THREE PIONEERS GONE,

Death Cerried Off Some of Our Oldest Judge Kinne Directed a Verdict in Faver Residents the Past Week.

Death, the grim reaper, has been busy among the older residents of this part of the H. S. Holmes Mercantile Co. was tried last week.

PETER HINDELANG who died Monday evening, May 11, at That will make good cream. o'clock; was one of the best known men in this section, baving lived hereabout for 56 years. He was born in Riedsaltz, province of Alsace, France, Jan. 4, 1819, and was 84 years, 4 months and 7 days old. As a young man he served for six years For hot weather cooking, and three months in the French army, working at his trade as a tailor. Toto the latter of whom he was betrothed, he came to America in 1846, and joined the rest of the Stapish family who had preceded them here. Mr. Hindelang took up a farm in Lyndon and July 6, 1847, he St. Mary's church, Detroit, by Rev. Fr. or another to almost everybody in Chelses | chasing. Haslinger. Hindeling, of Chelsea, survive. A kindly, peaceable man, Mr. Hindelang was a good parent, friend and neighbor and was high ly estcemed by those who knew him best. He early acquired the habits of thrift and saving and even when in the army saved his money while his comrades spent theirs recklessly, to this can be attributed his success in life. He was a devont member of the Roman Catholic faith, and his Rev. W. P. Considine, pastor of the all proportion.

She was born in the parish of Drumraw, sounty Down, Irclaud, and came to America when a young woman 17 or 18 years of age. In 1852 she was married to John Row in Detroit, and they started housekeeping on the farm where she died, and which has never had any other owner than Mr. Row, he having the original government deed of it. Mrs. Row had been a great sufferer for a year previous to her death. She had no childon and her aged hushand is left to mourn the loss of her who was his faithful partner in all of life's joys and sorrows. The funeral was held at St Mary's church Tucsday morning, Rev. W. P. Considine officiating. The remains were interred in Mi. Olivet cometery. Present at the funeral from abroad were her brother Patrick Savage, of Big Rapids, her brother-in-law Henry Hagan, and her nephews Edward Hagan, wife and daughter, Dr. James Hagan and wife, and Thomas Hagan, all of

The case of the Village of Chelsea va the county during the past week and has in the circuit court Monday and Tuesday. carried off among others two well known It involved the sum of $800, which the members of St. Mary's church, Peter village claimed in payment of its tax levy Hindelang and Mrs. Susan Row. Another on the company's stock of goods for 1901, former member of the parish Mrs. Pat and which the company refused to pay on rick Tuomey, of Scio, also passed away the ground that the assessment was out of all proportion to that of other people in the mercantile business. Only four wit nesses were examined and they were all for the village side of the case. They were W. H. Heselschwerdt, village elerk, Fred W. Roedel, assessor in 1901, Jacob Hummel, treasurer in 1901, and W. P. Schenk, member of the board of review. The defendants did not put in any witnesses. The judge took the case from the jur and directed that a verdict be entered for gether with John and Elizabeth Stapish, the defendants and against the village, on the ground of irregularities in the assessment roll and that the treasurer had not attempted to collect the tax in the manner pointed out by law.

A brief history of this case, which has these years he kept adding to his property assessor of the village, of Chelsea, asuntil at one time he had over 400 acres of sessed the stock of the H. S. Holmes Up-to-Date land. Four boys and three girls were Mercantile Co. at $15,000. Subsequently born to Mr. and Mrs. Hindelang, of whom the board of review, consisting of Timothy two, sons, Lewis H., of Dexter, and McKuue and Wm. P. Schenk met. At Victor D., of Albion, and two daughters, the time of this meeting there was also present F. P. Glazier, president of the village. Although not even an ex-officio member of the board of review Mr. Glazier-insisted that the assessment on the Holmes Mercantile Co.'s stock raised from $15,000 to $80,000, and under his direction this was done.

Mr. Holmes protested against this action and gave the board and Mr. Glazier notice that he would never pay the taxes on any auch au assessment until he was comfuneral held at St. Mary's church this pelled to do so by law, for the reason that morning at 9:80 was very largely attended. compared with the assessments made on A solemn high mass was celebrated by other properties of like nature it was out

The sermon was preached by Rev. Fr. men confirmed the assessment at that Savage. The remains were laid to rest in amount. Mr. Holmes paid the taxes on Mt. Olivet cemetery beside those of his that assessment without a murmur, considering the assessment of $20,000 a fair and just one. In fact he would never have refused to pay the tax in 1901 if the assess. ment had been put at $20,000, as he has repeatedly offered to settle the matter at when this case was called for trial and M. J. Cavanaugh, one of the attorneys for the village, was instrumental in getting the offer from Mr. Holmes. When the offer was submitted to Mr. Glazier he would not allow it to be considered, and the suit was proceeded with.

This action of Mr. Glazier has cost the village several hundreds of dollars to get absolutely no returns, and as the case is to be appealed it will cost several hundred more probably.

Two Good Ball Games.

The Junior Stars scheduled two ball games with the Detroit Regulars for last Saturday at the K. of P. park, and although the Detroit boys put up a very fast article of ball, the Stars would not be denied, and took both games. The morning game was a fairly good contest, and the Stars won by a score of 17 to 7. Howard Holmes pitched a good game for the Stars and was supported behind the bat by Ray Cook. Abemauer and Moore were the battery for the Ditroit team. The score by innings was:

Conditions appear to be more favorable toan early date for final adjournment than at any time during, the last month. There are fewer blik on the general order than at any time for several weeks, and it looks us if all business being seriously considered could be cleaned up juside of a weak or less, as soon as the primary election bill is out of the way. The fight on this measure bids fair to be a warm one and may prolong the session. Whether a compromise can be made or not is the burning question. Some aver that no compromise can be made and that the effort will be wasted even if state and county conventions are retuined. "Blow the principle of the thing." the tall man williamy lave thanked my stars if I couldn't live got into a poolroom. But of course there were other days. Want o hear a little story?

"Just about three years ago," he continued. "Billy Brand had his pool-100m in Church street. Brand was a sambler of class, suave, polished and game. He did a land office business. So brisk, in fact, that he inaugurated a system of morning betting, both for the benefit of those of his customers who might desire to place their bets during the noon hour, and also in order to lighten the crush in the room while the races were being run.

"I got into the habit of dropping isto Brand's about 12 o'clock to see if l'couldn't catch him 'out of line.' One day as I was waiting for the cards to be hung up a stranger sauntered up o me and whispered:

Inside of Parisian Art.

Paris has lately been amused by a sult brought by Mme. Brach, who gave up the stage for sculpture. She has sued to prevent a publisher from selling copies of statuettes which she her self made and owned. In the trial it was asserted by the defense that Mme. Brach had bought the statuettes from a sculptor named Ricardo, but had not bought the right of copying them. She had paid $30 for one and $40 for the other, and the only privilege that went with the sale was the right to sign her name to them. It was also asserted in the suit that a popular statuette which the state had bought turning to his cashier, 'rub Bequeath for the Louvre had been made by Mme. Brach in the same way: she had paid Ricardo to do it for her and let her clay, but behind a curtain M. Riwas undecided. Sogiaaw's Grand Jury Work, Saturday night the grand jury vhich has been in session aimost continuously since March 23, reported to Judge Beach in the Circuit Court. It is estimated the jury put in about thirty-three full days in the consideration of the electric lighting, Genesce avenue bridge and municipal cases wherein allegations of wrong doing have been made. As near as can be determined about a dozen indictments were returned. The court gave explicit instructions that no one concerned give out any information what ever. Those indicted will be served with notice to appear in court. There are a good many nervous people in the city as it is not known who is to be called upon the carpet.

Uncollected Taxes.

Fully $500,000 in back taxes are due on Bay county property, that amount accumulating since 1800. City officials Bay City is not paying taxes and that neonle are living in their homes, enjoying the benefits of Improvements without paying for them. There are a large number of cases of this kind where properties ranging in value from $500 to $2,000 have as much taxes against them as they are worth. A bill-to-permit the city to sell the property for the bare amount of the state and county taxes and so place the property back on the rolls was defeated in the legislature and the aldermen say the question is becoming a serious matter.

During Attacks Of Heart Failure.

Would Appear To Be Dead.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Relieved and Cured.

Miles' Heart Cure is all that one can wish it to be. I was troubled with heart disease for fifteen years. I have tried many different remedies but until I tried' Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I could find no relief. I was subject to headaches and had tried your Pain Pills and they were so effective I thought your Meart Cure might help me. I would have attacks at times so severe that I would be stone blind for the time being. During these apells I would be to all appearances dead. I took the medicine strictly as directed and I can truthfully say that I am completely cured. I advise all that are troubled with heart disease to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure at once, I write this and give my name to my fellow sufferers."—S. E. Purdy, Atkinson, Nebraska,

Nebraska,

"I first felt the effects of a weak heart in the fall of 1896. I saw an advertisement in the Sioux City paper in which a man stated his symptoms which seemed to me to indicate a trouble similar to mine. I had a soreness in the chest at times, and in my shoulder, an oppressive choking sensation in my throat and suffered from weak and hungry spells. I was truly frightened at my condition and procured six bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. Since taking my first bottle I have never been bothered by any of the old disagreeable symptoms and now am well and consider my cure permanent."—Lewis Anderson, Kuhn, S. D.

WASHTENAW POMONA GRANGE Has a Large and Successful Meeting With Bureka, No. 2, Lyndon.

The Washienaw Pomona Grange met ed. A contract has also been with Eureka Grange, No. 2, of Lyndon, with the Chelsea Telephone at the Lyndon town hall. Tuesday. The struct the line and put in the day was everything that could be desired Sixteen people have already sig and the attendance was large and enthusi scribers and still they are con astic. Several delegates from Eureka line with its branches will be Grange with carringes met the Pomona long. members, who were mostly from the vicinity of Ypsilauti, at Chelsea and conveyed them to and from the place of meeting. On assembling at the hall the first thing on the program was the announcement of dinner which was served by the ladies of Eureka Grange in the school house across the way, and with such an abundance of good things to eat everyone had the opportunity of their lives in frent of them, and they availed themselves of the opportunity.

After dinner Henry Stumpouliusen, master of the Pomona Grange, called the grange to order and the regular program was commenced. First came music by the organist of Euroka Grange, Miss Inez Leck, then B. W. Sweet, master of Eureka Grange, made the address of welcome and in the course of his remarks gave some reminiscences of the early I raige work and its first organization in Mich. gan, which was very interesting. The response by Henry Stumpenhusen was along the line of grange work and the many advantages offered to farmers both in a social and educational way in this grand organization.

In the response to roll call many quo tations and recitations were brought out, Mrs. Geo. T. English, of Lafayette Grange gave a very fine recitation, well rendered.

"Coming Improvements in the Raral Home," was opened by H. S. Barton, and in the course of his talk lie voiced the opinion that a change from our present district school system to the township high school system would be an advantage d one of the coming improvements in

Mrs. Helen Kelly and Mr McDougall who followed in the discussion, took exception to this statement, Mr. McDougall, e-pecially, waking very eloquent in his dentificiation of those so-called educators who try to belittle the work done and the environments of the district school, and to lilustrate called attention to the achievi across the way and asked if a school house could be more picturesquely located or in closer touch with nature, and challenged time professors who, are trying to give to the farmers a school system they do not sak for, to show anywhere a results from their city school shown by those despised dist and made the broad statemen tenths of the successful men fessions and in business mad in the district school.

"A Winter in the West" w of a very good paper by Fletcher. Mrs. Fletcher with spent the past winter in Calif. her paper she gave a fine d the climate and resources of state, and exhibited numerou of ore and minerals gath travels.

It may not be known Grange has some flue musical such is the case. The young tette, consisting of the Misses Kate M. His walk was spoiled; he went into his private room and smoked a pipe of Virginia, but all his thoughts set themselves to one text: "There are many norrowful things in life, but the hardest of all is loving."

CHAPTER XII.

Hold Thes My Hands.

This day was followed by a week of wretched weather. Jane could do nothing but wait. She fully resolved when she visited Cromwell to show him the heart of a fearless womanbrave, because she doubted neither God nor man.

It was, however, the month of March before this visit could be made. One exquisite morning in March she heard Gen. Swallham say that the Cromwell ladies were going to Hampton Court. The Protector would then he alone in Whitchall, and she might see him without having to share her confidences with the family. She premared a note asking for an interview. and then called on Mr. Milton and induced him to go with her to the palauce and deliver it into Cromwell's Ayrton entered.

"Colonel." he said. "I think you l know Lord Cluny Neville?. He has do. disappeared, I do fear, in some unfortunate way. On the 11th of last November he left Paris, after dispatching the business he was sent on with Cardinal Mazarin. No one has heard of him since. I have written to his Eminence, the Cardinal; here is the letter, and if his reply be not to the point, go next to the lodging of Lord Neville, and from there follow his steps as closely as it may be in your power.' The treasurer will honor this order for your expenses. Farewell, and God go with you."

She understood what was included in this advice, and she tried to realize it. The moment Mrs. Swaffham saw her daughter, she took notice of the change in her countenance and speech and manner, and she said to herself. "Jane has been with Oliver Cromwell. No one else could have so influenced her." And very soon Jane told her all that had been done and said, and both women tried to sasure themselves that a few more weeks of patience would end the suspense.

At length April came, and the bare brown garden was glorious with the gold and purple of the crocus flowers and the moonlight beauty of the lilies. Birds were building in the hedges, and the sun shone brightly overhead. The spirit of spring was everywhere; men and boys went whistling along the streets, the watermen were singing in their barges, and a feeling of busy content and security pervaded London.

Suddenly this atmosphere of cheerful labor and abounding hope was filled with terror and with a cry of murder, of possible war. A gigantic plot for the assassination of the Protector was discovered—that is, it was discovered to the people; Cromwell himself had been aware of its first inception, and had watched it grow to its shameful maturity. But to the city of London the arrest of forty conspirators in their midst was a shock that suspended for a time all their business.

Israel Swaffham was the first person called into the Protector's pres ence. He found him in great sorrow. sorrow mingled with a just indignation. With his cienched hand he pointed out to Israel the personalities of the conspirators. At one name he naused and with his finger upon it, looked into Israel's face.

Israel then-went quickly home. He called Jane and explained to her in a few words what she was to do, and by the time her letter to Matilda was ready. Abel Dewey was at the door waiting for it. Its beginning and ending was in the ordinary strain of girls letters, but in the center there were some ominous words, rendered remarkable by the large script used, and by the line beneath them—"I must tell you there has been a great plot against the Protector discovered. Commercial and Natural Starters.

Prof. G. L. McKay: I am asked to itate which I like Best, the commercial or natural starter. For the average maker, I believe the commercial starter will give the better results. But the intelligent maker who has taste and smell well cultivated, will be able to select milk and prepare a starter that will produce flavor equal or superior to any culture on the market. When the good Lord created the earth, He provided everything that was necessary to bring about the best results without any artificial means. usually and that when thorough clean liness is observed in everything pertgining to the milk, that the right specles of bacteria are present to give the most perfect flavor to the butter and cheese. Milk becomes impure from an external source. If I were asked to give a deduttion of a mitural starter, at the present. I would find it a difficult thing to describe. For instance, one man has a dirty, leaky vat which is loaded with foul bacteria ready to contaminate the purest cream. Another man will have improperly cleaned churns and pumps, filled with underirable bacteria, and still another washes his butter with impure water.

There is the over-rise hand separator cream which some makers have to contend with. These are all starters of their kind. One man uses butter milk and calls it a natural starter. Another uses skimmilk caught from the average milk as it comes from the separators, and he calls it a skimmilk or natural starter. Another will go out and get the milk of a fresh cow and allow it to sour. which is also a natural starter. Some will use wholemilk and some will use cream, and they will come under the head of natural starters. Most makers would get about the same results if they did not use any starter as to use the kind have just mentioned

Milking at Sunny Peak Farm. D. W. Howie thus tells how the nilking is done on Sunny Peak farm, of a bayonet clasp whenever its w near Milwaukee:

The first thing we do is to wrap heavy blanket around the cans which are to receive the milk. By so doing or smoke. With a knife at the end the the milk is enabled to retain its heat for a very long time. This prevents the necessity of warming it again for the separator and calves. The next procedure is milking. Each milker has his own cows. The poorest milker, as a general thing, is given the easiest cows to milk and the best milker gets the hardest ones. This may not seem fair, but it saves time and also prevents the chance of spoiling the hard milking cows that, though they may be hard milkers, are nevertheless excellent cows in every respect. MRS. L. S. ADAMS.

Of Galveston, Texas. Wine of Cardul is indeed a blessing to tired women. Having suffered for seven years with weakness and bearng-down pains, and having tried several doctors and different remedies with no success, your Wine of Cardulwas the only thing which helped me, and eventually cured me It seemed to build up the weak parts, strengthen the system and correct irregularities."

By "tired women" Mrs. Adams neans nervous women who have disordered menses, falling of the womb, ovarian troubles or any of these ailments that women have. You can cure yourself at home with this great women's remedy. Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui has cured thousands of cases which doctors have failed to benefit. Why not begin to get well today?
