Rev. W. P. Considine Celebrated Silver Jubilee of His Pastorate

The Silver Jubilee of the pastorate of Rev. Wm. P. Considine of the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart was celebrated by the members of the church and the citizens of this community in a very fitting and appropriate manner.

Monday evening the pupils of St. Mary's school gave a recital in honor of Rev. Fr. Considine which was attended by a very large number of our citizens and the manner in which the program was carried out reflects much credit to their instructors.

The program was as follows:

At the close of the exercises Miss Margaret Farrell in a very appropriate manner presented Rev. Father Considine with a set of solid gold service vessels for use on the altar, as an appreciation of his service in their behalf. Rev. Fr. Considine in a very feeling manner thanked the pupils and their friends for the memento.

Tuesday morning solemn high mass was celebrated in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. Fr. Considine. There were about twenty-five visiting clergymen present and the church was filled to its utmost capacity by our citizens.

At the close of the mass a luncheon was served to the visiting clergy.

During the twenty-five years that Rev. Fr. Considine has resided in Chelsea he has gained many friends and has improved the properties of the church greatly and today he has charge of one of the most prosperous parishes and the second largest congregation in Washtenaw county.

The banquet given in the large auditorium of St. Mary's school Tuesday evening was attended by more than 500 of our citizens, and thanks to the efficient manner in which the members of the various committees had looked after their work, everyone received the best of attention.

The tables presented a beautiful appearance, and the following was the menu:

Fruit Cocktail.

Escalloped Oysters

Brown Bread

Pressed Chicken

Roast Turkey

Cranberry Jelly

Creamed Potatoes

Sliced Ham

Olives

Celery

Waldorf Salad

Ice Cream

During the serving of the dinner

Napoli's Orchestra from Detroit discussed pleasing music.

Key, Dennis A. Hayes, of Coldwater, acted as toastmaster, and made a most happy one, his introductions of the various speakers were made in a pleasing manner and brought many a laugh from the banqueters.

Rev. Joseph Hallisey, of Hudson, responded to the toast "Our Pope," in a manner that elicited much applause.

Miss Mary Dunn, of River Rouge, a cousin of Rev. W. P. Considine, and well known here, sang "Ave Maria" in her usual pleasing manner, and very graciously responded to an encore.

The toastmaster then introduced Hon. W. W. Wedemeyer, with a poem entitled "Bill's Been Sent to Congress." Mr. Wedemeyer's subject was "Our Country," and he made one of his usual happy addresses.

J. Louis Burg, of Chelsea, sang "The Sword of Bunker Hill" and received hearty applause.

Geo. P. Staffan, village president, was given the subject "Our Village," and gave a history of the village, down to the present time, and then told what was in store for us in years to come.

Miss Edna Haffrey, of Chelsea, sang "I'll take you back again, Kathleen," which was beautifully rendered.

Hon. Jas. S. Gorman spoke on "Our Parish" and he took many a fall out of the speakers who had preceded him.

Miss Dunn sang "Home, Sweet Home," after which Rev. Father Hallisey on behalf of the members of the parish presented Rev. Father Considine with a purse, which judging from its weight must have contained a large sum.

Father Considine responded, in a most feeling manner and assured the donors that the money would be used in the work nearest his heart, that of furthering the work of St. Mary's school.

It was midnight when the exercises ended, but so pleasant had been the occasion, that none had noticed the flight of the hours, and all went away wishing Father Considine many more years among us.

During the past few days Father Considine has received many gifts from friends and admirers, and among these was a hand made lace Alb, made in a convent in Mexico and presented by the Sisters of St. Dominic, who have charge of St. Mary's school.

Caught in Shredder.

Word has been received from Eaton Rapids that Peter Oesterle is the latest victim of the corn shredder in that section Tuesday while engaged in feeding one of these machines on the C. N. Whittem farm, in Brookfield, five miles southwest of that city. His right hand was caught in the machinery in such a way that the arm was drawn in and crushed nearly to the elbow. A physician was summoned, who amputated the wounded arm below the elbow, and the unfortunate man is getting along as well as could be expected, considering the seriousness of the wound and the general shock to his nerves. The farm where Mr. Oesterle met with his misfortune Tuesday joins the one on which George Tuttle, a neighbor, lost an arm in the same manner two years ago. This is the third corn shredder accident that has taken place this fall and within the past two weeks, within a few miles of Eaton Rapids. He is a son of Mrs. C. Oesterle of this place.

Mrs. Mercy Boyd Will Celebrate One Hundredth Birthday Soon

Miss Mercy Peck, (Grandma Boyd) was born in Kent, Putnam county, New York, November 25, 1810, and will celebrate the 100th anniversary of her birth on November 25, 1910.

During the long life of Mrs. Boyd there have been twenty-three presidents of the United States elected. James Madison was in the presidential chair when she was born. There are but two of the men living today who have filled the chief executive office, ex-President Theodore Roosevelt and President Taft. During her life time three of the presidents have been shot while serving their country as its executives Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley.

Many large volumes of history have been made during her long life; the slaves of this country being made free while she was but in the prime of life and yet this is but one of the great events that is recorded in her pages. Many of the monarchs of Europe have ascended to the thrones of their countries and have passed away. Hosts of great American Statesmen have also passed over the great river and their names have been recorded in histories for the present generation to read, but all of the events of the past 100 years have occurred during the life of Mrs. Boyd.

Harvey C. Boyd was united in marriage with Miss Mercy Peck at Benton, Yates county, New York, October 20, 1836, and they started for Michigan where Mr. Boyd had located a farm on section 20 in Lima, in 1834. At that time railroads were unknown and they made the trip by stage to Buffalo where they took a boat for Epworth League Convention.

The fourteenth annual convention of the Michigan Epworth League was held at the German M. E. church near Francisco, November 8, 9 and 10.

The weather was ideal for the occasion. The pastor, Rev. Joseph Beal, the various committees, the League and Junior League, the choir and whole congregation, worked in harmony, and by and through their efforts helped make the convention one of the most successful in its history.

Rev. Severinghouse of Toledo, O., acted as presiding officer, with Rev. J. Beal, district president, as chairman. After some very appropriate words by Rev. Severinghouse, a hearty address of welcome was given by Rev. J. Beal, which was responded to by Rev. Klaeber of Montague, in a most fitting manner, after which followed a sermon by Benjamin Beal of Detroit, using the theme, "I want to see Jesus."

The following papers were read during the convention: "What can the League do to evangelize the world?" by Rev. MacLanz, of Hopkins; the subject was very ably handled and brought a good discussion. The next subject, "Why are there not more young men in the church?" by Mr. Allinger, of Detroit, which brought out a great variety of reasons. The next subject, "The Ideal Leaguer" by delegate from Lansing. Various other subjects were handled during the convention.

A most interesting feature of the program was the work done by the Junior League, by whom a greater part of the session was conducted in a most creditable manner, and bore evidence of noble work from their instructor. Another uplifting and impressive feature was the beautiful songs by the district male choir.

There were more than sixty delegates from various parts of Michigan and Ohio present. Every session of the convention was well attended the church being filled to its utmost capacity. Officers for next year are president, Rev. Kaerber of Montague, vice president, Rev. Severinghouse of Toledo, O., secretary, Mrs. P. H. Klemensneider of Sylvan.

The convention came to a close Thursday evening with a communion service in which a large number took part. The closing benediction was given by Rev. Brown of Detroit. The next annual convention will be held at Hopkins, Mich.

JAS. IT IS IN REAL LIFE

True Story That Differs Materially from "Plot" of the Average Novel.

A favorite "plot" of western story writers is the "nester" or homesteader, who is persecuted by neighboring ranchmen, "barons" until he is driven from his home and leaves the range to his assailants, or perchance stands his ground and suffers a mysterious disappearance of his home from a cottonwood tree. No doubt instances of this kind have occurred, but it is a safe assertion that they were very few and far between. One who has an acquaintance among the large ranchmen of today will have a hard time conceiving of them engaged in driving homeless families into the desert.

One is more inclined to credit the story told of a ranchman now living who for many years had thrived as a sheep raiser with an unblemished range. After a year of plentiful rains, dry farming was proposed in his vicinity, with the result that his usual range was reduced over half by homesteaders' claims. For over two years the ranchman cursed his unwelcome neighbors with all the expressiveness of his lurid vocabulary. The third season brought a drought, bankrupting many of the dry farmers. The ranchman assured those who held on that they too were doomed to failure, but his words were not heeded and a number of families suffered actual privation. One day it was learned that the ranchman had bought out a general store in a nearby town and was crediting the dry farmers on his books. His only comment was that "somebody had to keep the damn nesters from starving."—E. D. Ewers in the Los Angeles Times.

Life on a Battle Ship.

To the "landlubber," one of the peculiar and oftentimes disconcerting elements of life on a warship during turbulent practice is the necessity for numerous baths. After each volley all the men on deck must take a bath. Sometimes there are four or five baths a day. This becomes quite monotonous. The Japanese inaugurated this practice. A bath is taken before and after shooting, to guard against possible infection of open scratches and cuts from the flying powder. When the big guns go off, the landsman on deck is thrown into consternation. A horrible, sickening wrench makes one feel as if each limb was separately grasped and pulled in various directions, and it is a long time until he gets his "seesaws" again. Life aboard ship is not the ideal that humor has characterized it. The "hardack" legend is erroneous. The sailors are well fed, with the best viands procurable, and their bread, far from being hard tack, is as good as that which is served in any high class hotel or restaurant. There is a spirit of good fellowship among the men below decks. Each man has his separate duties definitely designated and there are no petty jealousies. —J. W. Aldie in Leslie's.

One of His Little Ships.

Mr. Makinbrakes made another futile effort to light the cigar his host had just handed him.

"These matches," he said absently, "seem to be lacking in the in the—"

"Those are toothpicks," politely explained the host.

"Why, of course," said Mr. Makinbrakes, smiling genially at his blunder; "any blame fool ought to know that. Though to be sure I didn't mean that—I had no intention—I wasn't referring, you know—not for worlds would I have you understand—Mr. Grimshaw, did you ever read Rollin's Ancient History?"

Railroad for Children to Play With.

What boy that has ridden on a miniature railway at Coney Island or elsewhere has not longed to have just such a toy in his own garden? There are some children in England who own just such a railroad. They are the children of the duke of Westminster, and their road runs over their father's estate and that of C. H. Bartholomew at Blakesley Hall. The engine works with gasoline, and was evidently made in America, as it is of a type unknown in Europe.—New York World.

Be Cheerful Always.

Cultivate cheerfulness if only for personal profit. You will do and bear every duty and burden better by being cheerful. It will be your consoler in solitude, your passport and recommendation in society. You will be more sought after, more trusted and esteemed for your steady cheerfulness. The bad and vicious may be boisterously gay and vulgarly humorous, but seldom or never truly cheerful. Genuine cheerfulness is an almost certain index of a happy mind and a pure, good heart.

A Shock Absorber.

"Didn't you feel tired about kissing your beau at first?"

"Those things come about gradually," explained the dear girl. "I began by kissing Ferdinand through my veil."

A Shame.

Warden—No; the guy that killed his family ain't hore no more. The governor pardoned him.

The Visitor—What a shame! I've right a lot of roasts! What other duffers have you?

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

SAGINAW COUNTY PROFITS MOST FROM THE PRIMARY SCHOOL FUND.

Fire at Boyne City Destroys Railroad Shops, Causing a Loss of $45,000.

Gov. Warner issued his sixth annual Thanksgiving proclamation. It reads as follows:

"It is a wise and beneficent custom that has taught our people to set aside a day during the season of the autumn harvest to give thanks to God for the bounty of His goodness, as a day of praise and thanksgiving for the blessings showered upon us.

"In accordance with this custom bequeathed to us and hallowed by long observance, I hereby designate Thursday, November 24, as a day to be set apart for thanksgiving to God for the bounties of His goodness and for the good and virtuous citizens who have made our State a land of peace and prosperity.

"Our State is one of marvelous material resources, and in the year now drawing to a close we have been especially favored. The land has yielded bountifully under the skillful husbandry of our people. Our cities are centers of commercial enterprise and the handiwork of our artisans is bringing fame and fortune to our people.

"Our progress is not all along material lines. The love and loyalty which unite our people is everywhere manifest and brings assurance of better things for the future. Our cities are centers of commercial enterprise and the handiwork of our artisans is bringing fame and fortune to our people.

Saginaw Profits Most.

For 1910 the state paid out of the primary school fund to the various school districts of the state a total of $5,581,434, and the total state tax collected for the same year from these counties was only $4,729,000. Thus it will be seen that the state paid out to the various counties $862,434 more than was paid by these same counties in the state taxes.

There are school districts in the state that have a surplus of several thousand dollars on hand that they have no use for, and the amount is rapidly being added to by the apportionment of the primary school money.

$45,000 Fire at Boyne City.

Fire which broke out in Boyne City destroying the B. C. G. & A. railroad shops, caused a loss of $45,000.

The fire originated in the boiler room and in 10 minutes the huge structure was a mass of flames. Two locomotives which were being repaired were totally destroyed. The other equipment was gotten out safely.

A strong northwest gale was blowing and for a time it was feared the business houses along the west side of Lake street would also be destroyed. The fact that they were constructed of brick and the good work of the department saved them. The machine shop was fully equipped. Work will be commenced immediately to rebuild the roundhouse and shops. The loss will reach $45,000, partly covered by insurance.

Half His Head Gone, Lives Six Days.

William Bryan, 43, a farmer near Hastings, after living six days with the top of his head torn off by a horse's kick, died unexpectedly. After the accident surgeons removed about 30 pieces of bone from his brain and part of the brain itself. Death was momentarily expected, but two days later he regained consciousness, talked rationally and asked to be taken home. His improvement astonished the surgeons, who regarded his vitality remarkable. He leaves a widow and two children, one of whom is blind.

The Hamm-nd-Standish Co., of Detroit, has increased its capitalization from $600,000 to $1,000,000.

Gleson, Comptroller, Ole Boylan, Kalamazoo; director to fill vacancy, one year, B. M. McAlister, Albion; directors, two years, Warren Link, Howard City; James A. Wagner, Kalamazoo; Charles A. Clayton, Tecumseh; J. S. Gollmer, Vicksburg.

NO SCORE IN BIG GAME.

Michigan and Pennsylvania Football Game Tied at Philadelphia.

Michigan's skill and strength and Pennsylvania's luck exactly balanced at Philadelphia and as a result of this balance the two teams quit the field after one of the most bitterly fought games in football history with the scoreboard barren of a single point. Outplaying Pennsylvania as the day, Michigan could not carry the ball over the goal line for a touchdown, nor boot it between the uprights for a field goal, outkicking the Wolverines as they did, the Quakers fared just as poorly in the way of decorating the board and the battle ended with a slough expressing the total achievement of both sides.

In everything but the count, it was Michigan's game.

New Corporations.

The following have filed articles of incorporation at Lansing: Peoples Food Co., Grand Rapids, $10,000; Maple Press Printing, Detroit, $5,000; Stockholders of Harris A. Gornetsky, Mattie Gornetsky and Arthur E. Stevens, Jeffrey De Witt Co., Detroit, $50,000; Stockholders are M. E. Lewis, Sarah A. De Witt and B. A. Jeffrey. Huron Milling Co., Harbor Beach, increased from $355,000 to $485,000.

STATE BRIEFS.

The annual meeting of the state Bricklayers', Masons' and Plasterers' unions was held in Grand Rapids with 35 delegates in attendance.

Louis Priels, of Mt. Clemens, defeated candidate for county treasurer, waved a greeting to a friend and in so doing dislocated his shoulder.

Three trainmen were injured by the explosion of a boiler of the locomotive on the G. R. & I. freight train No. 57, a quarter mile from Vicksburg.

Gov. Warner, for many years a member of the traveling men's association, has been invited to speak at the first state meeting, which will be held in Lapeer, Dec. 27 and 28.

Perhaps the first petition to be presented to Gov. Osborn will be one from the Grand Rapids Board of Trade, asking him to retain Railroad Commissioner Glasgow.

Mrs. Marilla Simcox, of Vassar, has received a check for $200.12 from the pension department for the services of her first husband, Peter Mapes, in the civil war. Mapes died 22 years ago, and for many years previous to his death was active in trying to get the pension money.

Twenty-eight citizens are willing to be commissioners of Port Huron under the new form of government and have already filed their petitions with the city clerk. From present indications there will be at least 40 petitions in by the time the limit for filing them expires.

Frank Manuel, of Cadillac, 22 years old, a brakeman for the Manistee & Northeastern railroad, was knocked from the ladder on the side of a freight car by a projecting scarp and thrown down when the wheels hit his body was terribly mangled. He was married only three weeks ago.

Client Judge Walter N. North, of Battle Creek, was found what he believes to be evidence that John Anthony, a negro under sentence of life imprisonment for causing the death of Mrs. Jessie Burch, is not guilty. She was shot to death, and identified the negro on her deathbed. Judge North has found that Anthony was in a restaurant when the shot was fired. He is being held in jail pending an investigation.

Despite the fact that it was brought out during the circuit court hearing at Bay City that William Quigley, who was killed by a Detroit & Mackinac train, did not support his wife and child, the supreme court ordered a verdict against the road, holding that the railroad company could not escape its liability for the death of the man because it was shown that his family suffered no pecuniary loss. The case will now be tried on its merits.

Horace G. Shover, receiver of the United Home Fraternal Society of Port Huron, has made a requisition, accompanied by the court's order, on the state treasury for $42,785.32, with which to pay a 10 percent dividend to the creditors. This institution was under the supervision of the state banking department and under the law its funds had to be deposited with the state treasurer after the failure about three years ago.

Notice was received by the Saginaw board of trade that the long fight for better service on the Michigan Central railroad into Tuscola county and the Thumb district points has been won. Trains will be operated to Caro from Saginaw making excellent connections with Vassar, thus opening up business territory hitherto closed because of inadequate train service.

Montclair county local option leaders are preparing to submit the matter to a vote again next spring. The matter was postponed on a technicality at the last session of the board. TROOPS GUARD LAPEER HOME

STATE MILITIA CALLED OUT TO ESTABLISH SMALLPOX QUARANTINE.

TWENTY-FIVE CASES AND FIVE DEATHS REPORTED AT HOME FOR FEEBLE MINDED.

Secretary of State Board of Health Says 25 Locallities Suffer From the Disease.

So serious has the smallpox situation at the Lapeer Home for the Feeble Minded become that state troops have been called out and placed on guard around the institution. The militiamen have pitched their tents on the grounds and will be kept at a quarantine guard at the home until conditions warrant their removal.

The situation is becoming very serious. The latest report gives a total of 25 cases and five deaths—a total number of 24 cases at the home.

Health Officer Frazier has a strict quarantine established on all the buildings, but because of several employees of the home breaking away and escaping at night Frazier and Sec. Shumway of the state board of health, deemed it advisable to order out the troops.

Dr. F. W. Shumway, secretary of the state board of health, says that he will hold a conference here with Dr. J. V. Frazier, health officer of Lapeer, as to the necessity of enforcing the strict quarantine at the Home for the Feeble Minded in Lapeer.

There are about 1,000 persons in the institution and owing to the prevalence of smallpox in a malignant form at the home it is feared that there may be a stampede of attendants away from the helpless inmates.

"It is difficult to say whether conditions there will become worse, but the situation is very serious at present," said Dr. Shumway. He has received reports from about 25 localities in the state where there are smallpox cases, but the disease prevails in a severe form only at Saginaw and the Lapeer home. An attempt is being made to secure the most accurate information from the infected localities.

Two attendants of the state home for the feeble-minded, at Lapeer, attempted to escape from the institution grounds and were ordered back at the point of bayonets by the armed militia who are patrolling the grounds to enforce the quarantine established there because of the outbreak of smallpox in the home.

The soldiers are armed with regulation army rifles and the guns are loaded with cartridges. It is understood the troops have been ordered to shoot if necessary to maintain the quarantine.

SIX ARE KILLED AT KALAMAZOO

FAST FREIGHT TRAIN CRASHES INTO A TROLLEY CAR, CAUSING TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

Freight cars on siding and a slight curve obstructed view of conductor.

Lives of Five Snuffed Out Instantly; One Dies in Hospital; Others Injured.

Six persons were killed and twelve others injured when a fast freight train crashed into a street car at the Michigan Central crossing on Main street, Kalamazoo.

The train was going at terrific speed, and came upon the car without warning, its approach being hidden by a string of box cars. The conductor of the car had gone ahead, and after looking up and down the track, had signaled his motorman to go ahead.

He had no more than done so than the train came around a slight curve and crashed into the trolley car, which had just started across the track.

The front end of the car was smashed to kindling wood, and Motorman Abbott's life snuffed out in an instant. So were the lives of four passengers.

The story of how the wreck happened is best told in the words of the conductor, Vern Van Horn, and L. D. Barker, a passenger who got off the car with Van Horn when he started ahead just before the crash to see if all was clear.

Van Horn is a nervous wreck since the accident, but before he collapsed he told this story of the circumstances:

"We waited for a switch engine to pass over the crossing. Our car stood about 50 feet from the crossing. When the switch engine and the cars which were running east had passed I jumped out of the vestibule and ran ahead on the track.

"There were a number of cars standing on a siding near the crossing. An engine headed west along the track, a short distance from the crossing. I looked twice to make sure that the engine was not moving. Then I motioned my car ahead. Just as I stepped to one side to let my car pass, out from behind the box cars came the train at terrific speed. I was almost directly between the street car and the train and how I escaped I do not know. Then came the crash.

"My God, I will never forget it. Oh, it was awful!

"Motorman Abbott was a personal friend of mine. I know he was killed. Oh, I know it. Since Abbott and I have been running together we have tried to get along without a single accident and this was our first."

Van Horn is married and has two children. He is 25 years old.

An immediate investigation by the state railway commission is to be made into the cause of the collision between a fast Michigan Central freight train and a street car on the local branch of the M. U. R., in which six persons lost their lives, four fatally injured and 20 less seriously hurt.

4,500 Orphans Safe in Fire.

These thousand boys and 1,500 girls, orphan inmates of the Catholic orphanage in the upper part of New York city, were rescued from their beds by fire.

Thanks to the coolness and discipline of the 80 Christian brothers, in charge of the institution, there was no panic and the shivering children went through the routine and drill as calmly as on any of the weekly practice occasions.

The fire destroyed a five-story wing of the main building. It started in a basement bakery.

Food Prices Are Declining.

Food prices are on the down grade according to meat packers in Kansas City and other centers, who are supported by dealers in food supplies.

"General food prices are working towards a lower basis," says Chas. W. Armour, head of the Armour interests. "The cereals are getting down. People are going to take advantage of lower prices and that will have a tendency to relieve the stringency in meat prices, especially pork."

No Small Pox.

The reports that have been going about town today in regard to there being cases of small pox in the village are absolutely false, and in view of the prevalence of the disease in the state would work incalculable damage to the village. Chelsea has a corps of reputable physicians, and until they pronounce a case as small pox there is no need of anxiety on the part of any, nor should these wolf stories be circulated.

From China.

Mrs. F. Ohlinger and daughter, Constance, of China, spent Saturday and Sunday with the former's cousin, Philip Schweinfurth and family. She has lived in China for thirty-four years, has crossed the Pacific ocean six times and the Atlantic twice.

She went to Korea in 1886 from China soon after that country had made its first treaty with a western power—that was the treaty with the United States—amicably without the use of fire arms. Of this we Americans have reason to be proud. She resided six years in that country and then returned to China.

Her husband has spent forty years in those eastern countries and is at this time in Foochow, China, where he is engaged in revising his various manuscripts and preparing them for the press. They were in China during the Boxer outbreak and had some thrilling experiences.

Mrs. Ohlinger can speak seven different languages. She is spending some time with her son in Toledo and expects to return to China in March.

Glazier's Win Suit.

Judge Kinne Saturday morning decided against the Security Trust Co., of Detroit, which brought suit against Mrs. Emily J. Glazier, mother of Frank P. Glazier, Mrs. Henrietta M. Glazier, the former's treasurer's wife, and his brother-in-law, Frank H. Sweetland.

The trust company sought to have set aside certain typewritten assignments of insurance policies made by Mr. Glazier shortly before he became insolvent, contending that the assignments had been made actually later than the dates they bear for the purpose of defrauding creditors.

The Glaziers declared that the assignments had not been made since 1906, and their defense was sustained by the court Saturday morning. Two policies for $5,000 each were directly affected by the decision, but one of $15,000 and one $25,000 policy are also involved in the litigation.

In commenting upon the case Judge Kinne says: "In order to establish the claim that the assignments were dishonest and not made at the dates they bear, the testimony of an expert authority upon typewriting was introduced. His evidence was very fair and I think entirely conscientious. Nevertheless it was expert testimony and not disinterested evidence. Manifestly he undertook the task with a belief that a fraud had been committed, and he went forward in search of material to establish it. Practice and experience have undoubtedly made him very susceptible to the influence of every possible suggestion, so that in his domain he is a superman, and he may be so impressed by evidence as to think he sees things which to the ordinary mortal are not discernible.

"There has been no evidence bearing to disturb or question the high standing in the community, the integrity or the truthfulness of Emily J. Glazier, the mother; of Henrietta M. Glazier, the wife; of Vera Glazier, the daughter of Frank P. Glazier, or of the brother-in-law, Frank H. Sweetland. On the contrary, the evidence is ample that their reputation and character are irreproachable. I cannot think that they are guilty of moral turpitude, and as to the essential features of these cases, I think they have told the truth.

"The truth is often stranger than fiction, and much that is strange or even extraordinary in these matters may be accounted for by a study and an analysis of the eccentric and abnormal mentality of Frank P. Glazier, unexplained and undisputed before the hearing. There was ample material to justify the complainant in the institution of these proceedings, but I think that the bills should now be dismissed."

"Marie Tempest."

Miss Marie Tempest will be the attraction at the New Whitney theatre Wednesday evening, November 23, appearing as "Polly Eccles," in Robertson's beautiful play "Caste," a part that she has no equal in on the stage of the present day. Miss Tempest, who is generally regarded as the foremost English comedienne, will perhaps be best remembered by local theatregoers as a great favorite in comic opera. Her "Fencing Master" is a delightful memory, but since she gave up the musical stage Miss Tempest is said to have developed into the foremost English comedienne.

She will be supported by a remarkably strong cast, of Mr. Charles Frohman's selection, led by Graham Browne, an actor of much merit, who is not unknown in this country; his interpretation of the son, in Bernstein's "Israel," having made a great reputation for him in this country. The cast also includes: Dallas Anderson, Stanley Dark, William Sampson, Walter Cluxton, Margaret St. John Wood and Helen Holmes.

Lion Fondles a Child.

In Pittsburgh a savage lion fondled the hand that a child thrust into his cage. Danger to a child is sometimes greater when least regarded. Often it comes through colds, croup, and whooping cough. They slay thousands that Dr. King's New Discovery could have saved. "A few doses cured our baby of a very bad case of croup," writes Mrs. George B. Davis, of Flat Rock, N. C. "We always give it to him when he takes cold. It is a wonderful medicine for babies." Heat for coughs, colds, lagrippe, anthrax, hemorrhages, weak lungs. 50c. $1.00. Trial bottle free. DEvised A NEW SCHEDULE

Conductor's Reckoning Valid, Perhaps, But Not Recognized by Any Official Standard.

A new method of marking time has been introduced by Conductor Joe Gordon, who is one of the most popular trainmen on the Amboy division of the Pennsylvania railroad. Mr. Gordon is not only a favorite with the men passengers and admired by the women, but probably because he used to run the milk train from Bordentown to Camden he is also beloved by the babies.

Notwithstanding his sweet and gentle nature, however, it almost makes him peevish when he has to hold his train while a lot of lovely women kiss each other good-by, and more than once he has been tempted to give his locomotive a swift kick and hike down the road without them.

Recently Joe stopped his train at a station where no less than twenty women were congregated on the platform. Some of them were going away and some of them weren't and just as the last moment arrived everybody started in to kiss everybody else. All of this took valuable time and the general Joseph was patiently waiting.

"All aboard!" he finally shouted, after standing for the sweetness as long as he could. "This train for Philadelphia and way stations."

"Oh, Mr. Gordon," gushily cried a little fairy, "wait just a minute, won't you? I must kiss Bessie good-by."

"All right," returned Joe, heaving a large, sad sigh, "but be as quick as you can, please. We are about 150 kisses late now."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

THE TRAINING OF THE CHILD

Surely the Most Important Work That Men and Women Can Be Called Upon to Do

There is no mother or father among us who has not at times been appalled by our almost utter lack of equipment for the work of rearing children. declares a writer in the Detroit News. It is by far the most important work that any of us can do to rear the men and women who are to make, or remake, or unmake the society of the future. Most of us are slaves of the idea that the big job is to clothe and feed them and give them the opportunities the schools afford. We would save them from working with their hands, and insure them starched shirts during their lives. But all this is nothing in comparison with the real work of rearing the men and women of the future. We delegate to others their training, moral, intellectual and religious. We become mere feeders and clothers of bodies, and we do this much for animals.

Children need companionship, and companionship means more than segregation in a home with blood relatives. The closest companionship is sometimes reserved for kindred souls of other families. Children need to be treated with consideration while they are passing through the most sensitive period of their career. You can never wound a man as you can a child. And it is almost impossible to influence a man as you can a child. The very life stuff of the future is in our hands, and how little we know about molding it.

American Illustrators.

The American Illustrators—the illustrations of our numerous "best sellers" and other stories of shorter length—have noticeably improved in quality in the last few years. The illustrator has slowly but surely forged ahead of his old class and the average work is much higher than formerly. The illustrator is learning that his illustrations have not always illustrated either in their adherence to the printed text or in method of technique used in portraying his conception. He is learning that an illustration of any real value must not only illustrate, but that his work must have artistic value. With neither of these necessary features, it is, of course, worthless to the public, and if it is merely an accurate illustration, merely a line or brush description of a scene or single thing, the educated public wants simplicity of execution and as great a directness as is possible, and in many cases if the illustrator cares not for artistic value he should give way to the mechanical draftsman and photographer.

Importance of Details.

Spare no pains in collecting details before you generalize. It is only when details are generalized that a truth is grasped. The tendency to generalize is universal with all men who achieve great success, whether in art, literature, or action. The habit of generalizing, though at first gained with care and caution, secures by practice a comprehensiveness of judgment, and a promptitude of decision which seem to a crowd like the intuitions of genius. And, indeed, nothing more distinguishes the man of genius from the mere man of talent than the faculty of generalizing the various details; each of which demands the aptitude of a special talent, but all of which can only be gathered into a single whole by the grasp of a mind which may have no special aptitude for any.

—Lord Lytton.

Cranberries for Thanksgiving

NEXT to a goodly supply of turkeys the most important requisite for a successful Thanksgiving is a plentiful measure of cranberries of just the proper tart flavor. As well have a Thanksgiving dinner without turkey as without the appetizing cranberry sauce. However the people of the United States have scant cause to worry because of this feature of their holiday menu. It has been years since a failure of the cranberry crop was reported and cranberry growers have been so increasing their productive areas that despite the increase in demand, due to the country's increase in population and other influences, there continues to be year by year a pretty lavish supply of the crimson berries; and most seasons find them available at very reasonable prices.

Cranberries, like so many of the other good things of life, are distinctly American delicacies. To be sure, cranberries grow wild in some other quarters of the globe—for instance in Europe—but it is only in the United States that they have been cultivated as an article of food. Even here the growing of cranberries is confined largely to three states—Massachusetts, New Jersey and Wisconsin. How important an industry it is may be surmised, however, from the fact that the Cape Cod district in Massachusetts, the greatest cranberry region on the globe, sends to market as many as one-third of a million barrels of cranberries in a single season. The average person is wont to term all berry areas "patches," but cranberries do not grow in patches but in bogs and, as may be surmised from the name, most of these tracts are located adjacent to rivers or lakes or ponds, so that they can be flooded in the late autumn and kept under water until spring. The berries grow on a vine which nestles close to the ground in a perfect tangle, and save for keeping out the weeds and battling with the insect pests, which are numerous, the cranberries do not require very much cultivation or attention until harvest time, approaches in the autumn. Then the cranberry grower must look forward to a period of anxiety, a careful, serious scrutiny of the weather. He must keep close watch on the weather, for if a frost comes ere the crop is harvested it will work sad havoc unless the grower has been forewarned and flooded his bog or built great bonfires to keep up the temperature.

In years gone by the harvesting of cranberries was done solely by the hand picking method, much as raspberries or strawberries are picked, and most of the cranberry picking was done by women and children. The "Cranberry King" used to hire as many as 1,100 pickers on his great bogs on Cape Cod, and the pickers, many of whom journeyed long distances, "camped out" on the bogs during the picking season. The past few years, however, has witnessed a revolution. Now almost all cranberries are picked by the aid of machines, and because it is tiresome work manipulating these machines it has come about that most of the women and children have been forced out of the industry and the task is largely in the hands of men, the more skillful of whom receive from $3 to $5 per day. The picking machine most extensively used has the appearance of a huge wooden scoop, the bottom of which is made up of a row of metal bars, tipped with sharp prongs and set close together. In operation this scoop is shoved with some considerable force into the tangle of cranberry vines and then is drawn upward and backward with the result that the vines which have been caught slip between the metal bars but leave the berries, which are too large to pass through the openings, as do the vines, and in consequence are stripped from their stems and remain in the scoop, whence they are transferred to the tray which each picker has close at hand. An expert picker with a machine will do the work of from half a dozen to a dozen hand pickers.

The cranberries as picked on the bogs are placed in huge wooden boxes and transferred to a nearby frame building, where they are passed through a machine known as a "separator," which takes out all the leaves, twigs and other foreign matter. Then they are sorted for the elimination of any bad or worm-eaten berries and finally are placed in barrels, which are hauled away to railroad yards to be loaded into cars to the tune of from 220 to 240 barrels to the car, refrigerator cars being used exclusively. Up to the present time cranberries have been sold in bulk, but this year sees an innovation in the appearance of evaporated cranberries, for which are claimed all the advantages of evaporated peaches or apples, and in the introduction of cranberries put up in pasteboard cartons. Bearing cranberry bogs of the most desirable kind cost from $600 to $1,200 per acre, but in a bumper year a grower may get his money back the first year, and during the worst year the industry has known in a decade most of the growers made from 10 to 15 per cent. on their investment, and that, too, in spite of the fact that cranberries were so plentiful that they brought only $2 a barrel, whereas $5 to $7 a barrel is accounted an average price, and there have been years when a famine of cranberries sent the price up to $10 per barrel.

The day had thus naturally grown to be a national institution of almost universal observance, when the Civil War brought to sudden ripeness this along with many other tendencies, and President Lincoln put upon it the seal of his official proclamation. President Lincoln's first proclamation was in 1863, on account of the first important victory of the national arms. He issued a similar recommendation in 1863.

The plous, hard-driven, worn-out, but thankful Puritans who sat down at their tables one November, a few centuries ago, and made the first Thanksgiving Day, never knew to what lengths they were to drive the ingenuity of their poor descendants. But it wasn't their fault after all, that the preparation of the Thanksgiving feast today has to attend just as much to the turkey's surroundings as to the turkey itself. It was good enough for them to have a well-stocked larder from which could come the turkey, the celery, the pumpkin pie, the cranberries and all the other goodies which history puts down to their credit. Even the comparatively recent New Englanders were content with all these as long as they looked tempting and tasted good. But today, even the important fowl itself is hardly more important than the ribbons, the candles, the favors, the adornments of all kinds, which must appear on the Thanksgiving table.

"Don't bother about having too much to eat," an up-to-date daughter was heard to say to her New England mother the other day. "I want plenty of room for the ribbons and the candy boxes."

It's the same way with other daughters of an esthetic turn of mind, rather than a practical one, and it looks as if their ambitions to "make things look pretty" may be realized this year, for there is a goodly array of Thanksgiving favors and table decorations of all kinds.

Of course the turkey reigns supreme, even if it is in paper, and is seen in all sizes, all kinds, roasted to a beautiful dark brown as the cook-book says, or standing important and majestic with its big fan-shaped feather tail high in the air. In most cases the favor turkey is meant for candy, but certain new china turkeys are mustard cups.

The pumpkin is next in importance and is seen in many of the novelties. There are large paper pumpkins for centerpieces and all sorts of small ones in papier mache or tissue paper which are candy boxes. Fruits and vegetables of all kinds seem to be suggestive of the season of feasting, and many good imitations are found among the candy box collections. Goblinsque, little men are made of paper fruits and fixed up to have a very grotesque appearance, and funny little figures are made of peanuts, and mounted on cards. Nuts are tied up in ribbons and are found to be prize packages for the receiver, for in them are neatly packed little stick-pins, whistles, etc., all carefully concealed within the paper shells.

The place-cards allow of a great many new designs, and an especially new feature among these is some small mirrors. The chrysanthemum is the leading flower among the paper bowers, and those in yellow or orange seem to be the most desired shades. Other imitations which are especially "life-like" are the painted pieces of the pumpkin pie, the tin of Boston baked beans, the plum pudding and the car of corn.

Origin of Thanksgiving Festivities

By SAMUEL WILLIAMS

THE autumn of 1621, when on a prosperous community, Plymouth, Mass., was both healthy and wealthy. Sickness, though it had destroyed one-half the company of pilgrims, had ceased, and the crops, as a whole, had been good, the peas alone failing. All the houses in the settlement had been put into condition and a goodly stock of furs and prepared lumber had been made ready for export to England by the next ship. The waters swarmed with fish and sea fowl were abundant. The call of the wild turkey was heard in the woods and the patter of the fleeing deer was nothing strange.

The summer was past; the harvest on. The pilgrims decided upon a period of recreation. The governor sent out four hunters, who in one day secured game to last the colony a week. Hospitality was extended to Massasoit, of the neighboring settlement, who brought 90 people with him. The guests remained 30 days. The company engaged in rounds of amusements, in which military drills and religious services formed a part. Thus, heartily and loyally, was inaugurated the great New England festival of Thanksgiving. For two centuries it has continued to be observed, at first mostly in the eastern states, but it has now become national, its annual return finding a welcome from boundary to boundary, both at top and bottom and other extremity of the nation.

Thanksgiving day is peculiarly an American custom, though there are some writers who claim that it is not possible to determine the date of the first observance. John A. Goodwin, in his historical review, "The Pilgrim Republic," is positive, however, that the first celebration occurred in the fall of 1621, this being followed in 1623 by the first Thanksgiving proclamation by the governor of Massachusetts. In 1630 there arrived at Plymouth 14 vessels, bringing with them nearly 1,200 instead of a mere 800. On July 8, 1630, another Thanksgiving was held in acknowledgment for this accession to the ranks of the colonists. The Dutch governors of the New Netherlands also appointed different dates for public thanksgiving, from time to time, and in some historical works there is record of a dispute as to which of these colonies deserved the credit for having first inaugurated the day. Most of the best founded historians, however, give the credit to the New England states.

The Dutch governors of New Netherlands appointed occasional days of thanksgiving in 1644, 1648, 1655 and 1664, and the English governors followed their example in 1755 and 1760, and the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States in its prayer book, ratified in 1789, recommends for Thanksgiving day the first Thursday in November, unless some other day be appointed by the civil authorities. There were also occasional recommendations by other religious bodies, but no regular annual recommendation by the governor of New York before 1817. The struggle of the colonies for independence marks the beginning of tion by the governors of New York began in 1817. From that time the observance gradually crept southward and westward, and in 1855 Governor Johnson of Virginia adopted it, and though in 1857 Governor Wise of Virginia declined to make the proclamation on the ground that he was unauthorized to interfere in religious matters, in 1858 a Thanksgiving day was proclaimed in eight of the southern states.

Decorative Conceits and Favors For the Thanksgiving Festivities
