Chelsea Won Second Place.

The ninth annual tri-county track meet was held at Plymouth Saturday.
Teams from Wayne, Plymouth and Chelsea were represented. Northville did not send a team this year. The various events were keenly contested and in many cases the winner had a very narrow margin. Of the 132 points Wayne received 69, Chelsea 33 and Plymouth 30 points.

Our boys scored as follows: H. Jensen, 4th in shot put; G. Walworth, 3rd in broad jump, 1st in pole vault; J.
Prendergast, 2d in high jump, 3d in 220 hurdle; P. Belser, 3d in half-mile;
I. Chittenden, 3d in 220 yards, 2d in 440; C. Wolf, tie for 3d in hammer throw, 4th in hurdles; T. Wedemeyer, tie for 3d hammer throw; E. Patterson, 4th in 440 yards; John Dunn 1st
in half mile and 2d in mile.

Inasmuch as Wayne had won the cup at the two previous meets it is now theirs permanently.

Our boys were accompanied by a large representation of our high school students. They are proud in their praises over the treatment and entertainment extended to them by the people of Plymouth during their stay in the village.

While our boys did not capture the cup this year, it is generally conceded that we have some excellent material and that the team that beats us next year will have to be a good one.

The freshman relay race was a walk away for our boys, as Dunn, who ran the final lap jogged in with a lead of about 40 yards. The team consisted of Wedemeyer, Willie Coe, Shaver
and Dunn.

Charles E. Whitaker.

Charles E. Whitaker was born in Lima, Michigan, March 19, 1862, and died at his home in Chelsea, Wednesday evening, June 8, 1910.

Mr. Whitaker was a son of the late Charles and Laura (Beach) Whitaker, pioneer residents of Lima. For a number of years he was engaged in the hardware business in this place, and for the last twelve years he has been a traveling salesman for a Detroit wholesale hardware firm. He owned the Whitaker homestead in Lima and has been a successful sheep-breeder, having introduced the black top merino sheep in this part of the state.

The deceased was about his business
as usual and was taken sick Sunday evening. Tuesday morning he suffered a severe chill, peritonitis being the cause of his demise. He was a member of Chelsea Tent, No. 281, K. O. T.
M. M., the United Commercial Travelers, of Jackson, B. P. O. Elks, of Ann Arbor and the Black Top Sheep-breeders' Association of Michigan.

He was united in marriage with Miss Anna Clark, November 4, 1886.
He is survived by his wife, one brother,
Dr. Wm. Whitaker, of Flint, three sisters, Miss Caroline F. Whitaker and Mrs. Ella W. Toumy, of Ann Arbor,
and Dr. Mary A. Williams, of Bay City.

The funeral will be held from the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart, Saturday morning, Rev. Fr.
Conside officiating.

Enjoyable Concert.

A large and appreciative audience
enjoyed the concert at the Congregational church Tuesday evening. The liberal applause which greeted each entertainer was well deserved. Mr.
Moore presided at the organ and piano in his usual artistic manner. The people of Chelsea appreciate greatly
the high class of work which Mr.
Moore has been doing. Miss Smurthwalt's pleasing appearance and manner were equalled by the attractive qualities of her singing. Miss Kohrer impressed her hearers as the possessor of a contralto voice of rare range and power. Mr. Bazley captivated the audience by his winsome personality and the exceptional quality of his work.

The Ladies' Guild of the church cleared over $30 from the entertainment.

Announces Candidacy.

Lester Canfield, of Ypsilanti, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for sheriff at the primary September 6th. Mr. Canfield's friends feel that he is entitled to the nomination after the close run he made two years ago. He was a candidate in 1908 against Sheriff Sutton, who was recognized as a very strong candidate and was running for re-election. Though unsuccessful,
Mr. Canfield made a very good fight and was beaten by less than a hundred votes. The nomination in 1908 was the first Mr. Canfield ever received at the hands of the Republican party for any office, and his friends in every section of Washtenaw have considered him entitled to a re-nomination ever since his close run of two years ago.

From the West.

Miles City, Montana, May 30, 1910.
EDITOR CHLSEA STANDARD:
I promised I would drop you a line
now and then about my trip out west and while there. My trip so far has been very delightful. I left home Tuesday morning, May 24th. I arrived in the bustling city of Chicago about 2:55 and the next morning I left for St. Louis, taking the train at 9:15 from the union station over the Chicago & Alton R. R. taking one through the central part of the state, and more beautiful country I believe is hard to find, no hills but broad acres stretching out upon either side as far as the eye can see, here and there a beautiful grove in the midst of a hundred acre
lot. It looked fine indeed, thousands of acres of oats and the wheat was looking fine, (we in Michigan aren't in it at all.) Saturday morning May 28th, I left St. Louis after a two-days' stay.

I arrived in St. Paul Sunday morning, which is about 700 miles, passing through the states of Missouri, Iowa and Minnesota, but seeing enough to give one the impression that they certainly are great states. I liked Minnesota the better of the three,
yet Iowa we all know is a wonderful state. As I changed cars in St. Paul, I was impressed with the thought that
to they who travel all days are alike, such a hustle and bustle you would think the whole world was on a move.

Taking the train for the west on the Northern Pacific carrying one through the central part of North Dakota,
you pass through a state unbroken by hills, and the impression I got from the state I think I would prefer some other place to live, yet some have gotten very rich in that state indeed.

So far in Montana I have seen nothing but bluffs and sand hills. Not having ever seen anything of the kind
it was a great sight, but they tell me here west of Miles City the country is most grand and very productive. This city has a population of about 5,000.
It is very much up-to-date and it indicates much wealth, but I must not get this letter too long. In passing I must not forget to mention the great bridges crossing the rivers Mississippi and Missouri at both places, St. Louis and at St. Paul. They are certainly masterpieces of workmanship.

In closing I wish to say that I have always enjoyed reading articles written by those who travel, so if some of the readers of your paper enjoy reading what I have written I will feel amply repaid. Wishing you all good luck.

Christian Trinkle.

Christian Trinkle was born in Lima, Michigan, September 18, 1862, and died at his home in that township
Thursday evening, June 2, 1910.

The deceased has lived in Lima all of his life. He was united in marriage with Miss Julia Steabler, December 27, 1888. To this union six children were born. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Miss Amanda, five sons, Otto, Walter, Wilbert, Clarence and Alton, his father,
Fred Trinkle, sr., and one brother,
Fred Trinkle, jr., and one sister, Miss Caroline Trinkle.

The funeral was held Sunday morning, a short service being conducted at his late home at 10:30 o'clock, and from St. John's church, Rogers' Corners, at 12 o'clock, Rev. G. Eism officiating. Both services were attended by a large following of friends and a number of the members of Chelsea Tent, No. 281, K. O. T. M. M., of which he was a member, and at the grave
the services of the order were carried out by the Sir Knights. Interment

Straightening Out Curves.

The state railway commission has received a blue print from the D. U.
R. from Detroit which showed the new route from Jackson to Detroit, after the dangerous curves are taken out of that part of their line.
Some time ago it will be remembered
the commission ordered the D. U.
R. to straighten their line from Detroit to Jackson, taking out the curves where so many fatal accidents
have happened of late.

The company writes that two of the four curves have already been straightened by the company purchasing additional land and straightening the line, and that purchases are now under way for additional land, when the two remaining curves will be straightened. The commission state that when the remaining two curves are straightened that the line will meet with their approval.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. Christian Trinkle and children wish to extend to their friends and neighbors, their heartfelt thanks for their kindness and assistance during their recent bereavement, also their appreciation of the beautiful flowers
so generously contributed by the many friends.

CATHEDRALS OF THE NEW WORLD

by FANNY H. GARDINER

CATHEDRAL AT SANTO DOMINGO—FIRST ERECTED IN AMERICA

ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL, NEW YORK CITY

WHEN the Spanish discoverers and explorers of America drove the prows of their frail vessels through unknown seas in search of the India of their dreams they left Europe stirring with that new life which was to blossom in the renaissance. The dark ages were just closing and the wealth of knowledge and art so long hoarded in monasteries and castles, barred from the flow of human life, was about to burst forth like a flood to fertilize European civilization. Crumbling architecture was being restored, churches and palaces were being founded, great engineering works undertaken. In many respects, indeed, the wonderful activities and achievements of that time may be compared with those of our own, in spite of the differences in methods, materials and purpose. When Columbus left Pairs in 1492 St. Peter's at Rome was in the hands of builders filled with the new ideas, but waiting for the genius of Bramante and Michel Angelo; the cathedral of his native Genoa was being greatly enlarged and embellished; that of Seville was nearing completion; that of Toledo was just finished. For 300 years the Gothic beauty of Burgos had been growing to its perfection in 1521, the year in which Cortez took the City of Mexico; and in the same year the beautiful cathedral at Granada, which enshrines the tombs of the Catholic kings and commemorates the deliverance of Spain from the Moors, was begun.

This passion for building crossed the ocean in the breasts of the Spanish discoverers and first colonists, who, although they celebrated their earliest religious services in tents by the seashore or beneath the branches of unfamiliar foliage, were impelled to erect as soon as possible temples big and splendid enough to express the master motives of their age—religion and art. As Hispaniola, or the island of San Domingo, was the first land permanently settled, so Isabella, the capital, now the city of Santo Domingo, founded in 1496, contains what is probably the oldest cathedral church in the new world, begun in 1514. Within it rested the body of Columbus until this part of the island was ceded to the French in 1785, when the Spaniards carried with them to Cuba. Since that time other remains have been found here which the people of Santo Domingo, with justice, claim to be the true relics of the discoverer, and as such they are revered and jealously guarded within a handsome modern monument.

At Port au Prince, Haiti, there is a cathedral, long under construction and yet unfinished, of mixed French Gothic and Romanesque style. The French cathedral at St. Pierre, Martinique, was destroyed by the eruption of Mount Pelee, and the bishop's seat was moved to Fort de France. Owing to the fact that the government of Cuba rested for nearly 40 years at Santiago, from 1518-1582, it happens that this town boasts a cathedral which antedates that of Havana, but it is not remarkable as compared with many of the Spanish colonial edifices. The cathedral at Havana, and indeed that at Santo Domingo, has much to inspire enthusiasm from the artistic standpoint, but Havana has been interesting as the temporary sepulcher of what were called the bones of the great admiral. His sarcophagus and the memorable inscription were set into the wall of the chapel at the left of the high altar until after the war of 1898, when his descendant, the Duke of Veraguas, removed the much-disputed bones to the family mausoleum in Seville.

Cortez landed and burned his ships on the beach near Veracruz in 1519, determined upon the conquest of Mexico in the name of Spain and of the Catholic church. He marked his inauguration of every town and province by founding substantial works of engineering and architecture, wonderful, indeed, when one considers his slight acquaintance with the materials, the labor and the climate that confronted him and the magnitude and beauty of the results. On entering the City of Mexico Cortez destroyed the teocalli, or Aztec temple, and erected on its site a small chapel for the Indians, traces of which still remain. In it was installed the seat of the first bishop of Mexico, who came out in 1528 as a suffragan of the bishop of Seville, but the cornerstone of the present cathedral was not laid until 1573. This is the most stupendous of all the Spanish colonial cathedrals, the largest in all the Americas, and said to be out-ranked only by St. Peter's at Rome and St. Paul's in London. It had cost at the time of its completion about $2,000,000, a sum as colossal in those days as the dimensions of the edifice itself.

Mexico has 22 dioceses and as many cathedrals, although not all the churches so designated were built for that purpose. Among the cathedrals of Mexico deserving mention is that of Puebla, which antedates that of the capital, having been founded by the first bishop in 1536. Its interior adornment is the richest of any in the country.

Central America was subjugated by Alvarado, the envoy of Cortez, in 1523. The capitals of the states into which this part of our continent is divided contain cathedrals for the local heads of the Catholic church. Some of them are very old, some are very imposing and carry out as far as possible the dominant ideas of the age of conquest.

We have in the United States two examples of Spanish colonial architecture, although they bear no comparison to those of Mexico in size or wealth of decoration. The earlier is that at St. Augustine, Fla., founded in 1682. It was partially destroyed by fire in 1887, but it has been carefully restored so as to preserve the original style, and its ancient bells ring the second is that of New Orleans, which, while it occupies the site of two previous French edifices, one destroyed by hurricane in 1723, the other by fire in 1788, was rebuilt in 1794 at the entire charge of a Spanish nobleman resident in the city while the colony was under the dominion of Charles IV. of Spain. This is the statement inscribed on his tomb before the altar of St. Francis and mass for his soul is celebrated every Saturday. Nevertheless, the cathedral is dedicated to St. Louis, the patron saint of France, and the recent decorations illustrate his life. The original design was of the late heavy Spanish renaissance style, with three round towers, upon which steeples were raised in 1851 and the facade, fronting Jackson square, enlarged and improved.

We are indebted to the French for two large cathedrals on our continent. That of Quebec was founded in 1660 by Mons. Laval, the first bishop of New France. It is 216 feet long by 108 feet broad and its tower is lofty and well proportioned.

Facing the cathedral of the Roman Catholic church in Montreal is that of the Protestant Episcopal, or Church of England. It was begun in 1805 and is a conspicuous ornament to the city of Montreal, although as compared with its neighbor its size is inconsiderable.

The first English explorers of the new world were neither settlers nor builders and very different from the Spanish was the attitude of the Puritans toward the spirit and taste of the renaissance. A few Episcopal churches in the south and a few of other denominations and of later date in New England and the old middle states are noble and dignified in their solidity and severity, but it is only recently that church architecture in the United States began to develop its present imposing and artistic proportions. Foremost among the denominations to enlarge and embellish their churches are the Episcopalians, whose traditions, derived from the Church of England, have never been lost sight of. This was wonderfully demonstrated when in September, 1907, the bishop of London visited America, and said to be out-ranked only by St. Peter's at Rome and St. Paul's in London. It had cost at the time of its completion about $2,000,000, a sum as colossal in those days as the was an integral part of the scheme of the "federal city" planned by Major L'Enfant under President Washington.

The beautiful Roman Catholic cathedral in process of erection at St. Paul, Minn., is to have "chapels of the nations, six in number, dedicated to the apostles of the several races from which are derived the people of the northwest." The plan of this cathedral follows "the main lines of the original plan of St. Peter's in Rome as laid out by Bramante and Michel Angelo;" that is, the nave and transepts are shorter than usual and their intersection will be crowned with a great dome 96 feet in diameter, the cross over which will stand 280 feet high from the floor. "The main entrance is under a monumental arch which frames the rose window and the three front entrances leading to the vestibule located under the organ gallery. At each end of the vestibule under the towers are two chapels, one to be the founders' chapel, the other to contain the baptismal font," while at the ends of the transepts will be the two great chapels of St. Peter and St. Paul.

It seems to be a fact that American people and architects incline toward the Gothic style more than any other for church purposes and there is perhaps no purer and more pleasing example than the cathedral of St. Patrick, Fifth avenue, New York city. Its harmonious proportions and tones, without and within, charm both soul and sense, and it is one of the greatest ornaments to that city of magnificent constructions. The cornerstone was laid in 1850 and the building completed in 1879.

The cathedral of St. Paul, at Pittsburgh, in much the same style, has the advantage of being set high and apart from other buildings, so that its beautiful spires pierce the air without competition from such skyscrapers as dwarf St. Patrick's, old Trinity, Grace and other churches in New York. Baltimore has a cardinal's cathedral, and the beautiful new building for the diocese of Richmond, Va., must be mentioned.

Many are the cathedrals of both the Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches whose foundations are being laid or planned in the various dioceses of our country.

The cathedral of Lima, Peru, is the earliest and the largest in South America. It was founded on the same day as the city by Pizarro himself. That a man of uncertain parentage and meager education, little acquainted with all phases of life besides those of the peasant and the rough adventurer should not only have developed a genius for leadership but conceived metropolitan ideas so splendid and complete as his plan of Lima, is nothing short of marvelous. He is comparable in kind if not in degree to some of the cowboy products of the early western life of the United States. In explanation of his vandalism it may be said that Pizarro had just seen his own country delivered from the Moors by the valiant Christian arms and probably he regarded the Inca people as another race of "heretic dogs" whose uncomprehended civilization and religion he destroyed with no more compunction than was shown by the cowboy in "shooting up" an Indian village and its snake dancers, to the regret of the modern ethnologist. In the place of what he destroyed Pizarro substituted one of the most fascinating settlements of the world. It took him 15 years to pacify the outraged people of Peru, but meanwhile he had laid out the city of Lima and dedicated the cornerstone of the cathedral on January 16, 1535. In it he lies buried before a great silver altar surmounted by an image of the virgin Mary. The interior of the cathedral is vast and dim and there are many side chapels and sacred pictures, some of which are by Peruvian artists of considerable merit. There is also a bronze fountain said to have been presented to the city in 1578, probably the oldest in America. Lima is a city of churches and the cathedral is more than equalled by several others in beauty and interest, if not in age.

No clue to the man's identity has appeared.

WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Elwood, Ind.—"Your remedies have cured me and I have only taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was sick three months and could not walk. I suffered all the time. The doctors said I could not get well without an operation, for I could hardly stand the pains in my sides, especially my right one, and down my right leg. I began to feel better when I had taken only one bottle of Compound, but kept on as I was afraid to stop too soon."—Mrs. SADIE MULLEN, 2728 N. B. St., Elwood, Ind.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly, halfhearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

MEMORY OF GEN. CUSTER HONORED

Equestrian Statue Is Unveiled in Monroe, Mich.

PRESIDENT TAFT IS PRESENT

Chief Executive Among the Speakers—Widow of Heroic Soldier Participates in the Impressive Ceremony.

Monroe, Mich.—Fitting respect was paid by the state of Michigan on June 4 to one of her noblest sons, when a fine equestrian statue of Gen. George Armstrong Custer was unveiled in this town where that warrior spent five years of his youth, and where later he was married. The occasion was made doubly notable by the presence of President Taft, Senator William Alden Smith, Governor Warner and other distinguished men, and Mrs. Elizabeth Custer, widow of the hero, came from New York to unveil the statue.

The ceremony attracted to Monroe a throng that taxed the accommodations of the town. It included many veterans of the Civil war, especially the survivors of the Third Cavalry division which Custer commanded in duced and was given an ovation. He spoke briefly, but feelingly, of the man who was being honored, and of his inestimable services to the country and devotion to duty.

The oration of the day, delivered by Senator William Alden Smith, was next on the program. It was an eloquent and scholarly effort, and elicited enthusiastic applause. This was followed by remarks by Maj. Gen. D. McMillan, commander of the Second division, Cavalry corps, Army of the Potomac, and Brig. Gen. Edward W. Whitaker, who was acting assistant inspector general and chief of staff under Custer, at the close of the war. A poem by Will Carleton, written for the occasion, came next.

Gov. Fred M. Warner made the formal presentation of the statue, the response being by Jacob Martin, mayor of Monroe, after which the band played "America."

Laurel Wreaths for the Hero. Then came one of the prettiest features of the program, William O. Lee, president of the Michigan Cavalry Brigade association, stepped forward bearing in his arms a number of laurel wreaths, and as he laid them at the base of the monument, a chorus of 75 voices sang "The Old Brigade." The ceremonies came to an end with a benediction pronounced by Rt. Rev. Charles D. Williams, bishop of Michigan.

The Custer monument stands in the public square of Monroe, close to the Presbyterian church, in which the general was married. It cost $25,000, and was paid for by the state. The statue itself is of bronze, and represents the general in his well known uniform, slouch hat in hand and sharp

STATE AND NATION HONORS CUSTER

GEN. CUSTER'S WIDOW IS CENTRAL FIGURE IN UNVEILING OF STATUE AT MONROE.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY IS WITNESSED BY THE PRESIDENT AND 25,000 PEOPLE.

Senator Wm. Alden Smith, Orator of the Day, Eulogizes Michigan's Greatest War Hero.

A great epoch in the history of Monroe took place June 4th, 1910, when the beautiful statue erected to the memory of the gallant General George A. Custer, was unveiled by the widow who has mourned the loss of her beloved and brave husband many years. Custer, the true soldier whose life went out in a desperate battle with the fierce Indians on the frontier was a worthy citizen of the republic, a loved neighbor and friend, an ideal man, of whom Monroe was justly proud and to whom the state has paid a tardy and well earned honor.

There were present Taft, president of the United States, Michigan's two senators, Burrows and Smith, with other distinguished men and some notable addresses were delivered.

The grey veterans who had served with and under Custer were like a page of past history filled with heroic deeds and illuminated with a record of brave gallantry rarely equalled.

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Custer, widow of the gallant fighter, dominated the day's ceremonies, for, though she never uttered a public word, her moment came when, with trembling hands, she grasped the long yellow satin ribbon, typical of the cavalry arm of the service, and broke apart the two American flags which concealed the figure of her loved one seated on his charger. A smile played over her face, and after a full look she nodded in appreciation. Then she turned to receive the congratulations of President Taft, who stood just behind her; the cannon began to boom their salutes and the band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner" as every one arose and cheered.

To the tribute of the state, President William H. Taft added the homage of the nation, holding up Custer not only as a great cavalry leader of the rebellion, but as one who, at the close of the civil war, spent years on the plains and made possible the settlement of that vast country and the building of the trans-continental railroads.

Senator Wm. Alden Smith, in his eulogy of General Custer, paid a glowing tribute to his many heroic deeds.

Scene a Brilliant One.

The scene will linger long in the memory of those who witnessed it. Nature had contributed her full share to the day's enjoyment, for the air was fresh and balmy. Around the statue were massed the elements of which might be read the history of the army. There were the old boys, the veterans of southern battlefields and of the plains, proudly wearing the red neckties that showed they were survivors of the Custer cavalry brigade. Just behind them were lined up the regulars, and then the militia, with the big crowd forming a picturesque background. There was a tinge of sadness in the presence of the veterans, but the latter forgot all about their age and their ailments in the joy of honoring their old leader.

The stand was filled with officers in full dress and ladies in white frocks, all glowing with enthusiasm. The presence of President Taft lent the note of national significance to the event, the importance of which was testified to by the presence of 25,000 to honor the dead hero and the chief magistrate.

TAFT AT JACKSON.

President Unveils Monument Which Marks Birth of Republican Party.

The city of Jackson never looked prettier with its gay decorations of national colors arranged for the coming of President Taft to unveil the monument which marks the birthplace of the Republican party.

Flags and red, white and blue bunting were everywhere in evidence, forming in graceful and artistic festoons from nearly every viewpoint. Every block and every store was decorated, and the chamber of commerce and the citizens generally exerted every effort to make the event a success and to extend to the chief executive of the nation a royal welcome.

Never before has a president of the United States visited the exact spot where the Republican party was born. After dedicating the Custer statue at Monroe, President Taft attended the ceremonies in connection with the unveiling of the celebration of the birth of the Republican party, and unveiled the monument of its memory.

In his speech, the president proclaimed socialism as the great problem that confronts the American people, the issue that is soon to come and that must be skillfully met. But the Republican party has shown itself capable of dealing with great questions effectively and wisely, he said, and predicted that the American people must soon determine whether it shall trust the same party with the solution of "that problem than which we have had no greater in the history of the country."

The president put in a busy time of it all the while in Jackson. During the five hours he unveiled the monument at the corner of Franklin and Second streets, the exact spot where the party was born, spoke for half an hour at Keesley Park, shook hands with countless citizens, and gave perhaps 50,000 people a chance to size up his smile. He wound up the day by taking dinner with a select company at the residence of Congressman Townsend.

The annual industrial exposition of the wholesalers and retailers of Saginaw and the valley will be held in the auditorium Sept. 9 to Sept. 17, according to plans perfected at a meeting of the board of trade.

After driving five days, a greater part of the time in the rain, J. A. Jadin, a farmer of Grand Blanc, succeeded in finding his $700 team, which ran away after being frightened by an automobile passing his farm.

Rev. J. P. DeJong, of Zeeland, was elected vice-president of the general synod of the Reformed Church of America at the meeting in Newark, N. J. Delegates from all over the country to the number of 250 attended.

Word has reached Manistee of the death, in Chicago, of William Douglas, a pioneer lumberman of the city. He was on his way home from Texas where he spent the winter in the hope of benefiting his health. The widow survives.

Congressman J. W. Fordney, who arrived in Saginaw from Washington for a few days' rest, says that the present session of congress will pass the postal saving bank bill and that 41,000 of the 42,000 bills before congress will never again see the light of day.

A pitiful case is that of the two week old baby of a Mrs. Wilma Cashmire, of Battle Creek. Juvenile Judge Porter adjudged the babe a neglected child and ordered it sent to the Coldwater state school. The mother declared she did not want the infant.

As the result of an argument over religion, in which George Krasowskas, John Leyse and the latter's wife indulged, in Grand Rapids, the former is in St. Mary's hospital with three severe scalp wounds, inflicted, it is said, by a club in the hands of Leyse.

A rumor has gained currency to the effect that the names of W. H. Arthur, of Marshall, and F. L. Edwin, of Albion, have been sent to the senate for the appointment of postmaster in their respective cities. Arthur's third term will expire June 22. Edwin also is serving his third term.

In order to educate people of Saginaw to vote for the bond issue for the proposed $400,000 waterworks and filtration plant, the citizens' committee has arranged for a special train to Toledo to carry free anyone that wants to view that city's model plant. The date of the trip has not been determined.

Train service on the Michigan Central through Owosso was delayed several hours by two wrecks, one between Lansing and Holt, in which a broken wheel derailed eight freight cars, the other near St. Charles, where two coal cars were thrown in the ditch by a broken axle. No one was injured.

The members of five Protestant churches in Niles held a mass meeting Sunday to protest against Sunday baseball and the operation of motion picture theaters on the Sabbath. The ministers have repeatedly denounced the indulgence in these pastimes on Sunday, but the city administration is in favor of them.

William J. Hess, a capitalist of Manitowish, Wis., has purchased all the cut-over lands of the Nester estate in Gogebic and Ontonagon counties. The lands contain in all about 10,000 acres and were cut over years ago by this the oldest lumbering concern in this section. Only pine and hemlock, however, was taken, and the balance of the timber is still standing. The new owner will colonize the lands.

Michigan is still in the million-dollar class, according to the statement issued by the state treasurer, which shows a total of $1,809,330 on bond in all the various funds, and a cash surplus of $10,053.83 in the strong box. The primary school interest fund has a total of $127,293.97, and this amount will be increased by $16,000 paid in to Auditor-General Fuller by the Toledo & Ironton Railroad Co.

Despite the fact that considerable property in Lansing, both real and personal, has been removed from the rolls owing to the advent of local option and the exemptions granted to soldiers and sailors of the civil war, the city assessors have estimated that the total assessed valuation of Lansing will be raised from last year's figures, $13,736,425, to an even $15,000,000 this year, or a gain of over $1,000,000.

Rev. Dr. John Sweet, of Detroit, will have charge of the reunion services at the homecoming of the former residents of Central, the old and deserted metropolis of the Michigan Copper Country, to be held July 24. Dr. Sweet was pastor of the church at Central 30 years ago. This will be the fourth annual reunion of former Centralites. Invitations are being sent former Central people all over the world, many residing in England, Canada, Norway, Australia and South Africa, as well as in many parts of the United States.

Hints For Hostess

TIMELY SUGGESTIONS for Those Planning Seasonable Entertainments.

A Progressive Word Game.

So many people object to cards but still wish to entertain with a progressive game, I think this will suit almost every one, and it is a real exciting play, too. Get a box of anagrams, costing 25 cents; several sets may be needed if the party is a large one. Choose partners and tables as for any progressive game, then the hostess places a small heap of letters in the center of each table, telling the players that their words are to be names of books; when the bell rings the first lady at each table turns a letter and places it face up so that all four players see it at once. The first person who names a book beginning with the letter claims that word and takes it to her side; the next player turns a letter, etc. When the bell calls "halt," the partners at each table add up their combined words and the winners (or losers as the hostess decides) progress to the next table. At the next table they have another word, say "cities." Each table makes a different class of words. The names of flowers, birds, famous people, mountains, rivers, colleges, Bible characters, etc. Prizes are awarded as for any progressive game, and refreshments are served at small tables.

A Farewell Shower.

This month brings numerous farewells, along with its gaieties; for commencements and weddings usually mean partings. A favorite teacher going abroad for her vacation was the recipient of such a novel shower that I could scarcely wait to tell the department readers all about it.

Of course, on short vacation journeys baggage is to be considered, and her friends did not wish to cause inconvenience by their kindly attentions, so one of the girls said: "Let's give her a 'Europe shower,' and they did. There were envelopes, great and small; some contained safety pins, some hair pins; a wee one held court plaster, another a layer of absorbent cotton; one clippings of jokes, several were steamed letters. One bulky affair had chewing gum and fruit tablets, the latter wrapped in waxed paper like caramels. Oh, yes, one neatly tied envelope had needles and various threads wound on cardboard, with a card containing various sized buttons. The envelopes were all placed in a denim bag to hang on her steamer chair.

A Rose Musicale.

Roses belong to June, so this charming affair is specially fitting right now. Have the hour three o'clock and give the program of songs all pertaining to roses. Intersperse piano or violin selections, although ballad programs are very popular. Serve ice cream, either in rose molds or in lovely candy roses, the stems of green candy; small cakes and after-dinner cups of French coffee. Decorate exclusively with roses, giving each guest one as they enter the room.

PROGRAM.

1. My Love Is Like a Red, Red Rose.
2. Roses Bring Dreams of You.
3. My Rosy Rambler.
4. My Southern Rose.
5. Last Rose of Summer.
6. Garden of Roses.
7. My Wild Irish Rose.
8. Roses in June.
9. Meet Me in Rosetown, Rosie.

A New Blind Man's Buff.

This is an exciting little game much loved by children and just the thing for outdoors. Form a circle, in the middle place the blind man—a big silk handkerchief is fine for blinding. Then give each person a number in rotation. The blindman calls out two numbers, like "4 and 7;" these children change places rapidly; in the rush the blindman tries to catch one; failing, he calls two more numbers; if again unsuccessful he calls 100, which means that all change places, and he usually gets a victim in the scramble. The blind man then takes the number of the one caught and the game proceeds.

MADAME MERRI.

The Right Gloves.

Gloves are an all-important accessory to the costume, and the wrong style will ruin the effect of a smart and well-chosen gown. With either black or colored tailored gowns neutral-toned gloves are correct. Arrowhead backs are smartest in fancy gloves, and, likewise, the expensive kind. The fastening is one heavy button, which is often an ornamental feature. White glove gloves are almost universally accepted for evening wear, though deep cream suede often takes the place of white.

Rosebuds on Slippers.

New evening slippers, especially for young girls, show embroidery on the toe of pink rosebuds. The idea is quite pretty, and the slippers go very well with girlish gowns of white tulle and chiffon, which have pink roses at the belt and on the sleeves.

Those who like the effect and are not able to get it in embroidery can make a pink rosebud of satin and apply it to the slipper instead of a buckle, mounting it in a rosette or bow of white or pink tulle.

IN VOGUE

Skirts are fuller without being voluminous. Sleeves generally are still close fitting and quite long. Kimono sleeves remain quite fashionable for elaborate gowns. Colored embroidery on white is one of the fads of the season.

A huge bow at the back is the sole trimming on some of the new turbans. Coat-of-mail sleeves are coming in for evening gowns, supple and graceful.

Present fashion demands that the figure be kept in slender lines about the hips.

The envelope flap is in evidence and is not an unattractive trimming below the waist.

Some of the handsome new sweaters are of white, with large sailor collar and cuffs in color.

A noticeable feature of the season's blouses is the tendency to simulate a side-front closing.

Suede, patent leather and natural kid belts are in high style with silk, wool and linen costumes.

Long skirts are worn for afternoon and evening, but even at such times many women wear short skirts.

A unique and most effective trimming for a gown is made of shirrings of satin over colored satin ruffal.

The shawl-shaped collar, cut pretty narrow, is quite prominent, being faced with satin, moire and even velvet.

Coat lengths vary a good bit, though most of them are below the hip depth, and a number have novel vest effects.

Tea Serviette

made in ecrú linen of somewhat fine texture, and a set would be worked with different sprays of fruit in the corners of each.

Here we show one of ecrú linen cut about ten inches square, buttonholed at the edge in scallops with blue grain cotton, a spray of ecrú in satin stitch is worked in each corner with the same cotton, the leaf being an applique of blue cambric buttonholed at edge and veined with satin stitch.

Black Velvet Slippers. Those who do not like satin as a material for a dinner and dancing slipper are now using velvet. These slippers are made to order and are untrimmed except for a tiny bow of black satin, holding a lover's knot of crystals, set in silver.

Small serviettes prettily embroidered with a spray of flowers or fruits in each corner are always nice for using at tea-time or after eating fruit. In Europe the fruit serviette, is quite a feature, it is generally

WESTERN CANADA

What Prof. Shaw, the Well-Known Agriculturist, Says About It.

"I would sooner raise cattle in Western Canada than in the corn belt of the United States. Food is cheaper and climate better for the purpose. Your market will improve faster than your farmers will produce the supplies. Wheat can be grown up to the 60th parallel (800 miles north of the International boundary). Your stock land will be taken at a rate of 100,000 acres a year. We have enough people in the United States alone who want to take up this land. New homes to take up this land."

70,000 Americans will enter and make their homes in Western Canada this year. 1909 produced another large crop of wheat, oats and barley. In addition to which the cattle exports was an immense amount of cattle, sheep, horses, mules, and grain growing in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

THE CUSTER MONUMENT.

that conflict. There were also detachments of the Michigan National Guard, and hundreds of civilians from all parts of the state.

Ceremony Is Impressive.

Otto Kirchner, vice chairman of the local committee, presided over the exercises, which were opened with an invocation by Rt. Rev. John S. Foley, bishop of Detroit. The report of the monument commission was read by Col. George G. Briggs, chairman, and then the sculptor, Edward C. Potter of Greenwich, Conn., made brief remarks on his work.

Mrs. Custer now stepped forward, and pulling the cord of the flag which draped the statue, unveiled the figure of her husband. As Old Glory slipped ly reining in the handsome horse on which he is mounted. The massive base is of gray granite, and rests on a concrete foundation that extends down to a bed of rock, some 12 feet below the surface.

Credit for the erection of this fine monument is largely due to Charles E. Greening, secretary of the Michigan Custer Memorial association, and one of the leading citizens of Monroe. He it was, who by argument and persuasion, induced the legislature to appropriate the money for the monument, and he has earned the gratitude of every survivor of the famous Michigan cavalrymen whom General Custer led on the bloody battlefields of the south.

National Dish of Canada.

One cannot be long in any hotel or restaurant in Canada without seeing halibut on the bill of fare. In this respect it assumes the position of a national dish.

It is there on Christmas day and again on Midsummer day, and there are not many days in between these two dates when halibut finds no place on the menu. So plentiful is halibut in the waters of the west coast of Vancouver Island that Mr. Ernest McGaffey on one occasion watched a few Indians with their crude fishing arrangements catch 21,000 pounds in Clayoquot sound in one day. When it is remembered that a halibut sometimes weighs as much as 300 pounds perhaps this achievement will lose a tiny part of its glory.

Mediocre Talents.

As to clever people hating each other, I think a little extra talent does sometimes make people jealous. They become irritated by perpetual attempts and failures, and it hurts their tempers and dispositions. Unpretending mediocrity is good, and genius is glorious, but a weak flavor of genius in an essentially common person is detestable. It spoils the grand neutrality of a commonplace character, as the rhinings of an unwashed wine glass spoil a draught of fair water.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Much to Learn.

BREVITIES

MILAN—John Anderson, 30 years old, was shooting turtles with a rifle Sunday afternoon when a cartridge failed to go off and stuck in the breach of the gun. In attempting to dislodge the shell with a steel ramrod, he exploded the cartridge, the ball entering his abdomen, making a wound that is likely to prove fatal. Anderson is unmarried and has been employed as a factory hand here for some time. He has served a term in the army and says he has no relatives living that he knows about.

STOCKBRIDGE—Everett Parker, a well known farmer, nine miles northeast of here, went to the barn about noon Friday climbed upon a scaffold and fired a bullet from a 32-caliber revolver into his right temple. The bullet passed through his head under the brain, destroying the sight of both eyes. He fell ten feet upon some farm machinery where he was found an hour later by a neighbor. Parker was 40 years old and has a wife and one child. It is said that domestic trouble led to the act.

JACKSON—Sent by her parents on an errand to the grocery, two blocks from her home at 10 o'clock Saturday night, Mildred Smith, 6 years old, was waylaid by an unknown man, brutally beaten and outraged. When her screams finally scared the man into releasing her, she made her way to a neighbor and told her terrible story. The man escaped, but the police and the whole neighborhood are searching for him. The child lives at 202 Walker street and the assault occurred on Cooper street, near by.

ANN ARBOR—Though it is as yet impossible to tell whether Miss Lulu Leisner, who fell 80 feet down a deserted mine shaft at Ishpeming, three weeks ago, will recover, the family is greatly encouraged because the young woman recovered consciousness last night and for a time was able to recognize her relatives. It has been learned that only Miss Leisner's ability at skating saved her from instant death. While rushing through the air so she turned her body that the fall was not nearly so severe as it might have been.

MARSHALL—The famous Duck lake snake has been found and actually killed, thereby putting to rest the scoffers who failed to believe the stories of the enormous size of the reptile. It was first discovered by George Hoyt, an M. U. R. motorman, who alleged that he was obliged to stop his car to allow the snake to cross the track. Fred Barker, another motorman saw the snake Tuesday morning near Cluff's corners, east of Albion. It was on the track, but he fearlessly ran his car over it. The reptile measured 12 feet and two inches long and it was seven inches in diameter.

JACKSON—Many people are up in arms over the condition which exist in Jackson's apology for a dog pound. The place is located in the very heart of the city, under the very eaves of some of the most important business houses, in the rear of a blacksmith shop on Cortland street. Several cramped, dilapidated old sheds serve to house the doomed animals. The canines, after being killed, are piled in a heap outside and sometimes remain for several days before being carted to the glue works. The place, it is claimed, abounds with decaying matter of all kinds and is a menace to the health of the city.

YPSILANTI—Residents of the first ward are considering the advisability of nailing down their houses or forming a night patrol, as an epidemic of thievery has broken out there. One resident lost a $10 lawn mower, nearly new, one evening; another found a $5 new hammock missing; one lady lost her weekly wash, taken from the line, and M. E. Griswold lost 21 baby chickens and the brooder Thursday night. It was evident that a rig had been used to cart off the brooder. A few weeks ago one housewife went out to bring in her clothes from the line soon after dark and found them all gathered into a pile and a negro climbing over the back fence. Her opportune arrival saved her clothes.

JACKSON—Wilfred Thatcher, a 19-year-old high school student, is under arrest charged with the larceny of $250 from Andrew Murray, proprietor of the hotel Murray. He boarded at the Murray hotel. For some time Mr. Murray has missed small sums of money. About two weeks ago the lad left, saying he was going to Port Huron, where his sister was dying. Mr. Murray missed $170 after the lad's departure. Thatcher came back to Jackson Monday and, while watching a circus parade, was arrested. When taken to the police station he admitted stealing the $170 from Murray, and said that the "sick sister" was a hoax. He had $7.50 on his person when arrested and was dressed in the latest "Rah, Rah" style.

ANN ARBOR—Thomas Wolven of Whitmore Lake, who last week advertised in a local paper for a wife, claims to have had four answers to his call for an affinity. He coyly admits that he may get more and therefore he is going to wait a while longer before saying "I'm your'n," to anyone.

JACKSON—Fifty-four flags, a part of those used in decorating Main street on the occasion of President Taft's visit to Jackson, were stolen Sunday night, entailing a loss of over $200 to the owners, a Pittsburgh, Pa., firm. A large number of other emblems were torn to shreds by the miscreants.

MILAN—William Boon, 50, a negro, who has been in trouble before, is in jail at Monroe, charged with attempting to kill his wife, and Mrs. Boon is in an Ann Arbor hospital with a shotgun wound in her limb, as the result of a shooting at the Boon home Friday. The man claims the shooting was accidental, but the victim says he tried to kill her. Boon was arrested on his return from Ann Arbor, where he accompanied his wife. The woman will recover.

GRASS LAKE—A dog belonging to Clarence Lockwood, who lives four miles southwest of Grass Lake, acted strangely and subsequently disappeared. A few days ago three cows and three hogs showed symptoms of rabies and had to be killed. It is conjectured that they were bitten by the dog which so strangely took himself off. Whether the animal is alive or not is unknown, but as nothing has been heard of him or his deadly work, it is believed that he is dead.

MILLER'S CORN REMOVER

A Speedy, Painless Remedy for Hard and Soft Corns, Bunions, Warts, Moles and Callouses.

That grinding, penetrating, continually growing pain passes through your whole body. It makes it impossible to walk with comfort and to wear decent looking shoes. Possibly you neglected the corn because you did not want to use a greasy salve or a sticky liniment or because you was not acquainted with MILLER'S CORN REMOVER.

It looked like a big undertaking to remove a corn fifteen or twenty years of age, but all you have to do is apply the liquid Corn Remover (do not bandage) and it will do the rest. Don't put it off. Don't suffer another day or another hour with that ugly corn.

Buy a bottle of Miller's Corn Remover at once. Apply the Corn Remover with the enclosed brush night and morning for four days. Do not bandage. Soak the feet in hot water the fifth day and the corn can be readily removed. (Keep the bottle corked.)

For sale by L. T. Freeman Co., H. H. Fenn Co. and L. P. Vogel.
