

The Chelsea Standard

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1908.

VOLUME 38. NO. 7

H. S. HOLMES MERCANTILE CO.

EVERY DAY

There's a Clothes Parade;

Every day the campaign of quality against cheapness goes on;

And every man votes, sooner or later, on just how good his are to be.

Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes are the best clothes made for men to wear; all wool materials, perfectly tailored, put together with the best of other materials, linings, trimmings; they are right in style, and the don't cost as much as they are worth.

The best thing about voting for Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes is that you win.

Drop into our polling place any day; you'll get value for your money such as you can't get in any other way.

Suits, $12.00 to $25.00. Overcoats $10.00 to $30.00.

This store is the home of Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes.

H. S. HOLMES MERCANTILE CO.

Wanted---Red Wheat

The White Milling Co. is in the market at all times for Wheat, and will pay the highest market price.

See Us Before You Sell Your RED WHEAT.

We have on hand a good stock of bran and middlings, which we are selling at $1.25 per hundred.

Flour and Feed Grinding done on short notice. Give us a trial. We can please you.

WHITE MILLING CO.

HOLMES & WALKER

Furnaces and Stoves.

We are prepared to give you estimates on the cost of heating your home by Steam, Hot Water, or Hot Air. We have experienced men to do this work, and can save you money. We can install one of the Great Bell Hot Air Furnaces, all complete, for $75.00 and guarantee satisfaction.

We have a very complete line of Ranges, Cook Stoves, Base Burners, Coal and Wood Heaters, at Low Prices.

Furniture and Crockery.

Our Furniture Department was never more complete. We have some great bargains for you. In our Crockery and Bazaar Department we have everything that is new and up-to-date. We are here to please you.

We also have a large line of Horse Goods.

HOLMES & WALKER

WE TREAT YOU RIGHT.

NO RETREAT

THE SENTINEL STANDS FIRMLY IN DEFENSE OF HIS FLAG

—From the Baltimore American.

CHELSEA ELEVATOR CO.

F. E. Storms & Co. and A. B. Clark Have Consolidated.

The Chelsea Elevator Co. is the latest business change in Chelsea. F. E. Storms & Co. and A. B. Clark have consolidated their business interests, and have adopted the above name. The brick warehouse occupied by F. E. Storms & Co. is being equipped with bins and an elevator and gasoline engine will be installed, for the handling of grain. The two places of business will be conducted as heretofore. Mr. Clark remaining in charge of the up-town store, and Mr. Storms is having new coal sheds built adjoining the sidetrack in front of the mill.

Mrs. Martha J. Ward.

Miss Martha J. Beach was born in the state of New York, July 26, 1827, and died at her home in Lima, Sunday, September 20, 1908.

At the age of ten years she came to this country with her parents, and in April, 1861, she was united in marriage with the late Linval Ward. The deceased is survived by one brother, A. Beach, of Lima, and one sister, Mrs. Charles Whitaker, of Ann Arbor.

The funeral was held from the late home at 10:30 o'clock, Tuesday morning, Rev. E. E. Caster, D. D., officiating. Interment Lima Center cemetery.

Grange Meeting.

Lafayette Grange will meet at the home of Mrs. Simon Winslow, on Washington street, Friday, October 2d. Dinner will be served promptly at 12 o'clock and the grange will be called to order at 1:30 p. m. Mrs. Anna Fletcher, lecturer, has prepared the following program:

Open with roll call.

A helpful thought.

Does it pay to use stock food?

What do we work for?

The election of four delegates to attend the county convention which will be held in Ann Arbor, Tuesday, October 6th. Preparing program and other business of importance will come before the meeting. Ever member is requested to be present.

"I suffered habitually from constipation. Doan's Regulators relieved and strengthened the bowels, so that they have been regular ever since."—A. E. Davis, grocer, Sulphur Springs, Tex.

THE STOVE WORKS SOLD LAST FRIDAY

THE SALE TOOK PLACE AT ANN ARBOR.

BID IN BY THE CREDITORS

The Total Amount Of The Sale Was $100,001.00—Detroit Trust Company Made Good Showing While Operating The Plant.

The Glazier Stove plant was sold at public auction at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. There were 12 parcels included in the sale. Parcel 3, a warehouse occupied by F. E. Storms was appraised at $8,500 and was bid in by O. C. Burkhardt for $1,000. Parcel 4 was appraised at $150, and was bid in by H. S. Holmes for $175. This parcel consisted of the Kempf warehouse building.

The remaining parcels were bid in for $95,525, by Walter Ostoby, of Detroit, for Alexander McPherson, president of the Old Detroit National bank; John T. Shaw, vice-president and cashier of the First National bank; Detroit; Frank W. Tillotson, cashier of the Citizens' Saving bank, Detroit; and Henry C. Potter, jr., vice-president of the Peoples State bank, Detroit, trustees.

There was quite a crowd attracted by the sale, but no spirited bidding. The contract held by the Glazier Stove Co., that the village was to furnish it heat, light, power and water, for $800 a year, was sold back to the village for $1, by previous agreement. The total amount of sale was $100,001. The bid on the plant as a whole was $96,000, making a difference of $4,001 by selling in parcels.

The Detroit Trust Company, which operated the plant during the receivership, which was inaugurated last December, reports a profit of approximately $28,000 and the creditors have expressed pleasure at the showing.

The trustees represent about ninety-five per cent of the creditors, who it is believed will form a new corporation and operate the plant.

VOTE FOR CONSTITUTION

Congressman Townsend Advises Voters To Do So.

In his address before the Lenawee County Grange rally, Congressman C. E. Townsend said concerning two issues now before the people.

"I have no objection to primary reform, nor have I to the amendments to the constitution, which have been compiled with great care, and had I time I would like to discuss them. In passing, however, I will say that if you are wise you will vote to adopt the new constitution, for although there may be some things in it that you do not like, these were the results of compromises. I may be positive in my belief, and be strictly honest and upright and yet be mistaken, and another man may be radically wrong, yet as honest and firm as I. The delegates got together and exchanged ideas, and there were hobbyists there who tried to inject into the constitution their particular hobby. The result was that compromises had to be made, which, on the whole, I believe made the new constitution better than the existing one. The present one was framed when the state was new, and since then there have been changes in the state, which make a new one necessary.

"There was a general impression that it would not be adopted anyway; that it would be voted down by many other things were voted down; but as the time went on, the opponents began to realize that it was for the best, they think as I do that it is better than the old one, and that you could not do better than to vote for it.

"In reference to the primaries, I believe that I was one of a committee of three or five appointed by the state organization of Republican clubs to work out a primary election scheme. It was not popular with the politicians, but I advocated it, for in the people's government all the people should have the same power. Such a government would be nearer individual selection, for you can't all get together at the conventions. Your work has to be done through representatives, and I believe with Governor Folk, of Missouri, that if primary election by the people is wrong then popular government is wrong. There is no argument and if the people are not qualified to vote directly for their choice, they are not qualified to rule."

FREEMAN & CUMMINGS CO.

THE BUSY CORNER

An Economy Program For Every Week Day FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT

And Genuine Satisfaction this store is a good place to trade.

IN OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT.

We are selling the finest grades of Tea. The most delicious brands of Coffee. The Purest and Spiciest Ground Spices that the world markets affords.

Don't let Any Smooth Talking Peddler convince you that by paying a little higher price you can secure better Teas, Coffees, Spices and Extracts than ours, because there are no better; also, watch the "chap" who is willing to sell you a pound of Coffee, Tea, Baking Powder, or whatnot (at the same price you would have to pay at this store) and give you a cheap premium; he may be honest but you will pay for the premium.

When we charge 25c for a pound of Coffee we give 25c worth of Coffee, not 20c worth of coffee and 5c worth of premium.

However We Know That You Know all These Facts—and truly now, isn't it more satisfactory to go to any good reliable store and pay 25c for Coffee or 25c for Coffee and 5c for a premium than it is to pay the peddler 25c for both.

TRY SOME OF THESE

Fancy White Clover Honey, at pound 15c.
Creamy Cheese soft, mild and rich, pound 16c.
Fresh Crisp Golden Heart Celery, dozen 30c.
Fancy Breakfast Bacon, pound 17c.
Fancy Pig Pork lean and fat, pound 15c.

BAZAAR DEPARTMENT.

Don't Forget Our Complete Basement Bazaar. Don't Fail to Visit this Department for all items in house furnishings, etc.

Wall Paper and decorators' supplies at special prices for the next 30 days. If you are contemplating the redecorating of your home we will save you money and show you the proper styles when you visit our Basement Bazaar.

OUR DRUG DEPARTMENT.

Is very complete. Pure, standard strength Drugs and Medicines, finest Perfumes and Toilet Articles, Brushes of all kinds, Combs, Rubber Goods, Leather Goods, and all Druggist Sundries.

School Books and School Supplies—a larger assortment and lower prices than any where else.

FREEMAN & CUMMINGS CO.

Farmers & Merchants Bank

Entrust Your Business With Us and we will prove to you that we mean to treat you courteously, and extend to you all the privileges possible under conservative banking.

OFFICERS.

JOHN F. WALTROUS, Pres. CHRISTIAN GRAU, 2nd Vice Pres.
PETER MERKEL, 1st Vice Pres. PAUL G. SCHAIBLE, Cashier.

DIRECTORS.

JOHN F. WALTROUS. PETER MERKEL
CHRISTIAN GRAU. JOHN FARREL
JAMES GUTHRIE. LEWIS GEYER
CHRISTIAN KALMBACH. ORRIN C. BURKHART
JOHN KALMBACH.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Having purchased the Hardware, Furniture and Farm Implement business conducted by W. J. Knapp for the past 35 years, I shall continue the same at the old stand, and will be pleased to have all of the old patrons give me a liberal share of their trade. I will guarantee to please you all, both in prices and quality of goods.

F. H. BELSER

THE SECRETS OF MONTE CARLO

BEING REMINISCENCES OF EXCITING PERSONAL EXPERIENCES OF MONSIEUR ANTOINE MARTIN, GENERAL DIRECTOR OF THE SURVEILLANCE DEPARTMENT—CHRONICLED BY THE CHEVALIER WILLIAM LE QUEUX.

(Copyright, 1908, by W. G. Chapman.) [Copyright in Great Britain and the United States, by Wm. Le Queux.]

THEIR SERENE UGLINESSES

ANY are the strange phenomena in our garish, fevered world, wherein day by day there accumulate all the caprices, all the fantasies, all the eccentricities, all the superstitions, and all the ambitions; a turbulent world, where gold is king, where millions in hand, yellow napoleons dance before the dazzled eyes of the ruined, where millionaires toss away the maximum as though it were a five-franc piece, and princes, barons, grand dukes, titled ladies and ladies of grande marque elbow with the scum of Europe to thoughtfully place down their stakes or eagerly grab their winnings.

Among the professional habitués of the rooms—those men who for a few lous a day will place the money of any timid gambler ignorant of the game—was one who, although wild and reckless, was, nevertheless, a very good fellow. He had been an English officer, and was known to the croupiers as Capt. Drummond, although I have reason to believe that was not his name. We were excellent friends, and on many occasions, when weary, he would slip into my private room and gossip over a cigar.

One evening in late autumn he entered, laughing as usual, and, sinking into the chair opposite me, exclaimed with a laugh:

"I'm in for a real good thing now, Martin. Congratulate me."

"Oh," I exclaimed, interested. "Has somebody died and remembered you?"

"No, not that," he answered, grimly. "I only wish somebody would. I ran through my little bit too quickly, or I shouldn't be here. No. Two girls have engaged me to play for them. They've got half a million francs over at the Credit Lyonnais, and intend putting it on the tables!"

"A slice of luck for you—eh?" I laughed. "Who are they—pretty?"

"No, the reckless damsels are scarcely prepossessing," he answered slowly. "They saw me playing this morning, inquired of Grenat who I was, spoke to me, and the result is that we start to-morrow on a regular big-bust. The girls won't tell where they hail from. They're either English or American. They gave me their names as Treherne—Helen and Mabel."

"Well," I observed, after a pause. "It's fortunate for them that they've fallen into your hands, Drummond. Certainly, nobody else who takes commissions could be trusted with a level half million."

"Ah!" he laughed. "You're in a complimentary mood to-day, my dear fellow. One thing is certain, that the bank will get some of the money, and Bonnier will rub his hands contentedly."

"What do they intend playing?"

"Roulette, of course," the captain answered, biting at the end of his cigar. "They say there's not enough excitement in trente-et-quarante."

"They'll find both games pretty exciting in about a week, when they begin to lose," I remarked.

"I expect there'll be some fun before we've finished," he laughed as we shook hands. "Just now I'm the gay adviser of a couple of girls, with half a million at my disposal! Last night I had to walk down to La Condamine and get a two-franc dinner. Couldn't afford the table d'hôte at the Paris. By Jove! this is a funny world, isn't it?"

I admitted that it was, and, with a merry au revoir, he left me to go to his rooms to dress, for he had promised to dine that night with his fair employers over at the Metropole, and afterwards to instruct them in the intricacies of the game.

Next afternoon I saw them at the first roulette in the center. They had all three obtained chairs at the opening of the play, and were engrossed in the chances of the black and the red. Drummond's estimate that they were not very prepossessing was certainly correct. They were exceptionally ugly. Both were tall and thin, with willowy figures, narrow, bony faces of unhealthy pallor, their dark eyes burning with unnatural excitement as they watched their mentor place their lous in position on the various numbered squares. They were well dressed, in that severe tailor-made style which is peculiarly English, for only an Englishwoman can wear a tailor-made gown. All other nationalities look positively hideous in cloth dresses of masculine fashion. Their faces were alike and their hats were alike, but the shades of their dresses were different, the elder one, who I learned was Helen, being dressed in green, and Mabel in dark gray.

When Drummond, clicking the lous in his hand as he considered what combination of numbers he should play, a habit of his, had finished placing them, a cheval and en plein, the croupier's warning voice rose above the chatter, and a few seconds later there came the announcement:

"Onze! Noir, impair et manque!"

He had a lous en plein, one on the second six and one on the first dozen; therefore, after his losses had been raked in, he received, as his gain, 600 francs.

A look of extreme satisfaction overspread the features of the Misses Treherne, and the elder scribbled something in the little silver-bound book they had brought in which to record their winnings.

Drummond was exceedingly lucky that afternoon. Very soon the pile of gold and notes before him increased, until he deemed it wise to exchange a few hundred lous for notes. Indeed, in one hour the party had won 8,000 francs, Mabel placing the eight notes cing them a cheval and en plein, the croupier's warning voice rose above the chatter, and a few seconds later there came the announcement:

"Onze! Noir, impair et manque!"

He had a lous en plein, one on the second six and one on the first dozen; therefore, after his losses had been raked in, he received, as his gain, 600 francs.

A look of extreme satisfaction overspread the features of the Misses Treherne, and the elder scribbled something in the little silver-bound book they had brought in which to record their winnings.

Drummond was exceedingly lucky that afternoon. Very soon the pile of gold and notes before him increased, until he deemed it wise to exchange a few hundred lous for notes. Indeed, in one hour the party had won 8,000 francs, Mabel placing the eight notes

One evening in late autumn he entered, laughing as usual, and, sinking into the chair opposite me, exclaimed with a laugh:

"I'm in for a real good thing now, Martin. Congratulate me."

"Oh," I exclaimed, interested. "Has somebody died and remembered you?"

"No, not that," he answered, grimly. "I only wish somebody would. I ran through my little bit too quickly, or I shouldn't be here. No. Two girls have engaged me to play for them. They've got half a million francs over at the Credit Lyonnais, and intend putting it on the tables!"

"A slice of luck for you—eh?" I laughed. "Who are they—pretty?"

"No, the reckless damsels are scarcely prepossessing," he answered slowly. "They saw me playing this morning, inquired of Grenat who I was, spoke to me, and the result is that we start to-morrow on a regular big-bust. The girls won't tell where they hail from. They're either English or American. They gave me their names as Treherne—Helen and Mabel."

"Well," I observed, after a pause. "It's fortunate for them that they've fallen into your hands, Drummond. Certainly, nobody else who takes commissions could be trusted with a level half million."

"Ah!" he laughed. "You're in a complimentary mood to-day, my dear fellow. One thing is certain, that the bank will get some of the money, and Bonnier will rub his hands contentedly."

"What do they intend playing?"

"Roulette, of course," the captain answered, biting at the end of his cigar. "They say there's not enough excitement in trente-et-quarante."

"They'll find both games pretty exciting in about a week, when they begin to lose," I remarked.

"I expect there'll be some fun before we've finished," he laughed as we shook hands. "Just now I'm the gay adviser of a couple of girls, with half a million at my disposal! Last night I had to walk down to La Condamine and get a two-franc dinner. Couldn't afford the table d'hôte at the Paris. By Jove! this is a funny world, isn't it?"

I admitted that it was, and, with a merry au revoir, he left me to go to his rooms to dress, for he had promised to dine that night with his fair employers over at the Metropole, and afterwards to instruct them in the intricacies of the game.

Next afternoon I saw them at the first roulette in the center. They had all three obtained chairs at the opening of the play, and were engrossed in the chances of the black and the red. Drummond's estimate that they were not very prepossessing was certainly correct. They were exceptionally ugly. Both were tall and thin, with willowy figures, narrow, bony faces of unhealthy pallor, their dark eyes burning with unnatural excitement as they watched their mentor place their lous in position on the various numbered squares. They were well dressed, in that severe tailor-made style which is peculiarly English, for only an Englishwoman can wear a tailor-made gown. All other nationalities look positively hideous in cloth dresses of masculine fashion. Their faces were alike and their hats were alike, but the shades of their dresses were different, the elder one, who I learned was Helen, being dressed in green, and Mabel in dark gray.

When Drummond, clicking the lous in his hand as he considered what combination of numbers he should play, a habit of his, had finished placing them, a cheval and en plein, the croupier's warning voice rose above the chatter, and a few seconds later there came the announcement:

"Onze! Noir, impair et manque!"

He had a lous en plein, one on the second six and one on the first dozen; therefore, after his losses had been raked in, he received, as his gain, 600 francs.

A look of extreme satisfaction overspread the features of the Misses Treherne, and the elder scribbled something in the little silver-bound book they had brought in which to record their winnings.

Drummond was exceedingly lucky that afternoon. Very soon the pile of gold and notes before him increased, until he deemed it wise to exchange a few hundred lous for notes. Indeed, in one hour the party had won 8,000 francs, Mabel placing the eight notes

One evening in late autumn he entered, laughing as usual, and, sinking into the chair opposite me, exclaimed with a laugh:

"I'm in for a real good thing now, Martin. Congratulate me."

"Oh," I exclaimed, interested. "Has somebody died and remembered you?"

"No, not that," he answered, grimly. "I only wish somebody would. I ran through my little bit too quickly, or I shouldn't be here. No. Two girls have engaged me to play for them. They've got half a million francs over at the Credit Lyonnais, and intend putting it on the tables!"

"A slice of luck for you—eh?" I laughed. "Who are they—pretty?"

"No, the reckless damsels are scarcely prepossessing," he answered slowly. "They saw me playing this morning, inquired of Grenat who I was, spoke to me, and the result is that we start to-morrow on a regular big-bust. The girls won't tell where they hail from. They're either English or American. They gave me their names as Treherne—Helen and Mabel."

"Well," I observed, after a pause. "It's fortunate for them that they've fallen into your hands, Drummond. Certainly, nobody else who takes commissions could be trusted with a level half million."

"Ah!" he laughed. "You're in a complimentary mood to-day, my dear fellow. One thing is certain, that the bank will get some of the money, and Bonnier will rub his hands contentedly."

"What do they intend playing?"

"Roulette, of course," the captain answered, biting at the end of his cigar. "They say there's not enough excitement in trente-et-quarante."

"They'll find both games pretty exciting in about a week, when they begin to lose," I remarked.

"I expect there'll be some fun before we've finished," he laughed as we shook hands. "Just now I'm the gay adviser of a couple of girls, with half a million at my disposal! Last night I had to walk down to La Condamine and get a two-franc dinner. Couldn't afford the table d'hôte at the Paris. By Jove! this is a funny world, isn't it?"

I admitted that it was, and, with a merry au revoir, he left me to go to his rooms to dress, for he had promised to dine that night with his fair employers over at the Metropole, and afterwards to instruct them in the intricacies of the game.

Next afternoon I saw them at the first roulette in the center. They had all three obtained chairs at the opening of the play, and were engrossed in the chances of the black and the red. Drummond's estimate that they were not very prepossessing was certainly correct. They were exceptionally ugly. Both were tall and thin, with willowy figures, narrow, bony faces of unhealthy pallor, their dark eyes burning with unnatural excitement as they watched their mentor place their lous in position on the various numbered squares. They were well dressed, in that severe tailor-made style which is peculiarly English, for only an Englishwoman can wear a tailor-made gown. All other nationalities look positively hideous in cloth dresses of masculine fashion. Their faces were alike and their hats were alike, but the shades of their dresses were different, the elder one, who I learned was Helen, being dressed in green, and Mabel in dark gray.

Mabel, who transferred them to her wallet, which now contained 13,000 francs clear winnings, and this in a little over an hour.

I left, and nearly an hour elapsed ere I returned to the gaming rooms. They had filled, as they always do late in the afternoon, when the trains come in from Nice, and people were standing four deep around. Drummond's good fortune, however, seemed to have taken a turn. He had lost about half the day's capital, and ill luck seemed to persistently follow him.

The look of satisfaction upon the faces of the Misses Treherne had almost disappeared.

"It's really no use to play longer," I heard him remark to his two companions. "We must be content to-day. Shall we go?"

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

On the morrow, however, they played again at the same table.

Both expressed willingness to act as he suggested, and all three rose and walked off, the two girls giving vent to the observations which had perforce remained pent up during play.

of the Cafe de Paris with a friend, a police commissary from Clermont-Ferrand, and soon after the commencement of the meal the Misses Treherne entered and took the table next to ours. Drummond was not with them. He preferred eating with some of his friends down at the Europe to the companionship of this strangely plain pair who had come to fling away their money so recklessly. Both were in decollete, Helen in pale blue and Mabel in rose, both scraggy and bony-necked, while the jewels they wore were noteworthy, even for Monte Carlo. "Manon" was to be performed that evening, and I judged by the fact they carried fans that they were going there.

In an undertone I explained to my friend Esteve who they were and their object in coming to Monte Carlo, whereat he laughed and, turning, glanced at them.

"Mon dieu!" he gasped. "What faces! No wonder they want to conceal their identity. But your friend Drummond and the bank will profit—so what does it matter?"

While eating I kept my ears open to catch their conversation.

"I do hate our table d'hôte," I heard Mabel exclaim in a low tone. "We never know but what we may meet somebody we know there, and it's so much quieter here."

"Whatever has come to you?" the elder sister asked. "Of late you're as nervous as a kitten."

"Well, I can't help it," the other replied—then, lowering her voice to a whisper, added: "I think sometimes that this man Drummond has his suspicions. Haven't you noticed the strange way he seems to regard us when we're not looking?"

"Pooh! It's merely your foolish fancy," Helen answered. "How can he know? how can anybody know?" Her sister was silent for a few moments.

"We've lost to-day. I reckoned up separate account. Something like 90,000 francs, I think."

"How do you get on with them?" I asked, being aware from observation that he had grown a bit careless of late. Jack Drummond was tired of these perpetual losses.

"The fact is, old fellow," he answered, "their faces have brought me internally bad fortune, and I'm utterly sick of the whole affair. To-morrow they are going to draw out the remainder of the half a million, and we're going for the tables with the maximum—win or lose."

"You're desperate," I laughed, adding: "Save enough for the viatique."

"Now, that's cruel," he said, with a grim smile. "Well, I'll try and arrange so that they won't have to give a note of hand to Bonnier to enable them to return to London. Good-night," and, rising, he went jauntily out. Care and losses alike sat lightly on the shoulders of that born sportsman.

Next day I saw all three sitting at the center of the first left-hand table—the one where so many huge coups have been made from time to time during the past five or six years. It is a table particularly in favor with the professional gambler, for the wheel seems to run with greater regularity there than at the others, and it is therefore known to the habitués as "the lucky corner." At this table one afternoon zero turned up six times in succession, followed by the number six, which also came six times in succession, the most curious run which has ever been known during the years the rooms have been open. On that afternoon a fortunate gambler won 72,000 francs on those 12 turns of the cylinder.

Play had already opened an hour before I entered. Drummond was sitting between the pair, and, as I stood watching, I saw that Mabel had been already bulging with notes they had won. Before Drummond was a formidable pile of notes of equal value—each for 1,000 francs, and at every invitation to play he staked six notes, constituting the maximum, upon the red or the black, the "pair" on the "impair."

Time after time he won the respectable sum of 6,000 francs, his original stake always remaining on the table, although he changed its position from time to time. After nearly half an hour he bent and consulted Helen's card, whereon she was keeping a register of the game, then placed 150 francs en plein on the number 34, and a similar amount on 17.

"Rein ne va plus!" cried the croupier sharply, a moment later adding: "Dix-sept! Noir, impair et manque!"

Drummond smiled. The girls bent and whispered to each other, and the croupier handed to Mabel a bundle of 500-franc notes, which she tried to push into her already filled wallet but could not.

"Will you remain playing?" I heard Helen say to the captain. "We are going over to the Credit Lyonnais to bank this before they close. We shan't be more than ten minutes."

"How much have we won to-day?" he inquired.

"One hundred and eighty-nine thousand francs," she answered, glancing at her book, as her sister and herself rose and left the table.

Their seats were quickly occupied by two men, and Drummond, who still had before him a pile of notes for about 70,000 francs, continued playing with the maximum upon the red or black, losing once or twice, but very often winning. He certainly had unusual luck, for when one is desperate, as the two sisters were, one is seldom able to make a coup.

About an hour had elapsed. I was busy in my room writing a report when an attendant entered breathlessly with a scared face summoning me to the office of M. Bonnier, the director general, where, to my surprise, I found Drummond standing before him, pale and agitated, together with the chef de partie and two of the croupiers. Upon the director's table lay a pile of 1,000-franc notes.

It appeared that ten minutes before the croupier, in handling one of the notes which Drummond had lost, was attracted by the strange harshness of the paper, and examined it, only to find it spurious, but so well done as almost to defy detection. Play was instantly stopped, and, by the orders of the chef de partie, the captain was conducted to M. Bonnier. In reply to his interrogation, he explained that the notes were those given him that morning by the elder Miss Treherne, and it was possible that she had been imposed upon. Such, however, was certainly not the case, for messages sent to the Metropole and to the Credit Lyonnais brought back disappointing information. At the hotel nothing had been seen of them since ten o'clock that morning, and at the bank it was stated that they had never had half a million deposited there. Within the past week they had deposited 160,000 francs, their winnings, but had drawn this out early that morning.

I succeeded in tracing the pair to the Italian frontier at Ventimille, but after that nothing appears to have been seen of them.

From the number of forged 1,000-franc notes found in the bank at the various tables at the end of that day, it was apparent that nearly all the notes which Drummond had been placing for the past week had been spurious, and this accounted for the pair preferring to keep their winnings separate. As far as we could calculate, the Casino lost by the artful ingenuity of these sisters something like 300,000 francs, in addition to their gains of 349,000 francs which they carried away in their pockets.

As for Jack Drummond, he is still among the most habitual of players, and is still my friend.

before we came out," she said at last. "We lost to-day 11,000 francs in three-quarters of an hour."

"Well? We can surely afford that. Remember what we won on the first day. We must expect some losses."

"What about our half a million?" Mabel asked.

They both laughed as if enjoying the huge joke of losing such a respectable amount.

The Misses Treherne finished their meal hurriedly, as it was growing late, and went forth to the theater, while we sat idling over our cigars and liqueurs, chatting as men of the same profession are apt to chat. Some half hour later, however, Drummond, smart in his dining jacket and well-tied black bow, strolled in, and, recognizing me, crossed and sat down at our table.

"Well?" I inquired; "and how's the play going?" for the talk at Monte Carlo is ever of the play.

"Going?" he exclaimed, as he helped himself to a Benedicte. "Why, as dead against us as it can. Those girls are bigger fools than I took them to be. They'll fling all they've got away, and then blame me, I expect."

"Lost much?" I inquired.

"Nearly a hundred thousand," he answered, without removing his cigar. "What we've won they've banked in a separate account. Something like 90,000 francs, I think."

"How do you get on with them?" I asked, being aware from observation that he had grown a bit careless of late. Jack Drummond was tired of these perpetual losses.

"The fact is, old fellow," he answered, "their faces have brought me internally bad fortune, and I'm utterly sick of the whole affair. To-morrow they are going to draw out the remainder of the half a million, and we're going for the tables with the maximum—win or lose."

"You're desperate," I laughed, adding: "Save enough for the viatique."

"Now, that's cruel," he said, with a grim smile. "Well, I'll try and arrange so that they won't have to give a note of hand to Bonnier to enable them to return to London. Good-night," and, rising, he went jauntily out. Care and losses alike sat lightly on the shoulders of that born sportsman.

Next day I saw all three sitting at the center of the first left-hand table—the one where so many huge coups have been made from time to time during the past five or six years. It is a table particularly in favor with the professional gambler, for the wheel seems to run with greater regularity there than at the others, and it is therefore known to the habitués as "the lucky corner." At this table one afternoon zero turned up six times in succession, followed by the number six, which also came six times in succession, the most curious run which has ever been known during the years the rooms have been open. On that afternoon a fortunate gambler won 72,000 francs on those 12 turns of the cylinder.

Play had already opened an hour before I entered. Drummond was sitting between the pair, and, as I stood watching, I saw that Mabel had been already bulging with notes they had won. Before Drummond was a formidable pile of notes of equal value—each for 1,000 francs, and at every invitation to play he staked six notes, constituting the maximum, upon the red or the black, the "pair" on the "impair."

Time after time he won the respectable sum of 6,000 francs, his original stake always remaining on the table, although he changed its position from time to time. After nearly half an hour he bent and consulted Helen's card, whereon she was keeping a register of the game, then placed 150 francs en plein on the number 34, and a similar amount on 17.

"Rein ne va plus!" cried the croupier sharply, a moment later adding: "Dix-sept! Noir, impair et manque!"

Drummond smiled. The girls bent and whispered to each other, and the croupier handed to Mabel a bundle of 500-franc notes, which she tried to push into her already filled wallet but could not.

"Will you remain playing?" I heard Helen say to the captain. "We are going over to the Credit Lyonnais to bank this before they close. We shan't be more than ten minutes."

"How much have we won to-day?" he inquired.

"One hundred and eighty-nine thousand francs," she answered, glancing at her book, as her sister and herself rose and left the table.

Their seats were quickly occupied by two men, and Drummond, who still had before him a pile of notes for about 70,000 francs, continued playing with the maximum upon the red or black, losing once or twice, but very often winning. He certainly had unusual luck, for when one is desperate, as the two sisters were, one is seldom able to make a coup.

About an hour had elapsed. I was busy in my room writing a report when an attendant entered breathlessly with a scared face summoning me to the office of M. Bonnier, the director general, where, to my surprise, I found Drummond standing before him, pale and agitated, together with the chef de partie and two of the croupiers. Upon the director's table lay a pile of 1,000-franc notes.

It appeared that ten minutes before the croupier, in handling one of the notes which Drummond had lost, was attracted by the strange harshness of the paper, and examined it, only to find it spurious, but so well done as almost to defy detection. Play was instantly stopped, and, by the orders of the chef de partie, the captain was conducted to M. Bonnier. In reply to his interrogation, he explained that the notes were those given him that morning by the elder Miss Treherne, and it was possible that she had been imposed upon. Such, however, was certainly not the case, for messages sent to the Metropole and to the Credit Lyonnais brought back disappointing information. At the hotel nothing had been seen of them since ten o'clock that morning, and at the bank it was stated that they had never had half a million deposited there

The Chelsea Standard.

An independent local newspaper published every Thursday afternoon from its office in the Standard building, Chelsea, Michigan.

BY O. T. HOOVER.

Terms:—$1.00 per year; six months, fifty cents; three months, twenty-five cents.

Advertising rates reasonable and made known on application.

Entered as second-class matter, March 5, 1908, at the postoffice at Chelsea, Michigan, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

NATIONAL

President—
WILLIAM H. TAFT, Ohio.
Vice President—
JAMES S. SHERMAN, New York.

STATE

Governor—
FRED M. WARNER, Farmington.
Lieutenant Governor—
PATRICK H. KELLEY, Detroit.

CONGRESSIONAL

Member Congress—2nd District—
CHARLES E. TOWNSEND, Jackson.

SENATORIAL

State Senator—12th District—
FRANK T. NEWTON, Ypsilanti.

LEGISLATIVE

Representative—1st District—
H. WIRT NEWKIRK, Ann Arbor.

COUNTY.

Judge of Probate—
EMORY E. JELAND, Northfield.
Sheriff—
LESTER CANFIELD, Ypsilanti.
County Clerk—
CHARLES L. MILLER, ANN ARBOR.
Register of Deeds—
HUGH E. VANDEWALKER, Ypsilanti.
Prosecuting Attorney—
CARL STORM, Ann Arbor.
County Treasurer—
HERBERT W. CRIPPEN, Superior.
Circuit Court Commissioners—
WILLIAM S. PUTNAM, Ypsilanti
EDWARD B. BENSCOE, Ann Arbor.
Coroners—
SAMUEL BURCHFIELD, Ann Arbor.
WILLIS G. JOHNSON, Ann Arbor.

GERMAN chemists are at work on the problem of distilling alcohol from peat, and it is said that they are meeting with a good degree of success. Possibly the National Peat Fuel Co. can transform their factory here into a distillery, and thus utilize the vast deposit, as well as the buildings. At least there are possibilities in the stock selling line, that the promoters of the company should not overlook.

Henderson for Congress.

At the Democratic congressional convention at Jackson, Saturday, Mayor Henderson, of Ann Arbor, was placed in nomination to take the run against Hon. Charles E. Townsend. It is thought by those who are next to political matters, that His Honor will find out some things about politics by the time the campaign is over, that he did not learn when running for mayor.

Ira G. Humphrey, a delegate from Monroe county, the only Democratic county in the second district, stirred up matters considerably when he announced to the convention that the sentiment of the Democrats of Monroe county was in favor of the re-election of Congressman Townsend. He also stated that they favored leaving the place on the ticket for Congressman vacant.

Cannot Print Prize Lists.

Under the present postal laws it is no longer permissible for a newspaper to print lists of prize winners at any euchre party, fair or game of chance, or even to announce such affairs in advance.

Following is a portion of Section 499 of the postal laws and regulations on unavailable matter:

"Nor shall any newspaper, magazine, pamphlet or publication of any kind containing an advertisement of any lottery, or gift enterprise of any kind, offering prizes dependent upon chance, or containing any list of prizes awarded at the drawings of any such lottery or gift enterprise, whether said list is of any part or of all of the drawings, be carried in the mail or delivered by any postmaster or letter carrier."

Disbarment from the mails is not the only punishment prescribed under the above section, as any person who deposits in a mail box, or offers for delivery, any such matter as described above is guilty of a misdemeanor, which is punishable by a fine of $500 or one year's imprisonment, or both.

PERSONAL MENTION.

C. H. Kempf visited Ann Arbor Monday.

J. S. Cummings spent Sunday at Ann Arbor.

Geo. A. BeGole visited Ann Arbor Sunday.

Geo. W. Beckwith spent Saturday in Ann Arbor.

Walter Kantlehner was in Detroit Wednesday.

Henry Schumacher was a Lansing visitor Sunday.

Miss Minnie Bagge visited Jackson friends Sunday.

James S. Gorman was in Lansing Monday on business.

Dr. A. L. Steger was in Ann Arbor Monday evening.

H. W. Wagner was an Ann Arbor visitor Saturday.

Miss Ida Klein spent Sunday with her sister in Jackson.

Mrs. Estella Chase is spending a few days in Ann Arbor.

W. W. Gifford, of Detroit, was a Chelsea visitor Tuesday.

John Harris was the guest of friends in Ann Arbor Sunday.

Mr and Mrs. John Jensen were Ann Arbor visitors Sunday.

Miss C. Feldkamp spent Sunday with M. Kusterer and family.

Richard Wheeler, of Albion spent Sunday with relatives here.

Austin Keenan, of Detroit, spent Sunday with Chelsea friends.

Perry Depew is spending a few days with friends in Charlotte.

Mrs. L. H. Hagan, of Detroit, is visiting relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Walworth are visiting relatives at Eaton Rapids.

Rev. T. D. Denman, of Hudson, spent Tuesday with Chelsea friends.

Miss Tena Hieber, of Detroit, spent Sunday with her parents here.

Mrs. J. R. Stevenson, of Washington, is the guest of Mrs. J. B. Cole.

George Eisele, of Pontiac, spent Sunday with his parents at this place.

Mrs. F. H. Sweetland and L. P. Vogel were Jackson visitors Monday.

Gerald DeMond, of Battle Creek, was the guest of Miss Helen Wade Sunday.

Miss Jane McLaughlin, of Munnich, spent the past week with relatives here.

Charles Merker and W. H. Heselschwerdt were Ann Arbor visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allison, of Howell, are guests at the home of James Taylor and wife.

Louis Schwikerath, of Phoenix, Ariz., is spending some time with relatives here.

Mrs. W. A. BeGole, of Ann Arbor, visited her parents here the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dudley, of Battle Creek, are guests at the home of W. J. Knapp.

Miss Margaret Champlain, of Walker, Ontario, was a Chelsea visitor Sunday.

R. C. Glenn returned home the first of week after spending some time in Pontiac.

Miss Rebecca Bollinger, of Jackson, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Keusch.

Mrs. Wm. Exinger, of Ann Arbor, spent last week with her daughter, Mrs. Jas. VanOrden.

Mrs. Margaret J. S. Cummings and J. D. Watson and son are visiting in Dugard and Owosso.

Mrs. Wm. Wheeler, Jr., is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Foster, of Ann Arbor.

Mrs. G. E. Davis, of Bronson, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cole, this week.

Miss Bernadetta Rafferty, of Toledo, Ohio, was the guest of Miss Helen Wade last week.

Misses Grace DeBoyce and Rose Harris, of Ann Arbor, were Chelsea visitors Saturday.

Miss Lenore Curtis, who has been spending the summer in the west, has returned to Chelsea.

Miss Ella Slimmer, who has been spending the past two months in Caro, returned home Saturday.

Misses Bernadetta Rafferty, of Toledo, Ohio, and Helen Wade spent last Thursday with Jackson friends.

Miss Florence Caster and niece, of Plymouth, were the guests of Miss Minnie Schumacher Friday.

Howard Armstrong, of Waukesha, Wis., is spending a few days of this week with his parents here.

Mrs. C. E. Brooks, of Marshall, and Miss Mary Craig, of Denver, Col., are the guests of Mrs. S. P. Foster.

Miss Edna Russell, of Seneca Falls, New York, spent the first of the week with her aunt, Mrs. Mary Winans.

Fred Moss and family and Adolph Eisen and family, of Detroit, were guests at the homes of Herman Fletcher of Lima and George Wackenhut of this place Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Colton have returned from Breevort's Lake, where they have been spending several weeks.

John Schaufele, sr., returned from Lansing and Ann Arbor Wednesday, where he spent several days with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Jensen left this morning for Springfield, Mass., where they will spend a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Margaret Connor and Mrs. Emma Chapoten, of Detroit, spent the first of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gieske.

Mrs. Margaret Hindelang and children, who have been spending some time with relatives in this vicinity, returned to their home in Ypsilanti Monday.

Ninth Michigan Reunion.

The fortieth annual reunion of the famous Ninth Michigan Infantry will be held at Fowlerville, October 1 and 2, headquarters being at Hotel Lockwood. The banquet will be held in the evening at 6 o'clock in the post rooms, followed by a camp fire in the opera house at 8. Friday morning will be the business meeting. Prof. H. C. Rankin, of Ypsilanti is secretary and wants to hear from all the comrades who cannot attend the reunion and also wishes all addresses of their comrades that they know.

Waiting For Rain.

Chelsea's last rain occurred August 19th, since which time to use the language of the weather bureau, there has been no precipitation. Thirty-six days without rain is a record which has never been broken, and we hope it never will. Everything is covered with a thick coating of dust, and the roads have never been in so bad a condition. The physicians state that the air such as the people are breathing now, is likely to start inflammation of the mucous membrane and make it easy to contract such diseases as tuberculosis, diphtheria or tonsillitis. Since writing the above, about two gallons of rain fell Wednesday night.

Arrested Two Italians.

Deputy Sheriff Leach arrested two Italians, Philip Samorari and Lester Carmachi, Thursday evening, for indecent exposure of person. They were taken to Ann Arbor Friday morning and placed in the county jail, and were brought back here Tuesday morning for their hearing before Justice Wood, who bound them over to the October term of the circuit court. He placed their bonds at $500, and they were taken to Ann Arbor, while Ferdinand Palma, of Detroit, who represented them, made preparations for someone to go on their bonds. The men carried some wicked looking knives and a 44 caliber revolver when arrested. The men were able to furnish the bonds are now at liberty.

Committee Is Named.

At a banquet tendered the members, Tuesday, at the Griswold house, in Detroit, Congressman Townsend named his district committee as follows:

Jackson county, Charles Lewis, W. M. Palmer, of Jackson, and L. W. Watkins, of Norvell. Washtenaw county, Frank Newton, Ypsilanti; George Burkhardt, Saline; George VanDeWalker, Ann Arbor. Lenawee county, Thomas Dailey, W. D. Samsen, Adrian; L. D. Schull, Tecumseh. Monroe county, Charles Kirby Lou Knapp, Monroe; Charles Edwards, Carlton. Wayne county, F. S. Neal, Northville; George Hunter, Plymouth; James Taylor, Romulus.

The committee organized with Frank Neal, of Northville, chairman; W. M. Palmer, of Jackson, secretary; Frank Newton, of Ypsilanti, treasurer.

Installed Officers.

At a special meeting of Olive Chapter, O. E. S., Wednesday evening the following officers were installed:

W. M.—Abbie Lighthall.
W. P.—J. B. Cole.
A. M.—Ida Palmer.
Secretary—Anna Hoag.
Treasurer—Florence Ward.
Con.—Ella Dancer.
Asso. Con.—Eva Cummings.
Adah—Ida Avery.
Ruth—Mina Steger.
Esther—Ada Waltrous.
Martha—Anna Walworth.
Electa—Nellie Schoenhals.
Warden—Mary Hoover.
Sentinel—Geo. Runciman.
Chaplain—Mary L. Boyd.
Marshal—Jennie Freeman.
Organist—Edna Runciman.

School Notes.

The Kindergarten was closed two afternoons this week on account of the extreme heat.

The high school students are working remarkably well considering the intense heat of the past two weeks.

The prospects are very bright for a good football team this season. The boys are training regularly after school.

The Annual State Teachers' Association will meet at Saginaw the last of October. The Chelsea teachers are expected to attend this convention.

School closes at 3:15 p. m. (standard) this year instead of 3:00 p. m. as in former years. This extra time is necessary on account of so much work to be done.

Church Circles.

BAPTIST

There will be no services whatever next Sunday.

On Sunday, October 4th, G. A. Chittenden, the new pastor, will be present and conduct the services.

ST. PAUL'S.

Rev. A. A. Schoen, Pastor

Next Sunday the Sunday school will have a rally day in connection with the regular morning service. Reports will be read by the different officers. The parents and children are requested to be present.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

The Christian Science Society will meet in the G. A. R. hall at the usual hour next Sunday, September 27, 1908. Subject: Realty. Golden text: "For the Lord is good; his mercy is everlasting; and his truth endureth to all generations."

CONGREGATIONAL.

Rev. M. L. Grant, Pastor

"The Call of Prayer" will be the morning subject next Sunday.

"Messages From Recent Books" is the subject of a series of sermons beginning next Sunday evening "The Doctor" by Ralph Connor will be the first book discussed.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.

Rev. D. H. Glass, Pastor.

All members of the church, and especially official members, are invited to attend a business meeting at the church Thursday evening at seven o'clock. Very important matters will be considered which will affect everyone who attends the church or Sunday school.

"Is God Dead," will be discussed next Sunday morning. The Sunday school session is held immediately after the morning service.

Epworth League devotional meeting at six o'clock in the evening. "The Place of the Bible in Education," is the subject of the evening sermon. Young people and especially students are invited to hear this discussion.

Shorthand and Typewriting.

A complete course in shorthand and typewriting to commence October 5th. Class 8 to 9 p. m. Tuition reasonable. For further particulars apply to Supt. E. E. Gallup or Miss Nellie Lowry.

Cheapest accident insurance—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Stops the pain and heals the wound. All druggists sell it.

Notice to Hunters.

No hunting, trapping or trespassing for the purpose of hunting or trapping will be allowed on our farms.

GEO. T. ENGLISH.
ALMA PIERCE.
MARY PIERCE.

Soothes itching skin. Heals cuts or burns without a scar. Cures piles, eczema, salt rheum, any itching. Doan's Ointment. Your druggist sells it.

China Painting
AND Water Colors.

Special Orders for China or Water Colors promptly filled. Instructions given Tuesdays and Saturdays, beginning Sept. 26, '08.

MRS. L. T. FREEMAN.

6 Per Cent.
REALTY BONDS

Maturing 1913 to 1923. Interest Paid Semi-Annually. Denominations $500.00 $1,000.00

SECURITY
GILT EDGE

MARION TRUST CO., Trustee, Indianapolis, Ind.
Write W. J. Staphish, Anderson, Ind.
For Booklet which describes issue in full.

For Many Years

A large number of prudent people have found their banking relations with us both agreeable and profitable.

People not engaged in regular business, including ladies, will find an account at this Bank a convenience and protection.

Your account is earnestly solicited.

The Kempf Commercial & Savings Bank

H. S. HOLMES, Pres.
C. H. KEMP, Vice Pres.
GEO. A. BEGOLLE, Cashier.
JOHN L. FLETCHER, Asst. Cashier.

"WOOLTEX"

Coats, Suits and Skirts

- - FOR - -

Well Dressed Women

Whatever Style--Whatever Color is most becoming to you--you will find among this season's "Wooltex" Suits.

And you are certain that there is no thread but wool, and not only in Suits, but in Coats and in separate Skirts.

The prices are modest--surprisingly so, and with every "Wooltex" garment our guarantee of two full seasons' service.

ASK TO SEE

Women's WOOLTEX Garments

H. S. HOLMES MERCANTILE COMPANY

Miss Helene Steinbach

TEACHER OF Piano and Organ.

Music Studio:

Second Floor Steinbach Block, Chelsea

WANT COLUMN

RENTS, REAL ESTATE, FOUND
LOST WANTED ETC.

ADVERTISE FOUND ARTICLES.—The Michigan Law in effect says: "A person who finds lost property under circumstances which give him knowledge or means of inquiring as to the true owner, and who appropriates such property to his own use or to the use of another person who is not entitled thereto, without having first made every reasonable effort to find the owner and restore the property to him, is guilty of larceny."—Section 5739—40 of the Compiled Laws of Michigan. The most effective way of restoring found property to the owner is through the want columns of The Standard. Such advertisements in most every case produce the result desired at small cost. The next time you have occasion—try The Standard.

FOR SALE—Six year old driving mare. Kind and safe for family use. Inquire of Dr. S. G. Bush, Chelsea.

CIDER—The Jerusalem cider mill will run every Tuesday and Friday until further notice. Chas. Meinhold. Phone 144 2s.

SPECIAL PRICES on lightning rods during the next 60 days. C. W. Ellsworth, Stockbridge, Mich. Rural phone.

FOR SALE—25 Black Top Yearling Lambs. Registered. Inquire of C. E. Whitaker, Chelsea.

GIRL WANTED—For kitchen help. Inquire at Chelsea House.

FOR SALE—Shropshire rams. E. W. Daniels, North Lake. R. F. D. 2, Gregory, Mich.

GOOD FARMERS WANTED—Free homes, fine climate and soil—plenty of rain. Write or see F. M. Kilbourn, Roy, New Mexico.

FOR SALE—Twenty registered Black Top Ewes; also a few rams. Inquire of Geo. E. Halst, Chelsea, R. F. D. 2

FOUND—A place to get rid of something that you do not need. Try a Standard want ad.

FOR SALE—80 acre farm, 4 miles north of Grass Lake, Mich. Will exchange for dwelling property. For particulars address H. Care of Chelsea Standard.

FOR SALE—No hunting signs at The Standard office.

Our Opening
...OF...
Fall Millinery

Will Take Place

Thursday and Friday, Sept. 24 and 25.

Your Inspection Solicited.

MILLER SISTERS.

Old Iron Wanted

We Will Pay 35c per Hundred

For old Iron delivered at our place of business. Also highest market price paid for old Lead, Brass, Rubber and all kinds metal.

GLICKMAN & LAZAR,

PHONE 81 Cor. North and Main Sts., Chelsea.

JNO. FARRELL.

The only real happy Children in Chelsea are fed on Groceries from Farrell's Pure Food Store.

A word to the wise is sufficient.

JNO. FARRELL.

CASH MEAT MARKET

Our leader is fine, fat, juicy roasts of beef—grain fine as silk and tender. Then there are our superb steaks, chops, poultry, pork and sausage. We choose nothing but prime stock for our patrons and send it home prepared appetizingly and ready to be put right in the oven.

Try our Pickled Tripe.

Also our make of Summerwurst.

SPECIAL PRICE ON LARD in 25 and 50 pound cans. Give us a trial. Phone 59 Free Delivery.

VAN RIPER & CHANDLER.

TWO IN ONE

MUTO Convertible Coat. FOR Fair or Stormy Weather.

This Coat can be worn either as a dress or storm overcoat with entire satisfaction. The garment is finely tailored and a perfect fit is guaranteed. Call and examine the new line of fall clothing.

Boys' School Suits.

We have the celebrated "Widow Jones" line of clothing for boys. This clothing is well made, wears, well, and is admitted to the best line of boys' clothing in the country.

DANCER BROTHERS.

SEPTEMBER 24, 1908.

Fall Millinery

--- AT ---

Kathryn Hooker's

NO FORMAL OPENING.

City Meat Market

CHOICE CUTS of meat are to be found in our ice boxes—the kind, quality and in the condition desired by all of our patrons. Tender meats daily, and no other kind is permitted to be sold over our counter or enter our market. We take pride in cutting meat to please our customers. You are not compelled to take what you do not want. A full stock of Fresh and Salt Meats, Hams, Bacon and Sausages of all kinds always on hand. Give us a trial.

FREE DELIVERY. Phone 61.

J. G. ADRIEN.

Fall and Winter Showing

OF

Foreign and Domestic Woolens

All Woolens of exceptional quality and style, all in suitable quantity to judge style and weave. No Sample Book or Cards.

300 Different Styles

Of Suits, Trousers, Fancy Vesting, Top Coats and Overcoats. Our assortment of odd trousers ranging from $4.00 to $6.00 is the largest ever shown in any city compared to ours. We are also showing a fine line of Woolens suitable for Ladies' Tailor Made-to-Order Skirts.

For the next 30 days we shall endeavor to make such prices as to warrant steady employment for our large staff of workers, and to make our clothing manufacturing business the largest in this section of the country.

Yours for Good Clothing and Home Industry.

RAFTREY, The Tailor.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Dr. H. H. Avery has purchased a Reo roadster.

Born, on Monday, September 21, to Mr. and Mrs. John Lyons, a daughter.

Frank Shaver has had a new roof put on his residence, on west Middle street.

Born, on Monday, September 21, 1908, to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Remnant, a daughter.

Frank Leach shipped a carload (20,000 pounds) of live poultry to New York Friday.

Ypsilanti and Four Mile Lake baseball teams will play a game of ball at the Hutzel farm next Sunday afternoon.

Conrad Lehman is having a new cement sidewalk laid in front of his property on the east side of Garfield street.

The White Milling Co. placed in their flouring mill this week a pair of Fairbanks scales that have a weighing capacity of 3,200 pounds.

Tommy McNamara's Fair Ellen took second money in the 2:19 pace at the Monroe fair last week. This week she is at the Adrian fair.

O. C. Burkhardt says that he has had to buy a large supply of locks to place on the barns at the farm, on account of so many visitors at night.

Born, Thursday, September 17, 1908, to Dr. and Mrs. N. E. Phelps, of Dexter, a daughter. Mrs. Phelps was formerly Miss Edith Bacon, of this place.

L. Whitney Watkins of Norvell has received the nomination on the republican ticket for state senator from Jackson and Hillsdale counties.

The marriage of Miss Mary A. Clark to Mr. George C. Clark will take place in the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart, Wednesday morning, September 30, 1908, at 9 o'clock.

There will be a shadow social for the benefit of the school in district No. 11, Lyndon Center, at the home of Miss Nellie Young, Friday evening, October 24. Every body invited.

Highway Commissioner Gilbert is engaged in the work of rebuilding the bridge at the north end of Main street. Cement abutments are being put in and the bridge will be a good one.

F. L. Davidson has just completed a job of cement work for Howard Everett, of Sharon. The job consists of several cement floors in his buildings, cement gutters, and a number of large tanks.

Cone Lighthall, who is employed at the stove works, while assisting to load a large fly-wheel on the dray Monday afternoon, got the middle finger of his left hand caught and the nail was torn off.

The D. J. & C. Ry. has placed a bell on the east Guthrie crossing. This is a much needed improvement, as it was impossible to see a car approaching from the east, until a person was nearly on the track.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Weiss entertained the members of the Epworth League of the German Methodist church, of Ann Arbor, at their home in Lima township, Friday evening. There were thirty-one guests and all report a fine time.

The meeting of the Western Washtenaw Union Farmers' Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Canfield, Friday was a very interesting one. Besides the members of the club there were a number of candidates for county offices present. All report a good time.

There were a number of Chelsea people in attendance at the sale of the stove works at Ann Arbor Friday. The only excitement was that occasioned by the spirited bidding between O. C. Burkhardt and H. S. Holmes, when the building occupied by F. E. Storms was offered for sale, and which was knocked down to the former on his bid of $4,000.

Mrs. George McClain, a former resident of this place, died at her home in Jackson, Friday, September 18, 1908. The funeral was held from her late home Sunday afternoon. The deceased was a member of Columbian Hive, L. O. T. M. No. 1 of this place. She is survived by her husband and two sons. The remains were brought here Monday and placed in the vault in Oak Grove cemetery.

Wm. Caspary, who was acting as custodian of the fund raised by the Democrats to pay the band for going to Ann Arbor to the Bryan meeting, Tuesday had the misfortune to lose the whole bundle through the aid of a pick-pocket while in the big crowd. William says that he cannot see how it happened, as there were six policemen just back of him, and he can vouch for everyone of them. He says that he is of the opinion that everyone in the crowd was not listening attentively to the Peerless One.

The bell at St. Mary's school has been placed in position.

Born, Sunday, September 20, 1908, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howe, a son.

The Cytherean Circle met with Mrs. D. C. McLaren Thursday of last week.

A new steam whistle is being placed on the power house of the stove works.

A. Beach, of Lima, suffered a slight stroke of paralysis, last Sunday evening.

Born, on Saturday, September 19, to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Conlan, a daughter.

Oren Bruckner is making arrangements to work the Reed farm, south of town.

Wm. L. Wright and family have moved into the D. H. Fuller residence on Jefferson street.

The Cytomere Club was entertained at the home of Miss Lillie Wackenhut last Friday evening.

Russell Wheelock, of Lima, sold twenty choice Black Top ewes to parties near Brighton the past week.

M. J. Lehman, a former Chelsea resident, has been nominated for judge of probate of Wayne county.

J. B. Beissel was taken suddenly ill Wednesday afternoon and is considered to be in a critical condition.

Monday Auctioneer Daniels tore the ligaments in his right shoulder loose, while lifting a heavy timber.

The D. U. R. has a gang of men at work removing the trolley poles from the old Boland road between Chelsea and Dexter.

Mrs. Mary Ann Glenn and Mr. and Mrs. John Knapp left Monday for Cincinnati, where they will spend the winter.

There will be a Democratic rally at the town hall, Saturday evening, September 26. Hon. Lawton T. Hemans will speak.

The K. O. T. M. and L. O. T. M. are making great preparations for the county fair, which they will give in the town hall, October 23d.

J. E. McKune is having extensive repairs made to the residence known as the Chandler house, on the corner of Main and Summit streets.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's church will serve one of their famous suppers at the town hall Saturday, September 3. Admission, 20 cents.

Mrs. Charles Canfield has moved from the residence of Mrs. Jas. Beasley on Congdon street, to the farm residence of J. L. Sibley, north of this village.

Rev. G. A. Chittenden, who has been pastor of the Baptist church at Saline, has resigned his pastorate there, and accepted a call from the church at this place.

Mrs. J. Bacon entertained sixteen young people comprising the Holmes-Elis bridal party at her home on east Middle street, at a dinner Wednesday evening.

The Standard is pleased to note that Milton H. Haselwerdt has been elected cashier of the new national bank that has just been organized at Rochester, Mich.

A large number from this place went to Ann Arbor Tuesday to listen to Presidential Candidate Bryan. The Chelsea band was taken along to assist in the exercises.

A. G. Faist has just completed a wagon for a Kalamazoo coal dealer and will ship it this week. This is the third wagon that Mr. Faist has built for the same party during the past two years.

There was a suspicion of a shower Sunday morning, and every live thing, both in the animal and the vegetable kingdoms picked up its ears and prepared to rejoice. The rejoicing was, of short duration, as Jupiter Pluvius called the whole thing off.

Geo. Willis, who resides near Dexter, sent word this morning to Deputy Sheriff Leach that Geo. Wilson of Paw Paw had stolen some halters from him. Mr. Leach at once turned on the gasoline and started out with his auto and caught the man at Johnson Bros., where he had hidden in a cornfield. He was taken before Justice Lighthall.

The musical comedy "Three Twins" that is at the Whitney theatre, Ann Arbor, this evening, caught on in great shape at Detroit the first three days of this week. Manager Abbot is getting the best attractions that play Detroit and should have a good crowd tonight. The prices range from 25c to $1.50 and seats may be reserved by mail or phone.

The management of the electric railway is already preparing for winter. The plans include the equipment of two construction cars with the latest device to sweep the snow far from the rails on either side, sections of snow fences along the interurban lines where there is the greatest danger of drifts and snow scrapers to be put on many of the cars.

New Fall Arrivals

Special Bargains in Every Department

Great Clothing Values

One Lot Men's Suits at $10.00. These are regular $12.00 and $14.00 suits everywhere and are wonderful bargaining at the price we ask.

One Lot Men's Suits at $15.00. No where else will you find suits like them offered at less than $18.00 to $22.00. We want you to look at other places and then look here, and judge for yourself.

New Lace Curtains

We have just placed on sale an elegant assortment of new Lace Curtains at 75 cents, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, $2.50 and $3.00 per pair. Every pair new and the prices we ask is not anywhere near the value of goods as compared with other dealers' prices, in fact we save you money on any kind or quality of Lace Curtain you may want. Ask to see them.

"Queen Quality" Shoes

The new fall styles are now in. Best in quality. Always look well, always fit well, always wear well. Costs no more to get the genuine Queen Quality, the acknowledged perfect shoe for women. If you wear Queen Quality Shoes you will be happy otherwise there may be corns.

New Fall Skirts for Women

If you want skirt style, skirt quality, and the biggest skirt values in town, you have got to come to us. We have them in black and the popular colors, made from the most fashionable fabrics on the market. Every skirt offered here is a leader at the price we ask. All Wool Skirts at $3.50, $4.25, $4.75, $5.50 and $6.75.

Men's Fancy Dress Shirts

Two Special. 45 Cents and 90 Cents. New, Nobby, Swell Shirts at Money Saving Prices.

New Carpets and Rugs

All Wool Ingrain Carpets as low as 50 cents per yard. Complete assortment of large Rugs at very attractive prices.

W.P.SCHENK & COMPANY

All The Very Latest

--- IN ---

New Fall Millinery

Upstairs Over Postoffice.

MARY H. HAAB

CHELSEA ELEVATOR CO.

F. E. Storms & Co. and A. B. Clark

Have united their business interests and the new firm will be known as the

CHELSEA ELEVATOR CO.

Both Lines of Business Will Be Continued.

The Brick Warehouse will be equipped with bins and elevators for handling grain to the best advantage, for both farmers and operators. We will be in the market for all kinds of Grain Poultry, Fruit and Wool in season.

THANKING YOU

for the trade we have already received, we solicit as much of your business as can be turned to us, which will be appreciated.

Respectfully Yours,

CHELSEA ELEVATOR CO.

WATCHES, CLOCKS,

Rings, Charms and Jewelry of all kinds.

We have a large assortment of Gold Bowed Spectacles and Eye Glasses. Every pair warranted to give satisfaction.

Repairing of all kinds done on short notice.

A. E. WINANS, Jeweler.

Try our Job Department for your Printing.

Cupid as Jockey

By Anna McClure Sholl

(Copyright, by Shortstory Pub. Co.)

Rich and eccentric Mr. Sears had always delighted in setting the little town of Upwater by the ears, but no one dreamed of a post-mortem chuckle from the old gentleman. It came in the form of a bequest in his will—$1,000 to the prettiest woman in the place, the judges to be chosen from the elderly married men of the community.

The hubbub was instantaneous, and of a nature to warm the heart of a cynic. Mothers spoke jealously of the charms of their daughters. The ministers prepared sermons against the sin of vanity thus flagrantly encouraged by the late Mr. Sears. The "best people" signaled their intention of standing aloof from the contest. But at last a reaction set in, started by someone's saving sense of humor, and it was almost unanimously decided that the terms of the will must be complied with. An appointed committee fixed upon a day in June for the assembling of the contestants. They were to come in their best apparel, and to abide by the vote of the judges "without murmurings or disputings." The contest was to be held out of doors, in the sunny garden of one of the grandees of the town, that the searching light of day might add to the impartiality of the decision. The affair was thus turned into a lawn-party, and the first families agreeing to be present, the rest of the town followed suit.

A week before the day appointed, Richard Gordon, a young lawyer, went to call upon Mary Bennett, whose father before his invalidism had been a professor in the college town from which Gordon's family also came. Richard, waiting for Mary in the dim parlor with its steel engravings of famous pictures, felt that the girl's life was somehow like them, beautiful in line and form, but lacking the color that selfishness, rather than self-denial, seems to impart to human existence. She had always sacrificed herself to the demands and needs of others, until she was like a white flower brought out of the sunshine to cheer a sickroom.

He was absorbed in his thoughts of her when she entered, a welcome glowing in her eyes. Though she was tall and straight and wholesome to look upon, no one had ever called her pretty. Her chief asset was her abundant dark hair, Richard had never thought of her being in the contest, so he did not even apologize when, after a few moments' conversation, he showed her a list he had made of the women who, in his opinion, had the best chance of winning—a list from which her name was omitted.

"I see that you have headed it with Bertha Kienlenning. That is easy to understand."

"But my grounds are different from most people's," he said, with the earnestness that he always brought to any subject which interested him. "Her blue eyes and yellow hair and story-book complexion count very little. It's her lovely figure and her charm of manner—her more subtle advantages so to speak—that make her what she is, graceful and womanly."

"I quite agree with you. Who is next on the list?"

"Katherine More—it's the curve of her upper lip," he added, confidentially.

"And next?"

"Dora."

"Because?"

"He laughed."

"It has something to do with the tip of her nose."

"I quite understand. Dora's nose will keep her young when she's 50."

"And then come the ladies who have only to put on a pink ribbon to be called pretty. You see my scorn of them places them last."

"Poor things! Well, I think it will be Bertha. You must tell me all about it afterwards."

"But, my dear, you're surely going!" he said, earnestly, knitting his boyish brows.

"I can't unless father is better."

"Oh, you must—it will amuse you so! I'll call for you to make sure!"

"Well, I don't forbid your calling!" she answered, with a smile.

She spent a troubled week, trying to come to terms with herself. In her dark moments she had perversely wished to make herself look as plain as possible, taking a kind of pride in being utterly out of the running; but with the first dawn of gentler feeling came the desire to look her best, and to enter into the spirit of the occasion.

So when the time came she curled her hair and arranged it with all the art that she could command. She put on a soft, white summer gown and a picture hat with roses. She was drawing on her long gloves when Richard arrived. He seemed in the highest spirits.

"I was prepared to use force, if I found you backing out. I have some news to tell you about myself—something that's made me very glad, and I want you to be glad with me."

Her heart sank. Was he going to tell her of his engagement to Bertha? She turned a pale face to him.

"An't you guess, Mary?"

But she was dumb. He leaned towards her and took both her hands in his.

"I've got the position I wanted in the office with Jenkins & Bart—and it's a kind of partnership, Mary. It's easily worth five thousand a year."

She drew a long breath of relief and looked at him with shining eyes.

"I'm so glad—so glad!"

"You can't be so glad as I, because, my dear," he hesitated. Her sudden little flame of joy again sank.

"You see I didn't want to speak until I was sure."

Even then she would not believe. She had turned her head away. Was it Bertha—oh, was it Bertha?

"You see I've loved you always—why Mary?"

Then she turned a rapturous face toward him.

How they reached the appointed place she never knew. She walked on air, surrounded by a ring of gold that inclosed one other person. Her eyes shone. A bright color came to her cheeks. Richard, excited and triumphant, looked at her adoringly, seeing in her at once the woman of his future and the playmate of his childhood. They would show themselves at the contest for a minute, just to be public-spirited. Then they would go for a heavenly ramble in the woods.

The judges had decided to make the award after mingling informally with their townspeople, so there was no set ceremony, no drawing-up of the contestants. People strolled about or talked together in groups, as at a garden party. Here and there a girl was seen whose heightened color betrayed her consciousness of being under scrutiny, for it was generally known that the courteous judges, chatting casually with their friends and acquaintances, were all the while gleaming impressions which would be of service in making the decision. The occasion, on the whole, did not seem favorable to the setting forth of feminine charm. Even Bertha, by becoming self-conscious, had lost something of her usual grace. Katherine's pretty bow of a month showed a disposition to straighten, and Dora's infantile nose failed to save the day for her. As for the young women whose charm depended on pink ribbons, they had all apparently chosen the wrong colors.

He was absorbed in his thoughts of her when she entered, a welcome glowing in her eyes. Though she was tall and straight and wholesome to look upon, no one had ever called her pretty. Her chief asset was her abundant dark hair, Richard had never thought of her being in the contest, so he did not even apologize when, after a few moments' conversation, he showed her a list he had made of the women who, in his opinion, had the best chance of winning—a list from which her name was omitted.

"I see that you have headed it with Bertha Kienlenning. That is easy to understand."

"But my grounds are different from most people's," he said, with the earnestness that he always brought to any subject which interested him. "Her blue eyes and yellow hair and story-book complexion count very little. It's her lovely figure and her charm of manner—her more subtle advantages so to speak—that make her what she is, graceful and womanly."

"I quite agree with you. Who is next on the list?"

"Katherine More—it's the curve of her upper lip," he added, confidentially.

"And next?"

"Dora."

"Because?"

"He laughed."

"It has something to do with the tip of her nose."

"I quite understand. Dora's nose will keep her young when she's 50."

"And then come the ladies who have only to put on a pink ribbon to be called pretty. You see my scorn of them places them last."

"Poor things! Well, I think it will be Bertha. You must tell me all about it afterwards."

"But, my dear, you're surely going!" he said, earnestly, knitting his boyish brows.

"I can't unless father is better."

"Oh, you must—it will amuse you so! I'll call for you to make sure!"

"Well, I don't forbid your calling!" she answered, with a smile.

She spent a troubled week, trying to come to terms with herself. In her dark moments she had perversely wished to make herself look as plain as possible, taking a kind of pride in being utterly out of the running; but with the first dawn of gentler feeling came the desire to look her best, and to enter into the spirit of the occasion.

So when the time came she curled her hair and arranged it with all the art that she could command. She put on a soft, white summer gown and a picture hat with roses. She was drawing on her long gloves when Richard arrived. He seemed in the highest spirits.

"I was prepared to use force, if I found you backing out. I have some news to tell you about myself—something that's made me very glad, and I want you to be glad with me."

Her heart sank. Was he going to tell her of his engagement to Bertha? She turned a pale face to him.

"An't you guess, Mary?"

But she was dumb. He leaned towards her and took both her hands in his.

"I can't unless father is better."

"Oh, you must—it will amuse you so! I'll call for you to make sure!"

"Well, I don't forbid your calling!" she answered, with a smile.

She spent a troubled week, trying to come to terms with herself. In her dark moments she had perversely wished to make herself look as plain as possible, taking a kind of pride in being utterly out of the running; but with the first dawn of gentler feeling came the desire to look her best, and to enter into the spirit of the occasion.

So when the time came she curled her hair and arranged it with all the art that she could command. She put on a soft, white summer gown and a picture hat with roses. She was drawing on her long gloves when Richard arrived. He seemed in the highest spirits.

"I was prepared to use force, if I found you backing out. I have some news to tell you about myself—something that's made me very glad, and I want you to be glad with me."

Her heart sank. Was he going to tell her of his engagement to Bertha? She turned a pale face to him.

"An't you guess, Mary?"

But she was dumb. He leaned towards her and took both her hands in his.

ECONOMIC ARRANGEMENT OF FIELDS FOR FENCING

Carefully Worked-Out System of Crop Rotation for Hog Pasturing—By D. A. Gaumnitz, M. S. Minnesota.

Since fencing is quite an item in the cost of pastures and in hogging off corn, the arrangement of fields in such a way as to use the least possible amount of fencing and still have the hogs near the farm buildings so they may be sheltered, watered and fed economically is essential. The fact that clover is one of the best crops for pasture and that it cannot be depended upon to live for more than one year's pasturing, will suggest at show how the suggestions in this article may be applied to farm conditions. They also show the value and economy of planning a farm for a definite purpose. The amount of fencing required per acre to inclose the hog lots on these different farms varies from 16 to 29 rods.

Note.—Figs. 3 and 4 show an 80-acre farm situated in southeastern Minnesota. The 11-acre field in the northwest corner has been divided into three fields which, with the four-acre field in the southwest corner makes four fields of approximately the same size. This provides for a four year rotation for hogs. Three hundred and forty-eight rods of fencing are required to inclose it, or about 29 rods per acre, when the whole is charged against the three fields used each once the idea of a rotation of crops on a few small fields near the farmstead in which the crops may be conveniently pastured. A hog pasture plowed up makes one of the most desirable places to grow corn.

Contented Huskers.

Such a piece of corn land, if fenced, could very easily and profitably be fed off with hogs. Corn land disked and well prepared is an excellent place to grow any kind of a grain crop, and clover sown with the grain crop on such soil has an excellent chance of being in good condition for pasturing the following year. Thus a productive three-year rotation is naturally worked out. See Fig. 1.

1907-Corn	Grain	Clover
1908-Grain	Clover	Corn
1909-Clover	Corn	Grain

Fig. 1.—Three-Year Rotation for Hogs. Crops Underlined Are to Be Fed Off.

Four fields permanently fenced near the farmstead would make a more desirable rotation than would three fields, and the cost of fencing will be less since the fence would be in use three years out of four, rather than two years out of three.

1907-Corn	Corn	Grain	Clover
1908-Grain	Grain	Clover	Corn
1909-Grain	Clover	Corn	Corn
1109-Clover	Corn	Corn	Grain

Fig. 2.—Four-Year Rotation for Hogs. Crops Underlined Are to Be Fed Off.

In laying out a rotation for hogs the number that it is desired to keep should be decided upon—then the size of the fields can be determined. The larger the fields used, other things being equal, the cheaper the cost of fencing per acre, and the more convenient the fields are worked. However, it

Hog Pasture	11-Acres
FARMSTEAD	Orchard
55-Acre Field

Fig. 3.—Eighty-Acre Farm. Original Plan.

is not advisable to fence hog tight very much more land than can be conveniently utilized by hogs, as cheaper fences that are just as effective may be used for cattle.

Some of the important points to consider in laying out a practical rotation for hogs are: First, number of animals to be kept; second, convenience in feeding while in the field; third, shape of fields so that they may be easily worked; and fourth, the least possible number of rods of fencing to the acre inclosed. With these points before one, and each considered, a rotation may be laid out intelligently and to fit most any farm.

The following plans are offered as suggestive of how several farms have been replanned to allow for a rotation for hogs. These plans are chosen to

5-A FARMSTEAD	39-Acres
5-A	39-Acres
5-A	39-Acres
5-A	39-Acres

Fig. 4.—Eighty-Acre Farm. Revised Plan.

give the average annual cost per acre of fencing. The fields are so located that each is easily reached from the farmstead and are large enough to accommodate ten to fourteen sows and their litters.

The remainder of the farm is divided into five 3-acre fields for a five year rotation. The irregular strip or ravine through the center of the farm is used for a lane and for permanent pasture.

FOR AUTUMN WEAR

HEAVIER DRESS MATERIALS DIS- TINCTLY ADVISORY.

Foulards and Voiles Seem to Fill the Bill Better Than the Lighter Stuffs—Come in All Shades of Colors.

When replenishing the wardrobe at this time of year, it is well to select materials that will not be too thin to wear as autumn days approach. Usually the linens—the coat and skirt suit and the jumper dress—are still fit to wear, while the frocks that seem to suffer most in summer time are the sheer lawns and dainties that are used for afternoon festivities and Sunday-go-to-meeting occasions.

One's wardrobe usually contains three or four of these gowns, and they are the most charming and dainty things imaginable, but toward September there grows a need for something fresh, something appropriate for afternoons and evenings that seems to breathe of autumn.

In selecting such a gown choose a material that is soft, yet not so pliable that it is almost impossible for the home dressmaker to manage.

A good material for such a gown is foulard, or one might use crepe foulard or voile. Of course, the very newest dresses are of satin, but while this may not be expensive—for liberty satin is procurable for 75 cents a yard—the material is so narrow that it requires a great deal to make even the simplest dress.

Voiles, on the other hand, are quite possible, and we have collenne and many materials which are called by various names, each interesting in its own way.

We are all familiar with collenne. It is a material of silk with a cord effect running across the breadth of the goods. Its prices range from one to two dollars the yard and it measures 46 inches in width. Besides the plain collenne there are variations of the same. Some are woven with a silk diagonal, while others have a broken line. All of the collennes are soft and pliable and make up beautifully in the present mode. The collenne with fancy designs costs two dollars the yard.

Of voiles there are three varieties: silk, wool and cotton. Cotton voile is appropriate only for summer wear, but wool voile is the material that is always worth buying, for it wears perfectly and always looks well. It comes plain and with a shadowed check, and usually costs from $1 to $1.50 the yard. Plain wool voile may be purchased for as little as 75 cents the yard, and it measures from 40 to 46 inches. Voiles must be made up over silk, and usually taffeta is best for the purpose.

Silk voiles are thin and soft and smooth to the touch. They may be found in two or three qualities, ranging from one to three dollars per yard. There is a chiffon voile which is very fine and is almost as thin as chiffon. This sometimes has a design

READY FOR THE POST.

Useful Receptacle Designed to Hold Letters Before Mailing.

Our sketch illustrates an extremely useful little article for hanging up in the hall as a receptacle for letters that are ready for the post, and also as a place for hanging up keys.

The back portion should be cut out in cardboard, about ten inches long by six inches deep, and the front portion the same length, but two inches less in depth. Two wedge-shaped pieces also will be required for the sides. Any pretty material may be used to cover the pocket, and it is suspended from the wall by a loop of ribbon with three bows. A little founce of lace is sewn on all round the edge, and the word "letters" can be embroidered in ornamental lettering on the front. At the base, five large mantle hooks are sewn, on which keys may be hung and be ready to hand when required.

For Baby.

The little single-piece kimono made of flannel or cashmere are not new, but one mother has made some of them for baby to slip on in the summer. They are both useful and attractive looking.

in it and costs but one dollar the yard; it is 48 inches wide. The silk voile with a shadowed check is very beautiful and somewhat more durable than a chiffon voile. This costs two dollars per yard. Plain silk voile or Tokyo voile is perfect in texture and finish and is fit to use for the finest dress. This may be bought for $1.75 to three dollars the yard and comes in every shade of every color.

MADE UP IN RAJAH SILK.

Pretty Costume Designed for Wear at Home or the Theater.

Soft rose-colored rajah silk has been used for this pretty costume, which will answer all purposes for a dressy at home gown during the coming season and which will be equally suitable for a luncheon or theater dress. The waist is made with three wide tucks turning toward the armhole, the V-shaped neck being outlined with Grecian banding of gold and black. The chemise is of all-over lace in deep cream-color and the sleeves are tucked from just below the shoulder to the wrist, being finished with the banding and a frill of edging matching the yoke. The skirt is a two-piece model, with an inset sheath panel of the material, the trimming consisting of the Grecian banding. The model closes under an inverted box-pleat at the center-back.

For 36 bust the waist requires six yards of material 20 inches wide, 4 1/2 yards 27 inches wide, 3 1/2 yards 36 inches wide, or three yards 42 inches wide, with seven-eighths yard of all-over lace 18 inches wide for the chemise.

For 26 waist the skirt requires 3 1/2 yards of material 20 inches wide, 4 1/2 yards 27 inches wide, 3 1/2 yards 36 inches wide, or 3 1/2 yards 42 inches wide, or 3 1/2 yards 54 inches wide. Width of lower edge about 4 1/2 yards.

Velvet-Faced Fabrics.

Because of its soft and clinging characteristics, velvet and velveteens are suddenly coming into vogue, especially for the more elaborate order of tailormades, although they will be worn in short severe suits during the winter by girls who are within several years of making their initial bow to society. For afternoon reception costumes, those in chiffon and Lyons velvet will, of course, have the long skirt slightly trimmed with chenille, jet or gold bullion, and coats of any length from 36 to 52 inches, usually bearing director's earmarks, and always with full-length sleeves. When velvet is employed solely as a material for a street suit, its trimming will be simpler and of the satin band or fancy braid order, as was the case last season with the comparatively few costumes worn of that fabric.

To Glaze Collars and Cuffs.

A good glaze to add to the starch used for collars, cuffs, shirt-fronts, or other articles requiring a high gloss is obtained by boiling one-half pound of white curd soap and two ounces of Japan wax in two quarts of water until thoroughly amalgamated. When it has cooled sufficiently for the hand to be able to bear the warmth add two ounces of powdered French chalk and eight drams of glycerine beaten to a froth. It should be used at the rate of one-quarter ounce to each one-half pound of starch. Use a rice starch, and see that the articles are very dry before you start to iron. Blistering is often caused by the underlining, owing to dampness, sticking to the lining-board. Use very hot irons.

Fashion Hints.

Skirts are shorter than ever. The long earring is growing in favor. Prevailing hat styles are driving out puffs. Empire aprons are effective for small girls. Cuff ruffles are as popular as throat

ONE KIDNEY GONE

But Cured After Doctors Said There Was No Hope.

Sylvanus O. Verrill, Milford, Mass., says: "Five years ago a bad injury paralyzed my kidneys. My back hurt me terribly, and the urine was badly discolored. Doctors said my right kidney was practically dead. They said I could never walk again. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. One box made me stronger and freer from pain. I kept on using them and in three months was able to get out on crutches, and the kidneys were acting better. I improved rapidly, discarded the crutches and the wonder of my friends was soon completely cured."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

EGOISM.

Mistress—Bridget, it always seems to me that the crankiest mistress gets the best cooks.

Cook—Ah, go on wid yer blarney!

DEEP CRACKS FROM ECZEMA

Could Lay Slate-Pencil in One—Hands in Dreadful State—Permanent Cure in Cuticura.

"I had eczema on my hands for about seven years and during that time I had used several so-called remedies, together with physicians' and druggists' prescriptions. The disease was so bad on my hands that I could lay a slate-pencil in one of the cracks and a rule placed across the hand would not touch the pencil. I kept using remedy after remedy, and while some gave partial relief, none relieved as much as did the first box of Cuticura Ointment. I made a purchase of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and my hands were perfectly cured after two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap were used. W. H. Dean, Newark, Del., Mar. 23, 1917."

ONLY A COW.

Artist (who has been bothered by rustics breathing on him all the morning)—My good fellow, I assure you that you can see the sketch with more advantage from a little distance!

A Carlyle Wedding.

Craigenputtock, where Carlyle's "Sartor Resartus" was written, has just been the scene of a notable wedding. The bride was Mary Carlyle of Craigenputtock, a grandchild of Thomas Carlyle, a farmer, of Pingle, Dumfriesshire, a son of Thomas Carlyle's favorite nephew. Pingle is about four miles from Ecclefechan, Carlyle's birthplace, and this village is the original of the Edinburgh of "Sartor Resartus."—London Standard.

Even the Hash.

Embarrassed in the fashionable restaurant by the menu written in French, the Wall Street man of business exclaimed:

"Hang these froids, entremets and hors d'oeuvres—bring me a plate of good plain hash, if you've got such a thing on the premises."

"You mean an olla podrida, sir," said the waiter, in a tone of dignified reproach. "And afterwards?"

AFRAID TO EAT.

Girl Starving on Ill-Selected Food.

"Several years ago I was actually starving," writes a Me. girl, "yet dared not eat for fear of the consequences. I had suffered from indigestion from overwork, irregular meals and improper food, until at last my stomach became so weak I could scarcely any food without great distress."

"Many kinds of food were tried, with the same discouraging effects. I steadily lost health and strength until I was but a wreck of my former self. Having heard of Grape-Nuts, its great merits, I purchased a package, but with little hope that it would help me—I was so discouraged. 'I found it not only appetizing but that I could eat it as I liked and that it satisfied the craving for food without causing distress, and if I used the expression, 'it filled the bill.' For months Grape-Nuts was my principal article of diet. I felt that the very first that I had found the right way to health and happiness, and my anticipations were fully realized."

"With its continued use I regained my usual health and strength. Today I am well and can eat anything I like, yet Grape-Nuts food forms a part of my bill of fare." "There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

"Ever read the above letter? A whole one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."

R. J. T. WOODS,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office in the Stefan-Merkel block.
Residence on Congdon street.
CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.
Telephone 114.

S. G. BUSH, R. F. CHASE,
BUSH & CHASE,
PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.
Offices in the Freeman-Cummings block.
CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.

H. W. SCHMIDT,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Office hours: 10 to 12 forenoon; 2 to 4 afternoon;
7 to 9 evening.
Night and Day calls answered promptly.
Chelsea Telephone No. 32 2 rings for office, 3 rings for residence.
CHELSEA, MICH.

A. G. WALL,
DENTIST.
Office over the Freeman & Cummings
Co. drug store, Chelsea, Mich.
Phone No. 223.

A. L. STEGER,
DENTIST.
Office—Kempf Bank Block,
CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.
Phone—Office, 82, 2r; Residence, 82, 3r

JAMES S. GORMAN,
LAW OFFICE.
East Middle street, Chelsea, Mich.

TURNBULL & WITHERELL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
B. B. Turnbull. H. D. Witherell.
CHELSEA, MICH.

STIVERS & KALMBACH
ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW
General Law practice in all courts. Notary Public in the office. Phone 63.
Office in Kempf Bank Block.
CHELSEA, MICH.

S. A. MAPES,
FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER.
FINE FUNKEL FURNISHINGS.
Calls answered promptly night or day.
Chelsea Telephone No. 6.
CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.

PARKER & BECKWITH,
Real Estate Dealers.
Money to Loan. Life and Fire Insurance.
Office in Hatch-Durand block.

E. W. DANIELS,
GENERAL AUCTIONEER.
Satisfaction Guaranteed. For information call at The Standard-Herald office, or address Gregory, Mich., r. f. d. 2.
Phone connections. Auction bills and in cup furnished free.

OLIVE LODGE, NO. 156, F. & A. M.
Regular meetings for 1908 are as follows: Jan. 14, Feb. 11, Mar. 17, April 14,
May 12, June 9, July 7, Aug. 11,
Sept. 8, Oct. 6, Nov. 3; annual meeting and election of officers, Dec. 1. St.
John's Day, June 24—Dec. 27. Visiting Brothers welcome.
G. E. Jackson, W. M.
C. W. Maroney, Sec.

D. MERITHEW,
LICENSED AUCTIONEER.
Bell Phone 62, Manchester, Mich.
Dates made at this office.

Price 25 Cents
TRAVELERS' RAILWAY GUIDE
315 Dearborn St., Chicago.

Subscribe for The Chelsea Standard and get all the news.

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
PATENTS
TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS & C.
Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion. Free. We will inventors' sketches, and will prepare complete specifications and drawings. Patents secured free. Oldest agency for securing patents.
Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $5 year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.
MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Detroit Headquarters
for
MICHIGAN PEOPLE

GRISWOLD HOUSE
AMERICAN PLAN, $2.00 PER DAY
EUROPEAN PLAN, $1.00 TO $2.00 PER DAY Specially modern and up-to-date hotel, in the very heart of the retail shopping district of Detroit, corner Griswold and Grand River Aves., only one block from Woodward Ave. Jefferson, Third and Fourteenth cars pass by the house. When you visit Detroit stop at the Griswold House.
POSTAL & MOREY, Props.

Washtenaw Jurors.
The following list of jurors were drawn last week to serve at the October term of the circuit court of Washtenaw county: Mason Whipple, Lima; Jacob Honen, Lodi; George Doody, Lyndon; Robt. Mahrie, Manchester; Charles Brochnow, Northfield; A. W. Summer, Pittsfield; Albert Roe, Salem; Chas.
Graft, Saline; Frank Lemon, Scio; John F. Feldkan, Sharon; Frank Bush, Superior; J. L. Sibley, Sylvan; George Peatt, Webster; Adam Schreen, sr., York; Anthony Duggan, Ypsilanti; Alfred K. Congdon, Ypsilanti, second district; Charles Kittridge, Ann Arbor city, first ward; Gottlob Bauer, second ward;
Abraham Ward, third ward, John W.
Markey, fourth ward; August D. Darrow, fifth ward; William P. James, sixth ward;
Theodore Bachaus, seventh ward;
Jacob Lutz, Ann Arbor township; J. D.
O'Brien, Augusta; Philip Blum, Bridgewater; Henry Thurston, Dexter; Gottlob
C. Mann, Freedom; Alvin Baldwin, Lima.

Ask For Guardian.
Detroit Journal: A few years ago a song was popular in which it was told of what happened when "Reuben came to town" and described the process in which he was "done brown."

The song, it is declared, would fit the case of Levi R. Lee, aged 65 years, a well-to-do Lima township farmer who struck Detroit a few months ago and whose money seemed to flow as free as water.

In order to put a stop to Lee's city career his daughter, Mrs. Anna Lee Moore, a resident of this city, through Superintendent of Poor Ignatz A. Freund, has filed a petition in the probate court asking that the court appoint a guardian for the old man. The petition says: "He spends his time in idleness, debauchery and association with dissolute women, spending and wasting his money and lessening his estate. He is in danger of becoming a public charge."

When Lee, who is a widower, came to the city it is said that he had about $8,000. He met a young woman named Margaret, a pretty blonde of 24, with whom he became infatuated. He set her up as proprietor of a boarding and rooming house on Ledyard street, but in a short time he appeared at the prosecutor's office and declared that the young woman was holding $800 of his money which he had given her to keep for him. Lee, however, after thinking the matter over, refused to prosecute the woman and instead bought a much better rooming house for her at 91 Columbia street east, where he is now residing.

Lee refused to pay the lawyer whom he had engaged in an attempt to get the money back from the woman and the lawyer sued and recovered a judgment against him in Justice Teagan's court.

"I understand that Lee has had a rather merry time of it in Detroit," said this lawyer, "and has spent considerable of his fortune."

Lee will be given a chance at a hearing in the probate court next week to show what he has been doing with his money and to show, if he can, that he doesn't need a guardian.

Civil Service Examinations.
Ann Arbor News: For the first time, Ann Arbor has been put on the list for offices in the state, where special examinations for positions in branches of civil service will be held. The examinations will be given providing there are applicants for the position, and they will take place in October, probably at the court house.

The first one will take place October 7, and will be for apprentice plate cleaner and engraver at Washington, D.
C.; the second, October 13, for press feeder in government printing office;
the third examination, October 14, will be for the following:

Assistant examiner, patent office;
bookkeeper, departmental service; civil engineer, departmental service; civil engineer and draftsman, computer, superintending architect's office; engineer, Indian service; farmer, Indian service;
farmer with knowledge of irrigation, Indian service; fish culturist; law clerk;
pharmacist, public health and marine hospital service; physician, Indian canal service; plate cleaner, bureau of engraving and printing; postal clerk, Indian canal service; scientific assistant, department of agriculture;
superintendent of construction; teacher, Indian service; trained nurse, Indian canal service; trained nurse, Philippine service; veterinary inspector, department of agriculture.

Any person wishing to take the examinations can receive further information from the secretary of the local board of examiners at the post office.

The commission will arrange to examine any applicant whose application is received in time to permit the shipment of the necessary papers.

Postage Reduced.

The attention of the public is called to the reduction of the postage rate on first-class mail between the United States and Great Britain and the United Kingdom, which becomes effective October 1st. On and after that date the rate of postage on first-class matter will be 2 cents per ounce or a fraction thereof. In case of short paid or unpaid letters, the recipient will be required to pay double the amount of the deficiency, as at present.

BREVITIES

Parma is all torn up over the closing of the bank at that place. The cashier was interested in banks at Hanover and Pittsford and the affairs of the three are mixed so badly that it is not known what the result will be.

George Howard was so badly injured in the collision on the D. & J.
C. Ry. at Burrell's switch, April 28, that he died soon after from his injuries. Monday, William H. Watkins, administrator of his estate, started suit against the company for $23,000 damages.

George Widmayer of Sharon had unhitched his team and was about to climb into the wagon in front of Bowler's last Friday afternoon, when the team started on a run and hiked up Ann Arbor street toward home the wagon box rattling and a great cloud of dust rising as they swept along.—Manchester Enterprise.

The auction sale of the Deibel property took place at Ypsilanti last Thursday. The mill was bought by a Chicago—wrecking company for $5,225, and will be taken down and the machinery shipped. It is claimed that the lumber in the building was worth more than this amount, and there was about $50,000 worth of machinery.

Clarence B. Hayes, formerly associated with the Durant-Dort company of Flint, has purchased a controlling interest in the National Wheel company at Jackson, has increased its capitalization, and will equip the factory for the manufacture on a large scale of automobile and carriage wheels. R. H. Loveland, formerly with the Flint company, is with him in the enterprise.
The plant will begin business as soon as possible.

The Marshall banks report that there has been a large number of counterfeit half dollars circulated.
The source of them or the names of the people passing the money is fairly well made, but can be detected if particularly noticed. The government officers have been notified of the matter and the probabilities are that secret service men are now on the job. It is not thought the money is coined there, but that the men who distribute it there are local agents of outside parties. The coins bear different dates.

Before the familiar form of our respected townsman, Frederick Breit-enwischer, is missed from our streets the announcement is made that he is dead. His strength has been failing the past year, but only his family knew that. He was down town last Saturday and greeted friends in his usual pleasant manner. He took cold and suffered from pneumonia when without warning Wednesday afternoon he was stricken with apoplexy. So another good citizen passes from our midst.—Manchester Enterprise.

Following the verdict in the death of Engineer George Groh charging neglecting to maintain proper repairs, Corner S. W. Burchfield took steps which may lead to the arrest of officials and prosecution on criminal charges. Groh met death several weeks ago by the explosion of an old boiler of his locomotive.
"I will take the matter up with the railroad commission," said Coroner Burchfield after the verdict had been returned. "There was clearly negligence somewhere, and it seems to me there ought to be prosecution of those responsible."

C. M. Hartigan, a Jackson saloon-keeper, faces a jail sentence on the charge of keeping his saloon open Sunday after being officially notified that the "lid" was on tight. Last November he was convicted in circuit court and Judge Parkinson told him he would send him to jail if he was again convicted in his court within a year. A few months since Hartigan was caught again, but his case was brought in justice court and he was let off with a fine. This time he is complained of under the statute. Chief of Police Hunt signalized his entry into office by closing every saloon tighter than a drum Sunday, and he has said that this will be the case so long as he is at the head of the department.

CORRESPONDENCE.

SYLVAN HAPPENINGS.

John Baldwin was in Manchester
Saturday on business.

Mrs. Ed. Spaulding spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. F. E. Everett, in Sharon.

Miss Olive Chapman, of Chelsea, spent Saturday and Sunday with her aunt, Mrs. Ed. Spaulding.

Miss Bertha Feldkamp, of Chelsea, and George Koebbe, of Manchester, spent Sunday evening with Henry Bertke and wife.

Last Saturday Master Leon Chapman entertained eighteen of his young friends in a very pleasant manner. A bounteous dinner was served at noon on the lawn, to which all did ample justice, after which ice cream and cake were served. The afternoon was passed with all kinds of games. A snap shot was taken of the merry crowd. About 5 o'clock they returned to their homes, all declaring Master Leon a royal entertainer.

NORTH SHARON.

Mrs. Mabel Ordway is on the sick list.

Albert Cook, of Grass Lake is threshing beans in this neighborhood.
John Fahrner called on his brother in Sylvan Monday.

L. B. Lawrence returned Sunday from the Marshall and Detroit fairs.
The W. H. M. S. meet with Mrs.
Augusta Cooper Wednesday afternoon.

Elmer Gage, wife and daughter, visited Sunday at the home of C.
Gage and family.

E. D. Huston and family spent Sunday in Fishville, the guests of Russel Ordway and family.

Mrs. A. L. Holden left Saturday for Manistee to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Agnes Cramer.

Mrs. A. L. Holden and Mrs. Ashley Holden called on the latter's sister, Mrs. H. J. Lehman last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. McMahon and daughter, of Iron Creek, visited at the home of Clarence Hewes a few days of last week.

Mrs. John. Askew, of Grass Lake and daughter Mamie, of Washington, D. C., visited the former's son here Saturday and Sunday.

NORTH LAKE NEWS.

O. P. Noah was injured by a fall
a few days ago.

News reaches here that Mrs. F. E.
Pearce is quite sick.

Monday was the hottest day of the season here, many think.

R. C. Glenn came to his old home
Monday to stay a few days.

Mr. Isham had a horse get mired one day lately, causing death.

Mrs. O. P. Noah and Mrs. P. E.
Noah made a call here Monday.

Alfred Kuercher, of Chelsea, was in this vicinity buying apples Monday.

Mr. Gallup and family called here one evening last week and he took off some honey for us.

The band met at the hall Saturday evening and discoursed excellent music. They are doing finely.

This charge is left without a preacher this year. We feel slighted, as long as we are all paid up.

Some losses from granaries are reported about here. Wheat, beans, and clover seed have been taken.

There will be a Ladies' Aid Social Friday evening, the second of October, at Grange hall. All are cordially invited.

R. W. Webb, of Elmsdale, North Dakota, is expected here any day
now. He comes to Minneapolis with a herd of cattle then on here.

Notice.

All persons indebted to the old firm of H. L. Wood & Clark are requested to call at the old stand at once and arrange for payment. H. L. Wood & Clark. 7

Feel languid, weak, run-down? Headache? Stomach "off"?—Just a pin case of lazy liver. Burdock Blood Biters tones liver and stomach, promotes digestion, purifies the blood.

SHARON NEWS.

Elmer Lehman visited friends in Freedom Sunday.

Wm. Trolz made a business trip to Ann Arbor Tuesday.

The W. H. M. S. will meet with Mrs. A. G. Cooper, Wednesday.

Miss Florence Reno, who is teaching near Iron Creek, was home over Sunday.

Misses Ida Lehman and Clara Reno have returned from Bay View and Potosky.

Mr. and Mrs. John Heselschwerdt are the proud parents of a little daughter, born September 21.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Cooper have returned from their bridal tour and were given a serenade by the "boys" one night recently.

Misses Susie Dorr and Olga Wolfe returned Saturday from a pleasant visit with James Hathaway and family near Hersey.

The North Sharon congregation were very much pleased to welcome
Rev. Leonard back from conference to remain another year. Rev. Moon, who has been such a faithful pastor at Sharon Center and Manchester, was assigned to Monroe, while Rev.
Smith will take his place here.

SALUBRIOUS SEPTEMBER.

The Most Delightful Month for a D.
& B. Lake Trip.

In September the weather is perfect and the rush of the excursion business has abated enabling you to enjoy your trip with the best of service and accommodations. If you have wisely deferred your vacation until now the D. & B. Lake Line has daily regular trips and special week-end outings which will interest you.

Send for illustrated pamphlet and Great Lake Map.
Address,
D. & B. STEAMBOAT CO.,
Detroit, Mich.

OVERTAXED.

Hundreds of Chelsea Readers Know What It Means.

The Kidneys are overtaxed.
Have too much to do.
They tell about it in many aches and pains.

Backache, sideache, headache,
Early symptoms of kidney ills.
Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease follow.

Mrs. L. J. Mosher, living at 208 Oak Hill avenue, Jackson, Mich., says: "As the result of a strain, I suffered from pains in my back and through the loins and kidneys. At times they were so severe that I could scarcely bend over and it was able to get around. The kidneys were in disordered condition as was shown by the secretions which were very frequent and painful in passage.
I did not rest well at night, and felt tired and languid in the morning. I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly spoken of for such ailments that I got a box and commenced their use. They quickly cured the trouble, and I am now in excellent health." (From a statement given in 1898.)

On November 24, 1906, Mrs. Mosher said: "It gives me great pleasure to again endorse Doan's Kidney Pills as the cure they effected in my case in 1898 is as complete today as when first tried.
Doan's Kidney Pills are worthy of the confidence of every kidney sufferer."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents.
Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York,
Sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

FLEMING & CO.
PRODUCE
Hay, Grain, Poultry and Eggs.
112 West Middle St.,
CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.

FOR SALE
- AT - FAIR VIEW FARM
CHOICE
Shropshire Rams
I have 60 Lamb and Yearling Rams to choose from, at prices that will suit all.
Make your selections early as I shall close out all that I have about October 10.
Farm one mile south of Chelsea.

GEO. T. ENGLISH
Problem in Social Economy.
Starvation story from Lapland is to the effect that the natives are eating cats to keep alive. Now, the question is, what keeps the cats alive?

Mo-Ka COFFEE
This pure, wholesome and delicious beverage is meeting with universal favor by all who have tried it.
Put up only in 1-lb. air-tight packages, thus preserving its Purity, Strength and Flavor
Ask your Grocer for MO-KA, the high-grade
Coffee at a popular price.

Lumber, Lath, Shingles and Fence Posts
From MILL Direct to YOU. Write for Prices.
South Side Lumber Company, Traverse City, Mich.
J. O. CROTHER, Receiver.

Central Meat Market.
We Carry a Complete Stock of Fresh and Salt Meats and all Kinds Sausage
We buy only the best, therefore our customers get the best.
Smoked Hams and Bacon, Pure Lard, Fish and Dressed Poultry Courteous treatment, Free delivery. Phone 40.
ADAM EPPLER

THE WATER WAY
BETWEEN DETROIT AND BUFFALO
The D. & B. Lake Steamers leave Detroit weekdays at 5:00 p. m., Saturdays at 4:00 p. m. (central time) and from Buffalo daily at 5:30 p. m. (eastern time) reaching their destination the next morning. Direct connections with early morning trains. Lowest popular week-end excursions to Buffalo and Niagara Falls, leave Detroit every Saturday and return Monday morning.
RAIL TICKETS AVAILABLE ON STEAMERS
All classes of tickets and reading of the Michigan Central, Western and Grand Trunk railways between Detroit and Buffalo in either direction will be accepted for transportation on the D. & B. Lake Steamers. Round trip, 25c. Steam for illustrated pamphlet and Great Lakes Map. Address: L. G. LEWIS, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Detroit, Mich.
DETROIT & BUFFALO STEAMBOAT CO.
PHILIP H. MCILLAN, VICE-PRES. A. A. SCHMIDT, GEN. MGR.

CLUB OFFER.
If you want to subscribe for World's Work ($3.00), McClure's
($1.50) and Delinquer ($1.00) do so AT ONCE as the $3.00 combination rate will be withdrawn October 1st.
I am prepared to furnish you with magazines and periodicals at the lowest rates. Get this combination in time and get started right.
ELMER E. WINANS.
Phone 60.

EXCURSIONS
TO REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION
DETROIT
$1.80 Round
Trip.
Going Sept. 23, and on morning trains of 29th scheduled to arrive Detroit before 1:00
p. m. that day.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION SAGINAW
$4.05 Round
Trip.
Going Sept. 29, and on morning trains of Oct. 1 scheduled to arrive Saginaw before 1:00 p. m. that day.

STATE PROHIBITION CONVENTION
LANSING
$1.95 Round
Trip.
Going Sept. 25, and on morning trains of 26th scheduled to arrive Lansing before 1:00 p. m. that day.

GRAND RAPIDS
$3.90 Round
Trip.
Going Sept. 25, and on morning trains of 26th scheduled to arrive Grand Rapids before 1:00 p. m. that day.

SOCIALIST PARTY CONVENTION
INDEPENDENT PARTY CONVENTION
Going Sept. 29, and on morning trains of 30th scheduled to arrive Grand Rapids before 1:00 p. m. that day.
For details consult agents
MICHIGAN CENTRAL
(Display Adv. No. 183-1908.)

Chelsea Greenhouses.
Out Flowers. Potted Plants.
Funeral Designs.
For Pickling—Cucumbers, 25c per hundred.
Tomatoes, 50c to 60c per bushel.
Peppers, 10c to 15c per dozen.
Pie Pumpkins, 5c each.
ELVIRA CLARK,
Phone 103-2-1, 1-s.

Commissioners' Notice.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Washtenaw.
The undersigned having been appointed by the Probate Court for said County, to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against the estate of Christian Eschman, late of said county, deceased, hereby give notice that within three months from date of said probate court, for creditors to present their claims against the estate of said deceased, that they will meet at late residence of decedent, in the Township of Lima, in said county, on the 6th day of November, and on the 6th day of January, 1909, next, at ten o'clock a. m.
each of said days, to present, examine and adjust said claims.
Dated, September 24, 1908.
FRED C. HAIST,
GOTTFRIED EISEMAN Commissioners.

Notice to Creditors.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Washtenaw.
Notice is hereby given that by order of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, made on the 29th day of August,
A. D. 1908, four months from that date allowed for creditors to present their claims against the estate of Mary A. VanTine, late of said county, deceased, and that all creditors and all persons claiming to be creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said Probate Court, at the Probate Office in the city of Ann Arbor, for examination and allowance, on or before the 29th day of December next, and that such claims will be heard before said Court, on the 29th day of October and on the 29th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of each of said days.
Dated, Ann Arbor, August 29th, A. D. 1908.
EMORY E. LEAHY, Judge of Probate.
(Executor, Sarah E. VanTine, Chelsea)

DETROIT BUSINESS UNIVERSITY
The oldest, yet most modern, business school in the State, invites you to write for its new Catalogue. Address R. J.
Bennett, C. P. A., Principal, 15 Wilcox street, Detroit, Michigan.

DETROIT UNITED LINE Between Jackson, Chelsea, Ann Arbor
Ypsilanti and Detroit.
LIMITED CARS.
East bound, 7:42 am 1:42 pm 4:27 pm
West bound, 9:45 am 2:45 pm 5:45 pm
LOCAL CARS.
East bound—6:36 am; 8:40 am, and every two hours to 8:40 pm; also 10:10 pm.
To Ypsilanti only, 11:35.
West bound—6:44 am; 7:50 am, and every two hours to 11:50 pm.
Cars connect at Ypsilanti for Saline and at Wayne for Plymouth and North ville.