Pittsfield Township Man Killed In Unadilla Township Crash

Unadilla Township Rescue workers search for identification after a fatal motorcycle crash.

The driver of a motorcycle, 64-year-old Thomas Anthony Gonzalez of Pittsfield Township was pronounced dead at the scene of a motorcycle vs van accident Sunday, May 6.

Unadilla Township Police and Fire Departments were dispatched to a crash on M-36 at Dexter Trail at 12:14pm. Upon arrival emergency responders determined that a 2003 Ford Windstar was operating northbound on M-36. The driver, an 84-year-old Unadilla Township man, attempted to turn westbound onto Dexter Trail when he was struck at the intersection by the 1967 Triumph motorcycle which was operating southbound on M-36.

Officers indicate the operator of the motorcycle appeared to be wearing a helmet at the time of impact. Further investigation will be conducted to determine if alcohol or drugs may be a contributing factor in the accident.

According to witness accounts, excessive speed does not appear to be a factor. An autopsy has been scheduled at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing by the Livingston County Medical Examiner's Office. Township police officials stated the incident remains under investigation.

Unadilla Township Police were assisted at the scene by Pinckney Police, crash investigators from the Livingston County Sheriff Department Traffic Safety Bureau and SAESA Ambulance.

Proposals for Chelsea's Longworth Building to be Presented During Workshop Chelsea DDA

By Lucy Silverio

Two serious proposals for the Longworth Plating Building located in downtown Chelsea have been received by the city and will be considered by Chelsea Downtown Development Association (CDDA). The CDDA, after purchasing the building for $400,000 in 2008 is selling the building for $1 dollar to a qualified buyer. The Request for Proposals (RFP) from the CDDA specified that the development should be designed with "landmark" visual qualities befitting the strategic location of the site. The proposal must also include a firm commitment from a financial institution of a minimum investment of $1 million into the property. The RFP contained the following four redevelopment goals: a continued revitalization of downtown; a physical and visual link between the downtown area and the Clock Tower Complex; adherence with local historic guidelines; and that the building be of benefit to the City of Chelsea.

One proposal by Metro-Detroit developer Michael Prochaska and Ernest Zachary, President of Zachary and Associates an Urban Planning firm who is also a Professor of Urban Economics at University Detroit Mercy, includes geothermal heat and air conditioning, solar electric and solar thermal systems.

The Prochaska / Zachary

project, while maintaining the historic nature of the buildings, features a combination of residential and commercial use. It includes 20 individually customized loft style apartments in the Mack building and the old livery. The written proposal concludes that modern, sustainable green apartments will attract environmentally aware professionals, this in turn increases property values and provides an "anchor for the areas future redevelopment."

The Daniels Showroom area, which fronts on Main Street would be used as a commercial space.

The Prochaska / Zachary plan hopes to not only increase tax revenue for the city but also to function as a template for future sustainable development and construction techniques in the area.

The other proposal is from Alexander Pollock, in association with Kadushin Associates Architects Planners, Inc. (KA), J.C. Beal Construction, Inc. (Beal) and The Chelsea Connection, LLC (TCC) who have joined together to make the 110 Longworth Building Development Company. It also includes both residential and commercial space.

A major structural difference between the two proposals is that Longworth Building Development plans to remove the Daniels Showroom from Main Street and instead have an outdoor plaza with seating. This would form a gateway to the Clock Tower Complex and open the sightlines along Main Street.

Longworth Building Development's proposal includes a lounge and three retail stores on the first floor and a 5,100 square foot pottery studio and five loft apartments on the second floor.

The following businesses have committed to the project; the Red Hawk Grill and Revive+Replenish Café in Ann Arbor; Roger Hewitt and Richard Shubach of Ann Arbor, The Art Pursuit of (Chelsea), a non-profit art center focusing on ceramics led by Kris Cravens and Prudy Vannier; and an expansion of the adjacent Chelsea Farmers Supply business, into a larger aquaponic supply facility by H.K. Leonard.

Alexander Pollock who is on the Longworth Building Development Team recently retired after 42 years as a city planner and responsible for the development of the Eastern Market in Detroit.

Pollock has offered to use part of his collection of Civil War-era brass instruments and antique bicycles as part of the building décor. The drawings for the lounge area include an interurban trolley car representative of the ones that used to service Chelsea in the early 1900s.

A unique aspect of the Longworth Building Development's plan is that the two windows on the second floor of the livery building feature an animated experience - when the Clock Tower strikes the hour a horse will project its head out each window, one horse whinnying while the other horse sticks his tongue out at the other horse.

The CDDA working session to discuss the proposals will be Thursday May 10th at 7:30 am, in the McKune Room at the Chelsea Public Library. The public is welcome to attend the meeting.

Can You Turn "Be a Millionaire Day" into Reality?

Submitted by Edward Jones

You may not have heard about it, but May 20 is Be a Millionaire Day. Apart from being born rich, how can you help secure your financial future? There are no guarantees, but here are a few suggestions:

First, save early and often. The earlier you begin saving and investing, the better your chances of reaching your financial goals.

Next, pay yourself first. Each month, automatically move some money from a checking or savings account into an investment. As your income grows over time, increase your monthly payments.

Also, try to control your debts. The lower your debt payments, the more money you'll have to invest.

And try to build the number of shares you own. Consider reinvesting any dividends or distributions you may receive from your investments.

Following these suggestions, may someday allow you to reach the point when reaching your goals becomes a reality for you.

Western took an early 1-0 lead, but Peterson tied things for the Panthers. Western scored late in the half to make it 2-1.

They made it 3-1 in the second half, but Powers scored to cut the lead to 3-2 before Western would seal the victory late in the match.

Chelsea/Adrian Showdown

The CHS baseball club hosted Adrian to the field on Thursday May 3 for a double header.

Chelsea won the first game in a whopping 11-4, but couldn't keep the rally going into the second game, which they lost 4-1 to Adrian.

Alex Maloney pitched for five innings in the first game, striking out five players.

Logan Marable and Luke Hollandsworth pitched in the second game. Marable took the loss for the Bulldogs, but threw 46 strikes against the Maples.

Friday May 11 the team will travel to Lumen Christi in Jackson.

Lady Bulldog's Shut Out by Saline

The CHS girls soccer team was shut out by the Saline Hornets Tuesday May 1 with a final score of 3-0.

"Saline is a strong team who is well coached and plays at a high level," said Coach Shawn Hayes, "They took advantage of a couple of our defensive errors early in the game and capitalized on their opportunities putting them up 2-0.

Krista Pagliarini played a huge game for the Bulldogs in the net stopping 9 of 12 shots.

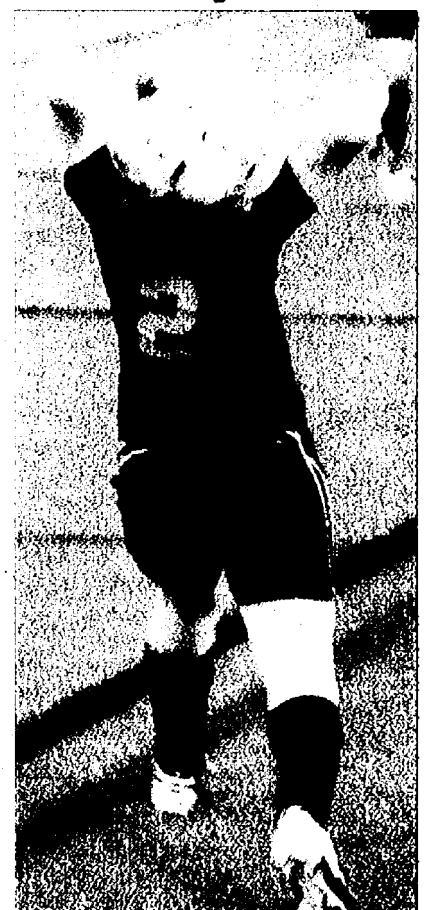

Seniors Jessica Ruikka, Katelynn Stehlik, Tess Schuessler, Lisa Keene and Amber Plemens along with Juniors Hayley Buntin, Emma Mathis and Gabi Lantis helped slow down the Saline attack in the second half defending well and maintaining possession at times.

The defense played strong in the second half lead by Senior Tori Huemann, junior co-captain, Emma Doty, junior Molly Merkel and sophomore Madison Powell.

Key players also contributing were juniors Rachel Marks, Anyssa Marsh, Liz Boyce and sophomore Hannah Noble.

"It was a strong performance for the lady Bulldogs and we accomplished our half-time goal of holding Saline scoreless in the second half," said Coach Hayes.

Chelsea played Adrian on Thursday May 3 and finally got a win for the season. The final score was 2-1.

Chelsea was down 1-0 at the break and had to come from behind to pull off the victory.

Bulldog Track Beats Tecumseh

Tuesday, May 1 the Bulldogs traveled to Tecumseh to go up against the Indians. The Bulldogs won the meet 83-54.

"We were able to remain undefeated in dual meets this year," said Coach Eric Swager, "and continue to set our sights on another SEC championship with this victory."

Austin Horn, Luke Oliver, and Mike Hovater were top scorers, each finishing with 2 individual wins, but a real exciting thing about this meet is the improvement of all the young guys and the typical non-scoring athletes, which include: Jay Szrodonski getting his first ever placing with a fine 104' discus throw, Mike Mesco beating his lifetime best shot put by almost 3 feet and finishing 2nd, James Biller breaking 5:00 in the mile for the first time, and finishing 3rd. Mark Gilbert having his best performance in 2 years in the 100 and 400 runs, Jack Baylis going crazy with huge PRs in the mile and the relay.

Many young distance runners Sujec, Rutherford, Henschel, and Deppner are running at or near lifetime bests.

The group of young sprinters Nelson, Prenevost, Olsen, McDowell, McEchern and Smith who continue to turn in solid efforts.

"We now look forward to our final dual meet of the season next Tuesday at Dexter (results not available at press time), and then the championship rounds in later May," said Coach Swager.

Strong Week for Pirate Softball

The Pinckney girls' softball team snapped a losing streak in a big way as they won four games last week.

The Pirates opened the week by nipping Walled Lake Central 9-8 in a game that was shortened to six innings because of rain.

Pinckney then swept a pair of games from Milford in a come from behind 7-6 win in the opener and a 12-2 rout in the night cap.

The game of the week came Thursday night as the Pirates beat Walled Lake Northern 3-2 in 14 innings.

The game was tied 1-1 after seven innings, then Northern took a 2-1 lead in the ninth.

Pinckney fought back as Emily Heatwole scored the tying run, after a double, to open the inning.

The game remained tied at two until the 14th when Chelsea Wilson hit a sacrifice fly with a runner on first and third that scored Olivia Irwin, who had entered the game to run for Kristin Anderson who had doubled to open the inning.

The Pirates improved to 4-9 overall on the season and 4-6 in the KLA.

The Pirates cruised to three easy victories on their way to the title. They crushed Pioneer 23-6, Ypsilanti Lincoln 13-1, and Fenton 12-1.

Pirate Baseball Splits With Milford

The Pinckney varsity baseball team saw its 14 game losing streak snapped last week as the Pirates split a doubleheader with Milford.

The Pirates took the opener 4-1 to snap the streak, but dropped the nightcap 10-5 as they could not overcome a nine run inning by Milford.

Northern scored five times in the first and Pinckney was forced to play catch up the whole game.

David Kelly led Pinckney with a home run.

The Pirates took part in the Sheelander Invitational, which teams from Livingston County take part in.

Pinckney pulled a big upset in the opener as the Pirates knocked off Howell 4-2.

Jacob Clark was strong on the mound as he allowed just four hits, struck out seven and walked two.

Pinckney needed to knock off Brighton in its second game to reach the finals, but came up short as the Bulldogs scored five times in the fifth to defeat Pinckney 7-2.

The three teams all tied with 1-1 records in bracket play, but Howell claimed the tiebreaker of run differential based on its 11-1 win over Brighton.

The Highlanders then went on to win the championship game.

Pinckney saw its record improve to 3-18 overall and 1-9 in the KLA.

The Dreads rolled to three more victories and improved to 13-0 on the season and set themselves up for a showdown with undefeated Ann Arbor Pioneer Saturday.

Pioneer is ranked fourth in Division 1.

Dexter opened the week by downing Plymouth Canton 13-6.

Letter carriers collecting food

Our local letter carriers are once again conducting a food drive for Faith-In-Action (FIA) and asking everyone who receives mail in Chelsea to leave a bag of non-perishable food by their mail boxes on Saturday, May 12th.

The Chelsea Post Office has been collecting food for FIA in the month of May for many years now.

"We are always amazed by the great outpouring of support that we receive from this community," said Nancy Paul, FIA's Executive Director.

Each year several tons of canned goods and other non-perishables have been donated.

"This food drive is critical for us to be able to feed local families throughout the spring and much of the summer," added Program Director, Doug Smith. "We really count on this food to get us through until the next big cycle of food drives later in the fall."

Faith in Action typically provides food for more than a hundred families and close to one thousand individuals every month. "We could not do this without the active ongoing support of our community" said Paul. "The people who support our work donate not just once but many times over the course of several years and for this we are truly blessed and grateful to individual donors and to organizations like our local postal office."

Dreadnaught Baseball Hits Hard

The Dexter baseball team entered the week ranked fourth in the state in Division 1 and the Dreadnaughts showed why as they rolled to the championship at the Jackson Invitational Saturday.

The Dreadnaughts reached the finals by defeating Allen Park Cabrini 10-6.

Dexter fell behind 4-0 after one, but chipped away at the Cabrini lead taking the lead with five runs in the fourth.

Ben Finner earned the win allowing one run in four innings of relief. Zach Byron led the offense with three hits, while Joel Gowen and Mike Mioduszewski added two hits each and Jordan Sharp two RBI's.

Jordan Sharp had a double and RBI.

The second game was called after eight innings because of darkness with the two teams tied at one. Both teams scored a run in the first inning and none could cross home plate after that.

Dylan Finner struck out two in six innings and Pierce four in two innings of work.

Brett Garwood had two hits, while Dreifs had a hit and RBI and Byron a hit and run scored.

The Dreadnaughts had an easy time as they swept Ypsilanti 12-2 and 12-0.

Gowen and Bryce Walls were nearly unhittable on the mound as each allowed one hit in the sweep. Gowen struck out two in five innings and Wall seven.

Mioduszewski collected six hits in the doubleheader including a double and triple.

Jake Stegemann had two hits in the opener, while Little had a hit and two RBI.

Plans Made for Pinckney Elementary to Close

By Melinda Baird

Pinckney Community School District Assistant Superintendent Brian Higgins, chairman of an ad-hoc advisory committee formed in February at the request of board president Anne Colone, reported the committee's recommendations for closure of Pinckney Elementary.

The recommendation was announced during the Pinckney's Board of Education meeting May 3.

The committee, comprised of about twenty parents and educators from the six schools potentially impacted, presented nine options to the board. An anonymous poll indicated committee members overwhelmingly favored the ninth option to close Pinckney Elementary (K-4) and move all students to Farley Hill Elementary. The option further calls for a grade reconfiguration that moves fourth graders to Navigator School with grades five and six. Country Elementary, Farley Hill Elementary, and Lakeland Elementary would house K-3 students.

As the district faces steadily decreasing enrollment—about 900 students since 2004, cuts in state funding, and a $3.8 million budget deficit, Higgins reported the focus turned to whether closing two facilities rather than one was in order. "The updated enrollment numbers were somewhat of an eye-opener for us," said Higgins, referring to the 4,151 students currently enrolled in the school district versus 5,086 in 2003/2004.

According to Farley Hill Principal Lynda Henderson, the movement of Pinckney Elementary students to Farley Hill would put Farley Hill at about 108% capacity, depending on kindergarten enrollment numbers. Adding fourth graders to Navigator would put Navigator at about 98% capacity.

Benefits of option nine, reported committee members, include the opportunity to operate a kindergarten through third grade model, in line with Michigan's new, more rigorous Common Core Standards.

"The bar is being raised significantly at every level. A K-3 model would allow educators to focus on students learning to read through third grade, and reading to learn from fourth grade on," said Pathfinder Principal and committee member Rick Todd.

Another reported benefit to option nine was the closing of one building rather than two, dealing less of a psychological blow to the community.

"What meaning does that send to our community to close two buildings at the same time?" agreed Colone. "Closing two buildings sounds like we're closing up shop."

Finally, committee members touted the advantage of preserving youth and innocence of sixth graders by shielding them from Pathfinder School's seventh and eighth grades. "Do we have room for sixth graders in Pathfinder? Yes, but we think it's best for their adolescent development to keep them with peers more comparable to their developmental growth," said Todd.

The committee conceded pursuing option nine could result in the need to close yet another building in a few years, impacting some families and students twice. Overcrowding and bussing were also considerations, as well as the need to create a new school culture for families and staff alike.

Board member Laura Burwell questioned the wisdom of tackling a change of such magnitude for the new fall school year, emphasizing a need for time to digest and prepare. Burwell also expressed her preference to make all changes at the same time, rather than be faced with additional school closings down the road.

"I don't want another committee in two years," she said. "The district is already in a deficit—we shouldn't be wasting money by operating half-filled buildings."

Several Pinckney Elementary staff, however, asked the board to end the "emotional limbo" of parents and staff by taking official steps to close the school that has been rumored to close since October. Staff further pointed out that every option recommended by the advisory committee included the closure of Pinckney Elementary.

"It would be nice to let our parents know if Pinckney Elementary is closing in June," agreed Principal Henderson. "Grade level configuration, however, requires the most thought and ideally needs another year for planning."

Board members ultimately gravitated toward closing Pinckney Elementary effective this June, while unofficially deciding to wait to reconfigure grade levels the following year.

An official board vote will take place at the next board meeting May 17 at 7 p.m.

Closing Pinckney Elementary would save the district about $250,000.

"In truth, this report is not about pros and cons, but change," noted one committee member. "A change can be a pro if we do it well or a con if we do it poorly."

Preservation Chelsea to Co-Sponsor Wood Window Restoration Workshop

Do you have drafty, old, double hung windows that need replacing but don't have thousands of dollars to do it? Or maybe you just don't like the look of the replacement windows on your older home, or don't like tossing old windows in the landfill and spending more valuable natural resources on replacement windows.

Preservation Chelsea will be hosting and co-sponsoring a free wood window restoration workshop in downtown Chelsea that will give homeowners the skills necessary to restore their own windows, or the knowledge to hire the right contractor to do the work for them.

The 8-hour workshop will be taught by window restoration specialist Robin Adair, who has been restoring windows for the past six years in Ann Arbor and Detroit.

"Window restoration has been gaining momentum as a viable alternative to replacing windows for several reasons," explained workshop organizer and Preservation Chelsea member Tom Girard. "It allows homeowners to do a large portion of the work themselves and save money in the process. Furthermore, restoration is a far more sustainable approach than replacement windows. The old growth timber used to make the 90+ year old windows in my home can't be found today, and if properly cared for, will last another 90+ years. Finally, with proper sealing and suitable storm windows with Low-E glass, old windows can be as energy efficient as new windows."

Adair will discuss how to properly disassemble double hung windows, replace sash cords, replace glass, install weather-stripping and seals in key locations to stop drafts, and most importantly, how to put it all back together again.

He will touch on his design for an easy to use wooden storm window as well.

"When I was looking for a site for the workshop, I really wanted to keep it in downtown Chelsea. Fortunately, Tom Clemons at Chelsea Village Hardware was willing to hold the workshop in their spacious second floor and they have a few second floor windows that fit the bill - old double hung windows with sash cords that need some attention. "I think it's an ideal location in that we can show participants exactly where they can find the supplies they need to do the job right," said Clemons. "We're really looking forward to hosting the workshop, and hopefully we'll get a few windows repaired in the process."

Advance registration is required. The workshop is limited to a class size of 12, so participants are advised to apply early. "This is a hands-on workshop and we want to make sure everyone gets a chance to practice their newfound skills", said Adair.

The workshop will take place Saturday, May 19th from 8am to 5pm in the second floor of the Chelsea Village Hardware. Participants are asked to commit to the full 8 hour session.

"We were able to pull it together at no cost to the participants," said Girard. "We're even providing free lunch."

The workshop is funded by the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) and the Michigan State Historic Preservation Office (SHPO) and coordinated by the Michigan Historic Preservation Network (MHPN) and Preservation Chelsea.

Applications can be found at Chelsea Village Hardware and elsewhere at select Chelsea businesses, or by contacting Tom Girard at 475-3632 or tgirard@umich.edu

Chelsea Area Garden Club Plant Sale Set for May 12

By Mary Jo Frank

The Chelsea Area Garden Club's 14th annual plant sale is set to take place May 12 from 8:30 a.m. until noon at the old Palmer Family Ford Mercury lot, in downtown Chelsea.

Thousands of sun and shade plants, including perennials, herbs, wildflowers, ornamental grasses, daylilies and shrubs, will be on sale. The majority of plants are priced to sell at $5 or less.

"Gardeners are able to buy good quality, healthy plants at reasonable prices," said charter member of the Chelsea Area Garden Club Mary Randolph. "All the plants are grown locally so the chances are they will grow well in most gardens in Washtenaw County and the surrounding area."

Randolph, along with Cathy Gillem and Janet Wamboldt, are co-chairs of this year's sale.

Plants were donated by the club's 60 members, neighbors and friends, and are organized by type, including whether they thrive in sun or shade. Club members, including some Master Gardeners, will be on hand to answer questions.

The annual plant sale is one of the organization's two major fundraisers. The other, set for June 2, is the Garden Clubs Spring Garden Walk - a self-paced tour of eight Chelsea area gardens. Tickets for the walk, $10 per person, are available at the Garden Mill, 110 S. Main St., Chelsea; Dexter Mill, 3515 Central St., Dexter; Downtown Home and Garden, 210 S. Ashley St., Ann Arbor; and Manchester Pharmacy, 128 E. Main St., Manchester.

According to Gillern, since 1999, the Chelsea Area Garden Club has given back to the community more than $20,000, including almost $12,000 for plants and materials for civic beautification. Plant sale and garden walk proceeds also are used for scholarships and grants for community projects.

For more information about the plant sale, call 734-475-9748 or visit <http://chelseagardenclub.com>

Man Attempts To Entice Boy Into Car

Unadilla Township Police report that a 12-year-old Gregory boy indicated he was walking northbound on M-36 at Spears Road when a white male in his 20's, driving a black older model Honda or Toyota 2-door passenger car, pulled up to him and attempted to entice him into the vehicle.

The incident occurred Thursday, May 3.

The victim said a second vehicle pulled up to the location and the suspect fled southbound on M-36.

The juvenile stated the man was holding some type of police light on the roof of his car and he believed the driver was a police officer.

Unadilla Township Police are advising parents to talk with their children and explain to them not to approach a stranger's vehicle.

Sylvan Township Residents Resigned to Rough Road Ahead

By Melinda Bayd

Residents and board members of Sylvan Township were uncharacteristically united Tuesday night in resigning themselves to the unavailability of paying back over $13 million to Washtenaw County after a year of scouring for legal loopholes.

Having officially defaulted on the May 2012 $175,000 interest-only bond payment, both township officials and residents reluctantly accepted a clear message from County Commissioner Rob Turner that the county will not be cutting the township any slack.

"I've looked. I've tried to find loopholes. The county has no legal culpability," said Turner. He spoke of the county's desire to work with the township toward a millage or consent judgment as less painful avenues of debt collection, but warned those in attendance of legal action should both paths fail.

The township is expected to repay $12.5 million in bonds Washtenaw County sold in 2001 to assist Sylvan Township in the construction of a water and wastewater system. As part of the agreement, the township signed a contract with the county pledging the township's full faith and credit for the repayment of the bonds. However, the development of the system it was intended to support never manifested.

Adding salt to the township's collective wound, is the debt incurred to Washtenaw County Treasurer Katherine McClary for $1.25 million in delinquent property tax previously advanced by the county for water and sewer special assessment installments later voided by court judgment, leaving developers off the financial hook.

"We didn't believe for a minute the courts would let the developers walk," said Township Supervisor Bob Lange to residents. "And we know in our hearts the county didn't do due diligence. But we need your cooperation now, because there is no way out."

Disheartened residents found themselves cornered into having to choose between a second millage proposal (after rejecting last November's proposed 4.75 millage), a negotiated repayment contract between the township board and county officials in the form of consent judgment, or court-imposed action allowing no negotiation.

Residents again grappled with the lack of opportunity to vote on the township's initial decision to finance a system that is of no benefit to the majority of residents, and expressed resentment about being asked to vote on a millage to fund the project after-the-fact.

"Legalizing this transaction after it's been made just doesn't hold water," said resident Carl Olson.

"The county is handing us a huge pill we cannot swallow," added resident Kurt Kosek.

"They recently donated $500,000 to tornado disaster relief, and rightfully so, but isn't this a financial disaster? Let's take the county on - I want my day in court," he urged fellow residents.

In response, one resident echoed the general consensus in the room that non-compliance with the county could lead to harsh and expensive court-imposed action, potentially causing people to lose their homes.

"I appreciate your spirit of wanting to fight, but it could really hurt people who can't pay [what a default judgment might cost]. Isn't it better to fight the devil you know rather than the one you don't?"

Lange agreed with the futility of resisting the county. "It would be a suicide mission."

Turner explained the county's plan to pursue two paths simultaneously: a consent judgment through negotiations with the board and a second millage proposal for the August 6 ballot. Legal documents outlining a consensual agreement would only be submitted to the court after the election date, should residents vote down the millage. If both options fail, a complaint will be filed by the county giving the court full discretion of repayment terms.

"The people voted no in November. We can't just throw that out the window," said Turner when asked about pursuing a consent judgment before election results. "The two options are on a parallel track so the county doesn't have to start at day one if the millage fails."

Resident Jan Carr expressed misgivings over pursuing both paths at once. "The message to voters is that if we don't vote yes to the millage then we will have a consent judgment and we will abide by it. I see this as a threat."

Turner stressed again the county's willingness to work with the township toward a millage or judgment in which the township still maintains a voice, but, no matter what, legal action was to be inevitable this year.

"It's no threat—it's been hanging there for years, unfortunately. You can kill the messenger, but I tried to get the message out early."

Turner did provide the good news of a long-awaited 2012 equalization report indicating Sylvan's property values went down only 2.87% rather than the county's predicted 5%, positively affecting the mill rate for August's ballot. Accordingly, the proposed new mill rate will be 4.4 mills over 20 years in contrast to last November's rejected 20 year 4.75 mill tax levy. If approved, the millage will appear on this December's winter tax bill.

Further, Turner explained the rate is not a fixed amount but would be calculated annually as equalization reports fluctuate.

"If property values go up then the millage rate would go down or be paid over a shorter period of time," said Turner.

Finally, Turner warned the board and residents that County Treasurer Katherine McClary, who has historically offered to spread the $1.25 million debt over a two-year period, will expect full payment in the case of a default judgment (a court-imposed repayment). According to several residents who recall McClary assuring township residents protection from any financial responsibility of non-payment of special assessments, the warning particularly stung.

Despite the county's determination to hold the township financially accountable, a few county commissioners suggested the county own their part in the debacle at Wednesday's Board of Commissioners meeting.

"This board of commissioners voted affirmatively to extend our full faith and credit—we are partners in this challenge," said Commissioner Conan Smith.

"We helped get them into this mess because we should have said no, or yes to half a loan or part of a loan, but not the whole loan," acknowledged Commissioner Ronnie Peterson. Peterson urged fellow county officials to reexamine the county's process for entering into such agreements that ultimately have the potential to profoundly burden township residents.

Resident Vicki Murdock later summarized the consequences of such agreements. "This debt started with someone else's dream of future development for the small countryside community of Sylvan. That dream has now turned into Sylvan Township's worst nightmare."
