MEMORIAL DAY.

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. Attended a Special Divine Service at the Baptist Church.

The annual Memorial day services of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. were held Sunday, May 24, at the morning service of the Baptist church. There were no services in the Congregational and Methodist churches and these congregations also joined in the services. The church and B. Y. P. U. room were filled to overflowing, chairs were placed in the aisle and at the back of the church to accommodate the audience, but even then a large number had to stand all through the service and many went away. The rostrum was tastefully decorated with red, white and blue, and potted plants and flowers, and the pulpit was draped with a large American flag.

The services comprised an invocation by the pastor, Rev. F. A. Stiles; the 38d Psalm read responsively by the pastor and congregation; Scripture lesson read by Rev. E. E. Carter; prayer by Rev. C. S. Jones; appropriate hymns sung by the choir and a beautiful solo by Miss Grace Gates, of Ann Arbor.

The sermon by Rev. F. A. Stiles was on the subject "The Inspiration of Heroic Memories," and was based on the text Hebrews x, 32.

The speaker prefaced his remarks by stating that this was the one Sunday set apart for the G. A. R. and W. R. C. It was their Sunday and it should be observed as such. He then delivered a forceful patriotic sermon, full of good thoughts, from which all could glean useful lessons. The services closed with the benediction pronounced by Rev. F. A. Stiles.

Decoration Day Services.

The Decoration Day services will be held at the opera house Saturday, May 30, commencing at 2 p.m. For convenience and to enable those interested to keep it in their memories we reprint the order of proceedings published in last week's Herald:

Music by the Chelsea band.
Reading of general orders by Comrade T. E. Wood.

Vocal music by male quartette.
Prayer by Rev. C. S. Jones.

Vocal music by the quartette.
Address by Rev. Wm. P. Considine, pastor of St. Mary's church.

Vocal music by the quartette.
Benediction by Rev. A. Schöen.

At the close of the exercises the parade will be formed on West Middle street and will proceed to the soldiers' monument in Oak Grove cemetery, where the G. A. R. ritual service will be conducted and the graves of deceased comrades in both Oak Grove and Mt. Olivet cemeteries will be decorated with flags and flowers. John A. Palmer will be marshal of the day.

The order of the parade will be as follows:

Washtenaw County Pioneer Meeting.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Washtenaw Pioneer Society held at Ypsilanti, May 21, it was decided to hold the annual meeting of the society in the Presbyterian church, Ypsilanti, Wednesday, June 10. The following committees were appointed:

General Arrangements—F. A. Graves, Wm. Campbell, Wm. H. Lay and J. M. Childster.

Program and Literary Exercises—R. Campbell, as chairman.

Music—F. A. Graves, as chairman.

Reception and Introduction—Wm. M. Osband, John A. McDougall and wife, Jas. Lowden and wife, Henry Stumpfenhusen and wife.

Solicitation for Membership and Sale of Tickets—A. R. Graves, as chairman.

Arrangements are being made for a pleasant sociable time.

Quick Arrest.

J. A. Gulleage, of Verbena, Ala., was twice in the hospital from a severe case of piles causing 24 tumors. After doctors and all remedies failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly arrested further inflammation and cured him. It conquers aches and kills pain. 25c. at Glazier & Stimson's, druggists.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

Prof. Gifford Resigned as Superintendent and His Successor Was Appointed.

A meeting of the school board was held Monday evening. Prof. W. W. Gifford tendered his resignation as superintendent which was accepted. Prof. F. E. Wilcox, of South Frankfort, was elected to take his place. All the rest of the teachers were retained. Miss Hemans' position as teacher of the eighth grade has yet to be filled. It was resolved to fix over the heating apparatus of the school building. The furnaces will be taken down and anchored anew, and new fire boxes and other worn out parts will be put into them. Five urinal stalls will be added to the boys' closets, and the closets are to be thoroughly repaired.

Resolutions.

Again the angel of death has come into our chapter and with relentless hands has snatched from among us our sister Mrs. Jane Cook.

Another link being thus broken in the fraternal chain which binds us together in charity, truth and loving kindness, our hearts are filled with sorrow and our deepest sympathy is extended to the son and family of the departed one. Her presence is missed in our chapter and the sisters and brothers left behind drop the sympathetic tear. God in his allwise providence has seen fit to bring sorrow and affliction upon us with a promise of a home beyond the grave where sorrow can never enter. Let us so regulate our lives that when our probationary state is over we shall meet once more in the supreme chapter on high.

Resolved, that these resolutions be spread on the records of the chapter and a copy be printed in our local papers.

Respectfully submitted,
Mrs. Lillian Miller,
Mrs. Estella Guerin,
Theo. E. Wood,
Committee.

Death of Miss Hemans.

Miss Clara B. Hemans, the several years past a teacher in the Chelsea public schools, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gorman, where she roomed, Friday evening, May 23, aged 84 years. She was taken ill with severe pains in her head about a week previous to her death. An abscess formed on her brain and Dr. C. G. Darling, of Ann Arbor, was called in and operated on her Tuesday of last week. All efforts to relieve her sufferings proved futile and she lingered in great agony until the time of her death.

The funeral services were held at the Congregational church Monday at 1 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. C. S. Jones. The schools were closed all day out of respect for her memory, and the members of the eighth grade, which she taught, attended the funeral in a body. The Chelsea Research Club, of which she was a member, were also present. The remains were taken to South Lyon for interment.

Baseball Notes.

The baseball game Saturday between the Junior Stars and Stockbridge High School resulted in a victory for the home team by 14 to 6. The game was a good one, and the number of ladies present greatly pleased the Stars, and ladies' day will be held twice a month hereafter. The pitching of Holmes for the first four innings was fine, and Rogers pitched finely for the last five. The attendance was quite good for the day. The score, by innings follows:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Junior Stars,	1	2	2	0	1	2	4	2	—14
Stockbridge,	0	0	0	5	0	0	0	1	—6

What promises to be two of the best games of the season will be played here Saturday, May 30, at 10:30 a. m. and 8:30 p. m. They will be between the Stars and the Detroit Juniors. The latter have a record of no games lost and should put up a good game as they average 18 years in age. The admission to each game will be gentlemen 15 cents, ladies 10 cents, children 5 cents.

Spring laziness, legs ache, back aches, feel tired, no ambition, no appetite, all run down feeling. Rocky Mountain Tea puts new life into your body; you feel good all over. 25 cents. Glazier & Stimson.

The Sharon German Lutheran Society will have a social at the home of Wm. Each Saturday evening, May 30.

Prof. Evan Esary, who has been superintendent of the Manchester schools for 11 years, has been re-elected for next year.

To Die of Paralysis
Like Father.
Helpless Invalid For
Three Years.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Made
My Nerves Strong.

"For many years I suffered from terrible headaches and pains at the base of the brain, and finally got so bad that I was overcome with nervous prostration. I had frequent dizzy spells and was so weak and exhausted that I could take but little food. The best physicians told me I could not live that I would die of paralysis, as my father and grandfather had. I remained a helpless invalid for three years, when I heard of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and began using it. That winter I felt better than I had before in many years, and I have not been troubled with those dreadful headaches since I first used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. My appetite is good and my nerves are strong."—Mrs. N. M. Bushnell, 3202 Oakland Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

"For many years I suffered from nervous prostration, and could not direct my household affairs, nor have any care. My stomach was very weak, headaches very severe, and I was so nervous that there was not a night in years that I slept over one hour at a time. We spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and medicine. I was taken to Chicago and treated by specialists, but received no benefit at all. Finally I heard of Dr. Miles' Nervine and began its use. I was surprised that it helped me so quickly, and great was my joy to find, after using seven bottles, that I had fully recovered my health."—Mrs. W. A. Thompson, Duluth, Minn.

The North Lake ball team won from the Dexter boys here Thursday by a score of 20 to 7. Batteries—Collings and Hentley for North Lake, and Sackett and Day for Dexter.

A Sure Thing.

It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is a sure cure for all lung and throat troubles. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs. C. B. VanMetre, of Shepherdstown, W. Va., says "I had a severe case of bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It is infallible for croup, whooping cough, grip, pneumonia and consumption. Try it. It is guaranteed by Glazier & Stinson, druggists. Trial bottles free. Regular sizes 50c, $1.00.

Lima.

Then, Wellman spent Saturday in Ann Arbor.
Henry Luick and son Harold went to Port Huron Friday.

William and Louis Stevenson are looking for a span of good roadsters, young horses desired.

John Witty entertaining an old neighbor from near Howell this week. Mr. Witty's health is very poor this spring.

Miss Mary Whelan is home, having had to give up her school for a while on account of scarlet fever in the district.

Miss Agnes Hinkley is at Zenas Hart's helping care for Miss Pearl who is suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Wm. Bantz, of Webster, bought last week a little drove of young cattle of Mr. Hiebor and W. H. Glenn. He will take them to his farm and finish them for the market.

W. H. Glenn sold Saturday last to Mr. Oviatt, of Unadilla, the finest 3 years old colt ever raised by him. Price paid $100. The colt was of the Haggerty stock. All of them are good.

E. O. Glenn, of Detroit, was here Saturday and Sunday chuck full of oil wells. So much so that he would spare a few shares. He sold 8,000 shares of stock last week. Mrs. G. will visit here a few days with their little Lillian.

Thursday a large barn for E. L. Glenn was finished, all the carpenter work being done in 10 days. The McClear Bros. had the job and gave great satisfaction. There is a basement under the whole building. The same firm will build a large barn for Singleton this week on the adjoining farm.

The Rev. Gordon, our minister, went Monday morning to Pittsburg, Pa., where he will deliver the Decoration Day address. Two weeks from next Sunday he will by request give the same address here. The congregation here voted him a month's vacation on full pay. He has given us excellent service, and thanked the congregation for their kindness to him.

To Die of Paralysis
Like Father.
Helpless Invalid For
Three Years.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Made
My Nerves Strong.

"For many years I suffered from terrible headaches and pains at the base of the brain, and finally got so bad that I was overcome with nervous prostration. I had frequent dizzy spells and was so weak and exhausted that I could take but little food. The best physicians told me I could not live that I would die of paralysis, as my father and grandfather had. I remained a helpless invalid for three years, when I heard of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and began using it. That winter I felt better than I had before in many years, and I have not been troubled with those dreadful headaches since I first used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. My appetite is good and my nerves are strong."—Mrs. M. M. Bucknell, 322 Oakland Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

"For many years I suffered from nervous prostration, and could not direct my household affairs nor have any care. My stomach was very weak, headaches very severe, and I was so nervous that there was not a night in years that I slept over one hour at a time. We spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and medicines. I was taken to Chicago and treated by specialists, but received no benefit at all. Finally I heard of Dr. Miles' Nervine and began its use. I was surprised that it helped me so quickly, and great was my joy to find, after using several bottles, that I had fully recovered my health."—Mrs. W. A. Thompson, Duluth, Minn.

IN MEMORIAM

FARM SCULLERY

Value of Pasture for Pigs.

A recent bulletin of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture quotes G. W. Waters as follows:

"We will now state two propositions bearing on economy of production. First, while the pig is not considered primarily a grazing animal, from the fact that he cannot be expected to make gains and grow fat if turned onto common pasture grass like cattle, sheep or mules, yet, as a matter of fact the pig will make better returns for the amount of grass eaten than any other farm animal. Moreover, the pasture will increase the efficiency and value of the grain fed in connection with it. The second proposition is this: The pig is a grass feeder and will eat too much of rich feeds, as grain, more than he can use economically, more than he can digest well, consequently greater gains from a given amount of corn are obtained if the pig is fed less than he can or will eat. This statement applies with especial force in cases of a long feeding period. The two propositions just announced, are brought out in the following report of tests made at the Wisconsin station, six lots of pigs being used:

"Lot 1, full fed, in a dry lot, gained 1.15 pounds per day and used 527 pounds of corn in making 100 pounds of gain.

"Lot 2, full fed, on clover pasture, gained 1.30 pounds per day, and used 417 pounds of corn in making 100 pounds of gain.

"Lot 3, three-fourths full, on clover pasture, gained 1.20 per day and used 377 pounds of corn in making 100 pounds of gain.

"Lot 4, one-half full, clover pasture, gained .87 pounds per day and required 552 pounds of corn to make 100 pounds of gain.

"Lot 5, one-fourth full, clover pasture, gained .64 pounds per day, and required 243 pounds of corn to make 100 pounds of gain.

"Lot 6, no gain, clover pasture, gained .36 pounds per day.

"In lot 2 there is a sudden drop over lot 1 in the amount of corn required. But in lot 3 there is a still larger drop. Nearly three bushels less of corn is required to produce 100 pounds of gain over dry lot feeding. For growing hogs a still larger reduction of corn is advisable. The rate of gain is slower, but it is vastly cheaper. It is however wise practice to full feed for the last 30 days before marketing."

A Requisite in Poultry Raising.

All classes of people may go into the raising of poultry and do it successfully. Sex is no bar to success. In fact very many of our most successful poultry raisers are women. Some are semi-invalids who have given up the great lines of business and have been told by their family physician to get into something where they can be out of doors a great deal, but where the amount of manual labor will not be large. These and others may succeed, but there is one requisite for all and that is interest in the business. The writer has known of people intending to go into the poultry business, when they hated the sight of a live hen. Asked as to their reason for making the venture they replied that they had been told there was money in it. The inevitable advice given by the writer in such cases is for the would-be investor to keep out of the business. Longfellow says "the heart giveth grace unto every art." The person that has a deep interest in poultry can make a success of raising any kind of fowls, for he will not be stopped by the obstacles that are certain to be discovered in the way. The number of people that dislike to have poultry around is very large. But there are those that find great pleasure in caring for fowls. Sometimes it is one breed that strikes their fancy and sometimes another, but whatever it be, they can see beauty in it. The man that has a real interest in fowls will make a success of raising them, if conditions be at all favorable, but the fowl-hater is about sure to fail.

Warm Shoes.

From the Farmers' Review: Women suffering from cold feet could make for themselves warm and comfortable footwear by getting boy's felt boots and then purchasing broad soled slippers to fit over them. Usually it is necessary to split the slipper down to the toe, then make holes with an awl and lace with a shoe string. The slipper should be 1 1/2 size larger than the shoe. For wear away from home, get an arctic one-half size larger than the shoe. Warm feet are essential to health and happiness and would lengthen the lives of many women who suffer from cold, especially those afflicted with lung troubles.—Mrs. A. Tell.

Lovers

Again

"He took his life
capable of one heroic aim, and threw it in the thickest of the fight.
What matter? Since Aurora failed him first!"

—E. B. Browning.

Jean Charteris, stepping out into the early and silverness of dawn and sighed—and then smiled at sight
of the robes spread before her.
Again it was Decoration Day, an occasion which in this little western town was one almost of festivity, so great was the gathering from the surrounding farms, so gay the girls in their new summer finery, so stirring
the martial music of the local band,
from the pathetic sight of the handful of old soldiers, marching in depleted
ranks to the cemetery on the hillside, that emphasized the pleasure of the young, who found in the holiday enjoyment at once innocent and reverent.

Miss Charteris walked down the gravel path between the low green barberry hedges. She held daintily aside the skirt of her crisp, white wrapper, lest it be touched by the wet twigs on either side. Her spirited gold-brown head turned to left and right as she mentally calculated the total wealth of her little garden. None would have dreamed that over that same radiant head thirty summers had passed, so girlishly slender was the neck and graceful figure, so smooth
the white brow, so luminous the long,
purple eyes under the slim black brows. She had swung the basket from her arm and was snipping from the great snowball bush at the end of the path its first contribution, when a voice came piping to her from over the gate.

"Miss Charteris, you got ma's dress
done?"
"Just finished it at 12 last night, Billie!" She smiled at the freckled head boy as she moved to go back to the house. She returned, carrying a bundle wrapped in newspapers, "There don't crush it, liddle!"
The boy lingered, shamefacedly. He was not a bad looking boy, barring the freckles. He kept casting furtive glances at a second-story window in the little cream-colored cottage, where the blinds were still drawn.

"It is she—a jerking thumb indicating the house, 'go in' with you to the country!"
"Rosine?" Miss Charteris was ruthlessly snipping off every robin which had presumed to show its blue head above the long bed border. "O, she will go. Her mother is buried there, you know, Rosine will go with me."
"I'm goin', too!" blurted Billie. Then,
though overwhelmed by the magnitude of the admission, he skipped away, his mother's dress crushed next to his against his throbbing heart, and his bare feet, as yet guiltless of tan, stepping up a dust which hid his fiery cheeks. "An' I'll wear my new clothes—'an' a collar!"

It was a royal burden Jean Charteris gathered when at last she laid the flowers in the basket, brimful of blooms,
there were trailing sprays of white and gold spring stars, peonies, pink
and crimson, and white; honeysuckle, clematis, and rose, and carnation; bluish
pinks, pale and velvety; sweetbriar,
delicately, yet intensely fragrant, and many a single flower which, courtesan-
like, had blossomed in prophetic beauty. Back of the glittering window of the little home she approached

were the glowing house plants which were soon to be transferred to the garden. These, rising tier on tier, glowing geraniums, fragrant bellflowers,
brilliant hibiscus, golden mignonette,
were destined with their hardier brethren to yield tribute to death.

"Aunt Jean—Auntie Jean!" rang a fresh young voice. "I'm dressed—Nora dressed me! O, may I help you fix the flowers? And how soon may we go on the hill?"

Jean laid her basket on a hall chair
just in time to catch in her outflung arms the slim little white figure flying down the stairs.

"You shall help me, my precious!" she promised. And she counseled the clustering curls on the dark little head and pressed with her own rosy lips that were ripe for kisses. Breakfast over, the two settled to work, for Rosine had decided views of her own
as to the relative merits of set designs in contradistinction to the preference of Miss Charteris for less formal symbols. And all the time the hazel eyes sparkled and the restless little tongue talked trippingly on.

"You have to work awful hard, don't you, Auntie Jean? Did you get Billie's mother's dress done?—Did Billie come for it? I'd like Billie—if he wasn't freckled. Nora says you used to be rich. She says you lived in that big stone house with the fountain in the yard. She says my mamma was rich, too, until after my papa went away and left her. And then she came to live in this little weeny house with you. And then God wanted her. What made you and my mamma get poor?
And why doesn't my papa come back?
And why wouldn't God let my mamma stay here? And does she know when we put all these pretty flowers on her grave?"

So for the two in the bright little room, plain to severity save for its books and "green things growing" and air of indefinable refinement, the perfect day wore on. If now and then Jean's sweet face paled and her sensitive lips quivered, these the absorbed little maiden did not notice at all.
How should a prattling child, busy with a wreath, dream that her words
might wound?

They stood at the gate to see the procession wind by—the hobbling veterans, the women of the Relief Corps,
the townspeople in vehicles and afoot,
the uniformed band, the excited children running at either side. But the sun had gone down in a splendor of scarlet and gold, the streets were being fast deserted, and all the air was still steeped in amber brilliance, when Jean Charteris and the little girl carried their treasures between them up the green velvet sward of that sloping
hill, sacred to silence and to sweet,
safe slumber.

The grave-yard knew now no presence save their own. On several graves were flags—on the greater number flowers. But some were bare of bloom. And from one to another of these the late-comers moved, leaving some sprays on each. Then they sought a certain corner, where a simple stone recorded briefly a young wife's death.

"You shall place them all," said Jean Charteris. She gave Rosine the basket, and stood leaning against the marble shaft, her black, trailing gown
outlining her slender form, her head drooping as though in weariness.

With unconscious elation the child went about her task. And afar in the road Billie watched her. Billie, stiff in his best Sunday suit, tortured by now shoes, agonized by an unaccustomed collar. So absorbed was he in following every movement of his idol
he did not hear the step approaching.
He turned with a hasty exclamation at a touch on his shoulder—turned to confront a man who was decidedly a stranger.

you had known her treachery—
"Hush!" The soft word was imperious. She pointed to the flower-strewn mound below. "Hush! She is here! Besides—I did know!"

"You knew it? When—how?"
"The day you went away. Rose came to me. She told me—the truth."
The last gleam of sunset had faded.
Amethystine shadows crept up the draws. But in the clear afterglow they saw each other quite distinctly—
the two who stood in silence there.
When he spoke it was in a voice that thrilled her—the voice of the lover of her youth.

"Jean—will you come to me—now?"
She answered: "First say to her, I forgive you, dear!"

For an instant he stood irresolute.
Then slowly he sank on one knee—
bowed his bared head over the masses of perfumed bloom. When he rose and held out his hand she laid her own within it, and thus they walked to the gate and down the road toward the village, where the lights were beginning to gleam.

"You are tired," he said, and slipped his arm around her. "I have made a new fortune in a new world, Jean. You shall work no more."

Rosine and Billie were feasting merrily in the cottage when the two turned in at the garden gate.

"To think," said Jean, as they went up betwixt the low barberry borders downsilvered in the moonlight, "that it was only this morning I walked here
—alone—and so—sad—save for the child!"

"Ah, the child!" he said, softly—
hungrily. "Much may happen in a day,
my Jean!"

"Somewhere," she said, lifting a face
still glowing from his kisses, "I read this: 'Between Calvary day and Easter day—earth's saddest day and glad-dest day—lay but one day!'"

"My beloved!" he murmured. Then as Billie fled laughing by them they passed into the purple gloom of the porch, toward the open door, from which the lamplight streamed, making a path of white loveliness for their feet!

Memorial Day Song.

(Respectfully Dedicated to the G. A. R.)
Where sleep in honor martyrs for our nation,
Lead, O ye flowers, lend your decoration;
While to Old Glory, giving salutation,
Sing we our choral lay.

Hail, O Columbia! Like the morning glowing,
May radiant freedom light on thee bestowing,
All lands illumine, and still brighter
growing,
Shine on to perfect day.

Hail to the People, who a trust receiving
From patriot fathers, liberty achieving,
For all in bondage, sore oppressed and grieving,
Will not their trust betray.

Hail to the Banner, freedom's fairest token,
Flag of a union that can ne'er be broken,
While hearts heroic, strong as bulwarks
oaken,
Guard it on land and sea.

Rest, O ye heroes! Not in vain your sins,
For, sons and daughters, on their God
relying,
Pledge like devotion; with you nobly vying
In love and loyalty.

Hail, O Columbia, every heart enslav-
ing,
Hail ye, your Country, in her peril
saving!
Hail, peerless Banner, in all breezes
waving!
Flag of the brave and free!

A Startling Test.
To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of No. Menopany, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "A patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation and kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50c at Glazier & Silmsen's.

A Pertinent Inquiry.
Do you know that for a little more than it costs to take your family to the theater once, you can have a Graphophone, which is equal to a dozen theatrical performances rolled into one, for with it you can reproduce all the songs, speeches and musical selections that you wish to hear? You get a combination of an orchestra, theater, concert and no end of novel and delightful entertainments. Nothing is truer than the assertion that the Graphophone entertains everybody everywhere. Those who are not familiar with this wonderful instrument have much to learn that will add to their pleasure.

The American Girl Abroad.
The girl who is planning a trip abroad will find much valuable advice to her in a very sensible article in The Women's Home Companion, entitled "The American Girl Abroad." In the course of this writer, Charlotte Bird, says:

"The quiet, well-bred American girl leads an unostentatious life abroad, just as she does at home. She seeks no kind of notoriety and is not generally observed; consequently she excites no comment, or, if she is noticed, she is ranked among the exceptions. But the loud girl attracts attention at once, and her peculiarities are noted and set down by Europeans as American. Mortifying to our national pride as the fact may be, not all Americans abroad are refined, and they are always the ones who attract the most attention. We may complain of the injustice of it, but Europeans naturally infer that nearly all Americans are like those who have invited their notice. So long as Europeans hear American girls talking in a loud, high keyed voice in the street cars, concert halls and other public places and see them wear the extremes of the most conspicuous fashions we shall have some difficulty in convincing foreigners that American women are modest and refined.

"The American girl at home is accustomed to as much freedom as her great-grandmother would allow, and she has no idea of the restrictions to which the girl of continental Europe is subject. The American girl first goes to Europe, she may be inclined to rebel at these limitations—as something altogether foolish. However, Europeans are somewhat charitably disposed toward us. Besides, they are never unkindly of the fact that Americans pay well. They may even profess to admire the courage, as they call it, which prompts American girls to go in parties to certain places without a male attendant. The German mamma may smile at the American girl for receiving many calls from men provided she meets them in the regular family drawing room. She may excuse her independent way of going about alone and enjoy her vivacious manners, but in her heart of hearts she devoutly thanks heaven that her own daughter is not modeled after such a pattern."

VARICOCELE NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, later excesses and private diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quackery. E. A. Blaloh, Toledo, says: "At the age of 14, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Dr. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The disease ceased, worry, nervousness, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my sexual organs vitalized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommend him from the bottom of my heart."
