MICHIGAN NEWS.

Shot by His Brother.

A shocking tragedy occurred at Saginaw City on the morring of December 10, by which H. Hartley Ramsay lost his life. The following particulars are from the Detroit Free Press of the following morning: About 1:45 o'clock in the morning Mr. and Mrs. Ramsay were awakened from a peaceful sleep by an incoherent and unearthly scream. The next instant Hartley Ramsay rushed into the room exclaiming, "Will, your revolver quick!" He immediately passed to the dresser drawer, where two revolvers were usually kept, and picked up one and crossed the room to the opposite side and passed out through an outside door. Mrs. Ramsay says that after the scream he called buglars. Mr. Ramsay only heard: "Will, your revolver quick!" Mrs. Ramsay said: "Oh, Will, the baby!" Will sprang from the bed and put his hand in the bureau drawer and found the revolver was not there and then bethought himself that he put his new self cocker 32-calibre revolver under his pillow last night. He turned to the bed and anatched the weapon and started to follow his brother. Just as he reached the outside door Hartley, with the same degree of excitement with which he had gone out, rushed back and ran against the muzzle of Will's revolver discharging it. He exclaimed: "Will, you have shot me!" "Hartley, im possible," was the response. "Yes, I am shot." Will said, "Get on to the bed and I will send for Dr. Small." Hartley was placed on the bed, and in response to the question, if he was in pain, said no. Will commenced dressing and then looked at the wound, and went to the girl's room to send for a doctor. He returned and was getting his slippers when Hartley got off the bed and started once more for the outside door. When he nearly reached it he commenced to fall and was caught in his brothimmediately passed to the dresser drawer, off the bed and started once more for the outside door. When he nearly reached it he commenced to fall and was caught in his brother's arms. Mr. and Mrs. Ramsay then placed him on a couch. Dr. Small who had been sent for made all possible haste, and reached the dying man about twenty minutes before he breathed his last. The wound was on the right side just below the right. Death resulted right side just below the ribs. Death resulted from internal hemorrhage, probably about forty or forty-five minutes after the accident. It is not known whether there were really burglars about or whether Hartley was suffer-ing from nightmare and was in a sonambulistic state. He was a young man of about 21, of fine appearance, and well educated. He had resigned a place on the Times of Saginaw City about ten days before. His remains were taken to St. Johns, about fifteen miles east of Montreal, where his parents live. A singular feature of the case was that the victim had always shown an intense horror of being shot.

Don't go to the theatre, lecture, or ball,
But stay in your room to-night;
Beny yourself to the friends that call,
And a good long letter write—
Write to the sad old folks at home,

Who sit when the day is done, With folded hands and downcast eyes, And think of the absent one.

Don't selfishly scribble: "Excuse my haste,
've scarcely the time to write,"
Lest their brooding thoughts go wandering

A Remarkable Case of Premonition o Death. A Baltimore correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer says: A remarkable case of premonition of death was brought to light in the funeral discourse over the remains of Christopher C. Brooks, aged 17 years, grandson of Prof. Brocks, of the Baltimere Female College, this city. The minister said it was one of the exceptional phenomenal cases which point to a new and higher philosophy, He said that such cases were like the moonbeams which come down to earth on a cloudy night through rifts in the clouds. Such cases enlighten the minds of men and directed their researches toward a subject that may yet be made to yiald its teachings and truths. He did not believe that the dead were very far from the living, and thought that in the future a new science might be established on phenomenal cases as the one on which he was commenting.

The following account of the premoniabout, and his physician had no fears as in a vision, and told him he would die of heart trouble on Wednesday, December 5, at 3 o'clock p. m. Young Prooks had never had any trouble with his heart, he would get well. The young man was, belief that he would die at the time indicated. While taking lunch with the family as usual at 2 wrote to the young lady and in about twenty minutes she arrived. He died in the presence of the family at ten minutes after 3 o'clock. His physician and his mother arrived but two or three moments later, and were shocked to find his prediction fulfiled. His father had returned to Baltimore from visiting him some weeks ago. On Wednesday at breakfast his father remarked it was the day which his son appointed to die, but with no thought that the prophecy would be fulfilled, and was astounded when intelligence of the death arrived. He was a young man of strong character, exceptionally good mind and splendid physique.

It is a fact not generally known that the James Boss' Gold Watch Cases really contain more pure gold than many "solid" gold cases The demand for these watch cases has led to the manufacture of a very poor grade of solid gold water caseslow in quality, and deficient in quantity.

These cases are made from 4 to 10 karats and a 5 or 6 karat case is often sold for 12 or 14 karats. It is NOT economy to buy a The poets grates watch case so poor in quality that it will soon lose its color, or one so soft that it will lose its shape and fail to shut tight, the letting in dust and damaging the works, one so thin that a slight blow will bred the crystal, and perhaps the mevement It IS on many to buy a James Book Got Watch Case, in which NONE of these thing ever occur. A GENOESE CHRISTMAS EVE.

f. S. A. in Arthur's Home Magazine.

A starlight night, a breezy rustling of leaves, soft perfume and rippling laughter, drowsy flowers bending low their tinted blossoms, and a fair city, her feet kissed by carressing waters of the blue Genoese Gulf; a fair and haughty city, truly, reposing upon a lovely throne of fearless freedom over the ocean, where her fleets ruled the commerce of the world-a city which, in her proud republicanism, dictated terms to kings and potentates.

The streets resound with merry songs, and the gay Genoese dames, in their brilliant dresses, lean forth from balconies draped in floral wreaths and gaze with laughing interest and coquettish glances into the crowd below, the and harmless. Keep it on hand. whole scene illuminated by flaring torches and colored lanterns borne ling snow, and fur-clad people pass rapidly by toward the ruddy firelight; the night of nights in this broad world of God, when angels sing for joy and the Christmas carols ring out, "Peace on earth, good-will to men;" the when cautious whispers come from small, white figures. wending their stealthy way to the deserted chimney-corner, there to hang the time-honored invitation to Santa Claus in full expectation of his royal bounty.

A sharp contrast, indeed, but more on the face of Nature than in the hearts of her children; for humanity forms one one great brotherhood the world over, and the Christ-child came to save allyea, even the least and the poorest. Come with me, dear reader, and we will see now these Genoese of the fourteenth century passed their Christmas Eve.

On the banks of a peaceful river in the neighboring Val di Basagno the peasantry have assembled to elect their new "Abbot;" or Governor, for the coming year—a volatile Southern crowd, over-flowing with mirth and jests, and pressing agently around two large stones sing eagerly around two large stones placed side by side.

The venerable man, bending beneath his short-lived splendor, replies, "Welcome, Messer Abbot;" and exchanging mutual good wishes, the Abbot, after placing a bouquet in the hand of the Doge and receiving in return a well-filled purse, returns to his companions, who, with good wishes and merry songs, separate-some to their homes, others to remain behind to witness the formal acceptance of the Christmas present.

As the hour of midnight tolls in solemn ones from the tall church-towers and dies slowly on the air in varied cadences of silvery bells, the door of the palace is slowly opened and quietly comes forth a grave procession—the Doge and the members of his Council, each with a lighted torch in his hand, which he applies to the Christmas tree, and, as it blants up as though allowing in the light good wine, some comfits, and some sugar after which they again retire as they came. What Can be Done to Stop the Progress of the Kidney and . Bladder Complaints?

There is no more agonizing class of disease, and none more certain "not to get well of it self," than the disorders of the kidneys are bladder. Physicians too frequently fail to recognize what they are, and even if knowing them, lack the skill for their proper treatment. So that they are liable to be allowed progress until they are almost unerdurable, and their victims are made to endure the most frightful tortures of a surgical operation. The only medicine that does afford speedy relief and permanent cure of such affections is Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY. It is not a mere soother, temporarily, of pain; but by its alterative action purifies the blood, restores a healthful condition to the diseased organs, and even dissolves and causes the expulsion of gravel and stone from the kidney and bladder. The testimony of hundreds who have been cured by it Vouches for this. If you have weakness, or pain in the back over the kidneys, or if your urine is dark colored, do not delay treatment for a single day, but hasten at once to arrest the progress of the disease by the use of Dr. Kernedy's FAVORITE REMEDY. Dr. Kennedy assures the public, by a reputa-tion which he cannot afford to forfeit or imperil, that the FAVORITE REMEDY does in vigorate the blood, curee liver, kidney and bladder complaints, as well as those diseases and weaknesses peculiar to females.

ALTAMONTE, Fla., Dec. 10,'83. Friend Emmert: - I will try once more to write that promised letter; not the promised one either, as I said I would sell you in my next about the Springs and Lake Brantly, and I am not ready to do that as I would like to go fishing first and see if I could not add a fish story also. There are so many things to write about, and so little time to write that hardly know how to begin. A great deal has been written about Florida. and a great deal remains to be said. Mr. Ashley, of Jackson, arrived here Saturday. Last eve'ng I walked with him through the grove belonging to him and Mr Fuller, as he looked off through the trees of green and yellow, while the moonlight brightened every thing, he said "Isn't this grant! I believe this is the finest evening I ever saw!" Mr. Sheldon, of Jackson, has been here several weeks. He was slow to believe, and talked seriously of returning North in a few days, at first, but now he has changed. He will invest here, and will probably live here a good share of the year. He says he never saw so many fine days in so short a time, as he has seen here! Florida is all sand, that is the high part of it. Endless sand. The Northern farmer looks at it and. says; "What under the sun will grow here?" Then he looks at the trees, and shrubs, and all that does grow here, and at the summer sky, and the warm sun-shine, then he remembers that the boats are coming up the river every day with hundreds of frozen-out Northern people, and he finds that the greater number of them invest here, and start young groves, and make Florida homes, and he sees the improvement of every kind, on every hand, and at last he is blood and regulate the bowels. No famiconquered! He selects what is his ly can afford to be without them. They choice, or what he can afford to purchase, land on which to make a grove, or a grove already well advanced, and to this move his children and descendants will look in the vears to come, with gratitude, knowing that it was the move that provided for their future need, and left no fear of want to be a stumbling block through life.

At Swan's Station, three miles from here, land was purchased last winter for $25.00 per acre, that has since sold for $200.00 per acre! and yet the land was no better then here, and some of it is inferior to this. Lots in Orlando and Sanford have been purchased one day, and turned over the next, at an advance of $500. Very frequently land in good locations, will advance from $10 to $50 an acre in six months, use of tricycles by healthy persons. He is and, the best part of it is, it goes . up obliged to go a foot, consequently every to stay. There is no reaction. When one pays $100 per acre for five or ten acres of good orange land it is not a big price at all, considering that ten acres is all one needs, and less than half of that much land as the members varied in price from 25 to will in a few years make any man 75 cents. It is known however, that a independent for life and leave his farmer can not profitably raise it for less children rich. We have all read of than $1.00 per bushel. the famous Speer grove of 41 acres. To be sure the trees are old and that is the reason why people point to it. ABOUT NATIONAL BANKS.

Sherman, who is a strong advocate of the national banking system, surprised the Senate by declaring unequivocally that a wise public policy demanded the continuance of sinking fund operations until every farthing of the public debt shall have been paid. Mr. Plumb astenished his republican associates by declar-ing that the national banking system is doomed because of the determination of the people to pay off the national debt, and that Congress should at once begin the consideration of a measure providing for something to take the place of national bank circulation.

SECRETARY OF THE SENATE.

Anson G. McCook received the nomination for secretary of the S pate, greatly to the sur-prise and chagrin of Mahone and other gentlemen who sought the nomination for Geo. C. Gorham.

After reading the journal nominations for permanent chairman were in order. D. M. Sabin, of Minnesota, was not inated by Mr. Eikins, and was elected by acclamation. The election of Mr. Sabin was a great surprise to that gentleman, who, however, in a neat and happy vein, thanked the committee for the honor shown him, and pledged himself to do his best to subserve the interests of the great party represented by the committee. Mr. Elkins offered resolutions, which were unana-mously adopted, paying a beautiful tribute to the late Marshall Jewell of Connecticut

The next business before the committee was to decide upon a place for holding the next national convention. The claims of Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Philadelphia, Chautauqua and Saratoga were set forth by the representatives of those places. Greatly, however, to the surprise of nearly every one, Chicago was the place chosen. The following ballots were taken:

A FREE BALLOT AND A PAIR COUNT.

Mr. Chandler offered the following, which was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That this committee views with regret and indignation the recent attempts to suppress human rights, destroy free suffrage and the honest counting of the ballots in various States by methods at war with humanity and civilization. Against the prevalence of and civilization. Against the prevalence of such methods the Republican party stands irrevocably pledged, and we extend our sympathy to all sufferers from such inhumanities and pledge our earnest, unconditional co-operation and right hand of fellowship to all men and all organizations, whatever may have been their past political action, who unreservedly commit themselves to organized efforts to secure free education, free suffrage and the protestion of the life and property of all citizens, without regard to race, color, political opinion

The committee adjourned to meet at the Grand Pacific Hotel, Chicago, May. 31, 1884.

CONGRESSIONAL SUMMARY.

DECEMBER 10.

SENATE.—Bills were introduced to prevent ie unlawful inclosure of public lands; reguthe unlawful inclosure of public lands; regulating the election of representatives to Congress and providing for the establishment of a branch mint at Denver. Mexican veterans submitted a memorial asking for pensions. Vorhees of Indiana, presented a resolution authorizing the committee on military affairs to inquire into the expediency of purchasing the encampment grounds occupied by the revolutionary army at Valley Forge, to be used as a national park.

House.—To-day was the first bill day in the House, and during the four hours of the session over 850 bills and resolutions were introduced The states were called in alphabetical order, and when the hour for adjournment came, the call had only reached Massachusetts. The call will be resumed to morrow.

DECEMBER 11.

SENATE. - Senator Anthony was sworn in, Mr. Edmunds administering the oath. Sherman of Ohio presented a bill for the encourage ment of closer commercial relationship with other American states. Colored citizens of Kansas presented a petition praying for the enactment of measures to protect them in the enjoyment of their civil rights. Another bil concerning presidential succession was sub-mitted by Senator Ingails. The same gentle-man also introduced a bill to establish uniformity of the bankrupt law in the United States. Several nominations were sent in, among them that of Butterfield of Ohio as ommissioner of patents.

House—The speaker was indisposed and Mr. Cox of New York, presided. The roll-ca'l of states for the introduction of bills began with Michigan. The first on hand was Mr. Lacey with a bill for a postal savings deposit branch of the postoffice department; Mr. Cutcheon, for the better protection of life and property on Lake Michigan: Mr. Yaple, to abolish the duty on sait: Mr. Maybury, requesting the President to negotiate with Great Britain for a re moval of the Canadian reciprocity treaty of 1854; Mr. Horr, to establish a board of commissioners on inter-state commerce. Most of the bills introduced were of the same character as those introduced yesterday: amend ing land laws, declaring railroad land grants forfeited, providing for the erection of public buildings, etc. In the two days 1021 bills were introduced.

DECEMBER 12.

SENATE-Mr. Wilson called up his joint resoution proposing an amendment to the Constitution relating to the civil rights of citizens, and moved its reference to the committee on judiciary. The resolution proposes that the following article be numbered article sixteen: "Congress shall have power by appropriate legislation to protect citizens of the United States in the exercise and enjoyment of rights, privileges and immunities, and assure them of equal protection of the laws," Mr. Wilson spoke at great length in support of the resolution, and the matter was finally referred to the committee on judiciary. The resolution sub-mitted a few days ago directing the secretary. House was not in session.

DECEMBER 13.

Senate.—Bills were introduced providing for the admission into the Union of the state of Washington, and to provide for a commission on the liquor traffic. Senator VanWyck intro-duced a resolution calling for the expenditures pled the rest of the session, and adjournment was ordered till Monday.

DECEMBER 14.

House.-But very little business was transacted. Mr. Washburn introduced a bill prothe United States. Referred. A resolution was introduced requesting the President to issue a proclamation urging the observance on December 23, 1882, of the 100th anniversary of the surrender by Washington of his commis-sion as commander in chief of the army. Horr if Michigan, asked leave to introduce a resolution to bring to the notice of the President the recent murder of several citizens of the United States, and also of the recent riots at Danville, Va The resolution was objected to and lightly treated as a Horr-ible joke. The Committee on Rules was announced as follows: The Speaker and Messrs. Blackburn, Ran tall, Keifer and Reid.

NEWS NOTES

A CRANK GOES COURTING. > Dr. Boynton, Mrs. Garfield's cousin made complaint a few days ago to the superintend-ent of police of Cleveland that a crank had been annoying Mrs. Garfield. He appeared at her residence on Prospect street, sauntered up and down in front of the house, and finally made a formal call. He is a young man, rather well dressed, and gave the name when arrested of John Denobiga, of St. Louis. He has been writing to Miss Mollie Garfield for a year past, and offered himself in marriage. She, of course, paid no attention to the letters and he went to Cleveland to press his suit. He gained an au-dience with Mellie, and said he would call again for his final answer, which was agreed to and an officer notified, who met him on his entrance. He made the declaration, "I will marry Mollie Garfield or hang myself" Denobiga was arrested three years ago in St. Louis for forcing his attention in a like manner on Gen. Sherman's niece. He is a thorough "crank," and claims to be a descendant of the first President of the United States, giving at first the name of George Washington.

There were two engines in the basement, one of which was stopped. Burke told his partner that he would now go out to lunch, and the engineer went on cleaning the dead engine, while Burke took a pail of water and passed behind the working engine to wash his hands and face. The engineer a moment afterwar' heard a shriek and the light went out. The engine having stopped partially the engineer engine having stopped partially the engineer knew there was something wrong, and, feeling his way to the valve, shut off steam and thus stopped the engine. As soon as he could get a light he found the remains of his assistant horribly mutilated, an arm and a leg having been torn from the body. The central patrol was summoned and the remains were collected and removed to the morgue. It is believed that the deceased somehow got caught between the fly-wheel and the stone wall behind it, and that the resistance offered by the body was suf-ficient to throw off the belt. The deceased was 23 years of age and a native of Ireland. He was unmarried and his parents live in the old

OUT AND IN.

Frank James, the noted desperade, was re-leased on $3,000 bail the other afternoon from the Kansas City jail, where he was awaiting trial for the Blue Cut train robbery. He was immediately rearrested on a charge of killing Cashier Sheets, of Gallatin, in 1878. It is not probable that he will be bailed on this latter charge, and should he be, officers are waiting to arrest him on four other charges.

TOUTHEUL FIREBUGS.

The four boys, Moffatt, Millard, West and Finch, arrested for setting the numerous fires that have occurred in Milwaukee of late, and all sons of prominent citizens, were arraigned in court on the 15th. West was remanded, and the others were sentenced to the reform school until 21 years of age.

CRIME.

YOUTHFUL SINNERS. About seventeen of the incendiary fires in Milwaukee of the month past have been traced by the police to Bennie West, Joe Moffatt, Finch and Millard, four boys about thirteen years of age, sons of refined people, residents of the Fourth Ward, where the fires occurred, and the boys have been arrested. They had formed a Buffalo Bill organization, and had a pirate's den where they kept dime novels, guns and lassoes, and from which they made raids on the pantrys of well-to-do neighbors. Suspicion fell spon them because of the frequent Monterey. docio air the boys assumed. Young Finch confesaes. The others deny everything.

AN INDIGNANT INNKEEPER.

An associated press dispatch from Cincinnati, says: Reports from Fields' still-house on the Cumberland river say that last week four men became drunk there and engaged in a fight. W. H. Fields separated them and ordered the party to leave, which they refused to do. Fields then drew a pistol and shot all of them. Matt Knight was killed instantly, Jesse Knight died the next day, and Major Day and John Jenkins cannot live. Fields escaped.

CHAPTER II.

The week that followed Charles Bradley's return to New York was filled with business cares belonging to his father's estate, but not so full but he had many lonely hours. He had been so long away that there were gaps in the list of his old friends, and his recent mourning kept him from accepting the invitations that came to him. Fred Grainger was with him orten, and finally coaxed him to a quiet family dinner at his brother "Toms," not guessing how much the acceptance was inluenced by the casual remark:

By the way, Kate has engaged Ethel Jackson as daily governess, and you will meet her. Kate thinks she will never be fit to struggle with pupils here, there and everywhere, and she is like one of the family at Tom's."

"Kate was always kind-hearted," said Charles Bradley, heartily; "Yes, and fond of Ethel. She is a

"She lives now with her, you said?" "No, she has a floor, because there are the boys; but she comes early in the morning, and is there all day, gives Mag and Lil music lessons, and A B C's the little ones."

"Sweet as a violet!"- The description came at once to Charles Bradley's memory, when Mrs. Grainger introduced her "friend, Miss Jackson," to him. So slight and child-like that her heavy mourning became more than usually pitiful; so graceful and modest that Charles Bradley, before he had known her an hour, longed to fold her in his strong arms and defy the world to harm her.

It was a pleasant dinner party, a still people out of themselves, and her heart for any exceptional genius or excelwas set upon showing Ethel off to the lence, but he was manly, frank, honorbest advantage. And the hours so spent flew by upon rosy wings for Ethel. Safe in the protection of her friend, questioning. nothing of the cause of her new content, the gentle girl let her love go from her, not knowing the loss. It was enough for her that this old-new friend was always ready to meet her in every pathy, so interested in all concerning her. THE SNOW-BIRD'S CHRISTMAS-TREE.

Yes, the snow-birds had a Christ-mastree at our house last year-a real tree,

We were as hap-py as we could be a-round our beau-ti-ful tree, when all at once Roy gave a shout, and point-ed rites. Hereditary Dutch pride some to the win-dow. (Roy is my lit-tlest times looks askance and even angrily broth-er. He has lovely brown hair, and it's banged in front and hangs way down be-hind. Mam-ma says he is the pet of the house or that Lulu and he are the pets of the house For Lulu looks ver-y much like Roy, and has the same kind of love-ly hair, and it's banged in front and long be-hind, just like Roy's. Only Lulu is old-er than

Well, when Roy pointed to the window that morn-ing, he called out: "See! See! they want a Kis-mas-tree, too!" And we all looked a-round, and-what do you think? There on the win-dow sill were four love ly lit-tle snow-birds. looking in at our tree! And they would peck, peck, at the pane, as if they want-ed to open the window.

"Let 'em in! Let 'em in! shout-ed Lulu, and she ran to raise the win-dow. but the lit-tle birds were a-fraid of her, and flew a-way.

But they did not fly ver-y far a-way -on-ly to a tree out in the yarn. And we o-pened the win-dow and called. "Bird-ie! Bird-ie!" a-gain and a-gain, and tried every way we knew to get them to come in. But just then it began to snow real hard, and the lit-tle birds flew down to a lit-tle, low ev-ergreen, and a-way in-to the cen-ter of it, where the snow couldn't fall on

But the best thing is to come yet. Lulu thought of it. Just when we said the poor lit-tle birds would have a real dull Christ-mas-day, Lulu shouted out: "Oh, I know! We'll make them a Christ-mas-tree of their own, and take now rest and rejoice in the happy day it out and give it to them there in the ever-green.

And then Lulu got Mam-ma to cut off a lit-tle bough from our Christ-mastree, and she stood it up in a paper box, and packed; the box all a round with pret-ty blue pa-per, so that the bough would stand up straight all by itself. And then she hung the lit-tle tree all o-ver with bread-crumbs, and, the first thing we knew, there it was, a per-fect lit-tle snow-birds' Christ-mas-tree!

Then Lulu and Roy put on their pret-ty, new red caps, and their warm coats, and they took that lit-tle Christ-mastree out in-to the yard, and up to the ever-green where the birds were, and they pushed the limbs away, and set the ltt-tle box and the lit-tle tree in a cor-ner of the ever-green, where it lieve it—those birds nev-er flew a-way at all, but looked just as if they expect-ed it all a-long! And Lulu and Roy went a few steps a-way, and turned a-round, and stood per-fect-ly still, and in a min-ute all four of those lit-tle birds flew down, and helped them-selves from their pret-ty lit-tle Christ-mastree, and were just as hap-py o-ver it as we were o-ver ours. Lulu and Roy stood out there in the snow and watched them ev-er so long. And we could see them from the win-dow, too.

We hope the same lit-tle birds will come back this year, and if they do, we're go-ing to give them an-oth-er Christ-mas-tree. Wouldn't you?

How Times Have Changed.

"Changed!" exclaimed Deacon Green to the dear Little School-ma'am, a year ago come Christmas, "I should think they had changed. Why, many's the time I've heard my dear old father tell how, years ago, when he and Aunt Mary were children living on their father's farm in old England, the least little present used to delight them.

Changed plumbs or a new doll, or any one pretty gimerack, was a joy indeed. Changed —well, I'd like to know! Why.I am told that a boy of this day, a real boy of the period, would consider himself a muchabused fellow if he didn't find on his Christmas tree a ball, a six-bladed knife. tools, a printing press, a jig-saw, a sled. a bicycle, ice-skates, roller-skates, a Punch-and-Judy show, a telephone, a steam-engine, a microscope, a steam-boat, a working train of cars, a box of boat. a scientific top, a box of carpenter's parlor magic, a pistol, a performing acrobat, a real watch, a gold scarf-pin, gold cuff-buttons, a bound volume of St. Nicholas, and twenty or thirty other books, more or less, besides a pocketbook with gold money in it, and a pair of kid gloves.

"I may have forgo: ten something," added the deacon, wiping his brow, "but, so far as I can make out, that's the proper thing for an average boy's Christmas, nowadays.

"As for the girls," the good man went on, raising his voice. "as for the girls -as for-

How she did it, I do not know; but the wonderful Little School-ma'am actually stopped the proceedings then and there. So, to this day your Jack doesn't know what an average girl of the present day does, might, could, would, or should find on a Christmas-tree.

The Knickerbocker Christmas.

George Wm. Curtis in December Harper's. While their neighbors upon Massachusetts Bay were banning Christmas, the Dutch at New Amsterdam gladly welcomed and honored him, and nowhere has he been so truly at home upon the continent as in the Dutch city. The character of the inhabitants naturally determined that of the day. It was less an ecclesiastical festival than a just big e-nough for the dear lit-tle social and domestic holiday. The glit-things. I'll tell you about it. decorated altar, and hearty good eating and drinking were its genial ceremonial at Deidrich Knickerbocker's story. But it is plain that the gay exaggeration of the old chronicler only emphasized the truth, and that his humorous imaginative touch produced a likeness as accumake the most of Christmastide, and their neighbors who cursed it must have seemed to them the most whimsical of lunatics:

It was natural that the genius which described those burghers with so subtle a sympathy should seem to be kindred with them. Indeed, there was so much of the true Knickerbocker spirit in Irving that he is usually supposed, by those who do not reflect, to be of Dutch descent. It is this quality, perhaps, this ready sympathy with cheerful and simple domestic enjoyment, which made the author of Knickerbocker's History the laureate of English Christmas. The holiday that he describes affects him as it affected the citizen of New Amsterd.m, as a day of pleasure consecrated by religious association. And the enduring popularity of his charming essay shows that this is the Christmas of the English-speaking race. Even the New England air, which was so black with sermons that it suffocated Christmas, now murmurs softly with Christmas bells. The children of the resolute God-fearing men who did not rest from lapor on that first Christmas morning whose dawn is a benediction

But it is no longer a superstition of any scarlet woman, no longer a testival whose observance implies perilous adherence to papal or prelatical errors. The purifying spiritual fire, historically known as Puritanism, has purged the theological and ecclesiastical dross away, and has left the pure gold of religious faith and human sym pathy. When the neophyte asked his confessor what was the central truth of Christianity, the old man answered, "Charity." Then he explained that charity meant love, and that love meant the spirit of universal fraternity. The almsgiving which is the technical interpretation of the word is but a symbol of that giving of the heart and soul and life to help others stood up straight. And—if you'll be- of which the supreme sacrifice of Christ is the accepted type. The day that commemorates His birth is the festival of humanity, as the inspiring sentiment of actual life. The lovely legends of the day, the stories, and the songs, and the half fairy-lore that gathers around it, the ancient traditions of dusky woods and mystic rites; the magnificence or simplicity of Christian observance, from the Pope in his triple tiara, borne upon his portative throne in gorgeous state to celebrate pontifical high mass at the great altar of St, Peter's, to George Herbert humbly kneeling in his rustic church at Bemerton, or to the bare service in some missionary chapel upon the American frontier; the lighting of Christmas trees and hanging up of Christmas stockings, the happy family meetings, the dinner, the game, the dance-they are all the natural signs and symbols, the flower and fruit, of Christmas. For Christmas is the day of days which declares the universal human consciousness that peace on earth comes only from good-will to man.
