TWENTY LIVES LOST

Sunday morning when Aveline hotel, the largest in Fort Wayne, Ind., was destroyed by fire. The blaze broke out at 3:30 a. m., when practically all the guests in the six-story building were asleep, and spread so rapidly that few in the upper floors were able to escape through the hotel corridors to the ground floor. The hotel was provided with fire escapes, but few seemed to know it, as hardly anyone used them, even though some of the guests have been stopping in the house occasionally for years. hotel was 50 years old, built of brick and wood. Originally it was four stories high, two more stories being added a dozen years ago. It burned like tinder. The hotel register was destroyed, so the list of guests is not known, but it is thought that 74 were there. There were many thrilling escapes, and many were injured by jumping from the windows. Charles Benjamin, of Detroit, was killed. F. C. O'Donnell, of Detroit, and F. C. Phillips, of Calumet, were among the injured. There were 13 seriously injured and a score more painfully burned or hurt. Admiral Evans Retires.

EVIDENCE POINTS TO THE VIEW THAT THE GUNNESS FIEND IS ALIVE.

NO MORE BODIES FOUND

The Remains of Ten Victims She Had Buried in the Yard of Her Home May Not Be All.

There is no better way of indicating the demoniacal qualities now generally ascribed to Mrs. Belle Gunness that by saying that when it was announced Saturday night that no more bodier had been dug up in that garden of death on the Gunness place, every, body in Laporte was surprised. Yet that awful find of the remains of ter persons, three of whom were her own children, who were victims of her lus for blood and money is sufficiently appalling record of her awful life. A ways disliked, suspected and feared, the woman has now become in the public mind a perfect paragon of blood lust, craft and treachery. Apparentl nobody would be surprised to lear that every square yard of her 50-acre farm is sown with the bodies of h

Meantime where is Belle Gunness? Are those fragments of a female body that lie in the morgue charred pas recognition really hers or are the the remains of still one more of he victims intended to throw dust in the eves of the police until the multi-mur derer makes good her escape? Certain things stand out as facts-hard and brutal facts that cannot be explained away, indicating that this unparalleled female criminal is living and trying to escape detection and capture. Ev dence has come to light that she had an accomplice in Chicago, who acted as the woman's agent in luring people to her "horror farm," outside of La porte. The accomplice was a woman whose attractiveness was used by Mrs. Gunness to lead her victims on untiand money

Thaw's Effort for Release.

As a result of proceedings to secure the release of Harry K. Thaw from the Mattawan insane asylum, it was turned to the asylum while the hear ing is in progress, but shall be con fined at the Dutchess county jail.

Attorneys for Thaw scored the first point in their fight for freedom when they secured a ruling from Justice Morschauser, in that the witnesser who will testify that he is sane shall be heard in Poughkeepsie. Those who claim that he is still insane wil he heard in New York and in this way the expense will be divided between two counties

Young Mrs. Thaw, who had such prominent place in the two trials of her husband and who has begun suit for the annulment of her marriage to Thaw, has not seen her husband in more than two months. Mrs. Thaw has, however, offered herself as a witness in her husband's behalf.

The cost of the hearing of the habeas corpus proceedings, it is estimated; will be more than $30,000. It is said that District Attorney Je rome's opposition to Thaw's release is based on the fact that Thaw threatened him personally. Jerome fears that Thaw, if freed, would attempt revenge on him. Porto Ricans Disgruntled. Commissioner Larrinaga, the officia representative of the island of Porto Rico in congress, stated in a speech made in the house Saturday that the people of that island were very much discontented with the government of the United States, which he said but added insult to injustice. He de nounced the original Foraker act as a leaden block which he said closed the sepulchre of the liberties of the Porte Rican people.

Judge, Kinney discharged the prisoners arrested in connection with the riot at the Star theater at Ann Ar bor on the night of March 22. The students had raised $1,000, to pay the damage done by them during the riot and it was agreed not to press the charges further.

He looked toward the settlement and saw a crowd of natives pushing a whaleboat into the water: looked again, and saw old Maka taking his place in the stern sheets and assisting a woman in beside him. The woman! It needed no second glance to tell him it was Madge. He had never counted on her coming off in company. Fool that he was, he had taken it for granted that she would be alone. Everything, in fact, turned on her being alone. Then, with a start, he remembered his own dinghy, and how it would betray him. He had made it fast on the schooner's starboard quarter, near the little accommodation ladder. Going on his hands and knees, lest his head should be seen above the shallow rail, he unloosed the painter, worked the boat astern, and drew it again to port. Then he crouched down in the alleyway and waited.

A few minutes later and the whaler was bumping against the schooner's side. It might have been bumping against Gregory's heart, so agonizing was the suspense as he lay breathless and cramped between the coffinlike width of the house and rail.

"It was kind of you to bring me. off, Maka," said Madge.

down to it in each other's arms." For a moment she looked at him in a sort of exaltation. She seemed to hesitate no longer. Her hot hands reached for his, and he felt in her quick and tumultuous breath the first token of her surrender. Herself a child of the sea, brought up from infancy among boats and ships, her hand as true on the tiller, her sparkling eyes as keen to watch the luff of a sail as any man's, she knew as well as Gregory the hell that awaited them outside. Then she went forward and did the same to the forestaysail. 'A minute later, hardly knowing why or how, except that he was helping Madge, Gregory, like a man in a dream, was pulling with her on the halyards of both sails. The wind thundered in them as they rose; the main boom jerked violently at the sheet and lashed to and fro the width of the deck; the anchor chain fretted and sawed in the hawse hole: the whole schooner strained and creaked and shook to the keelson. Gregory, in amazement, asked Madge what she was doing.

BEST OF EXERCISE

ENCING, now become so popular with women, has proved itself to be beyond all other exercises the thing to teach surefootedness, agility, suppleness, while the muscles gain strength, the brain keenness and the eye a marvelous quickness-an instantaneous focus. All of which is useful in daily man checked him with a threat of per- life and extremely desirable, for nothing makes a woman or man more attractive than general alertness, mental or physical.

Many girls will say that it is too expensive a sport, that one must take by," he chid. "I don't allow no one lessons from a professional and that it takes time. Certainly that is all true, but one may fence in her room in an amateurish way and get great benefit, until occasion arises when a teacher is procurable. The motions with the foils and the steps taken bring into play every muscle in the body, as does no other form of exercise. Riding-uses the muscles above the waist and, for a woman, some of the muscles of the right leg, while rowing develops the arms, shoulders and back, practically leaving in relaxation the rest of the body. If one would open wide the window of her room to admit plenty of fresh air, then, with a long flexible foil, try to touch the same spot in a target, she will receive all the benefit that the muscles could get even with an opponentand a good one.

It lends interest to exercise, it makes it something to look forward to, not dreaded. The position adopted naturally decreases the size of the waist worser, up and down, in and out, and hips, while holding the foil with arm outstretched cannot fail to develop swing your partners—what's bid? In the attack one throws all the weight upon the right foot, balancing with the left arm, while in the defense one naturally reverses the weight, thus bringing into play other muscles. At the same time the head must be erect, the shoulders must be straight and the eyes must be quick at seeing opportunity and seizing the proper instant to press a momentary advantage. The wrist must turn in a flash, the waist must be supple, so that the body may bend easily and quickly. Where could greater development be acquired, where is there better exercise to be found?

IN COLORS TO MATCH FROCK.

Dainty Cotton Underskirts for woman of Small Means.

There is an unusual abundance of embroidered petticoats in linens and cottons this spring. A well-made, prettily embroidered cotton petticoat, having its embroidery or chief color matching the costume with which it is worn, is in far better taste than a forn silk skirt, and is much daintier, as it can be tubbed after every wearing or two, and be as fresh and attractive as ever.

Some of these come in stripes, some in plaids. For example, a charming Scotch gingham is in blue and white, and the lower ruffle, set on an umbrella flounce of the plaid, is embroidered in white.

Another is in pale pink and white striped madras, with the ruffle embroidered in pink.

During the past winter we har been able to rear the adult insect from timothy throughout nearly all the are west of the Hudson-river, where the grass is grown. Where it has been possible to get hay from old meadow that, last year, yielded but a poor crop, there has been no difficulty is breeding the pest from the hay, thu showing that it readily winters is barns and in hay stacks. It has been reared in greatest profusion from timothy from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. Marcellus, N. Y., several localities is Ohio and Conway, la.

The timothy worm is small, yellow ish white, footless worm with brow jaws. It is found in the center of the stems of timothy at the joint. The fully developed insect is a small four winged fly, of a jet black color, with red eyes, and legs banded with yel low, looking almost exactly like and fences. Where these condition do not occur less and in some case none of the pests seems to develo there, thus suggesting as practical preventive measures the frequent retation of timothy meadows and pasturnot to allow the grass to head out Clearly, if left until the stem has reached full growth the worms will not be killed by simply mowing of and allowing the stems to dry.

BIRTH OF REAL ADVERTISING

Idea of General Publicity Can Be Traced to Mistake.

The launching of general publicity peculiar mistake of printing an ad vertisement in a New York paper s full page in size instead of the few lines as was intended. The "returns' from the mistake were so great that other advertisers began to use large space on purpose. At that time there were only a few manufactured articles of national fame. The housewife went to the market in the early morning As my doctor did not help me I began for her vegetables, and to the grocery store to inspect the boxes and barrels and shelves. Crackers, for instance were scooped out of a barrel by the pound and were subject to breakage and dirt. Similar conditions held true Mrs. A. Gregory, of 2355 Lawrence for other necessities. There was no distinct standard.

You Would Not Accept Counterfelt Money, Why Accept Counterfeit Goods?

Good money is made by the Government in which you have implicit faith and confidence. Good goods are made by manufacturers who are willing to stake their reputations on the quality of the material offered to you through the medium of their advertisements in this paper. Counterfeit goods are not advertised. The reason for it is they will not bear the close scrutiny to which genuine advertised goods are subjected. Counterfelt money pays more profit to the counterfeiter. Counterfeit goods are offered to you for the same reason.

What is Pe-ru-na?

Is it a Catarrh Remedy, or a Tonic, or is it Both?

Some people call Peruna a great tonic. Others refer to Peruna as a great

Which of these people are right? Is it more proper to call Peruna a catarrh remedy than to call it a tonic? Our reply is, that Peruna is both a tonic and a catarrh remedy. Indeed, there can be no effectual catarrh remedy that is not also a tonic. In order to thoroughly relieve any case of catarrh, a remedy must not only have a specific action on the mucous membranes affected by the catarrh, but it must have a general tonic action on the nervous system. Catarrh, even in persons who are otherwise strong, is a weakened condition of some mucous membrane. There must be something to strengthen the circulation, to give tone to the arteries, and to raise the vital forces.

Perhaps no vegetable remedy in the world has attracted so much attention from medical writers as HYDRASTIS CANADENSIS. The wonderful efficacy of this herb has been recognized many years, and is growing in its hold upon the medical profession. When joined with CUBEBS and COPAIBA a trio of medical agents is formed in Peruna which constitutes a specific remedy for catarrh that in the present state of medical progress cannot be improved upon. This action, reinforced by such renowned tonics as COLLIN-SONIA CANADENSIS, CORYDALIS FORMOSA and CEDRON SEED, ought to make this compound an ideal remedy for catarrh in all its stages and locations

From a theoretical standpoint, therefore, Peruna is beyond criticism. The use of Peruna, confirms this opinion. Numberless testimonials from every quarter of the earth furnish ample evidence that this judgment is not over enthusiastic. When practical experience confirms a well-grounded theory the result is a truth that cannot be shaken.
