GAINS WEIGHT AT CAMP McARTHUR

James G. Howe, Former Chelsea
Lad, Says the Army Life Agrees With Him.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wade recently received a letter from their grandson, James G. Howe, a former Chelsea boy, and have kindly allowed the Tribune to publish portions of the letter of general interest, as follows:

Dear Grandparents: Just a short letter this time as I haven't much time, but want to let you know that I am still holding my job with Uncle Sam and that he must think a lot of me as he hasn't fired me yet, but neither has he paid me! I have just been told that I won't get a pay day for another month. But I'm not worrying as one doesn't need much money here.

This army life is certainly agreeing with me as I have gained 17 pounds. I now weigh about 165 and I'm as big as a house.

The weather is still nice and warm here. It seems funny to see the children running around barefooted in November, but that's just how warm it is here.

I hear we may be over in France by the middle of January and I wish we were going right away! I hope mother isn't worrying because I am getting along fine and I think the experience will do me a lot of good.

It seems strange to come across the country so far and then meet one of my old Chelsea school chums, George Corey is who I mean. I hadn't been here ten minutes before I saw him.

Well, I guess I will have to say good bye.

Your loving grandson,
James G. Howe,
Co. B, 125 U.S. Inf., Camp Mc-Arthur, Waco, Texas.

HADLEY - WEST CASE ADJOURNED ONE WEEK

Defendants Have No Legal Counsel and Are Given More Time.

The case of Ralph Hadley vs.
Charles and Harrison West, charging assault and battery, was adjournd this morning until Tuesday, November 20th, at 10 o'clock.

Neither of the defendants had secured legal counsel and were not prepared to plead or make a defense.

The alleged assault is said to have taken place on the morning of Friday, November 2. Ralph Hadley was awaiting an interurban car at West Guthrie's crossing and was set upon and terribly beaten by Charles and Harrison West. The assault was stopped by O. O. Floyd, son-in-law of Samuel Guthrie, who threatened to shoot the Wests unless they desisted.

JOINT MEETING OF SCHOOL SOCIETIES

Parent-Teachers Association and Teachers Club Meet Tuesday.

The Parent-Teachers' association and the Teachers' club will hold a meeting next Tuesday evening, November 20th, at 7:30 o'clock at the high school building.

Miss Estelle Downing of Ypsilanti will give an informal talk. Her subject will be announced later.

Miss Hazel Speer will have charge of the music for the evening.
All parents and teachers in Chelsea and vicinity are especially invited to attend.

CARL CHANDLER PROMOTED.

Carl Chandler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Chandler, who enlisted in the navy and who has been in training at the Great Lakes, Illinois, camp for some time past, has been promoted to be company commander in charge of a squad of 89 men and with several assistant officers.

WACKENHUT VS. M.C.R.R.

A suit has been filed in the circuit court by Martin Wackenhut of this place against the Michigan Central railroad on account of a delay in the shipment of several consignments of cattle from Leroy to Detroit. He claims that the cattle lost weight by the delay so that he was damaged $500. H. D. Witherell and Cavanaugh & Burke are his attorneys.

Mrs. Herman Niehaus and family.

HOW TO SAVE FOOD.

Have at least one meatless day
a week—preferably Tuesday.
Eat more fish and poultry products.

Use vegetable fats in cooking,
and thereby save butter and lard.
Cotton seed oil is suggested as a substitute for cooking many articles.

Develop methods of using corn.
It is possible to have good wheat bread that will contain 20 to 30 per cent of corn meal. Eat corn muffins and corn cakes.

Use fewer pastries and cakes, and thereby conserve wheat, lard and sugar.

Consume more perishable, home-grown products, and thereby reduce the strain on the railroads. Butcher home grown meat, have your corn and wheat ground at home, if possible, and use as much homegrown fruit and vegetables as possible. Next spring make a garden, and raise as much of your food as possible.

MRS. MARY MERKER.

Mary Antonie Lerg-Merker, widow of the late John Merker, died early yesterday morning, November 12, 1917, at her home in Sylvan. Her death was due to dropsy, from which she had suffered since last May.

Mrs. Merker was born in Baden, Germany, February 12, 1828, and was married to John Merker in Detroit, December 7, 1848. They resided in Detroit for a time, later moving to Bridgewater and Sharon, Washtenaw county, and finally to her late home in Sylvan. Mrs. Merker had resided on the farm in Sylvan for the past 30 years.

She was the mother of 14 chilren, eight of whom are living as follows: George of Jackson, Mandus of Williamston, Mrs. Deward Seine of Cadillac, Mrs. Henry Heschelwerdt of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Catherine Heschelwerdt of Lima, William of Chelsea and John and Amanda Merker of Sylvan.

The funeral will be held from the church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart, Wednesday morning at nine o'clock. Interment at Mt. Olivet cemetery.

U. S. IN WAR MEET

COMMISSION NOW IN EUROPE FOR COUNCIL HEADED BY COL. E. M. HOUSE.

NOT TO BE PEACE CONCLAVE

Secretary of State Lansing Emphasizes Fact That Session Is to Be Essentially a War Conference.

Washington. — An American war board, headed by Col. E. M. House, chief unofficial counselor of President Wilson, and including in its personnel those at the head of various war activities of the United States, is now in Europe ready for participation in the conference of all the allies.

News of the safe arrival of the American commission abroad was followed by the issuance of a statement by Secretary of State Lansing, making public the make-up of the commission and the policies which will be followed by the representatives of the United States government when they participate for the first time in a general war council of the allies.

Personnel of Commission.

The American war commission consists of the following members:

Col. E. M. House, chairman, who will act as the spokesman of President Wilson on questions pertaining to the general policies of the conduct of the war.

Admiral W. S. Benson, chief of naval operations, U. S. N., who will participate in the formation of plans for the employment of the combined naval forces of the allies.

Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, chief of staff, U. S. A., who will give detailed information on the extent of military support the United States will be able to give next year.

Oscar T. Crosby, assistant secretary of the treasury, who will speak for the United States on questions of international war financing.

Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the war trade board, who will assist in planning a uniform policy in administering embargoes on exports and provisions against trading with the enemy.

Bainbridge Colby, member of the shipping board, who will report the amount of tonnage building and the amount that can be turned out next year.

Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, who, as a representative of Food Administrator Hoover, will co-operate with the commissioners of the allies in working out a uniform policy of food conservation and apportionment of American supplies to the European co-belligerents.

Thomas Nelson Perkins of the priority board, who will negotiate an agreement on a plan of giving preference to the shipment of vital necessities to the allies of the United States.

Gordon Auchincloss, son-in-law of Colonel House and assistant to Counselor Polk of the state department, who will serve as chief secretary of the commission.

Realize Lack of Unity.

Secretary Lansing's statement regarding the mission indicates conclusively that the nations fighting Germany realize that a lack of team work accounts for the reverses they have sustained and for the failure to cope effectively at all times with the well-organized German military machine.

Until the combined resources of the allies can be employed against Germany by a single directing agency, it is contended, there will continue to be waste of human lives and material, reverses at weak points and other misfortunes, all serving to postpone a decisive victory over the enemy.

Mr. Lansing stresses the fact that the conference is to be a war and not a peace conclave. He does not wish anyone to get the impression that the United States is thinking of peace while preparing to exert its utmost to defeat Germany on the field of battle.

The secretary's anxiety on this score is due to the speculation aroused by the announcement before American troops reached the firing line that Colonel House had been selected to prepare for the peace conference. Immediately reports gained circulation that President Wilson was expecting peace this winter and that he did not intend to send the American troops into action until all hope of a suspension of hostilities had disappeared.

Is "War Conference."

Secretary Lansing's statement follows:

"The conference is essentially a 'war conference' with the object of perfecting a more complete co-ordination of the activities of the various nations engaged in the conflict and a more comprehensive understanding of their respective needs in order that the joint efforts of the co-belligerents may attain the highest war efficiency."

"While a definite program has not been adopted, it may be assumed that the subjects to be discussed will embrace not only those pertaining to military and naval operations, but also the financial, commercial, economic and other phases of the present situation which are of vital importance to the successful prosecution of the war.

"There will undoubtedly be an effort to avoid any conflict of interests among the participants; and there is every reason to anticipate that the result will be a fuller co-operation and consequently a much higher efficiency and a more vigorous prosecution of the war."

"The United States, in the employment of its man power and material resources, desires to use them to the greatest advantage against Germany."

Problem No Easy One.

"It has been no easy problem to determine how they can be used most effectively, since the independent presentations of requirements by the allied governments have been more or less conflicting on account of each government's appreciation of its own wants, which are naturally given greater importance than the wants of other governments."

"By a general survey of the whole situation and a free discussion of the needs of all, the approaching conference will undoubtedly be able to give to the demands of the several governments their true perspective and proper place in the general plan for the conduct of the war."

"Though the resources of this country are vast, and though there is every purpose to devote them all, if need be, to winning the war, they are not without limit. But even if they were greater they should be used to the highest advantage in attaining the supreme object for which we are fighting. This can only be done by a full and frank discussion of the plans and needs of the various belligerents."

"It is the earnest wish of this government to employ its military and naval forces and its resources and energies where they will give the greatest returns in advancing the common cause."

To Stop Waste Energy.

"The exchange of views which will take place at the conference, and the conclusions which will be reached, will be of the highest value in preventing waste of energy and in bringing into harmony the activities of the nations, which have been unavoidably acting in a measure independently."

"In looking forward to the assembling of the conference, it cannot be too strongly emphasized that it is a war conference and nothing else, devoted to devising ways and means to intensify the efforts of the belligerents against Germany by complete co-operation under a general plan and thus bringing the conflict to a speedy and satisfactory conclusion."

Colonel House is the actual representative of the government of the United States; the others are merely his cabinet advisers. He had been preparing for this mission for weeks before there was an inkling that the president meant him to represent the United States at the conference, and it is understood that he personally chose delegates from the various departments.

There is no time set for the adjournment of the war conference. The very nature of the purposes that bring the representatives of all the allies together forbids a period being put to their labors.

May Remain Through War.

In some form the congress will remain during the entire war, for until Germany is beaten there will be the necessity of co-operation that can only be obtained by a permanent board.

If there had been such a board in existence, for it means the direction of the war by a central body in authority over all forces, Italy would not be struggling for her life, it is believed. Such a board would have vetoed the advance of General Cadorna so far into Austria that the Germans could trap him, or if the strategy appeared sound, they would have arranged for supplies and support that would have protected him in the positions he won against the divisions Germany brought from the Russian and Rumanian fronts.

On the Wrong Side.

One of the shortest marriage ceremonies on record was that performed in Hartford City recently when a Fort Wayne soldier strolled into the office of a justice of the peace with his Montpelier bride and asked the justice of the peace to "tie them up," notes the Indianapolis News.

Standing the girl on the wrong side of the man, the justice told them to grab hold of hands, after which the ceremony proceeded as follows:

"Have this man?" the justice inquired of the woman.

"Yes," was her timid reply.

"Have this woman?"

"Yes," was the firm answer of the soldier.

"You're married," said the justice as he waited for his fee, forgetting to give the couple a certificate.

In a day or two the bride, accompanied by her mother, came back to the clerk's office for a certificate of marriage. They were directed to the justice's court.

The fact that the bride stood on the wrong side during the ceremony led spectators to wonder whether she would always be on the wrong side in the future.

One's Career.

Strictly speaking, every life is a career because it is a course that is run from start to finish, but as generally used the term implies an unusual life record, something exceptional and out of the ordinary, says a professor. Childhood is a period of life, but it is not a career. One's career is the life one lives and the record one makes whether it becomes known to the public or not. The term "career" is applied to lives largely spent in the public service.

Freak Newspapers.

One of the most remarkable freak newspapers ever printed was the Lumina, published in Madrid. It was printed with ink containing phosphorus so that the paper could be read in the dark. Another curiosity was called the Regal, printed with non-poisonous ink on thin sheets of dough, which could be eaten, thus furnishing nourishment for body as well as mind. Le Bien-Etre promised those who subscribed for forty years a pension and free burial.

SELL THE GENUINE COLD TEA

Swindling Bootleggers Are Successfully Playing a Confidence Game in Dry Oregon.

No one will sympathize with the illicit buyer of whisky who uncorks his bottle in thirsty anticipation, only to find that it is filled with cold tea, says a Portland exchange. For one thing, this subterfuge of bootleggers is almost as old as the hills. It no more ought to fool a reader of the day's news than the ancient gold brick or sick engineer swindle.

The operation of the scheme has been standardized. It is always the same. The purveyor offers the customer a bottle of "tea," and winks knowingly. The deal is made and the party of the second part some time thereafter is highly indignant because he got precisely what he contracted for.

The buyer, of course, knew in the beginning that he was making himself party to a violation of the law. If he had been law abiding he would not have been cheated. It is so with most confidence games. The fellow who puts up his money for a supposed bunch of "green goods" guaranteed to defy detection, thinks he is going to make some "easy money." At heart he is so much a law breaker as the man who swindles him. He sometimes pays a high price for experience, but it is worth the price if it teaches him that law breaking from any angle seldom pays in the end.

Display of Nerve.

During the corn show at Petersburg, Ind., recently, when all business houses were crowded with prospective customers for fall suits, and cloaks, a rural miss entered a store and asked to see the various styles in winter cloaks, relates the Indianapolis News.

The saleswoman who had charge of the department spent almost an hour trying on the various styles and explaining the qualities of the goods. Finally a coat was tried on that just suited the girl. It was just what she was looking for, she said. When the saleswoman asked her whether she wished it done up the girl replied:

"Oh, no, ma'am; I am sending to a mail order house for a coat just like the one you showed me, and I wanted to see if I was going to be cheated."

Apparently satisfied that she had struck a bargain with the mail order house, the girl left the store. It took the saleswoman several minutes to realize what had happened, but when she came to herself her prospective customer had vanished.

Knew His Habits.

"Mr. Wright took me for such a nice walk yesterday evening," said a young lady to a dear friend. "I enjoyed it so much."

"Yes, I understand," remarked the other. "You went through Shortacre Wood and back through Spinney Lane?"

"We did; but how did you know that?"

"And when you rested at the stile Mr. Wright kissed you?" continued the second girl.

"Oh, that's too bad of you! You must have been watching us."

"No. The fact is that I've been on a walk with Mr. Wright myself, and so has my sister."—London Tit-Bits.

Envy.

"Gosh," said the traveling man, "but I surely envy you, those fine home-cooked meals you get every day."

"Gosh," replied the stay-at-home, "but I certainly envy you traveling men who can eat whatever you like in a hotel, while I must go up against the skimpy meals that my wife thinks necessary under her food pledge."

More Wasted Food.

"Chew your food well," says Good Health. The biggest waste of food in this country grows out of hasty eating. Half-chewed food is half digested. The other half is wasted. The people of the United States waste enough food, by neglecting to chew, to feed France and Belgium.

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription for special diseases, makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Hoarding New Bread.

Old Fatwaste was a food hog. He went from shop to shop buying pounds of this and packets of that, and stored "these ill gotten gains in his larder" for a rainy day. It was a Saturday night, and a neighbor met Fatwaste emerging from a baker's shop loaded with bread to the eyebrows.

The neighbor wanted to know what the mountain of bread was for.

"Oh," said Fatwaste in a whisper, "haven't you heard that new bread mustn't be sold after today? I am just getting a stock of it in."

HEAL BABY RASHES

That Itch, Burn and Torture With Cuticura—Trial Free.

A hot Cuticura Soap bath is soothing to irritated skins when followed by a gentle application of Cuticura Ointment. Use Cuticura for every-day toilet preparations to prevent such troubles. After this treatment baby sleeps mother rests and treatment follows.

James Dickinson, a convalescent Canadian soldier, in a letter to a friend, tells this story of the great war:

During a lull in the battle of the Marne one of the Canadian troops took off his steel helmet, and, placing it on the end of his rifle, held it so that about half of it protruded above the top of the trench. A German sniper, observing it, at once shot at it, and the ball, striking it squarely, pierced the steel, going out the other side. The "Tommy" laughingly showed it to his comrades and placed it back on his head.

Fifteen minutes later the order came to "go over the top," and this same "Tommy" was among the first. He was also among the first to fall, mortally wounded.

It was discovered at the dressing station that he had been struck by a nearly spent bullet that had gone through one of the holes that he had so recently shown his fellow soldiers in laughter.

All There.

"Good heavens! The star has forgotten his lines."

Unsubstantial Returns.

"Did you raise anything on your promise to pay?"

"Oh, yes; I raised a smile."

No fight is ever over until one side to it quits.

Insurance in Australia.

State insurance in Australia shows gratifying results. It has been found possible to pay a bonus of 10 per cent on ordinary policies, and to make other concessions. Reserves are being built up and expenses met. This remarkable success is attributed to the very low expense ratio of the office, which is about 12 per cent of the net premium income.

Most amateur photographers prove conclusively that truth is stranger than fiction.

Two million copies of the Scriptures have been placed in the hands of Chinese during the year, according to the report of the National Bible society of Scotland. The report states that in Japan also, the circulation had been increased, and consignments of the Scriptures had been sent to France for the use of the labor battalions with the British troops. It was reported that the revised Japanese Bible had been completed and was in course of printing, and it was hoped that it would be in circulation by the end of the year. The revised Mandarin Bible, on which United States and British scholars and Chinese literary men had been working, would be completed by the end of the year. The field for its circulation was a very wide one, as it was estimated there were 300,000,000 people who spoke the Mandarin dialect.

A man who is given to doing "odd jobs" about his house was very proud of a bit of painting he had accomplished.

About midnight following the completion of the outside of the house he was awakened by a noise. Creeping to the window, he looked out, and to his horror, saw a burglar climbing up a ladder to the second-story window.

"Look out there!" yelled the householder to the burglar. "Look out for the paint!"

For a Weak Stomach.

As a general rule all you need to do is to adopt a diet suited to your age and occupation and to keep your bowels regular. When you feel that you have eaten too much and when constipated, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets.—Adv.

A year's subscription costs only one dollar.

LINER ADS EFFECTIVE.

One of the most effective forms of advertising is in the "liner" or classified" column where an investment of a few cents is certain to give prompt results. Tribune liner ads are always run in the same position on the front page where they are easy to find and invariably catch the eye. Only five cents the line for first insertion, 2½ cents the line for each subsequent insertion. Next time you want to buy something, or have something for sale or rent, try a Tribune liner.

Which will run the fastest, a four, six, eight or twelve cylinder car, size of wheels, gear ratio, cylinder displacement and everything being equal?

That depends entirely upon the design and mechanical excellence of the car. Two motors of exactly the same type and size might have very different performance for the reason that one was better designed than the other. So there is no basis of comparison.

NEIGHBORHOOD BREVITIES

Interesting Items Clipped and Called From Our Exchanges.

MANCHESTER—Claude Shook of Lansing broke an arm and his automobile and the bridge at the electric light plant were badly damaged when he lost control of his machine. The bridge trusses were so badly damaged that the bridge is condemned until repairs can be made.—Enterprise.

PLYMOUTH—The elevator, known as the J. D. McLaren elevator, has been sold to a new company to be known as the Plymouth Elevator Co.—Mail.

ANN ARBOR—William Tyron, suspected I. W. W. agitator, was arrested Sunday after insulting Corporal O. I. Park, home from Camp Custer for a few days' visit. Tyron is said to have remarked: "Look at that lazy, good for nothing soldier, walking around here, and the government taking care of him. Pretty soft job, that. If somebody pointed a gun at him, he'd run. Wilson is no man for the presidency of the United States. If they had had a real man there, this war would have been settled long ago." Tyron spent the night in jail and was released Monday morning upon promise to get out of town, which he did promptly.

JACKSON—One man was killed and two narrowly escaped death Monday afternoon when a gravel bank on which they were working caved in. The men were loading a wagon with gravel. Clayton Poling and Bert Hauser were completely buried in the slide and Samuel Udyke was partly covered. Hauser was dug out within a few minutes. It was nearly half an hour before the body of Poling was reached and although a pulmotor was used, he did not recover.

MASON—Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Miller were crossing the M. C. tracks on Columbia street, a freight train backed into them upsetting the auto with its occupants underneath. Mr. Miller escaped injury, but Mrs. Miller was taken to the city hospital. It was at first thought several ribs were broken, and that there were internal injuries, but she was taken to her home later and is doing well, bruises being the extent of her hurt.

JACKSON—J. F. Campbell, 706 South Pleasant street, formerly proprietor of the Main hotel on East Main street, was instantly killed Sunday morning shortly after 11 o'clock, when his Ford auto turned turtle and was wrecked about four miles northwest of the city on the Springfield road. Herman Tyler, 218 St. Clair avenue, was in the machine with Mr. Campbell, but escaped with minor bruises.—Patriot.

SPIES AND TRAITORS.

The people of this country will have to place a close watch on their feelings in the days that are before us. We are a complex people made up of a mixture of many races. Across the waters our kinsmen are engaged in a deadly conflict, and we have ranged ourselves on the side of one group and against another. But the blood of those others flows largely in the national veins. This fact should cause us to watch carefully that there not grow up in our hearts a suspicion of those of alien blood—enemy blood, if you so term it.

There are and will be spies—many of them. There are and will be traitors—let us hope but few of these. But if we are always watching for spies and traitors we will create an atmosphere that will work more injury to our national life than all of the machinations of all of the spies and traitors combined could possibly accomplish.

The good rule that every man is a gentleman until he is proven otherwise should govern our actions now. When by his actions he proves himself otherwise, then will be time enough to condemn him.

It is a noteworthy fact that the man who is always looking for faults in others can find them, even where they do not exist, and constant suspicion can and will tend to distort perfectly innocent actions into grave offenses.

Our best course is to leave to government officials the work of bringing spies and traitors to justice. Our individual interference might have a tendency to muddy the waters.

An Old Man's Stomach.

As we grow older and less active, less and less food is required to meet the demands of our bodies. If too much is habitually taken, the stomach will rebel. When a man reaches the advanced age of 85 or 90, you will find that he is a light eater. Be as careful as you will, however, you will occasionally eat more than you should and will feel the need of Chamberlain's Tablets to correct the disorder.
