A HOT WAVE

The Heat and Humidity Made a Great Combination.

Holt Say, that did not express the state of the weather the first of the week, but things have changed a little since Wednesday, and life is once more worth living. While the mercury in the thermometer did not show such extreme high altitude as it has on some other occasions--86 degrees being the highest--yet on account of the amount of moisture in the air the heat seemed more intense.

While sweltering humanity has been suffering and gasping for breath, the weather has been great for corn, which has been a little backward, and the manner in which it has shot upward during the past week, has brought tears of joy to the eyes of the farmers.

BOOMS START

Townsend for Senator, Wedemeyer for Congressman.

Townsend for United States senator and Wedemeyer for congressman to succeed the Jackson man.

That seemed to be the general feeling of the Taff and Sherman ratification meeting Saturday night in Detroit and the sentiment strikes a popular chord over this way.

Speaking of the meeting the Detroit News says:

Congressman Townsend was the center of all eyes. Postmaster H. G. Prettyman, of Ann Arbor, for some years campaign manager for Townsend, was on hand, and so was W. W. Wedemeyer, of Ann Arbor, who hopes to step into Townsend's shoes if the latter goes to the senate.

And there was a lot of talk on that very score. Jim Murfin was in close confab with Wedemeyer when the question was asked:

"How about Townsend for senator in 1910?" "Sure its certain," said Murfin, "and Wedemeyer for congress."

When Townsend was asked about 1910 he smiled and declared, "I would rather not talk about that now."

Postmaster Prettyman said: "Congressman Townsend is just the man. He is the sort they need in the senate."

In introducing Congressman Townsend, Mr. Shephard said: "I have the honor of introducing the man who is entirely responsible for the present railroad rate plank."

The crowd let loose a yell in which "senator, senator," could be heard. The band struck up "For he's a jolly good fellow," but the crowd changed it to:

"For he's our Senator, Townsend."

"For he's our Senator Townsend."

No Pudge and Ping Pong

Ann Arbor News: Registration for the summer school was going on fast and steadily in the dean's office this morning, at the University, and the attendance promises to be as large as anticipated. The work begins today for an eight weeks' session. They are not gay, giddy, young things, who come to the summer school for pudge and ping pong, but men and women, primarily teachers, who take their work seriously, very seriously. It has been a comment of some of the professors that these summer school students do such excellent work that the regular college classes are a discouragement by comparison. It is noticeable the large number of students in the professional departments that have remained to do work. As one fellow explained to a fellow student, "he had a hunch the University wanted him, this summer, and he wanted his diploma next year." The summer school is salvation to the fellow with course and a splendid opportunity for six hours credit to the teacher and the student alike.

Will Raise Freight Rates

To the Michigan Manufacturers' association, of Detroit, Monday night, Vice President W. O. Brown, of the New York and Michigan Central railroads, brought the plainly unwelcome message that, in the opinion of railroad officials, freight rates must be raised. The only alternative he could suggest was a cutting of railroad employees' wages, and that was equally an unwelcome thought.

Mr. Brown was asked with tables of decreases in net earnings, and said that the payment of less wages and general retrenchment by the railroads would have an equally depressing effect on all lines of industry. A local illustration was that the Michigan Central as a rule spent $2,500,000 annually in Detroit for equipment, and this year was expending nothing on this account.

Alumni Banquet

The annual banquet of the alumni association of the Chelsea High School was held in the Congregational church Monday evening and was the largest gathering ever had by the association, over one hundred being present.

The ladies of the church society served the refreshment and Faye Palmer acted as toastmaster, responses being made by Miss Flora Kempf, Mrs. B. B. Turndorf, Miss Katie Riemen-schneider, Chandler Rogers, Carl Vogel, George Bacon, Archie Wilkinson and Carlton Rancinan.

Was Nat Legal

It is the opinion of the secretary of state's department that the state convention held by the socialists in Detroit Monday is illegal and the nominees cannot get their names printed on the ticket. The primary election law holds that all parties must conduct primary elections and that conventions must be held within forty days after the September primaries and not less than ten after the state board of canvassers have met. This would mean that conventions must be held some time between October 1 and 10.

Escaped Drowning at Cavanaugh

Charles Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Jackson of this place had a narrow escape from drowning at Cavanaugh Lake Friday afternoon. A number of the boys were swimming and were diving from a springboard into about nine feet of water. Charles thought that it looked easy and wanted to try it. He was cautioned not to make the attempt as he cannot swim, but he persisted, and if it had not been for the presence of Sammy Hagaman, who immediately dove in after him, and held him up until his strength was exhausted, when Merchant Brooks waded in and rescued him, he would have been drowned. It was some time before he could be resuscitated.

Injured by Explosion of Torpedo

Ralph Canfield, son of Mrs. Frank Canfield, was severely injured Tuesday evening by an explosion of a torpedo. One hand was badly injured and one hip received a wound. There were a number of children in the party, but Ralph was the only one wounded. A heavy bomb, which was a torpedo, was slightly injured by an explosion near the same of the children as young Canfield's hand, and provisions, and it began to look as though the end of town was destined to be a crosswalk, and it is thought that the torpedo was covered with dynamite, and exploded by the impact of the boat against it.

COMMENCEMENT

Second Annual Commencement of St. Mary's School.

St. Mary's hall was filled Friday evening with the friends of the graduating class of St. Mary's school, the business being the second annual commencement exercises.

The program was carried out as planned in the Standard a few weeks ago, and each number was presented in a manner which showed that the teachers as well as the pupils had put in much time and hard work on the preparation.

The stage was decorated with the class colors, white and gold, and presented a pretty appearance. The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. Dennis Hayes of Goldsman, who talked upon the subject of Catholic education, and handled the question in a masterly manner.

Rev. W. P. Conidine presented the following program with their diplomas: Master Charles Kelly, Misses Agnes Gorman, Teresa Hummel, Phyllis Rafferty and Frances Eder.

DISPATCH BY PHONE

New System for Three Big Michigan Central Divisions.

Work on the construction of private telephone lines for local dispatching on three important divisions of the Michigan Central is well under way. The pole and wire system already in for telegraphic use is being overhauled and added to, and the switchboard and telephone equipment ordered. The divisions of first installation are those between Detroit and Bay City, Detroit and Jackson and Detroit and Toledo. The telegraph will be entirely discarded in train dispatching and the telephone exclusively used. As a rule the train dispatcher will use the phone direct, although there will be aids if necessary to repeat the written orders. All orders will be in writing at both ends of lines, so there can be no question of what is said or heard.

The Michigan Central is thoroughly satisfied that the telephone is the superior method for dispatching and for giving other orders. There will be a large gang in each station instead of the usual small call bell, and anyone, a boy if nobody else happens to be within hearing distance, can answer and call the employee who should receive the order.

In time, it is said, the entire Michigan Central system will be equipped with these private telephone systems.

Interesting Happenings at the State Capital of Michigan.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRES RAGING

PEOPLE DRIVEN FROM HOME BY FOREST FIRES FANNED BY GALE

THREE TOWNS GONE

The District Burned Over is Twenty Miles Long and Hundreds are Made Homeless.

Fires in northern Michigan forests, fanned to gigantic proportions by the gales during the latter part of last week have destroyed at least three villages, rendered hundreds homeless, swept over thousands of acres of timber and caused damage estimated at about $250,000.

A man who gives the name of Walter Burns, of Detroit, has confessed to robbing H. F. Chichester, of Muskegon, of $60 when they crossed from Milwaukee to Grand Haven as occupants of the same steamer.

A young man, get fire with a cigarette to gloves which Wilhelmina Kurgarth and Esther Boyle, of an Arbor, were cleaning with gasoline, and both girls were severely burned about the arms trying to extinguish the flames.

Following a quarrel, Henry Wellbourn, of Traverse City, is said to have lain in wait for his wife at the foot of the stairs, and then placed the muzzle of a gun at her head.

Henry McCarthy, who was sentenced to the Detroit house of correction and escaped from Grand Haven, on pretense of telephoning his wife, returned to Muskegon Sunday, beat his wife into unconsciousness and then made his appearance on the street. Police officers tried to arrest him but he ran and the officers shot seven times, three times at him. One shot pierced his left shoulder and the other broke his left arm.

That a tragedy has been enacted is surmised for the reason that the dead man's head and shoulders were fearfully crushed, as if battered with a club.

Genery was stationed at the extreme northern end of Grand Island, and investigation shows that his light has not been burning for at least a week or since he and his assistant left Munising with supplies. The supplies have been found in the boat near the light, but what happened after they were landed there is something not yet fathomed.

It is the theory of the officers that the two men were attacked on Grand Island, slain, robbed and their bodies thrown into the lighthouse boats and left to the mercy of the wind and waves.

It is a more lonely spot than the lighthouse could be imagined. It is located upon an isolated rocky coast, 15 miles from Munising, and seven miles from the nearest habitation, which is the home of the keeper of the Cleveland Cliffs game preserve.

Benjamin H. Richardson, "the book-seller of Harvard square" and Theodore Roosevelt's landlady while he was in college, is dead in Cambridge, Mass., aged 76. He had sold books there for 60 years.

The president approved the agreement made between Secretary Taft and Manager Aversa, apostolic delegate to Cuba, for the purchase of the church lands in that island for $360,000.

George Harvey, whose carelessness in not sufficiently swabbing out one of the six-inch guns repelling the mimic attack on New York resulted in a flareback that killed one and wounded several of his companions, died Friday.

Mrs. Mary Farmer, who forged deeds to property owned by Mrs. Sarah Brennan near Watertown, N. Y., last fall, and then killed Mrs. Brennan with a hatchet and stuffed her body in a trunk, has been sentenced to be electrocuted August 2 in Auburn prison. She is 29 years old. Her victim was 58.

Cornelius P. Shea, at one time president of the International Teamsters' union and leader of the great stock yards strike in Chicago, was arrested in Chalestown, Mass., Monday, charged with fraud in horse trading. He pleaded not guilty. She has been "down and out" since he lost the Chicago strike and was deposed from his high office by the teamsters as a result.

As the result of a recount in the seventh congressional district of Iowa, Hull and Prouty are tied and the recount will have to be settled by the courts. J. W. Russell, a Hull man, has had the supervisors of Dallas county restrained from recounting the ballots, alleging that he doubts whether the previous handling had left the ballots intact.

Representatives of labor organizations of the District of Columbia called at the White House to request the president to deliver a "farewell address to labor" on labor day next September. The president will next deliver this request.

Fishing. It would be interesting to know from how many little wilderness stations in the north there goes each spring, to eager business and professional men in the large cities, the message that the ice is out. If one could measure and sum up all the pleasure of those who take the message for their marching orders, and all the increment of health and strength that comes to them by virtue of their annual fishing trips, it would make the world seem a very cheerful place. The charm of fishing, for the normal man, is so deeply rooted that it can be accounted for only by regarding it as a reawakening of primeval instinct. When a fly bobs down the rapids, or a worm drops into the hole below the big boulder, a racial memory older than history comes to life, and the cashier of the First National becomes blood-brother to the skin-clad savage who made the first hook from a bone or piece of shell. To the savage, fishing was earning a livelihood, getting a dinner. The fish he caught was the wages he received for working at his job. To his descendant of to-day, "fishing" is far more. It is a return for a time to natural conditions, where the sun touches the skin and water wets the feet, and clothes are friends which serve, not masters to be considered. The fish himself is not the most important, or even an essential thing—until he is hooked. But when the tug comes on the line and the fly disappears, and a thrill runs up and down the back-bone till the very toes tingle, then he becomes suddenly the most important thing in the world; and his appearance later, if happily, he so appears, in an overcoat of cornmeal, browned crisp and piping hot from the pan—this confers the impression of his importance, and crowns with reason the absurd business of catching him. The wholesome sentiment which would protect all animal life from cruelty has lately been showing a tendency to lapse into unwholesome sentimentality, says the Youths' Companion. There are those who regard all fishermen as monsters, and look upon a school of mackerel as an educational institution. Alas for the boys of to-morrow if this creed prevails!

Houseflies. If a man should come tramping into your parlor, besmearing the rugs or carpets with the mud, slime and filth that had adhered to his boots as he worked in the sewers or walked in the wet gutters, there would be an exceedingly lively protest and a very thorough cleaning after he had been ordered out or kicked out. A resort to violent measures to get rid of such an affront and menace would be upheld by the courts and by public sentiment. And yet just such a nuisance, only more impudent and dangerous, is tolerated in every house, with but little effort to expel him or with but infrequent protests as to his presence. The common housefly, says the Newark News, is an unmitigated thief and scoundrel, a filth-bearing, disease-carrying rascal who does not stop at defiling rugs and carpets and furniture, but who deliberately and with intent sets his dirty feet anywhere, even upon the victuals you eat.

Science will never make wars impossible, because science can never limit the ingenuity and knowledge of men to a single channel. The defensive will ever keep pace with the offensive, and destructiveness will sooner or later carry its own antidote. When men's hearts are cleansed and purified, when peace becomes the ideal of heroism and courage, then and then only will wars cease upon the earth, declares the Philadelphia Ledger. And the same humane influences can be depended upon, in all probability, to prove the falsity of the dismal predictions of the fatal trend of commercial progress.

Greenough's Washington, that admirable statue of the father of his country clad in a bath towel, a curtain or a Roman toga—it is rather doubtful which—which has been standing in Washington exposed to the elements, has been transferred to the Smithsonian Institute and will go indoors. Owing to the scant clothing, remarks the Troy (N. Y.) Record, it is no more than right that the United States should at last recognize the statue's rights in the matter and offer it a shield from the cold winds that blow across the Potomac.

There isn't any sense in advising young King Manuel to forget the object of his first young dream of love, but he will forget it, nevertheless," says the Washington Herald. Yes; it's a pretty well established fact that men are fickle creatures.

A California man claims to have invented a process for dispelling fog. So long as he keeps out of the rain-maker class his petition will receive patient consideration.

THE GRAND ARMY'S MARCH WAS WITNESSED BY THOUSANDS IN DETROIT.

NEW OFFICERS CHOSEN.

Matters of Note and Comment From All Parts of the State Told in Brief Form.

Hundreds of veterans, who as boys and young men answered the call of '61, marched in the parade incident to the state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in Detroit Wednesday afternoon. The long parade passed through a gamut of tens of thousands, and salved in their honor at times drowned the cadence of the musicians. It was a splendid parade, sublime in a way, but cheery, and it showed that there is yet much life left in the thinning ranks of the Boys in Blue. Perhaps it is the last big parade of the grand army in Michigan. The roster is at work. The roll call shows many left more than 10,000 on the roster, but in the last year the death rate has increased over 10 per cent.

Charles E. Foote, of Kalamazoo, Post No. 79, and member of the Third N. Y. Cavalry, was elected department commander, George L. Holmes, of the Fairbanks post, Detroit, was elected senior vice-commander, according to the custom of selecting the man for that office from the town in which the encampment is held. Considerable routine business was transacted and a delegation of the W. R. C. was received. Resolutions were read, thanking Detroit. The next encampment will be held in Kalamazoo.

Lawyers See Mrs. Barnett.

The petitions of Attorneys George R. Fox and John Golden, counsel for Mrs. Elizabeth Barnett, charged with the murder of Oscar Peterson, the Swede who was found buried in the swamp near Mrs. Barnett's shanty in a thicket near Saginaw bay, was read in circuit court Wednesday. Assistant Prosecutor McCormick said the attorneys would be admitted to see Mrs. Barnett as soon as they established that they were her regular selected counsel. This they did and were admitted to the jail.

It is thought that they will make the defense on the plea that Peterson died a natural death while admitting Mrs. Barnett's indiscretion in burying or allowing to be buried the body of Peterson without notifying the authorities. They will endeavor to show that the fortune teller feared she would be charged with his death, and therefore concealed the burial proceeding, telling that Peterson had gone to Sweden.

Saw Her Boy Killed.

His foot wedged in the cattle guards of the Grand Trunk at Champaigne road, Clarence, 4-year-old son of Louis Klein, a farmer near Frasier, met death from a passenger train before the eyes of his mother, grandmother and three sisters. His Fourth Murder.

With the death of Keeper Ferris, Woodin's fourth murder was recorded. The convict was sent up from Mt. Pleasant, in 1902, having killed his wife's parents and his own child. Mrs. Woodin was given a divorce and resides in Jackson. Woodin became insane in prison and was sent to the Iowa asylum from which he was released some time ago as cured. Keeper Ferris is survived by a widow and three children. He came from Marquette three years ago.

Reform School Boy Hurt.

Trying to escape from the state industrial school early Sunday morning by sliding down a drain pipe from the third floor, Harry Munroe, aged 14, of Detroit, lost his grip at the second floor and broke both arms. Despite his injuries he tried to complete the escape, but was found an hour later by the night watchman. He said his mother was in poor health and that he wished to return to her. The boy was in the reform school once before and had been released on parole. He was sent back a week ago for stealing a bicycle.

Fire of Unknown Origin.

Starting in the building occupied by F. J. Just six miles south of a fire of similar magnitude swept the other side of the main street of the village.

His engagement broken off, William Johnson, employed on the farm of James Buckwin, near Mendon, drank acid. Mrs. Buckwin saw the act, and called a doctor, who saved his life.

Oscar P. Jackson, aged 58, stepped before a D. & M. train in Bay City, was dragged 200 feet and killed. He had been employed by the Pere Marquette 28 years and died in his first accident.

Lightning struck on the farm of Frank Carpenter in Bedford township, where neighbors had gathered for a barn raising. Charles Green and John Foster were rendered unconscious but will recover.

Great Commander Geo. S. Lovelace has called a meeting of the executive committee of the Modern Maccabees in Port Huron June 17 to plan for a campaign for new members and reorganization of the order.

Mrs. Conrad Peterson, who left Muskegon two weeks ago for the bedside of her dying father in Denmark, arrived there too late, the father having died just before her arrival. Mrs. Peterson will inherit an estate of $600,000 from her father.

Physicians have finished the test of the stomach of Oscar Peterson, whose body was found buried on his farm, and it is understood that he was unable to find any traces of poison. Mrs. Elizabeth Barnett, held for Peterson's murder, will in consequence likely be free, as the whole case depended on finding poison in Peterson's stomach. Mrs. Barnett maintains that Peterson died of natural causes.

Mrs. Jerome Daniels, of Vandalla, in a fainting spell Saturday night fell upon a lamp, firing her clothing. She was burned so seriously that she died in a few minutes. At the time she was alone with her two young daughters. Prompt assistance by neighbors saved the house.

"George has been working pretty hard and I thought I'd take him out for a little fun," said Harrison Bailey, when arraigned in Port Huron with his 19-year-old son on an intoxication charge. Both are married and the wives of both are ill. Bailey was held to the circuit court for giving liquor to the son.

Lansing.—James H. Malcolm, resident member and president of the board of control of the state employment institution for the blind at Saginaw, was asked to come to Lansing and explain to Auditor General Bradley and Attorney General Bird certain alleged transactions. A law of the state, section 11,384 of the compiled laws, provides that no member of any board of control of any state institution shall be "either directly or indirectly interested in any sale or contract with the state," and that upon violating this statute it is the governor's duty to immediately remove such offending official, and upon conviction he may be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding $500. Vouchers on file in the auditor general's office and other information received by the attorney general's department indicated that Malcolm would be asked some embarrassing questions, and if certain sales cannot be explained further action may be taken. It is charged that Malcolm has been buying soft coal for the Saginaw institution of a concern of which he is a member, such purchases amounting to $50 a month for a considerable period; that he had bought hard coal to the extent of 24 tons which he is a partner; that he has bought ice of a company in which he is interested, such purchases amounting to 50 tons a month for a period of several months; that he had bought milk of himself, also fire brick, and last year purchased $300 worth of gravel of himself and his brother. "I think this statute was wisely enacted by the legislature," said Attorney General Bird. "I should say that, generally speaking, a man would not naturally drive a good bargain for the state, when he was buying from himself, as he would if he were dealing with outside parties." Malcolm has been a member of the board of control of the Saginaw institution about two years. He was appointed by Gov. Warner.

Malcolm Before Warner.

James H. Malcolm, member of the board of control of the state employment institution for the blind at Saginaw, had an interview with Attorney General Bird in regard to his connection with the purchase of supplies for the institution from concerns in which he is interested. Gov. Warner was present at a part of the interview and it was decided to take the matter up again when the governor had more time. It developed that Malcolm's attention was called a month ago to illegal purchase of supplies.

Chair Car Rate Boost Opposed.

When A. J. Doherty of the Pullman Palace Car company was in Lansing he laid before the state railway commission the plans of his company to materially increase chair car rates in this state and submitted an argument to the commission in support of the increase in charges. Doherty stated that the company has in contemplation a fair charge of one-half cent a mile, with a minimum charge of 25 cents. He asked that the commission indicate what its action would be in regard to the proposed rates, and the other day a letter was forwarded by the commission stating that the new rates, which in some instances would be equal to 200 per cent increase, would be viewed with disfavor. The present low rates, the commission stated, were put into effect by the company of its own volition before the creation of the commission. Attention is called to the fact that the last legislature in reducing rates of fare on railroads proceeded on the theory that such reduction would increase travel and that the results have justified this expectation. In view of the increased patronage resulting to the Pullman company, the commissioners say their judgment is that conditions do not justify the increase in rates. While the commission is unable to formally pass upon the reasonableness of the proposed rates until after they are in effect, it is strongly indicated that they will not be permitted to stand.

Wants Petitions Early.

Secretary of State Prescott hopes that candidates for congress will submit their nomination petitions to his office for checking purposes as soon as possible. If all petitions are withheld until the last day allowed for filing it will be almost impossible for the secretary of state to properly check them over with the enrollment lists in time for the primary election. Deputy Secretary of State Means says that at least 75,000 names will be contained in the petitions filed with the department by candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and congressmen.

Taft First Talk in Michigan.

There is a strong probability that William H. Taft will make the opening address of his campaign in Michigan. L. G. Kaufmann, president of the Michigan Bankers' association, has extended an invitation to Mr. Taft to be the guest of honor at the annual meeting of the association at Marquette, the second week in July and he has received assurances from the secretary that if the committee, in whose hands the itinerary rests, will permit, he will be more than pleased to come to Michigan.

Bunting Case to Come Up July 7.

Prosecutor Foster made arrangements to have the trial of criminal cases taken up in the circuit court July 7. The case of Representative Archibald F. Bunting, indicted by the grand jury on a charge of fraud in office, will be heard first. It will be followed by the trial of George Every, charged with running a "blind pig" at Danville and dispensing liquors without securing a license. Arguments were continued before Judge West on the motion of the attorneys for the city of Lansing in the Daman damage case to direct a verdict in favor of the city of Lansing on the grounds of contributory negligence on the part of the young men who met death in the street railway accident on Michigan avenue east last Labor day. It is the contention of the attorneys representing the city that the city had a right to tear up the pavement to repair the street, that the railway company knew that the brick were piled by the side of the tracks and for that reason the city was not negligent in the matter.

Never Heard of Bill Until a Law.

Attorney General Bird became indignant over the public statement of S. A. Kennedy, corporation clerk of the secretary of state's office, to the effect that the bill which resulted in the defeat of the state's cases against the Crucible Steel company and other corporations for heavy penalties, was submitted to his department. Mr. Bird never heard until recently that it had ever contended he had any knowledge of the pendency of the measure, and his answer is most emphatic. "My department never saw the bill containing that joker which knocked out those suits," said the attorney general. "I will say again, as I have said before, that I had no knowledge of this bill until after it became a law. I have the word of every man in my department that he never saw the bill before it became a law. If it had been presented to our office, as claimed by Mr. Kennedy, it would have attracted our immediate attention and opposition."

Fights Plague in Factories.

"Conditions in factories are much better than they used to be as regards tendencies toward the spread of tuberculosis and other diseases, but there are many conditions which the law does not reach and there are other things which a limited force of inspectors does not permit us to deal with thoroughly," said Labor Commissioner Malcolm McLeod. "Probably some of the most unhealthy conditions are to be found in rag picking shops and cigar factories. There is still another condition, however, which is very difficult for us to trace, which no doubt tends to the spread of tuberculosis. There are many women in Detroit employed at garment making in their homes, knitting or sewing for manufacturers, who live in unhealthy conditions and the garments leave these homes, probably germ-infected. We have found several homes in which there were tubercular patients, where women did this kind of work."

Demands Return of $1,378 by City.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction L. L. Wright has made demand upon the city of Ionia for the return of $1,378 which he believes was obtained from the state by means of false census reports covering a period of at least three years. Wright has made a careful investigation of the census rolls and has found a large number of names of pupils of school age who have not resided in Ionia for several years. More than 100 pupils, it is said, have been wrongfully enumerated. For each name fraudulently enrolled the city has drawn from $5.50 to $23.50, according to the number of years the names have been spread on the rolls. If the city or school district does not reimburse the state promptly the attorney general will commence suit, and the matter will be referred to the prosecuting attorney of Ionia county for action.

Lansing Shows Healthy Growth.

Good growth for Greater Lansing is shown by the 1908 edition of the Childs-McKinley directory, now being issued. The book contains 14,882 names, not counting the names of the wives that appear in parenthesis after the names of their husbands. In cities of this size it is customary, in estimating population, to multiply the number of names by 2 1/2, but in order not to overestimate the city's population the publishers of the directory have taken 2 1/4 for a multiple, which gives to Lansing an estimated population of 33,384.

Purchasers Meet in Lansing.

A meeting of the superintendents and purchasing agents of the several state institutions was held at the governor's office. Under the governor's direction the several institutions have recently been visited by a competent man who has made an investigation of the methods of purchasing supplies with a view to securing the advantage of better prices. The matter of purchasing supplies by state institutions came up for thorough discussion before the body.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRES RAGING

Theresa Castle, aged 15, who ran away from her home in Durand a month ago, was found working in a Sarnia hotel. Among the 108 Ann Arbor high school graduates was Albino Scypl, a native of China, whose oration was "The New Era in China." Dependent over his long illness and old age, George Linsley, a Big Rapids pioneer, hung himself in his barn with a rope the children had for a swing. Walking to his home in Hammond, Ind., from White Cloud, Lewis McKinley, aged 70, was prostrated by the heat after covering 30 miles in one day. After quarreling with her lover in Sandusky, O., where she was employed as waitress, Elizabeth Arnold, aged 18, of Grand Rapids, took tincture of iodine. About 200 Saginaw society women stationed 200 principal corners sold 25,000 "charity day" badges and raised from $3,000 to

THE REPUBLICAN NOMINEES

HON. WILLIAM H. TAFT.

HON. JAMES S. SHERMAN.

TAFT AND SHERMAN IS SLATE Republican Convention at Chicago Names the Ticket.

War Secretary and New York Con- gressman Selected as Candidates for President and Vice-Presi- dent--Proceedings of the Con- vention--Big Demonstration for Theodore Roosevelt.

Chicago.—For president of the United States, William H. Taft of Ohio. For vice-president of the United States, James S. Sherman of New York.

Taft on the first ballot; Taft by 702 votes; Sherman on the second ballot; Sherman by the unanimous choice of the convention.

This is the ticket the delegates to the Republican national convention assembled at Chicago have selected for presentation to the people at the November election.

The picture within the walls of the vast amphitheater as the presidential candidate was named Thursday was one truly grandiose in its magnitude. In front, to the right and left, below and above, the billowing sea of humanity, restless after hours of waiting and stirred from one emotion to another, was in a fever of expectancy for the culminating vote. The favorite sons of other states had been named, save Knox and La Follette, and now on the roll call came Ohio.

Scene of Wild Enthusiasm. As the Buckeye state was reached, the tall, gaunt form of Theodore E. Burton, with a cadaverous face and a black clerical garb, advanced to the platform to nominate Ohio's candidate. He spoke fervently, with the ringing voice of an evangelist, which went ringing through the great building.

The close of his speech of nomination was the signal for losing the long pent-up feeling of the Taft legions. Instantly the Ohio delegates were on their feet, other Taft states following, while the convention hosts, in gallery and on floor, broke into mad demonstration.

"Taft, Taft, W. H. Taft," came in a roar from the Ohioans. Megaphones seemed to spring from concealed places and swell the Taft tumult into thunder. A huge blue silk banner bearing the familiar features of the statesman-secretary was swung before the delegates, awakening a fresh whirlwind of enthusiasm. All semblance of order had been abandoned and the delegates' arena was a maelstrom of gesticulating men; the guidons of the states were snatched up by the Taft enthusiasts or borne under by the storm of disorder. The band was inaudible—a mere whisper above the deafening volume of sound. For ten, 15, 20 minutes, this uproar continued. At last the tired voices died down to a hoarse shout, and subsided.

Seconded by Knight. This hull now gave the opportunity for the speech seconding Taft's nomination, by George H. Knight of California, his big, round face beaming forth on the sympathetic multitude, and his splendid baritone voice welling forth like the tones of a great church organ. California's tribute to Taft was brief and fervid. Now there was another lull in the Taft movement, while the remaining candidates were placed in nomination.

It was late in the afternoon before the convention, now literally sweltering with the intense heat and weary after nearly seven hours of continuous session, reached the end of the flood of eloquence and the decks were at last cleared for the culminating act.

Demonstration for La Follette. But, no; just as the last swell of oratory, the seconding speech for La Follette, had died away, like a cyclone from a clear sky burst a La Follette demonstration which swept the convention from its very bearings. It was the same deafening wave of sound that had greeted Roosevelt Wednesday and Taft a little while before, intense and maddening and with the vital ring of genuine enthusiasm. It seemed as though Wisconsin had suddenly peopled every foot of the galleries. The delegates sat calm and waiting, except the frantic Wisconsin, but the convention for the time being was in the possession of the galleries.

Now a singular transformation occurred—gradually the whirlwind veered from La Follette to Roosevelt.

Hushed by the Roll Call. Amid this pandemonium, and with the galleries in full control, Chairman Lodge decided upon heroic action in order again to make the convention master of its affairs. He ordered the roll call of states to begin for the vote on president. Such a call, under such circumstances of intense confusion, has probably never before occurred in the history of national conventions. The secretary was powerless to make his call of the states heard above the deafening clamor. Seizing a megaphone he shouted the roll of states—Alabama, Arkansas— but his voice was swallowed up in the mad uproar. Gradually, however, the curiosity of the multitude conquered their enthusiasm, and they lapsed into silence to hear the result of the roll call.

A hush of expectancy hung over the assembly as the call proceeded. Hasty summaries showed that Taft was far in advance. When New York was reached the Taft column totaled 427. Ohio carried the Taft total to 511, or 29 more than enough to nominate. Still the call went on until the final result was announced by Chairman Lodge:

"For Theodore Roosevelt, 3 votes; for Joseph B. Foraker of Ohio, 16 votes; for Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana, 40 votes; for Joseph Cannon of Illinois, 61 votes; for Robert La Follette of Wisconsin, 25 votes; for Charles E. Hughes of New York, 63 votes; for Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, 63 votes; and William H. Taft of Ohio, 702 votes.

Vote is Made Unanimous. A great shout went up as Lodge concluded his announcement, and with one accord the cohorts of Cannon and Knox and Hughes and the other heroes, joined in a common tribute for the candidate of the party.

Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, for Gov. Hughes, leaping upon a chair, moved to make the nomination of Taft unanimous; Senator Penrose for Knox, and Boutell for Cannon, and Henry of Georgia for Foraker, and Wisconsin for La Follette, seconded the motion for a unanimous vote to the candidate. The vote was given with a ringing cheer, and then with shouts of exultation over the new candidate, the convention adjourned until ten o'clock Friday morning, when the nomination of vice-president was taken up.

It was not until four hours had been spent over the platform that the convention was ready to proceed with the nominating speeches for president. First came the nomination of Cannon, by Representative Boutell of Illinois, seconded by Representative Fordney of Michigan, which awakened a well-deserved yell for the "Grand Old Man" of Illinois.

Earlier in the day the battle over the platform had occupied the close attention of delegates and spectators. The platform as framed by the committee on resolutions was read by its chairman, Senator Hopkins of Illinois, with a minority report, reflecting the views of the supporters of Senator La Follette, was presented by Congressman Cooper of Wisconsin. It was on one hand the sledgehammer blows of the Wisconsin men against combinations and monopoly, and on the other hand the warning of Hopkins against the "socialistic doctrines of Wisconsin." The platform was adopted by an overwhelming vote, after many separate planks in the Wisconsin plan had been buried under adverse votes.

Sherman for Second Place. The nomination for the vice-presidency was not made until Friday. When the convention adjourned for the day Thursday the situation regarding second place on the ticket was decidedly unsettled, but before the delegates met Friday an arrangement had been perfected for the Taft delegates to support Representative James S. Sherman of New York as the running mate of the secretary of war.

Three names were placed in nomination when the chairman announced that nominations were in order. Sherman was named as New York's choice by Tim Woodruff, former lieutenant governor of the state; Gov. Curtis Guild of Massachusetts was placed in nomination by Senator Lodge, and Ex-Gov. Franklin Murphy of New Jersey was named by Thomas N. McCarter. Several brief seconding speeches were made for each candidate.

When the roll call was begun it was soon seen that Sherman was the popular choice of the delegates. When enough votes had been cast to insure his nomination Senator Crane of Massachusetts moved that it be made unanimous and it was carried with a shout of approval.

The usual motions of acknowledgment to the officers of the convention and to the city in which it was held were then passed.

Great Roosevelt Demonstration. Mr. Lodge early in his address launched his sentence which electrified the assembly into its first real demonstration of wild enthusiasm.

"The president," exclaimed Mr. Lodge, "is the best abused and most popular man in the United States today."

This was the long awaited signal. Instantly a shout broke from the galleries and was echoed back from the floor, at first only a tempest of detached yells, and cat-calls, and shouts of "Teddy," but gradually gathering force and volume until it swelled, to a whirlwind of sound and motion, as delegates and spectators rose en masse, mounting chairs, waving banners, hats, handkerchiefs, flags, newspapers, anything which could be seized upon to add turbulence to the scene.

ROOSEVELT.—The abuse of wealth, the tyranny of power, and the evils of privilege and favoritism have been put to scorn by his simple, manly virtues of justice and fair play. We pledge a continuance of the Roosevelt policies.

ANTI-INUNCTION.—The Republican party will uphold the authority of the courts, but believes the rules of procedure in federal courts with respect to injunctions should be more accurately defined by statute, and that no injunction should be issued without notice.

LABOR.—The same wise policy . . . will be pursued in every legitimate direction within federal authority to lighten the burdens and increase the happiness and advancement of all who toil.

THE TARIFF.—The Republican party declares for a revision of tariff by a special session of congress immediately following the inauguration of the next president. We favor the establishment of maximum and minimum rates to be administered by the president.

MONEY.—An expanding commerce . . . and increasing crop movements disclose the need of a more elastic and adaptable system.

TRUSTS.—The federal government should have greater supervision and control over corporations engaged in interstate commerce having the power to create monopolies.

INLAND WATERWAYS.—We call for a large and comprehensive plan, just to all portions of the country, to improve the waterways, harbors, and great lakes.

ARMY AND NAVY.—While the American people do not desire and will not provoke a war with any other country, we nevertheless declare our devotion to a policy which will keep this republic ready at all times to defend her traditional doctrines.

GOOD ROADS.—We approve the efforts of the agricultural department to make clear to the public the best methods of good road construction.

NEGROES.—We demand equal justice for all men, without regard to race or color, and condemn all devices for the disfranchisement of the negro.

REPUBLICAN POLICY.—The difference between Democracy and Republicanism is that one stands for vacillation and timidity in government, the other for strength and purpose. Democracy would have the nation own the people, while Republicanism would have the people own the nation.

Judson W. Lyon of Georgia was recognized to make the motion to adjourn without day. It was put into effect at 11:47 a. m. The band played "The Star-Spangled Banner," the delegates rapidly left the hall and the convention of 1908 had made its way into history.

Congratulations from Washington. President Roosevelt as soon as he received news of the nomination of Representative Sherman sent the following message of congratulation: "Accept my hearty congratulation and my earnest good wishes for the success of the ticket of Taft and Sherman."

Secretary Taft also sent a telegram to Representative Sherman immediately upon hearing of the nomination, as follows: "I sincerely and cordially congratulate you upon your nomination for vice-president. We welcome you as a colleague in the contest and look forward with confidence to the result of the joint struggle. Will you not meet me in Cincinnati to-morrow to confer on matters of importance?"

Secretary Cortelyou sent the following telegram of congratulations to Mr. Sherman: "Hearty congratulations and best wishes for the ticket."

ROOSEVELT DEMONSTRATION. Delegates and Spectators Wildly Cheer President for 45 Minutes.

The second day of the Republican national convention brought the long-expected Roosevelt yell, a whirlwind of enthusiasm which raged within the vast amphitheater of the Coliseum for full 45 minutes Wednesday, and for a time presented to the timid the specter of a Roosevelt stampede.

This demonstration was decidedly the feature of a day otherwise notable for a stirring speech from the permanent chairman of the convention, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, for much practical procedure in placing the convention on a smooth running basis, and for the final defeat of the plan to reduce the representation of southern states at future national conventions.

Probably the most important act of the day, and the one having greatest significance, was the adoption of the report of the committee on credentials, seating the Taft delegations practically in toto. If there had been any lingering doubt of the Taft strength it disappeared before this decisive action, which in effect placed upwards of 700 delegates in the Taft column.

Temporary Chairman Burrows called the convention to order promptly at 12:20, but the delay of committees in reporting gave an hour for diversion before the serious work of the day was begun. This time was given over to the visiting clubs, with bands and vocal choruses, bearing banners and strange devices of G. O. P. elephants. In front of the delegates paraded this motley throng, eliciting laughter and applause.

For three-quarters of an hour the tumult continued, and then Chairman Lodge finished his speech and the business of the convention was resumed.

GATE FOR ALLEY WAYS.

It Will Help Greatly in the Handling of Stock.

In large dairy stables it is always advisable to have small gates or doors hung in alley ways to prevent the stock from going where they are not wanted when being stabled. If such gates are closed at the proper time considerable disturbance can be averted. I have seen various kinds of gates used, but the one pictured is by far the best.

Instead of swinging upward and being hooked to the ceiling or a joist overhead as some do, it slides back and forth upon a length of gas pipe serving as a track, by means of iron straps attached to the long pieces that compose the outer ends of the gate. The gas pipe should be at least two inches through and in length twice the width of the gate. The gate should be made to fit the place where needed, and can be constructed of any strong, light lumber.

If the feed room is in easy reach of the stable, says Farm and Home, the alley leading to it should by all means be protected by one of these gates. In case of a cow getting loose in the night, as cows frequently will, it might be the means of saving her life from eating too much grain.

DAIRY DOINGS.

Do not try to milk a cow by squeezing her horns. Always do your milking at the udder end.

A good feed for young calves is ten pounds blood meal, five pounds bone meal and 20 pounds each of oil meal, oatmeal and cornmeal.

To make a dairy herd profitable the feed is only half. The method and regularity of care with the comfort of the animals is of equal if not of greater importance.

When butter does not come the difficulty is usually due to one of two things. Either the cream is not sour enough or its temperature is too low. If you have a good churn you can usually make butter in half an hour if these two points are right.

Two pounds of milk can be produced by the aid of silage as a dairy feed, where on any other system which does not include fresh pasture one pound would be the limit. Care must be used in feeding silage, but the difficulty is not so much with the silage as with sour and spoiled remnants left in feeding utensils. The best ration for a dry cow is corn silage and alfalfa, and when she becomes fresh continue to feed these with six or eight pounds of grain daily.

Soiling Cows.

This term is one not very widely understood. It refers to keeping the cows on a small area and cutting and bringing their food to them, instead of permitting them to run in the pasture. The advantage of this system is that it gets the greatest possible amount of feed from an acre of land. The cows do not have the chance to trample out much of the herbage. Its great disadvantage is that it is laborious and the cost for help is great. In this country it has not yet been extensively practiced because land has been cheap and labor high. In Europe where land has been high in price and labor low, the soiling system has been extensively practiced. By it the farmer loses what is so important now in this country, the saving of having his grass crop harvested by the animals themselves.

Type in Dairy Breeding. Every breeder of dairy cows should have in his mind an ideal type towards which he should be constantly moving. Most dairy breeding is done without reference to any type. Any kind of a cow is bred to any kind of a type of calf. We will never get good dairy cows of uniform type until breeders become more particular as to the kind of dairy cows they intend to raise. When type is paid more attention to, the best bulls and the cows of the best type will sell at fancy prices for breeders. There is at the present time a movement in that direction.

Try for One.

Every time the boy (or his father, either) wins a premium, no matter what contest it is in, he stretches up a notch or two and begins to plan something bigger and better for next year. If he tries and fails and "comes" again, he will probably come out all right. If he fails and quits—well, he's just a "quitter," that's all. "Quitters" never oil the wheels of progress very much. Don't be a "quitter."

Feed the Cows.

Feed the cow all the hay or other roughness she will eat, even if she is running on good pasture. Her appetite tells her better what she needs than you can tell. Keep the manger full and allow her to eat as much of it as she desires.

WHAT IS YOUR COW WORTH?

Take Time to Figure Out Her Value to You.

We wish we could get every farmer and every farmer's son to take a day off and figure out what his cow is worth. That, of course, depends on what you have in view in keeping her, what work you expect her to do.

If you are milking her and she gives 140 pounds or less of butter fat, it is very easy to determine what she is worth for that purpose. On lands in the corn belt it will cost from $28 to $35 to keep a cow during the year. If she does not give more than that value in butter fat, then for dairy purposes she is not worth a nickel. We give the cost as above, because we notice that in the cow censuses that have been taken that is the estimated price given by their keepers.

A cow not worth a nickel for dairy purposes had best be allowed to raise her calf; and then the question is whether that calf at weaning time will be worth $30. Ordinarily it will be worth from $10 to $15. Therefore the question whether it pays to keep an average cow for the chance of an average calf on lands in the corn belt is easily determined.

Suppose, however, she gives 230 pounds of butter fat and it is worth one year with another 20 cents a pound. Then your cow is making you a profit in butter fat of about ten dollars a year and giving you a calf, which, after deducting the cost of feeding it until it is six months old, is worth $10 to $12. Then you have from the skim-milk, say 4,000 pounds, worth from 15 to 20 cents per 100 pounds, depending on the price of corn, or from six to ten dollars. You will have the manure, which if properly cared for is worth six dollars a year. If your cow gives a still larger amount of butter fat than this you can very easily estimate the profit.

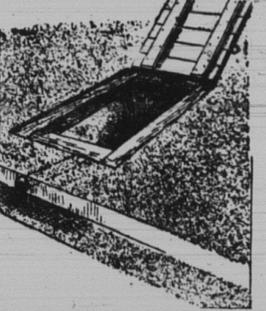

What we are aiming at now, says Wallace's Farmer, is to get farmers to thinking about this question: What is your cow worth? How are you to find out? Why, there is only one way; and that is to take time to weigh the milk often enough to determine how much each cow gives during the year, and then test it often enough to determine the actual amount of butter fat to do this. If we can only get you to do this, the rest will be easy, but until farmers who are pretending to dairy at all take this matter up and determine what the cow is worth it is useless to expect any great improvement in the dairy business.

LIQUID CISTERN IN STABLE.

It Will Save Much of the Valuable Fertilizer.

In stables where gutters are employed behind the stock for catching the manure it is very necessary to have some provision for holding the liquid that naturally accumulates behind the stock.

The accompanying diagram shows a small cistern constructed in my stable to every 12 animals, so that the liquid that comes from the stock is preserved and applied to the soil.

The cistern is two by three feet in size and 2 1/2 feet deep

The Chelsea Standard.

An independent local newspaper published every Thursday afternoon from its office in the standard building, Chelsea, Michigan.

BY O. T. HOOVER.

Terms:—$1.00 per year; six months, fifty cents; three months, twenty-five cents. Advertising rates reasonable and made known on application.

Entered as second-class matter, March 5, 1906, at the postoffice at Chelsea, Michigan, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

THE National Republican Convention at Chicago last week nominated a well balanced ticket to be voted on this fall. Wm. H. Taft by training and disposition is an ideal executive, and will make a satisfactory president. His training acquired as Governor of the Philippines and head of the War Department, should discipline him for the highest office in the land. In all his executive acts he has faithfully followed in the footsteps of his predecessor, and will undoubtedly continue and develop the policies by him inaugurated. He is, and always has been, an ardent supporter of the policies for advancement at the present time demanded by the American citizens, and will make an ideal run. James S. Sherman, of New York, the nominee for vice president, is well liked by all with whom he has come in contact. His training as congressman well fits him for the position he will occupy if elected, and his conservative disposition is in keeping with the duties of the senate as laid down by the Fathers who drafted the Constitution.

THE illness of James S. Sherman, candidate for vice president, while it is hoped is not serious is unfortunate, as it is usually the vice presidential nominee who has to swing round the circle and attend to those matters which the dignity of the head of the ticket prevents the nominee for president from giving his personal attention. However Mr. Sherman's sickness at this particular time has brought him before the people in such a manner that it has lifted him from the ranks of the vice presidential unknowns. Should the illness of the nominee be so serious as to prevent him from making the run, probably no convention will be called to fill the vacancy, as there is no law applying to methods of parties in making their nominations and it will be simpler and as satisfactory for the national republican committee to fill the vacancy.

YOU'RE TOO THIN.
Even Slight Catarrhal Derangements
of the Stomach Produce Acid Fermentation of the Food.
W's Stomach Catarrh
Some people are thin and always remain thin, from temperamental reasons. Probably in such cases nothing can be done to change this personal peculiarity.
But there are a large number of people who get thin, or remain thin, who naturally would be plump and fleshy
but for some digestive derangement.
Thin people lack in adipose tissue.
Adipose tissue is chiefly composed of fat.
This is derived from the oily constituents of food.
The fat-making foods are called by the physiologist, hydrocarbons. This class of foods are not digested in the stomach at all. They are digested in the duodenum, the division of the alimentary canal just below the stomach.
The digestion of fat is mainly, if not holly, the work of the pancreatic juice. This juice is of alkaline reaction, and is rendered inert by the addition of acid. A hyperacidity of the gastric fluids of the stomach passing into the duodenum, destroys the pancreatic fluid for digestive purpose. Therefore, the fats are not digested or emulsified, and the system is deprived of its due proportion of oily materials. Hence, the patient grows thin.
The beginning of the trouble is a carrinal condition of the stomach which uses hyperacidity of the gastric fluids. This hyperacidity is caused by irregularity of food in the stomach,
the food is taken into the stomach, and the process of digestion does not begin immediately, acid fermentation will take place. This creates a hyperacidity of the stomach juices which in their turn prevent the pancreatic digestion of the oils, and the patient results.
A dose of Peruna before each meal restores the stomach digestion. By restoring digestion, Peruna prevents irregularity of the contents of the stomach, and the pancreatic juice thus served in its normal state. It then restores the patient to eat a sufficient amount of fat-forming foods,
the thinness disappears and plumpness takes its place.

THE HERMIT

By C. E. HUGHES

Probably there was never in the world a more solitary man than Dickie Ferguson. It was not that he had no friends. The fact that he was always known as Dickie, and that most of his acquaintances had forgotten what his surname was (if they ever knew it) is sufficient to prove that he was not solitary in that sense. He knew scores of men—women he rather looked down upon—and they all liked him. Yet he never seemed altogether at ease in their presence. He had a distinct dread of displaying anything that might suggest sentiment, and yet, if the truth were known, he was perhaps as sentimental a fellow as any healthy Englishman that ever lived. Nature had made him one of the best companions possible, and habit, which had almost become second nature, tried hard to make him a hermit. And, on the whole, it succeeded.
Dickie lived in a castle on the Neckar. It commanded a very fine view, but it was not in itself a picturesque castle. He had found it by chance during one of the lonely rides which he was wont to take from Heidelberg, on his motor-tricycle. Before he had found the castle he had seldom stayed long in one place. Possessed of independent means, he was accustomed to saying that his father had done him one bad turn by helping him into the world, and one good one by providing him with enough to live upon until he was comfortably out of it. He spent the best part of his time in traveling. The occupant of the castle was a baron whose distressed circumstances had induced him to let Dickie a suite of four rooms on the second floor. His arrangements were that he should appear at meal-times and take his food with the baron and baroness, but at all other times he was to be left to himself. The baron allowed him to play the hermit to his heart's content, and for some weeks Dickie declared himself as happy as a king with his gun, his motor, his camera, and his supply of books and magazines.
So things went very well until one day the baron, who liked Dickie, and was a little perturbed at his eccentricities, announced at lunch that he intended to have some more guests. Dickie protested strongly.
The baron looked amused and waved his hand with the air of one who, having lived long and seen much, is well able to elect or reject in a matter of course.
Dickie became a trifle apologetic. "Well," he protested, "a throng of visitors means noise."
"I shall have, as hitherto, the greatest possible care for your sensitive nerves," said the baron with a dry smile.
"I think I'll take a holiday till the hurricane blows over," said Dickie.
"Why not wait and see?" asked the baron. "Perhaps they won't be so bad after all."
In point of fact, the baron had selected his guests with some skill. He had no intention of opening his house to anyone who might turn up. Of the eight members of the party, two were personal friends of his, and the rest were friends of these.
Dickie awaited their arrival gazing savagely from the window of his sitting-room. There were two Germans, five Americans, and one Englishman. Four of the Americans were of the fair sex, and these constituted the feminine element of the party. The baron had not let Dickie to expect any feminine element, so their advent excited little emotion in his breast other than that of fierce resentment until he caught sight of the last figure in the group. It was one of the American girls; but it was not the girl herself that attracted Dickie's attention. Behind her, towed by a lead, flickered a white fox-terrier puppy.
Now Dickie had no dog of his own and he wanted one. He was, moreover, particularly keen on having a fox-terrier. Accordingly, he determined to make friends with it even if that entailed making friends with its mistress.
And so it happened that when the Crowd—that was the name by which they called themselves—came in to dinner that evening, they found Dickie ready to make himself completely agreeable. He laughed and jested and told anecdotes, and finally invited the lot of them, dog and all, to his rooms. He accompanied them on their picnics, photographed them, gave them the run of his books; opened his rooms to them. And he undertook the training of the dog, Bobs.
Bobs was a thoroughbred, with no markings excepting two brown and black spots which covered his eyes, and spread on either side to his ears. When he arrived at the castle he was entirely uneducated, but under Dickie's tuition he rapidly picked up the rudiments of canine politeness. After a week or two he would answer to his name, lie down, or come to heel; and he was beginning to take quite a promising interest in rat-holes. Then he mastered the intricacies of sitting up on his hind legs with a lump of sugar balanced upon his nose until he was assured that it was paid for. After that he went on to the "dead dog" feat, and finally he learned to talk. Bobs had, in fact, been cleverer than

THE LITTLE WOODEN BARREL.
Turned Out in This Country in Millions and Sold All Over the World.
Among the all but endless variety of things of wood produced in American factories are little wooden barrels. They are turned out of white birch, and come in many sizes, from tiny affairs an inch and a half high up to barrels ten inches high.
The biggest of them are turned with a hand manipulated tool, but those ranging from six inches downward are turned each with a cutting tool having an edge so formed that it turns the barrel all at once. They set a block of wood in the lathe and adjust the cutting tool and it turns the barrel into shape complete as quickly as a man turning with a hand tool could have turned one of the hoops on it;
and on the smallest barrels one man can run three or four machines.
These little barrels are sold in the aggregate in great numbers, millions of them yearly. A single tack manufacturing concern buys them in carload lots, 2,000 gross, or 288,000 barrels at a time. Great numbers are used by confectioners, who fill them with candy, and they are used to contain a bottle of perfume.
Many are sold to be given away at fairs or in other ways, being filled with a sample of a staple product of the region, perhaps of flour, or it might be of sugar. Many of them are made with a slot cut in one end, or head, through which coins can be dropped, the little barrels in this form being used for savings banks, or given out by Sunday school teachers to their pupils to make collections in for some specific purpose. Individual purchasers buy the little barrels to use for button boxes, and great numbers of them are sold for toys.
So in this country there are used millions of them annually, and for all the various uses to which the little barrels are put they are exported in large numbers to countries all over the world.
The Largest Clock.
The largest clock in the world has recently been added to the wondrous sights of New York, the Giant City.
While this clock—a real old fashioned Seth Thomas, is a faithful timepiece to the people of New York, yet it is located on the factory of Colgate & Co. at Jersey City, N. J. In this it has the distinction of serving the people of two states. The tourist from across the ocean will find the hour of his return clearly set before him as he passes up the North river by his landing place. The small office boy of the down-town section may peep out of the windows, across into another state, to learn when "quitting time" comes around.
The dial of this gigantic clock will be forty feet six inches in diameter, and will be made of yellow pine boards six inches wide, spaced three inches apart. The minute hand measures 20 feet from the end of the hub to the tip, and weighs, with the counter balance, 640 pounds. The hour hand is 15 feet in length and weighs 500 pounds without the counter balance. The numerals on the dial are five feet high and 30 inches wide.
The speed of the hour hand measures three feet ten inches in width, while that of the minute hand is two feet eleven inches. The point of the minute hand travels every minute 23 inches, while in a week it covers three and two-thirds miles.—Bennett Chaplin, in National Magazine.

scabs which he would rub until they fell off. Then blood and matter would run out and that would be worse.
Friends coming to see him said that if he got well he would be disabled for life. When it seemed as if he could possibly stand it no longer, I used some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. That was the first night for nearly a year that he slept. In the morning there was a great change for the better. In about six weeks he was perfectly well.
Our leading physician recommends Cuticura for eczema. Mrs. Algy
Cockburn, Shiloh, O., June 11, 1907."

One of Bill Nye's.
Referring to a real estate transaction made by one Peter Minuit, way back in the year 1628, Bill Nye, in his history of the United States, declared:
"New York was afterwards sold for $24; the whole island. When I think of this I go into my family gallery, which I also use as a swear room, and tell those ancestors what I think of them. Where were they when New York sold for $24?"
The humor of this strikes deeply when one stops to consider what has been the outcome of this original investment. Peter Minuit, with trinkets and a few bottles of rum, so delighted the native Indians that they gladly turned over to him the whole of Manhattan island, now the heart of Greater New York.—"New York, the Giant City," National Magazine.

He Had Broken Something.
Mrs. Wilson had a young Japanese servant who had a habit of trying to conceal from his mistress any breakage of dishes of which he explained that it was wicked to deceive, and directed the Japanese to tell her whenever he broke anything.
The boy promised to do as she advised. One day, while Mrs. Wilson was entertaining some friends in the parlor, the Japanese suddenly appeared in the doorway. His teeth were bared in a childlike smile, and his eyes sparkled with the light of conscious virtue:
"Meesa Wilson, you ter-ra me, I break
some-thing to ter-ra you. I break my pants!"—Success Magazine.

FULLY NOURISHED
Grape-Nuts a Perfectly Balanced
Food.
No chemist's analysis of Grape-Nuts can begin to show the real value of the food—the practical value as shown by personal experience.
It is a food that is perfectly balanced, supplies the needed elements of brain and nerves in all stages of life from the infant, through the strenuous times of active middle life, and is a comfort and support in old age.
"For two years I have used Grape-Nuts with milk and a little cream, for breakfast. I am comfortably hungry for my dinner at noon."
"I use little meat, plenty of vegetables and fruit in season, for the noon meal, and if tired at tea time, take Grape-Nuts alone and feel perfectly nourished."
"Nerve and brain power, and memory are much improved since using Grape-Nuts. I am over sixty and weigh 155 lbs. My son and husband seeing how I have improved, are now using Grape-Nuts."
"My son, who is a traveling man,
eats nothing for breakfast but Grape-Nuts and a glass of milk. An ant, over 70, seems fully nourished on Grape-Nuts and cream." "There's a Reason."

People Talk About Good Things.
Twelve years ago few people knew of such a preparation as a Powder for the Feet. Today after the genuine merits of Allen's Foot-Ease have been told year after year by grateful persons, it is indispensable to millions. It is cleanly, wholesome, healing and antiseptic and gives rest and comfort to tired aching feet.
It cures while you walk. Over 30,000 testimonials. Imitations pay the dealer a larger profit otherwise you would never be offered a substitute for Allen's Foot-Ease, the original foot powder. Ask for Allen's Foot-Ease, and see that you get it.

What the Fox Really Said.
The fox that Aesop made looked up at the grapes.
"Grapes sour!" hooted the old owl
far up in the vines.
"They may be," yawned the fox, indifferently, "or they may be preserved sweet by some chemical process. You know the pure food laws are not as strict as they might be. Anyway, I don't care for them because I am afraid of appendicitis."
And sly Reynard darted away to enjoy the sport of a fox hunt.

Sundial Inside a Church.
This is to be seen in Holy Trinity church, Darford, England, fastened on the splay of a sill of the southeast window, and measures two feet
nine inches by one foot six inches.
Scarcely any light penetrates this stained glass window, but on sunny days the time is faithfully recorded from 2 p. m. to 7 p. m.

Innovation in Politics.
The recent municipal elections in Paris were remarkable not only for the candidature of M. Laloe, who was suddenly beaten, but for the first recorded candidature of a domestic servant. The liveried class is supposed to take on the political color of its surroundings and to be ultra-conservative as a rule, but this candidate stood as a republican socialist, and he is said to have been strongly supported by his kind.

000 tube bags to hold the year's coffee production. Each bag costs the ship-ness of making coffee bags thus amounted last year to nearly $4,000, 000.

The Detroit, Jackson & Chicago Railway Co. has complained to the state tax commission of the assessment of its power house property at Ypsilanti. The property is assessed at $200,000, which the company claims is twice its value.

One of our citizens has discovered a new way to ascertain who takes his provisions. He had been missing things regularly and finally doctored up some butter with croton oil. It had the desired effect and now he finds it much easier to provide for his family. The remedy was pretty harsh and it kept the party busy for a day or two.—Clinton Local.

Thursday evening Roy Brown, after driving a colt into the barn, struck it with an old broom and the colt kicked him, the whole force of the blow striking him squarely in the face, crushing his nose like an egg shell and cutting his face in a fearful manner. Both eyes were closed but his right eye was injured more than the other.—Bridgewater Correspondent Manchester Enterprise.

At the request of a dying father Joseph Matzen, 25 years old and serving a five years' prison sentence for larceny, was taken to Grand Rapids by Warden Armstrong Friday morning. The father is dying of dropsy, and prayed to see his boy before the end came. As Gov. Warner could not be communicated with, Warden Armstrong assumed personal responsibility for conducting the young man to Grand Rapids.

Prison officials, inmates and employees of contractors, splendidly contributed to the assistance of Mrs. Geo. Ferris, wife of the keeper who was murdered by an insane convict last week. The officials paid the funeral and hospital expenses by a subscription, $135 in all, and there was $355 left, which was given to the widow. The prisoners manifested their sentiments by taking a subscription, which amounted to the handsome sum of $305. The total contributed by officials and prisoners for the benefit of Mrs. Ferris was $765.—Jackson Patriot.

The Wm. Hayden Milling Co. at Tecumseh claims to own, with a single exception, the finest water power in the state. The location of the exception is not given. The Tecumseh water power furnishes an abundance of power to operate the milling plant every day in the year. The same could be improved and increased at some expense, to furnish ample power to turn all the industrial wheels of the busy burg. It is possible to secure a head of 25 feet of water and enlarging the artificial lake ten fold would do the trick that would give Tecumseh a water power advantage over all rivals. The river Raisin provides the water.—Adrian Press.

Once rescued from death in the swift current of Huron river at Ypsilanti his elder brother, Leslie, Ira Lawrence, 18 years old, was again caught, carried under and drowned, while Leslie was rescuing another brother, David. The three brothers were bathing near the dam of the Ypsilanti underwear plant about noon Sunday when Ira ventured out into the current and was carried off his feet. He called for help and Leslie hurried to his assistance and succeeded in getting Ira out of immediate danger. "I'm all right now I can float," Ira said to his brother. Just at this juncture, David, 21 years old, was caught in the current and called for help. Leaving Ira Leslie went to assist David. When the two had reached a point of safety they missed Ira. Three hours later they recovered the body of Ira a short distance down stream. John M. Lawrence, father of the young men, is a conductor on the Michigan Central railroad.

About July first George Burkhardt, who for the past eleven years has filled the office of postmaster at this place will retire that he may devote his full time with his brother Fred in the store. Alfred M. Humphrey, who will at that time become the new postmaster, is well known here and will require no introduction other than the best wishes of the community.—Saline Observer.

A handsome cocker spaniel dog is locked up at the police station for stealing a ride on a passenger train. The dog jumped on the train at Ann Arbor just as it was leaving for Jackson. A traveling man cared for the animal until the train reached Jackson, when he turned it over to Patrolman Behan, who took the dog to the police station and locked it up. The sheriff at Ann Arbor has been notified of the "arrest."—Jackson Patriot.

Rev. C. M. B. Schenkleberg, pastor of St. John's parish, Jackson, celebrated the 25th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood, by special services at the church. Fr. Monaghan, of Detroit, delivered the address, and Fr. Schenkleberg received purses contributed by his parishioners and citizens. He has been pastor of St. John's academy and rebuilt the church and parish house. He was stationed at Marine City before he came to Jackson.

Several people were slightly cut and bruised when a local trolley car, at Ann Arbor, jumped the track at State and South University streets Sunday and plunged into a tree. A defective switch is believed to have caused the accident. Among those injured were Joseph Gannett, Mrs. Healey and her two year-old daughter, Margaret. The child was the most seriously hurt, sustaining numerous cuts and bruises about the head. Physicians at the hospital stated that she would recover.

John Shankland, of Superior township, was in the city yesterday and was exhibiting a very interesting letter which he found in the old house in Dixboro, occupied by James Robinson, the old Englishman who was robbed and murdered about eleven years ago. The letter is dated June 26, 1860, and is from Robinson's mother, telling of the anxiety they have all felt because they had heard nothing from him and of the relief with which they heard he was alive and well. The letter is well preserved seeing that it is nearly half a century old.—Ann Arbor News.

Robert A. Campbell, for some years local attorney for the Michigan Central railroad company and former law partner of Circuit Judge James A. Parkinson, has left the city. The prosecuting attorney is investigating Campbell's administration of an estate. Attorney F. C. Bagley, representing Charles Smith, captain of the local branch of the Volunteers of America, one of the heirs, has received a letter from Campbell written at Detroit in which it was stated he would not return. Prosecuting Attorney Williams has drafted a complaint but has been withholding a warrant.—Detroit News.

A little more than an hour after the plaster cast had been removed from the hip of 11 years old Lora Leland, in the University hospital Tuesday the little girl was in the doctor's hands again, having met with an accident that will probably undo all the doctoring since last winter when the hip was broken. The little girl and her father, Yale Leland, were going home in a buggy when a team of horses, attached to a heavy wagon, dashed into the rig, overturning it. The horses had been frightened by two street cars passing close together and broke away from the curb. They had run two blocks when the crash occurred. They belonged to Phil O'Hara of Northfield.

The law-making body of Howell have decreed that no one shall shoot off fire crackers on the streets of their village except on July 4th, and the marshal is instructed to arrest all violators.

The Pullman company has notified its agent, former Senator A. J. Doherty, that the proposed raise in rates will not go into effect at once. Mr. Doherty says that their determination is "largely due to the opposition of the state railway commission," and that he is sure that there will be no change in rates before September 1, anyhow.

An eruption among the city officials of Coldwater, has resulted in the arrest of two aldermen and a supervisor on charges preferred against each other, of violating the state law regarding the acceptance of contracts for work with the city. The affair has caused a mild sensation in the town, and it is rumored that many more arrests will follow.

Three Great Sales of Pianos. A list that is the biggest that has ever been compiled, comprising fine pianos, has just been issued by Lyon & Healey. This list contains the names of the hundreds of fine, new pianos just bought by Lyon & Healey from the Thompson Music Co.; the Healy Music Co. and the big F. G. Thearle Piano Co., when those concerns retired from the retail business. Moreover, the particulars of each instrument are given, so that the buyer may judge for himself whether or not the piano is a bargain.

The figures quoted are phenomenally low. Lyon & Healey are making a determined effort to close out all these great stocks of instruments within the next 30 days, and the prices have been reduced with this object in view. Send for a copy of this list. If you do not wish to pay all cash for a piano, you can arrange for monthly payments. Address Lyon & Healey, 77 Adams street, Chicago.

Lyon & Healey exhibit the largest and most varied stock of pianos in the world—over 1,000 instruments.

Blue Ribbon Races. More than one hundred trotters and pacers are taking their daily work at the Detroit fair grounds where the annual opening of the grand circuit will be held, July 27 to 31. Everybody who comes is pleased with the work on the track, the new surface making it one of the best in the country, and assuring plenty of speed when the Blue Ribbon events are held.

Scott McLane, of Coldwater, one of the best trainers in the business has four head, including Octoo, 2:10 (trotting) and Auto, 2:07 (pacing). A few days ago Octoo stepped the stretch quarter in 30 seconds, or at a rate of a mile in 2:08, which shows the excellence of the new soil.

Applications for stable room have been received from all over the country and it is expected that by July 1 there will be 200 high class harness performers at the grounds.

Reports from Peoria, Columbus, Terre Haute, Memphis and other places where horses are being trained for the Detroit stake events, are to the effect that they are coming along finely and showing plenty of speed. The field in the M. & M. stake promises to be the largest in years, and in it will be half a dozen evenly matched trotters that have shown ability to beat 2:10. The absence of a speed marvel like Sonoma Girl lends to the attractiveness of the race, which this year should be one of the best contests on the American turf.

STRAIN TOO GREAT. Hundreds of Chelsea Readers Find Daily Toil a Burden.

The hustle and worry of business men, The hard work and stooping of workmen, The woman's household cares, Are too great a strain on the kidneys, Backache, headache, side-ache, Kidney troubles and urinary troubles follow.

William Eberbach, 512 East Main Street, Jackson, Mich., says: "I was troubled more or less for years by dull pains across my loins, and a lameness across my back. If I caught cold the trouble was greatly aggravated, keeping me awake nights. At times I was so bad that I was unable to attend to my work. The kidney secretions were highly colored and contained a heavy sediment when allowed to stand. They were also very irregular in action and annoyed me greatly. I finally obtained Doan's Kidney Pills, and as a result of their use was completely cured." (From a statement given in 1898)

CURED TO STAY CURED. On November 26th, 1906, Mr. Eberbach said: "I am glad to confirm what I said in 1898, telling how Doan's Kidney Pills had cured me of kidney trouble. I can say today that when Doan's Kidney Pills cured me, they cured me for good, as I have not had a sign of kidney trouble from that day to this. I know that they will do all that is claimed for them."
