MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

THE FIENDISH PLAN OF A RECLUSE TO DESTROY NEIGHBORS.

HIS INFERNAL MACHINE THAT WAS TO EXPLODE DYNAMITE DISCOVERED IN TIME.

SUICIDES WITH SPECTACULAR EFFECTS, LEAVING FORTUNE TO WOMAN NURSE.

Hermit Suicides.

Thwarted in his fiendish plan to blow to eternity those who undertook to learn the cause of his mysterious disappearance, old Jim Thompson, the rich hermit, who has lived the life of a recluse for the past twenty years in the sand hills, near Lake station, Indiana City, stole into his deserted barn, set fire to the building and then committed suicide by shooting himself.

Three months ago Thompson, who for years had terrified the vicinity about his home by acts of devilry, prepared a plan to blow to atoms some of his inquisitive neighbors. Securing several hundred pounds of dynamite, he placed the same in his house and barn and by means of wires, strings and weights, constructed a machine which would explode the dynamite when the doors or windows were opened. He then disappeared from his home to await the result of his plan.

Falling to appear in Lake station for a week the officers of that place went to the hermit's home to make an investigation, it being feared that the old man was ill or dead. Precaution was used in approaching the cabin and, before trying the door, the officers thought best to view the interior through the windows. The sight that met their eyes made their blood run cold, for, in the center of the room was the machine which was to deal destruction to the inquisitive. Further investigation revealed a similar machine in the barn.

After posting warning signs about the premises, the officers began the search for the old man, but he was not to be found.

Last Thursday night the barn on the hermit's farm burned to the ground. While the building was burning, several loud reports were heard from the center of it, which at that time was thought to be caused by exploding dynamite, but which later proved to be the explosion of cartridges in the revolver used by the old man in taking his life.

On the day of the fire search of the smoldering ruins revealed the charred remains of the hermit. Through the trunk of the body was a bullet hole and it is believed that the old man took his own life after firing his barn.

The entire fortune of the hermit was bequeathed to Mrs. Charles Thorn, an aged woman who had nursed Thompson through a serious illness several years ago.

The Alpena Murder.

"Peter J. Wood" is on trial in the circuit court, Alpena, for shooting his father-in-law, LeO. Peatham, and Chief of Police Jacob C. Fooker, who tried to arrest him the night of December 7. Wood married Miss Ada Peatham a year and a half ago after a week's acquaintance. The couple lived unhappily, their troubles culminating in the attempt of Wood to commit murder.

"Wood's" identity is a mystery. He drifted in from nobody knows where. It is known that his right name is not Peter J. Wood, but he steadfastly refuses to disclose his identity. On one arm is tattooed "J. J.," and he formerly possessed a discharge from the regular army bearing the name of James Julius Johnson, but he burned it just before the officers arrested him. He claims to have a brother on a farm near Adrian. Wood is 25 years of age, and two fingers are missing from his right hand. He claims they were blown off by a rifle discharge in the Philippines.

"Wood's" plea will be insanity.

Oren's Task.

The employment of Horace M. Oren to defend the Galbraith law under which the tax commission recently reduced railroad taxes is considered a good stroke on the part of the commission, as the ex-attorney-general has always favored the law providing for equalizing between the general properties and the railroads. Also, he defended the state tax commission in the Detroit board of education case which resulted in setting aside the first assessment of railroad taxes because the board had attempted to equalize valuations. He is therefore well informed on the constitutional questions involved.

Rev. G. D. Smith, pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist church (colored), at Lansing, says his flock owes him $100 on a salary of $33 a month, and he's going to resign.

J. W. McGraw has purchased 3,000 acres of timber land, mostly from the state, in the southeastern part of Oscoda county and will cut the timber, estimated at between 6,000,000 and 8,000,000 feet. The land was bought principally for a sheep ranch and as soon as the timber is removed Mr. McGraw will begin stocking.

Floyd Unruh, of St. Joseph, who disappeared from his home last September and was mourned by his parents as dead, has been heard from in Panama, where he is working on a coast steamer.

Wm. Frazier was having a serious struggle with a boat that had drifted out on Muskegon lake. Darkness settled as watchers on shore saw him struggling against wind, wave and ice. All night the watchers patrolled the shore ready to give him a hand if possible. Next morning they found him lying—warm and comfortable—in his bed at home.

William Leek, aged 62, of Alpena, a prosperous farmer, father of fourteen children, dropped dead as he was about to take a drink of milk.

Secret societies and unions were denounced by Fr. O'Brien, of Kalamazoo, who also said books used in the public schools are unfair to Catholics.

Camille Leonard, a popular Monroe teacher, was married to Edie Frank Ver Straten, of Port Huron. The groom is well known in marine circles.

F. D. Ford's hardware store at Saline was burglarized, the slide door being pried open and the stock of knives and razors taken, and the pennies in the money drawer.

Among the bequests in the will of Marshall Field was one for $20,000 to a cousin, Miss Dencie Field of Jackson, a sister of the well known dry goods merchant of Jackson.

The reports of nearly all the smaller life insurance companies for 1905 show increased premium receipts in Michigan, despite the life insurance scandals in New York.

Robert Decker, of Pontiac, who upon his release on probation after conviction of stealing his mother's jewelry, was arrested on a charge of burglary, has been sentenced to prison for from two to five years.

During the past year Sheriff Albert A. Carroll, of Kent county, with 25 per cent more prisoners than during the previous year, has decreased the jail expenses $6,000. "Just by watching the little things," he says.

Five houses were burglarized in Lansing Monday night by tramps, it is thought. At the home of Samuel J. Ray, Mrs. Ray rushed down stairs and had a tussle with one of the burglars. He broke away and escaped.

A megaphone has been placed in the pulpit of the First M. E. church, of Saginaw, and several Detroit friends of Rev. Gwyllim Griffith, the Welsh evangelist, hear his sermons each evening over the long distance telephone.

Ray Rendel, a young man employed at the Detroit Sulphite Fibre Co., Delray, and whose home is at Coho, Mich., walked into the Detroit Sanitarium on Saturday, claiming of pain in the chest and head. He died Sunday morning.

A "horse-buyer" spent the day with Farmer Ray, near Vassar, and after having dinner and supper with the family said he guessed he'd stay all night. He then revealed the fact that he was John Ray, a son who had been away 13 years.

Walter A. Seiner became lost in a fog on Muskegon lake, and as he wandered over the ice he heard cries for help. He located their direction and found Chester Nicholson had fallen through and was drowning when he jumped in and rescued him.

Register of Deeds F. W. Wilson slipped on the courthouse steps at Traverse City, and striking his head and hips, lay unconscious for half an hour before being discovered. Only the day before County Clerk Robert Walker was taken with appendicitis.

Murderer Jim Hathaway, who escaped from Jackson prison and was captured in Detroit a few hours later, has been put at work in the trip-hammer shop of Withington & Cooley, the hardest work in the prison, and in sharp contrast to his easy work as a "trusty."

Five men of Battle Creek were bitten by a bulldog before the animal was killed. Dr. Vary has identified the animal, and on order of the state board of health, will send the brain and spinal cord to the laboratory at the U. of M. to determine if the dog had hydrophobia.

Wooden molds, apparently intended for making counterfeit money, have been placed in the prison "museum" at Jackson. It is said that they were found during the building of the new cell block, prisoners evidently having tried to turn out lead dollars. The effort was rather crude.

Burrell Tripp, of Allegan, was awarded $169 against the Standard Oil Co. He brought suit in Justice Zick's court, alleging that that amount was due him as a rebate, oil being sold to the Grange store at 9 1/2 cents while he paid 10 cents a gallon. The trust representative will appeal the case.

The Durable Cement Butt Co., of Battle Creek, has been reorganized, with $200,000 capital, with Cortland D. Camp, of the Great Lakes Shipbuilding firm, as president. Capitalists of New York and Pittsburg are back of the enterprise, and plants will be established throughout the United States.

Boston has come to Michigan for a large quantity of its favorite food—beans. From 20 to 25 carloads of beans are shipped from this state to Boston every week. Secretary F. E. Kelsey, of the Michigan Bean Jobbers' association, which held its midwinter meeting in Detroit, proudly told of Michigan's connection with hub culture.

Andrew Patterson, alleged wife deserter, who has been missing since November 27, apparently escapes punishment through novel technicalities. He was a former United States soldier in the Philippines, and in 1892 married Miss Dora Bradt in Port Huron. They recently moved to Sarnia, and there, it is alleged, the wife was deserted.

Mary Byrne, of Clayton township, has started suit for $20,000 damages against Allen J. Beach, whom she claims permanently injured her while riding his bicycle.

Six of the sixteen grand jurors have returned to Shiawassee county $18 each which they had accepted as pay for Sundays. The supervisors' howl on this score will doubtless cut on the petit jurors from Sunday pay hereafter. The prosecutor, it is said, has been receiving pay for sitting on the board of supervisors, and this will be stopped. Grand Juror Campbell is a supervisor who drew pay for sessions they didn't attend.

A Spanish aeronaut named Duro has crossed the Pyrenees in a balloon. He ascended at Pau and descended at Gaudic, in Granada, covering about 560 miles in fourteen hours.

WASHINGTON REPORTS

PUBLIC BUILDING BILLS WHICH RUN UP TO MILLIONS.

MICHIGAN COMES RIGHT UP TO THE FRONT FOR A LITTLE OVER TWO MILLIONS.

THE DIVISION MAY MAKE SMALL SHOW FOR THE STATE WHEN AMOUNT IS FIXED.

Public Buildings.

Now that the fight over the statehood bill is finished and the administration forces have won a decided victory it is being acknowledged that there will be a public building bill put through this session. It will be what is known as a modest bill, that is somewhere between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000, so the close friends of the speaker say. The chairman of the committee on public buildings puts it at about $15,000,000.

So far there have been introduced 415 public building bills carrying the total appropriation of $41,362,000. A bill appropriating $15,000,000 would therefore take care of a little more than one-third of all that is asked for. Michigan members have up to date introduced 14 bills carrying an aggregate of $2,435,439. If the state gets its proportion of the whole it would therefore carry off about $900,000.

The Michigan bills are as follows: Deuby, addition to Detroit postoffice, $350,000.

Townsend, enlargement Jackson postoffice, $25,000.

For relief of D. M. Baker, F. W. C. Caly and H. V. C. Hart, committee, and to reimburse those who subscribed and paid for site for postoffice building at Adrian, $10,439.

Ann Arbor postoffice, $100,000. Hamilton, Niles postoffice, $50,000. Gardner, Coldwater postoffice, $50,000.

William Alden Smith, addition to Grand Rapids postoffice, $750,000. S. W. Smith, Pontiac postoffice, $100,000.

Addition to Flint postoffice, $25,000. Fordney, Owosso postoffice, $75,000. Loud, Alpena postoffice, $100,000. Young, Ishpeming postoffice, $100,000.

Soo postoffice, $100,000. Escanaba postoffice, $100,000, also a bill to retain part of the site of old Fort Brady for a site for the postoffice at the Soo, but carrying no appropriation.

The committee on public buildings has not yet begun the consideration of these bills, but expects to get at them in about a week or 10 days and then it will be up to the members to put in their work pulling wires for a position in the omnibus bill the committee will bring in. Whatever the committee incorporates in the omnibus bill will go, and all the rest will remain out in the cold.

Stickney's Ridicule.

At the banquet of the Chicago real estate board, President A. B. Stickney of the Chicago & Great Western railroad ridiculed the proposed rate legislation by congress, as in no degree affecting rebates.

"When we reflect," he said, "that it requires over 2,000,000,000 of separate rates to make a schedule upon one commodity being in the railway stations of the United States, and as many more separate commodities, requiring, say, 24,000,000 rates to make a complete tariff, and that under the proposed law the commission can consider only one at a time, it is easy to see that it will take the commission a great many years."

He believed that the only way to do is to discover the general principles of reasonable rates by providing a commission to investigate actual facts. After that a reasonable and just law might be passed.

"Learn To Shoot Well."

Encouragement of rifle practice among the men of the National Guard was the burden of an address by President Roosevelt to the delegates represented at the annual meeting of the Interstate Guard association.

"I want to see the average national guardsman know how to shoot well," he said. "I want to see that the young fellow who has been through the National Guard has received a training which will make him able to do his work in time of war if the need comes."

In a great industrial civilization such as ours we may just as well face the fact that there is a constant tendency to do away with the individual soldier. It should be the steady object of every legislator, of every executive officer, and above all, of you gentlemen who have to do with the National Guard, to try to encourage those qualities, to try to counteract the tendency toward their elimination."

Justice John M. Tierney, of New York municipal court, has abolished the use of the Bible in his court. Explaining his action he said it was a desecration to use the Bible in the court, as the "living words from the mouths of witnesses made its use a mockery."

A Spanish aeronaut named Duro has crossed the Pyrenees in a balloon. He ascended at Pau and descended at Gaudic, in Granada, covering about 560 miles in fourteen hours.

Rear Admiral Dunlap, commandant of the naval station at San Juan, P. R., under date of Monday, sent the following cablegram to the navy department regarding the drydock Dewey:

Marshall Field, Ill., grandson, $90,000,000; Henry Field, grandson, $60,000,000; and Field Columbian museum, $8,000,000, are the principal bequests in the will of the late Marshall Field just filed.

GENERAL WHEELER.

Gen. Joseph Wheeler, the famous confederate cavalry leader, and a brigadier-general of the United States army since the war with Spain, died Thursday afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. Sterling Smith, in Brooklyn, N. Y. The veteran of two wars was 69 years old, but in spite of his age there was hope until yesterday of his recovery from the attack of pneumonia, which caused his death. Gen. Wheeler was taken ill six days previous at his sister's home, where he has been living recently. He contracted a severe cold, which developed into pleurisy and pneumonia. From the first his age told against him, but the family did not give up hope until last night, when the disease was found to have affected both lungs.

Major-General Joseph Wheeler. Gen. Wheeler's immediate relatives were all with him. His daughters, Mrs. W. J. Harris and the Misses Anne, Lucille and Carrie Wheeler, had been summoned from the south and arrived early in the week. His son, Maj. Joseph Wheeler, Jr., U. S. A., now stationed at West Point, was also present, as well as Gen. Wheeler's sister, Mrs. Sterling Smith, and her son.

The Valencia Wreck.

Of the 154 persons on board the steamer Valencia when it was wrecked near Klamaway rock, five miles from Cape Beale, B. C., Monday night, only thirty-five have been saved. The dead number 120, the greatest loss of life in the north Pacific since the "Pacific" was lost in 1875.

Two life boats reached shore, one holding six and another nine survivors. Two life rafts were put afloat, holding twenty each, only one of which was saved with its human burden nearly dead from exposure. This raft was picked up six miles from the wreck by the City of Topeka.

The Valencia with its freight of human beings could not withstand the poundings of the sea, and during the night broke up, casting the victims against the rocky cliff but 150 feet distant, where all, numbering about 100, were dashed to death.

Not one woman or child was saved, although there were scores on board the ill-fated coast steamer.

Lake Naval Station.

Estimates of improvements necessary at the naval training station on the great lakes have been received at the navy department in a report from Capt. Albert Ross, U. S. N., who is commandant of the new station. He suggests an appropriation of $700,000 for the next fiscal year with authority to enter into contracts for works to cost $2,000,000. The general scheme provides for an administration building, four dormitories, mess hall, drill hall, instruction building, guard house and power house. These will be the main buildings; and in addition there are to be smaller structures and considerable work in the improvement of the grounds.

Hepburn Rate Bill.

Chairman Hepburn reported to the house his railroad rate bill with the favorable recommendation of the entire Republican and Democratic members of the Interstate and foreign commerce commission. The bill will come up in the house this week. It is made up from the nineteen bills which were before the committee and the information contained in five volumes of hearings before both senate and house committees.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, and other Ohio mayors have petitioned the legislature to curb the powers of the governor in cities. The new "lid" is not popular in Ohio.

King Peter of Serbia is practically a prisoner of those who were responsible for the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga at Belgrade. The finances of the country are in a bad way and friends of the king are alarmed for his future safety.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, has been presented with a pair of white yarn socks by the "Counter force, of Marshall, S. C." They match the galluses and homespun suit, which were also presented to him by citizens of South Carolina.

"Later information from Maine gives position of drydock Dewey at midnight 20th inst. at latitude 28 degrees, longitude 44 degrees 6 minutes. Hooley reports Caesar buried seaman, dead of beriberi."

Mrs. Richard Droscher, of Monroe, owes her life to a little fox terrier, the family pet. She was partially roused by him barking and jumping upon her face, could she muster enough energy to get up. The house was full of coal gas and as she started for the door she fell unconscious. The dog renewed his frantic barking until neighbors were aroused and investigated.

FOREIGN NEWS NOTES

THE CZAR'S TOAST TO THE GERMAN EMPEROR SIGNIFICANT.

GERMAN-RUSSIAN ALLIANCE WILL RENDER TREATY WITH FRANCE USELESS.

ENGLISH ELECTIONS GIVE NEW PREMIER AN OVERWHELMING MAJORITY.

"More Than Ally."

A new grouping of the powers of Europe with Germany and Russia arrayed side by side in the closest friendship, and the mis-matched alliance of the empire with republican France lagging in the rear, was forecast by the words of Emperor Nicholas at a gala luncheon at Tsarskoe Selo Saturday, in honor of Emperor William's birthday.

Rising to his feet before a brilliant company of Russian and German representatives to propose a toast to the German emperor, Emperor Nicholas lifted his glass and said slowly and distinctly as if weighing every word: "I drink to the health of the emperor of Germany and the king of Prussia, my brother and very dear friend."

The phrases chosen were significant enough in themselves, the emperor in previous years having proposed the health of the emperor-kings without the qualifying expression of brotherhood and friendship, but turning to Herr von Schoen, the German ambassador, who was standing at his right, the emperor grasped him by the hand and is reported to have said: "Frere, c'est plus que alle." (Brother, that's more than ally.)

The Liberal Victory.

Except that the returns from nine constituencies have not been received, the general elections in the United Kingdom are ended.

The government coalition will have approximately 510 votes in the next parliament, this estimate including on the side of Premier Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the nationalists and labor voters, with the concrete unionist minority of 100 on the opposition side.

The issues in the campaign brought forth by the liberals included an expensive war for which the people are still paying, a threatened rising of food prices, an unpopular educational system, an unprecedented number of unemployed and many other matters. General dissatisfaction with the unionists' 10 years of power was manifested.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman will enter the new parliament on Feb. 13 with the greatest majority ever given to an English premier.

Punishment of Castro.

The French cruisers Desails and Jurien de la Graviere are at Willemstad, Curacao. It is stated, however, that any action by France against Venezuela at present is unlikely, for news has been received that a party in Venezuela is preparing a revolution for the overthrow of President Castro. It is said that the revolutionists intend to seize Maracaibo and release the political prisoners.

It was stated at the foreign office that France would choose her own time for punishing Castro, at whose disposal she did not consider herself as regards the choice of the time and place for acting.

Appeal for Justice.

The Independent Oil Refiners of Kansas have mailed to James R. Garfield, commissioner of corporations, an appeal for justice against the alleged conspiracy between the Standard Oil Co. and the railroads to shut Kansas out of the market for refined oil. Refiners who will sign the appeal have invested more than $1,000,000 in refineries, tank cars, storage tanks, wagons and barrels.

They claim that by reason of a conspiracy between the Standard Oil Co. and the railroad systems of the southwest, particularly the railroads operating in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Arkansas and the territories of Oklahoma and Indian Territory, they are limited to the state of Kansas for a market for their refined oil; that to all points outside of Kansas the freight rates on all the products of crude petroleum are unreasonably high and have been maintained at such rate for no other purpose than to confine business of the independent refineries to the state of Kansas.

The Extreme Penalty.

Capt. William Van Schalk, who was master of the excursion steamer General Slocum, was convicted Saturday by a jury in the United States circuit court of responsibility for the terrible catastrophe in which the vessel was burned and over a thousand persons were incinerated or drowned in the East river nearly 18 months ago. Fifteen minutes after the verdict was in, Judge Thomas had called Van Schalk to the bar and pronounced the extreme penalty provided by the federal statutes for the crime of which he stood convicted.

About two-thirds of the average human heart is occupied by self-love.

"Married," Cora Maynard, 20, to Marshall Ney, 72. Miss Maynard was a popular society girl. Ney is a hermit. Together they will live in seclusion. Friends of the bride are amazed. She has forbidden them to call.

Dr. Mary Walker, famous for her adoption of male attire, asserted before an Albany legislative committee that she knew of a case at Auburn prison where a negro was executed in place of another, condemned for murder. The assertion was made at a hearing on a bill to abolish the death penalty in New York state.

Ex-Gov. Holbrook, of Vermont, who served from 1861 to 1863, will be 98 years old Feb. 15. There will be an anniversary celebration at his home in Hyde Park, to which governors and the oldest former governors of other states will be invited.

Miss Alice Roosevelt is to have an official wedding. Gold rods and foreign dignitaries will be in evidence at the wedding ceremony and breakfast. This has been decided to please Alice, as she is extremely popular with the diplomatic corps and other officials, and wished to see as many of them present as possible.

A LOCK CANAL.

A lock canal at a cost of $147,630,000, and not more than eight years to build, or a sea level canal at a cost of about $250,000,000 and from 12 to 15 years to build, were the two problems discussed Tuesday by the senate committee on inter-oceanic canals.

The lock type was favored by Chief Engineer John F. Stevens, in charge of the construction work on the isthmus of Panama, who was before the committee all day. Informal expressions of members of the committee favor Mr. Stevens' recommendations. The examination of Mr. Stevens was conducted in executive session, as the committee had before it the majority and minority reports of the board of consulting engineers on the type of canal, which reports have not been acted upon by the isthmian canal commission nor by President Roosevelt.

The opinion was expressed by Mr. Stevens that a lock canal would supply all the needs of commerce and that practically the only argument that could be made in favor of the sea level type is in the time that would be saved in conveying ships from ocean to ocean.

The construction of a central lake, to receive the waters of the Chagres river, it is said, would permit steam vessels of the largest type to pass through the lake under their own power and thereby make up most of the time that would be lost in passing through locks.

The first authentic version of the present troubles at Zion City and the plans of John Alexander Dowie for the future was secured Saturday. It includes the substance of Dowie's will, which he made just previous to his departure for Jamaica. He was inspired to dispose of his estate by the fear of another paralytic strike.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

Whatever may be true touching the points now under controversy in the matter of railroad assessments and railroad taxation in Michigan the people of this state will be interested in the fact that this state now stands alone in the matter of proportionate returns to the state treasury on railroad taxation account. Not all that is due to the state on this account has as yet been paid by the railroads, but the existence of a suit to delay or escape such payment in full is of course no fault of the tax law from the requirement point of view. Attention has recently been called to the fact that in Wisconsin the average rate of tax on the railroads is only $1.15 per $100 of valuation, as compared with $1.40 or $1.71 in Michigan, as the railroad valuation question may be finally decided. The statement that Michigan's railroads will pay more taxes proportionately this year, as the present assessment stands, than the railroads of any other state in the union, is interesting information so far as it goes whatever may be results of efforts to increase such payments.The Ann Arbor health officer announced on Monday that every person who rode on the east bound car that left that city Sunday afternoon at 1:15 had been exposed to small-pox. There arrived in that city from Calhoun county a young lady who came to the U. of M.
hospital for treatment for a skin disease, which proved to be a well developed case of small-pox. The young lady was placed in the contagious disease ward at the hospital and she informed the physicians that several members of her family had a skin disease similar to the one she is suffering with.Frightfully Burned.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.

There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, andunless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal con-dition, hearing will be destroyed forever; blue cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh)that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

CHAPTER IX.—Continued.

I looked a question, and she went on: "I have some worries, and then last night I saw you were all keeping some bad news from me, and so I couldn't sleep."

"Then we did wrong to make a mystery of it, Miss Cullen," I said, "for it really isn't anything to trouble about. Mr. Camp is simply taking legal steps to try to force me to deliver those letters to him."

"And can he succeed?"

"No."

"How will you stop him?"

"I don't know yet just what we shall do, but if worse comes to worse I will allow myself to be committed for contempt of court."

"What would they do with you?"

"Give me free board for a time."

"Not send you to prison?"

"Yes."

"Oh!" she cried, "that mustn't be. You must not make such a sacrifice for us."

"I'd do more than that for you," I said, and I couldn't help putting a little emphasis on the last word, though I knew I had no right to do it.

She understood me, and blushed rosy, even while she protested, "It is too much."

"There's really no likelihood," I interrupted, "of my being able to assume a martyr's crown, Miss Cullen; so don't begin to pity me till I'm behind the bars."

"But I can't bear to think—"

"Don't," I interrupted again, rejoicing all the time at her evident anxiety, and blessing my stars for the luck they had brought me. "Why, Miss Cullen, I went on, 'I've become so interested in your success and the licking of those fellows that I really think I'd stand about anything rather than that they should win. Yesterday when Mr. Camp threatened to—'"

"Then I stopped, as it suddenly occurred to me that it was best not to tell Madge that I might lose my position, for it would look like a kind of bid for her favor, and, besides, would only add to her worries."

"Threatened what?" asked Miss Cullen.

"Threatened to lose his temper," I answered.

"You know that wasn't what you were going to say," Madge said reproachfully.

"No, it wasn't," I laughed.

"Then what was it?"

"Nothing worth speaking about."

"But I want to know what he threatened."

"Really, Miss Cullen," I began; but she interrupted me by saying anxiously:

"He can't hurt papa, can he?"

"No," I replied.

"Or my brothers?"

"He can't touch any of them without my help. And he'll have work to get that, I suspect."

"Then why can't you tell me?" demanded Miss Cullen. "Your refusal makes me think you are keeping back some danger to them."

"Why, Miss Cullen," I said, "I didn't like to tell this threat, because it seemed—well, I may be wrong, but I thought it might look like an attempt—an appeal— Oh, pshaw!"

"Oh, pshaw!"

"Now look here, Miss Cullen," I cried, indignantly, "I'm not going to let even you make fun of her."

"I can't help it," she laughed, "when you look so serious and intense."

"It's something I feel intense about, Miss Cullen," I said, not a little pained, I confess, at the way she was joking. I didn't mind a bit being laughed at, but Miss Cullen knew, about as well as I, whom I was talking about, and it seemed to me she was laughing at my love for her. Under this impression I went on: "I suppose it is funny to you; probably so many men have been in love with you that a man's love for a woman has come to mean very little in your eyes. But out here we don't make a joke of love and when we care for a woman we care—well, it's not to be put in words, Miss Cullen."

"I really didn't mean to hurt your feelings, Mr. Gordon," said Madge gently, and quite serious now. "I ought not to have tried to tease you."

"There!" I said, my irritation entirely gone. "I had no right to lose my temper, and I'm sorry I spoke so unkindly. The truth is, Miss Cullen, the girl I care for is in love with another man, and so I'm bitter and ill-natured in these days."

My companion stopped walking at the steps of 218, and asked, "Has she told you so?"

"No," I answered. "But it's as plain as she's pretty."

Madge ran up the steps and opened the door of the car. As she turned to close it, she looked down at me with the oddest of expressions, and said:

"How dreadfully ugly she must be!"

CHAPTER X.

Waiting for Help.

If ever a fellow was bewildered by a single speech, it was Richard Gordon. I walked up and down the platform till I was called to breakfast, trying to decide what Miss Cullen had meant to express, only to succeed

"Well," I said, fishing round for some reason other than the true one, "perhaps I want to take a rest."

"You are the worst man for fibs I ever knew," she laughed.

I felt myself getting red, while I exclaimed, "Why, Miss Cullen, I never set up for a George Washington, but I don't think I'm a bit worse liar than nine men in—"

"Oh!" she cried, interrupting me. "I didn't mean that way. I meant that when you try to fib you always do it so badly that one sees right through you. Now, acknowledge that you wouldn't stop work if you could?"

"Well, no, I wouldn't," I owned up.

"The truth is, Miss Cullen, that I'd like to be rich, because—well, hang it, I don't care if I do say it—because I'm in love."

Madge laughed at my confusion, and asked, "With money?"

"No," I said. "With just the nicest, sweetest, prettiest girl in the world."

Madge took a look at me out of the corner of her eye, and remarked, "It must be breakfast time."

Considering that it was about six-thirty, I wanted to ask who was telling a taradiddle now; but I resisted the temptation and replied:

"No. And I promise not to bother you about my private affairs any more."

Madge laughed again merrily, saying, "You are the most obvious man I ever met. Now why do you say that?"

"I thought you were making breakfast an excuse," I said, "because you didn't like the subject."

"Yes, I was," said Madge frankly. "Tell me about the girl you are engaged to."

I was so taken aback that I stopped in my walk, and merely looked at her.

"For instance," she asked coolly, when she saw that I was speechless, "what does she look like?"

"Like, like—" I stammered, still embarrassed by this bold carrying of the war into my own camp—"like an angel."

"Oh," said Madge, eagerly. "I've always wanted to know what angels were like. Describe her to me."

"Well," I said, getting my second wind, so to speak, "she has the bluest eyes I've ever seen. Why, Miss Cullen, you said you'd never seen anything so blue as the sky yesterday; but even the atmosphere of 'rainless Arizona' has to take a back seat when her eyes are around. And they are just like the atmosphere out here. You can look into them for a hundred miles, but you can't get to the bottom."

"The Arizona sky is wonderful," said Madge. "How do the scientists account for it?"

I wasn't going to have my description of Miss Cullen side-tracked, for, since she had given me the chance, I wanted her to know just what I thought of her. Therefore I didn't follow lead on the Arizona skies, but went on:

"And I really think her hair is just as beautiful as her eyes. It's light brown, very curly, and—"

"Her complexion!" Madge exclaimed. "Is she a mulatto? And, if so, how can a complexion be curly?"

"Her complexion," I said, not a bit rattled, "is another great beauty of hers. She has one of those skins—"

"Furs are out of fashion at present," she interjected, laughing wickedly.

"Now look here, Miss Cullen," I cried, indignantly, "I'm not going to let even you make fun of her."

"I can't help it," she laughed, "when you look so serious and intense."

"It's something I feel intense about, Miss Cullen," I said, not a little pained, I confess, at the way she was joking. I didn't mind a bit being laughed at, but Miss Cullen knew, about as well as I, whom I was talking about, and it seemed to me she was laughing at my love for her. CHAPTER X.

Waiting for Help.

If ever a fellow was bewildered by a single speech, it was Richard Gordon. I walked up and down the platform till I was called to breakfast, trying to decide what Miss Cullen had meant to express, only to succeed in reading fifty different meanings into her parting six words. I wanted to think that it was her way of suggesting that I deceived myself in thinking that there was anything between Lord Ralles and herself; but, though I wished to believe this, I had seen too much to the contrary to take stock in the idea. Yet I couldn't believe Madge was a coquette; I became angry and hot with myself for even thinking it for a moment.

Puzzle as I did over the words, I managed to eat a good breakfast, and then went into the Cullen's car and electrified the party by telling them of Camp's and Fred's dispatches, and how I had come to overhear the former. Mr. Cullen and Albert couldn't say enough about my cleverness in what had really been pure luck, and seemed to think I had sat up all night in order to hear that telegram. The person for whose opinion I cared the most—Miss Cullen—didn't say anything, but she gave me a look that set my heart beating like a trip-hammer and made me put the most hopeful construction on that speech of hers. It seemed impossible that she didn't care for Lord Ralles, and that she might care for me; but, after having had no hope whatsoever, the smallest crumb of a chance nearly lifted me off my feet.

We had a consultation over what was best to be done, but didn't reach any definite conclusion till the station agent brought me a telegram from the postmaster-general. Breaking it open, I read aloud:

"Do not allow service of writ, and retain possession of letters according to prior instructions. At the request of this department, the Secretary of War has directed the commanding officer at Fort Whipple to furnish you with military protection, and you will call upon him at once, if in your judgment it is necessary. On no account surrender United States property to Territorial authorities. Keep Department notified."

TOWN ENTIRELY TOO HEALTHY

Nothing Doing in Sober Man's Line in Pineville.

"Pineville, O.," asks the man with the sober clothes. "I should say I have heard of that place. I was in business—or tried to be in business—there for a year. That town is the healthiest place I ever knew."

"Is that so?" we ask, with interest.

"Yes, I'm an undertaker, you see. I went there and opened an establishment on learning that there was no undertaker in the town. I didn't get a bit of business, and along in the summer I started out to pick blackberries for a living. They made me quit. They wouldn't even permit any blackberrying."

We smile wanly.

"And that wasn't the strangest part. I didn't move out until after a man who had tried to operate a cleaning and coloring shop closed his doors and failed."

"What had that to do with—"

"Was there any chance for an undertaker in a town where there could be no dyeing of any kind?"

Lesson for Boy.

A small West Side boy, who was laboriously putting up a shelf for his mother in the back yard the other day, received a free lesson in the proper way of putting in screws from a carpenter who happened to be passing along the alley. The boy was fastening the brackets to the fence by holding each screw against the wood and turning it until he had dug a hole deep enough for the screw to bite. The carpenter took one of the screws, held it in position, and gave it two or three sharp taps with a hammer, just as if it was a nail. This gave it a good start and the rest was easy. Then, as a further lesson in time and labor saving, the knight of the saw and plane took all the remaining screws and drew them into position, one after the other before beginning to use the screw driver. The boy forgot to say "thank you," but he looked as though he had learned something.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

One Serious Fault.

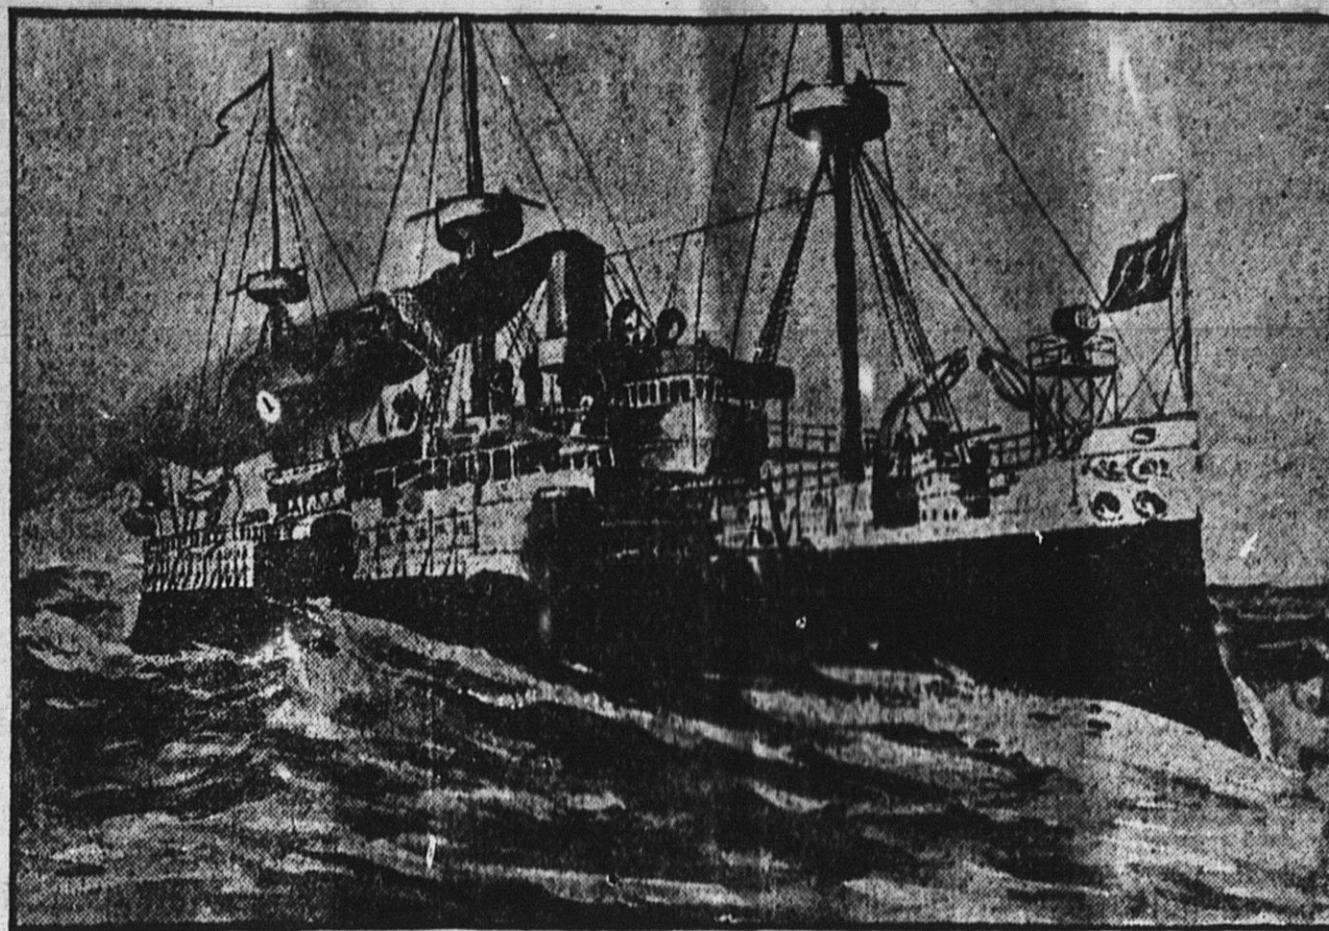

"We specialize in this age," said Richard Mansfield at a dinner. "Each of us confines himself to one thing, studies out that one thing's last detail and thus comes nearer to perfection than was possible in the past."

"Let me illustrate the unexpected and amazing attention to detail that abounds in modern life."

"A friend of mine is a clergyman. Recently a new pulpit was placed in his church. Meeting him a few days after the pulpit's installation I asked him how he liked it."

"Not at all," said he. "It hides too much of the figure and I like every shake of the surplice to tell."

Brazilian Warship Recently Destroyed

The Aquidaban, sunk by the explosion of its magazine at Jacarepagua, seventeen miles southwest of Rio de Janeiro, was a duplicate of the ill-fated Maine of the United States navy, except in size and in details of gun equipment and boilers. The disaster, the cause of which has not been ascertained, resulted in the loss of 212 officers and men. During the last rebellion the vessel was the flagship of Admiral Mello.

NEW AFRICAN RAILROAD LINE.

Will Traverse Country Capable of Great Development.

To the Red sea, not in Pharaoh's chariots, but in steam cars, is what the people are to do early in the new year. Most of the constructive material and locomotives have been sent from Glasgow. The line extends from Saukim, the present sea terminus, 332 miles into the interior, traversing first northward and then ascending the plateau 3,000 feet high, which runs parallel with the coast. Stretching fifty miles across the waterless waste of desert it reaches the Afubura river, twenty miles below its confluence with the Nile. Skirting the river it ultimately joins the Khar-tum-Wady-Halfa railway north of the Atbara bridge.

The new line will cost about $10,000,000 and will include extensive bridge works. Saukim may cease to be a great port, as the new terminus, now known as Port Sudan, forty-five miles north of Saukim, already has developed greatly and has a population of 2,000. The country traversed is capable of great development.

Cheap Taxidogs in New York.

There are fifty demigods of wealth who keep domiciles along Fifth avenue at least six months in the year, yet when the taxman comes around they sneak out of their obligations by claiming residence in Newport or Virginia or on Long Island. This year the evasion of taxes by millionaires has been particularly scandalous. The worst part of it all is that these persons get the greatest benefit from police protection for their properties; they are enabled to evade jury service; they are altogether a poor lot of critics, judged by the best standards of good citizenship. Yet when a poor devil who may happen to own a piano grumbles about personal property taxes they call him an anarchist.

Of the 120 boxholders in the Metropolitan Opera house only six pay taxes on a valuation of $100,000. The whole business is a cheap, unpatriotic swindle fit to stand with the insurance frauds and certainly deserving to fall with them.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Balfour, Rarely Loses Temper.

Mr. Balfour, the British statesman, who, with his party, has gone down to defeat, has marvelous self-control and never was known to be even ruffled by the bores who continually harass public men. One evening when he was being terribly "heckled" at a public meeting in Manchester a sympathizer called out: "Don't lose your temper." Mr. Balfour smiled easily as he replied: "I have lost many things in my time, but I never lost my temper." Even on the golf links he does not rise to the mildest provocation at a streak of bad luck.

Churches to Honor Lincoln.

The American Missionary Association is issuing an appeal to Congregational churches to observe Sunday, Feb. 11, in recognition of the ninety-seventh birthday of Abraham Lincoln. The association expects that the Methodist denomination will unite in the observance of the day. It appeals to other denominations to do likewise. Rev. Dr. C. J. Ryder, corresponding secretary of the association, is in communication with Grand Army posts, literary societies and many patriotic organizations to join in the celebration.

Casts of Sculptures.

Owing to the mutilation of a valuable antique head of Minerva, presented in 1860 by the composer Halévy to the Beaux Arts, a proposal to have casts made from all important sculptures in France belonging to the state has been made. In the present instance the nose has been knocked off and the head so damaged that repairs are out of the question. The possession of perfect casts of all the statues in the Louvre would at least minimize the loss in case of fire.

SCIENTISTS HAVE NEW SCHEME.

Aim to Utilize Forces of Atmospheric Electricity.

Franklin's bolt never has been snatched from the skies and harnessed in human service. But M. A. Breydel, a Frenchman, thinks it should. Experiments of the atmosphere have proved that large differences of potential exist in it at points not widely separated. It has been found that a difference of potential of 100 volts per meter has been measured, and even values as high as 300 volts. A conductor might be placed with its ends at two points where the difference of potential is 10,000; or under favorable conditions it might reach 30,000 volts. There should be some means of utilizing these enormous forces of atmospheric electricity. It is suggested that a possible method of collecting the energy would be to send up balloons surrounded with a network of conductors. It is thought that by means of a transmission line carried up a mountain so as to give a difference in latitude of about 800 meters between the upper and lower ends, that this should make available a potential of from 10,000 to 30,000 volts. Remains the question how this high tension is to be converted to pressure suitable for commerce.

Usefulness of Congressman.

Congressman Olmsted of Pennsylvania, expresses this opinion: "It takes a man about four terms in the house to familiarize himself with his office. A district that intends keeping a man in Washington for only two terms might almost as well send a clerk here, because the member never learns more than the performance of the routine duties before he is called upon to give up his office to another, who will go in the same way."

Income $1,000,000 a Week.

Albert Beit, the South African mining king, is said to be richer even than Rockefeller. Half the mines in South Africa belong to him, including the fabulous wealth of Kimberly's diamond output. The aggregate of his wealth can not be stated, but a rough estimate places it at $1,000,000,000. His yearly income is $2,500,000, which means that he gets $100 every minute of his life, or to put it another way, $1,000,000 a week.

Veteran Southern Statesman.

Judge Andrew J. Harlan of Savannah, Mo., 91 years old and a contemporary of Clay, Webster, Calhoun and Benton, has been in Washington endeavoring to secure the appointment of his granddaughter as postmistress of Savannah. Judge Harlan was elected to the thirty-first congress in 1848. Until California was admitted to the union he was the youngest member in the house of representatives.

Production of Coal.

The world's production of coal in 1880 was 370,000,000 tons, and the United States furnished 20 per cent of the whole. In 1890 the share of this country was 28 per cent of the world's total of 563,000,000 tons, and in 1900 it had risen to 32 per cent of 846,000,000 tons. For the present year the world's output will exceed 1,000,000 tons, of which this country will produce 39 per cent. The United States this year has mined more coal than was produced in the world in 1880.

Worthy Owner of Great Name.

The earl of Elgin has a name known half over the world. His father was plenipotentiary to China and a most successful viceroy of India; his grandfather was ambassador at Constantinople and collected the world-famous Elgin marbles. The present peer has been treasurer of the household, commissioner of works and finally a most tactful and popular viceroy of India. He was president of the royal commission which was appointed to report on the war in South Africa.

Pekin Ducks.

The Pekin ducks take the lead over all other ducks, first, on account of their rapid growth. If they are properly cared for they can be made to weigh five pounds at ten weeks old, and can be marketed when prices are the highest. Second, on account of their strong, healthy frames and long bodies there is never anything amiss with them. They should have plenty of water to drink, but do not need any to swim in. Care should be taken that they always have plenty of sharp grit where they can get it. I usually keep a box of grit in their drinking dishes.

Here in the west ducks are not mated until about February 1st, but the eastern breeders have large flocks of young ducks by that time. They raise them for the New York and Boston markets, where the people have had their taste educated to like green duck. The people of Chicago have not yet reached the point where they are willing to pay eastern prices for green duck.

I try to have my ducks begin laying in February. Most of the eggs first laid are not very fertile. To obviate this difficulty I generally set two ducks at a time. If part of the eggs are infertile, this can be found out by testing them and the fertile eggs put in one incubator, if he is using incubators. February is not too early to commence incubation. My first feed is infertile eggs chopped fine with bread crumbs, to which is added a little chick grit. After about a week I take John's cake, made from one-half shorts, one-half corn meal, which I feed about one more week. I then take about one-third corn meal, one-third bran and one-third shorts, and use these for the feed. We cannot always get bran or shorts here. I have had drakes hatched about July 10th weigh ten pounds early in December.

There is no class of poultry so easily raised, nor is there anything in the animal kingdom that can be turned into money as quickly as ducks. They never have lice except head lice. We always put a little grease on their heads. Bees will kill ducks if they run where there is white clover. They will catch the bees and the latter will sting them in the throat. This causes suffocation. Ducks not yarded nights will run themselves to death moonlight nights.—Mrs. Charles Jones, Illinois.

How Far Can Fowls Be Shipped?

I have made many shipments of fowls to Australia and New Zealand, as well as to Germany, Argentine Republic, Honolulu and England, and have for some years covered North America with shipments practically every month in the year. I have found it almost without exception to be advisable to ship fowls if properly crated and under proper conditions to any part of the globe, and believe that arrangements could be made to forward a pen of thrifty birds around the world, without any special detriment to them.

It is not advisable to ship eggs to such distances as will take more than seven or eight days to forward them. Conditions are all against them; though I have a customer who is anxious to try the shipping of a setting to Australia. It would take from thirty to sixty days to land them in his hands.

I have made repeated shipments of eggs from the very eastern part of Massachusetts as far west as Vancouver, and had my customer get as good results from them as I thought they were in the next state. I think that the above answer covers somewhat the radius of the territory which can be covered by one who advertises widely.

I am at the present time using a South African advertising medium and expect results from it. Shall have to state to you frankly that I have found in most instances that it is only the English speaking people who are ready to pay a price such as to make a satisfactory foreign trade, for the expense of shipping stock and to get a fair value for them is such that as yet the foreign speaking people are not ready to make many or liberal purchases, with the exception of Germany. One reason for this is, I think, that it takes poultry exhibitors to create a demand for fancy stock, and these, if conducted at all, are in a small way with other people than the English speaking.

I find it no more difficult to hold customers at a distance than those who are located near by, for with the mail order business the same as with a face to face trade, it is the satisfied customer who comes again.—Arthur G. Dutton, Middlesex Co., Mass.

The Use of Whitewash.

Whitewash cannot be used too frequently in the hen houses or in at least not likely to be. It is a great germicide and when disease germs and poultry lice are buried under it their course is finished. Whitewash has the virtue of filling up the unsightly places, and a rough board holds more of it than a smooth one. Some men whitewash their poultry houses only once a year; some twice a year, but the man that gives a monthly application is taking one of the surest ways of protecting his flock against lice and disease.

If the cellar is to be used for fruit storage see that it is properly constructed or arranged to remain at a low temperature.

The Chelsea Standard-Herald

An independent local newspaper published every Thursday afternoon from its office in the Standard building, C. sec. Michigan.

BY G. C. STIMSON.

Entered as second-class matter, January 11, 1903, at the postoffice at Chelsea, Michigan, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Austin Easterle was a Dexter visitor Friday.

Miss Bertha Schumacher was in Jackson Saturday.

Chauncey Freeman was a Jackson visitor Saturday night.

Chris Schneider and family spent Sunday with out-of-town friends.

Miss Emma Hoffstetter, of Royal Oak, is spending this week with her parents here.

Emmett Page, of Pontiac, was the guest of Chelsea relatives the first of the week.

Miss Emma Knapp, of Freedom, is a guest at the home of her uncle, W. J. Knapp.

Geo. B. Klink, of this place spent Sunday at the home of his parents in Manchester.

Miss Nellie Mingay, of Tecumseh, visited at the home of her parents here Sunday.

Ernest Lutz, of Bridgewater, spent part of last week the guest of Edward Easterle.

Miss Clara Abraham, of Jackson, spent the later part of the past week with her sister, Mrs. B. Steinbach.

Mrs. Mandus Merker and Miss Ruby Cushman visited at the home of L. Rodman at Dexter Tuesday.

Arthur R. Easterle, who is teaching school in Freedom spent Sunday with his parents, Peter Easterle and wife.

E. J. Feldkamp and family and M. L. Burkhardt and wife were Sunday the guests at the home of G. Feldkamp, of Freedom.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL EVENTS.

A. H. Kuhl, of Sharon, has made a contract with a Manchester firm for a fine monument that will be placed in his lot in St. John's cemetery, Freedom.

The second number of the lecture course will be given by Jas. Patton, at the Chelsea opera house, Thursday evening, February 22. Reserved seats on sale at Fenn & Vogel's.

A. Gehringer, of Freedom, who recently sold the farm on which he has been a resident for over forty years, has removed to Ann Arbor, where he will make his future home with his daughter.

John B. Fay, of Chicago, spent the first of the week with Chelsea friends. Mr. Fay was on his way to Europe, and as has been his custom stopped over in Chelsea to pay his Chelsea friends a visit.

W. H. Eisenmann, of Freedom, informs The Standard-Herald that he saw a streaked snake out, sunning, last Friday, and that his snakeship did not seem to be aware that this is supposed to be about midwinter.

A bunch of Elks from Ann Arbor were in Chelsea Monday evening and gave their Chelsea brothers a happy surprise. The last seen of the gentlemen they with their hand organ were headed for the electric waiting room playing "there will be a hot time in town tonight."

A. Claude Guerin, of Four Mile Lake, met with a painful accident at his home on Tuesday last. He was returning up-stairs from the furnace room below, when in some unaccountable manner he stumbled and fell backward, striking his head and inflicting an ugly scalp wound. Dr. Palmer dressed the injury.

The pedro social given at the Woodman hall last Friday evening for the benefit of the parochial school was well attended and ten dollars was added to the building fund. The three best players proved to have been the Misses Jennie Geddes, Mary Miller and Helen Burg in the order named, and each young lady was presented with a neat book as a reward for their skill.

A. A. Hall, of the Stockbridge Sun, has made arrangements with W. J. Wright to join him in the publication of that paper. Mr. Wright is a young man with considerable newspaper experience, and Mr. Hall promises that the publication will be decidedly improved. As the Sun has always been a neat paper the new partner has to take a rather large contract on his hands if he materially improves the present appearance of the paper.

Lafayette Grange will hold an open meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leander Easton, Wednesday, February 7, at 10 a. m. All who are interested in farm organizations are cordially invited. Mr. Easton will furnish conveyances to take those that take the 10:30 electric car. A good literary program is expected. All come prepared to answer roll call with a patriotic quotation. Question for discussion: "Direct Nationalism, or Why and When Enroll." Discussion opened by Herman Fletcher.

Cheapest accident insurance—Dr. Thomas Electric Oil. Stops the pain and heals the wound. All druggists sell it.

COMMUNICATION.

Editor Chelsea Standard-Herald:

In order to correct any wrong impression in regard to the ownership of the Bank Drug Store, which may have been created in the minds of some of our citizens by the statements of certain Chelsea parties, and on the strength of whose statements the following was published in the Ann Arbor Times of January 26, I desire to have published in the Chelsea Standard-Herald that portion of the editorial referred to relating to the Bank Drug Store, and the retraction of same in the Times of January 29:

"To help make a farther show, there was a half page from the Chelsea drug store out of which Glazier, the real owner, fired one of the Stinsons not long since, and as Chelsea people say, installed a successor without so much as an inventory."

"Mr. L. T. Freeman of Chelsea called at the Times office this morning and gave indisputable proof of his ownership of the drug store in that village to which reference was made in these columns Friday last, and therefore this method is taken to correct any false impression which may have been created."

Respectfully yours,

L. T. FREEMAN.

A WOMAN'S HAT AS AN INDEX TO HER CHARACTER.

By Caroline.

THAT there is any character to be displayed in the choice and manner of wearing a hat will doubtless be a revelation to the masculine mind. But a woman who is at all observing can tell from the hat another woman wears what manner of person it is with whom she is dealing. For the guidance of these erring, though well meaning, men I will lay down a few general principles. These suggestions may help some poor man to know a woman and the kind of a woman (or, rather, the kind of a hat) to be avoided. There is a little round black hat with scarcely any attempt at trimming, except a flat, black bow. This hat is sure to be worn by a little old maid, one who is sweetened rather than soured by her single lot. She is one who is absorbed in other people's children. She has lost the bloom of youth and has learned to think that is all man cares for in a woman. Any slight attention from a man pleases her tremendously, and any serious attention brings the blush of joy to her face and sets her heart palpitating. The style of hat peculiar to this season, the one with much trimming on the back, none on the front and worn so that it looks more like a toboggan side than anything else, is characteristic of an entirely different sort of woman. She may be the fashionable woman with plenty of money, who cares not how much she pays for a hat nor how many she buys. She will have one of this style, because it is the fashion, and if she tires of it she can pass it on to her maid. The other woman who wears this extreme hat is a woman who wishes to be fashionable, no matter what the cost. It makes no difference how unbecoming the hat is to her; she must wear it if it be the style. If you are a poor man, beware of her (unless she has an income all her own), for she is self-assertive and extravagant. She will be in the fashion, no matter how small your income. She will scribble on the table to have a new hat every season. A simple little touze worn with a veil indicates the girl of great common sense. Nothing specially startling or original about her. Just a good sort, one who would be good company on a long walk or drive. She takes life easily and comfortably and is usually very agreeable. The woman who chooses a hat with abrupt angles, who always has wings or stiff, conventional trimming on her hats, and who never wears flowers, is another kind altogether. You may always know her to be determined, independent, and if given half a chance she would be domineering. She is always agreeable as long as she is having her own way, but cross her and you will find that you have encountered something strangely like stone. There is a sort of soft, elusive, feathery kind of creation (no man would be crude enough to call it a hat) that is worn by some women. And the woman who wears it is as hard to describe as the hat she wears. A man would say she was distinctly feminine, womanly in all she did. But she is more than this—she is subtle, elusive and charming. She is sweet and comforting. She is, above all, bewitching and fascinating. She is the kind all men think they would like to marry, but there are not enough of this sort to go around. If you be a man in search of a wife before you "pop the question" study the headgear of the lady to whom you are devoted, and you will discover much that she would never tell you.

THINGS TO REMEMBER.

THAT the frequent use of hot baths is debilitating. That fresh vegetables are used for keeping the blood pure. That people who suffer from rheumatism will go a long way towards curing themselves by avoiding beer. That the over-use of alcohol has a particularly disastrous effect upon the liver, the kidneys and the blood vessels. That cold feet cause indigestion, liver troubles, diarrhoea and other ills, and should be carefully guarded against. That underdone beef and mutton are not unwholesome, but underdone veal or pork is very unwholesome indeed, and often causes illness. That if our natural teeth have become deficient artificial ones will be of great service in preventing dyspepsia by enabling us to chew our food well. That without thorough mastication of food we not only lose a considerable proportion of its nutriment, but also lay the foundations of indigestion. That an escape of gas into one's bedroom is very injurious to health, even though it be a very slight one. It is frequently an unsuspected cause of sore throat and headache. That anything over and above the quantity of nourishment required to replace the waste which is constantly going on in the body is not only unnecessary but is apt to do harm. Over eating is as mischievous as under eating—perhaps even more so. That without a healthy skin one cannot have a healthy body. To insure the health of the skin nothing is more important than cleanliness. Friction with a rough towel is also very useful, as it stimulates the myriads of glands which ramify the skin in all directions, and assists them to properly perform the work of secreting waste matters from the blood. When this is done vigorously the skin is said to "act" well. When it is not done well an undue strain is thrown upon the kidneys, and they have to perform some of the waste-removing work left undone by the skin, and some form of kidney mischief may be set up by the over-work put on them in this way.

NEWEST FUR EVENING COAT.

Seal Cloaks the Latest Fad for the Opera Among the Society Women of Paris.

AMONG the smart set in Paris many and are very "chic." They are worn when always found in other evening coats. The women are appearing in seal skin coats the dress is rather informal, usually for the theatre. Their popularity is due to the fact that there are plenty of American women like a man's coat, in straight tailor fashion their comfortable warmth, which is not who can indulge in this fancy.

Chelsea, will deliver the morning sermon.

Miss Nellie Stocking, of East Middle street started a mushroom bed in the cellar of her residence, and she is at present supplying a number of the citizens with the toothsome mushroom.

Izora, the daughter, of Rural Mail
Carrier S. P. Foster on Saturday, January 27, 1906, gathered in the yard at the home of her parents a dandelion with two blossoms. The young Miss would be glad to learn if anyone can beat this record.

Dr. Holmes reached home Friday night from an absence of two weeks at Defiance college, Defiance, Ohio, having preached fourteen times and delivered ten addresses to students and teachers within twelve days. One of the addresses was delivered before the county

the subject of Rev. M. L. Grant's sermon, Sunday morning at the Congregational church. "The Parable of the Ten Virgins" will be the evening topic.
This is the first of a series of four sermons
on the Parables of Christ.

Rural Mail Carrier No. 5, S. P. Foster, was seen to start from the Chelsea postoffice, last Friday morning, with a baby carriage in which he had his pouches of mail for the route. The inquisitive citizens of this place are wondering if the carrier shoved the perambulator over his entire route.

The first of the week H. G. Ives received a letter from W. K. Guerin, who is in Detroit, where Mrs. Guerin is receiving treatment for rheumatism, in which he states that his wife is not improving, and it will in all probability be some weeks before they will be able to return to their home here.

Hon. Frank P. Glazier last Saturday purchased the buildings and ground on the southwest corner of Main and Huron streets, Ann Arbor, at present occupied by H. J. Brown, druggist; a dry goods store, and the Ann Arbor dye works.
The property is considered by competent judges to be the best business corner in that city.

Tico, Corey, a young son of Daniel Corey, of Chelsea, had a very narrow escape from drowning last Sunday. The boy was playing on a pond on W. K.
Guerin's farm and broke through the ice.
He remained with his head just out of water for about forty minutes, when Roy, son of H. G. Ives, who heard the boy's cry, went to his rescue.

Alfred Gilbert, of Chelsea, has purchased through the agency of Dan Shell two cement machines, one of which makes the ordinary ornamental and plain cement blocks, and the other is for cement corner blocks, used for supporting heavy buildings. Mr. Gilbert expects to establish a yard in Chelsea and will devote his time to making various kinds of cement blocks used in buildings.

The annual financial report of the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart was read last Sunday by the pastor to a very large congregation, and the showing was very gratifying. A substantial balance is in the treasury, and the spiritual condition of the church is likewise fine: The congregation has entered on the grand work projected for this year,
the erection of the new parochial school, with commendable enthusiasm. The pastor has been ably supported by the church committee and the entire parish.
Congratulations on the excellent spiritual and financial condition of the church are certainly in order.

The union meeting of the Ladies Research and Bay View Clubs was held at the spacious home of Mrs. L. T. Freeman on Monday evening, January 29th and was a very delightful affair. Each club furnished its share of the program which was pleasing and instructive, before and after which, time was spent in conversation, and judging from the merriment was not so profound as would naturally be expected from such an august assemblage. Four little ladies sang in a charming manner several selections which called forth well deserved applause. Taking it all in all it was an interesting and inspiring meeting and will serve to bring the clubs nearer to each other in fact such organizations should be whose aims and aspirations are one.

A Healing Gospel.

The Rev. J. C. Warren, pastor of the Sharon Baptist church, Bolivar, Ga., says of Electric Bitters: "It's a Godsend to mankind.
It cured me of lame back,
stiff joints, and complete physical collapse.
I was so weak it took me half an hour to walk a mile. Two bottles of Electric Bitters have made me so strong
I have just walked three miles in 50 minutes and feel like walking three more. It's made a new man of me."
Greatest remedy for weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints.
Sold under guarantee at The Bank Drug Store. Price 50c.

Chinese Etiquette.

Strangers meeting in China may freely ask one another their names, provinces and their business prospects.
It is always considered a compliment to an old Chinaman to ask him his age; but the middle aged go not as a rule care for the question, and their answers can rarely be depended upon. It is also good form in China to ask the number and sex of a man's children, also if his father and mother are still living. His wife, however, must not be mentioned,
even in the most indirect manner.
Friends meeting, either or both in sedan chairs, stop their bearers at once and get out with all possible expedition.
The same rule applies to acquaintances meeting on horseback.

YOU HAVE NO RIGHT TO SUFFER

From Constipation, Bowel and Stomach Trouble.

Q. What is the beginning of sickness?
A. Constipation.

Q. What is Constipation?
A. Failure of the bowels to carry off the waste matter which lies in the alimentary canal where it decays and poisons the entire system. Eventually the results are death under the name of some other disease. Note the deaths from typhoid fever and appendicitis, stomach and bowel trouble at the present time.

Q. What causes Constipation?
A. Neglect to respond to the call of nature promptly. Excessive exercise. Excessive brain work. Emotional and improper diet.

Q. What are the results of neglected Constipation?
A. Constipation causes more suffering than any other disease. It causes rheumatism, colds, fevers, stomach, bowel, kidney, lung and heart troubles, etc. It is the one disease that starts all others. Indigestion, dyspepsia, diarrhoea, loss of sleep and strength are its symptoms—piles, hemorrhoids and fistula, are caused by Constipation. Its consequences are known to all physicians, but few sufferers realize their condition until it is too late. Women become confirmed invalids as a result of Constipation.

Q. Do physicians recognize this?
A. Yes. The first question your doctor asks you is "are you constipated?" That is the secret.

Q. Can it be cured?
A. Yes, with proper treatment. The common error is to resort to physics, such as pills, salts, mineral water, castor oil, injections, etc., every one of which is injurious. They weaken and increase the malady. You know this by your own experience.

Q. What then should be done to cure it?
A. Get a bottle of Mull's Grape Tonic at once. Mull's Grape Tonic will positively cure Constipation and Stomach Trouble in the shortest space of time. No other remedy has before been known to cure Constipation positively and permanently.

Q. What is Mull's Grape Tonic?
A. It is a Compound with 40 per cent of the juice of Concord Grapes. It exerts a peculiar strengthening, healing influence upon the intestines, so that they can do their work unaided. The process is gradual, but sure. It is not a physic, but it cures Constipation, Dysentery, Stomach and Bowel Trouble. Having a rich, fruity grape flavor, it is pleasant to take. As a tonic it is unequalled, insuring the system against disease. It strengthens and builds up waste tissue.

Q. Where can Mull's Grape Tonic be had?
A. Your druggist sells it. The dollar bottle contains nearly three times the 50-cent size.

Good for ailing children and nursing mothers. A free bottle to all who have never used it because we know it will cure you.

Odd Bequests in Wills.
Among the wills of early days are found bequests which are amusing. In 1648 the widow of John Granger of Scituate, Mass., in her will "gives to her son John a saw, a broad axe, and a narrow axe, when he is 21 years of age." To daughter Elizabeth a bed and bedding, one heifer, also one great mortar and pestle, and one great kettle.

Furnace Ventilation in Mines.
The furnace as a means of ventilation is said to be more economical in deep mines than in shallow ones, as it acts by heating a column of air; the higher that column the greater will be the difference in the weight of air in the upcast and downcast shafts, and consequently the greater the motive power.

Africa's "Sneeze-Wood" Tree.
One of the natural curiosities of South Africa is the "sneeze-wood" tree, which is so-called because one cannot cut it with a saw without sneezing, as the fine-dust has exactly the effect of snuff. No insect or worm will touch it; it is very bitter to the taste, and when placed in water it sinks.

Strange Things Seen & Done while Sleeping

That truth is sometimes stranger than fiction is illustrated by queer stories from that mysterious borderland lying between wakefulness and the complete unconsciousness of sleep—the land of dreams.

In the witcheries of the necromancer, dreams play their part; but some of the strangest manifestations of them are in the realms of fact.

Murders have been revealed and murderers caught through their agency; searches have been led to buried treasure; death has been foretold and disaster predicted. One man not long ago brought upon himself a breach of promise suit because he proposed to a woman while dreaming in her parlor.

A peculiar dream was that of Mrs. I. R. Andrews, president of the Omaha Woman's club, who located the dead body of her husband in the Platte river, Nebraska.

Mr. Andrews, a wealthy lawyer of Omaha, recently went to a gravel pit which he owned on Cedar creek, 100 miles from that city, to pay off employees. He was not seen alive again.

When the telegram telling of his disappearance reached his home his wife had already started for the scene of the tragedy, having been informed by a dream of his fate.

When she arrived at the gravel pit she was told that her husband had gone down the river the night before. She insisted that, in her dream, he had gone up the stream.

Parties were sent out in both directions, and the body was found up the stream, near where, in her sleep, she had seen a muffled figure following her husband.

In two dreams on the two nights preceding his start for California, a couple of months ago, Clark Emil Thornland, a retired Swedish merchant of New York, foresaw his death in a railroad wreck.

So vivid were these visions that Thornland wept when he kissed his daughter and grandchild good-bye. Indeed, it was with difficulty that he was persuaded to start. He said he did not expect to reach his destination, and took with him only enough money to pay expenses, believing that if he took more he would lose it in the wreck.

Just as he had foreseen, the train found clinging to the edge of a third-story window at his home, and was rescued from his perilous position with difficulty.

A more tragic result followed the sleep wanderings of Harry Davis of Minersville, Pa. Walking in his dreams, he fell from a third-story window and crashed to his death.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Maggie McCracken, 60 years old, of Village Green, Pa., arose from her bed after midnight and started upon a somnambulist tour of the neighborhood. Unfortunately she fell into a small stream near her home and was drowned.

Two cases wherein dreams had to do with death and disaster also came from the interior of Pennsylvania. At Troy, last summer, Policeman Edward Fenner was killed during a pistol duel with robbers.

A few hours later Comfort Smith, a farmer, drove into town and related a dream of the night before.

"I saw Ed Fenner fighting a pistol duel with three men," he said to the authorities. "One of the men was wounded."

Smith's description of one of the men was almost identical with that of a suspect whom the authorities were already following.

On Oct. 29, at Monongahela, Pa., one of those disasters that so frequently attach themselves to coal mines occurred. Among those killed was General Manager Hornickel.

It transpired later that at about the hour of the tragedy in the mine—near midnight—Mrs. Hornickel awoke with a scream. She said she had witnessed in her dreams an explosion, and that her husband was among the victims.

TURNED JOKE ON HIS FRIEND.

In This Case Last Laugh Was Decidedly the Best.

J. Q. Hoyt, once postmaster at Barnet, Vermont, and Seth Ford, White Mountain stage line owner, also of Barnet, were great friends, and were always playing jokes on each other.

Hoyt was a tailor, his shop being opposite Mr. Ford's residence. Ford once bought a suit of clothes of Hoyt, who told him they were "half cotton." Ford took them home. His wife looked them over and told him they were "all cotton, and no half about it."

He took them back and said: "Hoyt, you said these clothes were half cotton."

"They are," said Hoyt.

"Well, what is the other half?"

"That is cotton, too."

Some time afterward Hoyt's store and the safe keys were missing. They were supposed to have been dropped by him into a box of suspenders while he was showing a prospective buyer the stock, and that the next pair of suspenders he sold he sold the keys with them.

In some way Ford got the keys and returned them to Hoyt, saying: "Here, Hoyt, do these belong to you? I found them under my chicken roost."

Russell Would Protect Him.

William E. Russell was once a member of the First Corps Cadets, and when he was governor took particular interest in his visits to the annual encampment. No one was prouder of the Governor than George Washington Jones, a colored gentleman who had been employed to do some menial service for Mr. Russell when the latter was in college.

At one of the governor's visits to camp Mr. Jones was also on hand, and celebrated the occasion so energetically that he was placed under arrest over night, and made to "police" or clean up the camp grounds the next morning. He smothered this insult to his pride until he could attract the attention of the officer of the day, when he complained as follows:

"My name is George Washington Jones, and if Billy Russell knew I was doing this, he'd give you a h—l." Boston Herald.

When news of the accident and its fatal result to Thornland was telegraphed his daughter, Mrs. Charles Thoren, Brooklyn, the family related the victim's prophetic dream.

Strange things are being done constantly by persons while asleep. Some weeks ago, at Wilkesbarre, Pa., Kate Smith, in her somnambulist rambles, climbed to the roof of the house of Mrs. Sol Hirsch, in which she lived.

How she got upon the roof is a mystery, for she could only have gained it by a climb of which any woman would seem incapable.

A somewhat similar but more dangerous experiment was that of George Tauwalt of 306 Plane street, Newark, N. J.

Early one morning Mr. Tauwalt was found clinging to the edge of a third-story window at his home, and was rescued from his perilous position with difficulty.

FALL WHEAT RAISING IN ALBERTA.

The Spring Wheat Areas Are Rapidly Increasing.

It is only a few short years since the impression prevailed that a large portion of the Canadian West was unfitted for agriculture. To such an extent did this impression prevail that districts larger than European principalities were devoted solely to ranching purposes, and flocks and herds roamed the ranges. But the agriculturist was doing some hard thinking, and gradually experiments were made, slowly at first, but surely later on. As a result, to-day in Southern Alberta, which was looked upon as the "arid belt," large quantities of the finest winter wheat in the world are now grown, and so satisfied are the farmers and buyers that the industry has passed the experimental stage that elevators by the score have been erected in the past two years and others in course of erection, to satisfy the demands that will be made upon them in the near future.

Manitoba, "No. 1, Hard" spring wheat has achieved a world-wide reputation, and there can be no question that ere long "No. 1 Hard" winter wheat from Alberta will attain similar repute. The great market for this production will undoubtedly be the Orient, and, with increased railway facilities and the erection of additional elevators and flouring mills, a largely increased acreage will be broken to winter wheat. The increase of population in Southern Alberta in the past year has been largely due to settlers from the United States who have brought in capital and enterprise, and who have been uniformly successful in their undertakings.

A few more years of growth and "Turkey Red" winter wheat will wave from Moose Jaw to the foothills. Information regarding lands in the Fall and Spring wheat belts may be obtained of any Canadian Government Agent.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed it has a running sound or hum in the ears, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; else cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

TESTIMONIALS HARD TO GIVE.

Some Subterfuges Employed by Kind-Hearted Persons.

The giving of a "character" to domestic servants is one of the severest tests of the employers' character. An Irish master, being called upon to write a testimonial for a groom whom he was discharging for drunkenness, gave him a good character, but omitted to mention one trait. The groom returned the letter, objecting that it did not say he was sober. The master added "sometimes sober," and the man was content. The woman who had to recommend the inefficient cook she had kept for seven years only because she was afraid to give her notice went one better. She had covered three pages with undeserved commendations; she had placed it in an envelope and addressed it, and her conscience pricked her badly. Then she had a happy idea, and broke open the seal, adding to her letter, as a postscript, "God forgive me!" It satisfied her conscience, but history does not relate if it satisfied the other woman—New York Tribune.

Rode on Turtle's Back.

In the North Borneo Herald it is recorded that two English women, Mrs. McEnroe and Mrs. Darby, recently paid a visit to the lonely island of Tanager. Among other adventures there the two sat up one night to watch for turtles, and at midnight saw a large one come out of the sea to the sands. When it was returning to the water first Mrs. Darby and then Mrs. McEnroe mounted on its back and rode for some distance.
