was a past winner of scholarships awarded by the Washtenaw 100 Club, the American Business Women's Association, and the Palmer Scholarship awarded by Chelsea Hospital. Dr. Kistka plans to specialize in Endocrinology.

Washtenaw Community College journalists took top honors recently in a statewide competition sponsored by the Michigan Press Association. Peter Crist of Dexter, a former Voice page designer, won first place for his layout and use of informational graphics in the article, "You Know You Love It," which ranked local pizzas.

Crist also took third place for his review titled "The Black Parade is Pop Rock at its Best" and for his ad design of "The Bullhorn." The contest was open to student members of the Michigan Press Association who competed in one of three divisions: Division I - papers publishing more than weekly; Division II - papers publishing weekly; and Division III - two-year college publications or schools publishing less than weekly. This year judges chose the winners from 711 entries submitted by 19 schools.

Robert Wood of Chelsea graduated from Kettering University in June of 2007 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering.

Stacy Jones, daughter of Michael and Marsha Jones of Dexter, is a Panhellenic Council representative for Phi Mu sorority at Ashland University. She is majoring in early childhood education.

graduated from Grand Valley State University in April for the winter 2007 semester. From Chelsea: Drew Salas; Kirra Sheremet, Magna cum laude, and Evan Wildey. From Dexter: Anna Haroney and Kelsey Puuri, Magna cum laude.

Dexter Community Players present 'Urinetown'

What is Urinetown? This is the question that haunts the downtrodden poor in a bleak dismal urban future where private bathrooms no longer exist, and the public pay toilets are controlled by a power-hungry corporate monopoly. Gloomy and depressing you say? Try hilarious and entertaining! Urinetown (the Musical) is an enjoyable parody of some of musical theater's finest works wrapped up in a seemingly implausible story.

Think the title is awful? So do the show's narrators, as they guide you through the singing, dancing, love, rebellions, greed, and kidnappings, and introduce you to the compelling and amusing characters of the Dexter Community Players' production of this uproarious Tony Award winning musical.

Director Jason Smith, who brought you DCP's critically successful Sweeney Todd, returns with some of community theater's finest, along with choreographer Stacey Smith and the ever-energetic Brian E. Buckner as musical director. The cast includes Brendan Bachman as the heroic Bobby Strong, Thalia Schramm as the sweet Hope Cladwell, Edmond Reynolds as the diabolical Caldwell B. Cladwell, and Leo Babcock as the ever present Officer Lockstock. The comedic pairing of Jenn Smith and Jeff Steinhauer work to steal the show in what is sure to be the highlight of the fall season.

The show will hit the stage on Oct. 26, 27, 28 and Nov. 1, 2, 3, at Copeland Auditorium, 7720 Ann Arbor St. in Dexter. Tickets are $12 in advance and $15 at door. Call 1-734-424-4100 for more information.

River Gallery's new exhibit

River Gallery is pleased to announce an exhibit of partnership between the painter Margaret Davis and the sculptor Louis Marinaro.

Husband and wife, professors of art and passionate about the enduring truths of classical ideas and forms, they combine their talents to create straightforward representations that draw us into the poetic, mythical and reflective.

Ms. Davis, a Professor of Art at Eastern Michigan University, works in oil, scrambling together ideas from science and myth to create mature artworks reminiscent of Roman and Proto-Renaissance wall paintings. Marinaro is committed to the representational. His work is a clear and forceful expression of life, while at the same time he explores questions of time, memory and reflection in his strong and evocative sculpture. Marinaro is a professor of Art at the University of Michigan.

During this exhibit both artists will display newly completed works and accept commissions from private and corporate collectors. Highly experienced in portrait drawing and painting, Davis will display examples of her commissioned paintings. Along with his sculptures, Marinaro will exhibit photographs of commissioned works including the recently completed "Renewal" placed in Owosso.

Folts featured

Chelsea resident Martha Folts will be the featured keyboard artist Saturday commemorating the 300th anniversary of the death of Dietrich Buxtehude (1637-1707). Buxtehude was a master of baroque music in northern Europe. The instruments Dr. Folts will play are a two-manual harpsichord (built by Manchester resident Keith Hill in 1992) and a clavichord (by Midge Ploger and Keith Hill built in 2007). This is a rare opportunity to hear a live performance on the clavichord.

The concert is 8 p.m. on Saturday, at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, 306 North Division in Ann Arbor. Tickets available at the door from 7:30 p.m. are $15 general admission, $12 for seniors and $5 for students. For information, call 734-665-5758.

FRESH BREATH 12-TIMES LONGER

SCIENCE DOESN'T LIE

An independent review of an American Dental Association search on all published studies regarding mouthwashes and bad breath shows:

- SmartMouth Mouthwash has been clinically proven to provide fresh breath for 12 hours.
- No other mouthwash has been clinically proven to provide fresh breath longer than one hour.
- One rinse with SmartMouth in the morning can prevent bad breath all day; one rinse at night and you can wake up with fresh breath every morning.
