Mrs. Lucy Evelina Gates.

Miss Lucy Evelina Davis was born in Sylvan township, November 21, 1833, and died at her home in Chelsea, Thursday morning, June 3, 1909.

She was the daughter of William Arnold and Abigail Lawrence Davis, who with others came from Shoeham, Vermont, in 1832 and settled in what has since been called the Vermont settlement, taking up land from the government. She professed religion in the spring of 1850, and was baptized by Rev. Robert Powell.

She was united in marriage with Dr. R. B. Gate, October 19, 1854. His death occured January 13, 1896. The deceased is survived by three children, Mrs. Mary V. Depew, of Alpena, Reswell D. Gates, who has always resided here, and Mrs. Abbie M. Terrel, of Lansing, and two grandchildren, Evelina and Frank Beckwith, and her eldest and only surviving brother, Dr. W. A. Davis, of Grand Ledge. The Baptist church, of which she was a faithful member, was organized in 1868 in her home.

The funeral was held at the late home at 2:30 last Saturday afternoon, Rev. G. A. Chittenden, of Chelsea, and a supply of the new postage stamps Chief Crawley asked for the man of the place, saying that he wanted to feed his horses. The woman whistled shrilly, and from behind a clump of bushes near the barn, there came a little weazened man about 50 years of age. The instant Murray saw the newcomer his eyes brightened. The boy's description of the stranger who left the ancient wagon in the shed exactly fitted the mar who stood before him.

Having made the arrest and searched him, he found on a piece of paper in the prisoner's coat pocket the name, "Tom Hale, New York." Murray at once sent a telegram addressed to Hale as follows:

"Come on. I am sick. Stopping at Morton house. Room 84."

Murray made arrangements with the clerk of the Morton house to keep track of any person who called and asked for the guest in room 84. Nobody came. The shover, who was known as "Poke" Sales, stayed in jail. having been identified by Landers and the bartender. A week passed without any fresh developments. A heavy snowstorm had been raging for several days, the trains were blockaded and all traffic delayed. But on the ninth day there was a new arrival at the Morton house. Although it was an excessively cold day he wore no overcoat. He inquired for Mr. Sales in room 84 and was instantly pounced upon by Murray who was close at hand. Upon being taken to headquarters and searched several hundred dollars was found upon him, but nothing in the way of counterfeit oney. Still, Murray detained him with the intention of hunting for his baggage, for it was obvious that a man wearing such expensive clothes as adorned the person of the prisoner ham's Vegetable Compound would be likely to have an overcoat in the vicinity somewhere.

On the following morning Murray began a systematic hunt for the missing overcoat. During the course of his search he stepped into a saloon kept by a man named John Anthony.

"Here's a curious thing happened yesterday," he said. "There was a woll-dressed chap came in here, washed his hands and walked out again leaving his overcoat behind him. You'd think that would be about the last thing he'd leave on a bitter cold "Seems funny," responded Murray. Let me look at that coat, John."

The overcoat was produced and in the first pocket Murray examined he found $1,000 in counterfeit $20 and $100 bills wrapped up in a handkerchief. They were such excellent counterfeits that they actually deceived the eyes of several bank experts to whom they were shown. Murray went back to the jail and approached his prisoner.

"Hello, Hale, here's your coat," he

"All right, thank you," said the stranger.

"Then it is your coat, Tom? queried Murray.

"Why, certainly," replied the pris

Murray produced the counterfeit money from the pocket and Hale, realizing what a grave mistake he had made, denied that the garment was his property. Murray compelled him to don it and the fit was perfect. The saloon-keeper identified him as the stranger who had left the coat in his place.

"Poke" Sales pleaded guilty to passing counterfeit money and received a five year sentence. Hale was taken by the United States authorities to Pittsburg, then to New York and finally to Washington. He was a smooth talking fellow and made the government officials believe he would be of great use to the secret service department. On speaking of the circumstance to the clerk that worthy informed him that she was a scrub woman who worked late and lived outside the hotel. There was nothing suspicious about that, but as the clerk declared that he did not know where the woman lived, Murray, out of sheer, idle curiosity, determined to shadow her to her home. When she slipped down the stairs as usual Murray followed her into the street, but before he had traversed five blocks realized that his trailing was useless. On the following morning the Erie papers reported another burglary as having occurred in a house four blocks from where the scrub woman had vanished into thin air. Murray said nothing to his associates but that night he took up a station at the Reed house and waited. About one o'clock in the morning the figure of the scrub woman flitted lightly down the stairs and Murray followed her into the gloom of night. On one side of the double building lived Mrs. O'Brien, a respectable woman. Her knowledge of the occupants of the other side was limited to the fact of their being women who had resided there less than a year.

Murray knocked at the door and received no answer. He rapped loudly again. There was a scurry of feet in the hall and finally the door swung open. A big robust girl. 23 years old, stood on the threshold. Without further ceremony the detective strode in.

"What is your name?" he asked. "Mary Ann Hall," was the answer. "Do you live alone?"

"I live with my mother," responded the girl. "Call her." said Murray shortly,

Mary Ann complied, and in answer to her summons the ancient scrub woman skipped out of an adjoining room in a manner that suggested the activity of 16 rather than the natural decrepitude of 60.

Murray fixed his penetrating eyes upon her and was greeted with a coquettish leer.

For the Serviette

N many homes, a serviette has to last each person for a week, or, perhaps, one is allowed for breakfast and lunch, another for dinner, to serve the week; these often become more soiled on the outside by handling than they do from use; and a little contrivance, such as we show here, and which is of French origin, is very practical. It is made like an envelope, of fine linen or cambric, the width that of a serviette folded in three or four as preferred, the depth to correspond; the size must, of course, be regulated by the size of the serviette it is intended to hold. The edge is ornamented all round by a drawn thread hem, one end is turned up to form a pocket, the other which forms the flap is worked with the spray shown below in open hole embroidery; the case is fastened by a loop and small button under the

Facts About the Texas Gulf Coast From One Who Knows

In a recent letter to the President of the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico R. R., Robert H. Kern, Esq., 922 Missouri Trust Building,

St. Louis, writes: "Mr. Randolph has shown me your letter in which reference is made to my farming in Missouri. Presuming that you would like to know a little of my success in that line, I will say that I have been actively farming under my own supervision for seven years 2,000 acres of fine farming land in Macon County, Mo. You may judge of the quality of this land when I tell you that I have in favorable seasons raised 75 bushels of corn to the acre, 30 bushels of wheat and 2 tons of hay. I have also studied farming conditions in the high priced lands of Illinois and Iowa. My own experience and this observation leads me to believe that if the best farms in any of these States for any five years average 50 bushels of corn to the acre, and that the farmer realizes therefrom $20 or $25 an acre, he is doing the best possible, and out of this, expense, etc., of raising crops must be deducted. 'A year ago I went to the lower Rio Grande Valley in the Gulf Coast Country of Texas and spent some time studying farming conditions there; I found my 20 years' experience on a farm in Bourbon Co., Ky., and my long experience in Missouri of great service. So much impressed was I with the vast superiority of farming in the Brownsville, Texas, region, that I bought 160 acres of land near Santa Maria, Texas, and put my son (a college boy) in charge. The result of practically a year is far better than I afticipated. He has cut alfalfa sown in January, 1908, 9 times, and realized therefrom 8 tons to the acre, worth $21.50 a ton at Mercedes, Texas, in February. He is now shipping cabbage planted in December, realizing between $200 and $300 an acre, and writes me that from the cabbage, cucumber, melon and bean crop of 40 acres, he will realize over $7,000. He has a fine fig orchard of over 7,000 trees set out in February, 1907, which raised from 10 acres in July and August, 1908, over $100 worth of figs to the acre and the entire crop this year should realize over $150 per acre. Orange trees set out two years ago, then two years old, are bearing now. One old lemon tree has borne over 2,000 fine lemons since July, and bananas are growing all the time. In my roamings in Europe and America I have neither seen a country nor a climate that compares with it."

Glazier was known to be a stockholder in the Security Trust Co. and their stock sells at a premium. What became of this stock? Did some Detroit bank get it? And how about the stock Glazier had in the Dexter Savings Bank? This stock must have sold for something? Who had it? What bank had it as collateral? If the Chelsea Savings Bank cannot maintain the validity of its mortgages, it is certainly interested as a general creditor in the time of the regular morning ser- Barthel. Savings Bank.

The following was sent out by the League for Self-Improvement composed of inmates of the Michigan state prison: For the sake of the young mothers of today, whose sons will fill the prisons of the future, let us study this thing carefully, looking at it from every view-point.

If some method could be found whereby the enormous economic loss to the state, under present penal methods, could be avoided or lessen ed, it would solve a portion of the present difficulty. Restraint, confinement of some sort, is an admitted necessity under our present sociologic outlook, but neither the restrainf nor the confinement necessitates the present economic loss.

Look at it for a moment. A mechanic is earning good wages upon. which he supports wife and children; some crime, if you will-when the state steps in, shuts him in some prison, spends seventy-five cents per day to prevent his earning support for wife and babies, while those dependent beg or starve. Net loss to the state in dollars and cents-the loss of the man's time and products, plus the cost of aintenance and known as "alumni day." Inasmuch guardianship in round figures $3.00 as this coming commencement season per day, $1,000 per year. But, by far at the University will be the last at the greater loss is in a family forced which President Angell will be from their independent position as present in his capacity as head of the producers, as contributors to the University, a special effort is being state's wealth, into the line of de- made to make this occasion of espendent consumers, sapping the economic vitality of the state, destroying their own sense of responsi- ed than ever before. Twenty-three bility. It is not one life ruined, it is classes have signified their intention a half-a-dozen lives!

Surely there is some method better for the state, better for the individual. Working together, intelligently, you with your knowledge of the world at large, we with our experience of the world shut in, may we not find the way?

A GLIMPSE INTO THE FUTURE As Science Advances There May Develop a New Field for Energy of Detectives.

John E. Wilkie, chief of the secret service, gets many letters from men and boys who desire to become sleuths and who have no hesitancy in stating their qualifications.

"Most of them," said Wilkie, "remind me of the two men who were talking about their occupation. One said he was a detective.

"'A detective?' said the other. 'Ha! I will give you a problem. A cottage in a lonely wood. A miser in it counting his gold. A man comes along, goes in, hits the miser over the head with a club, kills him and gets the gold. Then he goes through the wood to a clearing, takes his automobile and gets away. How would you catch him?'

"'That's easy,' said the other. 'I ing and put my bloodhounds on his quickly postponed further action for band who, in a fit of despondency aftrail.'

"'But,' said the other, 'listen: Same miser, same wood, same man, same gold. He kills him and goes through the wood to the clearing. There he takes his airship. How would you catch him? Ha!'

"'It's simpler than the other,' replied the detective. 'I would follow his tracks to the clearing. Then I would put my bloodpigeons on his trail. Yes!" "-Saturday Evening Post.

Georgian's Catch of 500 Fish. The largest catch of fish yet recorded is that which is reported here to have been made by Sid Phelan, Jr. of Atlanta on his father's plantation near here recently when 500 fish were caught at one time.

The Phelan plantation is located on the Flint river, and there are a number of pools nearby caused from the recent heavy rains and rapid rise of the river. The other day Mr. Phelan saw what appeared to be a school of fish in one of these ponds. He examined and found that this was true and that the fish were being herded, as were, by a large snake, which was ewimming around them. He got a bucket and let it down into the pond where they were the thickest, and when he pulled it up the bucket was full of fish. There were over 500, each about an inch or so long.-Rob-

Aitken Banking Measure Among Those Which Warner Declined to Approve-Other Measures on List of Discards.

Lansing.-Ten bills passed by the legislature were allowed to fall by Gov. Warner before the session formally adjourned sine die. Representatives Monroe, Stewart, Yaple and Ogg were present in the house when Speaker Campbell brought down his gavel. The executive office was unable to send in a complete list of all the bills, as some of them were not actually signed. Those that were ready were read off by Clerk King and the complete list appears in the journal, so that the record is com-

Of the bills which failed, the most important one was Senator Aitken's banking bill allowing state banks in cities of less than 2,000 to carry a smaller amount of actual cash than is required by the general banking law, and restricted the territory in which state banks might deal in real estate mortgages to Michigan. The governor did not care so much about the first provision, but claimed that the second one would operate seriously to cripple some banks, which dealt largely in real estate mortgages in other states. The other bills which failed are as follows:

Representative Morgan-Repealing the law prohibiting the use of oleo in state institutions. The governor took the position that the repeal would apply to the inmates, but not to the officers of the institutions. Representative Gray-Authorizing the city of Lansing to use certain state lots for parks. As drafted the city became the actual owners of these lots. Senator Taylor-Limiting county superintendents of the poor to two consecu tive terms.

Felled With an Iron Bar After His Fearful Work, is Terribly Beaten Before Subdued.

With a maniacal shriek, John Murphy turned from pig-sticking to mankilling in the North Packing & Provision Co.'s slaughter house in Somerville, Mass., and driving his fellow workmen before him, slew five of them and wounded four others. Two of the wounded were reported later as dying.

The dead are: Hubert Smith, negro; James Catre, negro; Thomas Crowe, all three of Cambridge; Michael Janicus, Somerville, and an unidentified white man.

The wounded are Dr. Daniel C. sen, of Muskegon, rushed to reach Hayes, government inspector, of Walher. She explained that she was me tham; John Cheevus and John Lewis, ly swinging on the line to dry h

According to some of the workmen,

Murphy had been acting peculiarly for some days, but returned from his dinner apparently in normal condition. Shortly after 2 o'clock he suddenly uttered a scream and sprang at Dr. Hayes, waving his 15-inch razor-edge knife in his hand. He cut .Dr. Hayes a deep gash on the neck, stabbed him over the heart and terribly slashed him. The terrified workmen rushed for the door, but Murphy ran after them, slashing right and left. Every man whom he struck went down with a groan. The crowd plunged down stairs with Murphy after them, and at every landing he cut somebdy. On the second floor one of the workmen, an Italian, seized a heavy bar of iron and felled Murphy, but he was quickly on his feet again and wounded another man.

On the street floor he was given another heavy blow on the head and $1,000 to $1,100; Battle Creek, $3,400 to his knife was wrenched from his $3,500; Belding. $2,200 to $2,300; Berrien hand. Murphy is 50 years old, weighs 200 pounds and was regarded as one of the strongest men in the plant. He had been employed at pig killing for some years by the North Co. He is married and lives in Somerville.

The wounded men were hastily taken to the Cambridge Relief station, where it was reported that there is very little hope of Dr. Hayes or Cheevus surviving their wounds.

FEUDS AGAIN.

The Hargus Murders Are Re-echoed in Bloody Breathitt.

Callahan, former sheriff o Breathitt county, and chief lieutenant of Judge James Hargis during the feuder that bathed the county in blood, was shot from ambush and will probably die. The shooting of Callahan is expected to revive the old trouble and, unless strong measures are taken immediately, the same lawless conditions are likely to prevail.

Callahan had swept out his little store in Crockettsville and was standing in the front doorway with the broom in his hands when there was a crack of a rifle and he fell back. A puff of smoke in the woods 150 yards away told where the would-be assassin had waited with his Winchester for the appearance of the former sheriff.

The bullet struck Callahan in the stomach, passed through his body and splintered a door in the other side of the room. "Ed" Callahan was chief lieutenant of Judge James Hargis, who was recently murdered by his son, Beach Hargis, who is serving a life term in the penitentiary for the deed. Hargis was the central figure of the famous Hargis-Cockrill feud, in which an untold number of men, women and children lost their lives-for even women and children were not exempt. During the course of that feud no man dared fill the office of coroner in the county. Of 40 known deaths as a result of the feud, only one man was not shot from ambush and that one was shot in the back. Through the north and east it was the general belief that a code of honor existed in the backwoods of Kentucky, but 39 of these 40 murders were the work of hired assassins. A common phrase in the district was:

"Here, take this $5, kill my man and bring back the change." Callahan is said to have helped Judge Hargis plan many killings. Both ne and Judge Hargis were arrested six years ago after the killing of Attorney J. B. Marcum, who was assassinated in the street near the Jackson court house. Callahan was appointed sheriff by Judge Hargis and enemies of the Hargis clan declared they were

SYNOPSIS.

Senator Morley Vernon's visit with his ancee was interrupted by a call from it political boss at the state capital. Both regretted it, the girl more than he, secause she had arranged to attend a linner that evening with him. She said he yearned for a national office for him. In Vernon's desk in the senate he found red rose, accompanied by a plea for uffrage for women. He met the auhoress, pretty Miss Maria Greene of Pileago, who proposed to convert him heres, pretty miss a tree of hicago, who proposed to convert him ato voting for house resolution No. 19. is Greene secured Vernon's promise to out for the suffrage resolution. He also sided her by convincing others. He took liking to the fair suffragette. Miss seene consulted with the lieutenant-govmor. Vernon admitted to himself that he suffragette had stirred a strange feeling within him. He forgot to read his sance's letter. Vernon made a great peech in favor of suffrage, aided by lances from Miss Greene. The resolution as made a special order. Vernon was sthusiastic on the prospects for the resolution. He was much in Miss Greene's oppony. Vernon neglected thoughts of ompany. Vernon neglected thoughts of mella. He took Miss Greene driving and ald out plans for the success of the reso-ution. As Vernon sat there he imagined that all that talk was of him; more than all, that all that laughter was at him—though there was no more of Vernon was trying to laugh. "Can't either than there was every day when you see the distinction? We call men the legislators came over to the hotel for their big noon dinners. At last anything like that, But women! Ah, Amelia turned to him.

"You've got the blues, haven't you?" she said. It would seem that somehow he did her an injustice by having the blues.

"No," he answered. "Then what's the matter?" she de-

Vernon glanced at her, and his glance carried its own reproach. "Oh!" she said, as if suddenly recalling a trivial incident, "Still worrying about that?"

'Well," Vernon answered. "It has some seriousness for me." Amelia, sitting properly erect, her hands folded in her lap, twisted about and faced him. "You don't mean, Morley, that you are sorry it didn't pass, do you?"

"It puts me in rather an awkward position," he said. "I suppose you know that."

"I don't see how," Amelia replied "Well," Vernon explained, "to stand for a measure of that importance, and then at the final, critical moment, to fail-"

"Oh, I see!" said Amelia, moving away from him on the couch. "Of course, if you regret the time, if you'd rather have been over in the senate than to have been with me-why, of course!" She gave a little deprecating laugh.

Vernon leaned impulsively toward

"But, dear," he said, "you don't understand!"

"And after your begging me to come down to Springfield, to see you!" Amelia said. Her eyes were fixed on the elevator, and just at that moment the car came rushing down the shaft and swished itself to a stop just when,

Vernon had no answer for her. "I wonder what explanation she'll apleasantness. One cannot, you have for her defeat?" said Amelia in a tone that could not conceal its spirit of triumph.

"I'm not worried about that," said Vernon. "I'm more concerned about the explanation I'll have."

He looked at her, then suddenly he drew her into his arms, and she let her head rest for an instant on his shoulder: but only for an instant. Then she exclaimed and was erect and all propriety.

"You forget where we are, dear," she said. "I don't care about that," he re-

They were face to face again, both smiling radiantly. Then Amelia drew away, saying:

"Morley don't be ridiculous." "But I'm dead in earnest, dear," he went on. "And I think you ought to make some sort of amends for all the misery you've caused me."

"You poor boy!" she said, with the pity that is part of a woman's triumph.

"I did it," he said, "just because I love you, and have learned in you what women are capable of, what they might do in politics-" "In politics! Morley! Can you magine me in politics? I thought you

But the next day Mrs. Brown was able to sit up, and two days later she was downstairs.

Misapplying Music.

"I went to a fashionable wedding the other day," remarked a man who has little time for such things, "and I was decidedly impressed by the character of the music that was played while the assembled guests were waiting for the wedding party to arrive. The principal number played by the orchestra was an air from one of the most modern operas. It marks the entrance of the heroine of the piece, who is coming on the scene to take part in a wedding of complaisance with the hero, who is generally regarded as one of the greatest blackguards the world wedding ceremony that is to take place is a sham and the marriage turns out to be a tragedy of the shabblest sort. And yet that music was played in a church that stands for intelligence if any one congregation in this town does."-Exchange.

Woman's Rights. 'Madam, do you believe in woman's rights?" asked the man standing in the car.

"I do," she replied shortly. "Excuse me," he went on. "I am but an ignorant male seeking light. May I ask you if you construe these rights to include the privilege of spreading your really becoming skirts over three seats?" Thereupon she condensed herself. he took a seat and conversation

France, even once, much less to re turn for the ingathering of the spiritual harvest. It is impossible to know in any detail what are the results of all this work. The majority of the French people seem to believe that religion is the enemy of republicanism and that a republican form of government cannot exist where religion is tolerated. And, in the minds of the majority of Frenchmen, the word "religion" is synonymous with "Catholic."

But all this time the McAll Mission has suffered under no such disability. It is not a church, but a People's Mission, and being by definition a friend of the people it is therefore a friend of the republic. "I like to come here because there is no religion here"meaning no ritual or ceremonial-is frequently said in a mission hall. No penalty, social or legal, is visited upon the man who enters a hall of the Mc-All Mission, or walks with one of its missionaries, or calls one of them to officiate at a funeral. To those who know it, the mission is a friend, an agency for their instruction and for the moralization and the safe and innocent recreation of their children.

> Europe and Birth Rating. The birth rate is more than twice as large in Russia as it is in France. In Normandy, where the birth rate is lowest, the births at times fall as low as 15 to the 1,000 inhabitants in a year. But in Russia there are many districts, as in Orenburg, where the births are as high as 60 to the 1,000 in a year. Notwithstanding the enormous emigration from Europe in the nineteenth century, its population now is nearly double what it was at the beginning of the century. That part of Great Britain occupied by England is now the most densely peopled region in Europe. The crowding of so many millions together is at last having the effect of diminishing the birth rate. Statistics show that it has declined one-fourth in the last 28 years. If this goes on the English birth rate will soon be as small as that of France. In some parts of Germany. as in Berlin, the birth rate is on the decline.

Consul B. S. Rairden of Batavia reports that the Java Reptile Skin Company, with a reported capital of $40,-000, has been established at different places in Java for the purpose of dealing principally in snake skins. The company is to have branches throughout the interior of the island, buying up live snakes, ire possible, which are skinned alive, as the skins so taken are much superior to the skins snakes of 13 and 18 feet in length are purchased at very low figures. These snake skins are for the export market and are extensively used in Consular Report

A bad back is a heavy handicap to those of us who have to work every day, Nine times out of ten, backache tells of kidney weakness. The only way to find relief is to cure the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills have given sound strong backs to thousands of men and women. Mrs. Wesley Clemens, 311

Marion St., Manchester, Ia., says: "Constant work at a sewing machine seemed to bring on kidney trouble. The kidney action was irregular and the pains in my back and loins so severe I could hardly endure it. Doan's Kidney Pills made me feel better in sbort time, and I took them until entirely free from my trouble."

Prominent Women Aid Good Cause. A large number of women occupying prominent positions in society, or on the stage, are taking an active interest in the anti-tuberculosis campaign. Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt has recently given $1,000,000 for sanitary homes for consumptives. Mrs. Keith Spalding of Chicago has erected a sanitarium for the Chicago Tuberculosis institute at a cost of about $50. 000; Mrs. Collis P. Huntington and Mrs. Borden Harriman have given largely to the consumption fight. In Porto Rico, Mrs. Albert Norton Wood. wife of a prominent army officer stationed at San Juan, has stirred the entire island through the anti-tuberculosis crusade she inaugurated. Mme. Emma Calve is a most enthusiastic worker, and has given largely of her talent and money for the relief of tuberculosis sufferers, and Miss Olga Nethersole has even lectured before the public on tuberculosis.

Couldn't Stand It. A Raleigh, N. C., woman not long ago received into her house

"Why did you leave me, Mary Jane?" she asked. "Mis' Morgan, I jes' couldn't stay!" exclaimed the girl. "I was jes' cloyed with neatness!"

Obedience. Prompt and unquestioning obedience is the corner stone of the foundation of succes in life. No man can give orders properly who has not learned to take them, and "save he serve, no man may rule." It will be found that the men who have won their way to positions of power and responsibility have invariably been the men who did not reason or argue or even "respectfully represent," but who promptly did as they were commanded without questioning. It is the large man, not the little man, who recognizes a superior authority.

> MAKING SUNSHINE It Is Often Found in Pure Food.

The improper selection of food drives many a healthy person into the depths of despairing illness. Indeed. much sickness comes from wrong food and just so surely as that is the case right food will make the sun shine once more.

An old veteran of Newburyport Mass., says: "In October, I was taken sick and went to bed, losing 47 pounds in about 60 days. I had doctor after doctor, food hurt me and I had to live almost entirely on magnesia and soda. All solid food distressed me so that water would run out of my mouth in little streams.

"I had terrible night sweats, and my doctor finally said I had consumption and must die. My good wife gave up all hope. We were at Old Orchard, Me., at that time and my wife saw Grape-Nuts in a grocery there. She bought some and persuaded me to try it.

"I had no faith in it, but took it to please her. To my surprise it did not distress me as all other food had done and before I had taken the fifth package I was well on the mend. The pains left my head, my mind became clearer and I gained weight rapidly.

"I went back to my work again and now after six weeks' use of the food I am better and stronger than ever before in my life. Grape-Nuts surely saved my life and made me a strong hearty man, 15 pounds heavier than before I was taken ill.

"Both my good wife and I are willing to make affidavit to the truth of Blue Ribbon Races.

With more good horses in training than in other years the blue ribbon meeting at Detroit, July 26 to 30, promises to be the best renewal during the quarter century of activity on the part of the Detroit Driving reason the racing is better than in of the parish any other city, because it is the first clash among the horses.

During the winter and early spring upwards of five hundred horses were in training at Memphis, Macon, Selma and other southern points. Many of these have moved to the north where they have been joined by hundreds of others. At the Michigan state fair grounds alone two hundred are being prepared for their campaign. The backwardness of the spring has not affected the speed of the horses, for June I found them far advanced all along the line; some of the early work being a surprise to the trainers themselves.

Detroit again gives its famous M. & M. and Chamber of Commerce classics. There are two other stakes and this quartette will be surrounded by about fifteen purse vents, making a program of rare excellence. The M. & M. is twenty years old this summer. From its inception it has been the one race that is talked about winter and summer, and this year's renewal is expected to be the 1909 sensation of the turf.

Big Circus at Jackson.

The Barnum & Bailey greatest show on earth is to visit Jackson on Friday. June 18th; Never since the beginning of time has an amusement enterprise so tremendous in size been together with every foreign country, novelties and the result is a perfornew to the circus world. In the big Barnum & Bailey show are nearly sensation will be seen at every per formance in "Jupiter, the balloon horse." This remarkable animal with its fearless rider ascends to the dome Greenhouses of the circus tent in a balloon and descends to the ground in a shower of fireworks. Nearly 1000 animal wonders are to be found in the big 108 cage menagerie, 8 herd of elephants, including one herd that actually plays tune. A group of giant giraffes monster trained hippopotamus, only FLORIST living bi-horned rhinoceros and hundreds of other strange beasts. Barnum & Bailey's big, hew, free street parade is the most gorgeous processional display ever attempted in the history of circus business. Its tremendous size and wonderful length can only be believed in the actual seeing. It is natural to expect this big circus to lead all others in quality and quantity of its street spectacle as well as in other departments of the big show, yet never in its splendid history of nearly half a century has it displayed such extravagance as is shown this year.

> British Women Voters. A return of the number of women voters in England and Wales who are qualified to vote for county councils and for councilors in municipal boroughs shows that the women's franchise for county councils extends to 563,961 for England and 41,945 for Wales, making a total of 605,906. For county borough councils in England and Wales the number is 265. 862, and for noncounty borough councils there are 131,421 voters for England, 5,90 for Wales, making a total of 137,324. Sought Fatal Inspiration.
