The contract calls rate payers, or on application by for the completion of the building by granges or literary clubs. Each library May 15th and this means that the work consists of 50 volumes. will have to be crowded constantly.

The building will be erected at the the association: President, Evan Essery, corner of Railroad and East streets Manchester; executive committee, presiwith a frontage of 150 feet on both dent L. H. Jones, Ypsilanti Normal, streets. It is to be 60 feet wide and 3 chairman; Supt. H. M. Slauson, Ann stories high, which will give a total Arbor; Allen S. Whitney, Ann Arbor; floor space of 43,200 square feet. This supt A. R. Turner, Saline, and C. E. is equivalent to a room 16 feet wide Foster Chelsea. and one half mile long. The building will present a very handsome appearance and the general design would, in fact, do credit to an office building. The exterior treatment consists of nassive piers four feet in width, rising to the full height of the building and united at the top by heavy arches. Almost the entire space between these piers will be filled with windows so that the interior will be practically as light as outdoors. This arrangement is one of the latest developments in factory architecture; it not only makes better work possible but also adds greatly to the comfort and health of the workmen.

In the construction of the building the Kahn system of reinforced concrete is to be used. Cement is mixed with sand and gravel in the usual way for sidewalk work; the grout is then packed in forms with steel bars running through it in such a way as to bind all parts firmly together and prevent all possibility of cracking. The piers, columns, floors and roof will be built entirely in this way. Some idea of the strength is given by the clause in the contract which calls for a test on the floors of 800 pounds to the square foot. This is equivalent to piling steel ranges adopted by this honorable body over the entire floor to a height of 40 feet. In order to make such a test as this it will, of course, be necessary to use pig iron. The exterior of the building will be inished with a course of dark red pressed brick laid in black mortar. For the inishing course of brick on the inside a white brick is to be used which will be of advantage in keeping the rooms perfectly lighted. The building will be strictly fireproof by reason of the concrete construction. In addition, an automatic sprinkler system is to be installed which will make a fire practically an impossibility, Weil & Shaw of Detroit, the consulting engineers of the Company, are developing this system, together with all plans for heating and

The toilet rooms are located in practically independent building, so far as ventilation is concerned. The plumbing will be first-class in every particular and strictly sanitary. In fact, no pains and expense have been spared throughout the entire building to make it a healthful, pleasant, working place for the employees. It is safe to say that and adopted by this council as read by when it is completed there will be no finer factory building in the state, and very few in the entire country which equal it.

Catering to the Mexican Trade.

The business of supplying cattle for the Mexican trade has been our business for about twenty years past, and in that time a man should get himself established. We saw our first Brown Swiss there, and learn to judge them as they are valued there. Our herd was escablished in 1890, sometimes numbering over 100 head. Right now I think we have only 70 or 75. We raise all the good calves we can, and buy on the outside when we find cattle of sufficient quality at prices we care to pay. These cattle have to be prepared before we can ship them. This takes anywhere from six months to two years' time, feed and care. We do not ship in the fever sections, but go to higher altitudes where it is cooler. We never unload our cars in Texas, but go whizzing through. Our Swiss are used for milk, beef and work. They make hardy, strong, durable oxen with which the land is tilled. We find them splendid milkers and making good beef. They are also rapid growers, responding promptly to good feed and treatment. We often have them weigh 1,000 pounds at one year of age.

The Mexican trade is not what it once was. There have been many cattle imported there direct from Switzerland, so they are much more plentiful than they used to be. The cost of transportation used to be about $50 per head, but now it is less, say about $40. Then one has to pay 5 per cent commission for sale, besides feed and stable bill. Sometimes one can sell for cash, but often it is on time. The prices vary according to quality and age. When I get $125 net for my 15 or 18-months' youngsters, I let them go. This is about $300 Mexican money. However, we sometimes sell special animals higher. To do that, some one has to be on to his job, first to know the animal, then to know a customer who will pay for the quality. We turned off a young cow once for $800, a 15-months' bull for $650, but $300 each for a bunch of 10 or 12 is not to be turned down in these days.

. However, we ship five Holsteins to one Swiss. They go especially for the dairies, not for the farmers and work, but for milk only. Quantity, gossips who are in a position to know, | power to award any share of it to her not quality of milk, sells the cow. There weren't many moments in which to think while the judge scribbled away at the warrant, breast-pocket and took out the let but in what time there was I did a lot of head-work, without, however, hundred bleces. But as I did so I finding more than one way out of the snarl. And when I saw the judge finish off his signature with a flourish I played a pretty desperate card.

The three conspirators jumped to have to confess that I couldn't decide their feet and bolted for the window; to do right till I thought that Madge even the sheriff turned to look. As he did so I gave him a shove towards the three which sent them all sprawling on the floor in a pretty badly mixed-up condition. I made a dash for the door, and as I went through it I grabbed the key and locked them in. When I turned to do so I saw the lot struggling up from the floor, and, knowing that it wouldn't take them many seconds to find their way out through the window, I didn't waste much time in watching them.

Camp, Baldwin, and the judge had left their horses just outside the saof the idea might be its best chance loon, and there they were still paof success. tiently standing, with their bridles thrown over their heads, as only Western horses will stand. It didn't take me long to have those bridles back in place, and as I tossed each over the peak of the Mexican saddle I gave two of the ponies slaps which started them off at a lope across the railroad tracks. I swung myself into the saddle of the third, and flicked him with the loose ends of the bridle in a way which made him understand that I meant business.

Baldwin's cowboys had most of them scattered to the various saloons of the place, but two of them were standing in the door-way of a store. I acted so quickly, however, that they didn't seem to take in what I was about till I was well mounted. Then I heard a veil, and fearing that they might shoot,-for the cowboy does love to use his gun-I turned sharp at the saloon corner and rode up the side street, just in time to see Camp climbing through the window, with Baldwin's head in view behind him.

Before I had ridden a hundred feet Frealized that I had a done-up horse under me, and, considering that he had covered over forty miles that afternoon in pretty quick time, it was not surprising that there wasn't very much go left in him. I knew that Baldwin's cowboys could get new mounts in plenty without wasting many minutes, and that then they would overhaul me in very short orer. Clearly there was no use in my attempting to escape by running. And, as I wasn't armed, my only hope was to beat them by some finesse.

Just as the fragments of the papers were passed over to Mr. Camp, he was joined by Baldwin and the judge, and Camp held the torn pieces up to them, saying: "They've torn the proxies in two."

"Don't let that trouble you," said the judge, "Make an affidavit before me, reciting the manner in which they were destroyed, and I'll grant you a mandamus compelling the directors to accept them as bona-fide proxies. Let me see how much injured they are."

GERMAN AND BRITISH INCOMES

Great Britain and Germany as investors outside their own boundaries is made by Edgar Speyer, the well-known London banker, in a letter to the Statist. Editor Standard-Herald:

As all the taxpayers of Lima and Sylvan have been called upon to pay an sment levied to the township direct and many a special benefit to for the so-called Luick drain, I thought it might be interesting to some of your readers to see how some of the special benefit taxes are levied.

By taking several pieces of land that I am perfectly familiar with, and comparing them with each other, I will endeavor to show how simple and eary it is to levy these special benefit taxes, and if I fail to make it perfectly plain to all, you can rest assured that I do not know how it is done myself.

Buildings are not taken into consider ation, neither are the Henry George theories of land values only, and I expect to show by these comparisons that marsh or upland are not taken into consideration to any great extent.

The Luick drain is a lowering of the north branch of Mill creek, commencing on the north side of section 16, running south across 16, diagonally across 21, and easterly across sections 22 and 23. Chelsea, Mich.

The banks of the Luick drain are low and marshy, from a few rods to nearly one mile in width.

My first comparisons will be nine quarter sections, the northeast quarter of section 20-a part of my farm-being the center one. On the east half of this quarter section are two six-foot ditches, one entering from the north, one entering from the south, uniting on this 80. Both of these ditches are dry in a dry season. Near where they unite are several springs, which make permanent water from that point to where it unites with the Luick drain at the center of section 22.

The water level at my farm is 886; at the bridge, one mile east, on Mill creek, or what is known now as Luick drain, 874 north of this quarter section, with 25 acres marsh, I will compare with the 160 acres lying south, 70 acres marsh, the water from both flowing across the 80 nentioned above. The one with the 25 acres marsh is assessed $50.24, and the other $14.78.

Our next comparison is the 160 lying east and the 160 acres lying west of the northeast quarter. One has 25 acres of marsh and is assessed $66.53; the other has 65 acres of marsh and is assessed

The quarter section lying northwest, with 60 acres of marsh, I will compare with the quarter section lying southwest, with 15 acres of marsh. A part of the surplus water from the southwest instead of assessing it to the resident quarter runs north, entering my farm from the north, the balance east enterng from the south. The quarter section with 60 acres marsh assessed $39.40, the

Please notice the difference. In the irst two comparisons I made, the land that had the most marsh on was assessed is one of the best, if not the best, quarter residents of the township of Lima, one ection in the township of Lima. There is considerable tile laid on this land. section is assessed $12.28. The water level in the Luick drain is 12 feet below the lowest water level on any of the above described lands.

a person that did not know how to levy drain taxes would say, the eight quarter sections mentioned above should have been assessed exactly alike.

The southwest quarter of section 16 is a little different from the other quarter sections that I have described, as one drain, making it easy to drain, as the surplus water flows in the most direct way. This land is assessed $32.51. You will notice, it is assessed lower than the quarter section one mile west.

I will compare the west half of the west half with the east half of the west half of section 16-160 acres each. Both have two small streams of water running across them. The west one, ten; the east one, twenty-five acres of marsh. The west one assessed $62.05, the east one. No. 13 G. R. and Kalamazoo 6:45 p. m | 839.40. to carry surplus water, from a part of each of the forties north, south and west of it. These three forties are all good land, and for the privilege of letting their surplus water run through a drain one-half mile away, it would take an expert to tell why they should not be assessed alike. The north forty is assessed $24.62, the west one $7.39, and the south one $5.25. On section 10 I will compare a forty with an eighty lying south of it. The water from the forty flows south across CHANGED TIME the eighty. Both have about the same amount of marsh. The forty is assessed meeting last week voted to adopt $34.47, the eighty $24.64.

The water from the east half of the southeast quarter of section 10 flows east to Forty Acre lake, never going near the Luick drain; but this land is assessed $19.70.

I will compare this eighty with the east half of the southeast quarter of section 19. Part of the surplus water from this eighty flows north to section 17, part south and east in a more direct route to the Luick drain. Assessed,

On the northwest quarter of section 20 are two eighties owned by different parties; both are over two miles from the Luick drain; both have the same amount of marsh; the water runs down the sage ditch. One is assessed $24.60. the other $1.95.

I will next compare 30 acres on the west half of section 21 with 75 acres on the west half of section 16. Both have a small stream of water running across them: both have about the same number of acres of marsh. The only difference that I'know between them is in the number of acres, and that the 75 acres are near the Luick drain, while the other is over one mile away, as the water runs. The 30 acres are assessed $19.70, the 75 acres $14.75.

I intend to make but one comparison of land that the Luick drain crosses, for a fall of 12 feet. The 160 acres lying it will take two or three years before the owners know whether they are benefitted or not. My comparison will be the west half with the east half of the northwest quarter of section 22, the drain crossing both eighties 78 rods on the west one, 80 rods on the east one. the parties addressed until someone The west eighty is assessed $315.20; the cast one $246.25. There is more marsh on the west eighty than there is on the east one; but the greater part of the marsh on the west eighty is on another stream of water, that a petition to drain has been in Mr. Barry's hands, and suppressed by him, for two years.

I think Mr. Barry was ashamed of this assessment, as I notice he assessed it to quarters of the firm is located at Toledo. the president of the Iowa Agricultural
