The Chelsea HERALD, almost makes us believe, that Detroit is too near Chelsea, instead of Dexter, ever to amount to anything.—Ypsilanti Sentinel.

Through the kindness of C. H. Wines, we are able, for once again, to publish a legal notice. We hope all of our readers will favor us with their legal printing when they have any.

Our readers will please notice that we are living up to our promise,—giving them as much reading matter, no matter how much advertising we do. The advertisements are profitable reading for you, and we hope that you will each week consult our columns. See the supplement.

McMillan & Randall, of Ann Arbor, speak to the readers of the HERALD this week through a half column "ad". The firm is widely known for its business integrity, and good work, and as Mr. E. E. Shaver is its representative in Chelsea, all kinds of frames &c., can be secured with little trouble.

The play "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," presented last Friday evening, at the Town Hall, by the Dramatic Association of Grass Lake, was a decided success. The parts were rendered well, and no draw back took place. The new scenery was all that could be wished for. The gross proceeds were about $70, and netted the hall $27.

Summary of business done at the post-office for the month ending Feb 28, 1883:
No. of money orders issued—eighty-three—calling for $623.61
No. of three cent stamps sold, 4160
No. of other denominations, 1270
No. of postal cards, 2,150
No. of envelopes and wrappers, 525

Of three men closing out their business because trade has not been satisfactory, two have not advertised at all, and the third but little. Herein is a lesson which ought to be profitable to those remaining, for, such of our tradesmen as have judiciously used the columns of reputable and well established newspapers have prospered and consequently made money.—Argus.

The Sons of Temperance will hold a "box social" to-morrow evening at their hall. Each lady attending is requested to bring refreshments for two, in a box containing her name. The gentlemen buy the boxes, thus securing eatables and a partner for the evening. A general invitation is extended.—Ypsilantian. Why can't something of this kind be enjoyed by Chelsea people?

Parker & Babcock this week, charter one column of the HERALD, to make known to our many readers, a few of their specialties. As both of these young men have been among you for a number of years, they can be depended upon for straight-forward statements. It will pay all (especially the ladies) to read their "ad," which occupies a very prominent part on the fifth page.

To-day, one of Chelsea's most honored young men leaves for the east, to take a more lucrative position. It is G. H. Gay, who for one year has handed out the mail from the post-office, to the best of satisfaction to the post-master, and the thousands of people who get their mail at this office. Although we regret to lose him from among us, we are pleased to know he will financially better himself, and hope he will like his new position very much. His address will hereafter be Bordentown, N. J.

The following are the names of persons who have favored us with the "ready cash," for the HERALD, since February 21st, and to whom we tender our sincere thanks:

Geo. P. Glazier of Chelsea, and R. F. Latimer of Rhode Island have bargained for the corner lot north of Forbes & Son's store, on which to establish a drug store. Mr. Latimer will be here in a few days. Mr. O. S. Gregory, (who has just returned from the convention at Saginaw), informs us that he saw Mr. Hammond, the firm's carpenter, at that place, who told him that he had just bought the lumber, which would be shipped to Chelsea and framed forthwith, as it is desired to have the building on the ground in thirty days.—Stockbridge Sentinel. You ought to be proud of the new firm when it gets established.

DATED, March 6, 1883.

Obituary.

At his residence in Lima, Thursday Feb. 22d, 1883, of consumption, E. G. Cooper, aged 73 years. Mr. Cooper was born in Manchester, New York, in 1810. He came to Michigan in the spring of 1831 and located the land upon which he resided until his death. In the year 1835 he came on his farm and began improvements by felling trees, building fences, plowing the soil, and erecting suitable and convenient buildings for the accommodation of his large farm, until it has come to be regarded one of the best in western Washtenaw. He is one of the last of the pioneers of this county, who located land from the Government. Mr. Cooper was twice married; first to Charlotte Depew, a daughter of Henry Depew, one of the early settlers of Sylvan, by whom he had two children, Frank E. Cooper, who has always resided at home; Francis E. Chipman, who now resides in the township of Putman, Livingston Co. His second wife was Mrs. Elizabeth Frost, by whom he had four daughters. The eldest is the wife of Charles Conklin, son of Calvin T. Conklin, who was the second child born in Sylvan township. Mr. Cooper was earnest, energetic, and persevering in his work of reclaiming his beautiful and productive farm from the wilds of the forest. Politically, he was a republican; an early advocate of the abolition of slavery, always a strong advocate of temperance. He was a member of the Methodist church. The last few years of his life, he became so deaf, that he did not attend church, being unable to hear any common tone of voice, either in conversation or public address. He died with an intelligent and saving belief in the religion of Christ. In closing this brief sketch, I feel justified in saying that Mr. Cooper possessed many pleasant and admirable traits of character, worthy of emulation, that will long be remembered by his family and friends. C. H. W.

As they took the business when the custom had all left the yards, this is a very good showing. We hope they will continue to prosper.

CHELSEA, MICH., Feb. 26, '83.

Editor Freeman.—Kindly announce to your patrons that looking forward to the time when they will bestow less of their business favors upon Chelsea, and more upon Stockbridge, and having, during the past fifteen years constant business relations with them, learn to value their friendship and patronage, I am unwilling now to part company with them; I have therefore succeeded in inducing Mr. Robert F. Latimer of Rhode Island to join me in a Drug Business in Stockbridge, similar to that carried on in Chelsea, by Glazier, DePuy & Co. As I am personally permanently located in Chelsea, Mr. L. will have entire management of the business at Stockbridge, and from my intimate acquaintance with him for the past thirty years, I can assure the reader of the Sentinel that he is worthy of their esteem, confidence, and patronage, as a genial Christian gentleman, correct capable business man and as an excellent apothecary of large experience. Yours sincerely, GEORGE P. GLAZIER.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

WASHINGTON.

WANTED IN DUBLIN.
The department of state has received the application of the British government for the extradition of P. J. Sheridan, of New York, suspected of complicity in the Phoenix Park murders in Dublin. Carey, the informer, testified that Sheridan was one of the organizers of the "Invincibles," which Sheridan denies.

OPPOSED TO HIM.

The Senate committee are investigating charges of corruption which have been preferred against Robert G. Dryden, the newly-appointed assistant commissioner of patents. He is charged with bribery, tampering with papers pending before him, and other forms of crookedness. What the outcome will be it is hard to determine.

JUDGMENT AGAINST UNCLE SAM.

In the Court of Claims, a judgment was rendered in favor of the Hannibal & St. Joseph Railway Company for $38,984.41 in a claim against the United States under a contract for carrying the mails.

MISSING.

Two weeks ago H. M. Vaile, one of the defendants in the star route cases, went west to be present at the death bed of his wife, who lived in New Mexico. There has been ample time for him to have returned but he has not done so. While no action has been taken by the court, the government or the bondsmen of Vaile, it is understood that, if he does not appear in an appearance soon, steps will be taken to discover the reason why. Vaile willed all his property to his wife a year ago, and was consequently left a poor man at her death, the property going to her relatives. Mr. Kerr, of the government's counsel, said to-day that he did not think Vaile would return, and that he had probably gone to join Spencer.

ABOUT THE ANNAPOLIS TROUBLE.

Secretary Chandler has approved the action taken by Capt. Ramsey in the recent trouble with the cadets at the Annapolis Naval Academy. Capt. Ramsey submitted the names of three cadets, who declined to apologize to him for their conduct, to the Secretary, giving him authority to exercise any further discipline necessary.

NOT ACTED UPON.

Nearly 600 bills are left unreported by the House committee on military affairs. The most notable among them are the Grant retirement bill and the House bill to restore Fitz John Porter.

POSTPONED.

At a recent executive session the Senate voted to postpone consideration of the Mexican commercial treaty until December.

ON THE ANXIOUS SEAT.

The printers employed in the government printing office are very anxious lest the amendment proposed by Mr. Anthony directing the public printer to employ workmen at market rates in Philadelphia, Baltimore and Richmond, should be adopted. It is thought probable this amendment, or one even more stringent will be adopted, and thus bring the office down to a business basis. Should this be done capable printers and binders, not members of the union, will have an opportunity to share the employment offered by this great institution.

WILL NOT CONCUR.

The House will not concur in the action taken by the Senate on the tax and tariff bill, and a joint conference committee, consisting of five members from each house, has been appointed. The committee consists of the following members: Messrs. Morrill, Sherman, Aldrich, Bayard and Beck from the Senate; and Messrs. Kelley, McKinley, Haskell, Randall and Carlisle from the House.

A NATURALIZATION QUESTION.

Mr. Edmunds has reported adversely to the Senate from the Committee on Judiciary House bill to provide for the restoration to citizenship of such citizens of the United States as have become naturalized as subjects of Great Britain and desire to return to their original allegiance. This bill was introduced to give the force of law to the third article of the convention between the United States and Great Britain, concluded May 30, 1870, which provides that "if any citizen of the United States naturalized within the dominions of Her Britannic Majesty shall renew his residence in the United States, the United States Government may, on his own application, and on such conditions as that government may think fit to impose, readmit him to the character and privileges of citizens of the United States, and Great Britain shall not in that case claim him as a British subject on account of his former naturalization."

HARTSUFF WINS.

The President has nominated Gen. Hartsuff to be collector at Port Huron.

IT PASSED.

The bill granting an increase of pension to one-armed and one-legged soldiers has passed the Senate. The bill as passed is in the following language: "That from and after the passage of this act all persons on the pension roll and all persons hereafter granted a pension, who, while in the military or naval service of the United States and in the line of duty shall have lost one hand, or one foot, or been so totally or permanently disabled as to render their incapacity to perform manual labor equivalent to the loss of a hand or foot, shall receive a pension of $24 per month; that persons now on the pension rolls, and all persons hereafter granted pensions, who, in like manner, shall have lost either an arm at or above the elbow, or a leg, at or above the knee, or shall have been otherwise so disabled as to be incapacitated for performing any manual labor, but not so much as to require regular personal aid and attendance, shall receive a pension of $30 per month. Provided, that nothing contained in this act shall be construed to repeal section 4690 of the revised statutes, or to change the rate of $18 per month therein mentioned to be proportionately divided for any degree of disability established for which section 4695 makes no provision."

THEY DON'T AGREE.

Democratic senators have refused to serve on the tariff conference committee, and at recent meeting of that committee it was impossible to transact any business.

ENTIRELY SATISFACTORY.

The entire delegation in the House express satisfaction over Palmer's election. They say Palmer is a man who will make his mark here. He has brains, wealth and superb social qualities, and will be a power in the Senate.

CONGER'S WORK.

The item in the sundry civil bill for a light house at the mouth of Detroit river has been raised in the Senate on Conger's motion from $20,000 to $40,000.

TO BE RE-ADJUSTED.

The bill re-adjusting the salaries of postmasters to conform to the reduced rates of postage, has passed the House. The measure met with the hearty approval of the postoffice department and was considered the fairest and best proposition that could be drawn. The object of the bill is to adjust the salaries of 47,000 postmasters. The bill retained the present classification of postmasters as to the first class. The bill carried $12,000 additional compensation. The salaries of the postmasters were increased from $1,000 to $5,000, and at Cincinnati, Baltimore, San Francisco and Washington from $4,000 to $5,000. The compensations to second and third class postoffices remained as at present. The rate of commission granted fourth-class postmasters has been changed so that they would receive about the same under the new law as they did under the three cent law.

DOES IT RECORD?

The Washington Evening Star of the 2d inst., says: "Does the Congressional Record record? If not, what is the use of printing it under the pretense that it is an official transcript of the proceedings of Congress? There is not a word in to-day's issue of that publication to show that there occurred in the House of Representatives last night a scene which no one can fail to pronounce disgraceful in the extreme. It was an unpleasant truth; yet, to read the official proceedings as printed in the record, one would suppose that all the members had behaved with the utmost dignity and decorum. Its reports of the Senate proceedings are no better. A few days ago two members of that body exchanged opinions the reverse of complimentary, but their remarks, although uttered in loud and threatening tones, apparently failed to reach the ears of the official reporters, as their report gave not the slightest sign of what occurred. If it were not for the daily papers the country would get but an imperfect and indeed false idea of what actually occurred in Congress."

PRESIDENT PRO TEM.

The Republican members of the Senate held a caucus on the 2d inst., and selected Mr. Edmunds as the candidate for President pro tem. to succeed Mr. Davis. No opposition. It was voted at the same caucus, that there would be no extra session of the Senate.

AGREED TO.

The conference committee have agreed upon a report on the tariff bill. Mr. Morrill has presented and explained the same to the Senate. He said the entire amount of reduction to result from the passage of the bill was estimated at $75,000,000.

DAVID'S FAREWELL.

The following is the full text of the address of David Davis in resigning the office of president pro tem. of the Senate:

"Senators—Gratitude fails to express the feeling which moves me in responding to the generous expressions in the resolution you have adopted. As the presiding officer of this honored body, I have received courteous co-operation from both sides and constant kindness in the discharge of my official duties, and in my personal intercourse I ought to be, and I believe I fully am, sensible of the obligations imposed by these acts, the more so as I entered upon the duties of the chair almost a stranger to parliamentary practices. Six years have passed away since the legislature of Illinois conferred upon me the trust which is about to expire by constitutional limitation. I neither sought nor expected an election which was brought about by a union of elements. Political opinions have separated me from the two great parties and have subjected my action here and elsewhere to the criticism of organs of both organizations. A public man who steps outside of regular party lines is exposed to misrepresentation of his motives and the charge of weakness in his conduct. He gets no credit for the moral courage of self-assertion and none for casting aside ambition in defense of his principles. In legislating I have sought to consider measures solely with reference to the public good and without the least regard to their political paternity. Above and beyond all other objects, my great aim has been to extinguish the strife of sections and to see the Union restored in all its integrity. Thank God, that day has now come. North and south are only geographical expressions. Fifty millions of free, happy and prosperous people rejoice in a reunited country, strengthened by the sternest of human trials. I shall carry away with me and cherish as a solace in private life the cordial friendships formed here. It will be a constant pleasure to reflect upon that no jar has disturbed the administration of the high office which I now resign, bidding an affectionate farewell to every member of the senate and to every officer connected with it."

OVER.

The 27th congress closed its labors on Saturday, March 3.

AT LAST.

Saturday, March 24 was a memorable day in the House. The protectionists have won a great victory. It is to be attributed largely to the astuteness of their Senatorial leaders and able and cunning management of the principal and most powerful protected interests. After the action of the Senate on the conference report on the tariff bill, there was no longer any doubt that the House would take the same action. A vigorous effort was made by the opponents of the bill to defeat its final passage, and hours were spent quibbling over points of order, and other questions of no importance whatever, except as a means of deferring action on the bill. All attempts to defeat its passage were in vain, and when a vote was taken at five o'clock its final passage was announced. The bill was at once sent to the Senate, where it was signed by the president of that body. A few minutes after President Arthur affixed his signature, and the bill is now a law.

POSTMASTERS' SALARIES.

The bill to adjust the salaries of postmasters in conformity with the reduced rates of postage has been signed by the President.

THE SURVIVORS.

Secretary Chandler on the 3d inst. received a cable message from Minister Hunt at St. Petersburg, stating that Ensign Hunt and party, including Bartlett and other survivors of the Jeannette, arrived at St. Petersburg on that date all in good health.

NEWS NOTES.

BROKEN UP.

Late advices from the Creek Nation say the rebellion there is pretty well broken up. Spiochee, the leader, is in exile at the Cheyenne agency, and Gen. Porter, commander of the government party, has captured a lot of other rebel leaders and is taking active measures to prevent any further concentration of the opposition forces.

ALMOST EPIDEMIC.

Notwithstanding strenuous efforts to throttle it, small-pox appears to be getting the upper hand of the authorities at Denver and vicinity. The Leadville public schools are closed. A new pest house is being built. The alarm is becoming general, also reaching out into the surrounding towns. Some of them are establishing quarantine. The Denver authorities are using every precaution to prevent its appearance there, and have been successful thus far.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

Judge Barrett in the superior court chambers at New York on February 23, decided in favor of the application of Jay Gould and Wm. N. Cameron, through Attorney General Russell, for leave to bring an action in the name of the people of the state of New York to annul the charter of the Mutual Union telegraph company because of alleged fraudulent issue of stock. Judge Barrett in his decision says: "If the allegations of the proposed complaint be true, and they are not denied upon this motion, the company's charter should certainly be annulled, and the attorney general would be derelict in his duty if he failed to proceed. Not only can the action be maintained upon the proof of the charter, but public property demands that it shall be prosecuted. The action is essentially a state action, not the less so because the relators may desire its prosecution for reasons of their own. It follows that the people should be permitted to bring the action, not because the relators request it, but because the facts justify it and the public interest demands it. The only effect of the relation is to indemnify the people against the cost, and expenses of litigation, and if the relators are willing to assume that burden, so much the better for the state. The application is granted."

SCHILLER INDICTED FOR ARSON.

The grand jury in the Newhall house case have agreed on a true bill against Schiller, former lessee of the bar room in the hotel, indicting him for arson. The indictment contains three counts. The first charges the prisoner with wilfully, maliciously and feloniously setting fire to and burning the Newhall house during the night of January 10, causing the death of Thos. H. Elliott, David G. Power, Robert Howie, Kate Connors, Lizzie Anglin and Libbie A. Chellis. No other victims are mentioned in the count. The second repeats the first, and adds that the building was owned by the Newhall House Stock Company, a corporation created and existing by and under the laws of Wisconsin; and the third count is a repetition of the second, with the addition that the building commonly known and called the Newhall House was leased to and occupied by one John F. Antisdell. Schiller's counsel was at once notified, and insisted upon an immediate arraignment, which was granted. After the reading of the indictment the prisoner answered the usual question "not guilty, sir," in a firm, steady voice. Bail has been fixed at $10,000. The trial has been set for March.

RATHER SENSATIONAL.

Sensational reports are current in Boston that Jennie Cramer, believed to have been murdered by the Malloys at New Haven, has been found alive.

UNCERTAIN.

Henry Kellogg, a mining speculator of Leadville, has disappeared with some $30,000, most of which is claimed by other parties. Opinions are divided as to whether he has absconded or been murdered.

A FATAL SNOW SLIDE.

An unusually large number of snow slides have recently taken place in the mining regions of Utah, Idaho and California. A Teller, Col., dispatch of February 27 says a mail carrier has just arrived there with particulars of a slide at the Tupper mine, Middle Park. Three men named Duty, Williams and Booth were killed by it. Their cries were heard for hours, but rescue was impossible.

THE SAME OLD STORY.

The regions along the lower Mississippi are suffering as usual from broken and breaking levees. Three have broken in Louisiana and the railroads in the vicinity are all under water.

PROMISED SANE.

Mary Irene Hoyt, daughter of Jesse Hoyt, committed to the Friends' Insane Asylum near Philadelphia in June last, has been released and pronounced sane. She says she was put out of the way to keep her from her father's death bed, and will contest his will on the ground of undue influence. The physicians' certificate upon which Miss Hoyt was committed was not filed, and the physicians have been cited to court to explain.

BADLY SHAKEN.

Norwich, Conn., was startled by an earthquake shaking buildings in an alarming manner. It lasted three to five seconds, accompanied by a deep rumbling. About the same time a brilliant meteor shot across the sky, northeast to northwest, emitting a dazzling white light and flames, having an apparent diameter of eight feet.

HE UNDERSTOOD IT.

Mr. Merrick, counsel for the government on the star route trials, stated to the court yesterday that no promise of immunity had been given to Redell on condition of his taking the witness stand for the government, and that it was expressly stipulated that he must rely on the mercy of the court.

FERRY'S UTAH TROUBLES.

The affairs of Ferry Bros. at Salt Lake City, Utah, are assuming serious shape. Suits are crowding on all sides. The latest instituted is against the Marsac mining company, in which Senator Ferry is interested, and involves the title to the town of Park City. Fraud in securing patent is alleged.

ANOTHER TRUANT.

Louis P. Carman, ex-Secretary of the Manhattan Fire Insurance Company of New York has been missing since Feb. 25th. The accounts of the company are short $40,000.

ADVICE TO CONVICTS.

The mutiny at Sing Sing prison having been quelled, the superintendent a few days ago informed those lately in revolt that they would have an opportunity to establish themselves in the confidence of the prison officers. He advised cheerful compliance with the regulations, saying it was for themselves to make life burdensome or comparatively comfortable. The law sent them here and said they should labor. He was warranted in saying that the governor would withhold commutations from insubordinates.

PROHIBITION PROHIBITED.

In the Missouri House of Representatives the committee reported recommending that the prohibition amendment to the Constitution do not pass. An amendment was offered providing that any legislation for carrying prohibition into effect should make provision to reimburse brewers, distillers and others for losses they may sustain as a result. The amendment was laid upon the table by a test vote of 68 ayes to 50 noes, and thus the prohibition question in Missouri is settled for this session of the Legislature.

PURE CUSSEDNESS.

The railroad riots at Evanston, Ill., were resumed early on Wednesday morning, March 1, when 500 residents, armed with crowbars and other tools, tore up over 1,000 feet of the Chicago & Evanston railroad. Many women assisted.

THE GRAND JURY'S REPORT.

The grand jury in the Newhall house disaster has rendered its verdict. The document cites that the fire originated at or near the base of the elevator. The dense, suffocating smoke, and heat, having no outlet in the elevator shaft, filled the corridors and made escape impossible. All the lives were lost within thirty minutes after the discovery of the fire. They find that the Newhall was constructed in as substantial a manner as such buildings usually are, and that there was scarcely a hotel in the country as easy of egress as the Newhall. The owners had done all that was reasonable for protection and escape in case of accident. They find that Landford Antisdell was extremely solicitous for the welfare and safety of his guests; that, however, he did not employ sufficient men or means to alarm the guests, but will say in extenuation that he adopted the same precautions as in hotels of like size, and calls attention to the unparalleled rapidity of the smoke and flames. He was at fault in not instructing his help as to their duties in case of fire, and not giving sufficient attention to the bar-room after knowing the habits of the tenant. They find that all the help of the hotel at the time of the fire, Lincham, engineer, alone made proper exertion to save life. They commend the Police and Fire Departments, and recommend the enlargement of the latter. They ensure the coroner for the manner the morgue was kept, and find that the laws regulating the modes of egress from buildings are defective.

CHICAGO'S SCHOOL HOUSES.

In view of the recent parochial school disaster in New York, at the request of the Board of Education the City Building Inspector is making a special examination of the public schools. Thus far, almost without exception, they have been found faulty in construction and dangerous. The steampipes pass close to wooden partitions and the doors open inward.

A SINGULAR MURDER.

Geo. W. Haight is a justice of the peace and one of the most prominent citizens of De Ruyter, N. Y. On the morning of March 1st his housekeeper was awakened by the report of a pistol, and hastening down to the report of a pistol, she found him sitting on the floor in his night clothes and unconscious. Mrs. Haight was in bed. The housekeeper called a doctor, and when he arrived Mr. Haight had crawled into bed. His pillow was saturated with blood and there was a wound near his right eye. A pistol, wrapped in cotton cloth which was pinned to the pillow, was found under the pillow. The wound was probed and the ball found in his brain. Mr. Haight recovered sufficiently to make a deposition in which he declares he did not fire the shot and did not know who did. He said the weapon had been kept in a stand drawer at the foot of the bed. Mrs. Haight says she did not hear the shot at all and knows nothing about it. She has a good insurance on Mr. Haight's life. He is her third husband, and her two former husbands are said to have died suddenly.

ENOUGH TO SCARE HIM.

John O'Neill, a liquor dealer of Whitehall, N. Y., has been found guilty of 457 offenses under the Civil Rights bill, and sentenced to pay a fine $9,000, with $500 costs, and a month's imprisonment. The alternative of the sentence will be eighty years' imprisonment. O'Neill furnished $10,000 bail and appealed.

SORELY AFFLICTED.

Nearly two-thirds of Gallatin county, Ill., is flooded, and dysentery, pneumonia and malarial fever prevail to an alarming extent. Fences are washed away, stock drowned and a large part of the inhabitants driven from their homes.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER.

A Buffalo jury has just awarded the Lake Shore railroad a $2,000 judgment against Erie county for a passenger car burned by a mob during the riots of 1877.

ALMOST ROASTED.

A fire broke out in the third story of a brick building at No. 18 Valdeavere street New York city, on the 3d inst. The building was stored with a large number of barrels of lubricating oil. There was such an intense smoke that the firemen had difficulty in approaching the burning building. The occupiers of the place are Swan & Dick, oil dealers, and the New York popular publishing company. There were 30 people at work at the time of the fire, including about 20 young girls. Escape was at first thought impossible. The girls and men rushed to the windows screaming loudly for help, many of them fainting from fright. Most of the inmates escaped by means of a skylight. No lives were lost. Estimate of losses on property: Swan & Dick, $20,000; Popular publishing company, $15,000; other occupants, $10,000; on the building, $5,000; total about $50,000. The building is the old Harper mansion adjoining the roadway of the Brooklyn bridge. Many of the girls escaped by means of fire escapes outside of the building.

THEY ARE NOT PLEASED.

Steel manufacturers say the tariff bill, as passed is a severe blow to their interests, as well as to that of cotton tie and wire rod manufacturers. The latter claim that they will be forced to quit business.

THEY DON'T LIKE IT.

Gov. Cleveland's veto of the five-cent fare bill causes great excitement in New York, the great majority of people regarding his reason as insufficient and indicating a disposition on his part to favor monopolies at the expense of the people.

AN ELEVATOR BURNED.

Dunlap's elevator at Albany, N. Y., burned on Saturday, the 3d inst. Three persons were killed, and three others seriously injured by falling walls. The loss is about $275,000.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

BETWEEN CHURCH AND STATE.

The government of Chili remains firm in its determination to appoint its own ecclesiastical dignitaries. The Pope's legate has left the country. Congress is expected to vote only the salaries of priests the government has named. Church disestablishment is becoming a national question.

MORE DISTRESS.

Accounts from the district of Gwerdore, County Donegal, in the northwestern part of Ireland, indicate that the condition of the people is distressing. The medical officer of the district reports that the children are much emaciated in consequence of the scantiness of their diet and general use of sea-weed as the principal meal. There is a sick person in almost every house, owing to want of food.

TRAVELER'S VIEWS.

In the House of Commons recently Trevelyan said, although the government had no large measure concerning the government of Ireland to introduce this year, they intended to bring forward several useful measures with regard to the distress there. The truth was the holdings in the west of Ireland were too small and the people could not live without getting into debt. The question was whether, by giving extraordinary relief, the government should stay emigration, which the poor were not averse to, and merely postpone the evil day.

DISSATISFIED.

The Radicals in Paris are angry at the arrest of Frank Byrne, at the instance of the British government. The Intransigent accuses the government of basely cringing in order to meet English exigencies. An active investigation is being made into the circumstances of the arrest. It is expected other arrests of persons supposed to be connected with the troubles in Ireland will be made. Byrne was arrested on the direct charge of assassination.

THE LONDON TIMES' OPINION.

The Times in an article touching the applications of England to the United States and French governments for the extradition of Sheridan and Byrne says: "No candid American or Frenchman would contend that the case of the Phoenix Park murders was covered by the privilege accorded political offenders, and asserted in Great Britain in the case of Orsini, who attempted the life of the Emperor Napoleon in 1858, 'but,' the Times says, 'if only complicity in the organization of a secret society is alleged against Byrne and Sheridan, their extradition will possibly be refused.'"

PARNELL EXPECTED.

Parnell has written the president of the land league of America that if there is no prospect of further legislation for Ireland during the present session of parliament, he will proceed to the United States to attend the proposed convention in Philadelphia.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY.

A prospector just returned from the Kootenay district near Victoria, B. C., brings a specimen nearly pure silver ore of marvelous richness and nearly pure. He says the mines are of vast extent, and it is estimated that in one location there are 250,000 tons of ore in sight. The value of the mines at present discovered is $500,000,000. One seam is one hundred feet thick. He tells of great veins of pure copper visible in the hillsides. The mines are within sixty miles of the route selected by the Canadian Pacific Railway, via Kicking Horse Pass.

IRISH IMMIGRATION.

A London, Ont., dispatch of the 2d inst., says Geo. Stephens of the Canadian Pacific syndicate, has made a suggestion in the London Free Press for relieving distress in Ireland by assisting the immigration of 10,000 agriculturists to the Canadian northwest, and he offers to provide capital for starting by way of loan.

IN THE TOILET.

Walsh, the man incriminated by informer Carey in the Dublin murders, was arrested at first as Hyland and his age as 63. It is reported that he has made a full confession of his connection with the Phoenix park murders.

WON'T GIVE UP.

Wiggins, the Canadian weather prophet, adheres to his predictions of a storm March 9-11. He says it will be as great a storm as ever occurred upon earth or can possibly occur. Is positive a tidal wave will occur in the Bay of Bengal, coast of Australia and Gulf of Mexico.

LIBERAL.

The Empress of Germany has given 1,000

marks to the fund for the relief of the sufferers by the floods in America.

ANOTHER "NO. 1."

A London correspondent of the Freeman's Journal asserts that a warrant has been actually issued for the man known as "Number 1," copies of which have been sent to Liverpool and Birmingham. There is reason to believe that he will shortly be arrested. The correspondent adds that England has no option but to apply to the French and American governments for the extradition of Byrne and Sheridan. If foreign states think they can justly and prudently withdraw alleged murderers, or instigators of murder, from trial, the responsibility is primarily theirs.

THE CZAR'S PICNIC.

Moscow has voted 200,000 roubles for the festivities attending the coronation of the czar. Among other arrangements for delighting the peasantry there are to be 16 fountains with 40,000 bottles of beer, each kept flowing, free to all, during the day. The share which the nobles are to take in the entertainment is still uncertain, and will be awaited with interest.

AN ALIBI.

Friends of Frank Byrne, for whose extradition the French government has been asked, have taken steps to secure numerous affidavits of members of parliament and others, testifying that they saw Byrne in London May 6 last, the day of the Phoenix park murders.

JURISDICTION IN TUNIS.

The French senate adopted a bill organizing French jurisdiction in Tunis. The minister of foreign affairs, replying to a question of the Duke Broglie, stated that all the powers as to the abolition of capitulations, one however, desiring to see the French tribunals at work first.

THE BISHOP'S OPINION.

A letter from the Bishop of Raphoe, County Donegal, is published in which he says the only chance the destitute people have to maintain life is through charity. He says the policy of the government is evidently one of extermination.

The buildings for the Louisville Cotton Exposition will cover fifteen acres of ground, and are to be completed in July.

GATHERINGS.

Mack & Schmidt purchased 20,000 pounds of wool last month.—Democrat.

Sheriff Wallace's bill for the last quarter of 1882 was shaved $65.90 by the special committee of the board of supervisors.—Register.

County clerk Robison, probably did the first thing of the kind on record, the other day. He administered by telephone the customary oath of office to two notaries public residing in Ypsilanti.—Argus.

Because of the critical state of Mr. Homer Henderson, the town clock did not strike, and the church bells were not rung or several days. Any noise of the kind would throw him into spasms.—Courier.

Rev. H. C. Northrup, of Chelsea, received a twenty dollar gold piece from the ladies of his church on St. Valentine's day. We would advise the reverend gentleman to be on his guard if this donation business is kept up; he will probably be treated to something or other on the 4th of July.—Register.

Some lively work was done on Wednesday, in loading three car-loads of potatoes, from Burnham and Porter's cellar. 452 barrels were handled in seven hours, an average of nearly 65 an hour. Three men took the barrels out of the cellar, while Drayman Coffin loaded and hauled them to the cars, where three men stored them away. The potatoes were shipped to Cincinnati.—Deerfield Record.

H. J. Leisemer brought action against Prof. C. H. Cole for assault and battery last Friday. It seem that Leisemer's boy got into a fight with a school-mate and Mr. Cole punished both boys. The whole school support Mr. Cole, not only by words but by their cash to defray law expenses. A subscription list was circulated among the scholars and in an incredibly short time a sum of about $15.00 was raised.—Saline correspondence to the Register.

Yesterday the new Farmers' and Mechanics Bank opened wide its doors, and invited the public to enter and inspect. President Kempf, and Cashier Tolchard were on hand to receive visitors, and indeed they had a nicely furnished room to show them. Among the improvements is a novel mechanical "cashier", which holds and delivers silver coin. The counters, carpets, furniture, vault and safe—all were bright and new, so the bank opens under favorable auspices.—Courier.

Nice weather during the past week.

A little son of Delos Cutting, of Clinton, broke his leg above the knee last Thursday night, by rolling and tossing about in his bed.—Exponent. Well parents ought to do such delicate articles up in cotton batting when they put them to bed.

Last week we stated, Chelsea needed marble works, but since then we have learned there is such an institution here. Had this man advertised, we would have known it, as would others who have lived here several years, and did not know it.

The Chelsea HERALD tells of a divorced couple in that village waltzing as partners at a mask ball last Thursday evening, and greatly enjoying a flirtation, without recognition. To complete the story it should tell of mutual forgiveness, restoration and marriage, with a red light and tableaux.—Star. The tableaux were probably had some time ago.

Courier.—On one of our streets is a double house. In one side of the house lives a sewing machine agent. In the other side another man of the same business moved, the other day; but the first tenant perceiving that in moving in, the new neighbor had no machine, and not knowing his business, he was not long in calling around and attempting to sell him one. After hearing the agent talk awhile he paralysed him by informing him that he too was in that business. The joke was too good to keep.

Experience of Physicians.

Dr. W. P. Fleming, Georgetown, Texas, says: "I have used Cole's Carbolisolve upon indolent ulcers, piles, inflamed sore eyes and other diseases, and I think it unequalled as an external remedy."

Dr. S. A. Sheldon, Irving, Wis., says: "I have used Cole's Carbolisolve extensively as a dressing for burns. It is superior to anything I ever used. Used it on a bad burn of both eyes, caused by melted lead being poured in a mould containing water, and effected a rapid recovery with perfect restoration of sight." THE FARM.

Facts for Farmers.

A pair of twin yearling calves belonging to J. R. Adams, of Mason City, Iowa, weighed 1,600 pounds each.

The most diminutive plant known in nature is the Arctic raspberry, which is so small that a six ounce vial will hold the whole, branches, leaves and all.

Over 70,000 plants have been distributed by the Department of Agriculture during the past year, a less number than usual, because less tree plants were sent out.

The Florida Dispatch estimates the present orange crop at 47,000,000. The Havana Herald thinks 57,000,000 will come nearer the mark if nothing unforeseen happens to the crop.

At the meeting of the Connecticut State Board of Agriculture, a lady gave her experience in poultry raising, in which she stated that from 40 to 60 hens which she netted from $97 to $156, gave a net return of from $97 to $156, without fancy buildings or other needless expense.

As growth with the calves is a greater than fat, a food that will produce bone and muscle is more desirable than one which produces flesh. Therefore corn and bran are esteemed a better food for growing calves than corn and bran.

Frozen roots, or, indeed, frozen food of any kind, is very pernicious to swine and all other stock, and it is apt to disturb their digestion and renders the other food taken into the stomach less nutritious to the animal.

A New Jersey peach grower says he cares nothing for the peach yellows. Give the peach trees a good dose of potash all over the ground where the roots feed, and wash the bodies each spring with lye, and the yellows can not only be prevented but cured.

A correspondent of the New England Farmer thinks that a liberal dressing of phosphoric acid, potash and lime will prevent the ravages of black-knots in plum and cherry trees, saying this disease is unknown where the land is new and rich in mineral elements.

There is likely to be an increased planting of potatoes in the South for the early Northern market this year. The business has been very remunerative for two years past. Late potatoes do not succeed well in the South, owing to hot weather at the time for turning the tubers.

The late rose potato is losing its popularity. It was never so good in quality as the early rose, and the former has helped bring the latter into disrepute. Now the farmers complain of the late rose as likely to rot in wet seasons and to blight in dry ones.—American Cultivator.

Some portion of the farmer's wheat crop should be floured, not only for home use, but for selling to tenants and others in the neighborhood, who buy flour. In this way the wheat brings a better price and as the bran and middling are retained on the farm there is less loss of fertility.

It is stated that the average cost of production of an acre of wheat is $105.0. It costs no more except in the one item of manure, to raise a large crop than a small one, and every bushel over the amount necessary to pay the expense of the crop, brings in the profit to the farmer's pocket.

Good butter may be spoiled in churning. Over-churning, or churning at too high or too low a temperature, affects the texture and changes the proper waxiness to a sticky greasiness. The proper temperature of winter cream for churning will usually be found to be about 60 to 65 degrees.

The best time for shipping bees any considerable distance is in April or quite early in May, before the combs are too heavy with brood, though with proper care in preparing them and ordinary usage in handling, they can be shipped at any time with comparative safety, except in quite cold weather.

Idaho, with her valleys and mountain sides covered with bunch grass, has 37,000 square miles of grazing land; Montana, 58,000; Colorado, 50,000; Wyoming, 78,000; Washington Territory, 80,000; Eastern Oregon, 55,000; and Nebraska, 50,000 square miles—a total of 414,000 square miles of lands capable of producing beef and mutton.

A writer says that he has never failed to cure gargery by the use of beans. He feeds one pint of bean meal, mixed with molasses, for four successive days, and has found that quantity sufficient to cure the worst cases. He thinks if cows were fed with bean meal several times a year they would never be troubled with gargery.

The best cider preservative is salicylic acid. It has been extensively used, and samples of cider that have been kept from six months to a year still have the peculiar flavor of new sweet cider. One ounce of the acid is sufficient for a barrel of thirty-two gallons. Put the acid in the sweet cider and mix it well; then hang up. It will not ferment.

Farm manure varies widely in quality and value, and it is only by the exercise of some accurate knowledge of the materials of which it is made that the farmer can arrive at any true estimate of its actual worth. There is nothing which he ought better to understand, for it is the nutriment of his soil, the food of his crops, the element on which his success largely depends.

Curing Hams.
In past times I was quite a large producer and producer of hams and bacon. After trying oats, cobs, etc., I settled on ashes (after thorough leaching for family soap, drying and sifting them).

The hams were packed in large boxes, with those ashes all over and all round, each ham being covered. If the ashes have not been well leached the skin will be eaten. The housewife will find that washing well will make the hams clean. Occasionally we had a ham disfigured by the alkali destroying the skin in places.

For fully twenty years before the war I used no salt-peter or smoke. I used only salt and sugar to save meat. When ready to hang the hams were washed clean, then laid on scaffolds of small poles to drain and dry, and then suspended with strings in the smoke house. I preferred strips of a plant like the palmetto, called by old folks in my boyhood days, "barrow grass." The leaves are about 2 feet long, and can be divided into 1 to 1 1/2 of an inch, and strong enough to hold up 50 or 65 pounds. My smoke house was about 15 feet to the eaves; walls of hewed white oak, six inches thick, notched, and when seasoned, the spaces or cracks filled inside and out with lime mortar. The floor was of three-inch laths, sawed off inch planks, and about three-quarter space. The gables were inclosed similarly. The hams hung between the rafters, shoulders and jowls next, and the middlings under. All were dried by the circulation of the air. A friend, a near relative of General R. E. Lee, proposed and did send the largest middlings in exchange for our small breakfast bacon sides—at least two or three pounds for one. My only sister in Alabama cured her meat similarly. She had to provide for ninety and I for seventy blacks. I have put up 20,000 pounds of pork, and even when selling pigs for breeding I put up not less than 15,000 pounds per year.

An Underground City.

Demorest's Monthly for March.

New York, as everyone knows, is situated upon a narrow island. It cannot spread but in one direction because of the surrounding waters. As a consequence an enormous business is being done upon a small surface of land, to utilize which there have been built within the last twelve years immense office buildings and apartment houses, each of which accommodates as many people as live in an ordinary village. Under this narrow stretch of land are built sewers, basements and cellars, in addition to gas-pipes, water-mains, and other underground constructions. To relieve the surface of the streets of their enormous vehicular traffic, it is proposed to build underground streets and subways to accommodate the sewers, water, gas and steam pipes, and eventually telegraph and telephone wires. Nor is this all. Advantage will be taken of these subways to run cars, and open passages for vehicles. It is not improbable that by the twentieth century the principal thoroughfares will be underlaid by a second street, so as to expedite travel and traffic. New York has tried one experiment on a very great scale: no less than three companies are laying steam pipes all over the city, which can be used not only for power but for heating and cooking purposes. It is believed that the time will shortly come when furnaces, stoves, and other heating apparatuses will be dispensed with, and that heat will be supplied from the outside as water and gas now are. It is said that every process of cooking, including broiling, can be done by steam. How this can be accomplished is a mystery to the uninitiated.

Gen. Sherman Defends the Sword.

Edward W. Bok of Carroll street, Brooklyn, the indefatigable autograph hunter, lately received the following reply from Gen. Sherman, in response to a letter requesting him to subscribe to the sentiment, "The pen is mightier than the sword."

WASHINGTON, February 6, 1883.

DEAR MR. BOK—Your long letter of the 4th is received.

I prefer not to make scraps of sentimental writing. When I write anything I want it to be real and connected in form, as, for instance, in your quotation from Lord Lytton's play of "Richelieu." "The pen is mightier than the sword." Lord Lytton would never have put his signature to so naked a sentiment. Surely I will not.

In the text there was a prefix or qualification:

Beneath the rule of men entirely great

The pen is mightier than the sword.

Now, this world does not often present the condition of facts herein described. Men entirely great are very rare indeed, and even Washington, who approached greatness as near as any mortal, found good use for the sword and the pen, each in its proper sphere.

You and I have seen the day when a great and good man ruled this country (Lincoln) who wielded a powerful and prolific pen, and yet had to call to his assistance a million of flaming swords.

No, I cannot subscribe to your sentiment. "The pen is mightier than the sword," which you ask me to write, because it is not true.

Rather, in the providence of God, there is a time for all things; a time when the sword may cut the Gordian knot and set free the principles of right and justice, bound up in the meshes of hatred, revenge and tyranny, that the pen of mighty men like Clay, Webster, Crittenden and Lincoln were unable to disentangle.

Wishing you all success in your efforts, I am, with respect,

Your friend,

W. T. SHERMAN.

A deaf man in the state said he could feel the jar of a railroad train long before it reached him; but the jar failed on him the other day, and the first thing he felt was a curve in the air and a drop into a swamp.—Free Press.

An Old-Fashioned Lyceum Lecture.

Harper's Magazine.

Reader, didst ever deliver a lecture at a country "lyceum?" If so, read the following. It is good. "We have been there."

Mrs. Brown having a lecture upon the Parthenon, was invited to deliver it before the lyceum at Walnutville. Knowing of Walnutville only that it was fifteen miles from a railroad, Mrs. Brown suggested a more popular subject. No! Walnutville wanted the Parthenon. At the station named in the letter of direction Mrs. Brown saw a stage, and soon its driver said:

"Be you the lecturer for Walnutville."

"Yes."

"Wa'al, git right in; and you hain't no need to pay no fare neither, for I'm the committee that wrote you."

Mrs. Brown was the only passenger, and the driver cheered the long and lonely way by telling her, "Folks was thinkin' a sight about seein' on her, lots on 'em rememberin' her grandsir." They were only four hours on the road, and when the time for the lecture came Mrs. Brown was escorted to the hall by the same gentleman. On the way he exhorted her to speak up, and not be like "them Methodist wimmen, who mumbled so folks did not know when to say 'Hallelujah.'"

The hall, an unpainted building, consisted of a great room with an enormous outside door opening directly into it. There were seats against the wall upon two sides, which the stage driver explained as being the place where "the old men sot town-meetin' day." The people who were in their seats turned round and gazed at Mrs. Brown while she took off her wraps and put on her gloves. Telling her escort she was ready, he said he "warn't a-goin' upon that rostrum to make a fool of himself; the minister had got to do that."

While waiting for the minister, and enduring the staring of the audience, Mrs. Brown diverted her mind by wondering why a row of men were seated at the back of the platform. Finally curiosity conquered.

"What are those men up there for?"

"Them? Why, they're the Walnutville Brass Band, and they're goin' to play. Don't they have no bands where you come from?"

Fortunately Mr. Snow, the minister, appeared then, and Mrs. Brown trailed meekly up the aisle after him. Obedient to his gesture, she sat down, and he said, "We will unite in prayer."

That exercise disposed of, Mr. Snow proceeded with "Columbia, the gem of the ocean."

The performance was stunning, deafening; but before breath or hearing could be regained the agile clergyman was again on his feet:

"The chorister of the Baptist church will now delight the audience with a song—'There's a good time coming, boys; wait a little longer.'"

The chorister walked slowly to the steps of the platform, and waited, looking severely at Mr. Snow.

"I forgot to say," shouted that much-afflicted man, "that he will be accompanied by his daughter on a Mason and Hamlin instrument."

Then the father and daughter mounted the stage, the organ was wheeled into its place, and the performers had a good time, if nobody else did.

The audience was indifferent to an alarming degree, looking to Mrs. Brown like scores of duplicates of the goddess Pasht who sits and glares at people in the British Museum.

Again Mr. Snow: "Mrs. Brown will now read us a piece on the Parthenon."

Mrs. Brown stepped to the front, and, amid stillness so profound that she could hear the breathing of persons near her, read her piece. It took an hour, and during all that time the death-like quiet was broken but once; and then a boy who had climbed up on the outside, and peeped in at a window, informed his companions in a hoarse whisper that "she warn't no great to look at, anyhow."

Not a hand stirred nor even an eyelid moved when the Parthenon was ended; but Mr. Snow allowed no time for embarrassment, for he was at once on his feet.

"The chorister of the Methodist church will sing 'Rocked in the cradle of the deep.' He will accompany himself."

The same masterly indifference while the Methodist chorister rocked himself violently backward and forward, and while he was wiping his heated brow after he had returned to his seat. But indefatigable Mr. Snow knew no weariness.

"The band will again delight us with 'Marching through Georgia.'"

"Hark! from the tombs," would have suited the temper of the audience equally as well—to all appearance, better. Finally, the minister concluded:

"These exercises will close with a benediction."

He had hardly spoke its last words when the stage-driver shouted:

"Here, marm, is the money we've took. You can take your pay on't."

Mrs. Brown, not accustomed to approving herself, declares she rose to that occasion, for she turned all the money into her pocket-handkerchief, and told him she would settle on her way to the train. One or two people walked up to her, limply shook her hand, and said, plaintively, "We have enjoyed your lecture," but with these exceptions the awful silence was not disturbed. To this day Mrs. Brown is in doubt if they think the Parthenon an improved sewing-machine or a new kind of hay-spreader.

Why is a pig with a twisted tail like the ghost in Hamlet? Because it could a tail unfold.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

IN CINCINNATI

Treating Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Nasal Catarrh, Sore Throat,

Loss of Voice, and other Maladies of the Nose, Throat and Lungs.

DR. WOLFE treats the above-named diseases by Medicated Inhalations. When thus administered, remedies are brought "face to face" in contact with the disease; whereas, if they are swallowed, they mix with the contents of the stomach and never reach the organs of respiration.

DR. WOLFE has, by the judicious employment of Medicated Inhalations, assisted thousands to regain their health, many of whom had been pronounced incurable, and given up to die by their family physicians and friends.

DR. WOLFE has prepared a list of questions for sick people to answer by mail. They are in character the same he would ask were he by the bedside of the invalid. By writing answers to these questions any one can send an accurate statement of his disease, and receive and use inhaling remedies at home, in any part of the United States or Canada, without incurring the expense and discomfort of making a visit to Cincinnati. Any one sending his name and postoffice address with a three-cent postage stamp, will receive a copy of the "Circular of questions" by return mail.

DR. WOLFE has published a medical book called "Common Sense, Cause and Cure of Consumption, Asthma, etc.," a copy of which he will send to any body who orders it, by mail, and incloses 9 cents in postage stamps, with his name and postoffice address. The book is of great value to any one afflicted with any disease of the Nose, Throat or Lungs.

DR. WOLFE has also published another book of 64 pages entitled "Light about the House We Live In," which every healthy person as well as sick ought to read. This book has a special interest to persons who have weak lungs, or any symptoms of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, or Catarrh. Sent to any address free by mail, on receipt of 9 cents in postage stamps.

MICHIGAN NEWS.

August Stock, son and head miller of F. W. Stock, proprietor of the large flouring mill at Hillsdale was on the 24th inst., caught in the cog gearing of the bolting apparatus in the mill and fearfully injured. Both his arms were crushed from the wrist to the shoulders, and he was otherwise badly bruised about the body. There is slight hope that he may live, as he is young and of strong constitution. He is a man of exemplary habits, and held in the highest esteem by the entire community.

On the evening of February 23, while Mr. and Mrs. Porter Brown, an old couple living in Hartland, 10 miles south of Fenton, were quietly seated in their home, four masked men suddenly burst the door open with a large fence post, grabbed Mr. Brown, gagged him and covered him with a revolver. They then immediately entered the bedroom and procured $1,800 in bills and $600 in gold. They seemed very cool and sarcastic, and left the old couple bound hand and foot to their bed, where they remained two hours. Mr. Brown found his team partly harnessed, but not removed. Officers are stirring themselves in the matter, but are so far without any clue.

Charles Gorsuch's drug store and Mrs. A. B. Stevie's millinery establishment at Waldron, Hillsdale county, burned on the night of the 23d., loss $4,000. It was the work of an incendiary.

In the Cobb murder case, at Kalamazoo, after being out all night the jury disagreed, standing eight to four for conviction. A new trial will be had.

Owosso has a well that becomes too salt for use three or four times a year, and this peculiar custom it has kept up for 30 years.

Dr. Stearns of Grand Rapids, who chased his "crazy" sister-in-law through the streets of that city, threw her into a mud hole and had her arrested, has himself been arrested for using unnecessary violence. Mrs. Stearns says her husband choked her sister in the yard when she was trying to get away, "as he did not wish to injure her in any way, and that was the only way to compel her to be quiet."

Michigan built nearly 800 miles of railroad in 1882.

Isiah Lesh, formerly of Addison, Lenawee county, was killed on February 24th at Whitehouse, Ohio.

Mrs. M. B. Perkins, one of the most estimable ladies of Hudson, fell on the icy walk, producing concussion of the brain, and is lying in a precarious condition.

Battle Creek people who are opposed to getting water from any of the lakes near the city because it is not pure enough, will be surprised to learn that the water works committee who have been examining the water find that that of Gogebic and Willits lakes has a freedom from organic matter that is remarkable, while that from some of the wells on Main street is pronounced unfit for use.

S. E. Walbridge, for years a leading miller in western Michigan, died at his home in Kalamazoo, Sunday, Feb. 25th, in an apoplectic fit. He was 57 years old, and was well known throughout the entire state.

By the burning of Peter Denna's house, in Montague, Muskegon county, three of his children were burned to death, and a Miss Barr, a domestic in the family, was also burned to death. The unfortunate people were so badly burned that the remains had to be taken out on a shovel. The loss will reach $1,200, with an insurance of only $800. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Geo. Wolcott, brakeman on the D. G. H. & M. road, fell under the wheels of his train near Ada a few days ago, and was so badly mangled that he died soon after. The deceased was 29 years old, and leaves a wife and three children, who live in Detroit.

Alex. Ferguson, of East-Saginaw died on the morning of February 27th, from acute inflammation of the liver, aged 53. He came to Saginaw City in 1849, was a member of the village council and for years an alderman. He ran three times for county treasurer, being elected three years ago, and retiring from office the first of last month. He was also a prominent Oddfellow.

The board of supervisors of Kalamazoo county have voted to submit to the people the question of a new court house to cost $20,000, or the erection of a fire proof building to cost $2,500.

The wife of N. A. Phelps, of Dexter, died on February 25th, aged 71. She had been a resident of that place for over 30 years, and was highly esteemed.

Diphtheria and measles have made their appearance in Charlotte. The buildings containing the sick have been placarded and the residents warned not leave the premises.

A Marshall saloonist paid $20 40 a few days ago, for having kept his place open till 3 o'clock in the morning.

Over 75 fatal accidents have been reported from the lumber woods this winter.

A revival of unusual magnitude is in progress at Hillsdale college, and scores of conversions are reported, many of them being from the senior and junior classes.

Michigan supports two asylums for the insane, the united capacity of which is about 1,400 persons. Both asylums are over crowded, and the new asylum at Traverse City is an imperative necessity.

The body of an unknown man about 45 years of age was found on the afternoon of March 1st, by two young men who were hunting near the new cemetery grounds just east of Ionia. He had evidently been lying in the snow for three or four weeks. He was very poorly dressed, the clothing being torn and ragged. There was nothing to indicate the cause of his death other than by freezing.

Mrs. Jerome Leavitt, the wife of a prominent lumber merchant and an old resident of Cheboygan, dropped dead at her home on Friday, March 2, of heart disease.

Judge Mills of Kalamazoo, sentenced H. H. Stearns, alias Henry, to four years in the state prison for perjury in the Cobb case.

Rev. J. Smith of Deerfield, Lenawee county, father of the state oil inspector, died on the 2d inst., from the effects of a broken limb caused by a fall during the icy weather of four weeks ago, aged 81 years.

Howell has raised the necessary $1,300 bonus in aid of the Detroit and Lansing telephone line, and will soon have all the benefits of telephonic communication.

At the annual association of Congregational ministers held in Olivet on the 1st inst., Rev. W. B. Williams read a paper on secular education which attracted much attention. He considered that the certain drift of a secular education was towards infidelity and atheism, and quoted figures from various countries to prove it. He considered religious schools a necessity, or that a system of morals and the principles of religion must be taught in state institutions.

Wm. Kilmer, convicted of the murder of Jacob Boldman, at Newago, has been sentenced to Jackson prison for life, and the sheriff started immediately for that place with his prisoner.

The Huron, the oldest hotel in Harrisville, burned on the 2d inst., the occupants barely escaping with their lives. The fire is supposed to have originated in the kitchen.

Daniel Boyle, a man 60 years old, who lived alone in a little house in Sandstones near Jackson was found a few mornings ago on the road just west of that city. He was prostrated and insensible. He was taken to the nearest house and died in half an hour. He recently received notice of back pension allowed him amounting to over $3,000, and it is supposed he got drunk and fell on his way home, and laid out all night. He leaves no family.

Michigan oats weigh 40 pounds, to the bushel and grow 100 bushels to the acre when grown in Dakota.

Frank Cobb, the Kalamazoo fratricide, tried to blow up the jail a few days ago, by opening the gas pipes and filling the building with gas.

During February 14 prisoners were received at Jackson, of whom two were for murder in the first degree, and 22 disappeared, of whom two were by pardon and one by escape, leaving a total at the close of the month of 628.

Battle Creek has been under a temperance administration the past year, and one of the arguments the temperance people are now using why their ticket should be re-elected is that the city is entirely free of all games of chance, and there are but three public billiard tables in the city, with its 13,000 inhabitants.

As a showing of the clerical work that has been caused by the senatorial contest a little calculation proves that during the session of the joint committee, Clerk Crossman and Secretary Hoskins, who have done the roll calling have yelled out the names of the members 30,000 times. Of this work the greater part has fallen on Crossman, who has called names 24,500 times.

The Senatorial Election.

MONDAY, Feb. 26.—One light ballot was taken in joint convention, and an adjournment was ordered until to-morrow. The vote stood: Stockbridge, 21; Palmer, 24; Lothrop, 27; Willits, 9; Hannah, 1; Sanford, 1; Ferry, 2; Crosby, 2.

There was a foreboding in the minds of the majority, when the convention assembled again at seven o'clock that the senatorial problem must and would be solved before the convention adjourned. It was noted that Palmer had a majority of all the Republican votes, and his election was a foregone conclusion. A roll was called and changes in his favor came in thick and fast, until his total vote reached 75, and at 9:30 o'clock Lieut. Gov. Crosby announced the election of Thos. W. Palmer as United States senator. Mr. Palmer soon after appeared, and was greeted with a perfect storm of applause, and a pleasing happy address he accepted the honors which had been bestowed upon him. Several others followed in well-timed remarks, and after extending a vote of thanks to nearly every one participating in the sessions of the convention that body adjourned.

SENATE, Feb. 26.—A bill was passed to amend the charter of the city of Saginaw. A memorial was presented in the form of a resolution adopted by the Soldiers' and Sailors' Reunion held at Otsego, Mich., August 9, 1882, in favor of a State bounty law.

The following bills, having been reported adversely from committees, were laid on the table: House bill No. 14 to repeal sections 18 and 19 and to amend section 20 of an act providing for the assessment of property and the levy and collection of taxes thereon; house bill No. 400, to amend section 18 of above act and to add a new section, No. 110; house bill No. 357 to abolish the Law and Medical Departments of the University of Michigan. The Senate then met in executive session and confirmed a long list of notaries public sent in by the Governor, and after the joint convention the Senate adjourned.

All the above were given immediate effect. A memorial of Richmond, Backus & Co., of Detroit, was presented for an amendment of act 168 of 1879, in reference to the publication of reports of the Supreme Court. The petitioners complain that the law now stands they have no way of making the publishers of the report sell Richmond, Backus & Co., quantities at wholesale, and they are obliged to purchase copies singly—greatly interfering with the success of their business. The bill to incorporate Bancroft in Shiawassee county was recalled. A memorial was presented from the Hon. D. L. Pratt relative to instruction in morality in the public schools, which was ordered printed in the journal. Resolved, further, That it is the sense of the legislature that no person from another state should be placed in charge of the work of hatching and distribution of fish for the inland waters of the state. The resolution was put upon its passage under suspension of the rules; but, after a brief and brisk debate, the preamble and resolution were laid upon the table.

The Nominees.

The first Republican convention ever held in the Saginaw Valley assembled in East Saginaw on Wednesday, February 28. In response to the call a large and enthusiastic delegation assembled. The convention was called for the purpose of nominating two candidates for the supreme court bench and two regents for the university. The usual committees were appointed, and the regular routine work done, when the convention proceeded to the real business for which it had been called. The nominations for justice for full term were then made, and after the usual eulogistic speeches, three ballots were taken with the following result:

Total vote.	1st ballot	2d ballot	3d ballot
Necessary to a choice.	586	611	599
Charles Upson.	247	277	251
Austin Blair.	228	302	346

Mr. McNab.	2
John Atkinson.	2
Frank A. Hooker.	45	9	1
Frank Giddey.	1
Wm. Jenison.	1
R. Loud.	1

Amid prolonged and hearty cheers the nomination of Austin Blair was made unanimous. The demonstration which followed his nomination was good evidence of the sincere regard entertained by the citizens of this commonwealth for the war governor.

The convention then proceeded to nominate candidates for the short term, and the ballot taken showed that T. J. O'Brien of Kent county was the successful man. The ballot was as follows:

Whole number of votes.	Necessary to a choice.
Thos J. O'Brien.	288
Andrew Howell.	322
Edward Taggart.	72
Geo. S. Clapp.	52
Dan J. Arnold.	27
Chas. Upson.	12

Nominations for regents were then in order. For the first regent the vote stood as follows:

Whole number of votes.	Necessary to a choice.
Henry B. Hutchins.	275
James E. White.	318
Theodore Nelson.	222
Joseph C. Jones.	7

The nomination of Henry B. Hutchins of Macomb was declared unanimous, and the ballot was taken for the second regent with the following result:

Whole number of votes.	Necessary to a choice.
Joseph C. Jones.	282
James E. White.	333
Theodore Nelson.	173
John Rice.	42
H. R. Gass.	15

The senatorial question did not enter into the discussion of the state convention, save in the intervals of business, the feeling being that that question should be left with the legislature. After the usual vote of thanks to members, railroad officers, and others the convention adjourned.

A Prohibition Ticket.

A mass convention of Prohibitionists met in Lansing March 1st for the purpose of nominating candidates for justices of the supreme court and regents of the University. A series of appropriate resolutions were adopted, and the following ticket placed in nomination: Judges of the Supreme Court—John M. Tatem, Greenville; D. P. Sagendorph, Charlotte. Regents—John W. Ewing, Ionia; Rev. G. S. Hickey, Lansing.

Repeal of the Pre-emption Laws.

The sundry civil bill now before congress has a clause repealing the existing law for the pre-emption of public lands. These laws are extensively perverted by speculators who have no intention of occupying the lands entered by them, as was originally contemplated by congress, but make them a means of withholding the land from actual settlement. The repealing clause, however, does not annul the homestead laws, and contains these important provisions: That any person who has heretofore made or may hereafter make a bona fide entry of public lands under the homestead laws shall have the privilege of paying a minimum price for the quantity of land so entered at any time before the expiration of five years from the date of entry, and after

Then blossoms born of balmy spring
 Breathe fragrance in the pleasant shade
 Branches where the bluebirds sing,
 Their hearts with music overweighed;
 When brooks go babbling through the glade
 And over rocks the grasses climb
 To greet the sunshine, half afraid,—
 To write a rhyme!

Then by your side, with graceful swing,
 Some fair-faced, gentle girl has strayed,
 Willing and glad to have you bring
 Your claims for love and get them paid
 In kisses, smiles, and words that aid
 The bells of bliss to better chime;—
 When Cupid's rules are first obeyed
 'Tis to write a rhyme!

Strange Story of the Great Cor-
- Narrated by Fouche.

By degrees, as Napoleon assumed the authority of a king, everything about him, even in the days of the Consulate, began to wear a court-like appearance. All the old, monarchical habits were revived, one by one. Among other remnants of this kind, the custom of at-

At one particular time the punctuality of Bonaparte in his attendance on his wife was rather distressing to his wife. The quick and jealous Josephine had discovered that the eye of her husband was too much directed to a window in the gallery where there regularly appeared the form and face of a girl of uncommon beauty. The chestnut tresses, the brilliant eyes and graceful figure of this personage caused the mortification of the Consul's wife, as the stranger's glances were bent not less upon Bonaparte than his were upon

After the audience of the same day had passed, Bonaparte expressed a wish to drive in the park, and accordingly went out attended by his wife, his brothers Joseph, Duroc, and Hortense Beauharnais. The King of Prussia had just presented Napoleon with a superb set of harnesses; four in number, and they were harnessed to an open chariot for the party. The Consul took it into his head to drive on counsel, and mounted to the coachman's seat. The chariot got off, but just as it was turning into the park, it was

"This can have no allusion to our president," said Bonaparte. "No one could force that I was to play the part of coachman to-day, or that I should be awkward enough to drive against a stone. Go, Durce, and examine the chariot."

Durce obeyed. Soon after he returned, very pale, and took the first Comte. "Citizen Consul," said he, "I have not struck the stone and stopped the drive, we find all been lost."

"How so?" was the reply.
