

The Real Saving IN Drug Store Goods

Where the real saving comes in drug store purchases is in the little things you buy over the drug and sundries counter every week of your life. You want to have value in them as well as value in your dollar purchase.

We do not publish great long lists of patents and high-priced sundries at cut prices and then charge big profits to small purchases. We give you real value in the little things that you buy every day.

Jury Gave Charlotte Kaiser a Judgment of $1,000 Damages

The breach of promise case of Charlotte Kaiser, of Chelsea, and Jacob Steinbach, of Lima, was tried in the circuit court the past week, and some of the testimony presented was unfit for publication.

Monday the jury brought in a verdict for Miss Kaiser after being out for three hours. She was awarded $1,000 for the humiliation which she alleges she suffered.

She claimed that Steinbach kept promising to marry her, but postponed the event more than two years on one pretext or another. She finally brought suit against him for $10,000.

Steinbach's attorney's declare that they will carry the case to the supreme court, on the ground that the judgment is excessive.

The trial of this case attracted many from this vicinity, and it is said that the testimony was all that the lover of the sensational could ask for.

A Delightful Affair.

The musical given by the Chelsea Bay View Reading Club to the Ladies' Research Club at the beautiful home of Mrs. H. L. Stanton Friday evening, May 6th was a rare treat to the music loving company. A program arranged by the School of Music was unusually well rendered by the following:

Op. 118, No. 1.....Brabms
Improvisation.....MacDowell
Nocturne.....Debussy

Mr. Stevens.

(a) Du bist die Ruh.....Schubert
(b) Patria.....Matter
Miss Rohrer.

(a) The Chords of Life.....Lloyd
(b) Who Knows.....Rogers
(c) O, That We Two Were May-ing.....Gounod

Mr. Bazley.

Fantaisie in F.....Chopin
Mr. Stevens.

(a) My Ain Folk.....Laura Lemon
(b) Violets.....Ellen Wright
(c) Irish Love Song.....Margaret Lang

Miss Rohrer.

(a) Madrigal.....Victor Harris
(b) Mother O' Mine.....Liddle
(c) Oh for a Day of Spring.....Andrews

Mr. Bazley.

Duet—It Was a Lover and His Lass. (Shakespeare).....Waltwh
Miss Rohrer and Mr. Bazley.

Miss Lucy M. Blakeney and Earl V. Moore accompanists.

Mr. Stevens combines ability of high order with remarkable technique. His rendering of the Fantaisie in F by Chopin brought to mind "How Ruby Played the Piano" and had somewhat the same effect on the audience.

Miss Rohrer has a rich, full contralto voice and her rendering of such varied selections showed its wonderful scope. Her rare voice and pleasing personality bespeak for her a brilliant future.

Mr. Bazley was a delight to his listeners and like little Joe the company wanted more. A particularly pleasing number was the duet where manners were forgotten and the audience insisted on hearing it again.

The singers were ably accompanied by Miss Blakeney and Mr. Moore. Mr. Moore is so well and favorably known musically in Chelsea that it was regretted that he was not more prominent on the program.

The house was artistically decorated with flowers and greenery. The construction of the rooms afforded an ideal place for such an entertainment, it being possible for the large company to see the performers as well as to hear. Dainty refreshments were served in the dining room where the color scheme of pink and white was carried out, making an attractive and pleasing place to while away a little time.

The committee, consisting of Mrs. L. Wilcox, chairman, Mrs. G. W. Palmer, Mrs. A. Pierce, and the hostess did themselves proud in arranging the details which resulted in such an artistic success.

Enrollment of 5,411.

The total registration of students in all seven departments of the University of Michigan for the year 1909-10, including summer school students, is 5,411. These figures have just been determined and they show a total gain of 188 students over the year of 1908-09.

Exclusive of all summer session students, there are 4,891 students at Michigan today, an increase of 53 over the same time last year.

The greatest gain in numbers has come through the department of literature, science and the arts, there being 2,017 students today, where there were 1,901 at a corresponding time last year, an increase of 116.

The law department gained 52 students, or 833 students today against 781 a year ago.

The dental department shows a gain of 21, having 216 students today against 195 a year ago.

The medical department lost the greatest number, owing doubtless to changing the course from a straight medical course, to one demanding two years of literary work, which went into effect last fall. The medicals have 318 students this year, where they had 408 last, a decrease in attendance of 90.

The engineering department suffered a loss of 39, having had 1,333 students this year against 1,372 last. The department of pharmacy numbered 107 last year as against 97 this, a loss of 10, and the Homoeopathic department lost six students.

Ormel Merritt Boyd.

Ormel Merritt Boyd was born in Lima, Michigan, October 18, 1844, and died at his home in Chelsea, Friday morning, May 6, 1910.

Soon after his birth his parents removed to the state of New York where they remained until he was 11 years of age when they returned to Michigan, settling on what is known as the Boyd farm, Sylvan Center.

In his younger days Mr. Boyd was engaged in the mercantile business at Sylvan Center, Grass Lake and Reading. Twenty-two years ago last October he returned to Chelsea and established a grocery and meat business which he conducted for a number of years. After disposing of his grocery business he established the hotel, known as the Boyd, House, which he conducted very successfully for several years. He was a member of Olive Lodge, No. 158, F. & A. M., and Chelsea Tent, No. 281, K. O. T. M. M.

He was united in marriage with Mrs. Mary L. Becker, February 27, 1873, to which union four children were born. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Warren C. and J. Howard, one daughter, Mrs. Edyth M. Cavanaugh, his mother, Mrs. Mercy Boyd, two brothers, Darwin and Homer H., and one granddaughter.

The funeral was held from his late home Monday afternoon, the Revs. Dunning Idle and M. L. Grant officiating. The burial services were conducted at Maple Grove cemetery, Sylvan Center, under the auspices of his Masonic brothers.

The business places of Chelsea were closed during the funeral hour.

May Festival.

Next week, May 18, 19, 20 and 21, occurs the annual May festival at Ann Arbor, with concert every evening and also a symphony concert Friday afternoon. This year the management have secured Mme. Jane Osborne Hannah as the principal soprano and the Theodore Thomas Orchestra as usual. The admission tickets including reserved seats are selling at $4.00, $5.00 and $6.00 according to location. People from this locality have so universally attended these concerts that an extended notice or history thereof is unnecessary. This year will be no exception to the rule as far as attendance is concerned and a great many of our citizens who are musically inclined looked forward to a week of enjoyment.

Farmers' Club Meeting.

Reading.....J. F. Waltrous
Music.

Billie Burke in "Mrs. Dot."

Miss Billie Burke's annual spring starring tour is evidently to be a regular theatrical fixture. Miss Burke will be seen at the Whitney opera house, Ann Arbor on Wednesday, May 25, in "Mrs. Dot," the comedy by W. Somerset Maugham in which she scored a big hit at the Lyceum theatre, New York, just after Christmas. Those who have seen her say she is even more charming as Mrs. Dot than she was in "Love Watches," the comedy adapted from the French in which she made her debut as a star last season.

Jacob L. Klein.

Jacob L. Klein, died at his home in Lima, Friday morning, May 6, 1910, aged 42 years. He was born in Lima and his entire life has been spent in that township. He was a son of Mrs. Jacob Klein. The deceased was united in marriage with Miss Nellie Wedemeyer in 1895. The surviving members of the family are his wife, two daughters, the aged mother two brothers and one sister. The funeral was held from St. Paul's church Sunday afternoon, Rev. A. A. Schoen officiating. Interment Oak Grove cemetery.

Total Eclipse.

There will be a total eclipse of the moon, visible to observers in the United States, on the evening of May 23. The eclipse begins at 9:40:24 p. m. It will become wholly immersed in the shadow and the eclipse become total on May 24 at 12:09 a. m., and will begin to emerge at 12:50:24. It will finally emerge and the eclipse will end at 2:22:18 a. m., May 24.

GENIUS IN THE MAKING.

Harvard has a professor by the name of Baker, who thinks that it would be a good thing for colleges to teach students how to write plays. We do not know that Professor Baker has ever written any plays himself, but that is no reason why he could not teach other people to do so, says Charleston News-Courier. In fact, very often those who do not know how to do a thing themselves are very apt in teaching others how to do it. The layman is always certain he can preach a better sermon than his minister, and we have yet to discover the man who does not know more about how to conduct a newspaper than any journalist now in harness. It may be said that plays, like poetry, are the product of genius, and it follows that if we can teach young men how to write plays, real plays, we can create our geniuses. What an advance that would be! There are dozens of schools that teach pupils how to write short stories; that is, they charge these pupils a good round sum, and some of the students do write stories when they finish the course, just as they had probably written stories before they studied how to do so. It is true, too, that there is a remarkable sameness in these stories. It may account for the modern magazine effort, which, in general, is made to order and follows rules as rigidly as if it were a house and not a tale that was being built.

New Jersey is falling into line in the forest-preserving movement. The report of the forest commission of that state touches upon the subject and makes some suggestions applicable to the conditions prevailing there. In an interview the state forester dwelt upon these conditions. It appears from his remarks that the state owns approximately 2,000,000 acres of woodlands, and it is his belief that the wisest policy is to protect that area, give the trees an opportunity to grow and apply correct principles to their care rather than to acquire or plant new sections. An excellent purpose is served by the existing forests, and public interest lies more in the direction of preserving them, heading off the fires which sometimes are destructive there as elsewhere and assuring the permanency of the growth at headwaters of streams than in adding to the state's possessions. New Jersey has no Adirondack region, but she has valuable resources in the hill section of the state, and seems determined to adapt her forestry practices to the best needs of her people.

Dr. Wiley says people can live now about as well and cheaply as ten years ago if they would live in the same way, says Lowell Courier-Citizen. About everybody else is saying the same thing. People simply will not go back to the old style unless they have to. If, as Dr. Wiley says, they pay $1 a bushel for wheat made into breakfast foods, it is because they want to, knowing as well as he does that they could get the cereals in cheaper forms. The chemist says, too, that they are cheated in some canned goods. This they cannot very well help, though they might do something by refusing to buy cans improperly filled. They like the canned goods as they do the breakfast foods, and while they have the price they will buy them. It is immaterial that they are not making the most of their money. Domestic economy has been a neglected science for some time.

The marvelous recuperative powers of France had a fresh illustration in the recreation of her navy. The evils brought about by non-military control and by the destructive administrations of Messrs. Pelletan and Thomson are being corrected by the sane practices of Admiral de Lapeyriere, the new minister of marine, aided by his colleagues of the Rue Royale. Deputies and senators have realized the dangers encompassing the nation through former naval theories, and are now eager to give its sea force an efficiency worthy of its great traditions and equal to the demands of the enormous interests involved.

A rat-catcher has applied to be relieved from jury duty in New York because it interferes with his occupation. But a rat-catcher ought to be the very man, qualified by professional experience, to ferret out the things grand juries want to hunt.

One of our college professors wants to know why Americans are unhappy. One reason is that the people that do make it so difficult to live as expensively as they do.

Let us credit the latest youth who shot himself for love with the manliness and good faith to omit the preliminary of shooting the girl first.

KING EDWARD OF ENGLAND IS DEAD

British Monarch Dies of Pneumonia After Three Days Illness.

King George, in taking Oath of Sovereignty, Extols His Father's Reign and Promises to Follow in His Footsteps.

King Edward VII. died of pneumonia at 11:45 o'clock Friday night. The prince of Wales is heir, assuming the title of George V., took the oath before the privy council Saturday afternoon.

The tolling of the great bell in St. Paul's cathedral at minute intervals between 5 and 6 o'clock Saturday morning, an office performed only for the sovereign and the archbishops of Canterbury and York, conveyed to countless thousands of Londoners and suburbanites the first intimation of the death of King Edward VII. Great crowds coming into the city on early trains proceeded toward Buckingham palace and by 9 o'clock an immense stream of people was slowly filing past the front of the building with its drawn blinds, round to the west end of the palace to gaze upon the windows of the chamber where the body of the dead king was lying.

Members of the royal household attended a special service in the private chapel of the palace at an early hour.

The death of his majesty has caused a general suspension of business and the abandonment of all race meetings and other sports, public gaieties and private entertainments. The theaters closed. The stock exchange and other markets were closed and the law courts took a recess as a token of respect. Everywhere throughout the country flags were placed at half mast upon public buildings, warships and other shipping, while church bells sounded the solemn news.

The morning services at the churches were more largely attended than usual. All of the congregations were in deep mourning. A notable change in the service was the substitution of the words "the queen, the queen dowager and all the royal family," for the familiar phrase, "the queen, the prince and princess of Wales and all the royal family."

The bulk of the population of the country have donned mourning garb in some form. Men who are not wholly clothed in black are wearing black neck-scarves or black bands about their coat sleeves. The women seen are almost without exception dressed in black. Streamers of crepe hang from the whips in the hands of the cabmen. The shop fronts bear mourning shutters.

Public Not Forewarned.

Just 24 hours after the first news was broken to the public, as from a clear sky, that the king was suffering from bronchitis, with the physicians' statement that his condition "causes some anxiety," came the official pronouncement that "his majesty's condition is now critical."

The public immediately interpreted these significant words to mean that the king's case was absolutely hopeless. That conviction pervaded London and the entire kingdom. The bulletin was transmitted to all the royal relatives before it was made public, and the rapid sequence of arrivals of royals at the palace within the next hour confirmed, so far as confirmation was needed, the most alarming views.

The prince and princess of Wales and the duchess of Albany, who had left the palace shortly before the issuance of the bulletin, both women showing marked signs of grief, soon hastened back. Princess Victoria and the duke of Fife followed. The duke and duchess of Connaught, who had just arrived at Suez from an African shooting expedition, were notified and Queen Maud telegraphed from Christiania that she would start for London.

New Ruler Takes Oath.

George V., who ascended the throne as soon as the breath left the body of his father, Edward VII., Saturday, amid medieval ceremony handed down from feudal times, was proclaimed king of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British dominions beyond the seas, defender of the faith and emperor of India.

At 4 o'clock the imperial privy council and the aldermen of the city of London assembled in the throne room at St. James palace and with solemn ceremonial administered the oath of office to the new king, after which he was formally proclaimed in these words:

"We, the lords spiritual and temporal of this realm, being here assembled with these of his late majesty's privy council, with numbers of other principal gentlemen of quality, with the lord mayor, aldermen and citizens of London, do now hereby, with one voice and the consent of tongue and heart, publish and proclaim that the high and mighty Prince George is now, by the death of our late sovereign king, the late King Edward VII., king of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, defender of the faith and emperor of India, to whom we do acknowledge with all hearty and humble affection, desecrating God, by whom kings and queens do reign, to bless the royal prince, George V., with long and happy years to reign over us."

King Deeply Moved.

King George delivered a brief but earnest address. He exhibited deep emotion as he announced his determination to endeavor under the guidance of God to maintain the high traditions of the British court, and to fulfill to the best of his abilities the great trust reposed in him.

He said his emotion was too deep to permit him to say more than a few words. He recalled the declaration by his father on the similar occasion, to the effect that so long as there was breath in his body he would strive to promote the best interests of his people.

The new monarch declared that his father's promise had been amply fulfilled and that it would be his own earnest endeavor under God, to pursue the same high aim. He referred gratefully to the evidences of deep sympathy from all parts of the empire and said he was thankful to feel that at all times he would have the assistance of the queen in the discharge of the duties of his office.

Ministers Swear Allegiance.

The lord chancellor, Lord Loreburn, administered the oath to the king and, following the custom, the cabinet ministers swore allegiance to the new sovereign, at the same time tendering their seals of office, which his majesty returned. The ministers kissed the king's hand. The councillors upon being reappointed in turn took the oath of allegiance and kissed the king's hand. This concluded the business of the council and his majesty retired.

The king left St. James' palace on his return to Marlborough House at 5 o'clock, having been absent for the ceremony just one hour. The marked lack of display in the conduct of the new monarch was striking. A single carriage occupied by the sovereign and attended by two royal equerries, was driven to and from St. James' palace. There was no military escort, and the only decoration which the monarch wore was the Order of the Garter.

Taft Condoles With King.

President Taft sent the following message to George V., the new king of Great Britain:

In renewing to your majesty the condolences of the American government and people upon the death of his late majesty, I convey to you the heartfelt good wishes for the prosperity of your reign.

The secretary of state sent the following message to Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign affairs, London:

I offer to your excellency the expression of my personal sympathy and sorrow in the great loss which has been sustained by the government of Great Britain in the death of his late majesty, King Edward.

MAY CLIP WINGS OF CORPORATIONS

SUPREME COURT DECISION EXPECTED AFFECTING CERTAIN MICHIGAN CONCERNS.

THE CONCERNS INTERESTED ARE THOSE WHO GO TO OTHER STATES FOR THEIR CHARTERS.

From All Parts of the State Come Encouraging Reports Regarding the Fruit Crop Prospects.

Litigation involving 475 mercantile and manufacturing corporations of Michigan is before the state supreme court for judgment as a result of the action commenced some time ago by Sylvester A. Young, of near Lakeview, against Henry H. Moore and others, to recover $1,000 on a note. The money is said to have been loaned in connection with the Tabard Office Supply Co., of Lakeview, which went into bankruptcy more than a year ago.

Moore is one of the heirs to the Hackley millions of Muskegon, and associated with him in the present action as co-defendants are a number of prominent Michigan business men, among them Salem F. Kennedy, Lars P. Sorenson and Addison D. Kirtland.

While the financial amount involved is comparatively small, the principle underlying the cause of action is one of the most important ever raised.

The Tabard Office Supply Co. filed its report with the secretary of state for the fiscal year ending Dec. 31, 1906, and failed to do so the following year. When the company became defunct and owed Young $1,000, the latter began action against the directors, charging that they failed to comply with the state law. When the company was incorporated the promoters went into Iowa and got a charter in that state, and were subsequently admitted in Michigan. N. O. Griswold, for the defendants, now sets up the claim that as a result of the direct action of the state, the corporation is not amenable to the laws of the state.

Arguments were heard by the state supreme court at Lansing last week and briefs were filed Saturday.

A. A. Broomefield, for Young, made the following observation: "It is a fact of which judicial notice can be taken that many Michigan corporations choose as their birthplace some foreign state, such as Maine, New Jersey or Iowa, although the enterprise is launched by Michigan capital."

"If by such subterfuge its directors can escape the statutory liability and its creditors be stripped of a beneficial remedy, then, indeed, the law has failed to meet the ends of justice."

Fruit Prospects Are Good.

According to figures received at the office of the secretary of state there is a diversity of opinion among the fruit correspondents throughout the state relative to the damage to fruit from frost.

Correspondents in the southwestern portion, where the frost in April was the most severe, report fruit prospects much better than expected immediately after the freeze and generally are of the opinion that the outlook for an average crop is encouraging.

It is also noticeable that the spraying of fruit trees has been generally increased this spring and farmers and growers are paying more attention to spraying than ever before. According to a schedule prepared by the secretary of state indications point to 83 per cent of a crop of apples; pears, 78; peaches, 78; plums, 72; cherries, 76; small fruits, 85.

Additional statistics compiled by the department show that the average monthly wages with board to farm hands in the southern counties is $25.62 per month; in the central counties, $24.38; in the northern counties, $24.17, and in the upper peninsula $25.14. In the upper peninsula the average day wage is higher, reaching $1.68 per day. The average wages in the state last year paid by farmers by the month with board was $23.21.

Eighteen members of the university fire department of Ann Arbor have announced their intention to strike if their wages are not increased 25 cents per day. They have been induced to await the next meeting of the regents before taking any action.

The Commonwealth Power Co. is evidently alarmed at the threat of Charlotte to establish a municipal lighting plant and the result is that the company, through authorized officials, have promised to rush their high-tension line service between Lansing and Battle Creek. Improvements have been ordered in the local steam plant to temporarily aid the local service. This plant is included in the proposed merger of the big power and electric interests in the state.

In John Barbour, recently appointed head of the city fire department, Niles boasts of having the youngest fire chief in the world. In a general cleaning up of the fire department by Mayor Carr, Barbour, who has just reached his majority, was the only man of the old company left, and he was appointed head. He was a driver in the department for two years.

H. G. Nead, of Lowell, 88, the oldest wolf hunter in the state, has asked Game Warden Pierce for a permit to hunt wolves in the north country this summer. No license is necessary, but he did not wish to be arrested for killing deer, he said.

NEWS OF MICHIGAN.

Lansing citizens have started a campaign for a commission form of government for the city.

The smallpox epidemic which has affected Bay City for the past two months is practically at an end.

Rev. F. Kemster, of Metamora, the minister accused of illegal voting on local option, has been acquitted.

Because of a complaint to the state labor department, an investigation is being made to learn if Lansing manufacturers are violating the child-labor law.

Reports from various points in Calhoun county state that the frost has reduced the strawberry crop to at least one-half. Early beans are also reported injured.

Col. Schmidt camp, No. 24, Spanish American War Veterans, of Saginaw, will attend the state reunion in Traverse City in July. They have arranged for a special train.

The chemical plant of the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical Co., at Elk Rapids, was partially destroyed by fire with a loss of $10,000. Nine condensers and two gas washers were destroyed.

Rev. Henry H. Halley, former pastor of the Christian church of Calumet, who is now a building contractor, is a direct descendant of Edmund Halley, the man who discovered Halley's comet.

Saloonist Orin Lake, of Cedar Springs, is suing the village council to compel it to accept his bond. The case is in the nature of a test of the old home rule law and will have a wide bearing in the state.

Mrs. T. R. Reader, 39, is believed to be the youngest grandmother in the state. A daughter was born to her daughter, Mrs. Henry Arndt, aged 19, at Culebra, Panama. The father is chief of American police there.

Battle Creek's council has settled the sanitation tax litigation by ordering the "san" to pay $25,000 taxes on all buildings save the main one. Immediately the Kellogg representatives wrote a check for the amount.

Lincoln Ayer, former collector of customs at Port Huron and well known politician, returned Friday from several months' visit to the Holy Land, Paris and other points. He expressed himself as glad to get back home.

Aroused from sleep by the barking of his dog at the bedroom door, Joseph Finn, of South Haven, found the house on fire. He had just time to get his family outside when the building was completely wrapped in flames.

Dr. Mason W. Gray, of Pontiac, may be prosecuted by the state board of health for failing to report contagious diseases to the authorities. Many complaints have been received against him, and Pontiac authorities have been notified to act.

The Penelope club, an organization of women of Cadillac, has announced the formation of a humane society, and declare that if the officials do not take steps to prevent cruelty to animals they will be given a lot of unwelcome publicity by the club.

The Robert Gage Coal Co. of Saginaw, is preparing to sink a shaft in the southern part of the Shiawassee county, and before fall it is figured that another coal mine will be added to the already large number. Coal is being mined on three sides of Owosso at present, and prospecting is in progress on the other.

Sebewaing is made up almost completely of German residents, and next month a home-coming to celebrate the foundation of the village will be held. It will be the sixty-fifth anniversary of the settling of the first white settler.

Rev. J. J. Auch was the first man to locate in Sebewaing, but he is deceased, and Henry Vahle will supervise the celebration plans.

Business men of New Lothrop and farmers in the vicinity are jubilant over the report that the Consolidated Coal Co., which now operates a railroad to the coal mines at West Haven, and the Owosso Sugar Co. will continue the tracks to the former village. For several years it has been known that there are rich coal deposits near New Lothrop, and there have been strenuous efforts made to secure an outlet for this and sugar beets and other farm produce. It is declared that the road will be built if a bonus of $15,000 can be raised for the company.

That the baseball team of Gladstone may be given proper financial backing, what will be known as a "Peddlers' Parade" will be made one of the biggest events of its kind ever planned in that part of the peninsula. Prominent women are in charge of the project and every fan in the city will co-operate in making it a decided financial success. The Gladstone opera house has been engaged and some of the leading business men of the city, clad in proper costume, will assume the roles of flower girls, pencil peddlers, suspender dispensers and vendors of all descriptions.

Bert Holbrook, of Cadillac, has made up his mind that it pays to keep his word with the state land department, and has just come to realize that he will have to linger in the county jail of Wexford county 60 days for not keeping it. Last fall this man was arrested by a state trespass agent for stealing state timber and was found guilty in the circuit court of Wexford county. On account of his previous good record the judge suspended sentence. But Holbrook, a few weeks ago, it is alleged, stole some timber. As a result of again being caught the sentence was meted out to him.

An unidentified man, about 45 years old, was killed at Bay City while saving his way north on a Detroit & Mackinac passenger train, when the train had reached the outskirts of the city. The man was on the front end of the baggage car. When the baggage man opened the car door the man jumped, but slipped and rolled under the car wheels. His head was crushed and his face cut into an unrecognizable mass. On the man's right arm are tattooed the letters "G. B."

Capitalists of Marshall and Kalamazoo are negotiating for the erection of a $20,000 bond paper mill. Waterpower will be used.

DEATH LIST OVER 2,500

EARTHQUAKE IN COSTA RICA CAUSE DEATH AND RUIN IN MANY TOWNS; 10,000 HOMELESS.

BODIES OF MOTHERS EXHUMED WITH BABES AT THEIR BREASTS SHOW HOW SUDDEN WAS CATASTROPHE.

Pestilence Bred by Rotting Bodies Adds New Terrors to the Situation; The Ignorant Blame the Comet.

As details of the earthquake that rent Costa Rica Wednesday arrive by wire and courier, it is recognized that the country has suffered a catastrophe ranking as one of the worst in the world's history.

While it was at first believed that preliminary estimates of the dead—1,800—amounted to exaggeration, yet it is now apparent that even this number will not cover the casualties.

One thousand persons in Cartago alone were killed, while of the 2,000 injured, many will die.

It is believed that at least 1,000 persons were killed outright in the destruction of Paraiso.

The town of Oshomero was practically ruined, and a death list of 400 from this point is considered a conservative estimate.

It is probable that the entire death toll will amount to in excess of 2,500, because it is impossible to tabulate casualties in small towns to the north and northwest of Cartago and San Jose, where, it is known, immense damage was done.

Pestilence Adds to Horror.

The entire country is terrorized. Pestilence in Cartago and Paraiso add to the already horrible conditions. Of the 500 corpses recovered in Cartago only a small percentage have been buried, although rescue parties are working intelligently to clear up the menacing situation.

Relatives of many of the victims have made an unpleasant situation by demanding bodies to bury in private burying grounds or family lots. Every corpse will be buried, irrespective of the wishes of relatives.

While the earth has been rocking and rumbling for a month, yet the cataclysm came like the flash of a lightning bolt. Out of the quake's ruins in Cartago have been exhumed bodies of mothers with babes still clinging to their breasts. The earth opened beneath them without warning.

Bodies taken from other parts of the ruined city show that the quake victims struggled against the fate that closed in on them. Some corpses are horribly lacerated as a result of fighting against burial alive.

Ignorant Blame the Comet.

The population is in a state of utter demoralization. The more ignorant have erected altars and are offering up sacrifices to unidentified gods, asking protection against Halley's comet, which they blame for the quake.

Scores of persons prominent in Central America suffered death in Cartago. Dr. Becanegra, of the court of arbitration, fought his way out of the ruins of his home, carrying three children with him. His wife and another child perished.

The demolished buildings include 10 churches and the municipal palace, in addition to the Palace of Justice.

Parties headed by President Viquez and President-elect Jimenez are working valiantly but under tremendous difficulties, to restore the injured and recover the bodies of the dead.

The earthquake lasted four seconds. It was a tremendous movement, which followed a few minor shocks during the course of the day. It occurred at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. No one had time to run out of the houses, which fell crashing to the streets. Had the great shock come during the sleeping hours hardly any could have escaped.

Rear Admiral McCalla Dead.

Rear Admiral B. H. McCalla, United States navy, died at San Barbara, Cal., of apoplexy.

Rear Admiral McCalla was one of the most useful officers in the American navy before his retirement in 1906. He graduated from Annapolis in 1864 and saw his first service at once on the old steam sloop Susequahanna in the Brazilian squadron. In 1885, when the United States had to seize the Isthmus of Panama to keep commerce open, he had charge of 3,000 bluejackets, and he kept the sailors moving. He also kept down the death rate from fever among his men as to cause the French government to inquire how it was done.

Gives Peary a Medal.

Before a vast audience which filled every corner of Royal Albert hall, in London, the Royal Geographical society presented Commander Robert E. Peary with the special gold medal of the society, and through its president, welcomed the American explorer as "the first and only human being who ever led a party of his fellow creatures to a pole of the earth."

The Massachusetts legislators began consideration of Boston's milk supply, now threatened through the refusal of the farmers to sell their milk to contractors at the usual reduced summer rates.

According to a statement issued by State Comptroller Williams, the total receipts of New York state for a period of ten years have amounted to $342,025,805, while the disbursements were $326,569,532. The biggest single item of expenditure was for the support of the state hospitals for the insane, which during the decade have cost $54,013,261.

Bishop Eats His Own Boots.

Few bishops have to lead such a strenuous life as Bishop Stringer, in company with a missionary companion he made a tour recently to Herschel island, in the Arctic ocean, and back to Dawson City, where the bishop resides.

Their small supply of food becoming exhausted, they were obliged to eat their mucklucks and moccasins. These, made of raw seal skins, were soaked until they became glutinous, and were then toasted in strips over the fire. The bishop says the food was real good, especially the mucklucks.

Fool Remarks.

"The inanity of courtesy remarks that some people feel called upon to interject into conversation calls for a permanent commission in lunacy," said the man with the ingrowing grouch. "Now, the other day I was telling Jones going down on the subway that my four-year-old had swallowed a safety pin, and we were up half the night with him."

"It was an accident, of course," said that idiot Jones.

Finding of Fresh-Water Eel.

The straits of Messina are channels of immense depth, through which a wild form of whirling eddies have the effect of bringing up from the depths below many marine creatures which are rarely seen except in the deep sea trawls. It was here that the fresh-water eel was first discovered, an incident which threw a blaze of light on the life history of a very mysterious fish.—London Daily Telegraph.

M. J. Conway, who has been baggage master at the Michigan Central depot for several years, has taken the position of time keeper on the work train, and M. J. Emmett has taken his old position. Rush Green has gone on Mr. Emmett's old position of night gate tender at the Main street crossing.

Head-on collisions on railroads are commonly caused by disregard of signals; this head-on collision on a side-walk was due to quite another cause. It was between two baby carriages, the engineers being two mothers, and each vehicle containing one small passenger.

These two baby carriages in a shopping street were being propelled from opposite directions on the same line. Usually in such circumstances baby carriages turn out to pass when they meet, but on this occasion the two mothers propelling the baby carriages had both become engrossed in the display in a shop window they were passing and so engrossed they both kept on advancing, with no thought of what they were doing, with the space between the carriages steadily narrowing, narrowing, narrowing, until the first thing you know, kerbunk! They bumped right into each other in a head-on collision.

Both engineers had been so wrapped up in what they saw in the window that they had both been moving very slowly and so no serious damage was done, and now with their attention brought back by the shock of the collision they both smiled and pulled their carriages back enough to free the interlocked wheels and then each turned out and passed on.

Mr. Harriman's Ambassador. "Mr. Harriman, for all his wealth, was not proud," said a New York broker. "Yet he thought a lot of money. He used to tell, with a good deal of sympathy, a story about the Russian ambassador to the court of Louis XIV.

"Louis XIV., playing cards at Versailles, dropped a franc on the floor and stooped to look for it. Then Mr. Harriman's Russian ambassador, who was very rich, said with a scornful laugh:

"Let me assist your majesty." "And he took out a 1,000-franc note, lighted it, and held it near the ground for a torch."

Good Joke on Voter.

An amusing story is told of what happened to a pluralist voter in the 1900 election in England. He was a keen politician and believing that the vote he possessed in a distant constituency would be of value to his candidate engaged a special train to take him there. On entering the polling booth he found the engineer of the train at his heels. He then discovered that the engineer happened to be on the voting register of the same town and was taking the opportunity of his accidental presence there to record his vote—which was given for the other side.

Reub's Good Idea.

"What's tickets wuth in the orchestra?"

"From a dollar and a half to two dollars."

"All right, here's 50 cents. Gimme one o' yes best. Now shut up! Ain't four bits from two dollars 'n a half two dollars?"

A Trunk Rummager.

"How did you come to give that new man such a responsible place in your millinery department? Has his experience justified it?"

"Yes," answered the merchant. "He used to be a customs inspector."

Your Profit From $1,100 A Week

THE makers of Clothcraft Clothes spend $1,100 a week for inspection alone. They do this to insure you of clothes without flaw or defect. Yet they are not satisfied. They continually strive to improve.

Before your suit left the factory it had to pass rigid examinations by ninety-five inspectors. This is one striking feature of Clothcraft scientific tailoring.

You can be sure that Clothcraft Clothes are of pure wool and have lasting style. Clothcraft Clothes are the only guaranteed all-wool clothes selling at $10 to $25.

Your Purse and Business Pulse.

The money in your purse tells just what cash you have on hand. This is our grandfather's method of business.

The careful man of today avails himself of the check account and receives distinct advantages over carrying his money on his person.

Keeping your money in your purse has the same relation to your business as the physician who guesses at his patient's pulse. There is a risk in either case—neither eliminates the chances of error.

The check account indicates with accuracy the condition of your business pulse. It records receipts and expenditures, the record is permanent and reliable.

It costs less to use a check book than a purse. This bank gives you protection for your money that no purse can offer.

Shift the responsibility for keeping your money safely from your purse to US.

The Standard has a number of times made reference to the King road drag, or split-log drag, in the hopes that something might be done in this section about the use of them. The drags are inexpensive and the work done by them is just a little short of miraculous. The government has taken up and is exploiting this drag, which is a good recommendation. In the last issue of the Saturday Evening Post can be found an article on the work done by this drag on the roads in various sections of the country, and is well worth reading by all who are interested in good roads. The government also issues a bulletin in regard to the drag, how it should be made and used.

Hints For Hostess

Suggestions for Entertainments, and Other Matters of Moment, Edited by Madame Merri

May's last special day comes on the thirtieth—Memorial day. It is worthy of recognition by every loyal American citizen and should be a day honored reverently by old and young.

It is, with all its sadness, a day of great thankfulness, inasmuch as the "gray and blue" are united as one man under the glorious Stars and Stripes. An occasion of unusual interest is being planned for next Saturday night by a devoted daughter of an old soldier. It is to be a "camp fire" to which six men of the Loyal Legion are asked to relate a war story of ten minutes' duration from his actual experience, and each is to wear something (if he has anything) that he wore during the war. The host is to receive in his uniform (captain's), that was made for him in a southern city nearly half a century ago.

The rooms are to be decorated with flags and pictures of war heroes, and there is to be a big wood blaze in the fireplace. The refreshments are to be hard-tack, coffee, griddled bacon sandwiches, pie, doughnuts, pickles and cheese. War songs are to be sung, and the wives of the six soldier guests are to come dressed as the girls of '61 and serve the refreshments, but this is a surprise, so let us hope none of the men will read "Dame Curtesy" today.

Pipes, cigars and liquid refreshments are to be conveniently near at hand to facilitate the story telling.

Would that every old soldier throughout the length and breadth of our fair land could receive a personal hand-clasp and a smile of recognition on this coming Memorial day.

A Tenth Wedding Anniversary.

For the invitations have little squares of sheet tin lettered with paint, inclose in envelopes to fit exactly. For a table centerpiece use a large cake tin with a funnel in the center, in which place the flower chosen, with plenty of trailing vines to radiate over the table. Have candlesticks made of tin with shades of the same material placed to show the light through like the ones of brass are made. For the side dishes have a dainty make little odd dishes and plates, also spoons may be purchased with tin cups just the right size for coffee. Salad may be served in individual gem pans, also the ice cream in tin molds; first, of course, lining both the salad and cream tins with waxed paper. For souvenirs have wedding cake put up in little boxes of tin tied with white satin ribbon. Serve this menu:

Salmon Salad.
Aspic of Chicken and Olives.
Rolls.
Sandwiches.
Strawberry Ice Cream.
Sponge Cake.
Coffee.

A Novel Puzzle Party.

The hostess, who, by the way, is the most original, planned this little party for about a dozen couple who were in the habit of dropping into her house very informally just to see "what was doing." She bought a number of inexpensive articles, wrapped them in paper and placed in boxes which were placed on a table in full view of every one. No one was allowed to handle them. Then she passed slips of paper. As she read the words written on the boxes, the guests wrote down what they judged the contents to be. The one who came the nearest to being right was the winner. The puzzle was a simple one. The boxes were as follows:

HUNTING 'EM BOTH.

Texas Bear (to senator on a walking trip in the mountains)—Hully gee! Is the president after you, too?

AN INTOLERABLE ITCHING

"Just about two years ago, some form of humor appeared on my scalp. The beginning was a slight itching but it grew steadily worse until, when I combed my hair, the scalp became raw and the ends of the comb-teeth would be wet with blood. Most of the time there was an intolerable itching, in a painful, burning way, very much as a bad, raw burn, if deep, will itch and smart when first beginning to heal. Combing my hair was positive torture. My hair was long and tangled terribly because of the blood and scabs. This continued growing worse and over half my hair fell out. I was in despair, really afraid of becoming totally bald.

"Sometimes the pain was so great that, when partially awake, I would scratch the worst places so that my finger-tips would be bloody. I could not sleep well and, after being asleep a short time, that awful stinging pain—would commence and then I would wake up nearly wild with the torture. A neighbor said it must be salt rheum. Having used Cuticura Soap merely as a toilet soap before, I now decided to order a set of the Cuticura Remedies—Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills. I used them according to directions for perhaps six weeks, then left off, as the disease seemed to be eradicated, but toward spring, eighteen months ago, there was a slight return of the scalp humor. I commenced the Cuticura treatment at once, so had very little trouble. On my scalp I used about one half a cake of Cuticura Soap and half a box of Cuticura Ointment in all. The first time I took six or seven bottles of Cuticura Pills and the last time three bottles—neither an expensive or tedious treatment. Since then I have had no scalp trouble of any kind. Standing up, with my hair unbound, it comes to my knees and had it not been for Cuticura I should doubtless be wholly bald.

"This is a voluntary, unsolicited testimonial and I take pleasure in writing it, hoping my experience may help someone else. Miss Lillian Brown, R. F. D. 1, Liberty, Mo., Oct. 29, 1909."

Different.

Visitor—I saw your husband in the crowd down town today. In fact, he was so close that I could have touched him.

Hostess—That's strange. At home he is so close that nobody can touch him!—Puck.

Poor indeed.

Ella—My face is my fortune.

Stella—You destitute thing!

Shirtwaist Fastenings.

Three huge scallops lapping from right to left form the front fastening of a French pique shirtwaist. After being most carefully faced with bias sheer linen or lawn, these shallow scallops are braided in parallel rows with white star braid.

The garment is buttoned in the center of each scallop with a tailor's buttonhole and a linen-covered button braided in circular lines.

Hinges and castors are procured.

A good sized box will fit comfortably under most beds, and will hold a great many clothes and be quite out of sight. When anything is required from the box it is an easy matter to pull the box out by the handles, and being mounted on castors, it may be readily pushed back against into its place.

In the sketch the counterpane is turned up to show the box in position under the bed. The wood can be painted or stained, or a cover may be made for the box. For a girl whose circumstances perhaps compel her to live in a bed-sitting room, this suggestion should be very welcome, as it will enable her to keep a large number of clothes free from dust and dirt. Silent domes are very useful to nail under the box if castors are not available.

DIDN'T GET THE SITUATION

Flight of Eloquence Wasted by Friend of Dobkins—Pretty Enough, But Not Appropriate.

"What makes you act so grouchy this morning, Dobkins?"
"Had an addition to my family."
"What? Why, you ought to be ashamed to be gloomy over that! To think that a normal human being should be angry because of the advent of such a cherub! Do you actually grudge a place in your happy home to an innocent creature fresh from heaven, bringing with it the very fragrance of those celestial realms? Do you greet with an unwelcome chill a small epitome of all purity and sweetness given into your keeping as a priceless, though undeserved treasure by a too benevolent Providence? A lovely copy of what fancy feigns the angels to be like—a tiny shred of grace and glory, snatched from the—" "Say, that's very pretty, but do you know you're talking about my mother-in-law?"

A Boomerang.

One of the officials of the Midland railway, coming from Glenwood Springs the other day, was telling a young woman on the train how wonderfully productive Colorado's irrigated ground is.

"Really," he explained, "it's so rich that girls who walk on it have big feet. It just simply makes their feet grow."

"Huh," was the young woman's rejoinder, "some of the Colorado men must have been going around walking on their heads."—Denver Post.

"The Third Degree."
"The Third Degree," Charles Klein's latest sensational play which comes to the new Whitney theatre matinee and night, Saturday, May 21, fresh from a run of seven months at the Hudson theatre, New York, treats of certain conditions that exist in social life in New York, together with the assuming of powers by the police that have never been conferred by law.

Howard Jeffries, jr., being found on the premises where a death under strange circumstances occurs, is arrested by the police, and after being compelled to undergo an inquisitorial process, termed "the third degree," confesses that he is guilty of murder. His wife, of all the world, believes in his innocence, and unaided and alone, sets out to clear him from the stigma of crime. By reason of young Jeffries having married beneath him, his father disowns him. Through the persistence of the young wife and her earnestness, she enlists the aid of Richard Brewster, a lawyer of international fame. Notwithstanding the fact that his connection with the defense will cause him the loss of certain wealthy and influential clients, curtailing as it does an enormous income, he takes up the guage of battle more in behalf of the young wife than her unfortunate husband, and through the ingenuity and cunning of the woman, plans a defense that establishes clearly beyond doubt, the innocence of the accused.

The play has certain marked metaphysical features combined with the exposition of hypnotism produced by physical force instead of mental suggestion. In the end young Jeffries is cleared and his wife earns for herself the recognition that has heretofore been denied her.

How to Get Rid of Both.

Backache and kidney ache are twin brothers.

You can't separate them.

And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure the kidney ache.

If the kidneys are well and strong, the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health.

Doan's Kidney Pills make strong, healthy kidneys.

Martin Howe, South St., Chelsea, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in my family with very beneficial results and consequently I am in a position to recommend them. I had a dull, heavy ache in my back and there were acute pains through my kidneys. The kidney secretions also passed irregularly and caused me much annoyance. Doan's Kidney Pills soon relieved the pain and lameness and helped me in every way. Our experience with this remedy has convinced us of its merit."

Notice of Mortgage Sale.

WHEREAS, Carl S. Jones and Jessie D. Jones, his wife, of Detroit, Wayne county, Michigan, made and executed a certain mortgage bearing date the 1st day of June, A. D. 1908, to The Kemps Commercial & Savings Bank, a corporation organized under the banking law of the State of Michigan, with its banking office at Chelsea, Michigan, which was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the County of Washtenaw, on the 8th day of June, A. D. 1908, at 9:10 o'clock in the forenoon, in Liber 114 of mortgages, on page 10;

And whereas, said mortgage has been duly assigned by the said The Kemps Commercial & Savings Bank to Charles H. Kempf by assignment bearing date the 3rd day of March, A. D. 1910, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds on the 8th day of March, A. D. 1910, at 9:20 o'clock in the forenoon, in Liber 114 of mortgages, on page 312, whereby said mortgage is now owned by the said Charles H. Kempf;

And whereas, the amount claimed due upon said mortgage is the sum of $200.00, and no part or proceeds has been instituted at law to recover the debt now remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof;

And whereas, default has been made in the payment of the money secured by said mortgage, whereby the power of sale contained therein has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said power of sale, and in pursuance thereof, and of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises at public vendue, to the highest bidder, at the southerly front door of the court house, at the City of Ann Arbor, on the 27th day of May, next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

The description of which said sale premises is contained in said mortgage is as follows: The same being twenty-one (21) of what is known as the Kavanagh Lake Subdivision, the same was surveyed, platted and numbered by said Charles H. Kempf, and is located in the south-east quarter of section number-eight (8) in the Township of Sylvan, Washtenaw county, Michigan. This conveyance was made by Charles H. Kempf, as assignee of the said Kavanagh Lake Subdivision, to the said Charles H. Kempf, and by laws of said county, Michigan, the said Charles H. Kempf, as assignee of the said Kavanagh Lake Subdivision, is entitled to the power of alienation of right to convey said lands, to the constitution and by-laws of said Kavanagh Lake Subdivision, in existence at such as shall hereafter be legally made and adopted by said Club so long as said Club exists.

Upon the final dissolution of said Club, said land shall be sold from all encumbrances hereby reserved to said Club, and the title thereof shall be conveyed to the said Charles H. Kempf, his successors and assigns.

Dated May 3, 1910.
