THE FINANCIAL PANIC.

The Failure of Jay Cooke & Co. - Other Suspensions Follow in Rapid Succession - The Excitement at New York, Philadelphia, and Other Points.

New York, Sept. 18.—Another day of intense excitement has passed over Wall street. Early this morning predictions were made that this would be a hard day, and one that would see the downfall of more than one financial giant.

The Chicago fire, it was thought, would occasion a drain upon deposits and tend to a panic. Stocks for the first two or three hours fluctuated wonderfully. Western Union fell 10 per cent without an upward struggle, but about noon recovered its opening figure.

At noon the report was whispered that the failure of Jay Cooke & Co. had suspended. At first the rumor was considered an idle one, or at most started by some sensational faction.

However, it had great effect, and many ran races from office to office. The telegraph was incessant in its operations, and the excitement grew intense. At 2 o'clock P. M., it was officially announced that the suspension had occurred.

The Philadelphia House was compelled to call on its members for cash, and a large amount of securities was available in Philadelphia. The Northern Pacific Railroad Company, involving large sums of money, preventing them from carrying out their plans.

Then Merriek sent up a plow-gang and eight horses, and the tender green of Sam's quarter section was rapidly changed to a dull brown color, which is ominous to the eye of the Pike.

By day the brown spot grew larger, and one morning Sam arose to find all his neighbors departed, having wreaked their vengeance upon him by taking away his dogs. And in his delirium at their disappearance Sam freely forgave them.

Regularly the children were carried to and from school, and even to Sunday school. Regularly every evening Sam visited the grave on the hill-side, and came back to bed by the hour watching the sleeping landings.

Little by little Sam's wheat grew and waxed golden, and then there came a day when a man from Frisco came and elunged it into a heavier gold—more gold than Sam had ever seen before.

And the farmers began to step in to see Sam, and their children came to see his, and kind women were unusually kind to the orphan; and, as day by day Sam took his solitary walk up the hill-side, the load on his heart grew lighter, until he ceased to fear the day when he, too, should lie there.

What Will Become of the Northern Pacific? What is to become of the Northern Pacific railroad? The question inevitably rises upon the suspension of Jay Cooke & Co.

The construction of the Northern Pacific may be said to have been exclusively in the hands of this firm. The only partners Jay Cooke & Co. had in the enterprise were the bondholders.

Jay Cooke & Co. having failed, there is but one way in which the road can be completed, and that is for the bondholders to take up the road to meet the obligations of the construction.

There is nobody else to do it. The stock of the road is merely nominal. But $200,000 has been paid in on stock subscriptions, and Jay Cooke controlled that. The Government never advanced any money and has no interest in the road.

There have been no municipal subsidies, for there are no municipalities on the line of the road to subscribe them. There was a "Credit Mobilier" ring in it, of course, making profits out of the construction, but that will go to pot along with Jay Cooke & Co.

Another such ring cannot be formed, for it would be impossible for them to dispose of the bonds. The present bondholders, whoever they are, own what there is of the Northern Pacific, which consists of about 600 miles of poorly-constructed road running through a wilderness, and a land-grant equal to the proportion of railroad already completed, and not exceeding 15,000,000 of unsuitable acres located in a bleak and desolate stretch of country.

within twenty-four hours after the collapse of Cooke & Co. nineteen failures were announced among railway operators in that city. Only one of them, that of Fisk & Hatch, is really important, and it is said their suspension is only temporary.

Their failure is attributed to large advances to the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad. There were nine failures in Philadelphia on the day following the suspension of Cooke. The excitement in that city was even greater than in New York, and there was a great run on the savings banks, all of which stood firm.

Gen. Grant hastened to the capital, and, after a conference with Secretary Richardson, at once determined that the Secretary of the Treasury should come to the rescue of the New York market.

Accordingly, at midnight of Friday, the 19th, the Secretary sent a message to the Sub-Treasurer at New York, directing him to purchase $10,000,000 in immediate Treasury notes.

By this action over $10,000,000 was thrown upon the market, which, it is thought, will give relief and avert a general financial panic. The press, as a general thing, take a hopeful view of the situation, which has gone a long way in allaying the public excitement and averting a universal panic.

The day closes on the whole with fewer killed and wounded than might be expected, all things considered. No trust company has suspended, so far as we have heard; all the great railway corporations are apparently as firm as a rock.

Rumor, however, is not yet satisfied, and warns everybody to beware of rumor. Stock values have shrunk enormously, but when the bottom is fairly touched, a rebound, as usual, is inevitable.

Business in general is not yet paralyzed. The press, as a general thing, take a hopeful view of the situation, which has gone a long way in allaying the public excitement and averting a universal panic.

and that, with the exception of two or three, owned but very little stock. This may account for the bad management of the concern.

The National Trust Company, which suspended payment on Saturday, state that their liabilities do not exceed $4,000,000, and that the capital and assets of the company exceed their liabilities.

The day closes with confidence greatly improved, with a general opinion that the crisis is entirely over. There seems to be no reason why the banks should not now go along in a quiet and regular manner.

A dispatch from Philadelphia announces a subsidence of the excitement in that city. The State Bank has resumed payment.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Judge Richardson said this evening that he believed the storm was over, and that quiet and good order would soon be restored in financial and business circles.

The President decided to-day to send $20,000,000 of the National Treasury here to the Assistant Treasurer Hillhouse in New York to-night, to enable that officer to buy all bonds that may be offered.

A dispatch from Pittsburgh announces the failure of James T. Brady & Co. and the Security Trust Company.

It is stated that the Canada Southern Railway Company is seriously crippled by the panic.

A Renewal of the Panic in Wall Street - Failure of Henry Clews & Co. - New York, Sept. 23.—Wall street was quiet this morning, but it was the calm that invariably precedes a storm.

There was no crowd in the street, no noise, none of the confusion which has served, in the two or three days past, to accelerate and increase the panic; but, underneath this apparent serenity, there was lurking a great danger, which may yet precipitate universal disaster.

Men went to bed last night confident that the worst was over; they rose this morning confident in their security. The latest foreign advices helped to increase this confidence, for they spoke of no failures, though some distrust, and an easy market.

All rejoiced to know that the London market was firmer, American securities undamaged, and that, while dealings on the Paris and Frankfurt exchanges were limited, rates were encouraging.

Stock quotations in the street were better in every instance than they had been on the close of Saturday's operations on the Exchange.

Ratings banks officials were in good spirits, and few runs were reported. In the Gold Room the price of gold was placed at $12, a rate much lower than was expected to be established, and settlements were easy.

Stock brokers were much relieved by Jay Cooke's settlement, through his brokers, of 5,000 shares of stock at a reasonable price, which bankrupted nobody and relieved everybody.

But, while there was all this cheerful appearance of a crisis which had seemed to be impending, and encouraged people to hope that the panic was over, there were events occurring that showed how futile was the wish.

The morning reports of the suspension of banks began to come from all parts of the country. This news did not reach the general public until the afternoon, but the bankers and brokers were early advised of and warned by it.

PHANER I DON'T LIKE. I don't like to hear him pray, Who leans at twilight on his chair, For then I think the hour may pass, Be proved to pay for food and bread, And if that look we all should dread, Which says the leader shall be dead, As sure as I have eyes to read, It does not say, "Take heed."

SINGLE BLESSEDNESS.

Report of a Man Who Kept House While His Wife was off for the Summer.

My wife has gone away for the summer and left me in full charge of the house. I like it; haven't had such a run of liberty since we were married. I hope she's having a good time, for I can now exercise my rights as the head of the family. Can't do it when she's at home; she'll not stand it. She has rules, and makes everybody about her toe the mark. But I've got her now, and am having things my own way.

This morning I came home quite early. It was 2 A. M. I'd been to the club and got caught out in the rain. For half an hour I couldn't find the key hole, which must have got mislaid. I felt for it everywhere, and even got down into the yard and examined every brick, but couldn't find it. I was in the act of calling one of my neighbors, and asking him who had carried off my front door, when I happened to find it and got into the house.

In the dark I kicked over a spittoon, but luckily didn't get any of the tobacco juice on my boots. I hung my overcoat and umbrella on a prong of the chandelier, let them drip on the parlor carpet, went up stairs and turned in with my boots on. I thought it wasn't worth while to pull them off, as I would have to get up in eight or ten hours anyhow. If my wife had been at home she'd have had me looking an hour for the boot-jack, and I would have lost that amount of rest, which my system so much needed. Besides she'd have made me give a full account of myself, which I don't like to do. I never did believe in praising myself. It's better to let others speak of one's virtues. I can now wear a shirt a week and its nobody's business. I don't see how I ever did get along with that woman. The idea of having to put on a clean shirt, black my boots, and brush up my clothes every morning, is simply ridiculous. It is a miracle to me how I ever did it and attend to my other affairs. I now read the morning paper without being forced to see an impatient woman standing with her dress in one hand, looking very miserable, and finally telling me she is going down town, and wants that paper. Any one, to look at the house now, would know there's no woman about, everything is so quiet and comfortable and handy. If I want to do a little figuring I don't have to hunt up a pencil, or pen and ink, but I just sit down to one of the tables and do it with my finger, and there's nobody to be eternally wielding a dusting brush around my head, and telling me to get out of the way until the house is cleaned up. These are considerations every married man should ponder over. But when we do ponder and resolve, what good does it do? That's the question which is now agitating the American people. What good does it do? Not a bit. If these women can't have everything their own way, they swoon off into hysterics. As a consequence, we have to pay a fifty dollar doctor's bill, and stay in the house all day, fanning them and promising in the end that "we will be happy yet," before they show any disposition to compromise. Our wives are petted too much. And this reminds me that mine won't yield to any other treatment. I undertook to prescribe a more stringent remedy for her one day, but it threw her into a fit more like jim-jams than anything I know of. She broke every ylate in the house over my head, and then I had to kiss her before she would promise not to do it again. That's what makes me say she is set in her ways.

There, too, are the piano and guitar, which she kept going from morning until midnight, filling the whole neighborhood with discordant sounds which she called music. Both are as mute as the bird-cage which was vacated last week by a strategic movement of the cat. The 300 pots of flowers she left me to cultivate, I don't think will produce much of a crop. They're nearly all ripe now, and there's no sign of a flower yet. I have watered them twice since she left, but it did no good. I reckon they misa her, and are pining away because she ain't here. Our kitchen never looked better. The stove and pipe have assumed a beautiful red tint, and the pots are bringing forth a fine crop of white-looking vegetable mold, which I haven't learned the name of, but she will know it when she comes. The dishes don't look quite as bright and clean as they might, but the flies are bad this year, and if I were to wash them every two weeks they wouldn't present a respectable appearance.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvelous. In several cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by its use. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the accumulation of humors, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of the virtues of this medicine. Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and insidious enemy, undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of emphysema or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the viscera. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this Sarsaparilla: St. Anthony's Fire, Boas or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworms, Sore Eyes, Sore Throat, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also, in the more chronic Diseases, viz, Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Piles, Scleritis, Neuritis, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Scrofulous affections of the muscular and nervous systems are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Lasciviousness, Excess, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Beware of cheap imitations of this medicine, which are sold in many places, and which do not contain the ingredients of the original.

BRIEF MENTION.
Wheat sowing is nearly finished in this vicinity, and the corn mostly cut.
How to laugh at bank failures and burglars—is to pay your debts.
Chelsea had a visit from a bogus theatrical troupe last week; their intent was to humbug the people.
Owing to bank suspensions, which has caused a money panic—our wheat market was rather slim last week.
We call special attention to the business card of W. L. Hayden, Watch-maker and Jeweler, on third page.
Our streets have not been as full of teams and people as they were last Saturday, in a long time.
ACCIDENT.—On Saturday last, a man named A. Newton, living two miles south of Chelsea, cut his right foot badly with an axe, while cutting a log.
WEATHER.—Last Sunday the high winds was rather obnoxious, (especially to the ladies) as the breeze seemed to catch every sail; and in the evening we had a fine fall of rain.
Dreadful! how people will stand in their own light, and see their dwellings burned to the ground, and themselves left penniless, because they don't insure in the Watertown Insurance Company.
M. J. NOYES, Agent.
The first regular meeting of the Washenaw County Pioneer Society, is to be held at the Court House, in the city of Ann Arbor, on Monday, October 6th, 1873, at 10 o'clock A. M. An interesting time is anticipated.
Our County Fair which was in progress last week at Ann Arbor, was in every way a perfect success. There was some ten thousand people in attendance during the fair. We learn that the show of cattle, horses, vegetables, and fruits, was better than heretofore for some years, but there was a slim show of agricultural implements and machinery.
RATHER GREEN.—A certain business man in Chelsea, the other day, went up to a farmer, who was selling large radishes, and asked him how he sold them turnips. The farmer seeing he had a green customer, told him how much for them; so he purchased about ten or fifteen—took them home and cooked them; and after eating them, said they were the strongest turnips he ever had ate in Chelsea.

Cost! Cost!—Gilbert & Crowell, of Chelsea, Mich., have decided to close out their entire stock of Goods, consisting of Dry Goods, Groceries, Ladies' and Children's Shoes, Crockery, &c. They will sell at actual cost from this day (Saturday, September 27th, 1873). No hoax about this. Come and see. Terms—ready pay. All persons indebted to the above firm, will please give them a call, and pay up at once.
The Whitaker's of Lima, will sell at public auction on the Fair Grounds, at Chelsea, on October 3d, 1873, forty Bucks, and a party of Ewes, from their celebrated flock of Spanish Sheep. They will sell at private sale on the first and second days of the Fair, and at public sale on the last day of the Fair. Ira Cushman, Salesman. See advertisement on second page.

New WATCHMAKING AND REPAIRING SHOP.—W. L. Hayden, Watch-maker and Engraver, would respectfully announce to the citizens of Chelsea and vicinity, that he has opened a Watch Repairing Establishment, in C. H. Kempf's Furniture Store, and is prepared to do repairing of every description: Such as English, Swiss and American Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, &c. From my long practical experience, I can safely guarantee that all my work will be done in a workmanlike manner, and at prices that will give satisfaction to all, who may favor me with a call.
CIRCUIT COURT.—The following cases not heretofore reported in our columns, have been disposed of by the Circuit Court at the present term:
Christian Mack and Frederick Schmidt vs. Daniel Allen. Judgment on default; $139.45.
Lucius D. Watkins vs. John Bauer. Judgment on default; $161.08.
Same plaintiff vs. John Bauer and Albert Gaaling. Judgment on default; $204.16.
David H. Waite vs. Caroline Waite. Decree of divorce granted.
Reuben Kempf vs. Hiram Van Tassel, Ann Van Tassel, and Albert Congdon. Foreclosure. Order for sale made.
Henry Druse vs. Aaron R. Wheeler et al. The York church shed case. Jury trial. Verdict for plaintiff; $10.79. Until October 3rd allowed for either party to move for a new trial.
Sylvester Parce vs. Tarrassa Parce. Decree of divorce granted.
Henry Marshall vs. Cornelius J. Henion et al. Trial by jury. Verdict for plaintiff; damages, $411.44.
William A. Burham vs. Joseph Forbes Replevin. Jury trial.

SAVINGS FOR OLD AGE.—No one denies that it is wise to make provision for old age, but we are not at all agreed as to the kind of provision it is best to lay in. Certainly we shall want a little money, for a destitute old man is, indeed, a sorry sight; yes, save money by all means. But an old man needs just that particular kind of strength which young men are apt to waste. Many a foolish young fellow will throw away on a holiday a certain amount of energy, which he will never feel the want of until he is seventy, and then how much he will want it! It is curious, but true, that a bottle of champagne at twenty will intensify the rheumatism at three-score. It is a fact that overtaking the eyes at fourteen may necessitate the aid of spectacles at forty, instead of sixty.
We advise our young readers to be saving of health for their old age, for the maxim holds good in regard to health as to money—"Waste not, want not." It is the greatest mistake to suppose that violation of the laws of health can escape its penalty. Nature forgives no sin, no error; she lets off the offender for fifty years sometimes, but she catches him at last, and inflicts the punishment just when, just where, and just how he feels it most. Save up for old age, but save knowledge; save the recollection of good and noble deeds, innocent pleasures, and pure thoughts; save friends, save love. Save rich stores of that kind of wealth which time can not diminish, nor death take away.

HURRAH!!!—The place to buy your cheap Goods, is at J. G. Wackenhut's, in Chelsea, Mich. His Dry Goods consist of fine Black Alpaca, fine Colored Alpaca, fine White Goods, Lace Colars, etc. Also, French and English Cassimeres, fine Cassimeres Suits, Opera Plaunels, Plaunels, etc. Gent's Furnishing Goods—such as Wrappers, Drawers, Over Shirts, Collars, Neck Ties, etc. Fancy and Staple Groceries—consisting of Teas, Coffees, Sugars, etc., etc. The highest market price paid in cash for Butter and Eggs. Do not fail to call and examine his Goods, before purchasing elsewhere. Store on Main street.

AUCTION SALE.—E. B. Hovey & Son, of Chelsea, will sell at Public Sale on the Fair Ground, on Thursday, October 2nd, 1873, their entire stock of Buggies and Democrat Wagons. Terms easy—made known on day of Sale. Ira Cushman, Salesman.

Attention is called to the double column dry goods advertisement of P. R. Sablin & Co., of Jackson, on second page.
When a discoverer of any scientific subject, asks the co-operation of the learned in science, to test the merit and truth of his discovery by severe tests and practical results, and then to endorse and recommend it, it is fair to presume it is valuable for the purpose intended. Such has been the course pursued by Messrs. Hall & Co., proprietors of Hall's Vegetable Sulfur Hair Renewer. And all those who have tested it (among whom we may mention Dr. A. A. Hayes and S. Dana, Chemists and State Assayers of Massachusetts; Walter Burnham, M. D., Professor of Surgery in Pennsylvania University, Philadelphia; Geo. Gray, M. D., Professor of Anatomy and Physiology) assert it is the best preparation in use for all cutaneous diseases of the scalp. Restores gray hair to its original color, prevents the hair from falling out, creates a new growth. It is certainly worthy of a trial. —Newburyport Herald of Gospel Liberty.

NEWS SUMMARY.

The East. The arguments on the motion of Mr. Evans to dismiss the Credit Mobilier suits on the ground of inconsequentiality have been concluded at Hartford, and the case taken under advisement by the Court. This closes the Credit Mobilier case for the present. The decision will probably be given as soon as reached, but that time is uncertain.

The West. The Yellowstone expedition has completed its mission, and will shortly start on its home ward march. It has been a complete success, having accomplished every object for which it was inaugurated. An area of 29,000 square miles of unknown territory has been explored, the Indians thoroughly thrashed, and the survey of the Northern Pacific railway completed. Twenty-four hours' imprisonment in the sentence pronounced upon the Maritimes, the prisoners concerned in kidnapping Lord George. The temper of the Court and people seems to have become much mollified. Gov. Austin, of Minnesota, who was present, was invited to a seat on the bench by the judges. The trial was received with interest by the audience, and after the formalities of trial had been observed, the Americans and their friends spent the evening socially in the hall. A high tide of Chicago was visited, on the 17th inst., by a destructive conflagration. A spark from a passing locomotive set fire to a haystack, which was fanned into a flame.
