Wall Paper That Hangs On

There is as much difference in Wall Paper as there is in anything else. Some Wall Paper has no body whatever, nor is it finished in the proper way. This is the paper that absorbs the paste and never sticks. It is light spongy paper. Feel the texture of the paper we sell and you will readily see what it means to buy WALL PAPER that not only looks well, but is made well. Buy your papers here where we sell the Janeway & Carpender's CUT OUT BORDERS that are cut out ready to use.

Grocery Department

Start the day right and everything will run smoothly.

Frederick Niehaus Committed Suicide Saturday Afternoon was appointed to arrange for a county

The citizens of this place were amazed to learn Saturday evening that Fred Niebaus, a well known German farmer of Lima, had taken his has shown a tendency to be meloncholy and the members of his family have kept a close watch on his movements, but Saturday afternoon he stepped out of the house and went to the loft of the old cider mill on the premises where he committed the act. He evidently stood on an empty crate, and taking a small rope which he doubled and fastened to a rafter, adjusted the same about his neck and either jumped off, or kicked the crate from under him. When found by his voungest son about four o'clock life was extinct.

The son after discovering his father returned to the house and notified an elder brother, and by his directions called the neighbors to their assistance. Dr. S. G. Bush was taken to the stricken home by John Wise in his automobile, and after an examination the body was removed to the house. The coroner from Ann Arbor visited the scene and decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

At the time of the fatal act Mrs. Niehaus was in Chelsea and did not learn of it until informed when she was on her way home. The eldest son was in the house confined to his room with an attack of the mumps and the youngest son has since come down with the same disease.

Fred Niehaus was born in Germany. August 29, 1846, and at the age of seven years came to Freedom. He had resided on the present farm in Lima over thirty years. He was united in marriage with Miss Catherine Paul in 1881. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Julius and Paul, one daughter, Mrs. E. Hutzel, of Lima, one brother, Herman Niehaus, of Freedom, and two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Wenk, of Freedom and Mrs. Jacob Strieter, of Lima.

It was reported that at the opening IT IS ONE OF THE MOST IMPORT. the South African parliament General Botha and Smuts refused titles. The late Mr. Gladstone declined on more than one occasion to become a peer. Twice Queen Victoria asked it him to accept an earldom, and twice he refused. Before the famous statesman had turned fifty he was offered a viscounty, but preferred to go down to posterity as plain Mr. Gladstone.

Many literary men have refused to be raised above the rank of commoners for one reason or another. Charles Dickens was compelled to refuse a knighthood for lack of means, and the late George Meredith was content with the Order of Merit, though a baronetcy was offered him. It is well known that when Thomas Carlyle received a letter offering to make him "Sir Thomas," he threw it contemptuonsly into the waste paper basket with the remark, "I would much prefer being given a pound of good to-

Sometimes one particular honor is declined in preference for another. A case in point is that of Lord Curzon. When Lord Salisbury offered in 1898 the post of Viceroy of India to him he was plain Mr. George Nathaniel Curfairs. He accepted the viceroyalty, but when he was told that it was mecessary to become a peer he objected for the reason that he wanted to return to the house of commons after his five years in India were completed. The difficulty was got over by Queen coming an M. P. When he returned from India his ambition was centered upon a seat in the house of lords. Later on he was elected an Irish representative peer.

STATE SENATE PASSES BILL TO CREATE ONE; THE HOUSE IS ADVERSE.

ANT PIECES OF LEGISLATION PASSED AT THIS SESSION.

Was One of the Measures Advocated by Governor Osborn in His Message.

The Senate passed Senator White's bill creating a new state board of equalization. It is one of the most important pieces of legislation passed by the Senate this session. A similar bill, introduced in the House in the early part of the session, was smoth ered in the House committee. It was one of the measures advocated by Gov. Osborn in his message. The bill provides that the state board of equalization shall consist of the auditor-general, secretary of state, state treasurer, commissioner of the state land office and the chairman of the state tax commission. The present state board includes the lieutenantgovernor, and the White bill substitutes the chairman of the state tax commission in his place.

Senator Ward's bill establishing standard provisions in accident insurance policies and a measure introduced by Senator White requiring suton, under secretary for foreign af- pervisors to make itemized statements of the financial conditions of their respective townships each year was passed on third reading.

Senator Newton, of Ypsilanti, desires to change the system of investigating state institutions by doing away with the old plan of appointing a commission to do the work. A bill Victoria making him an Irish peer, a introduced by him authorizes the govtitle which did not bar him from bedernor of the state and the attorney. general to employ such assistance as they may deem necessary when they desire to have a public institution investigated. Under the provisions of the Newton bill the governor and attorney-general would be in charge of such an investigation and nothing in the bill would prevent them from hir ing detectives at the state expense. cutting the letters of his name in the visions of the bill would be paid on a per diem basis. The measure has the approval of the governor. A concurrent resolution introduced by Senator White provides for a radical change in the present system of har, when lo, and also behold, close dispensing justice by amending the by the newly formed letters were the state constitution. The Glasner Purity Bill Has Passed the House and Is Very Likely to Pass the Senate.

By L. C. Ward. Should Be Adopted.

The McNaughton bill, which provides for the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment which changes the method of distributing the primary school money so that the money will not pile up in districts where it is not needed has been signed by Gov. Osborn. Secretary of State Martindale immediately got busy distributing the notices to the county clerks so that the question can be placed on the ballot at the aid the districts which have the Battle Creek from which a grand heaviest expense, while it will prevent lodge and woman's grand auxiliary is districts which have but small expense from piling up the money where it can't be used. There are districts in the state which have money enough on hand now to pay teachers' salaries for 22 years.

Glasner Purity Bill Passes House.

The Glasner bill which provides that all applicants for a marriage li cense must present to the county clerk certificates showing that the applicants are not afflicted with certain diseases which are the result of dissipation has passed the House and is very likely to receive favorable consideration in the Senate, although the county clerks of the state are

Fair Committee Appointed.

Following the action of the House n passing the resolution of Senator Scott for an investigation of the state fair, Lieut.-Gov. Ross appointed Senators Scott, Fowle and Watkins on the committee and Speaker Baker named Reps. Hinkley, Odell, Clark, Martz- and Farmer. The committee will probably take up the investigation at the end of this week. While the state fair officers at first welcom ed the investigation there has lately been shown a disposition to back up on the proposition. If the officers of the society refuse to yield up their Grand Rapids and many local priests. books and records it is not likely Although urged by his friends to that the legislature can do anything.

> Senator Clapp Spoke to Solons. Senator Clapp addressed the joint houses of the legislature Monday night on the initiative, referendum and recall. He went into the history of these measures in the states in which the direct legislation plan has been adopted and made an eloquent plea for the passage of similar legislation in Michigan. He said nothing, however, on the most mooted point before the Michigan legislature -what percentage of signers should be necessary to initiate or recall. It is not likely that he made many votes for the measure as the minds of everyone are pretty well made up.

Divided Report Likely.

A divided report is expected from the special committee which investigated the administration of corporal punishments at Marquette prisen. A majority of the committee stand for corporal punishment and the regime of Warden Russell, while the other two members, Straight and Kalmbach are against corporal punishment and against the warden. The majority consists of Reps. Perry, Warner and Henry. Two reports will be made to the House by the committee, it is expected.

Wants to Know What Departments

Made. In the talk of abolishing the oil and salt inspection departments the advocates of the departments have aland really pay a profit to the state. Just to see what they have done Senator Kline has had a resolution passed by the Senate asking the auditor general to furnish the Senate with a statement showing the receipts and expenditures of these two departments since they were organized.

Sore on Senator Townsend.

A number of the legislators are rather inclined to be sore on Senator Townsend because he ducked the vote on reciprocity when it was taken in the house before adjournment. They also say that his lakes-to-ocean-waterway is only for the nurnose of divert ing attention from the fact that he did not vote on reciprocity.

Jerome Bill Fails to Pass.

The bill of Rep. Jerome of Detroit which provides for a pension system for the wives of convicts serving time was killed in the House this week. The debate was spirited, being led by Rep. Jerome, for the bill, and Rep. Warner against it. The vote was 36 for to 45 against.

To Allow Treasurer to Hold Money. Attorney General Kuhn has been asked to prepare a bill which will allow all monies appropriate for state institutions to remain in the hands of the state treasurer until it is actually needed for the purpose for which it was appropriated. Senator James A. Murtha was not given an opportunity to reply to Gov. Osborn in the Senate on Wednesday When he arose on a question of privi lege Senator Fowle made the point of order that the matter was not privileged because nothing that Gov. Osborn had said reflected on the legislative career of the senator. Lieut. Gov. Ross following out precedents established in congress, ruled with Senator Fowle. Senator Murtha then offered a resolution which requested the governor to lay before the Senate the facts in his possession, but this was defeated by a tle vote, 16 to 16.

Won't Help the Druggist. The House liquor committee has refused favorable action on the Perry bill, which gives the druggists in dry counties the right to sell liquor on the affidavit of the purchaser instead of on a physician's prescription. The bill was backed by the druggists' association of the state and a strong effort was made to get it through but the members of the committee took the stand that the bill did noth ing but allow the druggists to conduct a saloon without paying a license and they refused to approve of the meas-

Committee Favors Central Board. The state affairs committee of the House has acted favorably on the bill recommended by Gov. Osborn. which provides for a central purchasing board for the various state institutions. It is likely that the bill is considerable opposition to it.

Will Investigate Fair.

The resolution of Senator Scott for an investigation of the state fair was passed by the house. It provides for a joint committee of eight, five from the house and three from the senate to make the investigation. While the committee has not been announcedit, will probably consist of Senators Scott, Watkins and Fowle and Reps. Warner, Odell and Copley with two other members yet to be selected. ## EYES WOULD BURN AND STING

"It is just a year ago that my sister came over here to us. She had been here only a few weeks when her eyes began to be red, and to burn and sting as if she had sand in them, Then we used all of the home remedies. She washed her eyes with salt water, used hot tea to bathe them with, and bandaged them over night with tea leaves, but all to no purpose. She went to the drug store and got some salve, but she grew constantly worse. She was scarcely able to look in the light. At last she decided to hardly work any more. The doctor said it was a very severe disease, and if she did not follow his orders closely she might lose her eyesight. He made her eyes burn and applied electricity to them, and gave her various ointments. In the two and a half or three months that she went to the ors of cities and provision for their doctor, we could see very little im

"Then we had read so much how people had been helped by Cuticura that we thought we would try it, and we cannot be thankful enough that we used it. My sister used the Cuticura Pills for purifying the blood, bathed only with Cuticura Soap, and at night after washing, she anointed her eyes very gently on the outside with the Cuticura Ointment. In one week, the swelling was entirely gone from the eyes, and after a month there was no longer any mucus or watering of the eyes. She could already see better, and in six weeks she was cured." Harbison finally solves the matter. He writes out sips containing the various departments of his or her duties. Kit attempts to silps containing the various departments of his or her duties. Kit attempts to make an omelet for Aunt Selina, but fails in the attempt and is in a very nervous state when Harbison comes to her rescue and tells her how to make it. After the diffing of the quarantine several letters are found in the mail box undelivered, one is addressed to Henry Llewellyn, Iquique, Chile, which was written by Harbison. He describes minutely of their incarceration, also of his infatuation for Mrs. Wilson.

PREPARED FOR ADVANCE.

United States Troops on Frontier Get Rush Orders.

Orders came direct from the wa lepartment at Washington, to the Pullman yards in San Antonio to equip with crew and engine a train of 13 Pullman cars and kitchen car to convey a squadron of cavalry from the divisional camp at San Antonio to a point along the Southern Pacific system west of El Paso. There were to be nine tourist sleepers for the enlisted men and two standard Pullmans for the officers and the orders were to hurry.

Within an hour the train was made up and waiting in the yards at the Southern Pacific depot and switch engines were busy throwing into shape a train of stock cars for the transportation of the squadron's horses. Though at present no definite word as to the objective of the train can be obtained from the army post at Fort Sam Houston, it is learned on good authority that the destination is Nogales.

Diaz Palace Stoned.

Authentic report of a serious demonstration against the person of President Diaz, of Mexico, which took the form of the stoning of his official palace in Mexico city by a mob of insurrectos sympathizers, became public in San Antonio.

An American who has official connection with the United States government and who witnessed the incidents himself, is the one who has broken the rigorous censorship exercised at the southern capital, which has been so strong that not only has the event been kept from the press outside of Mexico, but the echo of it has only begun to penetrate by word of mouth to the northern provinces.

The stoning of Diaz's palace came so suddenly that the police utterly unprepared for the demonstration were unable to disperse the mob before much glass had been shattered and the guests of the president who were in the palace at the time, had been badly frightened. It is said that there were not many whole windows left on that side of the palace exposed to the stone throwers.

SUNSHINE AND GOOD HEALTH

Wherever Sun's Rays Penetrate Haman Life is Quickened and Health and Happiness Promoted.

The sunlight, with its mellowing warmth and radiance, is one of the great essentials to good health. Whereever it penetrates, in prudently regulated moderation, it quickens human life, promotes health and happiness, and may be truly regarded as one of the best friends of man and beast. The common practice of providing blinds, shutters, curtains and other means for shrouding the windows and shutting out the sunshine, is undoubtedly a great mistake, and makes for physical weakness and ill health. More window light, more sunshine, and not less, is what we require. Let all your apartments, kitchen, sitting reoms, parlors and bedrooms, too, be flooded with sunlight as much as possible.

Famous Eccentric Toasts. Pitt, at Kidderminster, gave toast in compliment to the carpet manufacturers.

"May the trade of Kidderminster," said Pitt, "be trampled under foot by all the world!"

A more audacious toast, freighted with double meaning, has been variously attributed to Smeaton, Erskins and to some others. Their after-dinner trade sentiment was delivered in this form: "Dam the canals, sink the coal pits, blast the minerals, consume the manufactures, disperse the commerce of Great Britain and Ireland!"-Cornhill Magazine.

Bold Scribe.

"Ho, hum!" ejaculated honest Farmer Hornbeak, who had encountered in the village newspaper an example of the perversity which the linotype sometimes displays. "The editor of the Plaindealer ain't afraid to speak his mind. He comes right out and says: "In our opinion the Hon. Thomas Rott has lyddaonkzzounsottttptpt pn mnwww trahahaha hawzwzw zenskibby.' And, by jolly! he says it as if he means it, too!"-Puck.

Montgomery and Stone Coming.

The many-sided talents of David Montgomery and Fred Stone have Sweet, every Tuesday. never been so cleverly displayed as in their performances of "The Old Town" which is coming to Ann Arbor Thursday, March 30, at the New Whitney theatre. There are lots of comedians who can sing and dance.

There are a few who can sing and dance and act, but there is only one known to contemporaneous theatregoers who in addition to singing and dancing and acting, can walk a wire, do a neat acrobatic "stunt" and edipse one of Buffalo Bill's cowboys in the adroit handling of a lariat and a revolver. That one is Fred Stone, and he with his partner, Montgomery, keeps the performance of "The Old Town" moving rapidly every minute that it runs. George Ade and Gustav Luders have given Montgomery and Stone an excellent basis of characterization, humorous situations and tuneful music. They must be praised for most of the other qualities which go to make "The Old Town" the most entertaining musical show of the

A Bank Letter to the Ladies

Women sometimes dread transacting business with a bank. They are not familiar with banking methods, in many cases, and may have had some experiences which have not made the thing they feared any easier. Such women always leave this bank smilling and happy, dread all gone and glad to come again. The reason is we take special pains with women patrons, If there is any little detail about a transaction not wholly clear to them we take special pains to make it clear, it having long been our experience that extra time with a women customer never fails to result satisfactorily both to the woman and the bank. We invite the account of women assuring them that at all times of most gentlemanly and respectful treatment, gladly giving careful attention to every item of business placed in our hands. We are always glad to have them consult us at any time upon matters concerning their business affairs and we will be glad to advise or suggest as our best judgment to the Roosevelt as far as Etah, North Greenland, on the memorable expedition of that year, which resulted in the discovery of the pole by Commander Robert E. Peary. Whitney was a member of the party until we left Etah to return home.

The ship being our headquarters for the whole of the trip, we were able to take along as large an outfit as we wished. In addition to the usual paraphernalia we took with us an 18-foot whaleboat propelled by a threehorsepower gasoline engine.

Sydney, Cape Breton island, was the rendezvous for the two ships of this expedition, the Roosevelt and the Erik, to which place Norton and I proceeded by train from New York. The Erik had come from St. John's several days before and was taking on coal and provisions. The Roosevelt arrived on the fourteenth, with Whitney and other members of the expedition, with the exception of Commander Peary, who came by train on the same day. At Sydney we met Mr. Craft, from Carnegie institute, Washington, who was to become a welcome member of our party aboard the Erik.

Of the ship's company was Capt. Sam Bartlett, uncle of Captain Bob, of the Roosevelt; first mate, Tom Bartlett, at one time skipper for Dr. Grenfell; second mate, Harold Bartlett, son of the "old man," as the crew cailed Captain Sam; chief engineer, Richard Pike; second engineer, Jim; another Jim, the steward; Joe White, the cabin boy, and the cook, boatswain, two stokers and a crew of five sailors-all Newfoundlanders with the exception of the cabin boy, who was, I believe, an elevator boy in a New York hotel before we took him along as chief administrator to our comfort. This was the gathering aboard the Erik when she sailed out of Sydney on Friday, July 17, at 12:30 a. m., leaving the Roosevelt to follow later and making the start of a polar expedition which was to become in a little over a year's time, the most famous

"Just the day for walrus no wind and they'll be out on the ice sleeping in the sun," said Mat Henson, who had come aboard from the Rocsevelt to take charge of the hunt; and steep slants of the ridges, and my .405 Winches-Mat knew, for he had hunted walrus in Whale ter got pretty heavy before we sighted the first cabin, where we drank a glass of brandy to the sound many a time.

In half an hour several pans of walrus had been sighted-it was then four in the morning-and two boats were launched; Norton, Henson, two Eskimo and myself in a rowboat; Whitney, with a crew, in the launch. We bringing both animals within range. As we were soon busy. When an animal was killed an oar was holsted and the ship steamed up around it the nearer caribou began to get unto the spot and hauled the dead monster aboard with the winch; the boat shoving off again to search for more game. Some of the "tricks of the trade" were soon learned, for instance: a walrus killed in the water would sink nine times out of ten, and unless there was a harpoon in him would be lost. The same was generally true of one shot on an ice pan, unless killed instantly-he would slide off into the water and sink. Our party finally returned aboard exhausted, to find that about 40 walrus had been

When I awoke next morning we were dropping anchor off a little Eskimo village named Kangerderlooksoah, situated near the mouth of Inglefield gulf. Commander Peary had been with us aboard the Erik since leaving North Star bay and said that he would remain here long enough to give us a chance at the caribou. That afternoon we pushed off in the whaleboat, bound for the head of the gulf, our five Eskimo companions as pleased and as our five Eskimo companions as pleased and as excited as children at the idea of a hunt. We worked along shore, signagging between ney and I fired slabs of ice, where sea pigeons floated and little auks dove and flew away as the boat approached. Looking over the side one could see their little black-and-white bodies shooting the water, using their wings vigorously and leaving a trail of bubbles behind. Several seals were seen and as we rounded a point half an hour later, another village appeared, the pointed huts hardly distinguishable at first from the pointed rocks. A native came out in a kayak to accompany us ashore.

WATIVES AND TYPICAL BOAT

At least half the population expressed a strong desire to go with us, by getting into the boat when we were making ready to leave, a extremely long and powerful hind legs, often compromise being finally effected by our taking running along almost upright for considerable along two fine-looking young bucks each dressed in a new bear and sealskin suit.

Here we separated, my two guides turn- was tied to the rocks, landing coal, and the ing up a dry creek bed. It was hard traveling over the broken rock in the valleys and the captain, Norton, Whitney and I rowed over to game, in the shape of two blue-gray caribou bulls, feeding at the edge of a -rock-rimmed pond. One of the huskies and I circled around the down-wind side and crawled on our bellies up to a big boulder near the head of the pond, reached the boulder and peeked cautiously easy and started out of the water, but pulled up on the bank, at a range of about 100 yards, iong enough to get himself properly shot. At that distance his coat was much the same shade of gray as the rocks on which he fell.

Not long after leaving this pond we killed, between us. 15 ptarmigan with the .22 rifle. A few hours later, standing on the top of a high ridge looking across a big valley with a lake at the bottom, the inland ice cap could be plainly seen curving down, smooth and white, smothering all but this narrow strip of barren land along the coast; and at the foot of the ridge on the other side, standing ankle deep at the edge of another little pond, were two more caribou, a bull and a cow. We dropped back of the crest of the ridge and, following down a ravine further on, came out on a level with the pond, hidden from the sight of the game by a small hummock of rock. By crawling to the top of the hummock we were able to get a view of the pond. The caribon were still there, but lying down among the stones, and so like them in color that they were very hard to locate without the glasses—though only 300 yards distant, as that finally dropped anchor in Brigus harbor.

I afterward placed it. It was useless to try to get nearer; as there was no cover, and I fired at the bull and could see he was hit by the way he staggered as he jumped up and tried to run. The cow jumped up also and stood still, broadside on, and when I fired at her I could bear the bullet strike very plainly. Though it did not knock her down, she seemed unable to run, and another shot put her out of her misery.

While still at this pond the two Eskimo hanters with whom Whitney started out chased a cow and calf on the run right past us. I hit the cow in the side at the third shot and the calf stopped and was killed by one of the Eskimo.

We now had six caribou-a fair supply of meat-and two extra men to help carry it in, as the other party had had no luck. So I left them to bring in what they could and started for camp alone. On the way I killed the biggest bull of all. He was alone on a hillside and I got within range without much difficulty. Whitney was in camp and said he had seen no caribott and Norton came in a couple of hours later. tired and disgusted, having shot a calf.

Our second attempt at walrus hunting in Whale sound was practically a failure, the weather being unfavorable. The Erik was headed for Etah, where we found the Roosevelt. At Etah the shore rises abruptly on both sides of the harbor and the sharp, rocky hills were dotted with Arctic hares. They are white with black-tipped ears all the year around and have distances. They were very shy when we arrived, having been hunted for some days by Early in the afternoon of the eighteenth of August the Roosevelt showed by signal that she was ready to start north. At the time the Erik Roosevelt was anchored further up the bay. The her and Commander Peary invited us into his health of all on board and to the success of the expedition, shook hands with everyone we could find amid the bustle and preparation of starting. and rowed back to the Erik. Whitney had decided to winter at Etah, and we left him there on the twenty-first, dropping him astern in his rowboat about an hour's run out.

Here we were homeward bound and not a sight had we had of the greatest and most desired arctic game, the white bear. It was nearly a month later before we did see one. We killed a few more walrus, arctic hares and birds on our way south, visited the Greenland Danish settlements at Upernavik, Disco and Holstenberg and crossed Davis strait, striking the coast on the west side near the mouth of Cumberland gulf.

On the twenty-second of September, off the Labrador coast, we ran into an iceberg, the shock breaking open the old Erik pretty well back to the pavement. Fortunately the damage was about two feet above the water line; very fortunately, as none of the boats happened to be in a condition that would permit quick launching. The crash came about eight o'clock on a bright, starlight evening, with the northern lights shifting across the sky and probably blotting out the berg until it was too late to escape collision. This accident seemed to take the life right out of the old ship, though she had with stood so many dangers in the past, and it was a crippled old Erik with a badly smashed nose

Private Leahy Questions Sergeant Donahue Regarding a Point in Military Law.

Private Donahue and Private Leahy were the best of friends, but when Private Donahue became Sergeant Donahue, Private Leahy saw the failings of his former companion with amazing clearness.

"Sergeant," he said one day, after long, fixed gazing at his superior in rank, "if a private stepped up to a sergeant and called him a consated little monkey, phwat wud happen?" "He'd be put in the gyard-house," said the sergeant. "He wud?"

"He wud."

"But if the private only knew the sergeant was a consated little monkey, and said niver a wurrd, wud he be put in the gyard-house for that?" inquired Private Leahy.

"Av coorse he wad not," said the sergeant loftily. "Well, thin, for the prisent we'll

We know that Washtenaw county is very for-tunate in having a man like Judge Kinne in the important position of Circuit Judge. He is uni-versally recognized as one of the leading jurists of this state. His long and successful experience, Public Acts of 1909, the Board of combined with a natural judicial temperament, Registration of said township will reg-county was then included in the district. Finally, he became a candidate for the Supreme court, and came within a few votes of being nominated, at a convention in which a number of Michigan's leading jurists were candidates. Although defeated by a small margin, such was the prestige he gained that it was generally recognized throughout the state, that he would easily win in the next state judicial convention, which would nominate three new judges, which number had been added to the member-ship of the Supreme court.

Seeing the danger of losing his services, the members of the bar, and the male electors in the state of Michigan's leading jurists were candidates. Although defor taxes somewhere within the county above named, except that any woman otherwise qualified who owns property within said county with her husband or other person, or who owns property within said county on contract and pays the taxes thereon, shall be entitled to registration.

Although defor taxes somewhere within the county above named, except that any woman otherwise qualified who owns property within said county on contract and pays the taxes thereon, shall be entitled to registration.

keep him in this county. In obedience to this action, he abandoned his ambition to go on the Supreme bench, and remained in this county.

With his long experience and record of the past, it is only true to say that he is now better fitted for this position than ever before. He is strong and vigorous, and has the valuable experience that can only come with actual service.

The rule of rotation in office, which is sometimes applied to purely political positions, does not rightly apply to the judiciary. In the Supreme court of the United States, the judges hold their positions for life, and this is also true of all the Federal courts. The good farmer does not discharge a capable man, who has worked for him far years, but keeps the trained man, knowing that he becomes more valuable with experience. The great business interests of our country keep their best men for a lifetime. The University of Michigan, with its four hundred teachers, makes no changes except for the betterment of the service.

Members of the Michigan bar, outside of Washtenaw county, are astonished to hear that any contest is being made against Judge Kinne. Most circuits would welcome a man of his caliber to the bench. "The Wolf," Eugene Walter's great lay of life in the Canadian Hudson play of life in the Canadian Hudson Bay country, is announced for presentation in Ann Arbor Tuesday, March 28, at the New Whitney theatre with all its trappings, stage accessories, elaborate, scenery and light effects, precisely the same as seen in New York and Chicago.

Mr. Alan Dale, ihe celebrated writer on the New York American, said in the issue of that paper of April 20th:

said in the issue of that paper of April 20th:

"Let me say right here without further parley, that in "The Wolf' Mr. Eugene Walter has most assuredly confirmed our impression that he is a 'find'. His second play is a melodrama, vivid but primitive, vital but unfledged. It is direct, terse, capitally written, sincere and free from conventional flapdoodle.

"The Wolf' hit the first-nighters in spite of all. This was an achievement. It was a great feat. It proved beyond the peradventure of a doubt that young Mr. Walter is made of the right dramatic stuff.

"Paid In Full' was not a fluke. It was the work of an artist. For further particulars apply to "The Wolf."

eternal justice.

"Everything comes to him who waits' is apparently correct. It is a nice and consoling thing to believe in.

"Apparently Mr. Walter has not seen many plays and therefore doesn't know how managers, actors and claque expect them to be done. He does them his own way, which is a mighty good thing to do, Whatever may be the fate of 'The Wolf,' it has proven Mr. Walter's right to be looked upon as perhaps the only serious dramatic proposition that this season has set forth. If he can give us one play a year, we may think ourselves lucky. He will give us a good play."
