MOST COSTLY TIP ON RECORD

Wealthy Brower Backed His Favorite Waiter to Tune of $80,000 and Lost.

This is the story of the most costly in of recent record. A wealthy brewer admired the manner in which his waiter cared for him at the club.

"Philip," the brewer would say, "get "Here is your quail, Mr. Gehret," the waiter would report. "I made the chef go away from the stove and broiled it myself."

Whereupon Mr. Gehret would smile upon Philip fondly, and Philip would go back to the kitchen to take another quail from the hands of the cook for some other patron. One day he called Philip over. "Here, my man," said he, peeling off a $500 bill. There's a little reward for your courtesy and care."

Philip held up a protesting hand. He didn't think it would be honest, he said. The club did not allow him to take tips, except through the Christmas box. It was not that he could mot use the money, or that he did not appreciate Mr. Gehret's generosity, but he really must decline. Exit Philip, wiping tears out of his eyes with a napkin. Mr. Gehret was profoundly impressed.

A few weeks later Philip discovered to Mr. Gehret an excellent business opportunity uptown. "Ah," sighed Philip, "if I only had the money."

Mr. Gehret offered to stake himand did, to the tune of $80,000. The last of the $80,000 was spent the other day, and Philip is back at the club. Now and then the patron and the waiter-both good losers-grin at each other across the linen.

"It is all very well for you to talk," she replied, "but this is the only kind I can have. Remember, I live in a Harlem flat."

Reade Wrote Standing.

One peculiar fad with regard to his writing Charles Reade shared with other famous novelists-he could not remain seated at a table, but did his work standing at a high desk. This was characteristic also of Victor Hugo, who wrote the whole of "Les Miserables" standing. Wilkie Collins, too. declared that his thoughts flowed more freely when standing on his feet. In direct contrast, one recalls that Mark Twain did much of his work propped 10 western states. New York City as a Land Owner.

The city of New York owns 943 parcels of land. Nearly all of this land was bought before 1850. In one case a parcel of land has increased in value over 9,500 per cent. in sixty years. In many cases there have been increases of 2,000 to 5,000 per cent. in the same period. There were 95 cases in which land had increased in value 500 per cent. and over 300 pieces that have doubled in value since they were

TO STUDY TAX METHODS SLAYS

Organization Will Go Into Systems of Michigan and Other States.

As a result of a number of conferes between leading manufacturers of the state bearing upon the proposed corporate excess plan recommended by the tax inquiry commission of 1911, an organization has been effected in Detroit for the purpose of making a complete study of the taxation system of Mich.gan and the adjoining states.

The practical purpose of this study will be to determine whether the present sytem of state taxation is or is not defective, and if it be found defective to inquire into the efficacy of the proposed tax system. If it be not found satisfactory, such amendments as the study suggests will be presented for consideration.

A complete examination of the whole subject of taxation as affecting Michigan industrial and commercial interests and the state revenue will be made, and the results embodied in a report which will be made pubundertaken either in support of or antagonistic to the corporate excess tax proposal, but in an entirely nonpartisan spirit, for the purpose of determining the facts relative to Michigan's taxation methods and their re-

MRS. MAUDE MILLS SHOOTS PAR-ENT WHEN HE THREATENS TO KILL FAMILY.

STORY IS SUPPORTED BY HER HUSBAND.

Victim Was Drunk When He Went to the Mills Home and Demanded Wife Return to Him.

Mrs. Maude Mills, 22 years old, shot and killed her father, Frank Young, at the Mills's home, four miles north of Flushing. According to Mrs. Mills's story, she shot to save her mother, husband and herself who were threatened with death by Young.

Francis M. Mills corroborates his wife's story. Both of them are in jail in Flint, pending an investigation by Prosecuting Attorney Parker and Sheriff Parkhurst.

Young had threatened to shoot members of the family, and was fast overpowering Mrs. Mills's husband, when she grabbed a double-barrel shotgun in a nearby room and rushed to his aid. Her aim was true. The charge entered Young's body just above the heart and he fell over dead.

State Act Allows Saloonists' Bond. The fact that fully nine-tenths of the saloons in the state and about 1,400 out of 1,500 in Detroit alone are bonded by the Michigan Bonding Co., controlled by the Detroit brewers, shows what a profitable business the bonding company enjoys.

This condition of affairs is largely made possible because of the state law regulating liquor bonds. The statute is so drawn that it is very hard for a saloon man to get a personal bond.

To go on a personal bond for saloonkeeper a man must own real estate double the value of the bond, there must be no incumberance upon it; na woman must have an interest in it, and the property cannot be disposed of during the life of the

Under the conditions imposed by the law it is a very hard matter for a saloonkeeper to secure a personal bond and he therefore turns to the bonding company and for $30 a year gets a $3,000 bond. The bonding company is very careful before granting a bond, and the applicant has to answer a long string of pertinent and personal questions, after which the investigation is continued still further by officials of the company. Alpena County Abounds in Bear.

The vegetable exhibit will attract great deal of attention, and some marvelous potatoes, carrots, turnips, cabbage and cauliflower are shown. It is true that the homestead area is being rapidly taken up and the bulk of that now to be had lies north of the Saskatchewan river in a portion of the country known as the park country. Here there is a large quantity of open prairie interspersed by beautiful groves of poplar and willow. Water is in abundance, hay is plentiful and consequently fodder for animals is right at hand. Those who have taken advantage of farming in these districts and watched the efforts of those in the prairie proper feel that they have the advantage of their brother, who is not able to secure fuel and the other conveniences of the park district on his own farm.

The crop conditions throughout Western Canada the past year have been generally good, and some wonderful crop yields of wheat, oats and barley are recorded. The Canadian Government, under whose auspices the exhibit spoken of is being made, is preparing reports on crops in the different Western Canada districts, and while these will not be ready for distribution at the land show commencing on the 18th of November and closing on Dec. 8th, application made to the Canadian Government agent nearest you will bring them to you as soon as they are published.

THE GIRL Trom = By MARIE VAN VORST Illustrations by M. G. KETTNER

(Copyright, 1918, by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.) SYNOPSIS.

Dan Blair, the 22-year-old son of the fifty-million-dollar copper king of Blair-town. Mont., is a guest at the English town. Mont., is a guest at the English home of Lady Galorey. Dan's father had been courteous to Lord Galorey during his visit to the United States and the courtesy is now being returned to the young man. The youth has an ideal girl in his mind. He meets Lily, Duchess of Breakwater, a beautiful widow, who is attracted by his immense fortune.

Only Lady Galorey hesitated, disappointed. "Too bad-I had specially arranged for Lady Grandcourt to drive over with Eileen. I thought it would be a ripping chance for her to see Dan." When at length the duchess had succeeded in getting Dan to herself toward the end of the day in the red room, after tea, she said:

"So you won't marry a London beauty?" And rather coldly Dan had an

"Why, you talk, all of you, as if had only to ask any girl of them, and she would jump down my throat." "Don't try it," the duchess answered. "unless you want to have your mouth

Dan did not reply for a second, but he looked at her more seriously, conscious of her grace and her good looks. She was certainly better to look at than the simple girls with their big hands, small wits, long faces and, as the boy expressed it, "utter lack of get-up." The duchess shone out to advantage. Why don't you talk to me?" she asked softly. "You know you would rather talk to me than the others." "Yes," he said frankly; "they make me nervous."

"And I don't?" "No," he said. "I learn a lot every time we are together." "Learn?" she repeated, not particularly flattered by this. "What sort of

"Oh, about the whole business," he returned vaguely. "You know what I mean." "Then," she said with a slight laugh, you mean to say you talk to me for educational purposes? What a beastly bore!" Dan did not contradict her. She was by no means Eve to him, nor was he the raw recruit his simplicity might give one to think. He had had his temptations and his way out of them was an easy one; for he was very slow to stir, and back of all was his ideal. The reality and power of this ideal Dan knew best at moments like these. But the Duchess of Breakwater was the most lovely woman-the most dangerous woman that had come his way. He liked her-Dan was well on the way to love. The two were alone in the big dark room. At their side the small table, from which they had taken their tea together, stood with its empty cups and its silver. Without, the day was cold and windy, and the sunset threw along the panes a red reflection. The light fell on the Duchess of Breakwater, something like a veil—a crimson veil slipped over her face and breast. She leaned toward Dan, and between them there was no more barrier than the western light. He felt his pulses beat and a tide rising within him. She was a delicious emanation, fragrant and near, and as he might have gathered a cluster of flowers, so in the next second he would have taken her in his arms, but from the other room just then Lady Galorey, at the plano, played a snatch from Mandalay, striking at once into the tune. The sound came suddenly, told them quickly some one was near, and the Duchess of Breakwater involuntarily moved back, and so knocked the small tray, jostled it, and it fell clattering to the took up its pictures and became like wanted to see those pea-green peaks of Greenland, to float upon the icebreak on the polar seas as the exnorth pole some day! Then he wanted flash his stripes before his eyes! Dan would gather wreaths of coral from the stra-ands and give them to the girl with the yellow hair. When he and his father came out together from the church. Dan chose the street that passed the soda fountain drug store and peeped in. It was dark and cool, and behind the counter the drug clerk mixed the summer drinks; and the drug clerk mixed them from that time ever afterward-for the girl with the town again. She went away!

CHAPTER IV.

In the Coral Room.

"Mandalay" had run at the Galety the season before and again opened the autumn season. Light and charming, thoroughly musical, it had toured successfully through Europe, but London was its home, and its popularity was chiefly owing to the girl who had starred in it-Letty Lane. Her face was on every postal card, hand bill, good humor. His naive pleasure was been their diversion. In all his rare that had whirled about him, and one

And as for the Duchess of Breakwater, well-he had whirled with her until his head swam. He had grown years older at the Park in the few weeks of his visit, but now Before the hymn reached its end he for the first time, as the music of "Mandalay" struck upon his ears, like a ripple of distant seas, he felt like an illustrated book of travels, and he the boy who had left Blairtown to come abroad. He had spent the most part of the day in London with a man bergs to them, and see the dawn who had come over to see him from America. Dan attended to his busiplorers de. . . "There's nothing like mountain air," returned the westerner. "These old fogs stick in my nostrils; feel as yellow hair never showed up in Blair- though I could smell London clean down to my feet!"

From the corner of the box Dan looked hard at the stage, at the fresh brilliant costumes and the lovely chorus girls.

"Gosh," he thought to himself, "they are the prettiest ever! Dove-gray eyes of Irish blue, mouths like roses!" Leaning forward a little toward the duchess he whispered: "There isn't one who isn't a winner. I never struck Thrilling Football Game Ends With 1 Score of 11 to 9.

"Old Eighty-three" they call it, the play that won for Michigan at Ann Arbor altering in the twinkling of an eye and at the last moment, the complexion of the most bitterly fought battle that Ferry field's sacred sod ever has seen. It really isn't much of a play and certainly it isn't a new one. Maybe the name, "eightythree" refers to the years of its age maybe to the mysterious combination of numerals that are barked when it will rise in the jar to fill the space is impending.

For the benefit of the hurried reader, who wishes to learn only of Michigan's definite accomplishment the score was 11 to 9 and Pennsylvania didn't have the 11. Two touchdows by Michigan, one touchdown and a field goal-a beauty, too-off Pennsylvania, brought about the gladsome totals. The Wolverines missed one goal from touchdown, which didn't matter after all, although it caused some alarm at a time when the Quakers were atop by a single point.

Michigan's second score came with but a couple of minutes to play in the fourth quarter and was achieved by means of a delayed pass, which gave Jimmy Craig a chance to sprint piration with nothing in the way of 25 yards for a touchdown. That was pass of ancient vintage. fruits have no body heat to maintain,

Prejudice Is a Serious Menace

Prejudice is a hard thing to overcome, but where health is at stake and the opinion of thousands of reliable people differs from yours, prejudice then becomes your menace and you ought to lay it aside. This is said in the interest of people suffering from chronic constipation, and it is worthy of their attention.

In the opinion of legions of reliable. American people the most atubbora constipation imaginable can be cured by a brief use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You may not have heard of it before, but do not doubt its merits on that account, or because it has not been blatantly advertised. It has sold very successfully on word of mouth recommendation. Parents are giving it to their children today who were given it by their parents, and it has been truthfully said that more druggists use it personally in their families than any other laxative.

Letters recently received from Mr. Chas. Linton, Bloomingdale, Mich., and Mrs. H. H. Warren, Bad Axe., Mich., are but a few of thousands showing the esteem in which Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is held. It is mild, gentle, non-griping—not violent, like saits or cathartics. It cures gradually and pleasantly so that in time nature again does its own work without outside aid. Constipated people owe it to themselves to use this grand bowel specific.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 201 Washington St. Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will de.

A photographer tells as a joke on himself that a woman, accompanied by a little boy, came into his studie the other day. "I want my pickcher took," she said. "I see that you take pickchers for four dollars a dozen this week, so I come fer mine. And I want this little boy took in the same pickcher with me." "Yes, madambut, of course, we made an extra charge outside this special rate when two pictures are taken at once." "Oh," says the lady, "but I'll keep the boy in my lap. That's the way I do in the street cars, and nobdy ever says anything."

PHYSICIAN ADVISES CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Four years ago I had places break out on my wrist and on my shin which would itch and burn by spells, and scratching them would not seem to give any relief. When the trouble first began, my wrist and shin itched like poison. I would scratch those places until they would bleed before I could get any relief. Afterwards the places would scale over, and the flesh underneath would look red and feverish. Sometimes it would begin to itch until it would waken me from my sleep. and I would have to go through the eczema." I used an ointment which the doctor gave me, but it did no good. Then he advised me to try the Cuticura Remedies. As this trouble has been in our family for years, and is considered hereditary, I felt anxious to try to head it off. I got the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills, and they seemed to be just what I needed. "The disease was making great headway on my system until I got the Cuticura Remedies which have cleared my skin of the great pest. From the time the eczema healed four years ago, until now, I have never felt any of its pest, and I am thankful to the Cuticura Soap and Ointment which certainly cured me. I always use the Cuticura Soap for toilet, and I hope other sufferers from skin diseases will use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Irven Hutchison, Three Rivers, Mich., Mar. 16, 1911. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 17 K, Boston.

His Honor Unimpaired.

"No," said the old shoemaker, sternly, "I will not do it. Never have I sold anything by false representations, and I will not begin now." For a moment he was silent, and the shopman who stood before him could see that the better nature of his employer was fighting strongly for the right. "No," said the old man again, "I will not do it. It is an inferior grade of shoe, and I will never pass it of as anything better. So just mark it 'A shoe fit for a queen,' and put it in the window. A queen, you know, does not have to do much walking." IT WEARS YOU OUT.

Thanksgiving Dressing

Not for the Turkey but for the Man

The Homespuns, the coarse tweeds and loosely woven fabrics that the New England Fathers wore centuries ago, are again in favor.

Of course the primitive methods of the old fashioned spinning wheel have been surplanted by the modern looms of our great woolen mills, but general style of textures of hundreds of years ago have returned and this Thanksgiving you will see the fashionable dresser turn out in loosely spun fabrics of rich brown, gray or tan color.

Our tables are piled high with all the correct things for fall and Winter wear and among them you are sure to find the very articles you will require for Thanksgiving wear.

Everybody Welcome

Some Fool Scheme

If everyone who is tempted to invest his money in some fool scheme would consult his banker first, most of these schemes would be defeated. Their big advertisements telling of immense dividends, their alluring circulars informing the unwary how easily $100 is transformed into $1,000 have caught many suckers during these prosperous times and much money has been taken out of legitimate channels to line the pockets of these grafters. Accumulating money by saving and 3 per cent looks very slow to most people and this is where the man with his get-rich-quick scheme comes in. It is far better to be safe than sorry; far better to have your few hundreds only drawing 3 per cent than not to have it at all. It may be set down as a perfectly safe proposition that anything offering returns beyond those possible in legitimate channels of business is a fake. If something 'looks good' to you come in and talk it over with us. We may know something about it which you don't and this knowledge is yours for the asking If it is all right we will tell you so and if it is all wrong we will tell you that. Remember your banker is your friend. He cannot prosper unless you do.

To be sure the epicurean bluejackets and the lads in khaki have been responsible for much of this gastronomic "missionary work," but it is also a fact A MARKET OCENE AT that American diplomatic and consular officials, and indeed all classes of Americans resident abroad, have done their share to preserve all the traditions of the Thanksgiving dinner as a reality in every transplanted home. Especially, where there is a little "American colony" in an alien environment, is the Thanksgiving dinner right jealously guarded. But whereas the American Thanksgiving dinner has been winning its way around the world it has likewise come to enjoy more and more prestige at home. The one jarring note in any present-day eulogy of the Thanksgiving dinner is to be found in its greatly increased cost over the expense involved for a corresponding menu a few years since. No person who grasped the import of the "high cost of living" issue in the recent political campaign can fail to realize which ought to be an occasion for care-free feasting instead of domestic perplexities. The one consolation, if not compensation, in this situation is to be found in the knowledge that our Thanksgiving dinners in this day and generation are vastly better than the like holiday spread of years gone by. It is not so much that the dishes that go to make up the bill of fare for the November holiday have been greatly increased in number or variety. Your hearty diner demands on Thanksgiving the essentials such as turkey and celery and cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie, which were the stand-bys of the feast in the days of his father and his grandfather before him. The point is that some of the eatables are unquestionably it does in foreign parts. For, be is known, the American Thanksgiving dinner is now learn that Texas leads all the other states in the Union in the number of turkeys produced. Proximity of the market to the rural district whence it draws its supply of holiday fowls is a highly important consideration nowadays, because the mistress of a city home can no longer purchase her Thanksgiving turkey from a farmer who drives up to her door marketing the products of his own farm. All the turkeys are handled nowdays through commission merchants, which means, of course, that there is a middleman's profit to be paid by the ultimate consumer. Another secret of the present high prices of turkeys is found in the fact that the live birds are shipped long distances. If they are transported by express the expense is considerable, and if they make tion equally great—once a householder has freed himself from the tradition that Thanksgiving without turkey would not be Thanksgiving. Then, too, the increasing number of vegetarians and persons who have adopted a diet of nuts or other meat substitutes, have devised some very ingenious proxies for the Thanksgiving dinner-non-meat dishes that even simulate the appearance of a turkey. However, these new-fangled dishes can scarcely be recommended as cheap, owing to the amounts of nuts and the number of eggs the recipes call for.

In the face of soaring prices in so many food lines, it is gratifying to note one Thanksgiving indispensable, the cost of which remains virtually unchanged. This is our old friend, the pumpkin, dear to youth and old age alike, in the form of the pumpkin pie. No person has ever attempted to "corner" the pumpkin crop, and probably no person ever will undertake such a miracle. The fact that the great golden globes with their luscious "fillin'" can be raised in every section of the United States, and that, too without any trouble, once the vines are planted, is doubtless responsible for the moderate prices that always prevail. Probably there is no town or city in the country when a said ered numpkin cannot be purchased for the center, and in most American markets ove may buy a amall by freight only in carload lots, which involves pumpkin-an orb of joy with ammunition suf-

Menu of First Thanksgiving Feast

What did our Puritan ancestors dine on at their first Thanksgiving feast? Surely they did not set the standard which is being followed today on the Thanslegiving dinner

We know that some things were lacking that they must have greatly missed. There could have been no butter, cream, milk, cheese, or any dish that is principally made with milk. because there were no cows in New England until 1623, when John Winthrop, later their worshipful governor, brought over four cows from England. The butter and cheese that they took with them on the Mayflower were long since consumed. I hardly think they had chicken ple for the feast, for the fowls were served as a rare delicacy for the sick. They could have had eggs for their pies and puddings. Since they raised pumpkins they might have had pumpkin ples, if they made them

In the ocean there was great abundance of fish, oysters, and other shellfish. Of course, there was none of their national dish, prime roast beef, no veal, lamb, mutton or pork. There was plenty of deer, which would be a good substitute in vension. But they had ene thing that we like better than anything else on Thanksgiving day. Wild turkeys were very abundant in the woods and fields about Plymouth, and the Indians went out and shot a large number of them, and made them their contribution to the feast. Governor Bradford says in his history that they were delicious to eat. How fitting it is that the bird that is the crowning glory of our Thanksgiving board should have been the favorite meat of that historic first Thanksgivig dinner!

There were, doubtless, onions, beets, parsnips, cabbage or colewort, squash, and perhaps other vegetables, for a good variety of seeds have made it, for it was something that the There were fine wild grapes in the woods, and they had doubtless dried a store of wild straw-berries, cherries and plums. They surely did thought mince pies were very wicked, and savored of Romanism. So they condemned those who afterward made and ate them.

Now, what did they have for dessert, I wonder? I think they may have had some sort of pudding with huckleberries for plums. I doubt if they had much sweetening for their pudding and pumpkin pies, as their stock of sugar and molasses was very limited. Perhaps they had a substitute. not have any mince pies, since the Pilgrims NEWSPAPER ADVERTISEMENT POINTS WAY TO HEALTH

I can truthfully say that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is a very good medicine, not alone for kidney trouble, but also for weak and sore back, as well as for rheumatism.

About a year ago I became ill and unable to work, my trouble being a lame back. I read of your Swamp. Root in the newspaper and in an Al. manac. Believing it would do me good, I went to my druggist, Mr. Skin-ner, and purchased a bottle. Finding relief in one fifty-cent bottle, I purchased several more and in a short time was able to continue with my work and am today feeling well and strong. I'm just about tired of waiting For my Thanksgiving treat; I see them about the table. And they eat, and eat, and eat. They do not think of poor pussy. Who has had so long to wait; Why doesn't some one remember That it's growing very late.

And haven't I smelt that turkey Since into the oven it went? If they'd give just one drumstick, Why, then I'd be content. But no, they sit there talking And laughing aloud with glee; I wish that some one among them Would throw down a bone to me.

There's that greedy little Teddy, Three times he's passed his plate; And that turkey's growing smaller At a very rapid rate.

And see Jack's face! 'Tis shining With gravy up to his eyes. I wonder they take no notice When they hear my hungry cries.

GRANGE ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Some Things That Have Been Done by the influence of Granges in Local Affairs.

One Grange, in a small country own, was the means of getting a town improvement movement under way that has proved of incalculable benefit to the place. Realizing that such an undertaking would be most successful through the co-operation of all the citizens, the Grange thought best not to go ahead with an improvement project on its own account, but instead it chose a committee which conferred with the churches and with other local organizations, to secure the formation of a strong civic movement for the general improvement of local conditions. The Grange effort met an instant response and the movement thus set under way has proved tremendously beneficial in that community. It was simply a case of Grange leadership towards worthwhile ends.

In one small town the state inspector required the installing of an asbestos curtain in the town hall, which was also the meeting place of the Grange. Anxious to make the cost as small as possible, the town fathers purchased the plainest kind of an unadorned asbestos curtain, which complied with the requirements of the law all right, but which was by no means a thing of beauty. According-If the dressed fowls are to be kept ly the Grange took the matter up, any length of time they should be raised the needed money and had painted on the curtain a handsome local woodland scene, thereby changing the entire interior appearance of the hall. Moreover everyone who looks at the curtain gets a new revelation of the beauties of their own town, and knife should paralyze the fowl. In one town weekly band concerts have been a feature that has furnished much pleasure for all the people. The local Civic league, that if the latter would raise the money for a summer was put on in the town hall before result was a handsome start towards the fund that later built the band stand-and brought the band concerts. Simply a case of Grange leadership towards worth-while ends.

SHOULD ATTEND THE INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

By CAPT. A. H. WADDELL. There are so many reasons why the armer and his family should attend the great International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago, that it is well and opportune at this time to mention some of them. This great Exposition, the greatest indeed of all similar shows, is so apt to be viewed by the farmer, breeder, and stockman as merely a place where he should go to see the animals exhibited there, and for business purposes only. This is a very narrow. view of so great and important a subject, for the animals seen at this Exposition, wonderful and extraordinary as they are, are but the results of years of labor on the great farms and ranges of the West, although they stand for the greatest and best of American breeding and feeding. The great object of the founders of the International Live Stock Exposition, was to present to the breeders and farmers of this country, an object lesson of the highest ideals, and a school of instruction to which all could come and learn.

It goes without saying, that the men who have made this great institution possible, and the breeders and feeders and farmers who have made it what it is, are men of age and experience; and in order to perpetuate and improve this great school, and the methods through which it has gained its present day perfection, it is absolutely necessary that the sons of these men be permitted to see the show, and so start their lives of improvement from the advanced point at which their fathers stopped. This can never be realized by remaining on the farm and seeing only the stock their fathers raised: for every son is imbued with the idea that his father breeds the best there is, and consequently, is under the impression that the height of achievement has been attained on the home farm. Comparison is the only disillusionizer, and it is this above all things that the young man wants, not only to show him that there are hundreds as good as his father, and scores home loyalty promoted. Simply a a great deal better. This opens the eyes of these young men and causes them to put on the wise cap of thought and consideration as to why, how and ways in progress by enterprising where their own fathers fell short in granges and frequently the erection of gaining what the fathers of their con-

One such case the Exposition with their stock is the has just occurred in a New England fact that their wives, the heart and country town, where the Grange, in soul of their homes, and the faithful working out its hall problem, bought and constant companions of their lives, an old wreck of a building, that for have done their generous share and nearly a generation had disfigured contfibuted in no small degree to their the otherwise beautiful town center, husbands' successes. The chal- the purpose of intense enjoyment and lenge was accepted and the Grange at interesting conversation on their reonce got busy, by arranging a mock turn, and if we judge women aright, trial, of humorous character, which would instill into their sympathetic hearts a desire to still further assist nearly all the people of the town, The in the future successes of their husbands.

The daughters, too, of these people, particularly those who have attained or are verging upon early womanhood, would be greatly improved by the sights and surroundings of a trip to Chicago and the International Show. Young minds are narrowed by a continuous residence among only those of their own lives and habits and upon such an occasion as this, fathers should expand still further the strings of their purses to enable these young women to see at least some little life, especially when under their own and their mother's care.

The delights of anticipation and the pleasures of accomplishment, are such nexpressible joys to youth that it is nothing short of inconsiderate selfishness to prevent such occasional enjoyment to these young people, particularly when it can be attained at such comparatively little outlay. The good that such trips accomplish is shown in a thousand ways and there is not a breeder, feeder or farmer in the whole of the great west who will not realize that the companionship of his wife and children to Chicago during the week of the International Live Stock Exposition, December 2 to 9, has not only been an inexpressible delight to himself, but a benefit to his home, his business and his future.

The bayonet is said to have derived its name from the fact that it was first made at Bayonne, and its origin illustrates the proverb, "Necessity is the mother of invention.'

A Basque regiment was hard pressed by the enemy on a mountain ridge near Bayonne. One of the soldiers suggested that as their ammunition was exhausted, they should fix their long knives into the barrels of their muskets. The suggestion was acted upon. The first bayonet charge was made, and the victory of the Basques led to the manufacture of the weapon at Bayonne, and its adoption into the armies of Europe.

Argand, a poor Swiss, invented a lamp with a wick fitted into a hollow cylinder up which a current of air was allowed to pass, thus giving a supply of oxygen to the interior as well as to the exterior of the circular lanti and have been married several

> At first Argand used the lamp without any chimney. One day he was busy in his workroom and sitting before the burning lamp. His little brother was amusing himself by placing a bottomless oil flask over different articles. Presently he placed it upon the flame of the lamp, which instantly shot up the long, circular neck of the flask with increased brilliancy. It did more, for it flashed into Argand's mind the idea of the lamp chimney, by which his invention was perfected.

Communication.

People who live in glass houses should not throw stones. Mothers, be careful; do not say anything to injure your neighbor's girl's character, when you have children of your own who may err. Many a girl is talked about and injured just through gossip. Do not tread them down; give them a helping hand by good advice and speak of their good traits. A MOTHER.

BALD-HEADED WOMAN

Shorn of Her Crown of Beauty, Loses in Love and Marriage.

Hair is certainly most necessary to woman. Who could love and marry a bald-headed woman? What charms could one array to offset such a dis-

A woman's goal is usually love and marriage. Her crowning glory is her hair. The loss of her hair mars her eauty, happiness and success. Yet right here in Chelsea, there are hundreds of women who are neglecting or injuring their hair to such an extent that it is only a matter of time when it will be utterly ruined.

Many women destroy the beauty of their hair through thoughtlessness or gnorance of certain facts. They use curling irons over-heated, or to excess, which destroys the natural oil of the hair, causing it to split, break, and come out. They do not shampoo their hair often enough, or too often. They use soaps or preparations which contain ingredients positively harmful to the scalp and hair.

As a result of such treatment, dandruff is created, the hair loosens, loses color, falls out, and baldness commences, unless proper and prompt precautions are taken in time. Then again, microbes and certain diseases bring about unhealthy scalp and hair conditions. Almost any woman may rid herself of dandruff and diseased scalp and hair if she will but use the right remedy. We have that remedy, and we will positively guarantee that it will either cure dandruff and baldness or it will not cost the user anything. That's a pretty broad statement, but we will back it and prove it with our own money. We will return your money if you do not find that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is an entirely satisfactory remedy that will promote hair growth and overcome scalp and hair troubles; that it will grow hair even on bald heads, unless all life in the hair roots has been extinguished. the follicles closed, and the scalp is glazed and shiny. It gets its name from the fact that it grew hair in 93 out of 100 cases, where it received a "What was wrong with him?" John thoroughly hard, impartial, and practical test.

We want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. You surely cannot lose anything by doing so, while you have everything to gain. You had better think this over, and then come in and see us about this offer. You will be well repaid for your visit to our store. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at store-The Rexall
