Sylvan could reach agreement

Township attorney details options for public at meeting

By Sean Dalton
Heritage Media

Sylvan Township's regular meeting on May 10 packed the township hall with residents itching to hear from Township Attorney Peter Flintoft, as well as the township board.

Flintoft said that he and township officials have been meeting with officials within Washtenaw County, Lansing and elsewhere in search for solutions to a more than $10.5 million in debt liability to the county.

Of that sum, $9.4 million is bond debt for the township's water plant and another $1.2 million that the county advanced to the township as special assessment fees when the two developers involved in the plant deal stopped paying.

The township effectively took the money that the county gave it when the developers stopped paying the special assessment fee and paid the rest of the bond that hadn't come due yet, since there was no one else to make the payments.

Norfolk Development Corporation and Magellan Properties could also receive $2.4 million once the Michigan Court of Appeals rules in the case that exists between those private companies and Sylvan. However, Flintoft said that an appellate court decision even reached this month wouldn't mean that there'd be a nearby conclusion to that fight.

"I anticipate that regardless of the decision of the Michigan Court of Appeals that will go on to the Michigan Supreme Court, and it'll be in limbo until the process is completed," Flintoft explained. "I cannot give you any expected decision by the court of appeals nor can I give you a date of expected termination of appellate proceedings."

Flintoft outlined a potential scenario that the county may agree to that spreads the multi-million dollar damage done to the over 2,800 citizens of the township over a period of two decades.

"Last week, finally your county commissioner Rob Turner, he and I have talked... I believe he has prevailed upon the Washtenaw County administration to enter into a renegotiation of both the $9.4 million and Firefighter Roger Chapman's home on Queen Oaks Drive was a total loss. Chapman was a first responder to the scene of his own home on fire.

By Sean Dalton
Heritage Media

It only took Chelsea-area firefighter Roger Chapman five minutes to arrive on the scene after a fire alarm sounded at 5:09 a.m. May 8 for 3805 Queen Oaks Drive.

Fire reports typically record the time of an alarm, arrival, control and departure, but there's no field for when a firefighter learns that the scene he's being propelled toward as a first responder is his own residence.

As Chapman experienced some of the longest minutes of his life, his fiancée, Nicole, was awoken by their son, Taylor, in their upstairs bedroom after he himself had been woken up by the family dog Jade licking him on the face to warn of the danger. Nicole grabbed daughter, Kamren, Taylor and the family babysitter's daughter who was sleeping over and fled the flaming, smoking residence moments before the roof collapsed straight through to the floor.

"I think I had the easy part," Chapman said from his cell phone Tuesday morning after recently returning to Chelsea after a brief trip out of town to sort out his affairs.

A staffer at the Chelsea Comfort Inn has graciously put the family up while neighbors and friends from within the Chelsea community continue to surprise Chapman with their support and kindness. He's originally from the Downriver areas of Ecorse and Romulus where he started his five-year career in firefighting before coming to the Chelsea Area Fire

New media classes envisioned at CCA

By Crystal Hayduk
Special Writer

About 160 people attended the seventh annual fundraising breakfast for the Chelsea Center for the Arts on May 11 at Silver Maples.

Lisa Baylis Gonzalez, the interim executive director of CCA, praised the center for its solid foundation, including a 16-year history of the highest-quality music instruction and collaboration with community partners, such as the school district, public library, River Gallery and Sounds and Sights.

Baylis Gonzalez shared the CCA board of directors' vision that it is now time to broaden and deepen their scope. Plans include enhancing the visual arts by adding courses in 2-D and 3-D media and including electronic media by adding courses in digital art, graphic art and video production.

Gonzalez hoped that the CCA will become a place where the community can learn together.

"We would like to be able to offer some innovative group learning, especially for teens, with mentoring available for the more serious students," Gonzalez said.

Music teacher Tara Vesprini spoke about the "Music Together" classes that she teaches. Vesprini cited that in the general population, only four out of 20 adults consider themselves to be musical, but 84 percent have average or above average musical aptitude.

"Active experiences with music, not passive, help you to reach your musical potential," Vesprini said.

In "Music Together" classes aimed at parents with their children up to age 5, Vesprini is "teaching parents to reclaim the musical birthright for their children."

According to Vesprini, studies have shown that music improves mathematical and spatial reasoning as well as language development, and it engages every area of the brain. Yet she cautioned music should be

Antiques mall thrives

By Crystal Hayduk
Special Writer

With antiques dealers from throughout southeast Michigan and customers from as far away as Arizona, the Chelsea Antique Mall has become another reason for visitors to add Chelsea to their desired destination list.

The mall, located at 1178 South M-52 and owned by Ed and Kathy Greenleaf, opened on September 15, 2010, with only seven booths.

"Within a month, we were full," said Ed Greenleaf. "We opened additional space in January."

The 5,000 square-foot, climate-controlled building adjacent to Chelsea Lanes can currently accommodate 44 vendors, and there are 12 vendors on a waiting list.

Greenleaf, who had retired from the bowling business, owned the building that formerly housed Aberdeen Bike and Outdoors but has been empty for a couple of years.

"My niece, Jamie Lane, said, 'Uncle Ed, we should open an antiques mall.' I asked, 'We?'" Greenleaf said. "She helped us get started, and she still helps out occasionally."

Greenleaf said that

Authority as a paid-on-call member over a year ago. "I think about (Nicole) having to run across the living room to get one of the kids who was hiding in the corner and the roof collapsing as they run 120 feet down the driveway," Chapman reflected. "When I heard the call go out I kind of ... it kind of put me in shock," he added. "I didn't know if somebody was playing a trick or if I was dreaming. When I heard the address again it was just fear and panic." He geared up and prepared for the worst, not knowing that Nicole had gotten his loved ones away with only moments to spare. The house wasn't even a passing concern in light of his family's safety.

Chapman kept asking his captain who called it in, but the only lead his colleagues had was that the call came in from Huron Valley Ambulance, so a neighbor could have been the originating call.

"Who called was one of many questions while I was on the truck ... I kept calling her cell phone but she wasn't answering," Chapman said. "I thought about how when you're on the phone with 911, calls go straight to voicemail, as we came around the bend on U.S. 12 and could see the glow of the fire."

Chapman wasn't afraid to admit that he initially helped fight the fire, but he was quickly overwhelmed with the urge to go down the hill from the scene of the fire to his family and collapsed in their arms, having just moments before imagined the worst case scenario of them not escaping. Once the second and third units arrived on the scene he went to them.

"My fiancée is the real hero out of the whole situation," Chapman said. "She got our kids out, not only them but our son's friend and the dog."

Capt. Derek Klink rescued the family cat. The sight of Klink and Capt. Augustine Syrový emerging from the blazing and smoking wreckage with their cat is a sight that Chapman says he will never forget.

Fire Chief Jim Payeur who relieved Chapman of his duties at the scene, said that he couldn't imagine being in that situation himself.

Payeur also echoed Chapman's thanks to the community for their shows of support for one of the city's finest public servants.

"The community has been really good to them," Payeur said. "They've put him up him and his family up in a hotel room, donated food and have been there for them."

Last week, Payeur organized a small internal fundraiser within the department to provide additional financial support to the Chapman family.

Chapman said that he liked to think that firefighters are compassionate and thoughtful before this incident, but he has realized that there's more than firefighters and others can do to ease the hardship that families faced with such circumstances are dealing with.

celebrated for music's sake. The morning also included a musical performance by the increasingly popular Chelsea Children's Choir, directed by Sarah Price and accompanied on the piano by Lisa Hinz-Johnson.

Mayor Jason Lindauer addressed the impact of arts on the economy. He said that an emphasis on the arts and good schools is a drawing card for businesses and will help the community to compete with every other city in the United States. Fees for classes and lessons only generate half of the income that the CCA needs, so donations are critical for funding programs. According to Lindauer, feasibility studies show that for every dollar invested in the arts, $6 to $8 is returned to the taxpayers. "When you make a donation, your investment is not only in the CCA, but in the city of Chelsea," Lindauer said.

take part in a 5K and also show their support for a foundation dedicated to an adolescent who lost her life as a result of sudden cardiac arrest.

Kayla's Team 5K run/walk was held May 7 at the Ypsilanti High School cross-country track, where Kayla Stanford would have been a senior in high school this year.

Stanford died in 2006 of sudden cardiac arrest after finishing track practice. She was in the seventh grade.

"The race was awesome," said Kelly Stanford, Kayla's mother, who formed the KAYLA Foundation, Keeping Alive: Youth Living Actively. "The weather was beautiful. Everything just fell into place. It was very successful."

Dominic Muessig of Clinton took home the title after finishing with a time of 19:00.

The event drew about 130 people and generated enough proceeds to purchase two automatic external defibrillators. As a result of its success, she is planning another event for next year.

Stanford said she is working with the Kimberly Anne Gillary Foundation to find schools that need an AED, which range between $900 and $1,500.

The foundation is dedicated to Kimberly Anne Gillary of Troy, who died in 2000 after suffering cardiac arrest while playing water polo for Troy Athens High School.

Its mission is to make sure that every Michigan High School is equipped with an AED and with teachers who know how to use the device and administer CPR. In addition, the group also advocates cardiac screening and testing for all high school athletes.

Stanford said her daughter didn't have any warning signs or family history of heart disease, but was born with a heart defect that was never detected.

Kayla was on the track team, played volleyball and basketball, where she was the center, at times playing the entire game, which requires a large amount of endurance.

According to the Michigan Department of Community Health, 300 children and young adults under age 40 die each year of sudden cardiac death.

In March, the death of Wes Leonard of Fennville made national news when he died from sudden cardiac arrest after leading his high school basketball team to a championship.

There is no known cause of sudden cardiac death, but there are tests available that can detect defects.

According to the Kayla Foundation website, sudden cardiac arrest warning signs include fainting, near fainting or seizure during exercise or immediately after exercise; consistent or unusual chest pain and/or shortness of breath during exercise; excessive, unexpected and unexplained fatigue associated with exercise; family history of unexpected, unexplained sudden death in a young person and unexplained heart murmur or high blood pressure.

In addition to organizing the 5K, Stanford also takes part in numerous organizations to help educate the public about sudden cardiac arrest.

Stanford is the Michigan representative for Parent Heart Watch. She also exhibits at health fairs throughout Southeast Michigan and has worked

Miles ahead: Local resident to be inducted into Michigan Aviation Hall of Fame

By Crystal Hayduk

Jim Mynning stands with David Scott in a 1933 photo. Mynning mentored David Scott as part of the first Experimental Aircraft Association Young Eagles program.

Chelsea resident Capt. Jim Mynning was enthralled as a child watching the airplanes flying over his home - so much so that he hitchhiked to the Ann Arbor airport when he was 9 years old.

There, his aviation career began.

Pilot Roy Rice hired the young Mynning on the spot at the airport to hawk rides in his 1929 Stinson SM-8A.

"The plane held four passengers, in addition to the pilot, and Roy would let me ride whenever there was an empty seat," Mynning said.

Now known as an air show legend and member of the International Council of Air Shows Hall of Fame, Mynning will be inducted May 21 into the Michigan Aviation Hall of Fame at the Air Zoo in Portage.

Mynning later purchased that very Stinson, owned by Rice, as a derelict in 1952. Known as "Ole Blue," the Stinson can be seen flying Michigan skies on a summer day.

When Mynning was a bit older, he worked at the airport in exchange for flying lessons. He soloed at age 14, earned his private pilot's license at age 17 and garnered his commercial and instrument rating at 18.

Mynning began the air show circuit at age 19. He was an air show barnstormer of the classic variety, performing as many as five acts in a single show, including comedy acts, car-to-plane transfers, and car-top landings.

"We call those cars 'the world's smallest aircraft carriers,'" Mynning said.

Mynning has more speedboat-to-plane transfers than any other living pilot. More recently, he served as chairman of air show operations at Experimental Aircraft Association Air Venture, the world's largest air show, for more than 15 years.

In addition to his accomplishments in the air show community, Mynning has owned or co-owned three different Michigan airports.

He is an aircraft builder and restoration specialist and is actively employed by aviation insurance companies to retrieve, transport, and store damaged aircraft. Mynning has built or rebuilt 17 planes. The highlight of Mynning's career as a commercial pilot was being selected from more than 4,500 pilots as United Airlines' Pilot of the Year in 1974 for safely landing a 737 with a dangling engine without injuries to passengers or crew.

He flew 12 different types of commercial airplanes in his years with United. Mynning said that he most enjoyed flying the DC-10.

Mynning said the aviation community is very supportive.

"It's great to be doing something you love," he said. "There are few jobs where people bend over backwards to help you."

According to its website, the Michigan Aviation Hall of Fame was established in 1987 "to recognize men and women who have made significant contributions to aviation."

For more information about the Michigan Aviation Hall of Fame, visit www.airzoo.org. To reserve a seat at the ceremony call 1-269-350-2813.

Chelsea painters to hold fair, honor artist

By Sheila Pursglove
Special Writer

The Chelsea Painters will hold the 38th annual Art Fair from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. June 4 and 5 on the campus of Chelsea Community Hospital, 775 S. Main St., in Chelsea. The show has a new location just outside the main hospital entrance.

Twenty-five award-winning artists will display and sell original fine art and cards in a variety of media, including watercolor, acrylic, oil, pastel, gouache, encaustic, monotype and mixed media.

The event is free, open to the public, and wheelchair accessible.

The Chelsea Center for the Arts will offer free hands-on art activities for children.

The Chelsea Painters will donate a percentage of proceeds to the CCA, and to the Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary Scholarship Fund.

"I'm excited," said acrylic artist Barb Anderson. "It's an event I look forward to participating in each year. "It challenges me to create new work with a specific purpose and, also, I look forward to seeing people I only see at the fair."

An Ann Arbor resident for more than two decades, Anderson has advanced degrees in special education and derives inspiration from her work with people who view the world differently from the norm. A transplant from Pittsburgh, she also has been influenced by the hills, valleys and old houses perched on hills in her native Keystone State.

An art teacher at the Turner Senior Resource Center in Ann Arbor, Anderson has been painting for about 15 years.

Her work has been exhibited at the University of Michigan, Taubman Center, Washtenaw Council for the Arts, Ann Arbor District Library, Washtenaw Community College, University of Michigan North Campus, Matthaei Botanical Gardens, Michigan League, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor Women's City Club, Gallery 55+ and Kerrytown Music Hall, among other venues.

Remembering Jane Farrell

This year's art fair excitement is tempered with sadness. Longtime Chelsea Painters member Jane Farrell died April 20 while recovering from surgery. The group will pay tribute to her with an exhibit at the fair.

Farrell, who joined the Chelsea Painters in 1991 and served as president from 1996 to 1999, got her passion for art at the age of 5 after winning a coloring contest sponsored by the late Walter and Helen Leonard at The Chelsea Standard.

A respiratory therapist at the now-defunct Beyer Hospital in Ypsilanti, Farrell enjoyed creating art, particularly vibrant monotypes, often of tulips, her favorite flowers.

Despite health problems in recent years, she continued creating and exhibiting her art with the Chelsea Painters. One of her monotypes, "Reclining Figure," is part of the Chelsea Painters exhibit "The Sum of our Parts" at the Ella Sharp Museum in Jackson, running through June 25. Her work has been exhibited across the state.

"My first encounter with Jane was 12 years ago at a Jackson Civic Arts meeting, where she gave a demonstration in monotype," said Chelsea artist Toni Stevenson. "I was enchanted by her infectious laughter and smile as she painted pears and other fruit in bold colors on a Plexiglas plate then pressed paper on top to reveal a beautiful reversed painting. She was moving fast and these wonderful images appeared magically one after another."

"Later, when I became a member of the Chelsea Painters, I admired her talent for design and color, and the happiness of the flowers she painted."

Manchester artist Sandy

Knapp was a close friend of Farrell.

"Jane was the kindest person on the planet," Knapp said. "She was my dear friend who had a child-like wonder of the world around her. She was fun and we explored many artistic endeavors together."

"I'll miss her tremendously. Her inner child was alive and well, inviting those around to come, play and enjoy life and learning in a safe and whimsical way."

Farrell's work is included in the group's first book, "Chelsea Painters, Celebrating Their Art," which will be for sale at the fair. The hardcover book features four paintings per artist, mostly one painting per page, a brief history of the group and a biography of each participating artist.

Mom Prom to raise money for Chelsea MOPS

By Sheila Pursglove
Special Writer

Shoppers at the Chelsea Farmers' Market on Saturday may have been puzzled to see a woman in a prom dress waving tickets.

The lady in the fancy attire was Denise Cugliari, a member of Chelsea Mother of Preschoolers. She was promoting the group's upcoming Mom Prom to be held 8 p.m. to midnight June 4 at the Chelsea Comfort Inn Village Conference Center, 1645 Commerce Park Drive, in Chelsea.

"Women from across Washtenaw County will enjoy dancing, non-spiked 'prom punch,' a cash bar, a prom backdrop for pictures (bring your own camera), crowning of the Mom Prom Queen, Tackiest Dress Contest and a 10:30 p.m. desert buffet.

"Ladies do not need to be moms to attend, only women looking to have a fun night out for a cause," Cugliari said. "Pull out your old prom dress, bridesmaid dress, wedding dress, thrift store find or any old dress and join us."

The Mom Prom fundraiser idea was launched in 2006 at St. Thomas A Becket Catholic Church in Canton, as a fun way to raise money for charities or causes. The event was the brainchild of Betsy Crapps, who has since been interviewed several times in the national media.

"The story of Mom Proms is a great one in general, but we're very excited to be trying it in Chelsea," Cugliari said. "This event is open to all women in the area."

Money raised will provide child care and activities for children in the Chelsea MOPS program and a scholarship fund for moms.

MOPS members meet 9 to 11 a.m. alternate Fridays September through May at Chelsea First United Methodist Church for breakfast, speakers, discussion, crafts, and activities while their children enjoy stories, crafts and play time with trained caregivers. The international, interdenominational Christian group, catering to all women regardless of religion, also schedules summer play dates and field trips. The group, which draws women from across the area, held an Education Expo in Chelsea in February.

"I love the idea of a Mom Prom," said Karen Dec of Dexter, owner of the website business Brightgirl Designs, a part-time teacher in the Internet Professional program at Washtenaw Community College, and a member of Keystone Community Church in Saline.

"For moms with young children, it's really important to be able to get out of the house once in awhile and enjoy the company of friends," she said. "Our MOPS meetings also allows us to do that every other week, so the Mom Prom is supporting a great cause by raising money for the organization."

Tickets are $20 in advance and, if available, $30 at the door, and are available at Chelsea First United Methodist Church, 128 Park St. in Chelsea, or by emailing chelsea.mops@yahoo.com. Payment is by cash or check payable to CFUMC.

The upcoming Mom Prom, an event where women across Washtenaw County can enjoy dancing, non-spiked 'prom punch,' a cash bar and other activities, will be from 8 p.m. to midnight June 4 at the Chelsea Comfort Inn Village Conference Center. The Mom Prom is open to all women, not just mothers.

Alumni band to perform

By Sheila Pursglove
Special Writer

The University of Michigan Band Alumni Association Concert Band will perform in a free concert, "Songs & Dances," 1 p.m. June 12, at Huron High School, 2727 Fuller Road, in Ann Arbor.

The music includes "His Honor," by Henry Fillmore; "Summer Dances," by Brian Balmages; "Four Shaker Songs," by Frank Ticheli; "Anthithigram," by Jack Stamp; "Psalm for Band," by Vincent Persichetti; "Courtly Airs and Dances," by Ron Nelson; "Symphonic Dances" from "Fiddler on the Roof," by Jerry Bock, arranged by Ira Hearshen; and - of course for a Wolverine band - that staple of U of M football Saturdays,

"The Victors," written in 1898 by Louis Elbel to celebrate a U of M win over the University of Chicago.

The band will be conducted by Langston Hemenway, who is currently touring in China, and by guest conductor Glenn Bengry.

Ann Arbor resident Jim Kozich, who plays French horn, is the newest band member and has been with the band for a year.

"I enjoy playing with fellow U of M alumni and continuing to be a part of the musical tradition of the University of Michigan," he said.

Kozich, a native of Troy, has played horn since fourth grade. In high school, he was a member of three youth orchestras in the Detroit metro area, and played in his high school band. He spent five seasons in the Michigan Marching Band and also played with the hockey band.

Randy Safford plays tuba, and this will be his fourth concert with the band.

The son of a professional musician, Safford started playing trumpet in fourth grade, horn in seventh grade and switched to tuba in eighth grade.

"I've been playing consistently since the mid '70s," he said. "I finally found a band to play in with musicians who care a lot about how they play and how the ensemble sounds, but it doesn't require as much time, effort and commitment as other groups I've been involved with."

OUR TAKE: Editorial

Many teens are upset with new license rules

Teen drivers are facing a new list of restrictions and, as might be expected, many are not happy about it.

In fact, some parents have weighed in on them, mentioning some drawbacks. But most people, whether the young drivers, parents or law enforcement, probably should feel pretty good about the new limitations.

They are meant to improve driver safety, and hopefully they will.

The new state law affects drivers who have a Level 2 Intermediate License under the Graduated Driver Licensing program.

These drivers are usually teens.

The basic requirements include having a Level 1 Learner's License for at least six months; being at least 16 years old; they must meet vision, as well as physical and mental standards set by the Secretary of State; pass a driving skills test; have no convictions or civil infractions, license suspensions or at-fault crashes for the 90-day period immediately prior to applying for a Level 2 license; and have a parent, legal guardian, or responsible adult sign the application to certify the 50 hours behind-the-wheel experience.

Previously, once young drivers earned the Level 2 license, this essentially gave them a free hand in operating a motor vehicle.

However, the new restrictions include prohibiting Level 2 license holders from having more than one passenger under 21 years old unless the individual is a member of the driver's immediate family, or if the driver is traveling to or from school or a school-sanctioned event.

In addition, Level 2 license holders may not drive between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. unless traveling to or from employment, or accompanied by a parent, legal guardian or licensed driver over 21 years old designated by a parent or legal guardian.

When you throw in the employment exceptions, these new regulations really are quite reasonable. Many young, hard-working people have jobs that might see them driving after 10 p.m., and it would be a shame to penalize them for their industriousness.

But if all they want is to be out having fun, they can do that more safely at home. Of course, as with anything, there are drawbacks. Some Level 2 drivers have correctly noted the enforcement problems.

We realize law officers have higher priorities than enforcing these new restrictions, but if they are on the books and the young people are stopped for another reason, then enforcement becomes a moot issue.

More importantly, most people observe laws, not because they are being constantly watched by police, but because they are concerned about possibly getting caught or because it is just doing the right thing.

If a teen was to break the rules and chance getting caught, it's his roll of the dice and eventually he will lose.

Also, Oakland County Sheriff Mike Bouchard has said some of the restrictions become challenging for law enforcement and parents.

He said he would like some of these decisions in parents' hands.

It's a good idea and changes might still come. But the law, overall, appears to be reasonable. Young people, unfortunately, as a group get involved in more traffic accidents than adults.

The bottom line is that the new rules help improve highway safety.

Free capital info is tough to find

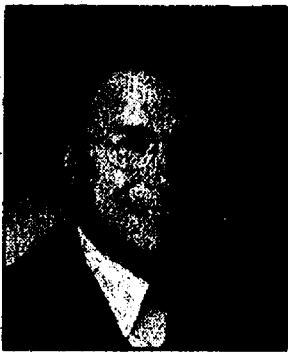

Change is in the air as Gov. Rick Snyder is on a whirlwind march to reinvent Michigan.

Perhaps as never before, what is happening at our state capital is and will continue to impact all Michigan residents. Some would argue that "Pure Michigan" is becoming "Pureed Michigan" with these proposed changes:

- A $2 billion dollar tax break for businesses.
 - Taxing retiree pensions.
 - Reduction in school and university funding.
 - Demanding greater accountability and results.
 - Not to mention starting a gunfight with Clint Eastwood, Jeff Daniels and Mitch Albom by suggesting ending the film subsidies for the state — oh, my!
- Mainstream media covering of state government has been virtually eviscerated over the years. Once plum

Lansing bureau reporting assignments to capture "what was up" before the ink was dry on legislative bills have now withered. Today, the TV bureaus are gone and the state newspapers maintain skeleton crews — still competent, but spread very thin.

There are excellent daily newsletters like Michigan Information & Research Service and Gongwers for

Where can someone who wants keen insider analysis of what is transpiring in the place people refer to as "a few square miles surrounded by reality" get it? Where can you find a pol-

Dome, an online magazine, is unique in its content, quality and audience — an "e-magazine" with a decidedly niche audience of "movers and shakers."

Opinion leaders and decision makers have embraced Dome, making it a must-read among Michigan's political, public policy, business communities and others who want a better understanding of what's going on in Lansing — and why.

"THE MAJORITY OF THOSE POLLED WANTS DONALD TRUMP TO RUN FOR PRESIDENT... BUT THAT'S AMONG POLITICAL CARTOONISTS AND SATIRISTS."

Your Voice: Letters to the Editor

What kind of country do we want to be?

On April 25, the Washtenaw County Republican Party hosted the U.S. House of Representatives Majority Leader Eric Cantor to the annual Lincoln Day Dinner.

Cantor discussed a variety of issues to clarify the nature of a so-called "political battle."

In contrast to many politicians who present themselves by blaming the alternative party, Cantor presented his audience with a very simple choice: "Do you want to be a country where the people work for the government?" Or, "Do you want to be a country where the government works for the people?"

Cantor's comments will be broadcast on Ann Arbor Community Access Television Network in a few weeks.

Cantor raised the issue of the difference between European socialist protests and our nation's recent social movements.

He claims that recent American movements — presumably Tea Party rallies — have been demanding less from the government.

But this does not account for public-sector unionized labor movements obviously intended to create more government benefits albeit only for government workers.

Obviously, the people, the tax-payers, and small, medium and large businesses do not get collective bargaining rights, so why should government employees get them? Why not treat everybody equally?

Cantor rejected European-style government on the grounds that the elements that make America great are "free enterprise," "free markets," "manufacturing" and "job creation" — not a bigger government.

Our nation's federal, state and local government spending has hit a record high of $6.16 trillion, a record federal debt, and a (has reached a) record number of government employees at 2.15 million.

He coined the term "cut and grow" as a strategy by which our nation's economic challenges will be resolved.

Studies indicate the "cost" of government regulations and bureaucracy on small business amounts to $1.75 trillion dollars per year — more than the nation's annual spending deficit.

First, change the spending culture in Washington by way of the 2011 budget battle. Now the fact is that the resulting budget is $70 billion less than that proposed by the president.

Second, pass a budget that cuts spending, including entitlements. "Anyone who tells you that these programs can continue to do things without a change... isn't telling you the truth."

In addition, "we've got to protect today's seniors and they will not see changes in their benefits."

Third, act on the federal debt limit vote. Some claim the nation will default on obligations. But the fact is that our nation's president will merely have to choose whether to pay obligations on the nation's debt or pay social benefits or lay off federal workers.

Cantor concluded by offering suggestions for economic growth, compromise, and unity: "Stop the war on small business."

Allow our nation and her people to develop all energy sources right here at home.

Revise the tax code. It is nearly the most non-competitive tax code for any multinational corporation.

Everybody in America should pay their fair share of taxes.

Rotary Club thanks those who made recent food drive a success

The Rotary Club of Ann Arbor would like to express its gratitude to the community and over 90 area businesses, organizations and schools who joined forces to help fight local hunger during the seventh annual Rotate Your Food Canned Food Drive held March 15 through 27.

The Rotary Club of Ann Arbor joined forces with Rotary Clubs in Dexter, Saline and Ypsilanti to collect much-needed food for our local food rescue/food bank program, Food Gatherers.

The food collected will be distributed by Food Gatherers to the more than 160 non-profit food assistance programs throughout Washtenaw County that benefit from their tireless work. These programs are on the front lines of battling hunger every day in our community.

Rotary is very grateful for the outpouring of generosity from the community. As a result, we surpassed our goal by collecting 27,200 pounds of food — a 70 percent increase over last year's collection.

This translates into more than 17,000 meals for our neighbors in need throughout our county.

Special thanks go to our top three gatherers this year: ProQuest, Ann Arbor Public Schools and Michigan Commerce Bank.

As a testament to the need, Food Gatherers distributes 8 tons of food a day. Approximately 6,900 people receive emergency food assistance each week in our county — a 73-percent increase in people served since 2006.

With the community's support, Rotary continues to pursue its motto of "Service Above Self."

We appreciate everyone who contributed time, space, funds and food to make the drive a success for those individuals and families experiencing hunger in our own communities.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Chelsea Recreation made poor decision

Michelle Mitchell and Jeremy Hodges will no longer be employed by the Chelsea Recreation and it will never be the same.

I would think this decision should be made by the community as a whole, not a board of 10 people. There are many sponsors in this town and I believe they should also have a say.

I think the decision that has been made will attribute to the failure of Chelsea recreational sports. If these people are trying to look out for "what is best for Chelsea Recreation," then they are poorly mistaken and ill informed. Michelle and Jeremy are the best for Chelsea Recreation. They have brought many programs that would have never existed. For example: Camp CABOGLI, Iddy biddy sports, on-field coaching and other wonderful activities for the community.

It is absolutely unbelievable to me that a person can put so much heart and passion into something and be treated like they are completely disposable. As a community we know that is not true, and something needs to change. It should not be up to a volunteer board to decide the fate of Michelle and Jeremy nor the fate of the future of the rec. Please send as many letters as you can to let people know how important this issue is to you.

Girl Scouts honors 4 local volunteers

Girl Scouts Heart of Michigan recently recognized four women from Chelsea and Dexter for their dedication to Girl Scouting. These Girl Scout volunteers were honored at the Ann Arbor Regional Volunteer Recognition Ceremony, held May 5 at Grace Bible Church in Ann Arbor.

Michelle Hoxie of Dexter received the Honor Pin from Girl Scouts of the USA. Liza Gray of Chelsea was honored as an Outstanding Leader, as was Diane Singer of Dexter. Sheila Wortmann was honored as an Outstanding Volunteer. She is from Dexter as well.

Hoxie brings her experience with Girl Scouting in the military to her volunteer position as Dexter's area manager. As a troop leader and troop organizer, she coordinates Thinking Day, Halloween Hop and the parish breakfast and mass for Girl Scout Birthday. Hoxie also organizes many service projects and plays a major role in Girl Scout round-ups.

In the past eight years as troop leader, Gray has reorganized the food drives for Faith In Action, coordinating quarterly collections to ensure that donated items are always usable. She also coordinates the annual luminaria lighting during Chelsea's Hometown Holiday weekend, organizes Girl Scout cookie booths and serves as the liaison between the Girl Scouts and her church, where many area and troop events take place.

Years ago, Singer and her troop set their goal: every member of the troop would earn the Girl Scout Gold Award, the highest award offered to girls in Girl Scouting. Six of the 10 girls have received the Gold Award and the other four will complete the requirements this summer.

Wortmann has given 10 years of service to Troop No. 40580 in Dexter as treasurer and now product sales manager.

Wortmann advises the girls on how to budget and plan for their activities.

Artist featured at antiques mall

By Crystal Hayduk
Special Writer

Rarely is the road to fulfilling one's dream smooth and straight, but in Libby Price's case, the road was difficult to find, bumpy and even had a lengthy detour.

Price said that a number of family members were artists, but for some reason, she studied ballet as she was growing up.

She majored in French in college but then switched to an art major and has always been glad she did.

"I studied visual arts, so I did some of everything," she said. "My professor at Albion College said I had a technique all my own."

Price taught pottery for a year but married and then had four children. Caring for her family became Price's priority, so she put her art to simmer on the back burner.

"When my son was 8, he was hit by a car when he was riding his bike on Ivey Road," Price said.

Her son did survive the accident, but required special care for a very long time.

"I just didn't have it in me to paint after that," she said.

In Price's mind, she turned the back burner off.

A friend knew that painting would refresh Price's spirit and bring joy back to her life.

"My friend prayed for 10 years for me to get back into it," she said.

Then Price bumped into Jim Ross at the store when he was picking up some beautiful photographs, and he encouraged her to get back into painting.

She's been painting again for the last 10 years and has even added watercolor to her repertoire.

"I never would have thought I would paint in watercolor," Price said. "You can't erase it if you make a mistake."

Price's work is on display in various locations around Chelsea, including several pieces at the Chelsea Antiques Mall at 1178 South M-52 as May's artist of the month.

One of the paintings at the mall is of Lake Superior Provincial Park, a place Price calls "one magnificent area of God's creation."

Price would have loved to travel around the world and see things for herself, but she happily accepts photos from others who have been to places that she has not. She has done paintings based on photos taken in India, Peru and Thailand.

Price describes her style as whimsical, and notes that she loves bright colors.

"I paint from my heart, so sometimes what I see and what others see is different."

Greenleaf said that he hopes his mall will help to promote Chelsea as a destination.

An added feature at the mall is the "artist of the month wall." Chelsea artist Sue Craig is in charge of the effort to keep the wall decorated.

"Ed said that he had a big white wall that was empty, and he wanted art work there," Craig said.

Every month a different Chelsea artist's work goes on display, transitioning around the first of the month. Art displayed is also for sale.

Heritage Media to host live chat online

It seems like this type of column could be written every month.

At Heritage Media, we have some exciting things happening in the multimedia realm.

The first big item next week is an opportunity to get involved with a major issue facing Washtenaw County -- the proposed $465 million mass transit system being presented in several communities this month.

At noon May 25 at www.heritage.com, we will host a live chat with three members of the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority as CEO Michael Ford, Project Director Michael Benham and Community Relations

INSIDE THE NEWSROOM

DAVE VESELENAK

Manager Mary Stasiak join us for a live chat.

This chat, similar to ones we've done previously using a program called CoverItLive, will give residents the opportunity to ask questions about the routes, funding and other services the proposed plan will have.

All you need to have is a computer or smartphone with Internet access.

Click on www.heritage.com, and click on the story that will be on our homepage.

From there, all you'll need to do is start asking questions.

We're always looking for new subjects to schedule chats about, so if you have an idea, or know of someone worthy of chatting with the community for an hour of their day, send me an email at dveselenak@heritage.com as I'd love to hear about them.

Also new to our technology repertoire are our SMS headlines. We'll send you breaking news during the day in the form of a text, and there's no link, so no smartphone is needed.

Just text "HERNews" to 22700, and you'll be signed up.

It's a great way to stay up to date with news, weather and accident updates when you're away from your computer.

While videos have been part of the Heritage scene for a while, we're ramping our efforts to bring more and higher-quality videos directly to you.

We'll even share some of our favorites from around the metro-Detroit area, and some of the fascinating ones from other places.

And if you haven't checked out either of our podcast series, be sure to soon.

Managing Editor Michelle Roger's constructed a walking tour of historical places in Saline, complete with maps and audio interviews about each place.

We're looking to do this type of project in each of our communities.

The other podcast series focuses on senior citizens, those who have seen more than most of us, including me.

Be sure to listen to some of the area's senior citizens' stories, some of them have quite the tale, from a 100-year-old former pastor to a woman who escaped from Germany during World War II.

Is there anything else we can do to provide a better online news experience?

We're always looking for improved ways to try new things online.

If there's something we can do better or different, feel free to send me an email at dveselenak@heritage.com.

Volunteers raise money for Multiple Sclerosis Society

300 show up on May 7 to battle the disease

By Sarah Rigg
Special Writer

The Ann Arbor Walk MS 2011 May 7 attracted about 300 participants, and while total donations have not been tallied yet, organizers say they believe the goal set for this year will be reached.

"We know we had about 300 people there," said Patti Radzik, director of leadership events for the National Multiple Sclerosis Society's Michigan Chapter.

Radzik said some participants would continue to take in donations online after the event, so the amount raised was not determined yet.

"We're still tallying what was turned in, but it's probably safe to say we'll raise the $120,000 that we said was our goal," she said. "We're on our way to hitting that target."

Last year, Walk-MS Ann Arbor attracted more than 350 walkers and volunteers and raised more than $72,000.

This year, walkers, organizers and volunteers gathered at Pioneer High School in Ann Arbor on the day of the walk, with opening ceremonies at 9:45 a.m. and the three-mile walk commencing at 10 a.m. Walkers raise funds for the MS Society by soliciting donations from friends, family and businesses who act as sponsors for the walk.

Funds raised are used for cutting-edge research, advocacy, facilitation of professional education and programs and services to help people with multiple sclerosis. In Michigan alone, it's estimated that 18,000 people are living with it.

Multiple sclerosis is a disease of the central nervous system. The disease disrupts the flow of information between the brain and body, eventually making movement difficult for sufferers.

Radzik said the Ann Arbor MS Walk is just one of 14 walks the Michigan chapter organizes throughout the year.

"The bulk of the walks are in May," she said, "but there's another walk in June and more in September."

Anyone interested in signing up for a future walk can visit <http://www.walkMSmi.org>.

To see photos of the 2011 walk and MS walks from previous years, visit the Walk MS Michigan Facebook page: <http://www.facebook.com/walkMSmi>.

Growing evidence suggests that long-term exposure to UV rays can lead to macular degeneration and cataracts, serious eye conditions that can cause vision impairment or loss.

Use Your Sun Sense
You can enjoy the sun and still protect your eyes from damage if you take a few basic precautions:

- If at all possible, limit your time in the sun
- Wear a wide-brimmed hat
- Wear sunglasses that filter 99% of UV rays

Protect Your Children, Too!
Studies show that children receive up to 80% of their exposure to damaging UV rays by age 18. To keep them safe, follow the same precautions as you would for an adult, but be sure to choose sunglasses that fit their smaller faces, have impact-resistant lenses with quality frames, and have lenses large enough to shield the entire eye.

Stop In Before You Head Out
Our office can help you have your day in the sun and do it safely. We offer quality sunglasses - both prescription and non-prescription - that meet the highest standards for sun protection. And we offer them in styles to suit everyone, from infants through adults. Call us for an appointment today.

Ford fuel-economy overachievers

Four cars that deliver with 30 mpg or better

By Russ Heaps
Journal Register News Service

Ford makes attaining good fuel economy look easy with four gasoline-fueled models that get at least 30 mpg on the highway. These fuel-efficient overachievers manage to deliver better-than-average fuel economy while providing passenger comfort and safety. Their sizes vary from compact to midsize; so regardless of your car needs, Ford pretty much has you covered.

Fuel economy numbers are EPA estimates.

2011 Ford Fiesta

30 mpg city/40 mpg highway

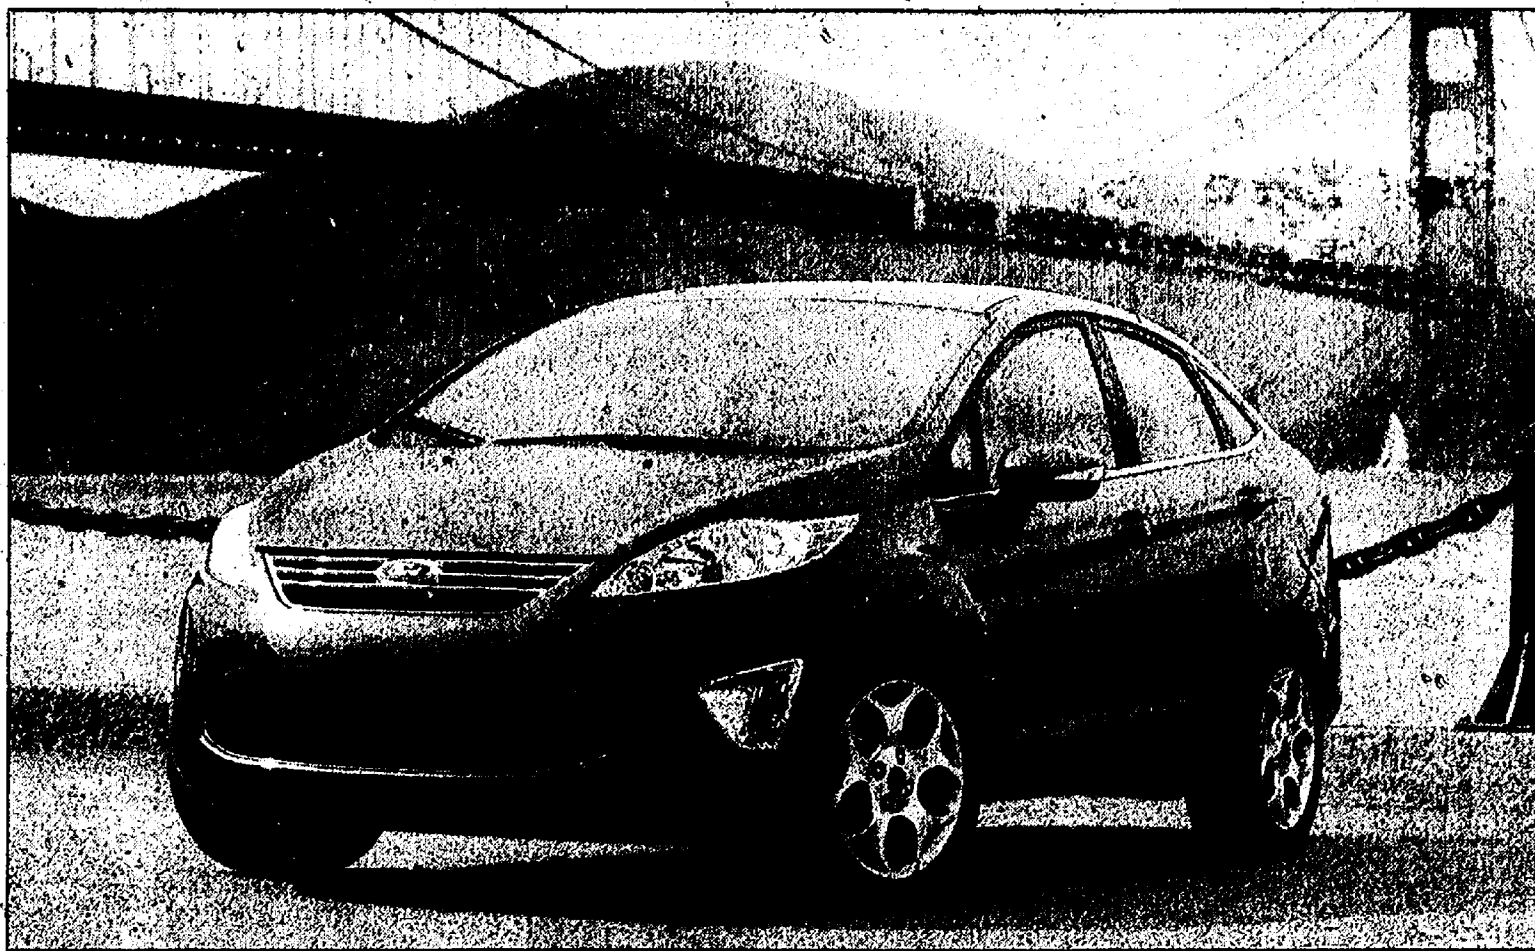

Available as a five-door hatchback or a less-expensive sedan, Fiesta is the smallest of entries on this list. Prices begin at $15,795 for the Fiesta Hatch SE and $13,995 for the S sedan.

The fuel economy numbers listed are for versions with the $1,095 optional six-speed automatic transmission. Sticking with the five-speed manual scrubs off 1 mpg in the city and 2 mpg on the highway.

Every Fiesta uses a peppy 120-hp, 1.6-liter four-cylinder engine to rotate the front wheels. Although it doesn't sound like much, this is enough get-up-and-go to put a little fun in the drive.

Although you won't be bragging to your friends about all the interior space, the Fiesta provides plenty of front-seat room. The 60/40 split-folding rear seat folds down to increase cargo space from 15.4 cubic feet to 26 cubic feet.

Standard features include air conditioning, tilt-and-telescoping steering wheel, power outboard mirrors and a four-speaker audio system with USB port.

The 2011 Ford Fiesta SKV

2012 Ford Focus

28 mpg city/40 mpg highway

Ford totally redesigned its Focus for 2012.

Available as either a five-door hatchback or sedan, Focus packs a 160-hp, 2-liter four-cylinder engine under its hood. Escorting engine output to the front wheels is a five-speed manual in the S and SE trim levels; while a six-speed, driver-shiftable automatic does the work in the SEL and Titanium trims.

Surprisingly athletic and fun to drive, the new Focus delivers spirited acceleration and better-than-expected ride quality.

The entry-level S sedan is priced at $16,270. Anchoring the hatchback is the SEL at $18,790.

Although you must step up to the Titanium trim to get all the technology bells and whistles standard, they include Sync, MyFord Touch and Wi-Fi capability.

Successive trim levels build on the S with air conditioning, six airbags, power front windows, door locks and out board mirrors, tilt-and-telescoping steering wheel and a four-speaker audio system with CD player and auxiliary input jack.

2011 Ford Fusion

23 mpg city/33 mpg highway

With four trim levels, the 2011 Ford Fusion appeals to a wide range of tastes and budgets. Filling the role of midsize sedan in Ford's lineup, it battles with an A-list of competitors, such as the Honda Accord, Toyota Camry, Chevrolet Malibu and Nissan Altima. It is more than up to the task.

Pricing begins at $20,580 for the S, and escalates to $29,570 for the Sport.

As pricing indicates, all Fusions aren't created equal. The best fuel economy as posted above requires the 175-hp, 2.5-liter four-cylinder engine mated with the $895 optional six-speed, driver-shiftable automatic transmission. This combination is not available on the Sport trim level with its standard 240-hp, 3-liter V6 and six-speed automatic.

Driving dynamics are as good as just about any competitor's with drama-free cornering and spot-on steering. Carefully assembled and nicely appointed, the cabin features a roomy front seat and decent space for rear-seat passengers.

Every Fusion includes air conditioning, full power accessories, tilt-and-telescoping steering wheel, full power accessories, cruise control, trip computer, 60/40-split rear seat; remote keyless entry, and a four-speaker audio system with CD player and auxiliary input jack.

2012 Ford Mustang

19 mpg city/31 mpg highway

Not every 2011 Ford

Mustang delivers the kind of fuel efficiency the above EPA estimates promise.

The best fuel economy comes from the six-cylinder versions with the 305-hp, 3.7-liter V6 and $1,195 optional six-speed, driver-shiftable automatic transmission.

At $22,995, the entry-level Mustang V6 Coupe comes standard with a five-speed manual tranny. For an additional $4,000, you can step up to the V6 Premium. At $27,145, the V6 Convertible also posts solid fuel-economy numbers at 19 mpg in the city and 30 mpg on the highway. Even in its V6 guise, the Mustang is a force to be reckoned with. Quick and agile, it's a blast to drive.

Comfortable and fairly well appointed, the V6 interior features full power accessories, tilt steering wheel, cruise control, remote keyless entry, and a four-speaker audio system with CD player and auxiliary input jack.

Stepping up to the V6 Premium adds leather seating, color-adjustable gauges, power-adjustable driver's seat, Ford's Sync system, and an upgraded audio system with eight speakers and iPod interface.

Top American Hybrids fill their own niches

By David Schmidt
Journal Register News Service

When it comes to American hybrids, the alternative-powered vehicles tend to fit special niches.

There are no American-produced hybrids that compete yet with the Japanese. American manufacturers have concentrated on using hybrid powertrains to improve the efficiency of larger vehicles. Since those are the kinds of vehicles that American manufacturers sell the most of, that makes sense.

If the idea of a hybrid engine is to save fuel and reduce emissions, then using electric-assisted power in a larger vehicle also makes sense. So now you see hybrid V8 engines as well as the small powerplants found in compact and sub-compact hybrids.

But you're also finding hybrid powerplants working their way into automobile racing.

While it'll be some time until you see hybrid-powered NASCAR racing, American sports car racing has already seen in it a demonstration mode, and it'll race shortly.

There are also benefits to making racing cars more environmentally sound and as efficient as possible. Teams earn recognition for winning the "green" race in some racing classifications.

All this will help to improve the science of alternative power for passenger vehicles. But already there's a spread into less conventional areas. Some of the choices are cars, but there are both small and larger sports utes in the mix.

Here's a look at some of the more popular and most efficient.

The 2012 Chevrolet Volt has tickled the fancy of the nation. Unlike most hybrids, the power that goes to the wheels in the Volt is always driven by electricity.

When the battery has the power, the rating of the car is a "computed" 95 mpg in the city and 90 on the highway. When the engine kicks in to generate the necessary electricity, then the rating falls to an average of 35 mpg in the city and 40 on the highway.

The 2011 Ford Fusion Hybrid is a four-door mid-sized sedan that gets an average of 39 mpg. Its sisters, the Mercury Milan Hybrid and Lincoln Mkz Hybrid, have the same rating. Then there's the 2011 Ford Escape Hybrid. This is the most successful of the American hybrids, having been Green Car of the Year. It's also been around for a while. Its fuel rating is 32 mpg. But American alternative powered vehicles include some big ones. The 2011 Cadillac Escalade Hybrid not only takes you through your world in luxury, but does so with a rating of 21 mpg. The two-wheel drive 2011 Chevrolet Tahoe Hybrid and GMC Yukon Hybrid also earned a 21-mpg rating. American car manufacturers are coming out of the economic slump with a clear understanding that customers want more efficient vehicles. So they'll try to fill that need across the board, not just in the cars that by physical principles already get the best mileage.

Chevrolet Tahoe Hybrid

the $1.2 million," Flintoft explained.

While the potential term of the agreement is clear, the dollar amount for each resident is a more problematic figure to get a handle on, he added.

"The problem is we don't know how much money would be raised by a general millage on this township," he explained. "One mill at one point in time would have raised $200,000, but it may be as low as $165,000."

The township could begin levying mills and counting from there but cannot predict what the government could raise with property values as they have been, despite knowing that the current interest rate on the money owed the county is 4 percent.

The best projection is that township residents would have to pay 3.15 mills ($315 per year on $100,000 in taxable property value) per year.

At the time, many residents feared a one-time levy in that amount.

The township is under a financing agreement with the county for the $9.4 million bond that stipulates interest only payments until 2014, and then principal payments from that point of about $1 million per year through 2026, according to Flintoft.

Both Flintoft and township officials told the gathered crowd that the municipality has enough cash on hand outside of general fund to make the payment in October, but not the next payment in April 2012.

Prior to Flintoft's remarks, the township board clarified several issues for the gathered crowd of nearly 70 people: such as the fact that there are bonds for both the lake and urban sectors of the township. Lange clarified that the township is fine with regard to the lake sector bonds.

Cavanaugh Lake resident Ed Blissick told the township board to divest the township of the plant and water tower in order to preserve the rural nature of the township.

"Cede it to Chelsea," he said. "If we've got to give up lands set up in that water assessment to Chelsea so be it."

Lange reiterated that the county has told the township that it is legally obligated to operate the plant and that Chelsea's position of record on the plant is that the plant is an unwanted acquisition.

He added that private sellers have been courted, but that's a tough sell, too, due to the plant needed $50,000 in work next year alone, which is completely separate from the $10.5 million involved with the county and the $2.4 million between the township and Norfolk/Magellan.

Groups partner for jazz week celebrations

Chelsea Center for the Arts is partnering with Silver Maples of Chelsea and the Chelsea District Library to present two community jazz events as part of CCA's Celebrate Jazz Week.

Friday, May 20 marks the first of the events with Jazz Bites at Silver Maples. From 6 to 8:30 p.m., the Maple Room at Silver Maples will be temporarily turned into a jazz club, featuring performances by students, faculty, and alumni of the CCA voice and guitar programs.

Lisa Hinz-Johnson, CCA's director of music programming, is excited about the jazz activities planned.

"Jazz is such an integral part of our American Culture, and we have some outstanding programs at CCA," Hinz-Johnson said. "This is a perfect opportunity to showcase some of our advanced jazz students, and even give some of our youngest musicians the chance to experience their first jazz performance."

Along with jazz, blues, and Standards from the American songbook, guests of Jazz Bites will be able to enjoy a feast of delectable desserts, appetizers and beverages, provided by CCA families and Silver Maples.

"We really want people to have a relaxed, good time. The food will be delicious, and the music transcends generations and brings us back to the age of some of the greatest music ever written," Hinz-Johnson said.

There will also be a raffle at 8:15 p.m. of some baskets with music-related items, including a Thelonius Monk Gift basket, an iTunes gift card, a Detroit Institute of Arts membership package, Guitar and Voice lessons and Mindo Chocolates.

Proceeds from this event will go to the CCA Student Scholarship and Tuition Assistance Fund, which has provided thousands of dollars of support to deserving students.

"One of our biggest goals at CCA is to continue to provide significant support to music and art students desiring lessons and classes. I see the impact these scholarships have on students every single day, and the benefits of music and art studies last a lifetime," Hinz-Johnson said. "Jazz Bites is an event for the entire family, and we want it to be affordable while still being a fundraising event. So, we have a suggested donation of $10 per person as a ticket price. This is a great deal, considering the cause, the fabulous food, and top-notch entertainment."

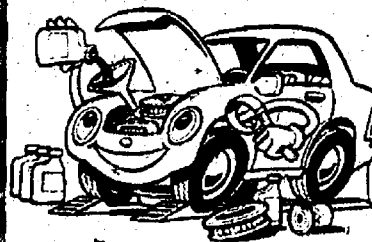

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Young children will also be able to get their first taste of jazz with Jazz Jam, Jr., held at the Chelsea District Library's McKune Room, Saturday, May 21, from 10 to 10:45 a.m. and again at 11 to 11:45 a.m. In the first session, children ages 3 to 5 will be able to enjoy a jazz story, songs, and improvisation in a lively workshop with CCA music instructor Tara Vesprini.

The fun continues at 11 a.m. for children ages 6 to 9 with another dynamic workshop. Kids will enjoy a great book, unleash their jazz skills and learn about improvisation in this workshop for slightly older children. The workshops are free, but families must register their children by calling the Chelsea District Library at 734.475.8732, ext. 4, or online at www.chelsea.lib.mi.us. Each workshop is limited to the first 20 registrants.

Nursery turns 35

The Dexter Cooperative Nursery School has been educating children ages 3 to 5 for 35 years.

The Dexter Co-op is a play-based preschool that encourages growth in every area - socially, emotionally, intellectually and physically. They offer morning and afternoon classes.

Both of the school's teachers, Joan Vladuchick and Pam Wittenberg, sent their children to the co-op and know that parents have high expectations for their children's education at the school.

"Dexter Co-op is like my second home," Wittenberg said. "I spent six years at the co-op with my three children and have some of the best memories as a co-op parent. What an honor it is now to build on those memories as one of the co-op teachers."

Holly Cahana, who has three children that have attended Dexter Co-op, said she was extremely pleased with their experiences there.

"My eldest daughter is still really close to several of her co-op classmates, and some of my current best friends are people I met at the co-op," Cahana said. "My 3-year-old is in Mrs. Pam's class this year, and she wakes up nearly every morning asking, 'Can I get up now? Is it a school day?' She is absolutely thrilled about going to school."

The Dexter Cooperative Nursery School is still accepting applications for the 2011-2012 school year. Please visit www.dextercoop.com for registration information.

Pam Wittenberg's class has a 'whale of a time' at Dexter Co-op.

Run for the Rolls endorsed

Run for the Rolls has been recognized as a quality physical activity event by the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness.

The Run for the Rolls 1-mile run/walk will take place this year on Saturday, Aug. 27, and will be a new run to boot - the Run Turf the Fair 5K.

The Governor's Council endorses local, regional and state events to acknowledge an organization's ability to plan and carry out a quality event that significantly contributes to the health and well-being of Michigan residents.

"By endorsing local events all across the state, we hope to bring attention to the importance of physical activity and encourage our citizens to take responsibility for their health," said Marilyn Lieber, president and CEO of the Governor's Council. "These local events can have a tremendous impact on health care costs that present a significant challenge for our state's economy."

In order to become an endorsed event, an organization must complete an application form for review.

Some criteria that is taken into consideration includes providing a positive, safe physical activity experience using qualified officials and being a nonprofit or charitable organization.

For more information about the Governor's Council's endorsement program, please visit www.michiganfitness.org/endorsement/index.php.

SPECIAL COVER EDITION: CHELSEA ATHLETES ON THE RIGHT TRACK

Jumping Hurdles

Emily Cottrell is the ultimate teammate and competitor

By Terry Jacoby
Heritage Media

The Chelsea girls took their spot on the track in Saline. Four athletes. One goal - to make history.

Meet Emily

School: CHS
Year: Senior
Mom: Lesa Cottrell
Sports: Track and field; basketball
GPA: 3.4
College: Michigan State University
Interests: Track, basketball and being with her friends.

"We knew beforehand what we all had to run," says Chelsea senior Emily Cottrell, looking back on that memorable day. "Coach (Eric) Swagger told each of us what we had to drop to set the school record so it was definitely something we were shooting for and on our minds."

Each girl did her part and the sum of that effort resulted in a school record.

"Our first runner stayed even with Huron, which was big," Cottrell said. "And then I went out and knew I had to drop at least one second. I ended up just trying to stay with the Huron girl and dropping more time than I needed to (3 seconds). We just tried

Mason Borders leaps into record book

By Terry Jacoby

Mason Borders admits he wasn't very good when he first came out for the track team all those years ago.

"I started running in middle school when I was in seventh grade but I wasn't very good," he said. "But I just kept practicing more and more and started to get better."

In this case, practice doesn't make perfect, but it does make history. As in Chelsea High School track and field history.

Invitational on Friday broke a school record, set by Borders last week at the Golden Triangle meet in Saline. Borders also won the 110 hurdles in a fast 14.62 clocking at the competitive Bath meet.

His 300-meter hurdle victory in Saline was a school record (39.01), breaking the mark set by Evan Carpenter just three years ago.

"I believe that Mason is capable of entering the 38 second barrier by the end of the season, which could contend him for the state title in that event," Chelsea coach Eric Swagger said after the Saline meet.

Borders has come a long way since that first tryout in seventh grade. He ended up running the hurdle events for a Chelsea's Danielle Dahl recently set the Chelsea High School record in the 800-meter run.

Going the distance Danielle Dahl begins run on record book

By Jerry Jacoby
Heritage Media

Danielle Dahl has probably been called a lot of things over the years, including daughter, friend and National Honor Society member. Earlier this month she added another moniker - record holder.

Dahl, 17, set the Chelsea High School record by winning the 800 meter run during the Golden Triangle meet in Saline. She finished with a time of 2 minutes, 17.7 seconds. That record should be added to the books with a pencil because the Chelsea junior is certain to improve on it before she's finished.

Only a junior, Dahl felt like the timing was right to make a little history. "I felt I could break the record because I've done it a couple times before in the 4x800 relay," she said. "I have continued to run on a daily basis and feel much stronger."

Breaking the 800 record was certainly on the table this year.

"Yeah, I was encouraged by my coaches. They told me I was capable of breaking the record," she said.

And always listen to your coaches.

Dahl has run track for five years, including in middle school and has always run distance and mid-distance events. She's been enjoying her time as a member of the highly successful Chelsea girls' track team. She helped her team win regionals and finish third in the state last year. She also was a member of the winning 4x400 relay team that broke the school record at states.

Chelsea coach Bert Kruse has enjoyed seeing potential turn into records.

"Danielle showed great potential last year and this year has come into her own," he said.

"When she set a new school record in the 800 meter run, last Friday at Saline, it was by almost 4 seconds and was a culmination of a lot of hard work."

"Though very mild mannered, she is a fierce competitor and has brought us many relay wins with great 400 or 800 legs. She also high jumps when needed. She's a very valuable member in the overall success of the team."

Track hasn't only been a success, but a blast for Dahl. "Like always, my friends and I try to make it fun," she said. "Even though it can be nerve racking at meets, I love the competitive races because they push your limits. The team puts in a lot of hard work and I

Athletes of the Week

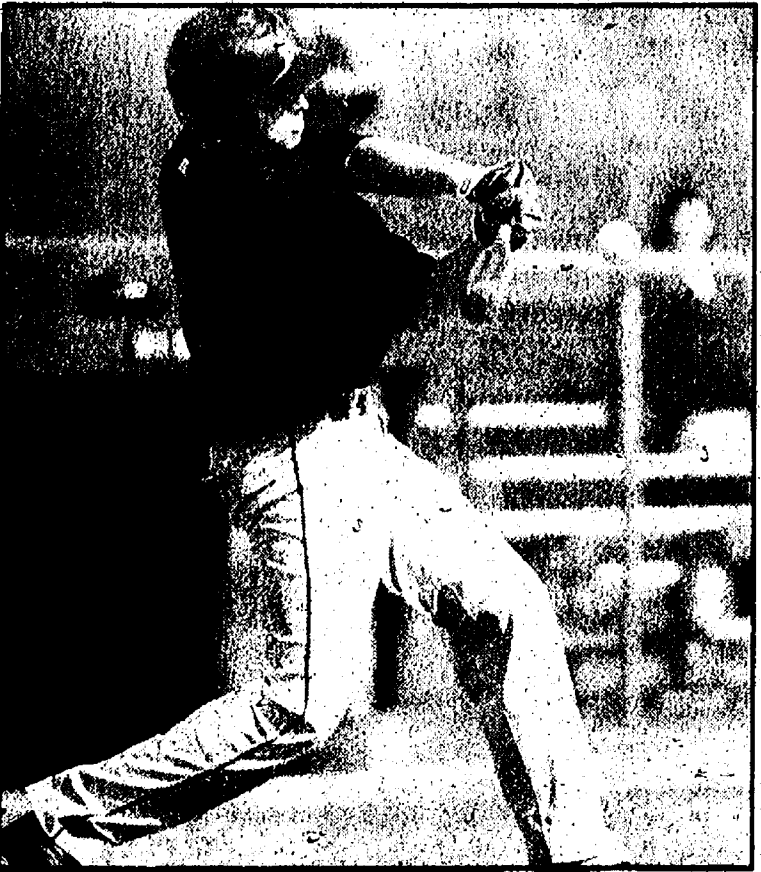

Lauren Dark, Chelsea

Lauren Dark demolished the previous Chelsea High School record in the pole vault by 8 inches, setting the school record of 11-feet, 8-inches in a dual-meet against Dexter last Tuesday. She also took second in the high jump.

Alex Berge, Milan

A senior, Berge went 2-3 with a home run and earned the win from the mound in Saturday's Milan Invite title game victory over Huron.

Ian Boyd, Dexter

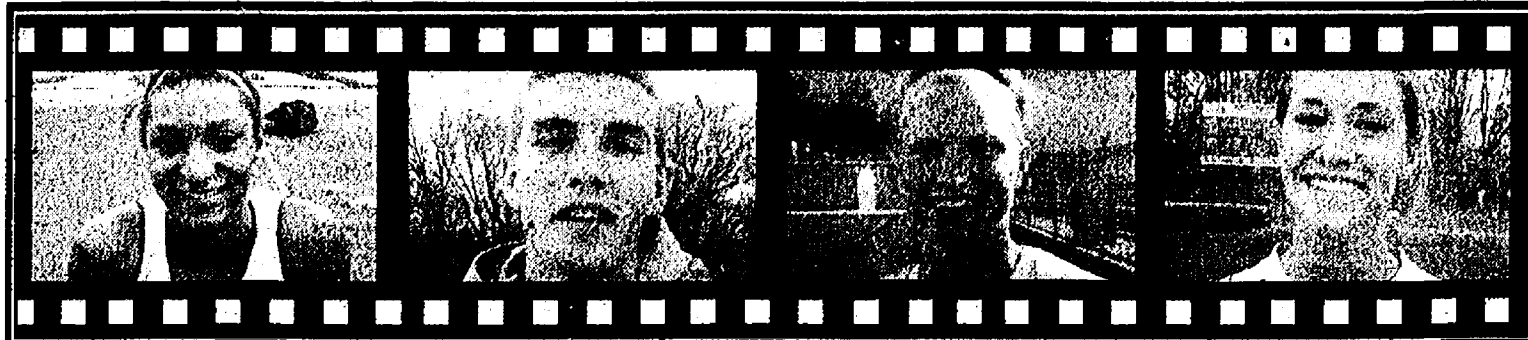

Ian Boyd had a nice week for the Dreads. Boyd pitched well in the first game against Pioneer, allowing only three earned runs. In the second game, Boyd had two hits and three RBI in the Dexter win. Boyd also had a double against Saline earlier in the week.

Will Goeman, Saline

The Hornet senior pitcher picked up a pair of wins from the mound as Saline swept Lincoln last Thursday.

Despite being a second-year program, the Dexter High School lacrosse team has become a state powerhouse.

Dexter creates blueprint for success

I'll be honest, I never thought Dexter stood a chance. I thought the Dreadnaughts had been flying under the radar all season. I figured when Dexter took the field against Pioneer Friday, the real lacrosse team, the one wearing purple, was going to teach the Dreads a few lessons about the game. Sure, Dexter was 11-0 going into the game, but having never seen the team play, I wasn't impressed. I saw the teams they had played. Yeah, they put up double digit goals against Lincoln...but come on, it's Lincoln.

MIKE LARSON

I fully expected the Pioneers to pretty much smash Dexter. It would be the first really good team the Dreadnaughts had faced, and I figured Dexter would be exposed as the immature team that it must be. I was wrong. In fact, I was way wrong. Dexter not only played well, they gave the Pioneers all they could handle. In the end, the Ann Arbor team won 10-6, but the game was tied 5-5 at the start of the fourth quarter. In other words, for three quarters Dexter played equal to Pioneer. Now, in all fairness to the Pioneers, they didn't play very well at the start of the game. Pioneer player Kevin Grupe, who scored three goals in the game, said his team came out flat. The Pioneers, who play most of their games on turf, seemed a little out of sorts on Dexter's grass field. Pioneer just didn't have the intensity that Dexter did. But that's not an excuse. To be honest, I think Dexter's aggressiveness had a lot to do with Pioneer taking so long to actually start playing up to their usual level. So how did this happen? How did a team that has only been playing at the varsity level for two seasons play head-to-head with one of the state's best? Well, if I had to guess, I would say it has a lot to do with Dexter's coach, Brian Callanan.

Callanan, a native of New Jersey, took over Dexter's team last season, coaching fundamentals and discipline. Yeah, that's pretty much it. Fundamentals and discipline. And when you think about it, if you have those two things, along with a little bit of athleticism, you are probably going to be successful in any sport you play. Sure, Callanan has his own special way of coaching, which lends itself to players giving their all. The coach, who looks like a slightly heavier version of R. Lee Ermey's drill sergeant character from "Full Metal Jacket," paces the sidelines with a sawed off lacrosse stick, practically willing his players to do the right thing. And they do. Dexter players look like they are ready to run through a wall for their coach. He's clearly earned their respect. So that's all it takes? Respect, discipline, a little bit of athletic ability and a fundamental knowledge of the game? That's all it takes to win? Well, it seems to be working in Dexter.

Turkey hunting season comes to an end

The spring turkey hunting season is over for me and I couldn't be more relieved. I went out thinking that I was going to get my turkey on the first day and be done for the year. But, that didn't happen. I'm supposed to say that I enjoyed the wonders of the woods and beautiful sunsets. Yes, I did enjoy those moments but that's not why I was out there with a bow and arrow. I was out there to shoot a turkey and I didn't get the job done. I'm a competitive person by nature and it can be seen in things that mean the most to me. My real estate clients rely on my ability to passionately represent them. That spirit, or competitive nature isn't something I can turn off and on at will; it's who I am as a person. So, you can just imagine how frustrating it was for me to come home without a mature Tom Turkey. Ok, I'm done complaining now-just had to vent a little. The truth is that I had an amazing time out there. I went out with a good friend on the first two days of the season. We saw some of the coolest things like watching 3 inches of snow fall on Opening Morning. We had numerous deer and hen turkeys within 5 yards; it was awesome! We then saw a couple of record book toms just outside of bow range. Neither of us harvested a turkey but we had a great time none the less. The best part came when my son went hunting for the first time. He did what I couldn't do; he got a turkey. For those people who say that turkeys are "dumb as a post" obviously don't hunt. The success rates for harvesting a turkey are a mere 21 percent. In other words, 79 percent fail to shoot a turkey. That number should make you think twice about how "dumb" they are. These birds have to outwit coyotes, eagles, hawks and owls every minute of every day. They're constantly looking for threats and are very skittish by nature. The good news is that I'll get another shot this fall. Unsuccessful spring hunters can apply for the fall turkey hunt. You can bet that I'll be back out there during the fall season. Stay tuned... Don't forget that my son's turkey hunt will air on Michigan Out Of Doors TV in the next week or two. Your story ideas and comments are warmly welcomed. COTTRELL to stay as close to Huron as possible and push ourselves throughout the whole thing and we ended up doing it."

TAYLOR MADE ADVENTURES

What they ended up doing was setting the Chelsea High School record in the distance medley. Cottrell, along with teammates Elaine Johnson, Ella Fritzemeyer and Jessi Battaglia, clocked in a school-record time of 13 minutes, 10.6 seconds in the distance medley relay at the Golden Triangle meet in Saline.

They may have finished second to Ann Arbor Huron in the meet, but they are now first in the Chelsea record books.

"We knew about (the record) at the first indoor meet, but we didn't put a sprinter in for the 400, but once we knew there was another distance medley at this meet we figured why not try it again and go for it," Cottrell said.

Cottrell wasn't done on the day, either. She won the 300 hurdles with a personal-best time of 46.9 seconds - and against some pretty good competition.

And this team is far from done. "As a team we are hoping to win regionals again," Cottrell said. "We've won (regionals) every year since I was a freshman. We have a hard regional this year, a lot harder than we had last year. But we just want to do as well as we can and get as many girls to state as possible."

Cottrell is all too familiar with "doing well." She's been doing well for as long as anyone can remember, in athletics and in the classroom.

Cottrell was one of the captains on the girls' basketball team this past season, helping lead the Bulldogs to the regionals after winning a dramatic district final at Milan.

She was presented the "Coaches Award" by basketball coach Todd Blomquist for the second year in a row. Winning this award in back-to-back years is not only rare, but shows what type of person Cottrell is and the respect her coaches and teammates have for her.

The award is given to a player who is the ultimate teammate.

Cottrell also is an ultimate student. She has a 3.5 grade-point average and has always done well in the classroom. Her hard work and dedication earned her a "roster" spot at Michigan State University.

"I am going into business at Michigan State," said Cottrell. "I picked MSU because I really liked the campus and the aspect of a larger school."

Cottrell had some offers to run track at small schools and even created some interest to play basketball at the next level. But she is looking forward to being a Spartan and can't wait to get to East Lansing to begin her next phase in her life.

Still, there is work to be done in Chelsea and she has some goals to accomplish before she departs. One of those goals includes leaving behind her name in the school record book.

"I am at the same time as the record in the 300 hurdles," she said. "At the last meet I ran a 46.46 seconds and the record is 46.4 so I'm like .1 seconds behind. My goals for the rest of the season are to win the regional in the 300s and to try to place at the state meet. We also want to get all four relays to the state meet and I want to run a 15.8 in the 100 hurdles." As a junior, Cottrell won the regional meet in the 300s and placed fourth in the 100 hurdles. She placed 15th overall in the state meet in the 300s.

Coach Bert Kruse has enjoyed coaching Cottrell during her final year of track.

"Emily has worked extremely hard to get to the position she now holds with the track team," he said. "She is motivated and very badly wants to set a new school record in the 300 hurdles. She has been willing to run where she is needed and has been a major factor in the team's overall success."

"She has developed into one of our leaders and has been a pleasure to coach over her four years." While she's excited about becoming a Spartan, she will remember with glee her years as a Bulldog.

"The past four years at Chelsea have been awesome," she said. "Between my friends, sports and the school I couldn't have asked for a better time."

Bulldogs drop two to Lincoln

The Lincoln baseball team had a good day on Monday despite the very cold and winter-like atmosphere. The Rails took two games from the Chelsea Bulldogs.

The first game was a 7-2 win at the hands of pitcher Michael Viggiano. He threw a four-hitter with 13 strikeouts and only one walk.

Chelsea scored one run in the first inning. Lincoln came back with two runs. One came on a passed ball and the other on a single by Zach Dunlop.

Lincoln added a run in the bottom of the fourth on a passed ball. In the top of the fifth, Tanner Starkey knocked in Brian Paulsen to make the score 3-2 in favor of Lincoln.

In the bottom of the fifth,

Lincoln's Marty Lozano (left) gives Chelsea coach and athletic director Wayne Welton as the school's AD at the end of the season.

Nate Simonds knocked in TJ O'Bryan who had singled and stole a base. Another run was scored on a passed ball to make it 5-2.

Chelsea put in Chris Boyd in relief and Lincoln scored two runs off a double by Dunlop and a triple by James VanHorn. The second run came in on a passed ball.

Chelsea coach Wayne Welton said his team had trouble hitting Lincoln.

"Their pitcher had double-digit strikeouts," Welton said. "Lincoln was a better team offensively and on the mound today."

Chelsea drops to 3-17 and according to Welton has struggled this season. "Alex Maloney pitched well," he said. "We struggled offensively."

In the first game, Lincoln dropped Chelsea 4-2. Patrick Roberts and Charlie Hess each had two hits. Schesse had a double for the Bulldogs.

Chelsea tennis team swinging into regionals

By Terry Jacoby
Heritage Media

The Chelsea tennis team finished third at the Chelsea Quad on Saturday, missing second place by just a point to Pinckney. Dexter won the overall title while Trenton finished fourth.

Winning at No. 4 doubles flight were Chelsea's Delaney Osbeck and Laurel Hall.

"These two sophomores played great tennis today, by far the best of the year," Chelsea coach Matt Pedlow said. "Their match against Dexter was won in a third set tiebreaker (7-5, 3-6, 12-10). The girls really stepped up today and played well as a doubles team. They're starting to figure out the game of doubles and pick up the techniques that will make them a very tough team to beat as the season continues."

Also medalling for Chelsea was Lauren Barbour at No. 2 singles.

"Lauren had a tough match against Carly Glahn from Dexter, losing 6-4, 6-2. Glahn was able to get Lauren out of her game and forced her to play catch-up throughout the match," Pedlow said. "But Lauren had a wonderful match against Trenton, winning 6-3, 6-4. Barbour played great in her last match of the day. She was absolutely exhausted at the end of the match, I wasn't sure if she was going to be able to finish out the match. She really left everything on the court and I was proud of her refusal to quit playing hard."

Dexter took first place in the No 2 singles, 3 singles, 4 singles, No. 1 and 2 doubles.

"Dexter has put together a real nice team this year," Pedlow said. "They dominated throughout the day at most of the flights, but I already look forward to playing them next week when we play them in a dual match."

Bulldogs topple Lincoln

By Terry Jacoby
Heritage Media

The Chelsea girls' track and field team ran up against a tough foe in Lincoln last Tuesday and crossed the finish line with a 74-63 victory.

"The meet was very warm, but windy conditions," Chelsea coach Bert Kruse said. "Lincoln jumped to an early lead based on sprints and hurdles, but the 400 relay and Emily's (Cottrell) victory in the 300 hurdles started turning things around. There were many gutsy performances."

Those included Elaine Johnson's second-place finish in the 800 and pole vault set the meet up for the final two races. Jessi Battaglia came through in the 3200 with a first-place time of 12:55.5. The 1600 relay team of Grace Sauers, Cottrell, Corinne Carpenter and Danielle Dahl ran a 4:12.4 to beat a favored Lincoln team by 10 meters.

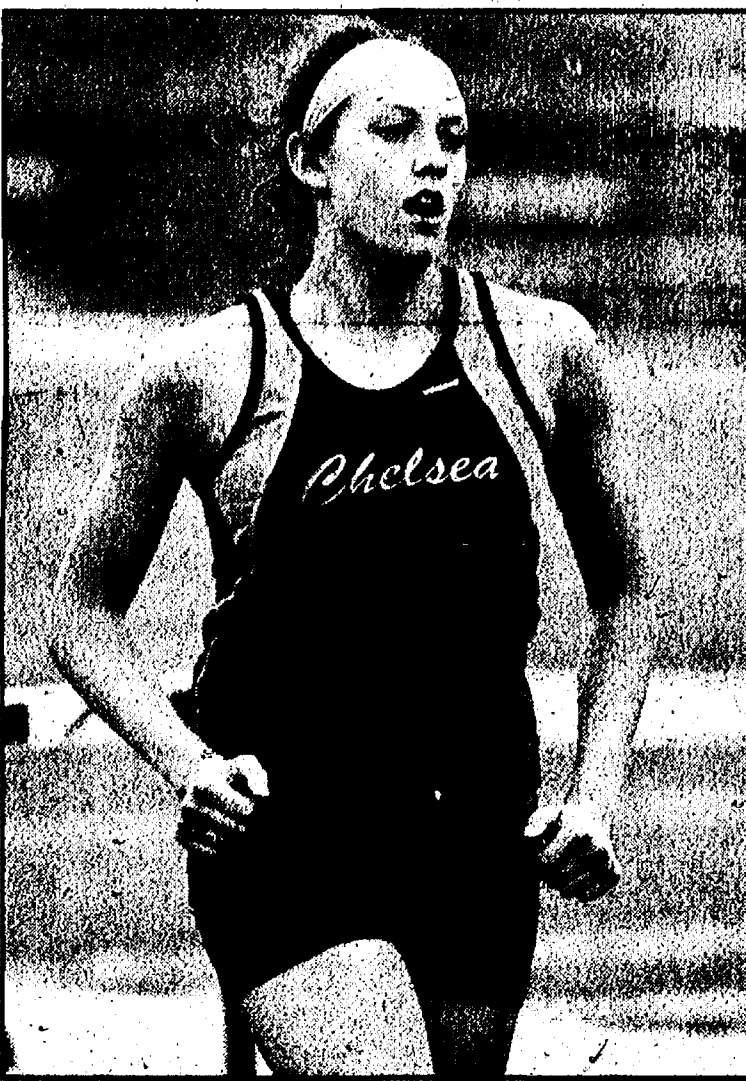

Dahl also won the 1600, 800 and was second in the high jump.

Zoe Sing was a double winner, taking first in the shot put (31-4) and the discus (84-2).

Lauren Dark won the pole vault (10-6) and was third in the high jump.

The 3200 relay team of Elaine Johnson, Gwen Hubbard, Sophie Gonzalez and Ella Fritzemeler took first in 11:43; the 800 relay team of Carpenter, Megan Lowe, Cottrell and Megan Hall won in 1:51.8; and the 400 relay team of Sauers, Hall, Cottrell and Gonzalez won in 51.1.

Other strong performances were turned in by Cottrell (third in the 100 hurdles); Carpenter (second in the 300 dash and third in the 100 dash); Battaglia (third in the 1600 run); Sauers (second in the long jump); Hall (second in the shot put); Laura Heaney (third in the discus).

"This was a key meet win," Kruse said. "The girls rose to the occasion."

First at Mason

The Chelsea girls' track and field team took first place at the competitive Mason Invitational, beating a talented Grandville team 140-119 to win the title.

The field events came through with 40 points led by Lauren Dark and Danielle Dahl placing second and third in high jump. Zoe Sing and Megan Hall placed second and third in shot put, achieving personal records. Dark also tied the school record with 11 feet in the pole vault.

The running events began with a top performance for CHS as the 3200 relay team performed a season best time of 9:48.2. This performance was followed by seven other first-place finishes led by Corinne Carpenter winning both the 100 and 200 meter dash.

Carpenter also was a member of three winning sprint relays.

Chelsea girls had multiple personal records as well as season bests.

On a fine sunny day, the Bulldogs scored in 15 out of 17 events.

CHELSEA BOYS TRACK

Perfect finish for Bulldogs

By Terry Jacoby
Heritage Media

The Chelsea boys' track team took a big leap towards a Southeastern title and remained undefeated on the season with a 93-44 victory over host Lincoln last Tuesday.

"It was a blustery day in Ypsilanti, but we came out with a decisive victory versus Lincoln, keeping us in first place in the SEC White and unbeaten on the season," Chelsea coach Eric Swager said.

"We methodically took care of business with guys competing hard and preparing well for each event. It was a nice boost when the throwers took 17 out of a possible 18 points."

The Bulldogs won several close events including Christian Vosters in the long jump (a PR 19 feet), Mason Borders in the high jump (a PR 5-10); Austin Horn in the two-mile run (a PR 11:03); and Luke Oliver (first, 52.61) and Zach Rabbitt (second, 55.52) in the 400 meters.

"We also had a bunch of non-scorers continue to improve," Swager said. "As I told the guys, as long as we learn something from each meet, and use it to improve, I will be pleased with the progress."

Borders also took first in both the 300 hurdles (42.1) and the 110 hurdles (15.9). Oliver also took first in the 100 meters (11.9).

Chelsea dominated in the field events. The Bulldogs swept the shot put with David Slusser taking first (42-10), Kirk Olsen in second and Richard Menge in third. Slusser also won the discus (123-3) with Olsen in second (100-1).

Mike Hovater won the pole vault (11 feet) with Peter Riemenschneider in third (9-6).

August Pappas won the 1600 run in 4:39 with Bryce Bradley in second (4:58). Bradley won the 800 run in 2:11 with Rabbitt in third (2:18).

Jack Abernethy was third in the 3200 run and Colton Dennis was third in the 200 meters.

Pappas sets record

Friday was a "fine evening for running and great competition in many events," said Swager as the Bulldogs competed in the Mason Invitational. Mason won the event with 142 points, edging the Bulldogs who finished with 135 points. Saginaw Heritage came in third (86) in the eight-team tournament.

"We came very close to winning the whole thing, but a few miscues in field events and relays cost us in the overall points race," he said. "However, in the last part of the meet, we went crazy with a ton of stellar performances."

The highlight had to be Pappas' school record in the 3200 run with a time of 9:16.63.

"He battled the best in the state, and edged Saginaw Heritage's Evan Chiplock by 0.3 seconds with a furious kick," Swager said.

August broke Ian Girard's record from five years ago, and now August has the fastest 3200 time in the state - any class.

Borders moved to No. 2 on Chelsea's career 300 hurdle list (39.6) and No. 3 on the 110 hurdles list (14.84) with some great efforts. He also anchored the 1600 relay to the team's fastest time in about five years in that event.

Oliver's 400 was a lifetime best, and Christian Vosters was rock-solid, winning four medals.

"In spite of all the great efforts, we still have room for improvement," Swager said. "I told the team that to win meets like this, all events have to execute flawlessly. It is a work in progress, but we still have a few weeks before the regional meet. This continues to be a fun and rewarding season."

Bulldogs right on course

The Chelsea golf team played in the Pinckney Invitational on Saturday.

"With the conditions a little better than we have experienced all year, our scoring improved a little," said Chelsea coach Joe Ewald. "Not nearly enough, but a step in the right direction. The highlight of the day was Bourke Lodewyk providing us with a solid second score, now we just need to find a third and fourth."

Pinckney won their own Invitational with a 304.

Golf

Chelsea finished with a score of 336. Scoring for Chelsea were Mason Wagner (78), Lodewyk (80), Wesley Mitchell (88), Dylan Laidlaw (90) and Neil Clapperton (90).

Last Monday the Bulldogs were invited to play an invitational on the North Course at Oakland Hills, hosted by Birmingham Seaholm.

"It was too bad to be treated to playing Oakland Hills, and then have to play in the most miserable conditions of the year, it was windy and cold and rained the entire day," Ewald said. "We should be used to those conditions by now, but it doesn't make it a lot of fun."

Chelsea shot a 341, tying its best of the year. "But we are still about 20 shots from where we need to be," Ewald said. "I expect the improved scoring to come with some improved weather."

Scoring for Chelsea were Wagner (77), Lodewyk (87), Taylor Redmond (88) and Cooper Nickels (89).

Chelsea JV soccer team splits two

The Chelsea JV soccer team played visiting Parma Western to a scoreless tie last Friday.

"After our first loss, we were very fired up to play our best against Parma and the girls did an excellent job the entire game," Chelsea coach Kirsten Smart said. "We ended the first half with a tie. We talked about playing our hardest, even if we were scored on. Even at the end of the game the girls played outstanding. They were fatigued from the back-to-back games, but were able to dominate the play."

Hannah Noble, a freshmen midfielder, and Maddie Powell, a freshmen defender, really stood out in this game. Michelle Flaughter, a sophomore, was in goal for the Bulldogs. "Flaughter is doing very well and she can send the ball all the way to the half for our forwards to have a quick counter," Smart said.

Last Thursday, the Bulldogs fell 2-0 to host Skyline.

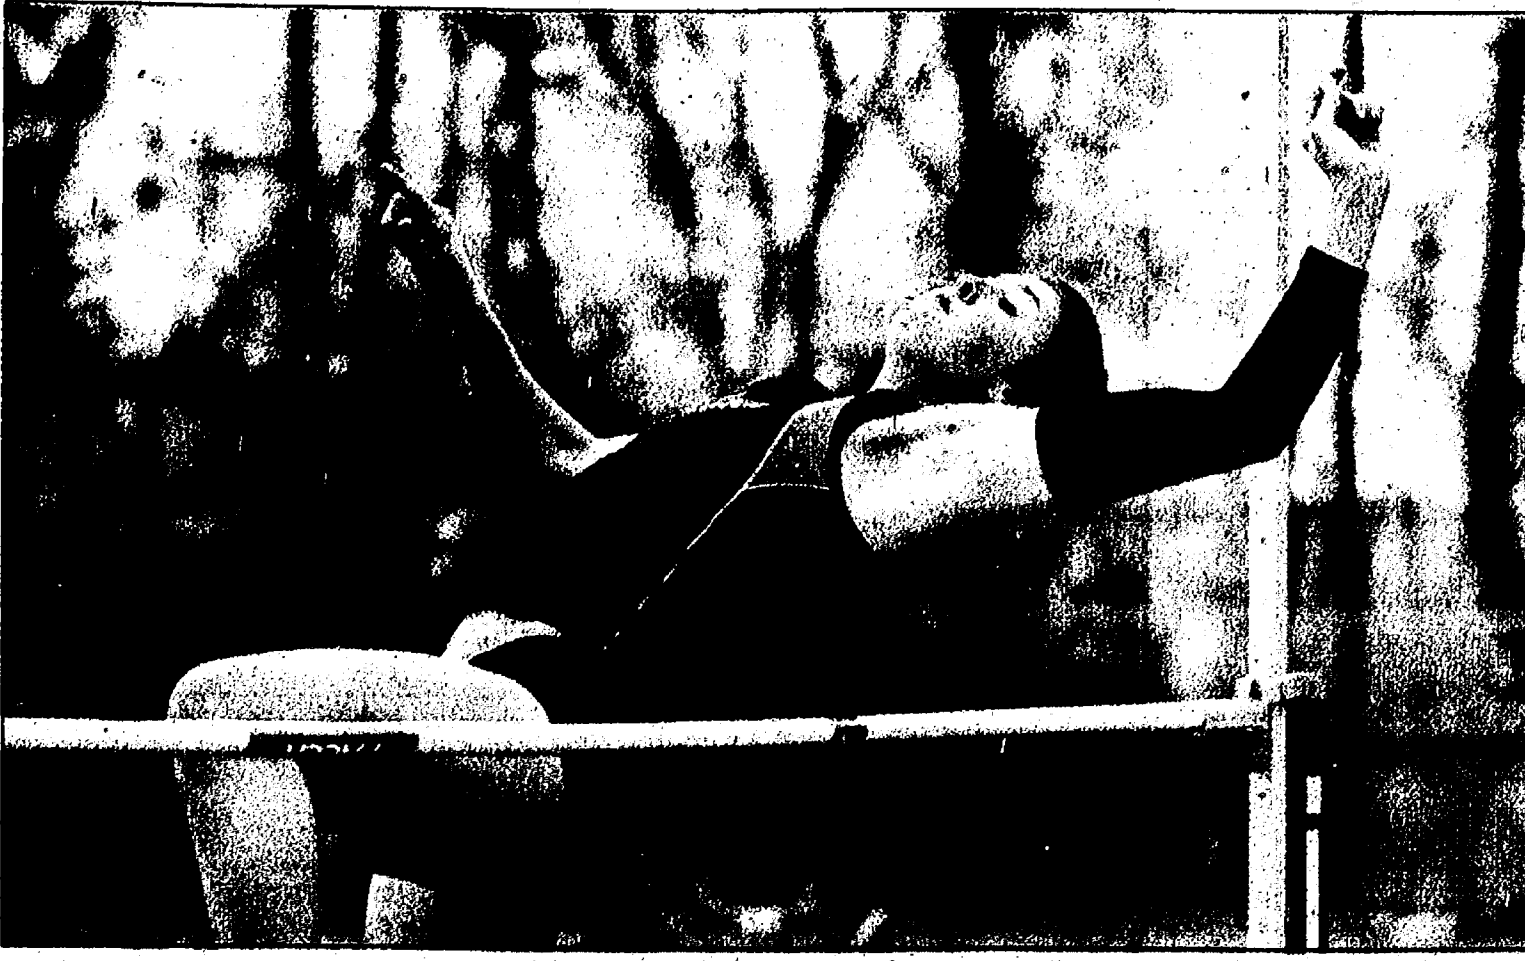

"The first half we were playing very well together," Smart said. "Our defensive line, Sarah Schultz, Autumn Johnson, Molly Merkel and Maddie Powell, did an outstanding job. With the help of Flaughter, Skyline wasn't able to make any successful shots. Flaughter was aggressive this game. She made some exciting diving saves."

Zoe Proegler, Emma Mathis, Hannah Noble, Anyssa Marsh and Nikki Liedel all played well for the Bulldogs.

pretty simple reason. It's what he was best at compared to the other events. "Yeah, I tried a lot of the different events but I wasn't as fast," he said. "I guess hurdles was my calling."

It may have been his calling, but he helped make it happen by hard work and determination.

"It's not too difficult to practice," he said. "Hurdles is a lot of form especially with your trail leg. It takes a lot with your lead leg too but just running fast usually gets the job done."

Borders encourages youngsters to head over to the track and give hurdles a shot. "We usually leave a few hurdles out so younger kids can come over and try," he said. "There are ways they can practice."

Borders has been a three-sport standout at Chelsea High School. After helping lead the Bulldogs to the state playoffs in football, he was a key player on the varsity basketball team. He will be going to Ferris State University to play football this fall. And like he did for the Bulldogs, Borders will line up at wide receiver at Ferris.

"I also thought about walking on and running track, but I decided to just play football," he said. "But who knows, I still may end up running track."

Article 3, Section 3.05 Amend to the following:
A. A home occupation may be permitted in a single-family detached dwelling within a zoning district where such dwelling is permitted, subject to the following conditions:
(1) Application and approval of the home occupation is received from the Village of Dexter in accordance with this section.
(2) Certain uses by the nature of their operation have a pronounced tendency to increase in intensity beyond the limits permitted for home occupations, thereby impairing the reasonable use and value of surrounding residential properties. Therefore, the following uses shall not be permitted as home occupations: medical care services (unless otherwise permitted by law and Village ordinance), mortuaries, funeral homes, tea rooms (cafe & coffee houses), antique shops, restaurants, private clubs, veterinary clinics, animal grooming establishments, barbers shops or beauty parlors with more than one stylist, clinics or hospitals, commercial stables or kennels, real estate offices, restaurants, vehicle repair or painting shops, retail sales, landscape installation and maintenance businesses, snow removal businesses, construction contractors, trailer rentals, funeral homes, nursing homes, private clubs, adult regulated uses and repair shops
(3) Bed & Breakfast operations shall be permitted to prohibit officers related to the administration of construction contracting, landscaping, maintenance, or snow removal businesses. Note, this list does not include every use that is prohibited as a home occupation.
(4) The use of the dwelling unit for a home occupation shall be clearly incidental and subordinate to its use for residential purposes, and not more than one-quarter (25%) of the floor area of the dwelling unit may be used for the purposes of the home occupation or for storage purposes in conjunction with the home occupation.
(5) A home occupation shall be conducted completely within the principal structure.
(6) There shall be no change in the outside appearance of the structure or premises, or other visible evidence of conduct of such home occupation, and there shall be no external or internal alterations not customary in residential areas including the expansion of off-street parking areas in excess of residential standards.
(7) No article shall be sold or offered for sale on the premises except such as is primarily produced within the dwelling.
(8) A home occupation shall not create noise, dust, vibration, smell, smoke, glare, electrical interference, wireless communications interference, fire hazard, or any other hazard or nuisance to any greater or more frequent extent than would normally be generated in a similarly zoned residential district.
(9) Signs not customarily found in residential areas shall be prohibited. However, one (1) non-illuminated name plate, not more than two (2) square feet in area, may be attached to the building, and which sign shall contain only the name, occupation, and address of the premises.
(10) There shall be no deliveries to or from a home occupation with a vehicle larger than a 15,000-pound truck with not more than two (2) axles.
(11) In no case shall a home occupation be open to the public earlier than 8:00 a.m., nor later than 7:00 p.m.
(12) No outdoor display or storage of materials, goods, supplies, or equipment used in the home occupation shall be permitted on the premises. The home occupation shall not be visible from the street.
(13) Bed & Breakfast operations shall be permitted in Residential Districts as regulated in Section 8.11 of this Ordinance.
(14) No more than one other person shall be employed or involved with such activity on premises other than a member of the immediate family residing in the dwelling unit.
(15) Services and transactions shall be conducted by appointment only, walk-in retail trade shall be prohibited.

B. Medical Marihuana Home Occupation. In addition to the requirements in Section 3.05(1), Medical marihuana home occupations shall be subject to the following requirements:

(2) Medical Marihuana Home Occupations are not permitted within 1000 feet of a public school or public library in accordance with the Drug Free School Zone Act (MCL 333.7410).
(3) All medical marihuana shall be contained within the main building in an enclosed, locked facility.
(4) The registered primary caregiver may cultivate marihuana for compensation, for up to 5 patients, plus themselves, to whom the primary caregiver is connected through the Michigan Department of Community Health registration system.
(5) No patients to whom the primary caregiver is not connected through the Michigan Department of Community Health registration system shall be permitted to visit the home as a customer. No other patients to whom the primary caregiver is not connected through the Michigan Department of Community Health registration system are allowed to purchase or receive medical marihuana at the home, nor are any patient to patient transfers of any kind allowed at the home except between the primary caregiver and the patient connected to the primary caregiver.
(6) All necessary building, electrical, plumbing and mechanical permits shall be obtained for any portion of the residential structure in which electrical wiring, lighting and/or watering devices that support the cultivation, growing or harvesting of marihuana are located.
(7) If a room with windows is utilized as a growing location, any lighting methods that exceed usual residential periods between the hours of 11pm and 7am shall employ shielding methods, without alteration to the exterior of the residence, to prevent ambient light spillage that may create a distraction for adjacent residential properties.
(8) That portion of the residential structure where energy usage and heat exceeds typical residential use, such as grow room, and the storage of any chemicals such as herbicides, pesticides, and fertilizers shall be subject to inspection and approval by the Fire Department to insure compliance with the Michigan Fire Protection Code.
(9) Any person who violates any provision of this article shall be responsible for violations as set forth in Chapter 22, Section 22-10a.
(10) Revocation of Permit: Appeal: Permits issued pursuant to this section may be revoked by the Village upon finding based upon competent, material and substantial evidence of the following clauses:
1. Any fraud, misrepresentation or false statement contained in the application or in connection with the home occupation being permitted;
2. Any violation of this section;
3. Conviction by the permittee of any felony;
4. Conducting the home occupation in an unlawful manner or in such a manner as to constitute breach of the peace;
5. Conducting the home occupation in a manner that does not comply with the Michigan Medical Marihuana Act, MCL 333.26421 et seq. and Michigan Administrative Rules, R 333.101 et seq.
6. If the medical marihuana home occupation is held invalid or unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction.
7. Any permittee whose permit has been revoked as herein provided shall have the right to appeal the revocation to the Village Council at a public hearing. Village Council shall submit to the applicant a written statement of its findings and determinations. 1,000 Purple Rose duo mark performance milestone together

By Séan Dalton
Heritage Media

For veteran actors Jim Porterfield and Michelle Mountain, Chelsea's Purple Rose Theater is more than a place of employment — it is as much home as their residences in Northville and Chelsea, respectively.

The pair, who Artistic Director Guy Sanville considers a fitting match for simultaneously reaching a milestone together, will celebrate 1,000 Purple Rose stage performances following the 8 p.m. showing of "Some Couples May ..." on Friday, May 20.

"They're two of the best actors in the country," Sanville said during a sit-down interview at the Purple Rose with Mountain and Porterfield present. "But they're two of the best actors most people have never heard of — they're world class."

Porterfield is currently appearing in Couples as the gruff and to-the-point Bernie, who is also the lead character's father. Prior to channeling Willfred Brimley and Jerry Stiller for that role, he appeared as Dr. Gibbs in "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder in 2010, as Honus Wagner in "Honus And Me" by Steven Dietz in 2008, Albert Soady in "Escanaba in da Moonlight" by Jeff Daniels in 1997 and as an understudy in numerous other shows.

Mountain plays Bernie's daughter-in-law Faye in the same show in addition to playing Berthe in "Boeing-Boeing" by Marc Camoletti in 2010, Blanche in "A Streetcar Named Desire" by Tennessee Williams in 2009, and Ellie in the world premiere of "Across the Way" by Jeff Daniels in 2008. Mountain also has directing credits in 2008 show "Growing Pretty" and 2003 show "Hope for Corky."

Neither actor saw the milestone coming. "I was putting together a bio for a program and there it was ... I knew I was in the ballpark," Porterfield said. Mountain realized it when Sanville announced the fact while they were teaching an acting boot camp in Detroit.

"I couldn't believe it ... when I heard it out loud I was shocked," Mountain confessed.

Both actors have been a part of the Purple Rose Theatre Company for decades between the two of their tenures, and both actors have played multiple roles where they're married to each other and several others where they're related such as their roles in "Couples."

Mountain referred to that coincidence as "perfect," since her first understudy with the Purple Rose involved performing as Porterfield's character's wife on Labor Day weekend in "Book of Days."

"Some people have thought we were actually married," Mountain said. Porterfield smiled slightly with amusement.

"My favorite lobby story involves my two boys, 15 and 18 now, coming here and somebody asking me if they were Jim's kids ... no, no, no I said," said Mountain, whose husband is also a resident artist and builds the stages for Purple Rose productions.

Mountain's children have been coming to the Purple Rose since they were 2 and 4 years old, and she auditioned while pregnant for a role in "Book of Days," which might have been too much of a literal and figurative burden to bear while trying to land a role in a professional show, but Sanville

artistic director

knew he had found someone special during a private audition after being out of town during her regular audition.

"I got the times wrong and was living in Lansing at the time," Sanville explained. "When I finally saw (Mountain) I immediately knew, I didn't even have her finish her monologue. I was blown away."

Mountain auditioned to be in "Book of Days" after another actress, who was younger than her, gave up the role because she believed that she was too old.

"We cast Michelle and we've never looked back," Sanville said.

Porterfield played Alphonse Soady in "Escanaba in da Moonlight" and it's his best role both on stage and in the film version, Sanville said with utter confidence.

He played the part for a solid year on the Purple Rose stage.

The veteran actor says that he loves understudying, a task that involves studying the role and lines of another actor in order to fill in for them should an emergency arise.

Porterfield is a calm and reserved professional who keeps his head down and focuses on what's important. "You've got to focus on work ethic — the basics," he said. "Show up, do your job, be connected to the other actors on stage. Just take it one rehearsal and one performance at a time."

Porterfield is one of those guys who keeps a company cohesive and moving, in Sanville's opinion.

"Lloyd Carr was here at a fundraising event; and he asked me what we do when somebody gets sick, and I said, 'We have a really deep bench,'" Sanville said. "It's really hard work, because you don't get enough rehearsal time, you don't get much notice and you've got to be ready — we pride our-birthday celebration.

"They chopped down trees all day," she said laughing. "That's the sort of thing we do for each other."

And it's the kind of thing that actors like Mountain and Porterfield tap into to bring their characters to life and infuse their dialogue with conviction to such an extent that audiences can suspend their disbelief and fully experience the worlds that the Purple Rose and its people have been bringing to life so effectively for years.

Porterfield likens his relationship until Mountain's character suffered a terminal illness. She lie dying in a hospice bed, as Porterfield had to convincingly rekindle the two character's marriage, while at the same time resurfacing and tapping into the marriages and relationships of he and Mountain's past characters in past performances.

"It was the most difficult (production) ... there were a lot of words, fairly elevated language, and it was fairly emotional," Porterfield explained. "It was pretty working on at the time.

"I didn't even realize until last year that I read specific books for specific roles and listen to particular kinds of music, and I change how I dress — it's become subconscious," she admitted. "Sometimes I eat different things. I tend to go barefoot, but if I have a particular role I'll find myself wearing shoes more."

In fact, Mountain probably feels like she's slipping on a comfortable pair when she and Porterfield share the stage at this point in their careers.

"Every once in awhile in some of the scenes, particularly the dominatrix scene, I just look at (Jim) and that's all I've got to do," Mountain said. "I've been pretend married to him hundreds of times in rehearsal and onstage. We've been together in hundreds and hundreds of different ways."

When you've got experience and rapport it just comes naturally, she said.

"I don't need to pretend anything ... I'm looking at my real friend. You can't get any better than that," Mountain added.

She likened actors to someone who emotionally lets their guard down for a moment.

"Look at high school graduation — how many parents are crying with joy ... people let their guard down and celebrate hope, possibility. I think that's what we do for a living. We say yes to the whole deal."

Sanville gave Porterfield a great deal of credit for playing a character with a dying father at a time when his real dad was dying.

"Jim played a guy who believed that if he could get a hold of this jacket that he could save his father's life," Sanville explained. "My father was dying at the time, too, and I went up to him after rehearsal one time and said, 'You're unbelievable. To have something like that going on and then go out there and put it work in service of this place."

"It's just something to see. He just looked at me and said, 'That's what we do.'"

Both actors say they're looking forward to the upcoming "White Buffalo" in which Mountain plays a Wisconsin farmer whose female buffalo gives birth to a white buffalo, which Native American legends heralding harmony between all races of man.

Porterfield plays a Native American businessman who wants to purchase the white buffalo for $1 million. The role is fitting considering he has real Native American blood coursing through his veins.

"It's a beautiful and funny play about healing and they're both going to be in it," Sanville said with a great deal of excitement in his voice.

selves or that.

"If someone goes down we don't have to send someone out there with a book in their hand."

Sanville said Porterfield is one of the best.

Sanville added that he discovered the versatile Porterfield at the Jewish Ensemble Theater during a production of "Golden Boy" during his first year as the Purple Rose artistic director.

And now he's part of the family, as Mountain refers to the company.

"We were talking about this in the dressing room the other day — we really do function as a family," she said. "We talk care of each other here."

Mountain has all kinds of stories about her fellow actors that have nothing to do with scripts, like precious moments spent visiting colleagues at the hospital or the time Porterfield whisked away her husband to the woods to fell trees until she was ready to spring his surprise 40th experience playing John Locke in "Gravity" to tapping into feelings deep down in his soul and into relationships with his colleagues.

"I felt that I needed to be (Isaac Newton's) friend in that show, so to me he was my best friend in the world, and he goes crazy and essentially rejects me in the end," Porterfield explained. "So how do you get there? I don't know. I don't think you can explain it, really it's transference of feelings you have for other people. The person you're relating to on stage is that loved person in my mind."

In "The Hole," Porterfield turned in what Sanville considers "one of the three finest male performances I've ever seen — right up there with Al Pacino in American Buffalo."

Porterfield and Mountain were again a married couple on stage, this time at the end of World War II. They played a couple of Mormons that ended along with their relamuch the whole gamut. We even had a stage fight."

The key to his success handling such difficulty as a professional actor is simple. "It's about really communicating, looking the other actors in the eye — generally communication with all sorts of non-verbal cues that come up," Porterfield said. "If you get two good actors out there who are really connected and communicating and working towards an action to act, you can't miss."

Porterfield added that he understands a lot of the drills and practicing that he's been instructed to perform over the years in hindsight.

"A lot of things we did years ago I didn't understand why we did them, but I do now. We actually practiced looking people in the eye — sort of trying to read someone's soul."

Mountain learned some things herself over the years, including the realization that her habits change to suit whatever she's

Area families launch nonprofit for parents who have lost a child

By Sheila Pursglove
Special Writer

The loss of a child is devastating. Two local families, touched by such tragedies, are reaching out from their own grief by launching the nonprofit Ike and Ella Fund to provide support to parents who have experienced the loss of a child and to support other organizations that provide aid to families in such difficult times.

In 2009, Milan resident Cory Willett and his wife, Karen, lost their newborn son, Isaac, and close family friends, Nick and Stephanie Reinemeyer, suffered the loss of their 9-month-old baby, Ella, to a rare congenital heart defect.

"This was obviously a very difficult time for us," Cory Willett said. "In addition to dealing with the grieving process, we were forced to make decisions in regards to funeral arrangements, as well as figure out how we were going to pay for these things."

"We've started our group to try and raise funds to assist families who are struggling to cover these costs. We'll also be funding a number of other small nonprofits."

The first annual Walking With Angels walk, to raise awareness and funds for the new organization, will take place 10 a.m. June 4 at Milan Church of Christ, 825 Church St., in Milan.

The 2.5-mile walk will go up to Marble Park Cemetery and then back to the church. A potluck barbecue on the church grounds will follow the walk.

"Everyone is welcome," Willett said.

T-shirts will be available for purchase before the walk and on site.

As of May 10, the fund has raised $1,323. The organization will work with local funeral homes to identify families in need of assistance and help, Willett said.

The fund will also provide financial support to Rachel's Gift, an organization providing keepsake boxes to families who have lost a child, as well as training programs for medical professionals on how to aid in the grief process of patients.

Other nonprofits receiving help will be Saving Little Hearts, helping children with congenital heart defects and their families by providing emotional assistance and educational information primarily through the distribution of Care Packages; Angel Kisses that raises awareness and understanding of pregnancy loss and creates an outlet where families can honor lost children and give back to the community; Minutes of Gold volunteers who make layette sets for infants who pass away in hospital; and Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep, volunteer photographers who photograph infants who have passed and gift the photos to families free of charge.

For more information, visit www.IkeandEllaFund.org, email corydsp@hotmail.com or send a donation to the Ike and Ella Fund, P.O. Box 82, Milan MI 48160.

The 23rd annual Share Day will be held in Saline on Saturday to aid Saline Area Social Services.

Fundraiser to aid Saline Social Service

Saline Area Social Service will sponsor its 23rd annual Share Day on Saturday.

This is a day when the entire community can help fund the many programs that the local agency administers.

The locally-run social service agency is manned by a small administrative staff and local volunteers, helping citizens in short-term need in the Saline Area School District.

The agency runs a food bank and helps with short-term needs such as utility cut-offs, prescription drug costs not covered by insurance and school supplies for students in the Saline school district.

"Our income limits for being a client are $1,670 per month for a single person and $3,400 per month for a family of four," said Don Dersnah, director of the agency.

"These limits allow us to serve more members of the community who are struggling in these hard economic times."

On Share Day, local participating restaurants will be making a donation to the Direct Aid Fund at SASS. The community can help by eating in or taking out orders at the participating restaurants in Saline.

In front of participating restaurants will be displayed red and white-checked flags to help remind the public to come in, have a great meal and help their neighbors in need. All of the money donated on this day is used to help neighbors in need in the community.

It is suggested that that the public mention that they are there to support Share Day when they patronize the participating Saline restaurants on Saturday. Participating restaurants are Benito's Pizza, Dairy Queen, Mangiamo's Italian Grill, Maplewood Lanes, Mark's Midtown, Mickey's Dairy Twist and the Saline Inn.

For more information on becoming a client or donating to Saline Social Service, contact the agency at 429-4570.

You can choose from our personal 2-stall barn, The Double Furlong, our 4-stall barn, The Stable, or our 6-stall barn, The Triple Furlong. Each has its own unique characteristics with everything to meet your stable requirements conveniently located on one level. All have a shingled roof with a 12" eave overhang and your choice of quality FABRAL steel siding or T1-11 SmartPanel siding. We can prepare a material estimate for you with all the many options available, or if you choose, build any barn to your specifications with the same quality construction which has long been the Chelsea Lumber Company tradition.

#1 grade Southern Pine

ACQ treated to .25 retention

Our 2x4's thru 2x12's are #1 grade...others sell #2 grade for about the same price as we sell #1.

Don't accept any #2 grade...the difference is obvious in appearance and buildability. Besides being a better grade, our 5/4 treated decking is thicker than most of the competition.
